Roadway Widening Is Tabled

The widening of Mountain avenue is for the time being, a dead issue.

Freeholder Arthur A. Manner of Berkeley Heights this week told the Citizens for the Preservation of Summit and New Providence "there will be no further consideration of the widening of Mountain avenue until the community makes a request."

His letter was in reply to one from the citizens group asking the freeholder, who is chairman of the county's Department of Roads and Bridges, to confirm that the street would not be widened.

Tentative plans had called for the widening between Seven Oaks drive and Division avenue. Numerous citizens had objected to the project, which would have necessitated the removal of many trees.

Mr. Manner said in his correspondence "I want you to know that at no time did my committee or the Board of Freeholders take an action of any kind that would result in the widening of Mountain avenue. It was nothing more than a suggestion of the

Six Hurt In Auto Accidents

Road accidents injured six persons here last week.

On Saturday, three persons were hurt in a freak accident on Passaic avenue and Constantine place near the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad overpass. A truck, which misjudged the clearance of the underpass, came to a deadstop when it became jammed underneath. The sudden stop caused a car behind to ram the truck's rear. Three persons inside the car were injured.

The police identified the injured as Daniel J. Rendino, 28; Priscilla Rendino, 24, and Kevin Rendino, 4, all of Parsippany. They were taken to Overlook Hospital for treatment of injuries. The truckdriver, who was uninjured, was identified as

Set Clocks AHEAD

Summit residents are reminded that Daylight Saving Time begins shortly after midnight on Sunday and that all clocks should be set one-hour AHEAD before retiring Saturday night.

Daylight Saving Time will continue until the last Sunday in October when Standard Time will resume.

SOMETHING NEW'S BEING ADDED- In a prelude to the grand-reopening of the Summit Herald's newly refurbished building on Bank street, Mayor Elmer J. Bennett was on hand Saturday morning to help with the installation of the new outdoor sign that will officially identify the structure as "The Herald Building". Aiding Mayor Bennett in the job is Edward Porter of Porter Ltd., building developer, while looking on are Norman E. Rauscher, Herald editor and assistant publisher, and James R. Prisco, general contractor. (Wolin Photo)

Common Council Okays Villa's Bid for Added Liquor Services

After almost a year of hearings, denials and rehearings, the Villa Restaurant was granted permission Tuesday night to serve alcoholic beverages in all sections of the building. Approval was granted by a reduced Common Council, with Councilmen Frank H. Lehr and Horace Kennedy absent.

Objections to what is legally termed a "place to place" transfer of a plenary consumption license had been made by residents in the area of the Villa, none of whom spoke at the Tuesday night meeting.

In requesting the change, owners of the Villa had indicated the desire to redecorate the luncheonette section of the restaurant, including the removal of the lunch counter.

At the same time, Council also voted to give the New Hampshire House a regular plenary consumption license. Up to this time, the restaurant had a conditional license which required patrons to be seated at a table for service. The change will enable the restaurant to serve patrons standing, such as at catered parties.

Other Council Action

In other matters Tuesday night, Common Council:

- * Introduced an ordinance which would restrict to Summit residents only the parking lot on Broad street and Summit avenue. A public hearing is scheduled for May 5.
- * Received a communication from the Union County Board of Taxation setting the city's 1970 tax rate at $7.78 per $100 of evaluation.
- * Adopted an ordinance which permits the Fire Department to hold one fund-raising affair per year.
- * Adopted an ordinance which sets up regulations in Park and Shop Lot, No. 2 on Woodland avenue.
- * Approved a resolution authorizing the advertising of bids for the hiring of trucks and containers during annual Clean-Up week from May 18 through May 23. Bids will be accepted at the May 5 meeting.
- * Granted taxcab licenses to Clyde Cooper, Allen R. Phillips and Robert E. McMahon, jr.
- * Received a letter from Mrs. Marie Mallon of 21 Hughes place decrying the alleged ill-treatment of animals by local residents.

In neither case is there a question of an open bar.

In other matters, Council failed to over-ride Mayor Elmer J. Bennett's veto of proposed parking facilities for the law firm of Moser, Griffin, Kerby and Cooper. In vetoing the resolution, Mayor Bennett had indicated that the plan would block off access to Beechwood road during the entire business day and that he had been advised by Police Chief John Sayre that a traffic hazard would exist.

With Councilmen Ernest N. May and Luther S. Roehm voting nay on reconsidering the application, Council then voted unanimously to send the matter back to the Planning Board.

Council President Pro Tem Edwin S. Votey announced to the audience that the Board of Recreation and Common Council would be in constant contact during the next two weeks to determine the fate of the proposed city swimming pool planned for the site to the rear of Jefferson School.

Citing a letter from the Board of Recreation, Mr. Votey said plans for the pool were now in a "critical stage," since only 656 applications had been received and originally plans were set on the basis of 1,000 applications.

Possible plans to reduce the size of the pool, in the light of the undersubscription, brought forth objections from residents in

Mrs. Faison Backs Swim Pool Size

Mrs. Naomi Faison, Republican candidate for Common Council in Ward 1 said this week that she agrees with a letter from the Summit Area Community Council to the Board of Recreation emphasizing the "importance of maintaining the original size of the proposed community pool."

Current indications, Mrs. Faison said "dictate that a full membership can be obtained to meet the May, 1971 completion. "A reduction in the size of the pool", she said "would be extremely shortsighted for any future expansion."

In the Community Council letter to the Board of Recreation, it was pointed out that the community pools in neighboring towns shows that, while all of them had early experiences in lack of members, all of them have reached their original commitments of memberships and most of them have waiting lists.

Mrs. Faison said there is a "major need for a community pool in Summit and each year the necessity to provide healthy recreation for our youth is increasing." Mrs. Faison added that Summit "cannot overlook that responsibility."

Dr. Clark Appointed To Board

Dr. Raymond K. Clark of 14 Hillcrest avenue, a local dentist and currently a member of the Board of Health, was named this week to the Board of Education by Mayor Elmer J. Bennett.

Dr. Clark replaces Dr. Donald Louria who resigned last week because he did not meet the minimum two-year residency requirements. He had been named earlier this year by Mayor Bennett to replace Kenneth Hamlin who did not wish reappointment.

A member of the Union County Dental Society, Dr. Clark is a member of the Junior High PTA and the Lincoln School PTO and has served on the Lay Committee on Education. He is also on the administrative board of the United Methodist Church and is president-elect of the Rotary Club. Mr. Clark is also a member of the United Campaign's Budget Review Committee.

A native of Summit, Dr. Clark attended Brayton School, the Junior High School and is a 1944 graduate of Summit High School.

Dr. Clark also took a two-year pre-dental course

'Priorities' Called for By Lachner

Marshall S. Lachner, Republican candidate for a Ward 1 Common Council seat, this week called for a "priority list" in solving community problems.

Maintaining that there cannot be a "government by crisis", Mr. Lachner vowed an all-out campaign to fight the "two most devastating problems surrounding us - drug abuse and pollution".

"Two years ago" he noted "we were faced with a crisis in our Police Department which, if it had not been handled adequately, could have resulted in the breakdown of our law enforcement agency". Mr. Lachner was referring to his past endeavor to bring about an increase in policemen's salaries.

"We did not allow the problem to grow" he stated, "We took care of it! In the same vein, we must avert a drug abuse or pollution problem. We must seek it out and take necessary steps to avoid a crisis and then effect a solution in an orderly way".

"I have some innovative ideas regarding drug abuse, that, if elected, I would attempt to put into effect immediately. Regardless of whether 40 or 120 Summit

Mayor Creates Agency To Fight Drug Abuses

A steering committee to set up machinery for creation of a quasi-public commission to fight drug abuse on the local level was named by Mayor Elmer J. Bennett at a meeting held Monday night in City Hall.

The commission, tentatively called the Summit Commission On Drug Abuse (SCONDA) will be set up as a non-profit corporation. Although it will have the backing of the Mayor and Common Council, it will not be an official arm of the city administration.

The 10-member steering committee named by the Mayor includes Dr. Warren B. Nestler, chairman medical education department, Overlook Hospital; Rome A. Betts, a former member of Common Council; Dr. Donald B. Louria, a national expert on drug abuse; Dr. Robert G. Salisbury, superintendent of schools; Dr. Murray Ross, chairman, Municipal Youth Guidance Council; Mrs. R. V. Sims, civic leader; Mrs. Mary Strong, immediate past-president, Summit Area Community Council; Gilbert E. Owren, local attorney; Stephen Christy, Summit Police Department, and Norman E. Rauscher, editor and assistant publisher, Summit Herald.

In setting up the steering committee, Mayor Bennett said that among the purposes of the commission would be to "ascertain" the extent of drug abuse in Summit and to serve as a clearing house for information. The commission's role would also include the coordination of efforts by other community agencies in fighting drug abuse as well as developing means to deal with the problem.

The need for the establishment of such a commission has been pointed up frequently

Mrs. English Seeks Democrats' Okay for Ward 2 Council Post

Another flowered hat was thrown into the ring this week when Mrs. Jerry Fitzgerald English, 14 Drum Hill drive, local lawyer, declared her candidacy on the Democratic ticket for a seat on Common Council from Ward 2.

If no other candidates step forward by 4 p.m. this afternoon, Mrs. English will meet Watson B. Smith, jr. in the November General Elections. Mr. Watson is the Republican candidate for Council in Ward 2.

In Ward 1, where a GOP Primary contest has shaped up, the contestants are Mrs. Naomi Faison and Marshall S. Lachner.

Mrs. English's announcement thus assured a contested campaign for the council position now held by Dr. Ernest M. May, who is retiring at the end of this term, and will not seek the GOP nomination.

Mrs. Alan T. English

"This will not necessarily be an anti-establishment campaign," said Mrs. English, "but a positive one which will seek to define and develop the real issues which concern Summit residents. We all know that Summit is a city with many good qualities, one which has often been fortunate in the past in the quality of its unpaid public servants. "Yet" she added, "I feel that a municipal government should be able to withstand the shock of a little vitality."

"The voters" she added, "now will have to choose from among the candidates, those who can best maintain our standards against those forces which tend to deteriorate the quality of life here."

Mrs. English cited the "threat of creeping urbanization," "difficulties" in maintaining excellence in the school system, "inadequacy" of public transportation, and "environmental pollution" as problem areas which will increasingly demand the attention of the Council

Report Suggests Combining United Campaign, Area Community Council

The combining of the United Campaign of Summit and New Providence and the Summit Area Community Council into a single organization named the United Community Services of Summit and New Providence was suggested this week by a special committee.

Members emphasized they are "merely trying to generate wide community discussion of an important problem" and are anxious to hear all points of view before trying to formulate firm recommendations.

Register Today!

Today is the last day to register to be eligible to vote in the June 2 Primary. The City Clerk's office will be open for registration from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

This also is the final day for the filing of petitions from anyone running for public office.

The committee, which has no name of its own, was formed more than a year ago by the Community Council at the request of the Board of Trustees of the United Campaign. It was charged with making an in-depth study of the campaign's by-laws with a view to finding ways to insure closer cooperation between the two organizations.

A three-page preliminary report has been mailed to board members and other community leaders, none of whom had seen or approved the report in advance. The committee said it was making its detailed suggestions public to encourage full discussion throughout both municipalities concerned.

"We want everybody's advice," the report said, "before trying to find a proposal acceptable to all (or nearly all) our citizens."

recommendation for community needs. (The Community Council.)

2. Financial study and budgeting. (The Budget Committee.)
3. Fund raising for accepted member agencies. (The Campaign Committee.)

The combined organization would have a wider membership than now, to encourage greater community participation, and it would have elected municipal officials regularly sitting on its Board of Trustees.

Actually, the suggested membership would be of three classes:

1. Individuals - Every contributor to the campaign would be entitled to vote for board members at the annual meeting.
2. Agencies - These would be the health and welfare groups supported by the campaign, which would be admitted as they are now and still limited as to outside fund raising under the same sort of agency agreements now in use.

3. Organizations - Public and voluntary organizations not supported by the campaign would be encouraged to join the combined organization and participate in its work.

The Board of Trustees suggested by the committee would no longer consist of an equal number of representatives from supported agencies and of representatives of the general public. The committee, commenting that the present system limits rather than assures agency influence on the board, suggests that most members of the board be representatives of the community, with no limitation on whether they are agency board members or not.

The suggested make-up of the Board of Trustees is:

Eighteen community representatives elected by the membership at an annual meeting - six each year for three-year terms.

Two members, one from each municipality, appointed by the mayors. These would be elected officials.

Three persons would be members ex-officio - the president of the Community Council, the chairman of the Budget Committee and the chairman of the Campaign Committee.

This would make a board of 23 members, somewhat smaller than now.

The board would elect its own officers.

An important factor in unifying the three arms of the combined organization would be the Nominating committee, appointed by the president but with approval of the trustees. It would nominate:

Members of the Board of Trustees. Officers of the combined organization. Members of the Budget Committee. Members of the Community Council Board of Directors. Officers of the Community Council.

Nominations also could be made by a group of 35 members or by five Trustees.

The Community Council, or order to assure the independence of its studies of community affairs, would still have its own membership and its own board although it would be tied to the parent organization through the Nominating Committee and its president's membership on the Board. It would still, as now, make studies of community problems and make recommendations - whether to the parent group, to the city or in other areas.

The Budget Committee would make continuing financial analyses of supported agencies and recommend campaign goals and allocations. It would be elected by the Trustees - 12 members, four each year for three-year terms - and its chairman would be appointed by the president.

The Campaign Committee would operate in the same way it does now. The chairman, elected by the trustees, would name his own committee.

The report recommends an Admissions Committee to replace the present Planning and Survey Committee to consider agency applications for financial support.

There are many existing sections of the United Campaign by-laws in which the committee recommends no change. The committee hopes to hear from every section of the community so that it may, starting in the fall, work out acceptable recommendations.

The committee includes Ronald A. Graham and Nicholas Marinelli of New Providence and Dr. Raymond K. Clark, Henry G. Coit, Mrs. W. Putnam Livingston, John N. May Jr., Dr. Robert C. Specht, Mrs. Robert L. Strong and Bartholomew T. Zanelli, all of Summit. Mr. Coit is chairman.

Copies of the full report are available from any member of the committee.

members.

"The job of maintaining a clean, healthy and efficient city organism is getting more difficult all the time," said Mrs. English, adding that "a vigorous, responsive, and hard-working Council is more necessary than ever before if we are to keep up with our problems."

Mrs. English, who is an attorney with the Summit law firm of Moser, Griffin, Kerby and Cooper, has served community organizations in a variety of capacities in the seven years since she moved here. She is a member of the Board of Trustees of the YWCA, representing the 'Y' on the board of the United Campaign. As service objectives chairman of Soroptimists, she has been active in fund raising for the 'Y' and the Child Care Center.

She is married to Dr. Alan Tylour English, who is a research metallurgist at Bell Telephone Laboratories. Murray Hill. They have four children, Holly, 14, Christopher, 13, Anderson, 7, and Eric, 3. The English family attend the Unitarian Church.

Residential Summit and New Providence, which recently successfully campaigned against the widening of Mountain avenue, Mrs. English voiced concern over the maintenance of the "critical intangibles which make our town a good place to live." "Tree-lined streets" she said, "can be as effectively threatened by air pollution as by supine indifference which would destroy them through wasteful road design." "Today's environmental problems," she said, "require an imaginative Common Council." She stressed the need for the Council to provide a forum for all sides to present their viewpoints. "Without all of the facts before it, government becomes a mere procedural charade," she said.

Other civic endeavors include membership in the League of Women Voters, service as legal counsel to the Headstart Program, and the Friends and Neighbors of the Summit Neighborhood Council (FANS, Inc.); she is also a member of the by-laws Committee of the United Campaign.

In the legal world, besides her law practice, Mrs. English is a participating lecturer at seminars for lawyers conducted by the Institute for Continuing Legal Education and Rutgers University. She is also a visiting lecturer at the Union County Bar Association's Law for the Layman series in which she has taught courses in family law and Constitutional law.

Mrs. English did her undergraduate work at Stanford University, majoring in International Relations. She received her legal training at Boston College and Harvard Law School.

A member of the County Democratic Committee and a lifelong Democrat, Mrs. English, noted that the party affiliation "would not in itself win the election in Summit." "Nevertheless," she went on, "the party system of proposing candidates is a reasonable way of stimulating needed discussion of public issues, even if the party label is an unreliable indicator of what side a particular candidate will take."

On Thursday Thomas R. Fico, 22, of Matawan, was injured when his motorcycle was in collision with a car at Morris avenue and Sayre street. He was taken to Overlook for treatment of injuries.

Police identified the driver of the car as Louis P. Kiernan, jr., 27, of 37 Mountain avenue. At the time of the accident, Mr. Fico was travelling east on Morris, and was in collision with the Kiernan car as it turned into orris from Sayre.

Investigating was Patrolman A. J. Formichella. Two persons were injured on Saturday in front of 152 Passaic avenue when a car went out of control and slammed into a fence, a pole and city traffic sign. Injured in the crash were James J. Butler, jr. and Marlene Butler, both of North Plainfield. Both were taken to Overlook Hospital for treatment of head lacerations.

Mr. Butler told police that the accident occurred when he allegedly fell asleep.

At the time of the accident, the car was travelling south on Passaic. The car was heavily damaged and towed from the scene.

Investigating was Patrolman Hoesly.

Mrs. Gilson contended that such a cutback would be short sighted and more costly in the long run. She maintained that other communities surveyed had revealed that applications for memberships soared after actual construction was begun.

Others in attendance who supported Mrs. Gilson included Mrs. Jean Dillon of 21 Blackburn place; Ernest Kaphine of 12 Hawthorne place Kenneth Baldwin of 8 Glen Oaks avenue; Thomas Crowley of 50 Whittredge road, and Mrs. Robert Bourne of 45 Bellevue avenue, among others.

children are involved in the problem, it is 40 or 120 too many! We must act immediately to help those youngsters already committed to its use, and prevent further infiltration into our community and schools," he added.

"There is pollution in the Passaic River and other local streams" he noted, "which, if not promptly taken care of, can be catastrophic to the beauty of our natural environment and the health of every citizen".

"Specifically, of immediate concern is garbage disposal. We are presently faced with a crisis every 30 days. Solutions should not be made on a monthly basis as they are now, but must be part of an over-all, decisive program that will anticipate our future needs, as well as cope with the present condition", he said.

In both area, Mr. Lachner said he would seek the aid of interested citizens groups "of which there are many" and combine their efforts with Council so that uniformity exists in a vigorous program.

"Attention must be paid to problems before they reach the crisis stage," he concluded, "and I feel I have the time, interest and enthusiasm to tackle them in a positive manner".

during the last year with reports that use of drugs among local youth is on the increase.

A suggestion for creation of a commission was made last Wednesday night at a meeting of the Summit Area Community Council. Following the program which dealt with youth in Summit, Mr. Betts suggested that perhaps the city could look into the prospects of establishing a drug control body. The suggestion prompted the Mayor to name a steering committee over the weekend with an initial meeting called for last Monday night.

Following incorporation of the commission, funds will be sought to pay expenses and perhaps for the hiring of a part-time paid director.

Residents wishing to contribute may do so by sending checks or money orders paid to the order of "S.C.O.N.D.A." in care of the Summit Herald, 22 Bank street, Summit. Residents wishing information regarding use of drugs or who would like to assist the group, may send their inquiries in writing also to the Summit Herald.

Once the commission is officially organized, it is expected that some young people from the Junior and Senior High Schools will be added to the board.

Although many admit that a severe drug problem exists among teenagers within the city, Dr. Salisbury said Monday night that he did not think the problem was "becoming out of proportion." He said that at present "about 45" students at the High School are under "surveillance" regarding their possible use of drugs.

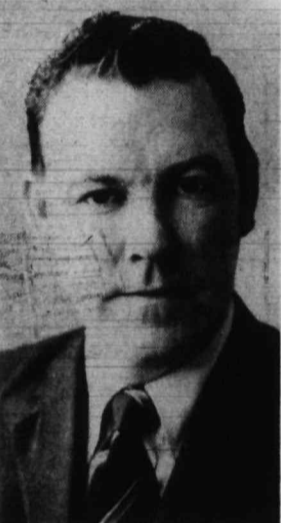

Dr. Louria, who also admitted a drug problem exists in Summit, thought that the situation was "not at crises" stage and that other similar communities may have a worse problem.

In commenting on creation of the new commission, Dr. Nestler said that the group's role at this time is at a "preventative stage" and that it would act now in an effort to prevent the current problem from becoming an "acute crisis."

Dispatch," commented Mr. Manner.

"It is the policy of my committee to meet with the governing bodies and, or the citizens on any project that concerns their welfare. We were not afforded that privilege in the case of Mountain avenue," he continued.

Mr. Manner concluded, "We do hope, however, that when recommendations are made by the county staff on future projects that we can discuss them before reading about them in the papers"

New Jersey Rivers

For Waste and Drinking

Rivers are the source of the clean drinking water on which human lives depend.

Rivers are also where we dump human wastes and industrial sludge.

The same rivers.

According to scientists at Rutgers, it isn't possible to eliminate either of these conflicting uses, but they can be made compatible if citizens are willing to spend enough to do the job.

New Jersey starts out with one great advantage — a very large supply of water, points out Dr. Samuel D. Faust, professor of environmental science. The state has an average of 45 inches of rainfall each year, is bounded on three sides by water and only needs about one-fifth of the water it actually receives.

But New Jersey is also densely populated, and that means it dumps an inordinate amount of junk in those over-flowing rivers. In some of them, such as the Passaic River, wastes are town in upstream and drinking water is siphoned off downstream.

This is less dangerous to health than it might seem at first glance, because every river or stream is self-cleaning. And it is this ability of rivers to assimilate wastes which has formed the basis of Dr. Faust's research.

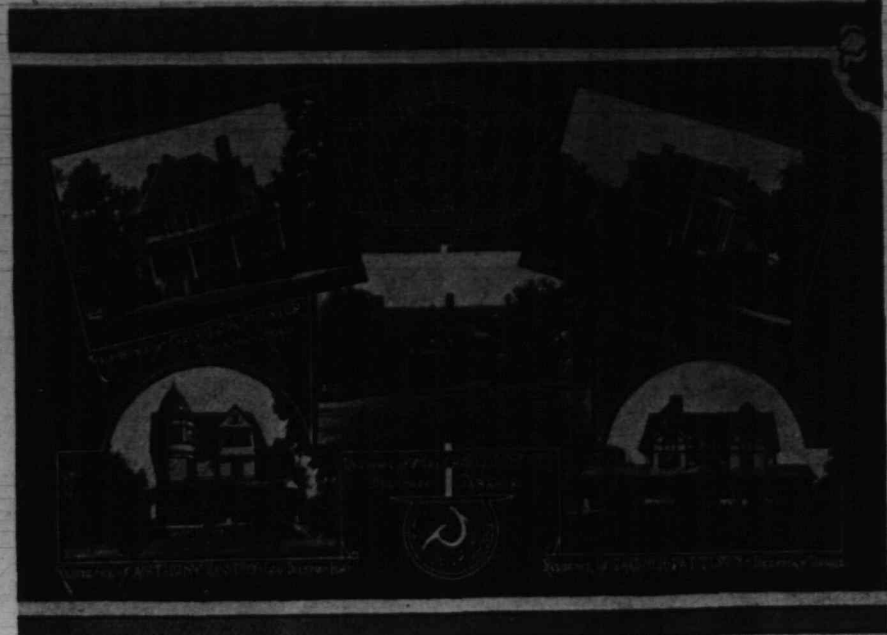

"We really don't know how much waste rivers can assimilate. Our water standards are set arbitrarily, and it's important that we learn how to set them realistically," he noted.

Dr. Faust and several other Rutgers researchers have concentrated their studies on the Passaic River. It was chosen because it runs through some of New Jersey's heaviest population, because scientific data about it has been monitored for nearly 30 years, and because it is a prime example of the multi-purpose uses of a river, and. Currently, most of New Jersey's drinking water comes from its northern rivers, near its population centers. But the Mullica River in South Jersey will undoubtedly have to be tapped eventually for additional clean water.

For three years now, a team of Rutgers engineers and zoologists have been studying the Mullica to find out how to use its vast water reserves without seriously upsetting the ecology of the Great Bay estuary, into which it flows. The bay is rich in marine life, particularly in clam and oyster beds.

Council Comment

The Villa

There were numerous questions asked at the Council meeting of April 17 concerning the withdrawal last year of the application of the Villa Dasti for a transfer of a liquor license, after a resolution had been adopted by the Council denying the transfer.

The residents of Miele place at the hearing were apparently not aware of the fact that any action of the Council by resolution or ordinance is not effective until approved by the Mayor. Until the Mayor indicates his position, an application can be withdrawn and the adoption by the Council of the resolution denying the transfer is actually the same as if there was nothing before the Council on which to act. This is what happened in the case of the Villa Dasti.

An application was made for a transfer of a liquor license. The Council after a public hearing adopted a resolution denying the application. However, before the Mayor signed the resolution, the application was withdrawn, the withdrawal officially recorded in the minutes and the fee refunded. The public hearing held and the Council action were not official although as President Lehr stated at the meeting it did indicate the position of the Council at that time.

The provision in the City Charter which sets forth the Mayor's authority in these matters reads as follows:

"Every ordinance or resolution passed by the Common Council shall, before it takes effect, be presented duly certified by the City Clerk to the Mayor, who, if he approves the same shall sign it, and if he does not approve it, he shall return it, with his objections, to the clerk, within five days after the presenting thereof, and if he does not return it, with such objections within the time specified above, it shall take effect as if approved by him; whenever any ordinance or resolution shall have been returned with objections aforesaid to the Common Council, the said Common Council shall, at its first meeting thereafter, order the objections to be entered at length on its journal and shall proceed to reconsider the same, and if, on reconsideration, it shall pass the Common Council by a vote of two thirds of all the members, it shall take effect notwithstanding such objections; in all such cases the votes shall be taken by ayes and nays and entered in full on the journal of said Common Council."

The Council at the April 7 meeting adopted a resolution approving a parking layout. This resolution was duly certified by the City Clerk as adopted by the Council and forwarded to the Mayor for his approval. The Mayor did not approve the action of the Council but registered his objections in writing and returned the resolution to the Clerk to be presented to the Council at the next meeting which will be held on April 21. If at this meeting two thirds or five members of the Council vote for the resolution the Mayor's veto will be overcome and the resolution will be valid. If five do not vote in favor, the Mayor's action will be upheld.

In each case, the resolution denying the application for a transfer of a liquor license and the resolution approving a parking lot, the Council action was not affective until approved by the Mayor. In the first instance, the application was withdrawn before the Mayor signed the resolution, there rendering the approval or disapproval unnecessary. In the case of the veto of the parking lot resolution, it was returned unsigned but with objections which requires action by the Council to determine whether the Council action will prevail or if the Mayor's veto will be sustained.

The powers of the Mayor are outlined in the City Charter and in addition to the approval of the Council actions as listed above he is also the head of the Police Department and "shall from time to time take such measures as he may deem necessary for the preservation of peace and good order and the enforcement of the laws and ordinances of the City."

Copies of the City Charter, listing the powers and duties of the Council and the Mayor as well as other City officers are available upon request from the City Clerk's office.

Slings and Arrows

I know....

We are in the season of socially-acceptable laws.

How can we tell? Well, every red-blooded American suburbanite is out there every weekend, wreaking havoc against the dandelions and the crab grass, to say nothing about wielding force against other grassy intruders.

Somehow or other this country survived for years with grassy plains and rolling hills full of weeds. Now when we are concerned about ecology, and it's a socially acceptable topic to discuss, crab grass is an enemy.

Do urban dwellers search the genealogy of what little grass they can find? Or do they just think that green is good?

W.S.

A Municipal Drug Commission

The spreading use of drugs by teenagers has become to many, the greatest problem facing Summit today. Hardly a day or a week go by that there isn't some kind of meeting or discussion held to discuss the problem. We wonder where it is all leading to and where it will end.

Obviously the endless round of meetings, seminars and discussions carried out by the churches, schools, social agencies and various civic groups, although worthwhile, are not making much of a dent into the problem.

At a general meeting of the Summit Area Community Council held last Wednesday night at St. John's Lutheran Church, a suggestion was made that perhaps a Municipal Drug Commission be created for the purposes of working with county, state and Federal agencies to (1) step up the drive to curb sources of drugs; (2) provide a means to rehabilitate the addict, and (3) embark upon an ambitious program of education to show the dangers of drug use. We think the plan has some merit.

At present thought is being given to inviting DARE into the city in an effort to combat the problem. DARE, which is Newark based, has had a modicum of success in combatting the drug problem among teenagers.

However, since the problem of drugs is a complex and varied one, it occurs that Summit, itself, could begin to unravel the problem by committing itself to an all-out fight against local use through a local drug commission.

It is therefore with great satisfaction that the news was received earlier this week that Mayor Bennett concurs with this view, and has taken initial steps for the creation of a Municipal Drug Commission.

What such a group can initially accomplish is anybody's guess. But such a Commission, solely dedicated toward combatting the local drug problem could have a positive psychological affect to parents, the addict and the pusher. We think such a commission should also have a strong liaison with the Police Department, the Municipal Youth Guidance Council as well as with any agency that comes in contact with the teenager.

Such a Commission's responsibility would be to try to root out the user, rehabilitate the user, educate the public and make drastic efforts toward finding those who are pushers.

Such a Commission would give many the feeling that Summit cares and is aware that a drug problem exists here. And since such a body would be an unofficial arm of City Government, additional weight would be added.

Until the Commission gets moving, residents may wish to avail themselves of additional information on drugs by attending the annual Family Service Association meeting on Tuesday, April 28. At that time Dr. Donald Louria, a resident of Summit, and a national expert on drug misuse, will be principal speaker.

Snap the Chain

For as long as the memory of 20th Century man, the chain letter writers have been hard at work, turning out six copies to send to friends and thus obtaining a possible reward of some kind.

It is difficult for the person who receives a chain letter with the admonition of sending it on to six friends or else suffer dire consequences, to toss such a letter into the waste-basket. This is especially true if the sender is an especially good friend or if the recipient is especially superstitious.

What most of us don't realize is that chain letters offering rewards of money, merchandise or liquor are regarded as non-mailable under the U.S. mail fraud laws. The penalty for conviction for mailing a chain letter is a $1,000 fine or five years in jail, or both.

At the start of 1969 the Post Office Department was investigating 97 chain letters. By the end of the year that number had jumped to 559. This is a startling increase in an illegal chain. It is also sad because those who obey the exhortation and do not break the chain rarely receive any reward.

Thus the Postmaster has called for a curb on chain letters and asks that such mail be turned over to the postal authorities for it is hard to stop them. Their envelopes bear no telltale identification.

The writing of chain letters may seem a minor calamity in this day of so many frauds but it can go far.

One letter requiring one person to mail out six copies to others, with each of them mailing out six more, would reach the entire literate population of the earth if it were followed through to the 11th level.

And that is a startling thought in this age when the mails are already crammed with junk.

"Sixth-Grade Capitalism" - East Orange Record

A new kind of grading system has been adopted by a sixth grade California schoolteacher. It is based on a point and incentive system that pays the student, in imaginary dollars, for good work and fines him when he falls down on the job. The teacher says the system works: "... It has done away with grades. I substitute academic dollars."

At the beginning of the year, the instructor gives each pupil a $500 credit to start the semester. The nest egg expands or shrinks, according to the caliber of academic work produced by its owner. Students can build small empires. A superior student can acquire a firm that dispenses facts to those who are inattentive in class or didn't do homework. There are about a dozen firms successful students can buy and operate. They also may earn academic dollars for helping slower students, for good work habits and for co-operation in class. Says the instructor: "You can't keep the kids at home. They come even when they're sick ... The students are motivated to work."

When parents criticize the idea of bringing capitalism into the schools, the teacher answers, "But I'm teaching the American way of life ..."

Letters

That Word "Please"

Editor, Summit Herald:

I think that you should be aware that there exists among your readers at least one who is incensed by the suburban snobbery and backwardlooking attitudes expressed in your editorial "Tired of Demands" (Summit Herald, April 16).

I find it hard to believe that anyone in this country, not to mention anyone living not 25 miles from such a trouble-ridden urban center as New York, can be so insensitive to the awful pressure of our time. Do we have no conception of why the "incivility" and violence have erupted? Are we completely unaware that this is the direct result of decades — indeed centuries — of ignored entreaties from the poor, the black, the young, the old? Can we really believe that these people are going to continue quietly saying "please", when those who have said "please", the Martin Luther Kings and the John F. Kennedys are shot down before their very eyes?

Of course, it's bad manners to toss rocks through windows, to interrupt a speaker, or to litter. But hasn't it occurred to us, protected as we are in the cocoon of a wealthy suburban town, that it might be worse manners to sit by with equanimity and watch people starve, receive little or no education, live out their lives uncared for by another human being, or simply spend their most creative and enthusiastic years being put down by administrators who have lost touch with the voices and concerns of our times? It is, in fact, high time that we realize that it is not

Research Institute, hopes to complete its studies in November and recommend how best to use the Mullica.

The Department of Environmental Sciences at Rutgers will mark its 50th anniversary next year. It is the oldest department of its kind in the United States, and one of the largest.

Among the department's other current research projects are studies by Dr. Joseph V. Hunter on the effects of pollution on the aquatic environment, and a variety of work on oxygen levels in rivers and waste water treatment.

Dr. Hunter, an associate research specialist in the department, points out somewhat gloomingly that all kinds of waste obediently flows down hill until it winds up in a river.

"Pesticides, herbicides, human wastes, industrial wastes, fertilizers, oil - everything eventually winds up in the river. The basic question we're working on is how it changes the aquatic environment," Dr. Hunter said.

Both he and Dr. Faust noted that despite the growing public concern with pollution, research funds for studies on water pollution have been sharply cut by the state this year.

"The problem of ensuring New Jersey a continuing supply of potable water is solvable," sums up Dr. Hunter. "The question is whether people will be willing to pay enough to clean up the waste materials we dump in the rivers at least enough so that the rivers' self-cleaning properties can continue to operate.

"Conditions in this state, with our heavy rainfall, and many rivers are such that we'll have enough clean water as long as we're willing to pay the costs of processing the excess wastes we're going to have to put in them," he concluded.

he had to return to more structured lessons.

And then I opened the Summit Herald, and learned that the school had received protests about this practice, and that it now existed on a "one week trial basis"!

To the phone! I would make my own protest to the school, in favor of living and learning extended outside the brick walls. I called, both the office of the High School principal, and of the superintendent, and in both places my call was received not only with courtesy, but with the warmest gratitude for my interest. "It is so nice to hear when someone likes something" was one response.

To write a letter, or make a call fired by anger, or a sense of injustice or righteous indignation is often easy and satisfying. It relieves the feelings and rests the mind. I think few of us, and I am one of the worst offenders, expend equal energy on praising the things we like, or supporting those people whose actions and beliefs we find admirable. It takes more of a constant, conscious effort to do so. Can I suggest today that we all begin to do it? Don't be shy. Don't feel people are too busy to listen to you. Let's form a movement of saying yes to life, and let's begin it by saying that life can still be creative and disciplined even though it's not bound within the school walls.

our privilege to be charitable, but rather our duty to grant equal rights to all members of our society. These equal rights include the right to share in the material benefits of a wealthy technological and industrial society. No one should be forced to humble himself by saying "please" for a better education, a home fit to live in, a voice in the administration of his school, or sufficient food to allow his children to grow up with fully developed minds and bodies.

Good manners do not always work when they are directed toward people who, both in the past and in the present, have been wont to turn a very deaf ear to entreaties which disturb their insulated way of life. If "please" proves ineffective, stronger words are needed.

Concerning Pool Size

(Editor's note: The following letter was sent to the Board of Recreation from the Summit Area Community Council. A copy has been forwarded to the Mayor and members of Common Council)

Dear Members of the Board of Recreation.

On behalf of the Board of Directors and Membership of the Summit Area Community Council I wish to express our appreciation for your cooperation and willingness to exchange ideas with the Community Council Pool Committee. We feel these honest discussions have been fine examples of cooperation between the public and private sectors and beneficial to both.

As you know, however, the Pool Committee is strongly in favor of constructing the pool facility as originally planned by the Board of Recreation--with no reduction in the size of the swimming and diving area. Last evening the Board and Membership of the Community Council voted to support that position. The recommendation reads as follows:

"The Summit Area Community Council Board of Directors and Membership recommend that the City of Summit implement the complete swimming and diving facilities of the proposed Community Pool as presented publicly by the Board of Recreation for completion in 1971. We feel that the most economical and expeditious approach is the construction of the swimming and diving facilities in one stage. This recommendation is based on the experience of 13 neighboring communities whose Directors of Recreation were interviewed by the Community Council Pool Committee. The localities include: Princeton, Millburn, Morristown, Westfield, Ridgewood, Maplewood, New Providence, East Orange, South Orange, Plainfield, Springfield, Mountainside, and Cranford. (Four of the above, Morristown, Ridgewood, East Orange, Plainfield are free pools, the others, self-supporting.)

In each of the towns the community pool is fully subscribed. In addition, Maplewood has a waiting list of 3400 people; Mountainside, a 1 year wait; Springfield, an undetermined number turned away; Cranford, a waiting list of 1000 when the pool opened in 1965 - and now building two more pools.

All these pools are operating in the black and many have a surplus of money.

We feel it is financially short-sighted to build a smaller pool now, thereby incurring increasing architectural and construction costs in expanding it later.

We further believe that the members already signed up expect to see the facility as originally presented and that a smaller, more crowded facility may even be a deterrent to people joining in the future.

The Board of Directors and Membership of the Community Council are confident that by the time the pool opens there will be sufficient applications to cover the cost of the pool as originally planned. We are opposed to any cutback in the size of the pool facility."

Again, we thank you for the opportunity of working together on this project and urge you to give our recommendation your most serious consideration.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Robert L. Strong
President, Summit Area Community Council

Say "Yes" To Life

Editor, Summit Herald:
Last Thursday afternoon, a beautiful spring day, I drove past the Senior High School and saw the students on the lawn, strolling, reading, talking, lying and loking down at the grass or up at the sky or at each other. I told my husband about it when I returned home, and we agreed that it was beautiful, and more, that it was part of education; and could renew the student for when

Addiction Expert Scores "Diseases Of Affluence"

"In treating alcoholics, drug addicts, cigarette smokers, or obese patients, tell it like it is. Don't duck the issue. Don't be permissive. Lay it on the line." That was the advice of Richard C. Bates, M.D., noted authority and specialist in addictions, who addressed the Medical Staff of Overlook Hospital at its annual dinner meeting last Wednesday night.

"There's only one decision to be made — and that's to kick the habit," he stated. "Stop, not cut down."

Advocating strong medicine — plus strong support — for the addicted from their personal physicians. Dr. Bates cited case after case in his experience with alcoholics, drug addicts, cigarette smokers and the overweight.

Only when threatened by loss of job, family break-up, institutionalization or serious illness are most addicts finally motivated to change, in Dr. Bates' opinion. "For some it's too late," he said.

He quoted statistics to the Overlook Medical Staff stating that there could be a one-third reduction in the nation's cost of health care if drugs, smoking, alcoholism and obesity were eliminated.

"These habits complicate almost every one of the first ten causes of death in the United States and directly lead to many of them," he claimed. "Any compulsive habit carried to excess is a problem. The common thread with all these habits is that they are a humanly enjoyable activity — carried to excess."

"The real problem is that these are all diseases of affluence, not environmentally caused — the problem is people who pollute themselves," he stated.

Motivation of Patient
How to motivate the patient to "stay stopped"? That's the heart of the problem, in Dr. Bates' opinion. Unimpressed by scare techniques, he paid high tribute to the self-help programs with competitive goals, wherein the successful patient becomes a therapist for others.

He urged doctors to refer patients to groups such as Alcoholics Anonymous, TOPS, Weight Watchers, Synanon and Odyssey House drug centers as examples of shared and successful therapy.

"These groups represent reality therapy," he emphasized. "They are based on confrontation and shared experience. Nobody's fooling anyone. They are all cheap — and most are free. They involve no fund raising, no psychotherapy — simply sharing, strengthening through honesty, competition and sustained motivation."

He illustrated with cases of many of his own patients, unsuccessfully motivated through years, who had successfully lost weight through Weight Watchers.

Unique Clinics
An assistant clinical professor of Medicine at Michigan State University, Dr. Bates described the unique and highly successful techniques of a Michigan hospital's alcoholic program which is compulsory for employees of a leading automobile manufacturing company.

Covered by health insurance, a problem drinker must accept compulsory admission, stay in hospital an average 10 days and receive 30 hours of instruction. No stops are pulled as to loss of job if the patient doesn't straighten out.

Another special smoking clinic, at which 60% of those enrolled have successfully stopped smoking for two years, operates on an initial $25 charge with a pledge to stop smoking at the first lesson. One cigarette and they're out — an expensive lesson. The smoking clinic meets three times a week, two hours a night. All emphysema patients are routinely directed to the clinic.

The concept stressed in the smoking clinic is self mastery. In stopping smoking, guilt feelings drop away and the patient develops appreciation for his own strength. Satire and nagging, as in the American Cancer Society television spots, seem to work for smokers, whereas they don't for alcoholics, in Dr. Bates' view.

March Was A Lion All Month

March was comparatively cool, according to statistics of Harold Duflocq, meteorologist at the Union College Meteorological Station, Cranford, which have been forwarded to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

During March, 828 degree days were recorded — eight more than in 1969. Since the heating season began on September 1, 1969, 4,970 degree days have been recorded, as compared with 4,705 during were enrolled in 60 adult education classes.

The highlight of the year was the completion of the new men's exercise and locker facilities, and a combination sauna-steam room in December. Nearing completion are new four-wall courts for handball, paddleball, and squash. The new facilities were financed by a special capital fund drive with the two-fold purpose of providing the finest in physical fitness facilities for adults, and increasing adult membership which help subsidize YMCA youth programs.

The Summit Area YMCA which has just celebrated its 84th anniversary in Summit, officially serves the communities of Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Millburn, Short Hills, and Springfield. In 1969 its membership included 2,277 boys, 920 girls, 1,951 men, and 1,076 women of diverse faiths, color, interests, and backgrounds. Although bound in a world-wide fellowship with other YMCA's the Summit Y is an independent and self governing organization with a board of 30 directors setting its policies. A staff of four YMCA professional men operate the organization assisted by 161 part-time and volunteer program leaders.

Secretaries Week

The Summit Chapter of the National Secretaries Association is observing the 19th annual Secretaries Week which started Sunday. The chapter has set up a display in the lobby of the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Co. and yesterday held a Boss-Secretary luncheon at the Beacon Hill Club.

Despite Higher Attendance, YM Had Operating Deficit in 1969

In its 1969 annual report, issued last week by the YMCA, it was revealed that with increased services and programs, the Y had a total attendance of 151,508 last year in contrast to 112,114 in 1968, and operated at a $7,444 deficit in spite of increased dues and program fees. Only increased supporting memberships and increased revenue from the United Campaign will enable the local organization to continue to serve the public at dues and fees within reach, according to Dr. Alexander Crosett, jr., president.

Introduced during 1969 were three new teen programs which are open to non-Y members: "The Den," a game room for junior and senior high students located in the YMCA building and used by an average of 40 per day; "Just Tongue," bi-weekly Saturday night coffee house for senior high students held in the Y auditorium which accommodates an average of 250; and an inter-church basketball league involving six churches and 71 players. Ongoing teen activities were "Bull Ring," teen drop-in center located at New Providence High School which had a total attendance of 9,416 in 87 sessions; and the summer "Metropolitan Musical Theater" which had a 4,619 attendance for 150 high school and college age young people. In aquatics 102 classes and teams had a total attendance of 23,989 while 1,032 people were taught to swim, 972 passed advanced swim tests, and 140 were awarded lifesaving certificates. In physical education, 4040 attended 21 gym classes or were involved in teams, and 26,106 attended open gym sessions.

Youth Clubs accommodated 266 boys in 25 groups; 733 boys and 69 girls with their dads were involved in the Indian Guide and Indian Princess programs. Summer day camps served 398 boys and 170 girls, while 575 adults

Comment on Film

by Jon Flaut

Michelangelo Antonioni is a genius of the motion picture art. His place at the top of creative effort of contemporary directors is secure. His work with color, his dedication to a truer dramatic time, his analysis on film of the psychology of the inner being is masterful. With his earlier breakthrough works "L'avventura", "Eclipse", and "La Notte", he invested the film medium with a new language. With his color master-works "Red Desert" and "Blow Up", he gave the style he had developed a use of color which renewed many of the tenants of neo-realism. He has created films without peer.

Sad to report, then, that Antonioni's "Zabriski Point" (made in the United States) is decidedly disappointing. Disappointing not only because it is not up to Antonioni's usual level, but because it is a secondary type of film whatever its source. Perhaps it would be illuminating to find out what went wrong.

In conception the film's idea is a good, if not particularly unique one. "Zabriski Point" in narrative construction concerns a young man (Mark Frechette) who is increasingly alienated from the material and social goals of a stable American middle class. He flees Los Angeles, where he has witnessed the killing of a young black radical by a policeman (he is to be falsely accused of killing the policeman, apparently), in a plane he has stolen and flies to Death Valley. There he meets a girl (Daria Halprin) who is restive, if not openly antagonistic to society. She is driving to Phoenix for a liaison with her millionaire boss (Rod Taylor). The plot, then, deals with the physical (Los Angeles, the desert, the billboards and commodities, etc.) and social (propaganda, alienation, youth, etc.) landscape with which so many good American films ("Medium Cool", "Easy Rider", "Alice's Restaurant", "Midnight Cowboy", "The Rain People", etc., and further back "The Graduate" and "Bonnie and Clyde") lately have been concerned. Given Antonioni's wonderful use of color for meaning and emotional-psychological impact, which is quite evident in "Zabriski Point", and his real ability to form abstractions on film, "Zabriski Point" should have been better than it is. It certainly should have been the equal to its few moments of brilliance - the love scenes in the sand and the slow motion destruction of the boss' material world in the imagination of the girl.

What went wrong? I think two things mainly.

First, "Zabriski Point" is based on a totally inadequate script. Some films may get along without the most vigorously authentic script, but the screenplay for this film is simply inadequate. One of the screenwriters is Sam Shephard and another a close Antonioni personal friend. Between Shephard's tin ear for dialogue of young people and the attention and courtesy he apparently paid the efforts of such a friend, may lie the fault. Anyway, what the characters say is often not only ridiculous but out of touch with what we see on film.

The other fault is the usually blank, sometimes grossly amateurish recitation of lines by the two principals. They are people (I hesitate to call them actors) of little talent, as far as I can see. They lend no authenticity to "Zabriski Point".

What is instructive about this is: even the work of a great modern film maker and a genuine auteur is dependent, at least somewhat on screen writing and acting. It is something our emphasis on the director these days (a justified emphasis, usually) may lead us to forget.

About Bridge

by Richard L. Sandhusen

Playing North-South in last week's session of the Summit Duplicate Bridge Club, the partnership of Myldred Kelly and Leonard Kaplan scored a 100-plus top for the evening. The partnership of George Riggs and Doris Smalley placed second, with the Bob Bowman-Nancy Shore pair placing third. Top East-West pair was Bud Sine and Lois Meehan, with Ed McHenry and Glen Moore placing second and Harold Reamer and Edith Mallett placing third.

To encourage guests to attend the Wednesday evening sessions held in the American Legion Hall in New Providence, director Henry Crigler is waiving the $1.25 fee for the first-time attendees during April.

Interesting Bidding Problem

The illustrated hand, on which the Kelly-Kaplan pair earned one of their seven clear "tops," was as interesting and instructive to bid as it was mundane to play.

As to the play of the hand, North would have to try hard not to gather in all 13 tricks in spite of the impressive array of honors in East's hand. In point of fact, nothing East, West, or Goren himself could do can prevent North from making nine of his trump tricks separately by cross-ruffing hearts and clubs. These tricks, added to his initial trump lead to clear the suit and his three top diamonds, provide North with 13 easy tricks.

Weird doubles

The bidding of the hand, however, was not as monotonously cut-and-dried. First off, not one of the eight North-South partnerships that played the hand landed in the "cold" grand slam contract. Even more interesting, perhaps, is the fact that only one partnership - Kelly-Kaplan - even managed to climb to the six level. And, possibly most interesting of all, two of the seven North-South pairs that landed in four spade contracts actually got doubled in this contract by the hungry East players navigating under the delusion that those high heart and club honors would gobble up a bunch of quick tricks. (Also interesting is the fact that neither North redoubled.)

Lessons to be learned intrinsic interest, however, the bidding of this hand provides a few useful lessons on the nature and limitations of American bidding methods in general and the game of duplicate bridge in particular.

As to American bidding methods, some critics of same - particularly those with an acute sense of nationalistic embarrassment over the bothersome regularity with which American bridge terms get smeared by Italian bridge teams in international competition - might claim that the bidding of this hand illustrates the tendency of these methods to undervalue voids, overvalue Aces, and generally allow insufficient time to explore subtle nuances of distribution and point count.

As to the game of duplicate, this bidding illustrates first of all the folly of doubling (or redoubling) a contract unless you can actually count the needed winning tricks in your hand. In this situation, the two East-West pairs that did double scored next-to-bottoms - and the chances that their doubles would pay off simply weren't worth this risk.

This bidding also points up the fact that there is still a sizeable "dumb luck" factor in duplicate, in spite of the fact that each partnership plays exactly the same hands that other partnerships will play, and hence differences in distribution and point count are eliminated as a competitive factor. In this situation, for example, the East-West partnership playing against the Kelly-Kaplan team received a gratuitous bottom for having the bad luck of sitting against this particular team on this particular hand. A few hands later, this writer ran into the same situation when it played against the only North-South pair that bid to a cold grand slam in hearts.

The orchestra, under the direction of Daniel Kautzman, will open the program with the first movement of Boccherini's "Symphony in B Flat." Included in this part of the program is the "Quartet in D for Flute and Strings" by Mozart, and will be played by Sarah Ratichek, flute; Barbara Sellers, violin; Sue Haig, viola, and Stephen Haig, cello. The girls chorus with D. David McKeever, conductor, will perform three choruses from Pergolesi's "Stabat Mater" as well as a group of modern show tunes. Joseph Loreti will conduct the Band in a varied program including a "Preludium and Fugue" by Frescobaldi and a modern composition, "Odalisque", by Thielman.

After the intermission Mr. McKeever will conduct the madrigal group in the performance of Elizabethan music by Francis Pilkington, Thomas Bateson and John Farmer. The group will end with "I Got Rhythm" by George Gershwin. This will lead to the final performing group on the program, the Stage Band, under the direction of Mr. Loreti.

For The Consumer

(Editor's note: The following article is written by the Consumer's League of New Jersey, Montclair. Further information about the League can be obtained from its area representative, Mrs. John M. Is The Food You Eat and the Clothing You Wear Really Safe?

Just how safe are you and your children in your use of consumable products? You may have thought, for instance, that clothing was now protected by new fire-resistance standards. The Flammable Fabrics Act was passed in 1967. The Commerce Department advocated more stringent standards, but none have been forthcoming, so far.

What about the protection of children from death and injury? Yes, death even from toys! Other articles which may have sharp edges or which may come under the heading of "electrical, mechanical or thermal hazard" can be dangerous in a youngsters' hands. At the moment, there are ten bills calling for amendment of the Federal Hazardous Substances Act. In the spring, this act was the cause of the U. S. Government's banning fabric-covered toy tunnels from the market. Future tunnels will be flame-proof.

It is no wonder that the Senate has extended the time for study of hazardous products asked by the National Product Safety Commission in order to make adequate legislative recommendations to Congress.

Too many children still become ill through poisoning. Government agencies responsible for enforcement of the Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Law have not been thorough enough. Certain banned rat poisons are still available in stores. Still, we need not limit food poisoning to children only. Pesticide pellets used in electrical devices to spray insects in restaurants are apt to be poisonous to the customer as well. Tests reveal a residue of such spray lingers on all food, packaged and unpackaged.

The National Commission on product safety was established to be of service to the Consumer. Congress has directed it to examine state and local product safety laws to determine their value.

Laws in New Jersey encompass statutes on bedding, mercury treatment of fur, labeling of acids, abandoned ice boxes, sale of harmful gifts to children, door-to-door home repair sales, liquid petroleum and gas, fireworks, and hazardous substances.

Reading Room, 340 Springfield avenue, open daily from 10 a.m. to 4:30.

The self-destructing effects of moral weakness and the regenerating effects of spiritual thinking are illustrated in the Lesson-Sermon on "Probation After Death" to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, April 26.

One of the Bible citations is from Romans: "For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." The account in Luke of the multitude that gathered to hear Jesus preach and to be healed of diseases and "unclean spirits" also will be read.

Citations from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy include the following: "Either here or hereafter, suffering or Science must destroy all illusions regarding life and mind, and regenerate material sense and self."

For the Birds

By Farris S. Swackhamer
Professor, Union College

Blend the story-telling skill of a master of the suspense novel with the avid enthusiasm of an experienced bird-watcher and you come up with Margaret Millar. Whether she's telling about the sick passion of Charlie Gowen in "The Fiend" or "Houdunit," the little brown bird who acquired a name before he even had an identity, the split personality of Evelyn Merrick in "Beast in View" or the pig-headedness of Morgan, the band-tailed pigeon, or how a girl asked Gordon Foster for a match in "Wives and Lovers" or how Richard the rat slept in a coconut shell, her words paint a picture that you hardly have to close your eyes to see.

Mrs. Millar's birding career started with a mysterious tapping on a summer's day shortly after her husband, the other mystery writer in the family, had left for Mexico. It seemed to come from the lanai on the lower floor of on the drive where a small foreign car was parked. The left rear hubcap was being attacked by a brown bird. The avian visitor was promptly dubbed Houdunit. Now the tapping at the window was explained. The bird apparently considered both hubcap and lanai window mortal enemies. Later that morning when the supermarket checker toted up Mrs. Millar's purchases, a thirty-nine cent box of parakeet seed was included. This was spread on the ledge outside the living room window. The first customer was Houdunit or his immediate relative and a smaller bird. It took a trip to the Bird Hall of the Santa Barbara Museum of Natural History to determine the visitors were a brown towhee and a male and female house finch. "As I left," writes Mrs. Millar, "I paused to read the information sheet in the display case near the door. It stated that all of the birds inside were from Santa Barbara County and there were nearly 400 of them. I had 398 to go."

Morgan is the central character in a whole chapter devoted to band-tailed pigeons. When he came to the yard of a birder-friend, he hadn't yet learned to fear man as many wild birds do and ate seed from his host's hand. He spent most of the day perched near the house. "Any approaching car or pedestrian, any dog or cat ambling past on the way to the barranca, Morgan would challenge with a kind of warning grunt, "Who? Who?"

"The baying of hounds couldn't have sounded a more effective alarm than Morgan's rather soft, ominous question, "Who?"

Need a Driving Refresher Course?

The New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles is accelerating its efforts to promote modernization of driving techniques for drivers who have failed to keep pace with today's high speed and expressway driving.

The Bureau of Safety Education is offering an "Adult Driver Refresher Course" to any group - independent or organized - in the State. They are interested in presenting the program to retirees, executives, businessmen, industrial workers, as well as social and civic and fraternal organizations.

The course is especially-targeted for the drivers whose reflexes have slowed, and vision has dimmed, and whose grasp of the law needs refreshing. A group of highly qualified highway safety representatives conduct the program which is composed of four sessions. The program consists of a lecture, the showing of a safety film, plus a question and answer period. It

The story of Richard, the rat, who got stoned on fermented grapes and then slept it off in a coconut shell is much too fascinating in the original to risk retelling.

"The Birds and the Beasts Were There" is Mrs. Millar's saga of addiction to birding and is her twentieth book. It's a complete change of pace from her well-known novels of mystery and suspense. If there were a Union College award for the best nature book of the century, this one would get my vote.

embraces topics on driving and motor vehicle laws, physical laws of motion and the automobile, expressway driving, and the pedestrian and the driver.

Upon completing the course, the participants receive a certificate from the State of New Jersey signed by the Director of the Division of Motor Vehicles. They are also given traffic safety kits containing a driver manual, safety charts and traffic safety literature.

"The adult refresher course is an appeal to all drivers in a group to group campaign in the use of modern techniques in better driving," noted William J. Ford, Chief of the Bureau of Safety Education. "Drivers knew the rules when they first passed the driver examination - many of them now need to be refreshed in order to combat today's intricate traffic conditions," Ford added.

Interested individuals and group leaders can arrange for the course by telephoning or writing to the Bureau of Safety Education, 25 South Montgomery Street, Trenton, 08625.

Rain Washes Out Hilltopper Game With Caldwell 9, Summit Downs Springfield

by Tom Kizzia

Because rain postponed Tuesday's Caldwell game until a future date, the past week's action of Summit's varsity baseball team was limited to one game.

The 7-2 win over Springfield was an uplifting one for the Hilltoppers. Not only did they finally prove they could hit, they proved they could win without Steve Schroeder on the mound.

Junior Jim Cairns went the distance for Summit in his first start of the year.

After a shaky first inning, when Springfield jumped off to a 2-0 lead, Cairns settled down to strike out six, and give up only four hits en route to the victory.

Summit came back with a run in the bottom of the first. Shortstop Steve Baker led off with a walk, moved up on an infield out, and scored when Springfield's third baseman threw the ball away attempting to retire Steve Schroeder.

Nine men went to the plate for Summit in their three-run third inning.

until Cairns, "helping his own cause", singled him home. Cairns scored on the same play, taking second on the throw to home, and scoring when the opposing catcher threw the ball into the outfield trying to get him out at second.

Mike Mahoney scored the final Summit run in the sixth as he reached base on an error, moved up on a wild pitch, went to third on an infield out, and scoring on Hart's third single.

Steve Baker, with two doubles and two runs scored, and Chris Hart paced Summit's seven-hit attack. The victory lifted Summit's record to 2-1 and strengthened team confidence. Springfield is supposed to be a contender for the conference championship.

The Hilltoppers are scheduled to host Madison today at Memorial Field, and next week meet Cedar Grove, Colonia, and another contender in New Providence. Summit should take them all if the hitting and pitching maintain their pace.

Landis Graham Hurls Summit One-Hit Shut Out Win Frosh Nine Wins Twice

Sophomore Landis Graham continued his sensational hurling for the Oratory School's baseball team last Saturday as he pitched the Rams to 1-0 victory over Montville High of Bergen County, allowing only two hits.

Graham, who has a 2-1 record this season, hasn't allowed an earned run in 23 innings. He struck out seven and didn't issue a walk in handing Montville its first loss in three games.

Oratory has a 4-3 record after winning two of three contests last week. Graham made a first-inning run stand up against Montville. Ben Ripa's single and two errors provided Oratory with the only run it needed.

Oratory had only eight hits against Stevens, but received 18 bases on balls and benefitted from two Stevens errors. Oratory scored in each of the six innings it came to bat.

The Rams spotted Stevens a 1-0 lead in the first inning, but stormed back with four runs in the same frame. Ron Castellanos featured the uprising with a two-run single. Oratory added three runs in the second inning and another in the third for an 8-1 lead.

Stevens bounced back with three runs in the fourth inning to pull up to 8-4. But Oratory ended Stevens' hopes with a six-run rally in the bottom of the fourth inning. The Rams completed the rout with a run in the fifth inning and five more in the sixth inning.

Summit High's freshman baseball team opened its season last week with two wins on the road.

In the opener the Summit nine tallied five times in the seventh inning to defeat Verona, 5-2.

After being held to one infield single over the first six innings, Summit put together five line-drive singles by Chip Twombly, Sam Simpson, Mike Jemison, Colin Leisher and Larry O'Mahoney for five runs and the victory. Leisher gained the win for Summit, limiting Verona to two hits.

Summit's second victory came at the expense of Springfield Regional as Jim Gross tossed a two-hit shutout to win, 3-0. Gross struck out nine and walked only two.

It looks beautiful because Volkswagen doesn't build it.

Ask Volkswagen to build a small economy car. Fine.

Ask Volkswagen to build a big practical station wagon. Very good.

But ask Volkswagen to build a beautiful sports car?

Well, not even Volkswagen would ask Volkswagen to do that.

So we asked the Ghia Studios of Turin, Italy to design the body of our sports car, and the Karmann Coachworks of Osnabruck, Germany to build it.

The Karmann people attack our sports car the way they've been attacking things for the past hundred years: slowly and carefully.

The fenders are welded and shaped and sanded and burnished by hand.

And once the body is formed, they give the Karmann Ghia four coats of paint, including a rust-proofing zinc undercoat and a hand sprayed enamel color coat.

If it all sounds very complicated, it is. But we can't afford to take any chances: When we tried to build a sedan, it ended up looking like a beetle.

We didn't want to make the same mistake twice.

Summit Routs Morris Hills in Track Meet

The Summit High track team opened its dual-meet season by turning what was supposed to be a close meet into a 77-49 rout of Morris Hills.

The team's runners were supposedly evenly matched, and sure enough, Summit took only a 38-34 lead there. But Summit took first in all the weight events and swept the long jump to win handily.

John Wiebe was the leading point-getter for Summit with firsts in the 100 (10.5), 220 (23.2) and a second in the long jump (18'). Tom Odell won the long jump with a jump of 19'9", and Tom Williams took third to complete the sweep there.

Tom Mobley and Phil Voetsch were Summit's other first-place runners, Mobley in the high hurdles (16.1) and Voetsch in 440 (53.5). Voetsch added to his record with a second in the 220, while Mobley also had a third in the low hurdles.

Tom O'Brien was second in the mile, and Keppler took second in the low hurdles. Other seconds for Summit were Tom Flanagan in the 880, Steve Nix in the 2 mile, and Kevin O'Brien in the pole vault. Tom Wiebe was third in the 880, and Tom Odell third in the high hurdles.

Conrad Ziegler came up with a first in the high jump to keep Summit even there. But in the weights it was all Summit.

Bill Jemison won the shotput, with Gus Nelson second. Nelson won the discus, with Mark Berson third. And in the javelin Bill Dove won and Magrath was second.

Bowling Roundup

Five 600 series featured last week's action, with Bill MacQuestion leading the way with 201-233-624 Ray Kerrigan had 205-248-621; Jim Pignatello, 203-244-620; Dick Margerison, 201-246-618, and Al Wengert, 204-209-601.

Other good scores were registered by Dick Gurak, 213-580; Jack Lawrence, 202-570, and Bill Wehrle, 201-561.

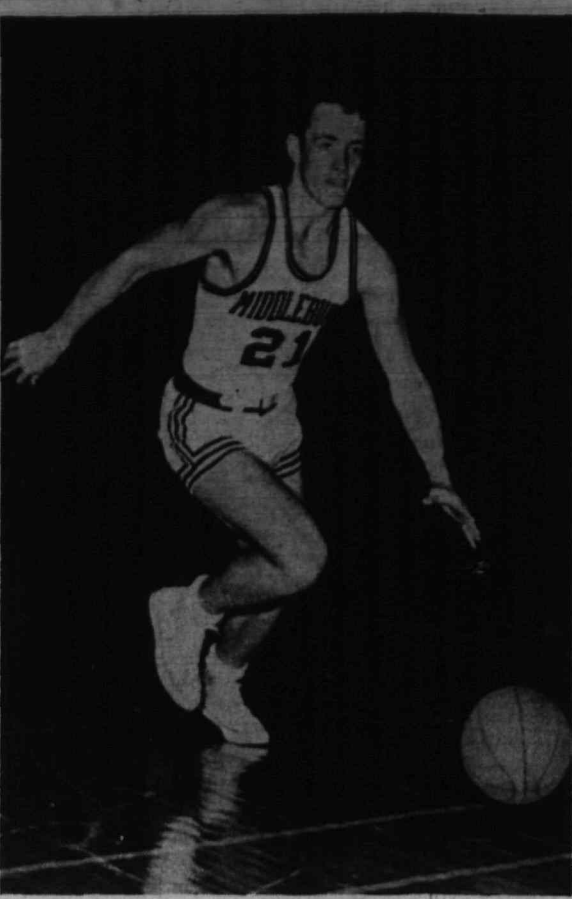

Ciba Corporation broke its first-place tie with Charlines by sweeping Ciba Pharmaceutical. It was the tenth straight loss for Pharmaceutical to the Corporation team and the 14th in 15 games this season.

Charlines, although outpunning Esilad Electric 2709 to 2660, lost two games, losing the first game by a single pin after giving up an 11-pin handicap. Charline now trails Ciba Corp. by two games with six to go.

West Penn Oil won two games in its match with Larry's and holds down third place, seven games behind Charlines.

Joe Barter still leads the individual averages with 187.65 to Geb Parnau's 187.6. Since neither bowler will see action this week, Parnau being on vacation in Florida and Barter participating in the American Bowling Congress in Knoxville, Tenn., it is possible for Bill MacQuestion to take over the lead. He is at 186.32 and has been bowling exceptionally well for the last 12 games. Others in the top five are Bill Behre, 185.25, and Bill Wehrle, 185.22.

It's still nip-and-tuck in the Madison Plaza Industrial League with only three more weeks of bowling until the end of a very successful season. With the exception of the first three slots, all of the other positions are up for grabs as a result of this week's efforts. Ram Transformer Corp. currently is on top of the heap after taking two games from last week's top team of A. Corradi & Son. This was a sub-par exhibition for both teams, with Ralph Zotti high man for the Rams and Vince Vitale for Corradi.

Third-place T. Bauer & Son, in a mild downward slump, dropped two games to a red-hot Engle Bros. Movers team led by Bob Lewis. Ed Stephanie had a good series for Bauer.

Climbing from ninth to sixth place via a sweep of the Masons, Madison Pharmacy took advantage of a 594 (219:205) series from Red Henderson, a 577 (214) series from Ed Michaels, and some fine bowling from Larry Galdieri. Paul Piller, lead-off man for the Masons, tried to show the way for the losers.

After riding high for the past few weeks, Palelo Painters hit a lull and dropped two games to Drive Well Auto, which took advantage of a good 563 (200-203) series from Bill Herrell and a find series from Jake Grouss. Joe Mattola and Sam Piccolo tried to keep the Painters in the running.

Welsh Dairy stayed in the running in taking two games from the Spoilers. Pete Farley led the Dairy men, while Roland Smith tried to keep the Spoilers in contention.

National Manufacturing braked its slide with a 2-1 win over the Chatham Fire Dept. which is in the last position. Bill Stahl of the Manufacturers and Jack Conlon of the Firefighters were the top men for their teams.

Leading Andy's Sport Shop won two games from Joan Mallon, with Trudi Jankowski rolling a 220 game and a 530 series. Andy's has clinched the league title with a seven-game lead with six games to bowl.

Other high scores: Peggy Webber, 220, 570; Annette Roviello, 224, 543; Chots Leonard, 552, and Emma Hendrickson, 549.

100 Coaching Victories For Ray Massaro

Ray Massaro, first-year coach at Governor Livingston Regional High in Berkeley Heights, achieved a personal milestone last week when his Highlanders came up with victories over Cranford High in a Watchung Conference game and North Plainfield High.

The pair of triumphs gave Massaro a total of 100 coaching victories for his baseball teams at Governor Livingston and Roselle Catholic High. Massaro's teams posted a 97-53 record at Roselle Catholic and the Highlanders currently have a 3-4 record.

The 100th win came at the expense of Cranford, 5-3, with the Highlanders rallying for four runs in the sixth inning to overcome a 2-1 Cranford lead.

The victory over Cranford came only one day after the Regional nine had rallied for five runs in the fourth inning to overcome a 3-0 North Plainfield lead and gone on to a 5-3 triumph.

The Highlanders' modest two-game winning streak was ended by Clark Regional, 6-5, in a Watchung Conference game last Saturday in Clark. The Crusaders broke a 5-5 tie with an unearned run in the sixth inning. Clark is leading the Watchung Conference with a 2-0 record. Governor Livingston is 1-3 in the conference.

WIN ON ONE HIT
Governor Livingston had only one hit in defeating North Plainfield, but it was a big one. Bill Trakimas belted a three-run homer, following two walks and two North Plainfield errors to climax the Highlanders' decisive five-run rally. Winning pitcher Doug Rau limited North Plainfield to two hits.

Kyle McCormick scattered nine Cranford hits to win his first game in three decisions. His team trailed until the sixth inning when Bob Honecker singled in one run, a Cranford error permitted two more tallies, and a fourth came in on a fielder's choice. John Piccirillo had two of the Highlanders' seven hits.

Piccirillo's two-run homer got Governor Livingston off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning against Clark Regional. But the Crusaders bounced back with four runs in the same inning, with Bill Wojciak's three-run homer the big blow.

Clark fell behind 5-4 when the Highlanders scored three runs in the fourth inning. Fred Bauer's run-scoring double gave Clark a tie in the fifth inning. The winning run came on a two-out error, following a walk, stolen base and a single. Tom McCann was the losing pitcher. Bob Trakimas had two of Governor Livingston's five hits.

21st Racing Season To Open in Belmar

For the 21st racing year Wall Stadium in Belmar will open its doors this weekend for drivers, owners and fans who pursue this thrill-a-minute sport.

The annual open house where drivers take the winter wraps off their machines and test run them over the Route 34 oval is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 1 to 4 p.m.

Track promoter Jennie J. Nicol has invited drivers and owners of modified and limited sportsman stock cars, midgets, three-quarter midgets and mini-stocks to these two speed sessions.

Competitive stock car action begins a week from Saturday night on May 2 with a full compliment of stock cars and mini-stocks.

Three Area Athletes With Rutgers Squad

John Langenus of Summit, a 210-pound senior shot putter, and Don Brown of Murray Hill, a 215-pound junior shot putter, are among 20 lettermen on this season's Rutgers University track team.

Also a member of the squad is Mark Nolan of Summit, a sophomore distance runner.

Coach Lester Wallack's Scarlet finished second in its first two triangular meets. Penn beat out the Scarlet, 100-76, with LaSalle College (15) a distant third. Yale outscored Rutgers, 89-58, with St. John's University (45) trailing.

Highlanders' Netmen Win 2 Matches

Governor Livingston Regional High's tennis team came up with a pair of 3-2 victories over Watchung Conference rivals last week.

The Highlanders edged Hillside and Scotch Plains-Fanwood by identical scores. Stan Granberry and Stu Brown won the decisive doubles match against Hillside, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3. The Kings won the top two singles matches easily for Governor Livingston. T. King won 6-1, 6-1, while S. King triumphed 6-2, 6-0.

Granberry and Brown also were the heroes in the victory over Scotch Plains-Fanwood, which ended a long athletic domination for the Blue Raiders over Governor Livingston. They lost the opening set of the decisive doubles match, 1-6, but rallied to win the final two sets easily, 6-2, 6-1.

New Providence swept the three singles matches to edge Bernards High, 3-2. Mike Blackwell won the No. 1 singles 6-4, 6-1, while John Blackwell won 6-1, 6-0 in the No. 2 singles match. Collier won the No. 3 singles for New Providence, 6-2, 6-2.

Nine Posts Two Conference Victories

New Providence High's baseball team used strong pitching and timely hitting last week as it opened its bid for the Suburban Conference title with a pair of close victories.

The Pioneers opened their campaign with a 2-0 victory over Madison High at Madison, although they were limited to just two hits by three Madison hurlers.

New Providence then edged Cedar Grove, 3-2, in an extra-inning game at Cedar Grove. Greg Freaney's single in the eighth inning led to the winning run.

Walt Ortiz struck out 14 batters and limited Madison to just three hits. He also walked three.

The Pioneers scored twice in the first inning to give Ortiz all the cushion he needed. Frank Allocco singled, stole second and moved to third on a passed ball. Chris Berg then walked and stole second base. Allocco scored on an infield out and Berg moved to third. Berg then scored while Madison was putting out Bob Rivard on a run down between first and second base.

RALLY FOR TIE

New Providence trailed Cedar Grove, 2-1, until it tied the score in the sixth inning. Freaney led off the decisive eighth inning with his single. He reached second as Rivard was safe on a fielder's choice and scored when Bob Moser's grounder to third base was thrown away.

New Providence is in second place in the conference with a 2-0 record. Defending champion Verona leads the league with a 3-0 mark. Summit, Millburn and Caldwell all have 1-1 records in conference play.

New Providence has an overall mark of 4-1 this season.

Savage Stars

In Relay Win

Joe Savage of New Providence ran a 1:50.2 anchor half mile last Saturday to lead his Roselle Catholic High team to a victory in the open two-mile relay at the seventh annual Highland Park Relays. Roselle Catholic won the event in 8:01.9 minutes.

Savage's performance was easily the outstanding one of the day, which saw strong winds slow the times in most races. Only one record was broken.

Savage ran his race as a solo effort since Roselle Catholic already had wrapped up the event on the earlier legs. Joe covered his first 440 yards in 52.4 seconds and his second in 57.8 seconds to wind up with a 150-yard margin over Paramus Catholic.

Academy Cites Summit Youths

Five Summit youths have been awarded athletic letters for winter sports at Newark Academy in Livingston.

James A. St. Lifer, 20 Joanna Way, earned a varsity wrestling letter, while Robert L. Seidler, 6 Plymouth Rd., received a varsity swimming award.

Bradley Kraft, 32 Knob Hill Dr., received an award for junior varsity basketball, while Philip K. Crawford, 58 Portland Rd., and Jonathan S. Hickok, 37 Pine Grove Ave., earned letters as athletic team managers.

Women to Compete

In Cadillac Bowling

The fair sex will be out in full force in an attempt to win the $6,000 Cadillac for the first time in the 12th annual Echo Lanes-Cadillac Handicap Bowling Tournament for men and women. The $30,000 tourney, with competition in team, singles and doubles events, will start April 25 at Echo Lanes, Route 22, Mountainside.

Entries are scheduled to close April 23 with Jack Best, tournament director, at Echo Lanes.

Ready or not...

Here they come!

All it takes is a few warm days and dandelions start popping up everywhere. Your best bet is to be ready with Scott's TURF BUILDER PLUS-2. Put it on when dandelions start to bloom. It penetrates deep down into the roots, and that's the only way to take care of dandelions. Digging or pulling won't help—their roots grow so deep, they'll just grow back again. PLUS-2 also clears out a couple dozen other non-grass weeds. It even fertilizes at the same time, so good grass can take over where the weeds once were. This year be ready for dandelions. Pick up your PLUS-2 now, while it's on sale.

Mrs. Dwyer's Survey

Questions Cover Broad Scope

Residents of the state's 12th Congressional District have received Rep. Florence P. Dwyer's 13th annual questionnaire, which was mailed last week.

The current pole, according to the congresswoman, is aimed to a greater degree than in the past at determining basic political attitudes which underlie people's positions on issues.

Answers to the questionnaire, which covers a broad array of public issues, from the war in Vietnam and the question of national priorities to aid for Israel and the reform of the welfare system, provide Congresswoman Dwyer "valuable guidance about the values and attitudes of the people I represent."

She noted that the 1969 survey brought a response from her constituents of more than 30%, an unusually high degree of participation.

Residents of the 12th District who have not received a questionnaire or desire additional copies should contact Rep. Dwyer's office at 40 Somerset street, Plainfield. The telephone number is 756-6686.

COMMENT:

Car Topics

Keep an Eye on Your Air
Remember how Dad always used to let some air out of tires when the snow got over two inches deep? Grandpa had told him this would increase his traction.

Now, a new generation has come along to tell it like it is. It's like this: Your tires actually lose some of their bit when you let air out of them. Sorry about that, Grandpa.

If you want good winter traction, put on a set of snow tires - maybe studded - or buy some chains. However you do it, do not experiment with your tire pressure. Besides the traction situation, underinflation can waste 20% or more of your gasoline.

Today, new tires show a maximum tire pressure recommendation on the sidewalls. Your car owners manual will show a different recommendation.

This is not to confuse you, nor are the tire people in conflict with the car makers. If you look in your owners manual (or if not there, try inside your glove box door), you'll discover a listing of tire pressures for normal load under normal driving conditions.

The imprint on your tire shows maximum permissible pressure at maximum load, which would make the tire overinflated for day-to-day driving conditions.

Here is another interesting phenomenon about tire pressures. If you leave the cold north when the temperature is down around zero, driving into the tropical south where it is a lovely 80 degrees, your tires could become as much as 8 pounds overinflated.

Conversely, your tire pressure will drop a like amount as you go from a warm temperature to cold. The drop is about a pound for each 10 degrees.

This is why you should not check tires pressures in a heated garage and why you should have the pressure checked about once a month - especially as seasons change.

The advantages of proper tire pressure checks are increased safety, better handling and longer, more even tread wear.

Card Party Planned

Highlander Golfers Win, Lose, Deadlock

Governor Livingston Regional High's golfers won, lost and tied in three matches last week. The Highlanders tied Watchung Hills Regional, 9-9, lost to Summit High, 9 1/2-8 1/2, and downed Pingry School of Hillside, 11 1/2-6 1/2.

Summit laid claim to the unofficial Summit Area title.
