French fry fire sparks 8-month ordeal

By NICOLE A. GAVINO
THE RECORD

Tom Anspach had no idea how bad things would become in eight months when he entered his kitchen to make some french fries last January.

His cooking triggered a fire, a family disaster, and for the Anspachs it's been one setback after another since.

Still living in a trailer on his front lawn with his wife and three children after the fire destroyed his home, Mr. Anspach is bracing for another bombshell. Now it's the town of Westfield, which has its laws — one of which says it's time for the family to get out of the trailer.

"Who in their right mind would want to stay in a situation like this?" Mr. Anspach said. Without a home, the Anspachs simply don't have an alternative right now.

Walking into the charred remains of the house, Mrs. Anspach covered her mouth as she and her husband pointed out where this and that used to be.

"I just don't care any more what we've lost," she said. "I just want to get back in and get on with my life. Right now it's like living in limbo."

Living in limbo has meant life in the "shoe box" for far longer than expected, life in two small rooms for the Anspachs and their children, Kaara, 14, Gina, 15, and Tom, 17. One teenager sleeps on the couch, another on a car seat.

"In a way, it's brought us closer," said Mrs. Anspach, "but in another way sometimes you can't stand the sound of somebody chewing — you just want peace."

Peace is something the Anspachs haven't had since last Christmas. After the fire, they should have been able to get back into their home in four or five months. But as Mr. Anspach said, "Every time we think we're ready to move on this, we get hit with another bombshell."

Mrs. Anspach said the first mistake was trying to make decisions while they were still in shock. They decided to hire a private adjuster instead of using the one from their insurance company.

The Anspachs said the adjuster promised to take care of things for them, acting as a go-between with their insurance company. But after five months, no progress had been made. "We had a lot of trouble even getting in touch with him," said Mrs. Anspach. "It became the story of our lives: 'We'll call you back.'"

Not knowing what to do, they hired a lawyer. "He took $600 up front and he never did a thing but keep us hanging for another three months," she said. By this time (Please turn to page A-2)

Pets are blessed at St. Paul's

By NICOLE A. GAVINO
THE RECORD

St. Paul's Episcopal Church held a blessing rite for pets on Sunday.

"It was kind of a fun, joyous ceremony with a serious message of stewardship," said Emilia Welch, public relations spokesperson for the church.

Families brought their dogs, cats, rabbits, and hermit crabs to the church to be blessed by Rector Roger Ard. About 60 people came out for the event.

"One couple brought their little puppy who had been sick, but somehow managed to get through," Ms. Welch said. "He had been saved."

The ceremony and the sermon which followed centered on St. Francis of Assisi, who was friends with all the animals and talked to the animals. The sermon focused on appreciating and looking after that which is given you.

"The whole ceremony was based around looking after your pets, as God looks after all of his creations," Ms. Welch said.

Although some of the animals were a bit scared, and others were a bit loud, they all made it through without any fights. "There were definitely some vocal dogs," Ms. Welch said, "they joined their voices in the service."

The ceremony allowed pet owners to have their animals blessed and to share a good time with others, including the priest.

"It's just a kind of fun and happy time," Ms. Welch said, "not too serious, one of our lighter events."

Russian unrest delays teacher's visit to Kirov

By NICOLE A. GAVINO
THE RECORD

Westfield teacher Elizabeth Hetherington had to postpone her trip to Russia as part of an exchange program until next week due to unrest in Moscow.

The Edison Intermediate School reading teacher was scheduled to leave yesterday for Kirov, 500 miles north of Moscow, to live and work with a Russian teacher as part of the American-Russian-Ukrainian Teacher Exchange Program called "Hands Across the Water."

Ms. Hetherington received a phone call Monday afternoon from the program's director, Erik Mollenhauer, informing her that all the teachers in the program were being advised not to go to Russia this week due to the occupation of the Parliament building and related civil disturbances.

"I thought it was a prudent decision," said Ms. Hetherington. "We've had quite a bit of contact with Russian teachers, so we have rather current information."

Ms. Hetherington said that she and other teachers had anticipated the delay based on their own contacts, even though the civil disruption does not seem to have reached the outer limits of the country.

Although the postponement is only until next Thursday, Ms. Hetherington said, "It's an inconvenience for both sides of the water because our plans entailed a great many schools and educators."

"I just hope that by next week everything will be restored to a relative calm."

Ms. Hetherington will be one of 83 teachers across the country heading into Russia next week, 30 of whom are from New Jersey. "We're really just so grateful for this opportunity to visit Russia in this time of change," Ms. Hetherington added. "We are so excited and so happy to even be going."

Ms. Hetherington will be living and working in Kirov, an old historical city of about 500,000 people on the Vyatka River.

"We're going to absorb their culture, their society, and their educational systems," Ms. Hetherington said, "and engage in a swapping of teaching strategies and materials."

Chamber unveils 3-day spooky family weekend

The Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce is jumping onto the Charles Addams bandwagon with an autumn promotion called "Addams Family Weekend," Oct. 14-16.

With the guidance of Ron MacCloskey, Westfield's unofficial Charles Addams historian, the three-day event will celebrate the quirky cartoon characters who originated in Westfield.

In the early 1920s, Charles Addams lived on Summit Avenue in Westfield before moving to a house at 522 Elm St. As a youngster, he became fascinated with two houses — one at 411 Elm St. and one at 229 E. Dudley Ave. — and the Presbyterian Church cemetery on Mountain Avenue. These locations became his favorite "haunts," and lasting inspirations for his artistic creativity.

Charles Addams began drawing cartoons in the late 1920s for the Westfield High School literary magazine, The Weather Vane. Even his earliest work showed a bizarre sense of humor and a fascination with coffins, tombstones, and scaring people. His earliest drawings became the basis of some 13,000 darkly humorous cartoons which became enormously popularized in The New Yorker magazine in the '40s and '50s.

Paramount Pictures' Addams Family movie, released in 1991, fleshed out the freakish pranksters and made the characters more accessible and enjoyable to an even wider audience. There will be a special showing of this (Please turn to page A-2)

Crossword contest will launch Addams events

An Addams Family crossword puzzle, created by Charles Addams, is being featured this week at participating businesses of the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce Retail Promotions Committee.

A large advertisement including the Addams Family puzzle and the businesses which are participating in the drawing appears in this issue of The Westfield Record. Also, an insert in this issue has coupons which are redeemable at participating businesses.

Shoppers are invited to stop into the businesses where Addams Family posters are displayed to pick up a copy of the puzzle, to visit the designated businesses to find clues, then to fill in the puzzle and deposit it in the boxes provided.

One winner will be drawn at random from among all correct entries received. One person will win a murder mystery dinner for two at B.G. Fields.

Deadline for entries is 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 14. The winner will be notified by mail or phone Friday, Oct. 15.

The drawing is part of "Addams Family Weekend," an autumn promotion scheduled for Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Oct. 14-16.

Throughout the weekend, until Halloween, shoppers are encouraged to benefit from special shoppers coupons distributed in a local newspaper and available at participating businesses.

For more information, contact the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce at 233-3021.

Anspachs

the adjuster showed up again after having been in the hospital.

"They should have at least told us what was going on," Mr. Anspach said.

As it turned out, the adjuster came through. The Anspachs have finally settled and received their money. The architect's plan is in the making and they have been told everything there will be complete in about six weeks.

But, he said, they're not getting what they should. "I know we're taking a loss on the contents of the house, but there comes a time when you just have to let it go."

The suffering may not be over yet. The permit for their "shoe box" home expired. They called the town about an extension, were told they couldn't get one and police would be coming by soon.

"I was hysterical," Mrs. Anspach said. "If they tell us to leave — I can't even think about that now."

Seeking help, the Anspachs contacted Councilman Norman Greco. "These folks are nice everyday people raising a family," Mr. Greco said. "They have been at the mercy of the system and they just need more time. I am seeking relief from the council to give them that time."

Mayor Garland "Bud" Boothe said "it is not the intention of the town to cause this family any additional grief." He explained the ordinance controlling the permit has no provisions allowing the town to give them an extension.

As far as enforcement, Mayor Boothe believes that the town will not proceed against them. "This is a situation which arose out of a tragedy, and the reason they haven't been able to get the house done sooner is again, something that they couldn't control."

He said that most matters of this nature are brought to the attention of the council, which decides whether to take action.

Town Attorney Charles Brand said officials hope to amend the ordinance itself, so it will offer provisions to get an extension if there are good reasons. This will take at least one month to be approved by council, however.

In the meantime, the Anspachs depend on the town to let them stay until their house is ready.

Mr. Anspach said, "You just sit here and say what could possibly happen next?" His wife added, "You have to laugh, because otherwise you sit here and cry."

Class of '94 editors inspect 1794's Westfield schools' paraphernalia

By NICOLE A. GAVINO
THE RECORD

As the Historical Society documents 200 years of Westfield schools, the high school yearbook staff is preparing to document the 1993-94 year.

The Historical Society's first theme exhibit "Living and Learning: Westfield Schools, 1750-1950" focuses on the evolution of the Westfield schools since the first log school house was built around 1750.

The exhibit contains photos of schools, students, teachers, and sports, along with documents such as old report cards, diplomas, school opening and graduation programs. Highlights include antique sports equipment, an old graduation gown, and copies of the first Westfield school songs. In addition, guests have hands-on access to old publications, including the "Weather Vane".

According to curator Ralph Jones, 9 out of 10 of the guests visit the exhibit for nostalgia's sake. However, Mr. Jones recognized the benefits for younger guests as well.

"I think that they could just get some perspective," Mr. Jones said. "You can't help but get a broader view. By studying history, you learn about all phases of life."

The tri-editors of Westfield High School's yearbook staff agreed as they explored the exhibit. "It makes us think about how people are going to look back at our yearbook to see what school was like in 1994, or even more, what life was like," Tara McEnerney said.

Along with fellow seniors Sohayla Massachi and Chris Black, the trio headed to the exhibit to compare the 200 year documentation to their own efforts. First impressions of the old photos and old yearbooks centered on differences in dress and conduct. "Everything just seems so much more formal than it is today," Sohayla said. "They had to be more mature in one sense," added Tara.

In Mr. Jones eyes, the changes are only on the surface. "After a while you get to know these people, through the things you see and read."

Botulism still claiming Tamaques Pond ducks

By NICOLE A. GAVINO
THE RECORD

Tamaques Pond Mallard ducks are still dying due to avian botulism. Meanwhile, the town is waiting for results of a consultant's study on the pond before any work can be done.

Resident Michael Felsing said six ducks were found dead just last week. "The tremendous amount of rain we've had has helped a little bit," Mr. Felsing said, "but we've still pulled quite a few ducks out recently, about six in the last week."

But the situation has improved since last month. During September, six ducks were being found dead in only two days, and the Humane Society was continuously called in to pick up sick ducks.

"So far we haven't had any more calls about the ducks in Westfield," said Wilfredo Ruiz of the Humane Society. Mr. Ruiz explained that the Society only is called in for sick ducks.

The ducks suffer from avian botulism, a bacterial infection which affects their nervous systems, causing difficulty in breathing, walking and flying. Most of the ducks who get sick end up drowning because they cannot keep their heads above the water.

Low water circulation in the pond and an excess of food, which residents throw into the pond for the ducks, builds situations which foster the growth of the bacteria.

As Mr. Felsing said, although the rain has helped water circulation, it has not eliminated the problem. Mr. Felsing and his wife strongly believe that people need to be discouraged from feeding the ducks.

Monica Felsing has been tending to the dead and sick ducks at Tamaques and has been approaching park-goers to offer information and discourage duck-feeding.

Commentary

Hits & misses

Autumn's colorful, bracing, historic hits miss their mark for Halloween haters, etc.

HIT: Days like Saturday and Sunday when clear skies, cool temperatures, just the hint of leaves pondering color changes, and a rich variety of community outdoor activities made all right with the world in autumn.

MISS: Days like Saturday and Sunday when in the midst of all the botanical and meteorological fall splendor, homeowners encountered fleeting thoughts of gutters and lawns steadily filling with brightly colored, fallen leaves.

HIT: Columbus Day will be celebrated on Monday the 11th when Americans are reminded of the dramatic story of Christopher Columbus and his quest for discovering the Orient, and of the relatively young, democratic national melting pot in which we live.

MISS: The realization that last year's quinquennial of the arrival of Columbus in the Caribbean was a fizzle in this country.

HIT: The sight, smell and taste of fresh apple cider warmed and simmering with a bundle of cinnamon sticks submersed in it at an outdoor craft fair at the local church or park.

MISS: The fact that yellow jackets, aggressively seeking to bolster hive stores of goodies for the coming winter also are attracted to the sight, smell and/or taste of apple cider with cinnamon sticks simmering in the bright autumn sunlight.

HIT: Halloween preparations and the excitement of youngsters planning costumes, parties, and neighborhood routes on the big day.

MISS: Householders who: run out of candy on the "big day," are saddened by the violent-prone heroes represented by the costumes on the kids, and endure petty vandalism inflicted in the name of pre-Halloween "mischief night" pranks.

HIT: The pamphlets, phone calls, volunteers at the supermarket and visits to the home by candidates for local office. There is an exhilaration, or at least a bit of satisfaction, in the spectacle of democracy once again giving great value to the currency of the individual citizen's vote.

MISS: The chilling realization that the Oct. 4 deadline to register to vote in the Nov. 2 election has come and gone, and too many voters, too distracted to have registered in time, will have to sit out the big voting day next month.

HIT: Breaking out that favorite sweater for shelter against the autumn's chill.

MISS: That persistent "moth ball" aroma that comes off the sweater.

Letters to the editor

'Commissioner' Boothe sets letter writer straight

To The Record:

Your issue of Sept. 23 included a letter from an admirer of mine in Linden. His letter intermingled two topics, my commitment to recycling and my involvement as a commissioner of the Utilities Authority at the same time I am serving as Mayor of Westfield. I would like to respond to both points.

As the senior member of the authority in terms of continuous service, I have been firmly and intensively dedicated to the goal of recycling. When the state mandated that Union County put a recycling program in place in the summer of 1987, I was heavily involved in the planning of that program and in bringing it about in the fall of 1987. The program that was started up from scratch by the authority grew to be both economical and successful, although it had its rough points and problems over the years. The program had effectively provided recycling for most of the communities in the western part of the county.

It is ludicrous to question my commitment to recycling, but it is also true that I am quite aware of all the problems and limitations that the recycling program entails. I suspect that some comment by me on the latter point prompted my critic from Linden to conclude that I was not dedicated to recycling. Recycling is a key component to the entire Union County Solid Waste Management Plan, which I helped write and enact, and which I and all other UCUA commissioners, past and present, have supported on a thoughtful dedicated and non-partisan basis since the great garbage crisis of 1987 occurred.

My involvement with solid waste matters and the authority started in 1981 when I first elected to the council as a councilman and long before I became mayor in 1992. During the past 13 years I have served as Westfield's representative to and then as chairman of the Solid Waste Advisory Council to the Board of Freeholders. I inspected over a dozen solid waste resource recovery plants and recycling operations from Oklahoma to Massachusetts to Florida in connection with business or vacation trips. I have learned a great deal about all aspects of solid waste, a subject frankly

I never had much interest or concern about before 1980 back in the days garbage was something you put out back and paid $5 a month to get rid of, and I do my best to put this learning to use for the benefit of all county residents.

The members of the authority over the years have striven hard not to be parochial or limited relative to the municipalities where they reside. The specific exception has been Rahway pursuant to court orders and agreements that go back many years, which require that Rahway have two of the nine commissionerships. The Rahway commissioners have abstained from participating and voting particularly when the issue is a financial one between the authority and the city of Rahway.

When I - when any of us - sit, deliberate and vote on UCUA matters, it is as a resident of Union County. It is very rare that an issue comes along which would in some way affect Westfield differently than it might affect any of the other municipalities.

Over the years authority members, who are appointed by the Board of Freeholders, have tended to be persons involved with local government somewhere in the county - present or former elected officials, municipal administrators and the like. What I have found unfortunate, and I have said so to the public and to my colleagues on the freeholder board is that a number of municipalities have never had representation on the authority to give it more diversity and background - Berkely Heights, Clark, New Providence, Summit, Cranford, Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Winfield, and Roselle Park have never had one of their residents appointed as a commissioner (alternates presently on the authority are from Cranford and Scotch Plains). I will continue to urge that more diversity be considered as appointments are made. Ironically, at one of our last public meetings, a member of the public expressed great concern that there is no longer a commissioner on the authority from Linden, a fact reflecting that a commissioner from Linden had a term expire.

Teen's letter on sex education in school is rebutted

To The Record:

In response to Megan Clark's rebuttal of Sept. 23, there are some items which need to be clarified. Miss Clarke, at 15, seems to imply she knows more than Mrs. Hintze, a concerned parent, as well as an well read and informed adult.

Miss Clarke states that it is the responsibility of the school to familiarize kids about different forms of birth control. This is obviously her opinion and by no means a fact with which everyone agrees.

Clarke alleges that parents who oppose comprehensive sex education in the schools, will fail to teach their children about sex themselves. When did 15-year-olds become so wise to make such generalizations? There are many parents, including myself, who oppose the way sex education is taught today, and we are teaching our children, not only about the biology of sex and the dangers of diseases, but also about values and commitments. Parents who do not support comprehensive family life education may not be politically correct, but they do care about their children and the messages they are receiving. Any parent who cares enough to write or speak out about an issue, is not a parent who will fail at higher responsibility.

The point many parents, including Mrs. Hintze are trying to make is that students are not developmentally ready to make decisions which sex education courses force on them. Even under the best of conditions, birth control sometimes fails. Teens are almost never involved in a situation with the best of conditions. Adolescents, are intelligent, but they are also developmentally young, and kids who have trouble getting up in the morning, getting homework assignments done on time, or returning library books are not ideal users of any birth control.

What if there were a number of kids blowing themselves up while making bombs? Would the answer be to teach how to courses on bomb making in the high schools? Would anyone in their right mind want to provide adolescents with such information? Would parents believe school officials when they claimed that they were providing students with information to make healthy choices? Imagine hearing them say, we teach kids not to make bombs as an option but since kids are going to do it anyway we teach how to make safe bombs.

Yaeh, right.

Does anyone believe adolescents are developmentally mature enough to handle such information? How many believe this approach would reduce the number of accidental deaths? And would there be any doubt that we would see the number of explosions rise? The point is that real solutions should take developmental maturity into account and teen problems cannot be solved with adult solutions.

One potential problem is how many adolescents accept what they are told by authority figures without question. Megan Clarke states that schools teach more than just condoms to reduce the risk of sexually transmitted diseases. She states they are taught to use spermicides with condoms. At the World Medical Health Foundation Conference on Educational Policy and HIV Prevention, which I attended recently, we were told of the dangers of one particular spermicide which breaks down the latex in condoms. Most adolescents do not appreciate that HIV prevention is not an exact science and even those who use a condom properly each and every time are still at risk. Risk reduction does not equate risk elimination.

Clarke also stated that when condoms are used correctly they are 88% effective against pregnancy. However, this statistic applies to adults. In a study where teens were involved the failure rate jumped to 18% which means that one in five teenagers depending on condoms ends up pregnant. With some groups of adolescents the rate was found to be as high as 50%.

I only wish I could convince Megan Clarke, and other teens that parents who oppose comprehensive sex education are well meaning and caring. Despite the fact that adolescents may see us as overbearing, not with it, unrealistic and living in the dark ages, we were once teens ourselves, went through what they are going through, understand, and now have experience under our belts which has made us a little wiser. I only hope that with the very real threat of AIDS, sexually transmitted diseases, pregnancy, and emotional scars that these teens will not one day say, If I only knew then, what I know now.

School board member describes many angles of wage contracts

To The Record:

In a letter to this paper, Mr. Gordeuk criticized the settlement reached by the Westfield Board of Education with the teachers' association. He ended the letter with the question: Whom does the board really represent?

Although I am not a spokesperson for the board, I find this a worthwhile question that deserves an answer.

Members of the Board of Education are elected by all of Westfield's voters in a non-partisan election. They represent the interests of all Westfield's residents, including 4500 schoolchildren who deserve a good education, and thousands of taxpayers who want their taxes to be spent judiciously. All the voting members of the board are Westfield residents and taxpayers who serve their town for three year terms without compensation. Any legal resident who is over 18 years of age, literate, and a registered voter is eligible to run for election to the board. I presume that this includes Mr. Gordeuk.

As for the settlement itself, I believe that we did better than many other schools boards and municipal governments in New Jersey, and without the disruptive labor disputes that have plagued several of them. The settlement was unanimously approved by all members of the board, both liberal and conservative (whatever these labels mean).

It is important for all of us to realize a simple fact of life: whether we like it or not, employees who are represented by collective bargaining usually fare somewhat better than those who must fend for themselves as individuals.

As a taxpayer and member of the board, I am painfully aware of the high cost of good education. Never the less, we must remember that the good reputation of our schools enhances our quality of life (and the value of our homes).

I hope that New Jersey will, some day, find a more equitable way to fund public education. This matter is, however, not in the hands of the local boards of education. It is up to the state's Legislature to find a solution to this difficult problem.

Man charged in broomstick beating of woman

By NICOLE A. GAVINO
THE RECORD

Jose Santiago of Newark was arrested and charged last Wednesday for aggravated assault, after allegedly attacking a 27-year-old Kenilworth woman with a broomstick, causing severe head injuries.

About 11:30 a.m., a Salter Place resident was in his yard when he first heard a woman screaming for help. The witness encountered the victim in the park, running to her car. She got into her car and began to drive away until the witness stopped her.

The witness saw that the woman's face was bleeding profusely as she got out of her car. Another Salter Place resident who dispute over a parking problem. No arrest was made.

Burglary and theft were reported at a Ripley Avenue residence Oct. 2. Police found forced entry from the rear door and the total value of stolen property is estimated at $26,850.

A Boyton Avenue resident reported the theft of $500 from her residence Sept. 28.

Sept. 29, a Garwood resident reported several items missing from a construction site at Trails End Road.

A West Broad resident reported the theft of $1,350 from her home Oct. 1.

Sept. 27, a Roselle resident reported that his vehicle was broken into and a stereo was stolen while it was parked on Moss Avenue.

A Summit Court resident reported the window of her car smashed Sept. 27.

A Vernon Terrace resident reported his car broken into Sept. 27.

Sept. 28, a Beechwood Place resident reported criminal mischief to his vehicle.

Oct. 2, an Orenda Circle resident reported the theft of a car stereo while the vehicle was parked on Gallows Hill Road.

Oct. 4, criminal mischief was reported to Westfield High School and Wilson Elementary School. Both buildings were defaced with black spray paint.

Police log had arrived, went and called for help.

The Westfield Police Department responded to a report of a hysterical woman screaming in Gumpert Field Park. Police found the injured woman who described the suspect and told police that he had fled south towards North Avenue.

In the area of the assault, a wooded area behind Diamond Communications at 500 North Avenue in Garwood, police found evidence including a man's jacket thrown across a large rock and a broom leaning up against a tree across from the jacket.

More Westfield and Garwood police arrived on the scene, along with an officer and a tracking dog from the Union County Sheriff's Department. The Detective Bureau conducted an investigation, speaking with several Diamond Communications employees and discovered the suspect, also an employee, on the property.

Mr. Santiago was brought to headquarters and charged with aggravated assault and is being held in lieu of $25,000 bail.

The victim was taken to Overlook Hospital where she was treated for head injuries and released.

Thursday, Richard Hoyer, 47, of Scotch Plains was arrested for alleged lewdness while in Tamaques Park.

Police responded to a report of a man walking around the park exposing himself. Police found the man, identified by witnesses, in his vehicle preparing to drive out of the park.

An interview with Mr. Hoyer allegedly revealed to police that he had been drinking and he was processed and released with a summons for the lewdness charge and a summons for an open alcoholic beverage in his car.

Ralph Tuhl, 51, of Scotch Plains was arrested Sept. 29 on charges of simple assault and disorderly conduct at 1 Lincoln Plaza.

The arrest was the result of an incident including a Westfield Police officer directing traffic at the corner of East Broad and Prospect Streets.

Mr. Tuhl allegedly approached the officer, shouting and poking the officer in the chest before he fled to his car parked at 1st Nationwide Bank, where he was caught and arrested. Mr. Tuhl was released with a summons.

John Melnick of Carteret and Susan McDaniel of Woodbridge were arrested Sept. 29 for drug possession under 50 grams. Both subjects were released on their own recognizance with a summons.

Todd Nielson of Clark was arrested Oct. 2 for allegedly being an unlicensed driver and possession of marijuana. He was released on $225 bail.

Sept. 27, an East Broad Street resident reported an unknown person stole her dog from her yard. She said she let her two dogs out and only one returned.

A woman approached her and told her that she was taking a puppy because she believed that the victim abuses her pets. A police search of the neighborhood failed to locate the suspect or the dog. The investigation is ongoing.

An East Broad Street resident reported that he was assaulted Sept. 27. The victim said that he was assaulted with a stick after a verbal

Unique boutique, staff aid mastectomy patients recover their confidence

By CHERYL HEHL
THE RECORD

A mastectomy can rob a woman of her self-esteem and her sexuality. This traumatic experience, however, can be eased by many persons and services, even extending to those who sell prostheses with a special sensitivity.

In the first few weeks after diagnosis, women concentrate on the cancer itself, getting through surgery, and prevailing over the devastating effects of chemotherapy.

But there comes a moment when breast cancer victims begin to look outward. It is then, that the mission of helping women be themselves again takes its place.

This rehabilitation involves more than just the fitting of a prosthesis. Ann Geislinger of A Personal Touch, a Mastectomy Boutique on Elmer Street in Westfield, said their most important service is "understanding, compassion and expertise."

Walking into A Personal Touch is a soothing experience. Unlike common retail establishments, it is evident the owner of the boutique has strived to create a soft and feminine atmosphere for her customers. Although lingerie and prostheses are everywhere, the atmosphere is that of a cozy living room in the home of a friend.

And indeed, Ms. Geislinger, with her gentle manner and soothing voice welcomes each customer as if they were a new friend. For Ann is not just the owner who wishes to succeed, she is an involved, caring person who has had 15 years in the health care business.

In fact, she explains, more often than not she can steer women toward support groups or lectures that may help ease the ordeal of having cancer.

Much has changed over the years in serving breast surgery patients. Not only have manufacturers become more sensitive to women's needs, but they have labored to produce the most natural looking prostheses.

While many women opt for reconstructive surgery, many more decide to wait or not have it at all. Making that choice, said Ann, does not mean giving up looking and feeling attractive. With the help of customers, manufacturers of prostheses have improved their products extensively. Although customers can choose to use an insert in a pocketed bra, today there is an alternative. A silicone breast form that applies directly to the chest wall allows women to be as active as they were before surgery. Not only are the breast forms designed to uniquely fit each side of the body, they come in every size, shape and color. This lighter weight, softer version of prostheses has brought surgery victims into the '90s and allowed them to resume the life they led prior to surgery.

The detection of early stage breast cancer has led to increased numbers of younger women recovering from cancer after surgery and chemotherapy or radiation. The five-year survival rate for localized breast cancer has risen from 78 percent in the 1940's to 93 percent today. If the cancer is not invasive, the survival rate approaches 100 percent. If the cancer has spread the survival rate drops to 78 percent, while those with distant metastasis only have an 18 percent survival rate.

Mrs. Geislinger also takes care of informing her customers that insurance often takes care of the cost of a prosthesis, which can run as high as $500, as well as the lingerie.

Often it is just the caring and concern she and her associate Ann Flerx bestow on their customers that puts a smile on a recent mastectomy patient's face.

And besides, adds Mrs. Geislinger with a wink, "just so our customers know we care, no one gets out of here without a hug."

Ann Geislinger, owner of Westfield's Mastectomy Boutique.

Scholarship events are listed

Plans for the Woman's Club of Westfield's annual scholarship fund-raisers have been announced by Nita McHugh, scholarship trustee, and Sally Brown, president.

A dessert-bridge party will be held 1 p.m. Oct. 27 at the clubhouse, 318 S. Euclid Ave, and "An Evening at Talbots" is slated for 7 p.m. Nov. 3.

In addition, Dick Turner of Turner World Travel, 560 Springfield Ave., is co-sponsoring, with the club, a $1,000 "Trip-of-Your-Choice" raffle. Tickets are available from club members, from Turner World Travel, and will be on sale at Foodtown (Elm Street).

Adult school lists itinerary

Day trips of the Classroom on Wheels series of the Westfield Adult School provide opportunities to visit special places in the metropolitan area in the company of classmates who share cultural interests. Each trip is fully prearranged and fairly priced for convenience and enjoyment, according to organizers.

The Connecticut River Valley excursion, in the height of the foliage season, is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 23. It starts with a bus ride along the banks of Long Island Sound to the historic village of Essex, Conn., for luncheon at a local restaurant. Then there will be a train ride on the Valley Railroad through the villages of Chester and Deep River. Here, day-trippers will board a steamboat and proceed up the river to East Haddam. Buses will depart from Roosevelt Intermediate School 8 a.m. and return to Westfield 9 p.m.

"Railroading in Pennsylvania," set for Saturday, Nov. 13, begins with a bus ride to Strasburg, Pa., and the famous Strasburg Railroad. Following a "train trip to Paradise," luncheon will be served in true Pennsylvania Dutch style. Afternoon visits to the Pennsylvania State Railroad Museum and the Toy Museum are included. Buses depart from Roosevelt Intermediate School 8 a.m. and return to Westfield 8 p.m.

There will be a trip to the Liberty Science Center Saturday, Dec. 4. Participants will visit the interactive science museum, featuring exhibits and hands-on demonstrations on inventions, health, and the environment. Special features include an 80 foot high tornado, a touch tunnel, and a laser light show. Also featured is the world's largest Omni-Max Theater. Buses leave Roosevelt Intermediate School 9:30 a.m. and return to Westfield 5:30 p.m.

Seating is limited for all trips, so early reservations are encouraged. No refunds will be given unless cancellation of reservation is requested at least two weeks in advance. For information, call 232-4050.

Farewell

The Tamaques PTO and the entire student body recently bid a fond farewell to David Tuller, departing principal. Mr. Tuller moves on to become human resource director in the Westfield school system.

Newcomers plan varied October program

The Westfield Newcomers Club will sponsor a Ladies Night Out 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Brianna's restaurant in Scotch Plains. For more information, call Allison at 654-6081.

There will be an old fashioned country hay ride and cookout 7 p.m. Oct. 16. Enjoy hay ride, hot dogs, burgers, and music in the pavilion at Royal Farms. Space is limited to 30 people. BYOB. Refrigeration is available. Call Joanna at 789-7477.

Mom's Sanity Night is scheduled for 8 p.m. Oct. 28. This night out without children gives women a chance to sit, relax and chat with other moms. Call Susan at 889-6360 before Oct. 27.

Scouts plan active 1993-94

The Westfield Girl Scout Service Team is preparing for the 1993-94 season with some interesting and exciting events for Westfield Girl Scouts at every level. The team is also responsible for bringing the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council programs and training to Scouts and their leaders.

The team includes: First Row — Betty Riker, special projects; Pam Orbach, registrar; "Skip" Adams, community manager; Ann Bartholomay, older girl organizer; and Ann Marie Schneider, leader's recognition coffee. Back Row — Bernadine Liebrich, recording secretary/publicity; Karen Mercado, Jefferson School organizer; Maureen Macaluso, McKinley School consultant; Marian Caprario, Wilson School organizer/consultant; Ann Thomasshow, Washington School organizer; Ann Fromtling, Holy Trinity School organizer; Shirley Walsh, service projects; Ann Kril, corresponding secretary.

For more information on joining Westfield Girl Scouts, call Pam Orbach at 233-2878.

The swinging, upside down world of my pal, Theresa Quigley

My former grammar school classmate and cohort in crime, the infamous Theresa Quigley, has gained a following in Cranford. Since last I wrote about our grade school prank where my fellow classmates and I hung the fearless Theresa Quigley out the window on the last day of school, I can barely walk down the street without a request from folks asking to know more about this daring person.

Theresa Quigley is what everyone called her. There were three other Theresas in our class and each was called by her full name. Theresa Quigley grew up much as we all did living in a small, middle class town in New Jersey. It was before women's liberation, working moms or dual incomes. Women had not discovered they had rights, and our fathers liked it that way. All mothers stayed home to keep the home fires burning and the men brought home the bacon.

Shenanigans

But even back then there were maverick moms — like Theresa Quigley's mother. Born and raised in Italy, Mrs. Quigley had a fiery spirit and sense of herself. As the story goes, she emigrated to the United States, met and married Patrick Quigley, and told him in no uncertain terms that her children would have Italian first names if they couldn't have the heritage they deserved.

Allegedly shunned by her family for marrying an Irishman, Mrs.

Quigley set about building a new family unit here on the east coast. The Quigleys bought a large house on the outskirts of town which vaguely resembled a shoe in many ways, what with the way the ivy laced up the tall narrow portion of the front. It probably would not have mattered if the Quigleys had not begun having a child every single year for a decade. Of course they did miss one year when the family rift mended and Mrs. Quigley's mother and father came for an extended stay. Poor Mr. Quigley was banished to the garage where he commenced building lawn furniture in his spare time.

By the time his in-laws departed for Italy, Mr. Quigley had supplied every neighbor with a complete set of lawn furniture, not to mention those on neighboring streets. The earthly and beautiful Mrs. Quigley resumed her child-bearing immediately, and all was right with the world.

Now Theresa Quigley was the oldest of the children, but she broke all rules when it came to the oldest-child theory. Wild and uninhibited with a devil-may-care attitude, the black-haired, blue-eyed, freckle-faced Theresa Quigley was "a handful," to say the least. Where there was trouble, Theresa Quigley usually could be found. However, with nine brothers and sisters, her parents found it difficult remembering her name, let alone keeping track of her shenanigans. You could always count on her to volunteer for just about any venture we were cooking up, including the hanging out the school window fiasco. Even the good sisters, though, did not mess with Mrs. Quigley, who was known to have a very hot temper.

During the tumultuous and often unbelievable teenage years, Theresa Quigley tried the patience of just about everyone including the local priest who was known for his mercifulness. He banned her from the church after she set fire to the confessional because she could not read her sins from her notes and lit a match in order to see. Personally, I believe it could have happened to anyone, but then I was banished from the church for doing the same thing six months before.

Although I lost contact with Theresa Quigley, I do run into Mrs. Quigley every now and then. With her thick Italian accent she bemoans the life her daughter chose and blames herself for the tragedy of it all. I suppose it was a shock to everyone when Theresa Quigley picked up and left town right after high school to become an exotic dancer in New York. But what followed was more of a shock. After a few years of plumes, feathers and balloons, Theresa Quigley grew tired of big city life and decided to join a traveling circus.

She always was completely fearless of height, and able to walk along any narrow object with ease. So I was not surprised to hear my former classmate was now the star of a dangerous high wire act along with her two brothers, Pedro and Giuseppe Quigley. According to the sobbing Mrs. Quigley, not only had her daughter up and join the circus, but had dragged her very limber brothers along with her.

Somewhere out there in rural America Theresa Quigley performs her high wire act for children of all ages. And I, who fear climbing a ladder, am in awe of my friend who swore to me she was "on her way to the top," the last time I saw her.

As it should be.

Phi Delta will hear school head

Westfield resident William J. Foley, superintendent of the Marlboro Township Schools in Monmouth County, will address members of the Rutgers University Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa Oct. 13 at the Spanish Tavern in Mountainside.

Dr. Foley, who was trained by the Institute for Development of Educational Activities (IDEA), will discuss the School Improvement Program (SIP), a way to reform schools toward academic excellence.

Dr. Foley served as assistant superintendent for business and secretary to the Board of Education in Westfield 1984-1992. He became Marlboro's superintendent in 1992. He is a magna cum laude graduate of King's College in Wilkes Barre, Pa., and holds a master's degree in education from Rutgers University. He earned a doctorate in education from Teachers College at Columbia University.

Phi Delta Kappa is among the leading organizations dedicated to educational research, leadership and service.

David and Cathy Rock, also Westfield residents, are co-presidents of Phi Delta Kappa. Mr. Rock is assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction in Westfield. Ms. Rock is principal of Bayberry School in Watchung.

Two other Westfield school administrators are active in Phi Delta Kappa: Theodore Kozlik, director of student personnel services, is vice president and Ken Shulack, principal of Roosevelt Intermediate School, is newsletter co-chairman.

Anyone interested in attending the Phi Delta Kappa meeting Oct. 13 can call Dr. Rock at 789-4415 or Dr. Rock at 755-8184.

Outgrown sale

The Westfield Day Care Auxiliary will sponsor a children's outgrown clothing sale Oct. 15-16 at Westminster Hall at the Presbyterian Church. Sizes infant through 14 may be brought to the day care center at the church on Tuesday or Thursday, Oct. 12 and 14, 9 a.m.-2 p.m. Call 232-6717 for other arrangements. Proceeds go to the center.

Warinanco reopens for skating

Warinanco Ice Skating Center, a facility of the Union County Division of Parks and Recreation, opened for the 1993-94 season on Friday.

"I am pleased to announce the beginning of the ice skating season in Union County," said Freeholder Chairman Linda-Lee Kelly. "During the off-season, the Parks Division was busy making preparations for the Center's opening in order to ensure a pleasurable experience for all who visit."

General skating sessions will be held Tuesdays, 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.; Wednesdays, 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and 3:30-5:30 p.m.; Thursdays, 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.; Fridays, 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., 3:30-5:30 p.m., 6-8 p.m. and 8:30-10:30 p.m.; Saturdays, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., 1-3 p.m., and 8:30-10:30 p.m.; and Sundays, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., 1-3 p.m., 3:30-5:30 p.m., and 8:30-10:30 p.m.

For family sessions, nobody under 17 will be admitted without an adult.

Admission to the general sessions is $4 for adults, $3 for children 17 and younger and $3.60 for senior citizens (age 62 and older with proper identification). Discount cards for Union County residents who plan to skate on a regular basis will also be on sale. Private, semi-private and individual lessons are available.

Lunch time hockey sessions will be held 1-3 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Participants must be 18 years or older and must wear a helmet with a cage or shield.

Skate rentals, a pro shop and a refreshment stand are other features of the center.

For more information, call 298-7848 or, for a recorded message, 298-7850.

Better Days

INSECURITY IN THE WORKPLACE

We live in rapidly changing and often troubling times. Economic recession, technological changes, fast-paced communications and increased specialization, taken together, have created an atmosphere of uncertainty in our everyday lives.

Individual response to changes like this can vary. Research has shown that people who view change as a challenge fare better than others. The reason for this is fairly simple: those who view change as inevitable and growth-producing tend to develop the personal skills to anticipate needs adjustments, pursue ongoing training and look ahead to cultivating a role in the new environment.

Unfortunately, many people see change as a force outside their control and doubt their ability to respond. Individuals with this mindset tend to feel they have few options. Angry and depressed, they respond in resistant, career-stifling patterns.

But positive coping skills can be learned. For those having problems coping with the workaday world, a valuable first step should include a consultation with a skilled mental health professional to work on a plan to establish more positive attitudes and outcomes.

Surviving are two sons, Alec T. Winters of San Francisco, Calif., and Christopher R. Winters of Basking Ridge; two daughters, Valerie A. Winters of Roselle Park and Pamela D. Winters of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; and a brother, Dr. Robert L. Winters of Evergreen, Colo.

Services were held Sept. 26 at the Gray Funeral Home. Burial was private.

Contributions may be made to the Westfield Rescue Squad.

Westfield Community Players Matthew Grillo, David Eppley, Allan Gershenson and Rick Holloway rehearse Arsenic and Old Lace which opens October 16.

Westfield Community Players open 60th season October 16

The 60th consecutive season at Westfield Community Players will open Oct. 16 with Joseph Kessler's classic American comedy, Arsenic and Old Lace. Set in nostalgic Brooklyn, it is the tale of two elderly sisters who demonstrate their compassion for lonely men by giving them a good supper, some homemade wine and a long, restful "sleep."

Produced by Connie Haddock, with sets by Marjorie Flynn Van Anda, the show marks the debut of Susan Speidel as director at WCP. Ms. Speidel has acted, directed and choreographed shows with The Forum Theater, Plays in the Park and the Chatham Players. Arlene Wachstein is assistant director.

Currently in rehearsal, the show features Madge Wittel of Westfield and Elaine Doonan of Summit as sisters Abby and Martha Brewster. Nephew Mortimer Brewster (Rick Holloway) of Roselle, and Elaine Harper (Eileen Toner of Roselle) try to keep the aunts out of mischief and Cousin Teddy (Ed Wittel of Westfield) from constantly charging up San Juan Hill.

The sinister presence in the household is criminal mastermind Jonathan Brewster (Alex Devanas of Elizabeth) and his sidekick, Dr. Einstein (Don Edwards of Linden). Lt. Rooney (Allan Gershenson of Linden) of New York's finest is doing his best to round up Jonathan and put Teddy in the Happydale Sanitarium.

Also appearing in the cast are Arthur F. Trainor of Hillsborough, Gregory Paroff of Westfield, David Eppley of Piscataway, Matthew Grillo of Colonia, James Van Anda, Easton, Pa., and Carl Peer of Westfield. This show also marks the first time that mother and son Madge and Ed Wittel have appeared on-stage together at Westfield Community Players.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Oct. 16, 22, 23, 29, 30 and Nov. 5-6. Tickets are $12. There is also a Sunday matinee 2 p.m. Nov. 7; tickets are $10. The Oct. 22 performance is a benefit for the College Woman's Club of Westfield with tickets available from that organization. Tickets are also available at Rorden Realty and The Town Book Store in Westfield, or call the box office at 232-1221.

The WCP Gourmet Hosts, Lou and Ingrid Casella, invite all opening night patrons to stay after the show for the traditional party featuring light food and desserts.

Musical club's first meeting set for Oct. 13

The first meeting of the Musical Club of Westfield for the 1993-94 season will be held 1 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 13 at the home of Helene Frieland, program chairwoman, 201 Linden Ave.

Pianist Grace Hull will perform Chaconne by J.S. Bach and Study No. 5 (arranged for left hand alone) by Johannes Brahms.

George Toenes, clarinet, and Louise Andrews, piano, will play Sonata for Clarinet in B-flat and Piano by Frances Poulenc. The movements are "Allegro Tristemente," "Romanza," and "Allegro con Fuoco."

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's Fantasy in D-minor, Franz Liszt's Consolation No. 3 in D-flat Major and Aaron Copland's The Cat and the Mouse will be performed by Edith Anderson, piano.

Ginger Haselden, soprano, accompanied by Beth McFall, piano, will sing To Layami, a Greek folk song, arranged by Theodore Spethy, and Bazzetti, popular Italian folk songs, arranged by Giulio Confalonieri: Canzone di Nozze, Ninna- Nanna del Mugnaio, Contrasto, Notturmo, and Serenata.

Hospitality chairwoman is Virginia Tienken, assisted by Janet Tyre, Audrey Weber, Lynn Adelman and Margaret Swett.

Religion

Dr. Turlington will preach on Sunday a.m.

Dr. Darla Dee Turlington will preach at the 10:30 a.m. worship service Sunday at The First Baptist Church of Westfield, 170 Elm St. The Lord's Supper will be served.

Church School for all ages begins 9 a.m. Adult education includes the Pastor's Class on the Psalms; the Journeys Class on "The Story of Beginnings: The Book of Genesis;" and the Adult Forum on "Technology and Christianity."

The nursery is staffed 9-11:30 a.m. and includes stories, songs, and visual aides about God's creation. A full religious curriculum of age-appropriate activities is offered to ages 2-5.

The weekly Fellowship Dinner will resume 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, followed by Fellowship, Youth Choir and Bible study, 7:15.

Book group's focus Jewish authors

Temple Emanu-El's book group, begun last year, will continue to focus on Jewish American literature this fall.

The group met for its first session of the season Oct. 3, with subsequent meetings Nov. 7 and Dec. 5. Participants will be asked to read a different work for each session.

Selected texts will represent a survey of 20th century Jewish American authors. The group's theme will be "In Search of Voice: From Silence to Articulation in American Jewish Literature." No preparation is necessary for the first session.

Emphasis will be on the exchange of ideas and group discussion. Edith Weinthal, adjunct professor of English at Montclair State College, will act as group facilitator. Ms. Weinthal is writing her doctoral dissertation at Drew University.

Greek fest features mix of attractions

Guild's name is changed

The Westfield Symphony Orchestra Guild begins its new season with a new name and an expanded vision of its major goals. From now on, the guild will be called Westfield Symphony Friends. The decision for the name change stems from the desire of this volunteer group to open up to and embrace the community at large. Its mission statement also reflects this welcoming vision.

In addition to its commitment to fund-raising for the Westfield Symphony Orchestra through its Spring House Tour and other events, The Symphony Friends have designated 1993-94 as its "Membership Year." It is encouraging all music lovers and those concerned with the promotion of the arts in the area not just in Westfield, but in Cranford, Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Plainfield, and Mountainside, to join the Friends.

"There is already a definite effort on the part of our business communities to revitalize the business centers in the area," said Myriam Gabriel, co-president of the Symphony Friends. "Having a dynamic symphony orchestra in such an environment adds the icing on the cake."

Eppie Betancourt, also co-president of the Westfield Symphony Friends, said, "We will raise funds for the Westfield Symphony Orchestra, of course, but I envision my leadership as trying to direct our members' time, talents, and energies into using education as a way to introduce music appreciation in the schools and to heighten interest in our superb orchestra."

Ten languages in adult school now

During the fall semester, the Westfield Adult School offers 10 foreign language courses and three new humanities courses. Foreign language selections include Japanese, Portuguese, and beginning and continuing levels of German, Italian and Spanish. The humanities courses cover topics of historic and contemporary America and literature of the East.

"Contemporary Issues in American Society and Government" will examine current political and/or social issues.

Each of these course began Oct. 4 at Westfield High School. To register, call Carol Phelan at 232-4050.

Valiant effort falls short against speedy Irvington

By KIP KUDUK
THE RECORD

Like a Corvette crossing the finish line before a Trans Am in a drag race, Irvington simply had too much firepower for Westfield at Matthews Field Friday night.

Utilizing — and needing — all of its offensive weapons, the Blue Knights (3-0) remained perfect and dealt the Blue Devils (1-1-1) their first loss of the season in a 22-7 verdict which left Westfield Head Coach Ed Tranchina encouraged by his club's performance.

"It was a great effort," said Tranchina, who suffered his first loss to Irvington during his nine-year tenure at Westfield. "We went up there and the kids were not intimidated. Irvington knew they were in a war. We jumped on them early and made them earn everything. I think we just lost to a better football team. They've got skill up the kazoo."

After the opening quarter Westfield appeared poised to pull off the upset. The Blue Devils caught their hosts off guard by recovering the onside kick to begin the game.

The visitors maintained their edge in field position and scored midway through the quarter on their second possession. Erwyn Lyght's 13-yard sweep and Steven Cheek's 20-yard pass to tight end Mike Mitchell on third-and-10 helped set up Lyght's 2-yard touchdown run.

The 7-0 lead followed the ideal scenario, characterized by defensive coordinator Ron Barner as "jump on them early and ride out the wave."

While the offense staked Westfield to an early lead, the defense did its part by limiting Irvington to 15 total yards and no first downs over the opening 12 minutes.

But, a precursor of things to come occurred during the second quarter, when the Blue Knights went ahead after a 70-yard, 16-play drive which consumed 8:32.

Westfield's defensive game plan intended to force Irvington into lengthy drives, believing the Blue Knights would make a mistake along the way. However, Irvington executed well and made big plays during crucial situations, which, in retrospect, became the hallmark of this contest.

Irvington converted three of four third-down situations and quarterback Michael Hankerson's 11-yard scramble on fourth-and-seven gave his team first-and-goal at the 10-yard line.

Hankerson, who scored Irvington's first touchdown off a nifty 8-yard scramble, kept the defense guessing with a balanced attack, which featured the hard running of fullback Orrin Marshman, the explosiveness of tailback Sha-kil Moss and the talents of a trio of receivers.

In the event Westfield was able to corral these playmakers, Hankerson displayed the ability to make something out of nothing. The senior was comfortable ad libbing, either running with the ball

Westfield settles for 2nd in UC tourney

By KIP KUDUK
THE RECORD

The intensity was there and the emotions were at a fever pitch, but, an unlucky draw and a talented group from Oak Knoll made Westfield settle for the second place trophy in the Union County Tennis Tournament at Plainfield's Hub Stine Complex.

Decked out with "Ws" painted on their faces, a "Wildman Rocks" banner honoring head coach Lance Wildstein and loud cheers that were probably audible inside nearby Muhlenberg Hospital, the Blue Devils were able to claim one gold medal, one silver and two bronzes.

However, Westfield, which finished in a tie with Kent Place, fell seven points short of accomplishing its task. Oak Knoll successfully defended its title, which it shared last season with Kent Place.

Union County Tournament

"We're happy with second place," said senior captain Jessica St. Clair. "It's better than we've done the past few years and we pretty much played to our potential."

"Oak Knoll and Kent Place are good teams, but, we realize we're right up there with them," said Wildstein. "Even though Oak Knoll walked away with the trophy we feel comfortable that we can play with them."

The second doubles team of seniors Lauren Kazanoff and Gloria Ko (10-0) defeated all comers, as they kept their perfect record intact by claiming the gold medal. Ko and Kazanoff bested Katie Fitzpatrick and Katie Cooper in straight sets 6-4, 6-2.

St. Clair and her partner, junior Sarah Thron, took home silver medals after bowing to Oak Knoll's Maureen Kelly and Katie Fischal in the finals, 6-4, 6-3.

"We just made too many unforced errors," lamented St. Clair.

Senior Liz Ryu and sophomore Heather Post earned bronze medals following victories in the consolation finals. Ryu dusted Roselle Park's Adrienne Apello 6-0, 6-2, while Post cruised past top-seeded Missy Miller of Governor Livingston 6-4, 6-0.

Westfield was hampered by the draw, which continually pitted Westfield players against Kent Place players in the quarterfinal and semifinal rounds. The two powerhouses essentially neutralized each other while Oak Knoll chalked up (Please turn to page A-11)

Monninger, Nobile throwbacks to old days

By KIP KUDUK
THE RECORD

Without behemoths like Maurice Barnett, Tom Norton, Ron Mannano and Mark Borton plugging and creating holes on the line, Westfield has been forced to make the transition to a smaller, quicker front unit this season.

Realizing this, head coach Ed Tranchina decided to build his interior around the brawn of Ron Nobile and the diligence of Steve Monninger.

Nobile, easily the Blue Devils' largest starter at 6-foot-2, 240 pounds, is the lynch pin of the defense from his left end position. Monninger plays at strong side linebacker and calls the defensive signals.

"They're both throwbacks to the traditional Westfield type of football player," said defensive coordinator Ron Barner. "You couldn't meet two harder working kids on any team. They're both great offensive and defensive players and they're leaders on and off the field."

As a three-year varsity starter,

Nobile's experience and intelligence serve him well at his demanding defensive position.

One of the end's primary duties include keeping the tight end occupied to allow the supporting linebacker free pursuit. Other responsibilities encompass sealing down the tackle's hole, containing the quarterback on any outside movement and constantly watching for reverses and screen passes.

"His position is statless," said Barner. "You need a very tough and intelligent kid to play that position. It's a tough position to play because that's where most teams attack. His mental toughness, persistence and tenacity is what sets him apart."

When constructing a game plan against Westfield, opposing teams are fully cognizant of Nobile's presence. Consequently, they will either double-team him or run to the opposite side. Still, the senior tri-captain has the strength to shed blocks and the speed to pursue quickly.

"He's a standout type player," said Monninger about Nobile. "He's about the best we've got right now. Double-teams don't phase him. He's been on varsity forever. He's got smarts, experience and good eyes for the ball."

Even though he weighs 70 pounds less than Nobile, Monninger remains a terror on both sides of the ball. The senior compensates for his 5-11, 170-pound build with a relentless style and an boundless work ethic.

"He's an extremely aggressive kid," said Barner. "He's the prototype linebacker — aggressive, quick and decisive. He's got a strong personality and he always wants to make an impact and be at the point of attack. He just out-works people. He gives 100 percent in everything he does."

"I don't know if I've ever had a harder working kid than Steve, and that means in practice, in the weight room and in the classroom," said Tranchina, who's been the Blue Devils' varsity coach since 1985. "He's always around the football and if he's not there he's killing himself getting there. He's in there for literally every play and he never stops."

Not surprisingly, both players line up beside each other on the right side of the offensive line. Nobile, a guard, and Monninger, a tackle, work well together and give running backs Erwyn Lyght and John Mask a dependable source for yardage.

"I feel confident he's on my side and that we'll get the job done," said Norton, who was selected by the coaches as Westfield's defensive player of the week against Irvington. "We both know what we're capable of doing."

"We get a good one-two punch with them in there," said Barner. "When we really need one yard we'll go behind Nobile and Monninger because we know they'll get the job done."

Steve Monninger's relentless pursuit and persistent work ethic has made him a favorite with Westfield's coaching staff. The senior linebacker-right guard has harnessed these characteristics to compensate for his relatively small stature.

Ron Nobile (No. 74) uses a combination of strength, speed and intelligence to dominate opposing offenses from his left end position. The senior also starts at right guard on the offensive line, beside right tackle Steve Monninger.

Lady Devils psyched for rematch of Group 4 final

By KIP KUDUK
THE RECORD

After taking care of business this week with victories over East Side, Bridgewater-Raritan and Linden, Westfield's girls' soccer team was finally able to devote its attention to a game they've been waiting for.

Tomorrow afternoon the undefeated Blue Devils (8-0) will travel down Route 1 to meet undefeated, once-tied East Brunswick. The Bears ended Westfield's season last November with a 2-0 victory in the Group 4 finals at Trenton State College.

In the last three meetings between these clubs, EB has outscored Westfield 7-0 and has won all three matches.

"We are really looking forward to this game," said senior tri-captain Christie McGovern. "I think we outplayed them in the state finals last year. We were down in their end most of the time. It's our time to beat them."

"I think the girls should've beaten them in the states last year," said head coach Pete Giordano. "We feel they can beat them. We just have to go out and play. We're going to have to be aggressive to the ball and dig down deep. But, win or lose, we've got to be ready for next week."

The Blue Devils travel to Livingston next weekend and will probably begin the defense of their Union County title shortly thereafter.

"There's life after this game, but it means so much because of the years that have built up to it," said McGovern.

Westfield tuned up for the showdown with a 12-0 pasting of East Side Tuesday. Goal scorers included Jessica Czar (three), Lexi Tourtellotte (two), Suzy Folger, Nancy Schultz, Abby Bomba, Kelly Norton, Melissa Long, Antonia Loffredo and Susan McCloy. Emily Dexter, Gretchen Mansfield and Holly Talbott registered assists.

The Blue Devils were compelled to overcome certain extraneous forces, as well as a formidable Bridgewater-Raritan team, in registering a 1-0 victory Saturday morning at Basileo Field.

Bomba scored the lone goal at the 38-minute mark of the first (Please turn to page A-11)

Midfielder Jim Corcoran (right) fights to get a loose ball in recent action. The senior midfielder, who leads the team in scoring, will lead the Blue Devils (7-1-1) into important matches against Elizabeth (today) and East Brunswick (tomorrow). Westfield, winners of six consecutive matches, has outscored its last five opponents 16-0. Despite the success, head coach George Kapner has yet to see his team perform at a consistently high level for an extended period of time. He hopes this will change as his squad prepares for the county and state tournaments.

SCOREBOARD

WTA TENNIS LADDERS

Senior Men's Singles
In a grueling two-hour and 10-minute marathon which went down to the very last point, defending champion John Dalton defeated 1990 champ Bill Ritter in a tiebreaker, 10-9 (5-3) to retain the Westfield Tennis Association Senior Men's Singles title. With the victory Dalton became a three-time winner, having also won the title in 1988.

Dalton jumped out to a 3-0 lead, only to have Ritter stage a strong comeback through the middle games of the match. Ritter broke Dalton's serve in the 15th game to take a 9-6 lead and gain the opportunity to serve for the match. But, Dalton rallied to tie the score at 9-9, forcing the tiebreaker.

Seeded second entering the playoffs, Dalton beat Saul Dittie and the WTA's most active senior, Dewey Rainville, en route to the finals. Ritter, the No. 5 seed, defeated Bruce Long and six-time champ and top-seed Irwin Bernstein.

The Seniors Ladder is open to men over 48 years of age. The top seven players at the end of the regular season qualified for this year's playoffs. The final standings for 1993 are as follows:

1. John Dalton; 2. Bill Ritter; 3. Irwin Bernstein; 4. Dewey Rainville; 5. Bruce Long; 6. Charles Carl; 7. Saul Dittie; 8. Jim DiClerico; 9. Ed Pinkman; 10. Ted Moss; 11. Dick Haessler; 12. Lowell Doak; 13. Gerard Weiss.

Women's Doubles

The list below represents the final standings for the 1993 season following the playoffs of the Westfield Tennis Association Women's Doubles Ladder.

Ten teams participated in eight or more matches and competed in a playoff. The team of Jean Power and Lee Perry defeated the pairing of Carole Smilie and Irene Lombriker, 10-5, in the finals. Losers were assigned position Nos. 2 through 10, based on their relative standings at the start of the playoffs. Trudy Klingelhof and Carol Thompson were the most active team, playing in 15 matches.

1. Jean Power-Lee Perry; 2. Carole Smilie-Irene Lombriker; 3. Debbie Gatesy-Marcia Talbot; 4. Lillian Louie-Kathy Ostrowski; 5. Trudy Klingelhof-Carol Thompson; 6. Evelyn Matino-Charlotte Clevenger; 7. Joan Dreyer-Missy Horn; 8. Beverly Dittie-Paula Long; 9. Pat Page-Pat Viach; 10. Liela Bernstein-Yvette Goldblatt; 11. Andrea MacRitchie-Eileen Mitchell; 12. Leslie Chananie-Gail Erlich; 13. Maryanne Hickey-Paddy Mollard; 14. Gert Cohen-Anne Latartara.

Mixed Doubles

Congratulations to the team of Carol Valla and Peter Pizzi, who combined to capture the Westfield Tennis Association's mixed doubles championship. The Valla/Pizzi tandem defeated three-time champs Jackie Boyle and Stan Karp in the semifinals, then bested Mary Ann and John Nason in a tiebreaker in one of the most exciting finals, perhaps, in the history of the WTA.

Congratulations are also in order for the team of Van and Ken Inman, who emerged victorious in the second group of eight championship. The final standings are listed below. Have a happy winter and thanks to all for participating.

1. Valla-Pizzi; 2. Nason-Nason; 3. Boyle-Karp; 4. Dugle-Dugle; 5. Goren-Robins; 6. Hay-Hay; 7. Shinneman-Shinneman; 8. Goldberg-Goldberg; 9. Inman-Inman; 10. Allen-Rainville; 11. Bernstein-Bernstein; 12. Hickey-Hickey; 13. Morgan-Lawson; 14. Dome-Blackburn; 15. Rock-Cloner; 16. Evans-Evans; 17. Clevenger-Clevenger; 18. Viach-Viach; 19. Dittie-Dittie; 20. Dugle-Einhorn; 21. Long-Long; 22. Fecht-Fecht; 23. Karnish-Karnish; 24. Herttua-Herttua.

victory after victory.

"There were definite signs of brightness during the tournament, but we just couldn't close things out," said Wildstein. "We had some leads we couldn't hold onto and we made some nice comebacks, but it just didn't happen."

The tournament, along with consecutive matches against Summit, Watchung Hills, Scotch Plains-Fanwood and Columbia next week, should get Westfield primed for the state tournament, which begins in approximately two weeks.

"I think we have a good idea of what's out there," said Wildstein. "We gained a lot of experience and it'll probably help us down the line."

half on an unassisted goal from 23 yards out. Freshman Amy Williams stopped six shots in recording her fifth shutout of the season. The Blue Devils clobbered Linden 7-0 last Thursday behind the scoring of Tourtellotte (two goals), Folger (two), Bomba, Schultz and freshman Kristen Zadourian.

Boys enter big week on six-game win streak

Since Westfield registered a 3-0 shutout of Wayne Hills on opening day, the Blue Devils have mixed solid performances with horrible ones, sometimes in the same game. Even while his club was winning, head coach George Kapner was not satisfied with the inconsistent efforts.

"We weren't playing soccer as a team," said Kapner. "We had a lot of individuals playing different styles. But, I've seen signs of that changing. I think they understand how I expect them to play and what it takes to be a good team, not just a group of good soccer players."

Tuesday's 2-0 overtime triumph over East Side in Newark encouraged Kapner. The Blue Devils (7-1-1) reeled off their sixth straight victory by controlling the flow and holding a territorial advantage throughout. But, despite outshooting the Red Raiders 19-6, the match remained scoreless for 80 minutes.

One minute into the first overtime, junior Dave Schaller received a pass from midfielder Jim Corcoran and drilled a left-footed shot into the lower portion of the net.

Four minutes later, senior Mike Wheeler beat two defenders and was taken down in the box, resulting in a penalty shot which Corcoran converted. As they have been doing for the past five games, all Westfield shutouts, seniors Mike Rosner and Dave Heller each played a half to share in the victory.

On Saturday, Kapner witnessed what he termed "a bad half of soccer" when the Blue Devils hosted Montclair, which eliminated Westfield from the sectional playoffs in the first round last year.

However, following a scoreless first half Westfield started to take control, outshooting the Mounties 8-1. The match remained in doubt until the final whistle. Three minutes before that moment, Schaller scored on a header from close range, converting a pass from senior Jim Pipher.

Behind two goals from Corcoran and Schaller and one from Pipher, Westfield was simply too much for Linden, beating the Tigers 5-0 last Thursday.

Hockey team seeks to hit consistent stride

Following an intense 1-0 loss to rival Cranford last Wednesday, three matches brought three different results to a Westfield hockey team which needs to string together some victories to bolster its confidence for tournament play.

Entering yesterday's match at Somerville, which occurred after press time, the Blue Devils were 3-3-2 and had not played solid back-to-back games against good opponents. Nonetheless, head coach Maggie McFadden sees signs of improvement.

"At the beginning of last year I wasn't sure how we'd do, then we just started clicking," said McFadden. "I'm seeing us play better, but we're certainly not on a roll." The coach had to be encouraged with Westfield's convincing 3-0 shutout of Summit Monday. While the offense struck for two quick goals, the defense did not allow a single shot on goal for the entire game.

team. Almost all of their big plays were broken plays."

Irvington surged ahead, 14-7, 4:40 after halftime when Moss dove over the goal line from four yards. A 46-yard kickoff return by sophomore Brian Ciemniecki gave Westfield the ball in Irvington territory, but the visitors couldn't pick up a first down.

Chris Vogel's punt pinned Irvington at its own 6, where Hankerson broke the Blue Devils' backs.

On third-and-12 from his own 4, Hankerson found Raheem Morris over the middle for 26 yards. On third-and-13 from the Knights' 27, the three-year starter hooked up with Rowland Chavis for a 40-yard gain. Three plays later, Marshman slipped through a few tackles and ran 22 yards into the end zone to apply Irvington with a 22-7 advantage.

The Blue Devils (11-1-1)
In many respects, Westfield accomplished many of the tasks outlined in its game plan against Irvington last week. The Blue Devils got off to an early lead and had the Blue Knights pressing after stifling their offense on first and second down. But, Irvington's sheer athletic ability eventually took over, allowing it register a 22-7 victory.

Not only must Westfield improve upon its solid performance, but it also must play a near flawless game in order to upset Union. The Blue Devils have not scored a touchdown against the Farmers in two years and TB Erwyn Lyght (357 yards on 49 carries, 3 TDs) must be productive if Westfield is to have a chance.

Junior QB Steven Cheek might have had a case of the nerves last week, as he completed only five of 20 passes. Cheek, in collaboration with the offensive line and receivers, must get the aerial attack going to keep the defense honest. FB Brian Ciemniecki will be Cheek's main target. Offensively, TB Bill Sampson, Mike Toth and EA Ron Noble and Matt Palumbo must occupy Union's line so LBs Mike Rottola, Steve Monninger and Andrew DuPuis can step up and make the plays.

The Farmers (2-1)
Union rebounded from its stunning loss to Irvington by thrashing previously undefeated Shabazz 42-0 last Friday. With a more wide open attack which features 6-2, 190-pound OB Ed Collins, the Farmers have averaged 35 points a contest. But, don't be fooled. Head coach Lou Rattino is still a big proponent of Union's traditional power rushing game. HB Marco Caban, who has not missed an extra-point in 15 attempts this season, and FB Jacyn McPhail will seek out holes opened by TB Frank Fabio, Ben Solomon and GS Dan Mingucci and Harold Risher. Union's defense has surrendered only three touchdowns this season, but it was lit up for the big play by Irvington.

How Can Employee Ownership At STS Benefit You?

Jack Appgar of Bound Brook, NJ founded STS in 1958 based on his study of the Lincoln Electric Co., and employee ownership. Lincoln Electric operated on the theory of incentive management whereby each employee shared in the company's ownership and therefore has a vested interest in its success. Jack perceived a high degree of employee indifference to customer service in the tire and automotive service business. Yesss! there was opportunity if management and labor could work together, with a common bond of shared ownership, toward a mutual goal of superior customer service. Thus was born, STS.

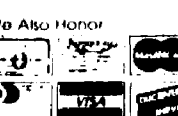

Sharing our success is vital. We like to think of it as building capitalists, and preparing everyone to realize the American Dream. Yes, hard work, perseverance, and sacrifice still pay off in the U.S.A. We count our blessings; there is no better place, anywhere!

Employee Ownership Week

At STS we're celebrating the proven concept of Employee Ownership during the month of October. Come to any of our convenient locations between Monday, October 11th and Saturday, October 16th, and receive an "STS Travel Mug" - FREE! No purchase necessary.

We Also Honor

Just how do our customers benefit from employee ownership at STS you ask? Here's how:

• Trust and Confidence
Customers see the same faces on their visits to STS. Owners don't come and go like hired hands.

• Service Beyond Your Expectation
Owners want you satisfied during and after the sale, so you'll want to come back again.

• STS Career Development Center
We maintain our own 7,000 square foot training center to stay at the cutting edge of automotive service. STS is recognized as an industry leader in the development and certification of automotive technicians.

• Value Received Pricing

Pricing on all products and services at STS is based on that unique combination of price, quality and service. Our formula has stood the test of time, and guarantees you value received.

The STS Promise:
Your car is ready when promised, the work is done right the first time, and you pay only for what you authorize.

If you believe employee/owners who will truly listen to your wants and needs, and make recommendations based on factual findings, and their certified expertise in what you're searching for; then come to STS. YOUTH SPORTS

Shutouts were the order of the day for Westfield when it visited Summit Oct. 3. The Devils emerged from their first road trip with a scoreless tie, a shutout loss and the B team's 10th consecutive victory.

Westfield C 0, Summit C 0
Taking a page from their own playbook — "We can't lost if they can't score," — the mini Devils scrapped their way to a scoreless tie with Summit. Once again outsize at virtually every position, the C team relied on defensive speed and agility to smother Summit's offense and keep the bigger Hilltoppers off the board. Summit drove to the Westfield 10-yard line in the second quarter on the running of Tremayne Fogg and Donald Ruelke. But, linebackers David King and Tim Young rushed the quarterback into forcing an inaccurate fourth down pass which fell incomplete.

With the offense stymied, the defense went back to work in its own territory. Tony Constantino, Glenn Hurley and Matt Daly threw the Summit QB for big losses to snuff out another threat late in the first half.

The second half was more of the same, as Jacob Dupont and Hurley found little running room and could only reach midfield. The defense bent, but did not break, making the big plays at critical times. Cornerback Mike Mroz penetrated the Summit backfield to haul down Summit runners for losses on several occasions and linebacker Young made big tackles to stop the Hilltoppers.

Finally, Hurley's fumble recovery with just over a minute remaining saved the well-earned draw.

Summit A 29, Westfield A 0
This was one the A team would like to forget, at least until Summit travels to Westfield for the season finale. The Hilltoppers dominated play on both sides of the ball. But, even so, the Devils kept the game close before caving in during the final period. Summit got an easy score in the first period, as a blocked punt set up a 1-yard slant off tackle for the opening touchdown. While the offense encountered trouble moving the ball, the defense held sturdy for the rest of the first half and trailed 8-0 at halftime.

Westfield came out of the locker room fired up for the second half and held Summit on its first series. Greg Montgomery made a key tackle and Marcus Thornton pressured the quarterback. When Rasheed Hawks returned the ensuing punt 25 yards to the Summit 35, Westfield seemed to have a new life.

But, Summit's defenders again found little resistance to their rush, chasing Hawks and Bobby Baykowski for losses. On a key third down play, Baykowski's long pass to a wide open Jason Osborne fell incomplete, ending Westfield's best threat and seemingly taking the starch out of the Blue Devils.

Three Summit touchdowns and leg injuries to Baykowski and Osborne in the fourth quarter put an ignominious end to Westfield's day.

Westfield B 21, Summit B 0
The B Devils extended their winning streak to 10 games with another dominating performance, holding the Hilltoppers to 15 yards rushing on the day and wearing down the Hilltoppers with methodical determination.

Tailback Lamont Turner started the Blue Devils on the road to victory with a 30-yard touchdown run through and around the maroon-clad defenders in the first quarter. He followed suit with a 1-yard burst behind the blocking of tight end Greg Giresi to cap a lengthy drive to put Westfield ahead 14-0 at the half.

Quarterback Brandon Doerr and fullback Todd Dowling kept the offense rolling in the second half. Dowling, who rushed for 85 yards, sprinted into the end zone midway through the third quarter, only to have the ball knocked loose. Teammate Ragnar Gearhart fell on the ball to secure the touchdown and Jim Korn's third extra point gave Westfield its final margin of victory.

Doerr passed for 45 yards and found Gearhart, Dowling, Turner and Brian Russo with passes. The defense was highlighted by Pat McMahon's 25-yard interception return, sacks by Joey Saunders and Mike McCue and the all-around hard-hitting play of Kevin McCormack, Norris Brown, Chris Chella and Greg Friesen.

Division IV Boys

The Westfield Warriors earned two heart-throbbing victories this weekend by defeating Howell Township in overtime in State Cup competition on Oct. 2, and by scoring the winning goal in the last two minutes of play against Metuchen-Edison on Oct. 3.

Westfield Warriors 3, Howell 2
The Warriors showed true character in the game against Howell by rallying from behind twice to win 3-2 in overtime. After Howell took an early one-goal lead, striker Greg Odechowalski set up the initial Warriors' score with a hard cross across the mouth of the goal. Striker Cam Anthony was perfectly positioned for the deflection shot toward the opposite goal post. Halfbacks Brad Gillin and Greg Scanlon lead the defensive charge for the balance of the first half by winning loose balls in the middle of the field.

After Howell scored early in the second half, Warrior strikers Nick Gelaster, Kyle Vantovsky and Xander Rothchild began to spread out the Howell defense with control passes. Striker Michael Farley assisted on the second goal by winning the ball in the right corner of the field and delivering a crossing pass to striker Adam Walker, who converted the pass into a quick goal with a hard, low shot into the net.

In overtime, Warriors' goalie Brandon Kape turned in the defensive play of the game. A breakaway by the Howell offense looked bleak for the Warriors until Kape charged out of the goal to make a diving seal of the ball off the foot of the Howell striker.

The Warriors went on the attack for the balance of the overtime period. The winning goal was scored by Warriors' fullback Evan Molloy with a driving shot from the 30-yard line into the upper right hand corner of the net.

Warriors 2, Metuchen-Edison 1
The Sunday afternoon game was filled with lively action on both ends of the field. The Warriors' defense attacked the ball relentlessly throughout the game and denied the opposing club any opportunity to develop plays. Stopper Matt Hall and sweeper Conner Mulvee closed down all passing lanes in the middle of the field, while fullbacks Ryan MacDonald, Evan Molloy and Matt Kape shut down the opposing offensive unit.

Striker Doug Minarik scored the first goal for the Warriors midway through the first half on a cross from Michael Farley. Minarik settled the crossing pass and delivered a perfect shot to the right of the goalie.

After Metuchen-Edison tied the score in the second half, time appeared to be running out on the Warriors' attack. However, with less than two minutes to play Molloy booted a corner kick into the goal area, where Walker headed the ball into the goal for the winning score.

MacDonald and Kape shared goallending duties to lead the Warriors to a 2-1 record.

Division V Boys

Montclair 3, Westfield Cannons 0

In their only State Cup game of the season, the Cannons were slow out of the starting box. The more experienced Montclair team scored two goals in the opening minutes of play. Sweeper Bryan McDermott and Ken Sanocki, John Chiesla and Vincent Shen worked hard on defense to break through Montclair's aggressive offensive line. But the ball didn't cross the midfield line until the 20-minute mark.

From that point, it was a different game. Midfielders Ben Masel, Billy Schultz, and Lawrence Kao worked the ball forward, allowing strikers Ben Montalbano, Kyle Fischer and Michael Krasnor to keep the Cannons in the game offensively. The best chance for a first-half goal came when Chiesla took a corner kick. The ball was worked across the net and promptly knocked in on the half-time whistle. The goal was disallowed.

The Cannons came out strong in the second half, where there was steady back-and-forth play. When Montclair was able to work past fullbacks Andrew Tucker, Danny Kane and Sanocki, keeper Brian Kelly was always ready. The Cannons moved the ball nicely up either side of the field several times through persistent efforts from Tommy Roche and Jay Cook, but a goal was always just out of reach.

Montclair worked the ball upfield after a throw-in. They crossed the ball and shot at the far side of the open net for the final score of the game. Fullback Tucker was named the MVP of the game.

Cannons 8, North Plainfield 0
The Westfield Cannons displayed an outstanding team effort as they blasted North Plainfield. In the opening minutes of the game the offense of Chiesla, Fischer, Michael Krasnor, Schultz, Masel and Kao set the tone for the afternoon by completing calculated angle passes out to the sides and moving the ball swiftly down the field.

The Cannons' first goal was scored at the four-minute mark of the opening half. The strong defensive play of sweeper Bryan McDermott, Shen, Kane, Tucker and Sanocki gave their goalie, Kelly, very little action. The Cannons led 5-0 at the half.

In the second half, continued strong offensive passing was displayed by Montalbano, Paul Cognetti, Jay Cook, Masel and Kelly. Ball control and on-target passing led to yet another Cannon goal as the ball was lofted high into the left corner of the net. Roche was idle in the goal and the coach praised the defensive unit as they allowed North Plainfield no shots on goal. Masel was named MVP of the game.

South Plainfield Impact 3

Westfield Chargers 1

The Chargers' offense, spearheaded by Ted Brown, John Henry Flood, Jack Kane, David Seligman and Matt Simone, kept the play in the opponents' end for the first half. Their passing and the strong foot of stopper, Kieran Miller seldom allowed the ball pass midfield. An excellent save by Seth Flecher in front of his own goal and a good tackle by Richie Rowe kept the hard-fought first half scoreless.

It seemed the Chargers would overcome their disadvantage of having only one substitution available when they came out strong and scored the first goal early in the third quarter. Forward Tim Carroll passed the ball to Gavin Shulman, who scored on a well-placed kick to the corner of the goal. Strong defense, led by Brendan Maher, and some key saves by goalie Paul Johnston kept the game close. However, the fact that each player was forced to play virtually the entire game took its toll when South Plainfield scored goals late in the game.

In-Town League

K-Co. 1, Destroyers 1

Last Sunday, K-Co. and the Destroyers opened up the Boys' In-Town Soccer League season. K-Co.'s front line of John Kotler, Sam Sobel, John Johnnids and Chaz Maffey kept Destroyer goalie Scott Cutro alert, as he turned away shot after shot. Maffey's fine play at left wing set up five corner kicks by Molek Matsurra, but, K-Co could not capitalize with a score.

Center half Tadashi Matsurra, along with Kevin Riley, maintained the midfield to keep the offensive pressure on the Destroyers' net. Late in the second quarter David Trisler, now at center half, fired a direct kick over the out-stretch hands of Cutro, giving K-Co. a 1-0 lead after the first half.

The second half had the Destroyers offense start their assault on the K-Co. goal. Fullbacks Brian Reif, Brian Williams and Danny Egan handled this surge and kept the ball away from goal. During play, a penalty shot was awarded to the Destroyers, which tied the game at 1-1.

Deadlocked, both teams turned up the level of play, as they competed for the go-ahead goal. K-Co.'s defense maintained the Destroyers' attempts to advance, as goalie Brian Kampa displayed fine judgement in net. David Trisler directed midfield advances supported by teammate Adam Brundage. This midfield protection set up K-Co.'s front line.

Lady Devils

opened the scoring 3:10 into the match when she scored off a pass from Kathy Clabby on a penalty corner. Eleven minutes later left inner Jen Schwarzenbek found the mark when Alison Konet and Jane Oslisto set up the play with long hits. Schwarzenbek closed the scoring with her seventh goal of the year six and a half minutes after halftime.

On Saturday the Blue Devils ran the gamut of emotions during a 3-3 tie with Montclair. Following a scoreless first half, senior Erin McCarthy broke the deadlock at the seven-minute mark when she converted feeds from Konet and Schwarzenbek on a penalty corner.

The Mounties responded with a goal a minute later, but, Schwarzenbek answered shortly thereafter. A pair of goals by Heather Savage, the last one coming with seven minutes remaining, put Westfield behind.

Then, the Blue Devils staged a desperate rally, which was capped by Cashman's score off a penalty corner with 2:23 remaining. The Blue Devils actually had a few opportunities to take the lead over the final two minutes, but, they missed the mark on two penalty corners.

"We played well, but, we had mental lapses," said McFadden. "It took a lot of fortitude to come back."

Schwarzenbek scored Westfield's lone goal a minute and a half into last Thursday's match. Unfortunately, the Blue Devils could not follow up on their hot start in losing 3-1 at Mendham.

The previous afternoon Westfield battled Cranford tooth and nail and still came out on the wrong end of a 1-0 verdict. Donna Polito scored off a loose ball into front of the Blue Devils' net in the first half and, despite sending nine shots on goal, Westfield could not come up with the equalizer.

Injury bug hampers

Blue Devil gymnasts

The Blue Devils' gymnastics team resembled the school's football team more than anything else, as a rash of injuries continued hinder the squad's progress.

The week Dana Fahey (bruised ribs) and Dana Fizzell (sore knee) returned to the lineup, Jill Smith complained of back pain before Monday's meet and Megan Clarke cut her thumb while adjusting the uneven bars, sidelining her from any action over the week.

"It's a problem," said head coach Ellen Kovac about the injury bug. "But, you can't do anything about it. I feel we're over the worst of it and I think things will go smoother. I don't think things can get much worse for the rest of the season."

According to Kovac, the unhealthy status of her team probably cost Westfield a victory in Monday's tri-meet against Red Bank Catholic and Middletown North. Red Bank Catholic (5-0) totaled 102.6 points, while Middletown North (3-1) compiled 97.3 points to edge out the Blue Devils (3-3), which accumulated 96.65 points.

Despite a nagging back ailment, Smith registered her high score of the year in winning the vault (8.8) and placing fifth in all-around (33.1). The junior also won the balance beam competition (8.75) and recorded fine scores on the bars (7.55) and floor exercise (8.0).

Fizzell was Westfield's high scorer in the floor exercise (8.6). She also tied for fifth on the vault (8.4) and tied for sixth on the beam (7.65). Brandi Kovac was the Blue Devils' top point scorer on the bars (7.7) and she tied Fizzell in the beam (7.65). Fahey scored well on the bars (7.6) and floor (7.9).

Last Thursday, Westfield topped Union 92.9-84.65. Fizzell's fine effort paced her to a first-place finish in the vault (8.3) and a second-place showing in the floor routine (8.65). Smith was the best all-around gymnast (31.75) with solid scores on the beam (8.1), vault (7.85), bars (7.25) and floor (8.55). Kovac's total score of 30.75 was good enough for third. The junior placed second on bars (7.75) and beam (8.05).

Sophomores Lauren Rosenblatt, Justine Moncrief and junior Alison Gorski saw considerable action at Union.

Holmdel course takes its toll on girls' X-C

By IVY CHARMATZ
THE RECORD

Contending on one of the more difficult courses in the state, the girls' cross country team held their own Saturday at the Shore Coaches Invitational Meet in Holmdel Park.

During the first mile Westfield placed four runners in the top 30, putting it in a good position to qualify for team honors. As fate would have it, two athletes encountered physical problems, forcing the team to miss winning.

Sharon Gambino, who has encountered respiratory problems in the past, suffered an asthma attack after the first mile and a half, preventing her from finishing the race. Karen McGuire, who has proven to be Westfield's leading runner, collapsed at the finish line, hindering her performance.

"Holmdel is a demanding course," said head coach Tom Hornish. "If an athlete is not in good health it has the ability to take its toll. Both Karen and Sharon can attest to that fact, as both of them experienced serious physical problems in the race."

Westfield was still able to come away from the race with a few good finishes. Kellie Goncalves (22:04), Xanda Martins (22:46) and Catherine Engell (25:19), all contributed strong efforts and were able to place within the top third of the field.

"Kellie is one of the top 10 runners Westfield has put on this course. Her time was a full minute ahead of last year's No. 1 runner (Noelle Nolas — 23:02). Catherine also had an excellent race," said Hornish.

Earlier in the week, the Lady Devils greeted Union Catholic's lone cross country runner. McGuire (20:30), Goncalves (20:45), Martins (21:23), and juniors Lisa Citrin (22:10) and Engell (22:40) seized the opportunity to achieve Westfield's best overall run to date.

Westfield obtained another technical victory on Thursday, after meeting Scotch Plains-Fanwood at Warinanco Park. All three Raiders crossed the line around 24:30, easily allowing Westfield to claim the top six finishes.

"We once again demonstrated that we have a powerful front group. We have the opportunity to overthrow Kearny as Watchung Conference champions. This is as good a time as any for us to take it," said Hornish.

Shorthanded boys 7th

in Shore Coaches Meet

Without its top two runners, the boys' cross-country team was unable to fulfill its goals at Saturday's Shore Coaches Invitational Meet in Holmdel Park. Competing without freshman Matt Elmuccio (respiratory problems) and senior Andy Ruggiero, the Blue Devils placed seventh out of 25 schools in the boys' B Division race.

Paul VI won the event, followed by Toms River South and Cedar Ridge. Westfield totaled 204 points.

"We've got a lot of work to do," said head coach John Martin. "We'll concentrate on training and work on getting fast. Over the next two and a half weeks we'll do a lot of hill work because you have to do well on the Holmdel course in the big meets."

Senior Geoff North (18:07) finished 32nd overall and led a tight pack, followed by junior Ted Kilcommons (34th, 18:09), sophomore Lawrence Ho (36th, 18:10) and juniors John O'Brien (49th, 18:30) and Don Combria (53rd, 18:32).

Jim Nicoll (9th, 19:09) sparked the junior varsity's A team to a third place finish. Paul Wengerter (12th, 19:16), Adam Barcan (15th, 19:21), Evan Baldwin (17th, 19:22), Rich Kostro (19:38) and Adam Borchin (28th, 19:42) completed Westfield's fine effort.

The freshman squad, led by Ryan Stefiuk (9th, 12:29) and Abdallah Simaika (21st, 12:42), placed ninth in a field of 40 schools.

Last Thursday Westfield (5-0) remained perfect in its dual meet season by defeating Scotch Plains-Fanwood 21-39 at Tamaques Park. Jason Lilly of the Raiders won the race, but, the Blue Devils filled out the No. 2 through 8 slots.

Kilcommons (17:51), Ho (17:51), O'Brien (17:56), North (18:14), Ryan Stotler (18:42) and Barcan (18:48) provided Westfield with the depth it needed to top the Raiders.

Introductions has moved to WeekendPlus

Look for a newly-designed Introductions, the best way to meet people in Central New Jersey, now in our popular entertainment section, WeekendPlus. Try these two new features:

1. Introductions Infoline: a recorded message with all the information you need to help you place your written ad, record your voice greeting and retrieve your messages. Kristen and Russell answer all your questions when you call 1-800-559-9495 and ask for extension 6200. If you receive a recording that the office is closed, hit * (star button) 6200 on your touch tone phone.

2. Introductions Mailbox: a private mail box you can rent through Forbes Classifieds to receive letters and/or photographs, in addition to voice responses. The introductory rate is only $5.00 a week. Order your mailbox when you place your FREE Introductions ad by calling 1-800-559-9495.

It's hard to talk about resale value when no one's giving them up.

When you build a car right the first time, it ages well. Buy a Saturn today, and in a few years you'll be able to sell it for a good percentage of what you paid for it. Higher, probably, than a lot of imports. Though chances are good you'll never want to give up a Saturn.

James Toyota Outlet holds its grand opening

"In four short months, we have assembled a winning team that has already set new sales and customer satisfaction records," Jim Botsacos told more than 250 guests who gathered to celebrate the recent grand opening of James Toyota Outlet.

"In the next calendar year, we will be among the top 50 Toyota dealerships in the United States — a Board of Governors dealer," he said.

Mr. Botsacos, president of the Toyota Outlet in Raritan Township, spoke with conviction because he is confident that the staff's dedication, the new facility and the quality of the Toyota products that he sells will guarantee success.

Sunday's gala cocktail reception was hosted by Mr. Botsacos and his wife, Laraine.

"We both wanted to do this," he said. "To welcome new customers, as well as leaders of the community and local industry."

Raritan Township committeeman James Durant, joined the party, as did local contractors and media officials.

"It helps to be able to associate a face with the voice on the phone," Mr. Botsacos said of his invitation to the families of staff members. During his remarks, he expressed his gratitude to a number of senior staff members who relocated from Toyota positions in New York to join his new dealership in Raritan Township.

The bright, modern facility seemed even more impressive Sunday when the contractors who were present recalled the difficulties of the original site development.

"What Jim told you about this place having presented a challenge is true," one said. Before constructing the state-of-the-art dealership, he actually had to have thousands of tires excavated from the prime Route 202 location.

Mr. Botsacos was justifiably proud of the result.

"For those who think American craftsmanship has faltered, tell them they should have been here today," he said to rousing applause.

The showroom is designed to be a non-threatening environment in keeping with Mr. Botsacos' "full-disclosure" philosophy of selling. On-premise "information stations" allow customers to read up on everything they want to know about the cars, even Toyota's "inside prices." Consumer buying guides enable customers to compare prices before they negotiate.

Parts and service departments are accessible and welcoming. Customers have also been impressed by the dealership's ecological commitment: the Toyota outlet reclaims the water used for car-washing, and separates oil and discharges before proper disposal.

Mr. Botsacos is confident of a successful future in Raritan Township. Based on the success of the dealership in the four short months since he opened it, he should be.

Barry Moore, left, general manager of Toyota New York Region, presented James Botsacos, president of Toyota Outlet, with a Japanese Kabuto helmet as worn by Samurai warriors over 800 years ago. The helmet is symbolic of strength and integrity.

West Point Glee Club marches into Metuchen

U.S. Military Academy's finest voices to visit several area locations for benefit performances this weekend

By ELEANOR BARRETT
WeekendPlus Writer

Imagine rising each morning at 5:30 a.m. Okay, so maybe there is large section of society to which early rising is a common thing. I don't happen to subscribe to that philosophy, but get this. Throw into the scenario daily military inspection of your room, maintaining a high grade-point average in six difficult college courses, daily rain-or-shine military drills and rigorous physical education and military science classes. And after all that's through, try fitting in several hours per week of singing practice as a member of one of the world's premier choral groups: The West Point Glee Club. Cadets at the United States Military Academy, West Point, N.Y. do all of the above and they do it well. The club, which has performed in every state of the Union, in some of the most world's most famous concert halls and before national and international dignitaries, is making its way into the Weekend Plus readership area this month with one of its scheduled performances to take place at Metuchen High School, 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 10 (admission $15 adults, $10 seniors/students; tickets available at Metuchen Public Library or by calling 908-548-3444). Other engagements this weekend include Union County Arts Center in Rahway (Friday, 8 p.m., tickets $10; call 908-499-0441); Six Flags Great Adventure, Jackson (Saturday, noon, free w/admission); the Trenton War Memorial Auditorium (Saturday, 7 p.m.) and Metuchen's Home for Disabled Soldiers in Menlo Park (Monday, noon). While glee club membership numbers near 100, the group scheduled to perform here is made up of approximately 55 cadets whose 80-minute repertoire includes patriotic songs, show tunes and spiritual songs -- all sung in four-part harmony under the direction of Lt. Col. Frank Dubuy. Cadet First Class Chris Holm, 21, of Texas City, Texas -- the cadet in charge of the glee club venture -- said one of the best things about traveling and performing with the club are the opportunities afforded he and his peers in seeing new places and in meeting new people. Having been a member of the club since his first year at West Point, Holm said although membership in the organization requires one to juggle his or her time quite a bit, he does it because he loves to sing and has good friends who are also members. According to Captain Laurel Hummel, an assistant professor in the Department of Geology and Environmental Engineering and Officer in charge of the Glee Club, only 40 percent of those auditioning for the glee club actually become members. One of the reasons for the competitive nature of gaining membership is the nature of the club itself. Given West Point cadets -- especially those in their first and second year -- year round do not have many opportunities to leave the campus, Glee Club membership offers a chance to travel and mix with a society much different than their own. "Some of the best times we have are after the concerts when we answer questions about West Point and interact with leaders of the community," said Hummel. "It's a chance for us to get exposure to the rest of the world." This academic year alone the club has scheduled 12 trips, most to different states. In Chris' experience as a member of the club, for example, he has spent spring break with the club in Texas and last year in Georgia. Hummel said she greatly admires the Glee Club members and sees them, and all cadets at the academy, as "all that's good about America."

"This is what the future of our country is about. Young people, sure about themselves, willing to serve their country. They are sincere and energetic. They're the best that we have to offer," said Hummel. Club members receive no payment or credit and while on the road, the concert sponsor arranges for food and shelter. Most times, as in the case of the Metuchen concert, the youth will stay at the homes of host families. "Cadets rarely get to leave that's why it's very important when were on trips get to stay in the home of a host family," Hummel said of home-cooked meals and basic family interaction experienced by the cadets at the host homes. Bill Nann, an officer at Nann Real Estate and Insurance Agency in Metuchen is the man behind the West Point Glee Club's upcoming bookings in New Jersey. He initiated the effort to get the club in town out of a desire to raise money for the Metuchen Memorial Park Commission. Beginning his quest to garner a booking from the club soon after Memorial Day this year, Nann's initial wish was to organize a golf tournament and to schedule some type of military band to play at a banquet following the event. "One of the ideas was to have entertainment during the banquet. I thought of the West Point Glee Club but didn't know how to get them to come here," said Nann. "I know how the President does it, but how does Metuchen get booked?"

Deciding rather than to mail a letter, Nann drove up to the academy and was pleasantly surprised at what he found, he said. Meeting with Hummel, the two worked out a plan to have the cadets come to Metuchen which would include several other engagements at which the club could sing while in the area. "For her to ask 55 cadets to give up their three-day weekend just to do one concert would be asking the cadets a great deal," said Nann. So after many phone calls and several weeks, Nann was able to garner engagements for the cadets and the deal was set. The Metuchen Memorial Park Commission seeks raise $100,000 over the next few years in an effort to complete renovation of the park.

Glee Club's history dates back almost 200 years

The West Point Cadet Glee Club has become one of the most famous organizations of the United States Military Academy since its establishment 85 years ago. With its roots firmly embedded in the traditions of the Corps of Cadets, the club was first organized in 1903, holding its first concert in March of that year at the Military Academy. Legend has it, secular singing in one form or another has been in evidence at West Point since the Academy's founding in 1802 and that many warm, robust songfests were held at Benny Havens' Tavern, a popular -- though off-limits -- gathering spot of cadets in the early 1800s. The glee club became a permanent activity at the academy in September 1933 when it boasted 25 singers. From these humble origins the club has grown to encompass a total membership of approximately 100 male and female cadets. Led since 1990 by Lt. Col. Frank G. Dubuy, the club travels extensively and enjoys a repertoire of about 20 songs ranging from the patriotic to the spiritual to the Broadway showstopper. Dubuy is the 20th leader in a long line of professional musicians to head the Army's oldest musical unit. His military career has included assignments as Executive Officer and Director of the Soldiers Chorus of The U.S. Army Band; Staff Bands Officer in the Office of Chief, Army Bands and Assistant Protocol Officer for the U.S. Forces Korea and Eighth Army. The world renown club has performed in some of the most famous concert halls in the country including Carnegie Hall, Lincoln Center, the Hollywood Bowl and Boston's Symphony Hall. Some of the most memorable "gigs" could probably be pegged at the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, Walt Disney World and Disney Land and at several presidential inaugurations. As famous as the stages they have played on, perhaps more, are the performers who have shared the stage with the glee club. Among those sharing the spotlight in the past have been Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Dinah Shore and Roberta Peters.

A magical partnership

'Blink' to perform two family shows at Union County Arts Center

By WILLIAM WESTHOVEN
WeekendPlus Editor

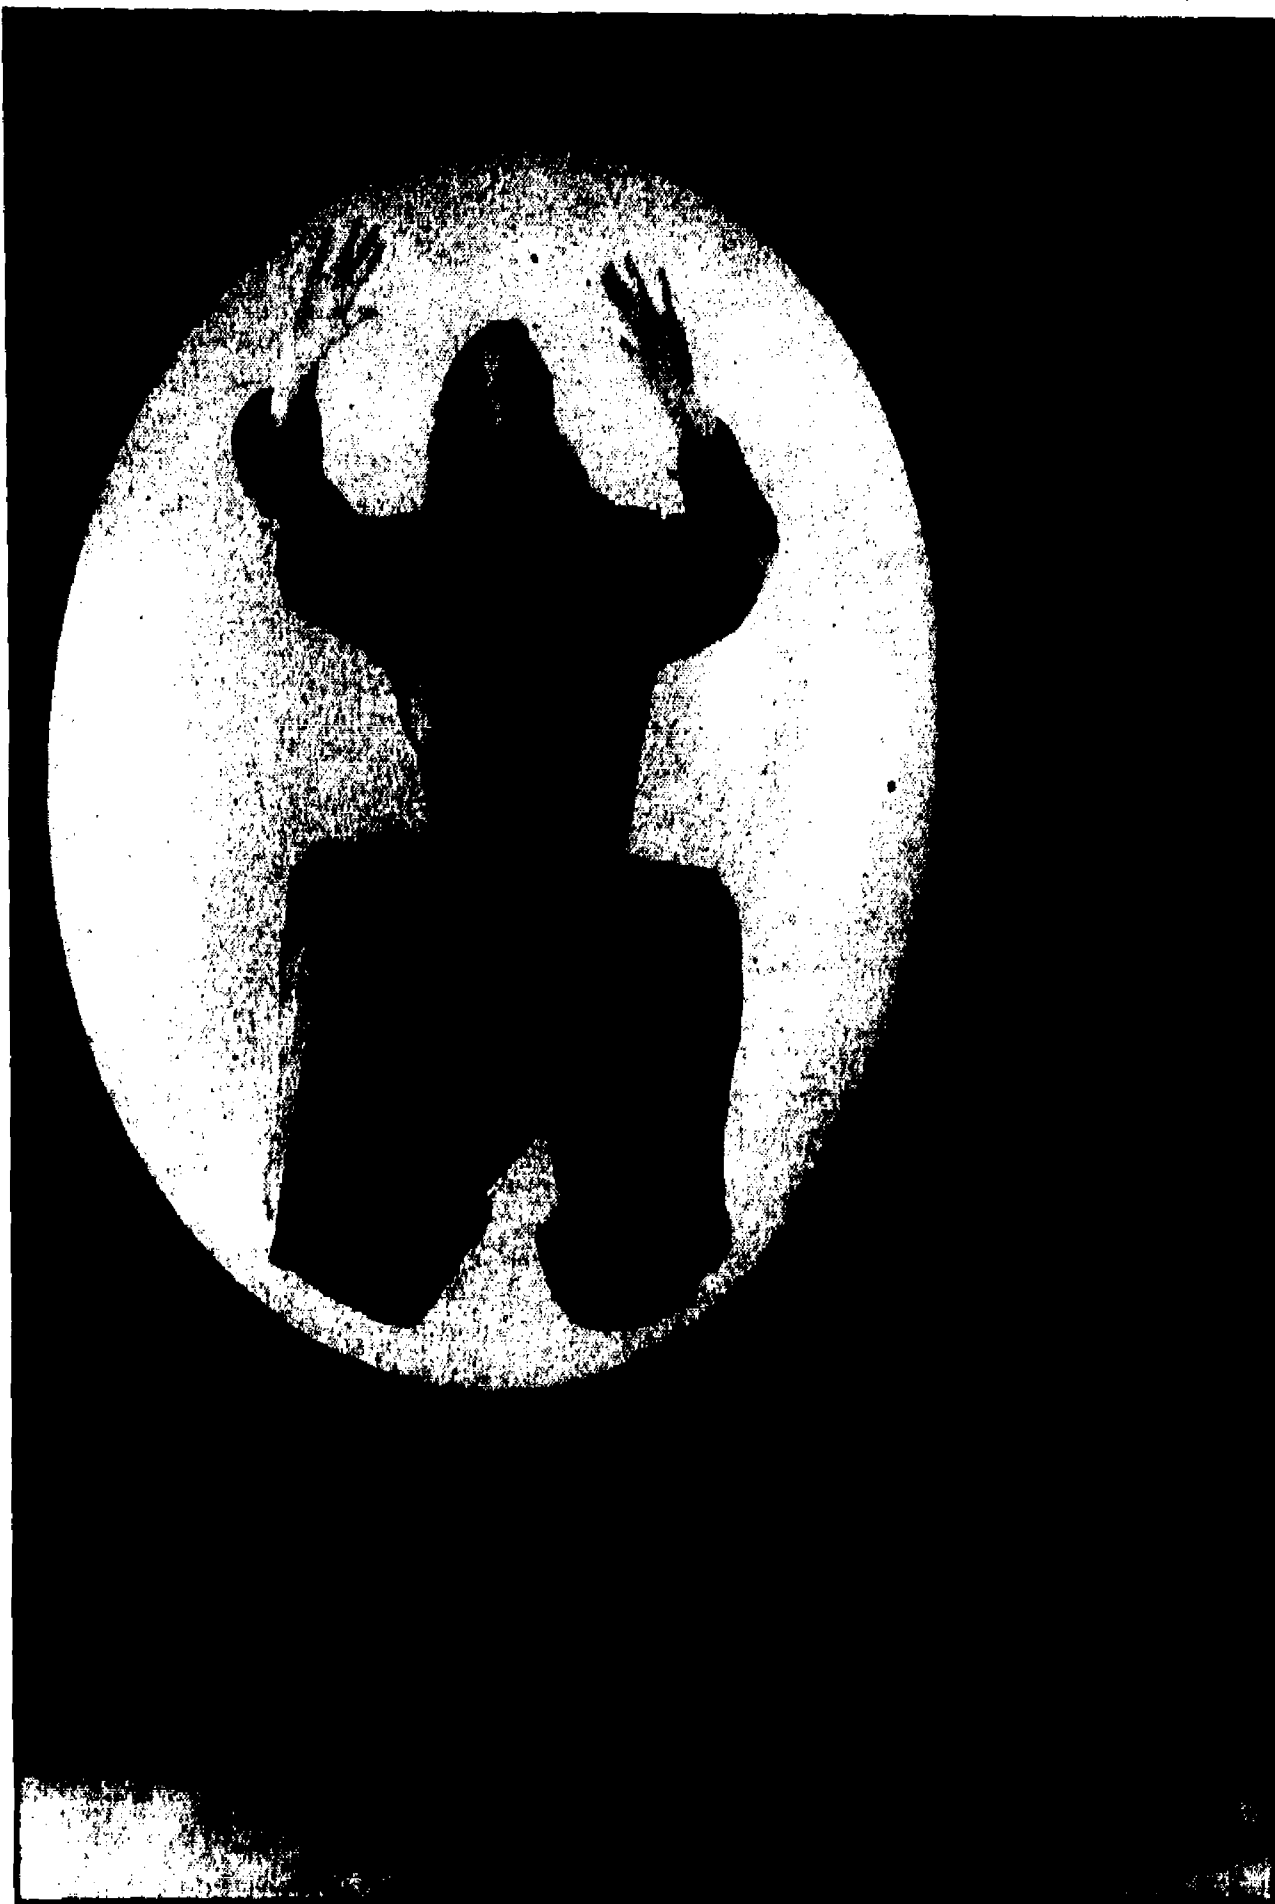

Quite literally, the duo of Peter Samelson and Hal Meyers (aka "Dameon") will make magic together this weekend on the stage of the Union County Arts Center.

Known collectively as Blink, these two New Jersey residents, who will perform Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m., are the exception to the rule — magicians that work together. And because they are willing to do so, the audience will see a kind of magic show they've probably never seen before.

"It's extremely rare that you will actually find two performing magicians actually sharing a stage," said Samelson. "What we're doing is combining our different approaches and our different skills to create a very unique and very rich theater performance."

"Penn and Teller — Teller is actually the magician, and Penn is not," said Dameon, who, like Samelson, lives in Glen Ridge. "Sigfreid and Roy? Sigfreid is an actual magician, Roy is not. We are probably the first to really work together onstage, developing material together."

Both are theatrically trained, too, which

Peter Samelson manipulates partner Dameon during a new illusion the two magicians, known collectively as "Blink," will perform Saturday and Sunday at the Union County Arts Center in Rahway.

not only helps them place the show above their individual egos, but also allows them to present their talents in a way that will entertain the audience more than the average magician.

It also permits them to perform elaborate illusions that neither can do by themselves, an ability that has earned them work in industrial shows, interactive media and a couple of appearances on Good Day New York, the morning show seen daily on WNYW Channel 5. They also work on commercials, including a Kraft salad dressing TV spot currently running nationwide.

"Most illusions require two people," said Samelson. "But generally what happens is that the magician is generally is cutting someone on half or being cut in half. This way, we can do things where one person takes advantage of the other, and then there's a switch."

The synergy between the two magicians is enhanced by music, live animals, the requisite smoke, flashes and fire, and, of course, audience participation.

And, they both stress, their show can be tailored for adult, child or family audiences. Even the Saturday night and Sunday afternoon shows will be altered slightly, with Sunday's matinee being the most appropriate for younger children, although both shows are geared towards the entire family.

"It's a show for kids of all ages," assured Dameon. "We gear it to your imagination, and everyone has an imagination."

BLINK Saturday (8 p.m.; tickets $12.50-8) and Sunday (3 p.m.; all tickets $6) at the Union County Arts Center, 1601 Irving St., Rahway. (908) 499-8226.

Craft shows feature music, art and one with an Italian twist

The Year of American Craft shows no sign of slowing down this weekend as several locations around New Jersey host artists and crafters displaying their wares in a festival atmosphere.

One festival with a twist — make that a macaroni twist — is the Cranford Italian Festival Sunday (11 a.m.-6 p.m.) in Cranford's downtown shopping district centered around Eastman and Warner Plazas.

Art and craft vendors will be on hand, but the biggest attraction is expected to be the Mama Mia Italian Cook Off Recipe Contest, which is open to all fairgoers. Of course, they'll be plenty of Italian dishes to sample, and there'll be entertainment as well, including pony rides, face-painting and moonwalks for children along with a variety of musical performers.

Perhaps the most ambitious of the upcoming festivals would appear to be the Morristown CraftMarket, which will be held Friday-Sunday at the National Guard Armory on Western Avenue. Not only are their 150 exhibitors scheduled to participate, but the show's sneak preview Friday night (6-10 p.m.) will include a performance by jazz pianist Rio Clemente.

Among the exhibitors will be Nina Gelardi of Belle Mead, who will offer leather goods, including belts with ceramic and metal buckles.

Academy Award-winning actress and New Jersey resident Olympia Dukakis is serving a spokesperson for the CraftMarket, proceeds of which will benefit several educational and children's charities, including the Morristown

Memorial Hospital Robert Ward Pediatric Trauma Center and Neo-Natal Center.

Admission is $10 for all three days, or $6 for Saturday and Sunday. Senior Citizens will receive a $1 discount, and there's plenty of free parking. For more information, call (201) 631-6277.

An even larger selection of crafts will be offered at the Flemington Crafts Festival, which claims to be the state's largest juried crafts event and features 270 screened exhibitors.

Admission for the show, which will take place Saturday and Sunday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m., at the Flemington Fairgrounds on Route 31 (one mile north of the Flemington circle), is $4, with children under 12 admitted free. Many of the exhibitors are under cover, so rain should not deter the crowd from showing up for this popular annual event.

For more information, call (607) 265-3230.

The "Year of American Craft," incidentally, is the brainchild of the American Craft Council, which will honor event coordinator Hortense Green of Westfield during a reception Sunday at the New Jersey Center for the Visual Arts, 68 Elm Street, Summit. The reception, scheduled to take place 2-4 p.m., is open to the public, which is also encouraged to visit the Center's two current art exhibits: "The Joyful Spirit: Three Generations of Haitian Art," and "In Praise of Hands."

For more information, call (908) 558-2550.

Handbags and other leather goods by crafter Nina Gelardi of Belle Mead are available Friday-Sunday at the Morristown CraftMarket.

The good old 'Daze'

Seventies revisited in Linklater's low-budget 'Dazed and Confused'

By JEFFREY COHEN
WeekendPlus Film Critic

The 1970s are a much-maligned decade. Those who came of age in the '60s feel that they have a lock on rebellion (despite the fact that most of the significant rebellion associated with the '60s actually occurred in the early '70s), those younger types who were bullish on the '80s think it was all about leisure suits and really bad sideburns.

For those of us who actually came of age (that is, went to high school and college) in the '70s, there has been a sense of lacking. Others had their salad days immortalized in American Graffiti and brilliantly in Diner, or even on TV in Happy Days for those with no sense of reality. But we have been regularly ridiculed, forced to account for disco (despite the fact that Saturday Night Fever didn't come out until 1977) and bell-bottom jeans. Nobody celebrates the '70s.

Until now. Richard Linklater, following his art house debut as writer and director with Slacker, has now performed the same double-duty on Dazed and Confused, and in it, he tries to show everyone who wasn't there what it was like to be young and alive in the mid-'70s. Pity he falls into many of the same clichéd traps into which less-talented predecessors have tumbled.

Linklater follows a group of high school students on the last day of school in 1976, presumably in Texas, although nobody even attempts a Texas accent. They drive around, go to beer blasts, smoke a lot of dope and flirt shamelessly with each other, although virtually nothing happens at all for the course of the film.

He's gotten the look right, too. Linklater's eye for detail gives us virtually every "type" of '70s kid: the nerdy political radical with his frameless glasses and center-parted hair; the "cool" jock, with the massive forelock and football jacket; the "head" with a cannabis-leaf T-shirt, and so on. The decorations in the bedrooms are dead-on, even if a little too dead-on.

The problem is, there's very little familiar beyond the formulaic one: notes the characters are allowed. Those of us who were there can tell you that not everybody was getting high in high school; some of us didn't and were still accepted. And there's a lot of business about some form of hazing that goes on after high school lets out, where next year's seniors go around terrorizing next year's freshmen and paddling them brutally in the name of, um, fun, I guess.

This is a movie that's desperate to be American Graffiti. Lots of cars are driven aimlessly around, lots of beer is drunk, lots of pranks are pulled, lots of hormones are bubbling to the surface.

And there are, in fact, many things good about Dazed and Confused. The performances, with one or two very minor exceptions, are very impressive. The dialogue, in most cases, rings true (although too many brainy characters seem to be dropping in from another movie; they're so overdramatic).

There is exactly one moral decision that needs to be made, and it's not exactly what you'd call a world-stopper. The starting quarterback for next year's football team has been handed a paper to sign that (despite the fact he indulges just as much as his teammates, who have already signed) he will never touch drugs or alcohol while on the team. Everybody knows he's going to touch drugs and alcohol; the only question is whether he's going to admit it. We're supposed to find it all kinds of heroic that he doesn't want to sign based on his belief in his principles. Uh-huh.

A word should be said about the music. We're supposed to revive the '70s with such classics as Alice Cooper's "School's Out," cuts from Frampton Comes Alive, Bob Dylan's "Hurricane" (perhaps his worst song) and Seals and Crofts' "Summer Breeze." And there are some people who believe great music didn't come out of this decade.

Finally, Dazed and Confused leaves we '70s survivors in search of our American Graffiti. Many of us won't identify with the characters that are supposed to symbolize us all and that's where this movie's major problem can be found.

Video rewind

'Remote'

Remote, which has been on video almost for a decade or more now, is a half-hour Flame Trees special involving a kid who tells a couple of teenagers in a near-to-be condemned house with the help of some remote-control toys. "Your kids might like it; what do I know."

'The Pickle'

The Pickle is the latest in Paul Mazursky's slide away from the style that made him a respected director. Here, trying as hard as he can to create a satire like The Player, he completely misses the point. A sell-out director making a perfectly dreadful movie that the audience just loves at the end — don't insult us, please, Paul. We didn't love this one.

Midwest melodrama

Absorbing 'Flyin' West' is undermined by distracting subplot

By WILLIAM WESTHOVEN
WeekendPlus Editor

There's no mistaking that Flyin' West, now playing at Crossroads Theatre in New Brunswick, has a forceful impact on its audience. The question is whether the impact is overshadowing the message.

Drawn with broad strokes from the little-known history of African-American pioneers who created new communities in the untamed Midwest following the Civil War, playwright Pearl Cleage's moving saga (which takes place in 1898) gives us a sense of what it was like for former slaves who endured harsh winters and isolation in order to make a life for themselves.

And through the central characters, a makeshift family consisting of two sisters, a half-sister and a wise matriarch, you also learn how the largely-female population of homesteaders learned to protect themselves, and their land, long before the women were allowed to vote, let alone entertain thoughts of feminism.

But the lesson does not come without a price — males that are more caricatures than characters undermine the credibility of the story and contribute to distracting you from what is really important.

Now perhaps this is a defensive stance by a male critic reviewing a play by a clearly feminist author, but in Cleage's West, there are only two men. One is so beneath contempt, his very presence instilled a mob mentality amongst members of the audience, who, unfortunately, felt justified in imploring the ladies on stage to kill him, among other comments screamed out loud during much of the production. The second, it seems, was fashioned merely to offset the other, and despite hints of his own slave background (it was made clear male slave babies were taken from their mothers) and a violent past, is warm, shy and mannered to a fault because his mother taught him to be that way.

That being said, Flyin' West still manages to captivate, mainly due to some powerful performances, including Tony-winner Trazana Beverly as Sophie, the rifle-totin', pipe-smokin' half-sister of Minnie and Fannie, two cultured young ladies who look up to her like a mother and father wrapped into one feisty package. Sophie is "so mean, go man will have her," according to the elderly Miss Leah (Olivia Cole in a touching, genuine performance), who educates these post-emancipation "children" on the horror of slavery through her own harrowing experiences.

There, along with another plot line about white "speculators" looking to buy or con the homesteaders out of their land, is more than enough plot to base three or four plays on, but those worthy thoughts are abandoned in favor of manipulative melodrama with the appearance of "baby sister" Minnie, back from London with her dandy of a husband, Frank (played with snobbish aplomb by Count Stovall). At first, Frank, a mulatto who delights in passing himself off as a white (and at odds with his African-American heritage), is little more than a boor, but soon, his true colors are revealed: he's abusing Minnie, both physically and mentally, and his increasingly-offensive behavior sparks a series of startling confrontations.

Sure, it's satisfying to root for Frank's come-uppance, but he's written in a way that he's so unsympathetic, much of the audience missed the forest through the trees; they wanted Frank to fry so badly, revenge — and not the triumph of the women's spirit — became the priority.

Perhaps at another stop along the way, the character of Frank (it's a credit to Stovall that he was booed lustily even during the curtain call) will be toned down enough to allow Flyin' West to make its important points before it turns into The Burning Bed. In the meantime, there's much to appreciate here. Cole's lyrical monologues of life on the plantation hushed even the most vocal members of the audience, and Beverly is a revelation; she's as convincingly rustic and detailed as the set (an extraordinary design by Daniel Proett that's an artwork in itself) she stalks like a junkyard dog protecting her lot.

But it could have been so much more.

FLYIN' WEST through Oct. 20 at Crossroads Theatre, 7 Livingston Ave., New Brunswick. Tickets $30-$20. (908) 249-5581.

The Bennington Marionettes will perform The Sorcerer's Circus Sunday at Watchung Hills High School.

Bennington Marionettes 'Circus' Sunday at Watchung Hills H.S.

After being left out in the cold by the "Blizzard of '93" last March, the world-famous Bennington Marionettes will perform Sunday (2:30 p.m.) at Watchung High School, 108 Stirling Road, Warren.

Enhanced by artistic scenery, costumes and special illusions, the Marionettes dramatize classic works of literature, music and dance. Sunday, they will present The Sorcerer's Circus, a turn-of-the-century "circus" featuring a magic show performed by the puppets themselves and music by Dmitri Kablevsky.

Tickets for the show, which is sponsored by the Suburban Branch-Jewish Federation of Central Jersey in association with the Jewish Federation of Somerset, Hunterdon and Warren Counties, are $8 each. Call (908) 647-0232 or (908) 725-6994.

DINING

Old World flavor

Aranka's surrounds its visitors with the charm of Hungary

By MICKI PULSINELLI
Culinary Correspondent

There is more to dining at Aranka's than just experiencing Hungarian food. What we have here is that friendly Old World charm of Europe right in our own back yard.

The walls are covered with oil paintings of the Hungarian countryside and needlepoint artwork by the mother of the owner. There are hand-painted plates (nothing mass-produced), each from a different region of the country. European lace curtains on all the windows complete the picture.

Daughter and restaurant manager Eleanor Reiss visits each table to welcome everyone to their restaurant as if they were eating in her home. And that home feeling is evident by the family pictures on the fireplace mantle.

The owners, Aranka and Andrew Dohanyos, do all of the cooking, while Eleanor manages the dining room. And just like the hand-painted plates, none of the food is mass-produced. Everything, including the desserts made with fresh apples and other fruits, is home made.

Except for a few American entrees such as filet mignon, shrimp and broiled flounder, most of the food is Hungarian. Appetizers include Hungarian cabbage noodles ($4.95), stuffed cabbage ($2.50), breaded deep-fried chicken livers ($4.95) and Hungarian's kolbas (a homemade sausage served with a horseradish sauce) for $5.95.

The menu has 18 entrees from $11.95 for chicken liver with rice to $17.95 for filet mignon or crispy roast duck. All entrees are served with freshly-baked bread, and a choice of cucumber salad or tossed salad.

Some of the Hungarian dishes familiar to Americans are the goulash ($14.50), beef Stroganoff ($15.50), and stuffed cabbage ($12.95). Others, not so familiar are the Transylvanian goulash (made with pork and sauerkraut ($13.50), Leeso (a spicy combination of fresh peppers, onions, tomatoes and Hungarian kolbas served on a bed of rice for $12.50) and gypsy pecsénye (pork baked in a brown gravy and served with dumplings and sour cream sauce) for $16.50.

We invited another couple to dine with us. One had first hand experience with Hungarian food when she was growing up. Her mother was of Hungarian descent.

We tried three different appetizers — the cabbage noodle, breaded deep-fried chicken livers and the kolbas. The cabbage noodles, pasta with shredded cabbage and black pepper, were hot and plentiful.

The chicken livers, crisp and mild tasting, were served with a delicious horseradish sauce. I had the kolbas, also served with the same horseradish sauce.

Our thinly-sliced cucumber salad, served in a vinegar sauce and flavored with paprika, was as different as the rest of the food.

We tried four different entrees. Two were more traditional, like the Hungarian goulash and the beef Stroganoff. The beef in both of these dishes were tender and delicious. The light dumplings, served with a sour cream sauce, were wonderful. I lost count of the calories.

The Transylvanian Goulash is served with cubes of pork instead of beef and sauerkraut rather than the buttered noodles. My husband had the gypsy pecsénye. I knew he would love this because the pork is baked in a brown sauce (brown sauces are his favorites). The dumplings with sour cream were an added treat for him.

When our waitress brought over the dessert tray and told us everything was made there, I couldn't resist. I can't remember the last time I ordered dessert for myself, and finished all of it!

I had the strawberry walnut cake, which tasted as good as it looked. One of our friends had the apple strudel (fresh apples), and my husband had the seven layer cake (I can't remember the Hungarian name for it), with a hard caramel topping.

The food at Aranka's is different than most restaurants. How many other restaurants can you name that serves Hungarian food? I can't think of any, yet I know there are probably several in New Brunswick with its large Hungarian population.

But I did know about Aranka's (they began in New Brunswick in 1969). Its reputation is well founded. If you're in the mood for a different dining experience take a trip to Franklin Park and experience home made Hungarian food a la Aranka's.

Wine with Reason Marilyn Cormack

"If you don't like a wine, it doesn't mean that it's bad. It means you don't prefer the wine," he began. "We have a saying in my country, 'C'est La Vie!'"

Alain Masson, sales director for Chimney Rock Vineyards, spoke with great enthusiasm at a tasting last week of Napa Valley Wines. Being born in the midst of French vineyards, literally, Mr. Masson was able to inform all attending on the differences between French and California wines.

"The common denominator in the wines we taste tonight is Fruit. In California we get so much sun that the grapes have a full fruity character," he explained. Mr. Masson also proved that vineyards in his niche, the Stag's Leap District of Napa, have no problem maintaining good acidity to balance all the fruit.

During the tasting we tried the 1989 Clos Du Val Napa Cabernet and the 1989 Clos Du Val Stag's Leap Cabernet. The Napa was garnet color with blackberry and pepper flavors, and a healthy pose of tannins. The Stag's Leap was a jeweled red, filled with ripe red raspberries, smokey, very round and structured. What a difference 6 feet of land makes.

We also tasted a vertical of Chimney Rock Cabernets. The 1986 was showing some age, but had all the flavors you love in older wines; dried current, tar, smoke — it was velvet. The '87 and '88 showed signs of becoming this wonderful as well, but were both drinking marvelously now. The 1988 especially was loaded with berry flavors and had subtle, softened tannins. The Chimney Rock '89 is a keeper, people! I'm getting a case.

The problem was that I couldn't find any wines I didn't like. Oh, well. Like Alain says, "C'est La Vie!" Enjoy!

MAGIC MAN
This 52 year old- attractive, separated but available, JWM is a self-employed professional in search of a petite, sexy lady who is MUCH younger than I am for a long term relationship. I am a non-smoker, very light social drinker, with multiple interests ranging from modern novels to fast cars to Vegas. I raised two girls who are married and have their own lives. I miss having youngsters (not adult children) around the house, so if you have kids, that's a plus. Hopefully, you are a woman who can make decisions, understands the pressures of business, is impulsive, tender, has a good sense of humor, can even laugh at herself, and is willing to do something at the drop of a hat. And hopefully, you are a woman who needs both to give and receive lots of affection. If you can be introspective and thoughtful, if you like to rough-house one minute and cuddle the next, if you aren't afraid of meaningful emotion or commitment, and if you are willing to try to work out your hangups (we all have them), give me a call. Please respond to ext. 4471

NEW TO SOMERSET COUNTY
44, divorced white female, healthcare professional, busy working on my degree at a weekend college, finally has the summer off. Haven't had a chance to make new friends. I'd like to get back to what I enjoy, natural living, outdoors activities like biking, hiking, long walks, rides in the country and exploring, all types of music from Reggae to Blue Grass, getting into shape, but most importantly good and funny conversations and friendship. I have an adventurous nature and I'm open to learning, sharing and having fun and taking risks (I just returned from a white water rafting trip in WV with my kids. What a blast although I was a little scared). I appreciate the absurdities that life can offer and can laugh at myself.(why else would I write this personal). I'd love to meet a patient man with similar interests who wants to explore (the Bridges of Madison County) with me this summer. Please respond to ext. 4479.

NICE GUY
I enjoy the simple things in life; ice cream cones, movies, good conversation, good books, great dinners, dancing and good laughs. I'm a good looking, prof., well educated, DBM w/ no children. I am 40 (look 33), 5'8 tall, 165 lbs. I am intelligent and articulate, and have a healthy sense of humor. I am also a gentleman w/ solid values, which include sincerity, honesty, and consideration of other's feelings. I have many interests, which include volleyball, bowling, tennis, composing music and playing guitar and keyboard. I also enjoy sci-fi, and occasionally going to movies, dancing and dining out, as well as spending time at home w/ good friends and good conversation.
The Renaissance woman I'm looking for should have similar values and interests and be bet. 27 and 43. She should be emotionally and financially secure, down to earth, have a pleasant disposition and appearance, healthy self esteem, intelligent, not into head trips, and as comfortable being a lady as well as a tomboy. Musically inclined a plus. If you fit this description, (are not intimidated by a multi-faceted man) and are looking for friendship and perhaps more, please give me a call. Race is unimportant. No smokers, heavy drinkers or drug users, please. Ext. 4603

ROMANTIC— SWM, Mid-twenties, 5'10", 160 lbs., Love to dance, but don't like meeting people who aren't themselves in the clubs. Interests are limitless because I enjoy trying new things. I'm hoping to find a SWF in her mid-twenties, who is witty, outgoing, & enjoys living life. Please reply ext.4480.

Make your townhome a Castle

Castle Pointe community opens new luxury section townhome communities can offer the range of choices to be found at Castle Pointe, which is officially opening its second section.

PISCATAWAY — Few luxury purchasers."

The community reflects the talents of two prominent Garden State builders — Harvey Caplan and Donald Witmond. Purchasers can select a floorplan from four two- and three-bedroom, two-and-a-half bath models that were designed with attention to quality, styling and value, said sales coordinator James Mancuso.

"Harvey Caplan and Donald Witmond have each spent the last three decades creating outstanding residences throughout Northern New Jersey that feature both quality construction and a pricing structure that represents real value for the homebuyer," Mr. Mancuso said. "These qualities, a great Piscataway location, and on-site recreational facilities are making Castle Pointe the townhome community of choice for many discriminating Professionals in search of an alternative to the traditional home have already made Castle Pointe popular, he said. The townhomes offer up to 1,900 square feet of living space, and boast many amenities usually reserved for luxury detached single-family residences, such as full garages and central air conditioning. Missing, however, is the routine maintenance work usually associated with home ownership.

"Castle Pointe is also one of the lowest density townhome communities in the state, featuring just five homes per acre," Mr. Mancuso said. "This has proven to be especially appealing for those who desire more privacy than a townhome development usually provides."

The townhomes at Castle Pointe, which are priced from $134,900, also offer open flowing floorplans designed to accommodate the needs and lifestyle requirements of today's purchasers. While floorplans vary from model to model, all the homes offer formal living rooms and dining rooms, kitchens with deluxe wood or laminate cabinetry and Whirlpool appliances, and spacious bedrooms, including a master bedroom suite accented by double or walk-in closets and a private master bath. Many of the master baths feature luxurious platform tubs and separate shower areas. Vaulted ceilings are standard in some master bedrooms, as well.

Unlike many townhomes available in today's real estate market, amenities such as family rooms with available fireplaces and full size/full height basements, are also available in select Castle Pointe models. Traditional exteriors are accented by such popular architectural elements as decorative trim, columns, and bay and palladian windows, contributing to the community's overall appeal.

All townhomes at Castle Pointe offer economical forced-air gas heat and central air conditioning, and other energy-saving features, such as 50-gallon gas hot water heaters. All homes also offer abundant closet space, with many offering outdoor storage areas.

With all routine exterior maintenance work take care of, Castle Pointe residents can enjoy the community's recreational facilities, including a swimming pool, tennis courts, bike path and recreation building, as well as the fine restaurants and cultural opportunities available in the Piscataway area.

The community enjoys a central location near the New Jersey Turnpike, Garden State Parkway, Interstates 287, 78 and 80, and Routes 1, 22, and 18. Public transportation to Manhattan and hub New Jersey business areas is also easily accessible.

Castle Pointe's sales office and finished models are open Friday-Monday, noon-5 p.m. or by appointment. To visit Castle Pointe from the south, take Route 287 to the South Edison Exit for 529. Bear right on South Washington Avenue to the fourth light and make a right. Follow the road to the first left onto Morris Avenue. Castle Pointe is on the right. From the north, take Route 287 south to the Possum Town Road Exit. Bear left to the light and turn right onto Centennial Avenue. Go 100 feet, make a right onto Hoes Lane, and go 1.2 miles to Morris Avenue. Turn left on Morris and Castle Pointe will be on the left.

The kitchens at Castle Pointe offer all modern appliances and conveniences, plus, beautifully tiled floors.

A good roof can cover home flaws

Good foundations are essential for building just about anything you want to last — relationships to homes.

But remember, when it comes to your home, what's over it is just as important as what it stands on. The message: Don't neglect the roof.

A roof in need of repair could be a serious detriment when trying to sell your home, according to the New Jersey Association of Realtors.

"Do not be tempted to limit roof repairs to cosmetic work," said Gene Azzalina, president of NJAR.

"Cutting corners could be disastrous if a home inspection finds the roof to be worn and old.

"Cracked, curled or missing shingles signal that the roof is past its prime," he said.

To spot problems, tour the house with a pair of field glasses for a closer look. However, for your safety, it is not wise to go up on the roof. If you see a problem, contact a professional roofing service.

When selecting a roofer, remember to choose an established company that is willing to provide names of previous customers. Check these references, the NJAR advises.

Obtain several written estimates. Make sure estimates are based on the same materials, plans and quality of workmanship.

Before signing a contract, be certain it specifies the work to be done, materials to be used, completion dates, warranties or guarantees of the contractor and shingle manufacturer, removal of waste materials, final price and method of payment.

An experienced roofer should be willing to offer advice on the advantages of different types of shingles, as well as how long each type should last.

'Investing in roof repair is a wise decision that can significantly boost your home's salability. Putting it off will only make the problems more costly to repair and could ultimately delay the sale of your home'

Golden Oak sprouts new community

Coppergate Farm is builders' newest custom homes project

BERNARDS TWP. — Golden Oak Developers, builders of such luxury home communities as Horizons at Green Brook, and Reflections and Nottingham Way in Warren, recently held a down-home style opening for Coppergate Farm, in the Basking Ridge section of the township.

Realtors, builders, the media and more gathered beneath an open-air canopy and enjoyed country-style fare of hamburgers, hot dogs, chili, potato salad, and pie to celebrate the grand opening of the new luxury home community.

With one home nearing completion and a second lot already sold, there are now only 11 lots, each ¾ acres or more, remaining at Coppergate Farm. Six of those lots sit on cul-de-sacs at the end of Wolf Lane and Paddock Court.

Prices begin at $525,000 for the exclusive, custom designed homes. Designs feature traditional exteriors and luxurious interiors.

"In this price range, this is the only builder offering true custom homes," said Mary Collins, of Coldwell Banker Schlott Realtors, Warren.

Gold Oak Developers will work with buyers to design their dream home, down to the decorating, Ms. Collins said.

Although homes take an average of eight months to complete, from conception to finish, building time can fluctuate, depending on how decisive homebuyers are, she said.

However, buyers will never be rushed, she added. Custom designing a home is "a fun process," Ms. Collins said. "And in this price range (buyers) deserve to have what they want."

Builders Robert Goldman and David Krimmel of Golden Oak Developers take pride in offering quality and value to discerning homebuyers. They have an outstanding reputation and experience that spans more than 20 years in the development and construction of exclusive custom homes in the Watchung and Somerset hills.

Golden Oak Developers' architectural design team is equipped to guide buyers through the design process with state-of-the-art computer software and years of practical experience. Designs are tailored to the lifestyles and tastes of each buyer. An interior designer also assists in such intricate decisions as color selection, fixtures, vanities and other subtleties.

For more information about Coppergate Farm, or any other quality home community by Gold Oak Developers, call their Warren office at 756-6448, or Ms. Collins at 754-7511.

Jean Burgdorff, chairwoman of Burgdorff, Realtors, will be the featured speaker on "Million-dollar habits: Negotiating and other business skills," at the joint Somerset/Middlesex chapter meeting of the New Jersey Association of Women Business Owners (NJAWBO).

Ms. Burgdorff will speak at the Oct. 12 event to be held in the Radisson Hotel, 200 Atrium Drive, Somerset. Networking will begin 6 p.m., followed by dinner and the program at 6:45 p.m. The meeting is open to the public. Cost is $23 for NJAWBO members and $25 for non-members. For reservations, call Amalia Altonji at 560-8573.

New Jersey Monthly magazine's 1991 Realtor of the Year in New Jersey, Ms. Burgdorff was also named Outstanding Woman by the Summit YWCA in its 70th anniversary year, and 1990 Employer of the Year by the Makefield-Yardley Business and Professional Women.

The Somerset County Board of Realtors plans an open house 2-5 p.m. Oct. 19 at its facility, 275 E. Main St., Somerville.

Visitors will have an opportunity to see the board's new computer system working, meet people behind the scenes, get information about the board and how it works for its members, and socialize with realtors from the area.

For more information, call Gita at Century 21 New Beginnings Realty, 647-2000.

The Prudential Brown-Fowler Co., Realtors, has scheduled two free real estate career nights for 7:30 p.m. Oct. 13 and 27, at the company's Basking Ridge office, 11 S. Finley Ave.

Managers and top producers will discuss getting started in real estate and the company's training program. For reservations, or more information, call Sarah Handford at 766-5666.

Several Weichert, Realtors offices will be holding real estate career seminars 7 p.m. Oct. 14.

Featured topics include how to get started in the business, how experienced salespeople can boost their earnings, and the company's training and marketing programs.

The offices and their locations are: 182-184 Lincoln Highway (Route 27), Edison, 494-6800; 9 W. Main St., Clinton, 735-8140; Route 130 and Stockton Street, East Windsor, 448-1400; Oldwick Road, Oldwick, 439-2777; and 4 Highway 31, Pennington, 737-0100.

Cindy M. Field, a resident of Long Valley, has joined Weichert, Realtors' Bernardsville office as a sales associate.

A recently licensed real estate professional, Ms. Field has a bachelor's degree from Ithaca College. Before entering real estate, she was a physical education teacher at Bernardsville Middle School and Mendham High School. She also formerly managed Bantam Stores, a family-owned business.

Weichert' Realtors' Westfield office, managed by Kathy Buontempo, has received a regional award for the most sold listings for the first eight months of the year.

The office is located at 185 Elm St.

A sales associate with Weichert Realtors' Branchburg office, Wayne Apgar has earned the office's top producer award for listing the most homes during August.

Mr. Apgar has listed and sold homes for three years. He is a member of the company's Million Dollar Sales and Marketed Club, and the Somerset County Board of Realtors.

Before entering real estate, he was employed for 10 years as a marketing representative in the chemical division of Calgon Corp., a division of Merck and Co. He is an 18-year resident of Somerville.

Marilyn Rutishauser, a sales associate with the Branchburg office of Weichert, Realtors, has been recognized as the office's top new homes sales associate for the first half of the year.

Ms. Rutishauser sold the most new homes in the area during the six-month period. She has listed and sold homes for 14 years, and has been a licensed broker for five years. Ms. Rutishauser is a member of the New Jersey Association of Realtors Million Dollar Club, and Weichert's Million Dollar Sales and Marketed Club. Also, she is a member of the Somerset County Board of Realtors, and serves on the board's community service and realtor associate committees.

She has lived in Branchburg for 20 years.

Yolanda Bovasso and Lynne Wagner, associates with Century 21 D.S. Kuzsma Realty in Cranford, were recently honored at the Landmark Inn in Edison.

Ms. Bovasso received a plaque for outstanding achievement of gross closed commissions and units. Ms. Wagner was also honored with a plaque for her outstanding achievement in listing production.

Century 21 D.S. Kuzsma Realty is located at 115 Miln St., Cranford.

More than 100 senior citizens and retirees attended Burgdorff, Realtors' first free public seminar on retirement planning, held Sept. 8 at St. John's Church in Summit.

The event featured a panel of experts, including estate attorney Carlotta Budd, financial planner Henry Sawatzky, mortgage officer Lew Sharpless, construction services specialist Richard Bousquet, and home contents sales agent Betty Janicelli.

The two-hour seminar covered legal, financial, and practical considerations and reviewed various retirement living options, weighing the benefits of "staying put" with those of selling and moving.

At a recent awards dinner, ERA American Dream Realtors, of Hillsborough, honored their top sales agents for the first half of 1993.

Christina Newton was named top seller for the first half of the year. Shaun Daley was honored as top lister. Both agents started in real estate with ERA American Dream, said broker/owner Paul Giannantonio.

Connie Coppola of Warren has joined Burgdorff Realtors as a sales associate in the Warren office.

Ms. Coppola formerly managed a food brokerage firm, and is experienced in sales and transaction management. A native of West Virginia, she attended Concord College in Athens, W.Va. before moving to New Jersey 23 years ago. She has resided in Warren for 12 years.

Burgdorff Realtors' Westfield office "tipped its hat" to the town's gala FestiFall with complimentary photographs of 400 local residents and visitors decked out in fancy hats.

Office manager Jean Massard bought a collection of hats a few years ago from a Westfield second-hand shop, and Burgdorff offices throughout north central New Jersey have contributed more hats to the company's traveling booth.

Richard A. Weidel, president of Richard A. Weidel Corporation, Realtors, has been appointed to a second term on the New Jersey Association of Realtors strategic planning committee.

The 1992 committee's efforts were directed at developing a strategic plan for the period 1993-1998, that would be workable for members, officers, directors and staff. NJAR was founded in 1917 to promote and create public awareness of realtor professionalism, code of ethics, public service programs and achievements, and identify and promote new products and services, and professional awareness of important issues.

Remodeling can improve value of your home

Do you want to make a few changes in your home? No matter what type of remodeling project you choose, make certain the improvements increase your home's resale value as well as provide comfort and convenience, according to the New Jersey Association of Realtors (NJAR).

"Do not assume that the money spent on sprucing up your home will automatically be recovered," said Gene Azzalina, president of NJAR. "To maximize your return, consider how long you are likely to live in your home."

Mr. Azzalina said if you plan to move within a year or two, it is wise to limit yourself to relatively inexpensive touch-up projects you can do yourself or have done for little cost.

"Cosmetic improvements will give your home a fresh, clean look, add to its market value and create a favorable impression that will make your home easier to sell," he said.

On the other hand, if you are certain you will stay in your home for a minimum of three years, you might consider a more extensive renovation, Mr. Azzalina said. However, he cautioned against over-doing it.

"The market value of your home is determined mainly by the value of the homes around it, regardless of renovations," he said. "Of course, if you plan to stay in your home forever, recouping your costs is not a factor. You can let your imagination and budget be your only limitations."

There are several financing options available once you've decided what you want to accomplish. You might consider refinancing your current mortgage to cover the improvement costs. This may be the most practical way to borrow for the long-term at market interest rates.

If the outstanding balance is low on your current mortgage, refinancing could free up a considerable amount of cash. Another option is a second mortgage. The interest rate typically is higher on a second mortgage than the first mortgage and the term is shorter. For minor improvements (less than $10,000) you might consider an unsecured personal loan. The term generally is short and the interest rate is higher than on a secured loan.

When choosing a contractor, it is important to do your 'homework,' said Mr. Azzalina. "Before interviewing potential contractors, decide what results you want and why. Also, be firm about how much you can afford. Stick to these rules so you can control both cost and design while minimizing the risks."

● Obtain at least three separate bids for all work needed and avoid firms that offer substantially lower prices. The quality of their work may be as low as their prices.

Before signing a contract, obtain several references from the contractor, and check them carefully. Contact the local office of the Better Business Bureau to check on their reputation.

● Check to see if guarantees are offered. If so, does it cover all work or is it limited to certain materials?

● Obtain a written copy of price quotations and the specific work to be done

● Never pay a contractor in cash, particularly before the work is started.

● Obtain a certificate of the contractor's liability insurance coverage limits, policy and company.

"Proper preparation is the key to smooth, successful home improvements," said Mr. Azzalina. "And, once completed, the project can add to the value and enjoyment of your home."

August '93 sales topped numbers from last year

Sales of previously owned homes jumped in August from one year earlier, as consumers continued a crush of buying triggered by extremely low mortgage rates, according to the National Association of Realtors.

The association recorded a seasonally adjusted annual sales rate of 3.81 million existing single-family homes in August, up 14.1 percent from August 1992. Last month's resale rate increase came on the heels of a 14.2 percent annual increase in July. Strong year-to-year increases in home sales were posted in all of the regions.

Through August, there were 2.5 million existing single-family homes sold nationwide. The year-higher than that for the first eight months of 1992.

In the Northeast, the median price for existing single-family homes in the Northeast was $141,300 last month, slipping a marginal .5 percent from one year earlier.

NAR Chief Economist John A. Tuccillo said much of the activity in the Northeast continues to fall in the lower end of the price range.

Hilltop home has backyard waterfall

AUGUSTO F. MENEZES/FORBES NEWSPAPERS

Among the many amenities at 747 Johnston Drive, Watchung, are a two-car attached garage, gravel drive and dog pen.

WATCHUNG — From its hilltop perch, this home at 747 Johnston Drive offers views of the New York Skyline, and features a landscaped patio with its own waterfall.

Listing for $950,000 through Coldwell Banker Schlott Realtors, in Westfield, the home features five-plus bedrooms and four and a half baths. Nestled on 14 acres of landscaped grounds, the property hosts many mature shrubs, evergreens, rock gardens and paths. The waterfall is a highlight, and particular point of pride for the current owners.

Inside, 12 rooms, divided between two levels, show oriental and European influences. On the first floor, the spacious 24-by-17-foot living room boasts a fireplace. A second fireplace warms the banquet-sized (22-by-18) formal dining room. The kitchen is a generous 18-by-11, and features a breakfast room. Sunlight fills a unique mountain room. The master bedroom, with private bath, is 15-by-17. A guest bedroom is 17-by-14. There is also a full bath, powder room, and laundry room on the first level.

On the ground level, there is an amply sized 16-by-14 family room. The expansive recreation room is 31-by-14, and features a wet bar. There are two additional bedrooms, 15-by-16, and 16-by-15 feet, and a full bath. Another bedroom includes its own suite. There is a second full bath.

A wine cellar, also located on the ground level, offers room for hundreds of bottles.

KERRIE HAGY FORBES NEWSPAPERS

Endless pasta-bilities at Italian fest

Anyone can be Italian during Cranford's Italian Festival this Sunday from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the downtown shopping district. The Chamber of Commerce will center its outdoor celebration around Eastman and Warner Plazas, where the streets will be filled with sidewalk vendors, crafts people and merchants.

Certainly one of the many highlights include the Mama Mia's Italian Cook Off Recipe Contest, which is open to all fairgoers. Enter a pasta, marinara or dessert dish and win a 1st, 2nd, or 3rd place prize. Bring your dish, enough for 2 or 3 tastes, to the Chamber booth at 2 p.m. near the Cranford Hotel. Send you recipe by Oct. 7 to 8 Springfield Ave., Cranford.

Vendors will offer crafts, gifts and collectibles white traditional Italian fare such as zeppoles, sausage and peppers, calzones, pizza and pastries will be available.

Entertainment for children features pony rides, a moonwalk and face painting. Local entertainers include dance groups and instrumental performers.

Flowers for the celebration are being donated by Nick Vetta, owner of Victoria's Florist on Centennial Avenue. A member of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Vetta opened his shop last month and will specialize in designing fresh and silk flower arrangements featuring exotic varieties.

Chamber steps back in time with concert, vintage auto show

The Chamber of Commerce is planning two events in the next few weeks.

The Tokens will headline the Cranford Chamber of Commerce's fourth annual '50s show at Cranford High School Oct. 22 at 7 p.m. Proceeds from the event will fund the Chamber of Commerce services during the year.

A vintage automobile show will be held outside the high school prior to the event. The car show will feature approximately 20 automobiles from the 1950s and is hosted by the Galloping Hill Cruisers some of whose many members live in Cranford. The group meets weekly during the summer at Five Points Inn in Union. They have been featured in many parades including Cranford's Fourth of July festivities.

The Cranford Business-to-Business Directory and Buyers Guide will be distributed during the concert.

The event has been very successful over the past few years, drawing upwards of 200 at each performance. Tickets are available by calling Ben Shaw of Garden State Entertainment at 709-4077.

The Chamber will co-sponsor a breakfast meeting to host author Don Peppers, a former president and chief executive officer of a national advertising firm, Wednesday, Nov. 10 at the Westwood at 8 a.m. Other sponsors include the Westfield Chamber of Commerce and the Cranford Book Store.

Mr. Peppers is the author of One-to-One Future. He will offer new ideas on reaching specific target audiences in addition to marketing suggestions.

For reservations, call 272-6114.

Deli Express celebrates its grand opening with a new menu

There is a new choice for lunchtime diners in Cranford. Over the summer, Marie Salvatore and her children Mary and Walter celebrated the grand opening of S & S Deli Express at 12 No. Union Avenue. The lure to purchasing the old Ball Park Deli, said Marie, was the challenge of creating their own personal style.

"We didn't want to follow anyone's act," said Marie. "We wanted to create our own style, our own menu, and our own reputation."

Her children agree. "To take something with a bad reputation and turn it around...well that's the challenge that interested me," said Walter.

Customers to the deli find the new owners as refreshing as the new menu. Homemade salads are prepared daily by Mary, who previously worked at Marriott Food Service with Walter. They include specialties like ditalini & broccoli with ranch dressing, pasta & broccoli, and fresh seafood salad.

Customers comment on the variety of ingredients in each dish including extras like broccoli, peppers, and hard-boiled eggs in the chef salad. Other customers delight in the freshness of it all including the fruit salad with seasonal fruits cut by hand.

Grilled specials include cheese steak and turkey melt sandwiches, a grilled turkey and Swiss cheese sandwich with onions.

The family has many plans for future expansion including frozen dinners to go, and stocking convenience items.

The store is open Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. They offer monthly and daily specials, fast pick-up, delivery service, and catering. The phone number is 276-8588.

Cranford Book Store brings nothing but good luck to its owner

Meryl Layton is not a superstitious person. When she took her first step as an entrepreneur, Ms. Layton did it Friday, Oct. 13, 1978. Although not planned, Ms. Layton never hesitated for a moment opening the doors of the Cranford Book Store on such an ominous day.

"It was a major undertaking for me," said Ms. Layton. "I never thought about bad luck, just about good luck. And it has been good luck."

Ms. Layton had been working as a dental hygienist when she began looking for a new career. An avid reader, the book store was a natural step.

Since then, Ms. Layton's business has grown to include stores in Westfield, Bedminster and Summit.

"I knew I would be good at the business of one store, but I never dreamed it would grow into a small chain. As each opportunity arose, I knew deep down it was time for expansion, that I could handle more, and each time I rose to the challenge," she said.

The store offers 25-percent discounts on all New York Times bestsellers and 10-percent discounts on hard covers. Just as important is the service.

"I enjoy relating to customers on a one-to-one basis," she said. "I also know the likes and dislikes of my customers and have the ability to react to special needs."

Her staff is also personable and knowledgeable.

Ms. Layton, also a resident of Cranford, is an active member of the community with posts on the Downtown

Cranford Book Store prepares to mark its 15th anniversary

Management Corporation, the Retail Committee, the Downtowner editorial staff, and the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce and Downtown New Jersey.

"I have a tremendous commitment to Cranford," said Ms. Layton. "The fact that I live here and I work here gives me that special commitment."

"We're having to work harder at getting people to shop in the downtown," said Ms. Layton. "We are much less complacent at it."

In order to better serve customers, Ms. Layton lengthened the store hours each week.

"Having to work six days a week, I know that the only time I get to shop is at nights and Sunday," said Ms. Layton. "I noticed that when I was leaving at 6 p.m., the phone was still ringing and people still coming to the door. I recognize the need to be open nights and Sunday, and I've had a good response."

In celebration of her 15th anniversary, Ms. Layton will offer a coupon for 25-percent off special items in the store. Business hours are Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday, 9:30 to 5:30 p.m., and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Focus will be on children when Kid's Kastle opens this weekend

Milan Haddad, owner of Cranford Golden Touch Jewelers, will open a second store in Cranford's downtown, Kid's Kastle, this weekend. The children's specialty store located on No. Union Avenue will feature both casual and dress clothing, newborn to size 14. In addition, the store will offer layettes, christening outfits, gift sets, accessories, underwear, and toys.

"I believe in Cranford," said Mr. Haddad. "I live here.

I've done business here for 10 years. Cranford is a great town and I believe in it."

Mr. Haddad will be assisted by his wife, Theresa, who will manage the children's store. In order to open it, the Haddads sold a second jewelry store in Bergen County.

"I prefer to do business in Cranford because it means so much to me," said the town resident.

The Haddads began to consider opening a children's clothing store shortly after the closing of similar shop.

"There is a real need for children clothing, accessories, etc.," said Mr. Haddad. "People want to shop in Cranford for their children's clothes. Now they can."

The shop will be open 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Wednesday and 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Saturday hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The store is closed Sunday.

The phone number is 272-1155.

Chamber honors individuals, businesses with annual 'Pride in Cranford' awards

Four local residents and five businessmen were honored Sept. 29 for their contributions to the community at the Cranford Chamber of Commerce "Pride in Cranford" Awards Reception.

"It was a very moving ceremony," said Owen Daly, president of the Chamber. "The people who received awards were very affected by the fact that the town remembered them. And rightfully so, since they give so much of themselves to the town."

Community service awards will be presented to Det. Charles H. Archdeacon, Barbara Bilger, former Township Committee member, Frank Hogan, St. Michael's youth worker, and Dr. Ralph Oriscello.

Mr. Archdeacon, a member of the Cranford Police Department, was nominated by Chief Harry Wilde. He is a co-founder and director of Cranford Police Athletic League and has been instrumental in establishing several youth programs including football, baseball, wrestling, basketball, cheerleading, track and others. In addition, he currently serves as the first Cranford Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) officer.

"His personal philosophy that there is no such thing as a bad kid has turned many a troubled youngster into a productive member of society," said Chief Wilde. "...the most significant amount of (his) energy and commitment to those programs has been in his off-duty, personal, volunteer time. He is not a community asset, he is a community treasure."

Mrs. Bilger is a former Cranford Township Committee member who has also served on the Public Assistance Board. Through the years, she has been a member and continues to work with the Fourth of July Committee, Cranford Halloween Committee, Cranford Memorial Day Parade committee, the Jerry Louis Tele-a-thon, Cranford Letter Day, St. Michael's Rosary Society, and more recently helped with the preparations for the Cranford Fire Department's 100th anniversary parade and town picnic.

She was introduced by former mayor Ed Force at the reception.

"The list of her involvements is over two pages long," he said. "Without a doubt, she is the goodwill ambassador of Cranford."

Mrs. Bilger was nominated by six different individuals.

"They all talked about her energy and it is quite obvious that the one problem she has is, that she cannot say 'no.'"

Mr. Hogan continues to volunteer to teach tennis skills to the students at St. Michael's School, offering an opportunity to students that the school could not otherwise offer.

"Frank Hogan is an inspiration to all of us," a representative from St. Michael's School wrote when nominating him. "He is a kind and giving man who never asks for anything in return. We would like to reward his efforts by nominating him for this award."

Dr. Oriscello, who was nominated by Commissioner Edward Robinson, works as the head of the Critical Care Unit at the Medical Center in Elizabeth. He is very active in youth baseball, teaches classes at the Union County Police Academy in Scotch Plains, and gives seminars to our local police department, all without remuneration.

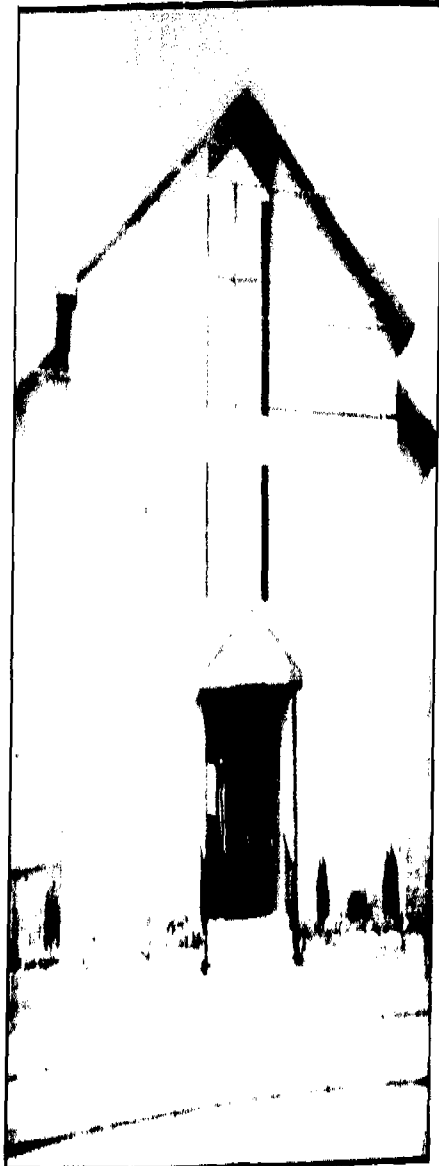

"Whenever a police or fire member requires specialized medical assistance, Dr. Oriscello is there to lend his expertise. He is also available to many Cranford residents with their medical needs. His availability on an emergency basis has been well known for many years. I am sure there are many people in Cranford who deserve this award, but I cannot think of anyone more deserving than Dr. Oriscello," wrote Commissioner Robinson.

Community development awards were presented to owner Louis Consalvo for the Consalvo Building, 41 North Ave. E.; Jeff Dattilio, owner, Grandway Investments, 1200 Raritan Road; John Kouris, owner, Rustic Mill Diner Restaurant, 100 North Avenue W.; Tony Mack, owner, 103-105 No. Union Avenue; and St. Mark's AME Church, 34 High St. (new construction).

Special awards were given to organizations celebrating anniversaries including the Cranford Fire Department, 100th anniversary; Cranford First Aid Squad, 40th anniversary; and Union County College 60th anniversary.

Tony Mack's Cranford Bike Shop is a winner.

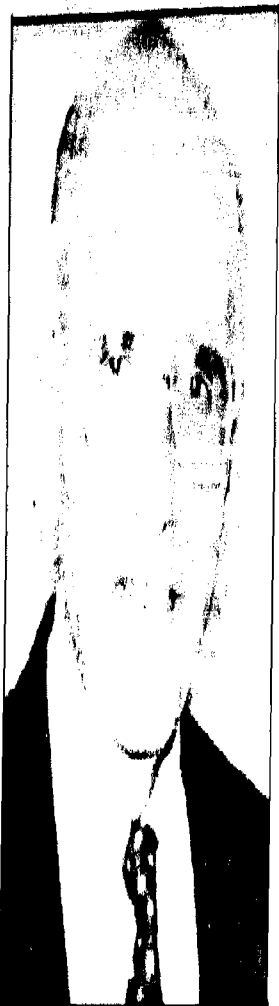

St. Mark's AME Church on High Street is the only ecclesiastical building honored this year with a Community Development Award.

Grandway Investment's building at 1200 Raritan Road is among the winners.

Time for Halloween treats

Downtown merchants will offer families the opportunity of a Safe Halloween again this year as store owners open Sunday, Oct. 31 behind decorated windows and offer lots of treats to children of all ages. The Safe Halloween program offers children an opportunity to celebrate the holiday safely. Families are encouraged to trick-or-treat throughout the downtown where they will receive individually wrapped candy.

Children are also encouraged to participate in the annual window painting contest. More than 90 merchants have volunteered to have their windows spotlight the town's budding artists as they create ghostly scenes and festive pumpkin patches.

The contest is sponsored by the Retailers Division of the Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Management Corporation. Children are encourage to sign up early as space is limited. Please use the attached registration form and mail to Marta Person, DMC, Springfield Avenue, Cranford.

Union County College prepares to celebrate its 60th anniversary

"Diamonds are Forever" is the theme for Union County College's 60th anniversary gala concert and silent auction, which will be held Saturday, Oct. 16 as the kick-off event of a year-long program of activities commemorating the 1933 founding of the oldest community college in New Jersey.

While celebrating the 60th anniversary of its founding, Union County college also will mark the 50th anniversary of making its home in Cranford.

The New Jersey Pops, a professional orchestra, will perform in concert, playing music from the 1930s through the 1990s to trace the musical history that took place during the college's 60-year span.

"The diamond represents what Union County College is," said James Perry of Plainfield, chairman of the gala planning committee. "Union County College will be around forever just like the diamond. The diamond is a stone made out of simple products yet is it something beautiful. The same is true for UCC."

The committee has already gathered some unique gifts for the silent auction including artwork, jewelry, personal services, and weekend trips.

One of the most spectacular events hosted by the college, the gala concert and silent auction will bear a theme of elegance. A black-tie-preferred affair, it will feature numerous gourmet buffet stations.

Bidding at the silent auction will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Commons Building, Cranford Campus. The 8 p.m. concert, held in the adjacent Roy. W. Smith Theater, will offer one hour of music of Porter, the Gershwins, Berlin, and other songwriters. A dessert buffet will follow.

For ticket information, call 709-7039.

The college has deep roots in the community, having moved in the fall of 1943 to the old Grant School at the corner of Springfield Avenue and Holly Street. It remained in the building through 1959 when it moved to its present 48-acre campus off Springfield Avenue opposite Nomahagan Park.

Today more than 6,000 students attend classes at the Cranford Campus, which contains seven major buildings including the William Miller Sperry Observatory. The Cranford Campus is the college's main campus and serves the largest number of students. The college also operates major branch campuses in Elizabeth and Plainfield.

After 25 years, Chef Kalamaras is now co-owner of Coach and Four Gus Kalamaras is back in the kitchen at the Coach and Four restaurant but his responsibilities do not end there. The Cranford resident along with his wife Dorothy and partners Mike and Roseanne Kapetanakis have purchased the landmark restaurant. The foursome, who are also close friends, celebrated the grand reopening Sept. 22.

Mr. Kalamaras came to America in the early 1960s and quickly landed a job at the North Avenue restaurant working side-by-side with his father John, the head chef.

He stayed there for more than 27 years, until 1990 and left after a falling out with the owners who later filed for bankruptcy. Soon, the restaurant came up for sale.

"I ran the kitchen for 25 years," said Mr. Kalamaras. "Who else to buy it?"

The foursome is betting on Mr. Kalamaras' reputation to attract customers, and the varied menu and good value to keep them.

"I think we offer both a good menu and good value," said Mr. Kapetanakis, who received formal training at a technical school in Connecticut.

Mr. Kalamaras, a self-trained chef, creates his own recipes but will also offer house specialties such as roast pork, fresh ham with apple stuffing, and cheese cake.

"There are no favorite dishes to me," said Mr. Kalamaras. "Everything is special. I take great pride in my cooking. I have to...I want to make it here."

The restaurant is open daily for lunch and dinner.

Antique-lover finds travels lead him to open a shop in Cranford

Cranford is fast becoming a mecca for antique collectors. A grand opening celebration Sept. 11 introduced shoppers to Classic Antiques on South Avenue, which specializes in dining rooms, bedrooms, oil paintings, Oriental rugs, porcelain and glass.

Owner Richard Yorkowitz' interest in antiques began as a child fostered by his mother's love of the old and interest in history. In business for more than 7 years, Mr. Yorkowitz travels from Massachusetts to Georgia looking in estates and country fairs for the old and unique.

Prior to setting roots in Cranford, he displayed at shows and fairs building a quiet reputation for quality goods.

"I felt there was a call for a good, high-end antique dealer who specializes in furniture," said the Cranford High School graduate. "Cranford is an older town with a rich history. When residents look to decorate, they look for the same flavor and use antiques."

The flavor of the Victorian downtown goes hand-in-hand with that thinking, said Mr. Yorkowitz.

"It provides the perfect backdrop for a day of antique shopping," he said.

The 1,600-square-foot store will offer items that other stores can't.

"There is no other store like it around here," he said. "Just the volume of goods we have, will set us apart."

Consignment goods will be considered.

Store hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. The address is 218 South Avenue; the phone number is 272-2244.

Owner feels Shepherd's Nook and Cranford are a perfect match

In the near future, the doors of the Shepherd's Nook on North Union Avenue will open and Cranford shoppers are sure to be just as impressed with the merchandise and managers as the owner Bill Gilmour is with Cranford.

"It was always our intent to have a Victorian theme and so locating in Cranford was a great marriage for us," said Mr. Gilmour. "The aura in town was very attractive and the parking was great. And the people, I can't say enough. They are so pleasant and welcoming."

The store is unique in that it seeks to provide a place to stop and think as well as shop. Inside there is both a quiet nook for parents and a 14-foot trolley for use by children. Inside the trolley, children will be encouraged to preview family movies for both rental or sale in the store.

The "mini-department store of God-honoring products" will offer greeting cards, fine art, Tiffany lamps, clocks, jewelry, and music. They will offer "Soundtrax," a set-up very much like karaoke, where people can sing along with a fully orchestrated musical selection.

"When you walk into this store, you can be assured that whatever you buy for children...nothing will be objectionable," said Mr. Gilmour. "There is enough in the world going in the other direction. We're just trying to put the brakes on it, and in our own little way, reverse it."

Store ours will be 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily, and Thursday to 9 p.m. Saturday hours are 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.
