

JERSEYMEN GET GOOD RESULTS IN LIFE INSURANCE.

New Jersey holders of Industrial policies in The Prudential have received in dividends over $1,000,000. In the year 1905 they received in this manner over $217,000. None of the policies on which these payments were made called for dividends. This indicates why its policyholders believe in The Prudential.

DUIPS FROM THE PROFESSOR.

Two Points Scored in Humorous but Effective Manner.

"You don't seem to understand," blustered the man who was trying to make his point with a university professor. "I tell you, sir, I ought to know, I'm an alumnus of this institution myself." "Are you?" That's nothing singular," was the witty rejoinder, uttered so quietly that the blustering man never knew what had happened, says the Youth's Companion.
On another occasion the same professor, having ordered from a music publishing house a copy of a "Valse Impromptu" by a certain French composer, received an "Impromptu Waltz" by another man. The publishers, when called to account for their mistake, replied rather insolently that they had been in the music publishing business a long time, and had yet to discover the difference between a "Valse Impromptu" and an "Impromptu Waltz." Would Dr. Smith kindly state to them that difference?
"Gentlemen," wrote the genial professor in answer. "I have not, like yourselves, been in the music publishing business, and am therefore not fully qualified to inform you; but since, in your extremity, you have appealed to me, I would venture to suggest that the difference between a 'Valse Impromptu' and an 'Impromptu Waltz' may be similar to the difference between a blind Venetian and a Venetian blind."

England Has Largest Eggs.
"Egg cups are bigger in New York than anywhere else in the world except England," said a globe trotter. "I can't say the same for the eggs, although the hens in this part of the country perform their duty of helping to feed the human race pretty creditably. Still, they cannot come up to the English hens. Their contribution to the food products are extraordinary in size, hence the corresponding capaciousness of the egg cups. The further south you go on the continent the smaller the egg cups grow. In Egypt they dwindle away to the size of the average thimble. Their diminutive proportions are commensurate with the size of the eggs, however, which are the smallest laid by self-respecting hens any place on earth. Place an ordinary Egyptian egg in the British cup and it is absolutely lost. In order that eggs may be decapitated gracefully the authorities at Alexandria have given orders for the importation of several thousand extra cups to fit the native eggs."

Skeptical.
There was elected to the city council of Chicago a year or two ago a politician of local note by reason of his frank and absolute cynicism, frequently expressed, with reference to reform in politics. For reformers, as a class, the cynical Chicagoan had only a contemptuous, but good-natured, jest.
It is said that on the occasion of the retirement of a federal office holder, an Illinois man who had long fed at the public crib, some one had observed to the councilman that the office holder in question was reported to have resigned for the reason that he had tired of politics and of office.
"After all," said the friend, "Blank's a pretty fine sort. Great church member. He says that he will devote the remainder of his life to doing good."
"That so?" lazily asked the councilman. "Who's this fellow Good?"

No Clothing Desire Overlooked.

Some men are particular about one thing and some about another in their apparel. With some men quality and fit are about all that is demanded, while with others style and smart appearance are the first consideration.

There are plenty of clothing stores where good materials and a fit that will pass muster are generally provided. They appeal to men who are not particular.

But in Marshall & Ball Clothing, whether for the conservative or the extremely stylish dresser, there isn't a single element that discerning men desire which has been overlooked, from the quality of the materials to the smallest detail in finishing.

That something which has been referred to as "ginger" in clothes is eminently present in our Fall Suits and Overcoats for young men. There is a degree of style and individuality worked into them which can result only from superior tailoring skill and which is often absent in the product of even high-priced custom shops.

Evils Arising From Deafness.
 An ear specialist insists that deafness affects all the senses. He says the reason for this is that the ear is only one servant of the sensory service of the human system. Loss of hearing is really a partial paralysis of the brain, but owing to the sympathetic connection of the various sensory nerve centers of the brain the others indirectly concerned have to combat for their very life the demoralizing influence of the affected center.

Judicious Spending.
 It is argued by some that, for the common weal, the universal spending of money should be encouraged. Saving money, however, does not imply burying it from circulation but sending it along into circulation in one's own name. What the young men of the country need is not encouragement to spend their money but to spend it judiciously and wisely.

A Cat with Wings.
 The boatswain of the "Caspar," an English schooner, brought with him from India a strange animal-bird, which he always referred to as his "Rabby." It certainly looked more like a cat than anything else; but it was probably some freak of the animal world. It had two pairs of wings, but could fly only with difficulty, like a tame duck.

Spider's Wonderful Strength.
 Recently in the village of Havana, in New York state, an insignificant looking little garden spider pounced upon a milksnake, bit it, entangled it in her threads and actually hoisted it off the ground. The fact that the snake weighed 96 times as much as its captor makes this achievement a most remarkable one.

Make Money by Selling Snow.
 The main revenue of the archiepiscopacy in the diocese of Catania is derived from the monopoly of selling the snow of Mount Etna. During the summer months the monopoly yields a great profit.

Asiatic Star Tree.
 A tree that is a freak of nature is the Asiatic star tree. It grows 60 to 80 feet tall, and for a height of about 40 feet the trunk is wholly bare. From that point there spring a number of tangled limbs, and these, grouped together, emit a phosphoric light.

He Will "Get There."

Life and Laughter.
 The man who cannot laugh is not only fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils, but his whole life is already a treason and a stratagem.—Thomas Carlyle.

Safe.
 Once in a while we meet a man whom no woman could possibly fool. Generally somebody is wheeling him along in a chair.

German Women Outlive Men.
 In Germany more than 600 out of every 1,000 women reach the age of 50 years, while only 413 men live so long.

Folly of Affection.
 We are never so ridiculous by the quantities we have as by those we affect to have.—Rochefoucauld.

Two Good Rules.
 Remember that charity thinketh no evil, much less repeats. There are two good rules which ought to be written on every heart: Never believe anything bad about anybody unless you positively know that it is true; never tell even that unless you feel it is absolutely necessary, and that God is listening while you tell it.—Henry van Dyke.

Fine Anthropological Collection.
 The nation's capital has the largest collection of anthropological specimens on the face of the globe. Four thousand to 5,000 skulls and skeletons of human beings are here preserved. Two hundred brains are arrayed in jars. These are exhibited with those of animals for the purpose of comparison.

Pleasure in Duty.
 One thing that ought to be done is to find the pleasure in every duty. It is there; and not to recognize it is a handicap that we have no right to carry. We may rest assured that the man who finds the deepest, most satisfying pleasure in life is the man who does his duty oftenest.

More Philadelphia High Schools.
 The board of education of Philadelphia has decided to divide the city into five sections, and to establish a high school in each. Although Philadelphia is the third largest city in the United States in point of population, it is the twenty-third in number of high school students.

Value of Lobster as Food.
 The London Hospital is inclined to hold that lobster is not so indigestible as popular fancy thinks it. It is, however, less nutritious than the average fish.

WAITERS ALL QUIT.
Hotel Full of Non-Tipping Ministers Too Much for Them.

A mysterious walkout of waiters occurred recently in Brooklyn at the hotel where 360 Methodist ministers met in an annual conference. The waiters, paid at the usual rate, asked for extra money, and not getting it, departed in a body.

A second force was engaged, and very shortly they, too, quit, leaving the clergy in imminent peril of famine.

Did the waiters happen to be Presbyterians? Was a physical plague or a spiritual contamination feared by the waiters, who hesitated not to serve saloon keepers and talented money kings? The ministers felt hurt. Neither theology nor experience seemed able to indicate the cause of this unjust discrimination.

A waiter, however, made everything clear and simple by saying: "The preachers never give us tips; see? That's the trouble."—N. Y. Tribune.

Ink Slinging in Parliament.
 I have no wish to make odious comparisons between our legislators and others, but having watched the proceedings of other parliaments I feel that we have no reason to fear comparison, says M. A. P. For instance, I once looked on when the parliament in Vienna was in full blast. There was a party in the state there which sought to advance its views by its members banging the lid of the desk which each member had before him, and thus causing an intolerable din. These gentlemen I venture to describe as the luddites of the Austrian parliament. Another group attempted to make its mark by throwing ink pots across the chamber. I have done some ink-slinging in my time, but the process shown by these legislative ink-slingers filled me with admiring despair, and I would have called them the luddites had it not been for the fact that they often missed. Now such practices are unknown at Westminster—though it is only fair to acknowledge that we do not give our members the opportunity of banging lids or throwing ink pots.

Forever Young.
 J. Ogden Armour, returning to America on the Kronprinz Wilhelm, neatly pricked the "child musician" bubble.

A young man was praising the various child musicians of the last few seasons.

"And there is Nicolo, that wonderful boy violinist," he exclaimed. "Have you ever heard the nine-year-old Nicolo?"

"O, yes," said Mr. Armour, yawning, "I heard him 15 years ago at Covent Garden."

Divorce-Law Suggestion.
 A clergyman was railing against divorce.

"We ought to have the divorce law that was enforced in ancient Greece," he said. "If that old Greek clause was tacked to every separation, I am persuaded that divorces would fall off 60 or 70 per cent.

"This law was that, when a man got a divorce he could not, under any circumstances, marry another woman younger than his ex-wife.

"An innocent law. A brief law. Not much to look at. But how many, many divorce suits would be nipped in the bud if all husbands knew that, after the separation, they could not marry younger women than the wives they had cast off."

High Prices in Japan.
 This is a time of high prices in Japan. The cost of everything has advanced enormously. The rates of five or ten years ago are recalled with regret. Rents and wages have advanced proportionately. Dwelling houses that could be obtained for 45 or 50 yen ($22.50 or $25) a few years ago now cost 90 or 100 yen, and the wages of domestic servants are approximately double what they were formerly. Taxes have been enormously increased—the income tax is 250 per cent. higher now than it was before the Russo-Japanese war—and the tobacco monopoly has exactly doubled the cost of even the most ordinary cigarette.

REPTILE TO BE DREADED
South American Snake Whose Bite is Quickly Fatal.

It is more than 20 years since the deadly South American snake known as bushmaster, of which a specimen has just reached the Zoological gardens at London, was last exhibited by the society.

For obvious reasons it is difficult to obtain exact measurements of a live serpent, but the newcomer appears to be about nine feet long. It is evidently partial to moisture, for it has taken possession of a stoneware pan filled with damp moss, which had been placed in the cage for its benefit. The ground color of its skin is yellowish, and its markings are in the form of dark triangular patches.

The scheme of coloration is bold and renders the creature very conspicuous. This combination of black and yellow is usually present in poisonous reptiles and may thus be taken as a signal of danger. Not only does its large size render the surmice—to give it its Brazilian name—a most dangerous reptile; its poison fangs are enormous and its bite is quickly fatal. Fortunately for its neighbors this deadly monster is nowhere common.

Where De Quincey Went to Church.
 St. Peter's church, Manchester, England, which is shortly to be pulled down, is the church which De Quincey attended as a lad and to which there are some entertaining references in "The Confessions of an Opium Eater."

The first rector was De Quincey's tutor, and he possessed apparently a stock of 330 sermons which the pupil confessed became to him "a real instrument of improvement." He only heard half of them, because he attended only the morning services; but he says "Those same 330—2 sermons (lasting only through 16 minutes each) for me became a perfect palestra of intellectual gymnastics, far better suited to my childish weakness than could have been the sermons of Isaac Barrow or Jeremy Taylor." De Quincey gives his impressions of the opening of the church, which took place when he was in his tenth year. That is now 111 years ago.

Sunlight Puts Fires Out.
 "An oven or stove should never be built where the sun will strike it," said an architect. "Sunlight puts a fire out you know."

"I had often heard from old women that fires would not burn well if the sun shone on them, but I thought this was a superstition. I thought the fires only seemed to burn less well because the bright light of the sun made their flames look pale and weak. I was wrong, though."

"It is a fact that sunlight, on a range or stove, will weaken and eventually extinguish the fire. The reason is that the sun's rays hinder combustion, rarifying the air and lessening the bulk of oxygen so necessary to a good, bright blaze."

Had a Great Start.
 Patrick Lavin is a native of the Emerald Isle. He was telling stories to several young men the other evening. "The greatest jumper in the whole of Ireland," he said, "was a man from my own town. I remember well the day when the sojers were chasin' him, he kin'to a river that was wan mile wide, and wid one leap he landed safe on th' other side."

"Oh!" broke in the young men; "how could he leap a river one mile wide?"

"Shure," said Mr. Lavin, disgustedly, "didn't he have two miles as a start?"

CARE IN WASHING SWEATERS.
Garment Never Should Be Hung Up to Dry—Needs Much Rinsing.

In washing a sweater, rub thoroughly in warm water and soap suds, rinsing several times to get all the color of the soap out of the wool. Be sure never to hang up a sweater to dry, as hanging ruins the shape and stretches the garment.

If you can lay the sweater on the grass, do so, having first spread out a heavy towel or a sheet folded. If you must dry it on the fire escape or in a window, spread out first a newspaper and then cover that with towels or a sheet to keep the water from soaking through, and then lay the sweater on them, not stretched out, but rather in a heap.

Half a day of hot sunshine will dry it, but it must be hot. Don't try to wash a sweater on a cloudy day.

Dress Coverings.
 Some girl with a love of pretty things hit upon the clever idea of making the great bags and slips, with which she covered her best bib and tuckers, of flowered stuffs instead of the usual plain white muslin affairs. The open door of the closet reveals a pretty sight, instead of a rather funereal effect the muslin shroudings are bound to give.

Choosing a closely woven material, so that the dust is as safely defied as when a stout muslin is the shield, is the only point that need be looked to. Have some of the covers big, sheet-like affairs—there are certain gowns which keep in better condition if something is folded about them than if they are slipped into the roomiest of bags.

Put loops upon bags or wrappingsheet, so that their weight, little as it may seem, will bear directly upon the closet hooks, instead of adding its mite to dragging the delicate skirt or blouse out of shape.

Two Good Cleaning Recipes.
 Here is a recipe which is efficacious for cleaning fabrics without injuring their texture or changing their color. It is also particularly good in cleaning rugs and carpets. Grate two raw potatoes in a bowl which contains a pint of clear, cold water. Now strain through a sieve, allowing the liquid to fall into another bowl containing another pint of cold water. When it settles, pour off the water into a bottle and keep for future use. Dip a sponge into the potato water and rub the soiled garment carefully, after which it may be washed in clear water.

When ivory knife handles get discolored dip half a lemon in salt and rub on them. Wash off immediately in warm water, and the handles will look as white as when new.

Baked Potatoes.
 Select smooth, medium sized potatoes, wash, and put in a dripping pan. Bake in a hot oven over 40 minutes, or until soft. The potatoes are put in a dripping pan so that all may be drawn at one time to try them. Test the potatoes by taking one up in a holder or towel, and if they are soft and mealy inside, they are done. Baked potatoes are cooked in their natural water, and when done the skin should be broken to let out the steam. If this is not done, the steam inside condenses again, and forms water, and the result is soggy baked potatoes.—Good Housekeeping.

To Sweeten Musty Cellar.
 A damp, musty cellar may be sweetened by sprinkling upon the floor pulverized copperas, chloride of lime, or even common lime. The most effective means ever used to disinfect decaying vegetable matter is chloride of lime in solution. One pound may be dissolved in two gallons of water. Plaster of paris has also been found an excellent absorbent of noxious odors. If used one part with three parts of charcoal, it will be found still better.

Misunderstood.
 "Pardon me," said the first guest in the summer hotel, calling to his neighbor across the hall, "but could you let me have a shoehorn?"

"A shoehorn?" replied the Kentuckian, "that's a new one on me, sub. But I can let you have some good old Bourbon, sub."—Cleveland Leader.

Society does not like to have any breath of question blown on the existing order. But the interrogation of custom at all points is an inevitable stage in the growth of every superior mind.—Emerson.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

An editorial paragraph last week, suggesting the inadvisability of woman's suffrage at the present time, has prompted the contribution of a most interesting letter on the subject by Mr. J. F. Van Riper, of this town. The communication will be found elsewhere in to-day's issue of the STANDARD.

We have no violent feelings on the question, one way or the other, and our reference to the matter within the brief compass of a paragraph can not, of course, be considered as an argument, or an attempt to argue, but merely a suggestion of the one point noted. That point is, that, as elections are now conducted by men, woman's participation in them would work more harm to womanhood than it would help the purification of elections. It should be remembered that in the long history of man the use of the ballot is of comparatively recent origin, and that it is merely a substitution of intellectual and moral warfare for the actual physical warfare that long decided the disputes of men on the earth. But it is warfare, nevertheless, and will be for some time to come, until man's judgment is clearer and his conscience more potent. The point is that, being warfare, there still survive amid electoral conflicts of to-day many of the features of the physical battles of old. There are excitement, meanness, evil motives, hatred, fraud and, indeed, physical violence in a large degree. These exist simply because humanity has not yet progressed far enough in the scale of moral uplift to be enabled to dispense with these factors, ingrained in men through the centuries, in the settlement of affairs involving such important differences of opinion as prevail in connection with government. It may be argued that the refining influence of womanhood coming into the election contests will tend to do away with the evils suggested. We doubt not that it would, but we feel just as surely that it would take a long time to uproot them, and our interest in the preservation of womanhood and what it means for other and far higher duties, opportunities and privileges, is such that we would not sacrifice one iota of its beneficent influence by dragging, coaxing or permitting women now to engage in the rougher contests of men. The inevitable consequence of the use of the ballot by women would be women candidates for office. The cruel calumny, caricature, misrepresentation and personal vilification incident to campaigning has soured the temper, or sickened the heart of many a strong man. We think the effect of this sort of thing upon women would be to crush them and cause them to withdraw, or to course their natures if they remained in political activity. Women are temperamentally unable to endure the evils referred to, and to accept them philosophically. It is the fitness of their nature and their special mental qualities that make them sensitive to such things. We feel that it is better for them to wait until men have by education and progress made it possible for women to participate in elections without the risk of having to submit to numerous public indignities, or to lose some of those qualities which have made them the moral backbone of the race.

The Ladies' Home Journal gravely announces that a two-year-old baby should not be permitted to eat turkey, plum pudding and pie on Thanksgiving Day. We do not think it prudent to drink hard cider, or play football under the new rules, either.

Martin Welles Endorses Alpers.

To the Editor of the Union County Standard: I read by the STANDARD, which I read with great interest every week, that Mr. A. L. Alpers, will in all probability be the Republican nominee for Mayor of Westfield this Fall. I regret that I cannot be in Westfield to vote for him, but I can at least bear witness to his exceptional fitness for the office of Mayor. Mr. Alpers was Chairman of the Finance Committee of the first Town Council, during which time I was Comptroller-at-Large, and I know that he devoted a great deal of valuable time to the study of the financial problems, which at that time required great attention, and that as a member of other committees he worked early and late in the interests of Westfield. By his long service as a member of the Town Council, he has become thoroughly posted as to Town affairs, and has precisely the experience needed to make him a most competent Mayor. In addition he is a man of the highest integrity, of large business experience and has the confidence and esteem of everyone who knows him. I think it most fortunate that Westfield has such a citizen, who is willing to devote his attention to Town affairs, and I trust he will be elected by a large majority. MARTIN WELLES, Geneva, Suisse, Oct. 15, 1906.

Bischof Soon Found Stolen Goods.

The police did not take much stock in the reported burglary of the residence of Henry V. Bischof, who runs a barber shop on Broad street. It was said that $237 in money and $2,000 worth of jewelry had been stolen. An investigation was started, but Bischof shortly reported that the missing valuables had been found in an old box.

Locked Up for Beating Horse.

Three intoxicated men from Newark drove through this town Monday evening abusing the horse and trying to catch automobiles. The attention of the police was called to the case, and they telephoned to the Plainfield Police Station to meet and arrest the men. This was done and the lark cost the defendants twenty-five dollars apiece.

Druggist Hathaway Elopes.

W. G. Hathaway, of the firm of Frutchey & Hathaway, druggists, in this town, is reported to have eloped with a Mrs. Walter Pearson, the mother of two small children, and wife of the son of Jersey City's detective-sergeant, Robert Pearson. The runaway is said to have followed a stormy scene, in which all the parties figured, and when the wife renounced her husband and children for the young druggist. Their whereabouts is at present unknown. Mr. Frutchey has caused a dissolution of his partnership with Hathaway, whom he says has never been known before to be anything but a thoroughly upright character. It is thought that the young man allowed his sympathies to get the better of his judgment in this case.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership heretofore existing between W. G. Hathaway and myself has been terminated by mutual consent and that the drug business heretofore conducted under the firm name of "Frutchey and Hathaway" in Westfield, New Jersey, and in Jersey City, New Jersey, will from this date be continued by the subscriber. All accounts due to the firm of Frutchey and Hathaway should be paid to me. GEORGE W. FRUTCHEY, Westfield, N. J., October 24th, 1906.

Diet and Conditions of Life.

Darwin relates that the Gauchos of the American pampas live for months on the fat meat of the oxen they watch over. The Eskimos can get along very well by eating from five to six pounds a day of reindeer or seal's flesh, so long as it is not too lean, but contains a due proportion of fat. Says the author, of "Diet and Diets": "Some men obliged to live a very fatiguing life, the trappers and hunters of the pampas of America and Siberian steppes, the inhabitants of very cold climates, the fishermen living on the banks of the frozen sea, can eat almost exclusively, without suffering from it, enormous quantities of meat or fish, but on two conditions—that the meat be accompanied by its fat, and that the individual subjected to this diet lead a very active life in the open air."

Woman's Club Meeting.

The Woman's Club held its second meeting of the season last Monday afternoon, with a large attendance, in spite of the unpleasant weather. Arrangements were made for attendance at the State Federation meeting in Asbury Park, Friday and Saturday of this week. Mrs. Bancroft and Mrs. Barr were appointed delegates to represent the Club.

The program committee for next year's work was announced as follows: Mrs. Tubby, chairman, Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Merrill, Mrs. Barr, Mrs. Harlan, Mrs. Frank Smith.

The Club unanimously elected members of the Club, Mrs. Sisson, Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Sinclair, Jr., Mrs. Cutler.

The resignations of Mrs. Wilfred Johnson, Mrs. William Knight, Mrs. Hasslock, Miss Babbell and Mrs. Slade were accepted with regret. Four former members of the Club were elected by acclamation to fill the vacancies, Mrs. Games, Miss Cooper, Mrs. Ambrose Bower, Mrs. Lawrence Bower, and the name of Mrs. Prondit was presented for consideration, to be voted upon at the next meeting.

A rising vote of thanks was tendered Prof. Savitz for his kindness in lecturing for the Club at the previous meeting. An expression of sympathy was ordered sent to Mrs. Gidders-Sheew, an honorary member, in response to the announcement of the death of her son.

An extremely interesting program was given, Mrs. James O. Clark leading with an excellent paper on Indian Trails and Legends. Mrs. Hankinson read a number of selections of old Indian folklore and tradition. Mrs. Dutcher closed the program with a most interesting paper on Indian music, illustrated by her own piano playing. Mrs. Robinson assisted at the piano with one of McDowell's Indian compositions.

Advance Club Meeting.

The first meeting of the Advance Club this season was held last Friday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. V. Hankinson. Coming together for the first time in the new club year, the members particularly enjoyed the social features of the evening. Miss Estelle M. Clark interested greatly those present by an account of her European trip this summer, and Miss Brainerd likewise told of her travels through Canada. Dr. J. J. Savitz spoke of Pennsylvania and Dr. W. I. Stearns of New England as seen on an automobile trip. Music was also greatly enjoyed as part of the evening's program.

Tuberculosis Figures.

Notwithstanding its fogs, London has a lower mortality from tuberculosis than other European capitals. In 1904 it was only 156 per 100,000 inhabitants, as against 257.5 in Berlin, 254 in Milan, 256 in Madrid, 314 in Vienna, 353 in Paris, 357 in Moscow.

Hobby of English Duke.

The English duke of Rutland has the walls of one of his castles adorned with thousands of horseshoes, the collection having been begun centuries ago. Among them is a shoe given by Queen Elizabeth and another by Queen Victoria.

Active English Statesmen.

Despite his 82 years Sir Charles Dilke is one of the most active members of the house of commons. He is an enthusiastic sculler and goes through a course of training every year. He is also an enthusiastic fencer.

Restraints Turbulent Youngsters.

A clever Irish woman has patented an invention called "the happy thought." It is a portable cage canopy which, when adjusted on a cradle, will prevent the liveliest youngster from tumbling out.

Training the Mind.

Train your mind to contemplate doing the brave thing, the generous thing, the wise thing. Then whatever emergencies are sprung upon you, you will not be taken altogether by surprise.

The Girl's Fault Sometimes.

A girl should not imagine every strange man who looks at her wants to start an acquaintance. Sometimes he's wondering why she didn't rub some of the powder off her nose.

Fireside Entertains Ladies.

Fireside Council, No. 715, Royal Arcanum, with their wives and sweethearts were royally entertained after the regular meeting on Thursday evening by the Marguerite Smith-Alkire Company. Each of the artists appearing were past masters in their particular line.

Marguerite Smith-Alkire as the Night Impersonator, was marvelous in her interpretation of the beauties of child life, and at one particular point attracted the audience by announcing an "Essay on the Seasons" by Johnnie Marsh, age 14. Needless to say she in no way reflected to Westfield's social assessor.

Mr. Alkire as a basso is a finished singer of high merit, and after responding to numerous encores, was requested to repeat his number, "Make New Friends but Keep the Old," which he did in very effective style.

The Alkires were ably supported by Kathryn Underwood, at the piano, whose efforts were enthusiastically received.

Fireside and their friends feel it was one of the best entertainments ever given in the hall, and is simply a fore-runner of what will happen all during the winter.

Old People

NEED VINOL

It strengthens and vitalizes

With old age comes feebleness and loss of power; the blood is thin and digestion weak. Vinol repairs worn tissues and checks the natural decline. It tones up the digestive organs, aids assimilation, makes rich, red blood, and strengthens every organ in the body. In this natural manner Vinol replaces weakness with strength. Vinol contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil in a concentrated form, taken from fresh cods' livers, the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added. Try it on our guarantee.

McGillvray Arrested Again.
 John A. McGillvray, the young man who is charged with having decamped with the proceeds of a week's business of Bobby Leuch's lunch wagon in Plainfield, collected in Bobby's absence on a trip to New England, was captured in Westfield Wednesday night after a search for several weeks. Westfield is McGillvray's home.
 After Leuch returned to town and made complaint against his missing clerk, the police could find no trace of the young man. Chief of Police O'Neil, of Westfield, was asked to keep a lookout for him, however, and Wednesday night he telephoned Chief Kiely that the young man had returned home.
 "Get him quick," said the Chief, and O'Neil lost no time in breaking up McGillvray's home-coming.
 The young man waived examination before Justice Mosher yesterday morning, and furnished bail in $300 for his appearance before the Grand Jury. The bond was given by Robert Woodruff, of Westfield. The charge is petty larceny.

Hand-tailored Clothes!

Stoutenburgh clothes surpass all other ready-for-service clothes for men in the expressive hand-tailoring bestowed on them by masters of the tailoring art.

We maintain our own organization of craftsmen, whose painstaking and expert work is evidenced in the permanent shapeliness of all Stoutenburgh clothes.

To our clever tailors is due, also, that clear definition of distinctive style which makes Stoutenburgh clothes the choice of discriminating men.

Fall Suits for men and young men, in the new models, in a range of new and exclusive gray effects, blues and black, priced from $10 to $30.

Fall Overcoats in three effective models: the "Essex" fitted-back coat on the lines of the Padlock; the distinguished Chesterfield, and a nobby covert top-coat model. From $10 to $38.

Pick Off Caterpillar Eggs.

When the trees are bare is the time to hunt the caterpillar eggs and remove them from the branches. If this can be done in December, it should be done at that time, because the days are mild and a boy can climb about the tree tops without being exposed to the cold winds that will interfere with the work later in the winter. The eggs will be found in clusters or rings about the twigs and smaller branches. They are easily recognized, and cutting them out will prevent the appearance of the colonies next spring. The sooner the work is done the more certain will the orchard owner be that the clusters of eggs will not be forgotten. Next spring there will be a great many things to do, and it is very easy not to find time then for work of this kind.

INDIANS NOT DYING OUT.

More Here To-Day Than There Were When Columbus Arrived.

A popular impression prevails that the Indians are dying out. Those who have given the subject study believe there are more Indians to-day in the United States than there were when Columbus landed.

The Indians were never populous. They were too much at war. They ruined the soil and hunted through the forests, but they never had local habitations and were never many in one spot.

The first actual census of the Indians was taken 70 years ago. At that time there were found to be 253,461. Prior to that time everything had been by guess.

Beginning with the count of 1836 the official reports of Indian population are as follows: In 1860, at the beginning of the civil war, there were 254,200. Twenty years later, in 1880, there were 256,127. In 1900 there were 272,023. To-day, by count of the Indian agents on the reservations of the country there are 281,000 Indians.

The Indian is not dying out, and there is no reason why he should. The government has pursued a policy, mistaken in many respects, but yet calculated to give the Indian a chance in the race of civilized life, and the Indian is showing considerable aptitude. The Indians of the new state of Oklahoma are intelligent and wealthy, and they will be heard from in national affairs.—Mobile Register.

A Powerful "Apparently."

The word "apparently," injected into a bill passed by the British parliament prohibiting the sale or gift of cigarettes to children, is likely to lead to some trouble, for the bill provides a penalty for any person selling or delivering cigarettes to any child apparently under 16 years of age, a similar penalty for any child apparently under 16 caught with them in his possession, and empowers the police to stop all youths apparently under 16 seen smoking in any public place, and to confiscate any tobacco found upon them.

KIDNEY TROUBLE

The importance of knowing just what to do when one has kidney disease or urinary troubles, is best answered by the following letter which was recently published in the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., News, Press.

"Dr. David Kennedy, Dear Sirs—For more than eighteen months I was so badly afflicted with kidney trouble I could scarcely walk a quarter of a mile without almost fainting. I did not gain any until I began to use Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. After using the first bottle I noticed a decided improvement which continued, and I know that

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT BY PUBLIC SERVICE

Relating to a reduction in public and commercial electric rates, and in the price of gas to the $1.00 standard; and also providing the extension of the 5c. fare zone and transfer system of the Street Railway Department:

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of Public Service Corporation held on Tuesday, October 23, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

RESOLVED, That in the judgment of the Board of Directors the result of the extension, betterment, rebuilding and consolidation of the electric plants, which have been in progress ever since the formation of Public Service, and which will be largely completed by January 1st, 1908, will justify bids for public lighting made after that date at lower prices than have heretofore prevailed, particularly in view of the fact that existing contracts do not all fall in at one date, but their expiration extends over a period of about two years, and also that a very large increase in the commercial business will justify, at the same time, a further substantial reduction in the present base rates for commercial light and power, which now ranges from 12 cents to 14 cents per k. w. hour—except in Bergen County, where the base rate is 15 cents per k. w. hour; and

RESOLVED, That the President be authorized to officially announce that all biddings after January 1st, 1908, on renewals of public arc lighting contracts shall be made according to the following schedule for a five-year contract, namely:

In cities of the first-class, a maximum rate of $75.00 per annum per arc light of 2,000 candle power.

In all other cities a maximum rate of $80.00 per annum per arc light of 2,000 candle power.

In all municipalities other than cities a maximum rate of $85.00 per annum per arc light of 2,000 candle power.

And also that on and after January 1st, 1908, THE BASE RATE FOR COMMERCIAL LIGHT AND POWER SHALL BE REDUCED TO 10c. PER K. W. HOUR THROUGHOUT THE TERRITORY SERVED BY PUBLIC SERVICE AND ITS SUBSIDIARY COMPANIES, except Bergen County, where the rate shall then be reduced 12 cents per k. w. hour, and on January 1st, 1910, to 10 cents per k. w. hour.

RESOLVED FURTHER, That in the few remaining municipalities where the prices of gas now exceeds $1.00 net per thousand cubic feet, SAID PRICE SHALL BE REDUCED TO $1.00 NET PER THOUSAND CUBIC FEET ON JANUARY 1st, 1909, except in Bergen County, where the reduction to $1.00 net per thousand cubic feet shall be made simultaneously with the final electric reduction on January 1st, 1910, and that meanwhile the the annual reduction already promised at 5 cents per thousand cubic feet shall be continued.

The above resolution, so far as it relates to a reduction in electric light and power in Essex, Hudson and a portion of Union and Morris Counties, was concurred in by the Board of Directors of the United Electric Company of New Jersey, at a meeting held on Tuesday, October 23.

This announcement is made at this time because the voters of certain cities are to decide at the forthcoming election whether they will authorize their respective municipal officers to construct a municipal electric station for both public and commercial use, and two other cities are considering the erection of an electric plant for public lighting. In view of the foregoing it is believed that any such action will be altogether undesirable.

The rates at present being charged for gas and electric service in the several municipalities are perfectly fair. Substantial reductions, both in the prices of gas and electricity, have already been made by Public Service since its formation in April, 1903. At the time of the acquisition of the gas properties of Public Service the price of gas ranged from $1.80 to $1.00 net per thousand cubic feet, the latter price prevailing only in parts of South Jersey, Newark and adjacent territory. The base rate for electricity ranged from 20 cents to 13 cents per k. w. hour.

The large further reduction herein provided for, as well as those already made, has only been made possible as a result of the consolidation of many properties into one company. If it were practicable from a financial standpoint to make reduction in rates earlier, it would be impossible to obtain the additional electrical apparatus which will be required to take care of the abnormal increase in business which will undoubtedly result from the large reduction in rates.

The reason for the prolongation of the date at which the ultimate base rate for both gas and electricity is reached in Bergen County is because of the widely scattered nature of the population, and of the consequent longer time involved in bringing that property into close relationship with the rest of the territory, which difficulty is accentuated by the fact that the Bergen County property was not acquired by Public Service until recently.

When the foregoing schedules shall have been put into effect we challenge comparison of our rates with those of any other company or companies serving the people of any other commonwealth in the distribution of gas and electricity, under similar conditions.

The company takes further pleasure in announcing that by a re-arrangement and reduction of fares on its street railway system on and after November 1, 1906, the fare will be:

1. From any point in Essex County (Except Eagle Rock, Caldwell and Verona), to any point in Essex County reached by the lines of the company on continuous trip, with a single transfer, 5 cents.

2. From any point in Hudson County to any point in Hudson County reached by the lines of the company on a continuous trip, with a single transfer, 5 cents.

3. From any point in Hudson County to any point in Essex County (except Eagle Rock, Caldwell and Verona), reached by the lines of the company on a continuous trip, with a single transfer in each county, and conversely, 10 cents.

4. From any point in Essex County (except Eagle Rock, Caldwell and Verona), on a continuous trip, with a single transfer, to any point in Union County, as far west as Cranford, and conversely, 10 cents.

5. From any point in Hudson County with single transfer on a continuous trip, to any point in Union County, as far west as Cranford, and conversely, 15 cents.

At the time of the acquisition by Public Service of the different street railway companies now comprising its Street Railway Department, no company transferred with any other company; now all the companies transfer at all intersecting points.

The company is fully aware of the annoyance caused the public by the smoke issuing from the chimneys of its plants and those of other manufacturers, and from steam locomotives. To remedy this is a most difficult problem. For over a year past the company has been experimenting with various smoke-consuming devices, with only partial success. While frequently the smoke is lessened by their use, the efficiency of the plant is seriously interfered with. In the judgment of engineers success is by no means assured where the fluctuations in load exist as in an electric plant. The company pledges itself to the further and thorough investigation of this subject, and to adoption of such smoke-consuming devices as shall be demonstrated to be commercially practicable for its business.

In the further prosecution of its vast business, and in the comprehensive upbuilding and development of the great properties committed to its care, upon which over $26,000,000 has already been expended by this company without financial return to stockholders upon their cash investment amounting to $12,500,000 at par, Public Service seeks the good will and consideration of the fair-minded people of New Jersey, whose prosperity is so interwoven with the success of the company.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE.

The Harvard Girl, with its fund of real humor, its clever specialties, its side-splitting climaxes and situations, will be at the New Plainfield Theatre Monday, October 20, 1906, and will be extravagantly presented, with scenery, costumes, etc. The company is said to be a strong one and contains many funny comedians, who appear in the numerous roles as well as present their specialties.

The trying role of Queen Draga of Servia, in Theodore Krauer's famous play "Queen of the Convicts," which comes to the New Plainfield Theatre next Friday, October 26, 1906, will be in the hands of Miss Selma Herman, the well known emotional actress, whom P. H. Sullivan is starring under his personal direction this season. This fact is in itself a guarantee that expense will not be spared to surround the star with the best that money can procure in the way of magnificent scenery, gorgeous costumes, and a star acting cast.

THE VICE OF GENERALIZING.

Habit All Too General and Influential, Says Writer.

According to Rupert Hughes, writing in Harper's Weekly, the habit of generalizing from single sentences is far too general and influential. One would think, from some of the generalizations, he says, that the monopolists of money, for example, had also monopolized wickedness. "Yet the news of the day will tell of preachers caught in plagiarism or adultery, of druggists selling poisoned soda water, of bakers vending unclean bread, of theological students cheating." Each trade, he says, has its graft. The fact is that "drawing indictments against classes is as insane and illogical as drawing indictments against nations." There are "burglars who are chaste, and parsons who are sots; there are rich women who are nuns of asceticism, and poor women who are so vilely extravagant as to bankrupt their ditch-digging keepers; there are poets who are domestic models, and plumbers who are volunteers; there are rich men who overwork, and poor men lazy enough to beg; there are millionaires' sons who are normal and athletic, and self-made men who are degenerates; there are robust athletes who are abnormal, and cigarette fiends who are leaders of progress; there are Sicilians who never saw a dagger and Puritans who seek vengeletta with a knife or with poison; there are policemen who would reject a bribe, and senators who are devoted to their country; there are chorus girls of unimpeached repute, and Sunday school teachers who commit infanticide."—Exchange.

Little Progress.

"O! yes!" said Miss Kitcher, "we had a meeting of our club but we didn't do anything."

"Why, you were in session for fully three hours," said her brother.

"I know, but it took us all that time to read and approve the minutes of the last meeting."

The First Requisite of Beauty.

The first requisite of beauty is a clear complexion. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup clears a sallow blotched complexion as it stimulates the liver and bowels, and the eyes become bright and clear. You owe it to your friends to take it if your complexion is bad. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or grip and is very pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes.—Sold by Fritchey and Hathaway, Druggists.

THE FAMILY COW.

"Bride" Asks for Little in Return for All She Gives.

Many who live on small country places are deterred from keeping a cow by the mistaken idea that she requires too much room or care. Bride needs no more space for her comfort, and less of your time, than even the small poultry yard. It is more important that the family should be supplied with clean, pure, wholesome milk than any other article of food.

All that is necessary is a dry, well-lighted stall, five or six feet wide and a few feet longer than the animal. A light manger and a gutter to receive the droppings are essential. Then by all means fasten her with a chain to or swinging stanchion, that she may have freedom to use her all-cleansing tongue. Plenty of clean bedding—shavings are best—plenty of absorbents in the gutter, with some slaked lime occasionally as a deodorizer, complete the sanitary furnishings.

For grounds, a cow needs but a small yard for exercise. Keep it filled with the leaves and stalks from the lawn to prevent it from becoming muddy. These make good mulching later.

Grazing is best in summer, if it can be had, and green crops cut and fed are a good substitute. Oats and field peas, planted to secure a succession, will serve the purpose. There are always roadsides and odd corners that a cow can graze down, and the lawn may be sparingly utilized. When the pasture begins to fall, the grain ration must be started to maintain a full milk flow.

Feed what you can produce or buy to best advantage in your market. Simply stated, the balanced ration means the proper ratio between the fat-forming and bone-and-muscle-making elements of the feed stuffs. The amount and proportion of grains and roughage depend on the cow, and must be determined by experience. The winter feed should consist of about ten or 15 pounds of mixed grain and 20 to 30 pounds of hay and roughage. Mixed timothy and clover hay is better for cows than clear timothy. Alfalfa hay is better than either, as it furnishes more of the muscle-forming elements so hard to get in the winter season. Roots are fine to supplement the dry winter feed.

Grooming is necessary not so much for the cow's welfare as for the good of the milk. The amount of dirt that will find its way from the ungroomed cow's body to the milk pail is simply astonishing. A vigorous use of the curry comb and brush each morning, followed by a wet sponge or damp cloth before milking, will effectually prevent the dirty sediment so often found in the bottom of the milk pail. Grooming is doubly necessary in winter, when the cow is stabled.

Wetting Silage a Success.

Two years ago I filled my silo in the ordinary way and about seven inches of the surface spoiled. On the sides and corners at least twice as much rotted. The past year only three inches on the top and five at the sides and corners spoiled. The silage immediately under the spoiled portion was a better quality than any I had ever put up, in fact, about perfect. This smaller loss, says the Illinois correspondent of Orange Judd Farmer, was due to wetting the silage as it came from the cutter. I attached a hose to the water tank and arranged it so that the water would fall upon the cut corn just as it came from the silage enter. Sufficient was applied to thoroughly wet all the fodder. This method is much easier than raising the water in pails and distributing it in that way. I believe that this wetting of the corn is an important factor in the making of silage.

DAIRY NOTES.

Nothing but pressed tin is good enough to hold milk and cream.

Tendency in milking is the most essential element of profit in the dairy cow.

The flavor of butter is affected by feed and cleanliness, not by the breed of cows.

The pasteurizing of milk sold for consumption extends its keeping qualities about 12 hours.

The corn crop can be made most useful and valuable to the dairyman by putting it into a well built silo.

Pasteurization will not remove dirt from milk or cream. The best way is to keep the dirt out in the first place. Succulent feed for winter for milk cows, fattening cattle, sheep swine or other stock, is best furnished by the silo.

Mr. Hetchum Sums Up the Discussion With a List of Excellent Novels.

Literary Standard ... I would gladly write the caption 'The Forty Greatest Novels' ...

- Bride and Prejudice, Austen; Father Goriot, Balzac; Princess of Thule, Black; Last Days of Pompeii, Bulwer; Don Quixote, Cervantes; Moonstone, Collins; Last of the Mohicans, Cooper; John Halifax, Gentleman, Craik; Robinson Crusoe, Defoe; David Copperfield, Dickens; Three Musketeers, Dumas; Adam Bede, Eliot; Vicar of Wakefield, Goldsmith; Tess of the D'Urbervilles, Hardy; Scarlet Letter, Hawthorne; Hazard of New Fortunes, Howells; Les Miserables, Hugo; Hippolyta, Kingsley; Robert Falconer, Macdonald; Ordeal of Richard Feverel, Meredith; Esther Waters, Moore; In the Tennessee Mountains, Murfree; Clotel and Heathcliff, Renard; Story of an African Farm, Schreiner; Heart of Midlothian, Scott; John Ingledram, Shortland; Tristan Shandy, Sterne; Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, Stevenson; Dame Marc, Sutherland; Esmond, Thackeray; Anna Karenina, Tolstoy; Eustace Towers, Trollope; Joan of Arc, Mark Twain

The following comments are added to illustrate some of the methods of reasoning in making out the list.

Question 1. Why is A Hazard of New Fortunes admitted? Answer, I am confident that the polish, cleverness, and sparkling humor of the author divert attention from the essential greatness of the book. Its strength would be more easily perceived if the book were more rough and rugged in dress. The hardening, disastrous effects of the mere pursuit of wealth, have never been more powerfully portrayed than in old Droytoss, while the beauty of his son's spirit might excite the envy of any novelist. It was a touch worthy of Shakespeare when the murdered boy's mother unconsciously drives the hot iron into the old man's son by saying: "He was always a good boy, Conrad was *** You was always good to him, Jacob *** I guess you're glad now for every time you didn't cross him *** I don't suppose since the twins died you ever hit him a lick *** Why, Jacob, what's that there by his pore eye?" Is there anything finer than that in Banquo's ghost? "Never shake thy fery looks at me! Thou canst not say I did it."
