LARGEST DRY AND FANCY GOODS HOUSE IN NEW JERSEY.

THE BEE HIVE

NEWARK, N. J.

Bargains in Trunks and Bags.

Outing time is with us. Probably you've already planned and arranged the details of your summer jaunt. Have you thought of a trunk? How yours? Will it stand another "rough-and-tumble" time in the baggage breaker's hands? If it won't, we have the kind that will. They're well and strongly made, and just meant for knocking about. Come in and look them over—examine the price checks, too.

We mustn't forget to mention Bags, Telescopes, Dress Suit Cases, Trunk Straps and all the other thousand-and-one things that make traveling comfortable. Look them all over. Prices are interesting.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.
Communications intended for this column must be signed, and should not exceed 300 words in length.

Card From the Rev. S. W. Caldwell.

To the Editor of the Standard.

Dear Sir—Many of your readers may already be aware that I have been chosen as one of the editors of the new Union County History, representing Westfield township. I earnestly and respectfully request the assistance and cooperation of all of Westfield's citizens who may be interested in our past history or our future growth and prosperity. Specifically, I make following requests:

1. Any historical data, prior to 1881, not found in any published history.
2. Interesting facts or traditions in connection with our early history, not yet published.
3. A picture of the old academy near the Presbyterian church. Anyone in possession of such a picture will confer a great favor by loaning it for a few days.
4. A picture of the old Corta Osborn house on Central Avenue.
5. A picture of the Rev. Alexander Frazer.
6. A picture or draft of the Presbyterian church building prior to 1893.
7. Anyone desiring to have portraits of themselves or their ancestors, or pictures of their present residences or business buildings appear in the history, will please notify me at once.
8. A brief history of the public library with a correct list of officers from the beginning.
9. The same of the Children's Country home.
10. The same of the Fresh Air camp.
11. The same of the Westfield and Social clubs, etc.

I take the Westfield book published by the Standard in 1893 as the basis for the history of the various associations, clubs, lodges, churches, professions etc. Please notify me of any corrections or additions necessary to be made in the forthcoming book.

I have been working upon this history for months, and have searched the local and state libraries with fair success. It is at best a thankless task, but with the hearty cooperation of all it is possible to have a crisp, accurate, up to date history of Westfield. This will be thanks enough.

An immediate response is necessary, since the publishers wish to issue the book in July.

N. W. CADWELL.

Grant's Different Hats.
After his return from abroad Grant had a little Japanese servant, who took charge of him as though the general were a bit of machinery and he were the engineer. Some of the newspaper men noticed that in the course of one trip Grant had on six different hats, and they laughingly asked him what was the significance of the change. Grant said: "Why, I do not know. I supposed I had on the same hat all the time."

Investigation brought out the fact that the little Jap, through the suggestion of some of the ladies of the party or some of the committee, had received ideas as to what kind of a hat the general ought to wear at certain towns. If it was a college town, just before he arrived the little Jap would tiptoe to the general, remove the slouch hat, place a silk hat carefully on the general's head and trip out, the general never losing a word of any conversation. At the next stop, if it was explained to the little Jap that it was a soldier town, off would come the silk hat and on went the general's military hat. He made it a rule for the general never to appear at two places in the same hat, and the joke of it was that Grant himself did not know anything of the scheme.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Appreciation.
"I hope you appreciate the fact, sir, that in marrying my daughter you marry a large hearted, generous girl."
"I do, sir (with emotion), and I hope she inherits those qualities from her father."—Harlem Life.

Goodberry Catchup.
Though not very generally used, country housekeepers know that goodberry catchup is a first class relish with cold meats and handy to have in the house. To 3 pounds of the fruit add 4 pounds of sugar, a pint of vinegar, 3 ounces of cloves and 2 of cinnamon. Boil 4 hours, bottle and seal.

Fashion Echoes.
Gray is one of the fashionable colors of the season.
Young women as well as matrons now wear jeweled ornaments in the hair.
White and embroidered with colored beads is used for revers, cuffs and belts on cloth gowns.
Lace jackets worn with very thin gowns are one of the latest novelties, and the newest form shows a postilion back.
There is at present a fad for gem jewelry that possesses historic merit as well as value in stones and workmanship.
The sleeves of thin dresses are either shirred or trimmed round with rows of tucks and lace insertion.
Pretty piece gowns are made with blouse bodices.

PUBLIC SCHOOL CLOSING.
A Brilliant Finish, Though a Dreadfully Hot One.
It was a dreadfully sultry night in Cranford last night, the weather proving the only drawback to an otherwise splendid success. The open house was full at 8 o'clock, all the seats being taken and at 8:15 the doors were closed—metaphorically speaking, of course. A top was tied across the foot of the stairway and all comers were stopped there. The room was much too crowded for comfort, even if the weather had been cool. Five of the band of education had seats on the platform with the graduating class, and two more—Messrs. Ferguson and Plume, assisted in managing the entertainment. There was a list of fourteen ushers chosen from the classes of '33 to '96.

The first thirteen numbers were by pupils of the primary department, and their declamations, recitations etc., were uniformly well done. The light comedy for the occasion was furnished by two boys and twelve girls in a "Recitation of Proverbs" and by "A Scene in court, by six of the older boys. "Paradise and the Peri" a pantomime by twelve girls in white Greek drapery with bare arms was much appreciated. There were 60 essays by Misses Mabel J. Smock, Carrie D. Nix, Lenita Taylor, and Mary E. Littell. The salutatory was by Miss Littell, and the valedictory by Miss Taylor.

There were eight graduates—the Misses Lenita Taylor, Carrie Davidson Nix, Mary Emma Littell, Mabel Jeanette Smock, and Florence Peterson, and Clifton Ray Cox, William R. V. Howell and William Frobenick Breker.

The Rev. George Francis Greener presented county certificates to about a dozen pupils and the Chronicle prizes for English composition to Miss Mary E. Littell, $5, and Austin Dohrman, $2.

President Noel R. Park presented the diplomas to the graduates in a neat speech.

S. W. Reese, of the Westfield board of education, had a seat on the platform for a part of the evening.

The opera house block was policed and the crowd well managed in a very gentlemanly manner by a detachment of six or eight men from the local fire department.

The printed program was a model for the compact information it contained, and is worth preserving.

WHAT POSED HIM.

The Mythological Centaur and the Proper Medicine Man.

The man with a valise and an umbrella had bought one or two cheap volumes of fiction, when a more pretentious publication on a counter near the door caught his attention. It contained a number of elaborate pictures of mythological characters, and he was glancing rapidly through it when one of the pages attracted his especial interest. He lingered over it, turned several leaves and then went back. After he had started away and gone as far as the door the fascination again proved irresistible, and he was soon gazing thoughtfully at the same page.

"Can we do something more for you?" asked the clerk.

"You learn a great deal about what's in these books, don't you?" he asked.

"We naturally become familiar with the contents in the course of time," was the answer.

"Well, it will probably be exposing my ignorance for me to ask it, but I wish you would tell me what that is," and he turned the book around so that the salesman could see. "I never had much chance to study up on natural history," he added apologetically.

"That, sir, is a centaur," was the answer.

His curiosity was not yet satisfied. He dropped his head over on his shoulder and looked at the picture with one eye.

"I suppose," he resumed, "that this thing wouldn't bother me so much if I hadn't recently gone on the road for a patent medicine firm. That has given me an interest I never had before. And you know whenever a man has just taken up a subject it's hard for him to get it off his mind. I don't believe that I ever will get over being puzzled about that centaur."

"In what way?"

"Supposing he got sick?"

"Well?"

"Whom would they send for, a regular physician or a veterinary surgeon?"—Washington Star.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Youth's Cruelty.

We have the phrase as "tender hearted as a child," but in reality nothing is so hard and cruel as youth. Its judgments are inexorable. It confounds the sinner and the sin. It is impatient and implacable. Only after one has lived and suffered and has known the temptations and trials of life does one learn to deal gently with the weak and faults of his brother man and to throw about the world the tender and enveloping mantle of charity and sympathy.

Surely this broader comprehension and sympathy is some compensation for growing old. To it may be added the fact not always appreciated—that as one grows older one enjoys with a cultivated sense many things of which youth is profoundly ignorant.

The young devour all pleasure with the indiscriminating appetite of the farm laborer. The older person chooses warily, as an epicure selects among the dishes of a feast. Perhaps the panorama of life is not less beautiful to the old than the young.

Only the picture is changed. It is no longer a gaudy chromo, but an etching. —Philadelphia Times.

Something to Know. It may be worth something to know that the very best medicine for restoring the tired out nervous system to a healthy vigor is Electric Bites. This medicine is purely vegetable, acts by giving tone to the nerve centers in the stomach, gently stimulates the liver and kidneys, and aids these organs in throwing off impurities in the blood. Electric Bites improves the appetite, aids digestion, and is pronounced by those who have tried it as the very best blood purifier and nerve tonic. Try it. Sold for one dollar per bottle at Dorvall's drug store.

Mediums in China Painting.

Various mediums are used in china painting, so that if you find that one is unpleasant you are at liberty to select another equally good and more agreeable. Lavender oil and alcohol, half and half, are mixed with great success. There are also refined spirits of turpentine, fat oil and turpentine. Turpentine is preferred by workmen and is most in use in workshops and factories. Amateurs who only paint occasionally should not buy more than a quart at a time, for it grows fat by standing and becomes unfit for use except for fat oil. The best quality can be had at the paint stores, where there is a greater demand for it than at the druggists, so there is no danger of getting that which is old and fatty. Besides, it is 2 or 3 cents a quart cheaper at the paint stores. Take your own little, and you can lay a quart for 10 or 11 cents.—Art Amateur.

The Greatest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Groove, merchant of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief, spent many nights sitting up in a chair, was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the greatest remedy ever made as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for coughs, colds and consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at Dorvall's drug store.

Had Enough.

Two Turks were at a French banquet. Forward the conclusion of the feast a Frenchman selected a toothpick from the tray near him and politely passed the tray on to his neighbor, who, however, peremptorily declined the offer, exclaiming: "No, thank you. I have already eaten two of the accused things, and I want no more."—San Francisco Argonaut.

What the Shakers of Mount Lebanon know more about than anyone else is the use of herbs and how to be healthy. They have studied the power of food. They nearly all live to a ripe old age.

The Shaker Digestive Cordial is prepared by the Shakers from herbs and plants with a special tonic power over the stomach. It helps the stomach digest its food, and digested food is the strength maker. Strong muscles, strong body, strong brain, all come from properly digested food.

A sick stomach can be cured and digestion made easy by Shaker Digestive Cordial. It cures the nausea, loss of appetite, pain in the stomach, headache, dizziness, weakness and all the other symptoms of indigestion, certainly and permanently.

SCIENCE SUCCEEDS IN PROLONGING LIFE OF A GRAND ARMY MAN.

Capitulation Demonstrates their Efficacy in Strengthening the Weak and Aged.

How many have had a more varied or interesting life than Wm. Jenkins of 317 Madison Ave., Philadelphia. A veteran of the rebellion through which he battled with the 6th New York thirty years in the most dangerous service in which he served all others he stands as the age of 74 a soldier and sailor Tom. As Kipling says:

Just now, Mr. Jenkins is attracting more than ordinary attention because of his experience with Capituloids, the greatest triumph of science.

No man could face the hardships of a soldier's and sailor's life without feeling the effects when rounding the last lap of a three score years and ten and this man is no exception. Four years ago, in consequence, that he attacked him and he was compelled to leave the service of the sea for a more quiet life. Relaxation seemed if anything to aggravate the trouble, ability taking a little hold and the more sturdy defender of his North's honor to a mere shell of misery and pain. Amputation was a thing unknown, every leg broken him, life was a burden. He felt to me was made but a memory. He could not get on his feet. He was covered with pain, his limbs were battering with weakness and he could not find relief. I took quinine in almost unbroken quantities but it did no more good than other things. This was my lot for years and I can say with a certain truth that my little home, far from me, I long believed that medical science would some day discover a marvelous method of curing disease, and when I heard of Capituloids, and learned that they contained iron, I bought a trial bottle. At that time Capituloids were not easily obtained in this country but I was determined to have them, and finally succeeded in getting three trial bottles. This was about two months ago and you can see for yourself the state of my health today.

As the reporter looked at Mr. Jenkins it was hard to realize his suffering. Dressed in his usual Army uniform, standing as great a general of a vigorous army as his own day, majestic and imperial made him a picture of the ideal soldier.

"I don't," he commented, "why I can eat like a soldier before the rest, and digest it too. My food does me good, my work does me good, my sleep does the good. All in all I think I am about as spry as any man you'll find of my age."

I saw this blessing to Dr. Campbell, the discoverer of Capituloids, and my own wish is to live to see the day I can thank him for this great gift to humanity.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capituloids represent the consumption of a life long experience of physicians that one method of restoring the natural iron of Hemo-globin in the blood would result in a marvelous decrease in all diseases traceable to the blood. Dr. Campbell realized that the experiments made with the ordinary iron medicines, all of which are and preparations of metallic iron and with the ordinary sulphate of iron promised naught. If the discovery was to be made new fields must be explored. Research led to the discovery that the blood of healthy babies contained iron in exactly the same form it exists in human blood. To extract it was no easy task but science prevailed and today we have within our reach not only an infallible means of restoring the vitality of the blood but also really the only scientific method of curing stubborn diseases of all kinds through elevating the blood with iron.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capituloids are sold by all leading druggists at 60 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capituloid Company, Building Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

Punctures in the well known Morgan & Wright tire are mended about as easily as a man would close a hole in his finger with a bit of court plaster. Inside of the inner tube of the tire lies a long strip of preeling rubber, like this:

By injecting M. & W. quick-repair cement through the puncture into this inner tube, and then pressing down on the tire with the thumb, like this,

the repair strip inside is picked up by the cement, thus closing the puncture, like this:

Very simple, but—now every rider should remember these two "butts," or he will fail!

Before injecting cement, pump up the tire. If you don't, the inner tube will be baby, like this, and the cement will not get inside of it, where the repair strip lies.

After the tire has been repaired, and inflated ready for riding, if it still leaks don't stiel the injector into the puncture again, because that will puncture the repair strip itself, like this, and you will have to pull out the inner tube and make an old-fashioned repair by putting a patch of rubber on the outside of the inner tube.

Strikes and starvation, or starvation and strikes? Well fed, comfortably fed people do not strike.

If you must or will keep a dog won't you please make him be quiet at night so that your neighbors can sleep?

We observe without surprise that William Jennings Bryan still holds a warm place in the hearts of the people.

The trial of the trusts will amount to nothing more than a bill for costs of trial to be paid by their victims—the public B. D.

The boarding time approaches when farmer Wayback gets hunk with the city sharp for selling him that gold brick.

The compositor of the Washington newspaper who made it read "office suckers" instead of "office seekers," wrought better than he knew.

Tesla predicts that the inhabitants of this earth will be talking with the inhabitants of Mars, our next door neighbor, in times to come.

Had Mr. Cleveland turned his attention exclusively, as now, to athletics and fishing while he was president it would have been vastly better for the country.

The STANDARD has, it is true, undertaken to re-construct and reform the whole world. This seems to be a pretty big job for some country newspapers; but for the STANDARD it is simply an after-dinner exercise.

The United States has been an innocent bystander all too long in this Cuban matter. Had we statesmen and patriots instead of politicians at Washington, Cuba would long ago have been accorded fair play in her struggle for life and liberty.

It will be interesting to learn what the party politicians will bait their trap with in 1900. The people have learned by bitter experience that they are growing leaner while the monopolists are growing fatter under the Gold confidence plan.

An exceptionally vivacious lady from the South, but formerly a resident of Westfield, is so glad to get back that she has commissioned the STANDARD's editor to hug everybody in Westfield for her. Lingo forms at the head of Broad street. Ladies first.

Meanwhile it is not so much "The Sidewalks of New York" as "The Sidewalks of Westfield" that should go down to posterity in song. But the composer would finish with a dirge, however he might start with an anthem, after an experience on some of our sidewalks on a dark night or a rainy day.

Now that old Sol is getting down to business, the ice trust employees threaten a strike against another cut in wages, while the price of ice is likely to be higher rather than lower owing to the run on summer drinks and the power of the combine, which is complete with the natural tendency to grasp for increased dividends on watered stock.

We read with emotion that Queen Victoria weeps and laments over Ireland's despair. When Queen Victoria's weepings and lamentations materialize in just release from taxes imposed upon the poor of Ireland in behalf of the Crown and for the support of whole regiments of royal families that they may live at ease without work—we say that when this happens we will take some stock in the Queen's tears and wails.

One of the most remarkable feats in Westfield's base ball history is the organization of the present club with the means on hand. The Westfields have won six out of the seven played. To the ordinary observer their play is up to that of league games, and the expert will find opportunity for applause throughout any of the games played by the club. Those of Saturday, June 12, on the Westfield grounds and of June 19, at Plainfield, were models for amateur clubs. What the club needs and deserves is the support of our citizens, now that they have done their part. Shall they have it? Go with your ladies and take a grand stand seat.

A company of good natured and, doubtless, well-intentioned lads and young men of Westfield made a confounded nuisance of themselves Wednesday evening by organizing a "Skimmerton" and then deliberately repairing to the stopping place of a newly married couple for the sole purpose of making themselves so intolerably objectionable that, for the sake of peace, they would be bribed to silence. They kept up a din far into the night, and until they were bought off. Our lack of local government afforded the afflicted community no protection against the bad dits; all of which is nothing to the credit of Westfield.

Donations to Children's Country Home. From May 1 to June 13, 1897. Mr. Irving, coal; August Swartz, straw for 12 beds, Methodist Aid society, 10 pairs gingham drawers; Y. L. Miller, cakes; a friend, lettuce, 10 lbs. oatmeal; Mrs. Fairbairn, 6 quarts ice cream; a friend, strawberries, ham, eggs, potatoes, vegetables; Mrs. Gildersleeve, jelly. Miss A. M. Clark, Mrs. T. B. Greene.

Fire-side Celebrates. Last evening, in all the heat, Fireside Council, Royal Arcanum, celebrated the twelfth anniversary of the noble brotherhood. Of course the ladies were present and, dressed in the gay habiliments of the season made a bright and attractive picture. Gentlemen in full dress suits were in evidence; although the occasion was of the delightfully informal character that is generally cultivated and preferred by the society, which is democratic from the ground up. Orator C. C. Dilts had charge of the affair after Judge John B. Green had presided over a hurried business meeting. Marie Budworth was requested to sing a group of Fire-side songs and she did so with much acceptability. They were Eugene Field's "Little Boy Blue," "Daddy" and "Annie." She also accompanied George W. Day in his original songs, and played for Alfred E. Pearsall who sang "The Sentinel Am I," and, as an encore "The Holy City." Mr. Day was very funny, and worked the company to a high pitch of hilarity, so that all were ready for Bro. John J. Schmidt's generously provided and toothsome refreshments.

The "Proper Thing" in Bath Rooms. Nowadays seems to be to have floor and wainscoting tiled—not only this, but many of the newer houses are having kitchen floors, chimney breasts and sometimes entire side walls tiled. Curtis M. Thorpe at Plainfield is making a specialty of this kind of work and has laid a large amount of tile in this vicinity. Employing only the best workmen, guaranteeing his work and giving it personal supervision, he has been enabled to build up and maintain a reputation for first class work. He has now the largest and most complete mantel and tile showroom in New Jersey. Mr. Thorpe is also showing a fine line of fret work and grille for use in halls, doorways etc.

WOMAN'S SPHERE.

EDITED BY HAROLD E. CLAYTON—W. C. T. U. MARY W. KNIGHT, Public Library, Woman's Club, Westfield, N. J., June 25, 1897.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held upon the 22d inst. in the parlors of Mrs. Johnson, Broad street, a liberal number of ladies being present.

Several interesting papers were read, and the president Miss Starr, gave a reading of a poem entitled Woman's Hour.

Mrs. Samuel Merrill of Plainfield, formerly president of the Oldford, Cal., branch, read a paper touching upon several important points of the general workings of the organization, prominent among which were the efforts made by the presidents of several of the different branches to have a bill passed at Washington to prevent the sale of intoxicants in the capital buildings and grounds. After making inquiry, these ladies obtained an audience with a very prominent senator, representing one of our leading states, and speedily made their business known to him. The senator, striking an attitude and putting his thumbs in his pockets, said, "Ladies, I take wine or beer with my dinner every day, and I do not want my personal liberty interfered with." After appealing to him to interest himself in the matter for the sake of the young men and boys who were being daily thrown into temptation, they secured his promise to attend a meeting to be held by them for the purpose of talking over the merits of the bill. Upon the appointed day the Senator failed to put in an appearance, and upon inquiry they learned that he had suddenly fallen ill and had left for Florida or some other temporary refuge. This compelled these earnest workers to begin all over again, with the result that they succeeded in interesting one who not only attended their meeting, but actually presented their bill to the Senate. It was killed, however, by the action of Senator Hill, who, though a total abstainer, objected to the bill upon the score of personal liberty, stating as an argument that during his entire administration as governor of New York state liquor had always been sold in the state capital, and he saw no reason for prohibiting their sale at Washington. A prompt use of the telegraph by one of the ladies disclosed the fact that Mr. Hill was mistaken, either intentionally or otherwise; but, although copies of this telegram were distributed among the senators, the position taken by him had prevented all possibility of the bill passing.

An excellent paper was also read upon the subject of the use of fermented wines at the communion table, at the conclusion of which our president made the cheering announcement that all of our local churches, with one exception, had adopted the use of the same, our colored brethren having recently given assurance that they will still continue the use of it, as they have been doing for about a year past.

Rev. Dr. Babington on Suffrage. But, again, you hear it said on all sides, this is not woman's sphere. I answer, We can place no limitation to woman's sphere. Woman's sphere is what she can fill, not more, not less. It is not so many years ago since we were told it was unwomanly for a clever woman to write a novel. Jane Austin had difficulties in that line. At every advance in woman's education, at every step which seemed to place her in competition with men, she has been greeted with scoffings and abuse. But the nature of things is too strong for us all, and whether we will or whether we will not, the tides bear us on.

Did You Ever? An advocate of dress reform. In dress reform army. Walked out for reasons known to her. It was a rainy day. Her gown was neat. And short and sweet. And frankly showed her tiny feet. And sister women looked askance. Exclaiming with each side-long glance: Did you ever?

The advocate of dress reform. Without the least dismay. Goes safely over the muddy street. And lightly on her way. Her sisters gasp. And clutch and clap. Their garments with a frantic grasp. And hit their skirts, quite unaware of heights no dress reform would dare. Did you ever?

The advocate of dress reform. Goes home quite fresh and dry. And, full of satisfaction, puts Her natty storm suit by. Her sisters fret. At mud and wet. And scowl and shake and brist, and yet Console themselves in spite of dirt. "At least we wear a modest skirt!" Did you ever?

Wedding Bells. A very pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gardner, 198 Arlington avenue, Plainfield, when their daughter, Cora Earl, was happily married to Joseph Floyd Tracy Fuller, also of Plainfield. Mr. Fuller and Miss Gardner are both well known in Westfield, Miss Gardner having formerly lived here. The wedding march was beautifully played by Miss F. Almeta Crosby of this place. Many friends from Plainfield and Westfield were present. Among those from Westfield were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Welch, Miss Clara B. Welch, Miss F. A. Crosby, Miss May J. Crosby, M. T. Townley, Wm. J. Taylor and E. L. Fitch. An unusually large number of very handsome and useful presents were received. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller after an extensive trip through New York state will reside at 215 E. Fifth street, Plainfield.

VICTORIA'S JUBILEE.

ALL GREAT BRITAIN HAS A WEEK OF HOLIDAYS.

The Queen Attended Services Sunday, and is Taking Active Part in the Celebration. Crowded Procession and Unprecedented Crush.

London, June 23.—The great mass of thronging and other folks who are crowded into London are as uncomfortable as they well can be.

There never was a convention crowd in an American city that compares with the present crush of distinguished people in London today. Every Nation has sent its delegates and its special envoys to do honor to the Queen of Great Britain and Empress of India.

These have found accommodations anywhere and everywhere. The hotels could not begin to accommodate half the crowd, the boarding houses are filled from cellar to garret, and there are thousands who have to find rooms several miles away from London.

The public program began on Sunday, when in every church in England, in the Colonies and most of the other lands, there was invoked Divine blessings upon the Queen and the Empire of which she is the ruler and upon the great show which celebrates the sixtieth anniversary of her accession to the throne.

Queen Victoria attended services at St. George's Chapel, Windsor, where her Majesty paid her devotions, and offered solemn thanksgiving.

The services lasted forty minutes, the Queen remaining seated throughout and following closely the special prayers and hymns.

At the end there was a pause. The Queen, with bowed head, continued in silent prayer. Then followed a touching scene, which will ever linger in the memory of those who witnessed it. Summoning Empress Frederick, who bowed low at her side, the Queen kissed her on both cheeks. The Duke of Connaught and the others of the family followed, receiving on bended knee a similar token of affection. In many cases the recipient was kissed several times.

The Queen was profoundly moved, and tears rolled down her cheeks. At last, and evidently with great reluctance she beckoned her Indian attendant, and leaning on his arm passed slowly out of the chapel, the entire congregation standing.

The entire week is given up to holiday making. Commercial houses have shut their doors. Banks are closed, and everything is sacrificed to feasting and cheering.

Tuesday was the great day, and the Saturday following it will witness similar festivities.

The following is the programme of the week. On Monday the court moved in semi-state to London, and that evening there was a banquet at Buckingham Palace in honor of the royal guests. It was followed by a reception for the members of the Diplomatic Corps and the Special Envoys.

On Tuesday the royal procession through the streets of London was the great feature of the day. It was followed by illuminations at night.

There was a garden party at Buckingham Palace on Wednesday, to which thousands were invited.

The court on Thursday will move in semi-state to Windsor.

On Friday there will be a banquet at Windsor Castle.

On Saturday will take place the great naval review at Spithead, in which the finest ships of the United States Navy will take part.

The great procession of Tuesday was led by an imposing army of regulars, with bands, and seven batteries of artillery. This was the vanguard.

Then came the royal aides de camp, the field marshals and their equerries, the foreign attaches and deputations, the Queen's Prussian Dragoons, the Lord Mayor of London, thirty-six English and foreign princes, the Indian escort and Lord Wolseley, the Commander-in-Chief of the army, immediately preceding the Queen, who had the Duke of Connaught on her right hand and the Prince of Wales, and the Duke of Connaught on her left.

The Grand Parade. Mr. G. W. Stevens writes in the Daily Mail describing the Queen's approach: "Riding three and three came a kaleidoscope of dazzling ornaments, equerries, aides de camp, attaches, Ambassadors, and Princes, all the pomp of all the nations of the earth—scarlet and gold, azure and gold, purple and gold, white and gold—always a changing tangle of colors that seemed to list and gleam with a light of its own. It was a crowd. No eye could bear more gorgeousness; no more gorgeousness could there be, unless the Princes are to clothe themselves in rainbows and the very sun.

Already carriages were rolling up, full of the Queen's kindred, full of her children and her children's children, but we hardly looked at them. Down came through an avenue of water faces, through a storm of white, washed, handkerchiefs, through roaring volleys of cheers, there was approaching a carriage drawn by eight black-colored horses.

As all leaped up. Cheers broke into a storm, and the enthusiasm swelled to delirium. The sun, watery until now, shone out suddenly, clear and dry, and there was a little, plump, old lady, all in black with a crown of pearls under her black bonnet, and with a simple white muslin, sitting quite still, with the corners of her mouth drawn up as if she was trying not to cry. But that old lady was the Queen, and you knew it. You did not want to look at the glittering uniforms now, nor yet at the bright gowns and young faces in the carriages, nor yet at the stately princes, though by now all these were ranged in a half circle round her.

You could not look at anybody but the Queen, so very quiet, so very grave, so very punctual, and so unmistakably every inch a lady and a queen.

It was almost pathetic, if you will, that small black figure in the middle of these shining cavaliers, this great army, this roaring multitude, but it was also very glorious.

Depew Was There. Mr. Chauncey M. Depew said his first thought was that it more than equaled every expectation. "It was tremendously impressive," he said, "to see the representatives of every quarter of the globe in men past you in an hour under one flag, presenting the racial and religious differences of their widely separated homes, as distinctly as if you had seen them in a year's tour around the world.

I have often seen the Queen on state occasions, but today she seemed to be a deeply affected friend of mine. I was close to her and saw her eyes suffused with tears. It was the wonderful combination of monarch and woman which has made her sixty years reign so phenomenal. Her appearance and surroundings seemed to me to recall and emphasize the marvellous progress and growth of Great Britain during her reign. Moreover, it recalls to Americans how much those years have accomplished in a man's country in all departments of educational and material progress and in the increase of population, wealth and power.

No Gladness in Ireland. Skibbereen, June 22.—A hearse drawn by a pair of horses with sad music played on the Green here today. There were shields on the sides of the horses bearing the inscription: "England rejoice, Ireland mourns today her martyr's death, her banished sons, and her too-estricken people. Our loyalty is to Ireland. Famine, hanging, shooting and desolation are ours."

A long procession followed the hearse and visited the graves of the Fenians who are buried in the cemetery.

SPAIN TO PAY $40,000. Mr. Ruiz offered that sum if United States not pressed.

Madrid, June 18.—The Ruiz matter will probably soon be settled. Premier Canovas has announced that if the United States will not press an official claim he is willing to pay the doctor's widow $10,000.

This announcement has caused a storm of opposition at Madrid from press and people. The Government is blamed by the opposition for allowing Dr. Ruiz to be assassinated. Most the course is because the crime has been acknowledged.

The Civil Guard detailed at the American Legation has been rebuffed, as the Government fears that unless the press attacks moderate the legation may be stoned again.

The Turk to Get $30,000,000. Constantinople, June 22.—The negotiations between the representatives of the Powers and the Porte for the establishment of peace between Turkey and Greece will be brought to a satisfactory conclusion.

All of the points involved have been settled except the method guaranteeing the indemnity to be paid to Turkey by Greece, which has been fixed at £6,000,000.

New Arbitration Treaty. President McKinley has determined to revive the abandoned treaty of general arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. He has already turned his attention to the subject and under the direction of Secretary Sherman the matter has progressed to the extent that a new treaty already has been drafted, to serve as the basis of negotiations expected to result in the submission of a convention to the Senate, to replace that which was negotiated by Secretary Olney, only to fail in the early hours of the present session.

NEW YORK MARKET REPORT. WHEAT. Wheat values declined to a low level, largely through the influence of splendid spring wheat prospects and a harsh winter wheat harvest. The latter accompanied by Snow's estimate that the winter wheat crop this year will not fall short of 1,000,000 bushels, or 2,000,000 bushels more than the government figures suggested on the first of the month.

CORN. A few cool weather reports from parts of the corn belt where warm weather is now needed created some buying interest in the corn market, but seemed unable to check the prevailing tendency, encouraged by the weakness in wheat.

BEANS. A good many red kidney beans were taken for export last week, and with prospect that shippers will want more again this week there is rather a firm holding.

BUTTER. Buyers took hold fairly and the market held a steady tone throughout. Supplies were liberal, but a good deal of the stock went into the owners' account.

CHEESE. The continued high cost of cheese in the country caused receivers to feel firm, and they generally asked 8c. for the best large, both colored and white.

EGGS. Receipts show some increase compared with last week, and the market has developed some weakness.

CATTLE. Veals opened slow and firm on light supplies, at a fractional advance price. Heavy winter steers, in bulk, at 5.00, 10c. spring steers, in bulk, at 4.50, 10c. Corn meal, 2.25, 10c. Feed, 1.00, 10c.

Wheat, No. 2 red, 77c. Corn, 35c. Hops, white, No. 2, 25c. Rice, 30c. Beans, marrow, 1.00, 10c. Beef, 4.00, 10c. Pork, 5.00, 10c. Lard, 1.25, 10c. Tallow, 1.00, 10c. Butter, creamery, extra, 15c. Butter, creamery, 14c. Eggs, 1.00, 10c. Apples, 1.00, 10c. Potatoes, 1.00, 10c.

The Somersets of Somerville will play the Cranford A. C. ball nine to-morrow afternoon on the ball grounds. The Somervilles beat the Cranford team in May by a score of 5 to 1, and an interesting game is a sure thing for to-morrow. They are a much better team than last year. A new midget will be a feature of this game. He is a professional, his name is C. M. Curman, and he hails from Montclair. He comes well recommended.

A CRANFORD HEIRESS.

She inherits a French Fortune, and Sends to Cranford for a Birth Certificate.

On November 11, 1886, there was born, in a house half way between Cranford and Westfield, a daughter, to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fontana. Mr. Fontana was a Frenchman and a strong rhapsodist, and his wife was a Belgian. Dr. J. B. Harrison of Westfield attended Mrs. Fontana, and was assisted by Mrs. Nestor, wife of a farmer, who was their nearest neighbor.

The Fontanas shortly afterward moved to New York, and thence to Europe, and the child was christened Sophie Marie, in 1889, in Paris.

The mother of placing the birth on record was left to Dr. Harrison, but Mr. Fontana neglected to get a certificate or a copy of the record in the case—a matter concerning which French law and custom requires care and exactness.

Now, when Miss Sophie Marie Fontana is 11 years old, she learns that she has fallen heir to a fortune, and her father wrote a long letter to the Mayor of Cranford, asking him to forward a certificate of birth, or a certified copy of the record in the case, which the French law requires before Miss Fontana can come into possession of her windfall. The letter, of course, was delivered to Chairman J. C. Hunt of the town committee, from whom, in due course of time, Mr. Fontana will receive the legally certified copies of the record which are just now so necessary to the young lady's peace of mind.

Mr. Fontana is evidently in the Paris office of the New York Life Insurance Co., as he uses one of their letter heads. The letter was dated 22 rue Alphonse de Neuville, Paris, June 1, 1897.

The house occupied by the Fontanas belonged at that time to the Smeaton family, he says.

FLOATED AT 4.16.

That is the Rate of Interest, Practically, Which Cranford Will Pay on $100,000 in Sewer Bonds.

The Cranford town committee met last night at 8 o'clock, and went to work with exceptional promptness on the business of the evening—the opening of sealed proposals for town sewer bonds for $100,000, and the awarding of the bonds.

The bids, as opened, were as follows:

Table with columns for Bidder Name, Bid Amount, and Interest Rate, listing various companies and their offers.

Each bid was accompanied by a certified check or checks for 5 per cent of the amount bid for.

As soon as the bids had all been opened, Committee-man Foster moved the committee go into executive session for fifteen minutes. It was carried, and the chairman asked the crowd to retire, but Foster explained, after the crowd had got started, that citizens of the town of Cranford might remain. That excluded only the bidders and the STAFF. Also reporter, but nearly everybody went out. The committee remained in secret session for about forty minutes while the bidders and the crowd perambled in the hall, and then the door was left open and the crowd drifted in again, representatives of the bidding houses taking reserved seats. The committee were still figuring, and no award had been made.

It was recognized immediately, of course, that the bid of the Union County Savings bank was the better one of the lot, but unfortunately they had bid for but half of the long term bonds and a fifth of the short term bonds. Wm. D. Van Vleet, who was present in person, was asked if he would accept half the long term bonds on his bid and replied that he wanted all or none. Nearly every bank representative present was interviewed, generally several times during the evening, though three or four received back their checks within the first fifteen minutes, among them Mr. Van Vleet. (Later they wanted to award him the short term bonds, but he declined them.) The committee, the clerk and the town treasurer figured over the business for nearly two hours in an atmosphere which was almost suffocating, finally making the following award: The bonds are for $1,000 each.

Benwell & Everett, 25 of the 30 year bonds at 103.75, interest at 4 per cent. Benwell & Everett, 50 of the short term bonds at 101.25, interest at 4 per cent.

Averaging the interest and figuring in the premiums, it will be found that Cranford's sewer bonds will pay interest at the rate of 4.16 per cent.

When the matter of interest was being discussed at previous township meetings it was stated that bids at as high a premium as 108 were likely to be received. It will be seen from the above list of bids how badly they were mistaken—or had been fooled—for these expectations were founded solely on interviews with bankers and bond buying firms.

The committee will have to pay somewhere between a hundred and fifty and a thousand dollars for the printing of the bonds.

The bond matter having been disposed of, Engineer Vreeland reported the failure of Headley & Christie to finish their sewer contract on time, which they claimed was because the only firm who furnish the pattern of manhole covers decided on by the committee and delayed the contractors' order for them. They offered to furnish the kind used in Newark, and finish the contract within a week. Mr. Vreeland was authorized to use his judgment about granting them that privilege.

Further information and discussion of the subject led to a motion by Mr. Hibson, which was adopted, that the quit claim deed asked for by J. G. Moore on the "park lot" be claims be refused him. The committee will pay the sewer assessment on behalf of the town and claim the lot for park purposes. They are advised that the words "park lot" on the original map, act as a legal dedication of the property to the town for the purpose named.

Mr. Foster offered to rumpike the ungraded portion of Second avenue at a cost of $50 or less, and pay for it out of the appropriation for his district, and the board agreed.

Mr. Parks, son of N. R., entered protest on behalf of his father against the spending of any more money on Centennial avenue, because it would soon be changed, and had been illegally laid out. Mr. Jahn said some work must be done there, because the street was not put aside.

Mr. Parks also called the attention of the board to a statute providing that no town official should have any interest in any contract for work done or material furnished to the municipality of which he was an official. Instantly a bill paid Diederich Kreie, the justice of which was not questioned, but as something for which the committee might be held liable as for a misdemeanor. He wanted the matter clearly understood, and a pin stuck there, so to speak, so that ere might be taken to avoid similar breaks in future.

Two sewer permits were granted, some bills were ordered paid, and the committee adjourned.

THE COMING CARNIVAL.

More interest than ever. Plenty of Money. Apparently a Sure Success.

The executive committee of the Boat-Club association met Tuesday night at the rooms of the Eclectic club, of which Commodore George Henry Miller is secretary.

They decided that the date of this year's carnival should be Saturday, August 7, and that they would meet every Monday night till then to forward the preparations.

The committee as now made up includes the following named gentlemen: George Harvey Miller, Commodore and treasurer, Lewis A. Madlon, vice-commodore, J. P. M. Joseph, secretary, W. H. Trip, Edward Beadle, Jr., Geo. A. Morrison, D. H. Carbozo, J. C. McIntire, E. K. Adams, H. S. Sanderson, L. A. Mathey, R. C. Plume, Dan H. Hopkins, Frank R. Jones, Wm. W. Buckley, J. A. Hibson, D. P. Shook, R. F. Hibson, S. T. Marshall.

Commodore Miller reports that there seems to be more interest than ever in the coming carnival, and that although he has begun no systematic canvass, only carrying a book in his pocket for subscriptions, he has secured subscriptions for more than $200 already. His plan is when he meets a possible subscriber, to say, "Do you want a carnival this year?" The answer is nearly always "Yes." Then he asks "How much do you want it?" presenting his subscription book.

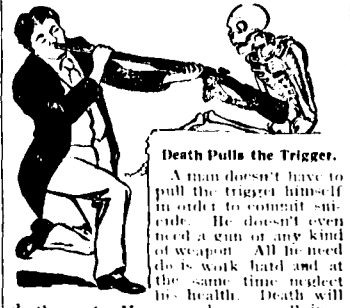

The hall was started rolling in good shape Tuesday evening, and by another week the river will be divided up and assigned to various parties to decorate, and the preparatory work will all be under way with plenty of time to finish it in good shape.

At a meeting of the Eclectic club of Cranford, N. J., held June 18, 1897, the following preamble and resolution in regard to the death of William D. Bigelow were unanimously adopted.

"Whereas we realize that, in the death of Mr. Bigelow, Cranford has lost an energetic, public spirited, conscientious and broad-minded citizen, one who had the best interests of the town always at heart and stood ready to do all in his power to advance its welfare; and this citizen, a member whose genial companionship and kindly intercourse were a source of personal pleasure to all who were brought into personal association with him.

Resolved, that an expression of our sincere regrets at the sudden termination of his long and useful life be entered on the minutes of this club, and a copy of this resolution be sent to his family."

The STANDARD only costs $2 a year.

Death Pulls the Trigger. A man doesn't have to pull the trigger himself in order to commit suicide. He doesn't even need a gun or any kind of weapon. All he need do is work hard and at the same time neglect his health. Death will do the rest. Men nowadays are all in a hurry. They eat their food and get indigestion and forget to eat. The blood gets impure. When the blood is impure, sooner or later something will "smash." The smash will be at the weakest and most overworked point. In a marshy country it will probably be malaria and chills. A working man will probably have a bilious attack. A clerk or bookkeeper will have deadly consumption. A business, or professional man, nervous prostration or exhaustion.

It isn't hard to prevent or cure these diseases if the right remedy is taken at the right time. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the appetite keen, digestion and assimilation perfect, the liver active, the blood pure and the nerves steady and strong. It drives out all disease germs. It makes rich, red blood, firm flesh, solid muscle and healthy nerve-fiber. It cures malaria and bilious attacks. It cures nervous prostration and exhaustion. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, bronchial, throat and kindred affections. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser contains the letters of thousands who have been cured.

Send 21 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a paper-covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser—cloth binding ten cents extra. A whole medical library in one 100-page volume.
