Mr. Hohenstein's Statement

To the Voters of the Second Ward.

Gentlemen: For election of Councilman, I earnestly ask your support regardless of party lines, and if elected I will look after the interests of the Second Ward and the town in general, the same as I have done for the past two years. My motto will be hereafter the same as it has been for the past, to be no man's man, no favors to the few, but equal rights for all. My aim has been to work only for the best interests of the people. I can conscientiously say that I have done my duty to the people. I am willing to stand on my last two year's record, and leave my re-election in the hands of my constituents of the Second Ward. I assure you your confidence will not be misplaced, as I will do my best to be worthy of it. Therefore I most earnestly ask you again to vote for a man who has been tried, and not found wanting, to work for the best interests of the people of this town.

Yours respectfully,

R. F. HOHENSTEIN.

JAMES R. FERRIS DEAD.

One of Westfield's Oldest and Best Loved Citizens Passes Peacefully Away.

IN HIS NINETY-FIRST YEAR.

Came to Westfield Fifty Years Ago—A Life Long Republican and Devout Christian —Built First Town Hall.

James Randolph Ferris, one of Westfield's oldest and most respected citizens, died at his home on Prospect street, Monday afternoon. Mr. Ferris had been confined to his bed since last April. Ten years ago he had a stroke of apoplexy from which he never fully recovered, and since that time he has taken but little part in active work. He died very peacefully. The members of his family were at his bedside when the end came.

James Randolph Ferris was born at Peekskill, New York, February 19, 1818, at what is known as the old Henry Ward Beecher farm, which was also the homestead of his father and grandfather. He received his education in the schools of his native town, and early in life entered the mercantile business. During the war he engaged in the men's furnishing business in Nashville, Tennessee, with great success. Returning North he established himself in business in New York City, where he gained the reputation of being one of the most accurate and capable rating agency experts in the business. Fifty years ago, Mr. Ferris came to Westfield to spend his summers, and he liked the country so well that he bought property on Broad street, east of the present site of the First M. E. Church. The land comprised a large farm and extended north to Dudley avenue. Here Mr. Ferris built a handsome home, which has since been removed to face Prospect street.

Mr. Ferris was always one of Westfield's most active and patriotic citizens. He was a life long Republican, and although he never held office, he took a leading part in the councils of his party, and was a liberal contributor to the party cause.

In the early days of Westfield there was no public meeting place, and Mr. Ferris led the enterprise which resulted in the building of Aeolian Hall, afterwards known as Arcanum Hall, which was located at the corner of Broad and Prospect streets, and was totally destroyed by fire many years ago. He was also one of the prime movers in the organization of Fairview Cemetery Association, and one of the first members of the Board of Trustees of that association. He likewise took an active part in the development of the Westfield public schools.

Mr. Ferris was a devoutly religious man, and it was to this work that he gave his best efforts. Born in the Methodist faith, he became actively identified with the local denomination upon his coming to Westfield. He was a trustee of the church for fifty years, and superintendent of the Sunday school for a number of years being succeeded in that office by the late Robert Rutherford Sinclair, his personal friend. Mr. Ferris was a liberal contributor to all religious enterprises particularly those promoted by his own denomination. The Methodist Church still has the record of the services he rendered, and his name is to be found on the roll of honorary trustees. Mr. Ferris represented the best in our American citizenship, and will long be remembered as one of the town's exemplary citizens.

He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Edgar R. Pearsall, of Union Place, and Miss Ella Ferris. His children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren live to pay tribute to the ideals of citizenship and fatherhood which he exemplified in his home.

At the special request of Mr. Ferris, the funeral services were private from his late residence, Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. Addison W. Hayes, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating. The pall bearers were his three grandsons, Ferris, James and Chester Pearsall; his son-in-law, Edgar Pearsall, his nephew Joseph Ferris, and William S. Hurst. The interment was at Fairview, yesterday morning.

BIG CROWD HEARS GIBSON.

Former Comptroller of Newark
Talks for Over an Hour to Local Citizens.

DRAMA'S POLITICAL PROPAGANDA.

"A Sheath Skirt," Says Mr. Gibson, "Which Conceals the Instability of His Underpinnings."

John S. Gibson, ex-comptroller of Newark, addressed a large gathering of local voters at the mass meeting given under the auspices of the Taft and Sherman Club at headquarters Monday night. Mr. Gibson is an earnest speaker, and he had his auditors at attention for more than an hour while he reviewed the events of the last twelve years, and contrasted them with the stormy periods in our history in which the Democratic party had been in control. Frequently his remarks were interrupted by hearty applause, and twice he was compelled to continue with his speech when on the point of sitting down. There was hearty laughter when he spoke of Mr. Bryan as "the apostle of disaster" and the "architect of ruin" and when in speaking of the danger of Bryanism he compared his political propaganda to a "sheath skirt, which conceals the instability of underpinnings."

Mr. Gibson was for many years a Democrat. He lived in good old Sussex County where the Democracy rules, but some years ago he discovered that there was no hope in the Democratic party; that there was nothing in the party of constructive statesmanship; that there was a great difference between its teaching and practice. He declared that the Republican party was the party of performance, for a glance into the history of the country would show that our advancement had been greater during Republican rule than during Democratic rule. He said that it was true not only of the nation but of the state. He spoke of the evils that existed, among them the evil of over-capitalization, which he said was indeed a paramount issue. The speaker contended that these evils could be removed by the "sheath skirt" which in fact by this is enough to the Republican party after the nation, our financial system restored to a healthful and normal condition. This he said was due to the policies of President Roosevelt, who must be acknowledged as the leader of his party. He talked earnestly of the present crisis in American history. He showed how the reforms which had been started by the Republican party through President Roosevelt ought to be carried to fulfillment by his logical successor William Howard Taft. He said that intelligent men in the Democratic party would not vote for Bryan because they had no confidence in him. He referred to Bryan's record as a lawyer, who never tried a case; as a congressman of little consequence; as a soldier who never fought a battle; and as a statesman who had made a fortune out of his failures. By way of comparison he reviewed Taft's work as a lawyer, judge, governor, diplomatic envoy, Secretary of War, and a candidate for the presidency. "Such a man as Taft," concluded Mr. Gibson, "will be the choice of the American people to guide the ship of state through a critical era in our national life."

Arthur H. Laack, president of the club presided at the meeting, and introduced Mr. Gibson. Before and after the address Genial Gene Hanford, sang "Three Strikes and Out for Bryan Next Fall" and "Way Down Upon the Jersey Central." Everybody joined in with a vim, and the last Republican mass meeting in Westfield was an indication that the club had done good and effective work in the interest of the national ticket in the campaign of 1908.

Lawyer Peckham's Case Dismissed.

When Glack vs. Peckham was tried, Judge Collins, finally reserved his decision, as we then reported it, on defendant's motion to dismiss the Complaint. Yesterday the following order was signed:

"Upon further consideration of the findings of the jury in the above matter, and upon the recommendation of the jury and of the complainant, and having defendant before me, of my own Motion, I do hereby * * * Order and Adjudge that the entire proceedings be dismissed."

EDUCATION: ITS

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

Dr. Savitz Explains System of Grading in Westfield Public Schools.

NOW PROMOTIONS ARE MADE

And Pupils are Given a Practical Knowledge by Being Taught the Importance of Facts.

To illustrate:—The pupils of the fifth grade are divided into three or four groups according to the number of pupils, about 40 being placed into one group, with a teacher in charge. The division is made according to the rank of pupils, determined by their averages. All the groups begin with the same work, but the more mature advance more rapidly than those that are less mature. Long before the end of the year the most advanced pupils in the highest group of the fifth grade can do the work in the lowest group of the sixth grade. With a little extra work, these more advanced pupils can be promoted to the lowest group of the next higher grade without "skipping" any work that is absolutely essential. Should a pupil in the highest fifth grade lose time because of illness, or even while at school, be unable to keep up with the group on account of some temporary physical ailment, he can be transferred to a lower group of the same grade. The different groups of a grade are usually subdivided into one or more groups so that pupils of the same capacity and development are doing the same work. Thus a pupil's advancement is largely determined by his capacity and application. The moral effect of this is of no small value, for it is well to learn by experience, early in life, that success can only be achieved by diligent application. This system of grading provides equal opportunity for all.

In order to get away from Gladiators Play Opponents Off Their Feet in Second Half.

The Marathon Athletic Association team was again victorious Sunday when they vanquished the team of Roselle, in a game that was a real test of endurance. The team was able to take a journey across the state without looking up a railway guide? Nor is it important that one should remember all the geographical facts necessary to make a journey across his own state, but it is highly important that one should know how to use a railway guide. What is true of geography is true of other subjects in the curriculum. Pupils must learn facts and remember them, but more than this, they must learn how to get facts and to understand the relation one fact bears to another. Two essential factors in a successful life are initiative and adaptability, and neither of these is developed through mere book knowledge.

The introduction of Manual Training into the curriculum has done much to make our school work more practical and interesting. Pupils of different types need different kinds of training for their development. A boy who has no interest in arithmetic may find it a most interesting subject when he discovers its application in constructing a piece of apparatus in the shop. Not only this, we are largely an industrial people and we take great pride in our industrial achievements. Why, therefore, should not young people who expect to devote their lives to industrial pursuits receive a training which will put them into possession of greater power and skill when they begin their life work? Provision should be made for those children just as surely as for those who expect to become merchants, lawyers, doctors, ministers. In our construction work, the son of the merchant and professional man vies with the son of the mechanic in expressing his ideas in card-board, in iron, and in wood. Both will have a deeper sense of the dignity and value of labor by doing this work. What we sorely need to-day is an appreciation of the work of others who follow pursuits differing from our own.

It is refreshing to see the interest pupils take in this work. An opportunity was given to grammar school boys to work in the shop after school. So great was the pressure to get into this class that less than half the pupils could be accommodated. Of 140 pupils in the high school last year, 112 spent from one to three hours after school each week in mechanical and freehand drawing, and shopwork. Many a young

WHEATLEY TO HIS CRITICS.

Democratic Candidate Explains His Relation With August Belmont and Race Tracks.

HAS NO APOLOGIES TO MAKE.

Refers to His Record in the South, and in Late War With Spain—His Attitude Toward Negro.

Following two speeches in which national issues were discussed by George J. Hendrickson, of Jersey City, and State Senator Don M. Halsey, of Virginia, at a Democratic mass meeting held at headquarters Tuesday night Major Walter K. Wheatley, president of the local Democratic Club and the Democratic candidate for mayor, sprang a little surprise on his auditors by giving them a straight talk on the character of his candidacy. Incidentally Mr. Wheatley took occasion to reply to some of his critics.

"One of my fellow citizens," said Major Wheatley, "has circulated the report that I am or was the special agent of Mr. August Belmont on the race track. That statement is correct so far as it goes; and I am not here to make any apologies. I am conducting, as many of you know, a press bureau in the financial district of New York city, and very frequently I am called upon to fulfill important commissions. Last summer Mr. August Belmont authorized me to represent the New York Jockey Club in a matter which concerned the sport of racing. I was paid for what I did, and I was absolutely satisfied with the bargain; so was Mr. Belmont, and so was everybody except the bookmakers. It happened that the particular business in which I was engaged was hostile to their interests, for as many know, the New York Jockey Club has been fighting the book makers for some time. I consider that honorable."

Major Wheatley explained that he did not care to make reference to himself in this campaign, but that in as much as his official life was comparatively unknown to the citizens of Westfield, he thought it a matter of duty for him to let the people know something about himself. He told about the various offices which he had held in his home town acting as mayor, and as chairman of the Building Committee which built the Town Hall there. It was through his personal efforts that $8,000 was saved in the construction of the municipal building in Americus, Georgia.

Mr. Wheatley said that he approved of the plan of establishing a sinking fund to meet the debts of the town. He had been informed that not all bonds of Westfield were covered by a sinking fund. He also urged as low a rate of taxes as was consistent with progress. He said he would not stand for a retrograde policy; he thought the town should go right ahead.

Mr. Wheatley also made reply to the criticisms about his military rank. Some people had asked whether he was a Georgia Major or a real Major. He explained that he was captain of the United States Volunteers which on August 1893 went to Cuba. In 1899 he was promoted to Major and later was appointed to the 20th United States Volunteers. He took charge of the company which he had organized at his own expense in Georgia, and went to the Philippine Islands; he stayed there for two years being with the troops at Saman, which was under fire 139 times in nine months. The rank of major, he said, was given him by the United States War Department, and he said the credentials were in his office signed by William McKinley and Horatio A. Alger.

Explaining his attitude on the question of permitting a negro from the south to work for him in the Fourth Ward, Major Wheatley declared that he had been a champion of the colored

MISS SCOVILLE LECTURES

BEFORE WOMAN'S CLUB.

Grand-daughter of Henry Ward Beecher
Cordially Received—New Members.

The second meeting of the Woman's Club for this season was held on Monday, October twenty-sixth at the Presbyterian Chapel. At this meeting Mrs. Weimer and Mrs. Forsythe were unanimously elected for active membership and the name of Mrs. Hobson presented to be voted upon at the next meeting.

The resignations of Mrs. Annie M. Smith and Mrs. Augusta Cole were accepted with regret.

The Program Committee for the season of 1909-10 was announced. Those who will serve upon this committee are: Mrs. Mary Bentley, Mrs. E. D. Floyd, Mrs. E. B. Proudfoot, Mrs. Paul Q. Oliver, Mrs. Alfred Watts and Miss Helen T. Beebe.

As there was a vacancy on the Executive Board Mrs. Wray Bentley was chosen to fill the office.

Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Davis had been chosen to represent our Club at the silver anniversary of the Shakespeare Club of Elizabeth on the 20th of October and a very entertaining account of the occasion was given on Monday by Mrs. Davis.

After the reading of this report songs were delightfully sung by Mrs. Robert W. Harden. Then followed a most interesting lecture by Miss Annie Beecher Scoville of Stamford, Connecticut, who chose for her subject, "The Lady of the Castle" with Matilda of Normandy as the central figure. Miss Scoville is instructor in History and Literature at the Katharine Aitken school. She enjoys the distinction of being a grand-daughter of the late Henry Ward Beecher and possesses something of the charm he had. Miss Scoville's lecture was enthusiastically received and many have expressed the hope that she may lecture before the Woman's Club another year.

It has been discovered that many cases of disease in horses diagnosed as Lung Fever are really worm troubles. To Make Chestnut Street County Road.
Freeholder Charles A. Smith has taken up the work of having Chestnut street made a county road, and purposes to introduce a resolution to this effect at the next meeting of the Board of Freeholders. It is probable that Mr. Smith's resolution will be acted upon favorably, as Chestnut street has always been a connecting thoroughfare, and in this sense it is as much a county road as if it were so classified and cared for at the expense of the town.

W. J. Lee's Statement.
W. J. Lee, the Republican candidate for councilman in the Second Ward, denies the report that he does not desire election. Mr. Lee told a STANDARD representative, yesterday, that he was out to win, and was making an earnest canvas for support in his ward. He declared, that if elected, he would give his best efforts to his duties as councilman.

A Card of Thanks.
In behalf of the Westfield Fire Department, I wish to give Mr. W. G. Peckham, a vote of thanks for his kindness in giving us the use of his horse "Jingles" for the last 5½ years.
Respectfully,

GRAND OPERA AT THE ## NEW WESTFIELD CASINO.

A new departure in entertainments is about to be presented to the citizens of Westfield by the management of the Westfield Casino. On Friday evening, Nov. 6th, will be presented an illustrated musical concert consisting of selections from the great operas of the world's most famous authors.

"Romeo and Juliet" will be the main feature, and will be presented in its entirety, and fully illustrated by the world's greatest perfected "cinematograph," presenting the most perfect, life motion illustration in existence today.

The instrumental and musical number of this opera will be presented by the wonderful auxetophone, made by the Victor Company of Camden and will consist of selections by Caruso, Nielsen, Scotti, Evans, Stevenson, Plancon, Scotti, Nino, Melba, Constantino and others.

The entertainment is one which cannot be excelled outside of the Metropolitan Opera House.

The latest advice reaching this office informs us that the many severe tests made of the Fairfield's Milk Producer for Cattle only proves most conclusively that it is actually all that is claimed for it. Besides increasing the flow of milk, it enriches the quality and improves the condition of the animal. Sold under guarantee by Patrick Traynor.

ELECTION NIGHT SMOKER

AT THE WESTFIELD CASINO.

The Alpha Sigma will give an election smoker at the Casino, formerly the Westfield Club, on election night, and aside from a pleasing entertainment during the evening, complete election returns of national, state and local elections will be given. The returns will be received over a special private wire (Western Union) leased for the occasion, and will be given in a continuous series of bulletins as received from the instruments upon the stage of the casino, avoiding all delays. These returns will be received every few seconds and will be read as received between parts of the entertainment. Free pipes, tobacco and coffee will be furnished, and other refreshments may be purchased on the premises.

One of the entertainment features will be the reproduction of the Gans-Nelson fight for the light weight championship of the world at Colma on July 4th. This is conceded to be the greatest battle ever fought by these famous fighters. Other features will be presented to make the entertainment a pleasurable one and all attending are assured a good time. Only a limited number of tickets will be sold.

IF W. J. BRYAN IS ELECTED.

If William Jennings Bryan is elected President of the United States next Tuesday, this country is destined to endure a trying period of financial depression, which may last one year, or throughout his administration, according to Mr. Bryan's own statements. He is a man of business reform, and his policy is to reduce the money supply, which is a matter of little consequence to the public, but which will cause the country to suffer in the long run.

The great fact is that the business men of this country have no confidence in Mr. Bryan, and no faith in his political promises. They fear him, and they do not want to support him. They want a man who will stand for the principles of the Union, and who will not allow the country to be divided into two camps.

Already large numbers of business men are sending in advance orders for delivery after election, provided William Howard Taft is elected.

A large dry goods house in New York last week received an order for a bill of goods, under which was written "This order is cancelled if Bryan is elected." Other firms are making deliveries now and billing them Dec. 1st, to secure themselves against cancellations if Bryan is elected. Everywhere, in every line of business, there is a feeling of uncertainty, which will not down until Taft is elected, and will certainly increase to alarming proportions if he is defeated.

IF W. A. TAFT IS ELECTED.

If William Howard Taft is elected to the presidency of the United States, the country is destined to enjoy a period of financial regeneration. Mr. Taft inspires confidence. He is a sane, judicious, conservative administrator. He has done nothing or said nothing to shake public confidence. He appeals to the reason, and not to the emotions. He will give impetus to the tide of rising prosperity through the conduct of the nation's affairs in a thoroughly statesmanlike way.

Republicanism must be continued. "Don't Change Horses in the Middle of the Stream."

WHY REPUBLICANS SHOULD VOTE THE STRAIGHT REPUBLICAN TICKET.

But two more working days remain before the election which shall determine who shall be president of the United States and Mayor of Westfield. Following a well-established precedent, election day will be the "best working day in the year," for then the limit of human endeavor will be reached in mustering out the full party vote. Nationally the issue is well defined; it is Bryanism versus Republicanism. Locally there is no issue at all save that of party fealty or personal preference.

And, however citizens may choose to classify themselves as voters, the issue at home resolves itself into one of party affiliation. All the candidates are running under the banner of their respective parties, and the voters of good old republican Westfield are invited to vote for either with assurances that whoever wins good government will prevail for the future as it has in the past.

For this reason, therefore, the local campaign has been void of political filibustering and claptrap.

The democratic candidates have, by force of circumstances, been put to the task of conducting a campaign of personal solicitation; the republican candidates have, in some instances, chosen the same method. But their appeals have been made chiefly by an eloquent silence which inspires a fair-minded constituency to return men to office who have served their town faithfully and well for a number of years.

The government of Westfield is admittedly clean and efficient. The citizens in authority are men of good character and standing in the community. They have given their time and services at no expense to the town, and at the expense to themselves of being frequently criticized for doing their duty as they saw it. They have made some mistakes, but the aggregate of their accomplishments, in an unparalleled era of municipal growth and development, is most creditable to them and to the town. What more can this electorate demand of its citizens in authority?

If there were any great issue before the people, if the republican party had resorted to high-handed methods of dealing with local problems, if a system of graft prevailed, if such conditions existed, a housecleaning process of governmental regeneration would be very much in order. But the fact is that the citizenship of Westfield is too intelligent to fall into the snare of political corruption. It receives the kind of government that its electorate demands. The town is republican. This does not mean that partisan prejudice runs riot in the administration of local affairs; it means simply that the larger portion of an intelligent American municipality prefers republican policies, principles and office holders to democratic policies, principles and office holders. Major Walter Bentley is a good, patriotic citizen, and he would make a good mayor; but why turn down Mayor Alpers, an equally good and patriotic citizen, who has been and will continue to be a good mayor?

The same holds true with respect to the other candidates. Freeholders Charles A. Smith and Joseph Perry have been capable representatives on the board from this constituency. Mr. Smith is only opposed because the democrats hope to gain a majority in the Board at this election. He should be given the biggest vote he has ever received by way of rebuke to the purpose which led to his being opposed in a republican stronghold. The republican candidates for council should certainly have the endorsement of their party in their respective wards.

If with no other incentive, the voters should go to the polls on Tuesday and endorse by their votes the republican candidates out of gratitude for the services which they have rendered to the Town of Westfield.

Vote the straight republican ticket.

MR. AFFLECK'S QUALIFICATIONS.

Charles M. Affleck, who is the republican candidate for councilman from the first ward, is a life-long resident of the town; an upright and successful business man who has made his own way, and well known to the townspeople as a thoroughly competent citizen. Mr. Affleck has been connected with various organizations of the community, always with credit to himself and his work. He has a reputation for systematic, careful attention to detail. His methodical exactness and sense of duty to his task will make him a valuable member of the town council, much of whose work is an aggregate of small things that must be done well. For the disposition of the larger questions that come before the governing body of the town none is so well qualified as a man of Mr. Affleck's characteristics. The first ward will be fitly represented by him, and the town at large will honor him as a careful, conscientious and effective councilman.

GENUINE GOOD GOVERNMENT FOR WESTFIELD.

Remarkable Advance of the Town Since Its Incorporation.

Republican Mayors and a Republican Council has given Westfield a Progressive Government without sacrificing Carefulness, Prudence and Economy in financial management.

Martin Welles, Anson F. Grant, Randolph Perkins, Augustus L. Alpers have been Westfield's chief executives since the formation of the town and Westfield has enjoyed under their administrations the largest growth of any municipality in Union County.

Basketball Season Opens November 7th.
The Marathon Athletic Association opens its basketball season on Saturday night, November 7th, with the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. The game will be played at the Westfield Casino. As was the custom last year, each game will be followed by a dance. The Marathon's have a strong basketball team this year, and are scheduled to play the strongest fives in the State.
Local patrons are urged to help along this good sport in Westfield by their attendance at the games.

HAPPY RESULTS.

Have Made Many Westfield Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Westfield citizens groan enthusiastically. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Westfield by Doan's Kidney Pills.
Samuel K. Weller, living at 83 Rahway avenue, Westfield, N. J. says: "Mrs. Weller has great confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills. At the time she began using them, she was suffering from pains through her back and was also annoyed by headaches and dizzy spells, and her condition was becoming so serious that dropsical swellings began to appear on her ankles. Having used Doan's Kidney Pills myself, with satisfactory results, I advised her to try them. She did so, procuring them at Frutchoy's Pharmacy and she has not suffered from kidney trouble since. I take great pleasure in giving Doan's kidney Pills my endorsement."

The Ladies World.

In remodeling a skirt or cutting a circular skirt it is sometimes necessary to make a seam where there is no plait by which it may be concealed. If the goods has a design or figure, careful matching of the two edges will effect an invisible joining. This cannot be accurately done in the way of ordinary seaming, but by another method. Turn under a seam at the edge of one section, then lap this turned edge over the other section, so it touches a corresponding figure in the design. Baste the seam by slipping the needle along the fold for a short stitch, then take a short stitch in the under section. When the entire seam is slip-stitched in this manner, turn to the wrong side and stitch along the bastings as an ordinary seam. Press well and the joining will be invisible. Tailors have a knack, when they want to conceal a seam in plain cloth, of picking the cloth with a pin along the seam edges on the right side. This raises the fine hairy threads that are on the surface of every cloth, though practically invisible except in certain angles of light. While this method does not exactly hide the seam, it makes it less glaringly distinct.—"Talks on Dress-making" in The Ladies World for November.

MARATHON ELEVEN TRIMS

ROSELLE TROJANS, 5-0.

Local Gladiators Play Opponents Off Their Feet in Second Half.

The Marathon Athletic Association football team was again victorious Saturday afternoon when they vanquished the strong Trojan A. A., of Roselle, in an exciting game by the score of 5-0.
Neither side scored in the first half, but during the period the local eleven sized up the weak points in their opponent's line and just before time was called tried a drop kick, which just missed the posts.
The locals got down to business in the second half, and took the visitors off their feet. The Westfield backs went into the line hard, and on each try made gains of from 10-15 yards. Slowly they carried the ball down the field to the opponent's 5 yard line from which point Captain Malcolm Marsh was shoved over for a touchdown.
McCutcheon was a great help to the backfield, on every play he was with the man with the ball holding him up, and breaking the line of interference. The backfield is a seasoned quartette, and if it had not been for weak ends, there would have been some show for the team to develop its full speed. The Marathon A. C. will line up against Somerville A. C., at Recreation Park next Saturday afternoon.
The line up was as follows:
L. and R. Jackson, 1. tackle G. Foster, 1. guard H. Bull, centre H. Lambert, right guard, H. Otto, right tackle H. Welles, right end A. Martell, Quarter back McCutcheon, left halfback, M. Marsh (Capt.) full back, T. Knight, right half back, T. Bash.

Colored Woman in the Tolls.

Mrs. Freda Jefferson, a colored woman, who lives on the outskirts of Westfield, was arrested by Patrolman Vanderweg, of Plainfield, last Saturday night, after he discovered her prowling around the grounds of a residence on East Front Street. She was in a bad state of intoxication. Before Judge Runyon, Tuesday morning, Mrs. Jefferson admitted that she was ignorant of her doings of the night before. She had attended a party at which a mixture of drinks was passed around, and when she started for home, she lost her husband, and could not find her way to the trolley. The Judge gave her some good advice, and told her to go home.

Districts outside of Union county—Englewood, $41; East Orange, $38; Montclair, $45; Glen Ridge, $64.

1907-1908. According to the reports of District Clerks, the following amounts per capita were raised for education by local district tax during the year 1907-1908, in cities and towns where conditions educational and otherwise are similar to those in Westfield. Information as to the cost of education to the districts was sought from Montclair, East Orange, Glen Ridge, Bloomfield, Cranford, Roselle, Plainfield, North Plainfield, Somerville, Morristown, Englewood, Summit, Rutherford, and Asbury Park. Cranford, Somerville and Asbury Park did not furnish the information asked:

North Plainfield, $20.9; South Orange, $27.6; Montclair, $33.4; Plainfield, $22.6; Englewood, $31.2; East Orange, $21.5; Westfield, $19.6; Roselle, $20.7; Rutherford, $21.4; Glen Ridge, $31.9; Morristown, $31; Summit, $28.6.

It will be seen that a few of these districts spend more money derived from local tax per capita than the average expenditure in Union county from both local and state taxes. The state appropriation varies from $13 to $23 per pupil.

Voting Machine Demonstration.

The Town Clerk will demonstrate the working of the voting machine at the town rooms on Saturday afternoon and next Monday evening for the benefit of the voters of the First Ward. The Board of Registry and Election instructed voters Tuesday last.

See the "Standard" special on Wednesday morning for Election returns.

MAYOR AUGUSTUS L. ALPERS RE-ELECTED BY FIVE VOTES.

It Happened to Be a Straw Ballot, Though, and the Poll was Light.

Mayor Augustus L. Alpers was re-elected Mayor, Wednesday night by a majority of five over his Democratic opponent, Major Walter K. Wheatley. It so happens that the figures are not official, and will not effect the coming election. But some of the wise acres declare that Photographer Baumann's straw ballot returns indicate the way the election zephyrs are blowing. The unofficial score was Wheatley, 52; Alpers, 57; Big Bill Taft, 1; Jake Wahl, 1. There were 111 ballots cast, and the polls remained open two days.

The election concerned only the mayoralty contest. Mr. Taft has not yet been apprised of the complimentary vote given him, but is said that it will be framed and sent to him at the White House on March 4, 1909.

Labor and Injunctions.

(From an interview with Samuel Gompers in the November McClure's.)

The common practice in securing an injunction against labor unions is for the attorney of the employer to claim there is danger of irreparable injury to property or to alleged labor contracts through violence. A writ is granted on this primary ground, but under it are forbidden, not only violence, but all the practical working activities of a labor union. The men are enjoined from assembling peacefully about the roads of an entire district; they are enjoined from peacefully persuading workmen who succeed them to leave their places; they are enjoined from assembling. The practical operation of a strike is brought to a standstill so far as the strikers are concerned. All this is under the guise of preventing irreparable injury "through violence."

The stock argument of the attorneys for the employers is that the use of the injunction is a necessity for protecting property from violent destruction by irresponsible strikers. The fact is that injunctions are never out in good faith for this purpose. Injunctions do not reach riotous or law-breakers—as the men who get them out well know.

Unsurpassed Brilliancy of "Wiss" Cut Glass

YOU don't need to possess the keen eye of the connoisseur to appreciate the brilliancy and richness of Wiss Cut Glass. Most of the patterns we show are of our own special cutting. They possess a purity of color—and a prismatic radiance, that at once denote perfect glass cutting. And you pay no more for Cut Glass possessing all these notable qualities than you do for glass of inferior making. You'll find our superb display inviting both in beauty and modesty of price range.

Sale of Staple and Fancy Linens

The Stock of a Leading New York Importer

Importers of linens import a few in excess of their order, really to accommodate their customers in case they need more than they thought they would. Sometimes their customers want them, sometimes they do not. These "left overs," while a few of a kind, make quite a substantial lot collectively. While they will not bring their full price to the wholesaler, they are worth as much to you if there are one or a hundred dozen in a lot.

Thanksgiving day is about a month away; many replenish their linen closets at that time. This sale provides an opportunity to buy them considerably under price as the savings range from 20 to 60%.

Extra! Election Extra!

On the morning of Nov. 4, The STANDARD will publish a special Election Edition, giving the results of the National, State, County and local elections. The papers will be sold at all news stands and by newsboys. Price 2 cents.

The STANDARD will give the latest election returns. The New York newspapers circulating in Westfield go on press at 12:15 o'clock in order to make deliveries in the suburban districts. The STANDARD will not go on press until 5 o'clock, so that all our readers can be certain of the accuracy of the news in so far as results have been positively ascertained at that time.

The STANDARD has made arrangements for special news service, and will give bulletin returns as received on election night.

Keep abreast of the times and read an up-to-date newspaper.

THE UNION COUNTY STANDARD.

Certificate of Dissolution.

To all to whom these presents may come,
Greeting:

Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Lenox Land Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated at No. 542 West 7th Street, in the City of Plainfield, County of Union, State of New Jersey (George T. VanBoskerck, being agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served), has complied with the requirements of "An Act concerning corporations (Revision of 1890)," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution.

Now, therefore, I, S. D. DICKINSON, Secretary of State of the State of New Jersey, Do hereby Certify that the said corporation did, on the Fourteenth day of October, 1908, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Trenton, this Fourteenth day of October, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and eight.

S. D. DICKINSON,
Secretary of State.

To the Legal Voters of the Town of Westfield.

Notice is hereby given that at the general election to be held in the Town of Westfield on November 3rd next, there will be submitted to the legal voters of said town the following question: to wit, "Shall this Town adopt the provisions of an Act authorizing the erection of town halls and the purchase of lands whereon to erect town halls, passed by the Legislature of this State in the year One Thousand Nine Hundred and Seven?"

A Ten-Acre Store Exclusively for Women

When A. T. Stewart built his great store, at Broadway and Tenth Street, it was the largest store in the world, and provided abundant space for all the various kinds of goods the great merchant sold.

Just a few years ago, under the present ownership, you may remember that the Piano Store occupied most of the Fifth floor, Furniture the entire Fourth floor, Carpets, Upholstery Goods and Bedding the Third floor, and China and Housewares the Basement.

ONLY TWO FLOORS were used for the Women's and Men's Apparel, Dry Goods, Jewelry, Books and Fancy Goods, WHICH NOW OCCUPY ALL OF THE OLD BUILDING AND THE MAIN FLOOR OF THE NEW BUILDING.

Into the New Building, when completed, were removed the stocks from the Basement, Third, Fourth and Fifth floors of the Old Building (excepting the Toys), and the Men's and Boys' Clothing, Furnishings, Shoes, Underwear, Stockings, Hats and Gloves that were on the Main and Second floors were moved to the New Building.

Thus, the ENTIRE TEN ACRES of this Fine OLD A. T. STEWART BUILDING Became the World's Greatest Exclusive Store for Women

And how infinitely this readjustment has added to the comfort and convenience of shopping, only women familiar with the new Wanamaker's can realize.

First, the change made necessary, as it made possible, the vast increase of stocks of every sort appealing to women, so that today there are no such assortments anywhere else as you will find at Wanamaker's, because no other store, exclusively devoted to Women's Goods, is large enough to contain what is here.

The usual dress goods store offers only narrow aisles, poor light, crowded counters and much confusion, while the shopper is bumped or jostled by passers-by. This is always most disconcerting to the woman who is making the very important decision as to what tissue she shall take to make an elegant gown.

Our first determination, when the increased space was available, was to provide the most roomy, comfortable, undisturbed DRESS GOODS STORE that unlimited facilities could supply.

So we took these fabrics away from the hurry and jostle of the Main floor, and placed them a floor above under the bright windows of Tenth Street and along all the Broadway front—devoting half the entire floor to Dress Goods and Silks.

A. T. Stewart in New York and John Wanamaker in Philadelphia have in turn held the honor of being AMERICA'S LARGEST RETAIL IMPORTERS OF LINENS. Twelve years ago this Fall the heritage of both combined in the one name, and the Wanamaker imports grew vaster as the outlet was doubled.

The importance of these great Linen stocks was counted second only to the dress goods and silks when the space apportionments were made. That is why there is not in the whole country another stock so generously provided, or a store where the fine and staple linens, most wanted in the homes, are so exhaustively shown.

And every yard of Linen sold here is PURE-FLAX in every thread.

The distinctive character, the universal originality of Wanamaker fashions in WOMEN'S

DRESSES and MILLINERY are direct results of being daily in closest touch with the great originators of style in Paris, through OUR RESIDENT EXPERTS in the French Capital. The actual garments are purchased and forwarded to us, as quickly as they appear abroad. Letters, by every steamer, bring us elaborate descriptions of things seen, and the new garments are immediately made exclusively for Wanamaker's by best American manufacturers. Even the cable is used to tell us of sudden style changes.

BIG CROWDS ATTEND

HOLY TRINITY CARNIVAL.

Well Artistically Decorated and Amusement
For Every One.

Large crowds are attending the carnival being given under the auspices of Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church in the Westfield Casino this week. Tuesday night was women's night, and all the members of the Westfield department were present in their fall dress regalia, and gave impetus to the enterprise by liberally patronizing the different booths, and enjoying the dancing.

Wednesday night a progressive quadrille was held; there were thirty tables, and fifteen prizes were awarded to the successful players.

Last night moving pictures proved the attraction, and to-night the Town Officials will be present in a body, and Mayor Alpers will make a speech. Tomorrow will be the last day of the carnival. In the afternoon there will be an entertainment for the children, and in the evening there will be a grand closing with the awarding of prizes. The Hook and Ladder Company leads in the contest for the most popular fire company in the local department.

The Club Hall is elaborately decorated. The stage is draped in bunting and flags; along the sides are a number of booths in charge of ladies. The booth decorated in pink and blue, where fancy work is sold, is in charge of Mrs. Schoelen; Mrs. Canfield and Mrs. Minball are in charge of the grocery booth, decorated in red and green; the W. B. L. booth is in charge of Mrs. Scott. This is decorated in blue and white, and the candy booth, in charge of Miss Miller, is draped in the national colors. Refreshments are sold at the stand in charge of Mrs. McQue and Mrs. Fogarty. There is also a fish pond and a fortune teller's tent. Matthias Miller is in charge of the general committee of the carnival in the absence of A. J. Hartman who is detained at home because of illness in his family. Mr. Miller is assisted by W. S. Dato, Peter Conley, John Traynor, C. Locke and William Siebenmorgen.

The carnival is held for the purpose of raising money to pay off the debt of the church, which is approximately $15,000. Recently the church purchased a large tract of land surrounding its edifice, so that it now owns nearly the entire block between First street and New York avenue. It is planned to build a handsome church and Parish House there in the near future. Westfield business men have contributed liberally to the success of the carnival.

Help Along an Enterprising Club.

To the people of Westfield:

The Marathon Athletic Association presents its compliments and wishes to announce that it will commence activities for the coming season about November first. Basketball games, followed by dances, will be held as before, with the exception that much stronger teams will be played. It will be the earnest endeavor of the Association to give a repetition of its past successful season, and in order to do this, it must have the support of the people.

To introduce a bit of history, the Marathon Athletic Association was organized about a year ago with but a handful of members, and from that point it has grown until, at the present time it numbers about forty young men, belonging to representative families of the town. The Association has always been self-supporting, and beyond some contributions by kind friends at the start, has received no outside help. Its sole existence is dependent upon the receipts from the games. These games are a source of steady amusement to the Westfield people, something which previously had been entirely lacking. As to their success, we will leave it to our friends and well-wishers to testify. The lack of a Y. M. C. A. organization in this town has been supplied to a great extent by the Marathon Athletic Association, which offers many advantages similar to those found in a Y. M. C. A.

On our part we are ready to do our best, and it is now "up to you." Do you wish the Association to continue? If so, will you help support it? Our running expenses will be greatly increased during the coming season, and we need something in our treasury to fall back on. If our expectations are justified by the response, we shall be able not only to meet all expenses, but be in a position to secure a club-house of our own in the near future.

Contributions may be handed to any one of the following committee, or sent to A. B. Rowland, treasurer, 194 Prospect street, and prompt acknowledgment will be made.

Thanking you in advance, and hoping for a hearty response, we beg to remain, Very respectfully,

MARATHON ATHLETIC ASS'N.

Committee:
R. MACCOLM MARSH,
HOWARD S. LAMBERT,
PAUL L. RATHBONE.

Beware of Ointments for Cataract That Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Cataract Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Cataract Cure, be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by all druggists. Price 50c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Parish Reception by St. Paul's Church.

A Parish Reception was held at the Rectory of St. Paul's Episcopal Church Tuesday evening, which proved a splendid social success. The house was decorated with autumn leaves and potted plants. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Tims, the President and Vice President of the Women's Guild, received and made the arrangements for the gathering, assisted by the following ladies: Mrs. H. B. Tremaine, Mrs. E. F. Lowe, Mrs. James Cosgrove, Mrs. Edwin Shield, Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Harry White. During the evening Mrs. Mosher, violinist, played several solos accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert W. Harden.

In the True Sportsman's Spirit.

Standard Brands of Gloves For Sale at The Schaefer Store

We believe we carry the best soft finished Ladies' Glace Kid Glove in the market for $1.00. This Glove sold last season for $1.25; also a special number in Ladies' Medium Weight Walking Gloves at $1.10.

The short glove was given the call at the opening of the season, but when the new tight fitting sleeve, with lace from the elbow down, became the vogue, the long glove again leaped into favor and is generally preferred to the short glove, for reasons artistic.

The Special Feature of Our Glove Department.

We call attention to our $1.00 glove. This is made of the best French lamb. It is equal in wearing quality and appearance to the higher grade glove, and is superior in elasticity and durability to the Long Glace Kid Gloves, $1.98 to $3.50 per pair.

SmartianKidGlove so often exploited from the "special bargain counter" at 69c.

It pays to buy a glove in black or white. We are running a special glove called Le Durable, which is known to the public as a washable glove. It is actually a chrome tanned glove, that is tanned after the process used in tanning leather in shoes. It is the most readily cleaned glove in the market. $1.98 per pr.

Education: Its theory and practice

man has found an opening after leaving school through this training and the large number of our former students in technical schools bears witness to its value. Frequently when pupils have completed their tasks before the recitation, they are delighted to take up this constructive work. This is a decided improvement over "sitting up straight and keeping quiet" especially so, since "Activity is the law of childhood." The State makes an additional appropriation for this work equal to the amount raised locally.

When this subject was first introduced into our schools but one district in the county maintained such a course. Since then practically all the districts have introduced some form of Manual Training, or have arranged to do so. Our neighboring districts—Plainfield, North Plainfield, Cranford, Rahway and Roselle far surpass us in the breadth and variety of work offered to children. At the last session of the legislature, a commission was appointed to study Manual and Industrial education in this and other countries with a view of making some practical recommendations.

man in his home town, had fought against lynching and disenfranchisement. His colored supporters there felt indebted to him, and he would be the last man to refuse one of them the opportunity to show his appreciation in any honorable way he might choose.

Electricity Proof.

Through a certain town electric cars had recently begun operation, using the third-rail system instead of a trolley. The teacher of a primary class in a Sabbath school of this town tried to impress the little ones of the power of Jesus, and was astonished to hear one little fellow say: "Jesus can do anything. He could walk on the third rail and it would not hurt him."—Debateator.

Imaginary Holidays.

I know a man who cannot afford to travel, and yet has a delightful way of deceiving himself. He learns about the cost of traveling, the proper clothing to be worn, gets a time table, and arranges excursions for himself to various places, and then reads about them in books of travel. To the man with imagination it is a captivating occupation.—Hearth and Home.

To All Intent.

"Housekeeping is a circus, and I can prove it," said the man who makes his living compiling facts. "Read this in the abridged dictionary: 'Menage: housekeeping; household affairs and administration; domestic economy; training of animals, as of horses, a collection of animals for exhibition; a menagerie.'"

To the Voters: Owing to a rumor put in circulation no doubt for the purpose of injuring Mr. Alpers' chances in the Mayoralty contest, to the effect that I intend to vote for Mr. Wheatley, and am working in his interest, I want to say this is absolutely false. I do not know Mr. Wheatley but do know Mr. Alpers and believe he has given the town an efficient administration and shall vote to retain him in office.

To the Voters of the Second Ward:

The GOOD GOVERNMENT CLUB of the Second Ward—a non-partisan organization—has endorsed the candidacy of WALTER J. LEE for Councilman. This step was taken after due consideration of the matter and we believe in endorsing his candidacy we are acting for the interests of the ward.

Mr. LEE has been a resident of Westfield for 15 years, is a property owner and has business interests here that keep him in town almost daily and he is fully cognizant of the needs of the ward and the people.

As a builder, Mr. LEE has the respect of all, and particularly the laboring element, as in every instance he employs only town mechanics.

Mr. LEE is a Republican and is the nominee of the Republican party and we believe that he will give the people good government and will not be controlled in his actions by any spirit of partisanship, but will act with the sole desire to advance the interests of Westfield.

Every Second Ward citizen is urged to come to the support of Mr. LEE.

The Second Ward Good Government Club.
