The council also approved a summer concert series to be held on the Village Green for six Tuesday evenings during July and August.

Mayor Glatt said "Movies in the Park" on Sunday, June 19, sponsored by the Municipal Alliance and PAL, attracted 500 people. Another film is planned for later in the summer.

Kent Place Boulevard residents plead for 'no truck traffic' zone, request denied

By LIZ KEILL

SUMMIT — Residents on Kent Place Boulevard turned out for the Common Council meeting Tuesday, June 21, to voice concerns about what they describe as increasing truck traffic, noise and pollution on the street.

But city officials declined to restrict the types of vehicles allowed along Kent Place, which except for Summit High School is completely residential.

The council received a petition signed by more than 125 neighbors, along with a letter from resident Jody Fitzpatrick. He asked that signs be installed on the road saying "No truck traffic zone." He noted the R-15 residential zone means no commercial or business use is permitted. The petition states, "Our homes are constantly hammered with noise, diesel exhaust smoke, fumes, dirt and other pollutants."

Councilwoman Cindy Martin, who lives on Kent Place Boulevard, said, "I want to set the record straight. There is no ordinance that designates Kent Place Boulevard as a 'no truck' zone."

One resident, however, said the ordinance was open to interpretation. It states that trucks weighing more than four tons "shall be excluded from all other designated municipal streets," but does not list the streets. The ordinance does list county roads within city limits that are considered truck routes, such as Broad Street, portions of Springfield Avenue, River Road and Morris Avenue.

Police Chief Robert Lucid said, "When you restrict a street to trucks no greater than four tons, the city must establish other truck routes." He gave as an example Orchard Street, which was designated for no truck traffic.

With connector streets, however, such an ordinance would be difficult to sustain, he said. "All of our con-ector streets are residential streets and to take from one would be to put the traffic on other residential streets. That would be unfair," the chief said.

Kent Place Boulevard connects Morris Avenue and Passaic Avenue, and parallels Springfield Avenue. Some truck drivers, residents pointed out to city officials, use High Street as a conduit to Springfield Avenue. In addition, deliveries to Summit High School should be made from Morris Avenue via Weaver Street, not the front entrance, their petition states.

Ms. Martin said the safety committee supports the chief's view. Even if there were such an ordinance, it would not apply to delivery trucks, landscapers, garbage trucks and other commercial vehicles, she added.

Ms. Martin said steps were taken in November 2003 to limit truck traffic on Mount Vernon Avenue for when the widened bridge connecting River Road in Chatham and Mount Vernon Avenue in Summit is complete. She said, however, the city needs help from Chatham Township officials to enforce the policy.

Councilman Andy Lark said the city has put a stop to landscapers bringing grass clippings to the Transfer Station area, which helps reduce some truck traffic.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said in his letter to Common Council, "Our boulevard is one of the most popular streets in town due to the varied architecture and rich history of the area. Many runners, walkers (with or without dogs) and children riding bikes use the road because it is not only flat and fairly straight, but it is a beautiful tour." He said on an average day more than 50, and as many as 74, trucks, tractor trailers and oversized vehicles are on the road, starting at 5:15 a.m.

"This dramatic increase has occurred over the last two and one-half years," he said. "The noise, air pollution, filth, traffic congestion and safety issues have escalated to the level of seemingly living on a highway." He also observed that the road bed is not designed for the constant pounding and wear of truck traffic. The repaving done just eight years ago is already showing cracks, he said.

Oak Ridge Avenue resident Michael Vernotico suggested traffic calming measures, such as those used in the downtown, to make the route less inviting for trucks.

Stockton Road resident Bob Sheehan said, "The rights of neighbors have eroded. The number one person in town should be the property taxpayer."

Mayor Jordan Glatt said he took exception to Mr. Sheehan's remark. "It's a matter of balance," he said. "It's an insult to this board to push the situation onto other streets and go from neighborhood to neighborhood. It's not fair to the community at-large."

Massage parlor ordinance comes before city's council

By LIZ KEILL

SUMMIT — Common Council discussed an amendment to license massage parlors at its Tuesday, June 21, meeting.

Council President Frank Macioce quipped, "Parental discretion advised." A hearing is scheduled for Tuesday, July 12.

The ordinance amendment was introduced in response to a request from Union County Prosecutor Theodore J. Romankow. Its purpose, officials said, is to control illegal sexual activity under the guise of legitimate massage therapy.

Summit Police Chief Robert Lucid reminded the council in a memo that a few years ago an operation in the downtown resulted in an arrest for prostitution following an undercover operation by the city's detective bureau.

"This ordinance would prohibit that type of activity; at the same time, it would allow legitimate practitioners to operate in a regulated and safe manner," he said.

The prosecutor wrote in a letter to city solicitor Barry Osmun, "No municipality is immune from these predatory practices." Mr. Romankow said operators often use assumed identities and pay the lease in cash.

Other municipalities have enacted licensing requirements, he said, and the state has enacted a certification procedure for massage therapists.

The city's ordinance spells out requirements, terms of the license, with annual fees of $100 each for both the establishment and practitioner, operating requirements, revocation of license, violations and penalties.

The business operation would be subject to unannounced Board of Health and Police Department visits.

LEGO TIME — Joseph and Taylor Matheson, were thinking three-dimensionally recently at Family Math Night at Lincoln-Hubbard School. Family Math, sponsored by the Summit Educational Foundation, provides the district's parents and children with an opportunity to think "outside the box" on math problems. The program is offered to second graders in the city's five elementary schools. Reach the Summit Educational Foundation at 908-522-9295.

Council okays maintenance merger of fields

By LIZ KEILL

SUMMIT — Plans to bring maintenance of playing fields under one umbrella is a step closer to reality.

Common Council adopted a resolution at the Tuesday, June 21, meeting to merge field maintenance with the Department of Community Services and Department of Recreation. The council also approved a motion to declare a vacancy in Public Works.

Councilman Andrew Lark noted that a memo from acting Community Services Director Paul Cascais supports seven salary upgrades and a vacancy has been filled for assistant superintendent of Public Works, which, according to City Treasurer Ron Angelo, creates a domino effect.

Roger Breene, representing the Recreation Commission, told the council, "The Recreation Department supports the merger and its economies of scale." Mr. Breene added the board's concerns in March predate the public outcry, which occurred in May following the injury of a student on Franklin field and the closing of that field.

"The Board of Education must be included," Mr. Breene said, referring to the school board's resolution. In part, it states that the city confirm that adequate resources are available to maintain the fields. Mr. Breene said that costs and staffing should be included and that the Recreation Department had made those requests in the last two operating budgets.

City Administrator Christopher Cotter issued a final report on the task force project team. He noted, however, that two issues have emerged since the study: the Transfer Station - Recreation complex project and Board of Education field maintenance.

The task force report recommends re-locating Recreation Department maintenance staff, vehicles and equipment to the Department of Public Works facility at 41 Chatham Road and to create a long-range site plan for more efficient use of the property.

The location includes three primary buildings for vehicle and equipment storage: maintenance, garbage and trash, and park and shade tree garages. The maintenance garage also includes offices, locker rooms, showers, a kitchen and lunch room for DPW personnel. A renovation and expansion were recently completed.

Currently, a recreation maintenance building located at Memorial Field on Ashland Road is inadequate, the report states. Several shed-like structures have been erected, but some pieces of equipment are stored outdoors near the tennis courts. Residents in the area have objected to outside storage of equipment.

The city's transfer station facility on New Providence Road holds vehicles and equipment for recycling, composting and transportation to the city's solid waste area.

The report also identified duplication of equipment and overlap of responsibilities. For example, the Village Green is maintained by DPW while the adjacent Mabie Playground is maintained by the Department of Recreation. There are also pocket parks (DPW) next to Memorial Field (Recreation).

In addition, expertise could be shared, such as Recreation's knowledge of turf maintenance and the city's tree maintenance, the report suggests.

The Recreation Department has a staff of six members, one of whom is assigned to the municipal golf course and one full-time to Tatlock Field. The staff maintains seven parks and recreation facilities containing 79 acres. The city is responsible for 66 miles of city streets and properties, including walkways around parks.

Mr. Cotter thanked the project team, which includes representatives from Recreation and Public Works: Romayne Eaker-Kelly, Mark Ozoroski and Chris Holenstein; Rich Caputo, Dave Harper, Doug Rillo, Jim Caputo, Simon Innacone, Bob Phillips and Frank Capbianco as well as Paul Cascais and Mr. Cotter.

In other field related measures, the council adopted a resolution to amend a professional services agreement with A. R. Hipolit for Tatlock Field inspection services, not to exceed $57,000. The council also adopted a resolution for renovation of the Tatlock Field press box. The work will be done by city firefighters and volunteers.

The council authorized an agreement for environmental assessments as part of the Transfer Station study at a cost of $37,800.

New Providence

Drivers are charged with DWI, warrant offenses, being suspended

On Thursday, June 16, Corp. Justice Kennedy arrested Joyce A. Phipps, 63, of Plainfield after her vehicle was stopped on Mountain Avenue at approximately 11:25 p.m. when it was observed "operating in an erratic manner, striking the curb and crossing the double yellow lines."

After being transported to headquarters, police said Ms. Phipps refused to submit to the required breathalyzer tests and was charged with careless driving, failure to keep right, driving while intoxicated and refusal to submit to breathalyzer tests. Authorities said Ms. Phipps were held overnight and released at 7:22 a.m. on June 17, pending a municipal court date.

On Friday, June 17, Patrolman Steven Opalewski arrested Jovanky Delossantos, 31, of Union for active arrest warrants out of Perth Amboy and Union Township. The arrest, authorities said, was the result of the officer performing a computer check at the scene of a crash in which Mr. Delossantos was involved. The suspect was arrested and transported to New Providence Police Headquarters, where he was released on $575 bail pending hearings in Perth Amboy and Union Township.

Also on June 17, Patrolman Jason Labaska arrested Samuel Leonard, 19, of New Providence and charged him with driving under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance. Authorities said the arrest occurred at 7:44 a.m. when the patrol officer observed Mr. Leonard "stumbling and having difficulty walking on Springfield Avenue." The suspect was transported to police headquarters, and after telling officials he felt sick, he was transported to Morristown Memorial Hospital for evaluation. Mr. Leonard was given a date for a municipal court hearing.

Also on June 17, Patrolman Labaska and Corp. Kennedy took two New Providence juvenile boys into protective custody for possession of a controlled dangerous substance, being under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance and possession of drug paraphernalia. Authorities said the incident occurred as a result of the officers checking a wooded area between Crestview and Clearwater pools, on the Summit-New Providence border. The boys were released to their parents pending formal juvenile complaints and Union County Family Court action.

On Saturday, June 18, Patrolman Chad Wilson charged Jeffrey Merrill, 22, of New Providence with driving while his license was suspended after the suspect's vehicle was stopped on South Street by the patrol officer, who said he knew "the driver and knew his privileges were suspended." Mr. Merrill was released on his own recognizance pending a municipal court hearing.

Also on June 18, Sgt. Frank Gaffney charged Paul Bandanovic, 46, of New Providence with driving while his license is suspended and with driving an unregistered motor vehicle.

Police said the charges came when Mr. Bandanovic's vehicle was stopped on Division Avenue after a random computer check showed its registration was expired. Mr. Bandanovic was released pending a New Providence Municipal Court hearing.

Summit
Craftsman boat, trailer are stolen

Several thefts occurred in the city during the week, including that of a boat, a bicycle and cameras.

On Wednesday, June 22, a 16-foot Craftsman boat and trailer, valued at $1,800, from a Summit business parking lot was reported. The incident occurred between 6 p.m. on June 20 and 7 p.m. on June 22. Items inside the boat included a lawn mower valued at $100, air hose valued at $200 and a 30 horsepower motor valued at $800.

On Saturday, June 18, a boy's 20-inch Diamondback black bicycle, valued at $260, was reported stolen from outside a Beechwood Road business establishment between 11:15 a.m. and 12:25 p.m.

On Sunday, June 19, the theft of a Canon Digital Elph camera and memory card, valued at $420; a Konica Minolta camera with memory card, valued at $550; and a wallet with $100 in cash from a vehicle parked in a Willow Road residential driveway between 5 p.m. on June 15 and 3 p.m. on June 19 was reported to police.

On Sunday, June 19, damage to a front window of a Ridgedale Avenue residence was reported, resulting from a rock thrown at the window between noon and 2:30 p.m.

On Monday, June 20, police received a report of an attempted strong-arm robbery at about noon near the corner of Springfield Avenue and Beechwood Road. The victim told police the person demanded money, at which time the victim fled. The individual was gone when the patrol arrived.

In arrests: On Thursday, June 16, Carlos A. Barruesco, 49, of Elizabeth was arrested and charged at Springfield Avenue and George Street with driving while his license is suspended and with failure to wear a seatbelt.

Seatbelt enforcement results in summonses

SUMMIT - Summit Police issued 121 summonses to motorists who failed to buckle up during the Click It/Ticket Program, conducted from May 23 to June 5. Of the 121 motorists cited, seven were found to have suspended driving privileges. Sgt. John N. Dougherty said the Summit Police utilized high visibility patrols to cite occupants of motor vehicles who failed to buckle seat belts.

"During the mobilization, enforcement gets people to buckle up - seat belt use in states that conduct high visibility enforcement is 10-15 percent higher than states that simply conduct public education," he said.

The Summit Police Department conducted visual surveys of seat belt usage before and after this year's program and found that on average 75 percent of drivers were using seat belts before the program and 94 percent were in compliance after the program finished on June 5.

The Click It / Ticket Program is conducted annually and is sponsored by the National Safety Council, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the New Jersey Department of Highway Traffic Safety.

Library marks 'grand opening'

NEW PROVIDENCE — All are invited to celebrate the grand opening of the New Providence Memorial Library from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, July 2. The official ribbon cuttings for the new meeting room and the children's room addition will be held at 10:30 a.m., after which a number of activities will take place.

The Board of Trustees and library staff invite all borough residents to join in the festivities.

At 11 a.m., a magician will entertain children and adults.

Door prizes are to include six copies of the new Harry Potter book (to be released on July 16), six copies of a New York Times best seller of the winners' choice, and three copies of a music CD, also of the winners' choice. There are to be several kinds of special tokens of the library for each person attending.

Guests can enjoy hamburgers and hot dogs grilled on the front lawn (weather permitting) by Mayor Al Morgan and library director James Keebler. There will also be popcorn and Italian ice, among other refreshments.

Youngsters will be able to cool off under the spray created by one of the borough's fire engines.

According to President of the Board of Trustees Carole Wirth, "The library renovation was made possible through the efforts of many people — the trustees, the mayor and council, the fundraising committee, the Friends of the Library, the library staff and the residents and businesses of the town that generously supported the vision of the board. All are invited to celebrate the 'new' library they helped to create."

Fourth graders mix photographs and poetry

BERKELEY HEIGHTS — Fourth graders at Mountain Park School recently found new motivation to write poetry using their own photographs as inspiration.

Visiting educators Jim DelGiudice, a commercial photographer and teacher, and Paula Davidoff, a writer and art teacher, spent five days with the fourth graders in a program called "Framing Your World: Poetic Lens." The event was sponsored by the Berkeley Heights Education Foundation in response to a grant proposal from Mountain Park fourth grade teachers.

Mr. DelGiudice, who teaches photography at the County College of Morris, Drew University and the College of St. Elizabeth, encouraged Mountain Park fourth graders to look at "the environment and people" as their subject matter.

The program's goal was to promote more vivid reflections in student writing so that photos and words would complement each other. According to Mr. DelGiudice, the hardest part of this process for students was to edit their photo collections down to three or four images, which were used as a prompt for their writing samples.

The use of visual prompts in the writing process is a successful teaching tool, says the photographer, because, "Students today are communicating more and more with pictures rather than words." He pointed to the proliferation of camera phones and abbreviated text in e-mails and text messages as evidence of this trend.

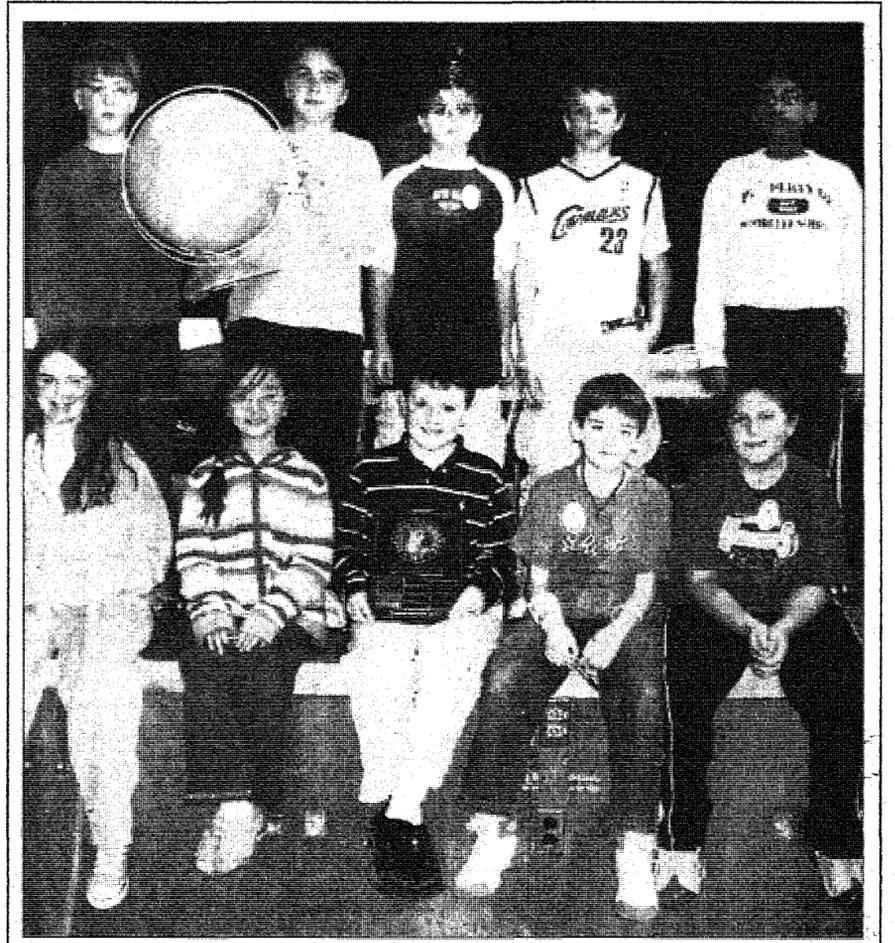

Mr. DelGiudice said that using a photo to create a writing sample personalizes the work. He said, "It removes the shyness about writing. Since the picture is 'one distance' from you, you're not writing about yourself, you're writing about your picture."

Ms. Davidoff, who is accredited through the N.J. State Council of the Arts, said, "Picture prompts allow children to create a distance, yet still reflect a student's inner thoughts." The Mountain Park program, said Ms. Davidoff "worked beautifully." Some of the work produced with the district's fourth graders was, she said, "transcendent."

"Framing Your World" is one of the academic programs made possible by grants from the Berkeley Heights Education Foundation. The foundation is an independent, non-profit, fundraising organization dedicated to the enhancement of educational excellence in the Berkeley Heights School District. The foundation volunteers said they are grateful for the generous contributions of individuals, local businesses and corporations, who continue to support their efforts.

Keith Mason earns seventh Rising Star Award

NEW PROVIDENCE — On Monday, June 13, the Paper Mill Playhouse held its 10th annual Rising Star Awards ceremony in Millburn.

At that ceremony, Dr. Keith Mason accepted the award for Educational Impact, given to educators who integrate a school's musical into the curriculum.

This was the seventh award that Dr. Mason has received through the Paper Mill competition; 110 high schools entered the competition this year.

New Providence High School produced "Into the Woods" in March. The musical was staged by drama teacher Craig Duke, music education department head Michael Niedziejko and music teacher Susan Kirkland. Dr. Mason took on the task of bridging the fairy-tale based musical with the regular high school curriculum. In addition to Dr. Mason, several faculty members supported the program with activities or projects including Nancy Burnette, Phil Cook, Stephanie Hornstein, Carole Huynh and Denise Moser.

Projects focused on themes and concepts found in the musical by Stephen Sondheim and James Lapine and supported the New Jersey Core Curriculum Content Standards. Interdisciplinary projects were completed in social studies, video production, art, French, Italian and Spanish classes.

Dr. Mason observed, "The Rising Star Awards competition offers a unique opportunity to create bridges between a school's musical and regular high school curriculum."

The teacher continued, "It also encourages participation by teachers and students not normally involved in the musical. I am especially pleased that our school administration and community support our efforts to use the arts to enrich student learning."

The art, history and education program was supported by a HEART grant, which stands for History, Education, Arts - Reaching Thousands, through the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Drivers are charged with DWI, warrant offenses, being suspended

On Thursday, June 16, Corp. Justine Kennedy arrested Joyce A. Phipps, 63, of Plainfield after her vehicle was stopped on Mountain Avenue at approximately 11:25 p.m. when it was observed "operating in an erratic manner, striking the curb and crossing the double yellow lines."

After being transported to headquarters, police said Ms. Phipps refused to submit to the required breathalyzer tests and was charged with careless driving, failure to keep right, driving while intoxicated and refusal to submit to breathalyzer tests. Authorities said Ms. Phipps were held overnight and released at 7:22 a.m. on June 17, pending a municipal court date.

On Friday, June 17, Patrolman Steven Opaleski arrested Jovanky Delossantos, 31, of Union for active arrest warrants out of Perth Amboy and Union Township. The arrest, authorities said, was the result of the officer performing a computer check at the scene of a crash in which Mr. Delossantos was involved. The suspect was arrested and transported to New Providence Police Headquarters, where he was released on $575 bail pending hearings in Perth Amboy and Union Township.

Also on June 17, Patrolman Jason Labaska arrested Samuel Leonard, 19, of New Providence and charged him with being under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance. Authorities said the arrest occurred at 3:24 a.m. when the patrol officer observed Mr. Leonard "stumbling and having difficulty walking on Springfield Avenue." The suspect was transported to police headquarters, and after telling officials he felt sick, he was transported to Morristown Memorial Hospital for evaluation. Mr. Leonard was given a date for a municipal court hearing.

Also on June 17, Patrolman Labaska and Corp. Kennedy took two New Providence juvenile boys into protective custody for possession of a controlled dangerous substance, being under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance and possession of drug paraphernalia. Authorities said the incident occurred as a result of the officers checking a wooded area between Crestview and Clearwater pools, on the Summit-New Providence border. The boys were released to their parents pending formal juvenile complaints and Union County Family Court action.

On Saturday, June 18, Patrolman Chad Wilson charged Jeffrey Merrill, 22, of New Providence with driving while his license was suspended after the suspect's vehicle was stopped on South Street by the patrol officer, who said he knew "the driver and knew his privileges were suspended." Mr. Merrill was released on his own recognizance pending a municipal court hearing.

Also on June 18, Sgt. Frank Gaffney charged Paul Bandanovic, 46, of New Providence with driving while his license is suspended and with driving an unregistered motor vehicle.

Police said the charges came when Mr. Bandanovic's vehicle was stopped on Division Avenue after a random computer check showed its registration was expired. Mr. Bandanovic was released pending a New Providence Municipal Court hearing.

Items inside the boat included a lawn mower valued at $100, air hose valued at $200 and a 30 horsepower motor valued at $800.

On Saturday, June 18, a boy's 20-inch Diamondback black bicycle, valued at $260, was reported stolen from outside a Beechwood Road business establishment between 11:15 a.m. and 12:25 p.m.

On Sunday, June 19, damage to a front window of a Ridgedale Avenue residence was reported, resulting from a rock thrown at the window between noon and 2:30 p.m.

On Monday, June 20, police received a report of an attempted strong-arm robbery at about noon near the corner of Springfield Avenue and Beechwood Road. The victim told police the person demanded money, at which time the victim fled. The individual was gone when the patrol arrived.

In arrests: On Thursday, June 16, Carlos A. Barresco, 49, of Elizabeth was arrested and charged at Springfield Avenue and George Street with driving while his license is suspended and with failure to wear a seatbelt.

Seatbelt enforcement results in summonses

SUMMIT - Summit Police issued 121 summonses to motorists who failed to buckle up during the Click It/Ticket Program, conducted from May 23 to June 5. Of the 121 motorists cited, seven were found to have suspended driving privileges. Sgt. John N. Dougherty said the Summit Police utilized high visibility patrols to cite occupants of motor vehicles who failed to buckle seat belts.

"During the mobilization, enforcement gets people to buckle up - seat belt use in states that conduct high visibility enforcement is 10-15 percent higher than states that simply conduct public education," he said.

The Summit Police Department conducted visual surveys of seat belt usage before and after this year's program and found that on average 75 percent of drivers were using seat belts before the program and 94 percent were in compliance after the program finished on June 5.

The Click It / Ticket Program is conducted annually and is sponsored by the National Safety Council, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the New Jersey Department of Highway Traffic Safety.

Children referred to Camp Fund by school staff

AREA — Last year, through the generosity of Herald-Dispatch and Independent Press readers, many local needy youngsters were able to enjoy two weeks at summer camp.

Recently, Mrs. L., a single mother of three, had her parents caring for her children while she worked to maintain the family unit. Unfortunately, her parents have died.

The children's school principal referred them to Alicia Domizi-Gorman of Family Service of Summit, so that the youngsters can have an opportunity to attend summer camp and get to be with other children of their ages during this difficult time.

Camp Fund organizers are seeking to raise enough money this year to send Mrs. L.'s three children and many other area youngsters to camp, but how many children get camperships and the types of camps they attend depend on how many contributions are received.

For more than 60 years, after it was founded by Family Service of Summit, which is now a United Way agency and a division of Overlook Hospital, the Camp Fund has provided free summer camp vacations to local students whose families are experiencing financial hardships. In later years, it was joined as a co-sponsor by the Summit Herald, a sister paper of the Independent Press.

The majority of children nominated to benefit from the Camp Fund come from single-parent homes, usually headed by a mother struggling to get by on a low salary.

Candidates are usually recommended by teachers and administrators in the Summit schools. In addition to a family's financial situation, the students are also selected for camperships because they are likely to benefit from their camp experience in a special way.

Some boys and girls may need a break from troubles or sadness at home. Problems, for instance, may range from drug or alcohol abuse in a home to overcrowding, brutality or fear. Or a hard-working parent may simply be under too much stress to be able to devote time and attention to children who are out of school and facing a great amount of free time over the summer months.

Certain children may have a strong interest, talent or ability that can be enhanced at camp. Other children who need to develop better social skills can be helped to gain confidence and to overcome shyness or possibly get a grip on such negative tendencies as aggression of explosive anger.

Camp emphasis on teamwork and cooperation encourages consideration and fairness that can open youngsters to new and better ways of dealing with others.

After campers return from their vacations and time at day camps, parents have reported to Ms. Domizi-Gorman that the youngsters have undergone welcome changes, such as better attitudes towards siblings and a new sense of responsibility and cooperation.

Contributors to the Summit Herald Camp Fund have an opportunity to help shape young minds and hearts. The things children from deprived homes can see and learn during camp can inspire new appreciations and point the children in new directions that can affect them in positive ways for the rest of their lives.

Donors to the fund get extra value for their tax-deductible contributions, because nothing is deducted by the sponsors for the time and effort they put into administering the program. This is done as a community service so that as many children as possible can benefit.

For information about the fund, call Ms. Domizi-Gorman at 908-522-4807. Donations may be sent to the Summit Herald Camp Fund, 80 South St., New Providence 07974.

Sept. 11 memorial is fully accessible to visitors

AREA — The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders reports that the county's memorial to those residents who lost their lives in the attacks on Sept. 11, 2001, is now more accessible to visitors with disabilities.

A specially designed rear parking area with the entrance off of Mill Lane was added above the Union County September 11th Memorial in Echo Lake Park in Mountainside allowing greater access to all visitors.

The new parking area features a 24-foot-wide, two-lane access driveway utilizing the existing entrance on Mill Lane and a new 250-foot long driveway that hugs the tree line and services a new turn-around circle and four ADA parking spaces.

The turn-around loop is 70 feet in diameter to allow medium-sized transit buses to drop off visitors and easily exit the park.

Highly reflective striping and signs aid visitors using the parking area and a lighted bituminous path connects the pedestrian drop-off and parking area and provides access to the memorial.

"It is a fitting tribute to Colleen Fraser," said Charles Newman, director of the Union County Office for the Disabled, referring to the previous director who died as a passenger on United Airlines Flight 93 when it was hijacked and crashed in Pennsylvania on Sept. 11.

The State We're In

What's the state of our recycling effort in N.J.?

By MICHELE S. BYERS

When the Statewide Mandatory Source Separation and Recycling Act was passed in 1987, it set a goal of recycling 50 percent of New Jersey's municipal solid waste.

Until 1995, we did pretty well — the percentage of Municipal Solid Waste (MSW) we recycled grew steadily, to a high of 45 percent in 1995. New Jersey was second to none in recycling leadership.

Since then, however, we have been backsliding. In 2003, for example, the documented MSW recycling rate had slipped to 32 percent. However, the amount of garbage generated in New Jersey increases by nearly 20 million tons a year, which means the amount of waste recycled has actually decreased by 25 percent.

Is recycling really worth all the effort, and should we recommit to our 1987 goal?

Considering the environmental and economic benefits, the answer is a resounding "Yes!" In New Jersey alone:

Recycling has produced more than 27,000 private sector jobs; Paper recycling saves nearly 10 million trees. Compared to converting virgin raw material to paper, recycling saves nearly 700 million gallons of gas and produces nearly 135,000 less tons of air and water pollutants;

Recycling plastics reduces the nation's demands for petroleum, which is a raw material used in production. Every ton of recycled plastic reduces greenhouse gas emissions by almost 1.5 tons, and compared to producing new plastic, recycling takes almost negligible amounts of energy;

Scrap metal recycling saves more than three million tons of iron ore, coal and limestone;

More than 2,000 businesses depend on materials we separate for recycling. Recycling a ton of solid waste produces three times the number of jobs simply disposing of those materials produces; approximately 7,000 new jobs would be created if we reach the goal of recycling 50 percent of municipal solid waste;

Even items including computers and electronics can often be recycled (visit www.nrc-recycle.org/resources/electronics/managing.htm for information).

Or check with your county recycling program for possible recycling dates for these items.

There are serious consequences and lost opportunities from not having a robust recycling program in New Jersey. It's time for New Jersey to reclaim its national leadership in this area by recycling our recycling program.

In May, the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (NJDEP) released its plan to reinvigorate recycling throughout the state.

To learn more about the plan, visit NJDEP's Web site at www.state.nj.us/dep/dshw. NJDEP is accepting comments on the plan until July 15 by contacting Robert Goodwin, NJ DEP - Site Remediation and Waste Management, Division of Solid and Hazardous Waste, Bureau of Recycling and Planning, P.O. Box 414, 401 East State St., Trenton 08625 or via e-mail at Robert.Goodwin@dep.state.nj.us.

Students, faculty at Kean benefit from Schering program

AREA — Last summer, Kean University launched its inaugural 2004 Students Partnering with Faculty Summer Research Program (SpF4). The internally-funded program supported eight faculty-led research teams of 13 total students. This summer, through a $50,000 grant by the Schering-Plough Foundation in addition to a second year of internal support, the SpF5 program promises to build on the success of its predecessor.

Developed to support and advance student and faculty research and scholarship at Kean, the SpF program engages full-time faculty and undergraduate full-time students in collaboration on summer-long research projects. The majority of these projects carry on throughout the following academic years.

The award includes student and faculty stipends and is intended to cover educational and research supplies. Upon conclusion of the SpF program, all participants have their projects published in both a viewbook and a scholarly research journal, present their works at a conference and are honored at a luncheon hosted by Kean President Dawood Farahi during the fall semester.

Results from some SpF4 projects were presented at various national and global conferences, including one as far away as China.

For the SpF5 program, there are a total of nine student research teams and 25 student participants, each consisting of a faculty member and two or more students.

Obituaries

William T. Snyder, 99, formerly of Summit

William T. Snyder, a well-known resident of the Summit area since 1939, died on Tuesday, June 7, 2005, in Liberty Corner at the age of 99. In early April, Mr. Snyder had celebrated his birthday with his sons and three surviving daughters-in-law.

Mr. Snyder, the eldest of six children, was born in DeMotte, Ind., to the Reverend Cornelius and Henrietta Deelsnyder. In his early childhood, he lived in several Midwest communities where his father served as a Dutch Reformed Church minister. His mother died in early 1918 when he was 11, leaving children as young as 16 months. In the summer of 1919, during a vacation with his father to Morrison, Ill., William accepted an invitation to live on the farm of an older cousin, Bill Snyder, and his wife, who had no children of their own. William Deelsnyder graduated from Morrison High School and received his degree from Knox College in Galesburg, Ill., in 1927. At Knox, among other achievements, he served as president of the Student Council in his senior year. In 1930, following the example of other members of his family, he legally changed his surname to Snyder.

Although he wished to be remembered as a farmer, he abandoned the idea of a farming career and accepted an accounting position in Chicago with the Western Electric Company. He was soon transferred to New Jersey. The Great Depression caused a few employment changes, but in 1934, he was hired to head the Budget Department at Rockefeller Center, Inc. While with Rockefeller Center, he also attended New York University and received his master's degree. He taught at NYU for a number of years as an adjunct faculty member. At Rockefeller Center, among other responsibilities, he oversaw the introduction of computers. He was employed by Rockefeller Center for 37 years, retiring in 1971 as controller.

After being transferred east and living at the YMCA in Jersey City, Mr. Snyder was soon introduced to Irene Tonks from nearby East Orange. They were married on June 11, 1931. Irene died last year at the age of 96 after a marriage of nearly 74 years. When the first of their four sons arrived in 1939, they moved to Summit. After his retirement, Mr. and Mrs. Snyder moved to Murray Hill and finally to Fellowship Village in Liberty Corner.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder joined Central Presbyterian Church in Summit in 1943 and remained active members there during the rest of their lives. Mr. Snyder served as both a deacon and an elder with the church. He jokingly told his family that he could perform all ecclesiastical functions for them except marriage. One of his final undertakings during his early 90s related to the church's stained glass windows. It was his vision to design and install three new windows portraying stories from the Old Testament. One window depicting Moses receiving the Ten Commandments was completed in 2000. The design for a second window depicting the story of Noah's Ark was fully completed at the time of Mr. Snyder's death. A third window depicting the 23rd Psalm was in early design stages.

Mr. Snyder was also active in the Summit community in other ways. He had served on the Board of Trustees of the United Campaign of Summit from 1963 to 1967, on the Board of Trustees of the Summit Historical Society, as an advisor to the YMCA and an advisor to Summit area businesses. He also was active on a number of public school committees and committees of the Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. Snyder is survived by his four sons and their families: Robert of Sleepy Hollow, N.Y.; Harvey and Kathy of Arlington, Va.; Gordon and Lynn of Pittsburgh, Penn.; and Donald and Barbara of Burnsville, Minn.; 11 grandchildren; and four great grandchildren. A memorial service will be held in Summit at Central Presbyterian Church on Aug. 27 at 10:30 a.m.

Mrs. Broccoli was a saleslady for Closeout Corner Department Store in South Plainfield for 10 years and retired 14 years ago.

She was a member of the Park Union Guild of Deborah Hospital Foundation and the Ladies Auxiliary of VFW in Irvington.

ON THE EAGLE TRAIL - Eagle Scout candidate Alex Morrison of Summit recently completed his Leadership Service Project at Reeves-Reed Arboretum in Summit. The Leadership Service Project requires each Scouting candidate to plan, develop and give leadership to others in any religious institution, school or community organization. For his project, Morrison widened, lined and wood chipped a trail at the arboretum. The project took more than 100 hours to complete. From left are Scouts Paul Cubelli, Alex Morrison, Andrew Topazio and Isaac O'Neal.

ART DISPLAY TRACK INSTALLED - The New Jersey Center for Visual Arts has installed lights and a track hanging system at the Summit Free Public Library, 75 Maple St., to display art work. The inaugural installation of art by Jefferson Elementary School fourth graders was timed to coincide with Summit's celebration of International Children's Day on June 1. Celebrants included Summit Middle School sixth graders. Seated, row one, from left are Angelica Hughes, Caroline Hurkes, Richard Hughes and Jake Hochberger. In row two, Lauren Zarsky, Kelly Klaf, Amanda Haley, Tina Sanyour, International Children's Day co-chairs Councilwoman Diane S. Klaf, TV-36's Carole Papale, and Councilman Tom Getzendanner. In row three are Jasmine Sondhi, Rose Cromwell, Frannie Vignola, Zoe Rhinehart, Sarah Grewcock, NJ Center for Visual Arts president Eric Pryor and Summit Public Library director Glenn Devitt.

Sports

Summit still on top of local tennis scene

By ART POLAKOWSKI

AREA - The Summit High School tennis team saw its streak of six consecutive county championships conclude this past spring when the Hilltoppers finished second to Westfield at the Union County Tournament. Coach Bob McNutt's squad likewise had to settle for runner-up honors in its Iron Hills Conference, where West Essex ended Summit's skein of three straight league crowns.

Yet the 2005 campaign must still be regarded as a successful venture overall for a team that enjoys a solid history - and took an additional upward step into the ranks of New Jersey's premier programs when McNutt was brought aboard as head coach in 2002. Summit did claim its third consecutive NJSIAA State Section championship - (a title, incidentally, the Hilltoppers had never garnered prior to McNutt's arrival) - en route to a final 19-8 record.

Summit's lineup was led by junior Dave Richards, who'd moved up a slot from the second singles post he'd handled the prior season. Senior Varun Gehani took over the number-two position in May after recovering from a broken finger, while sophomore Leo Sprinzen rounded out the singles lineup.

Senior Max Potesky and sophomore Zach Goff wound up pairing at first doubles after Potesky was freed up from a singles post upon Gehani's return. Seniors Ben Sangree and Vir Singh formed the second doubles tandem.

The Hilltoppers collected their Group II sectional title in convincing fashion. The top seed in North Jersey, Section Two, Summit rolled to 5-0 victories over Cranford and Berkeley Heights before defeating Madison, 4-1, in the title round. Besides that defeat at second doubles against Madison, Summit players lost only one other set in those three matches.

Richards defeated Berkeley Heights standout Adam Geiger, 6-4, 6-3, when Summit and Governor Livingston hooked up in a section semifinal. Geiger had been the runner-up at the Union County Tournament, an event in which Richards was only the fourth seed. Which sent Dave against New Providence's top-rated Kevin Chen, the UCT's prohibitive favorite, and resulted in a semifinal-round ouster. Richards also beat a highly-regarded opponent when the Hilltoppers faced Madison, logging a 6-2, 6-1 triumph over Mike Hoberman.

Gehani posted straight-set wins in all three of his sectional matches, while Sprinzen rallied against Madison's Andrew Hoberman for a three-set verdict after dropping the opener, 2-6. The Potesky/Goff combination rolled to straight-set victories in each of their section outings.

Summit advanced one round farther at the Group level, defeating Central Jersey champion Rumson by a 4-1 score. It proved a more lopsided match than might have been anticipated, as the Hilltoppers singles guys lost only four games total. Summit also won in straight sets at first doubles.

The Hilltoppers' campaign concluded with a defeat 4-1 against Tenafly in the statewide championship match. Regarded as New Jersey's best Group II contingent virtually the entire season, the Bergen County school became 27-2 via that result.

Sprinzen won his third singles bout, 6-2, 6-0, but the other four contests resulted in straight-set victories for Tenafly.

Gehani was Summit's lone flight winner at the Union County Tournament, but at that stage of the spring Varun (having just come off the injured list) was playing in the third singles slot. Where his prior credentials earned him the number-one seed. Gehani defeated Westfield's second-seeded Ravi Netravali, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4 in a close final bout.

Both Summit doubles entries were runners-up at the UCT. Potesky and Goff, seeded second, wound up where the chalk had indicated, Max and Zach providing a competitive (6-3, 6-4) doubles final to Westfield's Lee Bernstein and Brian Kender.

Meanwhile, Sangree and Singh came even closer to winning their bracket from the third-seeded position. The Summit combo rallied to upset Scotch Plains' second-ranked duo in the semifinal round, capturing a third-set tiebreaker after losing the opening set. Sangree and Singh went on to take Westfield's Andrew Levy and Jack Trimble to three sets, in a 5-7, 7-5, 6-3 final that (unfortunately) wound up deciding the team championship.

At the top of the draw, Richards provided New Providence's Chen as tough a match as any Union County player did all season, although the Pioneer ace prevailed, 7-5, 6-3. Sprinzen, playing in the second position then, lost a three-set semifinal bout to Scotch Plains' Ryan Krueger.

Berkeley Heights finished with a 15-5 record. The Governor Livingston netsters won a round of the State Tournament against Fort Lee before its 5-0 defeat against Summit in the sectional semifinals. And even though all five bouts were straight-set results, three of them proved quite competitive.

Along with Geiger's encounter against Richards in the top spot, GL's Conrad Zagazazu played a 6-3, 6-4 match against Gehani at second singles. While the Highlanders' first doubles tandem of Brandon Alboum and Greg Chilson took Potesky and Goff to a first-set tiebreaker, although Summit's tandem won the second set, 6-1.

Bryan Heersema represented GL at third singles, while Eric Bernston and Mike Knapp were the second doubles pairing.

Second-seeded at the County Tournament, Geiger gave Chen a decent battle in the UCT title bout while dropping a 6-3, 6-3 result. Adam's a senior who was also the tourney runner-up his junior year.

Zagazazu, Heersema, and the second doubles unit all reached that tournament's semifinal round. Zagazazu was a fourth seed and Heersema a third. The Bernston-Knapp combination played well in the UCT, winning a set against Westfield's eventual flight-winning duo during their semifinal-round defeat.

Chen was anticipated to be Union County's best player prior to the 2005 tennis season, and Kevin measured up to those expectations. The Pioneer junior went through the team segment of the campaign with a perfect 24-0 record and added two wins in NJSIAA individual play before exiting that tournament with a final 26-1 mark.

Chen led New Providence to a 16-5 record, although the NP season ended on a disappointing note with a loss to a not-that-highly-regarded Florence squad in the Group I Central Jersey title match. Chen provided the lone New Providence victory that afternoon, on which the top-seeded Pioneers were deploying a reconfigured lineup minus two regulars, second singles player Val Mehkanic and first doubles guy Chris Mango.

Bogdan Lysikov played third singles for New Providence most of the season before finishing in the second spot. Adam Vidal was a first doubles regular who subsequently joined the singles lineup.

Oratory concluded its season with an 8-11 record. The Rams' lineup included first singles player Reggie Sampson, second singles Ken Bayne, and third singles Joe Beninati.

Justin Ferrante and Andrew Topazio comprised the first doubles unit. Phil Caciopio and Jason Khurdan paired at second doubles.

Teen triathletes to compete in area's first swim-bike-run

AREA - A Mid-Summer Youth Triathlon - the first such swim-bike-run event to be held locally - will take place on the morning of Saturday, July 30.

A total of up to 300 teenagers, age 10-17, will compete in a 250-yard swim event at the New Providence Community Pool, a two-mile bike race on the grounds of New Providence High School and surrounding residential streets, and a ¼ mile run which ends in front of the grandstand in the New Providence High School stadium.

"The pool and surrounding area provides a natural setting to host a triathlon with very high safety standards," said race organizer Mark Sajer. "The swim is monitored by life guards, and the bike and run courses are within the park and roads closed to traffic. Also, the setting is ideal for friends and family to witness the event."

The Pioneer Triathlon Association, a 501.c.3 not-for-profit entity, is accepting donations, sponsors, volunteers and participants.

The event is open to all youths whose age on race day is 10 to 17. They will compete in four age group brackets: 10&11, 12&13, 14&15 and 16&17, and by male/female categories.

Triathlon is a swim-bike-run competition based on a competitor's total time from the start of the swim to crossing the finishing line at the end of the running event. The Mid-Summer Youth Triathlon will use an "individual time trial" format, where each competitor will start the swim, one at a time, at 20 second intervals, and races against the clock. The swim is a point-to-point course, following the perimeter of the New Providence Community Pool's upper and lower pools, for a total of 250 yards.

A transition area is set up outside the pool for each competitor's bike, helmet and sneakers. The two-mile bike course is a loop around the grounds of New Providence High School and onto a road loop in the Magnolia Street area which will be closed to traffic, before returning to the park and a second transition area where the bike is dropped off.

The run course is a cross country type loop around the school playing fields, finishing on the high school track at the grandstands for a ¼ mile course.

On race day, body marking will start at 6:30 a.m., with the first competitor starting at 7:00 a.m. and the last competitor finishing around 10 a.m.

Timing will be provided by New Providence-based Compuscore, using a plastic chip attached to a Velcro strap around each competitor's ankle. As a competitor crosses a timing mat, his or her time is recorded. The race results will be tallied by computer and announced at the awards ceremony about 10:30 a.m.

The event is limited to 300 competitors from any community.

The race is sanctioned by USA Triathlon, the national governing body for triathlon. The sport of triathlon became an Olympic event at the Sydney 2000 Olympics. In the hope of grooming future Olympic athletes, USAT is supporting youth events for "first timers" to try out the sport.

For sponsor/donor information, contact Mr. Sajer at 908-918-9151 or at mss2020@aol.com. For race information, contact Race Director Tracey Swenson, at 201-919-3029 or at traceyswen@yahoo.com.

Race registration and information are available at www.active.com with a race fee of $25, which includes a one-day USAT race license.

Berkeley Heights native trains for Chicago Triathlon, raises funds for Leukemia & Lymphoma Society

BERKELEY HEIGHTS - Madeleine West, a Governor Livingston High School graduate, Class of 2000, and a Berkeley Heights native, is training to compete in the Accenture Chicago Triathlon, to raise funds for The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society. The society's mission is to find cures for leukemia, lymphoma, Hodgkin's disease and myeloma and improve the quality of life for patients and their families.

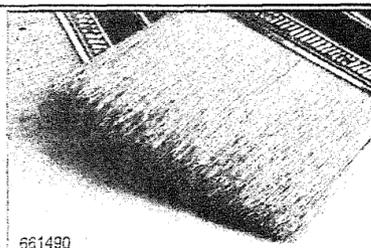

Ms. West, whose family resides in Berkeley Heights, is currently a resident of Washington, DC. She will compete in the Chicago Triathlon in honor of two Washington, DC blood cancer patients. Her personal goal is to raise $4,000 for the society by Aug. 1.

Competitors in the Accenture Chicago Triathlon, an Olympic Distance triathlon, swim 0.9 miles, bike 24.8 miles and run 6.2 miles. The society's five-month team in training, an endurance sports training program, helps participants prepare to run or walk a full or half marathon, cycle a 100-mile century ride or complete a triathlon. The program provides personalized coaching, group training and support.

In addition to weekly training sessions under the guidance of a certified coach, team in training offers clinics on nutrition, equipment, injury prevention and safety. Participants are also given tools to help them fundraise. The society arranges airfare and lodging to send participants to their event of choice.

The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society, headquartered in White Plains, NY, has 63 chapters in the United States and added branches in Canada. Call the society's information resource center at 800-955-4572, weekdays, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

SECTION 30, REGULATING MASSAGE PARLORS, as follows:

30-1. License required. No person shall be engaged or employed in the City as a massage technician for which any form of compensation is changed or accepted without first having obtained a license from the Chief of Police to do so. The license when issued, shall be for a period of one year, and shall be construed to grant a certification of occupancy or approval for the use of any premises or location.

30-2. Definitions. As used in this chapter, the following terms shall have the meanings indicated:

EMPLOYEE - Any person other than a massage practitioner who renders any service in connection with the operation of a massage business and receives compensation from the operator of the business or patrons.

HEALTH OFFICER - Any person who provides municipal sanitary health services.

LICENSEE - The operator of a massage establishment.

MASSAGE - Any method of pressure on or friction against any part of the body, including rubbing, tapping, pounding, vibrating or stimulating of the external soft parts of the body with the hands, feet or with the aid of any mechanical or electrical apparatus or appliance, with or without such supplementary aids as rubbing alcohol, liniments, antiseptics, oil, powder, creams, lotions, ointments or other similar preparations commonly used in this practice. This provision does not preclude massages of the hands or feet generally associated with hair and nail salons, nor does it preclude the practice of chiropractic medicine with a valid New Jersey license for same.

MASSAGE ESTABLISHMENT - Any establishment having a fixed place of business where any person, firm, association or corporation engages in, carries on or permits to be engaged in or carried on any of the activities mentioned in the definition of massage.

MASSAGE PRACTITIONER - Any person who is duly licensed by the State Department of Education to practice massage therapy at and has received a diploma or certificate of completion in the field of massage therapy from an educational institution offering degree and/or certification in massage therapy and approved or accredited by the State Department of Education within this state or an equivalent governing body within this state, an individual who is a member of a national association of certification board and meets all requirements as outlined by the Board of Nursing, State of New Jersey.
