DEAN JOHNSTON TO LECTURE.

Head of School of Commerce to Discuss
Finance at Congregational Dinner.

Dr. Joseph French Johnston, dean of the New York University School of Commerce and professor of economics at the University College, will be the speaker at the annual Fall dinner of the Men's Club of the Congregational Church, Tuesday night. He will talk on the panic of 1907, and the present financial situation.

Dr. Johnston is an authority on financial questions, having served at the head of important commissions in Wall street, and taken a leading part in the formulation of plans to reform and improve the currency system. He is keen, analytic thinking and gifted with a ready wit. His lecture will be both interesting and instructive.

The dinner will be held in the lecture room of the church, and will be attended by members of the club and invited guests. Covers will be laid for sixty. There will be music during and after the dinner. Chester B. Kellogg, president of the club, will preside, and Dr. Burgess, the acting pastor will make an address of welcome. The dinner is in charge of a special committee.

Mr. Hohenstein's Statement.

To the Voters of the Second Ward.

Gentlemen:

For election of Councilman, I earnestly ask your support regardless of party lines, and if elected I will look after the interests of the Second Ward and the town in general, the same as I have done for the past two years. My motto will be hereafter the same as it has been for the past, to be no man's man, no favors to the few, but equal rights for all. My aim has been to work only for the best interests of the people. While I might have made mistakes in the past two years, they were not made wilfully, and I can conscientiously say that I have done my duty to the people. I am willing to stand on my last two year's record, and leave my re-election in the hands of my constituents of the Second Ward. I assure you your confidence will not be misplaced, as I will do my best to be worthy of it. Therefore I most earnestly ask you again to vote for a man who has been tried, and not found wanting, to work for the best interests of the people of this town.

Yours respectfully,

R. F. HOHENSTEIN.

J. W. DAVIS EXPLAINS.

Reviews Situation in the Fourth Ward Relative to the Naming of Pierson Street.

NAME GIVEN BY VOTE OF PEOPLE.

Hence It Could Not Be Changed Without Election—Thinks His Defense Above Criticism.

Dear Sir:—I understand there has been criticism from some citizens of the Fourth Ward in reference to the action of the school board, and myself in particular, in connection with the opening of Pierson street and the acceptance of the same by the Town Council and the refusal of the school board to join in a petition to the town council to recall their acceptance of the deed.

In order to bring the matter intelligently before our people I wish to give a few facts connected with the subject.

Previous to the special district school meeting of January 27th I mentioned to Mr. Chas. Cox that I thought the new school building should be erected in the Fourth Ward. He agreed and we went to work and tied the vote, necessitating another election.

At the meeting of January 27th it was stated that Mr. H. O. Lockwood would sell a site for a new school in the Westfield Highland Annex at a reasonable price, and at a subsequent meeting of the school board we were told that if we would secure a definite plan or design for a new school building and Mr. Lockwood would present a definite proposition for the site and we would secure the signature of fifty voters to a petition to present the matter to a vote of the town, the board would do so.

We secured some two hundred signatures to our petition and I personally secured from a reliable architect a plan for a new school building and an estimate of its cost, together with much other information showing the advisability of erecting in the Fourth Ward, and under date of February 5th, 1908, Mr. Lockwood wrote the President of the school board, naming a price for the present site for the building. In his offer he described the site as follows: "The property consists of plots 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51 and 52 Westfield Highlands Annex according to plot of same filed with the Register of Deeds at Elizabeth, N. J. on the 26th day of November, 1907."  If this proposition is accepted, we will dedicate Osborn avenue from Pierson street to Broad street, etc." Mr. Lockwood had already furnished the Board with maps and diagram showing the size and location of the lots and all the records show Pierson street as at present located.

The call for the school meeting of March 17th and the ballot as prepared for the Fourth Ward school reads in part as follows:—"Beginning at a point in the northwesterly side of First street as shown on said map distant, measured along the said line, six hundred twelve and one one-hundredth (612.01) feet in a southwesterly direction from the westerly side of Rahway avenue, said point being the intersection of the said line of First and the southwesterly side line of an unnamed street, sixty-six (66) feet wide as shown on said map, (which said street would be an extension of Osborn avenue) thence running northwesterly along said last mentioned street line two hundred and six (206) feet to the southwesterly side line of Pierson street as shown on said map, thence southwesterly along said line of Pierson street two hundred (200) feet etc."

Every ballot cast for the new school in the Fourth Ward was cast for Pierson street as shown on the map. There was no deception used. Everyone understood the situation, or should have, and when the ballot was announced, the opening of Pierson street was confirmed and nothing short of a vote of the entire school voting population of the town could undo what had been done.

When the deed for the school property was prepared I insisted on having the deeds for Osborn avenue and Pierson street, as voted for by the people, presented to me which was done, as I considered and still consider, that the vote to purchase the school site was dependent on the proposition to open Osborn avenue and Pierson street as shown on the map and described in the call for the school meeting and the ballot prepared for the election, and without the opening of Osborn avenue and Pierson street the proposition to purchase the school site was void.

Mr. Malsbury, the Democratic member of the town council from the Fourth Ward, and Mr. Im Lambert, the Democratic candidate for the council from the Fourth Ward, were advised of every

EDUCATION: ITS THEORY AND PRACTICE.

Dr. J. J. Savitz Discusses Subject in Connection With Local Public Schools.

THE PROBLEMS TO BE MET.

Made More Complex by Demands of Advancing Civilization—Departmental Work.

This is part one of an article by Dr. J. J. Savitz, on "The Theory and Practice of Education in the Westfield Public Schools," in which the problems of our complex civilization in their relation to the system of free education are set forth. It treats of the course of study up to the Primary school grade.

The next article will complete the survey of the departmental work, showing to what extent the local schools are meeting the general demand for a comprehensive school curriculum.

Editor Union County Standard:

In response to your repeated requests, I submit the following on "The Theory and Practice of Education" in the Westfield Public Schools:

Education is now generally regarded as an adjustment of the individual to his physical, intellectual, emotional, and spiritual environment. The factors which promote this adjustment are the home, state, church, school, and our industrial and commercial activities. Usually, however, frequently in practice, education is regarded merely as a process of intellectual adjustment and many a school is conducted to-day consciously or unconsciously with this end in view. Education and knowledge are synonymous terms with educators who forget that education and not knowledge is power. The individual who is to participate fully in our complex life must not only know but also feel and do. The three R's lead to knowledge only; our conception of education includes the three H's, the head, the heart, and hand.

Not all the factors mentioned above as assisting in bringing about this adjustment do so consciously. The home with its powerful influence for good and evil frequently does its part unconsciously, and this is always true of our industrial and commercial life. However, the rudiments of an education are given in the home because of the dominance of the imitative tendencies in childhood. In the school and church, man is taken in hand with the conscious purpose of moulding and shaping his experiences towards an end.

There is a growing tendency to expect more of our schools as our civilized life becomes more complex. This is due to the fact that, without conscious purpose, the unconscious agencies are less effective than the school whose energy is directed to definite ends with special agents working for the achievement of these ends. Then, too, so rapidly is the field of human experience enlarged and so manifold are its activities that to prepare an individual for intelligent participation is no mean task. So vastly has the body of knowledge been enlarged in recent decades that to know, to understand one's environment, is a problem, to say nothing of sharing it. Many of us are in sympathy with the boy who rejoiced that he had completed his American history before the Spanish American War.

The school, therefore, has become an institution with a highly specialized function from which more is expected than can reasonably be realized, unless all the factors which share in the educating process play a larger part than heretofore, and unless there is a much closer co-operation between these agencies. Closer co-operation and a deeper conviction that knowing and doing must go hand in hand would open up limitless possibilities to this agency of education, the public school, at once the pride and hope of all lovers of our free institutions.

With some such conception of education, sometimes dimly and sometimes more clearly perceived through the rifts in the clouds of the pedagogical sky, and during periods of relaxation from the nervous strain incident to the wearying details of a teacher's work, always hopefully, the teachers and principal of our public schools carry off their work.

There are four departments of our public school: the Kindergarten enrolling pupils from 4 to 6 years of age; the Primary, from 6-10 years; the Grammar, from 10-14 years; the High School, from 14-18 years. The Kindergarten provides occupation for pupils who, while too young, to take up, except in

ROW ON WITH THE UNION WATER COMPANY.

James F. Johnston Has Water Supply Cut Off From Street, and There's Trouble.

Considerable resentment against the Union Water Company was expressed by the residents of Harrison avenue at the regular meeting of the Common Council Monday night, when James F. Johnston appeared before the Town Fathers and said that the water supply for his house on Harrison avenue had been cut off from the street by the local officials of the Water Company, and that when he had asked for reconnection he had been told to hire a plumber to do the work.

Mayor Alpers immediately appointed a special committee of one representative from each ward to act in conjunction with the Law Committee to fully investigate the matter, and to determine, if possible, what rights the people of Westfield have in such matter.

The committee appointed was as follows: Mr. Coffin, First Ward; R. L. Smitley, Second Ward; Robert F. Mills, Third Ward; Charles D. Loseo, Fourth Ward.

According to Mr. Johnston's statement he has been accustomed to paying the bills to the Water Company some three months after they were presented, and heretofore he has never been called to task by the company. On September 26, Thomas Dowd, manager of the Westfield branch, went to Mr. Johnston's home, and disconnected his water-pipes from the street. Mr. Johnston had sent a check, he says to the Water Company on that day. When Mr. Johnston came home in the evening he at once called up Mr. Dowd, and asked him to please reconnect the pipes. Mr. Dowd replied, "Go get a plumber." Accordingly Mr. Johnston engaged Mr. McVoy to do the work, and recently received a bill for $6.90. Mr. Johnston said that he thought he been treated unfairly and that it was about time that the citizens of Westfield took such matters up and had a thorough understanding with the Water Company. Mayor Alpers spoke at length on the question, and urged citizens to present all complaints of a similar nature to the special committee. It is declared that speedy action will be taken.

Mr. Johnston's statement to the Council follows:

I received a bill from the Water Company last January for six months water in advance, $12.50, and I paid this bill on April 11th. On July 1st I received another bill, July 1st to January 1st, $12.50, and as there wasn't any kick on the payment of my other bill, I did not pay this one until September 26th. On that morning the Water Company arbitrarily cut off the water, although its local agent had been advised, by phone, that the money was on the way to his office. This agent replied gruffly, "The money is not here," and hung up the receiver. After the bill was paid we requested him to have the water turned on. His reply was (as usual, gruffly), "Go get a plumber," which we had to do. We engaged Mr. McVoy, who, I believe, is related to this Dowd and for the work done I received a bill amounting to $6.90. Of course I was annoyed and made up my mind to fight the matter to the end.

I should like to know if this Water Company's rights are greater than this Town Council and if such is the case then it is time that the good citizens of this place get together and did something to protect their rights and property from such high handed business as the Water Company deals out.

I am informed that Dowd was interested in having the name of Harrison avenue changed to Belvidere avenue and because I was one of the signers to the papers protesting against any change I have been singled out for the punishment the representative of the Water Company thinks I justly deserve.

LOCAL BRANCH OF P. S. C.

To meet the demands of it's Westfield patrons, the Public Service Corporation has rented the store formerly occupied by Mrs. Erwin as a bakery, and will establish a local office there. The office will be fully equipped, and a manager will be in charge, who shall be pleased to receive and register all complaints, and answer all questions—that is, as many of them as he can; and he is reported to be well informed.

The Public Service has opened an office here in order to facilitate the general work of the company by keeping in direct touch with local patrons. It is said that the many complaints against the company from this section, made necessary the establishment of a branch office here.

DIRT SQUABBLE, ADIEU!

Town Attorney Oliver Makes Controversy a Matter of Past History.

NO ACTION AGAINST MR. FINK.

Chairman of Road Committee Withdraws His Resignation and Will Serve Out His Present Term.

The dirt controversy came to be a matter of past history Monday night when Town Attorney Oliver presented his written opinion that the Town could not hold Mr. Fink liable either for the return of the dirt to the Town or compel him to pay for it. In his opinion, Mr. Oliver said that in as much as there was no charge of wilful wrongdoing on the part of Mr. Fink, he knew of no statute in the state by which an action against Mr. Fink could successfully be maintained. The point was that in the discharge of his official duty, Mr. Fink had not, according to the report of the Law Committee, showed a want of fidelity and integrity.

Previous to the presentation of the opinion by Attorney Oliver, Mr. Fink announced to the Council that in as much as it had been the unanimous judgment of his fellow members that he should remain in office until the completion of his present term, he would withdraw his resignation from that body. Mr. Fink's determination received the hearty approval of every member of the Council.

Following is the Town Attorney's opinion:

Westfield, N. J., October 1, 1908.
To the Council of the Town of Westfield, Gentlemen:

At the last meeting of the Council the Town Attorney was directed, by resolution, to furnish to the Council at the next regular meeting, his opinion in writing, as to whether or not an action will lie on the part of the Town against Hiram L. Fink either for the recovery of the dirt recently taken from the public roads and delivered on the property of the said Hiram L. Fink, or for the value thereof, and to state in his opinion his reasons therefor, and in obedience to that resolution I beg to report as follows:

1. If any dirt has been taken from any of the public roads and delivered on the property of Hiram L. Fink, and has become commingled with other soil, the dirt itself cannot be recovered because it has become attached to and forms a part of the realty.

2. As to the liability of Mr. Fink for the value of the dirt taken, I am of opinion that no action will lie on the part of the Town, even assuming that the Town had a legal right to take and use the dirt, for the reason that it is well settled that public officers elected pursuant to statute by municipal corporations are not the servants or agents of the corporation, in such a sense as to enable the corporation in the absence of a statute giving the remedy, to maintain actions against such officers for remission in the discharge of their official duty where no want of fidelity and integrity can be established. I know of no such statute in this state, and your Law Committee, upon investigation of the facts, has reported to your Honorable body that they have been unable to find any evidence to support the charge of wilful wrongdoing on the part of Mr. Fink. In other words, as I understand their report, the Committee failed to find in Mr. Fink's conduct any evidence of a want of fidelity and integrity, and that being so, under the principle stated, no action could be successfully maintained against him upon the part of the Town.

Very respectfully,
PAUL Q. OLIVER,
Town Attorney.

Two street lights were ordered placed on Lawrence avenue, above the Collins property, the expense of the lights to be borne by J. S. A. Witke until January 1, 1909. Permission was granted Fink & Pierson and W. M. Harrison to grade Kimball avenue, between Euclid and Harrison avenue for the dirt. The work is to be done without expense to the town.

Five bids were received for a little more than two miles of macadam road work, exclusive of culverts. The contract was awarded to the Woldon Construction Company for $9,462. The other bids were as follows: Columbia Concrete and Construction Company, $10,814; J. E. Grape, $11,218; E. O. Humphrey & Company, $10,780; Warren Travell, $11,726, and J. C. Park, $10,828.

Town Attorney Oliver reported to council to the effect that the town had the right to clean the brook between Broad and First streets if the work was done to make necessary improvement to streets.

U. S. G. Huffman and other property owners along upper Mountain avenue protested against the building of the sidewalk there according to the proposed plan.

Amendments Proposed to the Constitution of the State of New Jersey, by the Legislature of 1908.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 6.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

Be It Remembered (The House of Assembly concurring), That the following amendments to the Constitution of the State of New Jersey, as amended by the Legislature of 1902, and when the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to the Senate and to the House of Assembly, the said amendments shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays thereon, and referred to the Legislature next to be chosen, and published for three months prior to the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November next, in at least one newspaper of each county, to be designated by the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Assembly and the Secretary of State:

1. Strike out paragraph 3 of section 1, Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

1. The Senate and the House of Assembly shall be held every two years on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, beginning with the second year of the first session of the Legislature, and every second year thereafter; and the two Houses shall meet separately on the second Tuesday in January in each year, at which time of meeting the legislative year shall commence.

2. Strike out paragraph 1 of section 1, Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

1. The Senate shall be composed of one Senator from each county in the State, elected by the legal voters of the counties respectively, for four years.

3. Strike out paragraph 2 of section 1, Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

2. As soon as the Senate shall meet after the first election to be held in pursuance of this constitution they shall be divided by the Senate as equally as may be into two classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year of the second session, at the expiration of the fourth year, so that one class may be elected every second year and if vacancies happen by resignation or otherwise, the persons elected to supply such vacancies shall be elected for the unexpired terms only; provided, that the Senators having the longest period of time still to serve at the time of making said division shall be entitled to the longer term.

4. Strike out paragraph 1 of section III, article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

1. The General Assembly shall be composed of members elected by the legal voters of the counties, respectively, every second year, beginning on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, and one thousand and nine hundred and ten, who shall be apportioned among the said counties as nearly as may be according to the number of inhabitants.

2. The General Assembly shall be composed of members elected by the legal voters of the counties, respectively, every second year, beginning on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, and one thousand and nine hundred and ten, who shall be apportioned among the said counties as nearly as may be according to the number of inhabitants.

Amendments Proposed to the Constitution of the State of New Jersey, by the Legislature of 1908.

ASSEMBLY CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 4.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

Be It Remembered (The Senate concurring), That the following amendments to the Constitution of the State of New Jersey, as amended by the Legislature of 1902, and when the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to the Senate and to the House of Assembly, the said amendments shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays thereon, and referred to the Legislature next to be chosen, and published for three months prior to the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November next, in at least one newspaper of each county, to be designated by the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Assembly and the Secretary of State:

1. Strike out paragraph 3 of section 1, Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

1. The Senate and the House of Assembly shall be held every two years on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, beginning with the second year of the first session of the Legislature, and every second year thereafter; and the two Houses shall meet separately on the second Tuesday in January in each year, at which time of meeting the legislative year shall commence.

2. Strike out paragraph 1 of section 1, Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

1. The Senate shall be composed of one Senator from each county in the State, elected by the legal voters of the counties respectively, for four years.

3. Strike out paragraph 2 of section 1, Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

2. As soon as the Senate shall meet after the first election to be held in pursuance of this constitution they shall be divided by the Senate as equally as may be into two classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year of the second session, at the expiration of the fourth year, so that one class may be elected every second year and if vacancies happen by resignation or otherwise, the persons elected to supply such vacancies shall be elected for the unexpired terms only; provided, that the Senators having the longest period of time still to serve at the time of making said division shall be entitled to the longer term.

4. Strike out paragraph 1 of section III, article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

JOHN PRINGLE'S
CHANCE

By Aloia Ramsey.

John Pringle was a man with a face and curious eyes. He who said that he was a genius; his friends said he was a fool; he himself said he was an ass. As a matter of fact, he was all three, but if there was anything to judge between the definitions, it was John Pringle who was right.

When he was a boy, John Pringle wanted to go into the church. His ambition was to be canon as a missionary by the gentle savage beyond the southern seas. His mother, who had dreamed dreams of seeing her son in a round collar and a soft felt hat, openly encouraged the boy to put his pennies into the missionary box, and kept in secret at the thought of her Johnnie being canon as a spilt.

Three years later, however, having visited the wicked pantomime by stealth for the first time, John Pringle informed his horrified parent on his return that he didn't want to be a missionary any longer, but intended to be a clown. John Pringle's mother made the boy write out the Ninth-third psalm, and fell on her knees and thanked Heaven privately when her Johnnie had been dismissed to an early and impatient bed.

At the age of 10, John Pringle sold himself body and soul to a touring theatrical company for three dollars a week.

For five years John Pringle remained in the same company; then he fell in love. She had an artificial color, an unnatural waist, and a knowing eye. She agreed to marry John Pringle when his salary should reach the fabulous salary of ten dollars a week. Meantime, she carried John Pringle's ring in her purse instead of on her finger. She said that if the stage-manager knew of her engagement it might spoil her chance.

While he looked his betrothed ran away with the stage-manager. She also ran away with John Pringle's engagement ring—not inside her purse.

As the reward of virtue John Pringle spent five weeks in a hospital. The doctors said it was nervous exhaustion; John Pringle knew it was a wounded heart. When he got up John Pringle's eyes were still more curious and John Pringle's face was still more sad.

Fifteen years passed, and John Pringle was still waiting for his chance. It was a pleasant among his fellows to send him humorous postcards from managers of theaters asking him to give them an interview with a view to his playing the leading part. John Pringle invariably answered the postcards, and invariably smiled pleasantly when the indignant managers inclosed his postcard in their reply letters. It was while he was answering a bogus advertisement, indeed, that John Pringle met his fate.

John Pringle's fate was young and slender, with a fluctuating color, an overstrained heart, and a sensitive mouth. Within a month John Pringle had married her. Their joint incomes at that time represented the interesting sum of $12 a week. During their "waits" at rehearsal they would sit and hold hands in corners, and whisper together of what they should do when John Pringle got his chance. He was to play Hamlet, and she was to wear white satin and diamonds, and sit in a box and applaud.

Meantime Mr. and Mrs. John Pringle started.

At the end of a year John Pringle became a father. Basing his claim to consideration on the merits of that interesting fact, John Pringle laid his long apprenticeship before the manager and asked him for a rise. The manager clapped John Pringle on the back, gave him a whisky, and told him not to talk such rot. John Pringle refused the whisky and went home to Mrs. John Pringle and fled. He said that, by virtue of becoming a father, he had been raised. Mrs. John Pringle had beef steak to celebrate the occasion, and chatted gaily in the twilight of the future that awaited the baby now that his father had begun to get his chance. Four days later John Pringle, who had starved himself to a shadow, fainted at rehearsal and was sent home in a cab.

The shock upset John Pringle. It also upset John Pringle's wife. A week or two later, John Pringle went about Birmingham in a brown coat supplemented by a band of crape. A week later, the little John Pringle, not finding a patent food as administered intermittently by an intermittent landlady sufficiently interesting, most conveniently died. The ladies and gentlemen of the company and the manager sent a wreath of orchids which, converted into food, would probably have saved John Pringle's wife. They said: "It was quite a romance."

The day after the baby's funeral John got his chance.

He played the part of a boy of 20 who came in for a large fortune and married the girl of his heart. A great dramatist who unexpectedly witnessed the performance went round after the act and enthusiastically demanded his name.

"The very man I've been looking for," cried the great playwright, looking delightedly into the gay young face. "Such entrain! such dash! In heaven's name, where did you learn it? You can't be much more than a boy."

John Pringle took off his wig and smiled. The little hair he had was white.

exceptional cases, the usual school exercises of reading, writing, etc., need nevertheless to be engaged in play and occupations which lay the foundation, through physical activity, for a well developed nervous system. No one can see the skilful movements of the hands and body, the keen eye, and the responsive spirit of children trained in the Kindergarten without appreciating the value of such training. It is here in the well directed games and free play that children come to realize that they are a part of a social whole to the well being of which all should contribute.

TO BUILD FEWER CULVERTS.

Council Decides Only To Build In Sections

Where They Are Absolutely Necessary.

At a special meeting of the Council held on Saturday, October 10, the question of building thirteen culverts where required in place of depressed block gutters on the streets about to be macadamized in the Terrace Park and Park Slope sections was discussed. The general plan of building culverts instead of depressed gutters was approved; but it was decided that as such culverts were needed at a number of other points it would be best to have the street committee report on the entire number of culverts required throughout the town with a view of placing culverts where they are most needed. Two culverts will be required on that section of the macadam which must be finished this year, and these were authorized.

Mrs. Lydia MacDonald To Wed.

The marriage of Mrs. Lydia H. MacDonald, formerly of this place, and sister of Mrs. Charles P. Worth, and Fred Ungor, to Mr. Walter Cosgrove, will be solemnized in the Bloomingdale Dutch Reform Church, New York City, to-morrow afternoon. Many friends from this place will attend.

Notice of Hearing.

Notice is hereby given that the Council of the Town of Westfield, in the County of Union, will meet in the Council Room at Elm street, Westfield, N. J., on Monday evening, October 10th, 1908, at eight o'clock, to receive and consider objections in writing, if any, to the work done and materials furnished and used in the following improvements, to wit:

1. The construction of an eight (8) inch vitrified pipe sanitary sewer and appurtenances along Tremont avenue, Clinton street and Fairmount avenue, in pursuance of the provisions of special ordinance number 105, passed and adopted April 20th, 1908.

2. The construction of an eight (8) inch sanitary sewer and appurtenances in Kimball avenue from Harrison avenue to Euclid avenue, in pursuance of the provisions of special ordinance number 170, passed

THE LOCAL TICKET.

For Freeholders—

Charles A. Smith,
Joseph Perry.

For Mayor—

Augustus L. Alpers.

For Councilmen—

Charles M. Affleck, first ward.
Walter J. Lee, second ward.
A. J. Wilson, third ward.
J. Winter Davis, fourth ward.

The Republicans of Westfield have posted a ticket for local offices that should receive the support of all Republican voters. The candidates are men of intelligence, experience and sound judgment. All of them have lived in Westfield for many years, know the needs of the town, and how to administer to these needs in a thoroughly practical way. The issues of the local campaign are not nicely drawn, and the personnel of all the candidates is such as to make the electorate look confidently forward to an era of increased business and civic development. Under such favorable circumstances, the party that commands the votes should be the party to command the right to be continued in power—the Republican party.

FOR BETTER DELIVERY SERVICE.

The citizens of Westfield, and there are many of them who complain that the present force of letter carriers at the Post Office is not adequate for the town, may be interested to know that the equipment of our local Post Office depends entirely upon the amount of business which is done. To this end it is urged that all local merchants and even those who do business in New York City make an effort to buy postage stamps, stamped envelopes, etc., at the Westfield Post Office. This is a case where we are glad to editorialize Uncle Sam's business for the reason that Uncle Sam is not in business to make money for himself, but to see that his large and diversified flock of nieces and nephews derive a proportionate benefit from the receipts of his establishment. Therefore, Mr. Fellow Citizen, if you want better delivery service patronize the local branch of your Uncle Sammie's Post Office Department.

THE TOWN HALL SITE.

At the coming election, on November 3d, there will be submitted to the legal voters of Westfield, the following question: "Shall this town adopt the provisions of an act authorizing the erection of a town hall, and the purchase of lands whereon to erect town halls, passed by the Legislature of this State in the year of 1907." Every voter of Westfield should bear this question in mind, and come to the polls prepared to vote. A municipal building is absolutely needed in Westfield. This has been proven by experience. Shall we sanction the plan of our councilmanic fathers and authorize the purchase of a site and the building of a town hall as soon as possible?

If Dame Rumour, who, as an ancient bard, declared, "stalks along the ground while her head is hidden in the clouds," is not stretching her imagination to the point of improbability, local politicians are discovering new friends and discarding old ones every minute.

The male population is too engrossed in politics and baseball, to argue domestic questions with the female population—but wait until those full millinery bills come in!

If the latest styles in ladies' fall hats survive the season umbrellas will be decidedly de trop, i.e., "2 much" or too many.

Every candidate has a host of friends before Election Day, which makes him wonder all the more "on the morning after."

It is declared that before a man can be a statesman, he must first be a politician; but he must be a philosopher before he can be either.

An iron will needs analyzing. It may be pig iron.

More P. S. C. Negligence.

The Public Service Corporation is required to issue tickets for the use of pupils and teachers in the public schools within specified hours. These tickets cost three cents each, and can be procured only on presentation of an identification card, signed by the supervising principal. It seems to be the policy of the Public Service Corporation to place as many difficulties as possible in the way of securing these tickets. There is a general complaint to this effect from many of the schools in Union County. It is necessary for Westfield pupils to send to Elizabethport, and as the identification cards must be presented personally by some individual, this involves considerable hardship. Furthermore, the office at which the tickets must be secured, is sometimes closed, and sometimes the one man who gives out the tickets is away, which may require a second or third trip, or a long wait.

In spite of protests, the P. S. C. has refused thus far, to allow the tickets to be distributed in the schools by the principals; and unless they, (the P. S. C.) change their methods, it is probable that the various superintendents will ask Boards of Education to submit a protest to the councils of the various towns affected, asking the councils to take measures to compel the Corporation to make scholars' tickets reasonably easy to secure.

Woman's Club Opening Meeting.

The Woman's Club begins its year's work on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Sunday-school rooms of the Presbyterian church. The meeting will be opened by Dr. Sturgis, committees will report and the president will make an informal address. To the Voters of Westfield:

The Good Government Club of the Second Ward—a non-partisan organization—has endorsed the candidacy of Walter K. Wheatley for the mayoralty. This step was taken after due consideration of the matter and we believe, in endorsing his candidacy, we are acting for the interests of the town in view of the fact that he has had ample experience in handling municipal affairs. He has served as an official for a number of years in the city of his birth, and during his term of office handled many difficult municipal problems to the satisfaction of his fellow-citizens.

Though Major Wheatley is a Democrat and is a nominee of the Democratic party we believe that he will give the people good government and will not be controlled in his actions by any spirit of partisanship, but will act with the sole desire to advance the interests of Westfield.

Every good citizen is urged to come to the support of Mr. Wheatley, as a very large number of taxpayers do not desire a continuance of the present regime.

(a) This move hurts the eye. Having undertaken to play a gambit, White should already account himself a pawn out of pocket, and still further tempt fate with 4. PxP, QxP; 5. B-K2, QxKtP; 6. B-B3, Q-Kt3; 7. Kt-B3. (b) Where with Black buys him a gambit at least possible cost. (c) Much better to play Kt-K2 and get his K sheltered. It is the ancient precept again:—When your K and the adverse Q or R occupy the same file with very thin ice between, it is high time to "stand from under". (d) White is obstinate about Castling. It seems he must be driven to do what other folks do out of predilection. (e) Meaning B-Kt4. (f) Black could have saved himself much subsequent thinking by playing the natural move Q-B3. WEAK, WEARY WOMEN.

Learn the Cause of Bally Woos and End Them.

When the back aches and throbs. When housework is torture. When night brings no rest nor sleep. When urinary disorders set in. Woman's lot is a weary one. There is a way to escape these woes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills. Have cured women here in Westfield. This is one Westfield woman's testimony.

Mrs. O. E. Simpson, living at 50 Elmore street, Westfield, N. J., says: "For a long time I suffered so severely from pains through the small of my back that I could scarcely get around. I had severe headaches, dizzy spells wore of frequent occurrence and my eye-sight was affected. I would feel more tired than when I went to bed before. Physicians told me that my kidneys were in a disordered condition but they seemed powerless to help me. At last I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and deciding to try them I procured a box at Frutcher's Pharmacy. After using three boxes according to directions I was cured and I am glad to say that I have not had any return of the trouble since."

move made in connection with the election of March 17. On no occasion did they ever raise any objection to the opening of Pierson street and when I presented the deeds to the town council for acceptance and they referred them to their committee for investigation and the committee decided to hold them up, Mr. Malsbury kept me fully advised of every movement made by the council and from information furnished by him I was enabled to meet the objection of the council committee which was merely technical, and when the deeds came before the council for acceptance, Mr. Malsbury, not only did not vote against acceptance, but never said one word against the proposition.

After the council had accepted the deeds in line with the vote of the people, I was approached by Mr. Malsbury on the street who said some of the residents on Broad street were "kicking" about the acceptance of Pierson street by the town, and said he would like to come to my house some night and talk it over and see if I would not help them out. I told him to come and I would listen to what he had to say. He named the night for his call but failed to put in his appearance and when I met him a few days after he excused himself by saying he had entirely forgotten the engagement.

Mr. Malsbury, I understand is quite active in opposing my election to the council, taking the position that I am responsible for the acceptance of Pierson street by the town council. Probably I am, for I claim the responsibility for securing the new school for the Fourth Ward, the finest building in the town, and as the vote for the school was a vote for Pierson street, I suppose I am in a way responsible. The school building is not the only improvement I expect to secure for the Fourth Ward. I believe this ward is the coming section of Westfield and I intend to secure everything that is due us. There are many improvements needed in this section and I believe I am in better position to secure them than my opponent and I appeal to all voters of the ward who desire to see this section of town take its place with the other sections to give me your vote on the 3rd of November.

When the question of vacating the street by the town came up before the council I was not present and knew nothing about the proposition until advised by phone the next day. I left on my vacation on July 10th and was away until August 10th and on my return I was advised the matter had been before the school board and the council and that it had been decided to let Pierson street stand as located. I never was present at any time, either at the council or school board meetings when the matter was considered.

To those who are criticising the action of the town council, the school board, or myself in connection with this proposition I wish to say in closing that not one single thing has been done in the matter, except to carry out the wishes of the people as expressed by ballot on March 17th. You marked out our course of action and we have tried to the best of our ability to carry out your wishes.

Very respectfully,

J. W. DAVIS.

CONSTABLE STITT CHARGED WITH THREATENING TO SHOOT OFFICER.

Held Under $500 Bond on Charge Preferred by Detective Galatian.

Constable William Stitt was held under $500 bond to await the action of the Grand Jury, by Recorder Toucey, Saturday morning. He is charged with attempting to assault County Detective John Galatian by pointing a revolver in his face and threatening to shoot him.

The alleged assault was committed at police headquarters, Friday night. Detective Galatian was in the court room, when, it is alleged, Stitt rushed in and started to berate him. The officer told Stitt to be quiet, whereupon, Stitt became fighting mad. When the officer grabbed Stitt by the back of the neck, a lively scuffle ensued, in which the two men fought their way out of the court room to the side porch. Here, it is declared, Stitt drew a revolver, and pointed it in Galatian's face. Special Officer Peek was near at hand, and came to Galatian's rescue. The revolver was taken away from Stitt and he was placed in the lockup over night.

Before Recorder Toucey, Saturday morning, Stitt, through his attorney, Paul Q. Oliver, plead not guilty, and waived examination, and was released on $500 bail.

TO PROVIDE FOR MEDICAL INSPECTION IN THE SCHOOLS.

Board of Education Appoints Special Committee to Confer With Physicians.

In order to formulate a plan for the general medical inspection of pupils in the Westfield public schools, a special committee was appointed to confer with the doctors of the town at a meeting of the Board of Education Tuesday night. This is in line with a system inaugurated in public schools in other cities and towns in the state.

When the plan is put in effect here it will serve a double purpose. First, it will inform parents and teachers of the general health of the individual pupil, and, when necessary, advise the parent that the pupils needs attendance by the family physician; second, it will be a means of perfecting the health of the pupils in the schools, through the advice of experts who will note any symptom or tendency toward disease.

President Clark of the Board of Education declares that the plan will in its inception, be in the nature of an experiment, but that the members of the Board believe that it will prove thoroughly practicable, and necessitate but little extra expense. All the physicians of the town will be consulted by the committee, and the methods by which the system will be put in effect will depend largely upon their judgments. It is thought that they will agree to give medical attendance at specified hours at a nominal charge. As each pupil will be given individual attention, it is probable that the services of all the doctors will be required from time to time; but these are details which will be arranged by the committee. Dr. Joseph E. Wright, of Mountain avenue, a specialist on the eye and ear, has offered his professional services free of charge.

The committee appointed by President Clark is Dr. J. J. Savitz, Dr. O. M. F. Egel and W. F. MacDougall.

DR. G. S. LAIRD HEADS WESTFIELD "MEDIC" SOCIETY.

Third Annual Meeting at Dr. Kinch's Featured by Lecture and Dinner.

At the annual meeting of the Westfield Medical Society, held at the residence of Dr. F. A. Kinch, of Broad street, Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected: President, Dr. G. S. Laird; vice-president, Dr. W. R. Tabbs; secretary and treasurer, Dr. R. S. Savoy.

The regular business of the session was suspended until later in the evening, and the members and guests listened to a very interesting lecture by Prof. Dorton, of New York City, on "Some New Ideas in Bone Surgery." The talk was graphically illustrated, and many useful points given which have never been published in magazine or book form. After a discussion by the members, a temporary adjournment was taken for a delightful supper provided by Dr. and Mrs. Kinch. Following the supper the routine business was taken up, which consisted in making some amendments to the constitution, and the election of officers. Many guests were present from Westfield and other cities and towns in the county as well as New York City.

The society will meet again on the evening of November 3d.

NEGROES ON A JAMBOREE, SLASH COLORED COMRADES.

Julius Lipskin the Victim of Barbed Etiquette at Roselle.

John Hammond and Fred Johnson, colored, were arraigned before Recorder Toucey in the city court, Saturday morning, charged by Julius Lipskin, negro in the employ of Harry E. Kinch, of Fanwood, with assault and battery. The complainant presented himself in court with a big white bandage around his head, and a badly swollen eye. He looked as though he had been the victim of a razor jamboree.

The alleged assault was committed at Roselle, Friday night, when a crowd of colored folk were having a wet celebration at a pleasure resort there. It is claimed that there was a general mix-up due to a too earnest indulgence in the "soy Lightning," and that Lipskin happened to be the principal object of attack. A colored lady is declared to have been the cause of it all. Hammond and Johnson were held on $200 bail for the grand jury.

There was a small colony of negroes among them four girls, in the count of which were said to have participated in the celebration, the women of color having taken to their heels when the gentlemen friends began to use bad shop etiquette. No testimony was taken for the defendants put in the plea of guilty and waived examination. Furthermore the whole company was ordered by the authorities of Roselle, some of whom were present to escort the ladies and gentlemen on a tour of the municipality of that borough. They went.

HAROUN AND THE BLIND MENDICANT

By Ebonozor Smith.

Nothing particularly slow about that Arabian Nights tale, about how the Caliph Haroun-al-Raschid and his grand vizier were hiding around Bagdad disguised, in search of adventure and to get a line on how their loyal subjects were getting up.

And they came upon a blind beggar squatting on the asphalt, and the caliph bestowed alms, which the mendicant refused unless accompanied by a kick.

And then was the caliph sore distraught what to do, but intimated that he would have to be shown before he would consent to mix his philanthropy and imbecility in any such way as that.

Then quoth Mr. Mendicant: "Commander of the Faithful" (for he had got next to the caliph despite his disguise), "my system is afflicted with a vow never to accept alms unless same is followed by a kick. So, mighty one, it's me for the swift one or nixy mazum."

So the caliph landed a good one and ordered him to report at the royal palace next day and tell his troubles.

(But here Scheherazade, perceiving daybreak, arose, agreeing to continue her line of dope next night.)

The following night she continued in this wise:

The blind beggar, being arrived at the palace was, by the caliph's order, ushered directly to the don, where he was received with exceeding condescension.

Having opened a bottle of bud, the caliph supplied the blind man with the "makin's" and told him to fire away.

Know, then, most illustrious, I am the son of poor but honest parents, my father being a wood-cutter.

One day he sent me with his 40 camels to the forest for wood and being arrived there I was accosted by a dervish, a most holy man, who, after passing the time of day, disclosed to me that he was seized of the secret of an enormous treasure cached near by and proposed that we load the 40 camels therewith, and each taking 20 as his share go our ways.

I embraced him with rapture and swore to keep my part of the pact.

Being arrived at the place, which was at the foot of a high mountain, the dervish incanted a few lines, when, the side of the hill opening, there was disclosed a large cavern which, upon entering, we found full with gold, diamonds, rubies and such-like truck.

Having loaded as much as the camels would carry we divided them, as per section one of the agreement, and after embracing one another prepared to go each on his way.

And right here, oh, commander of the faithful, is where little Willie began to go to the bad.

My hump of covetousness began to swell and I determined to try a line of talk on him of the whirls for at least a part of his camels.

Starting in by calling attention to the fact that he was a holy man of austere habits, a deacon in the church, I enlarged upon the difficulties to be encountered by anyone but an experienced cameller in the handling of 20 of those unruly beasts.

It was a cinch, oh, most benign, like unto a foot race with a cripple, for he coughed up like a small boy who had swallowed a tin whistle. And was I content, oh, anointed? If so, it was hardly noticeable.

The ten camels he still retained looked to me like a whole caravan, and now that I had him spotted as the head of the E. Z. Mark family, nothing short of the other ten would satisfy me.

And I went after him, oh, luminous, like a book agent, selling a set of Encyclopedia Britannica to an office boy on easy payments (50 cents down and eight dollars per week).

And did I fail to remind him, O Roentgen Rays, that if the worst came to the worst there were always opportunities for a man in his line with Barnum & Bailey or the Ringlings?

(Your sack of dukes, O Incandescence, and the papers.)

Well, when I had the last of his camels, O Effulgence, and was making off, I suddenly remembered the small round box I had seen him take from the cavern and collected carefully in his turban.

And could I pass this up, O Bright Eyes, even though it should prove to be no more than a box of Old Dutch Cleanser?

To my sorrow, no, Most Cherubie, and when I had sufficiently wept and torn my beard he even so far gave it me, explaining that it was a sort of pomade, which, when applied to the left eye, had the virtue of disclosing to the applicant the treasures of the world, but if applied to the other eye, would instantly render him blind.

I applied a little of the paste to my left eye, O Rain in the Face, and what I saw made the measly treasure loaded on my 40 camels look like a Barada diamond and a Vander-Gould reception.

But, woe is me, O Young Man Afraid of His, for despite the entreaties of the good dervish, whom I still suspected of being a moocher, I insisted upon putting some on my other eye; when, Antelope Mike, I became blind as you see me now.

And so that is how I became blind and a beggar, and then and there I vowed never to accept alms unless accompanied by a swift kick.

The caliph laughed mightily at this recital, and had the beggar dismissed with 30 pieces of silver, together with an equal number of those kicks he seemed so greatly to crave.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Marshall & Ball Fall Suits

For Youths and Young Men at 10.75
Reduced from $12 to $18

$10.75 seems to be about what most young men want to pay for a Fall Suit judging from the way they have responded to this Grand Offering of Regular $12 to $18 Suits.

The Young Man who doesn't delay will still find a suit to his liking, in both single and double-breasted styles, including the famous M. & B. Londoncut Suits. There are worsteds, cassimeres, cheviots and velours. All the new Fall shades of brown, tan, smoke and gray, in attractive patterns, many of them exclusive. Sizes, 15 to 19 years.

Every garment was made by us this season to sell for $12 to $18, and is full of the snap and individuality so characteristic of all M. & B. Clothing.

Men's Fall Suits and Overcoats

No matter what your fancy may dictate in the way of a Fall Suit or Overcoat, whether radical or conservative in model, whether distinctive or modest in pattern, it's here. The fabrics, modeling, making and the touches of tailoring skill in the finishing are up to the high standard we have set as Manufacturing Clothiers.

Prices range from $10 to $30.

Try the Experiment.

A Boston writer says that Goethe wrote the initials of his name, and, folding it over, was surprised to get a butterfly. It makes a very pretty occupation for an idle 15 minutes to see what you will get, and some of the designs are pretty enough to be used as embroidery patterns.

Riches and Arrogance.

Nothing is more hateful to a poor man than the purse-proud arrogance of the rich—but let the poor man become rich, and he runs at once into the vice against which he so feelingly declaimed. There are strange contradictions in human character.—Richard Cumberland.

Too Much Talk.

One of the dangers of the age is that of speaking too much. Judging from the frequency with which a few people give the world the benefit of their views on every possible subject, it might be thought that they were qualifying for the post of lecturer to the human race.—Child's Guardian.

To Live One's Own Life.

To live one's own life is a matter of such poignant and absorbing interest that it insensibly creates an individual atmosphere which obscures the larger known phenomena of nature.—Mary Stewart Cutting, in "The Wayfarers."

The Open Window.

The best part of a modern house is its windows. To keep these open day and night and to make the air inside approach as nearly as possible the air outside should be the first business of the housekeeper.—Good Health.

Manual Training.

Manual training is no small part of public education and should be given precedence over many of the latter-day trifles and furbelows introduced in the free schools.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Learn for Yourself.

It is a most beautiful and salutary order of things that you should first bear the burden you place on others and learn from yourself how men should be ruled.—St. Bernard of Clairvaux.

Best Part of It.

A New York woman fired at a burglar who was entering her window. Of course, she missed him, but the best part of it is that she did not kill an innocent passer by.

Learn This To-Day.

The courtesy with which I receive a stranger, and the civility I show him, form the background on which he paints my portrait.—John Paul Richter.

Europe and Heaven.

Democrats to Hold Mass Meeting.

There will be a Democratic rally at headquarters, Tuesday night, and Hon. Fred. C. Hyor, the candidate for Senate; Jeremiah A. Kiernan, Fred. Reiche and William Brewer, the assembly candidates will speak. It is expected, also, that a member of the State Democratic Committee will be present and make an address.

Alpha Sigma Initiation.

Last night the Alpha Sigma drew upon their waiting list and entered upon their roll the names of Messrs. D. R. Starry and John H. McLaughlin. At 8:30 the fun began when the two victims appeared in front of the large vacant house of Wm. Harrison on Harrison avenue, the use of which had been obtained for the purpose of putting them through the mill. The stunts came thick and fast as the newly-elected members will vouch for. There were times during the evening when they did hesitate but you can rest assured that they would not hesitate to say that there were "things doing."

After two hours dealing with the outward man the club adjourned to the large front room where Enterer Rasne had prepared a sumptuous repast which every one present enjoyed and upon which they placed their stamp of approval. President Ernest Alpers, Jas. A. Provati and Elbert H. Moyn each gave a short talk after which the company broke up, having added another link to the chain of Alpha Sigma successes since it originated a few years ago.

PROF. PERRY TO LECTURE.

Director of Pratt Institute to Describe "India" at Washington School.

The Board of Education has arranged for a course of four illustrated lectures on India by Professor Walter Scott Perry, Director of Fine and Applied Arts at Pratt Institute. These lectures will be given in the Washington School Hall on Friday evenings November 6th and 13th and December 4th and 11th.

Further particulars will be announced shortly.

Professor Perry has travelled extensively, and his lectures are replete with information gained at first hand.

A Jeweler's Experience.

C. R. Klinger, The Jeweler, 1080 Virginia ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities of my system, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed. Gale's Pharmacy."

Not Football-- But Footwear

Until six months ago our shoe business was conducted by the head of our shoe business in Philadelphia, where we sell more shoes than are sold at retail anywhere else in the United States.

The constant growth of our shoe business in New York has made it necessary to unhitch it from the Philadelphia management that gave New York but half the time of the shoe chief.

We have now placed at its head a practical shoe man, who has no superior in the trade, and who will devote his entire time to the New York Store.

Not only have the shoe store accommodations been improved by transferring the Men's and Boys' Shoes to the new building, but all the space formerly occupied in the old building has been given to Women's, Misses' and Children's Shoes, and the Shoes themselves have been recently before a jury of experts to prove and improve them.

We would sooner have shoes twice right than once wrong, and have therefore eliminated from our shelves every shoe that there can be a shadow of doubt about, as to leather, workmanship and shape.

The shoe handicraft here shall stand upon right foundations.

We have selected only the best equipped workshops and skilled workers to make our shoes, and have selected lasts, shapes, linings and finish for the several classes and qualities of shoes to be kept regularly on sale, so that our patrons, who will allow us to take pains to find the shoe that suits them exactly, may depend upon getting the same quality, shape and size whenever they want it.

There is an old proverb that says—"A handsome shoe often pinches." We shall try our best to make handsome shoes and overcome the pinches of the foot and more frequent pinches of the purse.

We ought to be able to do well for our shoe buyers, because of our combined large orders from the New York and Philadelphia houses going straight to manufacturers who supply us direct, without expenses of retail stores, cost of traveling salesmen and commissions for selling, to whom we give work in the dull periods of the year, as well as at other times.

One three-dollar or three-ninety shoe may look just the same as another, but the customer needs to have the "inside information" as to leather and covered-up workmanship, to get at the actualities.

We shall not leave anything undone, inside or out, in making up our shoes to give the most that can be gotten for the money the customer wants to spend.

The assortment of shoes now in stock is without question the largest that can be found in any one store.

Our salespeople will take the utmost pains to give the proper shoe for the foot, if the customer will kindly take enough time to be properly fitted. Where there is such a large variety, as here, of every size and shape, if pains are taken, shoes can be selected to fit the peculiarities of feet, and to also express the individuality of the wearer.

SPECIAL NOTE:

So great is our confidence in the quality and workmanship of the shoes we offer for sale, that we are willing to take back any pair of shoes showing faults after being worn, which faults could not possibly be known when the purchase was made.

We believe the customer will be just as fair with us in making a just claim as we will be fair and just in meeting it.

"Words won't feed cats Nor give shoe facts."

But the facts are here set out as plainly as possible, and it only remains for us to make good.

BURGLARS MAKE SUCCESSFUL

RAID ON TWO WESTFIELD HOMES.

Carry off Clothes and Money, and a Few Square Meals.

Burglars, presumably living in these parts, started out on a little foraging expedition here, early Wednesday morning, and were successful in entering and robbing two homes, and made an unsuccessful attempt at robbing another. They obtained entrance to the home of Mrs. N. E. Thomas, on Charles street, through a parlor window which had been left unlatched. Here they secured $3 in money from a purse belonging to Miss Thomas, taken from the dining room table, and an overcoat owned by Mr. Thomas Thomas. Being hungry they explored the pantry and helped themselves to eggs.

From the Thomas' home they went to the residence of H. L. Johnston, on the same street, but here they were scared off. Then they visited the home of T. J. Woodring, on Clark street, where they gained entrance by a dining room window. They helped themselves to everything that looked valuable on the lower floor but did not attempt to enter the sleeping apartments on the second story. Their booty consisted of a pair of gold cuff buttons, a gold pen, and about $40 in clothing. The pantry was also despoiled of several square meals.

Chief O'Neil was notified, and at once set his men to work looking for clues. He believes that the burglars live in Westfield.

Improve the Town Property.

We are all interested in the prosperity of our town. We can contribute to it materially, and give it a far more prosperous look at the same time.

Perhaps the public property needs a good coat of paint.

Dovco will supply that coat with two-thirds of the number of gallons required of any other. Dovco will last twice as long as any other. Dovco is all paint and full measure. Dovco is the strongest paint known. Dovco will take care of the property, in the long run, for half the money required by any other.

The reason is stated above: Dovco is all paint and full measure: the strongest paint known.

E. D. Jewell, Corry, Pa., painted his house 5 years ago with a mixed paint; took 14 gallons. Last spring he repainted with Dovco; bought 14 gallons and 4 left. Saved $15 to $20, as painting costs two or three times as much as the paint.

MILLINERY

At the Best and Largest Millinery Store in the State.

OUR stronghold for thirty years has been Millinery, and for that period of time, we have been recognized as leaders of Fashion in this Department. We exhibit and sell more Hats than any two of our large competitors—for the simple reason that we devote more space, time and energy towards this end of our large business.

At the present time in Millinery Salon, we exhibit about five-hundred newly trimmed Fall Hats, depicting the newest effects—the elements of style and practicability were never more satisfactorily combined.

For street and evening wear, we have the big stunning hats, for those who prefer them—and plenty of small, chic shapes, equally as stylish.

The trimmings, which are of the very best, as well as the shapes, are varied—beautiful feathers, ivings and flowers, being much in evidence, while the color schemes are carried out beautifully to match every costume. Original creations and copies from expensive Parisian models, invite inspection.

Prices range from $2.00 to $50.00.

The Reformation of Carter

There was no denying that Carter was a trial to his mother.

Mrs. Dibby never had quite become reconciled to the astonishing fact that her son had grown up a brawny six-footer by the time he was 18, with large hands and a terrific breadth of shoulder. However, she might have endured this had he been neater and more orderly, but life to Mrs. Dibby meant a constant trotting around after Carter, picking up things and straightening the disarray he left in his wake.

"If I did not watch him," Mrs. Dibby would mourn, "that boy just as likely as not would wear a gray tie with a brown suit, and he never, never brushes his things! Wrinkles in a coat mean less than nothing to him. He is absolutely hopeless in a social sense. He never will get over being awkward and ill at ease in a parlor and he says he is bored to death by parties. All he cares about is football and baseball and scores. That I should have such a son!"

After 18 years of this it was a bewildering shock to Mrs. Dibby one day to find her son standing before his mirror scowling at his necktie. That he should even take the trouble to look in a glass to tie it was remarkable enough, but his plain dissatisfaction with the result was epic.

"It looks very nice, Carter," said his mother.

Carter began taking off the blue tie. "I think I'll wear the one with the dots," he murmured, half to himself.

Mrs. Dibby went downstairs rapidly, and on arriving in a quiet corner sat down abruptly. Carter certainly looked rugged and healthy, so after ten minutes of wondering she decided that he was not going to be ill. Thereupon she dismissed the matter from her mind. When she found him polishing his shoes the next day, however, she was startled.

"Does your head ache, dear?" she inquired.

"Never felt better. Where's dad's shoe brush?"

When he came down to dinner that night Carter, probably for the first time in his life, walked down the stairs

"Not a Bit," said Carter.

Instead of arriving with a combination of rush and tumble. His father exchanged glances with his mother as Carter entered the room.

"Well!" said Carter's father. "Is this really you? That's right—hold your head up like that all the time and get rid of that habit of ducking which I've spoken to you about so often. What are you getting red over it for?"

"Don't tease him," protested Carter's mother. "You look very nice, Carter. I believe you've really got your hair parted straight, too!"

Carter grumbled something inarticulate as he attacked his soup. Occasionally his parents surveyed one another questioningly. There was a strange atmosphere about Carter. Some of his friends happened in that evening and the young man quite distinguished himself as a host.

"He's changing," said his mother. "But I don't understand why. It is certainly queer. It isn't like Carter!"

When the elder Dibby, glancing at his son the next evening from over his paper, caught a remarkable glint on that youth's hitherto carelessly kept finger nails his jaw dropped and he bent forward to stare. Later he approached Mrs. Dibby with a tale and evidently troubled face.

"Mother," he whispered, glancing back in the library to make sure that his son did not hear him. "Carter—Carter has had his nails manicured! Yes, truly!"

That settled it. A startling change had overtaken their son and he knew it was theirs to question why—and get no answer out of the mocking atmosphere. Mrs. Dibby was decidedly worried.

"If there was only a good reason for it!" she said, as she went to straighten on Carter's dressing case and found it in neat and appalling order. "It seems so queer—and he sent his other suit to be pressed this morning!"

She wiped her eyes and stared out of the window. As she stared her tears dried.

Before her, down on the street came Carter, radiating spotless perfection as to garb and deep devotion as to contentment as he bent tenderly over the attractive specimen of femininity walking beside him. It was the 17-year-old sister of his best chum.

"Well!" said his mother. "Well! So that explains it! I knew that some thing called Carter! Oh, dear! Now, suppose I've got to go to worrying about that!"

A VACATION AT A COUNTRY RAILROAD STATION

"I was reading the other day," said the cheerful Mr. Philkintross, "of somebody that just missed a train and so had to wait six hours at a country railroad station—as if that was about the toughest thing that a man could be called upon to endure. But do you know I'm thinking of spending my vacation that way this summer. For if there is anything I like to do it is to loaf, just loaf around a country railroad station where they have about two passenger trains a day each way, with a freight coming along occasionally.

"Quiet and peace, with nobody about and the wind rustling idly the leaves on the trees, and the empty glistening rails stretching away mysteriously. Back from the platform down at one end of the station there's a boat all crated up, and a mowing machine likewise crated, and a few boxes and barrels, and I look them over with interest, undisturbed by anybody and with plenty of time, and then I take a look into the freight and baggage room and then I settle down on the station platform in the shade, with my back comfortably against the building and loaf until it's pretty near time for the 10:22.

"Along about ten the station agent comes, and then pretty soon two or three people that are going to take that train or to meet people coming on it, and when the people begin coming like that, why, I stop loafing, or I loaf in a different way; I loaf with the interest of attention, and the coming of the train is a great event to me.

"I stand around and without intruding view the people, and they all interest me, every one; and to be sure, more people come; and one or two wagons or carryalls arrive and draw up at the back of the station and their drivers come around to join the—yes, the throng on the platform.

"And then away down the road, far out of sight beyond the curve, we hear a whistle—she's coming; and in a minute you see the engine coming a humming with the 10:22; with the fireman keeping the bell going, and the train baggage man standing by the door of the baggage car, and people on the platforms of the cars. And the baggage man drops off a trunk or two or three or four, and half a dozen people get down, and their friends meet them or the drivers that have come for them take possession of them, and the station platform is a scene of lively activity while the people in the cars look on and glance up at the sign-board to see what station this is.

"And then the station platform gradually thins out, and everybody that's going is now aboard the train, and there's nobody left standing between the platform and the train except the train conductor. He looks coolly along the train and sees that everybody is off and everybody's aboard, and then without turning around he raises his hand calmly as a signal to the engineer, and the fireman pulls on the bell rope, and the engineer pulls the throttle and gives the big engine just a breath of steam and starts the heavy train so easily and smoothly that you scarcely realize it has started until you see it moving, and the conductor steps coolly up on the front platform of the forward passenger car and the train is off on its way.

"Then the station agent drags in those trunks that the train has left, and five minutes later the last of the people about the station have disappeared and once more you have the station all to yourself.

"But here! Here's a whistle! What does that mean? And looking down the line, you see the thick, black smoke of a coming engine and you discover that it's a freight train. And maybe this is a single track road and this a passing station, and then you see that ponderous locomotive coming, dragging its endless line of cars, and turn out here on the siding.

"And then in due time the next passenger train comes along and we have that scene on the platform repeated, and then the freight gets the right of way and soon, with everything around now all to itself, it pulls out.

"And then you settle down on the station platform again with all the world to yourself, responsible to nobody and with absolutely nothing to bother you, and steep yourself in peace and quiet, and if you care to look so high you can see there your friends the white clouds loafing by, and then looking down again and across the fields bright in the sunlight, you hear the breeze rustling the trees and you hear the birds and maybe in sheer contentment of spirit and complete bodily restfulness your head drops and—

"When you wake up and look around to see if anything new has happened in the world since you dropped off you see coming along the track slowly and silently a solitary figure, all the time looking down in front of him—either side as he comes—the station boss, looking along the track, and after you have met him thus for two or three days, if he takes you for a man, he will tell you when the track was stone ballasted and when they put in the 90-pound rails, and if you tell him, which is true, that everything along here looks kept up in perfect order he will tell you that this section last year took the prize offered by the company for the best-kept section on the road.

"Marooned at a way station? Why, I am thinking of spending my vacation that way this summer at a country railroad station."

WHOOPIING THINGS UP FOR THE G. O. P. TICKET.

Republicans Cheer, and Genial Gene Sings at Club Meeting.

The Westfield G. O. P.'s whooped it up for Taft and Sherman at Republican headquarters in the Westfield Hotel block, Tuesday evening, when a large and enthusiastic gathering of Republicans gave encouragement to the national ticket by pledging to work for it at the polls. President Lack was applauded when he stepped upon the platform, and called the meeting to order. In a brief speech he outlined the issues of the campaign very convincingly.

Genial Gene Hanford, whose reputation as a topical song writer extends far beyond the confines of his native heath, had something to offer his fellow Republicans entitled "Three Strikes and Out for William Jennings Bryan." Gene sang the song, and everybody joined in the chorus. The song will be printed for use at a future meeting of the Club.

Mayor Alpers, Charles H. Denman, vice-president Wilson, Rev. P. W. Ross, and A. L. Russell spoke, the latter urging the members not to forget that their fellow Republican, Mayor Alpers, was a candidate for re-election, and that he was deserving of the honor.

The Rev. Mr. Ross, pastor of the New York Avenue Baptist Church, promised to work hard among his conferees for the party which had given the colored man his liberty. Rev. Mr. Ross paid tribute to the national candidates, Taft and Sherman, and said that he thought they would receive almost the entire colored vote.

Vice President Wilson has arranged for one large mass meeting at least, at which prominent speakers will be heard. In order to carry on the work of the campaign it is urged that voluntary subscriptions be sent by mail or handed to Mr. Hugh Talbot, of Highland avenue, the treasurer of the Club.

The next meeting of the Club will be held at headquarters, Monday night at 8 o'clock. The membership roll is growing rapidly.
