DRINKING DAYS ARE PAST

There Are Few Such Toppers as There Were Twenty-Five Years Ago.

"The day of hard drinking has certainly gone by," said an old citizen the other evening, relating the May Orleans Times-Democrat. "In looking back to the past, and the change that has taken place in that respect, it was a young man about twenty-five years old and remarkable. He took the war the majority of business men and planters of any age. They were steady drinkers. I don't mean that they were out of the habit of drinking, but that they were on the contrary, a much larger sense of the proprieties prevailed in those days than prevail now. They drank regularly and freely and entirely as a matter of course. The average man of affairs began the morning with several 'eye openers' and repeated them more or less frequently all day long. When ever an important business matter came up for discussion drinks were certain to be called for, and a glass of wine was as indispensable a piece of office furniture as a typewriter or a letter press is at present. It is only fair to say, however, that the men of that period carried their liquor well and habitual drunkenness was regarded with just as much aversion as it is today.

"But during the last quarter century," the old citizen went on, "a great change has taken place, although it has been so gradual that few have given it any attention. Whatever prohibitionists may say to the contrary, the modern business man is an exceedingly temperate individual. He is either a total abstainer or he drinks with scrupulous moderation, and the conditions of the past has no place whatever in up-to-date commercial life. The old idea that big deals were best lubricated with liquor has become obsolete, and most men of affairs bar it strictly from all business transactions. One of the wealthiest wholesalers in the city told me recently that he made it a positive rule never to drink with a customer. This same man used to make his business regular allowances for 'treating,' but he stopped it 50 years ago and says he observed the beneficial effects almost immediately. I don't believe that morals have played any special part in this general reversal of public sentiment, which the old citizen, though fully 90 is a cold-blooded business proposition. Competition has grown so fierce and the survival of the fittest has become such a strenuous game in this bustling twentieth century that a man needs all his wits for the struggle. He hasn't time to exercise the easy-going spirit of good fellowship and hospitality that was probably at the bottom of the hard-drinking of years ago. While he is doing it some other fellow will grab his place in the procession."

SHAKING PALSY.

A Disease Peculiar to Old Age That Is Seldom Cured But May Be Alleviated.

Shaking palsy, or paralysis agitans, as it is called by physicians, is a nervous affection in which there is a weakness almost amounting to actual paralysis of the hands, or perhaps a trembling movement of only one finger, generally the thumb. With this there may be moderate pain, which is supposed to be rheumatic.

The trembling movement is often intermittent at first, coming and going without apparent cause, but later it becomes permanent and extends to other parts, and by involving both arms and hands, has a tendency to the neck, and to participate in the movements of the head, thus making turning or moving from side to side. The muscles of the face and the tongue may also be implicated.

In conjunction with the trembling the muscles are weak, and may be almost incapable of voluntary movements, and the patient feels tired and lings for the constant shaking to cease. The trembling does not occur during sleep, and it is also less marked when one executes voluntary movements.

The onset of the affection, although commonly gradual, as we have said, is in some cases very sudden, following some great mental or physical shock.

In later stages of the disease the muscles of the body become more or less affected, the back is bent, the head is deflected forward, and the various segments of the arms and legs are slightly flexed on the other.

The rigidity of the muscles of the face gives a fixed expression of sadness, of indifference, or it may be of bad temper. There is a peculiar gait, sometimes like that of a drunken man, who has to walk very fast, or even run, to overcome his tendency to fall forward.

Shaking palsy is seldom cured, but it does not always get worse, and may continue for years without apparent change one way or the other. The general condition of the patient is usually below par, and the chief indication of treatment is, therefore, to improve the nutrition by tonics and a generous diet. Some relief to the constant and fatiguing tremor may be obtained by the patient's making slow voluntary movements, or by massage.

PRESENT WAS TOO FAST.

Story Told in Attorney by His Colored Barber Who Had Been Victimized.

"Use glad you came in, sah; I certainly is, for I wish to ask you for a little information about the law."

The colored barber in the McGraw building pushed the head of Attorney William B. Thompson back to the head rest of the chair, says the Detroit Journal, and then went on:

"You see, sah, it was this way. The other day a man comes in with a suit, and he says time saves her. 'Mister, I habbly does not want to ask you honey, but a Gilsbun present?' I habbly says 'No, I sholly does, so he puts his hand in his pocket and pulls out a lady's watch that appeared to be a very swell thing, sah, very swell, indeed, sah."

"I sense 'Mister Man, what you want for 'at watch?' He said he wanted eight dollars. Then we bargain back and forth, and finally he said 'I don't have 'at watch for four dollars, sah, but I habbly put him 'at money. I put 'at watch in my pocket and I freckered 'at it would bring great joy' my honey girl. 'Oh, next day I looked at 'at watch, 'at see what time it was and sholly 'at 'at was two hours faster than 'at city habbly clock, and two or a half faster than the gas 'at clock. "'He took 'at watch away with him, and 'at is 'at last I have seen of 'at man or my watch for my four dollars. An when I would like to know his name, I have 'at man tested 'at habbly from 'at business."

Improved Escalloped Oysters.
The addition of chopped celery and a white sauce makes of escalloped oysters a rich and substantial dish. The sauce is made with a cupful of milk, a heaping teaspoonful of butter, one cupful of oyster liquor and one (table) spoonful of flour. Brown a small amount of bread crumbs in a very little butter, or, if preferred, rolled cracker crumbs may be used without objection. Put a layer of oysters in the bottom of the baking dish, season liberally with salt, and scatter over a little of the chopped celery before adding some of the white sauce. Repeat this until a quart of oysters and all of the sauce and celery have been used. Cover the top with a thick layer of bread crumbs and bake for not more than 15 minutes. — Detroit Free Press.

CURED in THREE WEEKS!

Dr. Greene's Nervura

is the Only Medicine in the World That Cures St. Vitus' Dance.

THE nervous troubles of children are no less heartrending because they are common. What agonies of anxiety the parents of such children endure! Mrs. D. WARD, of 604 North Carlisle St., Philadelphia, Pa., tells how her little daughter was cured of St. Vitus' Dance by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. She says: "My little daughter, Blanche, was stricken with St. Vitus' Dance. We had the best physicians attend her, but she grew steadily worse until she was helpless as an infant. She couldn't speak one word or keep still for one-half minute at a time. I was driven almost to despair. I just left off their medicine and used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. She slept better that night, and I continued it all the next day and night without letting the doctor know of the change. He called in two days and pronounced her 75 per cent. better. I then dismissed all the doctors and gave her only Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and it cured her in three weeks' time."

Dr. Greene's NERVURA

BLOOD AND NERVE REMEDY

CURES Diseases of Infants and Children.

Every parent who has a child afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance should read the following letter from a father whose little daughter was also cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy.

CHARLES L. McBAT, a highly esteemed police officer, who resides at 14 Myrtle St., New Bedford, Mass., says:

"About two years ago my little daughter became run-down in health and suffered from St. Vitus' Dance. Soon after she was prostrated with rheumatism, which severely affected her lower limbs.

"After trying various remedies without obtaining relief, she began taking Dr. Greene's medicine and experienced immediate benefit. She continued its use and her rheumatism was practically cured. Her appetite returned, her pains disappeared, she was again able to walk without lameness, her general health was restored, and she was able to attend school and play like other children."

Take Your Case to DR. GREENE.

Dr. Greene charges nothing for his advice. His office is at 25 W. 14th St., New York City. Consultation by call or letter is absolutely free. In the advice of this great specialist in nervous and chronic diseases you will find quick recovery if you are ailing and sick.

TAKE CARE OF THE FEET.

How to Preserve the Usefulness of the Feet.

Following are some excellent rules for the proper care of the feet: The feet should be thoroughly washed every morning and evening and wiped carefully dry, especially between the toes, that hotbed of sore corns. The toe nails should be cut regularly, but not too often, and never shorter than ends of the toes. When buying shoes, allow perfect freedom for the toes, have the breadth of the foot measured while you stand on it and allow fully half an inch to an inch more than the length of your foot.

Have no tightness anywhere. What slight pressure there is should be beneath the instep and on the sides, which parts are sometimes spoken of as the "waists" of the foot. Give the sole the thinnest and narrowest of the "waists" and broadest at the "tread."

Don't be ashamed of the size of your feet. A well formed large foot is much better to look at than a small distorted one, and remember that well proportioned feet always look smaller than they really are. It is only a mistaken standard of beauty that represents hands and feet as disproportionately small. The best antique standards of beauty show the perfect foot to be about one-sixth of the whole height.

To obtain health and comfort for the foot it is by no means necessary to wear ugly boots or shoes. The boot-makers are now making footwear that combines admirably both beauty and comfort, while people are gradually beginning to understand that the foot itself is more worth caring for than its covering. High heels, placed far under the instep are now rarely seen in the street (though still worn in the house). They are extremely injurious as they throw the body forward in an unnatural position, which affects the spine, the knees and the nervous system. Orthopedists all say that if men and women have up wearing ill fitting boots and shoes the next generation would know nothing of deformed and diseased feet.

How to Cook Sausages.
Sausages are delicious when boiled with rice until both are sufficiently cooked. Whole grains of pepper and black pepper should be put in during the cooking. Another way of serving sausages is to brown them in a pan, then spread them with sauce and serve on a bed of rice. Sausages can also be served in many other ways, including the following: Boil the sausages in a pan, then put them in a buttered egg and bread crumb pan, then in a frying pan and bling into boiling fat. Cook ten minutes.

Does your mother ever punish you, Oliver?

Yes, indeed. Sometimes she does not allow me to read (besides for a whole week) — New York Journal.

She Wrote.
Even a Scotchman cannot always be humorous if he would. Like other people, however, he is sometimes funny without meaning to be. The Scotch-American thinks that the message sent by a young man in Philadelphia to his waiting bride may have kept her from worrying over his non-appearance, but that she must after all have received it with mixed feelings.

The bride elect lived in a village some distance from the home of William, the bridegroom. The wedding was to be at her home. On the eventful day the young man started for the station, but on the way met the village greer, who talked so entertainingly that William missed his train.

Naturally he was in what is known as a "state of mind." Something must be done and done at once. So he sent the following telegram: Don't marry till I come. — WILLIAM.

If the bride elect knew her William, she probably knew how he felt when he sent the message and forgave the mental confusion, which resulted in what she must have looked upon as a needless request.

When She Laughed.
In his volume on Ellen Terry Clement Scott tells of a somewhat self-satisfied, vainglorious and grumpy actor who complained that the noted English actress continually laughed in one of his most important scenes. He had not the courage to tell her his objections, so he wrote her a letter of heart-broken complaint, in which he said: "I am extremely sorry to tell you that it is impossible for me to make any effect in such and such a scene if you persist in laughing at me on the stage and so spoiling the situation. May I ask you to change your attitude, as the scene is most important?"

AFTER GOING over his list of delinquent subscribers an editorial brother has dropped into poetry on the subject as follows:

"How dear to our heart is the big silver dollar, when some kind subscriber presents it to view; the liberty head without necktie or collar, and all the strange things which to us seem so new; the wide-spreading eagle the arrows below it, the stars and the words with the strange things they tell, the coin of our fathers, we're glad that we know it, for sometime or other 'twill come in right well; the spread eagle dollar, the star-spangled dollar, the old silver dollar we all love so well."

All access to the League for the Preservation of the Palisades! Unfortunately they can expect, judging from his record, very little help from Senator Reed.

"Somewhere in this unfortunate environment lies the Truth," exclaimed the orator, whereupon Bill Pearsley rose to enquire how the Truth could lie.

Here's something for you from the Dead Letter office, just handed to me by Postmaster Whitaker: "From the Dead Letter office? I wonder who is dead!"

AN ODE TO A BLOW
BY JOHNNY CUPP
"How doth the toothsome flap-jack, Beguile the breakfast hour, When the golden brown flap-jack, Is made from Fitch's flour?"

Westfield's baseball interests will be well looked after this season, but the greatest success can only be realized with all our citizens taking a hand in; especially a hand in their own pockets.

We are glad to chronicle that the safe and sensible fashion of riding astride is becoming the ruling passion with society women. Who will be the first Westfield horsewoman brave enough and independent enough to adopt the fashion?

They'd settled down to house-keeping on the south side, and his young wife had made him a nice mince pie to show what she could do.

He's been afraid in the dark ever since.

Bill Pearsley remarked: "I would like to have you caution me if you find I am exaggerating, for I mobo myself, ever since I was vaccinated with virus taken from the arm of my cousin, Admirus Verity. I am prone to give my statements a picturesque coloring."

The suffering from the tyranny of wealth has only commenced; you even to-day the people, from cradle to coffin, are being and being for dividends upon a two-to-one percent over capitalization on everything they use. The Trusts have, by the help of a one-and-a-half-billion-dollar Congress, got their informal concessions protected by the law, and the people are great respecters of uniforms, gold lace and law. However, we look for a day of reckoning. It is as inevitable and as irrefragable as Truth Omnipotent.

The Standard force extends thanks to Mrs. H. J. Moffat for a package of wedding cake sent to them this morning.

Never miss a chance to laugh, never miss a chance to help some other fellow to laugh, cultivate Good Nature.

A New York newspaper lifts the veil on the head when it says: "It is our stupid, rich, snobbish republic, with its foolish, rich, snobbish girls and its falling society that is responsible for the Continental and many similar types of misdeeds."

Come to think of it, from 0:28 A. M. to 10:00 A. M. (with no truces between for New York) is a pretty long wait for a metropolitan town like Westfield with its population of 5,000.

This is all wrong from whatever stand point, but the people are helpless in the matter.

It is very short sighted policy for a railroad to impose upon the public in this way.

Uncle Bill Pearsley favored the Standard staff a few days ago with a sight and explanation of his latest invention which he has christened "The Summer Skate." In the place of the ordinary blade he has substituted a small steel cylinder which he fills with liquid air. This imparts, not intense cold to everything with which it comes in contact, but the instant it touches the water, the glides off on a streak of ice. With this, he claims, he can skim any lake or pond the hottest day of summer. Ira Lambert, who fortunately was present at the time, was so favorably impressed with the utility of the invention that he immediately ordered a pair with which to skim his milk.

We have Imperialism now. The things so long feared is being realized. The Republic must take a back seat until the people wake up and re-establish Republican principles which would forbid an imperial government with five men, and five men only, strangers to the language, strangers to the country, unacquainted with the interests of the people, sitting there in the Philippines and administering government, taking the money of the people and appropriating it without their consent, ignoring the people entirely.

There is the Might, but not the Right to do this. King George the III, could do no worse against the American settlers than King William I, at Washington is now doing against the struggling Filipinos, and doing it in the name of the American "Republic."

Base ball as conducted by the Westfield Association is not a business, it is sport for sports sake, but costs money. It is reported that our neighbor, Cranford, started its ball support by one man saying, "put me down for a hundred"; and another man equally public spirited said, "me too." No one person in Westfield subscribed more than five dollars for our 1900 team and all required to make this season a financial success is for one hundred and fifty people to purchase for five dollars a season ticket for the games. Recreation Park is a restful spot for lovers of our door athletics and there is no sport that will cause the blood to tingle through the veins more easily than base ball. The one big blot in 1900 was tending the knee to Cranford. The local management have secured talent equal to anything Cranford can obtain for this year unless they receive a Carnegie testimonial and buy up a league team—but, being, is a good dog, hold fast is better. Let all citizens who pride themselves in seeing Westfield well advertised and first in all things support the ball team good and strong.

We beg to thank and compliment, Hon. James L. Martine, of Cedar Brook, South Plainfield, for urging all Jerseymen of whatever section of the state, to unite in saving the noble Palisades. The Elizabeth Journal well says that his appeal comes at a proper time. This is liberal treatment of a Democrat by a Republican organ. We wish, however, that the Journal had the courage to come out against Senator Reed for his shillying and shuffling on the Palisades subject, and worse; for he has been positively discourteous, derogatory, in his reception and treatment of the representatives of the League for the preservation of the most remarkable natural formation on the North American continent; now threatened by the merciless commercialism of the time. To the latter Senator Reed appears to be rendering his aid, while he must very well understand that this noble piece of natural scenery is venerated, as well as admired by every thoughtful citizen of the state. The Journal goes, but it doesn't go far enough. It is well to praise Patriotic Martine; it is just as well to condemn unprincipled Reed.

GAVE GERMAN TO DANCING CLASS.
Miss Emma Florence, Class Closed Their Term on Tuesday.

Tuesday was a night day with the members of Miss Florence's dancing class for on that day the scholars were tendered receptions by their teacher. In the afternoon at the Westfield Club Hall the young people were entertained and in the evening at the Social Club Hall the older members held forth.

A large crowd was present at the Westfield Club in the afternoon when Miss Florence called the children on the floor and the afternoon's enjoyment began. Several pretty games were played among them in a spirit of we older boys.

Those who had charge of the tables were Mrs. Robt. Madie, Mrs. William Alpers, Mrs. John Dohmann, Mrs. Harry W. Chidwin and Miss Sherman. A very pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

The evening class was promptly on hand and at half past eight the German opened. The Social Club rooms looked like a picture transported from fairy land with the happy looking men and the fair ladies. The favors were very amusing and well selected and the figures were so graceful as one could wish them to be. The German closed early, while the dancers now patiently await the coming of the next season.

Among those present were Misses Nimmons, Harrie H. de, Sadie Coole, Alice Wamocka, Florence Dorell, Amy Hodges, Ernest Bachmann, Marion Keeler, May Clark, Marlin Johnson, Bessie Arnold, May Storm, Stella Hageman, Mabel Donnell, Abbie Renner, Caroline Gilpin, May Sherman, Agnes Dean, Florence Moore, of Roselle, Margaret Florence of Elizabeth, Miss Fitch, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. J. BASE BALL TOSSERS SIGNED.
Men Who will represent Westfield on the Scrapped Diamond.

The Board of Managers of the Westfield Base Ball Association held a meeting on Saturday evening when it was decided that during the playing season a meeting should be held each Monday evening.

H. H. Downes, manager of last year's team, will again be at the head and promises games with only the best teams to be found. The following players have been signed and indications are that Westfield will have a team hard to beat. Catcher, Keefer, formerly of the Carters; Pitcher, Van Zant, of Elizabeth, who pitched three winning games against Cranford last season; Short stop, McIntyre, who needs no introduction to the Westfield public; First base, Fitzpatrick, formerly of the O. N. T. team; Second base, Fox, of the same team; Left field, Finn, of the Hudson's; Center field, Neil Collins, Right field, Mr. Collins, who pitched for Westfield last season; Third base, De Forest, who has decided to decline many flattering offers with professional teams to play again with Westfield.

The first game will take place on Saturday, April 27, when the team will meet the oracles from the Danvers A. O. of New York.

The commission of Ira C. Lambert as second assistant chief of the Fire Department was approved.

Wellington Morehouse, as he said, speaking for the people of Westfield, stated that there were twelve curves between the Fanwood township line and Gurwood on the trolley line, and as so many accidents had occurred, asked that the Committee pass an ordinance requiring all cars to come to a dead stop before rounding the said curves.

Township Attorney Oliver, who was present, said that such an ordinance could not be passed. The matter was referred to the attorney.

A communication from Ira C. Lambert requested that some action be taken on the bad condition of the sidewalks on South Broad street. Laid over.

Petition from property owners on Railway avenue asked that that street be stoned from Park street to Washington street. Laid over.

The Rev. Mr. Elsko will officiate and preach in St. Paul's church this evening. He will also be present at the Saturday morning service. The pastor goes to Sawaren for a Friday evening service.

Monday the best of the Annunciation to the Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7:30 and 10:00 a. m. The 10 o'clock service will be for the corporate communion of the Guilds of the parish with an address by the rector.

The Easter music, under the direction of M. D. Saint Pope, is well under way. A full list will be published later.

On April the rector will take possession of the house at number 64 Walnut street, now occupied by Mr. Mahan.

Like Oliver Twist, children ask for more when given. One Minute Cough Cure is their endorser. Highly for cough, it quickly cures all colds and coughs and every throat and lung trouble. It is a specific for grippe and asthma and has long been a well known remedy for whooping cough. W. H. Trenchard.

A CATHOLIC JUBILEE

Closing of the Century Celebration in Old Rome.

Elaborate and Impressive Ceremony at Known as the Closing of the Holy Door and Its Significance.

Many ceremonies took place in Rome in connection with the close of the nineteenth century, but none was either more interesting or imposing than that incidental to the closing of the holy door at St. Peter's cathedral.

The ceremony of opening the holy door is declared to be symbolical of the fact that the church is open to all men so long as they go there after a thorough and sincere conversion.

While this is taking place the pope presents himself on the throne, but after the demolition is completed the penitentiaries of St. Peter take their brooms, clean the floor, remove the pieces of brick and mortar from the passage.

The closing of the door is a very similar ceremony to the opening. The greatest solemnity is observed, and thousands of privileged pilgrims flock to the cathedral to be witnesses of what, except in rare instances, occurs but once in a lifetime.

Paternalism in Mexico. The life of the hacienda is one of the characteristics down there, as it used to be in old plantation days.

MAKES PICKLES ON SHARES.

A Bright Woman Money-Maker's Novel Scheme—Financiers Her Partners.

Every woman of economical instincts experiments with her preserves, dishes, provided she is keeping house. If things are being wasted there is sufficient cause for worry, and usually she sets about remedying the evil.

"It worried me," she said, "to see the vegetables and fruits at my grocer's wither and grow up to be finally thrown away. Nobody wants to buy vegetables that are not quite fresh, and so all the time a big waste is going on.

"He was quite willing, and now for two years I have been making as many pickles and preserves as I have the time to give to the work. All of his leftovers are sent to me, and I make them up and send them back to be sold at a fair price.

"I was quite willing, and now for two years I have been making as many pickles and preserves as I have the time to give to the work. All of his leftovers are sent to me, and I make them up and send them back to be sold at a fair price.

"At present I make up the leftovers from my groceries, and I could get as many more made if the time, the vegetables I use are not decayed or much withered. I make them always on the second day, some vegetables on the evening of the first, and by that way they are as fresh as those used by the usual preservers.

"The soup kettle should play a prominent part in every household, according to culinary writers, says the New York Sun. It does, literally, in the household of another woman whose zeal for saving things or for making money evidently reconciled her to the eternal presence of soup meat.

They Worked on Denches.
 The denched came was not really English, but she had mastered the dis-lect to some extent.
 "I was away in London," she said,
 "and I was in a school where I learned a number of words for a living. I was sure now that I think of it, but it is not always and I never my dear, write for the press now and then. I am told that you don't have to you know. I think so."
 "Yes," replied the young person to whom she was speaking, "but I don't want to have inherited a tendency to work. My father and grandfather both worked for a living and they were not allowed even the luxury of a chair to sit on. They worked for benefits."
 "Dear me," exclaimed the denched dame, "I should have thought you
 —ah—work at."
 "Well, my father was a judge of the superior court, and my grandfather was one of the justices of the United States supreme court." —Chicago Tribune.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

A Variety of Information for Those Who Are Just Beginning.

Oatmeal bags are made of flannel, preferably, or of cheesecloth, of a size desired, say six inches, more or less, square. They are filled with oatmeal ground to flour, in the proportion of one and a half or two pounds of oatmeal, a quarter of a pound of cake of fairly soap, and a half pound of pulverized orris root. Thoroughly incorporate the fairly soap and the oatmeal, and use as much of as little for one at all of the orris powder as preferred. Oatmeal and fairly soap will fill the bath bag satisfactorily, and once used few persons will forego the pleasure of having one always ready for the bath, says the Boston Budget.
 The newest patties are made of cheese and vermicelli and are prepared thus: Break vermicelli into small pieces and boil in salted water until tender. Mix a cream dressing of two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of flour, one cup of cream and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Put in patty shells a layer of vermicelli, then a layer of the cream dressing and grate some cheese on top. Bake brown.

Dollies, which are folded corners
 wise, have the whole of the corner which is uppermost embroidered with detached blossoms. It is a pretty new method of putting on the embroidery and is effective when the dolly is unfolded. They are the original idea of a woman who does a good business in articles of this kind.

Crisped crackers to serve with an oyster stew or any white soup are a quickly prepared substitute for crout-ons or toast fingers. They are made by splitting butter crackers, and spreading one side of each with butter. Arrange in a pan, with the buttered side up, and brown in a hot oven.

In roasting meat turn with a spoon
 instead of a fork, as the latter pierces
 the meat and allows the juice to escape.
 New shopping bags are miniature dress suit cases, sort of conch forman to the old-fashioned packages of our grandmothers. They are somewhat larger than the Boston bag and considerably more capacious. As an ally to the suburban shopper they are invaluable, and the metropolitan buyer finds their offices more than friendly.

To make a chestnut souffle, which,
 by the way, is excellent for a dinner
 dessert, boil a pint of shelled chestnuts in salted water until they are soft. Drain them, remove the brown skins and rub them through a sieve.
 Cream together one-half cupful of sugar and four tablespoonfuls of butter. Add to the mixture the chestnut paste, the beaten yolks of four eggs, one-half cupful of bread crumbs, a cupful of milk and the juice and grated rind of one lemon. Beat all together thoroughly. Then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs.
 Turn into a buttered mold and bake for 25 or 30 minutes. Serve with sugar and cream.

To garnish a salad of apples and celery, arrange unpeeled thin wedgshaped sections of the apple with the skin uppermost, around the inside edge of the dish and decorate the middle with candied cherries and celery tops.
 Fresh air in the bathroom, plentiful flushing with water, and disinfecting twice a month, is a small price to pay for that measure of health we all desire. The very best disinfectant is copperas. You may buy it in crystals and dissolve a couple of pounds in that same china pitcher you use for the lye, in about a gallon of water, and pour a portion of it hot down all your drains. It has no odor and is easily handled.

HOW TO GET RID OF FLEAS.

Let a Cat Run Loose About the House
 for While and Then Get rid of it.
 A neighbor who came in by the back door unannounced found the young housewife in tears. The explanations sought did not refer to the young husband's late hours, but described how the new home, which had been rented furnished had been found to be infested with fleas, says the Chicago Chronicle.

"And I suppose every carpet will have to come up," wailed the young housewife, preparing for a new outburst.
 "Not a bit of it," replied her experienced friend. "Here is a plan that will save you all the bother."

She advised the suffering matron to buy or beg a cat, which should be given the run of the house.
 "In a week," said the adviser, "the fleas will be on the cat. You can drown Tommy or give him a bath in vents en bolle acid."

During the next few days the chief employment of the young wife was trailing a string around the floor to induce pussy to follow. The little beast proved a great success and members of the family no longer feared to walk barefooted on the floor.
New Diamond Fields.
 Diamonds have been found in considerable numbers and of very fine quality in the interior of British Guiana, on the Mazaruni River, 25 miles above its junction with the Essequibo.
 Mr. Moulton, our consultant Demerara, says that the London dealers to whom the stones have been forwarded consider them superior to South African diamonds and equal in quality to those of Brazil. The present diggings are situated in a tropical jungle five miles from the river, and the region is not easily reached. The matrix from which the gems have become scattered is now the object of search. — Youth's Companion.

Women's Club Notes

The Women's Club met Monday of last week, as usual. The roll was called, the minutes of the last meeting were read and the announcement was made that owing to the resignation of Mrs. Wilson there was a vacancy in the membership so that Mrs. Harry White, who was first on the waiting list, would be voted for at the next meeting.

The program of the afternoon was then entered upon by the reading of a paper, written by Mrs. Foote, but owing to her illness read by Mrs. Robert Mackie.

The reading was spirited and the paper bright and original. Mrs. Foote described the Greek festivals held in honor of Dionysus or Bacchus, the God of all physical joy or excitement, and the enemy of all that tended to darken or deaden human life.

The reading was followed by the recitation of some lines they would feign themselves to be his attendants and the partakers of his joys or sufferings. This was poetry in action. The attending choruses, would act in harmony with the principal singer, circling around their leader in a sort of mystic dance, each man accompanying himself on the cithara.

From a dialogue between a member of the chorus, it was a short step to the introduction of two or three actors, the chorus taking part by giving encouragement or counsel. The drama became mature when the choral song became secondary to the dialogue.

Twenty-five years ago, a splendidly successful excavation laid bare the theatre in which Sophocles and Euripides brought out their plays. It was a semi-circular building capable of holding 2,000 people, open to the sky and situated just at the foot of the Acropolis. The superstructures of seats being built out of the natural rock. There were no backs to the seats but they were deep enough to give room for the feet of the person behind.

The plays were always enacted in the daytime. The audience assembled early for Athens was a democracy and there were no reserved seats except for the priests. The plays were short, several being enacted in a day, all the parts being taken by men wearing masks.

Following the paper came the reading of parts of Greek plays, each introduced by appropriate explanations by Miss Barton who also illustrated the subject by a piano selection. Miss Halsey read an extract from "Prometheus Bound," Miss Jones and Miss Halsey a dialogue from "Antigone" and Mrs. E. S. Robinson from the comedy of "The Birds."

At the next meeting, the topics will be "Greek Literature," "Athens in the Age of Pericles," "Music character sketches and a discussion of topics of interest."

The stomach controls the situation. Those who are hearty and strong are those who can eat and digest plenty of food. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want. If you suffer from indigestion, heartburn, belching or any other stomach trouble, this preparation can't help but do you good. The most sensitive stomachs can take it. W. H. Trenchard.

MISS KEELER ENTERTAINED FRIENDS

Enjoyable Evening at Dudley Avenue Residence.

Miss Marion H. Keeler of Dudley Avenue, tendered to her many friends a very pretty party on Friday evening. All of Westfield's young set were present and many guests from the vicinity. The large hall was thrown open for dancing and from 8 to 12 the sweet strains of Mrs. Mapes' music sounded as the young people gaily tripped about the smooth floor.

Bean bag-basket ball was indulged in, each guest throwing a bean bag into the basket with their left hand. Joseph Sherman and Frank Howe succeeded in putting the bag in the basket but in a deciding Mr. Sherman won. A musical contest was then held, the pianist playing two bars of well known pieces and the guests were compelled to give the piece its name. Harold Brauner won the first gentleman's prize getting 37, right out of 40 and the ladies prize, was between Miss Florence Donnell, Miss Amy Hodges and Miss Beattie Arnold. Miss Donnell drew the lucky straw and won the prize.

The party broke up in the smaller hours of the morning and the guests wended their way homewards glad to have been present and sorry it was over. Mr. and Mrs. Robt Mackie and Miss Minnie Moore helped Miss Keeler receive and saw that the young ones enjoyed themselves.

Refreshments were served by Russ & Son, of Elizabeth.

Counterfeits of De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve are liable to cause blood poisoning. Leave them alone. The original has the name De Witt's upon the box and wrapper. It is harmless and healing salve for skin diseases. Unequaled for plics. W. H. Trenchard.

A Pitted Spot.

About a mile south of the Michigan state line and near Cedar Lake, Indiana, is a small spot of land upon which vegetation absolutely refuses to grow. The surrounding soil, though apparently by the same is very productive. The spot is less than 20 feet in diameter and is located in a grove which tradition declares to have been the torture ground of the Pawnee Indians.

WOMEN CANDIDATES DEFEATED

Cranford Voters Elected Them to the Board of Education.

Mrs. Fannie B. Bates, President of the Village Improvement Association, and Mrs. Eugenia Banker, President of the Wednesday Morning Club, made an effort to be elected members of the Board of Education of Cranford Tuesday evening and made an excellent fight although they were defeated.

For several weeks the women of the town have been circulating a petition asking for the support of the voters of the township in having two women elected to the Board but failed to name their candidates until Monday morning.

The voting was close and exciting and it was almost midnight when the tellers finished counting the ballots and found that the independent ticket had beaten, not only the women candidates, but the regulars.

Wild With Eczema

Fire Could Not Have Been More Painful.

"After spending two years in taking all kinds of medicines that were suggested for eczema, but without avail, my mother was induced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. The results were wonderfully gratifying. Her limbs had been terribly lacerated by the disease, and there were times when she could not have been more painful. She was, in fact, almost wild. Two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla completely cured her, and not a trace of eczema was left." E. W. DECKER, Gardiner, N. Y.

Eat Well, Sleep Well.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has been a great blessing to me. It was weak, irritable, tired and nervous, had no appetite and was always sad and despondent. One day I got hold of a little book about Hood's Sarsaparilla. I looked it over and resolved to try a bottle. I was better before it was gone, so I kept on until I had taken five bottles. I can now sleep well, feel cheerful and can do all my work, including plain sewing, and I can walk two or three miles a day. I am 55 years old and now feel that life is worth living." Mrs. Emma Smith, 68 E. Mitchell St., Oswego, N. Y.

Critical Period of Life.

"I took Hood's Sarsaparilla during the critical period of my life, and now, at the age of 60 years, I am strong and healthy. It is a great medicine for the blood. I find Hood's to be the best." Mrs. I. P. Pomeroy, 22 Landing Street, Auburn, N. Y.

Catarrh

Called an American disease cured by an American medicine, originated and prepared in the most catarrhal of American countries.

That medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It cures scalds and puns, in that it removes the cause, cleansing the blood of excretion, and all other impurities. It overcomes all the effects of catarrh, too, and builds up the whole system.

"Is your mamma cross? Mine is awful cross! Does your mamma say 'Hush!' when you laugh or make a little bit of a noise? My mamma does. She has nerves, papa says."

The mother who overheard this account of herself would feel heart-broken to think of the shadow cast by her misery on those she loved. Yet her condition is real. Her nerves are strained to the point of torture. Lack of appetite and loss of sleep increase her weakness.

Such a condition may, in general be traced to disease of the delicate womanly organism—a cure for which is found in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces refreshing sleep.

It had been a constant sufferer from uterine disease for five years, writes Mrs. J. A. Secrest, of Vanhook Dam, Clay Co., West Virginia, "and for six months previous to taking your medicine I was not out of my room. Could not walk or stand; there was such pain and drawing in left side and bearing-down weight in region of uterus, accompanied with soreness. I suffered constantly with headache, pain in back, shoulders, arms and chest; and could not sleep nor lie down. When I had taken three bottles of your medicine, the periods were regulated. I was not so nervous, could sleep well, and the pain in back and bearing-down weight vanished. My health is better at this time than it has been in five years."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets stimulate the liver.

Whistled as She Sang.

The man who knew many things was instructing the new and verdant stenographer as to the use of the various office appliances, and finally he introduced her to the speaking tube.

"Now, see," said the man, "you put one tube to your ear and the other to your mouth, then whistle."

"Into which one do I whistle?" asked the guileless stenographer.

"Heavens!" cried the man, "which one do you suppose you whistle in, the one at your ear or the one at your mouth?"

"What was what I wanted to know," said the stenographer, "for I whistle as I sing, entirely by ear."—Memphis Scimitar.
