Hall of Contract Price Paid to Mr. Traynor—$1,154 Has Been Subscribed.

The Westfield Park Commission is now on the home stretch in the hunt for contributions for the Clark's Lake fund. The first payment of $1,000 was made to Mr. Patrick Traynor by secretary W. Edgar Reeve, yesterday. In all $1,154 has been subscribed, and to this amount will soon be added a good sum from those who have promised to make cash donations before the close of this month.

The Commission is very much pleased with the showing thus far made. Mr. Reeve said this morning: "Response to our requests have been more liberal than we anticipated, and we are highly gratified with the results. On behalf of the committee I heartily thank our many friends for their liberality."

The following have contributed since our last issue, making a total of eighty-eight subscribers: H. Forsythe, A. H. Clark, Wm. F. Duffy, Chas. G. Bliss, H. S. Mahan, H. A. Bourne, Geo. L. Dolan, O. Hardon.

A TRUE FISH STORY.

Walter J. Lee Aided in the Capture of an Eight-foot Shark—Lost a Bigger One.

While on his summer vacation at Block Island, Walter J. Lee, of Orchard Street, had many thrilling adventures at sea. Mr. Lee was one of a party who daily explored the depths in search of big fish. He assisted in the landing of many little fry, weighing not more than 10 pounds apiece, but the big catch, and the one which places him in the front ranks of exponents of the manly art was the capture of an eight-foot shark.

This is a true fish story and Mr. Lee has the shark's teeth to prove it. Major and Mrs. Walter K. Whentley, who were at the island at the time of the catch, saw the shark when it was brought ashore.

Speaking of his shark expedition, Mr. Lee declares that the one that they caught was not near so large as the one that they killed and didn't catch. The shark, he says, had been speared all right, and had given up the ghost, but just as they were pulling it toward the boat the nose slipped from its fall, and "down, down it went with a gurgling sound."

Charles R. Jr. Arrives.

Charles R. Foster, Jr., arriving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Foster, at Mr. Vernon N. Y. yesterday. He is reported that he likes his job and is very much, and will make his home with them until he grows up to be a man like "dad." Father Foster was formerly a resident of this place, and is a graduate of Yale and a member of the I. O. S. Charles R. gave the college and club yells shortly after his arrival.

R. Wilcox, Dairyman.

Russel Wilcox, who has been a clerk in James G. Casey's drug store for some time, has purchased the milk route of J. S. Robbins. He assumed his new duties Thursday morning.

Mrs. Still Out of Danger.

Mrs. William Still, who was seriously injured in an auto accident at Bird's Corner, on July 17th, is now rapidly improving, and is reported out of danger. Mrs. Still had her collar bone broken by being thrown from an Oldsmobile in a collision with a large touring car owned by E. F. Lowe. It was at first feared that she had suffered internal injury.

PERKINS FOR RENOMINATION

Local Assemblyman Seeks a Third Term in the Lower House.

GIVES HIS REASONS.

Says County Leaders Are With Him With One Exception—If Necessary Will Fight for Place.

Assemblyman Randolph Perkins, of Westfield, has declared himself a candidate for renomination to the Assembly from this county. He has entered a stout denial to the stories current that he has estranged himself with the party leaders, and that the organization is out to do him. In an interview Wednesday, Mr. Perkins said that he did not know where the newspaper stories originated.

"I believe," he said, "that I have the support of the party for another term. Of course, if I become aware that it is the wish of the organization that I shall not go back to the Assembly, I am ready to abide by their will. But, if irrespective of the wishes of the party, any two or three men decide that I am not to have the renomination, then there is going to be a fight. I have heard the argument that a man who has already had two or three terms in the assembly should make way for somebody else. I am not aware that anyone has been clamoring for my place. Besides, if there is to be a rule that no man should go to the assembly three times, why not a similar rule to apply to all other offices. You know that I am probably not the only person who ever sought renomination even after serving two terms."

So far as he knew all the party leaders in the county favored his renomination except one man from Plainfield. "What is the reason," continued Mr. Perkins, "that I should be opposed by the organization—my vote against the re-election of Dryden to the United States Senate? I am responsible to the people of Union County for that vote, and if they want to turn me down at the primaries, well and good. For no other reason would I be voted upon me by the organization. The 'no-third-term' argument would be merely a subterfuge. I followed the dictates of my own conscience in voting against Dryden, and also acted on the advice of a very large number of my constituents. A newspaper said a few days ago that 'Perkins was regarded as being too independent.' I am independent. I will take orders from nobody. But I want to say here that no leader in Union County, either high or low, ever asked me to vote one way or another on any question."

Mr. Perkins characterized as both a newspaper story and the effect that he was planning to succeed Ernest R. Ackerman in the State Senate, and later Charles N. Fowler in Congress.

MR. MOONEY SURPRISED.

Neighbors Gather to Celebrate Birthday of Former Councilman.

Former Councilman Henry Mooney was tendered a little surprise party by his neighbors at his home on Mountain Avenue, Wednesday evening. There were about fifteen at the party and they dropped in to the house so quietly that they caught their unexpected host napping in an easy chair in the library. He was quick to respond to their greetings of "many happy returns etc.," and immediately the fun-making began.

Games were played, songs were sung and stories told, and when the excitement was at its height, Mr. Mooney, Mr. Edgar Reeve with a large band in his arm, carefully taking off the wrap, he disclosed a combination Teddy bear and rigger doll, which the present was to the host. Then there was a laugh all round, in which Mr. Mooney joined even more heartily than the rest. In appreciation of the gift the recipient set on top a decoration and glowed. As the guests were leaving some one dared to ask Mr. Mooney how many summers he had passed on this planet.

"Just twenty-nine," said as many winters, was his cheerful reply. "An other desired to inquire Mr. Mooney's birthplace, but he anticipated this query by adding that he was born in Bright Villa, on the planet Mars. The three Tiger chasers that followed shut off further questioning."

Miss Jimmerson Surprised.

A surprise party was tendered to Miss Margaret Jimmerson, on Tuesday evening, last at her home on North Avenue. About twenty young folks were present and spent a very enjoyable evening.

BUILDING ORDINANCE TABLED

Council Defers Action Until Sept. 16, to Give Time for Deliberation.

SOME OBJECTIONS.

Councilmen Floyd and Hohenstein Think Ordinance Not Suited to Town of Size of Westfield.

At an adjourned meeting of the Common Council, Monday night, to allow a public hearing upon the proposed building code ordinance, it was decided to lay the matter over until Sept. 16, and the clerk was instructed to notify all master builders of the public hearing upon the ordinance on that date, and to mail each a copy of the ordinance.

The proposed ordinance aims to regulate and control the inspection, construction, alteration and repair of buildings within the town limits. Provision is made for the appointing of a building committee to consist of not less than three members of the common council, and of an officer of the town to be known as Inspector of Buildings, who shall be paid by the town, and whose duty it shall be to enforce the ordinance.

Only one master builder was present at the meeting, and many objections were raised by councilmen. Councilman Hohenstein declared that the ordinance was fifty years ahead of the town, and Councilman Floyd stated that he did not think the ordinance was adapted to the needs of a town of the size of Westfield. It was, in his opinion, meant for large cities such as New York.

Councilman Fink, rather favored the ordinance in an amended form. He said he looked it over casually, and thought that it could be made to suit a town of the size of Westfield. He urged deliberation and suggested that the ordinance be tabled so that all might have an opportunity to study it carefully. Some changes, he said, would doubtless be necessary before the ordinance could be passed.

Councilman Hohenstein explained that the copies of the ordinance had not been printed until Friday, and had been distributed on that day. For this reason, he said, there had been little time for deliberation, and he argued that the ordinance be tabled.

Mr. O. Lambert was an interested spectator, and following the discussion by the members of the council, he took the floor.

"Why I haven't had a chance to look over the ordinance, yet," said Mr. Lambert, "and I don't know whether I have any objections to make or not."

Here, Mr. Lambert, said Councilman Floyd, handing him three large sheets containing four columns, each of typewritten matter, "here is the ordinance. Take a week off and read it."

"Thank you Mr. Floyd," replied the sage of Mt. Ararat, "I'll make it a point to know all there is to know about this ordinance before the next hearing."

The ordinance was thereupon tabled until Sept. 16.

A resolution that K. V. Koch, of New York, be employed as assistant engineer during the construction of the sewer outlet at $120 a month, and E. Saunders, at $1.60 per day, when actually employed, was adopted.

On the recommendation of Councilman Floyd, chairman of the police committee, the appointment of Leonard E. Collins as special officer, was confirmed.

The petition of Harry O. Purcell and Charles Ortolanberger for a sewer assessment apportionment of property on Euclid avenue, was referred to the committee on sewers, with power, the petitioners owning all the property in question.

Councilman Gilby stated that a complaint had been made to him that Prospect street, west of Dudley avenue, is used by certain residents of Dudley avenue for dumping rubbish. The matter was referred to the police.

The request of J. R. Thompson, of South Broad street, for a sidewalk grade and for permission to lay a cement walk along his property, was referred to the sidewalk committee.

At the meeting next Monday night a hearing will be given on the proposed sewer outlet extension. Bids will also be received for the work.

COUNTRY CAT ON KICKERS.

Says: There are Many Kinds of the Dispeptick Breed Now Livin'.

A FEW EXAMPLES.

Nothin Will Cure 'em but Kickin' the Bucket—the Best Shoe Leather'll Wear Out With Usage.

There's a heap o' folks whint thinks that the troubles of cranshun is sot right plann out to their backs. Then's whint you'd call dispepticks. There's 'bout nuthin' matter with 'em 'ceptin' their livers is out of order, which kind a makes 'em see things backwards. I know 'em. Bill Sneaker afore he kicked the bucket, which went so long ago. Bill had a wart onto his neck, whint want no bigger'n a pin head, an' would 'dove to burn to nobody 'ceptin' Bill. To hear Bill talk you'd thought he had a tumor. He potted that wart till it began to get upish, and swell up. Then Bill went to a quack doctor whint give him a med' cine for his blood. If you'd seen Bill liggin' that bottle round town you'd thought he had a gold mine. He'd come down to Larsen's corners and sit in the Groce's store, and feed that wart quack med' cine, and do nuthin' but talk 'bout his ter'ble med' cine. He sot the town on it's end talkin' warts and doctorin'. Bill got so afterwhile that he carried a walkin' stick and limped worsen Jim Snider's by a mile. I never heard tell 'bout that wart spreadin' out to his legs though. But things went from worsen to worsen, and bimby Bill took to his bed. He had all the neighbors runnin' in bringin' him bokays and 'aters. Bill grouched and said he grassed he was goin' to die. Sure nuff he did, but it want no fault of that wart. Imaginashun killed Bill.

Just before Bill kicked the bucket, he began to see things at night. Bill always was a weakened critter. He was one of the six-months-in-the-year cranshuns. He got religion had durin' revival sensin, an' he'd go on worsen a dym' calf in meetins. Soon's his wether come on, though, Bill 'd be sure to backslide first and foremost. Well, it was in the summer whint Bill took to bed, and he was pretty good in a backslid too. He got a picture of himself a wicked and depraved sinner, an' on the road to districkshun, an' the way he went on was somethin' prespiratin'. The dom'nie he came and tried to give Bill redemption, but he was so dam' scared thinkin' 'bout his past life that for once religion couldn't take no hold onto him. One night Bill thought he saw the devil luffin' at him through the windy, an' he scared him so he died afore mornin'. The best thing Bill ever did in his born days was to kick the bucket. Backslidin' 'aint popular since Bill died.

Bill Sneaker was a dispeptick whint had troubles of his own, whint he didn't need to have, but there's a mother breed a dispeptick whint don't have so many troubles, but swint they can land on other folks. Hiram Deeswax was one of that breed. Hiram want none of you're weakened critters either. The more people whint hated him the better he liked it, an' he'd walk a couple of miles to stir up a muss. He got sot agin' Jed Smith 'cause Jed wouldn't sell him a lot whint he wanted next door to his'n, so he up and built a nigger shanty near where Jed lived. He kicked agin' his taxes, he kicked agin' theology, he kicked agin' a temperance, though he never touched a drop, he kicked agin' the hull town, an' finally he tried to kick the slats outen his jockass, but the jockass seed him first, an' kicked him to kingdom come. That was the end of Hiram. That jockass wins 'bout the only thing in Hayville whint want feared of him. Even jockasses is good for somethin', an' some of 'em is got more sense than they gets credit for havin'.

But as the poet said, it takes a lot of folks to make up a world, and none of 'em is just suited with cranshun. A few of 'em thinks if they had a hand in the manufacturin' they could do done a better job. Them is the dispepticks. Them's the folks whint's findin' somethin' to kick at. Their livers is out on order, an' the only way to set 'em right is to let 'em keep right on kickin' till they can't kick no more.

There's nuthin' no boots a manufactured whint won't wear out with usage. Melancholickly yours,
THE COUNTRY CAT.

THE TABERNACLE

Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 4, 1907
Specially Prepared for This Paper

LESSON TEXT.—Exodus 25:1-40:38.
MEMORY VERSE.—Ex. 25:9.
GOLDEN TEXT.—"Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle."
—Exodus 40:38.

TIME.—The work on the tabernacle was begun in the seventh month from the Exodus, and completed during the remainder of the year. The tabernacle was dedicated on the first day of the year, on the first of Abib (called also Nisan), B. C. 1490—the latter part of March or early in April.

PLACE.—The plain, Er-Rahah, at the foot of Mount Sinai. The wilderness of Sin, between the Red Sea and the wilderness of Paran. (Ex. 16:1; Num. 10:1; Josh. 11:1; Sam. 13:1; 1 Chron. 16:39; 2 Chron. 13:18; compared with 1:3, 5, 6 and 1 Kings 5:1. Figurative Meaning of the Tabernacle.—2 Cor. 5:1; Heb. 8:2-6; 9:1-12; 2 Pet. 1:12; Rev. 21:3.

Comment and Suggestive Thought.
The Tabernacle (vs. 1, 2). There are not a few difficulties in the way of obtaining an accurate idea of the form and construction of the tabernacle, from the descriptions given; as is usual in all attempts to realize a description. Even the form of so simple a thing as the golden candlestick it was impossible to copy in brass from the description given till the model was found in the triumphal arch of Titus at Rome pictured among the treasures he brought from Jerusalem after its destruction.

Spiritual Meaning of the Tabernacle.—At all times there is need of visible expressions and manifestations of the unseen spiritual things to help even the most educated, cultured, and holy men to realize the unseen God and character and life. So through nature we understand God and keep him in mind, as nearly all we know of the sun is revealed to us by the reflection of its rays on material particles in the air. So the institutions of religion are "the shadow of heavenly things" (Heb. 8:5). Still more were these institutions necessary in the early education of man. So the great churches and cathedrals of the Ages when few could read and write are filled with pictures and carvings of the Bible story.

It taught the gradual progress of the soul toward God; step by step we more Godward and heavenward, each stage more precious as we draw near to him. There is a fourfold teaching of the gradual education. (1) The movement is from the camp to the priests' square, then to the court of the tabernacle, to the holy place, to the Holy of Holies. (2) The progression is from the bronze of the outer court, to the silver of the tent, to the gold of its candlestick and altar. (3)
From the linen curtains of the outer court to the embroidery of its por-tieres; to the tapestry of the curtains of the tent. (4) From the symbolism of the furniture of the court and of the tent as described below.

The Ark of the Testimony or witness, containing the tables of the law,
the covenant between God and man, and the witness to the obedience of man. The ark was a chest of shittim wood, overlaid with gold within and without, three feet nine inches long,
two feet three inches broad and deep.
Over it was the mercy seat of gold, upon which were the cherubim, perhaps "a symbolical representation of the redeemed." This was the central object of the tabernacle, the place of God's presence, reached only by a heart that loves and obeys God's law, and through his loving mercy in forgiving and cleansing.

The altar symbolized the need of sacrifice for sin, for some atoning power.

The Laver (vs. 7), symbolized the necessity of moral cleansing before one can enter the Holy Place. "Wash me and I shall be whiter than snow."

The Candlestick (vs. 2) symbolized the true, sanctified people of God, bearing their light, shining themselves fed by the spirit of God, the source of all light.

The Table of Showbread (vs. 2). Opposite, on the north side, to the right, as one faced the Holy of Holies, was a polished table on which were placed the twelve loaves of bread in two golden dishes. It was three feet long, 18 inches broad and 12 inches high.

God's Visible Presence (vs. 34, 35).
—The shining cloud came to show that God was with them, a consoling fire to the wrong-doer, but a glory and guide, Defender, Redeemer, and Friend.

The Golden Altar of Incense (vs. 38) stood just before the entrance to the Holy of Holies. It was 18 inches square and three feet high. The fragrance of incense, its preciousness, and its beautiful clouds rising to heaven made it a suitable symbol for prayer and thanksgiving, the means of communion with God. After the experiences typified by these objects, one can meet God in the Holy of Holies and live according to the law of his covenant, as near to heaven as it is possible to be on earth.

The Table of Shewbread.—The bread typified that we need our daily spiritual bread in order to grow good and to be saved for God's service as much as we need daily bread for our bodies. The daily soul is full of hungers and thirsts, and every one of them needs the food that satisfies them. The soul that does not hunger is dead; as is the body without apper-tains. Jesus Christ satisfies all these hungers.

The Priestly Service (vs. 12, 13).— Even the priests must be cleansed and sanctified with oil as set apart for God's special service.

AUGUST SALE OF DISCONTINUED PATTERNS

IN AMERICA'S GREATEST FURNITURE STORE

This is to announce a sale to continue thruout August during which we will offer all of the discontinued patterns of furniture on our floors at

One-Third to One-Half Off Original Prices.

The reason for this sale is obvious. Where we have only an odd piece of a set that is not to be duplicated, or where there are parlor suites, bed room suites, or dining-room suites of a pattern that the makers are about to discontinue, it is to our advantage to sell it at once to make room for the newer patterns being introduced.

Discontinued patterns are by no means out-of-date designs, but those which have to stand aside as the creators of furniture designs produce other, though perhaps no better patterns.

You will profit by taking advantage of this August Sale.

LOCALS DEFEAT THE CENTRAL RAILROADERS.

Mr. Ararat Aggregation Plays Good Ball and Wins by Score of 6-2.

Those who attended the baseball game at Recreation Park Saturday afternoon saw a real live exhibition between the locals and the team of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. The home players put up a gilt edged variety of ball and corralled a victory to the tune of 6-2.

Alberts was on the slab for the home team and brooked 'em over the pan in good style. Rayon of the visitors eluded the air, and, backed by elegant support, the ten hits made off his delivery did not count for much on the tally card.

Most of the hitting was done in the opening stanza, when the railroaders sent a runner across the rubber, and gave the locals a bad scare. After that they had to be satisfied with goose eggs until the last go, when they squeezed in another run.

In the third the home team got busy and sent two runners across the plate. They repeated the trick in the fifth and again in the eighth. Carlson was the real thing with the stick, making a trip (he) and a double. Moore and Bender each drew two baggers. Mr. Pender's delivery pleased the Mr. Ararat clubbers and he retired in the fifth, to be followed by Seifts, who had less slant but better control. Both teams had a share of errors, but the locals were fortunate in their hangle making, while the visitors slipped at critical times. The score complete, in the official score:

E. R. PERKINS CAPTURES THE GOVERNOR'S CUP.

Defeats J. Allan Worth in the Final Round
5 Up and 4 to Play.

E. R. Perkins won the cup offered by the Board of Governors of the Westfield Golf Club by defeating J. Allan Worth in the final round Saturday afternoon, 5 up and 4 to play. Thirty-six holes were played. Perkins played a steady, consistent game, while Worth was behind his usual form. This match concluding the play for July.

On Saturday August 17 the qualifying round for the club championship will be played. This is the chief event of the local season. Joe Sherman, the present champion, is regarded as a likely winner, but there are a few "dark horses" in the race, and the lucky golfer is not banking on any easy victory. He will enter the combat with blood in his eye. Big Bill Bogert is getting in trim for the play, and expects to atone for his recent defeats by giving Joe a hard rub. Perkins and Ray Carroll are likewise donning their war paint in the hopes of finishing somewhere near the top.

The Prudential Changes Its Plan of Doing Business.

The Prudential Insurance Company of America has just announced an important change in its plan of doing business, and it is issuing a new life insurance policy, which the Company states is an excellent one in its features. The Prudential will issue policies on a non-participating basis exclusively hereafter. Former United States Senator John F. Dryden, President of the Prudential, in discussing the subject, said:

"During the last two years the insurance business as transacted in this country has been subjected to thorough and searching investigation, and has been the object of considerable legislation in the various states. The Prudential emerged from the in-

TWICE TRAUNCHED.

But Mrs. O'Reilly Wink-the-Other-Eye, Official Money Taker, Slipped Out With All the Mazuma, $82.50.

A bunch of make-believe injuns took a steam car ride to Westfield last Friday ostensibly to show the local outfit how to play ball, but actually to demonstrate what a simple thing it is to make a living without working for it. As to playing the national game, almost any school boy aggregation could play rings around them; 1 they got all the money, and left Manager Davo Smith a sadder and a wiser man. If they were real injuns Ireland is a free country.

In the afternoon, by the light of Old Sol, the locals defeated them 11-1, and in the evening, by the shine of sixteen incandescent lights, ranged around the diamond, and with a big rubber ball, covered over with leather, they were trounced again by the score of 9-2 or more.

To put it mildly the exhibitions were a rout. Those injuns couldn't do anything but play tag with the English language as she is spoke on Hester street. When they landed at the station early in the afternoon, Big Chief O'Mulligan, Eagle Eye, waltzed up to Little Tim and asked "Whore tell is dat guy Smith."

"Who are you?" asked Little Tim, eying him cynically. "Me! Say pard youse want to oil your lamps. Tim an Indian, and I'm chief of the Cherokee tribe of ball players."

"The you say," replied Little Tim. "Well you want to trot around to the North Avenue Hotel and get on your Indian clothes. If you're an Indian I'm glad of it for you're no credit to Ireland."

"Git up, Nell," shouted Little Tim, snatching his whip and driving off in disgust. The Big Chief and his tribe followed directions and in the course of an hour they were toggled in baseball regalia, and doing stunts for the edification of a few apt small boys at Recreation Park.

We have it on good authority that the afternoon game was a picnic for the home players. The score would indicate as much. The receipts were something over $11, and the Big Chief, who acted as cashier, put the mon' away in his horse blanket with a grant that sounded like all the swear words in and out of the dictionary combined. What bothered him most was the demand of the hotel proprietor that he pay $12 for the grab his hungry tribe put away at supper. Bill Perkins says he never has heard such awful language, which shows that the big chief is a past master of the art.

The evening exhibit was a cross between one-o-cat and little deer and shuttle cock. Those fifty thousand candle power arc lights dwindled to about sixteen candle power, and gasoline took the place of electricity. The injuns, too, seemed a bit under the weather. Their dark skins showed pale under the torch light, and their hair seemed a too-head color, with here and there a flash of brick red. Their dialect also had undergone a radical change, in many respects resembling the Celtic. Any Vossy street merchant could have supplied the clothes. Big balls entitled the runner to a base and a three strikes on the bounce was out.

For just three stanzas things were interesting. The injuns scored twice in their first go at the bat. Sent Davo Pender and Man Afraid of Himself McGorty making the circuit. The locals were blanked in this and the succeeding inning, but in the third they began to catch on to the wrinkles of the game and Messers. O. B. Joyful Moore, and Hammie Moffatt eluded the rubber over the ball lights, making the score even up. Both teams played as if they meant it up to stanza number three. At this point

Sounds Good.

$1.00 for 100.—If it is only true, and it is true, if you need house furnishings. Every article of Furniture, Carpets, Oil Cloth, Bedding etc. that are worth $1.00 or $100.00 will sell at 50c. on the dollar during August.

August is a hot month, not generally a busy one at home, unless you make it busy. Watch over advertisement this month of MoMahns Bros., 105-107 First Street, Elizabethport, N. J., and join the shrewd buyers.

Mr. Navajo Zimmerman, shuhrtlet for the injuns, got a kick in his left rib and the local hit on the head the rubber globe all over the lot. There were so many hits made that Pluggor Mike Kolley, who noted an official umpire, got tired of calling 'em. Nobody seemed to care whether school kept or not after that.

Meanwhile Mrs. O'Reilly Wink-the-Other-Eye, the coin collector, had tied up her horse blanket and slipped with the mazuma. She didn't leave a solitary Sioux of the eighty-two fifty taken in at the gate. When last seen she was riding toward the reservation at Oshkosh, on The Neverink. They called it quits at the end of the seventh, and everybody went home feeling like Uncle Hiram did after he had seen the Bowery by moonlight—stung!

It is explained that the injuns were a second team put on the road to the small towns along the line. The real Cherokee tribe, it is reported, are doing the circuit of upper New York State. Manager Davo Smith, it is said, was so outnumbered with the idea of playing with real injuns that he guaranteed the make-believes a night attendance of 1000. This accounts for her highness walking off with all the cash. But the old timers are anxious to know why such a bunch of fakirs were ever allowed to hand gold bricks to the baseball management.

"Why they ought to have been sent back to Hester street by the first train after they hit town," said a fan who used to be a ball player of reputation. "If I'd been in the game you bet I'd have kept my eye on the dough bag, and if that old gal had got away from me she'd had to break the hundred yard record for about four miles on a stretch."

"Stung" sang out the last rooster in the bleachers, as he stretched and took his small boy down town for an ice cream soda.

The Building Code Ordinance

There is no doubt that the building code ordinance is one of the most important measures that a municipality can adopt. It is a measure that will protect the health and safety of the community, and it will also protect the property of the community. being formed to be known as The Housekeepers' Protective Union. The object of the organization is to protect the ever increasing demands of the Queen of the Kitchen for higher wages. A meeting will soon be held at which all the good housewives of that thriving municipality will speak their mind on the question. Then, it is said, the crusade for good help at reasonable wages will begin.

Picture those little scenes in the culinary department when the biddy gets dictatorial and demands more pay and less work! Picture the scenes at the Delavare, Lakawana and Western Depot when restful beds loaded with boxes, bags and grips come trooping before the ticket window and ask for single tickets to the old country! The world will watch with suspended breath the developments that are likely to follow in the wake of the Morristown Housekeepers' Protective Union. For the good of local housekeepers, and for the good of the state and nation, we wish for these brave women unqualified success in their daring enterprise. They are taking a desperate chance. More power to 'em!

REMEMBER the true saying: "A DOLLAR IN TIME SAVES NINE." Wages of mechanics in all branches of the trades, as well as material of all kinds are now so high that owners of property must do all they can to keep down the repair bills. This cannot be done by allowing things to rust, decay and fall apart, but can be by using thought and common sense, and having everything which is out of condition made right again soon as noticed. A short service of a carpenter, painter, plumber, mason or tinner NOW is likely to save you many dollars at some future time. Now that you are through with a furnace fire in your house, let us suggest that you have it well cleaned and the smoke pipe taken down. They Moved Down to Boston.

Mrs. H. G. Wells and other grown-ups have had their merry games at Boston, but here is a little miss whose unconscious irony puts their best efforts to shame. Why, asked Dorothy the other night on going to bed, "why can't we see fairies?" "Because they do not live in the beds and woods here any more," replied her nurse. "Where are they then?" "In heaven," "Perhaps so," "Oh, I know," said Dorothy after a moment of silent thought. "The angels got tired of their old mansions in the skies, so they let the fairies have them and moved to Boston."—John.

Pure White Lead
is the Natural Paint Pigment

Numerous compounds are being offered to take the place of white lead as a paint, but no real substitute for it has yet been found. Pure White Lead has a peculiar property of amalgamating with the wood upon which it is used—added to this it has an elasticity which permits the paint to follow the natural expansion and contraction of the wood. Pure White Lead alone fulfills all the requirements of the ideal paint.

Is White Lead with its full natural tenacity and elasticity unimpaired by adulterants. Every bag of it bears the Dutch Boy trade mark, which is a positive guarantee of absolutely Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

THEIR LAST HOUR.

The lovely maiden shuddered involuntarily, and drew closer to her lover. A look of unutterable sadness came over her face, and a tear drop, welling from her azure eye, stole down her nose and made a blister on the young man's fresh white collar.

"Why are you sad?" he murmured, sneezing violently as her wayward tresses tickled his left nostril.

"I was thinking," she said, gulping down a sob and a marshmallow simultaneously, "that this will be our last evening together until to-morrow!" For truly love hands us a lemon with every caramel—Cleveland Leader.

Transformation.

He has ceased to call her "Darling." She has ceased to call him "Dear." He has ceased composing sonnets to her "little shell-like ear."

She has ceased to hurry madly to the mirror, when he calls. He has ceased to buy her chocolates and ice-cream at concert halls!

This is not because these lovers have been mixed up in a row—No, the simple truth is that they are a married couple now.—Sloper.

THE SAFER CAUSE.

Gerald—Marriages are made in heaven.
Geraldine—But to make sure of me, don't you think you had better take me here on earth?

The Golden Rule.

I do to others as I would
That they should do to me.
To feel the joy of doing good,
I do to others as I would.
And so I kissed her where she stood.
And this was all my plea:
"I do to others as I would

Men Past Sixty in Danger.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate glands. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rockport, Mo., writes: "I suffered from enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 61 years old."—For sale by G. JUGGLING CITY ACCOUNTS.

Lincoln (Neb.) Citizens Kept in the Dark as to the Cost of Their Street Lights.

Lincoln, Neb., is getting an unenviable notoriety through the attempts of its officials to make it appear that its expensive municipal electric plant is supplying the city with light at a low figure.

In the report of the city auditor for the seven months ended March 31, 1906, although some of the elements of cost were omitted, the evident intention was to give a fair showing. But unfortunately it was shown that the cost ($75,018 a year for lamps burning only 2,550 hours) was larger than the contract price for lamps supplied by private companies in neighboring cities. This was unsatisfactory, of course.

Accordingly in the annual report for the year ended Aug. 31, 1906, there was a deliberate omission of depreciation and interest charges on that part of the plant's cost not covered by bonds—$21,001, or one-quarter of the total construction cost. Apparently, also, the lighting schedule had been reduced to keep the cost down, as the report shows that the lamps burned only 1,000 hours during the year. By these devices the cost was reduced to $50.09.

Soon after the appearance of this report the mayor gave out in a newspaper interview that the plant had been grossly mismanaged and that it was furnishing lights all night and every night at a cost of $51.12 a year. It is charitable to suppose that his honor was unaware of the fact that to give all night every night service the lamps must burn 4,000 hours a year instead of 1,000, as shown by the report quoted above.

At about the time the mayor's investigation appeared an investigation of the plant was made by Professors C. H. Melnarck and G. H. Morse of the University of Nebraska. Their detailed report gives the cost per lamp per annum as $98.84 for an all night service, nearly double the cost claimed by the mayor. This report was made by the city's consulting engineer, but Mayor Brown, who is a candidate for re-election, has apparently not accepted its findings, although, according to the Omaha Bee, he now places the cost at $63.20.

It is worth noting that the original estimate for this plant was $55,000 construction cost and $25,105 annual expense. The actual construction cost, as shown in the auditor's report, was $80,001, nearly 58 per cent in excess of the estimate. The annual expense, as shown by the expert report, is $12,510, exceeding the estimate by 23 per cent.

This is a typical example of the sort of understating that leads cities to adopt municipal ownership and also of the official juggling of figures by which the public is temporarily prevented from learning that it has a white elephant on its hands.

STEAMERS BOTHER LONDON.

Council Can't Sell Them—Will Run Them Awhile—Wages and Fares to Be Cut.

Those who have made statements to the effect that the new London county council is not opposed to municipal ownership will find it hard to explain the report recently submitted by the committee having in charge the matter of the Thames steamboats.

In this report it is stated that they had tried in vain to sell or lease them and that their final decision to run them for four and a half months during the summer "must not be taken as endorsing the previous policy of the council or as implying any intention that the boats should be worked after the summer season. On the contrary, it is put forward as the best, if not the only practical, method of dealing with the problem presented to us." The committee also proposed to reduce fares and to diminish the wages of the employees, which they consider in excess of what is equitable.

In regard to the scheme for an enormous municipal lighting and power plant, the preliminary steps for which were taken by the old council, the present council has put itself on record to the effect that if this scheme goes through under no circumstances will the city operate the plant.

The Figures Would Open Their Eyes.

There can be no doubt that all the water supplied free by municipal water departments should be paid for by the particular bureaus or departments that use it, just as would be the case if they were supplied by a private company. The water so used is a debt to the taxpayers of the town, and if the statistics of free water were published the eyes of water consumers would be opened as to how much they are taxed for the payment of water to sprinkle boulevards, streets in front of non-water paying tenants and water to protect the property of people who make their tenants pay for their supplies of water.—Editorial in the Fire and Water Engineering.

Figured Profits the Usual Way.

Although the last annual report of the Crawfordville (Ind.) municipal electric light plant shows a "net profit" of $9,727 the trustees have just made a 10 per cent advance in the charge for street lighting. This may be accounted for by the fact that the "profits" are figured before allowing for interest and depreciation, which amount to nearly $10,000 a year.

The municipal electric lighting plant of Knightstown, Ind., is in need of extensive repairs, and it is proposed to issue $10,000 in bonds if approved by a referendum vote. The members of the city council contend that "prices" for electric service must be greatly increased to make the plant self sustaining.—Electrical World.
