A student is dismissed for disciplinary reasons, no refund will be made, nor will any re-enrollment be made after June 28. The entire operation was accomplished within an hour from the time the call was placed until the last victim was cared for.

Mr. MacDonald is preparing a disaster procedures manual which will be of benefit from the many lessons learned during this first surprise drill.

Future drills will continue to test the entire Squad's ability to handle a local disaster.

Camp Fund Drive Nears Record High

With new donations for the week totalling $181, the 15th annual Summit Herald-Family Service Association Summer Camp Fund drive neared an all-time record as of Tuesday.

With contributions at $2,735-$60, the fund is now $43 from the all time high of $2,778 received in 1960. At this time last year when the campaign was in its seventh week, donations stood at $2,052.

Checks received for the week included one for $50, three for $25 each, five for $10 each and another for $6.

The Fund operates on a non-profit basis and makes no solicitations nor conducts any mail appeal. There are no administrative expenses and all money received goes directly to paying camping expenses.

Early donations are important since summer camps require early registration. There is no "carry over" from the previous year and each season is ended with no balance on hand.

The aim of the Fund, however, is to obtain the bulk of donations from Herald readers. If each subscriber donated $1

Council Seeks Funds to Raze Old Library

Tuesday night's Common Council agenda will include a public hearing on an ordinance which would provide $6,500 to demolish the old public library.

With the new library scheduled to open sometime this summer, razing of the familiar 52-year old building has become a necessity since the present structure now blocks the entrance to the plant now nearing completion.

Council will also consider an ordinance which would permit the closing off of Elm street at Morris avenue in conjunction with the extension of Summit avenue from Morris avenue to the intersection of Elm street and Oakland place. The measure was first introduced on May 21, but final action has been postponed until Tuesday's meeting.

Final action on an ordinance to improve Harvard street and Shunpike road will also be acted upon. According to Councilman-at-Large Philip N. Trowbridge, the outcome of a meeting held last night with area property owners will determine action to be taken at Tuesday's public meeting. The ordinance was originally introduced on May 7, but opposition by local property owners forced a postponement of final action at the May 21 and June 4 meetings.

4-Car Crash Injures 2 Teenagers

A chain-reaction car crash involving four automobiles injured two teenagers at Tulip street and Ashland road on Saturday afternoon.

Police listed those injured as Patricia H. Barrett, 18, of 2 Sherman avenue, a cut left ankle, and Thomas P. Caine, 17, of 57 Beckman road, abrasion of the left knee. Both were drivers.

Other drivers involved in the accident were John H. Leppien, 18, of 30 Sheffield road, and Elizabeth A. Reisen, 18, of 2 Westwood road. Neither was injured.

At the time of the mishap, the four cars were in procession traveling south on Tulip street, when Miss Barrett allegedly crashed into the rear of Caine's car. The crash's impact then set off the chain reaction which damaged the other two vehicles. All four cars were heavily damaged.

Investigating the mishap were Sgt. George Gerits and Patrolman Lonnie Davis.

The Open Housing Committee of Summit and New Providence this week reported that to date a total of 347 families in both communities have signed the Committee's pledge to observe open housing and have become members of the Committee.

In addition, 46 unsolicited pledges were received from families living in communities adjacent to Summit and New Providence who "simply wanted to express their support of the aims of the Summit-New Providence Committee," Mrs. Dampman said.

Eleven letters expressing some form of negative reaction were received but only one of these letters bore a signature.

Mewing cats were credited for saving the lives early Tuesday of a New Providence couple when a fire broke out in the living room of their home.

According to New Providence firemen, the mewing of two pet cats awakened Donald Doty, 35, of 1662 Springfield avenue, and his wife, Joan, 30, and alerted them to the blaze in a chair in their downstairs living room. Both the Dotys, however, suffered injuries.

Mr. Doty was in fair condition at Overlook Hospital where he was treated for smoke inhalation and smoke poisoning, burns and lacerations. His wife was treated at the hospital for left hand burns and later released.

The Dotys began shouting for help after being awakened and their cries were reported to police, who in turned called the fire department and rescue squad.

Rescue Squad Scrambles Mock Disaster Drill

Mock local disaster drill was held and apparently the Summit Volunteer Aid Squad last week.

Members called at their homes during the dinner hour to the dispatching service, told "There's been an explosion at Celanese—get there!"

Minutes members collected their wits, coveralls, and bandages, and immediately expecting the worst, a realistic scene, staged by training lieutenant Harry McDonald, with the assistance of John Zinckgraf, revealed 20 "victims"—all Summit High school students. The "victims," made up with plastic bandages, were scattered over a wide area. Arriving Squad members were instructed to work in pairs, carrying first for the most seriously "injured." While Summit's Auxiliary Police assisted with traffic control, victims were transported by station wagons and ambulance to a temporary hospital at the Squad garage.

Medical advisors Dr. Robert C. Specht and Dr. E. Ernest Hancock, were present to observe and criticize.

The entire operation was accomplished within an hour from the time the call was placed until the last victim was cared for.

Mr. MacDonald is preparing a disaster procedures manual which will be of benefit from the many lessons learned during this first surprise drill. Future drills will continue to test the entire Squad's ability to handle a local disaster.

A new citizens group calling itself the Association for the Preservation of Residential Summit has been formed to formally oppose several sections of the Master Plan, it was learned this week.

The newly organized group held its first meeting last Thursday night. The next meeting has been scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. in the Washington School auditorium.

Opposition to the Master Plan by property owners, especially by those living near CIBA, was made known during a public hearing held May 14 by the Planning Board. At that time, the plan was picked apart by many of the more than 200 persons who attended the hearing.

According to a representative of the 36 homeowners who were present at last week's meeting, the group expects to list over 200 on its rolls by the end of the current membership drive.

The organization, it was said, was formed for the purposes of "preserving the residential character of the city," of "making the interests of citizens known to proper authorities" and of "preventing" the recommendations of study committees and planning organizations from establishing precedents which are contrary "to the wishes and best interests" of citizens.

Road Widening Protested
In particular the group is opposing the Master Plan recommendation that Passaic avenue, River road and Constantine place be widened for use as a major connecting artery between Route 24 and the proposed Route 78.

The group also opposes the Master Plan suggestion that a CIBA-owned land tract currently zoned at A-15 residential, be changed to a "J," industrial zone.

In opposing the Master Plan recommendations, the organization claims that the proposals are in "flagrant contradiction" of one of the Master Plan's stated objectives to preserve the present residential character of the city.

The group also maintains that the recommendations "betray the trust" placed by persons in the city's zoning ordinances and that they will cause financial hardships through "inevitable degradation and devaluation of their properties."

Officers of the association elected at the June 6 meeting included A. E. Hirsch, Jr., of Evergreen road, chairman; R. T. Cochran of Kent Place boulevard, vice-chairman; Mrs. A. O. Ashman of Kent Place boulevard, secretary; and N. N. McGiffin, Jr. of Evergreen road, treasurer. W. A. van Bergeijk of Passaic avenue and A. H. Weissbach of Mount Vernon were elected as public relations co-secretaries.

Block representatives were also selected to act as liaison between individual home owners and the association.

The Master Plan, which represents nearly two years of work by members of the Planning Board and Charles Agle, a professional planning consultant from Princeton, was informally introduced on April 25.

Basically the plan calls for a new traffic pattern which would keep a majority of traffic out of the business district, development of play areas in residential areas and a proposal for urban renewal.

No action has been taken by the Planning Board on the Master Plan as yet. A spokesman said comments received at the formal hearing on May 14 were still being studied.

Worth looking for

when you buy or rent

Whether you are buying a new home or renting an apartment, it's very important that you make the right choice. That's why we say look for the above symbol. Because the proud home or apartment that bears it is adequately wired for a full use of electric appliances and proper lighting. It has a clean, fast, flameless electric range; a cool, compact electric water heater and two other major electric appliances. But the greatest of all is its clean, comfortable electric heating. There are no heating worries and no wasted space. Each room has its own temperature control. Each has that even heat without your being conscious of its source.

This week-end, visit the Total Electric Gold Medallion or All Electric Model Home or Apartment nearest you. It is a "must" before you buy or rent! And even if you plan to stay in your present home or apartment awhile, you'll get valuable tips on lighting, adequate wiring, electric heating and all the new time and work saving appliances.

10,000 Awarded
Local Man for
Parkway Crash

A settlement for $7,000 against N.J. Unsatisfied Claims was entered Monday in court of J. Wayne Wrightstone, 21 Hickory Road, for injuries suffered in a Garden State Parkway accident.

County Judge, Erwin S. Wrightstone, through his counsel, Arthur C. Gillette, approved the settlement. Mr. Wrightstone, through his counsel, claimed that an unidentified driver on Dec. 1, 1961, pulled into the path of his car on the parkway in Saddle Brook, causing him to lose control of his vehicle. He claimed that his car then crossed the safety island and crashed into another vehicle coming in the opposite direction. Mr. Gillette said his client suffered a severed ear, which had to be sewed back on, and deep gashes of his face which required plastic surgery. He also said all efforts to locate the driver who caused Mr. Wrightstone to lose control of his car have failed.

Ned J. Parsekian, director of the N.J. Motor Vehicle Division, was named as a defendant in the suit.

Local Man Stars on Union Lacrosse Team

William P. Bowman, a junior at Union College, Schenectady, N.Y., and son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bowman of 160 Summit avenue, led the 1963 Union varsity lacrosse team in scoring. The 6-4, 200-pound civil engineering economics major completed his third varsity season with 28 goals and 19 assists in 11 games. He is a graduate of Columbia High School.

Bruce Allison, Union lacrosse coach, said that Bowman must rate among Union's best since the end of World War 2.

Has License Lifted

The driver's license of Donald G. Hudgins, 21, of 26 William street, has been suspended for a 30-day period under the point system, the Motor Vehicle Bureau announced this week.

Jaycees to Use Circus Receipts For Civic Work

A portion of the receipts from the forthcoming Jaycee Charity Circus on June 26 today were pledged by the sponsoring Summit Junior Chamber of Commerce to two civic endeavors.

Robert Lawrence, acting as president of the Jaycee organization at its Tuesday night meeting, announced that a portion of the circus receipts has been pledged toward installation of restroom facilities at the city's Vanderpool Pond recreational site, and to the Summit First Aid and Rescue Squad. Balance of the funds will be utilized in carrying out the Jaycees' year-round program of civic and youth welfare work, Lawrence added.

The Hunt Brothers Circus, oldest in America and the second largest under canvas—with 50 acts in three rings, will present 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. performances in its one-day stand here on Wednesday, June 26. The circus will be held at the Vanderpool site, Morris-Essex turnpike and River road, with free parking available at the adjacent Short Hills Mall.

Meanwhile, school children who wish to take part in the elephant weight-guessing contest being held in conjunction with the coming of the circus were reminded to have their entries in the mail no later than midnight Saturday. They must guess the weight of the Hunt Brothers' largest elephant, "Jewel," and send it, with their name and address and age, to Jaycee Charity Circus, 6 Beekman road. The two winners will ride Jewel in the opening circus parade around the big-top and have a reserved seat for the show. The contest is open to children in grades 4-9, inclusive.

Sale of tickets was continuing briskly this week at the six key locations in this area: Ken Johnston's, Charline's, S. Balish & Son and Walguarnery's in Summit; A. V. Mazzucco's in New Providence; and Lindoe's Bakery in Berkeley Heights. Also, tickets may be ordered by mail from: Jaycee Charity Circus, c/o Roger Faherty, 390 Morris avenue, Summit.

Judge Grants $4,500 for Broken Legs
County Judge Ervin S. Fulop on Monday approved a $4,500 settlement for James Smith, 5, of 71 Passaic Avenue, who suffered fractures of both legs in an accident May 25, 1961. The boy was allowed $3000 and his father Albert J. Smith, who brought the suit in behalf of his son, was given $1,500 for medical expenses. Defendants were Matthew Raftree, and his daughter, Miss Karen Raftree of 1 Oakley Avenue. The child was injured by an automobile driven by Miss Raftree, according to the papers filed in the suit. Mr. Smith was represented by Carl Fenstermaker of Elizabeth and the defendants by Thomas F. Hueston, also of Elizabeth.

Local Press Reproduces Turn of Century Comics
What was possibly the first for White Laboratories, Kenilworth, comic strip ever published has been reproduced in book form under the title "The Incredible Upside-Downs of Gustave Verbeek" by The Rajah Press of Summit. According to an introduction by George Naimark of 87 Canoe Brook parkway, 25 of the original strips were published in book form in 1905 as possibly the first comic book. Mr. Naimark adds that all copies seem to have disappeared, including the one in the Library of Congress. The comic strips, which appeared in 64 weekly segments in the New York Herald, started running in October, 1903. The strips were concerned with the adventures of Old Man Muffaroo and Little Lady Lovekins. What sets the strips apart from the ordinary is that Verbeek started each story in six panels read in the usual manner and concluded the sequence by having the reader turn the strip upside down for a solution to the situation. Mr. Naimark, who holds a Ph.D., is a member of Burdick and Becker advertising agency, N. Y. He is director of scientific service, and was formerly director of scientific services

Happy Days Arrive for Mother of Six
A Summit widow with six children is glowing with pride these days as college commencements have brought her to the half-way mark in raising and educating her children. The proud mother is Mrs. Louise Arch of 25 Dennis Place and the reason for her glow of pride is the graduation of a daughter, Carolyn from Boston University with a law degree; the employment of another daughter, Rosemary, in Abyssinia with CIA, and the excellent record of a son, Stephen, with the Air Force in Okinawa and Indo China. Mrs. Arch, who is a seamstress, came to Summit three years ago from Madison to make her home in the Summit Civic Foundation's housing project on Dennis Place. When she moved here, her daughter, Rosemary, had just graduated from Madison High School and yearned to be a UN translator. Because of a lack of funds, the girl obtained employment at Greystone State Hospital as a typist and started a course in New York studying languages for her UN career. She later obtained employment at Bell Labs in Murray Hill and soon became a private secretary and worked for a year and then left to resume her language study. Upon completion of the language school she was offered a job with the CIA instead of the UN, and accepted it. Upon completion of a training program at Washington, D.C., she was assigned to Abyssinia. Her sister, Carolyn, who now has her law degree is still undecided as to her future plans but is considering some type of federal government work. The brother, Stephen, is making the Air Force his career and has been made a sergeant and has received praise from his officers for his work both in Okinawa and Indo China. Another son, John, graduates this month from Summit High School.

Resident Addresses Management Group
Robert S. McClintock, 11 Joanna Way, of the R. S. McClintock Co., Summit, was one of the speakers at a 3-day seminar conducted recently by the American Management Association at the Astor Hotel, New York. He spoke on "Setting Up A Manufacturing Operation in Brazil." Mr. McClintock recently returned to Summit after residence in Brazil as managing director of the Brazilian subsidiary of Corning Glass Works to start his own firm of consulting engineers primarily engaged in arranging foreign licenses and joint venture plants for United States manufacturers. People have been ice skating ever since the Vikings strapped animal bones to their boots. The Dutch called it "schaats" in the 16th Century and the English word, "skating" came from that.

Nobody's perfect.
Many Volkswagens have driven 60,000 miles on the original pistons and cylinders. Common tire wear is 40,000 miles. But it's a mistake to regard the Volkswagen as indestructible. Like any good machine, it does not thrive best on neglect. This is why we give you a book on preventive maintenance covering each 30,000 miles your VW drives. In the book for new VWs, for instance, perforated slips tell exactly what service should be performed at 300 miles (no labor charge). At 3,000 miles (no labor charge). And at every 3,000 miles after that. This should keep your car in crack running order. Good service is so important, the Volkswagen people will not sell the VWs where they cannot be handled by us, their own factory-trained mechanics. You are as welcome at our VW service department as the day you bought the car. Parts are economical. Quickly installed. There isn't a Volkswagen in the world we can't get you parts for. Most are interchangeable from year to year. (We can put a 1963 fender on your '52 model with just ten bolts. It fits perfectly.) Volkswagen service is as good as the car. Ask anybody.

Frank S. Turbett, Jr., Director of the Newark District of the Internal Revenue Service, today announced that 1,694,700 individual 1962 income tax returns were filed with his office between January 1, 1963 and June 15, 1963.

During the comparable 1962 period, 1,642,396 returns were filed. A total of 1,676,057 returns were received during the 1962 calendar year. The difference between these totals represents subsequent returns, returns filed by taxpayers who do not file on a calendar-year basis and returns filed on behalf of decedents.

Returns totaling $144,750,301.76 have already been made to 1,149,149 taxpayers with the average check amounting to $124.76. In this total are 5,356 checks amounting to $911,722.36 which were made in United States Savings Bonds.

Some refunds have not yet been processed because the returns were incomplete. Others have not yet been audited because the returns were selected for pre-refund review. Each taxpayer whose return is in one of these categories is being mailed a letter explaining the information which is not included on the return and advising him that his refund will be delayed until his return has been audited. Taxpayers who expedite their refunds by replying to letters requesting additional information, a considerable number of letters mailed from District Director Turbett's office have been returned by the Post Office Department as undeliverable. Taxpayers expecting income tax refunds who have not since filing their returns should notify both the post office serving their former address and the District Director of their new address.

Estimated Tax Due on June 17

Frank S. Turbett, Jr., Director of the Newark District of the Internal Revenue Service, today reminded New Jersey taxpayers that June 17, 1963 is an important date on their calendar.

Taxpayers who filed estimated 1963 tax returns in April are required to pay the second installment of their estimated tax on or before this date. Taxpayers whose income is such that they first met the requirements for filing an estimated return in this quarter must file their initial Declaration of Estimated Income Tax for 1963 Form 1040-ES and pay at least one-third of the total estimated tax by June 17.

Anticipated 1963 income has changed since filing the original estimate, an amended return may be filed. A blank form for use in preparing an amended return is on the back of the form which has already been mailed to taxpayers who filed an estimated return in April. Director Turbett reminded individuals responsible for filing corporation income tax returns that those corporations filing returns on a calendar year basis and electing to pay their taxes in two installments, must pay the balance of their 1962 liability on or before June 17.

Employers whose liability for social security taxes and income taxes withheld exceeded $100 for the month of May must remit these taxes in a deposit on or before June 17. From now on, it may be made in a Federal Reserve Bank or in a bank authorized to accept depositary payments. If these taxes are normally paid on June 15th, however, this date falls on a Saturday, the tax deadline is extended until June 17.

NEW JERSEY TERCENTENARY TALES

"BERRIES! BERGEN BERRIES!"

By John T. Cunningham

Wild strawberries brightened the hills of New Jersey when the first colonists arrived. Revolutionary War soldiers breaking out of winter camps at Morristown feasted hungrily on the toothsome fruit, and children walking the fields knew the joys of the June berry.

Nevertheless, it took market-minded Bergen County farmers of the early 19th century to make the free-growing berry a delicacy to tempt the leanest of pocketbooks.

It began simply enough soon after 1800, when Hackensack laborers picked wild strawberries for the New York City market. They sold their fruit from home-made split baskets hung on poles balanced across their shoulders. As they walked the streets of downtown New York, the strawberry vendors sang: "Berries! Berries! Bergen berries!"

Housewives joyfully heeded their sales talk, bought them out, and begged for more.

Bergen farmers, long attuned to the desires of the New York market, took it from there. They selected the best of the wild plants, cross-bred and fertilized them, and by 1840 had developed bigger and redder varieties, including the Hauboy and the noted Scotch Runner.

Thereafter, for more than 50 years, the upper parts of Bergen and Passaic counties went to the Bergen Journal in the 1850's often boasted that Bergen was the "greatest strawberry country in the country." That had to be the truth, or close to it, for no other strawberry patches lay so close to the best market in the nation.

Farmers at first catered only to New York. They loaded wagons high with baskets of strawberries, drove northward to the docks at Piermont, New York, and transferred their fruit to sloops headed for the New York docks. Growers went along with their own salesmen, often leaving their teams tied to the Piermont docks for a day or two days.

The coming of the Erie Railroad in the 1840's did two things: it heightened the strawberry pace and it transferred the fruit center from Hackensack to the Ramapo Valley near Ramsey and Allendale. More than 400,000 baskets of strawberries left Bergen on the first Erie fruit trains during June, 1846. A year later the Erie returned with its strawberry specials, putting on nine cars for berries and two cars for the berry-growers who still went to New York to sell their fruit. Often one train carried 80,000 baskets of strawberries.

However, the well-to-do in Paterson and Newark both demanded their share, and by 1850 wagonloads of strawberries rolled to markets in those cities.

The Paterson Guardian especially appreciated the festive tone that strawberries gave. In 1857 it predicted that "Paterson will always be the Strawberry City of the World," blissfully overlooking the clanging locomotive plants and the spinning red fruit. Gone was the makeshift bag from Charlie May's general store.

Gone, forever gone, were the strawberry dreams, replaced by much less satisfying memories.

Urges Hunter Safety Training

Young hunters expecting to begin this sport in New Jersey this fall should arrange now for hunter safety training. The Division of Fish and Game in the Department of Conservation and Natural Resources recommends early registration so that courses can be scheduled promptly.

Applicants for firearm hunting licenses between the ages of 14 and 21 must present either a previous license or a certificate that they have completed a gun safety course. Applicants for a bow and arrow hunting license must complete a similar course in archery safety regardless of age.

Instruction is given free of charge by certified volunteer instructors. A nominal charge is sometimes made for ammunition.

Applicants under 21 must have written permission from a parent or guardian. Free eye examinations are also available. Conservation officers and license agents will furnish the names of instructors to prospective licenses. There are a good number of instructors certified in each county.

ments — anything but strawberry ice cream. Sherwood and Tallman's Hotel at Allendale knew all-night revelry. Nearby, Charlie May set up a bar in his general store for the overflow.

After the Civil War the Erie did its best to encourage the berry-men. They built special box cars, painted them white and placed them in the Allendale and Ramsey depots at noon. Long lines of strawberry wagons spread outward each day, with those last in line ruefully aware that prices might drop so much during the afternoon that a day's picking would bring little.

Alas for Bergen and alas for Paterson as the "Strawberry City," the railroads ruined what they helped to create. Erie trains encouraged buyers in outlying areas to produce strawberries, too. Most important, Erie trains brought in swarms of people so eager to live in Bergen that they paid high prices for the strawberry patches and turned them into building lots.

Broadway Malady

As they say in the theatrical world, this year's Broadway season was a "real bomb." In other words, a flop. Producers lost money in such large chunks that the total losses are estimated at between $5 and $7 million. Never before, it has been said, has Broadway been hit by such a financial disaster.

But one man's disaster can very well be another man's pleasure and perhaps the Broadway losses can be a mixed blessing. If the season was a rough one for producers, at least it may turn out to be a boon for their audiences, such as they were. The entertainment industry may well take another look at some of the policies which have put the theater beyond the reach of those who have been its most ardent supporters.

In recent years getting tickets to a hit show has become a status symbol. Theater entertaining became a major part of the expense account night-on-the-town. Because entertaining was tax deductible, the price for tickets was not a major concern. As a result it was not uncommon to see theater tickets prices as high as $9.90. The middle income earner who would plan on taking his wife out for an evening would end up spending close to $35 for theater tickets, dinner, parking and the necessary tips. To a great extent, this meant that the average guy coming in from the suburbs found the cost just a bit too stiff, especially since Junior's teeth also were getting straightened. Tickets were simply over-priced and now that there is a corporate belt-tightening on entertainment expenses, the theaters find themselves in trouble.

The scoreboard for this last season shows only seven out of 49 productions making money. When one reads among the early closings of shows such names as "The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Any More" one might be inclined to guess the reason for financial failure was the high cost of electric bulbs across the marquee. But this theory doesn't hold for last year "Oh Dad, Poor Dad, etc., etc." was a money maker. Another show to overcome the jaw-breaking title jinx was "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

Along with the high cost of tickets, tax restrictions on spending and other causes, Broadway experts contend the quality of this year's work was not up to standard. Six established writers turned out flops. Still another big reason for the dismal season was the newspaper strike. One musical which averaged 2,000 mail orders before the strike, reported the weekly total dropping to 200 during the lengthy news blackout.

With Broadway experiencing such a poor year, one might think gloom would be unrelieved. But that isn't the case. Theater men are already looking ahead to the fall when a new group of shows are set to tempt fate. Looking ahead for a brave new season is fine. But we also suggest Broadway look west toward Minneapolis where Tyrone Guthrie has organized a repertory theater which promises to offer good theater at prices ranging from $1 to $5.

Coming Up: One Father's Day

Although he pretends not to be conscious of the fact, Father, dear Father, has an idea that his special day is coming up. And he's beginning to wonder if he is going to get more of those things he gets each year. Families tend to run to a pattern when Father's Day arrives and each year the old man can expect to add to his collection (kept in the bottom drawer) of ties, sport shirts, hankchiefs.

Although an estimated billion dollars will be spent on Father whose day finally arrives this Sunday, he is individually and collectively still a bit self-conscious. He is not used to having a fuss made over him, and he will be a trifle embarrassed because our Anglo-Saxon culture forbids any male to show any warmth or affection or emotions. Mom? Sure. You can slobber over her to your heart's content, for Mom is the keystone of our culture. Indeed, there is a sizeable school of social scientists who believe we suffer from a disease known as Momism.

However, there are certainly definite changes on the horizon. Pop is no longer depicted on TV as the invariable booby. For a long time he was the stooge who didn't know enough to come out of the rain and was always being rescued by his bright and patient wife and his bright and understanding little brats. There is a new trend these days and that is to write the women right out of the script. There are several TV soap operas now in which Pop goes it alone with his brats—and he makes out pretty well, too. Mom isn't even mentioned, let alone shown. We leave it to the social scientists to figure out what it all means.

Meanwhile it would be interesting to find out who elects those Fathers of the Year. There's one for television, radio, sports, politics, as well as the haberdashery industry. The only comment we heard on this feature of naming the Father of the Year is from a plodding but amiable guy who has been supporting his brood pretty nicely but has been turned down year after year as father of anything. Not even the Cub Scout pack. His thoughts on the subject are, "Wait 'til next year." He also says he's going to watch the Mets this Sunday. He's a good guy, but he's also an incurable optimist.

up in Pownal and a state lottery in the works across the line in New Hampshire, we should get a tip-off this year.

Solidarity in Art

(Wash. D. C., Evening Star)

There was a time when a union boss would have been hooted out of the hall for suggesting that "what youse boids need is to soak up some culture." One can hear the answering roar: "Millions for the defense fund but not one cent for Beethoven."

So times and scenes change and here is the AFL-CIO's Leo Perlis on a nationwide hookup exhorting the 13 million members to set up a "united arts fund" fashioned after the United Givers Fund. Maybe John L. Lewis, leading the coal miners with a club in one hand and a Shakespearean shaft in the other, set the stage. Anyway, against a backdrop of bulging union coffers and more leisure time, Mr. Perlis' challenge is far from fanciful.

Like the guilds of old, the unions are ideally placed to fulfill Mr. Perlis' vision of professional and amateur orchestras, theater, workshops, etc., in every community. As he so aptly put it, "failure to use free time constructively will hurt not only the individual, but our whole Nation."

The AFL-CIO's goal of the full life through education, appreciation of the arts, recreation and public service deserves the fullest support. John Ruskin saw it this way: "Life without industry is guilt, industry without art is a brutality."

"I WAS TEMPTED TO GIVE UP EATING"

There's nothing like the weekly stampede at the food store to convince a man (a) that doing the shopping is a tedious time consuming job and (b) that the wife was right in needing me to let her use the SUMMIT FOOD MARKET'S shopping service. I was about to give up eating when I called Sam at CRestview 7-4500, and gave his service a try. Well it's terrific. The shopping was done perfectly, according to instructions and delivery was made in our kitchen. Didn't cost a dime, our purchase was over ten dollars. If it had been less than ten, all it would have cost is 35c. You can bet on how we shop every week from now on.

A total of 581 such cases, or 41% of the total 1,407 accidents were caused by inattention. 76 accidents were caused by defective tires, 63 by improper passing, and 61 were caused by drivers being drowsy or asleep.

Modern type composition has probably been as much responsible for a rising standard of living as any single factor. With economical type came books . . . with books — knowledge — and with knowledge — prosperity.

Banking, too, has played a major part in our growth. In Union County, since 1864, the Union County Trust Company has enabled business and industry to expand and individuals to finance major purchases with millions of dollars in loans. Only a commercial bank can serve all of your banking needs, so look to Union County Trust for every financial service.

A local youth, Mark Lowell Crosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Crosby of 48 Tall Oaks drive, recently had the privilege of making a Christmas record for November release with Rise Stevens and Brian Sullivan of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Young Crosby, who plans to enter New Providence High School in the fall, is a member of the internationally famous Columbus Boychoir of Princeton. For the last 2 1/2 years he has traveled all over the United States and Canada with the choir in a specially designed bus which is equipped with school desks, a public address system, piano and kitchen facilities. The Boychoir has made TV appearances in connection with the opening of Lincoln Center in New York City and on such programs as the Voice of Firestone, Bell Telephone Hour, Arthur Godfrey, Omnibus. It has appeared at Radio City, the White House, the Princeton discipline, concerning the pupil to the housemaster of Reed House. Gradually he will think Reed House in social activities, intramural athletics and house government.

Charles K. Kemper, Junior High School principal and the newly named housemasters have been discussing merits of such an arrangement with the school officials at Brookline and Newton, Mass., Scarsdale and Newtown, New York, and Fairfield, Conn. Mr. Kemper points out that he is looking forward to the change because he will have a greater opportunity to direct the teaching activities as the more routine matters are shifted from the central office to the house office. He will be in close touch with all of the school's activities through the housemasters. "It may cost us the services of some of our most able faculty members," warned Mr. Kemper. "As we offer opportunities for leadership to our teachers, we reveal our strengths to other school systems. We feel that the gain is worth the risk if we are able to bridge the gap between the elementary schools and the junior high schools, make scholastic success a sought after goal by young adolescents, and increase the holding power of school by offering an advantageous program to those pupils who now leave school before they are ready for our economic or social world."

Junior High to Adopt Unique House Program

Bartholomew House, Woodward House, and Reed House, will be important names to Junior High pupils when school opens in September.

At its May meeting the Board of Education approved administrative changes in the junior high school when William D. Purcell, superintendent of schools, was authorized to make the necessary arrangements for the adoption of a house plan at the junior high school.

Today, Mr. Purcell announced that the first three houses would be named in honor of Summit's recently retired educational leaders, the late Robert V.S. Reed, superintendent of schools from 1947 to 1961, Albert J. Bartholomew who retired in 1956 as Summit High School's principal for 38 years from 1918 to 1956, and Robert E. Woodward, Summit Junior High School principal from 1939 until last June when he retired. Both Mr. Bartholomew and Mr. Woodward will take part in the ceremonies which will get the house plan under way in the fall.

In a letter to Mr. Purcell, Mrs. Reed stated that she was pleased and proud to know that Mr. Reed's name would be used along with Mr. Bartholomew's and Mr. Woodward's.

The housemasters who will also be first in Summit, were announced by Mr. Purcell. Ninth grade pupils will be assigned to Woodward House of which the housemaster will be Neal Roche. The eighth grade house will be Bartholomew House and its housemaster, John Gardner, while John McDowell will be master of the new seventh grade Reed House.

Mr. Purcell explained that a fourth house remained to be named. "Since we do not need the fourth house until the Fall of 1964, we are waiting until the new house names become part of the pupil's daily routine. We know the teacher we want to honor, but we haven't yet asked him for permission to use his name."

The decision to make the change to the house plan grew out of the conviction that pupils come to school as individuals. They have individual abilities, interests, problems, and potentials. It may be that pupils are listed on paper for accounting purposes. They must be thought of for teaching purposes as individuals. A housemaster with slightly over 300 boys and girls to serve can give each his attention to a greater degree than can a principal.

Borough Employee Salary Guide Set

New Providence — A maximum salary guide which constitutes the thinking of the present Borough Council was made public Monday night. Councilman John Torbert explained that the guide made known what degree of advancement is possible for borough employees in their present assignments. He noted, however, that the salaries listed do not constitute present salaries nor do they indicate what they may be next year.

In reviewing the various categories Mayor Francis Farley commented that any raise for the Recreation Director would be very little, according to the guide. "The bulk of employees have little or no real incentive in this guide."

Councilman William Spurgeon said that they should not be paid more than they would get in business or industry.

The salary guide follows:
Grade 1, maximum, $2000, collector.

Grade 2, maximum, $4000, clerk typist.

Grade 3, maximum, $5000, assistant to borough clerk, secretary, assistant to collector.

Grade 4, $6500, roadman, inspector, engineering aide, assistant sewer plant operator.

Grade 5, maximum, $7000, treasurer, deputy borough clerk.

Grade 6, maximum, $7500, assistant to engineer, sewer plant operator, road foreman.

Grade 7, maximum, $8000, recreation director.

Grade 8, maximum, $9200, police department lieutenant, road supervisor.

Grade 9, maximum, $9700, captain.

Grade 10, maximum, $10,000, borough clerk if no administrative duties.

Grade 11, maximum, $11,500, police chief.

Grade 12, maximum, $13,000, borough engineer.

Grade 13, maximum, $15,000, borough administrator.

Patrolman grade promotions start at $5000; probation, six months; $5200; first year, $5600; second year, $6000; and third year, $6500.

Merit increases are set thus:
Salary guide, 1-3, superior, $240; excellent, $210; and good, $180.

Salary guide 4-5, superior, $320; excellent, $280; and good, $240.

Salary guide 6-8, superior, $450; excellent, $350; and good, $300.

Salary guide 9-11, superior, $488; excellent, $420 and good, $360.

Salary guide 12, superior, $620; excellent, $550; and good, $480.

Salary guide 13, superior, $660; excellent, $580 and good, $500.

Salary guide 14, superior, $810; excellent, $710 and good, $600.

The minimum salary should be 70% of the maximum rate.

Policy on training courses for borough employees follows:
Required courses (Police Chiefs Academy course, etc.) will be paid by the borough.

Courses which are useful to the borough but not required training in present job will be paid fifty-fifty between borough and employee.

Courses which allow for individual professional advancement will be at the employee's expense.

For the Birds

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER
Instructor, Union Junior College Institute, Cranford, N. J.

June, 1963
The last week in May I glanced out the office window and saw a robin looking for worms in the lawn. A second robin landed nearby. Instantly the first flew toward the intruder aggressively, drove him off and returned to the search. That weekend while walking in the woods, I saw one cardinally pursue another to an invisible wall amidst the trees and there give up the chase. It seemed strange since three male cardinals had lived in that area in perfect harmony all winter.

Monday morning I was awakened, almost before the sun's first rays were over the horizon by an energetic woodpecker. He furiously pursued another to an invisible wall amidst the trees and there give up the chase. It seemed strange since three male cardinals had lived in that area in perfect harmony all winter.

All three actions were forms of territorial behavior. Generally the male of the species arrives in the north first. Once here he stakes out an area for himself to which to lure a mate and in which to raise a family. Chasing others away and singing, or in the case of the woodpecker, drumming, advertises the claim.
The territory of a bird is any area which it defends against other individuals of its own species. Other kinds of birds are not driven out. There are many instances of different species nesting close together. In one case a robin kingbird, orchard oriole, and warbling vireo nested in the same tree simultaneously. All four succeeded in raising their families.
The concept of territories among birds is not new. In the fourth century B. C. Aristotle describes in detail the food territories of the eagle and raven.
It is essential for birds to maintain a territory. Among many species a strong sexual bond is established by its joint defense. Food for the family, necessary cover, and a supply of adequate nesting materials are insured. The female and young are safe from other males of the same species.
Almost all kinds of birds have some kind of territory. Some species limit it to a very small area where the male attracts the female for mating purposes. Then it is abandoned. Hum-

IN NEW POST — Richard D. Wellbrock of 3 Dunndr drive, has been appointed assistant cashier at National State Bank of Elizabeth. It was announced this week by W. Emlen Roosevelt, president. Mr. Wellbrock handles new business activity in the Summit and Rahway areas. He attended Princeton University and is a graduate of Fairleigh Dickinson University. Mr. Wellbrock is a native of Summit, and prior to joining National State Bank in March, 1962, he was associated with IBM and the Fidelity Union Trust Co., both of Newark.

activities to a small garden or yard, perhaps a half an acre in extent. Bay-breasted warblers territories illustrate what may happen when there is an abundance of food. During a spruce budworm outbreak in a coniferous forest in Ontario, 87 pairs had an average territory of only 0.37 acres with a minimum of 0.1 acre.
In a particular floodplain forest where I take a breeding-bird census every summer, territories vary widely. One year robins ranged from 3.1 to 4.7 acres; rufous-sided towhees from 2.8 to 3.9, bluejays from 2.6 to 5.2 catbirds from 5.2 to 6.2, and cardinals averaged 4.7 acres.
At the other end of the spectrum are the arctic shore birds. Murres are a good example. They are about the size of a small duck, say 17 inches long. With them the upper limit of nesting density may be 31 birds per square yard. A pair of murres may occupy a territory of a half square foot. The word territory in this instance is somewhat of a misnomer, however. The activity of breeding murres takes place in three functional locations — breeding site, loafing grounds and feeding area.
So even in the bird world a man's home is his castle.

Local Man New President of Sterling Drug

David J. Fitzgibbons of 100 Essex road, executive vice-president and a director, has been elected president of Sterling Drug Inc., one of the world's leading drug manufacturers. Announcement of his election by the board of directors was made Monday.

Mr. Fitzgibbons' election as president coincided with his induction into Sterling's Quarter Century Club. He joined Sterling in 1937 as chief accountant with one of its domestic divisions. In 1938, he was transferred to Sterling's international operations. In the intervening score of years he rose to vice-president and treasurer of Sterling Products International, Inc., The Sydney Ross Co., and Winthrop Products Inc., and has been an important factor in building Sterling's business throughout the free world. Before joining Sterling, he was associated with Price Waterhouse & Co.

In March, 1960 he was elected a corporate vice-president of Sterling and designated executive assistant to the chairman and president. In December of the same year he was elected executive vice-president.

Mr. Fitzgibbons is a member of the board of directors, National Foreign Trade Council, member, National Advisory Committee, School of World Business & International Development, San Francisco State College, and of the Business Council for International Understanding.

The 1786 treaty of friendship, commerce, and navigation with Morocco was the first official United States link with Africa.

Basements on Way Out in Newest Trend

Big changes are taking place in thinking about basements. The Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information, reports that more new houses are being built today without basements in all sections of the country. At the same time, increasing numbers of existing basements are being finished into livable rooms to eliminate the extravagance of waste space.

Although only one out of every five new houses in the populous Northeastern part of the country is being built without a basement today, in contrast with four out of five in the South and West, the Bureau says building costs and modern materials are changing tradition even in the North and East.

Saves $2,000 to $3,000. Basements long have been considered bargain space in home building because an average waterproofed basement can be built for $1 to $2 per square foot, compared with $4 or more for on-grade space. However, since other phases of construction are simplified when not performed over a hole in the ground, and since the cost of the excavation and basement walls is reduced or eliminated, the usual saving in building a house on a concrete slab is $2,000 to $3,000 per house, even allowing for added storage space above ground.

One of the big roles in winning acceptance for houses built on slabs has been played by resilient floor coverings. Concrete floors no longer have to be covered with expensive and soiled carpeting. A new travertine solid vinyl tile which has a special finish that resists dirt and never requires waxing has been invented by Kentile flooring engineers. It can easily be installed on concrete.

Basement Floors Too. This same stylish floor covering also is being used in basements with specially developed adhesives that withstand moisture, so that concrete below the ground is no longer restricted to asphalt or vinyl asbestos tile.

But despite the new ease with which basements can be finished, and the fact that many homeowners are converting this space into useful playrooms and family rooms, a trend toward basementless houses is definitely taking shape.

When given a choice in one North Central community of having the same house with a basement or with compensating storage space above ground for less money, six out of seven the news that's always good...

Since newspapers began, advertisements have been part of the news. Then, as now, people wanted to know where they could buy things, where they could find values, where they could go for amusements. They wanted to know about new products. And that's the kind of news that always wears a rosy glow. News we all like. News that makes living better. You can see why advertisements used to be called "advice." Every week you'll find advertising that holds good news for you in...

Old Timers on BH Staff Announce Their Resignation

Berkeley Heights—The resignation of Mrs. Lois Bontempo as cafeteria manager of the Berkeley Heights schools at the present time was accepted by the Board of Education Monday night.

When Mrs. Bontempo began her duties as cafeteria manager ten years ago, Berkeley Heights had only one school, Columbia School, and there were only about 500 children in the elementary schools as compared to today's 1,000 lunches a day in the school's five schools.

Other resignations accepted with regret were from Leonard and Mrs. Mary Ellen Co-

Lend Lease Father Mee in Peru Needs Help in Fight Against Poverty and Ignorance

One of New Providence's most beloved world travelers, Father John F. Mee, formerly assistant pastor at Our Lady of Peace Church, was back in the states on June 3rd for a two month visit. He hadn't been leisurely sight seeing. He hadn't been visiting world famous landmarks, nor dining at chic resorts. None of this is his cup of tea. He saw awesome sights; visited and dined with the most important people. He accomplished more in two and a half years of travel than most of us accomplish in a lifetime. As the local emissary of the Missionary Society of Saint James the Apostle, he was sent on a "lend-lease" basis to cover thousands of miles by every conceivable mode of travel. His area of activity has been Peru and upon his return will be Ecuador.

Over two years ago Father heeded the call of Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston to join a newly formed Mission Group to aid in the sorely neglected and poverty stricken areas of remote South America. He received permission to leave his duties as parish priest and began the training for his five year stint for which not only spiritual strength was needed but physical stamina.

Father John Mee

He has referred to himself as "The Old Man of the Mountains" since he is the oldest of all the missionaries with the society, but he is one of the healthiest and hardest men down there. From the time of his arrival at Maryknoll Language School in Bolivia until recently leaving his parish in Curahuasi, Peru, his basic good health has been his rod and his staff.

He's also rather bright, since the local Indian dialect, Quechua, is one of the most difficult to master. The Quechua Indians comprised his first assignment at Curahuasi, where he went up, up, up in the Andes to join another Padre and develop this infant Mission. It was scattered over 70 miles in three directions sometimes reaching an altitude of 15,000 feet.

Getting used to the altitude wasn't easy, but what was even more novel to our city-bred boy, was climbing to those slim mountain paths while clutching the back of his mountain pet and only means of transportation, "Muy Bien," the horse with sore feet. No yonder sore feet when his path was rocky, rocky. After thirteen hours on horseback to reach some of the more remote corners of the Mission. Father would have been glad to exchange sore spots with the horse. Even though he should have been too old to play "Cowboys and Indians," Padre Juan lost thirty pounds during his initial encounter with the former Inca Empire high in the Andes.

The water there must always be boiled. Food consists of a very sparse diet, corn, potatoes and occasional meat when an animal must be killed. For two months at one interval the old kerosene refrigerator was broken. That meant not a cold glass of water. But the survival of the fittest holds true and Father's wonderful work went on. That was the reward. Building a school, teaching a First Holy Communion class, blessing marriages after years and years, and setting the kind of example that encourages the poor to proudly display their love for God again.

Cardinal Cushing claims that his Society comprises the only missionaries who are working for their own extinction. When the people can take care of their own spiritual welfare, there will be no need for the Saint James Missionary Society.

One of Father Mee's big thrills before leaving the mountains was a First Mass at his Mission for a newly ordained Indian priest. About seven young boys have left to attend the Maryknoll Seminary to study for the priesthood. This is the beginning and a good one.

Now new territory is being opened. So Father bid his friends

314 Tots Enroll; Room for 350 In Kindergarten

Berkeley Heights—A total of 314 kindergartners have been registered for next fall. The Superintendent of Schools reports to the Board of Education Monday night noted that there is room in the schools for 350 kindergartners. Children and if past experience is used as a guide "registrations" between now and the fall should be comfortably accommodated.

It was also reported that requests for transfers of pupils to the Little Flower Parochial School have been made to the various schools and formulation of records has begun for these children.

was not home. His destination lay across the river. It was a fair facsimile of Dodge City, a town called Duran, population 20,000 or more, and situated at an elevation of ten feet. The strong tides of the river rise to eleven feet. Simple arithmetic paints a very damp picture. This is Padre Mee's new challenge.

Father's change from the altitude of the mountains to the tropical heat at Duran will be like jumping from the frying pan into the fire. The temperature when he left after his first brief look at the area was 112 degrees going into winter. In Duran Father joins two other Priests, one a former classmate, who have been working there since March. The last Priests left Ecuador almost twenty years ago. There are no American Priests there. In fact, the priest is considered a second class citizen. The mosquito, though, has no class distinction. He is considered a tasty dish. After scientific testing (hanging one black and one white cassock in a closet) it was discovered that the biting beast took to the black more readily. Therefore Father will be covering all exposed areas in white from head to toe. Sounds pure and pretty?

To assist this enthusiastic, eager man in his work, we must "Help Him Help Them." We must do more than laugh at his funny anecdotes, or cry with his lovable, happy children in rags. His Society needs money to carry on the work. The agents are there to build a fire of love in degrees going into winter. Of course the picture is black, poverty, politics and climate! But with such a fighter as Father Mee and a fair amount of money, miracles can be wrought.

The Rosary Society of Our Lady of Peace is spearheading plans for a Gala Benefit Dance on Saturday, June 29 at the Italian American Hall in Scotch Plains between 9 p.m. and 1 a.m. Tickets are $3 per couple and will benefit the Missionary Society of Saint James. Padre Juan Mee will be the honored guest. The affair should bring friends of Father's from all over the area and some only acquainted with the reputation of the man. Music, dancing, mid-

Make Outdoor Living A Year-Round Affair

If your family shares a crush of the season, on outdoor living, why not turn what is usually a brief summer affair into a year-round romance? Enclose a porch with large windows and your family can enjoy patio life regardless of the season.

One way to do it is with a series of combination wood doors. In summer, screens substituted for the glass sash in the doors will make it an airy outdoor room; while in winter the

Let Electricity Open Your Outdoors to Better Living

With Appliances

Today, with portable electric appliances you can be a good cook outdoors as easily as you can in your own kitchen.

Electric appliances eliminate the need for a fire, the danger of flareups, and the nuisance of dirty smoke and emptying ashes. Electricity is ready at the flip of a switch, without fanning, coaxing or waiting.

With Electric Lawn Mowers

Modern electric equipment such as a lawn mower makes grounds keeping a pleasure rather than a challenge. And, of course, with electricity there are no fuel worries, no oil to change, no carburetors to adjust and no carbon monoxide. In addition to the lawn mower, there are also electric hedge clippers and edgers, and for those with a green thumb, there are soil heat cables for hotbeds.

Ask your Reddy Kilowatt Dealer and Electrical Contractor to show you the many new products for better living outdoors. Ask them about the latest developments in outdoor wiring and lighting. They can help you plan to make an enjoyable use of electricity this summer and in the years to come.

Hahne's to Fly Famous Flags

On Flag Day, June 14, Hahne & Company's new store in Westfield will fly from its ramparts the flags of significant importance in the history of our Nation... those of the thirteen original States and the ten "Flags of our Country."

The 4' x 6' flags will be spaced across the front of the building on 12' poles. Today's fifty star flag will occupy the place of honor on the flag pole in front of the building.

The acquisition of these flags for the Westfield store was inspired by the Colonial traditions of the community, and as a patriotic tribute in keeping with the American heritage of which all Americans can well be proud.

On June 14, 1777 the Continental Congress of thirteen States adopted the Stars and Stripes as the design for the United States Flag... thirteen stars on a blue field and thirteen stripes—one for each State.

The thirteen original States' flags to be flown are those of Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Georgia, Rhode Island, South Carolina, New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, and Virginia.

The "Flags of our Country" to be flown are:

home owner.

One advantage of louvers is that while screening out the sun, they permit the circulation of fresh air.

For a porch with a southern exposure, a deep roof overhang or overhead latticework extending out from the roof is advisable to keep out the hottest rays of the midday summer sun.

glass inserts will permit the sun to warm the room from late fall until early spring. With storm sash, the room will be comfortable even in winter, with little or no added heat.

Another way to make a pleasant indoor-outdoor room is to enclose porch or patio with large areas of wood windows. Awning windows, which can be installed in banks—from floor to ceiling, if desired—open up and out, permitting air to enter while keeping out the rain.

For a full view, sliding doors and windows reaching from floor to ceiling are ideal, or large casement or sliding windows that reach almost to the floor may be used.

Stock wood windows and doors of ponderosa pine are available from building supply dealers in a wide variety of sizes and styles. Since they are chemically treated to last indefinitely, and come ready to paint or stain, they save the expense and trouble of custom carpentry.

One advantage of wood windows is that wood is a natural insulator. If they are double glazed or equipped with storm sash, there will be very little heat loss from the new room in cold weather. With minimum fuel cost, the glass-enclosed porch will be comfortable all year 'round.

There are several ways to screen out the heat and glare of the summer sun. Draw draperies, bamboo blinds, venetian blinds or the new vertical canvas blinds can be used.

Colorful window shades on rollers that can be installed to pull either up or down are popular today, as are folding wood louvers. Louvers of ponderosa pine, like wood windows and doors, can be bought at building supply centers and painted, stained or varnished to suit the

The St. George Cross flag—first English flag used in North America. It was flown by John Cabot in 1497 under the reign of King Henry VII.

The Kings Colors—the flag used for the Colonies in 1620 when the Mayflower landed in America. King James I took the Cross of St. George and superimposed it onto the Scottish flag of St. Andrew.

The Cromwell Flag—adopted by Queen Anne in 1707 for England and her Colonies. The Kings Colors were placed on a field of red.

The Continental Flag—appeared during the Revolutionary War. It replaced the Kings Colors with a Pine Tree—symbolic of the New England way of life. Many historians believe this banner was flown during the famous battle of Bunker Hill.

The Pine Tree Flag—flown on vessels in 1775 which were launched into service against the British shore defenses.

The Gadsden Flag—designed with a coiled rattlesnake over the words "don't tread on me". It is said the inscription was an answer to the British as a warning—meaning it was as dangerous to tread on the Colonies as it would be to step on an American rattlesnake.

Grand Union Flag—raised at Cambridge by General George Washington in 1776 when the Colonies adopted the thirteen stripes representing the thirteen Colonies. It kept the Kings Colors in the Canton, illustrating their allegiance to England—but their willingness to fight for their rights and justice.

Betsy Ross Flag—officially adopted by an Act of Congress on June 14, 1777. It is believed General George Washington was instrumental in designing Star Spangled Banner—designed shortly before the War of 1812 when two new States were added to the Union, and changing the flag from thirteen to fifteen Stars and Stripes. This banner inspired Francis Scott Key to write our National Anthem.

Old Glory—today's flag with fifty stars. Design adopted by Congress on April 4, 1818—establishing the stripes at seven red and six white, and an additional star for every new State joining the Union.

According to Junior C. Buck, President of Hahne & Company, these famous flags will also be flown on the Westfield building on the day of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence—the Fourth of July.

Of the 2,547 drivers involved in the group between 25 and 34 years of age, it was closely followed by the Jersey Turnpike in 1962, a total of 88%, or 2,263, involved males, while 284 involved females. In 1962, the major cause was

Inventor Perfects Budget Hearing Aid

Quincy, Mass. While hearing aid dealers and manufacturers from coast to coast have been running large ads to proclaim the smallest aids to hearing, a New England engineer has quietly perfected and placed on the market a device so small it fits even a child's ear with room to spare. No toy, this aid has a volume control which the user may instantly adjust as hearing conditions vary. In spite of its tiny size it reaches frequencies not covered by many "pocket-size" aids. N. P. Nichols, its inventor, says, "this latest Unex aid will be sold only through Budget Hearing Aid Dispensers and though priced well below the so called premium aids will outdo many far larger ones regularly sold at higher prices." Nichols has also invented other surprisingly small aids for the more severely deafened.

Work-saving Ideas to Aid Lazy Gardener

Do you like to do things the easiest way possible? With an absolute minimum of fuss and bother? If so, you'll want to try these tips from the gardening experts of the Union Fork and Hoe Company.

1. Organize your gardening activities around a centrally located work center. Provide a counter and shallow shelves for supplies. If wall is available, hang small tools, after cleaning blade, between row of nails with the blades up and handles down so that they are available at a glance and ready to use. Tool care prevents excessive rusting, maintains sharpness and saves effort. The larger, less frequently used equipment can be stored in a less handy area.
2. Get duplicates of those tools you use often and keep them close to their various points of employment. Then you can grab them whenever a job needs doing.

Store Extra Items

3. Store extras of the small items you use for minor garden repairs or adjustments in attractive containers on porch or terrace and near other doors leading to the garden. Use decorative baskets, boxes, or copper bowls. Include twine, planters, shears, trowel, wrench, spray nozzle, and small rolled-up paper bags for carrying away pest ridden twigs.

Run sprinkler hoses through shrub borders and leave them there for the season. Saves dragging hoses, especially in new plantings that need frequent soaking.

Keep a 2-gallon watering can near potted plants; arrange for both to be near a faucet.

Attach a siphon-type applicator to your hose so you can feed plants when you water them.

Simplify lawn care with a sturdy, well-designed cart that spreads fertilizers and lawn chemicals uniformly.

Keep Duster Ready:

8. Keep a duster ready with a good fungicide. Apply regularly and before rain during periods when disease can be expected on such plants as peonies, hollyhocks, and roses. Load another duster for insect pests.

MODERN KITCHEN — The home economics laboratory shown above of the newly built Summit High School was featured recently in the current issue of "Forecast For Home Economists." Forecast is a national magazine for professional home economists. The article, written by Miss Helen Kirtland, manager of the Electric Consumer's Institute, praised the "new story" of the new facility and its features free-standing appliances including refrigerator-freezers, portable dishwashers, washing machines and dryers.

Don't you read before you buy?
Most people do. They count on advertising in print to give them the information they want on products that interest them—information on features, designs, and prices, for example. People not only read about products and services, they show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples; they tear out ads to take along when they go shopping.
When you add it all up, print advertising—the kind you read in the pages of this newspaper—makes sense.
And because it measures up to the buying habits of first consumers, print makes sales.
Most people read—and then buy. Don't you?

Roses Soon to Stage Yearly Spectacular

June is the "month of roses." It's the time when the "queen of flowers" reigns supreme over all gardens as she bursts into her first flower finery of the season. With beautiful rose blooms everywhere, home and public gardens will be premiering a colorful performance that will run continuously for the next few months.

While one prize rose bush dressed in its best bloom will steal the scene in any garden, when hundreds of famous roses join the cast to stage a show, the event is a scented spectacle.

Thousands of the world's prize roses are the stars of rose spectaculars during June at the country's many public parks and gardens. There are more than 120 municipal, state and private gardens across the nation that invite visitors to view the shows free.

A visit to the nearby public gardens—or those within short driving distance—makes a pleasant one day's outing the whole family will enjoy. Some of the famous rose gardens more distantly located will make interesting and restful stops on this summer's vacation or motor tour.

The show-stoppers of these spectaculars are always the world's prize roses—the All-America Rose Selections. Taking center stage this year will be the newest recipients of the country's highest garden award, the 1964 All-America Rose winners. Glorious displays of these new prize varieties will give rose lovers their first glimpse of the blooms that will be in the spotlight in home gardens next year.

Other famous names in the all-star cast include the 1963 AARS winners, Tropicana and Royal Highness, and the 1962 title-holders, Christian Dior, Golden Slippers, John S. Armstrong and King's Ransom. Gardens are kept up-to-date by duty through All-America contributions from the rose in-Rose Selections, its pre-testing organization. AARS conducts its public gardens program in the public interest and in support of municipal and state projects of beautification and landscaping.

During June, the month of roses, and in the summer months that follow, public gardens feature special events and clinics centered about the care and culture of roses. Special rose days, guided tours and instructions are some of the highlights. Check on the scheduling of events before you set out.

Bobwhite quail are found in small coveys and prefer fairly open, cultivated or pasture land shelter.

Ice Vending Machine Permit Is Approved
New Providence—Ice cubes will be available as needed for area residents. A permit for an ice vending machine was approved for location adjacent to Lou's Luncheonette, 133 South St., by Borough Council Monday night.
Councilman Godfrey Moll, chairman of the Building Committee, recommended that William F. Pabst be granted the permit on the basis that the operation be made as attractive as possible. The present circus decorative aspects of the machine will be painted one color, a white, tan or light green. A poured concrete walk to eliminate mud will be installed as well as timer which will turn off the lights by 10 a.m. at the latest. Only one sign with the word ICE no larger than two square feet will be permitted.
The permit was granted on the basis that it be maintained in a manner satisfactory to the building inspector and in accord with the anti-litter ordinance.
Councilman Moll said that a ice vending machine is needed in the borough and that the Council's only concern was to insure that it be as attractive and well-maintained as possible.

For Outstanding Work in Engineering
Freedman Wins Sarnoff Award
Berkeley Heights — Norman S. Freedman of 25 Ford Pl., Murray Hill, as one of the six man team which developed practical structures and production methods for thermoelectric power generators, is the recipient of the 1963 David Sarnoff Outstanding Team Award in Engineering. He is a member of the engineering staff at the RCA Electron Tube Division, Harrison.
The David Sarnoff Outstanding Achievement Awards were established by RCA in 1956 to commemorate the 50th anniversary in radio of General David Sarnoff.
Mr. Freedman as a member of the team, successfully developed a practical method of utilizing these superior new thermoelectric materials for satellite applications. This group had first to evolve a method for attaching electrical and thermal contacts to the thermocouples, and then to set up pilot production facilities to produce the thermocouples in usable quantities. In addition, they translated the Laboratories zone-leveling technique into a well-controlled, highly efficient material fabrication process.
As Manager of the Superconductor Materials and Devices Laboratory at the David Sarnoff Research Center, Mr. Freedman has been associated with the Radio Corporation of America since 1943.
He was graduated from New York University with a Bachelor's degree in chemical engineering in 1943, and subsequently has taken graduate work at Columbia University.
In April, 1943, Mr. Freedman joined the R.C.A. Electron Tube Division in Harrison, N.J., specializing in electrochemical work and the process development of electron tubes. During World War II, he was active in the development of direct silver-to-glass seals for use in microwave tubes for airborne radar. In 1950, he received an R.C.A. Laboratories Award for outstanding work in research and development of "The Method Employed in the Fabrication of Phosphor Screens in Tri-Color Kinescope Tubes." Between 1953 and 1962, Mr. Freedman held a series of managerial positions of increasing importance. In 1962 when the new Superconductor Materials and Devices Laboratory was established, Mr. Freedman was named to his present position as manager.
He is a Senior Member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, and a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Physical Society, the American Ceramic Society, the Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, and the IEEE Admissions Committee.

New Providence — An ordinance to create the office of deputy borough clerk was introduced upon first reading Monday night by Borough Council. Public hearing on the ordinance will be held June 24th at 8 p.m.
The proposed ordinance would permit the deputy clerk to step in and assume the duties of the borough clerk in the absence of the clerk, or in the event of a vacancy in the office of clerk by death, resignation or otherwise.
The deputy clerk shall be a resident, shall hold office during the pleasure of the Council, shall not be removed without being afforded an opportunity to be heard. Unless removed sooner, he shall hold office until December 31st of the year of his appointment and until his successor shall have qualified, according to the proposed ordinance. The complete legal is published in this issue of the Dispatch.
Mayor Francis Farley said that he was not opposed to the proposed ordinance.
Thomas Musson, retiring borough clerk, will terminate his duties on Sunday, July 30th at 4:30 p.m. A borough clerk is always on call. The Council reluctantly accepted his resignation.
Mayor Farley voiced interest in resolving the conflict with Council over the administrator's post. Monday, June 17th has been set as date for a review by Council of the mayor's objections to the administrator post.
Councilman Lawrence Mezzacca noted that it was the duty of the Council and mayor to solve the problem, not just argue.

An evaluation of the program to be offered by a industrial-commercial ratable committee which will attract new ratables to the borough will be made before the next conference meeting, the mayor said.
He accepted as worthwhile Councilman Lawrence Mezzacca and Councilman Frederick Russell's suggestions that having some one on the scene during the day for tours of the borough with prospects, and the use of senior citizens for such a project.

Four local residents won copies of Joey Adams' book "On the Road for Uncle Sam" as prizes in the recent Shop-Rite Stokely Van Camp 12th anniversary contest.
They are Mrs. Albert Lindner of 481 Park Ave., Mr. Robert J. Henry of 35 Saw Mill Dr., Mrs. Regina Hague of 212 Dogwood La., all of Berkeley Heights, and L. W. Sharp of 12 Whitman Dr., New Providence.
According to legend, mahogany trees should be cut by moonlight because they are sounder, freer of sap, and of a richer color than when cut by day. But wood experts say the story has no basis in fact.

Nesbitt Wins Gardell Trophy

Berkeley Heights — Lynn Nesbitt, Governor Livingston Regional High School's tremendous all-around athlete, has added another first to the long list of firsts he has recorded during his three-year, three sports career.

Lynn, a 6-0, 200-pound senior who has starred in football, basketball and baseball for three years, was selected by the county's coaches as this year's recipient of the Walter A. Gardell Trophy.

Lynn is the first Highlander athlete to receive the award. The trophy is presented on the basis of athletic achievement, scholarship and school citizenship.

In earning the award, Lynn beat out Clark Regional's Ken Hauswald, Roselle Catholic's Roger Radecki and Hillside's Paul Frieder.

Nesbitt was a linebacker on defense and an end and fullback on offense on the Highlander football team. He scored just under 1,100 points in three seasons of basketball and led Governor Livingston to the regional State Group 3 championship last season. He was selected for all-county and all-state teams.

In baseball, he was the third

Champs Pacing Girls Softball In Borough

New Providence — In spite of two rained-out dates, the New Providence P. A. L. Girls Softball League is shaping up as a much tighter race than last year.

Although last year's champions, the Vultures, are leading the loop, both wins were gained only after tight battles.

The Warriors and Wildcats are tied for second place with one win and one loss and the Thunderbirds have yet to gain their first victory.

Leading pitchers this year include Kathy Fish, Vultures; Susan Ott, Thunderbirds; Ann Knox, Warriors; and Connie O'Brien, Wildcats. Wendy Curtis, Nancy Irvine, Cheryl Briggs, Margaret Willeford and Kathy Guidara show indications of repeating their outstanding fielding of last year.

Batting averages will be computed after the teams play their third game. This year the league has two official scorekeepers in Mary Waddington and Judy Shadlack, senior girls in the P. A. L. organization.

Summit Nine Finishes In Fourth Place

Summit — A 6-4 victory over Millburn High combined with the cancellation of a postponed game between Cedar Grove and Caldwell assured Summit High School's baseball team of a first division finish in the Suburban Conference last week.

Coach Howie Anderson's Hilltoppers scored five runs in the first two innings in averaging an earlier loss to the Millers. This triumph offset the effect of a 9-0 rout by conference champion, Verona, the following day. The victory gave the Hilltoppers the conference title with a 12-2 record. Madison finished in second place with an 11-3 mark, while Millburn (8-6) was third.

Summit won six of 14 conference games to edge Cedar Grove (5-8) for fourth place.

Bill Ritchie got Summit off to a fast start against Millburn with a two-run homer in the Hilltoppers' three-run first inning. Millburn bounced back with a run in the first, but Summit scored twice in the third inning and picked up another run in the fourth to lead

Bell Drugs Tightens Boys' Loop

New Providence — Bell Drugs tightened up the pennant race in the New Providence Recreation Boys National Baseball League by upsetting previously undefeated Adell's, 19-12.

The defeat cut Adell's lead over Summit Trust Company to one-half game. Summit Trust outslugged Friedman's Hardware, 12-9.

Murray Hill Apartments gained a virtual tie for first place by blanking the Kossuth Realtors, 8-0, and downing New Providence Hardware, 8-3.

The Lions Club won its first game, outlasting the P.A.L. Chiefs, 25-20. Bell Drugs also defeated the P.A.L. nine, scoring a 17-6 victory.

The Kossuth Realtors routed the Pittsford Civic Association, 27-8. Lou's Luncheonette and New Providence Hardware evened their season records by defeating the Lions Club, 11-2, and Friedman's Hardware, 5-4.

Springlake Wins 8th Straight in Softball

Summit — Rain limited play to just four games on the Summit Recreation Softball League schedule last week.

A tight defense and an outstanding two-hit performance by hurler Pete Kivlen of Springlake brought the league leaders their eighth consecutive win.

The rampaging leaders tallied three runs in the opening frame off loser John Patrick to look up the game. Both John Mastrobuono and Larry Alocco collected three hits to pace Springlake at bat.

J & J Construction scored four runs in the first inning and added three more in the second to coast to an easy 9-5 win over Park View Tavern.

Tom Maccaro, working on the hill for J & J, picked up the win although he needed help in the late innings from reliever Jerry Natale.

The victory was the first of the season for J & J and snapped its seven-game losing streak.

Margery Dickson 2d In Junior Olympics

Summit — Margery Dickson of Summit Junior High School broad jumped 14 feet, 5 inches to capture second place in the seventh annual New Jersey Junior Olympics sponsored by the New Jersey Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The meet was held at the Christian Brothers Academy in Lincroft. Athletes from all over New Jersey, including 11 others from Summit, competed in the meet. Miss Dickson was Summit's only trophy winner.

Also representing Summit were these winners of the local competition at Tatlock field: Tom O'Dell (high jump); Bart English (100-yard dash); John Ritchie (high jump); John Hetherington (broad jump); Robbie Urann (100-yard dash); Wade Morris (440 yard dash, high jump, and broad jump); John Langenus (shot put); Candice Brown (50-yard dash and broad jump); Kathy Cahill (50-yard dash and broad jump); Helen DeSimone (50-yard dash); and Barbara Houghton (100-yard dash, broad jump, and softball throw).

A special treat for those who attended was a demonstration by one of the nation's highest-ranking walkers, Ron Kulick, and some stimulating remarks by Olympic pole vaulter, Don Bragg, who also presented awards to the winners of each event. Hosts for the day were the Greater Red Bank Jaycees, who originated the Junior Olympics in 1957.

Transportation to and from Lincroft, and coaching of the Summit athletes, was handled by Summit Jaycees Dick McCullough, Don Freud, and Steve Edds, and by interested parents—Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Houghton.

New Providence Nine Routs Kearny PAL

New Providence — Three years of excellent coaching and good team play paid off as the New Providence entry in the State P.A.L. Baseball League trounced the Kearny P.A.L., 22-1, in a game played at Kearny.

Long the doormat in this league, the New Providence Mets have shown all in the league that this will be the year of reckoning as the players, in the 13-16 year age bracket, and led by Joe Walsh, Mike Rubino and George Mea, amassed 21 hits and fielded flawlessly.

Walsh, with a triple and a home run and Rubino, with a double and a home run led the batting attack. George Mea pitched a three-hit game. Mea aided his own cause with three timely hits. Ricky Severone with three hits and Gary Rice with a long triple also helped the Mets attack.

For the first time in the 15-year history of the P.A.L., a local team will have the opportunity to play a regulation baseball game under artificial illumination. The New Providence P.A.L. Mets will encounter the Elizabeth P.A.L. at Elizabeth on Thursday evening, June 20th at 8 p.m. at Warinanco Stadium.

Hawks Nine, Fellsway Triumph

New Providence — Three one-run games had a serious effect on the eventual outcome of the New Providence Recreation Boys American Baseball League race.

The P. A. L. Hawks and the Fellsway Civic Association won their games by one run, while Strong Cobb Arner lost by that margin.

As a result, the Hawks and the Fellsway now have the upperhand in the battle for the league title. The Hawks (9-2) nipped Elkwood Estates, 5-4, while the Fellsway (8-2) edged Our Lady of Peace, 6-5.

Gardeners Should Not Overlook "Old" Methods

In this age of so-called "miracle" chemicals it is important that the gardener does not overlook many of the older and wider used chemicals available. In many cases these established tried and proved preparations provide the best answer to the gardener's specific insect problems.

Nicotine sulphate is an excellent example of a chemical preparation that has been used for over 80 years and is still one of the most effective insecticides available for the control of aphids and similar sucking insects.

The history of nicotine sulphate as a garden spray can be traced back to 1879. A company producing wrappers for plub tobacco used a process which involved soaking the tobacco leaf in an alcohol solution. During this soaking, the alcohol absorbed a volatile alkaloid from the tobacco, commonly known as nicotine. For years this solution had been discarded but through experiments the tobacco company found that it effectively killed lice and mites. After this discovery the solution was bottled and sold to farmers and gardeners for insect control. It was one of the first commercially prepared insecticides ever sold.

After extensive research, it was found that nicotine could be much more effectively used as an insecticide in a 40% nicotine sulphate solution. This type of solution kills aphids, thrips, leafhoppers and similar sucking insects with a two-way action . . . by contact and by "gassing" them with fumes. This solution was trademarked the public.

"Black Leaf 40" and offered to Research on the use of nicotine sulphate has been continuous. The results of this scientific investigation are important to gardeners and indicate that 40% nicotine sulphate offers qualities which are superior to many of the newer chemicals. For example, there is no insect build-up to immunity from 40% nicotine sulphate spray. Through all of its years of use insects have not been able to develop strains resistant to nicotine sulphate. Insects have been able to build-up immunity to many of the newer, so-called "miracle" chemicals. The development of resistant insect strains have been most disconcerting to gardeners who might find that last year's "miracle" turns out to be this year's "disappointment."

Although 40% nicotine sulphate is a highly effective killer of harmful insects, it does not destroy beneficial predatory insects or pollinizers. These beneficial insects actually aid the gardener by helping to destroy harmful insects. Of course the pollinizers, such as bees play an important role in the plant reproductive cycle.

It is important to note that many conservation authorities and bird lovers have been concerned by many of the newer chemicals causing the destruction of bird life. This destruction of bird life is actually caused indirectly by the chemicals but still it represents a serious threat. The insects eat portions of the plants covered with the newer chemicals and retain the poison internally. Birds then eat the insects and become poisoned by the chemical residue remaining in the insect's stomach. Since 40% nicotine sulphate kills by external contact and fumes this threat to bird life is not present when 40% nicotine sulphate is used.

To make the gardener's job easier, 40% nicotine sulphate is compatible with most standard spray materials making it ideal for combination spraying. Combination spraying which might utilize several different insecticides and fungicides allows the gardener to do several jobs at the same time.

Along with these other qualities, 40% nicotine sulphate offers the advantage of being non-caustic, thereby protecting foliage. It does not leave any unsightly residue after application. The gardener must remember that he is faced with over 300,000 different types of insect enemies. Proper chemical selection depends upon the type of control that is needed and on what type of plant application is to be made. There is no universal cure-all.

Resident Notes 35 Years with Bell Laboratories

Ludwig Evers of 106 Glenside Avenue, marks his 35th anniversary of service with Bell Telephone Laboratories this month.

He is general supervisor of the component shop at the Laboratories in Whippany. This shop, which produces electrical components such as transformers and computer memory units for Laboratories' projects, also provided some of the electrical components used in the Telstar satellites.

After an instrument maker apprenticeship, Mr. Evers was graduated from a technical institute in his native Germany. He came to Bell Labs in 1928 as an instrument and tool maker, and participated in early development work on repeaters and components for submarine cables. During World War 2, Mr. Evers trained women in mechanical work.

Mr. Evers, a widower, has lived in Summit for 16 years.
