

Ernest M. May Picked To Fill Council Seat Vacated by Trucksess

Ernest M. May of 57 Colt road was named a Councilman from Ward 2 Thursday night during the annual Organization Meeting at City Hall to fill the seat left vacant by the election of David E. Trucksess as the city's 21st Mayor.

Mr. May will fill the unexpired Council term of Mayor Trucksess which ends December 31 of this year. If Mr. May becomes a candidate in the April Republican Primaries and is winner of that election and the November General Elections he will then serve a three-year term beginning January 1, 1965.

Following his appointment, Mr. May was immediately assigned chairman of the building and grounds committee and a member of the safety committee as well as Common Council's representative to the Youth Guidance Council.

Mr. May will succeed Mr. Trucksess who became the 21st Mayor of the city on Thursday night. During 1963 Mr. Trucksess, who was also Council President, was acting mayor because of the resignation on December 31, 1962 of former Mayor Ogden D. Gensemer.

President of the Otto B. May Inc., of Newark, manufacturers of vat dyes, Mr. May has been a resident of Summit since 1941. He is president of the Summit Council of Churches, and a former president of Family Service Association of which he is now a member of the board of trustees. Mr. May is also a member of the cabinet of the United Campaign and a vestryman at Calvary Episcopal Church.

Born at Newark, Mr. May graduated from Newark Academy, attended LeRosey School at Switzerland, earned an MA from Princeton, and a Ph.D. in organic chemistry from the University of Chicago.

Mr. May is a member of the board of governors of the Synthetic Organic Chemical Manufacturers Association, chairman of the Dye Industry Task Force, a trustee of the Youth Conservation Service of Newark, and a director of Cone Mills, Co. of Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. May are the parents of three children, Ernest, a senior at Harvard; Jane, a sophomore at Berkens School, and Susie, a student at Franklin School.

Cunningham to Speak
John T. Cunningham, New Jersey author and historian will address the Old Guard on Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in the YMCA as part of the organization's observance during January of the state's Tercentenary celebration.

Mayor Predicts 38-Point Boost In '64 Tax Rate

The new year brings to Summit new problems, largely fiscal. Mayor David E. Trucksess warned in his traditional "state of the city" message given to Common Council Thursday at the annual organization meeting.

Bennett to Head Council 4 Named to New Jobs on City Boards

Ward 1 Councilman Elmer J. Bennett was elected president of Common Council for 1964 during the 66th annual Organization Meeting of the city's governing body Thursday night at City Hall.

Mr. Bennett had served as president, pro-tem of Council during 1963, and takes over the Council presidency from Mayor David E. Trucksess.

Appointed to the Local Assistance Board was Mrs. Helen Huber of 19 Karen Way who replaces Mrs. Archibald Murray. The appointment will run for four years and will expire on December 31, 1967.

Appointed to a five-year term to expire December 31, 1968 as a trustee of the Public Library was John R. Dunn of 51 Butler parkway; while former Mayor Percival M. Bland was appointed to a one-year term to the PAL Advisory Board, which will end on Jan. 6, 1965.

Dr. Clark, who attended Summit schools, is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Dental School. He also attended Lafayette College. He is a member of the board of stewards of the Methodist Church, Rotary Club and the Union County Dental Society.

Mrs. Huber, who is vice-chairman of the Union County Republican Committee, was an unsuccessful GOP primary candidate for a Ward 1 Council berth last April.

Summit Marked 1963 With the Will to Further Progress

With the peal of New Year's bells fading in the distance, Summit was ready to roll up its sleeves and tackle 1963 with a surprise announcement from City Hall reported that Ogden D. Gensemer, mayor of Summit since 1938, resigned, and that David E. Trucksess, Ward 2 Councilman and president of Common Council, was named acting Mayor. Immediately, William R. Gilson, a former Councilman-at-Large threw his hat into the ring as a candidate in the April Republican primary to oppose Mr. Trucksess for the city's top post.

On the political scene, things became even warmer with a third entry into the Ward 1 primary race, Mrs. Helen M. Huber, the first woman ever to vie for political office in Summit. The other candidates were Mr. Ratichek and Mr. Sailer.

Robert L. Talbot was named a member of the Board of Education to replace L. Chester May and new building in the city for the first two months of the year was well above the 1962 rate.

ing Home and the Herald, in a New Year's editorial, said there were 13 definitions and 10 synonyms for the word "resolution" and that we had a wide choice when it came to making them in 1963.

At the annual Organization Meeting of Common Council, acting Mayor Trucksess said that garbage disposal would be the top problem in the city in 1963.

On a savings note, the Board of Recreation returned $2,021 in unused 1962 funds to the city, and Postmaster Robert M. Duns more pleaded with local residents to remove snow from their lawns in an effort to prevent accidents since 15 mailmen took falls during the winter in making their rounds.

On the political scene, things became even warmer with a third entry into the Ward 1 primary race, Mrs. Helen M. Huber, the first woman ever to vie for political office in Summit.

Evelyn Holt, Local Doctor Dies in Maine

Dr. Evelyn Holt, a longtime resident and practicing physician of Summit for more than 25 years, died suddenly on Monday at her home at North Rumford, Me. She was 65.

Dr. Holt was born in New York City, the daughter of the late Philetus H. and Agnes White Holt of Summit. She was a graduate of Kent Place School, Wellesley College and Cornell Medical School. After graduating from medical college she became the first woman to intern at New York Hospital, New York City, and was a member of the staff at the hospital for more than 25 years.

For several years Dr. Holt practiced at New York City and served as assistant editor of the Heart Journal. In 1935 she moved her practice to Summit where she was active until her retirement in April, 1962, with the exception of a 2-year period during World War 2 during which she was in the Middle East assisting in the care of refugees. She also taught in internal medicine at Cornell Medical School.

Dr. Holt was a cardiologist and attending physician in medicine on the staff of Overlook Hospital and in 1950 served as head of the staff. Before her retirement she was a trustee of Kent-Place School.

She is survived by her step-mother, Mrs. Philetus H. Holt, an adopted daughter, Mrs. Burton de Frees of North Rumford, Me., and two sisters, Mrs. Cyril Fanny of Morris Plains and Mrs. Richard Day of Pittsburg, Pa.

Funeral services will be held Friday, January 3, at the Unitarian Church conducted by Rev. Jacob R. Trapp, D.D. Friends are asked to omit flowers and instead make contributions to Overlook Hospital or Kent-Place School.

In paying tribute to Dr. Holt, Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, president of the Overlook Hospital medical staff, said: "We will long remember Dr. Holt for many things: Her dedication and service to the people of our communities; her great modesty and humility, consciously avoiding public recognition of her many philanthropic and civic accomplishments; her unstinting giving of herself to her colleagues, her patients, her friends; her strong influence in the development of a medical education program at Overlook. She left her mark on the community and the hospital, and the fruits of her life will be apparent for many years to come."

The visit of the American delegation was arranged by the State Department under its program of East-West contacts and was sponsored by the Harvard Business School and the American Marketing Association.

Mrs. Edwards, a graduate of Oberlin College, is manager of the marketing research department, international division, of Schering Corporation, a manufacturer of pharmaceuticals.

All young women under 40 years of age are invited to join the Thoughtstir group. Topics both timely and thought-provoking are selected, researched

Women's Church Group to Hear Fanwood Cleric

The Women's Association of Central Presbyterian Church will meet on Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the auditorium of the Parish House. Mrs. H. F. Whitney, the new president, will preside over the meeting which will be opened with a devotional by Mrs. Raleigh Jackson.

The speaker will be Dr. George L. Hunt, of the Fanwood Presbyterian Church, Fanwood. Dr. Hunt is author of the Association's study book for the coming year, "Be What You Are," and introduction to Colossians.

Dr. Hunt, a native of Philadelphia, received his education at Maryville College and Princeton Theological Seminary. He was ordained to the ministry in 1943 and has served the Presbyterian church in many capacities. His interests in adult education, the laity in the mission of the church, and the ecumenical movement is reflected by his service as secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, secretary of the general division of lay education and editor of adult study material.

Reservations for luncheon must be made by noon January 6 with Mrs. Ben D. Evans, CR 3-5313. There will be nursery care for young children.

Former U.S. Envoy to UN To Speak Here

A distinguished American statesman comes to Summit for the Athenaeum program at the High School, next Thursday evening, when James J. Wadsworth, formerly United States Ambassador to the United Nations, will speak.

Mr. Wadsworth earned world respect for his untiring efforts to achieve universal and lasting peace among nations during the seven years of service as deputy U.S. representative. As head of the American delegation in 1960, he skillfully parried Khrushchev's shoe-pounding thurings at the historic October General Assembly meeting.

Chairman of the National Citizens Committee for Nuclear Test Ban, Mr. Wadsworth is also past president of the Peace Research Institute, a private agency outside government to undertake and stimulate research in all fields relevant to peace, security, disarmament and international order.

His first book "The Price of Peace" was published in 1962. He is working on a second book and a series of articles regarding the United Nations. He is author of several recent magazine articles on nuclear testing, disarmament and foreign policy and is a frequent contributor to The Saturday Review.

Before his appointment to the UN, Mr. Wadsworth served in a number of posts in the federal government as acting Administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Administration and American senior representative of the United States-Canadian Joint Civil Defense Mission. From 1941 to 1945 Mr. Wadsworth was Assistant Industrial Relations Manager of the Aircraft Division of the Curtis-Wright Corporation.

Scion of an old New York family devoted to politics and public service, James Jeremiah Wadsworth was born at Groveland, N. Y.

His father, James W. Wadsworth, son of a U.S. Congressman, was a U.S. Senator from New York. On his mother's side of the family, he is the grandson of John Milton Hay, former U.S. Secretary of State. "Jerry" Wadsworth, as he is known to his friends, was graduated from Yale in 1927, after which he managed the family dairy farm and bred Belgian and Percheron horses at Geneseo, N. Y. In 1931 he ran successfully for the New York State Assembly, holding his seat for 10 years before resigning to go with Curtis-Wright. In 1937, Adfred University honored Mr. Wadsworth with an LL.D. degree.

Post Office Again Sets New Records in Yule Mail

The Summit Post Office closed out the year with new records established in annual postal receipts and in the volume of Christmas mail. Postmaster Robert M. Dunsmore reported this week.

For the first time since a post office was opened in Summit annual receipts topped the million-dollar mark, Dunsmore disclosed.

The local office handled more than 7 million units of mail from the period of December 13 to 24, to set a new high for Christmas mail volume. A total of 11 million units was processed during the period of December 1 to 24.

In order to handle this deluge the truck fleet was doubled to 16 vehicles, assuring delivery of all Christmas mail by December 25.

The heaviest single day was on December 17 when 757,000 units were processed to set another new record for one-day handling.

Coffee will be served at 9:30 and before Mrs. Timmons speaks, there will be election of officers.

Theme of Mrs. Timmons' talk will be the "Job of United Church Women for 1964 in the Larger and National Sense."

Mrs. Allison Hearn, retiring president, will bring the council up to date on local aspects of the 1964 program. The organization unifies church women not only in the ecumenical movement, but in social legislative action.

The committee in charge of the annual meeting includes: Mrs. Charles E. De Long, chairman; Mrs. George V. Hoffman, jr.; Mrs. Walter Reichenback; Mrs. George H. Smith, and Mrs. Robert Fresh in charge of the morning coffee hour.

Housing Group To Hear About Negro Goals

Mrs. Rhoda Freeman, formerly a lecturer in American history at Hunter College, will discuss "The Efforts of the Negro to Achieve Status in the White Community" at the next meeting of the Summit Area Open Housing Committee meeting on January 4 at 8:15 p.m. at the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Freeman's talk will deal with the history of Negro activity in civil rights; the early Southern patterns of relationships between Negroes and Whites; and the more recent successes of non-violent movements in producing social change in the United States.

She has given the same talk many times before to other interested groups.

Mrs. Freeman holds a BA degree from Hunter College, an MA degree from George Washington University, and is presently completing her doctorate in American history at Columbia University with a dissertation on "The Free Negro in New York City."

She is also presently the education chairman of the Livingston Fair Housing Committee and a member of its executive board.

The public is invited to attend the forthcoming meeting. A question-and-answer period will follow Mrs. Freeman's talk.

Local Man Completes Air Force Training

Airman 3/c Robert W. Nason of Summit, is being reassigned to Eglin AFB, Fla., following his graduation from the technical training course for United States Air Force aircraft mechanics at Tinker Air Force Base.

Nason was trained to maintain and service reciprocating engine aircraft and aircraft systems.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Nason of 63 Baltusrol Road, and is a graduate of Summit High School. He entered the Air Force last July.

Second Award, Not First

In last week's issue of the Herald it was erroneously stated that McElgunn's men's shop, winner of this year's store decoration contest, also was winner of the Summit Area Development's first "torch award" issued by that organization. The "torch award" was first issued in December, 1962, and won by Root's, winner of the Christmas decorating contest for that year.

Women Voters To Study New Land Use Law

A study of "Title 40", the state law concerning counties, municipalities and other public subdivisions, and proposed revisions of this body of law, is being undertaken by the League of Women Voters throughout the state of New Jersey. The Local Land Use Law, including the Planning Board, the Master Plan, subdivisions, zoning and variances, is the topic of the Summit League units for January.

Municipalities and counties in New Jersey may do only what the Legislature has specified they may do, having no authority of their own. Revision of the state law is a vital subject for study where municipalities and counties are being called upon to provide a multiplicity of services for an increasingly urban population. The object of revision of "Title 40" is to enact a comprehensive statute which will provide local government units with the capacity to handle these problems.

The Legislature created a commission in 1956 to study existing law and draft a revision. Some chapters have already been revised and adopted by the Legislature, others have been revised, but not yet adopted. The Local Land Use Law is the first such chapter being studied by local Leagues.

Summit neighborhood unit meetings will be held on Monday, January 6, 12 noon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Kaplan, 105 New England avenue, with Mrs. Robert Teel, discussion leader, and Mrs. Carl V. Carambio, resource contributor. Wednesday, January 8, 9:30 a.m., at the home of Mrs. H. Jutla, 23 Edgemont avenue, Mrs. Ralph Ball, discussion leader, and Mrs. W. C. Kleinfelder, resource contributor. Wednesday, January 8, 9:30 a.m., at the home of Mrs. Arthur Boehm, 20 Clearview Drive, Mrs. Saunders Jamison, discussion leader, and Mrs. G. E. Long, resource contributor. Thursday, January 9, 9:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Kiehl, 87 Pine Grove avenue, Mrs. Edward A. Reisen, discussion leader, and Mrs. W. C. Lenz, resource contributor. Monday, January 13, 8:15 p.m. (husbands welcome), at the home of Mrs. Donald Mitchell, jr., 112 Ashland road, Mrs. J. S. Russell, discussion leader, and Mrs. W. C. Kleinfelder, resource contributor.

The Kuril Islands lying between Alaska and Siberia derived their name from Russia's "kuril" which is the word for smoking. Active volcanoes are reported on the islands.

Resident Heads Research Unit At Bell Labs

Robert C. Miller of 40 Oakley avenue has been named head of the solid state spectroscopy research department of Bell Telephone Laboratories, Murray Hill. He will be in charge of physics research in optical phenomena, such as optical masers, and their interactions with materials.

In 1934 Dr. Miller joined the technical staff of Bell Laboratories and since then he has worked in the field of solid state physics, including research on semiconductors, ferroelectrics, and dielectrics, and the interaction of optical maser beams with dielectrics.

Dr. Miller received the A.B. degree in 1948, the M.A. in 1952, and the Ph.D. in 1956, all at Columbia University.

Summit Marked 1963 With the Will to Further Progress

(Continued from Page 1) its new church on Morris avenue in five car accidents during the week, and the United Campaign postponed action on the Salvation Army's bid to membership. The Spring drive neared the $30,000 mark, and Dr. Gordon McKay Stevenson died of cancer at the age of 53.

On the political scene, former mayors of Summit and a majority of past Councilmen threw their support to Truckess in the mayoralty race, and Mrs. F. W. Amberg was named president of the YWCA. Rome A. Betts was named president of the National Health Council, and W. Rae Crane was honored by the Summit Area Chamber of Commerce on his retirement after 29 years of service.

Two local teenagers, hiked to Trenton. Gilson urged more city park land, and Truckess scored his opponent on future school plans.

The first full color advertisement appeared in the Herald on March 21. Mrs. Huber launched her campaign for the Ward 1 Council nomination with a coffee, and Mr. Ratichek said council was "no place for on the job show at Kent Place School.

As mid-April approached, a heavy vote was predicted for Primary day when voters would cast their ballots for a mayorality and Ward 1 candidate. Charges and counter-charges were being swapped from all sides and the voters settled back to await the results.

12,000 "Killed"

It was announced that a mythical three-megaton atomic device which exploded over Morristown "killed" 12,000 local residents and "injured" 8,000 others while wiping out the city. A rash of brush fires kept the fire department busy, and two area persons died in automobile accidents outside the city. The city's downtown business area was plastered with anti-UN posters, and new building continued to stay above the 1962 rate. Arthur Manser, a long time merchant in Summit, and one of the founders of the Businessmen's Association, predecessor to the Chamber of Commerce, died at the age of 95. Editorially, the Herald said "his departure is as though some familiar landmark has fallen.

In baseball, Summit High trounced Berkeley Heights Regional 18-3, and the "best picture of the year", "West Side Story" was playing at the Strand theater.

(As the last week in April approached, the state said Summit could not set its own speed limits, and the patient load at Overlook Hospital set a record. Roland L. Wolcott was named assistant superintendent of Schools and Family Service celebrated its 50th anniversary. In observance of Arbor Day, the city was set to plant cherry trees, and St. Teresa's was plagued with a series of poor box thefts.

Edward A. Pizzi was elected chairman of the Summit Republican City Committee for the ninth time, and the Herald commenting on the recent primary election said that "the time has come, to coin an original phrase, to close ranks."

Rabbi Israel S. Dresner, one of the Freedom Riders who was arrested in the south during racial demonstrations, was guest speaker at the Summit Area Chapter of Hadassah.

As May made its debut, the Herald sponsored by the Summit Area Chamber of Commerce listed hundreds of brand-name items which residents could purchase locally.

As May neared the half-way mark, Council okayed an ordinance permitting the extension of Summit avenue across Morris avenue to Oakland place for an estimated cost of $20,000. At the same time, the city moved to increase the number of on-premise liquor consumption licenses from six to seven for the first time in 30 years.

New building in the city took a nosedive from the 1962 rate, and the Open Housing Committee mailed a statement to 10,000 area residents. The Herald came out in favor of the proposed Master Plan, and Robert Welch, chairman of the John Birch Society, purchased a full page ad in the Herald announcing that the controversial book, "The Politician", which Mr. Welch wrote, could be purchased.

William Calnan, city forester was named president of the Arborist Association of New Jersey, and Mother's Day had arrived. Dr. Edward J. Micone was elected president of the Union County Dental Society.

As May reached the midway point, resident objections to the proposed Master Plan were beginning to mount. More than 200 hostile property owners were on hand for a public hearing that lasted nearly three hours at which time many of the proposals were picked apart. One of the major objections was the proposed rezoning of the CIBA tract.

It was announced that the American Opinion Library, a right wing organization affiliated with the John Birch Society would make available locally conservative literature in an effort to "break the blackout of the other side of the news."

Seek Home Road Rule

Summit took the lead in urging the state legislature to permit "home rule" when it comes to setting speed limits. Camp Fund donations reached the $1,365 mark, and Rev. David K. Barnwell, D. D., was reelected president of the Athenaeum. The Art Center's annual spring outdoor show was termed the "biggest ever," and Overlook Hospital won a national award for its public relations program.

As May began to wane, Council voted to extend the warning parking ticket program until the end of the year, and the number of on-premise liquor consumption licenses was increased from six to seven. Seven girls were the year's recipients of College Club scholarships, and a clever thief literally lifted $1,120 from a Broad street luncheonette. The school board appointed 15 new teachers, and a three-ring circus was enroute to Summit sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Herald marked its 75th birthday, and early summer was in evidence with the Annual Field Day events at the city's schools.

Letters to the editor were panned and on for the proposed Master Plan, and the Camp Fund passed the $2,000 mark. The Summit Area Hadassah prepared for its "Night in Trinidad" dance, and the Summit High baseball season was drawing to a close with hopes high for a first division finish in the Suburban Conference.

With May almost at an end, the Board of Recreation announced plans for its annual summer playground program, and the Fourth of July Committee sought local support in the form of funds and manpower. The annual Camp Fund passed the 1962 mark, and horses' illness cancelled the annual Watchung horse show. Rain cast no pall on the annual PAL's week-end fishing party at Vanderpoel Pond, and the Board of Recreation dedicated its new "Benson Room" at Edison Recreation Center, named in honor of Miss Nettie Benson who died in 1960. She was a member of the Golden Age Club, and bequeathed the Board of Recreation $34,000.

Inch Worms Pose Threat

With the advent of June, it was announced that inch worms were a serious hazard to oak trees in the city. Three youths were hurt in auto mishaps and the city asked for bids to demolish the old library building.

Mrs. Arthur F. Ackerman was reelected president of the New Jersey Association for Mental Health and Dr. Robert W. Buchanan, M.D., was named president of the Overlook Hospital medical staff. Midshipman Daniel K. Hennessy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hennessy of 4 Manor Hill road was graduated first in his class at Annapolis, and letters to the editor showed growing opposition to the Master Plan, especially the proposition regarding the CIBA tract.

Chamber of Commerce, and Springlake won its eighth straight baseball game in the Summit Recreation League.

As June neared its end, the United Campaign announced that it would seek a record $196,600 during its fall drive. In its quest for a liquor license, the Villa Restaurant again faced opposition. The annual Camp Fund of Education need an additional $79,950 with which to hire more teachers and create kindergarten space. The board's request took Council by surprise and a public hearing on the matter was called. Maxwell Lester, 3rd, United Campaign chairman, urged a single fund drive for all agencies, and Summit was host for the All-State olympic meet.

thefts while on vacation. The Herald carried many airconditioning advertisements as the city was experiencing a heat wave which pushed temperatures past the 90-degree mark.

With June's end, Summit decided to take a rest for a few months and enjoy the ocean breezes and the faraway mountains. It had been a busy six months, and relaxation was due. The Rescue Squad said its first year was a busy one and a Sunday blaze gutted a Berkeley Heights supermarket. Summit Council had decided which local restaurant would get the extra leaving behind many a memory and many a service which will not be forgotten.

Churches made ready for the observance of Easter with special services and musical programs planned.

Truckess, Ratichek Win

With April passing the midway mark, the Primary election came and went with acting Mayor David E. Truckess winning a landslide victory over William R. Gilson by a vote of 3,179 to 1,351. Also winner by a huge margin was Anthony J. Ratichek over Mrs. Helen Huber for the Ward 1 Council seat, 1,258 to 709. In a minor race for the Ward 2 seat, Frank H. Lehr soundly defeated his opponent Eugene Daly 1,741 to 517.

The United Campaign approved the Salvation Army's request to join the United Campaign and the Spring Fund drive reached the $39,000 mark. Summit girls were wanted for the annual Miss Union County beauty pageant, and the Herald commented affirmatively on the proposed Master Plan.

liquor consumption license and it was decided that the New Hampshire House would be the recipient. The area, sweltering under a heat wave, was assured that water supplies were adequate and the city's summer play program drew over 4,000 youngsters to the five playgrounds. The Summit Concert Orchestra opened its summer series at a new outdoor location - the Village Green, and Calvary Episcopal requested Council to permit it to inter human ashes at the rear of the church. The Summit Herald, and Dr. Murray Ross were jointly awarded the National Recreation Association award for "outstanding contribution to recreation."

The Substandard Housing Board on July 11 sought from Council a revised ordinance clarifying the board's various legal responsibilities, and a violent lightning storm damaged a house. The Fourth of July Committee said over 10,000 area residents showed up at Memorial Field during the day which was climaxed by a gala fireworks display. Summit and New Providence signed a fund-raising pact and letters to the editor commented on various subjects including parks and the city's fine fire department. The Summit YMCA girls' swim team was eyeing another title.

the approach of Labor Day. W. W. Drewry, a local home builder, died at the age of 83 and the Child Care Center prepared to open for its 10th year.

School Enrollment at 4,400 With the start of September, the school board announced that registration was at a record 4,400, and the Mayor lifted the ban on outdoor water use but urged continued curtailment.

The United Campaign said it had reached the $135,000 mark, and the Madison High team fell before a powerful Summit defense, 13-0. In observance of National Education Week, the Herald urged local residents to visit the schools, and letters to the editor had various comments.

Kennedy's Death Mourned As November neared its end, Summit residents were shocked and stunned at the assassination of President Kennedy at Dallas, and a pall was cast over the town during the weekend of services and mourning. In an editorial, the Herald called for a halt to violence and said that this Thanksgiving should be a "day for soul searching."

of Christmas filled the Herald. With December past the half-year mark, Council approved the 1964 salary ordinance calling for a 1 per cent pay increase for all municipal employees and a dormant Summit Historical Society was reborn at a meeting held at the Fortnightly Club.

COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD WINNERS—The Summit Area Development Committee on June 10 presented its annual Torch Awards for outstanding community service to Mrs. H. S. Bell, left, and Mrs. Willard Towler, for their efforts in helping to beautify Summit through tree plantings and the creation of garden spots at the railroad station. Making the presentation is Walter P. Bluntschli, general chairman of the committee. Mrs. Henry C. Dearborn, who also received a Torch Award, was not present at the ceremony.

Board of Education halted school prayers in conformance with the Supreme Court ruling, and a heavy rainstorm toppled

With September more than half over, new building was still on the rise with totals in August reaching $496,000. Mrs. David McMillin and Mrs. William Wall were named co-chairman for the 15th annual Overlook Follies and a foreign film series was planned at the Strand theater under sponsorship of the Summit Area Development Committee. A flower show was going to be the highlight of the annual Fall Festival of Fashion, and Edward C. Gilland was named president of the Board of Realtors of Summit, New Providence and Berkeley Heights.

Westbrook Pegler was scheduled to talk at a meeting sponsored by the American Opinion Library, and there were many collectors' items available at the upcoming College Club book sale. A frisky rabbit ran afoul of the police, and the Herald published pictures of the new 1964 car models. The Summit High football squad "looked good" in scrimmage.

By September's end, the board of Education said its 2,509 grade pupils were overtaxing facilities and the situation, especially at Brayton, was acute. Looking toward Christmas, the Summit Area Chamber of Commerce reported it had raised $9,000 toward the $13,000 needed for Yule decorations, and the school lunch program resulted in an operating profit. The Zoning Board of Adjustment was set to tackle a heavy agenda, and the Springfield Elks Club was blocked in its attempt to build a headquarters on land partially in Summit. The Herald urged support of the Rescue Squad's fund campaign to erect a new headquarters, and Summit High was set to open its 1963 grid season, while the United Campaign was ready to launch its drive for $196,600 to aid 12 member agencies. Fall was here and the Herald published an autumn fashion forecast.

1 Per Cent Wage Hike Called With the beginning of October, Council ordered a 1 per cent ceiling for all city and school pay increases as budget preparation time approached. Westbrook Pegler's views on a variety of topics was heard by 300 in the Junior High School, and Mrs. Arthur W. Harrigan became the new executive director of Family Service, succeeding Mrs. Ann S. Brokaw. The local young GOP invited all candidates to express their views at a meeting, and the city, in compliance with the new Right-to-Know law, said it would continue to keep certain files secret. The Herald, in commenting on Mrs. Brokaw's retirement said few residents in the community had contributed more to the town than she. Summit High won its grid opener against Cedar Grove 40 to 13.

As October neared the half-way point, a request to the Zoning Board which would have permitted a 62-unit luxury apartment house on property now occupied by Club 24, was turned down. First reports of the United Campaign showed gifts at the $25,000 mark. Bryant W. Griffin was named Summit campaign manager for Nelson Stamler in his bid for a State Senate seat, and politics were in the air as candidates took out advertising in the Herald. The Herald came out editorially in support of Stamler, and lamented the destruction of Kilmer's Oak tree at Rutgers University. Summit High routed Verona 30 to 7. With October halfway gone, Brayton School parents were up in arms over crowded conditions at the school. The United Campaign faltered in its drive for $196,600 and the city was told it may face a $466,200 tab for new sewers as part of the Joint Meeting's $10,000,000 capital improvement program. Six persons were injured in weekend auto accidents and it was reported that it costs $548 to educate a Summit pupil in the city's nine schools. Plans were nearing completion for the 15th annual Overlook Follies set for December 6 and 7, and the Herald came out in opposition to Gov. Hughes $750,000,000 bond issue. Summit High started its "Voice of Summit High" page which was entirely devoted to goings on at the school. Rev. Leon C. Riddick, D.D. of Fountain Baptist Church said a "slave psyche" was the key to racial woes. Summit High rolled on and defeated the Millburn grid squad 27 to 0.

As October neared its end, the Board of Education announced the approach of Labor Day. W. W. Drewry, a local home builder, died at the age of 83 and the Child Care Center prepared to open for its 10th year. School Enrollment at 4,400 With the start of September, the school board announced that registration was at a record 4,400, and the Mayor lifted the ban on outdoor water use but urged continued curtailment. The Board of Realtors of Summit, New Providence and Berkeley Heights halted a block-busting attempt in New Providence, and plans were rapidly being formed for the upcoming United Campaign. Football workouts started at Summit High and it was hoped the squad would have a successful season. The Strand theater was showing "PT.109," the story of Lt. John Fitzgerald Kennedy's World War 2 adventure in the South Pacific.

As September neared the half-way mark, a Summit Area Chamber of Commerce poll announced that Summit residents preferred the city as is. A young girl was shot in the leg by a teenager, and a scramble developed over the Summit Nike base. Kent Place School reopened for its 70th year, and St. John's Lutheran Church planned to lay the cornerstone for its new church on Springfield avenue. The Business and Professional Woman's Club arranged to have the two candidates for State Senate, Nelson Stamler and James McGowan, to address the group, and the League of Women Voters planned to have a talk on the controversial Master Plan. Richard J. Squire was named general manager of Overlook Hospital. The Summit Area Young GOP urged defeat of the bond issue.

With September more than half over, new building was still on the rise with totals in August reaching $496,000. Mrs. David McMillin and Mrs. William Wall were named co-chairman for the 15th annual Overlook Follies and a foreign film series was planned at the Strand theater under sponsorship of the Summit Area Development Committee. A flower show was going to be the highlight of the annual Fall Festival of Fashion, and Edward C. Gilland was named president of the Board of Realtors of Summit, New Providence and Berkeley Heights. Westbrook Pegler was scheduled to talk at a meeting sponsored by the American Opinion Library, and there were many collectors' items available at the upcoming College Club book sale. A frisky rabbit ran afoul of the police, and the Herald published pictures of the new 1964 car models. The Summit High football squad "looked good" in scrimmage.

The United Campaign said it had reached the $135,000 mark, and the Madison High team fell before a powerful Summit defense, 13-0. In observance of National Education Week, the Herald urged local residents to visit the schools, and letters to the editor had various comments.

By the beginning of November area residents were told that a new proposal had been made in regard to the CIBA tract which the Master Plan urged to be rezoned from residential to office and research. Owner homeowners were expected to still oppose the Hotel Suburban's request for a standup bar, and the Rescue Squad was offered a site for a new headquarters. In observance of the Tercentenary, the New Jersey Tercentenary paid a visit to Summit, and in a one-day drive, the School of the Holy Child hoped to raise $400,000 as part of its $600,000 building fund. A 22-year old Summit Air Officer, Lt. Paul McAneny of 25 Glen Oaks avenue, was one of four killed in an airplane mishap near State College, Pa., and Edward K. Egan, a former Police Chief, died at the age of 66. The Democrats said they saw local gains in the last election, and the annual Overlook Follies talent night drew 37 acts. The YWCA Winter Market was set to handle 5,000 customers and Thanksgiving was in the air. The Playhouse opened its fall season with "First Love," and Summit High drubbed Roselle Park, 44 to 0.

With November more than half over, Common Council decided to table final action on the Hotel Suburban's request for a standup bar after listening to resident protests, and other residents living near the CIBA area, voiced "disappointment" in the new Master Plan proposals. The annual Christmas Fund got underway under the sponsorship of the Welfare Department and Family Service, and plans were made to bring the Pittsburgh Symphony here under the direction of William Steinberg. Overlook Auxiliary gifts during 1963 to the hospital totaled $83,000 and the city's elementary school libraries were found to be "lacking personnel and space," according to a survey made by the Lay Committee on Education. The annual joint Thanksgiving Day service was set for the Methodist Church, and the Chamber of Commerce urged continuation of the courtesy ticket program. The Herald urged support of Overlook Hospital's annual fund drive, and some advertisements began to remind readers that Christmas was on its way.

Kennedy's Death Mourned As November neared its end, Summit residents were shocked and stunned at the assassination of President Kennedy at Dallas, and a pall was cast over the town during the weekend of services and mourning. In an editorial, the Herald called for a halt to violence and said that this Thanksgiving should be a "day for soul searching."

With the beginning of December, Common Council held the line by granting a 1 per cent cost of living increase to all municipal employees as it introduced the 1964 salary ordinance. It was also learned that local teachers were tops in the Union County salary scale, but lagged in starting wages. The Summit High football team was rated fourth best in the state and the annual Christmas Fund reached the $582 mark. The Hotel Suburban's request for a standup bar was granted, and Edward C. Gilland, Jr., was installed as president of the Board of Realtors of Summit, New Providence and Berkeley Heights. The city's warning ticket program was extended by a 5-2 vote, and Christmas was in the air with advertisements beginning to pervade the paper. The Herald endorsed the Master Plan again, and letters to the editor asked that the CIBA tract not be rezoned from residential.

With December approaching the mid-way point, the Planning Board finally adopted the controversial Master Plan amid resident opposition. New construction in the city passed the $3,000,000 mark, and a date was set for the razing of the old McGregor building. Rudolph de Roode was named president of the Chamber of Commerce, and a 16-year old local youth was held for stealing seven cars during a two-week spree. John Malory and Sid Rhines were named to the All-State Football Team and Jerome Hines of the Metropolitan Opera was scheduled to sing at Summit High School in a Christmas concert. Letters to the editor still opposed the Master Plan, and news appear before the Zoning Board of Adjustment for a variance which would permit construction of a 22-room wing. Gifts galore awaited the first Summit baby born in 1964 through the second annual First Baby Contest, and McElgunn's and Siegel's were named as having the best Christmas decorations for their respective stores. A six-inch snow blanketed Summit two days before Christmas and a Kennedy benefit to aid CORE was scheduled for the middle of January. A 69-year old man, Samuel Circolo became the city's first traffic fatality when he was hit by a car, and Council scheduled January 2 for its annual organization meeting. Sue Pitt's 200-meter butterfly swimming mark was officially judged a world's record.

With the passing of Christmas, thoughts turned to the New Year of 1964 with renewed hope for peace, prosperity and health. As the Summit Herald begins its Diamond Jubilee year and looks forward to marking its 75th anniversary in 1964, a Happy New Year is extended to all.

The Amish sect's 60,000 members are scattered in more than 20 states from Iowa to Florida. Some have moved to Canada and Mexico.

GREETINGS FROM OVERSEAS—Councilman Richard L. Corby, Jr., greeted on behalf of the city some of the 35 foreign students who visited here on July 11 through the Summit High School Chapter of the American Field Service. The students, representing 33 different nations, spent five days in Summit, and were the house guests of local residents. Looking on is Mrs. Kent Parker of 194 Oak Ridge avenue, who was among the hostesses for the visit here.

and signs of fall were upon us as school clothes began to make their appearance in advertisements.

Fifth Wealthiest in State On August 8, it was learned that Summit family income ranked fifth highest in the state at $15,760, and 200 members of the Summit Area Chamber of Commerce attended the 22nd annual summer picnic at Jamesburg. Two 16-year old boys admitted a burglary spree, while other teenagers signed up with the Red Cross to help out with the blood program. The Herald lamented the forthcoming razing of the old library building to make way for the new plant, and Springlake won the Summit Recreation Softball League crown, and the summer doldrums were upon us for a new joint sewer with Millburn was set at $21,000. In an upset, Springfield was ousted in its bid to capture the Mayor's Cup in the Recreation Softball League when it was defeated by the Window Shop. Water supplies were up, but the ban on outdoor use of water stayed in effect. The summer playground talent night drew an estimated 300 parents, and in keeping with the season, the Strad was offering "Summer Magic."

As August waned, it was reported that the city had had no polio cases during the last six years, and Sperco again captured the Mayor's Cup in the city's softball league. The old Overlook ambulance was put into mothballs, and a local contingent was preparing to attend the Board of Education said it had hired 55 new teachers to fill posts in the city's nine public schools. New construction during July was reported at a near-record $1,496,000, of which CIBA accounted for $1,320,000. Leonard Best was named chairman of a statewide citizens organization opposed to Gov. Hughes $750,000,000 bond issue, and the Summit Area sent 41 to the Washington, D. C. freedom march. The summer playground program came to an end, and all schools were spick and span in preparation for the opening of school. Although the weather was warm, fall was in the air as clubs and organizations began to make plans for the new season, and Summit prepared to close the door on summer with

Welcome Mat Out at YWCA For Newcomers

The YWCA's annual winter welcome coffee will be combined with the regular meeting of the Kaffeeklatsch on Wednesday morning, January 8, at 10 a.m. Coffee will be served until 10:30 and will be followed by the program, which concludes at 11:30 a.m. Newcomers who have moved into the area since September 1, 1963, and persons new to the activities of the YWCA have been invited to be guests at the program. Any person who has not received an invitation and wishes to attend is cordially invited to call the YWCA at CR 3-4242.

Program for the occasion will be a lecture and demonstration by Mrs. Frank Goss on hand-crafted stoneware, the making of pottery today in the tradition of early American craftsmen. She will relate some of the historical background of stoneware in this country and show part of the manual skill that is needed to produce it. Slides showing the craftsmen at work will highlight her lecture. Mrs. Goss and her husband are founders of the Contemporary Ceramics pottery at Chatham. The YWCA's Kaffeeklatsch meets every Wednesday morning and combines sociability and a stimulating program. Baby sitting for children 18 months and over and dance and rhythm classes for three to five year olds are available for children of mothers attending the program.

Next Wednesday's event will provide an opportunity for newcomers to meet each other and to become acquainted with the YWCA's weekly Kaffeeklatsch program as well as other activities that are available.

Hostesses for the combined welcome coffee and Kaffeeklatsch include Mrs. John Christian, Mrs. T. C. Dillingham, Mrs. A. L. Dun, Mrs. Verona Gaskin, Mrs. Milton Merry, Mrs. J. J. Schlothan, Mrs. Dobert Teel, Mrs. Julius P. Ziegler, Mrs. S. Bronstein, Mrs. Lawrence Davis, Mrs. P. J. Gianacakes, and Mrs. Charles T. Wieland, all of Summit; Mrs. William Highleyman and Mrs. Douglas Costabile, of Murray Hill and Mrs. B. Freestone, of New Providence.

Help the Animal Welfare League

Many times the services of long-time local agencies are taken for granted, and it is assumed that somehow or other the agencies and the services survive in spite of no apparent community support. The time has now come for the community to support the work of the Summit Animal Welfare League, which finds itself in financial straits and must appeal for additional membership in order to provide the continued needed services to this city. The work of the Animal Welfare League is manifold when it comes to the care of homeless and injured animals. Without the work of the League, there would be no such care in this city. In order to meet the needs of the League, since dog license fees only represent one-third of the membership monetarily, an appeal has now begun for new members to continue and advance the work of this necessary organization which deserves community support. Additional information about League membership may be obtained by contacting the organization at CR3-4853.

A Penny Saved, etc., etc.

Anyone having read of the frequently futile efforts by various government agencies to reduce costs can be forgiven a trace of skepticism when reading about the Defense Department goals for cutting costs. The feat is being accomplished not by waving magic wands or making drastic changes but by adherence to the principle "great oaks from little acorns grow." In making costs reductions of one billion dollars this year Defense Secretary McNamara has seen enough to warrant the optimistic decision to change an original goal of three billion dollars savings by 1967 to a plan to reduce costs by four billion dollars no later than 1965. While there are some major changes the bulk of the economy comes from smaller improvements.

sometimes resulted in a waste of man-hours and classroom space when a student was found to have inadequate vision. To those who feel such a step should have been obvious long before this it need only be said the Army frequently has a strange way of doing things. There are many other instances of small savings. The important thing is such savings are being made throughout the defense establishment and wherever they can be. Cost-consciousness appears to be accepted as a way of life. For example an Army post where more than 15,000 sleeping bag zippers had been declared obsolete, at a loss of $51,400, found the zippers could be modified with a saving of nearly $42,000.

As an example the meat plant in Fort Chaffee, Ark., has saved $9,000 in three months by making its own shortening from beef bones and excess fat. Down in Fort Bragg, N. C., the Army spent $4,296 for a crane used in processing scrap metals and found it saved $36,210 spent for manual labor each year. Another Army installation reported saving $30,000 a year by the simple action it took in insisting that students in the post drivers school undergo eye examination before they begin class instruction. The eye examinations had been given after students spent two weeks in class and Similar attacks are being made to cut some of the red tape and paper work often associated with the services. When the Army found inspectors charged with assessing damages to goods in shipments were spending too much time in filling out descriptions of the damages it was decided to take photos, thus greatly reducing the man-hours spent on paperwork. Certainly it will take a great many of the instances cited above to yield savings reaching 4 billion dollars. But the fact no area of expenditure is being overlooked, regardless of size, makes the defense secretary's goal appear as attainable as it is desirable.

Those Commercials

The public hearings on commercials on television and radio could not have been scheduled more advantageously for the broadcasters. The Federal Communications Commission of course could not plan matters this way. Nevertheless, the Washington hearings opened soon after television and radio had devoted four days exclusively to coverage of the death and funeral of President Kennedy — coverage free of interruption by commercials for the most part. However that may be, the FCC is receiving numerous complaints that television is top-heavy with commercials. Among the reports, filed by witnesses were counts showing more than 22 minutes of commercials in one hour and another of 171 commercials in an eight-hour period.

problem. For an overdose of commercials is administered by many stations. There is no sound-reason why the federal agency issuing licenses for use of the air waves should not insist on reasonable limitations. Objections that regulation of commercials amounts to censorship or imposes excessive government control on private business do not hold water. The government by issuing licenses and providing channels free of interference in effect grants a franchise which is subject to regulation. Yet most of the complaints protesting that commercials are overdone would not venture to suggest a complete ban and a levy on viewers to pay for the programs received.

Although many of the witnesses demanded restrictions, they were not prepared to lodge specific recommendations. "There ought to be a law" was their attitude. But they left to the federal commission the determination as to what the regulation should require. Thus the FCC is confronted by a strong public sentiment objecting to over-exposure of viewers and listeners to commercials but agreement on the extent of official curbs is lacking. It would be a pity if the FCC found the situation warranted passing over the

The best solution is self-policing. That is, broadcasters and purchasers of television and radio time would be wise to protect themselves through cooperative arrangements that assured an audience. After all, viewers and listeners can turn off programs that annoy them. The National Association of Broadcasters radio code limiting commercial time to 18 minutes in any one hour is a step in the right direction. Yet a House sub committee hearing recently was told 40 per cent of 134 stations seeking license renewals were violating that code. The broadcasting industry might well recognize the importance of self-regulation if dictated control is to be averted.

Truth Is Beauty, Mac
(Hartford Courant)
After a short absence, Aristotle is back at his old job of contemplating the bust of Homer in the Metropolitan Museum, New York. And the customers will continue to flock in to contemplate the Rembrandt painting, for which the museum paid a chilling $2.3 million a year and a half ago. But you can count on it, there are going to be heavy hearts among them. In June, Aristotle was taken to the cleaners. Old-fashioned Rembrandt fans will say that they have been, too. In the cleaning, much of the sable atmosphere known in the trade as brown gravy has been removed from the picture. It emerges a lighter, clearer gold instead — renewed in truth and beauty. But the reclamation will be no bargain in the popular mind that for generations has equated time-grimed varnish with some peculiar depth in Rembrandt's soul. Like Poe, people apparently imagined Rembrandt brooding in his midnight studio and applying uncut philosophy to the canvas with a raven's feather. Later-day art experts have said "Faugh" to all that. They took the celebrated Rembrandt painting once well-called "The Night Watch" and, when they had finished removing the tired varnish, came the Dawn. Came the cries of outrage too from the multitude who dearly loved the notion that the picture represented the cops of old Amsterdam about to settle the hash of some disturber of the midnight peace. Instead it was a daytime sally of the Rifleman's Guild. P.S.—They didn't like it either even when it was new. The Metropolitan authorities have moved fearlessly in the name of art. Aristotle and Rembrandt are not going to seem so big in the brain-pan, however. As for Homer, it makes no never-mind. In this picture he's been a bust from the beginning.

DEATHS

John B. Thiesmeyer
Word has been received of the death on Sunday of John B. Thiesmeyer, a former Summit resident, at Auburn, N. Y. He was 85. Mr. Thiesmeyer had lived in Summit for over 50 years before moving to Auburn in 1961. He was secretary of the official board of the Methodist Church for 28 years before leaving Summit. Born at New York City, Mr. Thiesmeyer was an engineer with the Bethlehem Steel Co., New York City, and was a graduate of Cooper Union. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Leah C. Thiesmeyer; a daughter, Mrs. Luella M. Hamilton of Syracuse, N. Y.; two sons, Lincoln R. of Montreal, and Jonathan L. of New York, N. Y., seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held at Syracuse yesterday. Burial was today at Evergreen Cemetery, Brooklyn.

Edwin E. Beach
Edwin E. Beach of 47 Hillcrest avenue, former vice president of Bankers Trust Co. of New York, died last Thursday in Overlook Hospital. He was 73. Mr. Beach was born in Montville and moved to Summit 47 years ago. He retired in 1955 as vice president of the New York bank after 43 years' service. After retirement, he served as vice president of Calvin Bullock, 1 Wall St., a mutual fund firm. Mr. Beach was graduated from Princeton in 1912. He was a member of Central Presbyterian Church.

He leaves his son, Edwin E. Jr. of Chatham; two daughters, Mrs. Lusk F. Robinson of Little Rock, Ark., and Mrs. William

I. Zeltung of Los Angeles, and five grandchildren.

Miss Ethel M. Johnson
Miss Ethel M. Johnson, formerly of 145 Summit avenue, died December 26 at Newark. A native of Lock Haven, Pa., she lived for many years in Summit. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Joseph Parry of Westfield. A memorial service will be held this Saturday, January 4, at Calvary Episcopal Church at 11 a.m.

Horace S. Ward
Word has been received of the death on December 27 of Horace Somers Ward, a former Summit resident, at his home at Pembroke, Bermuda. He was 95. though the operating municipal budget has been decreased. Mayor Trucksees declared. He added that it is expected the 1964 municipal budget will be about $17,000 less than the budget total for 1963.
 The Mayor also said that Council will begin an "open door" policy on its budget hearings and that on January 29 at 8 p.m. at City Hall the details of the 1964 city budget will be reviewed to any-desiring to attend. Heretofore such meetings were limited to a carefully-selected few representing major civic organizations. The Board of Education, he said, will adopt a similar open door policy for its budget.
 The combined municipal and school budgets will be introduced by Common Council on February 4 with a public hearing slated for March 3.

New Dump Needed
 Mayor Trucksees predicted that school additions will be needed in both wards because of increased populations and stated that plans for these must be made this year for use by September of 1965.
 As for garbage disposal, Mayor Trucksees explained that present dumping arrangements in Chatham Township will be denied to Summit as well as other communities using those lands by 1968 and that within the next four years Summit must decide upon other methods and type of facilities for its garbage disposal. He asked that Council appoint a

 Mr. and Mrs. Cochran were among those who opposed at public hearings the rezoning provision of the Master Plan, as well as the amendments which the Planning Board later made in order to quell public opposition.
Cites "Illegal" Grounds
 The suit cites "20 or 30 grounds of illegality" against the rezoning provisions and claims that portions of the Master Plan are illegal because of a deed restriction on the property which remains in effect until 1975 and which any other than residential zoning of the tract.
 It also contends that the provision is "illegal and discriminatory" in that it would destroy an area zoned for single family homes. The suit further claims that animal research conducted in the present CIBA facilities would "spread disease germs if conducted in the rear tract which borders on residential properties."
 The suit asks that the city and its agencies be prevented from taking any action to implement the rezoning plan. At present, the Planning Board is now engaged in rewriting the city's zoning ordinance in conjunction with the Master Plan preparation.

 Also on Christmas Eve afternoon, Mary E. Nagy, 43, of Livingston was injured when the car she was driving skidded on a curve at Hobart road near Beacon road and crashed head-on into a car operated by Harrison Jordan, Jr. of East Orange. Both cars were towed from the scene because of heavy damage.
 Sgt. Joseph Fuschetto investigated the accident.
 On Sunday night Frederic T. Lawrence, 32, of 46 Laurel avenue was taken to Overlook Hospital for treatment of a deep cheek laceration when the car he was driving skidded into a car driven by Daniel V. Barrillo, 20, of 896 Springfield avenue, New Providence, at Robin Hood and Essex roads.
 Police said Mr. Lawrence was driving west on Robin Hood, skidded, and crashed into Mr. Barrillo, who was driving south on Essex, and then struck a utility pole. It was also reported that Richard Courter of 40 Stanley avenue, a passenger in the Borrillo car, suffered a head injury which was treated at Overlook Hospital.
 Both cars were heavily damaged and were towed from the scene.
 Investigating the accident were Patrolmen Lawrence Walsh and E. T. Corcoran.

NEW JERSEY TERCENTENARY TALES

The Loyal Mutineers by John T. Cunningham

General Anthony Wayne, commanding the Pennsylvania line at Jockey Hollow, cancelled all personal celebration on January 1, 1781, despite the fact that it was both New Year's Day and his 36th birthday.

Dissension and bitterness enveloped the New Jersey encampment, after nearly five years of warfare men still suffered from inadequate clothing and wretched food. Wayne sympathized with them; throughout December he had written friends warning that fury must soon break out, perhaps on January 1, when many enlistments ran out.

Quiet settled on the uneasy camp as the sun of January 1 went down, and Wayne waited hopefully. If this day could pass without trouble, tomorrow might be better.

Shortly after 9 p.m. hundreds of soldiers streamed out of their huts, firing muskets into the air and daring officers to stop them. Two officers who tried to stem the revolt fell wounded on the camp ground, Captain Adam Bettin died from gun wounds suffered along the road to Farmer Wick's.

Wayne rode up, spurred his horse among the riotous crowd, and pleaded with the soldiers to stop. They paused, listened sullenly for a few minutes but ignored his pleas. Somewhere on the edge of the crowd a platoon fired its muskets over Wayne's head in ugly warning.

Outraged, Wayne shouted: "If you mean to kill me, shoot me at once! Here's my breast!"

Mutiny: The ugliest word in soldierdom! Fearing that the men intended to flee to British camps, Wayne led officers to block the road leading east to Elizabeth Town. Soldiers resented that, yelling that their aim was to deal with Congress, not to bargain with King George.

Southward marched more than a thousand men, pausing overnight at Venttown (now Bernardsville) and at Middlebrook before stepping jauntily into Princeton on January 3. Eye witnesses expressed admiration for the discipline and high spirits of the mutineers.

Wayne dispatched a note to George Washington's headquarters in New Windsor, N.Y., then followed his men. He boldly entered Princeton to negotiate with the Pennsylvanians encamped near Nassau Hall, recognizing that he would be little more than a respected prisoner.

Delighted Tory spies raced to New York to tell General Sir Henry Clinton the good news, as they saw it.

Clinton confidentially expected that the end lay near for America — and, indeed, if this mutiny persisted, independence would be but a dream. American soldiers everywhere had grown disgusted with the miserable treatment shown by a less-than-grateful nation.

Secret negotiations were begun to swing the mutineers into British ranks. Clinton dispatched two Tory spies with an offer of amnesty; within minutes after the spies contacted the soldiers in Princeton, Clinton had an answer. The mutineers awoke Wayne and delivered the spies to him.

The Pennsylvanians expressed disgust at the Clinton effort. They saw themselves as loyal mutineers, not disgraceful traitors!

Congress sped representatives to deal with the Pennsylvanians, first at Princeton and then at Trenton, where the rebellious troops set up a new camp on January 9. As negotiations dragged on, Congress sent a

Summit, Pioneers Win 1963 Finales

Undefeated Summit High and New Providence closed out the 1963 phase of the schoolboy basketball season last Monday night with impressive victories. Summit turned back Westfield's defending Union County Conference champions, 48-43, at the Blue Devils' court, while New Providence edged Governor Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights 48-47. In New Providence.

It was the fourth straight victory for Summit, while New Providence won its third straight after an opening game loss to Piscataway. Governor Livingston dropped its third game in five starts, two of the losses being by one-point margins.

Summit led Westfield only 21-20 at halftime, but moved steadily in front after intermission. The Hilltoppers led 48-38 in the final minutes before Westfield scored the final five points of the game.

John Mallory led Summit with 19 points, while Sid Rhines collected 11 and Brent Cromwell had eight. Rhines pulled down 13 rebounds and Cromwell 16, although Cromwell played with four fouls on him after the first period.

New Providence clinched its victory over Governor Livingston before an overflow crowd when Bob MacDonald tossed in two foul shots with just six seconds to play. MacDonald's clutch shooting gave Coach Ed Lieder's Pioneers an insurmountable 48-45 lead.

Bob Heuer scored a layup at the final buzzer for the Highlanders as the Pioneers refused to risk fouling him and creating a possible three-point play that would have tied the score.

Larry Rovelstad took scoring honors for the Pioneers with 16 points, while MacDonald tallied 13 and Ted Garrison tallied 11. John Adamiak paced Governor Livingston with 17 points, while Heuer scored 14.

Another standout for Summit was Sid Rhines. Sid led the team in rebounding as he pulled in 24 to help give Summit a 53-34 edge in that important department. Sid also was great in defending against the Highlanders' John Adamiak, who scored only 12 points. Rhines was his usual self, making eight foul shots and scoring 12 points.

The star of the beginning of the game was Cromwell. The talented senior, scored the Hilltoppers' first nine points. Near the end of the first period, the Highlanders led by the score of 10-9. Then, for the first time this season, Coach Joseph Coleman used substitution. Mike Bloomstein, Bob Smith, Hugh Moore, Jeff Hartlaub and Rick Wilkerson came into the game and played the most spirited ball of the night.

Summit High Cagers Beat Highlanders

By Jim Elowitz
Summit — The Summit High School basketball team played its best game of the season last week as they defeated Governor Livingston Regional of Berkeley Heights for the second time, 58-32.

The win boosted the Hilltoppers' chances for the Summit Area championship. If things go as they have in the past years and the Hilltoppers split their two games, with New Providence, Summit will win the unofficial title.

The Hilltoppers finally looked like an excellent unit right from the start and dominated the game. For the first time in two years, the Maroon and White dominated the rebounding in a contest with their neighbors. Furthermore, the foul shooting and defense also were spectacular.

Brent Cromwell played his best varsity game to date. He scored 23 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. Brent used his great speed and jumping ability to drive past the Governor Livingston defenders consistently. His agility and moves on these drives meant the difference between victory and defeat for the Maroon and white team.

Another standout for Summit was Sid Rhines. Sid led the team in rebounding as he pulled in 24 to help give Summit a 53-34 edge in that important department. Sid also was great in defending against the Highlanders' John Adamiak, who scored only 12 points. Rhines was his usual self, making eight foul shots and scoring 12 points.

The star of the beginning of the game was Cromwell. The talented senior, scored the Hilltoppers' first nine points. Near the end of the first period, the Highlanders led by the score of 10-9. Then, for the first time this season, Coach Joseph Coleman used substitution. Mike Bloomstein, Bob Smith, Hugh Moore, Jeff Hartlaub and Rick Wilkerson came into the game and played the most spirited ball of the night.

Before the period ended, Smith scored on a tip in to give Summit the first quarter lead at 11-10. Bloomstein scored on a jump shot from the corner at the start of the second period and that was all for the second unit. They had scored four points, given the starters needed rest, and injected new spirit in Summit by blanking the Highlanders starters.

In the second period, Rhines led the team with seven points and Jim Royer scored four. As the half ended, the Hilltoppers were leading 26-22. Summit never lost the lead again.

In the third period, a well-known threesome (also the spectacular defensive backfield in football) of Cromwell, Rhines, and John Mallory dominated the play. Despite a late rally by the Highlanders, these three players kept the lead at four points as they scored 15 points.

This year the Hilltoppers have become known as a very strong fourth-quarter team, and this game was no exception. Cromwell opened with one of his driving layups. After a basket by Bob Heuer, Hartlaub scored on two jump shots from the outside to give Summit a 47-39 edge.

Summit 'Y' Girls In Swim Meet

Summit — World's record holder Sue Pitt and national AAU champion Ginny Duenkel will lead a contingent of 15 Summit YMCA Girls Team swimmers in an invitational meet in Philadelphia's Memorial Hall pool tomorrow.

The meet will feature events of 100 yards and over to enable the swimmers to achieve qualifying times for the Women's Indoor National Championships.

The National AAU meet will be at the new University of Pittsburgh pool early in April. Miss Pitt set her world record for the 200-meter butterfly last July in the Eastern championships in Philadelphia. She also won the 100-meter butterfly and 200-meter individual medley in that meet.

Miss Duenkel won the 100-meter and 200-meter backstrokes and the 1,500-meter freestyle in the same meet.

Summit captured the title on outstanding performances by its swimmers in the 10 years and under and 11-12 years groups, as well as overall depth in all events.

John McCoubrey of Summit tied the Central Middle Atlantic Area record of 30.7 seconds in winning the 50-yard backstroke in the 11-12 age group. He also won the 100-yard individual medley.

Nick Cantarella won the 25-yard backstroke and freestyle for 10 year olds and under, while his Summit teammate Duff Powell won the 25-yard butterfly and 100-yard individual medley in the same age class. Vic Pfeiffer accounted for the other Summit victory, winning the 100-yard freestyle for 13-14 year olds.

Original settlers of Jamestown, Va., were brought on the vessels Susan Constant, God Speed and Discovery.

Summit 'Y' Natators Win Invitation Meet

Summit — The Summit YMCA Boys Swim Team beat out seven other teams to win its own Invitational Meet last weekend in the six-lane Princeton University pool.

Winding seven of the 20 events, Summit beat out York, Pa., for team honors. Other entries were Flushing and White Plains, N.Y.; Ridgewood, Passaic-Clifton, Trenton and Westfield.

Regional High Quint Facing Road Game

Berkeley Heights — A second close defeat at the hands of undefeated Summit High having wrecked their hopes for repeating as champions of the Summit Area, Governor Livingston Regional High School's basketball team now is turning its attention to compiling a winning record.

A winning record is a must if the Highlanders are going to have an opportunity to defend the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 3 title they captured last season. Only teams with winning records are invited to play in the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association's post-season tournament.

The loss to Summit evened the Highlanders' mark at 2-2 at the start of this week's play. Coach Don Wodock's cagers now have embarked on a series of five straight road games, with the first two figuring to be steep tests.

The Highlanders played archival New Providence at the tournament, just a point back of Plainfield. Phillipsburg won the team title with 77 points, capturing seven individual titles.

Tonight's meet with Hillside is the only evening meet at home on the Highlanders' 12-meet schedule. The only other evening meet will be Jan. 10 at Watchung Hills Regional.

The remainder of the schedule is as follows: Jan. 7, Clark Regional; Jan. 14, at Piscataway; Jan. 17, Seton Hall; Jan. 21, at Cranford; Jan. 24, Thomas Jefferson (Elizabeth); Jan. 29, Hanover Park; Jan. 31, at South Plainfield.

Feb. 4, Rahway; Feb. 12, Springfield Regional, and Feb. 21, at Westfield.

PAL Cagers In N. J. League
New Providence — The Police Athletic League has entered high school girls and boys teams in the North Jersey PAL Basketball League.

The girls team will open its schedule on Jan. 6, while the boys team will begin league play on Jan. 7. Other teams in the leagues are Elizabeth, Hillside, Irvington, Union and Morris-town.

Summit captured the title on outstanding performances by its swimmers in the 10 years and under and 11-12 years groups, as well as overall depth in all events.

66 Straight Wins!

Summit YMCA Girls Swim Team Scores Victory Over Ridgewood 149-58

Summit — The Summit YMCA Girls Swim Team decisively defeated the Ridgewood YMCA, 149-58, to preserve its five-year, 66-meet winning streak in YMCA competition.

Summit had edged Ridgewood, 104-102, in the season opener, when Summit split its team into two groups and left some of its top swimmers on the sidelines. Summit won 17 of 20 individual events as Coach Frank Elm sent most of his top-notch performers into action. Four girls were absent because of illness or holiday trips.

Heidi Koenig won the diving and Summit captured three of the four relay events. Double winners for Summit were Ginny Duenkel, 15-17 years 100-yard freestyle and open individual medley; Sally Guthrie, 11-12 years backstroke and butterfly; Lynn Rohrey, 11-12 years freestyle and breaststroke, and Pam Cash, 10 years and under freestyle and breaststroke.

Other Summit winners included: Debbie Renz, 8 years and under freestyle; Melissa Barrett, 10 and under butterfly; Joanne Greim, 13-14, 50-yard freestyle; Sue Parker, 13-14, 100-yard freestyle; Carol DeGoff, 13-14, 100-yard butterfly, and Sue Pitt and Sally Current, 15-17, butterfly and breaststroke, respectively.

Jane and Joan Hackett tied for first in the 13-14 100-yard backstroke. The next State YMCA League meet will be at Morristown on Jan. 11, with the next home meet against Princeton on Jan. 25.

Win 3 Relays
The Summit "Y" Girls' Team was well represented at a Holiday Relay Carnival sponsored by the Metropolitan AAU at the Jersey City YMCA pool. Competing against top swimmers from the New York, Westchester and Long Island Areas, Summit's 10 years and under and 11-12 years "A" and "B" relay teams all came home with medals.

Two Highlanders 2nd in Mat Tourney

Berkeley Heights — Well pleased with his team's showing in the Bridgewater-Raritan High School Wrestling Tournament last weekend, particularly in the lighter weight classes, Coach Jim Nedoff has his Governor Livingston Regional High School grapplers prepared for tonight's regular-season opening dual meet with Hillside at 7 o'clock in the Highlander gymnasium.

The Highlander lightweight made a strong showing in the eight-team tournament, with Nick Rizzo (98) and Bob Johnson (106) taking second places and Tom Massa (115) and Art Lennox (136) reaching the semifinals.

Rizzo pinned his opponent from Franklin Township in 1:32 minutes in the semifinal, but was in turn pinned in 3:48 minutes in the final by a Phillipsburg boy.

Johnson won a decision over a Franklin Township wrestler in the semifinals, but dropped a 4-0 decision to a Phillipsburg matman in the final.

Massa lost a 5-1 decision to a Plainfield wrestler, while Lennox dropped a 7-1 verdict to a Phillipsburg grappler.

Governor Livingston scored 15 points to finish seventh in the tournament.

Touch-Tone

The unique push-button phone is here.

The new Touch-Tone phone is now available to customers whose telephone numbers begin with CRestview 3 (273), CRestview 7 (277), 464, and MErcury 5 (635).*

Touch-Tone has been described as the biggest advance in telephones since the dial. It applies the speed of electronics to the placing of a call. □ Most persons when they use new Touch-Tone can tap the buttons twice as fast as they now dial. And when they do, musical notes trigger electronic impulses to speed the connection. □ The result? A more convenient, easier-to-use, and quicker-to-use phone. □ The cost? It's surprisingly low—an additional $1.50 per month will pay for Touch-Tone service for your residence line including Touch-Tone on all extensions. □ Right now you can order this amazing push-button phone in a wide choice of colors and styles, including a newly designed, streamlined wall phone. Just call the Telephone Business Office.

New Jersey Bell

*To make the Touch-Tone phone available to everyone in New Jersey, complex central office equipment will be installed gradually throughout the state. Completing this statewide installation will require a few years.
