BROAD STREET TO BE PAVED

Initial Move In That Direction Taken at Special Session of Council, Friday.

FINK'S RESOLUTION PASSED.

Proposed Improvement Must Be Made By Ordinance—Public Service Expected to Stand Its Share of Expense.

The Common Council, through the Road Committee, of which Councilman Fink is chairman, made the initial move toward the paving of Broad street, at the special session of the Common Council, Friday night. The present dilapidated condition of this thoroughfare is an eyesore to the townspeople as well as the Town Solons.

Delay in taking up the work has been caused by negotiations for a long time pending with the Public Service Corporation. The Council desires to pave the street with bricks, and looks to have the P. S. C. stand the expense of paving that portion of the roadway covered by the trolley tracks. Several consultations have been held with Col. Hines, which have been respectfully referred to the Corporation's higher officials, with the understanding that the Company would probably comply with the request of the Council.

Chairman Fink reported to the Council, Friday night, that the Public Service would not guarantee to lay brick pavement, but that he had been assured that it would do so, if the expense was not too large. He said that the company would either lay brick pavement, or a fine macadam in their portion of the roadway.

"I think," said Councilman Fink, "that this is too serious a matter to admit of further delay. Broad street, in its present condition, is a disgrace to the town, and the best thing we can do is to take care of our part of the street. I feel certain that the trolley company will do the right thing."

Councilman Fink told of his visit to Newark with Engineer Vars, where they had inspected several streets which had been paved with brick. He had ascertained that wood blocks could be laid for $3.50 a square yard, and brick for $2.55 a square yard. It was the opinion of the Committee that the brick paving should be used.

Chairman Fink presented a resolution to pave the carriage ways of Broad street with brick, and set the curb wherever necessary and that the evening of May 4 be set aside as the date for a public hearing on the proposed improvement, which must be made by ordinance. The resolution was unanimously passed, but Councilman Hohenstein had first to be assured that his vote for the resolution would not commit him to vote for the ordinance before he would answer aye to the resolution.

THE WIND HAD SOME FUN.

Overturned a Barn, and Chimney, and Hit a Pedestrian With a Sign.

The barn owned by George Rogers, on South Broad street, was bowled over by the wind Saturday afternoon. It was used as a hay storage and was rather top heavy. The side of the structure had fallen out last winter.

This was not the only mischief done by the antics of the wind. A chimney on the Godshalk home on the Boulevard was blown down, and several panes of glass broken in the houses in that vicinity. The galvanized iron sign in front of the United States Express office on Elm street, was blown from its hinges, striking B. A. Doyle on the hip. Mr. Doyle had his feelings jarred, but he was otherwise uninjured.

Home Missionary Society Meeting.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First M. E. Church will hold its April meeting at the residence of Mrs. W. H. Davies, 213 Prospect street, Thursday afternoon, April 23d, at 8 o'clock. The subject for the afternoon will be "Children of Toil, in the Mills, Mines and Cities." The following program will be rendered after the business meeting: Singing, "Let the children come in;" responsive reading from leaflets, conducted by the president, Mrs. Samuel Burhaus; reading from "Citizens of To-morrow;" in the South-ern Cotton Mills, by Mrs. Wm. J. Taylor; poem, "What Answer?" read by Mrs. Ralph Pearsall; leaflet, "Boys and Girls in the Coal Regions," by Mrs. Bishop; story, "How Rosa Paid the Doctor," Mrs. E. A. Keegan. The hostess, Mrs. Davies will have charge of the social. All interested in Missions are invited.

NEW HOME FOR COUNCIL.

Gale's Club House Property Leased And May Be Bought For a Town Hall Site.

PRICE ASKED IS $8,000.

Lease Carries With It Right To Purchase Within a Year; Rent Goes on Purchase Price If Bought in 3 Months.

The Westfield Common Council is to have a new home, and, if present plans do not go wrong, they will soon own a fine property, on which will be built as soon as possible, a municipal building. Action to this end was taken at a special meeting of the council, Saturday night, when it was voted to lease Gale's club house on Elm street for one year, with the option of buying the property within that time.

The Club house property is located on Elm street, just back of the present police headquarters. It has a frontage of 90 feet, and a depth of 231 feet. Dr. Gale has offered to sell it to the Town for $8,000, and the lease carries with it an option for its purchase at that figure any time within the year. If the purchase should be made within the next three months, the amount paid in rent will be deducted from the purchase price. The Council will pay $100 per year for rent of the building and grounds.

The club house is large enough to provide for a council chamber in the front; quarters for the police, and other town officials in the rear. Some slight alterations will have to be made, but this work can be done in a few days and at very little expense.

All the furniture in the Town rooms, including the two safes, and voting machine will be moved, as will the desks, stands, etc., of Engineer Vars, who has his office in the council chamber. The police headquarters, with the cells, police lockers, Recorder's rostrum, desks, collector's supplies, railing, and the warm benches provided for the Town Wags, will all be bundled into a wagon, and conveyed to the new home—not to mention the jail-birds.

The building in which the Town Solons have made their home since the town was incorporated, is owned by The Peoples National Bank of Westfield, and the Bank proposes to remodel the building for its own use as soon as the leases now in force have expired.

"PIPPA PASSES."

Browning's Drama read at Woman's Club Meeting, Monday Afternoon.

The Woman's Club met Monday afternoon, the President in the chair. Committees were appointed for the annual meeting and other routine business transacted.

The program of the afternoon was a presentation of "Pippa Passes," Robert Browning's wellknown drama. Mrs. John B. Taylor read the explanatory paper, and the play itself was read by the following members under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Beebe, Mrs. Floyd, Mrs. Watts, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Tabby, Miss Beth Morehouse, Mrs. Platt, Mrs. Stratton Halsted. Pippa's four beautiful songs were sung by Mrs. Frank Smith; the music was her own composition.

The next meeting of the club, April 27, will be the annual meeting and closes the season. An election of officers and other important business will be in order. A very interesting musical program has been arranged, followed by a reception and club tea. Every club member, active and associate, is urged to attend.

BUILDING AND LOAN STOCK.

Eighth Series of Shares of Local Association Will Be Paid Off Tuesday.

The eighth series of stock consisting of one hundred and six shares of the Westfield Building and Loan Association has matured and will be paid off next Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the members of the Association.

This series, like its immediate predecessors, has matured with one hundred and thirty-six payments, which means that for every $130 paid into the association, $200 will be paid on the maturing stock.

The fact that there is so successful an association of this sort in Westfield should be more generally known among the residents, especially those who have only come to Westfield recently.

WALTER I. NEAFIE A BENEDICT; FRIENDS JUST HEAR ABOUT IT.

Was Married to Miss Shepard in Jersey City on Afternoon of January 4.

Walter I. Neafie has joined the Benedicts, and he did it on the Q. T. Just before he left these parts for the wild and woolly west, where he is predicted to make a fortune, he took his Lady Fair, Miss Edith S. Shepard, of Brooklyn, to Jersey City, where they were quietly married. This was on the afternoon of January 4.

Less than an hour later, Walter, having said goodbye to the company of friends, who with his "wife" had journeyed across the river, to see him off, was speeding westward with his matrimonial credentials stowed away in his vest pocket, and his friends all in the dark as to what had happened.

Last week Westfield friends and his compatriots in the I. O. S. received an announcement, by which they were apprised that "Foxy" Walter "had gone and done it."

Mrs. Neafie expects to join her husband in the west in the Fall. She is at present living in Brooklyn, and is to attend the annual dinner given by the I. O. S. at Healy's, New York, next Wednesday night. She will receive a royal reception, as she is by right of tradition, precedent and custom a bona fide I. O. S. girl.

In choosing the quiet, evasive way of getting married, Mr. Neafie has followed rather than established a precedent in the I. O. S. The official records show that the first benedict, who was the father of the organization, and is now the father of several coming I. O. S. boys, gave his official sanction to the private wedding, by being wedded privately. Hence no questions were asked when the President, on hearing of Mr. Neafie's coup d'etat, wired him congratulations.

CIVIL SERVICE BILL PASSED;

A VICTORY FOR GOVERNOR FORT.

Amended Measure Carried in Lower House by Work of Assemblyman Pierce.

The Civil Service Bill was passed last Friday evening, just before final adjournment. Governor Fort turned the tables on the machine leaders by mustering enough votes to revise and pass the measure. The act carries a $10,000 appropriation, mandatory on the State, and municipalities can vote to accept its provisions. Under its provisions to solicit a political subscription from an employee of the State is a misdemeanor. Governor Fort clinched his victory by immediately making the bill a law by affixing his signature.

Assemblyman Carlton B. Pierce, of Cranford, was Governor Fort's right hand man in the victory. It was due to his efforts that enough votes were secured to pass the bill.

All the Union County Assemblymen voted for the Civil Service Bill, as did Daab, Hendrickson Jr., Holcombe, Morris and Tannity, Democrats. The final vote was 32 for and 28 against.

They Have Their Reward.

Town Attorney Paul Q. Oliver, Charles D. Reese and Matthias Miller, having served their time as members of Westfield's Fire Department, were granted fire exemption certificates by the Common Council, Friday night. Each was an active fireman for the required number of years.

Miss Layton Will Recover.

Miss Alice Layton, of New York avenue, who underwent a successful operation on Tuesday last in the Memorial Hospital, New City, is on the road to recovery and hopes to be able to return to her home in about three weeks.

N. P. H. S. 5; W. H. S. 2.

The Westfield High School baseball team was defeated by the North Plainfield High School at Recreation Park, Friday afternoon, in the first game of the season. The score was 5 to 2. Carlson and Brown were in the points for the locals, and Smith and Powell for the visitors.

Advertised Letters.

Miss Isabelle Mirrick, Miss Helen Fendlin, Mr. and Mrs. John Audobon Gill, Miss Ethel Grant, Miss E. Leveridge, Mr. W. A. M. Welles, Mrs. George A. Whipple, Mr. O. M. Paletto, Mr. Fred Wesley Salmon, Miss Helen Gray Clark, Mrs. W. Manning, Mrs. William Davison.

OLD TOMPKINS HOMESTEAD BURNED TO THE GROUND.

Overflow of Tar on Kitchen Stove Caused $8,000 Blaze.

The Old Tompkins Homestead, owned by J. E. Ensign, and known as Buolero Farm, on Woodland avenue, was burned to the ground Saturday afternoon. The fire was caused by an overflow of tar, which a workman had placed in a large vat on the kitchen stove. When the blaze was discovered the room was in flames, and the family was powerless to prevent the spread. The total loss, including the house and furniture, is estimated at $8,000, a part of which is covered by insurance.

The firemen responded promptly to the call, all the apparatus being taken to the scene but the hose truck. The fire was located outside the hydrant district, and the firemen could do but little to save the house, which was ablaze when they arrived. A high wind was blowing from the northwest, and for a time it looked as if the barns and nearby buildings would catch fire. Chief Decker directed his men to surround the barn, and to bring the bucket brigade into quick action, should the building catch fire.

The house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ensign, and Mrs. Ensign's parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. Davidson.

The Ensign and Davidson families are now living in the house occupied by E. O. Haff, at Bird's Corner, in which they will continue to live, as the Haffs expect to move to Cintham, N. Y., in a few days. The work of rebuilding on the site of the old home will be begun in a short time. It had been the intention of Mr. Ensign to enlarge and remodel the house this summer.

CRUCIFIXION SUNG BY CHOIR

BOYS OF ST. PAULS P. E. CHURCH

Before an audience that filled the edifice to the limit of its capacity, St. Paul's "Crucifixion" was sung by the Boys' Choir of St. Pauls Episcopal Church last night. Eight men, and five boys, assisted the twenty members of the local choir in their very commendable performance.

The soloists were Messrs. Bland and Walsh, of New York, and Loveridge, of Cranford, the latter being a regular member of the choir. The singing of "God So Loved the World" by the quartette composed of Master William Bachman, Messrs. Earle, Zabriski, and Bruce, proved, in the opinion of many, to be of the most delightful part in the singing of this religious work, both because of the beauty of the music, and the manner in which it was sung.

During the offertory Master Clarence Nostand sang "Calvary." The proceeds of the collection will go into the fund for the choir boys summer outing.

In appreciation of the excellent work done by Rector Cross, and his twenty boy singers, members of the church have contributed 35 choir lockers, which are now being installed in the choir room. A complete chest of drawers has also been donated by members of the church. A friend in New York has given a new surplice to each member of the choir. These will be worn for the first time on Easter Sunday.

AMONG THE MEN'S CLUBS.

The seventh and last number of entertainments in the course of the Presbyterian Men's Club will be given Friday, the 24th. This quartet of artists stands very high in the profession and widely known for their solo and chorus work, which has gained for them an enviable reputation in and around this metropolitan district.

The last entertainment in the course of the Men's League of the Methodist Church will take place on Tuesday evening next. Charles R. Taggart, of Vermont, and Alfred E. Pearsall, of Westfield, will be the entertainers. An enjoyable evening is assured those who attend.

There will be a special meeting of the Men's Club of the Congregational Church, Tuesday night. Important business will be transacted. All members are earnestly requested to be present.

Miss Etta Woodring Surprised.

Miss Etta Woodring, of this place, was tendered a surprise party by fifty of her friends from Plainfield and Westfield at the home of Isaac Houston on West Front street, Plainfield, Friday night. Music, games and dancing were the principal diversions of the evening and refreshments were served at midnight. The affair was arranged by Miss Edna Marsh, of this town.

TEL. FRANCHISE PASSED.

But Three Members of Council Vote Against Its Final Adoption.

'SIN FAVOR ITS PASSAGE.

Only a Short Debate Marked the Conclusion of a Three Years' Controversy—Mr. McHarg Happy.

After three years of persistent effort, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, through its representative, William McHarg, has received a twenty-year franchise which gives it the right to extend its lines through streets not covered by the old franchise, and to build underground conduits through the main streets of the town. The ordinance granting these privileges was passed on third and final reading at a special meeting of the Common Council, Friday night.

Councilmen Hohenstein, Schmitt and Malisburly voted against the franchise; Mayor Alpers, and Councilmen Floyd, Fink, Atfielditch, Wilcox and Wilson for it. Councilman Schmitt's final reason for opposing the franchise was that he did not want to see the streets of Westfield "lined with additional telephone poles."

The ordinance was presented and acted upon without much debate. After Councilman Schmitt had offered his objections, which Representative McHarg answered briefly, Mayor Alpers called for the vote. It was a case of accept it or reject it, Mr. McHarg having stated that the company would make no further concessions.

"The ordinance which you are now acting upon," he said, "is as liberal in its provisions as it possibly can be. The company has worked with you for over three years, and the end has been reached. If you refuse us this ordinance, it will be a long time before we will attempt to present another."

The ordinance as passed will be found on an insert page of this issue. The concessions which the company made as to rates and as to the extension of its lines, and the building of conduits are incorporated in the agreement, which is actually as binding as the ordinance.

Representative McHarg was a happy man after the vote had been taken. He shook hands with all the councilmen, and wished them "all kinds of good luck."

Councilman Schmitt said, "So long, McHarg. You've whipped me, and I'll take off my hat to the best man." "Sorry you won, and I wish I could have whipped you," was Councilman Malisburly's farewell greeting.

Councilman Hohenstein said that he was sorry to lose the society of Mr. McHarg.

"Don't suppose you'll ever come to see us again now that you've got what you want."

"Sure I will, but I think you ought to return the call first," was the reply of telephone magnate.

DRAW GAME WITH DR. SCHAEFER.

Dr. Rufus Green, editor of the STANDARD's checker and chess column, played a draw game with Dr. A. Schaefer the United States checker expert at Newark, last week. Dr. Green was one of three players who held his own with Dr. Schaefer.

Dr. Schaefer is regarded as the best checker player in this country. He represented the United States in the International checker tourney with Great Britain last year, and made the largest number of points for his side.

CELEBRATE SIXTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

L. O. S. to Make Merry at Healey's, New York, Wednesday Night.

Next Wednesday night the members of the L. O. S., and their wives, and lady friends, will celebrate the sixteenth anniversary of the organization by a banquet and dance, at Healey's, New York.

The banquet will be held in the jungle room, where covers will be laid for 80 guests. President and Mrs. Crutenden will preside at the feast. During the banquet, professional colored artists will entertain with songs and music. This will be followed by a dance in the ballroom adjoining.

Every preparation has been made for an old fashioned celebration, and none of the members or invited guests could be induced to miss it.

The editor of this column had the pleasure recently of visiting the New York Checker Club at its rooms, 8 East 42nd street, where he was cordially received, and given opportunity to meet several of their prominent players. The feature of the occasion was the playing of the famous expert, Dr. A. Schaefer, editor of the Checker Department of the Newark Sunday Call. Dr. Schaefer was one of the ten Americans chosen to meet the ten Englishmen in the international match, held in Boston two years ago, and made as we remember the best showing on the American side. On the evening of our visit he played simultaneously against eleven men on eleven boards. His record was eight wins, two draws and one lost. The Standard's editor was fortunate enough to secure a draw.

To prevent the playing of favorite and set openings the New York Club has a pack of 43 cards, each card having on it the first move for black and for white. From this pack black draws, and his and white's first move must be as on the card. The second game the same card is used, the colors being reversed. The third game another card is drawn, etc.

As these opening moves will interest our readers, we give them below.

THE PROPOSED PAVING OF BROAD STREET.

Pedestrians who for the past few years have been splashing about in the mud and slush of Broad street on rainy days, and breathing a fine admixture of dust and ozone on balmy days, may hope for better things in the not distant future. The Common Council has taken the initial step toward paving this outworn business thoroughfare with vitrified brick.

Councilman Fink's resolution providing for the paving of the carriages of the street, and for the adjustment of the curb line, will, if the ordinance which it entails is passed, relieve the town solons of their part of the obligation. But the central part of the street, which is covered by the trolley tracks, is to be looked after by the Public Service Corporation; and the question is asked: "What is the Public Service Corporation going to do about it?"

It is useless and dangerous for the common council to hold up a much needed improvement awaiting the deliberate judgments of the trolley officials, who seem unwilling to commit themselves to any definite plan of action. Westfield's business interests have suffered too much already in consequence of a long controversy which is not much nearer settlement now than when it was begun.

It is understood that the trolley officials will either prescribe to the plan of the town officials and pave with bricks their section of the street; or they will do what is probably the less expensive thing, lay a "fine macadam road-bed" between the trolley tracks. Of course the nature of the repairs is optional with the Public Service Corporation.

If that Corporation has a soul it may be magnanimous enough to meet the town officials half way, and incidentally to give conformity and character to Broad street by taking care of its section of the roadway in the same way as the Town proposes to take care of its section.

Action by the Town Council, however, is imperative. Broad street must be improved and the proposed improvement seems to be the more economical, because it is the more durable. Possibly after the Public Service has carefully considered the matter of "first cost" it may finally agree to contribute its full quota to a permanent improvement.

THE LEASE OF GALE'S PROPERTY AND ITS EVIDENT OBJECT.

The action of the Common Council, Saturday night, in leasing the Gale Clubhouse property for one year is a move in the right direction. The club house is not the most desirable building for a Town Headquarters, but it is possibly the best to be obtained under existing conditions, and it will serve as a temporary home until the object for which it was leased can be carried out.

While the Council has not as yet agreed to purchase the property, it is expected that it will do so. The terms of the lease imply as much. It is specified therein that the town shall have the option of purchasing within a year at a cost of $8,000; and further, if the town shall make such purchase within the next three months, the rent money shall be applied to the purchase price.

The bargain is a good one. The price asked is reasonable, and the site is most desirable. The people of Westfield occasionally feel inspired to doff their hats to the Town Solons. Hats off at this time! The one-time rendezvous of the old guard who played at ten pins from sun-down to midnight, still, it is to be hoped, soon give place to a more dignified and more imposing structure.

If then the guardians of Law and Order go to their several tasks more earnestly than they do now, who shall censure them?

Congenial surroundings, and a sense of ownership, will inspire any man to greater effort. It is earnestly to be hoped that the purchase of the Gale's Club property is not far distant, because of what it means to the future betterment of Westfield's municipal regime.

CARLETON B. PIERCE.

If there ever was any doubt in the minds of Union County Republicans as to the advisability of selecting a man for public office who had not taken any active part in politics before, such doubt ought to be removed in the instance of Carleton B. Pierce, of Cranford.

Previous to his nomination to the Assembly, Mr. Pierce was unknown except to his fellow townsmen who admired him for his sound and deliberate judgments. He was orderly in method and unassuming in manner. His initial speech at the convention which nominated him was a logical exposition of facts. It indicated a sane mind.

Mr. Pierce's record in the lower house this year emphasized the qualities which he had evidenced as a private citizen. He did nothing for show or effect; consequently his work has not been heralded about the State over spread-eagle captions. But what Mr. Pierce has done, he has done honestly, intelligently and fearlessly, and withal quietly. His party, his fellow-townsmen, and the people at large have all the more reason, therefore, to be thankful for having confided their interests to his keeping.

We are thankful for the many helpful criticisms which we receive from time to time respecting the kind and quality of the news which we publish, but when the good housewife informs us that she doesn't like the quality of our newspaper because "it turns brown too quickly on the shelves," we wonder if it wouldn't pay us better to go into the stationery business.

Eggs and Bonnets are appropriate to the Easter time. Inferences disparaging to art, should be avoided, however, as the eggs were discovered first.

Jail Bird Chatter.

Andrew McGrundy chose to recline his weary bones upon the rear veranda of a Dudley avenue residence, Tuesday. He is now reclining on the lattice-iron divans in the county jail. It is hoped the change will do him good.

Owen Gagan Frairie behaved very badly on a trolley car, Saturday night. Recorder Toney told him he'd ought to know better. Gagan averred it wouldn't happen again. Now he's out on his good behavior.

There have been few arrests lately, due to the hard times.

Wonder if the Jail Boarders will like the new police headquarters. It's likely to be less noisy there, because the trolley cars are farther away.

Evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the culprit who stole the Recorder's ink stand will be thankfully received. The police are working on the case and have their suspicions. Somebody had better look out.

Carl Schurz Reminiscences.

The extraordinary popular interest aroused by the two series already published has decided the editors to add several other articles during 1908. At the close of the war Mr. Schurz' acquaintances included nearly all the political leaders of the day. His estimates and descriptions of these men are invaluable for their remarkable vividness and the freshness of first-hand impressions. In these later articles, Mr. Schurz tells of his services as a United States Senator, of his career as an editor of his activities as a man of letters and a public-spirited citizen.

For His Sake

By Sue McNamara

People in Edhamville were rather curious about Mrs. Courtney. Why such a pale, sad-eyed little woman should spend so much time earning and making gorgeous clothes which she never wore in the village was a little beyond them.

All the year round Mrs. Courtney worked in the dry goods store as one of the salesladies. Although she was very gentle and very gracious, there was always a faint reserve and dignity about her through which no one could penetrate. And always there was the far-away shadow of sadness in her eyes.

"And what beats me," said old Mrs. Poplam, the village gossip, "didn't I drop in there Wednesday night after prayer meeting, and wasn't she sewing away on the sweetest silk dress I ever laid eyes on. It looks mighty queer. Has any one around here ever seen her wear them?"

There was a hint of frost in the air and the sun was dying in the west one night late in October, when Mrs. Courtney hurried in at her gate. It had been a hard day at the store. Yet, with feverish eagerness, without taking the time to prepare her usual plain little supper, she set to work on some filmy, fluffy material which she hauled down from the dresser drawer.

"Because they mustn't be merely nice clothes, dear," she whispered to herself. "They must be lovely, extravagant; the kind of clothes a woman who has everything would wear. If they weren't the very finest you would be sure to suspect. They must be just as lovely as the ones I had before—before."

Headless of the costly stuff she held in her lap the woman buried her face in it with a heartbreaking sob.

The next day, unconscious of the surprised stares of the villagers, she took a train for the north. A big trunk, bearing all the fine clothes, went with her. After riding all day she arrived at a big city. Here she hastened at once to a hotel. When she emerged from her room she was transformed from the plain little woman who had entered it to a blooming beauty. A skillful maid, a hair-dresser and the sumptuous clothes had made her again the woman she used to be.

"To the penitentiary," was the quick order she gave the hack driver. The gray-haired, warden was used to admitting women visitors. He looked approvingly after Mrs. Courtney. This was the third year the pretty, well-dressed woman had come to see No. 2,099, in other words, James Courtney, "doing" 20 years for forgery.

In the cold, grim little stone chamber Mrs. Courtney waited. She could scarcely breathe for the pounding of her heart. She closed both eyes and held her hands to her breast to quiet it. Then she was conscious of a step in the corridor. There was a low cry:

"Maid!"

It was his voice, the voice she had hungered for through the barren, pitiless year. It was all gone, the heartache and the torture. And she was here, safe once more in the encircling shelter of his dear arms. Through the dazed blur of tumult in her brain her hands stole to his face, tenderly caressing each sunken feature.

What? Bring tears and sighs to this one hour of the year? Leave only an added memory of sorrow and pain to this man whose whole existence was now but a gray shadow?

So she laughed and was gay, though her heart was breaking. It was all a part with the lovely, extravagant clothes, the clothes he would remember with happiness when she was gone.

"And Jim, dear," she was saying, "I have such a fine, paying position. Just enough light work to keep me from being idle and getting too lonely without you."

The brave voice broke for a moment, but when she raised her face from his shoulder she was smiling through her tears.

"Sorry, madam, but time's up," said the guard, respectfully.

The big gates clanged behind them. Jim stood silent, straining his ears to catch the last silken rustle of her skirt. When he turned his face again toward the dark and gloomy corridor he held his head high and there was an unwonted look in his eyes.

Must Be Changed.

The old saying, "As savage as a rat," must be changed. A Chicago boy caught a large rat and kept him in a cage for a month and tried many experiments on him. One of the things he did was to let loose a large grasshopper in the same cage, and the rat was so frightened by the insect that he crouched in a corner and whined and shivered with fear. When a sparrow was introduced to the cage, the rat ran round and round until he fell down from exhaustion. When naturalists tell us of the fierceness of the rat, after this, they should leave out the Chicago redent.

Some Weather Wisdom.

Red skies at sunset indicate fine weather, a bright yellow sky in the early evening denotes wind, a red sky in the morning betokens bad weather. Small, dark clouds foretell rain; generally the softer the clouds look, the less wind, but more rain may be expected. Fog is an indication of fine weather; so is dew.

General Ordinance No. 70.

An Ordinance designating the streets, avenues and highways in the town of Westfield, Union County, New Jersey, in, through and upon which the poles or poles and underground conduits and cables of The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company may be placed, and the manner of placing the same.

Be it ordained by the Council of the Town of Westfield, in the County of Union, as follows:

Section 1.—That the following streets, avenues and highways and parts thereof through, and upon which the poles and cables of The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company may be placed are hereby designated and prescribed throughout their entire length as follows:

Section 2.—That all posts or poles hereafter to be erected shall be located and erected within and adjacent to the curb lines where shown by the official maps of the Town of Westfield, and within eighteen inches thereof, and at the points or places now occupied by the poles or poles of The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, and at other convenient points or places upon streets and highways, within and adjacent to the curb lines as aforesaid, where the said Company may require the right to erect said posts or poles, which places shall not be more than one hundred and fifty feet apart.

Section 3.—That the said The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, its successors and assigns, be and it is hereby authorized and empowered to construct and maintain for the uses and purposes of its business a system of subways, underground conduits and cables, including the necessary manholes and street openings and lateral connections to property lines beneath the surface of the streets and highways of the Town of Westfield designated in Section 1 of this ordinance, and to place, maintain and operate in said system of subways or underground conduits the wires and cables or other electrical conductors necessary for its said business; also to construct and maintain for such purposes a system of electrical conductors, in connection with the necessary poles for distribution from the electrical conductors placed in subways or underground conduits hereinafter mentioned.

Section 4.—That the aforesaid streets, avenues and highways and parts thereof above designated for the erection of posts or poles are also designated for the construction of the underground conduits and cables of said Company; said Company may on the same streets and highways erect the necessary distributing poles, fixtures and supports for distributing its electrical conductors along, across and above the surface of the streets in connection with said subways.

That said subways or underground conduits shall be made of wood or other suitable material, and shall be placed not less than eighteen inches beneath the surface of the street, and not less than five nor more than ten feet from the curb line, excepting where existing pipes or obstructions may require a deviation from such location, in which cases such subways and conduits shall be located under the approval of the Road Committee, and in such places on such lines as to preserve the existing rights of other persons or companies.

Section 5.—That all manholes shall be strongly built and shall be located beneath the surface of the streets at such points along the line of the subways or underground conduits as may be necessary and convenient for placing and operating the electrical conductors which said Company may from time to time place in said subways or underground conduits, and as shall be approved by the Road Committee, and shall be so constructed as not to interfere with the passage of the public over and along the said street, and the electrical conductors and conduits thereof shall be placed so as not to injure the property of any person or any public or private sewer, water or gas pipe.

Section 6.—That no street or highway shall be opened by said Company without a written permit for that purpose, signed by the Clerk of the Town of Westfield, stating the opening authorized to be made thereunder, which permit shall remain in the possession of the person in charge of said work, and he by him exhibited to any police officer of the Town of Westfield or any member of the Town Government upon demand. The said Company, its servants and employees, in the laying of any subways or underground conduits, in excavating and replacing the earth in any street, and the pavement thereon, shall be under the supervision of the Road Committee, and shall promptly comply with its orders, provided such orders are not unreasonable.

Section 7.—That the earth removed in making any excavation shall be restored, and the pavement, if any, taken up shall be relaid by said Company in a thorough, workmanlike manner, and in such manner as to prevent any sinking of the pavement; the same shall be maintained by said Company in as good condition as the surrounding pavement, until such street or highway in such case shall be renewed or repaired by the Town, the cost of restoring the earth, macadam, or otherwise arising from such excavation, and the laying of pavements and repairs thereto, caused by the opening of any such street, alley, highway or public place, shall be paid by said Company, and the said work shall be done under the supervision and to the satisfaction of the Road Committee. In case the said Company shall fail or neglect to restore the earth removed in making the excavation, or to restore the pavement taken up, in the manner aforesaid, or to properly maintain the same before the expiration of five working days after notice in writing to do such work shall have been served upon such Company, or one of its officers, agents, servants or employees in charge of such work, by the Chairman of the Road Committee, then such work may be done at the expense of said Company by the Town Council or its agents, and the cost shall be paid by said Company upon presentation to it of the bills therefor certified as correct by the Chairman of the Road Committee.

Section 8.—That a plan or map showing the location of proposed subways or underground conduits from time to time shall be furnished to and approved by the Road Committee before the work of construction shall commence, and upon the completion of any subways or underground conduits in any street, alley, highway or public place or section thereof the Company shall promptly furnish the Town with two (2) copies of a map or plan drawn to a scale not smaller than 100 feet to one inch, showing the correct location and depth of said conduits with all manholes. All aerial wires shall be not less than twenty feet above the ground, and all wires and poles shall be so located as in no way to interfere with the safety or convenience of persons traveling on or above the streets or highways, and all work hereunder to be done in accordance with the existing ordinances of the Town of Westfield.

Section 8—That the said Company will proceed with the construction of its subways and extend its underground system throughout the Town as speedily as its business warrants. Upon the completion of the conduits or subways in any street or section thereof, the said Company shall cause its overhead wires, cables and poles (except such poles as are necessary for local distribution) to be removed from the streets in which such conduits are constructed, and excepting such poles as may be used for road electric lighting purposes. In the event of the failure of said Company to remove the wires and poles within ten days after notice so to do shall have been given by the Council, to any officer or agent of said Company, the Council or its agents may remove the said wires and poles at the expense of the said Company.

Section 10—That the rates charged for local telephone service to subscribers within the present limits of the Westfield telephone exchange, which includes the Town of Westfield, shall not exceed the rates charged for the same class of service in any other exchange in the County of Union of equal population.

Section 11—That should any change be made in the course or grade of any streets, avenues or highways in the Town of Westfield by the authority of the Town Council, then all posts, poles, subways and underground conduits of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company along the line of such streets, avenues or highways, shall be made to conform to such new course or grade, and the cost thereof shall be paid by The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. Should the construction of any sidewalk, curb, pavement, crosswalk, sewer, drain, culvert, catch basin, or other public work built under the authority of the Town require the change of location of any post, pole, subway, underground conduit or any of their appurtenances or the reconstruction of any portion of any subways, underground conduit or any appurtenance thereof, the property of said Telephone Company, said change or reconstruction shall be promptly made or performed by the Company at its own expense upon notice from the Chairman of the Road Committee, but if the Town or its Street Commissioner shall have originally designated the location for such subways or conduits, and same has been constructed in accordance therewith, said Town shall pay the costs of such moving or altering.

Section 12—That where the said Company provides for interior distribution in certain blocks of the Town and places its wires and cables on poles erected within the blocks, the said Company will be permitted to connect such blocks by means of aerial conductors extending across intervening streets, and posts or poles of the said Company may be placed within or adjacent to the curb line for the purpose of connecting the distributing systems of adjacent blocks.

Section 13—That said Company shall provide free of charge to the Town space not to exceed one duct three inches in diameter in its conduits, and four pins on the topmost of its cross-arms below electric light attachments (where same exist) on its poles to be used in connection with the Town's police, telegraph and fire alarm telegraph signal service; provided, however, that such wires or electrical conductors shall not be used in such manner as to interfere with the use of the wires or electrical conductors that said Company may from time to time place on its poles or in said subways or underground conduits, nor shall said Company be held liable for any damages arising from the attachment or location of such municipal wires.

Section 14—That in addition hereto and as a further consideration said Telephone Company is to carry out the provisions of a certain agreement dated on the day of the approval of this ordinance and made between the said Company and the Town of Westfield and the obligations of which said agreement are to be binding upon said Company, its successors or assigns, as fully as if embodied in this ordinance and made a part thereof.

Section 15—That nothing in this ordinance contained shall be construed to impose an obligation on the part of the Town of Westfield to open any of the said streets or parts thereof not heretofore dedicated or open to the public use, and that nothing herein contained shall be construed in any court or place as an acceptance of any unaccepted street or part thereof.

Section 16—That nothing in this ordinance shall be construed to grant unto The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company an exclusive right, or to prevent the grant of similar privileges to other companies for like purposes on any of the streets or highways of the Town.

Section 17—That the rights, powers and privileges granted by this ordinance shall continue and be in force for a period of twenty (20) years from the date of the passage thereof unless further extended by the Council.

Section 18—That the Company shall indemnify the Town of Westfield, in the County of Union, against and assume all liability and damages which may at any time arise, come or occur to said Town from or by reason of any injury to persons or property from the doing of any work herein mentioned or from the neglect or default of the Company or its employees, or from its or their failure to comply with the provisions of any ordinance of the Town relating to the use of streets or other public places, especially as to the putting of lights or barriers at or around excavations, and the commencement by the Company of work under this ordinance shall be an acceptance thereof and an agreement on the part of said Company, for itself, its successors or assigns, to pay to the Town of Westfield, in the County of Union, in its corporate capacity any sum of money for which it shall at any time become liable to said Town under the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 19—That all poles shall be painted a dark green color and shall be repainted as often as may be necessary at the expense of the said Telephone Company.

Section 20—That The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company shall file with the Clerk of the Town upon acceptance of this ordinance a bond to the Town of Westfield, to be approved by the Town Council of said Town, in the sum of two thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of each and every one of the provisions contained in this ordinance, and the payment of all sums which may become due to the said Town thereunder, said bond to be kept in force during the life of this ordinance.

Section 21—That all the provisions of this ordinance shall continue in force under any form of government which may in future supersede the present form of government of the Town of Westfield.

Section 22—That The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company shall pay the Treasurer of the Town of Westfield all advertising and printing fees incurred by the Town of Westfield in connection with the preparation and passage of this ordinance.

Section 23—That said Company shall file with the Clerk of the Town of Westfield its written acceptance of this ordinance within thirty (30) days of the date of receipt by it of notice of the passage thereof, and come effective.

Section 24—That an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to authorize the location, construction, operation and maintenance of a telephone exchange system in the Township of Westfield, and to prescribe the terms and conditions upon which the franchise to operate and maintain the same may be maintained, adopted and approved by the Township Committee of the then Township of Westfield, November 30, 1895, be and the same is hereby superseded by this ordinance and any and all construction installed and operated under said ordinance to be operated and maintained under and in accordance with the terms and conditions of this ordinance.

Passed and adopted April 10, 1908.
AUGUSTUS L. ALLEN, Mayor.
Attest:
LLOYD THOMPSON, Town Clerk.

Almost Deserved His Life.

Richard Johnson, hanged at Shrewsbury, England, on October 3, 1696, obtained a promise from an under sheriff to place him in the coffin without changing his clothes. After hanging half an hour he still showed signs of life, and on examination it was found he had wrapped cords about his body connected with hooks at the neck, which prevented the rope from doing its work. The apparatus was removed and the man hanged effectively.

In the "Standard"

Highest Type of Ready-to-Wear

EASTER CLOTHING

Of Individuality

Economically Priced

There are few men and young men who care anything about their personal appearance who will want to join the Easter Parade without a complete new outfit.

If quality, style, individuality, refinement and economy combined are attractive features, then the Marshall & Ball provision of Easter Attire from top to toe must appeal to every man, no matter what his particular fancy or the condition of his purse.

Our showing of smart and exclusive patterns in Suits and Overcoats is wider than ever in our long history as Manufacturing Clothiers, and every garment stands forth as an example of unusual tailoring skill and care. Thoughtful study finds expressions in every line of the collars, the shoulders, the lapels, and the finish of the pockets and sleeves.

Our handsome Suits and Overcoats, in Caribou Tans, Moose Brown, and Mouse Grays, will be strikingly in evidence on Easter Sunday. We're judging from the great demand.

Spring Suits, Overcoats and Raincoats, $12 to $35.

Boys' Suits

If there's one time more than another when a boy should look the dresliest it is on Easter. And most boys look forward to a new Suit for Easter morning.

Discriminating parents will find M. & B. Garments for boys full of the goodness and economy that characterize our clothing for men.

Boys' Spring Suits, $3 to 16.

Boys' Tru-Tred Shoes, Also Hats and Furnishings

Shoes

The new Easter Suit demands new footwear. One's shoes are conspicuous. You'll be both well-shod and comfortable in a pair of M. & B. Tru-Tred Oxfords.

M. & B. Shoes are distinctive, shapely, comfortable and correct. Their long wear makes them an economical investment at Easter or any other time.

M. & B. Nassau's, $3.50.
M. & B. Tru-Treds, 5.

Neckwear

A man's Neckwear plays a very important part in his costume. And his Easter scarf will help a great deal to make or mar his appearance.

Our showing of handsome designs and colorings is extremely inviting. Qualities are better than are usual at the price.

Silk Neckwear, 50c to $1.50.

Boys' Overcoats

Mothers of boys know where they can economize without sacrificing quality. That's why their youngsters can have a Spring Overgarment as well as a Suit for Easter.

We're showing a remarkably attractive gathering of Top-Coats and Raincoats for boys, also Reefers for the little fellows.

Boys' Spring Overcoats and Reefers, $4 to $16.

Hats

No well dressed man would think of making his boy on Easter morning without a new hat.

And if it's an M. & B., it will have character and quality and be as good-looking a hat as you'll see on the street—better than most that have cost a fancy price. All the popular Spring shades and shapes.

Softs and Derbies, $2 to $3.50.
Silk Hats, $5 and $6.

Gloves

No soiled or shabby gloves will be allowed to appear next Sunday. There won't be any excuse for it anyway.

You know M. & B. Gloves—most people do. Qualities are away above what are usually sold at the same prices. That's because we are so particular in selecting our stock.

Right Makes and Shades, $1.15 to $3.

Our Women's Department

GLOVES—Gloves are something about which women are always fastidious, particularly so at Easter time.

Our Spring showing of distinctive styles is unusually satisfying, including the Celebrated Centemeri Gloves. You'll find just the gloves you want here, as well as the sorts that fashion says you ought to wear.

Price Range, $1.16 to $3.50.

HOSIERY—This department of the M. & B. Store has become famous for its extremely attractive and satisfying assortment of distinctive and worthy hosiery.

THE BIRDS OF WESTFIELD.

A Paper Read Before the Women's Club of Westfield, February 10th, 1888, by J. William Lloyd.

(This paper will be published serially in the Standard. Seventh installment.)

The allusion here being to a beautiful habit of this bird, as of many other thickset dwellers, of seeking a conspicuous and elevated perch, before abandoning himself to the full ecstasy of song—a dead limb being a favorite. The wood thrush is the largest of the thrushes, the tamest, and his call note, pill pill is very distinctive. The hermit thrush, unfortunately, does not nest with us, and may only rarely be heard during his migrations. He is a bird I first became acquainted with in Vermont. The first one I ever heard was in a sugar woods, and his voice seemed to me to come from behind a little hill. Starting towards it, however, I found the bird within twenty paces. This ventriloquism is marked in some of the thrushes. Last spring, in the Bronx Park, I listened to a thrush, and the I was within eight feet of the bird, had I not been looking at him, I would have believed him fifty yards away. The song of the hermit is like the wood thrush's, somewhat, but sadder and more spiritual, and by most hearers accounted the most beautiful of all bird hymns. This bird has a redder tail than the other thrushes, but the best characteristic is his call-note, cluck! with an upward flit of the tail. Next to the hermit is the 'veery, the smallest of the common thrushes. He likes low, wet woods, and you are especially likely to hear him in spruce in the woods back of Clark's Lake, or at the head of Echo Lake. Two summers ago, in Thoreau's country, Massachusetts, I learned to know him well, especially on Fairhaven Pond. But here I have never heard him in summer. The call-note is a whistled wee-wee! very easily imitated. All hearers agree in considering his song the most unique and indescribable in our bird-world. He seems to me to say wee-wee! wee-wee! (and I do not doubt his name is onomatopoeic) but in quality I can only call it a musical, metallic wee-wee!. Before I knew his name I called him the wheezy bird. Chapman calls the song a "weird spiral," a "weird, singing monotone" that "thrills us with emotions we cannot express," and again, "a strange, unearthly song." Neltje Blanchan calls the bird a sylvan mystery. Last spring a pair of these delightful ventriloquists stayed so late about my home I actually hoped they might build, but at last they were heard no more. The other thrushes have an eye-ring, but the 'veery has none, and he has very inconspicuous markings. These three have cinnamon-brown backs, but there are three others, seen occasionally during the spring months. I think they never sing here. They all have olive-brown backs, and I know of no sure way to tell them apart, when alive. None of them seem very well known, and even ornithologists confuse them. They are the gray-checked, or Alice's, thrush, Swainson's, or the olive-backed thrush, and Bicknell's thrush. I see olive-backed thrushes outside of my window in the spring time, but which is which I do not know, and do not care to kill them to find out. Here ignorance is bliss on both sides. A very beautiful and common bird is the brown thrasher, often, incorrectly, called the brown thrush. He is not a thrush, but related to the cat-bird, the mocking-bird, and wren. A large, dashing bird, with a very rufous back, and a very long, rufous tail, white under parts, heavily streaked and spotted, a yellow eye, two white wing-bands, and a slightly curved bill. To know him once is to know him forever. His song is so like the cat-bird's it is hard to tell it apart, but you do always know it apart by an indescribable quality of greater richness, boldness, finish, and by its being delivered, almost always, from some tree top with a very conscious mannerism indeed. A very fine bird, this, but his singing season is regrettably short. The cat-bird is a close relative of the thrasher, and is a bird too many malign and misunderstand. He is supposed to be noisy and disagreeable, when in reality he is a gentle and friendly bird, full of virtues, and one of our finest singers. True, he is an anxious and devoted parent and, if you are a stranger, and near his nest, he will be irritable and suspicious, and follow you about with rasping mows that are unpleasant enough. But for years several pairs of cat-birds have nested near my home and their confidence is almost equal to that of my wrens and chickadees. They know me perfectly, and will let me pick berries close to the nest with no sign of resentment, tho they would fly into the hair of a stranger, especially a woman. And for weeks at a time I will not hear a mow. Instead of that the male birds seem to like to perch near me when at work and treat me to their most delicious songs. And surely no song is more entirely sweet and happy. There is a sort of drawing squeak, in a part of the song, which suggests to me the crushing of some luscious fruit between the lips. Olive Thorne Miller says the cat-bird will feed the nestlings of other birds when deserted. He is a droll mimic and one on my place, evidently remembering the days when I had so many chickens, often finishes his song with the chirp of a young rooster, the effect being most funny. The one fault of the cat-bird is that he does love fruit, and the only remedy for that is for you to take enough for both, for surely he will collect his share. I have said my cat-birds trusted me, but they will not endure too great a test. I find in my journal for June 18, 1904, this item: "For several days I have been trying to locate a fine, thin, faint bird-note, which seemed to be somewhere about the premises, but which I could not connect with any visible bird. Hearing it this afternoon, I started out to investigate, and soon found that a tiny young cat-bird, in the honeysuckles, was the piper. I had hardly assured myself of this, when the parents were upon me. How they screamed and mowed and fluttered, and flapped and glared at me with black eyes defiant and gaped at me with black throats furious! It was laughable and yet pathetic. And other birds flew to the rescue. Yellow-throats, vireos, wrens, robins. The abuse was copious and caustic, but I retreated in good order, reviling not again."

EVER WATCHFUL.

A Little Care Will Save Many Westfield Readers Future Trouble.

Watch the kidney secretions. See that they have the amber hue of health; The discharges not excessive or infrequent; Contain no "brick-dust like" sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills will do this for you.

They watch the kidneys and cure them when they're sick.

Mrs. H. Wragg, living at 57 Elmer street, Westfield, N. J., says: "My husband complained of sharp pains through the small of his back which extended into his loins. They bothered him constantly, and he was also greatly annoyed with headaches and dizzy spells. The unnatural condition of his kidney secretions showed that his kidneys were affected, and deciding to try a reliable kidney remedy, he procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Fruthey's Pharmacy. After using them a short time, his secretions became clear, the headaches ceased, and the pains across his back were eliminated. He is now in good health and gives Doan's Kidney Pills the credit."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

New Railroad Equipment.

The advance squad of a large order of new vestibuled passenger coaches have just been placed in commission on the New Jersey Central Railroad and those who have inspected them declare that they are models of their type. From the standpoint of construction, they are the strongest wooden frame cars ever turned out of a shop, while for comfort and luxury of appointment, they are all that the travelling public can desire. Nearly 74 feet over all in length, they have a seating capacity of 81, eight more than the standard vestibuled coaches now in service; in weight they rate 40,000 lbs., or 15,000 lbs. heavier than the present class. To add to their sturdiness, they have eight 6x8 wooden sills, reinforced by iron plates along the side sills, while the platforms are of steel, with cast steel double body-bolsters. The upright posts of the vestibules are also reinforced by iron plates. The trucks are all of steel, the frames of the 6x8 journals are in one solid piece and the frames of the truck are of cast steel.

The seats are high-backed and upholstered in a rich shade of green plush, while the seats of the combination (smoker and baggage) are of heavy deep green imitation leather. One of the most effective features is the arrangement of the gothic windows surmounted by half ovals of opalescent glass. The cars are automatically ventilated and are illuminated by six powerful one-manual gas lamps, with a combined candle power of 600. Some of the cars have been assigned to the New York-Philadelphia two hour trains, and the New York & Reading & Harrisburg flyers have been equipped with them.

West Point Appointees.

Appointees to West Point must be between 17 and 22, sound physically, and able to pass an examination in reading, writing, spelling, English grammar, composition and literature, arithmetic, algebra, through quadratics, plane geometry, descriptive geography and the elements of physical geography, especially of the United States; United States history, the outlines of general history and the general principles of physiology and hygiene.

To Remove Cinders from Eye.

A simple remedy for removing cinders from the eye is to dip a small and perfectly clean camel's hair brush in water and pass it over the ball of the eye. This operation requires little skill and generally removes all particles of dust instantly without danger of inflammation. Of course, this remedy is not suggested for the train, where no one could get the brush.

THE GARDEN OF ENGLAND

AS SEEN BY MR. DOHRMAN.

Following the annual custom, Mr. John A. Dohrman, of Kimball avenue, will deliver an illustrated lecture for the benefit of the Children's Country Home, on Friday evening, May first. The lecture this year will be given in the Presbyterian Church, because of the large seating capacity of that edifice. The subject will be: "The Garden of England; Isle of Wight."

About 120 lantern slides, selected from a large number of pictures taken by Mr. Dohrman in his four visits to the island, will be thrown on the canvas. Many of these are beautifully colored and in sepia tones.

The Isle of Wight is conceded to be one of England's "Beauty Spots."

The village itself is very rustic, and the growth of ivy over the stone walls, dwellings and grounds is particularly luxuriant. Beautiful hedge-lined roads, and more picturesque, thatched cottages than in any other part of England give it a charm peculiarly its own. The Isle of Wight is a perfect land of flowers. Geraniums grow up the sides of the houses like crimson rambler; fields of scarlet poppies spread over the landscape like our fields of daisies. It was here that the poet Tennyson made his home for over forty years, and it was here that he received inspiration for many of his immortal lines.

LETTER TO T. H. LOVE.

Westfield, N. J.

Dear Sir: A bank messenger lost a small coin. He set his bag down and looked for it. Found it, but somebody else had run off with his bag.

A man who is going to paint had better look-out for his gallons. Devos is the least-gallon paint.

It's gallons that cost; it isn't the price of a gallon. With one paint, 10 gallons is plenty; another, 11 or 12 or 13 and so on to 22 gallons; and every gallon has to be paid for and—$2 to $4 a day for painting paint stuffed out with some sort of whitewash. The less the price of a gallon, the more the gallons.

Bank messengers better look-out for their bags and not stop to hunt for small coin; and property-owners better look-out for the gallons that make the expense, and not for the price, which has nothing to do with it.

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & CO.

Public Speaking.

Eloquence is the child of knowledge. When a mind is full, like a wholesome river, it is also clear. Confusion and obscurity are much oftener the results of ignorance than of inefficiency. Few are the men who cannot express their meaning when the occasion demands the energy; as the lowest will defend their lives with acuteness, and sometimes even with eloquence.—Lord Beaconsfield.

Sore Throat.

Those subject to sore throat will find the following preparation simple, cheap and highly efficacious when used in the early stage: Pour a pint of boiling water on 30 leaves of the common sage and let the infusion stand for an hour; add vinegar sufficient to make it pleasantly acid, and honey to taste. The mixture should be used as a gargle twice a day. There is no danger if some of it is swallowed.

City Not Typical of America.

A cosmopolitan citizen says that the foreigners, artists, philanthropists, editors, scientists and sociologists who go to New York city to study America are likely to be led into all sorts of errors if they confine their studies and observations to the metropolis, for New York city is less typical of America than any other part of the country.

Citizenship.

"I am a Roman citizen!" was once a proud cry; "I am a citizen of the world!" should be a prouder cry, but worthless to him who has nothing to show pertaining to his citizenship, either of knowing, of being, or of doing; or of all three of these, which comprise the whole duty of man.—William Potts.

The Reason.

As Darwin was walking along the golden streets he came face to face with our first parent, who frowned and passed on. When the latter was asked why he cut Darwin, he explained: "That's the cuss who tried to make a monkey of me."—Detroit News-Tribune.

Earthworms That Plant Forests.

That earthworms as well as squirrels may aid the forester is the novel suggestion of an American naturalist. Dry maple seeds are drawn into worm burrows, where they sprout, and it is believed that some of them must survive in favorably moist seasons.

Fortunate New Yorker.

A New Yorker diving in the Passaic river to recover a diamond pin, which he found, had a mussel close its shell on his fingers. On smashing the mollusk he found it contained a pearl worth $1,000.
