How to Make French Proze.
Put four eggs very white. Add a half cup of milk, a tablespoonful of flour and a tablespoonful of pepper. Lay eight or nine thin slices of ham in a hot frying pan. When slightly brown, turn and pour over them the prepared mixture, brown on both sides and serve.

For the weakness and prostration following a cold there is nothing so prompt and effective as One Minute Cough Cure. This preparation is highly endorsed as an unfailing remedy for all throat and lung troubles and its early use prevents consumption. It was made to cure quickly. W. H. Trenchard.

FIRST PAINTED PORTRAIT OF WASHINGTON.
(BY CHARLES WILSON PEALE.)

PEALE'S HEAD OF WASHINGTON.

THE study for the first painted portrait of Washington was made at Mount Vernon in 1772 by Charles Wilson Peale. The sitter was then 40 years old. During the Revolution Mr. Peale used the study for a portrait of Washington in Continental uniform. The original is now in the collection of the Pennsylvania Historical Society.

Charles Wilson Peale's father, James Peale, also his brothers Raphael and Rembrandt, painted original portraits of Washington. In 1795 the four Peales were favored with a series of sittings at the same time. It is said that Charles Wilson Peale was engaged upon a study of Washington's features when a messenger brought to army headquarters the news of Burgoyne's defeat.

FRANCES WILLARD REMEMBERED.

Local W. C. T. U. held meeting on Anniversary of Founder's Death.

A large number of ladies of Willard W. C. T. U. and their friends gathered at the home of Mrs. H. E. D. Jackson on Summit avenue, Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was in commemoration of the anniversary of Frances Willard's "going home." Mrs. J. E. Brewer conducted the opening devotional exercises and paid a beautiful tribute to the character and work of the promoted leader. The roll was called and each member responded to her name with a quotation from Miss Willard's writings.

The National Union asks each local organization to hold such a meeting, and to take an offering, two dollars of which shall be sent to the National for the fund known as the "Frances E. Willard Memorial Organizing Fund." After this explanation, by Mrs. E. L. Starr, a song was beautifully rendered by Elizabeth Gaskill and Ethel Dougherty. This song was a plea for help in carrying on the work of organization in the needy portions of our land, and in our new possessions, and served as a collection speech.

Members of the union presented briefly the departments of work which are arranged under the head of "Organization." "Loyal Temperance Legion Branch," Mrs. Wm. C. Lambert, "Young Woman's Branch," Mrs. Clara Welch, "Work Among Colored People," Mrs. F. R. Baker, Jr., "Work Among Foreign ers," Miss E. L. Starr, and "Work in our New Possessions," Mrs. Joseph H. Clark.

The Misses Dougherty and Gaskill sang a duet entitled, "Ring the Bells." Mrs. G. S. Mosher read a beautiful article entitled, "A Vision," the ladies sang together the favorite song, "Some Glad Day," and the members repeated in concert Frances Willard's words, "We belong. Let every lip echo the words, let every heart cherish them." This concluded the program of one of the most helpful and enjoyable social meetings of the Union.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. At the close of the meeting three ladies gave their names as members. Mrs. Isaac Lambert, Mrs. Henry Dougherty and Mrs. Carrie Gaskill.

The State will be represented by a provisional regiment made up of three companies from each of the four regiments in the State. This regiment will be in command of Col. Gilmore, of the Second Regiment. Company C will send Lieutenants Cross and Wood, and 20 men. Of this number, Sergt. Ezra Bloodgood and Corporal Edgar R. Fearall and private J. A. Kestner, of Westfield, have been selected. Thus Westfield gets a good share of the honors.

Washington's Mill Venture.

His Tract of Land in the Pennsylvania Coalfields.

By J. A. COLL.

COPYRIGHT, 1901, BY J. A. COLL.

FOR many years it has been repeated over and over again that George Washington was first in war, first in peace, first in the hearts of his countrymen. But that is not all. He was always enough to understand even during his lifetime that the land in Perry township, Fayette county, Pa., would be valuable and was among the first to get some of it.

The tract which Washington took up for himself in the coalfield of the Washington Coal and Coke company and adjoining territory at Star Junction...

COLONEL CRAWFORD'S CABIN. (Where Washington lodged in 1770.)

tion about 15 miles northwest of Connelville. Although the population of Perry township in 1880 was only 1429, containing the early purchasers of land in that of George Washington, who got his back in April 3, 1760, took up a tract known as "the Meadows," containing 329 acres, which he surveyed Oct. 25 the same year.

Washington, writing from Mount Vernon Sept. 21, 1767, gives a hint of his first intent to purchase lands in Perry township to Colonel William Crawford who at this time was living in a log cabin on the bank of the Youghiogheny on the present site of New Haven.

From a sudden hint of your brother's I wrote to you a few days ago in a hurry, a hasty sketch had more time for reflection. I now write more deliberately and with more precision on the subject of your "last letter."

There is nothing to show what Captain Crawford did to get possession of the lands in Perry township, but many letters must have passed between the two relating to the tracts. Records show that on the day of the opening of the land office 1,000 acres of land in Perry township were recorded, which finally came into the possession of General Washington, although "the Meadows" is the only one recorded in Washington's name.

Captain Crawford, who selected the land in Perry township, also acted as Washington's agent in taking up lands for him in Washington county and along the Ohio river valley in Virginia. In 1770 Washington made a journey through this section to see what Captain Crawford had purchased for him. He kept a journal of the trip, and letters taken from his biography give frequent reference to the lands near Connelville and New Haven.

We left Killman's early in the morning, breakfasted at the Little Meadows, ten miles off, and lodged at the Great Crossing of the Youghiogheny at Stonerfield, 25 miles farther, which we considered a good day's work.

The next day the journal says: So out at sunrise, breakfasted at the Great Meadows, Fayette county, 18 miles, and reached Captain Crawford's about 6 o'clock. Crawford is very kindly, lying on the Youghiogheny in a place commonly called "Stewart's Crossing."

bank Washington refers to here is probably the old entrance to the Pennsylvania coalfield in the borough of Connelville. This opening was directly across the river from Crawford's cabin and in the sight of his home. The coal is all ways known to have had an outlet through there and in the early days of Connelville the mine supplied much of the coal for home consumption.

In his diary Washington speaks of how he went with Colonel Crawford on Oct. 15, 1770, to see some lands 15 miles distant from Crawford's home, in the following manner:

Went to view some land which Captain Crawford located for me near the Youghiogheny, five miles from the river, which contains about 1000 acres, including some good land for a farm and a great deal of rich meadow. It is well watered and a valuable mill race, except that the stream is rather shallow, it is said not to contain more than seven or eight months in the year.

Washington was a man of deeds, and when he made the entry concerning the mill race he was not long in proceeding to erect one. Soon after his visit he sent Gilbert Simpson to begin work upon the plan. The mill was erected on the spot spoken of on Washington's map, not far from the present village of Powoyopolis, which Washington himself built out. Between the years of 1770 and 1771 Valentine Crawford succeeded his brother in managing Washington's estate in this section of the country near Connelville.

Because of the Indian troubles it was two years from the time the mill was started till completed. In the meantime Crawford's letters show that he thought Washington had made a bad job of it in attempting to build the mill. Washington was appraised of the mill's completion while he was in camp before New York after the battle of Long Island, and history is usually silent to the fact that during the whole campaign he paid some attention to his lands in Fayette county while directing also the operations of the revolutionists in all parts of the land.

Washington himself tried his mill and failed to sell it in 1785, when he wrote to Thomas Freeman, who had succeeded Valentine Crawford as his agent: "If I could get $1500 for the mill and 100 acres of land most convenient thereto, I would let it go for that money." But it was not till 1789 that Washington was able to make any arrangement, when the property was leased to Colonel David Shreve, who had been one of Washington's military subordinates in the Revolution.

THE OLD WASHINGTON MILL. (Erected on a site selected by Washington in 1760.)

to life at present. For over 105 years the mill has been in operation, except a few years prior to 1700, when it was one of the first for paper. The sketch of the cabin shows Crawford's home in New Haven, where Washington was always welcomed as a guest while making visits to the part of the country. This cabin is no longer in existence, having been torn down by rolling hunters a few years since.

A QUERY TO GEORGE.

FRET in war and all the rest, Father George, Father George, First in every patriot's breast, Father George, have read your history, But the authors don't agree, Were you saint or man like me, Father George?

WERE you always grand and big, Father George, Father George, With a halo round your wig, Father George? Or led you a human smack? Had you tin things up the back, When you stepped upon a tack, Father George?

DID you choose each act and word, Father George, Father George, To do or say a thing absurd, Father George? If you sat upon a chair, And a custard pie was there, Did you smile or did you swear, Father George?

DID you never tell a lie, Father George, Father George? "Hogest injun, hope to die," Father George? Did you never come home late From a dose of flush and straight And explain, "Affairs of state," Father George?

WELL, you tweaked the lion's tail, Father George, Father George, And you bade Columbia "Hail!" Father George? Do no matter which is true, What you did or didn't do, Why, we Yankees swear by you, Father George.

Rightly met adversity has its uses. Indeed, without adversity one cannot attain to his or her best development in character. Most of us meet adversity often enough; but how do we meet it—to conquer, or to be conquered?

Where can the self-respect of the American heiress be to marry one of these foreign "high born" creatures when she must know, by the record, that it is her money and not herself that he is after?

Whoever heard of one of these things marrying an American girl who had no fortune?

Uncle Bill Penseley and Johnny Guff were recently having a verbal scarp when Uncle Bill remarked, "Johnny, if you do so much hard thinking you will go a corn on your mind." Well, "all right," returned Johnny; "if you ever get a corn on your mind just wear a straw hat and it will never be felt."

The man who puts thirteen stoke of dynamite in a stove to thaw should not talk of ill luck when he comes to. There is probably no such thing as luck. But there is such a thing as pluck. It would be impossible to make a girl of 35 believe that there is any ill luck in getting married on Friday.

Some of us are not pleased with the continued "mild and beneficent" gun shot made of President McKinley who, (two years after the war is over) is still giving the Filipinos military government, and higher taxes by far more than the wicked Spaniards exacted.

Wake had the flag up all day in anticipation of the Washington Birthday celebrations and also to make up for a failure, through a breakage in the inkworks on Lincoln's birthday, to display the flag which this patriotic town loves so well to see. The stores were closed and without no chance to buy a new egg.

"All the fools are not dead yet," but one died the other day—a woman who founded a Cat Cemetery, in which hundreds of cats are buried; some of them in satin-lined coffins, and with marble headstones.

Requires Cal to pace! It wouldn't have been such a bad idea, however, if this unfortunate woman had turned her affections and means upon the education and development of some friendless child.

Supr. J. H. Olmstead's attention is once more called to the dangerous condition the tracks are left in at the Westfield station. It is criminal negligence to allow the unfinished work, abandoned weeks, if not months ago, to longer remain unattended to. The patrons of the road are left to pick their way over and between tracks, with the danger increased at night for the want of light.

Old man, Miss Bennett, mark the above paragraph and mail copy to Mr. Olmstead, A. E. R.

To-day being Washington's birthday, a legal holiday, the employes of the Standard office are out on vacation as they well deserve to be. The issue of to-day was printed yesterday. We are, therefore, unable to present to our readers an account of the masquerade held at the Social Club last evening; and certain other happenings. The importance of the Social Club affair, which has become one of the social events of the season, will be recognized fully in our issue of next Friday.

In an article in the Cranford Chronicle of Tuesday, Editor Potter tells how the "tremendous influence of the Union County Standard" was thrown with the members of the Township Committee, in an effort to have Westfield incorporated as a city.

Wrong, again, Brother Potter; the Standard was strongly opposed to the proposed change.

Are we to understand that the Editor of the Chronicle deliberately misrepresents the Standard or that, as is so often the case, he does not know what he is talking about?

How far in the future when an American can be armed, with or without his consent to fight a fight of conquest, however revolting to his sense of right and a decent regard for the meaning of the American flag?

For Defence, say we; Everything!

For Conquest,—Nothing!

Yet we see the Administration at Washington vying with all Europe in great military preparations, the warring the people's toll to be consumed in powder and ball.

And with what end in view?

As Uncle Bill Penseley was brooking on his goloshes preparatory to leaving the Standard office he remarked to Johnny Guff that he was hungry for some sort of a fish story, but didn't suppose that anything had come in lately. "No," replied Johnny; "there has been nothing now in that line since I caught those two big eels at Clark's pond through the ice last week." "Why, I hadn't heard of that. How big were they?" "Inquired Uncle Bill." "Oh, I don't know; about nine foot long. I know when I skinned 'em I had to cut off a considerable piece from each end before I could reduce 'em to a proper length for bleyolo turos.

MARY WASHINGTON'S HOME, FREDERICKSBURG. (FROM A RECENT PHOTOGRAPH.)

MARY WASHINGTON'S LAST HOME. IN ITS present aspect the last home of Mary Washington suggests little of the splendor of the mansion of some of the early Presidents in the eighteenth century. It stands at the corner of Charles and Lewis streets, part of the estate of Colonel Fielding Lewis, who married George Washington's sister Elizabeth. The final parting of Washington from his mother took place there when the first president elect was about to leave Virginia for the inaugural ceremonies in New York.

LAWRENCE WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON'S BROTHER LAWRENCE.

LAWRENCE was the elder half brother of George, and a strong attachment existed between the two. Lawrence served in the English army under Admiral Vernon and named the estate which, afterward acquired upon the banks of the Potomac after his old commander. Upon leaving school George, at the age of 16, went to reside at Admiral Vernon. Lawrence obtained for him a midshipman's warrant in the army, but the project was overruled by Mary Washington, and George entered upon the career of a surveyor under William Fairfax, father-in-law of Lawrence. Upon his death Lawrence bequeathed Admiral Vernon to George.

THE Washington photographs here reproduced were loaned especially for the purpose by Mr. William Webster Pillsbury of New York. Mr. Pillsbury is a painstaking student of colonial times and has given the results of his researches in a series of illustrated lectures delivered in various parts of the country. The photographs of Washington and his family in private or public collections has been placed at his disposal, enabling him to present fully the personal side of the father of His Country.

U. B. B. A. COMMANDANT RESIGNS.

Mrs. Martin Welles Severs Her Connection With Company L.

The members of Company L, First Regiment U. B. B. A., have received the resignation of their Commandant, Mrs. Martin Welles. It is needless to say that Mrs. Welles' resignation was received with deep regret by every one in the company.

Mrs. Martin Welles was the founder of the Boys Brigade in this town and she has been with the company from the time it was organized, a little more than three years ago. During the three years of her work among the boys Mrs. Welles won the admiration and devotion of all and the boys feel that they have lost a valuable friend by her resignation.

A recent meeting of the Cadets the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, Mrs. Martin Welles has resigned her office as Commandant of Co. L, 1st Regiment U. B. B. A., an office which she has efficiently filled since the formation of the company;

AND WHEREAS, by her Christian character she has gained the respect of every member of the company; therefore be it

Resolved, that while regretting the resignation which removes from the Company a friend and comrade, we do most heartily thank Mrs. Welles for the interest which she has manifested and for her efficient work; and we bid her an affectionate farewell.

By order of the Westfield Cadets, O. A. V. S. KENTON, JR., HAROLD A. HARRIS, JR., KENNETH D. ROBINSON, Committee.

Feb. 11, 1901.

Mrs. Welles' vacancy has been filled by Harry Lloyd. Mr. Lloyd is very popular among the boys, and it is hoped that the command will continue to improve under his supervision as it did under its former commandant.

PLANNED FOR SCHOOL OF METHODS.

Many W. C. T. U. Workers at Conference on Monday.

A special meeting of the Executive Committee of the Union County W. C. T. U., was held on Monday afternoon at W. C. T. U. Hall, Prospect street. Those present were Mrs. M. D. Tomlinson, of Plainfield, President; Mrs. M. L. Rarick, of Dunellen, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. G. S. Mosher, of Westfield, Recording Secretary; Mrs. M. T. Cox, of Cranford, Treasurer; Miss S. J. Korony, of Elizabeth, L. T. L. Secretary; Miss O. Yates, of Plainfield, Y. Secretary; Mrs. S. W. Bodine, President of Dunellen; Miss E. L. Starr, President of Westfield Union.

A communication was ordered sent, on behalf of the county organization, to Senator Sewell, asking him to vote in favor of the Gillette Bill, to prohibit the exportation of intoxicating liquors to the New Hebrides. Suggestions from the State President, Mrs. Emma Bourne, were considered, and some proposed amendments to the by-laws of the State Union.

The principal work was the preparation of the program for the School of Methods, to be held in Elizabeth in May. Mrs. J. E. Brewer, of Westfield, will lead the devotional exercises at the opening of the morning session. Mrs. G. S. Mosher will read a paper on "Helps and Hindrances to the Temperance Work," to be followed by discussion. Rev. Geo. Wilding, pastor of St. James church, Elizabeth, will be the speaker of the evening.

Miss Ida Branth followed them with a violin solo, accompanied by E. D. Floyd, in their golf pictures, presented a very natural and life like scene. One could almost here "Fore!"

Mr. Wold used glasses without water in them and drew forth music such as Westfield has seldom heard.

A piano solo by Mrs. G. B. Thorne was to have followed, but on account of illness, she was forced to be absent.

Mrs. Mapes was assisted by Adolph Ginzler with his mandolin, during the pauses between the pictures and later played music for a few short dances.

Utilizing the Sun's Heat. The sun's heat has been impressed at last. Dr. William Culver of Washington has invented the necessary apparatus, according to Pearson's Magazine.

In the inventor's laboratory, or "sun power yard," as he prefers to call it, there are in all 1,600 small mirrors, arranged on frames of different sizes, the largest holding 810 mirrors and the smallest 28.

Each of the mirror frames operates a heliometer of its own. The heat, like ice, may be stored up indefinitely, for use in cloudy weather.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

GRAFTING STONE FRUITS.

A Jersey Grower's New Method and the Instrument Used.

At a meeting of the New Jersey State Horticultural Society Mr. Martin Ernst, a very successful fruit grower, introduced a method of grafting which was new to most of those present.

In my method I use this little instrument, which has its cutting portion of V shape attached to a shank with a wooden handle.

GRAFTING WITH A NEW TOOL.

place of insertion. You will notice I place the lower end of the scion directly over the stock. Insert the scion which will fit closely and requires some strength to remove.

This method of planting is mostly used for stone fruits, cherries, plums and peaches. You must graft stone fruits very early and the season to do so is of short duration, say about the last of March, and with care in setting them about 75 per cent of grafts will live.

Starting Plants in Spring.

Dahlia tuberoses, gloxinias and tuberous begonias should be started into growth this month. Unless the two first named plants get an early start they almost always fail to come into bloom before frosty weather is here.

Early Blooming Shrubs.

The Japan Indigo (Cercis japonica) bush compact leaves dark green, flowers very early in great abundance. The English Almond (Prunus amygdalus) stems of very handsome golden flowers with the green wood and new foliage look delicate and attractive.

Early Spray For Peach Leaf Curl.

In regions where peach leaf curl is indigenous Professor Quintance of Georgia recommends that the bordeaux for the first application be made up of six pounds of copper sulphate, six pounds of lime to 50 gallons of water.

General Notes.

Wisconsin will not allow a tax that will. It needs some other support. It will eliminate very high with the aid of a single vote.

Goldfish are now becoming favorites for garden culture, and the sweet goldfish is one of the most desirable for the purpose.

Hardy carnations are a false hedge and will not stand the winter. The leaves are glossy but the flowers are slight and worthless for cutting.

An occasional vine of golden honey-suckle may be carefully disposed of, as the leaves are covered with spots upon a vine with a single leaf.

Professor Chittway estimates that not less than 81,000,000 worth of vegetables are sold every year, and that were it not for the violet spot the production would increase 20 per cent.

THE MAKING OF A MAN.

The Food the Healthy Boy Craves and Ought to Have.

Recent cases have come to my knowledge of boys just entering manhood who have failed in health.

When some member of the family, noticeably the mother, has suffered from dyspepsia, and is under the advice of a specialist for this particular disorder, her condition ought not to be allowed to disturb the appetites of the other members of the family.

Plain, wholesome food, such as meat, eggs, milk, cereals and legumes, cooked well, ought to be the boy's diet.

Instead of the life giving steak fruit is given the place of honor at the breakfast table. Heavy boys are set down to a meal of mackerel, fruit, orange, lemon, and a dish of oatmeal.

All the morning long at his work the young fellow has his undivided attention. He cannot tell where it comes, but this there and there it is, it remains there until it is followed by a supply of food.
