Summit High School Gives Diplomas to 355 Seniors

With the theme "The Student's Role in Education," 355 members of the senior class at Summit High School were presented graduation diplomas during the 77th commencement by Dr. Lemuel C. Leeper, president of the Board of Education, at indoor exercises held Thursday night in the gymnasium. Last year the graduating class numbered 365.

Valedictorian addresses for the occasion were delivered by Katherine G. Reeves, and Ted E. Senator, who both ranked first in the class.

Additional addresses were made by John D. Ruffley, designated as the class orator, and Lawrence Lauer, class president.

Other participants included Dr. Donald R. Geddis, principal, who presented the class to Dr. Richard L. Fiander, superintendent, who, in turn, presented the class to the Board of Education.

Dr. Geddis announced prizes and scholarships, and the High School Band, under the direction of Angelo Merola, provided the music for the procession, recessional and a musical selection during the program.

Other top ranking members of the class, in addition to Miss Reeves and Mr. Senator, included James Dunn, Francis Clancy, James Atwood, James Sturm, George Rit-

For the first time in local history, Summit's American Cancer Society crusade is running behind its goal to the tune of $8,000.

Council Tables Zone Actions

Because of lengthy comments, many of them suggesting changes in proposed ordinances, Common Council postponed indefinitely action on three controversial measures Tuesday night, all of which would require amendments to the Zoning Ordinance.

The ordinances are concerned with the filing of mandatory environmental impact statements, obtaining a certificate of occupancy, when a unit changes occupancy or is sold, and a definition of a "family" which precludes more than two unrelated persons from living within a family setting as a single housekeeping unit.

Ralph Sayre, of CIBA-Geigy, who questioned the need for his company to be required to file a local environmental impact statement, told the Council it was "inappropriate" of them to promulgate regulations already in force by state and federal agencies.

He said the ordinance's requirements would prove "burdensome" to his company if it were required to file alternate proposals along with original plans when changes to the facility were contemplated.

Edward T. Kenyon of Bourne and Noll, counsel for Overlook Hospital, echoing Mr. Sayre's comments said the impact statement as required for hospitals and other institutions is "repetitious and redundant."

Sandra Dresdner, president of the League of Women Voters, had high praise for the impact statement, but suggested Council look at the rest of its Zoning Ordinance and Master Plan to be sure they are "environmentally sound."

She also suggested that an impact statement be requested of whatever agent requests a change, including the city and any of its agencies or departments.

Henry Vaugle, speaking on behalf of K.E.E.P. recommended that potential violation of the environment, rather than lot size, be the basis for which a statement is required.

Dr. Rodger Winn, Democratic candidate for Common Council in Ward 2, said that application for a waiver of the EIS should be made by public notification 15 days prior to the meeting in which the application would be considered.

Others who endorsed the impact requirement were Ruth Lloyd, chairman of the Environmental Commission, and Lyle E. Fox, president of the Taxpayers' Association.

Hughes M. Ryder, owner of the New Hampshire House Restaurant, as well as Robert M. Stafford, vice president of the Board of Realtors, objected to the requirement of a certificate of occupancy each time a unit is vacated or changes ownership.

When told that the purpose for the requirement was to provide a catalogue for the city of how the properties were being used, Mr. Stafford noted that the municipal revaluation, undertaken in 1970, provided such a catalogue which could be up-dated.

Is Showdown Near on Route 78?

by Anne Plaut

Summit residents are advised to circle June 26 on their calendar and be on hand for a meeting sponsored by the state Department of Transportation at Gov. Livingston High School.

For on that date, representatives from the department will have exhibits and personnel on hand to discuss the nine proposed alternative alignments for the controversial Route 78, some of which will have a decided impact on the city of Summit.

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m., but department personnel will be at the school, beginning at 3 p.m., with the graphic presentations.

Although DOT has declined to be specific about how the nine alternatives will affect Summit, it would affect about 20 homes in Summit, in the Stockton Ascot road area as well as the Oak Ridge avenue Rotary drive vicinity.

Since information from the Department of Transportation has proven difficult to obtain, residents of the Rotary drive area, notably Dr. George Gamota and William Ford, are passing out letters in that area, informing citizens of the June 26 meeting.

On June 24, from 3-9 p.m., DOT representatives will be at the Valley View School, watching, with their exhibits to answer questions, and the following day, June 25, at Deerfield School, Mountainside, during the same hours.

The meeting at Gov. Livingston High School is being billed as a public meeting, not a hearing. The hearing is scheduled to take place later this year, after the department prepares a revised environmental impact statement.

Among departmental personnel to appear at the meeting will be officials from the division on right of way, the construction engineer's office, the bureau of environmental analysis, the division of community involvement and the department of transportation itself.

The greatest impact of the alternative alignments in this area, however, would be sustained by Berkeley Heights, which last week was the scene of a meeting called by that (Continued on Page 2)

Railroad Painting Facing New Delays

The Summit Area Development Corporation, poised on the brink, eager to embark upon its beautification project of the Summit Railroad Station, is being delayed once again by railroad union leaders and Erie-Lackawanna officials.

SADC has been working for almost a year to raise funds for the steam-cleaning of the brick and painting the trim. With all the necessary funds now collected and a local contractor interested in doing the job, they are ready to forge ahead, except for the fact that members of the railroad union are contending it is not fair for an outside contractor to do the job when members of its own union have been laid off. "When we asked them to submit an estimate to us 15 months ago, they were not interested enough to even reply," says Rebekah Hutson, SADC chairman.

Expressing frustration at the lack of definitive word on the current situation and the problems of communicating with railroad officials, she has assured Summit residents: "This does not mean the station will not be painted. We just have to wait until their furloughed personnel have been recalled to duty before we can call in our contractor."

When called by this newspaper to comment on the SADC charges, George Eastland, manager of public affairs for the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad, said while its own people "were out on furlough" the railroad could not sanction the awarding of contracts to other groups.

Asked when the railroad's contingent would be back in full force, Mr. Eastland responded it would be "impossible" to predict.

He added that SADC had known about the railroad's situation, regarding its "furloughed" employees, as soon as they had been laid off, about nine months ago.

Explaining "the work could have been done by now", Mrs. Hutson said other community groups and individuals have offered their help including UNICO who has volunteered to contribute part of the labor so that funds could be diverted for minor structural repairs; Edward C. Holmes, who has donated window boxes; the Home-Life department of the Junior Fortnightly Club who will pay for the plants to be used in the window boxes; and Robert Cueman, local architect, who has worked out the color scheme.

Although she was critical of the railroad for the "miles of red tape," Mrs. Hutson was generous in her praise of the public response to SADC's fund appeal. She attributed its success mainly to the commuters, many of whom contributed to the drive. She said SADC was encouraged by this successful drive in the face of a poor economy. "It proves once again," she noted, "that Summit residents genuinely care about their town."

Two-Weeks to Go For Camp Fund

With two-weeks left before the 1975 drive ends, the 27th annual Summit Herald Fresh Air Camp Fund is still lagging. New gifts for the week amounting to $405 have pushed the campaign toward the $3,800 mark.

As of Tuesday contributions for the year to date total $3,784. At this time last year when the drive was in its eighth week, donations had passed the $4,000 mark.

It is hoped that a minimum of at least $800 more can be raised between now and July 3 when the drive ends, so that an estimated 20 local boys and girls will not be deleted from the list of those scheduled to attend camp.

A total of $800 more would bring the fund above the $4,500 mark, sufficient to send the 85 young boys and girls to camp. Increased costs have made the need for additional funds urgent.

Donors this week included a $100 gift from the Playhouse Association and a $50 donation from the Rotary Club, both annual contributors. There was also a $100 anonymous gift in memory of David Swett.

Other donations were received from the Gadebusch Foundation, $20; Mabel E. Ritchie, $20, and four anonymous con-

Miss Shea to Head Anzaldi Campaign

Eileen M. Shea of 39 Blackburn Place this week was appointed campaign director for Ross R. Anzaldi, Democratic candidate for Councilman-at-Large.

Expressing his "delight and appreciation" that Miss Shea had accepted the position, Mr. Anzaldi said: "Miss Shea is a lifelong resident of Summit. She has been actively engaged in community programs for the betterment of Summit as well as being involved in numerous fund raising activities including the United Fund."

In accepting the position, Miss Shea predicted that Mr. Anzaldi "is going to go all the way to victory" in this campaign.

His experience as an attorney has put Mr. Anzaldi in a position of being "intimately aware of the zoning crisis confronting our city," declared Miss Shea.

"I know that Ross can provide the necessary leadership to protect Summit's prestige," she added.

asked, "Why don't you know? I know, because I asked the state engineers about what was going on."

The Council was also pressed to request that DOT conduct an informal informational meeting in Summit, although Council did not specifically agree to do that.

In other business, the council:

- Set July 8 as the date for its next public meeting.
- Approved a variance, by a vote of 4-2, granting a variance to Dr. Ellis J. and Judith Mischel of 181 Summit avenue, to remodel an existing detached two-car garage for professional usage.

- Approved a variance request from Joseph and Joan Hatzlhofer for an additional apartment in a building they own at 11-13 Aubrey street, by a 5-1 vote, as well as give its unanimous approval to their parking lot layout for the premises.

- Adopted a resolution opposing a proposed redistricting plan for the Twelfth Congressional District, on the grounds it constitutes "gerrymandering."

It was also announced the city is planning to reinstitute its monthly curbside glass collection program, again on a trial basis, beginning in September.

The glass will be collected by the same contractor who is now picking up newspapers during the first and third weeks of the month.

The curbside glass collection will be conducted during the second week of the month, on the same day as a resident's paper pickup.

In addition, the contractor will pick up appliances at curbside the first Saturday of the month. Arrangements for that service, though, must be made by calling the City Engineer's office, 273-6404.

The Recycling Committee, which consists of representatives from K.E.E.P., Common Council, Environmental Commission and the City Engineer's office, is coordinating all recycling efforts in the city.

Showdown

Schneller of Ascot way township's special Task Force on Route 78.

If implemented, the route pictured on this page would take about 40 homes in Berkeley Heights and pass within 100 feet of Gov. Livingston High School.

The new route reportedly begins west of Shunpike road in Springfield, crosses Baltusrol and Stockton roads, in Summit, and then runs midway between the old Mountain avenue alignment and the Commonwealth Water Company's well fields off Glenside avenue.

The route would then travel west from Summit, appearing to clip the southern tip of Oak ridge and Rotary drive, through the former Nike site and the north side of the Gov. Livingston High School track field and the south side of Crest drive. It then goes along Watchung boulevard in front of the high school on the north side, taking a portion of Murray Hill boulevard, Mercer place and Somerset place which would be dead-ended.

It would then travel through the southern part of Berkeley Heights, below Bell Labs, crossing Plainfield avenue and meeting the present Route 78.

The original environmental impact statement prepared by DOT was sharply criticized by the federal Environmental Protection Agency, as well as the Department of the Interior, because it did not take into sufficient account the impact the proposed route would have on air and noise pollution as well as drainage factors.

The second statement will be unlike the first in that DOT will not list its choice of alignments, but will simply list each alternative, giving equal treatment to all of them.

After receiving comments from citizens and agencies on the impact statement, DOT will then make its recommendation to the Federal Bureau of Roads, which has an office in Trenton.

tributions of $25, $25, $50 and $15.

Last year total donations reached $4,631 and were received from over 100 local persons and organizations. Also, last year, 89 needy local boys and girls received two-week vacations through funds received.

The Fund operates on a non-profit basis and makes no solicitations nor conducts any mail appeal. There are no administrative expenses and all money received goes directly to paying camping expenses.

Those who receive two week vacations are usually boys and girls who otherwise would remain in the city during the summer because of family financial difficulties. Others who are chosen come from broken or foster homes.

Contributions should be forwarded to the Summit Herald, 22 Bank street, Summit, New Jersey 07901.

"police" dwellings to guard against double-occupancies, Mr. Stafford said the ordinance "does not appreciate what you're getting into." He then estimated that 1,200 such inspections would be required each year, many of which would be concentrated into a three-month period, from June to September.

Council President Frank Lehr explained the inspections would be done by the tax assessor, the public officer for the substandard Housing Board, or by the Building Inspector.

Concluding the ten-dollar fee required for a certificate of occupancy constitutes a "nuisance" tax, Mr. Stafford warned Council, "You're going to put a bad taste in the mouths of people coming to Summit."

Asked whether the ordinance defining a family unit was an attempt to control density or peoples' patterns of living together, Councilman James E. Lovett said the intention was to control "density of population — the number of people and automobiles involved in a neighborhood."

Councilman Luther Roehm, indicating the measure was controversial, even among Council members, noted that under the proposed definition, four single teachers could not live together, which he said is a "problem" with the ordinance.

Although Thomas Button, Republican candidate for Council in Ward 2, suggested that persons could obtain relief from the variance, Mr. Kenyon suggested four teachers who want to share a home would not qualify for a variance, except for financial hardship, under state statutes.

He also challenged Council's assertion that educational and religious institutions would be exempt from the provisions of the ordinance when they changed residents. "This ordinance will hurt more than it will help," he noted, pointing to the hardship it would impose on many senior citizens.

After listening to public comments for two and one-half hours, Mr. Lehr announced Council would take the matter "under advisement" for a "later" date, when it would then "approve, reject or propose possible modification of the measures."

Checks should be made payable to the "Summit Herald Fresh Air Fund."

Driver Still Is Critical

H.E. Bush of 95 Prospect Hill avenue remained in critical condition at Overlook Hospital this week following an accident on June 4 when his car was in collision with one driven by Stephen Rubenstein of Short Hills. The mishap occurred at the intersection of Hobart and Springfield avenues. Mr. Bush suffered severe internal injuries. Mr. Rubenstein was injured about the knee.

Live Opera Enroute Here

"The Barber of Seville" starring Jerome Hines will be performed at Memorial Field on Wednesday, June 25.

Sponsored by the Pharmaceutical Division of CIBA-GEIGY, the event is the first of two which will be held out-of-doors with free admission. The second performance will feature Jazz Impact also to be held at Memorial Field, on July 9.

In the event of inclement weather, both concerts will be held in the Summit High School auditorium, with the audience seated on a first-come, first-served basis.

Foundation Names Sayles

Thomas D. Sayles, jr., president and chief executive officer of the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Company, has been elected a trustee of the Summit Area Public Foundation.

Mr. Sayles' election was announced by Robert L. Strong, president of the foundation, organized in 1972. It is one of about 250 community trusts and foundations throughout the country.

Last year the foundation received sixteen gifts, totaling $1,690, and made six grants amounting to $1,379, five of which were scholarship awards to children of Summit policemen from the John B. Sayre Fund. At the end of the year, the foundation's net assets were $11,316.34.

Youth Held In Assault

A 14-year old Summit boy has been confined for psychiatric observation following his attack on a 40-year old Rotary drive woman last Thursday afternoon. The assault, made with a heavy stick near the garage of her home, caused severe enough injuries to send her to Overlook Hospital for treatment. She was later released.

Police said the victim on Monday brought charges of atrocious assault and battery. The youth is presently confined and is undergoing observation. Police said that following the boy's release from the hospital, he will be held for juvenile action.

The attack on the woman was allegedly triggered when she turned down his request to do yard work. The boy is also a Rotary drive resident.

Note: Although last week we promised to answer questions on listing in this week's column, a new Federal law has been passed which will vitally affect both buyers and sellers of real estate. We wanted you to have up to the minute information.

Q: What is the new Federal law which will affect me as a buyer or seller of real estate?

A: "RESPA" or "Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act"

Q: When does it take effect?

A: June 20, 1975 - this Friday

Q: What is the purpose of the act?

A: The government, in its information booklet on the act, describes the purpose as two-fold: (1) to provide notice of the cash you will need at settlement and (2) to make possible "comparison shopping" of settlement charges so that you can arrange terms most favorable to you.

Q: How could this affect me as a seller?

A: You must make a great deal of information available to the buyer of your property, such as the date you purchased it, and in certain circumstances, disclose the price you paid!

Next week. More on RESPA.

Three other area students whose Mitchell Scholarships have been continued for the coming year are Karen Sibley at the University of Miami, Mary Ellen Behme at American University and Linda Hunchar at Syracuse University.

The Alice V. S. Smith Award was given to Patricia Cotterell of Summit. This Award was contributed by Samuel A. Smith, Jr., and his daughters in memory of Mrs. Smith. Among her positions were officer of the American Red Cross, president of the Junior Service League, president of the Convalescent Committee, and president of the Visiting Nurse Association of Summit, New Providence and Berkeley Heights.

Mrs. Walker noted that "The Adele M. Lynch Nursing and Allied Health Scholarships Committee hopes to recruit able students to productive careers in the health field where there is a growing demand for qualified people."

Mrs. Walter Cox, committee member in charge of funds, added: "These scholarships are made possible through donations from public-spirited institutions such as the City Federal Savings and Loan Association, the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Company, the United Counties Trust Company, the CIBAGELEY Corporation, and from foundations and individuals all of whom are interested in the education of our youth and at the same time in helping fill needs in the rapidly expanding health field."

Members of the Scholarships Committee include Mrs. John Cooper, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Elizabeth Hiatt, Mrs. Calhoun Howard, Mrs. John Hogan, Mrs. C. B. Keeney, Jr., Mrs. Edward Kenyon, Miss Adele Lynch, Mrs. Don G. Mitchell, Dr. Warren Nestler, Mrs. Edward Olcott, Mrs. R. A. Potter, Mrs. Sheldon V. The scholarships are named in honor of Adele M. Lynch, R.N., formerly director of the Visiting Nurse Association of Summit, New Providence and Berkeley Heights and a pioneer in public health nursing in the area.

Summer Session Begins Wednesday

Although the regular school year ends today, over 200 students will start in Summer Session classes next Wednesday. At Brayton School, classes in reading and arithmetic for elementary grade students will start at 9 a.m. Each class runs for one hour. All other classes meet at Summit High School starting at 8:30 a.m.

The expanded music program will enlist the talents of several members of the public schools music staff under the direction of Angelo Merola. The classes will be scheduled to give each participant a variety of experience in music — instrumental lessons, ensembles, music theory, and large performing groups. The time schedule for each student will be determined by Mr. Merola, taking into account the individual's needs and the complete pattern of registrations.

Heading the list of registrations for other courses are Geometry (Math 2), typing, and "Behind the Wheel" driver education. The school has urged students who have reached the age of 16½ to sign up for "Behind the Wheel" this summer. Next year's schedule will undoubtedly be less flexible.

For information on the courses call Daniel Kautzman, director of the Summer Session, at 273-1494.

The service, will be available on an hourly charge basis (with a three-hour minimum) or on a cooperative basis with a morning's volunteer help entitling one to a morning's free use.

Reservations will be made on a "first call, first served" arrangement, although once the service begins, it will be necessary to make a reservation one school day in advance.

Westminster Gives Degrees

Three local men were granted degrees by Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., at commencement exercises held June 1.

Included among the graduates were Randall E. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Miller of Hilton Head Island, S.C., formerly of Summit, B.S. in physics and mathematics and a Dean's List student; David A. Santschi, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Santschi of 286 Kent Place boulevard, B.A. degree in business administration and a Dean's List student; and Geoffrey S. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Wright of 123 Blackburn road, B.A. degree in business administration.

The staff, working under the supervision of Robert Lurie, director of the Summit Child Care Center, will meet state licensing requirements: four adults (two paid and two volunteers).

The program will include planned activities and mid-morning snacks, as well as milk and soup to supplement bag lunches for those staying through that period.

Initially, the number of children between the ages of 3 to 18 months will be limited to four per day.

Ronnie Schretter, a member of the Child Care Centers' Board of Directors, is chairperson of the task force responsible for establishing and operating the service. Others are Linda Carter, College Club; Elaine Hoffman, National Council of Jewish Women; Jane Pollock, Junior Fortnightly; Barbara Storch, Junior League; and Margo Tilghman, Summit Art Center. Clem Block, the final member of the task force, will be working on a display for the Summit Promenade to be seen during the month of August.

Discussing the Washington School location, a task force member said it has many advantages because of its convenient location, ample parking in the lot adjoining the school, the room to be used opens onto outdoor recreational facilities, including Tatlock Field, and its own entrance so that school students will not be disturbed.

Resident Abducted, Beaten by Two Men

Witnesses stood by the entrance to E. J. Korvette's at the Blue Star Shopping Center, Watchung, Thursday night and did nothing as Mrs. Madeline McGrath of 7 Henry street, was kidnapped at gun point in her own car and later severely beaten.

According to police, Mrs. McGrath was placing packages in her blue 1968 Chevrolet Nova with a black vinyl roof at about 8:15 p.m. when two men forced her abduction.

Mrs. McGrath, who was let out of her car near the Howard Johnson Motel on Route 22, Springfield, had been brutally beaten by the men, who stole her car and her purse containing $20. Following her release, Mrs. McGrath made her way to the motel, asked for help and was taken to Overlook Hospital, where she was found to have multiple wounds to the head, body, arms and legs.

Police are seeking verification of descriptions of the two men given by Mrs. McGrath. The pair face charges of armed robbery, kidnaping, atrocious assault and battery and threat to take a life.

Witnesses to the kidnapping are urged to contact police.

Car Mishaps Injure Two

Two persons were treated for injuries at Overlook Hospital last week as a result of automobile accidents here.

The second car was identified as Howard A. Kucher, 49, of 27 Acorn drive. He was unhurt.

On Thursday, John F. Smith, 30, of New Providence, was taken to Overlook following a two-car crash at Morris and Summit avenues. Driver of

The mishap occurred when the Kucher car was heading north on Summit and the Smith car, east on Morris, and both cars collided in the intersection.

Dennis W. Hart, 18, of 152 Hillcrest avenue, suffered injuries last Friday when the car he was driving struck a tree and a pole before the car came to rest in front of 15 Division avenue, near Lavina court. He was taken to Overlook for treatment. The car was heavily damaged.

Neighborhood Council Will Sponsor Free Summer Camp

The Summit Neighborhood Council will again sponsor a free summer day camp at the Presbyterian Church three days a week from June 30 to August 7 for children six to 10 years of age. Mrs. Ann Hamlett will serve as director.

The camp will be in session on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday each week from 9:45 a.m. to 1 p.m. with a varied schedule of activities including games, arts and crafts, dancing, singing, story hours, swimming and special trips.

Two adults will be in charge of the campers each day with other adults joining the group for special projects and trips out of Summit. Volunteer counselors from the ninth through the twelfth grade will also supervise the children, direct the games, and help teach arts and crafts.

According to Mrs. Petrona McNair, executive director of the Neighborhood Council, there are still openings for a number of volunteer counselors.

In stressing the need for young people to help with the camp she said: "Here is a splendid chance for teenagers to be of real service to the children in their community. While this is not a paying job, it offers the opportunity to generous young people to participate in a thoroughly worthwhile program for children who will greatly benefit from the kind of camping experience we provide for these six weeks."

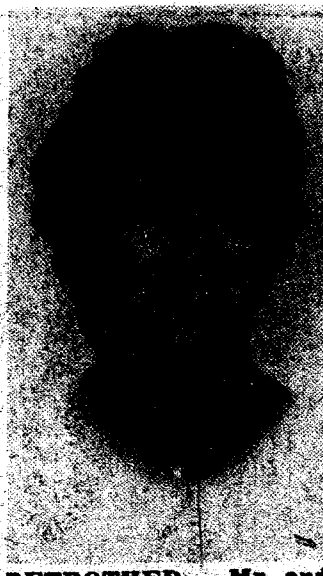

Schedule for the camp on Tuesday and Thursday will include a story hour at the Public Library and swimming at the YWCA. On Wednesday the children will be taken on special outings to points of interest in nearby communities.

Parents interested in learning more about the camp or registering their children can contact Mrs. McNair at 273-1187. Teenagers who are able to volunteer as counselors can call her at the same number.

Circle June 26 . . . Now!

One of the most important meetings that a Summit resident could attend will take place next Thursday night, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, under the auspices of the state Department of Transportation. Summit citizens should attend that meeting in record numbers, because the alternative alignments for Route 78 will be discussed.

Although the department apparently has not yet made a decision on the final route to be recommended, it is important for local residents to attend the meeting, to see what is being considered and to make their voices heard.

While there is no doubt that this portion of Route 78 will be constructed, the big question mark at the moment is "Where?" And several of the alternative alignments will affect this city, one in particular would take about 20 homes.

We cannot be too dramatic about the long-range consequences of the department's eventual decision. The fact that, until now, information has had to be pried loose from DOT does not inspire confidence in its ability or willingness to communicate with an open hand.

It is imperative, therefore, that Summit residents attend the meeting, ask their questions and make their views known. Department personnel will be at the regional school with graphic presentations of the alternatives from 3 p.m. on, so the extended time span should enable those who are interested to peruse the routes and inform themselves.

Remember, if DOT's ultimate recommendation drastically transforms the character of this city, we will have only ourselves to blame if we remain silent. So come and speak out on June 26!

The Great Loophole Rip-Off

Until there is a groundswell for a complete tax reform on both Federal and State levels, new tax votes such as the one taken last Monday in the New Jersey State Senate should continue to go down to defeat.

The beaten measure called for a 6.5% surcharge on federal income tax to be dedicated toward funding the state Supreme Court's "thorough and efficient education" mandate. The surcharge would have brought in $321 million to meet the court's ruling.

If passed, the new tax would have been outrageously unfair to many New Jersey residents because of Federal loopholes where those in high income brackets can get away with paying little or no income tax. It is possible for some to earn as high as $250,000 and pay income taxes of about $1,000 because of built-in Federal tax loopholes, while others, the vast majority, make considerably less money but pay much higher taxes because they don't have loopholes. This to us is unfair and points out again that the so-called middle class is still the patsy when it comes to shelling out tax dollars.

Until there is a concerted effort to reform the whole tax structure, where loopholes are closed and taxes are more justly appropriated, it is doubtful that any meaningful tax package can be adopted in the foreseeable future.

The Insidious Disease

According to the Summit Chapter of the American Cancer Society, donations to the annual crusade are running about $8,000 behind its goal. This is the first time in the history of the local crusade that contributions have not kept pace with a set budget.

Perhaps the economy, the inflation or a combination of both have prevented sufficient contributions to be made in order to meet this year's goal.

However, Cancer is still the nation's Number Two killer and Number One killer of children under the age of 12. It is an insidious disease that attacks without knowledge, and without regard to sex, color, ethnic background or age. Cancer is a mass killer that will kill approximately 15,000 New Jersey residents this year.

In order for research to continue and victims to be aided through drugs, dressings and transportation, additional funds are needed now. The local chapter asks additional contributions and memorial gifts. Such donations can be sent to the Summit Chapter, American Cancer Society, 168 Beechwood road.

Cancer must be conquered. Your dollars can help do it.

Current Comment

(Senator Dodd's Blunder — Bloomfield Independent)

In a recent statement, State Senate President Frank Dodd suggested that school programs be reduced to "basic skills." In his remarks it appears that Senator Dodd understands basic skills to be limited to the three r's — reading, writing and arithmetic.

In rebuttal, Essex County Education Association President Robert Neff said: "There is much more involved in providing students with an education today than simply teaching the basic skills, and Senator Dodd should be fully conscious of this fact. After all, he is well aware of the court decisions which require the legislature to adopt a 'thorough and efficient system of education' for all New Jersey children, as well as a tax plan to finance it."

We agree, of course, with Mr. Neff.

Senator Dodd, because of his obstinate refusal last summer to support Governor Byrne's income tax plan was responsible, perhaps more than any other person, for the present state crisis in school finances. His comments about basic skills reflect, we believe, an opportunistic attempt to jump on the "anti school budget" bandwagon.

Senator Dodd should visit the schools he is so quick to criticize. He might learn something. As Mr. Neff said of Senator Dodd's views on education:

"... ultimately this kind of thinking will be a real setback for education in New Jersey and a disaster for today's students. The only way our State can return to its prosperity, and eliminate much of its unemployment problems, is through the adequate education of today's generation."

Mass Transit?

by David F. Moore
Although the recently released report by the Governor's Commission to Evaluate the Capital Needs of New Jersey contains many wise recommendations, it stubs its toe in the area of transportation.

For one thing, transportation recommendations fail to address themselves to land use which will be shaped by coming rail and highway decisions. Without any statewide comprehensive planning for land use, it's hard to fault the short-lived commission for skipping that aspect, but it's so basic that no transportation recommendations can be taken too seriously without it.

The Commission recommends spending $1.5 billion on highways over the next five years and $1.874 billion for mass transit.

Unfortunately, the highway needs can be traced back to wishful thinking by the old New Jersey Highway Department and don't necessarily relate all that much to the real world of tomorrow in New Jersey. The public realizes this and proved it by voting down highway bond referendums in 1972 and 1974.

On the other hand, many believe that four times as much money for mass transit as for highways over the next 10 years would be necessary just to bring mass transit up to the level it should have today in relationship to highway construction.

The report does not come to grips with the question of public vs. private transportation and also tends to exaggerate the available funding for mass transit.

The Commission correctly identified four highway alignments as controversial. They are the same ones the environmental sector judge to be bad.

They are the Toms River extension of the New Jersey Turnpike (thumbs down by the Commission); Interstate 95 through Mercer and Somerset Counties and Interstate 287 through northern New Jersey (no recommendations from the Commission pending public hearings), and Route 18 in the New Brunswick area. The latter has to be one of the worst, and is being pushed by powerful forces. The commission favors it.

As I noted earlier, the Commission has erred in estimating available federal funding. I'm told that, while the Commission only recommends $270 million in state bond money for mass transit and anticipates $1.5 billion in federal aid, a more realistic assessment would make the latter so much less that state bonds would have to be a billion or more.

I've picked out specifics with which I and many others agree, but it's not meant to be a blanket rejection of the Commission's transportation recommendations. The Commission isolated a lot of needed projects and has provided a good jumping-off place for further study and, I hope, action.

You should know that the chief proponent of highway bond issues is the Alliance for Action. The Alliance, a highway lobby, testified before the Capital Needs Commission, promoting highway construction. That's not too strange, considering the Alliance is composed of many separate groups; organized labor, various chambers of commerce, the Consulting Engineers Council of New Jersey, the Concrete Pipe Association, New Jersey Motor Truck Association, etc. The chairman of the Alliance is David J. Goldberg, member of the Capital Needs Commission former commissioner of the Department of Transportation, and present chairman of the select legislative committee to recommend bond issue action to the legislature, recently appointed as a result of the report by the Capital Needs Commission.

The Constant Spectre
Editor, Summit Herald:

The YWCA Public Affairs Committee initiated the recent Community Seminar on World Hunger in an effort to raise the community's consciousness to the many interrelated causes of hunger in the world and our own involvement, personally and politically. The attendance averaged from 50 to 60 men and women for each of the five sessions.

Through the Summit Herald our seminar topics received a much larger audience and we greatly appreciate your printing Doug Klusmeyer's detailed weekly articles covering each session. Particularly, we appreciated your editorial on Food Day, April 17, entitled "The Nagging Specter of Hunger" in which you challenged U.S. patterns of food consumption, food production devoted to corporate profit and American food policy, and encouraged participation in the Seminar.

Next fall we will invite the community to participate in a "rap" group, to meet and share ideas and experiences while groping toward reducing energy consumption and toward a simpler, less demanding way of living; as we continue to evaluate our response to world hunger.

Sincerely,

Jolting Volts
Editor, Summit Herald:

Would someone please explain to me why the Jersey Central Power and Light Company wants to put a 34,000 volt line in on Canoe Brook parkway where there is currently (no pun) a 4,000 volt line, which seemingly provides adequate power to the area?

This 34,000 volt line would create a very high energy field which, some think, is hazardous to health for those living in close proximity.

Could someone with knowledge of this subject reply to this question (preferably not someone from J.C.P. & L. or Bell Tel. Co. as they want the right of way to come in and "improve" conditions anytime they wish) and also consider whether this 34,000 volt line is really for business buildings on River road (existing now and perhaps for future building projects), and, if so, why this high voltage line should be carried in a residential neighborhood, and whether this is, or is not, a health hazard? Thank you.

Mrs. Nancy B. Nelson

I would like to take the opportunity to thank all the citizens who voted for me in the Republican Primary in Ward 2.

TURN-OF-THE-CENTURY SOCIAL CENTER — For roughly the decade and a half between 1890 and 1905, this spacious two-story white frame home of the Casino Club was located at 65-67 Woodland Avenue, about opposite the present Lincoln School, and its 400-seat hall was the scene of many subscription dances and benefit performances for local charities and of such events as St. Teresa's School graduations. But it probably bore little resemblance to a modern casino, as it had limited hours and no games were permitted on Sundays. It was organized in 1889 by John N. Cady, J.H. Wisner, Adolphe DeBary, A.W. Newell and Gustav Amstutz, with about 150 members, including most of the leading local residents of the time, and its first president was Col. Archer N. Martin, who then owned most of the land bounded by Hawthorne place, Woodland, Hillcrest and Bellevue avenues and Shadyside. The club's tennis courts across the street became very popular, and in 1892, bowling alleys were built behind the club and a billiard and pool room was opened on the second floor. However, by 1896, the membership had dwindled to 75, as interest in tennis had waned in 1895, the Baltusrol Country Club had opened in 1895, and other meeting halls had been built in town. Nevertheless, the Casino continued its operations until about 1905 when it disbanded. Little more is known about it, except that J. Edward Farnum, who owned the property from the early 1890's, sold it to Harry N. Card in 1911, and the building is said to have been moved to Springfield in about 1914. Fulfilling The Hopes by U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, Jr.

Nearly half of the nation's seven million handicapped children are not receiving the education they rightfully deserve. A bill I am sponsoring and which I expect to be enacted in the near future, would go a long way toward righting this wrong. It would establish a permanent program of federal assistance to help states and local school districts meet the added cost involved in providing the necessary education for these children.

Handicapped children include those who are mentally retarded or physically handicapped, who may be deaf or blind or suffer from the effects of brain damage or cerebral palsy, or who are seriously emotionally disturbed.

Congressional action I supported last year laid the foundation for greater educational services for these youngsters. But the fact, remains that despite definite gains, millions are not receiving the education to which they are entitled under the Constitution. In fact, one million are getting no education at all from the public schools.

The great tragedy is that we know that 90 percent of handicapped children, if provided the education they need, can grow up to be productive members of society.

At hearings I held in Newark on this legislation, a parent told how her mentally retarded son had public high school: "He started over there, and we were amazed at what he benefited from a special education class in the picked up. They had books there that would teach him how to use services in everyday living, like supermarkets, and gas stations, and things like that. . . . He went into sports, and the school made him the manager. . . . School was finished after four years, and he had wonderful instructors that taught him to be reliable. Then a man up the street got him a job. His training in learning to take care of equipment, and all, is helping him to do the work that he's doing. We figure he has paid back $3,400 in income taxes, so he now has benefited the people."

"Without it he might have just been sitting around the house, wondering, 'What and I going to do with my time?' . . . He might have had to go on welfare or his father's social security, or something like that."

Without special assistance millions of handicapped children will never have the opportunity to develop the skills needed to live useful lives. This is not only a tragic waste of human ability, but a tragic waste to society. Estimates are that it costs $200,000 to institutionalize a handicapped person over his lifetime. On the other hand, it is estimated that for $20,000 per child — one-tenth this cost — we can insure a productive life for most.

The bill now under consideration would ease the states into a new permanent education program for the handicapped. As of July, 1976, a new funding formula would take effect, granting the states $400 for each handicapped child for whom they are providing and education. But before the states could qualify for this assistance, they would have to meet several criteria designed to assure effective use of the funds.

Even with the excellent progress toward educating the handicapped in New Jersey, where 120,000 handicapped youngsters are served by the public schools, estimates are that at least 15,000 are not being reached. With the additional funding this measure would provide, our financially burdened state would be able to improve its programs and extend its services to more children in need.

But perhaps the most important thing this bill establishes is that these handicapped children have a right to an education. They have the right to know that this nation will provide them equal protection of the law and equal rights under the Constitution.

In the same way that other children do, handicapped children have the right to believe in the promise of America.

Looking Backward

Seventy-five Years Ago

The humane committee of the Town Improvement Association announced it had "about put a stop to this reckless and cruel driving" of horses.

Although annual circulation of books at the Library had increased from 6,000 to 7,000 volumes, the trustees and stockholders of the Library Association announced they were hardpressed because of a lack of appropriation by the city.

Councilman Ruford Franklin pleaded that the city's "most popular thoroughfare" (Springfield avenue), be "flagged" for future.

People were polite and encouraging about having interested citizens run for local office even though they weren't necessarily going to support me. It convinced me more than ever that Summit is a great place to live.

Impact and Hunger
Editor, Summit Herald:
I would like to take this opportunity to thank Mrs. Burgess for illustrating my point in her article last week, "An Answer to Apathy," that charity and pity are not sufficient in dealing with such major problems as world hunger.

As she so astutely pointed out, Americans are incessantly being barraged by organizations and causes seeking our money and our time. The effect of such constant appeals is that many are finally made numb to their worthy causes. There are only so many emaciated human beings one can see before it loses its impact.

Since one's charity does have definite limits I argued in my article the week before, "Apathy and Summit," that for us to successfully combat these problems our motivation must come from a much deeper level than mere charity. We must be committed to upholding human dignity and justice, not only because it is the morally right and human thing to do, but because the world cannot survive long without preserving human dignity and justice.

Though you can turn off your t.v. set, you cannot turn off famine or poverty so easily. As Americans use far more than our share of the world's resources, we have a much greater responsibility to help those who receive less than their share.

FINANCIAL GROWTH & SECURITY IN RARE COINS

Beautiful coins are like beautiful paintings. They live through the centuries. And grow in value almost every year. The early Greek and Roman aristocracy as patrons of the arts were enthusiastic collectors of coins. The incentive to accumulate coins is an expression of the same human refinements that attracts us to all objects of unusual interest. Many objects attract us for geographical association, fine craftsmanship or even sentimental souvenirs of places or events. With coins, however, the collecting becomes involved with our economic instincts and necessities, for coins, unlike other art works or antiques, are a direct expression of wealth. It may be interesting to note that a well-developed market for rare and historic coins appears to have existed in Imperial Rome. The historical background for Rare Coin collecting is an established fact now and forever. Coin collectors of today are experiencing considerable dollar growth, while most investments weaken. Inquire for yourself into the unique advantages of Rare Coin investing.

New Rinaldo Bill Would Ease Senior Citizens' Tax Burden

New Jersey and other states offering senior citizens property tax exemptions stand to gain under a new federal grant program proposed in Congress today by Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo.

The Union County lawmaker introduced a bill to provide federal grants covering up to 50 per cent of state costs incurred through such exemptions. For New Jersey, the legislation is estimated to mean about $7 million a year in federal aid.

Rinaldo said his bill has two major aims: to ease the state level impact of tax relief for needy senior citizens, and to encourage expansion of such state-operated programs.

"The plight of the elderly makes this kind of program a necessity," he said. "Many of our senior citizens are losing their independence as well as their homes because of the crippling effects of inflation."

New Jersey allows a property tax exemption of up to $160 a year for persons over the age of 65 earning less than $5,000 a year. The Jersey program costs $28 million a year, with the state absorbing half the cost and municipalities meeting the balance.

Rinaldo said surveys he had conducted indicate that the federal grant program would cost less than $500 million a year — with offsetting fiscal benefits being experienced at the state level.

He said funding to be allocated for the program would be determined by the Appropriations Committee.

The Congressman explained that his bill provided a formula for grant distribution that would ensure equitable allocation of available aid. "This formula overcomes a problem that tended to frustrate earlier congressional efforts to support such property tax exemptions," he said.

Rinaldo said there were about seven states without property tax relief programs for the elderly. "Senior citizens in these states are just as much in need of assistance as those in states with tax exemptions," he said. "It is my hope that federal aid will encourage 'hold-out' states to establish programs of their own."

Noting that the bill extends federal grants to rent relief for needy senior citizens, Rinaldo hoped states would take advantage of this provision. "It is unfair to provide relief for those who own property and to withhold it from those who pay rent that includes property tax costs," he said.

The Congressman, a consistent champion of senior citizen causes, also introduced a bill to protect the elderly from being subjected to any form of "means test" as a requirement for participation in social service programs.

"Such tests are a demeaning and senseless invasion of privacy," he said. "They represent an indignity that defeats the intent of state-operated transportation, education, multi-purpose center and other such social programs for the elderly."

Candidates must hold current Senior Life Saving, or Advance Life Saving certification, must be at least 17 years old and have the ability to perform at swimmer of equivalent skills.

The second course will be Advanced Life Saving, review, and is slated for June 24, 25, 26 and 27 from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., plus one afternoon for first aid. There are fees for pool use and a new textbook. Candidates must have senior Life Saving certification that is not expired for more than one year.

proposed participants in senior citizen service programs is scheduled to begin in October.

"Forcing such a means test on seven million elderly people may make bureaucrats busier, but it won't give the aged the help or encouragement they need in maintaining a sense of independence," said Rinaldo.

There was a danger, he added, that the proposed means test would discourage senior citizens from seeking help or participating in social service programs.

"And coping with millions of questionnaires could quickly turn into a billion-dollar bureaucratic boondoggle," he noted. "The means test serves little useful purpose and should be scrapped."

ANALYSIS OF THE DRUNK DRIVER

New data has been added to the growing evidence that most persons arrested for drunken driving are basically problem people and not the occasional drinker who was unlucky enough to get caught.

Other findings: One in four had a criminal record; three in eight had a previous charge of drunkenness in public, not associated with driving; they had, as a group, three times as many previous traffic violations as the typical driver; one in four was driving with a suspended license or none at all.

Summit Teams Win Olympic Cup In Conference 7th Straight Year

Summit High School's Spring Sports Award Dinner was a time for awards, trophies and a trip to Hawaii.

For the seventh straight year, Summit High has won the Olympic Cup, awarded to the Suburban Conference school that accrues the most points based on wins in all varsity sports throughout the year. Michael Closs presented the cup to Dr. Donald Geddis, school principal.

Dr. Geddis presented the Darnell Mallory Memorial Award to John Combias. Kathy Reeves and Thomas Gibbons won the Summit Booster Club's scholar/athletic scholarships. Beth Maher and Edward Scott received the Season Sportsmanship Awards.

Neil Koppenol, chairman of the high school's Business Education Department, won a trip to Hawaii. It was the first fund-raising raffle sponsored by the Booster Club. The idea was fostered by club president, Tom El-berty, and by George Balish.

Three hundred tickets at $25 each were sold, with the proceeds going to the club's scholarship fund; a fund for special athletic equipment given to the public schools, and monies to subsidize the award dinners.

The Elwood C. Corney Award was presented to volleyball coach and Summit Junior High physical education teacher Nancy Mueller "in acknowledgement for her many contributions to Summit's athletic programs." In accepting the award, Miss Mueller said: "A great part of my life has been in athletics, which is the scene of development for young people."

Summit's Suburban Conference tennis champions with an 18-3 record gave the "most improved player" award to Mark Rapier, and "most valuable player" citation to Peter Lizotte.

The baseball team, Suburban Conference co-champions with New Providence, selected Alan Wessel as "the most improved player" and Robert Miller, star pitcher, "the most valuable."

A special Booster award was presented to Bill Specht in honor of his 100-yard backstroke selection on the All-American Swim team.

In 1975 lacrosse, "the most improved player" was Timothy Hyde and "the most valuable," Chuck Wiebe, who had 25 goals and 28 assists.

Softball award winners were Lisa Bonyne, "the most valuable player" and Sherri Colson, "the most improved."

With a record of 10-0, Summit was Suburban Conference volleyball champions.

Patricia Maluso was selected "the most improved player" and Gwyneth Wilson, "the most valuable."

In 1975 track and field, where 64 awards and letters were given, David Manley was selected "the most improved player" and J.P. Dunn, "the most valuable."

Harold Ahern will supervise the fourth and fifth graders, and Mike Reid will supervise the sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

In golf, John Jameson was voted, "most improved," and Thomas Gibbons, "most valuable."

Approximately 200 high school students were cited for athletic achievement at the Award Dinner.

Summer Loops Begin June 23

The Summit Board of Recreation would like to remind those playing in the summer baseball leagues that Monday, June 23, is opening day.

Fourth and fifth graders not already signed up are asked to be at Diamond No. 1, (near Ashland Road) Memorial Field at 9:00 a.m. on Monday morning.

Sixth, seventh and eighth graders are to report to Diamond No. 2 at 9:00 a.m. for assignment to teams.

Harold Ahern will supervise the fourth and fifth graders, and Mike Reid will supervise the sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

NOVICE CHAMPION—Mrs. Frederick Fleming of Summit presents the Maiden-Notch Championship trophy to Lynne Pearson of Mountside at the Sky Top Riding Academy Spring Show. Children and adults riding at the school were all eligible to enter classes and compete for ribbons and trophies. There were also seven private horse classes for private horses and their riders. There also was a demonstration of precision riding by the Sky Top Drill Team, consisting of 16 jr. riders. They performed a 15-minute precision ride to music.

ament, which will be held this year at the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado from August 8 through August 12.

City Auto Top Softballers Surprise Bumpers Nine

City Auto Top and Bumper to Bumper exchanged wild half innings in the eighth inning last week that led to a stunning upset which sent Bumper plummeting to third place. The Auto Toppers took the extra-inning affair, 7-6.

Bumper was leading 3-2 with two down in the bottom of the seventh when City Auto Top knotted the score. Bumper came right back in the top of the eighth to score three runs on two errors, a walk, and base hits by Nick Serritella and Carmen Piccolo.

City Auto was not to be denied as pitcher Bob Smith singled, Tom McAneny reached base on an error, Rich Healey singled, Joe Baron hit into a fielder's choice and Billy Dunn singled to tie the score. First baseman Lou Zichichi then erred on Silverstein's throw, allowing the winning run to score.

The league-leading West Summit Garage banged out a 10-2 decision over Speedy Gonzales Superette to win its ninth game without a loss. Don Geddis had a no-hitter until the last inning when he gave up three hits, including Secunda's two-run home run to lose the shut out.

The Garagemen scored in bunches, getting three runs in the third and seven in the fourth inning, led by Jim Dietz and Bill Simo's two hits apiece.

Two Shut Outs
The Sounds added two wins with shutout victories over the American Legion and Marco Polo. Dwight Weaver got both pitching wins, allowing the Legion two hits and Marco Polo three.

The score was 9-0 against the Legion. The Sounds scored four runs in the third inning, more than enough to win. Losing pitcher Pete Horn walked the first three hitters. There were three stolen bases, two passed balls and only one hit — a double by Sam Marcantonio.

Against John Patrick and Marco Polo, the Sounds gathered 13 hits, led by John Wilkerson's three hits—a single, double and triple.

After three scoreless innings, the Sounds broke the ice by scoring twice on doubles by Wilkerson and Marcantonio, and singles by Dan D'Andrea and Ed Shupe. They added three runs in the fifth and four more in the sixth.

Before they beat Bumper to Bumper, City Auto Top took a 6-5 victory over Dill Contracting. Bob Smith allowed five hits in picking up the win. The Auto Toppers did all their scoring early. Dill kept chipping away but just got nipped. City Auto Top was led by Tom McAneny, Rich Healey, Bob Froelich and Bob Smith, all with two hits. Tom Dill had two of his team's five hits.

Dill came back to shut out the American Legion, 2-0, on Pete Kivlen Jr.'s four-hitter. Pete faced only three hitters over the minimum twenty-one. Bob Triolo led off the fourth inning with a triple. With one out, Bob Smith doubled and Jack Sapp singled, as did Bob Fisher, to account for the two runs.

The Standings:

W. S. Garage	9	0	2
The Sounds	9	1	0
Bumper/Bumper	8	2	2
City Auto Top	5	6	0
Dill Contracting	3	7	1
Marco Polo	3	7	1

Summit Elks' Scores Pair of Victories

The 1975 edition of the Summit Elks' Baseball Club picked up two wins in three Intra-County League contests. The Elks opened with a shutout win over Hillside, 2-0; then bowed to Union V.F.W., 4-0, and closed the week with a 3-2 triumph over Cranford.

Righthander Bob Miller spun a one-hit, shutout victory over Hillside. The Summit High ace struck out eight in going the distance. The only hit came in the second inning as the Hillside catcher, Mark Del Guercio, lined a changeup into right center.

Summit came to life for single runs in the third and fourth. In the third, John Sullivan beat out a bunt for a base hit. He was sacrificed to second by Joe Osmulsky and scored on a double by Mike Horn.

Sullivan again was involved in the fourth as he slashed a single, scoring Larry O'Mahoney, who had singled to start the inning, and advanced on a single by John Merchant.

Blanked by Araneo
Summit traveled to Union's Teener Field and came up against Union's hard-throwing Frank Araneo. Araneo held the Elks' hitless as the Union club pushed across four runs. Bob Miller took the loss.

Costly walks and errors accounted for three runs, all of them unearned, in the first inning. Summit threatened in the fifth when it had two baserunners with no one out. Araneo proved to be too strong however, and worked out of the jam.

Summit traveled to Cranford in search of its first hit of the day and it came in the first inning. Larry O'Mahoney connected for a tremendous two-run homer. Larry followed Al Wessel, who had walked and stolen second, and drove his blast deep into left center field.

Summit picked up an additional run in the third when, with two out, winning pitcher John Merchant singled and was followed by Rick Gross, who singled. Merchant then came around to score on Anthony Sereno's long double to left.

Merchant protected Summit's lead the rest of the way, allowing only three hits and striking out five. It was John's first victory.

The two victories place Summit in a tie for first place in the league's American Division. This week Summit hosted Scotch Plains Monday, traveled to Linden last night, and will host rival Betsytown at 10 a.m. Saturday at Memorial Field.

Russ Bauer's a man who believes in protection

Name just about any kind of insurance... business or personal... and the Richland-Knowles Agency in Summit offers it.

Because VP and General Manager Russell Bauer believes in protection. Russ also feels all a person's banking needs should be met in one establishment. That's why he's enthusiastic about UCTC.

"We get super service from the offices here in town," he says. "I use them for my personal accounts as well as business. Over the years I've always found the people at UCTC a pleasure to deal with."

If super service sounds good to you, look into the innovative new features at any branch of UCTC.

They include Checking Plus that offers free checking and features a summary of eight different accounts. Automatic Transfer that builds savings or makes loan payments... and Overdraft Checking for those who qualify. SUMMIT SPORTS MVPs— Seven Summit High athletes were presented "most valuable" trophies during the Spring Sports Awards Dinner. Recipients were, from the left: Front row, Tom Gibbons (golf) and Peter Lizotte (tennis); rear row, Gwyneth Wilson (volleyball), Chuck Wiebe (lacrosse); Lisa Bonyne (softball); Bob Miller (baseball) and J.P. Dunn (track).

Summit Tennis Club Second in N.J. Loop!

The Summit Tennis Club has joined the New Jersey "A" Team League for the first time in its history. The men proved themselves worthy of competition with this league of New Jersey's top court players by finishing in second place. They were edged out by Westfield (33-12) with a final record of 30-15.

Play commenced with Summit being defeated by Arlington 3-2, followed by their first win over the Racquets Club, 3-2. The remainder of the contests resulted in Summit defeating East Orange (4-1), Berkeley (4-1), Orange Town (4-1), Netherwood (5-0) and Westfield (4-1). Besides Arlington, they lost only to Park Lakes (4-1).

"This was the first year Summit has played in the 'A' league and coming second is an excellent finish," says team captain Ian Stopps. "In this league, we have been playing against the top players in New Jersey and all concerned thoroughly enjoyed the challenge."

Unfortunately, we started slowly due to the late opening of our courts at Summit. Perhaps our major obstacle during the first few matches was not believing in ourselves. Our sights were too low, for we were initially shooting for about a mid place in the league, not a first or second place!

"We have learned our lesson and next year team practice will start the beginning of April. Watch out Westfield!"

Other members who represented the Summit Tennis Club were John Lerch, Don Tansey, Mark Jeffrey, Paul Krieger, Hugh Moore, Peter Nestler, Wally Meyer, Bob Jeffrey, Scott Nycum, Elliott Pinson, Kim Fisher and Steve McKown.

Dr. Peter 'Aces' At Plainfield C.C.

Dr. Walt Peter of 71-F New England Ave., is eligible to win a free trip to Scotland and $1,000 as a result of scoring a hole-in-one at the Plainfield Country Club.

Dr. Peter's "ace" qualified him for the 15th annual Rusty Nail Hole-In-One Sweepstakes, a national competition sponsored by the Drumbie Company of Edinburgh, Scotland. The winner will be announced early next year.

Gloria's Lunch scored an 18-9 win over Fleming & Son to remain in first place in the East Division. George VanLaar was the winning pitcher for Gloria's and Gary Swick took the loss for Fleming. Drew Witzel with three hits, including a homer, and George VanLaar, three hits, led Gloria's. Kevin Donnelly, with two doubles and single, and Carmen Iadanza, a homer, paced Fleming.

Dairy Queen, with an 11-4 win over Suburban Hotel, gave the Hotel team its eighth loss of the season.

Dan Bace got the win for Dairy Queen and Mike Sciffiano the loss for Suburban Hotel. Craig Ennis led the Dairy Queen with two homers. Mike Sciffiano had a homer for Suburban Hotel.
