

Council Okays Sidewalk Installation for Ashland, Beekman, Baltusrol Rds.

Sidewalks held firm despite some opposition Tuesday night when Common Council passed three ordinances authorizing their installation in three sections of the city.

Two of the ordinances, these affecting Beekman and Ashland roads passed unanimously, while Councilman Edward C. Holmes alone opposed the ordinance for construction of walkways on Baltusrol road.

In commenting on his rejection of the Baltusrol sidewalk ordinance, Councilman Holmes indicated he felt the question was "a moot one" and that he was not satisfied as to which side of the street was appropriate, nor as to cost.

At the meeting attended by about 50 persons, questions regarding removal or retention of trees, use of asphalt and correct routes for school children to follow were raised by residents.

While explaining the sidewalk ordinance for Baltusrol road, which appeared to be a source of concern as to location, need and use of asphalt, Councilman Richard L. Corby, Jr. pointed out that only three small trees would face removal, and two homes would be affected by the need for off-street parking. He said residents of the area had requested a sidewalk in order to walk to the center of the city.

It was pointed out during the course of the meeting that affected residents would not be assessed full costs of sidewalk installation. Other residents pointed out that since Baltusrol road was a county road, the problem of snow removal was acute since the plows tended to throw snow on what would be sidewalk. Residents questioned whether they were responsible for such removal, and they were advised by Council President Elmer J. Bennett that such was the property owners' responsibility.

Mr. Bennett also pointed out, as did Mr. Corby, that the ordinances were the first phase of a sidewalk program and that other steps were yet to come, based on need.

Mr. Corby added that the ordinances were based on recommendations of the safety committee of the PTA Inter-Council.

When questioned as to why asphalt would not be used as it had been around Jefferson school, Councilman Frank Lehn pointed out that the quoted price that asphalt was 50% cheaper was not accurate. He added that while Short Hills and Berkeley Heights might use such a system, it was the intent of Council to put in cement sidewalks which would last a lifetime. He added that asphalt sidewalks had a tendency to create "bird baths" or sunken areas, and that repairs would be patchwork jobs. Cement sidewalks, he indicated, would be easy to shovel and highly reflective, which he said was important on tree shaded streets.

Also appearing at the meeting on behalf of two clients in the area was J. Alan Drummond, a local attorney, who maintained that the sidewalk installation Honored in the dedication were Mrs. Helen Davis, chairman of the English Department; Miss Debra Hadsell, librarian; Joseph Shuttlesworth, guidance director; Mrs. Helen C. McCann, chairman of the home economics department; and Wendell Woodside, English teacher. All five are retiring this month.

The retirees were cited by the seniors for their service to the school for nearly a century and a half and for their "unfailing wisdom, encouragement, patience and spirit."

Special mention was made in the yearbook of students participating in the American Field Service student exchange program. Specifically cited were Mark Schmidt, who returned from New Zealand, Laura Duszak, who went to Switzerland, Janet Wise, who went to South Africa, and to Ricardo Presas, who came here from Argentina.

"Baby Boy Doe," Still Unclaimed, Doing Well

As of Tuesday, no one had yet stepped forward to claim "Baby Boy Doe," the three-day old infant who was left on the steps of St. Teresa's Convent early Saturday morning.

The baby, which has been described as in "satisfactory condition" at Overlook Hospital, continues to improve and is being fed by formula. He still doesn't have a name, however, because the identity of its mother still remains a mystery. Police are still investigating.

A hospital spokesman said the baby was probably born in a sterile surroundings and is still in an incubator. Its body temperature, which at one time was so low it could not be measured, is now normal.

The child weighed 6 pounds, 4 ounces when admitted to Overlook where police took it after being found at the convent, 308 Morris avenue early Saturday morning. Doctors estimated that birth had taken place between midnight and 6:00 a.m. when the infant, bundled in a lavender towel, was discovered on the convent steps by Miss Teresa Wingen, the housekeeper.

The hospital said the baby appeared in good health and at first was sustained on sugar water. Doctors said his temperature was low because of the exposure. When admitted, the infant was placed in the pediatric ward rather than in the regular nursery.

Miss Wingen reported that she had stepped outside to pick up the morning milk when she heard a baby's wailing and found the infant on the stoop. It is unknown how long the baby had been there before being found.

Unless claimed, the finding will become the responsibility of the State Bureau of Children's Services.

The baby was taken to Overlook Hospital by Sgt. George Gerity and Patrolman Anthony Formichella.

All were released in $250 bail pending a public hearing after they were brought to Police Headquarters and examined by Dr. Robert S. Milligan, city physician, who found all three unfit to operate a car.

Shortly before 11:30 p.m. Friday night, Richard C. Maxfield, 38, who gave as his address 67 Maple street, the YMCA, heavily damaged his car after it went out of control on Springfield avenue near Pine Grove avenue, knocked down a sign and ripped up 75-feet of anchor fencing before coming to a halt. The fence was on property owned by William Schnell of 21 Nassau drive. Mr. Maxfield was uninjured.

At the time of the mishap, Mr. Maxfield was driving west on Springfield. The car was heavily damaged and was towed from the scene.

Investigating were Sgt. Edward Karpenski and Patrolman Lawrence Walsh. Early Friday morning, Jesse W. Dyckman, 34, of 127 Summit avenue, escaped injury when his car overturned on Broad street near Middle avenue. Police said Mr. Dyckman was driving west on Broad and hit a curb while trying to make a sharp curve near Middle avenue. The accident occurred at 7:20 a.m. Investigating were Patrolmen Ralph Nolting and George Oldroyd.

City in Throes Of Developing Salary Guides

A far-reaching survey to develop an equitable salary guide for city employees, as well as a review of the city's salary and classification plan is currently being conducted by Barrington and Co., management consultant firm of New York City.

The study is being made possible through an $8,000 appropriation approved by Common Council last April 21. The funds were made available after Council had been informed by a citizens committee named early in the year by Mayor David E. Truckess to make such a study, that the assignment was "beyond" the capacity of any volunteer, part-time committee, because the work could not be done to a degree of depth within the time limit. Mayor Truckess had set August 1 as the deadline for the committee to report, and prior to preparation of the 1965 budget.

Siegfried E. Finser, head of Barrington's education services division, is conducting the study, which includes all full-time permanent positions in the city, the Board of Health, the Board of Recreation, all positions of the public library, and the non-certified positions of the Board of Education.

Part and parcel of the study, according to Mr. Finser, is job evaluation. Each job content is determined through the use of questionnaires. Interviews and an audit of work duties. Then the job description becomes the primary tool to determine the relative value of jobs, according to Mr. Finser.

Barrington's job evaluation techniques involve a form of "factor analysis" and is widely used today since the principals are comparatively simple to explain to large groups of employees.

Among the factors considered in the point evaluation are knowledge required to perform the work, experience in addition to knowledge, judgment required, supervision, exposure to unpleasant conditions, and degree of physical exertion, among others.

Each factor enters into any given job to varying degrees. It is the job of the consultant to measure the degree and assign a point value to each job, and eventually to each job evaluation, however, Mr. Finser pointed out, is concerned with the value of the jobs and not performance or ability by individuals on the job.

Following study of the city jobs, Mr. Finser will relate each one to others in the city structure and then a comparative salary survey of private and public employees will be made. (Continued on Page 18)

Summit Day At Fair Set For Tuesday

A total of 1,350 area residents will help observe Summit Day at the New York World's Fair on Tuesday. Tickets for the 25 hired busses have been completely sold out and there are no more available.

The day-long outing will include a program starting at 12 noon in the New Jersey Pavilion that will have Mayor David E. Truckess welcoming the Summit contingent. Following the Mayor's remarks, the Summit High School band under the direction of Harry S. Hannaford will offer a concert which will include seven selections. At 1:30 p.m., a girls' chorus and male quartet will sing several numbers under the direction of Daniel Kautzman of Summit High, and at 2:30 p.m., there will be an organ recital by Eleanor Reichler.

Busses will leave at 9 a.m. from the Summit High School parking lot off Kent Place boulevard. At that time, participants will be given an official map of the World's Fair by Truesdell Esso, as well as a program and a list of instructions regarding the trip and where to meet for the return trip home. Busses will leave the Fair for the ride back to Summit at 7 p.m.

Members of the committee arranging the trip are Robert A. Lawrence, chairman, representing the Summit Junior Chamber of Commerce; Mayor David E. Truckess, honorary chairman; Mrs. William Minshall, representing the College Club; Paul Werner, representing the city's service clubs; Dr. William R. Purcell, superintendent of schools; Harry C. Kates, city clerk, and Police Chief John B. Sayre. The Junior Chamber of Commerce was responsible for sale of tickets to the World's Fair, and the College Club sponsored the sale of bus tickets.

The Summit Area Chamber of Commerce will supply box lunches for all performers participating in the program at the New Jersey Pavilion.

Mr. Kates said each bus will leave when it is filled instead of all leaving at once. The route into New York will be via the George Washington Bridge.

Parking Termed Inadequate The application by Mr. Crosby by calls for 15 billiard tables and parking facilities for 22 cars. A city law requires that a local billiard parlor have four parking spaces for every table, thereby creating a lawful minimum need of 60 spaces.

Under cross-examination by Eugene F. Doyle, of Morris town, counsel for the applicant, Mr. Crosby pointed out that in other Willie Mosconi Billiard Centers throughout the country, minimum parking facilities have been adequate since several players generally arrive in one car. Mr. Crosby further stated that all tables would rarely be in use and the need for four parking spaces for every table would be relatively unnecessary.

Mr. Crosby contended that because of the "push" atmosphere in Willie Mosconi Billiard Centers, the possibility of loitering or boisterousness would be at a minimum. He explained that the franchise prohibited spectators inside the establishments, and that the billiard center cannot serve any alcoholic beverages. He added that the Willie Mosconi Billiard Centers also tries to cooperate with PALS, and other youth groups in organizing billiard leagues as well as offer free instruction in the game.

Among the objectors was Ralph B. McConnell, a Hackensack attorney, representing an adjacent property owner, who contended that although Mr. Crosby might be able to control patrons using the facilities inside, he doubted whether he would be able to extend that control once customers were outside and leaving the parking lot. Mr. McConnell added that if the parlor was to remain open seven

Rites Held for Resident Killed In Car Accident

Funeral services for Joseph V. Mazza, 21, of 11 Chapel street who died last Thursday from injuries suffered in an auto accident last Wednesday night at Short Hills near the Livingston line were held on Monday from the Paul Ippolito Summit Memorial, 7 Summit, avenue. The service was followed by Mass at St. Teresa's Church.

Mr. Mazza died at Overlook Hospital last Thursday after his car struck a utility pole on White Oak Ridge road the night before. Police said he apparently failed to negotiate a curve and crashed head-on into the pole. He suffered chest and head injuries. Police said he was alone in the car.

Born in Brooklyn, Mr. Mazza was brought here as a child. He was a partner in the L. and M. Pizzeria of 783 Springfield avenue, which he had operated since last March 30. He was also a member of the United States Naval Reserve.

Mr. Mazza leaves his stepfather, Albert Donnarumma and his mother, Mrs. Rose Cirillo Donnarumma; a brother, Vincent, with the United States Army in Germany; a sister, Miss Evelyn Mazza, at home, and a grandmother, Mrs. Mary Cirillo of Summit.

LEGION POST NAMES Two for Boys' State Two local boys representing American Legion Post 138, will participate in the 17th annual Jersey Boys' State beginning Sunday.

The pair selected by the local post include Michael S. Bloomstein of 624 Springfield avenue and Stephen W. Gruner of 24 Oakley avenue. More than 900 boys from throughout the state will attend the sessions which will end on Sunday, June 28.

Zone Board Hears Pool Parlor Plea

Possible traffic hazards, noise and inadequate parking facilities were among objections raised Monday night against a zoning variance request which would permit establishment of a billiard parlor in an existing building at Springfield avenue and Glenwood place.

Following nearly two hours of public hearing on the matter, the Zoning Board of Adjustment reserved decision until Monday, June 29.

The one-floor building, formerly occupied by Colonial Pontiac is owned by Genevieve D. Geddis and lies in a business zone. Applicant for the variance, Thomas R. Geddis of Morristown, seeks to use the building as a billiard parlor under a "Willie Mosconi Golden One Billiard Center" franchise.

Main objection to the request was lodged by property owners in the area who said such a facility bordering on the residential zone would tend to create a possible traffic hazard and cause undue noise to the annoyance of nearby residents. Other objections included charges that the plan does not provide sufficient parking spaces and because of the type of establishment, loitering and possible boisterousness could develop.

Under cross-examination by Eugene F. Doyle, of Morris town, counsel for the applicant, Mr. Crosby pointed out that in other Willie Mosconi Billiard Centers throughout the country, minimum parking facilities have been adequate since several players generally arrive in one car. Lay Committee Report Finds Grade Schools Need Space, Paint and Better Housekeeping

Current requirements of elementary education combined with an increasing student population have physically outstripped Summit's school buildings, according to a survey of the city's elementary schools conducted by the school housing committee of the Lay Committee on Education.

The report points out that while present building plans for Brayton and Washington schools to include additions by the fall of 1965 will alleviate the worst of the space deficiency, "there is much which can be done with existing space in our remaining buildings to make them more nearly sufficient to cope with the educational requirements."

Franklin and Roosevelt schools were cited by the committee as schools where conditions are poor. Specifically, the report states that at Franklin, classes are badly overcrowded and the educational program cannot function as well as it should. Even though the school has made the most of its facilities, the classes are so large, according to the committee, and the curriculum cannot be administered to full advantage.

Cites Peeling Paint. At Roosevelt school, the report says, the plant is in poor condition with peeling paint and a need for repairs evident. Storage is said to be an acute problem, and unloading is difficult. Once freight is unloaded, it must be transported manually to be stored, with only one custodian assigned to the building.

In addition, the committee found that the grounds at Roosevelt school are inadequate with grading and paving both necessary, as well as more acreage needed.

While elaborating on conditions at Franklin school, the committee commented that with a school population of 400 children in 14 classrooms, the class size ranges from 23-30, in addition to one trainable class with ten children. Two of the classrooms are in the basement, one of which conjoins the only outside door for moving the power mower and snow-blower out of the building. Consequently gasoline and oil odors pervade the room.

The report also indicated that classrooms at Franklin are generally under 700-square feet, in contrast with the state recommendation of 900 square feet, with almost no storage for teacher use. Because hallways are not as wide as in Jefferson school, no work space is available there. Since the classrooms add less than 100 square feet to room size, the committee did not recommend their elimination.

While housed in the basement, the Franklin library was found to be large and pleasant with an attached workroom and expansion space. Also in the basement is an audiovisual room which is too heavily scheduled, according to the committee, which recommended that the cafeteria could be used for large work groups.

Major Work Urged. Because of conditions found at Franklin, the committee recommended that the school be given major building attention as soon as possible. In addition, the committee suggested that the Board of Education reconsider its policy of placing 25 students in a classroom and restrict the current Franklin classes to no more than 20 students.

Other committee recommendations for Franklin school include new classroom space, conference rooms, teachers' rooms and a men's lavatory. Interim changes suggested included the addition of adequate teacher storage in the classrooms within cloakroom spaces, equipment and sound-deadening effort for the change rooms which are also used for conference, rearrangement of the principal's health-general office suite and addition of an inter-com system.

In light of a Board of Education plan to redecorate the teachers' room as well as an attic cubbyhole which is currently used as a conference room, the committee suggested that the PTA be enlisted to help (Continued on Page 6)

Week's Gifts to Camp Fund Decrease Sharply

Contributions to the 16th annual Family Service Association Camp Fund were at the $2,650 mark. At this time last year when the drive was in its 10th week, gifts were at the $2,650 mark. Among those sending gifts during the week were four local girls living in the Llewellyn road section of town who netted $4.17 from a lemonade stand, and contributed the proceeds to the camp fund. The young ladies included Mary Ward, Martha Kurz, Sandra and Cindy Kingford. There were also two donations in the amount of $25 each and another for $5.

The Fund operates on a non-profit basis and makes no solicitations nor conducts any mail appeal. There are no administrative expenses and all money received goes directly to paying camping expenses.

The Summit Herald and Family Service Association gratefully acknowledge the following contributions to the 1964 Summer Camp Fund. Donations may be mailed to the Summit Herald, 22 Bank street.

Trucksess is shown as he presents the top Chamber of Commerce Talent Night Award to Ricky deNoia of 18 North street, while three other winners, Kevin Farell, Chris Durang and Bruce Walker, look on. "Read for Fun" Theme Of Children's Library

The children's department of the Summit Public Library has announced plans for a summer reading program, according to Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, children's librarian.

Children are invited to join the "Pride of Lions," RFF Club. The RFF, which mean Read For Fun, is the key slogan in the children's department. The club is non-competitive with no awards and no minimum number of books for children to read. It is specifically designed to interest young people in continuing their reading during the vacation months. The slogan, "Be a Lion, Join the Pride," is every child's invitation to register at the library for a summer of reading pleasure. The mascot of the club is the huge, Steiff lion which resides in the children's room. Each child who joins the club will receive a pin with the lion's head drawn on it, and the RFF slogan.

In conjunction with the club, Mrs. Ferguson is conducting two art projects. Children in the first through third grades are asked to bring to the library, drawings of their favorite book character, or a drawing of a scene from a book they have especially enjoyed. Children from the fourth grade up, are asked to submit a design for a book mark, size 3" by 9". The winning design will be determined by a board of judges in August, and will be used on printed book marks to be distributed through the library and schools.

In addition to these activities, several special programs have also been planned. A series of story hours for children 3-5 years old will be held each Wednesday at 10 a.m. during July. No registration is necessary and all pre-school children are welcome to attend these picture book activity sessions.

On July 8, a group of teenagers, who have recently started in the "Christmas in June Talent Night," will present a Hootenanny for children in the library. Although this program will appeal most to those in the fourth grade and up, it is open to all school age children.

The programs are free of charge, and are open to all Summit residents.

"Western" Handles Greatest Termite Swarming Season in Recent Years!

Newark, N.J.: Elwin G. Nylander of Western Termite Control, reported yesterday that the spring season of 1964 has seen the greatest swarming of termites in recent memory.

A mild winter and a wet spring with days where the sun shines and the temperature rises above 55 or 60 degrees contribute to a large turnout of termites. All of these conditions existed this year, and homeowners by the thousands have been detecting the presence of termites.

Mr. Nylander reports that Western has received a record number of calls from homeowners seeking help with their termite problems. These inquiries were handled on a first come — first served basis.

He points out, "Although termites are a year-round problem, Western is geared to handle the peak number of jobs during the heavy spring and early summer season. Our large staff of termite control experts have all the materials and equipment necessary to work full time eliminating termites from customers' homes."

If you've put off having your home inspected for termites call Western Termite Control, the company that has made prompt service and complete satisfaction a tradition for over 35 years.

Western Termite Control has two convenient locations. In Newark — 1060 Broad Street, phone 642-0847. In Mount-aside — 1048 Route 22, phone AD 3-4100. Call office nearest to you today for safe, sure extermination of termites.

Highlights from the life of the Apostle Paul will be featured at Christian Science services Sunday in the Bible Lesson entitled "God the Preserver of Man." Included will be Paul's words from II Timothy (ch. 4): "The Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever."

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Eddy Baker will include this: "The history of Christianity furnishes sublime power bestowed on man by his heavenly Father, omnipotent Mind, who gives man faith and understanding whereby to defend himself, not only from temptation, but from bodily suffering" (p. 387).

The first chapter of Genesis — coupled with explanatory passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Eddy Baker — will form the nucleus of the Christian Science Bible Lesson this Sunday entitled "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"

The Golden Text is from Psalms (33:6): "By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth." And from Science and Health: "All that is made is the work of God, and all is good" (p. 321).

Seven Teachers Are Appointed By BH Board

Berkeley Heights — Appointments of seven teachers were approved by the Board of Education Monday night for the 1964-65 school year.

Mrs. Margaret B. Mitchell who has been teaching a fourth grade class in Mountain Park School for part of this year received a contract for next year.

Mrs. Frieda Stahl, another replacement fourth grade teacher at Mountain Park this year, received her contract. Not anticipating her return to teaching this year, she did not renew her certificate for the 1963-64 school year. An emergency certificate for these few months of teaching will be obtained for her by the Board of Education and her present certificate will be renewed effective July 1.

A Berkeley School fifth grade teacher replacement, Mrs. Janet Isleib of Berkeley Heights, received an appointment for next year.

Mr. Donald M. Long of Bayonne holds a B.A. in science and math from Jersey City State Teachers College and is currently working toward his master's degree. He has been teaching general science at Colonia Junior High School.

Mr. Thomas F. Murray of Sharon, Penn. holds a B.S. in education from Indiana State Teachers College, Penn. and has taught in Sharon for the past four years, three of them on the sixth grade level. He has served four years in the armed forces.

A reading assistance teacher, Mrs. Elizabeth T. Merrill of Stirling, holds a B.S. in elementary education from Trenton State College, and her master's degree in education from Rutgers University. For the past two years she has been specializing in the study of reading at Newark State College. Mrs. Merrill has taught in Madison, and since 1955 in Passaic Township.

Miss Pamela Slowley of Summit holds a B.S. in liberal arts and humanities from Marywood College, Scranton. She completed her student teaching in the Summit Schools.

Three resignations were accepted with regret by the Board of Education on Monday. They were from Mr. Gerard Jammone, science teacher at Columbia School, who is leaving to accept position as science supervisor in another system. Miss Frona Sinxon, vocal music, Columbia School, who will be married and moving to Camden this summer; and Mrs. Elizabeth Whitty, Berkeley School sixth grade, who will be moving out of the state.

Mrs. Hildegard W. Reiber and Mr. James Mangialicco were recommended for inclusion on the list of approved substitute teachers.

Community Christian Church Joins United Church of Christ

In a worship service celebrating the unity of the Church, Community Christian Church of Berkeley Heights was received into Dual Membership in the United Church of Christ. The service was held at the Park Avenue Christian Church in East Orange, which was also received into this relationship by a special ecclesiastical council of the New Jersey Association of the United Church of Christ. The action consummates a five year study by the two churches to discover ways of making an ecumenical witness in the city and suburbs.

The worship service was preceded by special congregational meetings at which both churches voted to amend their constitutions to include the United Church of Christ as well as the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) as denominational affiliations. The churches will in the future represent not only members of Christian Churches, but Congregationalists and members of Evangelical and Reformed churches. The United Church of Christ was formed several years ago by a merger of the two latter groups. The Christian Churches (Disciples) and the United Church of Christ have been engaged in conversations at a national level, looking towards merger.

In taking this action at this time, the two congregations have expressed their conviction that the city and suburban situation in which they find themselves will no longer tolerate sectarianism. They wholeheartedly support the conversations being carried on by denominational executives at a national level, but it is their conviction that church unity cannot be confined to abstract conversation and to future hopes. It is their hope that their participation in both bodies will give visible expression to the fact of the Church's oneness, and thus provide testimony to the possibility for such expression on a wider or national level.

The two congregations submitted an application for membership to the United Church of Christ last January, when a program of study and conversation that began in 1959 revealed no impediment to their participation in that denomination. On April 8, a committee from the churches met with the Committee on Church and Ministry of the United Church of Christ to discuss the applications. As a result that committee asked the New Jersey Association at its spring meeting on April 17 for the authority to form an Ecclesiastical Council to meet with the congregations and admit them if no impediments were discovered.

Also admitted to full ministerial standing in the United Church of Christ were the Rev. Lincoln Richardson, pastor of the Community Christian Church and the Rev. Ross Willis, pastor of the Park Avenue Christian Church. Dr. Robert Funk, Associate Professor of New Testament at Drew University, and the Rev. Charles Wilson, on the staff of the World Council of Christian Education were also admitted to ministerial standing. Both are members of Community Christian Church in Berkeley Heights.

This action affects in no organizational way the existing relationship of the churches to the International Convention of Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), but gives expression to a basic conviction of that body that, as one of its founders said 150 years ago, "the Church of Jesus Christ is essentially, intentionally, and constitutionally one."

Badgley Reads Research Paper

New Providence — Laurence E. Badgley of 195 South Street was one of 52 students of Rutgers College of Arts and Sciences to read research reports before faculty committees recently at the 15th annual Henry Rutgers conference.

The papers were the result of a year of independent research by the students. Badgley's topic was mammalian genetics.

Attends Confab

Berkeley Heights — Lloyd C. Arnold of 97 Robbins Avenue was among 80 participants at the fifth national aquatic conference of the Central Atlantic Area Councils of YMCA's recently at Williams Bay, Wisc.

The four-day study of pool techniques emphasized the use of skin diving equipment. Arnold is associate secretary of the council.

Local Sculptress Is Included With Outstanding N.J. Women

Berkeley Heights — Sculptor Ruth Hutton Ancker of 61 Delmore Ave. has been selected by Fairleigh Dickinson University's Florham-Madison Campus magazine "University Woman" as among 130 outstanding New Jersey women.

In a special issue entitled "Women of New Jersey" commemorating the New Jersey Tercentenary, contributions of women in various fields are noted.

Mrs. Ancker is well-known both throughout the United States and in Europe. One of her larger compositions, "Enchantment of Past and Future" has been purchased by Fairleigh Dickinson University and is displayed in the library of the Florham-Madison Campus.

Mrs. Ancker's bust of a woman was used in the cover design of the maiden issue of "University Woman." It was judged by the magazine editors to reflect the air of serious contemplation characteristic of the modern educated woman.

Among works Mrs. Ancker completed during the spring of 1963 when she worked in Rome is a bronze figure of St. Francis of Assisi for St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Murray Hill, which will be the focal point in a Memorial Garden now under construction.

In January Mrs. Ancker exhibited her work at The House of Fine Arts in Summit. During the past year her work also has been seen in the Graullich Gallery, Art-o-Rama, Highgate Gallery, Robbins Gallery, and the Ward Eggleston Galleries.

Mrs. Ancker has been called "a highly accomplished sculptor, who has created serene figures whose gestures and expressions suggest that each has a poetic, philosophical nature." (Betsey Potier, "Manhattan East").

Prepared by Fairleigh Dickinson women students, under the guidance of Dr. Lois Pratt, associate professor of sociology, the "University Woman" is published quarterly. The special issue "Women of New Jersey" will be published early in June in cooperation with the Morris County Tercentenary Committee and the Jerseymen of the New Jersey Historical Society. It will be available for $2 at the New Jersey Pavilion of the World's Fair.

Some Good Seats Still Available At Jaycee Meet

With only 16 days remaining before the starting gun at the New Jersey A.A.U. Track & Field Championships, there are still some good seats available, according to Local Ticket Chairman, Stan Webber in New Providence and Roger Fulton in Berkeley Heights.

Anyone interested in tickets should contact either Webber or Fulton immediately as tickets are selling rapidly for both days of the weekend track finals July 27 - 28 at Rutgers University Stadium, New Brunswick. Tickets may also be purchased in New Providence at Adams Haberdashers, Bell Drugs, Mazzucco Liquor Store, or Park Beverage Store, and in Berkeley Heights at Berkeley Hardware and Delias Liquor Store.

According to George Farrand, General Chairman, tickets are priced at $5 for reserved seats (a few still available on the finish line) and $3 for unreserved (per day). Special student tickets, priced at $1.50, are being sold by the Athletic Departments of both New Providence and Governor Livingston High Schools. Special consideration can be given to group or organization ticket purchases.

"Don't you miss out on this—the most important track meet in New Jersey in many years," Mr. Farrand cautioned. The championships, sponsored by the New Jersey Jaycees, will qualify competitors for the Olympic Trials and for the United States-Russia meet in July.

Regional Spanish Teacher To Attend Language Institute

Berkeley Heights — Miss Susana Tripodi, teacher of Spanish at the Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, has been selected to attend a Summer Spanish Institute to be held by Bradley University, Peoria, Illinois, this summer in San Miguel de Allende, Mexico.

Miss Tripodi is one of 30 graduates of previous Spanish institutes in the United States who have been chosen on the basis of teaching experience and special recommendations from the directors of the first-level institutes.

All participants from public schools will receive a stipend of $75 per week, with additional dependents' allowances of $15 per week for the duration of the institute, which begins July 1 and ends August 18. All funds for the operation of such programs are provided by the National Defense Education Act of 1958, as administered by the U.S. Office of Education. The first institutes conducted under this program were held in the summer of 1959. This year five NDEA Spanish Institutes will be held in Latin America. Bradley University's 1963 institute was held in Guatemala City, Guatemala.

Special courses will be offered in Spanish linguistics, conversation, composition, Hispanic culture, and the latest classroom methods and materials. The formal program will be supplemented by individual research projects, lectures by visiting specialists, and group tours to points of interest in central Mexico. All participants will live with Mexican families and will be required to use Spanish in all daily activities.

Lay Committee

Non-Crowded Conditions
Elaboration of the report indicated that Roosevelt school houses 230 children in ten classrooms with about 21 children per class. While it is the only elementary school building in the city not suffering from overcrowding, the committee also found that it is also the only elementary school which has less than minimum maintenance attention.

The committee recalled that in 1953 a standards group of the Lay Committee had recommended the addition of a gymnasium and janitorial facilities. The group had also asked for improvement of or addition to the conference room, multi-purpose room, sanitary facilities, health room, increase and improvement of school site and playground, safe unloading and parking facilities. The report currently issued indicates that none of these recommendations has been acted upon.

The report indicated that while the building is over 50 years old, it appears structurally sound. The classrooms, which were termed "pleasant," are generally of good size and have been given improved lighting, chalkboard and show space. In light of Board of Education plans to paint the halls this summer, the committee felt a more attractive atmosphere would be created.

But the committee felt that if a reasonable amount of money were spent on other parts of the building, working conditions would be improved for teachers and students.

Regarding the playground connected with the school, which the committee found to be small, badly equipped and sloped, the recommendation was made that additional playground space be provided as soon as possible with a suitable macadam area and good equipment. Such an addition, the committee suggested would be a year-round asset since young children are unable to safely cross Morris avenue to Edison playground.

Cars Park in Playground
The committee also found that cars visiting houses and businesses nearby often park on the playground.

In commenting on classrooms at Roosevelt, the report said that only the kindergarten and first grade rooms have sinks. On the first floor, water must be obtained from one of the two rooms with sinks, whereas second floor classes must obtain water from a janitor's closet.

Storage facilities in the classrooms for both students and teachers were termed "very poor" and a need for mobile chalkboards was indicated.

General storage in the school will be implemented by the vacated facilities previously used by the Naval Reserve Unit, but the committee recommended that a portion of the kindergarten room be reworked to include a good storage-workroom and either small conference rooms or sanitary facilities.

The committee reported that the library and general purpose rooms in the basement are now used for conferences, and that the Board of Education expects to remodel the general purpose room this summer to incorporate two teacher study rooms besides a general-purpose area.

There is no gymnasium at Roosevelt school and a standard classroom is used as a playroom with all gym equipment on the floor, since the closet is used for cafeteria storage. The report indicated that the school board intends to convert space released by the Navy into a suitably-equipped playroom so that the present playroom can be used for classroom space or other uses.

Currently the teachers' room is in the process of redecoration, and the P.T.A. will provide a small kitchen unit while the school board will install new furniture. The housing committee recommended that the lavatory be reconstructed.

In reporting on Brayton school the committee found that with 17 classrooms, two of which are in the Junior High School, 487 students are enrolled, and class size ranges from 17 in one kindergarten session to 31 in three upper grade classes. Average class size is almost 26 students.

Recognizing that a large addition to the Brayton building is expected to open in the fall of 1965, and which will make the total plant include 20 classrooms, library, auditorium-gymnasium, conference space, cafeteria, teachers' room and work space, as well as a large room for team teaching, the committee urged that the new addition, which will be separated from the present building by at least 50 feet, be joined by an enclosed passageway.

In exploring plans for the new Brayton addition, the committee found that the new auditorium-gymnasium was being planned to seat 450 persons. Since it is expected that the Brayton school population will be 530 students, the committee recommended increasing the size of the auditorium.

Analysis of Jefferson school by the committee found a student enrollment of 250 children in ten classrooms with class size ranging from 17 to 30. The library is housed in a change room and there is no multi-purpose room.

Since classrooms are quite small, according to the report, a considerable amount of teaching is done in the wide halls.

While grades one to six are without classroom sinks, the committee made no recommendation because of the classroom size.

Major building needs, according to the committee, are a library, team-teaching room, conference rooms, work space for teachers and classroom and special storage space.

Earlier changes recommended by the housing committee include enlargement of classrooms by eliminating present cloakrooms, substituting locker space in halls or narrow closet space for individual student storage in rooms.

Also recommended was the addition of a girls' room in the basement and a boys' room in the small room at the top of the staircase.

The committee also recommended installation of an intercommunications system and additional shelf storage for classrooms.

At Lincoln school, the committee found that the building which had originally been built for 13 classrooms now has 17 rooms in use as classrooms and an enrollment of 468 students, averaging 27 students per class.

Former library, industrial arts, music and creative arts rooms have been converted into classrooms, and while three of the rooms are good classrooms, the old library, which is now used as a second kindergarten, is "inadequately suited in almost every respect" with no plumbing or storage of the sort needed for kindergarten.

Other conditions found by the committee were that library files and tables are in a former conference room with the bulk of the books in the halls. There is no conference room and special teachers use change rooms, closets, principal's office and cafeteria for their work. There is no multi-purpose room.

Currently, the committee found that the intercom system is being connected from the gymnasium to the office.

The housing committee recommended additional classroom space, a library, multi-purpose room, conference rooms and additional storage rooms.

Other recommendations included an additional phone line into the building, a public telephone, shelf storage and adaptation of change rooms to conference rooms by using sound-deadening materials and suitable furniture.

Recommendations for Washington school, to which an addition is planned, include classroom sinks, conference rooms, and shelf storage. The addition to Washington is expected to include a kindergarten, five classrooms, library, storage space, and toilets. The committee expressed doubt that the expansion of present cafeteria facilities will accommodate the future increased load.

Commenting that teachers at Wilson school "enjoy using the building," but noting that there is no possibility of an addition to the school plant, which is overcrowded, the committee recommended that when land is available, classrooms, a library with a workroom, multi-purpose room and additional conference rooms be added. In the meantime, the committee recommended the use of moveable screens in the cafeteria as an inexpensive way to provide special teachers with an illusion of small-room privacy.

Something all Newlyweds should know ...about financial success. The first step towards this much-sought-after goal is the basic protection of the family through Life Insurance.

Should you buy now? Or can it be put off safely if both husband and wife are working? The wise thing is to buy now. Postponement till you're older means higher premiums and the risk of poor health striking in the meantime. Someday too, that second income may stop, making it doubly important that a new mother be guaranteed a living income—an income enabling her to devote full time to raising that precious new addition.

The best buy for the young family is permanent insurance. It provides that most important guarantee of family income. In addition, it's a savings plan providing cash in an emergency and funds for long-range objectives such as a university education for a son.

Helen Hayes, for years conceded to be the greatest woman in the American theater, will make her first appearance at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn beginning Monday, July 13. Miss Hayes will star in her recent Broadway triumph, "The White House," a chronicle of the great first ladies in residence there through the years. James Daly will also star in the two week engagement which will run through Saturday, July 25.

"The White House" returned Miss Hayes to Broadway this season for the first time since 1938 when she starred in the theater that bears her name in O'Neill's "Touch of the Poet." The first Lady of the theater began her career at the age of five in her native Washington, D.C.; she continued as a child performer until as an ingenue she became a star in "Coquette."

"The White House" again offers Miss Hayes an opportunity to display her extraordinary virtuosity. In it she plays Abigail Adams, Rachel Jackson, Mrs. Franklin Pierce, Leonora Clayton, Mary Todd Lincoln, Julia Grant, Mrs. James G. Blaine, Mrs. Grover Cleveland, Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Edith Wilson.

James Daly, seen most recently on Broadway in "The Advocate" and prior to that in "Period of Adjustment" by Tennessee Williams will play a variety of presidents including George Washington, James Monroe and Theodore Roosevelt.

"The White House" will play for two weeks at the Paper Mill before a contemplated national tour, replacing the originally scheduled "Madly in Love." The summer season opens on June 30 with Shelley Winters in the new "Days of the Dangling."

Know Type of Hedge Needed Before Buying

There are so many plants for hedges says the American Association of Nurserymen and they grow in so many different ways, i.e., dense, open, thorny, slow, fast, high, low, evergreen, deciduous, flowering, non-flowering, that the average home owner should first ask himself what he wishes to accomplish, with a proposed hedge, then inquire from nurserymen the plants that will serve the purpose best.

Hedges may be desired which will grow as follows:

1. Evergreen (keep their leaves all winter and be a screen all year;) or deciduous (shed their leaves for winter.)
2. Dense — some branch structures are so compact they pro-

Valuable Tips for Tourists

This year nearly one million Americans will vacation in Europe, Spain, France, England, Italy, the Scandinavian countries and the Netherlands will be among the top choices for these travelers, the experts predict. In each country, Americans will see the sights and sample a small part of the local way of life.

Sightseeing is a major part of all European travel, and many of the most remarkable sights are to be seen on walking tours, not from a seat in a touring bus. Therefore, women going abroad should keep certain fashion pointers in mind so that they can look chic, neat and comfortable.

Slacks and other such casual dress are frowned on in major European cities, but for Holland you can take along a pair of comfortable dungarees. By no means has the country gone "beatnik," but in the Netherlands you can take a load off your feet and sightsee by boat. Slacks, shorts and denims are the fashions for this kind of lazy life.

(Travel tips and other information concerning Holland may be obtained free of charge by writing: Netherlands National Tourist Office, Dept. S.C. 605 Fifth Avenue, New York City.)

vide a real barrier; some of these are slow-growing, require little care.

3. Hedges can be planted very low, or as high as you wish. Many that normally will grow 10 to 15 feet in height can be kept low by clipping; others will grow low normally with little clipping.

4. Wide, or narrow. Often the space available will determine the width.

5. Thorny stems, or leaves. These will keep out stray animals.

6. Flowering, or non-flowering. Some hedges are beautiful in flowers, such as Azaleas, Forsythia.

7. Colorful fruits, which may attract birds, or otherwise are beautiful, like Ilex.

8. For windbreaks — wide hedges can reduce winds in particularly windy areas, or serve as screens against unsightly views; or serve to insure privacy for the family.

There are screens for rocky soils where nothing much may otherwise grow. Study the reasons for your hedge then inquire for plants that suit the purpose. Some home owners desire a property delineation from their neighbor's lot—in such a case a beautiful hedge of roses may suffice that both can enjoy.

Safety Rules Apply to Home Swimming Pools

Whether you now own a swimming pool or hope to build one some day (more and more middle-income families are taking the plunge), knowing the rules of swimming pool safety may make a vital difference to you and your family.

These protective pointers will keep you—figuratively, at least—from getting in over your head.

1. Arrange for an adult to be present whenever the children are in for a swim. In the case of neighborhood kids, make an informal rule that no small children will be allowed unless accompanied by an adult.

2. Be sure that swimmers stay out of the pool for at least an hour after meals.

3. Have a life preserver handy — an inflated inner tube is fine.

4. A high fence around the pool will protect wandering tots — and possibly save you from negligence charges. Keep the gate closed whenever the pool is not in use.

5. Electric lights in the pool area make night swimming safer, prevent falls into the pool.

6. Filters should be run so that pool water is completely filtered every 18-24 hours.

7. Filters must be cleaned every 3 to 10 days. The interval between cleanings can be lengthened by proper care of pool: frequent vacuuming and skimming (either by hand or with automatic skimmer).

8. Keep water well-chlorinated to fight the growth of algae and bacteria.

9. After the season, check valves, pipes and other equipment for damage that needs repairing. Moving parts should be oiled, and all exposed metal given a light coat of grease or oil to prevent rust. At least once a year, preferably in the spring, drain the pool and check pool walls and floors for cracks and other damage.

10. During the off-season, pool should be constantly covered with a plastic or canvas top strong enough to support the weight of a person who might fall or step onto it. If the cover is removed for ice skating, be sure to replace it during warm spells to prevent accidents.

The population of Malaya was 6,250,000 in 1960. Today it is estimated at 8,800,000. Singapore, the largest city, has 1,800,000 people. Kuala Lumpur the capital, is the fastest growing city, with 350,000 — and expanding rapidly.

YWCA Names Winners of Scholarships

The scholarship committee of the YWCA has announced a presentation of a scholarship award to Miss Beryl Smith, daughter of Mrs. Hortense Smith of Morris avenue, for further study for a career in teaching. A member of the graduating class at Summit High School, Miss Smith plans to attend Glassboro State College in the fall.

At high school, Miss Smith has been active in many clubs and student organizations, including Future Teachers of America, Student Council, Spanish Club, Book Mart, Service Committee, Student Policy Committee House and Grounds Committee, Leaders' Corps and school chorus. She has been a member of the Tri-Epsilon club and of the Junior Auxiliary Twig.

The scholarship committee made a second award to Miss Eleanor Onderdonck of Hobart avenue, who will be a sophomore at Vermont College for Women, Montpelier, in September. Miss Onderdonck was the recipient of a YWCA scholarship for her freshman year and is taking a business course at college.

One Way to Help

There are unmistakable signs of joy these days in local Republican circles and it all comes from Gov. William Scranton's decision to oppose Sen. Barry Goldwater for the presidential nomination.

Despite the lateness of Scranton's move there is very little talk that he will be unable to sidetrack the Arizona senator. Instead there is an air of impatience to get behind Scranton and help him. The general atmosphere is very similar to the Willie campaign.

Although there is not yet a semblance of a Scranton organization here or in Union County, there is something that his admirers can do right now. And that is to write to the two Union County delegates to the Republican National Convention and let them know your personal preference between Scranton and Goldwater.

One of the delegates, Robert MacPherson, is a Goldwater supporter. The other, Mayor F. Edward Biertuempfel of Union, says he has an "open mind" but he has been branded as also being a Goldwater man. If both delegates were convinced that the majority of Union County Republicans prefer Scranton, then it might guide their activities at the convention.

Mr. MacPherson's home address is 209 Paterson road, Fanwood, and Mr. Biertuempfel's is 1109 Overlook Terrace, Union.

SAGE on Its Tenth Anniversary

The contributions made by SAGE during its 10 year history have been so sweeping and far reaching that to enumerate would still fail to do this very important group due justice.

Back in 1954 SAGE — Summit Association for Gerontological Endeavor— was organized for the prime purpose of carrying out a program concerned with all aspects of aging. The association's prime task was to develop attitudes, facilities and services so that all local citizens might live out their later years with independence, service and dignity. The premise was highly idealistic to say the least, but in the decade that SAGE has been in existence, it has never deviated from that goal nor has it failed to achieve some success in its endeavors.

From eight homemakers in 1954 to 71 today, from 585 hours of service to 56,613 last year, as well as numerous project including the OWL employment service for the elderly, the SAGE workshop, publication of a nursing home guide and a canteen at Fair Oaks Hospital are just a few of the endeavors that have made SAGE an integral part of the community at large.

Now, after 10 years, SAGE is still embarking on new projects for the future. Some of the plans now being investigated include a non-profit nursing home, a foster home care program, a multi-purpose middle income health clinic, and a middle-income housing program for older citizens. These are ambitious plans, but SAGE has always been prepared to enlarge and improve all of its activities.

Since SAGE early recognized the need for programs aimed specifically at helping the aged, it goes without saying that community support for this essentially local group should continue.

Ten years is sufficient time for any group to determine whether its program is designed to meet unfulfilled needs. We think SAGE has definitely met the needs of the city's senior citizens. On its tenth anniversary SAGE can look with pride at its past and with high hopes to the future.

But Will They Heed?

The American Bankers Association has completed a survey of the economic chances of the school dropout which, in terms of dollars and cents should awaken every parents in particular, and all teenagers with the need for obtaining as much education as possible.

Because of training and experience bankers are prone to rely on hard figures. Hence what they have to say is important. The survey has determined that the young person who leaves high school before completing four years study, will earn an average of $38,000 less during his working lifetime.

The youth who leaves grammar school before completing eighth grade tends to earn $121,000 less than the high school graduate. These are figures which would startle everyone into thought.

There are few youngsters who quit school out of necessity. For the most part, they are lazy people who will not apply themselves or concentrate on their studies. They want to "grow up" fast and the prospect of a job which may pay $50 per week is too rosy to resist.

What they tend to overlook and what many parents fail to point out is that they are about to begin earning a minimum wage. And they will continue to earn a minimum wage for the rest of their working-lives. The few dollars of the moment tend to dwindle in importance later on when the time comes to support a family.

Banking survey members have uncovered some new data on the dropout problem. There has been a tendency to blame dropouts mainly on delinquency, on broken homes or on lack of adequate mental ability. The real reason is the lure of ready cash and parental disinterest.

Completing high school does not mean that the young person has been grounded in a specific working skill. Those years have helped the individual to expand the ability to think and to reason. Later on, when the time comes to start working, that ability to think and reason increases the ability to coordinate the individual with the demands of the job. That person immediately becomes more valuable.

The bankers are giving the benefit of their information to all who will listen. Many people will read and they will ponder. Unfortunately, those who could make best use of this data will not take the time to read. The school dropout usually hasn't time to read. He prefers a discordant tune on a pocket radio. The parent of a dropout usually is too busy with other things to ponder the educational problem. They are the ones who should heed. But will they?

Current Comment

(Elizabeth Daily Journal)
"Park 'N' Ride' Project Succeeds
(Elizabeth Daily Journal)

While idle talk flows around other proposals, encouraging figures show commuters are forsaking their cars for the "park 'n' ride" experiment of the Tri-State Transportation Committee near New Brunswick. Four hundred commuters use it daily.

The tri-state agency, the New Jersey Division of Railroad Transportation, and the Pennsylvania Railroad agreed upon a new stop for several trains southwest of the New Brunswick line. Space was provided to park 300 cars. Forty or 50 of the daily riders are new to the railroad.

Officials and consultants studying the commuters' needs and traffic congestion are in general agreement that as many daily workers as possible should be moved by rail.

New Brunswick was chosen because it has a considerable volume of commuter travel and because space was available near the city for the construction of an adequate station and the laying out of a large parking lot beside it.

The first "park 'n' ride" experiment has proved its feasibility. People can be wooed away from traffic congestion to use the trains when convenient facilities are available.

Application of this setup elsewhere merits serious consideration.

The Dropout Defined

"Dropout" is getting to be a bad word, an expletive as crushing as "teen-ager," its coinage debased by ill usage. School dropouts, in this currency, are shiftless, prideless youngsters, perversely opposed to an education, probably of weak mentality, and either juvenile delinquents or naturally doomed to become so. It is heartening to see active measures being taken to correct that cruel delusion, as in a recent forum at which some 100 children gave their own views.

Boys and girls do not so much drop out of school as they are discouraged out by parents who don't care, intimidated out by racial discrimination, bored out by failure of teachers to rouse their interest, sometimes even pushed out by schools that don't want them either, the seminar showed. The problem of school dropouts will be dealt with productively, not by heaping anathema upon it, but by treating the ills of a whole society that makes it inevitable.

Letters

Admires Herald's Standards

Editor, Summit Herald:

In reference to a letter published last week criticizing local reporting by the Summit Herald, may I state that the writer's experiences have been, contrary to my own.

I have done publicity work for a number of organizations, including a small Cub Scout den, and have always received the utmost cooperation from the entire staff. They have been generous with space and interested in every aspect which is newsworthy.

A newspaper can not accept copy which editorializes or blatantly sings the praises of a local organization no matter how worthy it might be. I admire the Herald for maintaining a standard of reportorial and editorial excellence, the function of a paper is news, not pamphleteering.

A folksier, less formal approach to stories might be attempted, but I doubt that the average publicity chairman is a polished feature writer. Is there anything more exorciating than a feature article amateurishly done? I express one reader's thanks to the Herald for protecting us from such a fate.

Critical of School Booklet

Editor, Summit Herald:

The recent issue of "Dimensions in Education — a Publication of the Summit Public Schools" included an article which needs to be challenged. It states:

"It is clear to the (Summit) property owners that the local revenue structures as they are now used for the support of education are inadequate for the financial tasks ahead."

Can this really be true of the community which recent Summit Herald headlines have proclaimed as having one of the highest average family incomes in the metropolitan area and the second lowest property tax rate in Union County? Naturally, property owners prefer not to have property taxes increased, but that does not mean revenue structures are inadequate. Summit obviously possesses the resources to provide the excellent schools we all want.

The article continues: "Where can the taxpayer turn for relief that will not be at the expense of his children and those of his neighbor? The state is the obvious source of aid."

This statement indicates a lack of understanding of public finance. Where does the writer believe the State's funds come from if not the people of the state — the very taxpayers who would supposedly be relieved by state aid? The State of New Jersey cannot create money, but depends on various taxes for its income — taxes paid directly or indirectly by its citizens.

What a delusion it is to think we would gain anything by having Trenton levy additional taxes and parcel out state aid to localities. Former Governor Meyner candidly advised: "Costs of local government can be best controlled when the expense is levied locally and is subject to the scrutiny of local taxpayers."

Moreover, Summit would certainly receive a less-than-proportionate share of any new "broad-based tax." Summit residents would pay higher-than-average sales or income taxes, and the city's schools would undoubtedly receive minimum state-aid allotments (as they do now).

Brevity does not allow a full discussion of state versus local financing. Obviously, some services must be provided at the state level, but education, especially in a community like Summit, costs less when paid for locally.

The article further states: "Among the strong voices which the citizen must enlist as allies are the local political leaders. As they are pressured for more money for schools they, too, look for aid. Their influence is great in the State Assembly."

I believe that Summit's school affairs can be most efficiently and economically managed by Summit people using Summit funds, and I dislike being told in an official publication that we must resort to pressuring politicians.

"Dimensions in Education" is presented as "A Publication of the Summit Public School." No editor is named; the articles are unsigned. Do we not deserve to know who is dispensing this unsound advice? Is it the superintendent? The faculty? The Board of Education? The Lay Committee?

I welcome a school bulletin which reports appointments, awards and other news, but editorializing seems inappropriate if it comes anonymously from "The Summit Public Schools." Might I justifiably say, therefore, that I approve the length and breadth of "Dimensions" but am disappointed in its lack of depth.

Error in AA Meeting Date

a correction of your announcement last week of its meetings. The closed meeting for members only is held Tuesday evenings, not Friday, at 8:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Church House, 3 Waldron Avenue. It is claimed that "Printers do not drink any more than other people; it just shows up Moore in Print." We are confident however that this was just a routine error.

We are less tolerant of your June 4 editorial on Alcoholism, one of those "omniscient stands" for which you were criticized in these columns last week. You are misinformed.

You state that the alcoholic has "neurotic problems." (Poor sick problems!) His problems are the same ones—great and small—that other people have. He is simply too ill to cope with them.

You say, "Much of his drinking stems either from compulsion or escapism." These are not causes but the effect of his drinking.

More on Eisenhower Book
Editor, Summit Herald:

How can you tell if a liberal is unhappy or not? Obviously by counting the number of facts that have to be forced down his unwilling throat!

It is plain that Mr. O'Connor just doesn't like facts. Facts always seem to be gumming up the works and getting in the way somehow. Mr. O'Connor also doesn't seem to like certain publications and the people who contribute to them. Because of this, he is willing to ignore the factual information that these publications contain.

I must say that I, myself, have a large list of publications that I do not particularly like such as The New York Times, Life, Look and Time magazines, to mention just a few. I dislike them because of their liberal myopia, but this does not discredit the factual material that these news media contain.

Even heavily biased publications must print facts, however shaded they may be. Dates, times, places and quotations must be correct because libel laws are still in effect.

Has Mr. Eisenhower sued
Mr. Gunther for saying that his (Mr. Eisenhower's) book was ghost-written by a communist?
Mr. O'Connor dislikes Mr. Gunther and therefore discards his testimony as being meaningless.
Mr. Gunther is a liberal, and because of this I neither like him nor do I agree with his opinions, but this does not alter any statement of fact that Mr. Gunther happens to put forth.

Perhaps Mr. O'Connor would like to choke on the following bit of "poppycock":

J. B. Matthews, author, lecturer, widely recognized authority on Communism, former staff director of the House Committee on Un-American Activities (1938-1954), expert witness who has given extensive testimony before the HCUA, made the following statement:

"It is fair, for example, to call attention to the fact that one of Eisenhower's collaborators in the writing of his book, Crusade in Europe, was Joseph Barnes, then the foreign editor of the New York Herald Tribune." (From an article by J.
B. Matthews entitled Years of Betrayal - American Mercury magazine, February, 1954, page 38).

Mr. Matthews says Barnes was a collaborator in writing of the book. Mr. Gunther makes the statement that Mr. Barnes did, in fact, write the book. Mr.
Eisenhower has not contested these allegations nor has he sued either Gunther or Matthews for libel to my knowledge! Nor has Mr. Eisenhower sued Robert Welch for repeating this information in his book entitled The Politician which has been out now about a year and a half.

Having previously established that Mr. Barnes is or was at one time a Communist agent, I am inclined to believe that Crusade in Europe was therefore ghost-written by a bona-fide Communist! This appears to me to be quite sound as well as 'clever' logic. Whether Mr.
O'Connor will be convinced of the same depends on how adpt he is at swallowing this bitter capsule of fact.

Urges Annual Talent Night

Editor, Summit Herald:
Last winter following the Christmas season several citizens of Summit expressed their gratitude to the Chamber of Commerce for the beautiful new Christmas decorations that made the shopping area so attractive. I concurred in this feeling, but did not write. When the trees were destroyed in the warehouse fire during the winter I joined others in feeling sad about it, but I did not write.
Now, I wish you would publish my appreciation for the local merchants who have taken the initiative in the hopes of replacing the Christmas trees for all of us to enjoy.

On June 6, to raise funds for new trees, the Chamber of Commerce sponsored a benefit talent night (with an age limit of 18 yrs.), and it was a most enjoyable evening, a "Christmas in June." There were 19 acts presented by young persons from Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights with the talent including singers, dancers, impressionists, jazz combos, and individual musical instrumentalists. The show was held at the Junior High School auditorium, and although there were some empty seats (where were all those persons who wanted to help buy new trees?), the audience could feel the enthusiasm of the performers and became a part of the show when the beat of the music led to spontaneous rhythmic handclapping. To me, one of the most impressive parts of the show was the obvious effort and enjoyment that all the cast put into their acts for here was an opportunity for them to make a positive contribution to a good cause and have a ball doing it! These young people were great And they were talented, too!

The time and effort that the members of the Chamber of Commerce devoted to the show contributed greatly to the success of the evening, for each helped in his own way to give this amateur show the benefit of his professional help. It is to be hoped that the citizens of Summit appreciate this extra-curricular activity of our merchants!

Now that the ice is broken, perhaps this could become an annual talent night, with the proceeds devoted to Christmas decorations or other beautification projects planned over the years and without it, causing anyone undue extra expense. It would provide a marvelous showcase for young talented performers.

How to buy an electric shaver (Perfect gift for Father's Day and Graduation)

1. Have an uncomfortable shave for the last time. No man should put up with a shave that is irritating or unpleasant day after day. Shaving should be convenient and comfortable. And today it is—with the comfort shave.

2. Talk to your dealer about electric shavers. He'll show you several brands. Most of them have blades which go back and forth. Only Norelco Speedshavers have rotary blades which go round and round.

3. Look at both kinds. Back and forth blades stop and change direction constantly. Norelco rotary blades whirl continuously in one direction. They stroke off whiskers without pinch or pull.

4. Ask about speed and closeness. Today's electric shavers all shave fast and with about equal closeness. The important difference is in the comfort they give. It's the difference between enjoying a shave or enduring it.

5. Ask about comfort. Only Norelco rotary blades give you the comfort shave. Norelco rotary blade action is so smooth, the face actually feels soothed. It's the most comfortable way to shave close and clean.

6. Select your Norelco: New Norelco 'floating-head' Speedshaver. Heads swivel to fit face. New 'flip-top' Speedshaver, world's best seller. New Norelco Cordless, battery-powered. All give the comfort shave.

Summit Man in Job Rights Plea For Minorities

Full opportunity in employment, the goal of minority groups, must be achieved by business and industry, Leroy Baum, of 29 Bedford road, Assistant vice president-personnel, N. J. Bell Telephone Co., Newark, said Monday evening.

Addressing the 18th annual commencement exercises of the Industries Training School at Stevens Institute of Technology, Baum said: "There is no justification for denying a man a job because he is a Puerto Rican, or because he is from any other minority group. This is a moral truth and it's the premise on which we base actions and policies in the civil rights area."

"For the businessman, there is the added truth that job discrimination is economically damaging," Mr. Baum continued. "A business cannot afford to cut itself off from any source of talent in this highly competitive age. It needs all the brainpower it can get. It is wasteful to exclude job applicants because of factors other than their skills."

Mr. Baum described the program established by N. J. Bell Telephone Co. to inform minority groups of job opportunities and the problems the company has faced in regards to minority group hiring.

Mr. Baum joined N. J. Bell in 1927 following his graduation from Swarthmore College. He was appointed to his present post in 1955 after serving as assistant vice president-public relations at the Newark office. He is a former president of the Board of Education here and is presently on the board of directors and executive committee of the N. J. Council on Economic Education.

For the Birds

By Farris S. Swackhamer
Union Junior College
June, 1964

"The Eagle years ago agreed to show the Fishing Hawk how to build a nest if the hawk would keep him supplied with fish. After receiving the desired information, however, the hawk failed to keep his end of the bargain, so henceforth the Eagle made a practice of worrying and robbing the Fish Hawk every time he found him carrying fish." This bit of folklore is attributed to Chucky Rose, an old trapper from middle Delaware.

The tale highlights the practice of the bald eagle to harass an osprey which has a fish until the food is dropped. Some say the eagle catches the fish in mid-air but others are inclined to think he retrieves it from the ground after it drops. It was this habit, along with the eagles' liking for carrion that led Benjamin Franklin to regret the selection of the bird as the national emblem. But no one can deny that a bald eagle, soaring majestically on the wind currents high above the earth, its snow white head and tail glistening in the sun, symbolizes freedom.

The range of the bald eagle extends from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic. Strangely, it is most abundant at the extremes—in Florida and Alaska. Once it was a frequent resident of New Jersey, generally near water.

John Burroughs, from his vantage point on the Hudson River, in "A River View" wrote, "When the river is at its wildest, usually in March, the eagles appear. They prowl about amid the ice floes, alighting upon them in quest of a fish or a wounded duck or other game."

"I have counted ten of these noble birds at one time, some seated grim and motionless on cakes of ice—usually surrounded by crows—others flapping along, sharply scrutinizing the surface beneath. Where the eagles are, there the crows do congregate. The crows follow the eagle, as the jackal follows the lion, in hope of getting the leavings of the royal table. Then I suspect the crow is a real hero worshipper. I have seen a dozen or more of them sitting in a circle about an eagle upon the ice, all with their faces turned toward him and apparently in admiration of the dusky king."

Bill to tail, the bald eagle measures almost three feet and has a wing-spread of six to seven and a half feet. The white head and tail are all the identification marks needed in the field.

The bald eagle's nest is a tremendous structure. In Alaska one was found that was a mere depression in the heavy grass overlooking Big River. But this was the exception. On Admiralty Island, others were more typical. A nest was situated in the highest branches of a broken-top spruce tree, 116 feet from the ground. It measured six feet four inches by six feet eleven inches overall, and the outside depth was four feet. The nest cavity was lined with duck feathers, moss and grasses. Eagles come back to the same nest year after year, adding to the structure each season. In Vermilion, Ohio, one was occupied from 1899 until it blew down in 1925, no doubt used by sons and daughters of the original builders. It was 12 feet high and over eight feet in diameter, weighting many hundreds of pounds.

Never plentiful in New Jersey, the bald eagle population has dwindled markedly. In 1959, the Audubon Society survey listed only 10 active nests and four young raised. Five years later the number dropped to eight nests and two young.

Although it is too early to state with certainty, it appears that DDT in food has caused the sterility of these great birds. This and irresponsible hunters have probably accounted for the decline.

YWCA Summer Program Still Has Openings

Reservations may still be made for three groups of activities for girls in the 9th through the 12th grades in the YWCA's summer program beginning on July 6 and running through July 31. Openings are available for the arts and crafts, the drama and the home economics programs. The counselor-in-training program is already filled. Girls will meet from 1 to 4 p.m. on Mondays through Thursdays and from 1 to 11 p.m. on Fridays.

Special feature of the summer program will be trips to places related to the area of interest chosen. Girls interested in dramatics will attend a performance at the Paper mill Playhouse, will have a tour of the theater, and will journey to Lambertville to visit the St. John Terrell's Music Circus. Arts and crafts enthusiasts will visit the Museum of Modern Art, Contemporary Ceramics in Chatham, Summit Art Center, a stained glass window factory, and other places related to arts and crafts. Social work registrants will spend time at the Neighborhood House in Morristown, Children's Specialized Hospital, Child Evaluation Center, a nursing home, and a migrant camp.

Adult instructors for the interest groups include Miss Claire Poulin, a teacher at Plainfield High School, instructor in dramatics; Miss Sandra Webb, graduate student at Drew University, arts and crafts; Mrs. Ned Wilson, teacher in the Chatham school system, social work; and Miss Mary Ida Gardner, young adult program director at the YWCA, in charge of the counselor-in-training group.

Three Area Golfers Impress in Tourney

The Summit Area's three representatives in the New Jersey State Amateur Golf championships made strong showings last week although they failed to capture the title.

Summit's golfing mailman, Frank Moroney, won his first four matches before losing his putting touch in the semifinals and dropping a 2 and 1 verdict to the eventual champion, Jim DePiro of Branch Brook.

DePiro one-putted 10 greens on the opening 18 holes to grab a three-hole lead. Moroney tried valiantly to catch up, but his erratic putter frustrated his efforts. Frank made one of the tourney's most spectacular shots when he chipped in a 110-yarder for an eagle three on a par five hole.

Moroney survived two spine-tingling matches in reaching the semifinals. In the first round, Frank won four of the final six holes to catch Les Davies of Ridgewood. He then battled through three extra holes before winning the match, 1 up, on the 21st hole.

Moroney lost four of the first five holes in a second-round match with Ray Gebhardt of Knickerbocker. Frank again battled back to even the match and then carded a birdie on the 18th hole to again win, 1 up.

It was easier after that until the semifinals. Frank defeated Mike Rubino, Jr., Manasquan River, 3 and 2, and then routed Jules Gately of Forsgate, 5 and 4. Moroney carded a two under par 35 for the first nine holes in defeating Gately.

Pat Paradise, Jr., of Berkeley Heights, playing out of the Twin Brooks Country Club in Watchung, reached the quarterfinal round before bowing to Tom Berberian of Forest Hill, 1 up. Paradise was three holes down after 10 holes, but rallied to even the match with a birdie on the 16th hole.

The Berkeley Heights golfer defeated Pat Mucci of Preakness Hills, 1 up, in the first round, winning the match on the 18th hole. He had an easier time in defeating Edmond Dubin, Jr., of Rockaway River, 4 and 3, in the second round.

Paradise nipped Bob Kotz, Trenton, 1 up, on the 19th hole in a third-round match. Pat carded an eagle three on the 11th hole to take a 2-1 lead.

Donald C. Rogers Jr., playing out of the Canoe Brook Country Club in Summit, reached the third round before bowing 3 and 1 to Jim Wilcoxen of Deal. Rogers, the top player on the University of Kentucky team, had beaten Dr. Leon J. Doulet, Manasquan River, 1 up, and Johnny Farrell, Jr., Baltusrol, 6 and 5, in earlier matches.

Severson, Scalessa Selected For Suburban Conference Nine

Summit High and New Providence were among the also-rans in this year's Suburban Conference baseball race, but the conference's Summit Area entries produced the league's all-star keystone combination. A pair of juniors, Fran Scalessa, Summit second baseman, and Rick Severson, New Providence shortstop, are the area's representatives on the all-star nine.

Scalessa was considered the conference's best lead-off man. He collected 16 hits and drew 16 bases on balls in compiling a .323 batting average for the season.

Severson was the conference's leading hitter with a .459 mark. He was the sole batting stickout on a weak hitting Pioneer team. Rick also was Union County's leading hitter.

It was the second all-conference honor for Severson this year. Earlier, the 6-foot-190-pounder had been chosen for the conference's all-star basketball team.

Billiard Parlor

(Continued from Page 1) days a week, until 11 p.m. or midnight, the possibility of noise would become a nuisance to nearby residents.

Cites Variance Requirement
Another objector, Russell T. Kerby of the law firm of Moser, Griffin and Kerby, representing John D. Hood, owner of a building on the north side of Springfield avenue directly across the street, argued that under the law, a variance can only be granted if the owner proves undue hardship. Mr. Kerby pointed out that the present building can be used for other businesses outside of a billiard parlor, and that neither the owner or applicant proved hardship. There was a possibility, Mr. Kerby contended, that another automobile dealer would take over the premises and become "very happy tenants."

Mr. Kerby also contended that parking facilities were inadequate and the possibility of traffic congestion in the area would increase.

Another witness called by the applicant, Martin Grossman of Broomall, Pa., secretary-treasurer of the Willie Mosconi Enterprises described the proposed billiard parlor as highly attractive and would include sound proofed walls, special wall-to-wall carpet that would tend to cut noise, and a snack bar for patrons. He said the kinds of billiard offered would include "Rotation," "Pocket billiards," some "snooker" and "Eight Ball."

Other objectors, not represented by counsel included Edward T. Kenyon, who opposed the request on grounds that it would create traffic hazards; Robert Stafford, who declared such an establishment could lead to an increase in juvenile delinquency and become a youthful "hangout" and Graham Collins, who voiced concern over the possible increase in noise.

Aspirin, first of the so-called "miracle drugs," was originally compounded in 1884.

All of a sudden, it stops looking funny.

If you think a Volkswagen Station Wagon is just a funny-looking car maybe you never saw one fit in a space that regular wagons have to pass by and when you realize how much stuff you could put inside that thing like the Christmas someone drove one to their mother's with six people and the crib, the high chair, bicycles, luggage, presents...room?

you couldn't ask for more and an air-cooled engine that won't boil over or freeze up and it starts in the morning 1-2-3 and when you stop at a gas station, $3 fills it up and you don't have to worry about gas for maybe 3 weeks and take kids for instance "Are we going in the Volkswagen bus?" and they say "Yay!" and clap their hands and if it's a glorious day you can slide the sunroof back and let a little of the glory in and all of a sudden, it stops looking funny.

Sperco Nine Scores Seventh Win in Row

Summit — Sperco Motors scored its seventh straight victory in the Summit Recreation Softball League for an 8-1 record and clinched the top position at the end of the first half of league competition.

Sperco kept its winning streak in tact when they squeaked by a fired up Park View Tavern, 2-1.

Park View took an early lead in the second inning on a run scored by Bill Woods. Sperco's Mallon scored in the third frame to tie the score 1-1. Fine pitching and defense by both teams kept the score tied until the sixth inning when Joe Mandato belted a home run to win the game for Sperco.

Park View Tavern showed everyone earlier in the week that they're not out of the running yet when they laced J&J Construction, 8-5. The Park View nine blasted everything Frank and Jerry Natale could hurl. Fred Sally and Jim Grant paced the winners, scoring two runs apiece and displaying fine defensive ability.

J & J came back after its loss to Park View to edge Park Bakery, 1-0. Jerry Natale regained his old form, striking out four batters and allowing only four hits. Frank Natale scored the only run of the game when brother Jerry hit a single.

J & J showed its winning stuff again in a contest against the Balish nine. Mario Mortarulo smashed a home run in the third inning to put J & J ahead, 2-0. Steve Bylick scored in the fifth frame on a single by Bob Mandato to give J & J their run and a 3-0 win over Balish.

Colonial Pontiac fared worse against Balish as it dropped a 7-4 decision. Hermann and Sterritt led the winning batting attack and aided pitcher Steve Mandouling Colonial to eight hits.

New Providence — Although the Colts swept two games in the New Providence P.A.L. Intramural League, the Mets managed to hold on to their slim lead by defeating the Giants after losing to the Colts, 9-3.

The Colts moved into serious contention by defeating the Cards, 7-3, with Don Regan striking out 17. Steve Garvey, pitching the last inning, allowed the only Card scores but was able to check the rally. Gene Ortiz and Bob Steer drove in two runs each with timely singles. J. New Providence — Summit Chevron and Nijon retained their hold on first place in the New Providence Recreation Adult Softball League as both teams boosted their records to 5-0 with victories last week.

Chevron defeated the Runnymede Runners, 13-7, while Nijon edged Micro State, 8-6.

The first four men in the Summit Chevron lineup—Eddie O'Connor, Carmen Piccolo, Rudy Bebert and Jacky Urbanski—supplied nearly all of the winners' punch.

O'Connor, the league's leading batter at .810, went 4 for 5. Piccolo belted a homer and single; Bebert poked a homer and two singles, and Urbanski stroked two homers and a single. Piccolo, Bebert and Urbanski each drove in four tallies and clinched the game in the fifth inning by belting three successive round-trippers.

For the losers, Bernie Schinabel slapped four safeties and Bob Mentch crashed a home run. George Bailey was the winning hurler. Mentch was the loser.

Bob Adamo socked a three-run homer in the first inning to pace Micro State to a six-run first inning against Nijon. Pitcher Hank Barletta, now 3-0 on the year, shut out Micro the rest of way and Nijon rallied to win.

Wied's Market Nine Wins Title

New Providence — Wied's Quality Market edged the Pittsford Civic Association, 7-6, in a playoff contest to clinch the New Providence Recreation International Baseball League title.

The two teams had finished the regular season in a three-way tie for first place with Lou's Luncheonette. In a semifinal playoff game, the Pittsford nine defeated Lou's Luncheonette, 8-4. All three teams won seven of nine games during the regular season.

Dicky Bauer was the winning pitcher, striking out 14, allowing eight hits, and walking eight. Steve Brendel fanned 13, walked six, and was touched for five hits.

Singles by Brendel and Charles Honart helped Pittsford to a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Bauer and Ammenwerth singled for Wied's first run in the third inning, but Pittsford answered back with three runs in the same inning.

Brendel homered, David Nichol singled, and Lester Cassidy contributed a two-run double. Wied's exploded for four runs in the fourth inning to tie the score. Chuck Reach's lead-off triple and Mark Rheinhardt's three-run triple were the big blows.

In the fifth inning, Wied's took the lead for the first time on Lock Hutchinson's two-run double. Pittsford's final run came on David Lax's single, an error, and Lawrence Tagle's single.

Wied's had earned a share of the regular season lead by whipping John DeMaio-Photographer, 10-1, and the Country Cobbler, 11-1. Pittsford won its final game from Center Stationers, 18-1, while Lou's whipped Towne Delicatessen, 21-7.

The Berkeley Heights Police now are tied for third place with Kenilworth with a 7-2 record.

Greats Beaten In H.S. League

Summit — Despite their first loss of the season, the Greats still occupy the top rung in the Senior High Softball League.

Pitcher Jim Grube, essaying an iron-man role, failed to capture the second half of a doubleheader when the Hustlers broke a 6-6 tie by scoring three runs in an extra inning.

Boehm provided the winning margin, slamming a two-run homer. Donio, who followed with a triple, was singled home by Lander for the final tally.

Boehm, Donio and Lander contributed to the Hustlers' attack with three hits each. The Greats, trailing throughout most of the game, scored one run to tie in the last inning of the regulation game on a single by Patterson.

The Greats copped the first game of the doubleheader when they downed the Imperials, 9-3, with the help of a seven run third inning. An assortment of nine hits, including homers by Laver, Royer and Johnson, accounted for the big inning.

Royer also had two singles in pacing the Greats' attack. Grube, touched for 10 hits by the Imperials, was tough in the clutch. Cromwell had a homer and two singles in a losing cause.

The Imperials squandered away an 11-3 lead when the Cobras rallied for 11 runs in the six inning to notch a 14-13 win. Cromwell, the Imperials' tosser, was coasting along on a two-hit shut out until the fifth when a single by Showger, a triple by Keating and a homer by Mandato produced three runs for the Cobras.

The roof fell in on Cromwell in the sixth when eight hits, all singles, and three walks resulted in 11 runs. Showger, Williams and Keating all had two singles in this outburst.

Prather, continued his slugging with two homers and two singles for the Imperials. Mallory also had a three-run homer, while Cromwell added a double and two singles.

Seniors Trounce Faculty

New Providence — Youth was served once again last Friday at the fifth annual New Providence High Seniors - Faculty softball game. For the fifth straight year the hustling seniors turned the tables on their teachers, administering a 17-1 defeat.

Pacing the Seniors' attack were Rich Hake who went four for four, with two homers, and Ted Garrison, who lashed three singles.

Dave Henn topped the Faculty with three safeties, while Bob Carroll and Steve Kramer hit two each. Senior pitcher Chris Zimmer, whose underhanded slants and pin-point control had the teachers baffled, bested Pat Fancera on the mound.

Joe Smith gave the Seniors a quick lead by tripling and scoring in the second inning. Singles by Keith Heintz, Perrie, Nutwell and Bull Andrassy sparked a four-run outburst in the fourth, while hits by Rick Badgley, Garrison and Bob Reagan pushed across three tallies in the sixth. The Seniors completed the day by knocking in six scores in the eighth inning, which was highlighted by Gary Rice's double and homers by Hake and Zimmer.

Frank DeAndrea scored the Faculty's lone run in the fourth on Bob Carroll's single.

Mrs. Winthrop A. MacMasters of 42 Laurel Avenue was honored at a lemonade party at Memorial Field to mark her retirement as teacher at Brayton pre-school. Former pre-school mothers attended as well as members of the current pre-school association. Mrs. MacMasters was presented with an engraved silver bowl.

A graduate of Montclair State Teachers College, Mrs. MacMasters came to Summit from East Orange in 1935. She taught elementary school for several years prior to accepting the position at Brayton pre-school, where she taught continuously since 1946.

In addition to the nursery school position from which she will retire, Mrs. MacMasters is the president of the Board of Recreation, and chairman of the Municipal Youth Guidance Council. She will be succeeded at Brayton pre-school by Mrs. Nancy Headden who will assume her duties in the fall.

This was the weed that was!

Name: dandelion. Looks ugly in a lawn. Spreads out. Chokes grass.

No more. Not since BONUS made the scene. Dandelions just can't live after BONUS is applied. (Neither can plantain, buckhorn and a raft of other weeds.) And unlike digging them out, BONUS gets the entire plant. Roots and all. Can't grow back.

Fertilizes too

That's why it's called BONUS. Each particle contains protein-building food elements. Just what grass needs this time of year to be greener, thicker. Lasts longer too, because BONUS is Trionized (a Scotts exclusive).
