

WILLOW GROVE'S 88TH ANNIVERSARY

Founding of Sunday School Fittingly Commemorated by Exercises Held Last Sunday. History of Chapel by Miss Georgetta Lee

CHILDREN'S DAY OBSERVED

The eighty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the Willow Grove Sunday school was observed in connection with Children's Day at the Willow Grove Chapel Sunday afternoon. Superintendent William Sisson, of the school conducted the service.

The program was as follows: Opening song, "Love's Banner", by the school; Invocation, Mr. Johnson; scripture reading, Charles A. Beemer, assistant superintendent of the school; greeting recitation, Janet Darby; History of the Willow Grove Sunday School, (compiled by Miss Georgetta Lee) read by Miss Anna Little; address, James O. Clark; duet, Mrs. Rowland and Miss Forsythe, accompanied at the piano by Miss Elsie Rodenbaugh; address, Malcolm B. Dutcher, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school in Westfield; song, "We Come with Joy" by the school; address, Dr. W. L. Stearns, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church; offering for the Children's Country Home in Westfield; closing song, "A Song for Every Day"; the school; benediction, Dr. Stearns.

The music was rendered by the orchestra of the Presbyterian Sunday school in Westfield. Mrs. Malcolm B. Dutcher conducted and the following played in the orchestra: Harry Taylor, Charles Simpson, Joseph Wheeler, Guy Dushanek, Walter Baird and James Tanham.

There was a large attendance at the service, many of the people coming from Westfield, as well as from Fairwood Township and Borough.

The outline history of the Willow Grove Sunday as compiled by Miss Georgetta Lee is as follows:

"Many years before the wise men from the East looked in the manger at Bethlehem, a celebrated Roman poet in describing the departure of a few faithful people from their native city exclaimed: 'A woman was the leader. So we in looking back to June 6, 1826, the beginning of the Willow Grove Sunday School, find a woman not only the leader but the originator. To faithful Mrs. Aymar, sole of whose descendants are yet connected with our school, belongs the honor of establishing our Sunday school, light heavily did she work with her few assistants that first year in the little old schoolhouse, but it was found necessary to close the school during the winter months. In 1827, Mr. Pease took charge of the school and became its first superintendent. He was succeeded in 1829 by Mr. Isaac Pierson, who officiated for two years.

"The year 1831 records Mr. L. Corbell, Jr., in charge for one year. The following nine years, Deacon Henry Baker held the office, and then Mr. Jacob D. French took the position for one year, to be succeeded by Mr. Baker, who then continued his services for seven years. The record of 1844 names Mr. Jonathan Cory as superintendent, when the following year 1855, Mr. Baker, for the third time assumed charge and during twelve years led the Sabbath school, making in all twenty-eight years of prominent active service. Mr. William Miller presided in 1867 and Mr. Amos Cory in 1868. We find that Mr. Jonathan Cory was again in office in 1869. In 1870, Mr. James H. Hess took charge and owing to his untiring energy the school was kept open the entire year. During Mr. Hess' term the school held their services in the parlors of Mr. Isaac Little's residence, while the little old schoolhouse which had served them so faithfully for nearly fifty years was replaced by a new building.

"In 1876, Mr. James French, a nephew of Jacob D., superintended the school, serving for three months, when his place was filled by Mr. Francis R. Baker. This brought the school to its semi-centennial, which was duly celebrated in the pleasant grove near the school house, where the anniversaries were wont to be held. Mr. Baker served until 1882, when he was succeeded by Mr. Jacob S. Ring. His term marks an important era in our history, for then it was that a new organ was purchased, and having outgrown the school house the Sunday school moved into a more spacious stone chapel in December 1888, the place where we still worship.

"On February 1, 1889, through Mr. Ring's efforts, a Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was organized with a charter membership of 43, 27 of which were active. When Mr. Ring was obliged to leave in the spring of 1889 a man fitted for the sacred trust was found, and Mr. George H. Guest became superintendent in June 1890. During his three years of faithful service he endeavored himself to all and when obliged to leave the neighborhood in 1893, the vacancy was filled by Mr. Marline V. D. Clark. During Mr. Clark's term, in June 1900, a special service commemorating the 70th anniversary was held. A piano, for which the young ladies had been zealously working.

ALL DOGS MUST BE MUZZLED

Mayor Issues Proclamation to This Effect Upon Order of Council. 4 per cent. Interest Saved. Good Business Move of Council

The town council at its meeting on Monday night passed a resolution instructing the Mayor to issue a dog proclamation requiring that all dogs at liberty be muzzled from June 15 to September 14 and that those not muzzled will be captured and killed. Charles Lance was appointed dog warden and special officer. All the councilmen voted in favor of the appointment of Lance except Councilman Casey. Councilman DeCamp voted against the muzzling of the dogs for so long a period as he said he thought that one month was long enough and that if it was necessary the proclamation could be renewed.

Bids for macadam and curbing certain streets in the town were received from Humphrey & Bentley, Weldon Contracting Company, Charles Lating and Burke and Bonnett. These bids were referred to the road committee. The ordinance to lay a blue stone sidewalk on a portion of Union avenue, was laid over until the next meeting as it requires the unanimous vote of the council. The ordinance for a sewer in Chestnut street between Maple street and Mountain avenue was passed on first reading.

The council by resolution ordered certificates amounting to $12,000 held by the Sinking Fund Commission, for which the town is paying 5 per cent interest, cancelled and issued new certificates for the same amount at 1 per cent interest.

A new ordinance was passed upon first reading to take the place of Ordinance No. 172 for the issuance of $11,000 corporate bonds of the town. The original ordinance was found to be defective on account of a technical error as to dates.

The sewer constructed by E. W. Champlin in Grandland Place and Newark avenue was accepted by the council. A petition for a sidewalk in Highland avenue was referred to the road committee as was a petition for the improvement of Edgewood Parkway and Pleasant Place.

A letter was received from the Board of Trade thanking the Mayor and Council for its share in the recent town exhibit.

The action of the road and sewer committees in building a tool house costing $272 at the sewer farm was confirmed.

The sum of $500 was ordered transferred from the unexpended balances to the credit of the Park and Shade Tree Commission. A certificate of indebtedness for $5,000 was ordered issued. Recorder Springstead reported receipts of fines amounting to $78 for the month of May.

The meeting was presided over by Mayor Evans and all the councilmen were present except Councilmen Perry and Taylor.

"LIFE'S LAUNCHINGS" SUBJECT BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Preached to Graduating Class of High School and Large Audience by Pastor Ream Last Sunday

The baccalaureate service of the graduating class of 1914 of the Westfield High School was held in the First Methodist Church on Sunday night and was attended by over six hundred persons. The sermon to the graduates was delivered by Rev. G. Franklin Ream, the pastor of the church, who took for his subject, "Life's Launchings." Mr. Ream designated as the concrete principles in the life of youth, ambition, reward, purpose and Christian character. He then developed the relation of each of these principles to personal life and society and the service which they render to the world with the final idea that these characteristics come to fulfillment only through Christian life and activity. He said in part:

"Some things you must never forget. Your talents and powers are a heritage, a trust, and your privileges have been made possible at the cost of labor and real sacrifice. The opportunity of life is a holy summons, not a chance merely to accumulate wealth and secure place in society. The difficulties you will meet will challenge you to greater exertions. Responsibilities are a debt to your fellows which you must pay. Remember that oblivion is easy, dissipation possible and Christian success certain only when you diligently seek it."

The graduates and high school chorus which furnished the music for the service were seated on the platform. Members of the Board of Education and faculty of the school occupied reserved pews.

Prayers were offered by Mrs. Loomis, Stearns and Snow. The scripture lesson was read by Dr. Stearns.

CLASS OF 1912 TO HOLD REUNION.

The class of 1912 W. H. S., will hold its second annual reunion on Wednesday night in the assembly room of the Westfield Theatre. All the members are urged to be present as a good time is assured each one by the committee in charge. As one member of the class has said, "You will have to admit that the class of 1912 holds the record for doing the unusual as it is the only class up to the present time able to hold reunions." Let the other classes follow 1912 class example.

WEDDING TRIP BY AUTO.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Forster and their son, Henry F. Forster, of Academy Place, will leave in their touring car tomorrow for Glenside, N. Y., where Henry F. Forster and Miss Helen B. After the wedding the bride and groom accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Forster Sr., will make a tour of New York State. The couple will return to Westfield where they will make their home with the parents of the groom.

It is hoped that all members will take advantage of this opportunity, for those who have attended these entertainments can speak of the good time they had and how they enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Dickerson.

The six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Tucker, of Dudley avenue, west, had the misfortune to fall and break his arm last Sunday afternoon. The break was a bad one and it will be some weeks before the little fellow will be able to use his arm.

AUTOS BURNED IN GARAGE FIRE

A $3,500 National touring car and a $2,000 Stutz runabout were destroyed by fire in the stucco garage on the property of H. H. Alexander, 266 East Dudley avenue, last Friday night. The interior of the garage was damaged to the amount of $500. The loss was covered by insurance.

The cause of the fire is a mystery. Mr. Alexander and his family had been out riding in the touring car and were at dinner when the fire was discovered. The fire department responded promptly and soon had streams of water playing on the flames. Fortunately the gasoline tanks on the cars did not explode. The cars were completely wrecked. The bodies were burned off and the metal became so hot that the springs sagged. The garage was badly damaged.

The property where Mr. Alexander lives is generally known as the Collins property.

Town Council to be Asked by Park Commissioners for Bond Issue of $25,000 For Additional Land and Improvements

The Board of Park Commissioners held a meeting in the town hall on Wednesday night at which plans for the beautifying of the park property on Broad street and Mountain avenue were discussed at some length. J. Wallace Higgins, of Roselle Park, was present and presented a tentative plan of how the property would look when it was improved. The members of the Commission were very favorably impressed with the plan as submitted by Mr. Higgins and were all of the opinion that something should be done to make this park property more beautiful than it is at present. As a result of the discussion the following resolution was presented by Secretary James E. Grape and unanimously adopted by the members of the Commission present:

"Resolved that the town council be requested to authorize the issuance of bonds to the amount of $25,000 for the purchase of additional lands and all necessary work for the improvement of the proposed land to be acquired, as well as the present park property, in accordance with plans herewith submitted and schedule of estimate forming a part of this resolution."

GRADUATING CLASS HOLDS EXERCISES AT COMMENCEMENT

High School Pupils in Caps and Gowns Bid Farewell to School and Teachers

LARGEST CLASS IN HISTORY

The graduating class of 1914 bade farewell to the Westfield High School last night when the commencement exercises were held in the assembly room of the Washington school before a large audience of parents and friends of the class. The class which numbered 26, twenty-two girls and fourteen boys, was the largest in the history of the school. The graduates occupied seats on the platform and wore the regulation cap and gown. The platform was decorated with American flags and palms and formed a pretty background for the class. On the platform with the members of the class were the members of the Board of Education; Rev. Dr. W. L. Stearns, of the Presbyterian church; the speaker of the evening, Hon. Arnon L. Squires, of New York; Congressman Tuttle. The musicians who furnished the music occupied one corner of the platform and were screened from view by stately palms.

The members of the class marched to their seats on the platform to the strains of music furnished by Dushanek's orchestra. After the members of the class had taken their seats, Rev. Dr. Stearns made the invocation. The salutary was given by Henry Rabb. His subject was "The American Newspaper." The subject was treated in an able manner by the speaker who told of the great power of the newspaper. He referred to the sensational newspapers of today and told of the evils they are doing. Previous to going into his subject, Mr. Rabb welcomed those present to the exercises. The salutary was followed by a selection by the orchestra after which William C. Gilpin delivered the valedictory. His subject was "Education and International Peace." This was heard by the class and the audience and thought that would make a fine and thought had been present in preparation of the thesis.

Mr. J. A. Sawyer, the superintendent of the Board of Education, addressed the class and then for having allowed them to be present by which they could complete their school education. He thanked the teacher for the interest they had shown and bade the members of the class good night and good luck.

In closing he thanked the graduates for asking him to come out to Westfield to address them and said that if by his coming he had left one thought with them his visit would not have been in vain.

W. A. Dempsey, president of the Board of Education, made a brief address in which he congratulated the class on its numbers and said that it was the largest class the high school had ever been privileged to have graduated at one time. He also congratulated the class on the play they gave Monday night. In closing he wished them good luck and success and then presented them with their diplomas.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Stearns and the commencement of the class of 1914 was at an end as well as their high school days.

THE RABIES

By H. H. Butler, D. V. S., of Westfield, N. J.

[Dr. Butler has spent many years in the study of the deadly disease, common only to the dog species, known as hydrophobia or rabies. In the following article he deals with the various causes and symptoms of the disease and the latest and most improved methods known to science for safeguarding the public against its spread.]

This article was written by Dr. Butler especially for the Home and Farm Magazine and is reprinted here by permission of the editor. It is most timely in view of the present campaign against stray dogs.]

Before I enter into a discussion of the various symptoms of rabies, let me correct a common error which has been accepted as fact by many since the days of the early Greeks. Hydrophobia is a Greek word from "hydro," meaning water, and "phobos," meaning fear. The word, therefore, defines the belief. The Greeks thought that a dog suffering with hydrophobia was afraid of water, though what peculiar circumstance led to this conclusion it is impossible to discover, for at no stage of the disease does the dog fear water. Rather he craves it. I have seen a dog in the initial stage of the disease drink until he had emptied a basin full of water, and in the last stage when hopelessly mad and the muscles of his throat partially paralyzed, I have seen him lap water from a half-filled pail, and because he could not swallow, shove his head into the pail and hold it there until he dropped from exhaustion.

FIRST SYMPTOMS OF DISEASE

The first external symptoms of hydrophobia is a sudden change in the disposition of the dog. He becomes sad, taciturn and seeks solitude; he conceals himself in corners of the room and under the furniture. For him there is no rest; he has hardly curled himself up in that comfortable position natural to the dog seeking repose than suddenly he jumps up again with a start and going hither and thither about the room soon again assumes a position as if to go to sleep.

At this stage he does not show any inclination to bite. He remains quiet, natured and tractable and obeys the voice of his master, although he does not do it with his usual alacrity, nor with his usual expression of countenance. If he wags his tail the motion is labored and the look is peculiar. If his customary expression be momentarily awakened by his master's voice it soon passes off and he looks as if suffering from a deep depression of spirits.

These preliminary symptoms progress more and more developed as the disease progresses. His agitation increases. If he had been of stray he scratches it all around; if he be in a house, he turns over the cushions and mats upon which he habitually lies; yet nowhere can he find rest, and he constantly goes and comes, scratching the floor and snuffing in the corners and under the doors, as if he were looking for something or bent upon some strange adventure.

FEARS IMAGINARY OBJECTS

There is a very remarkable peculiarity of this early stage which Youatt was the first to observe and describe. I refer to a certain aberration of mind which leads the poor dog to see, feel and fear imaginary objects. When we observe a mad dog with attention, and without disturbing or exciting him, by his motions and actions we may assure ourselves of the nature of his sensations. Sometimes he will remain motionless, listening and watching for something; then, suddenly, he will start, run forward and snuff in the air as if trying to catch a fly. At other times he will run furiously and with a terrifying bark dash his head against the wall, as if hearing noises of some kind on the other side. What is the significance of these peculiar acts, which are perfectly controlled by the will of the animal, if they are not simply hallucinations?

WEIRD BARK OF A MAD DOG

Have you ever heard the bark of the mad dog? If so, you can never forget it. It is more gruesome, more awe-inspiring than the far-lone cry of the hungry wolf. It is peculiar to the disease. There is no sound to be compared to it. It is an unmistakable evidence of rabies—stern, piercing, menacing. I have heard it from my window in the dead of the night, and though familiar with it, it has made me shudder.

The dog, like the man affected with hydrophobia, bites at imaginary objects as if they were real, but do not suppose that though he may be inclined to use his teeth against the objects of his fancy and throws himself into such suggestive attitudes, the frenzied passions are already developed in him. At this stage of the disease, he is still submissive. His master's voice is enough to rouse him from his dream.

THE DANGER OF IMITATION

At first the dog is not raving mad, as is generally supposed; but this does not adequately present the truth. I must mention a more serious circumstance. The dog is not only not aggressive toward those to whom he is attached but on the contrary he appears more drawn to them and his affection is increased in proportion to his weakness. At this stage he instinctively draws him near his master and he appeals to him for relief. He looks pitiful. It is so pitiful that it will excite a person to a fatal error of judgment by feeling inclined to comfort him. A kindly act like this, however, is entirely unavailing. The dog, moistened with the viscous saliva, comes in contact with some article of household furniture, the smell of which he has learned to dread, and what a death!

When the desire of biting (which is one of the essential characteristics of hydrophobia at a certain period of its manifestation) begins to show itself, the dog satisfies it upon inanimate objects. The gloves, the wood of doors and furniture, furs, carpets, curtains, slippers, chews straw, hay, hair and wool, eats earth, the dung of animals, his own, etc., and thus accumulates in his stomach an incongruous mass of substances having no nutritive value. He refuses no food in the early stages of the malady; often eats with more than usual appetite.

HIS LOVE FOR HIS MASTER

The affectionate feeling of the mad dog toward his master is so powerful and enduring that it governs him even in the raving stages of his disease. In this the nature of the dog seems almost human; for man in similar diseased circumstances is conscious of the harm he may inflict and is careful to avoid it.

This is another of those remarkable facts which increase the safety of those who, as friends or neighbors of the family, would be exposed to the first attacks of a mad dog. As long as his master can control a dog by his presence or his voice, his ferocious tendencies may be kept under, and the animal will remain quiet and gentle, and may perhaps even be approached and coaxed by strangers, though this is very dangerous.

THE POWER OF HIS MASTER

That friendly and loved voice which the poor dog understood so well before being the prey to this terrible disease, can so influence him as to call him back when running away. Even thus when apparently beyond restraint, instances are not rare when the dog has answered to his name when called by his master, and come to him submissive and tamed, so as to allow him to place a chain about his neck. This is a happy circumstance by means of which many accidents may be prevented, since the owners of rabid dogs running free and committing furious excesses, may, by controlling their own fears, accomplish much good, through this sort of immunity from danger.

SALIVA NOT CONSTANT

The abundance of flow of saliva is not a constant symptom. Sometimes the mouth is moist; sometimes it is dry. Before the cessation of a paroxysm the saliva is natural. It increases somewhat during that period and diminishes toward the end of the disease. Often, during the paroxysms the dog expresses pain by rubbing his forepaws upon his throat as if he had a bone stuck in it.

Pain, however, is greatly diminished in the mad dog. When whipped, burned or wounded he does not cry nor utter any complaint; nor does he even whine. There are cases when the rabid dog inflicts deep wounds upon himself with his teeth, thus, as it would seem, to vent his rage; and this without attempt or apparent desire to harm those to whom he may become attached.

VIOLENCE TOWARD HIS OWN KIND
The rabid dog is always violently provoked and irritated by the sight of his species. The presence of a dog produces the same effects upon other animals of similar kind as upon those which have the hydrophobia; so that we may say that the dog is a sort of negative animal, by which we may always, with very great certainty, detect hydrophobia while it is still latent.

The mad dog runs away from home when in the course of the progress of the disease his ferocious instincts develop and begin to overcome his will. After one, two or three days peregrination he sometimes returns home to die near his master. When at liberty and during his paroxysms of rage he attacks at first with great energy all living beings he encounters, but always prefers to attack his own kind. Then, when exhausted, he walks away at a vacillating gait, easily recognized by its peculiarity—the head hanging near the ground, the tail drooping, the vision defective, the mouth open a bluish, dirty saliva drooling from it. In this state he has no special tendency to bite, but will attack men or beasts who cross his path. If by chance he escapes being killed, he will succumb to paralysis and asphyxia.

THE "DUMB" RABIES

In a certain class of hydrophobia called "dumb rabies" the animal, lower jaw remains shut, apart from the upper one. The mouth, thus kept open, has a brownish red appearance, overhanging the lining membrane. In this variety, the howling symptom is lacking. The disease is so called because the victim is absolutely mute.

METHODS OF PREVENTION

The great way of preventing the effects of rabies from the bite of a mad dog is the immediate cauterization of the wound with the actual cautery, or with a burning compound, or some other caustic agent. The sooner and more thoroughly this cauterization is made after the wound is received the greater the certainty.

If the cauterization cannot be done immediately after the bite, one must, while waiting, wash the wound, and if possible apply a dressing about the thumb to arrest the circulation of the blood.

After a hot bath is procured means, which are always to be applied at first, one may pursue with advantage any approved treatment recommended for rabid bite. The Pasteur Institute offers the most thorough and efficient course of treatment for the prevention

Dogs Again.
The Council voted on Monday evening to issue a proclamation that all dogs shall be muzzled, which we think is a most excellent provision. The danger and menace of the large number of dogs which run at large through our town seems to be growing each year. We are glad that our Council has issued the proclamation and employed a dog catcher to gather in and put to sleep that multitude of useless curs which continually roam our streets.
There is nothing that takes away the high standing of a town any more than to have dogs running at large, no matter how valuable or how well bred the dogs may be.
Dogs are dogs, and only a few see anything more in them than the four pawed creature that upsets our garbage barrels, disturbs our rest, scares our people, and takes pieces out of our Mayors' lower extremities which he can ill afford to spare. Even our Mayor's worst enemies believe that his scant surplus of meat is too good for dog meat.

Psychological Time To Improve Park.
As "Psychology" seems to be the descriptive word much in public favor at present it would seem that in view of the extremely low figures made by contractors for public work in Westfield recently, and the fact that the bond market is as favorable as it has been in some time, or is likely to be for quite a number of years, that now is the psychological time for our Council to improve the Park.
There would, no doubt, be a saving in the contract of at least 10 per cent, and our bonds, would, no doubt, sell for sufficient of a premium to make the proposed very timely and psychological in respect to costs, etc.
Besides, one hears the universal comment that we should have the park, and, in fact, many are insistent that the park improvement is and has been for several years the most important thing that our town fathers have before them.

A Sane Fourth.
While the Council have been silent upon the Fourth of July celebration, we believe it is now well understood that there shall be none of the old time cracker and pistol Fourth of July, which seemed so indispensable in the days of yore to the proper celebration of the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.
The Mayor and Council which established the sane Fourth of July for Westfield had a storm of protest come upon their heads by these who felt that there was only one way of celebrating this day, and even as is always the case, when such a reasonable provision is made, this storm of protest breaks into a cloud of glory, which is soon recognized by all.
We hope our Council and Police Department will make ample provision for the continuance of the sane Fourth of July.

Economic Financing.
The plan of the Sinking Fund Commission to loan its funds to the town at 1 per cent. interest will effect a considerable saving to the Town in its financing. Since the sinking fund requirements which the council must turn over to the Sinking Fund Commission are fixed by law and are sufficient to redeem the bonds at maturity, the plan as worked out by Chairman of Finance Davis seems to be a good one, serving all the requirements of the law and at the same time lessening the burden to the taxpayers to just the amount necessary to meet our bond obligations.
The same results should be obtained by a more adequate provision of our law so as to still preserve the independence of the sinking funds earning power and yet gather only such amounts annually as will take care of our loan obligations.

A Horn For Your Hammer.
Paterson has just had a big funeral celebration—she buried the hammer.
Westfield has gone ahead & fast that the Knocker has been left behind or shamed into silence. Westfield has grown and prospered in spite of, not because of, the Knockers. How pitiful is the condition of the fellow who never blew a horn! He has missed half his life. Mr. Knocker call around and we will trade you a horn for your hammer.

Enough of Democratic Control.
There seems to be considerable anxiety among administration circles in Washington at the falling off of the tariff receipts, and the failure of our income tax revenue to make up the necessary amount to avoid a deficit. The Secretary of the Treasury has given notice that he is going gunning for the alleged evaders of the income tax. Of course, the little god at the White House has given a reason for the failure of his program to make good the promise to reduce the cost of living.
We have heard the cause for the present business depression. Now we have intimated the cause for the failure of the income revenue.
The attitude taken by the administration that "The King can do no wrong" is getting very wearisome to those whose business and income have been so crippled by the Wilson program. And on the top of this to be charged with the responsibility for it, is going a little bit beyond endurance.
A communication in the New York Sun a few days ago, puts about the right sort of an interpretation upon the White House program of bluff in the following paragraph:
"The Government's attitude is that of a man who took pennies from a dead man's eyes, and then berated the corpse because they were not quarters."
The administration's psychological explanation may go with the crowd of Senators and Congressmen who are dancing attendance to the ringmaster with the long whip, but when the people's verdict in November is read there will be some light let in upon the subject that will open Mr. Wilson's eyes. He will be wiser, and the people poorer, but we will have had the experiment of Democratic control of Government, which will last us for another generation or more.

The Sting in Jersey City.
Government by commission may be a good thing for some communities, but it hasn't brought many blessings to Jersey City.
When the people were asked to adopt this form of government, they were told that it meant a great reduction in the cost of maintaining the city government, the elimination of politics from the several departments, a lower tax rate and a shorter salary list.
But the salary list has been lengthened. It is now costing the taxpayers $50,000 more a year for clerical service than it cost them under the former representative system of government.
About a month ago, the commissioners created new positions and added a burden of thirty thousand dollars a year to the taxpayers, who in disgust and desperation, have protested in the courts.
Of course, this added expense means an increased cost of government maintenance, and it also means, a little later on, a boost in the tax rate.
So far as the elimination of politics is concerned, the commission is the centre of the fiercest political storms that ever raged in the town.
The city of Passaic has recently been heard from. A little more than a year ago, government by commission was established there, and now the citizens are informed that they must stand an increase in the tax rate of twenty points.
This is not cheering news, of

About three years ago a New York business man broken in health purchased a little more than two acres of land. Here he erected a dwelling containing 14 rooms and three baths, a barn 30 ft. x 30, chicken house 12 ft. x 70, brooder houses, ice house 32 ton capacity. In these buildings every modern convenience was installed. The soil here is rich, fruit trees and berry bushes in abundance. The water supply is pure and unfailing. This business man is now fully restored to health and is going back to business. He is going to sell. Terms can be arranged to suit the purchaser. Better learn about this place.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT ATTRACTS PLAYERS

Open Tennis Tournament at Club Last Saturday Afternoon Big Event

One of the best open tennis tournaments ever held at the Westfield Golf Club took place last Saturday afternoon when players from Fairwood, El-Mora, Elizabeth, Cranford, Monclair, Clifton, Bergen Point, Westside, Stanley Oval and the local tennis clubs were entered.

Miss Clara Cussell, a noted national tennis player who was entered as E. H. Fendegast's partner, was unable to be present as she did not finish her play at Philadelphia on Friday.

Miss Helen McAnslan and E. Shield, of the Stanley Oval Club, put up a hard fight in three sets against Miss C. Pollard and E. W. Lyon, of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club. The former pair were the winners. In the next round they were forced out of the race by Miss F. Goddard and R. Goddard, of the El Mora Tennis Club.

Miss Hazel Gardner and R. Gomes lost their first set to Miss E. Ganthony, of the Westside Club and W. H. Brown, of the Clifton Club. In the second set they were easy winners but were forced to play their best in order to win the match 7-5.

One of the big surprises was the defeat of Mrs. S. W. McAnony and J. E. Nitchie. Miss White and H. Brown were loudly applauded after they had beaten one of Westfield Golf Club's best pairs.

F. Meeker had the misfortune to crack his finger after winning the first round and C. A. Bettman was put in his place to play with Mrs. E. Howe against Miss Harrison and C. H. Kite. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon the semi-finals and finals will be played commencing at 1:30. The contestants will be as follows:

Miss White and R. Brown.
Miss Goddard and R. Goddard.
Miss Gardner and R. Gomes.
Miss Howe and E. Meeker.

JUNIORS DEFEAT A. A. C.

In a one-sided baseball game on Saturday the Westfield Juniors defeated the Amateur A. C., of this town. The score was 19 to 3, in favor of the Juniors. The game was featured by the heavy hitting and the fast fielding of H. Quipp, who stopped many hard liners without an error. The A. A. C. scored their runs on a wild throw and an error in the third inning.

Pitching honors were divided between Powers and Ryan, of the Juniors. Powers whiffed eight men and allowed three hits in seven innings, while Ryan fanned four and allowed one hit in two innings. Angelo, the twirler for the A. A. C., did not seem to have anything on the ball while he was liberal with his passes.

Matson and Keppler led in batting Matson getting a triple and two doubles, while Keppler connected for a triple, three doubles and two singles in six times at bat. Capatelli, Quipp and Ryan were also big with the stick.

SEVERE BRONCHIAL COUGH

Doctors Feared Lung Trouble. Restored to Health by Vinol.

The medical profession does not believe that lung troubles are inherited, but a person may inherit a weakness or tendency to them.

Mrs. Kate Beckman, Springfield, Ohio, writes: "A few years ago I was in a very bad, run-down condition, and the physician told me I had consumption. I tried all the remedies on my right lung. I was told to take Vinol and started on 'Vinol' today I am perfectly healthy, and that is why I recommend 'Vinol'."

Vinol soothes and breaks the inflamed surface and stops the cough. Vinol creates new healthy bronchial tubes, the direction of air and gives the patient strength to throw off incipient pulmonary disease.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be refunded if it does not help you.

WESTFIELD A. A. VS. GARWOOD Y. M. C.

Westfield was out last Saturday to show that their victory over Garwood several weeks ago was not luck and they proved it. By fine fielding, the Westfield nine won 1-0. The game was close throughout and it was only a slip-up in the fourth which gave Westfield the game. Crutenden played a star game on second, catching six flies and putting one man out on a throw from catcher. In the last he made a play which some spectators called an error but which looked different from the bench. Kjellmark hit a scorching single towards second base. Since Crutty was playing over near first, he had a hard run and only succeeded in knocking the ball down. If cutting a double into a single is an error then put one down against Crutty.

Pearsall's pitching was well worth thinking about, too. The two singles Garwood got came, one in the fifth and one in the ninth while in one inning he only pitched three balls.

McIntosh pitched good ball for Garwood and might have won if his support in the fourth was better. As it stands now Westfield has won twice and forfeited once.

LAUREL A. C. WIN FROM RIVAL A. C.

Last Saturday afternoon the Laurel A. C., of Roselle, and the Rival A. C., of this town, played a game of baseball on the Grove street grounds and the former nine was the winner by the score of 6 to 5.

The batteries for the Laurel A. C. were Charles Marden and Roy Jacoby and for the Rival A. C., Robert Walker and Robert Manner.

SINGLE MEN TOO MUCH FOR MARRIED MEN.

Last Saturday afternoon the single and married men of Westfield Council Knights of Columbus fought it out on the baseball diamond. After some lively practice by both nine, Captain Marengi of the single men and W. Burroughs of the married men were called to the side line by each Phelps who tossed a coin. Captain Burroughs, who by the way is a former commodore of the Bronx Yacht Club, won the toss. The married men went to bat first and went out in order.

The single men found Captain Burroughs' slants easy and scored two runs in their half of the inning. The single men led in the run getting up to the fifth inning when the married men forged to the front and complained of sore arms and legs. Umpire E. C. McMahon pulled his watch and gave them five minutes to get back in the game.

"Jimmy" Bates of the married men, who hasn't played baseball in twenty years, left his glasses home and that was the reason he hit the air. George H. Riley had to use a basket at short stop. John Niland needed a wire cage behind the bat because he wasn't recognized when he reached home.

"Jimmy" Austin covered second base in the Larry Doyle style while Paddy Glynn made a wonderful catch of Brady's home run drive. Bill Reilly, who is a butcher, thought he could chop off four quarters but found that the single men boxman was there with the slants. Wyckoff, who hasn't much to say, was there when it came to a pinch. Wahl on first base performed well. The score was 10 to 8.

The married men are not satisfied with the result of the game and it is safe to say that there will be another game in the near future at which time the married men will try to get even.

Chum Saved Himself.

A little dog, unlicensed, had been found in the streets and taken to the pound. He was an affectionate animal and greatly endeared himself to all about the place. They called him Chum, and he joyfully responded whenever his name was spoken. As the days passed and poor little Chum's coat grew shaggy, his owners did not put up with him. Finally, one day he was taken to the pound and was to be put to death. The next morning, however, the dog was found in the yard of a neighbor and the man who was to kill Chum called him into the yard. Chum danced and wagged his tail, no doubt thinking something good was in store for him. The man then said: "Well, Chum, you fine little dog, you'd better say your prayers." Then, drawing the little head forward, Chum and his prayers. As the little body was still in this attitude of reverence a step was heard. The attendant looked up and saw the superintendent standing there. There were tears in the eyes of each. Chum is still living, but instead of being nobody's dog he is now everybody's.—St. Louis Republic.

HOG TYING A LONGHORN.

Catching, Tripping and Roping a Steer In Twenty-seven Seconds.

To rope, "bust" and "hog tie" a wild Texas longhorn single handed in two minutes is a sport which represents the daily work of the range. Men of quick eye and steady nerve each start their fifty feet behind the longhorn, which may jump the arena fence like a deer and again and again dodge when it hears the first swish of the rope. The rope often breaks on the tautening, or the saddle may slip, as in the case of Bill Mahaffey, who landed on his head with foot caught in the stirrup and but for the splendidly trained cow pony might have been dragged and killed.

There goes Cuba Crutchfield! He overtakes his sister. Swish, swish! His lariat zips through the air—a beautiful throw over the horns. Then the cow pony braces, and the rope tightens like a harp string. Watching, anteloping every move of his horned adversary, the cowboy now circles the animal so that the rope is brought from the horns around the hind legs. A word, and the knowing pony makes a sudden start. "Thud, and the steer is tripped or "busted." The rope tautens, and the rider is already running afoot with a short cord in hand toward the steer, depending for his own safety on his trained cow pony to hold that rope taut and the steer in position. With marvelous dexterity he "hog ties" with a number of half hitches looped about the hind feet and one forefoot of the steer. The man stands erect, raises both arms in the air, and Crutchfield has not only won the steer roping championship, but has ridden down, roped, thrown and hog tied a steer in twenty-seven seconds, within six seconds of the best record ever made.—World's Work.

VIOLINISTS UNMASKED.

Edison Tells the Secret of How They Strike the Right Note.

Thomas A. Edison, who has an expert knowledge of every known musical instrument, from the oboe to the aeolian harp, was discussing the great violinists of the present age. He spoke with deep feeling.

"I have to admit," he declared sadly, "that for a long time those fellows had me completely bewildered. I used to watch them in amazement. Every time one of them shot a finger halfway down the neck of his fiddle and stopped it in exactly the right place for the sounding note I gasped in astonishment. Every time, it seemed, he could stop that finger correctly within one-thousandth of an inch. That's what he had to do in order to make the right note. And I concluded that he and his fellows were in some way superior to all other kinds of people in the matter of judging distances.

"But I know better now. After long and careful observation I have discovered the truth. Those fellows shoot their fingers up and down with an air of great confidence, but they never know exactly where the fingers will stop. Like any other human being, they guess at it. Then just as the note is begun by the scrapping of the bow their trained ears catch the defect, and they readjust their fingers. Consequently, although the public doesn't know it, the great violin geniuses of the world fill their work with a lot of notes that start falsely."—Popular Magazine.

A Change That Worked.

Little Alice was writing invitations for her birthday party and had been instructed by her mother to write the sentence "Please bring no presents" at the bottom of each invitation.

The little guests arrived at the appointed time, but each came with a gift for the hostess.

Alice upon being taken to task for having forgotten the sentence said:

"No, mamma; I put in every single letter of that note. I only changed the 'no' the least little bit."

The note read, "Please bring on presents."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Only His Little Joke.

A clergyman who was a widower had three grown-up daughters. Having occasion to go away from home for a few weeks, he wrote home from time to time. In one of his letters he informed them that he had "married a widow with six children." This created a stir in the household. When the vicar returned home one of his daughters, her eyes red with weeping, said: "Where's the widow you married, father?"

"Oh, I married her to another man. I ought to have told you that."—London Telegraph.

Criticism.

"How did you like it?"

"Well, the costumes were all right, but Romeo couldn't dance, and Juliet wasn't much for looks, and neither one of 'em had any real new stuff."—Washington Star.

SHOWING CONFIDENCE.

It Has a Strong Influence in Making Business and Good Times.

Preachments about the value of optimism are a trifle bromidic, so instead of hurrahing for optimism I have a few instances of the influence that comes from putting a good face steadily toward bad fortune, and contrariwise the bad effect of mourning because business is not better.

"How's trade?" I asked a stationer. "Trade!" he exclaimed. "Trade! There isn't any. Things are rotten." Now, if I had had any intention of buying anything from him, which I had not, that depressing statement would have gone a long way to keep me from buying.

"How's things?" I asked the boss of a men's furnishing store a few hours later. "Little quiet, just now," he smiled; "but I can't complain. We have run ahead of last year and prospects are good." I felt like buying a new hat because the cheerfulness of his reply made me feel that money was coming to me.

"How's trade?" I asked a tobacconist. "Good," he replied emphatically. "Little slow today, but trade is mighty good with me, coming right along," and I bought a cigar.

Confidence is the influence that makes good times because it quickens trade. But if all business men were to creak about bad business, would not that influence make us all very careful about doing anything? We would all want to sit tight and wait. The way to get good times is to face the world hopefully and go to work. The croaker is a trade killer.—Inland Stationer.

HAD NO SENSE OF HUMOR.

He Couldn't Clearly See the Joke the Boys Had on Him.

Some people have absolutely no sense of humor. A little London urchin ran into a baker's shop and, placing a halfpenny on the counter, asked nervously and timorously, "Mister, ave you a 'alfpenny buster (bun)?"

"Yes, my little man. Here is one quite hot."

"Thanks, mister. Would you mind a-shovin' it down my back?"

"Down your back, my little man! Why down your back?"

"Yes, sir, I'm only a little un, and if these chaps outside know I've a buster they'll take it, and I am so 'ungry, I am."

"Dear me, how wrong of them! Come round here, my little chap. There—there, it is down your back."

The boy ran off. In an instant another entered—a bigger boy.

"I say, mister, 'as a little boy just been 'ere?"

"Yes."

"Ave 'e 'ad a 'alfpenny buster?"

"Aye."

"Ave 'e 'ad a 'alfpenny buster?"

"Aye."

"Yah! Where's your watch and chain? 'E's got 'em. 'E's just round the corner."

On rushed the baker. In a trice the big boy collapsed the till and bolted.

The shopman never saw the comic side of the transaction at all.—London Standard.

New York.

New York is the most wonderful city in the western hemisphere. It has the most office buildings in the world; it has the greatest bridges on the North American continent; it has more hotels than any other city in the world; its Stock Exchange is the greatest in existence; it is the world's greatest seaport; it has the most magnificent railway stations in America; it is the greatest banking center in the country; more popular songs are published in New York than in all other cities combined; it has more Pittsburgh millionaires than Pittsburgh; it has a larger Jewish population than Dublin, a larger Jewish population than Jerusalem had in its most glorious days, and, according to estimates made by some of our most able estimators, it has a larger number of native New Yorkers than Cohoes.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Bit of English Humor.

The boy entered the office as silently as possible, conscious of having taken a very long time to go a very short distance. The cashier eyed him sternly and demanded:

"Do you work here?"

"Yes," stammered the boy.

"Your name?"

"John Thompson."

The cashier gazed long and earnestly at the mystified youngster, then remarked: "Ah! Thompson. Now I remember your face. It's such a long time since I saw you last."—Manchester Guardian.

Too Much Decoration.

Mr. Smith, on walking with his small son Bobby, met Mr. Brown, a fellow architect. They strolled along together. To keep their minds in working trim, the two men patronizingly picked out the good and bad qualities of the new buildings they passed.

Presently Bobby spied a spotted dog. "Look, father," he said scornfully—"look at that dog. I don't like it. There's too much work on it!"—Everybody's.

Street Traffic in Old Time London.

On Jan. 19, 1635, an attempt was made to solve the problem of London traffic by restricting the number of hackney coaches. Charles I. issued a proclamation setting out that "hackney coaches are not only a great disturbance to his majesty, his dearest consort, the queen, the nobility and others of place and degree in their passage through the streets, but the streets themselves are so pestered and the pavements so broken up that the common passage is thereby hindered and made dangerous, and the prices of hay, provender, etc., thereby raised exceedingly dear. Wherefore we expressly command and forbid that no hackney coaches or hired carriages be used or suffered in London, Westminster or the suburbs thereof except they be to travel three miles out of the same. And also that no person shall go in a coach through the said streets except the owner of the coach shall constantly keep up four able horses for our service when required."

An Error in Geography.

On one occasion the British lost a point in their war with Russia by reason of an error in their geography. This was when Commodore Elliot had succeeded in blockading the Russian fleet in the gulf of Saghalin, on the east coast of Siberia. The Russians were in a cut de sac, and the British ships waited contentedly for such time as the enemy should venture to put to sea. But they waited in vain, and at last an investigation was made. It was found that the Russian fleet had vanished. While the British commander waited at the south end of the gulf, the Russian ships slipped away through the shallows at the north end into the sea of Okhotsk. Until this discovery was made the British government had believed Saghalin to be a peninsula. Now, too late, they learned that it was an island, with a very narrow channel at the north end of the gulf running into the sea of Okhotsk.

Digestive Marvels.

An Eskimo has been found—and no very unusual Eskimo at that—who eats, when he can get it, four pounds of boiled meat per day. When an Eskimo can get all he wants to eat he makes a business of it. He doesn't store it in the refrigerator, but in his stomach.

Yet the Eskimo is a healthy creature, peculiarly free from digestive disorders.

A Copenhagen doctor has a subject—he isn't a patient nor a "case," but an exhibit—who is keeping up wonderfully on potatoes and oleomargarine. He eats, it is said, eight pounds of potatoes a day when working hard. He likewise enjoys capital health.

It is strange in view of these two instances that a prominent medical authority should venture to inquire whether many of the rigid rules of physicians who prescribe systems of diet are well founded.—Sydney Post-Standard.

Willing to Help.

One morning a rather commanding looking woman entered a newspaper office and asked to see the editor. The editor was promptly produced.

"In your paper this morning," said the woman in a cold, hard voice, "you say that Mr. Jones is a bribe-taker, a swindler, a mudslinger and a crook."

"It is a matter of politics, madam," said the editor apologetically. "I am very sorry that we are compelled to make statements of that kind on your account, for I take it that you are a relative."

"I am his wife's mother," answered the visitor, "and I want to say that you haven't told more than half the truth. The next time you want to publish his biography I wish you would send a reporter to me."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

The Governor's Dog.

A certain ex-governor of a certain state was extravagantly fond of his dogs. One day he saw his youngest son kick a favorite blooded pup.

"You unmanly young cub!" roared the irate parent. "How dare you kick my dog? I'll teach you to behave yourself better, sir!"

When the offender was soundly thrashed the father wiped the perspiration from his forehead.

"Let this be a lesson to you," he said, "how to treat my dogs. And, now that I think of it, you've been disrespectful to your mother of late, sir!"—New York Post.

On the Last Lap.

"Saw an odd race yesterday."

"Indeed?"

"Yes. It was between two dogs—a fox terrier and a dachshund."

"Well?"

"Two saucers of milk were placed in front of them and the object was to see which could lick up his first."

"Which won the race?"

"The dachshund won in the last lap."—Florida Times-Union.

WILLOW GROVE'S
88TH ANNIVERSARY

was purchased in the fall of 1902. It was at the close of that year that Mr. James O. Clark, who had been such an able leader and helper of the school, though not bearing the title of superintendent, felt it necessary to sever his connection with the school, resigning as teacher of the Young Men's Bible Class. Miss Annie Clark as a teacher and Miss Fannie Clark as teacher and organist were also obliged to resign. These vacancies in the teaching force were most keenly felt although we appreciated the years of faithful service, they having been associated with Willow Grove for about thirty years.

In 1904, Mr. Martine Clark was unable to hold the office of superintendent any longer and Mr. John C. Ketchum was finally induced to accept it. He, with the able assistance of his wife, served for two years. In Mr. Ketchum's term and by his efforts a Sunday school Home Department was organized in April 1906 with 19 members enrolled. In the summer of 1906 Mr. Ketchum was obliged to give up the position and our present leader, Mr. William Sisserson, accepted the charge. Since his appointment, or on November 12, 1907, the Willow Grove Women's Sewing Circle was organized by Mrs. Sisserson, our superintendent's wife. It began with a membership of 21 which has increased in 7 years to 48 active and 11 honorary members. Its object was the holding of monthly meetings for sociability and mission work.

In the spring of 1912, it was found necessary to repair and redecorate the chapel building. This work was completed in June 1912. And so the work goes on although our membership is smaller than at some times in our history, we trust.

THE IDEAL JURYMAN.

His Age and Qualifications From an English Point of View.

There is a general agreement in London legal circles that the best juryman are to be found among men sixty years of age. The opinion is that juryman at that age show better judgment than younger men.

A leading London barrister, asked for his opinion, said: "I prefer men about fifty years of age. A defending barrister, in fact, a criminal case which has certain sentimental elements will all ways welcome a young jury. He knows he can touch their emotions far more easily than he can those of men over fifty. Sentiment is very rare at fifty, and a man is cold and purely logical. The average man who has reached the age of fifty looks upon things from a materialistic point of view, and his judgment is therefore unaffected by sentiment."

"Education, save in certain civil cases, is no great asset to a juryman. The bricklayer or the mechanic has just as much knowledge of human nature and a sense of justice as the professor, and in many respects barristers and judges prefer the undeterred juryman to the man of culture, though in the case of the latter he is less susceptible to an emotional plea. The man with some common sense, learned not from books, but from everyday life, is not so easily led either by judge or counsel as many suppose, and if you add the wisdom of years you get the ideal juryman."—Exchange.

A Clear Wind Shield.

A doctor living in a rainy climate whose calls took him out often in wet weather undertook the problem of maintaining clear vision through the wind shield of his automobile regardless of rain, and he succeeded in making a prescription that would do the work. The prescription calls for one ounce of water, two ounces of glycerin and one dram of salt. This is poured on a piece of gauze and then wiped over the glass, care being taken to have all the streaks downward. The effect of the treatment is to prevent raindrops from clinging to the glass.—Saturday Evening Post.

A WORD OF CAUTION

Keeping all these facts in mind, we can judge how erroneous the notion is that from the beginning the mad dog is furious and rabid. Far from it. It is not the bites of the mad dog that are first to be feared, but his caresses. To reiterate, let me say:

BEWARE of a dog which begins to be sick. All sick dogs, as a principle, must be suspected.

BEWARE especially of one which is sad, morose and seeks solitude; which does not know where to rest; which goes and comes, snags and barks without reason; whose looks are dull and gloomy and whose bright expression is lost.

BEWARE of the dog which attacks imaginary objects.

BEWARE of the dog which is suddenly too affectionate, asking for your caresses by his repeated and pitiful whines.

And, finally, BE KIND TO THE DOG. Remember, that it is chiefly because of neglect and abuse that his vitality is depleted and his system inoculated with the deadly virus. Go out of your way to see that kindness is done to him. Call the attention of the local authorities to his plight. This not only because the poor, dumb brute craves and deserves humane treatment, but also because by protecting him you are safeguarding your home against the danger of a death-dealing disease.
