Home Shifts Are Running Neck and Neck With 1968

Moving permits for the first six months of this year are running nearly neck and neck with the totals reported during the same period in 1968, the city's tax collector's office has announced.

Worst Flash-Flooding in History Hits City; 24-Hour 'Rain at 2.92"

ALREADY A SWIMMING POOL - Flood waters are visible on land behind Jefferson School which is earmarked for a possible municipal swimming pool. Residents in the Michigan avenue area were especially hard hit by Monday's deluge with trees uprooted and roadways crumbled.

LAKE ESSEX ROAD - The torrential downpour which inundated vast sections of the city gave Essex road a lakelike appearance. A local resident shows how deep the waters went as he wades out into the middle of the flooded street. (Charles E. Coveney Photo)

END OF THE ROAD - A road at Clearwater Swim Club near the intersection of Division avenue and Blackburn road crumbled under the pressure of the heavy rains Monday morning. Such sights were common about the city following the rain. (Rennie Coit Photo)

RAGING STREAM - The normally placid brook that runs alongside the Municipal Golf Course became a raging torrent during Monday's sudden cloudburst. Vast sections of the course were completely inundated and there was some minor damage reported. (Wolin Photo)

The worst flash-flooding ever to hit Summit struck with sudden fury shortly after 10:30 a.m. on Monday and by the time the torrential downpour had spent itself, major sections of the city were underwater, with damage in some areas, reported to be heavy.

During the 24-hour period ending 7 a.m. Tuesday, a record 2.92-inches of rain fell on the area. During the height of the downpour late Monday morning and early afternoon, major flood conditions were reported in several sections of town. Cellars were inundated, streets reported water depths of up to three to four feet, first floors of houses were flooded, lawns and driveways were washed away, sections of roadways crumbled, walls toppled and in some instances, small pets were drowned.

Among the hardest areas hit were Summit Estates near the Baltusrol area and the Michigan avenue area where construction of a municipal swimming pool has been proposed.

Following the sudden downpour, the waters in many sections of town receded almost as quickly as the came. By late afternoon, except for inundated cellars and lawns, roadways had been cleared but signs of the savage rains were in evidence with curbs crumbled, asphalt buckled and vast amounts of soil and silt hugging the curbs.

Summit Estates Hit
In the Summit Estates area, where flooding is usual during any type of rain, Malvern road was especially hard hit. One homeowner reported that her cellar was completely flooded and there was danger that the first floor would soon be inundated.

West End avenue reported flooding and water was more than hip deep on Essex road. Morris avenue was impassable for several hours as was the area of Ashland road and Tulip street. Hobart avenue was reported impassable for a considerable length of time while water backed up in front of the Summit Playhouse on Tulip street near Springfield avenue.

At White Oak Ridge Apartments at the rear of Edgar street, cars parked in the parking lot which dips downward from the street, were complete covered by water. In almost all sections of town cars found themselves chugging through water that rose above the hubcaps and in some instances up to the windows.

Sections of Beekman road, Maple street, Canoe Brook parkway, Huntley road also found themselves under two or

Car Mishaps Injure Four Including Two Children

Four persons, including two children on bicycles, were injured in three car accidents last week.

In a one-car crash late Sunday night, two persons were injured when the car in which they were riding smashed into a tree and overturned on Summit avenue near Hillcrest avenue.

Injured in the mishap were Nicholas M. Woods, 3rd, 20, of Chatham, driver of the car, and Brad Hallock, 19, 86 Woodland avenue, a passenger.

Police said the mishap occurred when the car was traveling south on Summit avenue and allegedly failed to slow down for a curve in the road. The car struck a tree and turned over. Police said the vehicle was totally demolished.

Investigating was Patrolman Zegarski.

Charles Herse, 12, 71 Beekman road, suffered a head injury last Thursday when his bicycle struck a car driven by Joanne Tarcieri, 20, of Union at Evergreen road and Montrose avenue.

Struck Car
Police said the mishap occurred when the youth, cycling west on Montrose, allegedly did not look both ways before entering the intersection and struck the Tarcieri vehicle as it headed north on Evergreen.

Investigating was Patrolman Yannotta. Mary Beth McGrath, 5, 32 Lewis avenue, suffered chin abrasions early Friday night when her bicycle struck the

JCP Asks Electricity Rate Boost

Customers of the New Jersey Power and Light Co. will be paying 16 per cent more for their electricity if the Board of Public Utility Commissioners approve a request for a hike in rates.

In Morristown, Ralph F. Bovier, president of Jersey Central Power and Light Co. and New Jersey Power and Light, today announced the utilities will file immediately for a revised schedule of rates.

The revised schedule, Mr. Bovier said, in effect represents a request for approval to increase rates for electric service to all residential, general service and street lighting customers. For JCP&L customers, the

The Rains Came, But The Kids' Spirits Were High And Dry At The Playgrounds

The weather may have been wet, but it didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the youngsters a bit as the summer playground finished its fifth week.

Pet shows, art contests and dozens of contests and games were conducted last week at the city's playgrounds despite unexpected cloud bursts and overcast skies.

TATLOCK

The first place winners of the sand castle building contest were Susan Buik, Scott Loeb, Susan D'Occhio, Patricia Cox and Joann Whitley. In second place were Ellen Ghuzzi, Karen Fredeman, Susan Fredeman, Diane Fredeman and Philip Gwathney.

In the rock painting contest, the winners in the peanut gallery division included Jimmy Fredeman, Patricia Cox, Diane Fredeman, Philip Piccione and Joann Whitley. In the junior division, points were awarded to Debbie Bontempo, Penny Mudd, Paula Ramella and Karen Fredeman. Winners in the senior division were Mary Ann Whitley, Debbie Ward and Susan Heon.

Points were given to Debbie Bontempo, Patricia Cox and Joann Whitley for cleanup.

The winners of the junior tetherball tournament were Kelley Jones, Debbie Bontempo and Peggy Pecca.

At the end of the fifth week, the point leaders in the peanut gallery are Patricia Cox with Diane Fredeman close behind. In the junior division, Kelley Jones is in the lead. Gail Smith is the point leader in the senior division.

Tatlock boys represented the playground in four softball games last week. The team faced Edison Playground first, and lost the junior game, 8-7 in extra innings. Similarly, the Tatlock seniors lost its game against Edison in 10 innings with a score of 9-5. Later in the week, Lincoln playground visited Tatlock. The junior game was 12-1 victory for Tatlock. Also a 7-0 victory was scored by the Tatlock seniors via a forfeit. Because of rain the enthusiastic team from Tatlock was unable to play Memorial playground this week.

The very rainy weather failed to dampen the spirits of the children at Wilson playground. The fifth week of activity was highlighted by such events as a cook-out, arts and crafts, lummi sticks, handball, bingo, checkers, chess, a shoe sling, ice cube relays and a wiffleball contest.

The wiffleball contest was perhaps the week's most popular event. The object was to get a hit without striking out. The pitcher was Mr. Shawger. Of the contestants, Bob Ochs got the most hits with a total of seven. Chris Lawrence, Jeff Lutton, and Alan Kaiser all tied for second place with five hits increase would amount to about 13 percent, and for NJP&L customers it would be about 16 percent.

Present NJP&L rates are generally lower than those of its sister company. The proposed revised schedule, he said, would establish equal rates for the same service in the two companies.

Explaining the need for the increased revenues that the new rates would provide, the utility president pointed to inflationary pressures that his companies and the entire industry are facing from all directions. He noted that long-term loan interest rates have climbed from the 3 percent level in the mid-1940's to about 8 percent at present.
Increased costs also are being felt in almost "everything we must buy or build in order to continue to provide our customers with an adequate and dependable supply of electric power," he stated.

Mr. Bovier said that this is the first time in its history that Jersey Central Power and Light has sought an increase in its rates and it has been 17 years since New Jersey Power and Light last requested a hike.
"In fact," he said, "the average price paid by our customers for electricity has actually gone down over the years. While it is true that most electric bills are higher today than they were a few years ago, it is because of increased usage by customers and not because of any increase in rates."

Mr. Bovier said that over the years the companies have been able to hold the line against an increase by application of new and advanced technology. It was this technology, he commented, which had enabled the companies to keep increases in their costs of providing electricity within limits that the companies could absorb.

"This is no longer the case," he said. "Inflationary pressures have outstripped technological advance and we have reached a point today where we must realize greater revenues if we are to continue to successfully stay ahead of the rapidly rising demand for electric power."
Under the proposed revised rate schedule, Mr. Bovier said the cost of electricity for JCP/L's average residential customer, the revision would result in an increase of a little over 5 cents per day, or about $2.00 per month.

The president added that of the total revenue to be realized from the rate increase, the Federal government will take approximately 47 per cent in the form of increased federal income taxes; approximately 12 per cent will flow to local municipalities in the form of increased gross receipt and franchise taxes, and the remaining 41 per cent will help to meet the companies' increased costs and expenses.

reading program, now being used in the kindergartens, first and second grades at Brayton and Roosevelt schools, will be extended to the first grade at Jefferson when school opens.
Also at the elementary level, the Council's social science program, which has been used on a pilot basis, will be adopted in all but one of the seven elementary schools in September.

three feet of water, making them impassable.
In some instances, water rose to such depths that young children could be seen paddling canoes and row boats up and down the streets. Oakland place, where the waters rose to about 3 feet, was one section where boats were easily maneuvered.
Passaic River at 7'
The Passaic River also became a torrent of water when it crested a 7-foot, one foot above flood stage, at 1 p.m. Before the torrents hit, the river's height was estimated at approximately four feet. Several brooks throughout the city overflowed its banks.
The heavy rains drove most cars from the roadways and the Police Department reported only two accidents during the height of the downpour. Because of the heavy rains, many cars became stalled while others found themselves trapped and were unable to move until the water subsided.
At times the rains were so heavy that manhole covers popped into the air as waters through the city's storm sewers surged violently through the causeways. Although the sewers were reported to be taking water without too much difficulty, the torrents became so heavy that the pipes could not keep up, thus causing the tremendous backup of water throughout the city.
In one or two instances, small pets, caught in the sudden deluge, were swept away and drowned or fatally injured. There were no reports of injuries to residents.
In some sections of the city, phone service was temporarily out, as was electric service.
Also hard hit were shrubs, trees and lawns, where in some cases, they became lakes. Many dirt-covered driveways were completely washed out and some retaining walls crumbled from the water's pressure.
The sudden downpour was the climax of an estimated five days of on and off rain. Following the Monday deluge, the sun came out, but by early evening, the rain began again and lasted periodically through the night and into yesterday morning. Temperatures remained in the high 70s and lower 80s with humidity reaching at times to 100 per cent.

Playground Crafts Will Be On Display Next Week

The annual exhibit of crafts made by youngsters during the summer playground program will be on display at the Summit Hardware on Springfield avenue starting Monday and continuing through August 11.

Articles on view will include plaster molds, wren houses, reed baskets, bead hot mats, napkin holders, jewel boxes, receipt holders and tile hot mats, a few of the many crafts made on the playgrounds.

Some of the new and interesting crafts the children enjoyed making were egg carton flowers, Swiss straw flowers, jeweled tie tacks, leather book markers, patio candles coated with crystal craze, propeller bead bracelets, hanging trinket, nylon pot scrubbers, metal foil pictures, jeweled pins, styro mobiles, horse head book holders made with coat hangers, tom-toms from coffee cans, maracs made from plastic spray can tops, vases decorated with plastic stretch netting, stuffed fur animals and hand puppets, singing string using two different size cans and nylon fish line, and one of the favorites, yarn pom-pom animals.

A group of children from Wilson playground will make the arts and crafts sign and the senior boys at Edison will design and construct the backdrop for the display.

The playgrounds are sponsored by the Board of Recreation and the crafts program is under the direction of Mrs. Helen Chesler.

GUEST PREACHER - Rev. David K. Barnwell, D.D., Minister emeritus of Christ Church, will be the guest preacher on Sunday at 10 a.m. during the United Summer Service with the United Methodist Church at Christ Church. Dr. Barnwell, who retired last year as pastor of Christ Church, is currently teaching Baptist Polity at Union Theological Seminary.

has pounded our tradition into the ground.

We have to ask you for more.
Just over a nickel a day more per home.

Until now, we've been able to buck the trend. While prices have been skyrocketing over the years for just about everything else, we've actually been able to keep electric rates down.

How? By making the most of cost-cutting technological advances. They've helped offset part of our increasing costs of providing you with electricity. We've simply absorbed the rest.

But inflation has outdistanced technological savings. We can no longer hold the line.

So, on or about July 31st, we will apply to the State Board of Public Utilities Commissioners for an increase in electric rates. We do it reluctantly.

Among other things this rate increase, if approved, will enable us to continue the multi-million dollar construction program which will assure a dependable supply of electricity in the years to come.

What will the new rates mean to you? Average residential customers will pay between 5¢ and 7¢ more a day. Industrial and commercial rates will increase accordingly.

We hope you agree that low-cost electricity will still be one of your biggest household bargains. We'll do everything we can to keep it that way.

The yarn was to be glued onto colored paper in any design or scene. Some of the creations included a moon ship by Sandy Files, a kitten by Jennifer Adams, a firetruck by Tommy De Groot, a flower by Kevin Connelly, the playground swings by Mark Files.

Still another artsy activity was rock painting. This consisted of finding an appealing rock and applying paints in a variety of colors. Best rock awards went to Mike Schipani for most original, and runners up for originality Sandy Files and Joan Olyroyd. The most psychedelic rock was painted by David MacAdam while best looking "moon rocks" went to Donna Allen and Bill Russell. Best set went to Jennifer Adams for her painted book ends and paper weight. Rained out art activities such as making paper roses, picture faces, sandbox art and pop art will be done in the coming weeks.

A scavenger hunt was held with Timmy Wiggs bringing in such items as a store meat tray, a baby food jar, and a crisco can, and gaining first place. Sandy Files came in second with all items. Mary Ann Connelly and Kathy Connelly placed third. Michael Walsh received first place honors for being best junk pick up man at a post scavenger hunt clean up.

Congratulations to the Junior and Senior boys' softball teams for winning two games over Tatlock Playground. The Junior boys took their fray 8-7 in extra innings. The Seniors played to a 6-5 score, also in extra innings.

Mabie Wins Annual Olympics In Summer Playground Program

Over 250 children from the six playgrounds converged on Tatlock Field a week ago last Wednesday to participate in the 1969 Summit Playground Olympics conducted by the Board of Recreation. The contests were marked by a record participation, good competitive enthusiasm and fine sportsmanship. The team title was won by Mabie Playground with a record total of 217½ points, 112 of which were accumulated in the dashes and relays. Both the boys' and girls' relay teams from Mabie made it a clean sweep in the relays, rolling to first place wins in all three classifications — Midget, Junior, and Intermediate. Tatlock wound up in second place with 127 points followed by Wilson with 106½, Edison 90½, Memorial 29 and Lincoln 13½.

The program began with the bearing of the Olympic Torch onto and around the field by a relay of runners representing the six playgrounds, and the lighting of a large torch on the field which remained lighted throughout the contests. After the Star Spangled Banner was played, Timothy Tapp, assistant director of recreation, briefly recalled the ideals of the Olympic Games, which set the tone for the afternoon's competition. Each playground rallied behind its banner which bedecked the top of the stands.

The Route to Nowhere

Perhaps it's too early for a full-fledged appraisal, but we wonder if the Nixon Administration is beginning to realize that the problems facing us are not as easily solved as we were lead to believe during the heat of last autumn's Presidential campaign.

That the Nixon team inherited a barrelful of problems when it took office last January goes without saying. But in the six months of the New Administration we are still engaged in a bloody fight in Vietnam, peace talks in Paris drag on, campus disorders, during the spring were the worst ever, taxes are still spiraling, inflation is still very much with us, militant civil rights leaders are proving us with ominous warnings, morality still seems to be a thing of the past, welfare rolls still mount, crime still runs rampant, violence goes unchecked, water and air pollution grow, the cities continue to stagnate, and the nations of the world look upon us with distrust and disfavor.

Perhaps six months is too soon a time for the nation to turn the corner toward more stability, but we would have hoped that in a half year, we would at least be approaching that miraculous corner.

— Heard in the land more and more these days is the feeling of lost faith, of frustration and helplessness. Even in the Summit Area, a bastion of Republicanism and a prime supporter of the Nixon campaign, there are growing mutterings of discontent and disillusion. What is being looked upon with cynicism and impatience is the pace which the Administration is approaching the myriad of problems that constantly confront us.

Perhaps we have reached a point in our nation's history where bold, imaginative methods are needed. Perhaps a reevaluation of our values, of our goals, of our ideals is needed. Perhaps instead of saying "This is the way it has been done" we should say "This is the way it should be done".

We wonder if the same single-minded approach we took in landing men on the moon was applied to the problems facing us today, that we would not only approach that symbolic corner, but begin to turn it. We think it's worth a try.

We feel this nation has too much potential, too much greatness and too much going for it, to permit it to stagnate for lack of boldness, ingenuity and imagination. We forged the greatest nation in the world out of a wilderness. The time has now come to boldly reforge together the cracks that are beginning to crumble our nation's foundation.

Economy is for Others

Economy is the watchword that Congress and the Administration have sought to impress on the American people. It is, we have been told, the basis for holding down inflation. It is the basis for continuing the 10 per cent surtax in an effort both to hold off inflation and balance the budget.

But what Congress preaches is something that Congress doesn't practice. A few days ago that august body voted to provide one additional clerk for every member of the House. Each member now has between 10 and 12 clerks but an extra clerk is needed to ease the pressure of business. Unless the press of business has taken a definite turn, the additional clerkships will contrive to improve the sinecures enjoyed by many government employees.

It is difficult to reconcile this added expense at a time when the same members of Congress are endeavoring to whittle down funds for almost all government agencies in the name of economy.

These extra clerkships may not seem like much when discussed singly. Lumped together they amount to what the taxpayers may deem a sizeable sum. To a Congress accustomed to handling billions a mere salary item of just under $4 million is too niggardly to debate.

The House is reacting to economy as it always has. It is something to be practiced by others. The House can turn down appropriations for items that help the public while it votes 100 million for its own office building. It can provide millions for its own staff expansion but an organization like the Forest Service must be kept under rigid control.

In private business the executive seems to be able to get along very well on personal staffs far less numerous than needed by the House members. But, of course, business has to pay its own way. It can't slough off the burden of added cost of a defenseless taxpayer.

Scrambled Art

Some mistook the melange of yellow and white for the art which had been intended.

It is a parallel to the collector of modern art who paid a huge price for an avant-garde painting and then hung it upside down. He said it looked better that way.

Avant-garde art is not soul-satisfying to us but what happened recently in Switzerland to an avant-garde artist makes us happy.

This particular artist made an avant-garde arrangement of 12,000 eggs in a department store window. The glass gave way and the City of Bern suddenly had a 12,000-egg omelet on its sidewalk.

A Great Future for Symphony - Montclair Times

Music lovers locally and throughout New Jersey have great cause for rejoicing in the final resolution of the dispute between the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and Musicians' Local 16.

The new three year contract announced last week provides for the first time individual season agreements for the musicians and establishes the symphony as a national orchestra.

The crucial issue which led to cancellation of the orchestra's concerts during the first half of this year has been resolved through long and patient negotiations.

The contract retains for the music director, Henry Lewis, the right to establish orchestra standards that will enable the New Jersey Symphony to be built into a highly professional organization which will do credit to the whole State of New Jersey and at the same time assure steady employment to the musicians, a fair review of their qualifications and preference to members of the local union.

Symphony lovers here can look forward to a brilliant season starting this Fall. With the arrival of a new manager of long experience with the Washington Symphony, supporters of the orchestra are now redoubling their efforts to get full backing of the public for what should be one of New Jersey's greatest assets.

STILL STANDING - The old YMCA building at the corner of Springfield Avenue and Maple Street is shown circa 1912. Fanny Farmer candy shop now occupies the corner.

Oil and the Economy
 Editor, Summit Herald:

The need for tax reform has been evident for some time, as there are many obvious inequities. We also know the Congress today is faced with a number of factors which seem to make it imperative to secure added Federal Tax revenues from both old and new sources. Among these are certain defense costs which continue beyond what any of us had anticipated; increased costs of all Government services, due to inflation and other new services such as Medicare, poverty program, urban renewal and crime prevention; excessive cost of the space program and the increasing public demand for tax reforms.

There has been much talk of "plugging loop holes" and I know pressure is being applied to adjust methods of taxing natural resources. The Congress intentionally designed these methods to protect the citizens' welfare. Without these special regulations and tax treatments affecting the industries involved with the custody and protection of natural resources, today we would not have an adequate reserve of coal, minerals, timber land, water power, oil and other natural resources so vital to our economy and way of life. Actually, in the case of oil, consumption in 1968 exceeded new findings by over a half billion barrels.

Without depletion allowance there would be less money to invest in exploration - new capital would not be attracted to an industry that already has a lower average return on investment compared to all manufacturers - the price of gasoline would rise three to five cents per gallon, hurting the consuming public, whose taxes would rise - there would be fewer jobs for many Americans, who would find their standard of living at best slowed down, if not actually declined.

The Congress must search the records for the reasons originally set forth to protect our natural resources - to insure adequate oil reserves to save our nation and keep it strong. If Congress does this honestly, it will vote to retain the present tax treatment of oil resources - percentage depletion, intangible development costs and foreign tax credits.

If anyone feels that oil companies do not pay their share of taxes, let them look at the record. Oil companies pay an average of about five cents in direct taxes for every dollar of gross revenue, which is about ten per cent more than the four and one-half cents paid in direct taxes by all U.S. business corporations. And this does not include taxes collected from the public on sale of petroleum products.

We may need more money to run Government (though I'd rather see a little economy practiced - I have to live within my income and can't ask for more because I want to spend more) and so more taxes, but we should not cripple any industry with an unfair burden that will ultimately reduce the amount of revenue now paid and cause loss of many American jobs, plus increase the individual citizen's taxes and his cost of living.

County Government: It's Problems

The "Musto Report" and in depth study of the programs and the problems of county government, submitted to the State Senate last April, is the subject of intensive study and evaluation by the Union County Board of Freeholders' department of inter-governmental affairs.

William J. Maguire, chairman of that Freeholder committee has scheduled a series of sessions devoted entirely to evaluation of the report which recommends several changes in existing County Government to increase its effectiveness and efficiency. The Committee plans a public meeting in October with Study Commission Chairman Senator William V. Musto present, to discuss the Freeholders plans for implementation of the reports recommendations.

Maguire points out that "A major problem facing County Government is that an average of 56% of county budgets represent costs mandated by higher levels of Government. This has the effect of "Tieing our hands" Maguire said. "It's financially impossible for us to properly serve our 21 Union County municipalities in such vital areas of garbage disposal, water and air pollution, flood control, etc., because of the great impact these costs would have upon local tax rates."

Maguire points out his belief that should the State pay the cost of presently mandated programs such as welfare, court costs, etc., etc., "We would be better able to serve the people of Union County while maintaining the principle of home rule."

Freeholder Harry V. Osborne, emphasized that the Legislature "Already has the power to appropriate state funds to pay for these mandated programs and that it is not necessary to change the form of county government to accomplish this essential end."

Maguire and his Committee, Freeholders Walter E. Ulrich and Arthur A. Manner, of Berkeley Heights emphasized that Union County plans to take a "leadership role" among the several counties regarding the Musto Commission Report. "The report is an essential and excellently researched document. It will be fully reviewed and evaluated and we plan to submit our recommendations to the Legislature after our study of the reports, recommendations and such alternate proposals we might develop ourselves," Maguire said.

It's Your Town

The work performed by the Council is indicated by the standing committees into which it divides itself. There are six. Each councilman, except the president, acts as chairman of one committee and assists on one other. These standing committees are Finance, Public Safety, Public Welfare, Public Works, Law, and Buildings and Grounds. Matters referred to various committees are investigated by them, and their recommendations are brought before the Council for official action.

The laws of the city, called ordinances, are made by the Council. By state law, an ordinance must be submitted in writing at one Council meeting on first reading and passed at a subsequent meeting. The ordinance must be advertised in a newspaper circulating in the municipality and there must be a public hearing, no sooner than ten days later. The public hearing is held at a regular Council meeting, and the final vote taken the same night or at a later meeting.

After the ordinance has been passed, the Mayor has five days in which to approve or veto it. If he does not act in that period, the ordinance automatically goes into effect. A veto can be over-ridden by a two-thirds vote of Council.

The current ordinances of the city are on file and open to the public, in the City Clerk's office. Resolutions of the Council, by which all business is conducted, except where state law requires an ordinance, need no notice or public hearing. The Mayor's veto power also applies to resolutions.

The City Clerk

The City Clerk, although an elected official with a three-year term, gains tenure after serving five years. He handles communications for the Council, prepares the official minutes, and keeps a file of ordinances and resolutions adopted. He issues licenses and permits authorized by state and local law, accepts applications for Alcoholic Beverage Control licenses, receives and records sealed bids for municipal contracts.

The clerk is in charge of elections in the city and is responsible for the registering and transferring of voters. He is the only elected official who receives a salary.

Appointed Officials

The Executive Secretary is the representative of the government on duty full-time at City Hall. He has no policy-making powers. The present Executive Secretary is also the City Clerk and all matters to be brought to the attention of the Mayor and Council are channeled through him. He is purchasing agent and consolidates the purchases of all supplies for the city except those of the Board of Education and certain supplies for the Board of Health, Library and Board of Recreation.

The Receiver of Taxes is responsible for the issuance of tax bills, collection of taxes, and records of monies received. The receiver also is the official tax searcher for the city.

The Building Inspector issues permits for new buildings, signs, and for installation of oil burners. He enforces the zoning ordinances and building code.

The City Solicitor is legal advisor to the Council, city departments and all boards except the Board of Health and the Board of Education. He prosecutes violations of city ordinances in cases brought before the Municipal Court and represents the city in litigation.

The Public Officer is responsible for the enforcement of the city's housing ordinances and is a full time representative of the Substandard Housing Board.

Personnel Policies

There are 205 full time employees of the city. This does not include school guards, temporary public works employees, and other parttime workers at the library and summer playgrounds.

Summit has not adopted the state civil service system. With the exception of the Police and Fire Departments, the council selects the department heads, who recommend to the appropriate Council committee the hiring, promoting and salary treatment of their employees. The Executive Secretary acts as office manager at City Hall and selects the secretarial personnel.

All regular city employees are covered by the State Retirement System.

Looking Backward

Fifty Years Ago
 Ambulance Company No. 33 was home at last after being mustered out from Fort Dix.

Plans were initiated to eliminate a dangerous curve on Springfield Avenue in west Summit, just east of the Passaic Delaware Railroad tracks.

The demand for real estate in the city continued strong.

Twenty-five Years Ago
 Temperatures in the city remained hot and a 110 degrees was registered in the shade, with only slight relief coming from some rain.

The Nursing Council was working toward relieving the shortage of nurses.

The Victory Garden Committee requested gardeners with surplus products to bring them to Hamilton School for distribution to needy families.

Ten Years Ago
 The city reported a second straight polio free year in 1958.

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held for construction of a new building for Fountain Baptist Church.

Summer school enrollment at the High School reached a record of 433 students.

Five Years Ago
 Plans were announced for city acquisition of the five-acre freight yards for $177,000 for use as a parking lot.

The Summit Herald and the law offices of Frank A. Pizzi were the scenes of the first commercial dial-intercom installation of touch tone phone sets.

The Hotel Suburban opened a 44-unit motel addition and swimming pool.

 recording a housewife's auditory afflictions! Unfortunately, the omission is a clue to my own habits (or lack of them!)
 I forgot the vacuum cleaner!! (Quite naturally, because I try to forget it, for weeks on end!)
 A vacuum cleaner is a marvellous deadener of sound. It wipes out the phone, the doorbell, and T.V. However, getting it out of its closet involves such huffing and puffing as would shatter the "3 Little Pigs!" Just the thought of putting all those tubes, etc., together, hangs over me like that proverbial cloud, until the dust curls threaten to cloud our vision!
 When the inevitable day arrives, the vacuum does do its appointed task (noisily). I protest more than it does! And while I buzz it around, trying to avoid banging it into chair legs, coffee table, piano, and any other sudden-appearing legs, I remember my mother, only 10 years ago, saying that "much can be accomplished with a broom and a mop!"
 So, thank you, nice editor, for printing my letter, and thank you twice, if you want to print these final thoughts on the subject!
 If it makes you feel better, we are presently on peaceful Martha's Vineyard, where the birds wake the cats up, at 4:30 a.m. (so the cats, of course wake us up, wanting "out" or "in", or both, with a quick snack in between!)
 So, you see, you really just can't win!

chance to hurl a ping pong ball as far as he could. The winning throw was 40 feet, 8 inches and was won by Timmy Wiggs. Throwing for second place honors with a throw of 40 feet was Sandy Files. A third place hurl of 36 feet was gained by Jennifer Adams.

Filling in during the week were a series of challenges to the standing champions on the playground in the various skill events. The people who emerge on top will be the ones to represent the playground at the annual Tournament of Champions at which the best from each playground compete in the standard events. These events include ping pong, tetherball, nok hockey, horseshoes, chess, checkers as well as doubles for ping pong and horseshoes.

LINCOLN
Lincoln playground's fourth week began with arts and crafts. This week's premier artists were Elizabeth Hughes, Jane Kasper, Chris Smith and Ginny Close.

The final results of the playground Olympics came in, and Lincoln was proud to see that Bob Haley got a first place, Erwin Ruerup a second, Ricardo Trujillo a fifth, Mary Beth Close a third and Janet Haley a fifth. Mary Beth, Janet, Ginny Close and Tara Ruppert also teamed up to place fifth in one of the relays. Heartiest congratulations to all! Incidentally, Lincoln's fine banner was designed by the gung-ho Lincolnite of the week, Dicky Close.

Our second cross-word puzzle contest was won by Chris Smith. The highlight of last week, however, was the Lincoln Kennel Club's 1st Annual Pet Show. The usual number of cats, dogs, skunks, etc. appeared, but the grand prize went to Dicky Close and Harold, his pet wheatie (Yes, I did say wheatie). Dicky's imagination, and the fact that Harold wasn't fresh earned him the award. Others were as follows: Jim Armstrong's "animal", Mickey, got the "most like owner" award; Tara Ruppert's cat, Fritz, won the "best heritage" award; Dicky Close's wheatie, Harold, won "most cerealistic"; Peanut Duffy's cute skunk, Tanya, was awarded the "most odorable" prize and her dog, Sambo, was given the "longest tongue" award.

To round out the week, Dicky Close proved himself to be journalist of the week.

MABIE
Rain surrounded all of the week's activities at Mable Playground. Disappointment, despair and a desire for the sun to come out constantly filled conversations of steady playground attenders.

Early Monday morning Wendy Zackery, Helen Ann Taylor and Donnell Grant began the week of color and form by receiving points in arts and crafts. An intramural basketball game was held in the early afternoon. Members of the winning team consisted of Ron Wilkerson, Steve Riggins, Frank Dickens, John Foushee, Mike Montgomery and John Montgomery.

A colorful water balloon in combination with four square was held on cloudy drizzly Tuesday morning. Darryl Moore, Mike Horn, and Michele Stepney took on 13 challengers with no problem. A checker tournament completed morning activities until rain interrupted our day. Steve Riggins came in first place, Ron Wilkerson was second and Anthony Zackery, third.

On Wednesday rain pounded our play area the entire day. Staff and playground goes looked forward to Thursday eagerly. Ron Wilkerson and Steve Riggins participated in the great escape. Both boys showed how a quick wit and fast hands can get a person out of any situation. An around-the-world basketball tournament immediately followed. Betty Ann Hill, Diona Bey, Esther Pryor, Garnet Green, Mark Adams, Darryl Moore, and Tony Everett were active participants. A jack tournament was held during the above. Jo Ellen Binford, Dora Montgomery and Jay Green were enthusiastic jack handlers.

Basketball and more basketball is the favorite all-day affair for the older boys. A winning team of Ray Robinson, Arthur Stewart, John Montgomery, Willie Wilson and Tony Stepney took on and defeated all challenging teams.

Volleyball completed the day's activities. Diona Bey, Sheldon Green, Kat Stepney, Garnet Green, Vernice James, Marilyn Elliot, Mike Montgomery, Betty Ann Hill, Elaine Taylor and Elliot Stepney were all a winning team. We look forward to our trip to the "Sports Arena" next week, and our watermelons-prizes for winning the Olympics.

MEMORIAL
Due to several rain-outs Memorial's activities were few. In the mini-mites jump rope contest Cathy Pinzino ranked first, Amy Simon

Comment on Film

by Jon Flaut

The finest movie I have seen this year, without question, is Franco Zeffirelli's "Romeo and Juliet". It is a film of such visual beauty, unaccustomed intelligence and subtlety, honest sentiment, high-grade acting craft, and integrated cinematic technique, that it is impossible to over praise.

Where should I start. Perhaps, with the Shakespearean tragedy itself. "Romeo and Juliet" is a beautiful, but slow moving tragedy about adolescent-romantic love, the evils caused by pride, and vengeance dominated prejudice. The problem with the play is that very little happens for a long period of time, and the development of character and live interest must dominate it and sustain audience interest. In films of "Romeo and Juliet", this lack of action in the past has either resulted in an over development of the depth of the love affair or a depressing static quality.

Zeffirelli has completely solved this problem by mounting his "Romeo and Juliet" in an exquisitely beautiful renaissance frame and then by plunging his audience into the very depths of the characters, the story, and the time by nothing short of brilliant cinematic treatment and editing. In example: in the first brawl between the Montagues and Capulets, the camera moves us as the spectator right into the fight. There is no theatrical distance. We are a part of what is going on, and it is exciting. Or, even more striking: at the ball when Romeo and Juliet first meet, the beautiful murky, dusty, moonlit speckled setting in Verona provides the backdrop for the Zeffirelli camera searching through and among the participants at the ball for cameos of the young lovers.

The mood here is abetted not only by the soft lyricism of the photography and the quality of what the director decided we should look at, but also by the lyrical impressiveness of the Elizabethan sonnet sung by a youth in the foreground. The particular fineness of the editing is that Zeffirelli moves with Shakespeare from mood to mood. This is especially true in the scenes between Romeo and Mercutio, as well as in the exuberance and tenderness of the principals. There is a tendency to make Romeo and Juliet's feelings for each other mainly esthetic in most productions. This is certainly contrary to the play and Zeffirelli realizes that. The love is young, and it is very vibrant, full of fun, and extremely animal-like in quality, as it should be.

The acting is uniformly excellent. Olivia Hussey (Juliet) and Leonard Whiting (Romeo) lead an English ensemblelike cast, which is near perfect. As he did in "Taming of the Shrew," Zeffirelli intends a lively, non-reverent production, and the actors give it to him with great craftsmanship and gusto.

It is all here; a great, classical, contemporary, sentimental love story with deeper meaning, visual beauty, perfect cinematic craft and outstanding performance. "Romeo and Juliet" should not be missed.

Summit Nine Loses Three League Tilts

SUMMIT - The inability to come up with timely base hits caused Summit to lose three games in the Suburban Baseball League last week. The three losses dropped Summit's record to 2-6.

Summit traveled to Verona where Roger Hudgins hooked up with Verona's Battista in a pitchers' battle. Verona tallied two runs in the third inning and one more in the sixth. Summit was unable to dent the plate with the final score being Verona 3, Summit 0. Summit could pick up only three singles, one by Gary Connolly, and two by Roger Hudgins.

The Hilltoppers faced the first-place Parsippany nine and wound up on the short end of an 8-4 score. It was one of the most exciting games of the season. Summit battled back twice to tie the score, but lost when the defense cracked in the fifth and sixth innings to give Parsippany four unearned runs.

Parsippany jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the top of the second inning, but Summit bounced back with two runs in their half of the inning.

Jeff Keating reached base on an error, Roger Hudgins singled, Leo Helme walked, and then Colin Leisher delivered two runs with a single to right. Parsippany came back with two runs, in the third on John Martinson's single to take a 4-2 lead. Singles by Hudgins, Leisher and Mike Jemison delivered two more runs for Summit in the fourth inning to tie the score.

Summit had only one hit after that. Parsippany scored twice in the fifth inning and two more in the sixth as Summit took its fifth loss of the season.

FASTEST GAME
In the fastest game of the season, Caldwell edged Summit, 2-1 at Caldwell. Summit's Roger Hudgins and Caldwell's Jack Newman engaged in a pitchers' duel which took only one hour and 10 minutes to play. Hudgins gave up three hits and two runs in the first inning but was virtually untouchable after that. The trouble was Newman was just as stingy.

Summit scored its only run in the third inning when Mike Jemison walked, stole second, and went to third when the throw went into center field. Gary Connolly then walked and stole second. Greg Pecca singled to center scoring Jemison, but Connolly was thrown out at the plate on the play. Summit never threatened again. Newman retired the last 10 Summit batters in order.

SUBURBAN NOTES
Roger Hudgins is the team batting leader with a .429 average, with no one else close. Gary Connolly had three stolen bases during the week, giving him five for the season. He has a good chance at breaking Rick Ruzicka's record of seven steals set in 1965... Summit has four games remaining and must win them all to reach a .500 mark for the season... Summit travels to Springfield tonight and on Monday night will entertain Verona at Memorial Field.

Record Round At Golf Course

SUMMIT - Don Fischer set a new course record of 22 strokes at the Summit Municipal Golf Course last week. Don started off with a bogie four on the first hole and then he had a string of six straight duces.

Fischer had pars on the eight and ninth holes to set the record. The previous record of 23 strokes was held by Chick Wolfe and Fred Pieper.

Dan Bace, Jr., 33 Edgar Street, scored a hole-in-one on the sixth hole at the Summit Municipal Golf Course last week.

Flemings Bow In Net Final

Third-seeded Alan and Peter Fleming of Chatham bowed in the final round of the New Jersey State Father and Son Doubles Championship last Sunday at the Upper Ridgewood Tennis Club.

The Flemings were beaten by top-seeded Jack and John Geller of Chappaqua, N.Y., 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The Gellers, ranked No. 2 in the East and No. 11 nationally, had won the Eastern Grass Court title earlier this summer. The Flemings also finished second in last month's Eastern Clay Court championships, dropping a three-set match to Larry and George Krieger of Summit.

The Gellers dominated the final set, twice breaking 14-year-old Peter Fleming's service. Jack Geller is a former Yale netman who once was ranked 29th nationally. His son, John, is a sophomore at Colgate.

Alan Fleming, runnerup to Bobby Riggs earlier this month in the New Jersey State Senior Championships, frequently passed the Gellers as the Flemings won the first set. Peter Fleming also played flawlessly in the first set.

Pirates Break Giants Streak in Major Loop

The second place Pirates behind the three-hit pitching of Bobby Cotterell broke the Giants seven game win streak Tuesday morning to move within one game of first place in the Summit Board of Recreation Minor League.

The Bucs, who have their own six game win streak going, pounced on Giants hurler Rick Gross for two runs in the third inning; Joe Osmulski singling in one run and Tom Reynolds scoring the other on a throwing error. The Giants narrowed the gap in the fourth session countering with one run, Jimmy Pond scoring on a Pirate throwing miscue. In the Pirate fifth, with one out, Osmulski was safe on an error. Tim Mahoney walked and Bob Cotterell singled in Osmulski and Mahoney trotted home on a wild throw to the plate to make it 4-1.

Frank Osmulski was safe on an infield dribbler moving Cotterell to third. Dan Rauch then scored Cotterell as he grounded out second to first to end the scoring at 5-1. Giant catcher Jake Levine had two of the three hits off of Cotterell (7-1).

On Friday the Giants squeezed by the Dodgers 6-4 to maintain their first place lead over the Pirates. The Dodgers broke into the scoring column first when catcher Dave Connolly who had walked, scored on an error in the top of the second inning. The Giants, fearing a possible upset in the making, retaliated with three runs in the third, Rick Gross tripling in two of the three. It was Gross again in the fourth as he singled in Tim Boyd and Mike Tarashuk also scored on a wild relay throw. Breathing a little easier with a 5-1 lead, the Giants thought they had this one in the bag but the Dodgers fought back in the top of the fifth as Jim Lackaye opened things up with a walk. With one out

Rich Rosen singled to right and Billy Specht walked to load the bases. Dave Connollys infield grounder was booted to score Lackaye and then Joe Palescondolo tagged one of Gross's fast balls to deep center to double in Rosen and Specht to cut the score to 5-4. Gross knowing what a loss would mean hitched up his belt and promptly struck out the next two batters to retire the side. Paul Green who had a three for four day a bat singled in Brinkmann in the bottom of the fifth to round out the scoring.

Braves Win Two

The third place Braves notched two big wins last week to stay within striking distance of the Giants and Pirates. On Thursday Dave Poole, scattering four hits, white-washed the Reds 4-0. Poole, who struck-out six and didn't walk anyone, went two for two at bat and also drove in two runs with one of his hits. Gary Bragar singled in the third run and Steve Poole knocked in the fourth tally as his base-knock scored Bragar in the fifth inning, "Big Lefty" Spallone had a single and a double for the Reds.

Friday's game saw the Braves send nine men to bat in the bottom of the fourth scoring five big runs to come from behind and outlast the Cubs 8-7.

Greg Roux started the proceedings off in the fourth, with a double to right, then two walks, two hit-batsmen an error and Steve Sonka's single helped cause the Cubs into downfall. Sonka and Bruce Graham each knocked in two runs to pace thw winners. Alex Colton and Josh Rubinstein had two hits each for the Cubs.

Four For Four

Snapping a 3-3 tie with a four-run outburst in the third inning, the Reds went on to defeat the Dodgers 7-3 on Tuesday. Jeff Smith led off

Sperco in 3rd After 6th Straight

Last Tuesday Cox pitched a three hit, one run game for Sperco against Chubb and Son to tighten the race for third and fourth positions in the Summit Mens' Recreation Softball League winning over Chubb 9 to 1.

Two dates later Sperco won its sixth straight game by coming from a 7-0 deficit and winning over Balish 15 to 8. This put Sperco alone in third position in the League.

Charline continued to command the League by winning its 18th game of the season, 7 to 6 over Chubb and Son. Charline scored six runs in the first inning and one in the second and was held for the rest of the evening after Chubb made a pitching change. Chubb came back in the fourth and fifth innings with six runs but it just wasn't enough.

Beacon Hill still very much in the race for a playoff position stayed in the win column by defeating Pulverizing 7-3.
