Jaycees Plan Ecology Study And Passaic River Cleanup

The Summit Jaycees will organize a cleanup of the Passaic River at the end of the summer as part of a general study and action program for ecological problems in Summit.

The Summit group expects to join with other Jaycee chapters in towns bordering the Passaic-New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Passaic Township—to make a thorough pickup of the river. With the assistance of professionals from CIBA, Celanese Research, Overlook Hospital and the City of Summit, water samples will be taken to identify potential sources of pollution.

Using the Passaic cleanup as the starting point, the Jaycees' study will focus on pollution in the commercial, industrial and residential sectors. Their conclusions and recommendations will be prepared for submission to Common Council and the citizens of Summit including a homeowner's booklet on ways to prevent pollution in the home.

Miss Emma Farmer, Executive Director Of Summit YWCA Since 1955, Will Retire

Miss Mary Emma Farmer, executive director of the YWCA, was honored this week at a retirement dinner, attended by several hundred of her friends. Miss Farmer will retire as executive of the YW at the end of July.

Among those who cited her accomplishments since she came to the Summit Association in 1955 were Mrs. Joseph E. Arace, Jr., current president of the board of trustees, as well as five of the eight ex-presidents of the board who served during the last 15 years. They included: Mrs. Robert Teel, Mrs. Bruce Findley, and Mrs. Frederic W. Amberg, all of Summit; Mrs. F. L. Greenley and Mrs. G. E. Schindler, Jr. both of New Providence. Greetings also came from ex-presidents Miss Dorothy Bunker unable to attend because of illness; Mrs. O.A. Shipley, now residing in Florida; and Mrs. Harold S. Renne, now in Chicago.

During her years at the Summit YW, Miss Farmer was instrumental in the YWCA's endorsement and support of the Weaver Court Housing project, in the formation of the Summit Open Housing Committee, the origins of which were in the YWCA. She encouraged programs, such as the Black Culture Series, inter-racial dialogue groups, and the formation of a Race Relations Committee. She has worked toward the increase of black participation in the YWCA, not only in program, but on committees, the board of trustees, and the staff. During her last years as executive, she has seen the local association through a

Mrs. Lachner Plaintiff In Elm St. Zoning Case

A complaint against the city's Board of Adjustment regarding the denial of a zoning variance at three properties on Elm street has been filed by Mrs. Eleanor B. Lachner of 20 Friar Tuck Circle, it was learned this week.

Because of incomplete information received, a story in last week's edition reported that the complaint had been brought against the city by Marshall S. Lachner of the Friar Tuck Circle address.

New Camp Fund Donations Push Total Above $2,500

New contributions for the week amounting to $170 pushed the 22nd annual Summit Herald Fresh Air Fund across the $2,500 mark as of Tuesday.

The new donations bring to $2,562 the amount raised to date this season. At this time last year when the drive was in its eighth week, contributions were at $2,620.

Donations this week came from the Don G. and Constance W. Mitchell Foundation which contributed $50. There were also $25 donations each from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rock, Mrs. George W. Ward and K. And E. Bennett. Gifts in the amount of $10 each were received from Julia E. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Martin, one in memory of Miss Ruth Manser and another just "In Loving Memory". There was also a donation from Mrs. N.A. Burgess in the amount of $5.

The Summit Herald Fresh Air Fund is co-sponsored by Family Service Association which makes all camp choices.

Contributions should be forwarded to the Summit Herald, 22 Bank street, Summit, New Jersey 07901. Checks should be made payable to the "Summit Herald Fresh Air Fund."

Four Injured in Week's Toll of Auto Accidents

Four persons, including an 8-year old boy, were injured in six road accidents here last week.

On Tuesday, three persons were hurt in a two-car mishap on the Morris and Essex turnpike near Summit avenue.

Those injured included Albert E. Carlone, 51, of Convent, driver of one car, and Tony Carlone, 85, of Chatham, a passenger in the car; and Adele Bogner, 92, of Union, a passenger in a car driven by Julie Kesselhaut, 62, also of Union.

The mishap occurred when the Kesselhaut car allegedly crashed into the rear of the Carlone vehicle while it was halted for a red light. Both cars were traveling west on the Morris and Essex turnpike at the time of the accident.

Investigating the accident was Patrolman Lawrence Walsh.

Dana Haurse, 8, of 14 Oak Ridge avenue was injured last Friday when he was struck down while riding his bicycle on Broad street near Summit avenue. Police identified the driver of the car as Margarita Perez, 33, of 42 Maple street.

The mishap occurred when Mrs. Perez was trying to turn from Summit avenue into Broad street and the child passed in front of the car.

Investigating the accident was Patrolman Horn.

Top Aides Appointed For College Club Book Sale

Mrs. Carle W. Highberg, president of the College Club, has appointed Mrs. Willard E. Soper jr. and Mrs. Richard E. Peck to be coordinators of the Book Sale for the coming year.

Headquarters at 10-A Aubrey street, are now open, and used books may be left there on Tuesdays and Thursdays between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m.

Collection chairman for the book sale is Mrs. Charles Wolff. For book pick-ups in the home, arrangements may be made by calling the following chairmen: In Summit, Mrs. Arna Englund, 277-6083; Murray Hill and New Providence, Mrs. Raymond Ellison, 464-1699; Chatham, Mrs. Thomas P. Harrison, 635-5963; and Short Hills, Mrs. Robert T. Madden, 467-0622.

For people who wish to contribute books in small loads, there are depository boxes in the Summit and

United Fund To Seek $285,080 Next Year; Goal Increased 5.9%

A record $285,080 budget for 1971 was approved by the United Campaign board of trustees last Thursday night.

As the outcome of a five-month assessment by a 12-member independent review committee, the budget calls for a 5.9% increase over receipts last year to meet the "bare financial needs of 17 member-agencies."

Budget review member Dr. Raymond Clark, reporting to the board for chairman Edward Hallock, noted the committee was "deeply concerned by initially-submitted dollar requests which had soared to an all-time high."

"For instance, he said, "nine locally-based agencies as a group had asked $259,563 in anticipation of 1971 expenses. This year these same organizations actually received only $173,071, at best providing a most difficult reconciliation with the reality of accessible funds."

Final allocations to the group of agencies totalled $185,050, some $15,000 more than 1970, but not nearly the 50%-plus aggregate increase requested.

Of this sub-total, the Child Care Center was allocated $11,000 for 1971, as compared to $8,357 to be disbursed this year. Family Service Association is to receive an even $40,000, or $6,206 more, while the Essex Council Girl Scouts are earmarked $14,000 as opposed to $13,233 this year.

The Y.M.C.A. has been included in the 1971 budget for $52,000, a slight increase over the $48,752 actually given for the current year, and the Y.W.C.A. allotted $50,000, providing some $1,200 more if this fall's goal is met.

As a special case in question, SAGE (Summit Area Association for Gerontological Endeavor) is slated for a 1% decrease to $14,000. However, this was conveyed with a special commendation from the budget committee for the agency's recent "innovation in self-support, and a precision of finances which should serve as a fine model of management to other organizations."

With a request for

$2,000 submitted, the Community Service Association of New Providence was allocated $1,600; the Youth Employment Services, $2,000 for the Summit agency and $450 for the New Providence organization.

In an effort to dovetail operations with the new Union County United Fund, member-agencies countywide in scope were examined "in only cursory manner" and given a tentative aggregate of $63,530. Included in this group are: Watchung Council Boy Scouts; Cerebral Palsy League of Union County; Union County Mental Health Association; New Jersey Association for Retarded Children; Salvation Army; Union County Psychiatric Clinic; the Urban League, and U.S.O.

Each of the organizations receives monies from several United Funds in Union County and their final allocations will be individually determined next January by a countywide allocations

City Set to Open Summer Playground Gates Monday

When the six playground centers open on Monday, at 9:30 a.m., the children will be welcomed by an assortment of veteran and new personnel as playground directors, appointed by the Board of Recreation.

Returning again to head up the program as playground supervisor is Cyril Connelly, while Mrs. Helen Chesler will also be in her familiar role as arts and crafts supervisor.

Directors on the various playgrounds include: Edison-Beverly Karl and Fran Scalessa; Lincoln-Edward Tolles, Linda Sperco; Mabie-Andrea Ashtine, Roi Tucker, Emile George; Memorial-Cynthia Williams, Janice Babcock, Robert Smith; Tatlock-William Schwenk, Gay Garth; Wilson-Laura Stanton, John Corbett.

The eight week program will be in operation daily from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., with Edison, Mabie and Tatlock reopening in the evening from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

A large turnout of children is anticipated during the opening week to participate in the varied program planned by the Board of Recreation in conjunction with the "Friendship and Fun" theme of the summer activities.

Fireworks Display To Cap Annual July 4th Program

The extra-big Independence Day fireworks that marked Summit's 100th anniversary last year will be repeated this year as the finale of the 23rd annual all-day program at Memorial Field, the city's Fourth of July Committee has announced.

Preceding the 9 p.m. rockets and star bursts will be an aerial act by the Rhodins and a fire and knife act by Satani Demon. The Rhodins, a husband and wife originally from Sweden, will perform 60 feet up on opposite ends of a revolving seesaw. Satani Demon, a Dutchman, will devour fire and dive through a hoop of razor-sharp knives.

Both acts will first appear as part of a four-act circus at 4:15 p.m. Also performing in the afternoon will be Billy Barton, known as Mr. Sensation, and Burger's Pork Chop Review. Mr. Sensation will do acrobatics on an aerial rope swing. The Pork Chop Review comprises several educated pigs who will perform a variety of tricks.

The master of ceremonies for the circus will be Bob McGrath, who is "Teacher Bob" on Sesame Street, the educational TV show. Tony Sheldon's 10-piece circus orchestra will accompany the show, which is being arranged by the Richard C. Lyons Company of Murray Hill, an entertainment producer.

The July 4th program will also include a flag raising and retreat novelty with Edison, Mabie and Tatlock reopening in the evening from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

A large turnout of children is anticipated during the opening week to participate in the varied program planned by the Board of Recreation in conjunction with the "Friendship and Fun" theme of the summer activities.

The committee has mailed flyers to all Summit households inviting families to send contributions in exchange for official July Fourth celebration tags. All those who attend the celebration without tags will be asked to contribute. All program expenses will be paid with the donations.

Of further import in the budget review presentation is a recommendation that the local budget process be intensified and expanded, with the committee working at several intervals throughout the year. This move will "assist immeasurably in keeping abreast of the increasing complexity of agency finances and programs."

As a final note in his presentation to the board, Dr. Clark urged that all member-agencies continue to "develop realistic fees and dues for those who can afford to pay their own way for services."

According to Dr. Clark, this is based on the "central concept of United Fund support to meet only agency deficits," or gaps between what an agency needs and its "level of self-generated income."

In summing up the budget committee's report, Dr. Clark stressed the fact that the allocations plan presented, represents "absolute minimum needs" of member organizations. In

Honor Society Inducts

At its annual spring ceremony early in June, 20 members of the junior class of Summit High School were inducted into the active chapter of the National Honor Society.

To be a member of the Summit High School Chapter, a student must have junior or senior standing, have maintained a "B" average, and be voted upon by members of the faculty. The qualities to be considered in voting are scholarship, leadership, character, and service qualities decided upon by the national association.

At this year's ceremony after the citations for the individual students were read, the president of the organization, J. Michael Galt, presented a book to Alton J. Gast, principal of the school when the active chapter was established in 1960-1961, in recognition for his years of service to the society.

Student Will Attend Denver University

Ernest C. Biglow, 3rd of 11 Fernwood road, will attend the University of Denver, Denver, Colorado, beginning next fall.

Biglow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Biglow, Jr., graduated on June 8 from the Wooster School, Danbury, Connecticut, where he won the 1968 Art Prize, was a member of the Varsity hockey and track teams, and was an Editor for the Wooster General, the school newspaper. Before entering Wooster in 1966, Biglow attended the Horace Mann Junior High School, Lakewood, Ohio.

Threat of Bus Service Halt Posed at Meeting in Borough

The threat of a halt to bus service between Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights, and Murray Hill by June 30 was the major question in the minds of the public last Thursday evening.

More than 60 people raised various aspects of the problem with representatives of County government at a Republican Club meeting held in New Providence.

A reluctant County Board of Freeholders, represented by four of the nine members of the County Board, resisted the idea of forwarding $6,000 of County funds to provide the remaining 25% share to be borne by the County with the State picking up the other 75% of the needed subsidy.

On principle, Freeholder Arthur Manner of Berkeley Heights, objected to providing the funds to keep the De Corso line in operation for another year because he feared it would establish a precedent of government subsidy to the other ten bus lines currently operating in the County.

But the citizens who spoke out on behalf of continuing the service pleaded the need for many people to have this form of mass transit available.

Democratic contender for the Ward 2 post on Common Council in Summit, Mrs. Jerry English, a local attorney, sought information on behalf of those in Summit who depend on the line for transportation. These include 102 employees placed by the Summit Urban League in jobs within the area; pupils from the Franklin School district who use the system to get to Summit Junior High; employees of the Bell Laboratories and other local business; domestic workers and elderly people.

Mrs. English challenged the contention of the Freeholders that support of the bus line would set a "dangerous precedent." She reminded the Freeholders that, in fact, only two lines have made application for subsidy from the County Budget which totals more than $26 million. She wanted to know what alternative the government officials proposed to relieve the present emergency.

A representative of SAGE, Alicia M. Kinley (Summit Area Association for Gerontological Endeavor) which provides homemaker service to families in emergency situations, said that "if you discontinue this bus service, we might almost be able to take care of nobody."

Taxi service costing $3 or $3.50 each way might make using SAGE services prohibitive to families. The bus fare is 15¢. She cited that there were 25 people in SAGE completely relying on this service for transit. She also noted that many senior citizens would be "cooped up" if they could not avail themselves of the bus service to get out of their immediate neighborhood. She implored the Freeholders to "consider that we want to help people."

An elderly woman joined in and reminded the Freeholders of the potential hardship to many senior citizens if they were to be deprived of the bus service.

A man asked that the Freeholders put theoretical considerations aside and consider the practical needs for bus service.

Other discussion brought out that since there is no publicly owned transit system, private companies who could not continue to afford to provide service would have to be subsidized, in order to take care of public needs.

At one point, Mr. Manner conceded, "We'll keep the bus line running." But he did not want to encourage further requests for subsidies by this act.

Other topics of interest to the public on the agenda included the county budget, narcotics, county planning, and the South street underpass. These got scant

Tryouts On Tap

Metropolitan Musical Theatre reminds all area residents in the ten to 22-year-old range that tryouts for "Peter Pan" and "The Mikado" are this weekend at the YMCA.

All those auditioning for Peter Pan, Wendy, John, Michael or one of the Lost Boys should come to the YMCA this Saturday at 1 p.m. Solo dancers and those trying out for other lead parts in "Peter Pan" and "The Mikado" should come to the YMCA between 2 and 5:30 p.m. or at 7 p.m., all on Sunday, May 21. All those with a yen to be a Japanese noble, a pirate, or an Indian or otherwise serve in a choral or dancing capacity with MMT should audition on Monday at 7 p.m.

Audition requirements and further information is available at the YMCA or by calling 273-9191 or 273-6084.

attention from the audience who seemed primarily concerned with the immediate transportation crisis.

The narcotics program of the County which has been allotted more than $225,000 for the development of an educational and rehabilitation program, was outlined. No new information was presented on the I-78 road. The South street underpass, admittedly a hazard, was represented as a very costly job if it were to be eliminated.

Freeholders Edward Tiller of Garwood, Mr. Manner of Berkeley Heights, Donald Dunne of Fanwood, and Jerome Epstein of Scotch Plains, spoke on behalf of the Board. Mayor Edward Bien of New Providence presided.

Guidance Office Sets New Working Papers Schedule

Beginning Monday, June 22, student requests for working papers will be processed every morning, Three Elected to County Cancer Unit

Pericles Gianakas of 155 Wentworth drive, Berkeley Heights has been elected first vice-president of the American Cancer Society.

Other area persons elected included Mrs. William Bachman of 121 Knollwood drive, New Providence, assistant counsel and Mrs. Ann Temple, RN., of Summit, who was named to the board of managers, as was Mr. Gianakas.

Monday through Friday, from 9 to 12 noon. The change will correspond with the summer hours of 10 to 12 recently announced by the Youth Employment Service Office in the YMCA. During the school year requests for working papers are accepted only at the close of school at 3 p.m.

Students are reminded that they must have a job, or the promise of a job, before papers can be issued. Requests must be in person: certificates are not issued to parents or friends, and apply only for jobs in the state of New Jersey.

Employers are responsible to see that all requirements are met. The issuance of working certificates is a function of the Wage and Hour Bureau of the Department of Labor and the regulations are not set by the high school or the Guidance Office.

Acorn Forms Basis of New Child's Book by Resident

The apparent frustration of an urban non-white child, who finds an acorn, envisions the growth of trees on his bleak street, and loses his vision when a hungry squirrel snatches the acorn is the theme of "A Tree This Tall," written by Summit author, Inez Rice.

Jeremy, the child in question, eventually finds a solution to this problem, but children will learn more of urban life through this book than through any sociological treatise.

Residents Named To Summer Camps

Laurie Lax and Lou Jean Cross both of Summit have been named to the staffs of the Girl Scout Council of Greater Essex County's resident camps by Catharine Davis, program services director.

Mrs. Rice's description of the street, written in children's language, leaves no doubt about its lack of beauty and its downright squalor. His dream about the growth of trees along the street is sharply set against the reality contrast of his present surroundings.

All the luxury of trees would come to Jeremy's street, but all appears to be dissipated when a squirrel lurking among the garbage cans snatches the acorn as Jeremy discussed the hopeful future with his friend, Peter, and tosses the acorn into the air.

Local Personnel Expert Urges Care In Obtaining Right Job

Like it or not, we are living in an age of high job-mobility. The forces from without contributing to this state such as large government contracts as well as the forces from within such as pressures for rapid development, big money, comprehensive training programs, and greater authority are becoming more and more potent.

This requires a long honest look at exactly what you have to offer. It requires aggressiveness, but never sheer egotism. Mrs. Fox stresses that you must be prepared to answer questions about yourself, your background, education and work experience.

informed when he obviously knows nothing about the company." The time invested in an interview will be much more worthwhile if you find out all you can about the company's operation ahead of time.

There has never been a simple solution to finding a job and with a job-mobile market as it is today, finding the right job requires much care and preparation. The job-seeker must be prepared to increase the chances by properly exposing himself to all job opportunities and then must handle his leads in the best possible way to enhance his chances of getting the job.

However no matter what the questions are, Mrs. Fox stresses that they should be answered honestly and concisely as possible. "Do not digress from the topic. Time is valuable to personnel men and they do not want to spend it listening to your life history or to any unrelated details.

Mrs. Fox also pointed out that enthusiasm is important to an interview. Nobody likes a deadbeat. Show your desire to work for the company. If your interviewer has not told you about the available position you should ask. "You are there to find out about the job as well as to give the interviewer a chance to find out about you.

Mrs. Elaine Fox, manager of SCE Personnel Services of Summit at 41 Maple Street offers some tips for those in the job market. According to Mrs. Fox, even though luck, being in the right place at the right time, can play a part, job-seekers must give careful thought to the proper approach in attempting to secure the job of their choice.

Mrs. Fox also indicated that in order to give yourself the best advantage during an interview you must do a certain amount of homework. If you know a little bit about the company, you will be able to answer and ask questions more intelligently.

Looking for a job is never a pleasant experience. Mrs. Fox advises, "Be realistic in your approach. Most important, look at things in a positive way, maintain your self-confidence, and be of good cheer."

Eye Specialist Named National Board Member

Dr. Daniel Woolf of 35 Sheffield road, has been named a director of the National Optometric Society for Developmental Vision Care (NOSDVC). The Society was organized for the continued development of children's social and scholastic achievement and is for those optometrists who have expanded their clinical understanding by postgraduate education and for those who have initiated research in children's vision. In addition to caring for those perceptual problems which affect learning, the membership deals specifically with vision care of infants and school age children. NOSDVC members are not limited to learning problems but embrace all the facets of optometric practice in dealing with the young. Education is a prime function of the Society. Certification is conferred only upon optometrists who are qualified and who are now applying those developmental concepts in daily practice. Membership in the Society also provides a competent referral source for other professions.

Junior High Girl Musician Wins High All-State Honor

Final tryouts for the position of concert master of the All State Orchestra were held last Saturday during a rehearsal and Elisabeth Small, an eighth grade student in Summit Junior High School was selected.

This unusual honor is a first in several ways since Betty will be "first chair" in the top high school orchestra in New Jersey, is the first violinist from Summit who has attained the honor; and is also the first eighth grader who has won the statewide competition for the position. Betty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L.M. Small of 171 Canoe Brook parkway. She has been playing the violin for six years. In Summit she was a leading member of the orchestra in Lincoln School and the All City Elementary Orchestra. In the Junior High School Orchestra she has been concert master for the last two years. She has attended the New England Music Camp and will study this summer at Red Fox Music Camp. She has studied the violin with Mrs. Thomas Clark of Summit, Samuel Applebaum of Maplewood and Miss Sally Thomas of the Juilliard faculty in New York.

Local Club Group Wins Prize In Lighting Contest

The Junior Fortnightly Club last week was awarded the $300 second place prize in the 10th annual Outdoor Protective Lighting Contest co-sponsored by the Reader's Digest Foundation and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The local club entered the contest after learning that only two per cent of the country's residential streets are adequately lighted to meet minimum established lighting standards.

"We checked with all the authorities - city police and municipal lighting experts," Mrs. William LaLonde, 3rd, lighting chairman said. They found that not only was the local lighting situation rated above national standards, but also that there are special committees continually working to update present systems.

"We're happy to find we live in a community where women and children don't have to fear the night", she said.

Resident at Capitol Hearing Warns Of Job Losses if Trade Bill Passes

Dr. Ernest M. May of 57 Colt road, President of Otto B. May, Inc., of Newark, and Ward 2 Councilman, warned the House Ways and Means Committee in Washington last week that passage of a pending trade bill would result in the loss of jobs.

Testifying at a Committee hearing on foreign trade proposals, Dr. May said that enactment of the so-called Separate Package "would have a tremendously adverse impact on our company."

"We would be forced to substitute imported products in semi-finished stages for our own manufactured products, causing us to discontinue some of our present manufacturing operations," Dr. May said.

"Based on current estimates, we would discontinue about one-half of our present manufacturing operations. This curtailment would mean the elimination of jobs, primarily among hourly-rated workers."

Dr. May said the Newark plant employs 218 people and that the average pay in 1969 was $8,711 per employee.

"Of our work force, 77 per cent is black, and of this number 36 per cent is part of our salaried supervisory work force," he said.

"Thanks to on-the-job training received in our plant, these people have advanced to responsible positions in manufacturing, production control and supervision."

"The nation, the state of New Jersey, and the city of Newark in particular, cannot afford the loss of these jobs by these men."

The Separate Package is part of the agreement reached in the Kennedy Round negotiations in Geneva and would result in a change in the system of evaluating benzenoid chemicals for tariff purposes.

Dr. May said the change would give foreign competitors a new duty cut of 47.3 per cent on top of a 50 per cent cut in duty given away in the Geneva agreement.

The volume of imports, Dr. May said, "is increasing in our field and will continue to increase until the last of the duty cuts becomes effective (under the Kennedy Round schedule) in 1972."

The Newark Executive, whose father founded the firm in 1920, said that "imports and foreign controlled manufacture already account for 50 per cent of dye consumption in the United States."

He said this percentage "is more than enough."

What the country needs today, he said, "is not a second giveaway package, but a second look at its foreign trade policy, and the determination to bring it in line with the realities of international competition in the world marketplace."

Dr. May said his firm has been innovative in product development and production methods "and we pride ourselves on the quality of service we provide our customers, the Blue Book of the textile industry."

He noted that the firm's principal product is vat dyes for cotton, "an extremely labor-intensive family of dyes, the fastest available for cotton textile fabrics."

He said statistics based on actual price quotations from foreign manufacturers showed that his company could not compete if the Separate Package were implemented, "innovative and enterprising though we are."

Dr. May was technical adviser for the dye industry to the Office of Special Representative for Trade Negotiations.

Comment on Film

by Jon Plant

A number of times in this column I have written quite critically of the English language dubbing that is foisted upon us in the distribution of foreign films in the suburbs. I think it is important to note, therefore, that the dubbed version of Costa Grava's "Z" is superb, perhaps better than the foreign language (French) version for those not versed in that language. The dialogue in this English speaking version, which is soon to be released in our area, hurtles the viewer along in the same breathless, exciting fashion so artfully accomplished by the editing. Whatever the faults of the film in being too simplistic, it is masterwork as an exhilarating who-done-it, especially as dubbed in English.

Harvard Grants Degrees To Local Students

In a few weeks, I shall be writing in detail of "A Night with Maud". Here I only want to note at this time that anyone who relishes a literate film where people communicate, with sense, verbally (as most of us try to do) should see this remarkable film, but in New York City. It may never make these lands west of the Hudson.

Gets B.S. Degree

A B.S. Degree in secondary education was awarded Richard J. Keating of 43 Briant parkway at commencement exercises held Saturday, June 6, at Monmouth College, West Long Branch. Mr. Keating majored in business administration.

Twelve Summit residents were granted degrees by Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., at commencement exercises held last Thursday.

Included among the graduates were Robert A. Baer, Jr. of 265 Summit avenue, A.B. cum laude; Dirk K. Barrett, Jr., of 2 Sherman avenue, A.B. cum laude; Maureen Dillon of 29 Blackburn place, A.M.; Robert H. Gage of 48 Acorn drive, A.B. cum laude, and Daniel K. Henessy of 4 Manor Hill road, J.D., cum laude.

Also receiving degrees were Paul Horowitz of 138 Hillcrest avenue, Ph.D.;

Andrew Jamison of 26 Webster avenue, A.B. magna cum laude; James A. Kiernan of 45 Lenox road, M.P.A.; Matthew C. Mole of 17 Essex road, A.B., summa cum laude; Peter H. Singleton of 24 Waldron avenue, M.B.A.; Gordon M. Stevenson of 100 Canoe Brook parkway, J.D., and Margaret Sowerwine of 10 Dorchester road, A.B. magna cum laude.

Legion Sends Youths To Jersey Boys State

Two Summit High School students are representing Summit Post No. 138 of the American Legion at the jubilee celebration of Jersey Boys State, to be held next week.

The Summit representatives are Mark T. McMenamy of 5 Colony drive, and Anthony Errante of 13 Ascot Way.

Residents "Adopt"

Columbian Youth

In place of the boy in Korea, financially "adopted" a few years ago and who no longer needs PLAN help, Mr. and Mrs. Judson C. Travis of 54 Colt road, have financially "adopted" Alfredo Garcia, a 9-year-old Colombia boy, through Foster Parents Plan, Inc., New York, N.Y.

The Foster Parents responsibility is financial, not legal and the child grows up within his own family.

At School

Navy Seaman Apprentice John F. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Moore of 188 Central avenue, Murray Hill, is attending Fire Control Technician School at Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

SNEAK PREVUE — Guests at a recent meeting of the College Club's Gourmet Group 1 were Ann Reed and Marilyn Pfaltz, two Summit housewives who have written a book on fixing and freezing hor d'oeuvre for easy entertaining. It was a sneak prevue of their book entitled "Your Secret Servant," which is to come out in the fall.

Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Pfaltz observed that the key to contemporary entertaining is being able to prepare food ahead of time. Recipes from "Your Secret Servant" were prepared by members of the Gourmet Group and served at a tasting session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Bardin of 38 Knob Hill drive. Mrs. Folke Swanson of 82 Valley View avenue was in charge of the arrangements. (Wolin Photo)

High School Bands Honored At Annual Awards' Banquet

Sulphur Springs Inn, Berkeley Heights last Friday was the setting for a Band Awards Banquet, sponsored by the Band Parents' Association of Summit High School. Honored guests were the student members of the Summit High School Bands — the 60-member Marching Band, Concert Band, and Stage Band.

About 140 students and parents attended the affair. A committee of students, including Janet Yaker, Jennifer Quynn, and Mary Lou McClintock, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert McClintock, vice-president of the BPA, was in charge of arrangements. Dinner music was provided by Laird Tuohig at the piano, Peter Bricker and Sam Atkinson on trombone and sax, and Chap Ostrander on percussion.

Ian Smith, president of the BPA, gave brief resume of the activities of the past year, and recognized the officers, as well as students and parents who had actively participated.

Joseph Loreti, director of the bands, announced the awards which were presented to all students by Donald Heath, chairman of the awards committee. Freshman students, 9th grade, received certificates; sophomores were given embossed felt lyres; juniors

Residents Graduate From Pingry School

Seven Summit residents were graduated from the Pingry School, Elizabeth.

Included among the graduates were Lawrence F. Bentley, Jr., of 271 Kent Place boulevard; Gary C. Bingham of 17 Club drive; William A. Boyle, 3rd, of 26 Gloucester road; Charles C. Cox of 24 High street; Bruce D. Crawford of 58 Portland road; Richard M. Lowish of 119 Hobart avenue, and David G. Wilder of 10 Maidson avenue.

Also honored at the exercises was Morgan W. Bentley of 271 Kent Place boulevard, who received honorable mention for scholarship in form five, as well as a citation as cum laude.

won letters; and seniors received brass key rings, musical medallions backed with the inscription Summit HS.

Four BPA Music Scholarships were awarded to Senior band members of the Summit High School selected for their musicianship not only in school music groups, but also in regional and state competitive organizations and community and extracurricular music activities. Winners of $200 scholarships were Paul Rhodes and Tony Dagradi, while Rick Whitney and Clive Smith were awarded $100 each.

All four boys have been long-time members of the Stage Band, which has been performing for six years, and gained acclaim at first for its production of "The Big Band Sound" of the Glenn Miller era. In subsequent years, the band developed a widely-varied repertoire of popular music. Of the 19-member band, eight seniors graduated from high school on Tuesday. The fifth and final record cut by the group of young musicians is available by contacting James Forrest at 273-2932.

The Band Parents Association was organized in May, 1969 to support and assist the SHS Bands and their director. Newly elected officers for the year 1970-71 include: Mr. Forrest, president; Mrs. Richard Quynn, vice-president; Mrs. Thomas Rhodes, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Ryder, Corresponding Secretary; and Donald Heath, Treasurer.

Sexual Discrimination

Times Are A-Changing

by Frank Askin

Not too long ago, a talented horseback rider applied for recognition as the first lady jockey. She was turned down because the horseracing field was considered to be "unsuitable" for a woman. Only after a successful legal challenge, charging sexual discrimination, was she allowed to take her place at the starting gate beside her similarly talented brothers.

The Fourteenth Amendment to our Constitution provides that all persons are entitled to equal treatment under the law. Just as race ought not be the basis for discriminatory treatment, so it is with sex.

The "women's liberation movement" has only recently occupied the attention of the press and the public but throughout most of our history, women have been denied many rights and privileges accorded to men.

It was not until 1920 that a constitutional amendment afforded women the same right to vote that men had enjoyed since 1789. It is still a common practice to exclude women from serving on juries or to limit the number of qualified female applicants who seek higher education, particularly in professional fields such as law, medicine and engineering.

Discrimination in employment has been widespread. Factory jobs, the business world, law and medicine were considered inappropriate for women except under very unusual circumstances.

At the turn of the century, when many women and children worked in factories under extremely dangerous conditions, legislators began to enact statutes which would prevent women from being forced to work under conditions which might be injurious to their health.

Although these protective provisions may seem to have been justified at the time, it is clear that the demands and realities of life in American in the 1970s do not require such stringent limitations upon a woman's opportunity to select the type of employment which she feels will be of the greatest benefit to her. And far from being beneficent "protectors" of women those statutes which remain on the books merely serve to continue the historic exclusion of women from first-class citizenship.

More than one-third of the nation's working force is comprised of women. Yet in the search for a job, a good salary, and a chance for advancement, sex often plays as significant a part as race in determining who will get a job or be promoted. Either form of discrimination is indefensible.

Council Comment

More on Boards

This week's Comment will continue to list the meeting dates, dates, officers and functions of the City Boards. In last week's Comment, it was reported that the Board of Education public meetings were held on the third Tuesday. This should be corrected to the third Thursday of each month.

Local Assistance Board

This board meets on the second Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Welfare Department offices on the second floor of 520 Springfield Avenue. The Board supervises the operation of the Welfare Department which renders assistance to individuals residing in Summit who need help. These meetings are normally open to the public except when confidential personal cases are discussed. Rev. John McGovern is chairman of the board, Mrs. Helen Formichella, Secretary and Mrs. Chapin, Director of Welfare.

The offices of the Board and the Director are located at 520 Springfield Avenue. The telephone number is 273-5950.

Municipal Youth Guidance Council

The Council meets the second Thursday of each month at the Conference room in the City Hall at 8 p.m. except during July and August. Representatives of various civic groups and individuals are invited to attend to discuss problems relating to the youth of our City. Plans and programs are initiated to assist the young people. Dr. Murray Ross is the chairman of the council, and Mrs. Hannah S. Rauscher, secretary. The Board of Education and the Police Department are represented on the Council.

The Youth Guidance Council has no established office but Mrs. Rauscher can be contacted through City Hall, 273-6400, and Father McGovern at St. Teresa's Church, 277-3700.

Civil Defense Council

The Defense Council meets quarterly at the City Hall on the fourth Wednesday. During the year the Executive Committee meets monthly to plan for county and state wide exercises and to discuss procedures for the protection of the residents of Summit in a natural or war time emergency. The licensing, stocking and marking of Public Air Raid Shelters is the main objective to be accomplished this year. The public is invited to attend the general meetings of the Council. Mr. Maxwell Lester, Jr., is Director of the Council and the Executive Committee, in addition to the Director, consists of Mr. A. Hirsch, Radio

Communications officer, Mr. H. Wehe, Radiological officer, Colonel R. Tarr, Red Cross, Sgt. Charles Carbone, Chief of Auxiliary Police and Harry Kates.

The offices of the Council are located at the City Hall. The telephone number is 273-6401.

Substandard Housing Board

The Board meets on the fourth Thursday of each month at the Council Chambers, City Hall at 8 p.m. These meetings are open to the public and hearings held on actions taken by the Board in its program to assure that all housing in Summit is in accord with the standards established by the State and local Housing Code.

Andrew Skinnell is Chairman of the Board, Richard Barth, Secretary and Joseph Coviello, Counsel. Joseph Zotte is Public Officer and is responsible for the day by day operations of the Board.

The Board and Public Officer offices are located on the second floor of the City Hall. The telephone number is 273-6407.

Stay Where You Are

A Harvard professor has come to the aid of those who are blaming their ulcers and jangled nerves on city living. He says "a human living in the city is no worse in the urban whirlpool than in bucolic calm."

Dr. Alex Ingeles, professor of sociology, has done much research on this subject and his conclusions are that the peace and quiet of the country will not make a man peaceful. He will have less stress and strain in the city.

This theory is such a complete reversal of previous ideas that it is hard to accept. As a matter of fact much of the research was done in developing countries where there is a vast difference between living conditions in the cities and in rural areas. The researchers found that people in urban areas tend to take greater interest in more things and to participate.

The conclusion was drawn that physical stress is not a matter of noise, smog and crowds. It is a matter of aloneness and lack of interest.

While something is going on and people are around, psychosomatic symptoms tend to decrease. The roar of traffic, loud TV, jet planes, street vendors and sounds of argument from the next apartment make the individual aware that he is not alone. It is the utterly lonely separated from their neighbors by acres who become distressed.

If Dr. Ingeles is correct it will no longer be possible to blame shattered nerves on city life. It is not quiet that people need but rather air hammers, not seclusion but crowds.

There is another bit of information that supports Dr. Ingeles' theory. The state with the highest suicide rate is a rural state.

Still, that dream of having a few acres, a mountain or seaside view, and day and night serenity is a hard one to reject.

An Interesting Experiment

The two Detroit priests who are opening their own movie theater to provide their parishioners and others with entertainment free of trash may be starting a trend that leads to a voluntary cleanup of the cinema arts.

Movie makers insist that they have been forced to turn out "skin" films that stress sex in order to survive. This, they insist is the case even though each year there are fewer movie houses and attendance steadily declines.

What they are doing in fact is catering to depraved tastes of a comparative few among America's 200 million. For the time being sex films are doing nicely at the box office but this type of thrill eventually will fade away and the movie-going public will demand something else.

Meanwhile the people, the family groups that desire good entertainment, remain at home because what once was an outlet has been closed to them.

The theater, whether it be film or live, was developed to entertain. There is entertainment in tragedy just as there is in comedy. There is the message of social welfare as well as the message of good and evil. There is opportunity for tears just as there is for laughter.

These are the considerations that have been tossed aside in favor of pornographic performances. Instead of entertaining, films today leave audiences in a state of sensual excitement.

The Detroit experiment is a departure from the current trend in movies. The trend has leaned toward nudity and worse in the pursuit of what is now called "reality."

If there is sufficient support of entertaining and clean films in Detroit, there is an excellent prospect that there will be similar activity elsewhere. It may reach a point where Hollywood realizes it is on the wrong road and may feel to give us what has been denied, entertainment, not sex.

Unconvinced

Editor, Summit Herald:

After reading and carefully considering Jim McCullough's answer to the May 28 "Voice" editorial, I can only say that I am disappointed and unconvinced. His "responsible way" of persuading the majority would seem to me only an emotional propagandistic approach to an issue where fact and careful thought, not emotion, should be the determinants.

Showing the picture of a dead student on the Kent State campus with no accompanying explanation of the facts is propaganda. I wonder what connection lay between that picture and the topic being discussed at the time: what stand, if any, the student body should take concerning the United States involvement in Southeast Asia. By using the Kent State tragedy, that faction of the students tried to foster an emotional response for action from the student body. This is not a responsible way of convincing the majority, especially when many have not been fully informed about events in Cambodia or Kent State.

I question the Student Council president's use of the word "meaningless" in reference to the referendum. Although only two-thirds of the student body voted, 51 percent, or approximately one-third of

Current Comment

(Bust-Daily Journal, St. Francois Co., Mo.)

Missouri Representative Richard Ichord, chairman of the House Internal Security Committee, recently noted on the floor of the House another of the many publications rolling off the presses of the leftist Students for a Democratic Society and their satellite groups. The booklet is entitled "The Bust Book." "Bust" is the term used by the extreme left to denote arrest.

According to Chairman Ichord, "... this document provides movement activists with comprehensive advice on how to protect themselves during demonstrations and subsequent arrests."

It must be comforting to belong to an organization that expects its members to be arrested and provides for their being able to take care of themselves when the glorious event finally occurs.

We wonder if there are many who still doubt the intentions of the SDS and their fellow-travelers. We wonder, too, about some of the members of the academic community who seem so ready and willing to spring to the defense of the "New Left." Whatever their motivation, some college administrators are being used by campus radicals and their adult puppeteers. One paragraph from The Bust Book cited by Rep. Ichord points this up quite well: "Legal technicalities have also been used to delay final judgment on a case until the political situation changes to the defendant's benefit. After the Columbia University busts, the defense lawyers staled until the new University administration was appointed, which dropped the complaints against five hundred of the students."

This new City agency meets at the Conference Room, City Hall on the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m. The Commission was established less than a year ago to assure that all residents of the City would have equal opportunity in their endeavors. Reverend McGovern is Chairman of the Commission and Joseph Cooper, Jr., Secretary.

The Commission has no designated office in the City Hall, but Father McGovern can be reached by calling St. Teresa's Church 277-3700. Copies of a complete roster of City officials is available upon request by calling the City Clerk's office, 273-6400.

Women

The results of sexual discrimination are clear. Unemployment rates for women are twice as high as for men and the salary scales for women workers are significantly lower. Thus, in 1966 the median income in the United States for male workers was $6,848 while for female workers it was only $3,973. And less than one percent of all working women earned salaries of $10,000 or more. These disparate salaries were so despite the fact that the average educational level of women is higher than it is for men.

Federal law now recognizes the unfairness of treating women as a unitary class and prohibits practices which interfere with or deny the right of a woman to obtain a job for which she is qualified solely because she is a woman. Sexual discrimination may only be justified if it can be demonstrated that sex is a bona fide employment qualification for the job. Countless numbers of women are becoming aware that they may legally challenge discriminatory hiring practices based upon sexual lines rather than submit to "tradition" and settle for second best.

Next term the United States Supreme Court will face the issue of discriminatory employment requirements for women by deciding whether or not an employer may refuse to hire women with small children at home while hiring men in similar circumstances. The court will determine whether such a discrimination based solely on sex denies women equality under the law. Other courts have dealt with sex discrimination in a variety of recent cases with some interesting results.

A California court overturned state laws which had operated to prevent a senior woman telegraph employee from being promoted to managerial position as agent. Similarly, a Georgia law which prohibited women from lifting certain amounts of weight was overturned because it could not be shown that women were unable to lift that amount of weight. The court said that "the employer has the burden of proving that he has reasonable cause to believe, that is a factual basis, for believing, that all or substantially all women would be unable to perform safely and efficiently the duties of the job involved."

Another court recently rejected as an excuse for discrimination an employer's concern about women working overtime and late hours by calling it "romantic paternalism" which was "unduly Victorian." It was noted that men have always had the right to determine whether a job was suitable, sufficiently compensated, and too dangerous. It was not time, said the court, to allow women to make the same choices for themselves.

Other courts have followed this approach, requiring that women applicants for positions considered to be "unsuitable" be judged on the basis of their individual qualifications and not simply because they are women, invalidating state laws and company policies which restrict employment opportunities solely because of sex.

Experience has indicated that laws and policies which classify persons on the basis of sex per se, ignore individual differences, functions, capacities and interests, as well as financial and emotional needs. Classification on the basis of sex alone permits women to be relegated to a "separate but equal" status which has no place under our Constitution.

Wherever differential treatment is warranted, it should be considered in terms of function or group characteristics (such as the poor, the economically exploited, the parent, the pregnant) so that the nature of the group singled out for special treatment corresponds with the nature of the evil against which the legislation is directed.

It is time to allow those women who seek to enter fields heretofore restricted to men to demonstrate that they are just as capable of fulfilling the job requirements as any man would be. Once individual merit and desire to do a job become the criterion for hiring, promotion and salary increases, women will be able to leave clerical and domestic positions and enter fields which are fulfilling both emotionally and financially. When that happens, a lady jockey will be as much an accepted factor of American Life as an elementary school teacher.

the entire student body, still immediately voiced opposition to any unified student action. It may be true that some voted in the heat of emotion or even misinterpreted the form of the student action to be taken, but should that be the end of the chance for the entire student body to express itself directly? I would like to remind that president that pure democracy enables each citizen to vote directly, and I would also like to remind him of the controversy in our nation about the traditional Electoral College method of choosing the president as opposed to a direct-vote method. I see no justification for scrapping a referendum approach to the issues simply because the first attempt was rushed and incomplete.

Finally, as stated in the answer to the editorial, the student council arrived at six proposals on May 13, and they voted on those six on May 15. This left one day during which the proposals could be considered by the student body. Five of the proposals were newly added, and none offered a student the chance to support President Nixon. Since the proposals were mimeographed, I question whether another could have been easily added and brought to the attention of the student body in one day. In one day I doubt whether any opposition could have been effectively organized to fight the proposals.

It is amazing that throughout the actions of the Council and the Assembly, the liberal faction was armed seemingly from nowhere with editorials and rhetoric while those against such

Raps Council's Absence

Editor, Summit Herald: It was sad to see that Summit's Common Council was apparently unrepresented at the recent appearance by the Union County Freeholders at last Wednesday's public meeting in New Providence.

Considering that the County spends $26 million a year of citizens' money, it was an opportunity lost for Council members to represent Summit on the many problems that require county consideration.

For example, the Summit-New Providence Bus Line is apparently destined to halt service on June 30 for the lack of a $9,000 County subsidy. This is needed to match the grant, already voted by the state, which would insure continuation of this vital service, the need for which has been amply documented. If the Bus Line halts service, there will be no public transport of any description serving the routes involved.

The Freeholders might well want to evaluate the merits of an award of exactly this amount, but the need for the service is undisputed. Yet, no official voice from Summit was raised to defend the need for continued public transportation, a subject on which the council has been apathetic. Perhaps New Providence's Mayor Bien's initiative and continued interest will be successful, but why does Summit not lend him and the many bus riders the support they

In May, Summit's Council members voted their non-support of the County subsidy - they should reverse this ill-considered decision now, before Summit's bus service is permanently lost.

On Voting Rights

Editor, Summit Herald: During the last part of June, the House of Representatives is considering HR 4249, an act to extend the Voting Rights Act of 1965 for five more years. Briefly, this is the background of the bill: Late in 1969, the House Judiciary Committee, chaired by Emmanuel Celler of New York, sent to the House floor a bill to extend the Voting Rights Act of 1965 for five more years. This 1965 Act provided that federal officers be sent into certain districts to insure the speedy registration of eligible voters without regard to race or the results of literacy tests. Pursuant to the act, federal examiners were sent into districts in which less than 50% of eligible voters were registered. It was not a coincidence that every district singled out under the provisions of the 1965 Act was in the South.

On the floor of the House, Gerald Ford, GOP leader, moved that a bill prepared by the Justice Department be accepted as a substitute. The Administration's substitute deleted the "trigger" provision, identifying districts in which there was prima facie evidence of discrimination, and instead called on the Attorney General to send federal examiners into districts in which he found evidence of discrimination. With all due respect to John Mitchell, Congressman Celler and McCulloch, GOP leader of the House Judiciary Committee, urged that the power to determine the need for federal examiners not be committed into the hands of the incumbent Attorney General. Nonetheless, the House by a vote of 208-203, substituted Ford's Administration bill for the one prepared by the House Judiciary Committee. In this form, the House passed the bill to the Senate.

In March, the Senate Judiciary Committee, chaired by Sen. Eastland of Mississippi, reported HR 4249 without further change. On the Senate floor Senator Allen of Alabama moved an amendment to HR 4249, granting the right to vote to 18-year-olds. Allen's amendment passed, 69-15. At this point, GOP Senate leader Scott of Pennsylvania moved to substitute the Celler version of HR 4249, extending the 1965 Act for five more years and including the 18-year-old amendment. The Scott substitute passed the Senate by the decisive vote of 51-22. This version, which is the House Judiciary Committee's original bill plus the 18-year-old vote, is the current HR 4249.

HR 4249 is now before the House Rules Committee, which is responsible for putting it on the House's agenda. When it comes before the House, Congressmen must decide to "concur" with the Senate version, or to "insist" on its own version. Celler, who opposes giving the vote to 18-year-olds, intends to move that the House delete the 18-year-old vote provision from the Senate version. When the House has voted on that amendment, Celler will move that the House concur in the Senate version.

The House vote of last December, 208-203, must be reversed. Theodore Heschburg, chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, has said that the need for five more years of federal guarantees of the right to register and vote has been amply demonstrated by the research of his Commission. Congressman McCulloch, Republican of Ohio, and Senator Scott, GOP leader of Pennsylvania, agree. Northern Democrats have voted overwhelmingly for the five year extension.

There are two differences between the Senate and House versions of HR 4249. 1) The Senate version extends the 1965 Voting Rights Act for five years; the House version renders it virtually ineffective. 2) The Senate version of HR 4249 grants the right to vote to 18-year-olds; the House version does not.

We urge you to contact your representatives immediately and express your opinion on this important act.

The time has come for the dark race in this Country to defend his right by refusing to be drafted from any state in this land until this Government can guarantee him his freedom that he fought and died for. Now is the time that we want all Constitution rights as a first class citizen the same as the Caucasian race. We want the same right of immunity and privileges that are being given all others of the Caucasian race without discrimination.

In my lifetime I have seen many colored men drafted to fight and die in vain. They fought and died for what? The colored man has never had the full freedom that he fought and died for.

The first war after I was born was the Spanish American War. The colored man was engaged in that. In 1914 the United States was in trouble in Mexico with Pancho Villo. The colored man was sent to stop that trouble. In World War I the colored man was drafted, and sent to Europe to stop a mad dog named Kaiser. Then World War 2 came about and the colored man was called again and sent into Europe - this time another mad dog named Hitler. Since that time I was told that Hitler was dead. I think there is something wrong with that statement. From what I have seen going on in the southern states, Hitler is very much alive.

On Primary Day in Alabama there was a man, former Governor Wallace, who ran a smear campaign against school integration, that polled 51,000 votes over the other man.

Since World War 2 the colored man has fought in the Korean War. The colored man is still fighting for his freedom. This time he finds himself in a hell of a war in Vietnam - fighting for the freedom - this time for South Vietnam where dark skin and light skin are dying together. Back home, in the United States in the south, some of the Caucasian race is telling the colored people that their children cannot go to the same school with the light skin children because the skin of the other children is dark.

Respectfully,
Freddie Brown

Banks' Merger Plans Announced

James D. Elleman, president, Trust Company National Bank, Morristown, F. Sandford Astarita, chairman of the board, and

Roger B. Etherington, president and chief executive officer of the Montclair National Bank and Trust Company, Montclair, today announced that on June 8, the Comptroller of the Currency approved the consolidation of the two commercial banks.

Prior approval had been given by both banks' Board of Directors and Shareholders. The consolidation will take place after a 30-day waiting period as required by the National Banking Laws. The consolidated bank will continue to operate under a national bank charter and will be known as American National Bank and Trust.

Latin Society Inducts

Students in the Junior High School who have completed Latin 1 or Latin 2 and who have maintained an average of 90 percent or better have become eligible for membership in the National Latin Honor Society.

The following students have been admitted, and have received Certificates of Merit as well as Membership Cards in the National association: Grade 8 (Latin 1) - March Berdan, Kevin Brown, Bill Henry, Margaret Koontz, Diane Lehr, Lisa Lloyd, Eric Patel, Anne Paulson, David Rubashkin, Roberta Rusch, Craig Smith and Betsy Wright; Grade 9 (Latin 1) - Mark Middleton, Susan Filippone, Diane Maluso, Jennie Martzloff, and Stacy Miller; (Latin 2) - Ken Clark, Sandy Diehl, Mike Jemison, Mark Kirkpatrick, James Lloyd, Bill Ritchie, Brian Rutter, Craig Williams, Mayumi Fukui, Mary Leindecker, Wendy Moran, Debby Rosen, Sally Nestler, Liz Zeigler, Peter Brinkman, Betsy Casey, Sue Lipsey, Craig Woodard, Tad Minkler, Charles Werner, Merrie Fitzsimmons, Alice Mencke, Robin Moore, Brenda Poole, Patricia Hamilton, and Mary Ann Tait.

Receives Degree

Francis Scalessa of 209 Ashland road was graduated from La Salle College, Philadelphia, Pa., at commencement exercises held Sunday, May 24.

Roosevelt PTA Changes to PTO

At the final Parent-Teacher Association meeting of Roosevelt School, Wade P. Cook, president, announced that the Roosevelt School P.T.A. will now be known as the Roosevelt School Parent-Teacher Organization. The decision was reached by a unanimous vote of the school-body.

Mr. Cook also announced the new slate of P.T.O. officers for the 1970-71 school year. They include President, Mrs. Charles Aquino; First Vice President, Mr. Domenic Guide; Second Vice, President, Miss Jeannette Middlebrook; Secretary, Mrs. Arthur Grosinger, and treasurer, Mrs. Mario O'Conne.

Residents Receive Wesleyan Degrees

Two Summit residents were graduated from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., at commencement exercises held Sunday, June 7.

Included among the graduates was William J. Hennessey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Hennessey of 1 Colony drive, with honors in art history. Mr. Hennessey is a graduate of Summit High School.

Also graduated was James J. Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Matthews, jr. of 29 Greenbriar drive, who is also a graduate of the Pingry School, Elizabeth.

ENTHUSIASTIC SIGNER - Because she feels that "war is not healthy for children and other living things" Mrs. Robert Maloney of 62 Mountain avenue, was one of the first in Summit to sign the petition asking support of the Hatfield-McGovern amendment - the "amendment to end the war" - which was circulated by Summit Citizens Concerned About the War. Miss Debbie Cretzinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cretzinger of 192 Summit avenue, and Mrs. Thomas J. Gillooly, 2 Colony drive, brought the petition to the Maloney home where baby Kathleen was an interested on-looker.

Vietnam Peace Petition Signed by Nearly 2,000

Almost 2,000 Summit residents signed a petition supporting a United States Senate amendment aimed at "bringing the Vietnam War to an end" during this past week.

The signatures were obtained during a door to door campaign involving volunteer canvassers of every age group operating under the supervision of the Summit Citizens Concerned About the War. The results of the city-wide effort to rally support for this specific measure and to inform local citizens of the history of the war were reported at a meeting held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremy Robinson of 72 Mountain avenue, on Monday evening. In their reports, canvasser-captains expressed satisfaction with the effects of the drive particularly in the area of supplying Summit residents with up-to-date information on the war compiled by the Committee of Asian Scholars from Harvard. While most solicitors felt that they were received cordially, and often enthusiastically, several indicated concern about the minority who greeted them with "open hostility and resentment." One report stated:

The specific proposal which area residents were asked to support by their signatures was the McGovern-Hatfield amendment to come up for a vote soon. The amendment prohibits support of military operations in Cambodia one month after enactment; in Laos after December 31, 1970; and in Vietnam by June, 1971.

The petitions will be delivered in person by representations of the Summit group to New Jersey Senators and Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer. Copies will also be taken to the senators sponsoring the amendment as well as to the President.

Summit residents who were missed during the drive may still sign the petition at the YMCA and the YWCA during the rest of the week. These supplementary forms will be mailed after June 22.

Anyone interested in joining in the efforts of the group of Summit Citizens Concerned About the War is invited to contact Jean Middleton, 273-3045, or Betsy Pirtle, 273-0935. Students returning from college are particularly welcome.

"Deserted Village" Tour Set for Sunday Afternoon

The Sunday afternoon visitors to the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, may participate on a tour of the historic "Deserted Village" which will be held June 21, beginning at Trailside at 2 p.m.

Charles S. Hoag, a resident of the "Village," will conduct the tour of the area which is located in the valley between the first and second ridge of the Watchung Range. The guided tour is open to the public. The group will proceed to the site of the "Village" by auto.

Mr. Hoag will discuss the 300-year history and tradition of the area from the time of the Indians and earliest settlers to its present state as a unit of the Union County Park System. He will point out many historic features of this area of Union County.

Also on Sunday, at 3 p.m. and again at 4 p.m., a program entitled "The Changing Seasons" will be presented in the Trailside Planetarium.

Resident Receives Northwestern B.S.

Natalie Carleton Tolles was graduated with honors from Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois on June 13. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Tolles of 9 Blackburn place, and a 1966 graduate of Summit High School.

Miss Tolles received a B.S. in speech and education and is planning to work for a New York City advertising agency in the media department.

Resident Granted Marquette Degrees

Two area residents were among the more than 1,500 Marquette University students who participated in commencement exercises held Sunday, May 24.

Included among the graduates from the Milwaukee, Wisc. school were Miss Joanne S. Pach of 12 Fairview avenue, and Miss Bonnie Kenny of Countryside, both of whom received bachelor of arts degrees in liberal arts.

Local Resident Named Top Aide for Junior Leagues

The appointment of Myron R. Chevin of 134 Tulip street as executive director of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America, Inc. was announced this week by the association's board of directors. The first man to hold such a position in the 49-year history of this international woman's voluntary organization, Mr. Chevin will assume his duties on July 13.

Mr. Chevin comes to AJLA from the Child Welfare League of America, where he has been assistant executive director since 1965. In his new position he will head the professional staff of AJLA, the advisory and consulting organization for the 217 Junior Leagues throughout the United States, Canada, and Mexico, with a total membership of 103,000 women.

Prior to World War 2, Mr. Chevin began his career in social welfare work as a Red Cross caseworker in Chicago, and in 1946 he returned to civilian life as chief social worker, Veterans Administration Neuropsychiatric Hospital, St. Cloud, Minnesota. His rise in the field was rapid: director of extension services, Family Service of Milwaukee, 1949-54; executive director, Child and Family Service, Honolulu, Hawaii, 1954-59; executive director, Family and Children's Agency, Louisville, Kentucky, 1959-65. Other professional activities have included membership on the board of directors of the Child Welfare League of America (1961-65) and Chairman of the Southeastern Regional Committee, Family Service Association of America (1962-64). He is also the author of numerous professional articles published in Child Welfare, Mental Hygiene, and Highlights.

Entering the U.S. Army in 1942 as a private, Mr. Chevin saw combat service with the 28th Infantry Division in the European Theater during World War 2. He rose to the rank of Captain and was awarded the Bronze Star. He currently holds a Lieutenant Colonel's commission in the Medical Service Corps (Reserve) as a military social worker.

A graduate of Northwestern University (Phi Beta Kappa), Mr. Chevin received an M.A. degree from Northwestern's Graduate School of Social Work.

Area Man Gets High Labs Post

George M. Zriny of 31 Hill Crest avenue, Berkeley Heights, will be promoted to comptroller of Bell Laboratories effective July 1.

Mr. Zriny will replace Harrell B. Hill, who has been named comptroller of Western Electric Company effective the same date.

Mr. Zriny received an A.B. degree from Columbia University in 1950 and an M.B.A. degree from Harvard University in 1954. Shortly after, he joined Bell Laboratories as a member of the company's administrative training program. He held several positions of increasing responsibility in the personnel and service operations areas, before being selected to attend the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Sloan School of Management as a Fellow in Industrial Management. He received the S.M. degree from M.I.T. in 1965 at the completion of the program. Mr. Zriny returned to Bell Labs as director of Business Information Systems Planning. In 1966 he was named director of methods, audits, and security. He later was placed in charge of various centers in the Personnel Division. Since June 1969, he has been director of purchasing for Bell Labs locations in Murray Hill and Holmdel, and Naperville, Ill.

George M. Zriny

He is a member of the board of directors of the Union County Urban League.

B.A. Degree Goes To Honor Graduate

William E. Austin, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin of 36 Badeau avenue, was awarded a B.A. degree in psychology, magna cum laude, by the University of the South, Seawee, Tenn., at commencement exercises held Monday, June 8.

Mr. Austin was also named Phi Beta Kappa, was on the Dean's List and was a member of the Order of Gownsmen.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Harold V. Schmidt of 75D New England avenue are pictured during a party in their honor at Canoe Brook Country Club marking their 50th wedding anniversary. Married on June 2, 1920, Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt have been residents of Summit for 16 years. Mr. Schmidt is a retired vice-president of Western Electric. They are the parents of four children, Miss Linda Schmidt of Summit; Harold, Jr. of Alpine; Robert G. of Metey, La., and James W. of Indianapolis, Ind. Also attending the party was Mrs. Ruth Sanderson of Oak Park, Ill., Mrs. Schmidt's maid of honor. (Wallburg Photo)

For The Consumer

(Editor's note: The following article is written by the Consumer's League of New Jersey, Montclair. Further information about the League can be obtained from its area representative, Mrs. John M. Stochaj of 65 Riceman road, Berkeley Heights, 464-9181. In the ensuing weeks, the Herald will reprint articles from the League in an effort to help Summit Area consumers in their purchases.)

are opposing them. They do not feel that such laws are in the best interest of the children of New Jersey.

A.110 would provide an identification card system which would have the effect of setting up a juvenile personnel labor bank for children between the ages of 12 and 18. An identification card does not give the protection that the present Employment Certificate provides.

A.109 would provide a "temporary permit" for a limited period pending issuance of an identification card. It does not define the word "temporary". It would remove all protection from the child.

A.108 would allow a 16 year old to work until midnight in motels and hotels where liquor is sold. The minor could not sell or serve the liquor, but he could serve the accompanying food. The midnight journey home is only one of the dangers for young people in such a situation.

A.107 would allow a high school diploma to replace a working certificate for the student below 18; also, an age certificate. Such certificates could be forged by the worker.

Minors who are planning to work this summer should have processed their working papers long before the last week of school. All forms obtainable at school may be completed before the promise of employment is signed by the employer, thus saving time, confusion and disappointment.

Traffic Violations - Net Fines Of $14

Three persons were fined $14 last week in Municipal Court.

The heaviest penalty, a $55 fine, was handed to Scott L. Conners of 29 Myrtle avenue, after he was found guilty of speeding and contempt of court. He was fined $34 on the speeding count and $25 on the contempt charge for failing to appear in court on the appointed day.

Speeding also cost Laura M. Salters of Newark a $25 fine, while leaving the scene of an accident netted John Schultz of 7 Cromwell parkway a $30 fine.

CHILD LABOR LAWS
Many of us do not stop to think of how our children are protected by the State of New Jersey under the Child Labor Laws. Employment certificates are the most important feature of the state law. Without them, there could be no enforcement.

For the first job, the minor procures four applications from his school to be filled out and signed by his parents, by the school principal, by a physician, and by the employer. These forms are taken to the issuing office by the child. An Employment Certificate is then mailed to the employer.

What happens for the next job? The prospective employer must sign a promise of employment form which the child takes to the issuing officer who has all necessary data on file. The minor signs one of the triplicate copies of the employment certificate. One copy is mailed to the employer. It is a protection to the employer since he does not then have the responsibility of interpreting the Child Labor Laws. It does protect him in case the child is injured. It is also a way of preventing fraud on the part of the child. According to the U.S. Department of Labor, "A strong employment certificate system serves young workers, employers, employment service counselors, and school attendance workers, as well as those who administer State and Federal child labor laws."

There are four bills pending before the State Assembly which will weaken the Child Labor Laws, A.107, A.109, and A.110. Organizations concerned about child labor

We go to great lengths to keep you out of a hole...

With 11,000 miles of gas mains and 1.2 million customers to service, we sometimes have to go underground. But we go all out to let you know. Flashing lights, work signs, barricades, traffic direction—the works—to get you around our construction sites safely, swiftly and conveniently. So pardon us for occasionally getting underfoot. And if you're tempted to see red, think blue—the clean, controllable blue flame that brings so much low-cost comfort and convenience to modern homes.

SUMMIT HERALD

Native of Summit Elected Oberlin College President

The Oberlin College Board of Trustees last week approved the appointment of Robert W. Fuller, a Summit native and dean of the faculty and college professor at Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut, as tenth president of Oberlin College, effective September 1.

Mr. Fuller will be on campus as president-elect during July and August. Ellsworth C. Carlson, acting provost and professor of history, will serve as acting president for that period.

In 1952, when he was 15 years of age, he entered Oberlin College on a Ford Foundation Early-Entrance Scholarship. He transferred to the Princeton University Graduate School in 1955 and earned two degrees in physics, an M.A. in 1959 and a Ph.D. in 1961.

Under a French Government Scholarship for 1957-58, Mr. Fuller studied physics at the Ecole Normale Supérieure, Paris, France. In 1958-59 he took graduate work in economics at the University of Chicago.

Mr. Fuller began his teaching career in 1961 at Columbia University. He taught graduate courses in physics and, at Barnard College, introductory physics for science majors. In 1966-67 he was a fellow of the Center for Advanced Studies, Wesleyan University, and taught a cross-disciplinary course in science and philosophy. In 1967-68, when he was a fellow of the Battelle Seattle Research Center, he taught a science course for inner city youths at Garfield High School, Seattle, Washington. Mr. Fuller is co-author of a two volume book, "Mathematics of Classical and Quantum Physics," and has published articles in the Physical Review, American Journal of Physics, Science Education News, and other specialized publications.

Local Chamber Urges Safe Summer Days

The Summit Area Chamber of Commerce this week reminded industries and citizens that with schools closed and crossing guards on vacation that accidents can spoil summer days.

In requesting safety precautions, the Chamber said that in 80 per cent of bike-car collisions, the child on the bike, not the car driver is at fault.

Also, it was stated that children involved in water accidents almost always disobey basic safety rules.

A former of Common Council, Mr. Betts is former executive director of the American Heart Association and the American Bible Society. He is currently a member of the board of directors of the Summit Commission on Drug Abuse.

will be the subject of a talk by Rome A. Betts, of 9 Twombly drive, executive vice-president, when he addresses a meeting of the Old Guard on Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in the YMCA.

Oak Knoll Setting for LeBlanc Rites

the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Hempstead of Champaign, Ill.

Mr. Hempstead was best man, while William Thole of Maplewood, and James Opelska of Champaign, Ill., were ushers.

The bride attended Oak Knoll School and Marquette University. Her husband, who holds a B.S. from the University of Kansas, and an M. S. from the University of Illinois, is now pursuing courses for his Ph.D. at the University of Illinois.

Following a wedding trip to New England, the couple will reside in Urbana, Ill.

Former Resident Weds Artist

The marriage of Miss Susan S. Waller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Waller of Athens, Greece and Georgetown, Me., formerly of Summit, to Ronald A. Leax, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Leax of Export, Pa., took place last Saturday in the First Baptist Church, Georgetown. Rev. Charles Arbuthnot performed the ceremony, which was followed by a clambake in the Meadow on Kennebec Point.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Maid of honor was Miss Katrinka Leffmans of New York City, the bride's cousin. Miss Linda G. Leax, sister of the bridegroom, served as bridesmaid. John R. Leax, jr. of Houghton, N.Y., served as his brother's best man. Ushers included Paul Levine of Detroit, Mich., and David J. Waller, Jr.

Mrs. Leax is a graduate of the American School of London and of Pembroke College, Brown University. Her husband, an artist, prepared at Stony Brook School, Stony Brook, N.Y. and also studied at the Rhode Island School of Design. He is a graduate of Brown University.

After a camping trip across the United States, the couple will be artists for the archeological excavation at Yaxha Lake, Guatemala.

Miss Adams Weds Mr. Behme With Ecumenical Nuptial Rites

The wedding of Miss Carol F. Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Adams of 10 Dale drive, to Richard H. Behme, son of Mrs. June L. Behme of Summit and of Herman Behme of Linden, took place Saturday at St. Teresa's Church. Rev. John McGovern performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Norman Walz of Oakes Memorial Methodist Church. A reception followed at Sulphur Springs Inn, Berkeley Heights.

Maid of honor was Miss Pamela Theophilos. Attendants included Miss Candice Jones of Livingston, Miss Mary Ellen Behme, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Cheryl Sterling of Summit and Mrs. Bruce Theuerkauf of Chatham.

The bride's brother, Robert Adams, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Theuerkauf, John Paterson of Summit, Michael Vernotico of Summit and Fred Hohwald of Edison.

A graduate of the Academy of Saint Elizabeth, Convent, the bride completed courses at the Berkeley School, East Orange, and is employed in the personnel department of the CIBA Corporation.

Her husband, a graduate of Summit High School, who served in the United States Navy, is a senior at Monmouth College, Long Branch.

Following a wedding trip to the Bahamas and Florida, the couple will reside in Piscataway.

YW To Offer Teen Course In Ceramics

The art of making ceramics will be offered by the YWCA for all teenage girls on Tuesday afternoons from 1 to 2:30 p.m. Classes will begin June 23 and will run through July 14.

Mrs. Margot Burnette, who will be the instructor, has taught ceramics to both youth and adults at the YWCA and also teaches privately. Materials for the class will be provided.

Also being offered this summer at the YWCA are beginning sewing classes for 12 to 14 year old girls. Eight lessons will be given on Mondays and Thursdays, from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Instructor will be Mrs. Edith Matthies, a graduate home economist and experienced teacher. She has studied at the Traphagen School of Design and has taken advanced courses at Rutgers Extension School. Those taking the sewing classes will choose their own pattern and will be given individual instruction.

Enrollment in the summer classes is limited, and registration should be made at the YWCA as soon as possible. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. William Mannion, teenage program director at the YWCA, 273-4242.

You are entitled to health and happiness - Come to First Church of Christ, Scientist, Sundays at 11 a.m. and Wednesdays at 8:15 p.m. - and learn why these rights are yours.

Reading Room, 340 Springfield Avenue, open daily from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question is the title of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The creation of man and the universe is ascribed to God rather than to a chain of material reactions, according to Isaiah: "I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their host have I commanded."

Also in the lesson from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy are the pertinent questions: "Did man, whom God created with a word, originate in an egg? - When Spirit made all, did it leave aught for matter to create? Ideas of Truth alone are reflected in the myriad manifestations of Life, and thus it is seen that man springs solely from Mind."

Christ Church Youth Will "Do Their Thing" Sunday

On Sunday youth associated with Christ Church will present its own presentation, "To Understand With Their Heart". They will present it at the 10 a.m. church worship service with the congregation; and again at 7 p.m., to which the fellowships of other churches are invited.

There will be discussions following the presentation continuing the arguments begun in the presentation such as; "What's the matter with Richard going to the shore for the weekend?"; "It's not the marks that court in education";

"What's the matter, you don't like grass?"; "You're always bugging me about some little thing I don't do around the house!"; "I've been insulated in Summit all my life, I want to find out about the world!"; "You don't trust me to do anything".

The script began in March when a Sunday morning senior seminar decided that the importance of Empathy, understanding the feelings of another, was the thing they wanted most to convey to other people. This concept was explored in adult-teen role plays, each taking the role of the other; and generally with each other on subsequent Sundays, and Thursday nights. The script began to take form at a session when Nick Wyman, Bruce Crawford, Nancy Boyce, and Janet Boyd decided that there would be two central characters moving through five scenes. It has been evolving ever since, each time some one role plays a vignette.

Nick Wyman has put together a skeleton script and is directing the presentation. Advisor is Mrs. N.A. Burgess jr., seminar leader at the church.

College Becomes Sanctuary For 50 Oil-Covered Ducks

The college campus, which usually serves as the sanctuary for the scholar, the dissident student, or the researcher, is about to take on a new role - sanctuary for ducks.

About 50 ducks whose lives are threatened by an oil spillage on the Rahway River will make the Union College campus their home for the next three or four weeks. The Township of Cranford has created a pen for them on the college campus near the Prof. David Fables Wildlife Sanctuary.

During their college stay, the ducks hopefully will be protected from water, other animals and people while they produce new feathers, which will once again enable them to float in the water. As a result of the oil on the river, they cannot float.

Laboratory assistants and custodians at Union College will feed them and give them water over the next three to four weeks. Once they grow new feathers and are able to float once again they will be set free on the Rahway River where they have been making their homes.

In addition to the township and Union College, many other groups have joined in the effort to save the lives of the ducks, including many neighbors along the Rahway River. A major duck washing effort was undertaken last week-end primarily in the garage of Mrs. Betty Fischer.

Union College made its campus available to the ducks at the request of Public Safety Commissioner William Meyer and Police Chief Matthew Haney. The project will be coordinated by Prof. Farris S. Swackhamer, chairman of the chemistry department and an amateur ornithologist and author of a monthly bird column, "For the Birds," and Prof. John J. Siburn, chairman of the biology department.

According to Cranford officials, the oil spillage was traced to a steel company in Union. An accident dumped about 7,000 gallons of oil into the Rahway River at Union. A slick more than an inch thick developed, which threatened the water supply of the City of Rahway as well as the ducks.

A special detergent supplied by a nearby oil company has been used to remove the No. 4 fuel oil from the feathers of the ducks. This treatment, however, leaves the ducks in a weakened condition. Prof. Swackhamer said the ducks have "a real chance" to survive under the conditions being provided at the Union College campus. He explained they will shed their feathers and grow new ones. Fortunately, he said, this is their molting season.

Prof. Siburn explained that the fuel oil negates preening oil on the duck's feathers, which gives them buoyancy. He said ducks float rather than swim and move their feet much like steam paddles to move in the water.

"When their feathers get water sogged, they sink," Prof. Siburn said.

Keeping a house in order is an endless job that can easily irritate many women. However, this job can be as big or small as one wants to make it. One of the easier ways to keep housekeeping from being a monumental task is to form some good working habits. Once established, these habits can pay untold dividends in keeping clutter to a minimum.

A system of "pick-up" every day will take only a few minutes and yet do wonders to make a house or room look presentable.

For the honest-to-goodness cleaning that must be done periodically, you might want to start with the living room first.

Psychologically, with this room clean and in order, you are better prepared to meet the unexpected even in the midst of other cleaning.

For example, concentrate on putting things away or back in place when you have finished with them. In the morning, hang up your pajamas or nightgown; don't leave them in a pile on the bed or floor to be hung up after you are dressed.

Consider making your own schedule of cleaning tasks. Don't try to combine the big jobs, such as washing curtains and windows and rechanging the curtains on the same day you are going to move all the furniture and wash the woodwork.

In preparing food or cleaning up, give thought to arranging things you work with in the most convenient manner. Try never to handle anything twice if once will do.

The same system of housekeeping will not apply to every homemaker, and no system should be so rigid that shifting of tasks cannot be done. But be mindful that constantly putting off big cleaning jobs will really make mountains of work.

Clutter is usually the biggest problem of housekeeping. But before clutter can be controlled, you must have enough storage space in addition to a determined throw-away policy. Controlling clutter does not mean just getting it out of sight. The good old rule of "a place for everything and everything in its place" is fundamental for happier housekeeping.

Renaissance of Sports at Summit High All Began With 1970 Graduating Class

by Tom Kizzia

The class that started the athletic renaissance at Summit High School three years ago graduated this week, but they have left their mark on Summit sports. They leave Summit in possession of the Suburban Conference Olympic Cup, the second year in a row for the Hilltoppers, and they leave a revitalized athletic program and a group of talented underclassmen who may very well retire the cup next year by winning it three straight times.

Three years ago Summit began to rebuild itself in hopes of equaling the schoolboy powerhouse reputation it held in the early sixties. These things run in cycles, and the coaching staff knew from their freshman records that this class was the place to begin.

That year was a time of frustration for Summit in most sports, but there was an ever-present optimism about the future. Last year, with teams relying heavily on underclassmen, Summit won the Olympic Trophy as the winningest school in the Suburban Conference. This year, although there were no clear championships and only one co-championship, Summit repeated, with consistently good teams all the way through. The quality of underclassmen on this year's teams suggests to some a third Trophy next year, and some league championships along the way.

Steve Schroeder's name has become symbolic of the renaissance, and this week Schroeder received the Darnell Mallory Award as the top athlete at the high school. His career paralleled Summit's rise in fortune. As a sophomore Schroeder learned the art of quarterbacking as the rest of his class learned and struggled with him. The next two years, with Schroeder at the helm, Summit football reeled off 7-2 and 8-1 seasons. Schroeder, with eight letters in his three years, was also an outstanding baseball pitcher. But the loss of Schroeder, like the loss of his class, will not hurt that much next year, for underclassmen who have been brought up winning are ready to take their places. That's what dynasties are made of.

As is so often the case, football led the way in the return to prowess. A successful football team ignites an athletic program like nothing else. Summit won a number of lopsided victories this year and were co-champions in the Suburban Conference. The taste of the one loss, 14-7 to Verona, will remain in Summit's mouth for a long time to come, but it made Summit's later successes sweet. And it was Summit who won the Olympic Cup, Verona finishing down in fourth.

This year's soccer team pulled off a big surprise, bringing Summit its only state championship. The Hilltoppers faced in the tourney finals Caldwell, who had beaten Summit twice in the regular season, but Summit won easily 3-0.

Also obvious to anyone associated with the soccer program is the tremendous amount of interest generated by this title. Underclassmen have been looking forward to its defense next year since December, and there will be no reason to be surprised this summer when players getting in shape for football have to share their fields.

Cross country still has a way to go at Summit. Yet this year they finished with a 5-8 record, more wins than ever before, and next year have the services of some fine runners, including sophomore Steve Nix, who set a school record in the two-mile this spring.

The renaissance may be a year away in basketball. Summit got a new coach with a "get serious" attitude, and the Hilltoppers were only 10-10 this year partly because they weren't used to playing with that attitude. Next year, with high-scorer Mike Mahoney and high-stander Charlie Ebron back, Summit should be ready.

Summit's wrestling teams are always above average, but this year's was the best ever. After a slow 1-3 start, the grapplers finished with a 10-4 record. Tom Williams won district wrestling title for Summit.

Summit High swimming, in only its second year of operation, was infected with the spirit, too, and its final record of 9-6 was not only good in any case, it was a tremendous improvement over the first season's 2-9. Moreover, the team was almost entirely underclassmen, and should be a real New Jersey threat next year.

This spring's baseball team finished with an 11-9-1 record, but 9-5 in the Suburban Conference was good enough for second place. Steve Baker's hitting and Schroeder's pitching (including a no-hitter) were the usual conversation points, though a lot of people will remember the come-from-behind win over New Providence, 7-4, to end the season with a winning record. Chris Hart was the team's leading scorer, and received the Booster Trophy.

Summit was also second in track. Junior Phil

Voetsch was conference champ in the 440, but there were a number of outstanding performers and performances during the season. John Wiebe had two or three firsts almost every meet for the Hilltoppers, while Booster-winner Tom Mobley "cooked" in the hurdles and Bill Jemison and Tom O'Brien "smoked" at the state meet.

The tennis team was 15-5 again finishing second. George Krieger was Summit's top singles player, with a record.

The golf team was another big winner, posting a 14-6 record and finishing third in the conference at 10-4. Ken Stauderman led in stroke average at 42.8 and had a 14-2 won-lost record. The rest of the top six were underclassmen, which indicates a really rosy future for the golf team.

There were lots of second and third place finishes, but mostly it was a year of winning for Summit. The combined varsity and jayvee record for all Summit teams was 153-77-9. Coming up is a freshman class that had a combined record of 58-14-1. Summit, thanks to Steve Schroeder, Bill Jemison, Steve Baker.

Summit Rec. Board Hires Supervisor

The Summit Board of Recreation has announced that Domenic Guida has been employed as a Recreation Program Supervisor. Mr. Guida will begin his duties on June 22 and will maintain an office at the Edison Recreation Center.

Mr. Guida attended Seton Hall University and has worked part-time for the Board of Recreation for the past 14 years.

Borough Legion Walt Ortiz, Piccirillo Nine Blanked Named to 'Star' Team In Loop Debut

New Providence Mayor Edward M. Bien opened the New Providence American Legion baseball team's Union County League season with a perfect opening pitch, but the borough representatives, in their first county-wide competition, couldn't get untracked and lost to the defending champions, Roselle, 6-0, last Sunday at the New Providence High School Field.

Harry Linderoth of Roselle hurled a two hit shut out for Roselle before a crowd of over 100 spectators. Lindy walked four as he struck out nine and one man reached on a Roselle error.

Early-game jitters that permitted six runs, five hits, four walks and two errors hurt New Providence. After the second inning only two men reached base on hits and three on walks.

Mike Cain and Dick Peterson got the hits for New Providence, while Landis Graham, the youngest player in the league struck out two. Tom McCann, in relief, struck out five, and Dowling Fanned two in two splendid relief innings.

New Providence visits Westfield Sunday morning at Tamagues Park and hopes to get on the winning track. Walt Ortiz, New Providence High Ace, is scheduled to start in that contest.

June 23, at Union; June 25, Springfield; June 28, Rahway; June 29, at Springfield; July 5, Elizabeth; July 8, at Roselle; July 10, at Elizabeth; July 13, at Rahway; July 16, Union, and July 19, Westfield.

'Ace' for R.L. Pepple

Richard L. Pepple of 43 Huntley Road, Summit, scored an ace on the first hole at the Summit Municipal Golf Course.

Walt Ortiz, Piccirillo Named to 'Star' Team

Walt Ortiz, who pitched New Providence High to the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 2 baseball championship, and John Piccirillo, centerfielder for Governor Livingston Regional High of Berkeley Heights, have been selected to the all-Plainfield Area team of the Plainfield Courier-News.

Ortiz, who posted a 9-2 record for the Pioneers, was selected for the second straight year. He had a three-year record of 24-10 and posted an 0.65 earned run average this season. Ortiz pitched five shut outs for the second straight season and won nine games for the second year in a row. Walt hurled a one-hitter against Roselle Catholic High and pitched a four-hitter in the State sectional championship game against Butler High in winning 4-0.

Piccirillo recently was selected by his teammates as the Highlanders' most valuable player this season. He played centerfield for three seasons. John batted .319 this season and topped his team with 10 runs batted in. He had a double, three triples and a pair of home runs.

TOP CENTERFIELDER

Governor Livingston Coach Russ Massaro commented: "I don't think John has an equal in centerfield. He can run, he throws well and there isn't anything he can't catch. In fact, a reason he didn't have any errors this year is because the players respected his arm and didn't try for the extra base."

Greg Freaney, New Providence catcher, was a second-team selection, while Doug Rau, who won seven games as a pitcher for a so-so Governor Livingston nine, was named to the

PAL Nine Aims For 'Big' Year

The all-Plainfield Area team was selected from players on 33 schools in a five-county area. The Courier-News sports staff selected the team with the aid of the Plainfield Area coaches.

Under the tutelage of Gabe Freda, Dr. Henry Barletta and Carl Tuscano, the New Providence P.A.L. Tri-County-V.F.W. baseball team gives all indication of being ready for their first winning season in many years.

This league is for youths in the 13-16 years age bracket and interest in this summer competition is indicated by the large turnout of candidates - 40- which have been cut down to a squad of 17 players.

The season will open at the New Providence High School Field on Sunday, June 21, at 1 p.m. with a doubleheader scheduled against Westfield. It is hoped that New Providence's "Father-of-the-Year" will be available to throw out the first ball on Father's Day.

Seven players from last year's squad, augmented by excellent material eligible for this competition, provides a good potential. Manager Freda feels that this year will produce a winning season, if not a championship team. Freda feels this is one of the finest, most enthusiastic groups of athletes he has worked with in his 21 years of recreational activity in New Providence, Scotch Plains and Jersey City.

The squad includes Henry Barletta, Bill Boehm, Mike Brobst, Carl Ehnis, Joe

Charlines Nine Scores 73 Runs, Wins Three

High scoring games was the rule rather than the exception in last week's play in the Summit Recreation Softball League. Charlines scored a total of 73 runs in only three games. By winning the three games, Charlines moved into title contention again.

Charlines outscored Michaels, 30-1; Chubb & Son, 23-5, and Dunnder Agency, 20-1.

Balish retained first place by winning three games. Balish edged Dunnder Agency, 4-3, and defeated Michaels twice by scores of 9-2 and 15-2.

Sperco picked up two wins by defeating Chubb & Son, 11-5, and Dunnder Agency, 10-4.

The Standings:

Cadillac

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

The choice you'll want to make...sooner or later.

In times when so many new car buyers are concerned about value, it is particularly interesting to note how many thousands of those buyers are deciding in favor of Cadillac. There is much to support the wisdom of their choice.

There is first, the lasting value of Cadillac beauty and elegance that has made the 1970 Cadillac the best-liked of all Cadillacs.

There is also the silent assurance of Cadillac performance. Nothing more clearly characterizes this than the superb Fleetwood Eldorado, the world's finest personal car. With its 8.2 litre (500-cubic-inch) V-8, largest of any American production engine, the Eldorado delivers outstanding responsiveness.

Right now, you'll find a wide selection of beautifully crafted Cadillacs at your authorized dealer's. And you'll find, further, that most are equipped with such incomparable Cadillac conveniences as Automatic Climate Control, Cruise Control and Cadillac's Tilt and Telescope steering wheel. No other fine car permits such freedom of individual expression.

Is it any wonder that the 1970 Cadillac should prove to be the most attractive fine car purchase of all? Or that Cadillac's reputation at trade-in time is just as solid today as it has been in years past?

Let your authorized dealer show you why, sooner or later, you'll want to choose motoring's true value leader.

Do it today...not 'someday'!

Kentz Wins County Junior Net Tournery

Although hampered by four days of rain, the annual Union County Junior Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Westfield Jaycees, came to a successful conclusion last week.

Rick Kentz of Summit defeated John McManigal of Westfield 6-4, 0-6, 6-3 to win the 18 years and under boys title. Both players showed strong, aggressive games, but Rick managed to force John into costly errors. Rick Kentz had upset the No. 1 seeded player Tom King of Berkeley Heights, in the semis. John McManigal had upset the second-seeded Glenn Davis of Elizabeth in his half of the draw.

Joe Krakora of Westfield proved to be the outstanding player in the boys' 16 years and under division. He defeated Howie Levine of Springfield, 6-1, 6-1 in the final. Joe's strong services and overhead smashes overpowered the lob defense thrown up by Levine. In the semi finals Krakora had defeated Walter Robinson of Westfield, a young, strong, promising player.

In the girls 18 years and under division, tennis enthusiasts watched a four-hour battle being waged by Joan Fane of Scotch Plains against Lisa Taylor of Westfield. The girls split sets, but in the end Joan defeated Lisa 10-12, 6-2, 6-4.

Lauren Van Leuven of Westfield, with her speed and agility, defeated Sue Fane of Scotch Plains for the girls 16 years and under title. Sue defeated Penny Meiklejohn and Patsy Stuhler of Westfield on her way to the finals, while Lauren had upended Nancy Galligan of Westfield and Lisa Miller of Scotch Plains.

Borough Golfer Wins

Car in Ford Classic

Frank Donio of New Providence is the proud owner of a $2,400 Maverick car. The New Providence golfer won the automobile by topping a field of 307 golfers in the first annual Countryside Ford Golf Classic at the Pennbrook Country Club in Basking Ridge last week.

Accepting the prize made Donio a "pro" in the golf ranks. It wasn't against U.S. Golf Association rules to compete, but each player had been warned that he could lose his amateur standing if he accepted more than $200 in awards.

Donio, who has played at Pennbrook for 12 years, has won several club championships. He carded a 73-3-70 to take the top prize.

Donio, an office manager of a Summit company, said he is "a sporadic amateur tourney competitor" and didn't hesitate to accept the car. "If I were younger," said Donio, 42, "I might have hesitated. But now? No Sir!"

Summit Jr. Olympics Slated for June 21

The Summit Junior Olympics track and field meet, sponsored by the Summit Lions Club, will be conducted at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 21, at Tatlock Field.

The meet is sanctioned by the New Jersey AAU with events scheduled for boys and girls in three age groups: Bantam, 9 years old and under; Midgets, 10 and 11 years old, and Junior, 12 and 13 years old.

Contestants may enter only two events. Medals will be presented for first, second and third place finishers in each event.

Entry blanks still are available at the Summit Area YMCA through Lou Choquette, Physical Director, 273-3330. The deadline for returning entry forms is Friday, June 19.

Summit Elks, Heights Win League Openers

The Summit Elks and Berkeley Heights got off to winning starts in the Intracounty Baseball League last Sunday.

The Summit Elks defeated Scotch Plains, 10-2, with Steve Schroeder, Summit High ace, hurling a four-hitter and striking out 11. Schroeder walked three, and allowed only two unearned runs.

Mike Mahoney had three singles and batted in three runs. Bob Triolo had a two-run triple for Summit. Berkeley Heights rolled up a 6-0 lead and held on to defeat Hillside Recreation, 6-4. A three-run rally in the third inning proved decisive for Berkeley Heights.

Joe Dowling's single and two walks filled the bases in the third. Tom Wilson and John Piccirillo then singled the runs home.

Gets B.A. Degree

Auto Supplies to Use Around the House

Wives and mothers of America, if the grease and grime created by the do-it-yourselfers at your house has you working overtime in the laundry room, the following information may help.

Go to your local automotive supply store or the parts jobber frequented by automobile mechanics, and buy some mechanics' hand cleaner.

Not the old fashioned abrasive stuff of years gone by, the kind that took the skin away with the dirty... but the new kind of creamy product that won't hurt sensitive skin and really does an excellent cleaning job. Most can be used with or without water.

They are treated with lanolin (or similar products), and even have an antiseptic agent built into the formula to help heal the minor nicks and scratches that are part and parcel of most Saturday afternoon projects.

Most manufacturers supply dispensers to hold the hand cleaner container so that you can dispense the cleaner efficiently and economically. Their low cost permits installation of one in the garage and one in the basement workshop for real convenience.

You also will find the auto store a revelation in terms of household helps that you don't see advertised on TV.

There are bags of easy-to-use floor cleaner that eat up garage floor grease fast and save you the job of cleaning up the grime that used to be tracked into your house. There are adhesives, super lubricants, squeak stoppers, rust and stain removers, sealers, degreasers that you spray or brush on and hose off with water... to mention just a few.

Some of these products you may find in your hardware store, but many are strictly auto supply store fare, because they are the professional materials used by professional mechanics... but many have application in and around the house.

Understand the Finance Charges On Revolving Charge Accounts

By: Elaine May County Home Economist

Although the Truth-in-Lending Act has done much to inform the consumer using credit, many aspects of credit are still confusing. For instance, there are several methods of computing interest on revolving charge accounts. The method used can make a real difference to the consumer.

The finance charge is frequently computed on the "outstanding unpaid balance," which is the stated balance owed at the beginning of the billing cycle. If a bill is for $100 and an installment payment is made, the finance charge is based on the $100, not $100 minus the payment.

Computing the finance charge on the outstanding unpaid balance effectively increases the rate of the finance charge. For example, if a bill is for $100 and the interest rate is 1 1/2 percent per month, the dollar amount of the finance charge will be $1.50 regardless of the amount of the installment payment.

If a $50 payment is made, only $50 is still owed. The $1.50 charge is then really a 3 percent monthly rate. The effective rate will vary according to the size of the payment made.

Computing the finance charge on the outstanding unpaid balance is permissible according to the Truth-in-Lending Act. However, the fact must be clearly disclosed when an account is opened and on each bill.

An "adjusted balance method" would be preferred by most consumers. This method computes the finance charge on the balance of an account after payments and credits are deducted. The consumer then gets the maximum benefit from his payment.

The "average daily balance method" computes the finance charge on the total of actual amounts outstanding each day of a billing period, divided by the number of days in the period. Payments are credited upon receipt which means an early payment or a large payment results in a smaller finance charge.

A "past due balance method" allows the consumer to pay an account in full every other month and still avoid all finance charges.

Individual businesses can make their own decisions as to credit plans and rates. By being informed and aware, consumers may also make wise decisions about the types of accounts they wish to open and how they may best be used.
