BOYS BRIGADE HOLDS ANNUAL DRILL

Mayor Evans Presents Warrants and Medals to Many Members of Local Command

Over two hundred relatives and friends, of the members of the Boys "Brigade", showed their interest in the "Brigade" by attending their sixth annual exhibition drill and dance in the auditorium of the Washington school last Friday evening. The "weatherman" furnished a cool evening, thus making it comfortable for those who were present.

The "Brigade" was formed in the lower hall and marched into the auditorium by Lieut. S. H. Reese. After the "Brigade" was brought to attention by the Lieutenant, they were presented to Capt. E. W. Witke, who then took charge. The "Brigade" executed the manual of arms, and facings. The marchings by squads, twos, and file, were executed in first class shape. Movements by platoons showed that the officers in charge knew their business, and although only "boys" could handle the members as if they were "regulars".

The fancy movements like the "figure eight", "circle", and "star formations" were executed to the delight and wonder of those present.

After the drill, the presentations of warrants and medals were made by Mayor H. W. Evans. Warrants are certificates issued by the National Headquarters and are given to non-commissioned officers. They are signed by the National and divisional commanders, and the local commander.
Such warrants are given to those who have shown a record of two years of service in all stated drills.

After the drill, a social hour was held in the auditorium, and each year the members of the "Brigade" are entertained by a large number of friends.

IS YOUR DOG PROPERLY LICENSED?

If Not, it is Time to Get Busy Delay May Cost You Ten Dollars. War on Poison Ivy

At the meeting of the Board of Health held last Friday night complaints regarding the barking or dogs at night disturbing the peace of the neighborhood were received by the Board. One complaint stated that a pack of wild dogs kept the whole neighborhood awake in the vicinity of Park street and Central avenue. The monster dog and how to dispose of him was considered at some length.

Inspector Carney reported that there are over 500 dogs in the town of which number, only twelve had been licensed up to June 1, the date required by ordinance. The Board discussed a plan to have the police notify all dog owners to license their pets within ten days or the provisions of the ordinance would be enforced, which means a fine of $10 for each dog owner or persons who harbors a dog without having the animal licensed. The Board referred the matter to Inspector Carney to take up with Councilman Taylor of the Public Safety and Convenience Committee of the council.

Poison Ivy on the streets and in vacant lots was also a subject which was discussed. Complaints were received against the ivy in the lot opposite the Board school and on the property at Broad street and Euclid avenue. Inspector Carney stated that the ivy was growing all over town.
The Board decided to ask Mayor Evans for the use of a man or men from the street department to have the town cleared of the ivy.

After the meeting of the Board of Health, a social hour was held in the auditorium of the Washington school.

Parks An Asset.

In a very all-embracing, real historic, and interesting way, the City of Westfield, N. J., has been making a study of the parks of the United States. The study is being made in a very practical way, and the results are being made known to the public in a very interesting and instructive manner. The study is being made in a very practical way, and the results are being made known to the public in a very interesting and instructive manner. The study is being made in a very practical way, and the results are being made known to the public in a very interesting and instructive manner.

The importance of these features in the community life is being recognized throughout the land. While the study is far in advance of the other states in her consideration of these matters, we are not alone in this country. And it is not that Westfield will not lag behind in this most important feature of her development.

We are leading the way in roads, and in up-to-date fire department. We have reason to be proud of our police department, our sewers, and street lighting system. But we blush at the very old town fathers are putting off the issuance of bonds for the improvement of our park, the title for which we have held for over four years.

Movie Bill vs. School Bill.

According to the report of F. C. Howe, President of the National Board of Censorship for Moving Pictures, the total receipts of the moving picture theatres in the United States in 1912 was $319,000,000, and probably $350,000,000 for 1913. This is a sum of $350,000,000 compared with the $475,000,000 spent for public education in the same period, during very close items of expense.

While it is conceded that the moving pictures are educational and should be education, it seems to be an awkward lack of proper relation between the two figures which should be taken into account for some sober thinking. We doubt if the same relations would obtain between Westfield's movie bill and her school bill, and we hope they never will.

Bryan Brays Again.

Secretary Bryan, in his address to the graduating class of Pennington, N. J., on Monday, June 8, 1914, at the graduation exercises, and incidentally the citizens of New Jersey, by telling them the reasons of the world are copying after the United States.

This may be quite true of the past, and in some respects of the present. But it would be interesting to know just which nation is copying after the foreign policy of the United States of America, for if there is anything in the last fifteen months that an intelligent American citizen is disgusted with more than another it is the weak and blundering way in which our Secretary of State has conducted his office with his lecture tours and play for the peace prize.

Equal Rights-Equal Punishment.

It is high time the people of England set about dealing with the outrages committed by the militant suffragettes. If there ever was a thing that is disgusting to the last degree, it is the conduct of these rattle brained creatures. How the English authorities can restrain from dealing with them, as they should be dealt with, is beyond comprehension.

While it may be according to English law, that these people should be forcibly fed, or released when they refuse to eat, a few first class funerals, the result of hunger strikes, would, we believe, be very wholesome lessons, and in the end cure the situation which seems only to have been aggravated by patience thus far.

These people are demanding equal rights, and why not give them equal punishment, as there is no question but that if any company of men committed such dastardly outrages as these women are committing, they would have been dealt with far less considerately than the suffragettes have been.

A Campaign of Apologies.

Senator Martine comes in for generous applause by his bold stand against the administration canal tolls program by both the advocates and opponents of the measure. Mr. Martine, as well as the Democratic congressmen from New Jersey, has been branded as an administration rule stamp in many quarters. The bold stand of New Jersey's senator Senator Martine is certainly gratifying, as public sentiment is growing in an increasing measure, and calls for our independence upon the part of congressmen and senators who are sent to Washington to represent their districts or state.

There has been altogether too much blind following of the leaders for the past year or more. But, each day brings evidence that President Wilson is not going to have everything his own way from now on, and it is little wonder that the congressmen up for reelection in November do not see much campaign thunder in the program set out for them at the White House.

According to Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, it will be a campaign of apologies on the part of the Democratic campaign orators. In all events, it will be a safe bet that there will be more than two congressmen in the Republican delegation on March 4th next.

Flag Day Proclamation.

Calling attention to the fact that this country is now passing through an anxious time—a time which calls for the expression of sincere devotion to the flag—Governor Fielder has issued a formal proclamation urging that Sunday, June 14, the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the National emblem, be fittingly observed throughout the State as Flag Day. It is the first time in the history of the State that a Governor has called upon the people for a general observance of the day commemorating the adoption of the flag. The proclamation is as follows:

"In recent years various associations and patriotic societies in these United States have called the attention of our citizens to the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the flag of our country, and the public recognition of Flag Day each year has become more general. The celebration of the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as our National emblem cannot fail to promote reverence for and prevent desecration of it, and must instill in the hearts of every true American citizen a spirit of loyalty and reverence to the flag and all that it stands for."

"We are now passing through an anxious time—a time which calls for the expression of our most sincere devotion to our flag, and it is peculiarly fitting that there should be a day of public recognition of the flag, and that the Stars and Stripes should fly from every public, public and private, throughout the land."

"Therefore, I, James F. Fielder, Governor of the State of New Jersey do issue this, my proclamation, and urge that Sunday, the fourteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, be observed throughout the State as Flag Day."

Better Than He Knew.

Robert Raikes builded better than he knew when he founded the Sunday school. It is to-day, an institution of great force, its religious and moral influence extends throughout the world, and is growing in power each year. Last Saturday between thirty and forty thousand Sunday school pupils marched through the streets of Newark, fifteen thousand paraded the streets of Paterson, and smaller numbers marched in the name of the Lord in other New Jersey towns.

This demonstration of religious devotion and interest in the Bible will soon be an annual occurrence. Encouraging religious thought in the minds of our children means a stronger church, a greater spirit of patriotism and a better nation, morally.

WESTFIELD GARDENS HAS MANY BUYERS.

The opening day for the sale of lots in Westfield Gardens took place last Saturday afternoon when $20,000 worth of choice sites were sold. Among the buyers were men from East Orange, Montclair, New York, Brooklyn and this town. Sixteen lots were sold.

There was a large attendance at the sale and residents expressed confidence in the property and complimented W. G. Quincy and E. Murray, of Quincy & Company, the selling agents of the property.
Westfield Gardens is a restricted section north of Mountain Avenue. The lots sold on Saturday were 60x150 and several of the purchasers spoke of building.
Five houses are at present being erected on the land and there were numerous inquiries regarding them by out of town men who are inclined to buy Westfield homes.

CLASS SONG 1914.

The song of the class of nineteen hundred and fourteen of the high school has been sent to The Standard with the request that it be printed and it is therefore given below:

TUNE (FAIR HARVARD).
To the High School of Westfield our song now we raise,
And our pledge of affection renew;
Nineteen-fourteen has come to the parting of ways
When she says her fond farewells to you.

CHORUS

For four happy years,
In joy and in tears,
We have come to our work and our play;
We will sing loud and long,
And the theme of our song
Is the "High School of Westfield", Hooryay.
As Freshmen we entered in fear and in dread
Of instructors so high in renown,
Little dreaming that every fond teacher
Had said,
Class of Fourteen's the pride of the town.—Chorus.
Little Juniors, who come now our places to fill,
An example to you we have been,
All our work is V. S. and our classroom is still
No disorder is found in "Fourteen",
Chorus.
When the teachers grow weary and tired in their task,
Let them think upon what we have done;
Our achievement will furnish the comfort they ask,
And encourage their hearts every one.
Chorus.
Now our school-days are over, and soon must we part,
With our separate paths to pursue;
May each one in our class still be loyal in heart,
To the school and to "Fourteen" be true.—Chorus.

After contract advantages are considered, actual net cost is a great factor in life insurance. It is well to have the best and most up-to-date policy procurable, especially when such advantages as the disability clause, privilege of loan insurance, dividends applying to reduce premium paying period, etc., are available. After that the net cost should be considered.

Here is a record of the dividends paid under a $5000. 15-Payment Life Policy, issued to a Westfield resident at age 34:

	Dividend
1908	$29.15
1909	33.05
1910	35.30
1911	37.50
1912	38.90
1913	41.22
1913 Extra	40.75

COUNTRY HOME ON MOUNTAIN TOP

About three years ago a New York business man broken in health purchased a little more than two acres of land. Here he erected a dwelling containing 14 rooms and three baths, a barn 30 ft. x 30, chicken house 12 ft. x 70, brooder houses, ice house 32 ton capacity. In these buildings every modern convenience was installed. The soil here is rich, fruit trees and berry bushes in abundance. The water supply is pure and unfailing. This business man is now fully restored to health and is going back to business. He is going to sell. Terms can be arranged to suit the purchaser. Better learn about this place.

Vandals Remove

Bridge Planking.

Last Friday morning while letter carrier Philip Winter was making his rounds for the early collection of mail he made the discovery that some one had removed several of the planks from the Osborne Avenue bridge. The removing of the boards had left a hole which would have resulted in serious injury to any one had they stepped through it.

Mr. Winter at once notified the agent at the local station and the bridge was soon repaired. No clue has been found as to who did the mean act but it would not be well for the person who did it to be caught trying to repeat the trick.

IMMEN—SCARCH.

Last Saturday afternoon Miss Cecelia Scharch became the bride of Mr. Henry Immen at the home of the bride on Lenox Avenue. Smith, pastor of the church, in the presence of relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

The house was prettily decorated with spring flowers and ferns. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served and the couple later departed for New York where they began housekeeping in their newly furnished apartment. The groom is a member of the New York City police force and is stationed in the 125th Street precinct.

FIRST HOLY COMMUNION HOLY TRINITY CHURCH

Last Sunday the parishioners of Holy Trinity church witnessed a very pretty and most impressive scene—forty-two children, boys and girls, receiving their first Holy Communion. The day was most appropriate as it was the feast day of the church—the festival of the Most Holy Trinity.

The main altar of pretty design and of pure white, tastefully arranged with roses. In abundance and a sufficient number of flowers, was set off to harmonious advantage with rich gold trimmings.

The first Communion in the main aisle, the girls dressed in white with sash and the boys in their blue suits, white ribbon on their arms and bouquets in laps of coat, added to the prettiness of the scene.

An appropriate sermon by Father Watterson on the doctrine of the Holy Eucharist and the deep significance of the day for the children was heard with rapt attention by people and children.

After the solemn renewal of the baptismal vows by the children, Holy Communion was administered.

During the Mass the following program was rendered by the Junior Choir who had practised faithfully under the thorough training of their director and organist, Miss Alice C. Roy.

200 Year Old Boxwood Removed From Westfield.

John J. Wahl who lives on South avenue, near the Fairwood line sold a boxwood bush which stood in the rear of his property for $150 a few days ago. A stranger made Mr. Wahl the offer and it was accepted and the bush was carted by O'Donnell Brothers to the freight house yesterday and shipped to Glen Cove, L. I.

The bush which is ten feet eight inches high and which it is said is between 175 and 200 years old is to be placed on the estate of H. L. Pratt, the Standard Oil magnate, and will be used in the general scheme laid out on the property by the Greenfield Company, landscape gardeners of New York.

The purchase of the bush was made by Edward Vreeland, an agent of the company, who saw the bush as he was passing the property on a train.

A special gang of men dug the ground around the bush and with the roots and earth it weighed about ten tons.

When the bush was bought it was said to be the largest in the State but the agents of the Greenfield Company have since discovered a larger bush near Bordentown which they have secured for the Pratt estate.

Entertains Little Friends.

Independence and Selfishness.
There never has been, is not now, and never will be an occasion where truth to one's self will not be fair to all of one's associates. The happy right for every man and woman, if consistently pursued, will only hasten the bright destiny of every one around them, but the courage to do what you wish without the wisdom to know what is the best is a dangerous power and in it lies all selfishness.

Friendship Not to Be Patched.
Friendship is a vase which, when it is flawed by heat, or violence, or accident, may as well be broken at once. It can never be trusted after. The more graceful and ornamental it was, the more clearly do we discern the hopelessness of restoring it to its former state. Coarse stones, if they be fractured, may be cemented again; precious stones, never.—Landor.

Human Eyesight Diminishing.
A well-known English doctor recently made the statement that only about 50 per cent of the present population of Great Britain has normal eyesight, and if things go on as they are going now, he foresees a time when practically the whole of the British nation will be a nation of spectacles.

An automobile that's eight years old and still like new

"No Hill Too Steep—No Sand Too Deep"

Away back in 1906—which really is far as back as an automobile development—there was a sturdy little car that was any other high-grade car of that time. It had a top, springs, and a wonder for power. When the car was put in service it was put on the hills and laughed at the road. It went everywhere it was called to go.

So we said "No hill too steep, no sand too deep." That was the truth eight years ago and that's the truth today. The Jackson has power to spare.
