The W. H. S. Foot Ball Team was defeated by the North Plainfield High school last Saturday afternoon by the score of 11-0. The local boys played good ball, but were unable to withstand the offensive play of their heavier opponents. The local team was kept on the defensive most of the time, and gave a gritty exhibition.

Rev. Dr. Charles L. Goodsell, the scholarly Methodist divine, will lecture in the Methodist church, Thursday night, in the first entertainment in the course given under the auspices of the Men's League. His subject will be, "Hit or Who Wins."

Dr. Goodsell is a gifted orator, and a gentleman of fine physique and striking personality. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis says that he "is one of the most victorious pastors of the present age." His lecture will be inspiring and instructive.

Other entertainments in the Men's League course are as follows: Dec. 17, The Arthur Beard Concert Co.; Jan. 23, '09, Miss Camille Rouns, recital; Feb. 18, Lotus Glee Club of New York; Mar. 18, The Parland-Newhall Company, male quartette; April 15, Leavitt Brothers, boy banjoists.

Clark, Mrs. Stryker, Miss Bessie Johnston, Mrs. Washburn, Mr. Meyer, Mr. Stryker, John Ludlow.

GRAND CONCERT QUARTETTE AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Inspiring Singing by Manager Anderson's Accomplished Artists.

The Grand Concert Quartette, of New York, made its second appearance in Westfield Tuesday night when the first entertainment of the course given under the auspices of the Men's Club, of the Congregational Church, was held. Because of illness Mr. John Young, the tenor soloist, was unable to be present, and his place on the program was filled ably by Mr. John Barner Welles. Mr. Frank Croxton, the bass soloist, who appeared with the Quartette last season, and Miss Eleanor Stark-Stanley, the pianiste, were the only members of the original company, but the large audience which enjoyed one hour and thirty minutes of good music felt that Manager Anderson had bettered the personnel of his company by the engagement of Miss Pearl Benedict, contralto, and Miss Caroline Hudson, soprano.

The program given surpassed the expectations of the most hopeful. The artists were inspired to their best efforts. Mr. Welles is a very earnest singer; his solos "Love Me or Not" by Secchi and "Since First I Met Thee" by Rabinstein, were sung with much expression and sweetness. Mr. Croxton in his bass solo "How Is My Boy" exhibited a skill in his art which is characteristic of his singing. Although suffering from the after effects of a severe cold, Mr. Croxton took the many variations of tempo in this difficult piece with consummate ease and skill, and his enunciation was perfect. Miss Hudson's voice is a close approach to a coloratura soprano, and she can do wonders with it. In her singing of "Dich Theure Halle" by Wagner she took the scale with an ease and grace which brought thrills to the audience, and her upper notes were inspiring. Miss Benedict sang "Ah Rendimi" by Rossi in voice in which individuality and sweetness were happily blended. In her two piano solos "Allegretto" by Balakirew and "Czardas" by MacDowell, Mrs. Stanley showed the same mastery of technique which she exhibited in her work last year, and her accompanying was superb.

But it was as a quartette that the singers appeared at their best. The arrangement of the Sextette from "Lucia" was sung in true operatic spirit. Part two of the program was a song cycle "The Golden Threshold," by Lehman, and while the solo work here surpassed that of part first, all the artists, inspired by an appreciative audience, entered into the spirit of the party, and it is no exaggeration to say that finer quartette music than that given by these singers in this song cycle cannot be heard off the operatic stage, and it is seldom that it is surpassed even there.

The Operatic Concert was an artistic performance, the like of which has never been heard in Westfield before. It is no wonder, under the circumstances, that Manager Anderson's Artists are in demand in all parts of the country.

Evening With Longfellow.

The Men's League of the Methodist Church held an Evening With Longfellow in the lecture room on Thursday evening, November 5th.

Mr. James F. Johnson read at intervals from a paper which had been prepared with an idea of giving a brief resume of the more interesting facts of Longfellow's life, as well as short accounts of the writing, and descriptions and meanings of the poems.

As many of them have been set to music some of the numbers were given as songs. The following poems were given, each being anticipated by a short introduction by Mr. Johnson:

Song, "The Village Blacksmith" Mr. A. E. Pearson
Readings, a. "The Wreck of the Hesperus" Mr. Thos. Murray
b. "Excelsior" Mr. Thos. Murray
Quartette, "The Bridge" Mrs. Clifford Pearson
Mrs. Leigh Pearson
Mr. J. P. Burdette
Mr. John S. Barriana
Reading from "The Courtship of Miles Standish" Miss Charlotte Birdsell
Song, "The Day Is Done" Mr. Thos. Murray

Miss Curry's Thanksgiving Dinners.

Miss Sara Curry, manager of the Little Missionary Day Nursery, 93 St. Mark's Place, New York city, makes her appeal for the poor. Anything will be acceptable. This has been a hard year for the poor. Many are out of work and have exhausted all their resources. You will enjoy your Thanksgiving dinner more when you think you have helped somebody. Last year Miss Curry gave 630 families dinner. In each family there were from 5 to 8, so nearly 5000 were fed. Can't you help us this year to do as well?

HOBOS LOOT "HOBBO HOUSE."

Edward Jackman Loses $500

Worth of Carpenter's Tools In Noonday Raid.

SMASH WINDOWS AND CUT CEILINGS.

Damage Said to Approximate $200—

Prosecutor's Office to Make Vigorous

Effort to Capture Culprits.

The house owned by Edward Jackman, on North avenue, just over the line in Fairwood township, was looted by a couple of hobos Monday noon, and $500.00 worth of carpenter tools were taken from the place. After stealing all they could find the hobos smashed several windows in the house and chopped holes in the ceiling, damaging the property to the amount of about $200.00.

Mr. Jackman, the owner, a carpenter, was making some repairs on the house which has not been occupied for the past two weeks. He was at home for his noonday meal when the hobos made their raid. As he was returning to his work he saw two men run out of the back door, and jump aboard a coal train. Each carried a large bundle. Jackman at once notified the local authorities of his loss, and was informed at headquarters that the case was out of their jurisdiction. He at once informed the Prosecutor's office in Elizabeth.

The Jackman house has been built about five years. During that time there has been several successful attempts to burglarize it. It is known as "the hobbo house" and tenants have refused to live in it longer than six months.

Jackman has received many letters in which threats have been made that the house would be burned down. Jackman is a peaceable citizen, and does not know any reason why he should be a victim of a gang of hobos. It is thought, however, that, because the house is situated so near the railroad tracks, it is a conspicuous object of attack for the hobos and crooks, who make it a practice of looting houses from freight trains. It is thought that a gang has spotted the house, and make it a practice to loot it whenever a favorable opportunity presents itself. It is said that the county authorities will prosecute the case vigorously.

KIRKLAND SWORN IN.

Sheriff-Elect Takes Oath of Office on Wednesday—Wright as Assistant.

Sheriff-Elect Robert J. Kirkland assumed the duties of his office Wednesday morning to succeed Sheriff Lawrence.

William H. Wright, assistant Post Master, of Rahway, was appointed as under sheriff by Mr. Kirkland, and took up his post at the same time. Mr. Wright was at one time a candidate for the shrievalty nomination on the Republican ticket, but shortly before the primaries, declined in favor of Mr. Kirkland.

Sheriff-elect Kirkland enters upon his new duties with the confidence of the electorate of Union County. He was elected to office by a majority of over 4,000. He is popular both in Elizabeth and throughout the county, and because of his understanding of the duties of his office it is thought that his administration will be a distinct success.

Fell Down Steps; broke His Ankle.

Edward Williams, who is employed in the grocery store of P. J. Windfelt, while delivering groceries at the house of Charles Darsh on Saturday, fell down the cellar steps, breaking his right ankle. He was taken to his home on Downer street, where the bone was set.

County Board of Agriculture Meets.

The Union County Board of Agriculture held the first meeting of the year in the court house at Elizabeth last Thursday. The Board has decided to offer prizes for the best work done by the pupils in the garden and agriculture branch to be established in the county schools. The matter of urging the trolley company to carry freight was discussed at length.

Want Popular Pastor to Remain.

At the third quarterly conference of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, held Wednesday evening, the Board extended a unanimous invitation to the pastor, Rev. Addison Wilbur Hayes, to return to the church for another year.

It was voted to make formal application to Secretary Fairchild, which will be forwarded through Mr. Charles N. Coddling to United States Senator Briggs.

It is the purpose of the commission with Town Engineer Vars, and Mr. Denman, soon to visit the Brooklyn Navy Yard and to inspect the cannon with a view to ascertaining their size, etc., so that the work of building the stone pedestals on which they are to be mounted may be begun at once. The cannon are from "Old Ironsides" and the frigate "Portsmouth."

Mrs. Robinson Addresses Sesame Club.

Mrs. Edward Standish Robinson, the state secretary to the General Federation of Woman's Clubs, was the speaker at a meeting of the Sesame Club of Newark at the South Park Presbyterian Church, last week. Mrs. Robinson defined the character and scope of Federation work, giving a resume of the work done in the different departments. She offered helpful suggestions to club women along the lines of increasing the efficiency of departmental work. Her talk was supplemented by stories about the wives of the charcoal burners of New Jersey, who have acquired skill in the lace making art through the efforts of club women and by reminiscence and anecdote. She was cordially received, and at the conclusion of her address, a reception was given in her honor.

Mrs. H. M. Dawson, President of the State Federation, made the address of welcome.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASED.

Woman's Club of Westfield Enlarge Active Enrollment 25 and Associate 10.

The Woman's Club met Monday afternoon, Mrs. Tremaine the president in the chair. Mrs. Hobson was elected a member of the club. It was decided by a unanimous vote to increase the active membership by twenty-five and the associate by ten. Mrs. Sturgis, the wife of the pastor of the Congregational Church was offered the privileges of the club for this year. The program of the afternoon was under the general topic "Famous Belles." The first paper "American Belles" was written by Mrs. Hickox and read by Mrs. Outler. The second paper "French Belles" was written by Mrs. Johnston and read by Mrs. Watts. The third on "English Belles" was written and read by Mrs. Salter Storrs Clark. Miss Hutchinson, accompanied by Mrs. Dutcher sang two Indian songs and responded to general applause with a child's song.

TOWN'S REALTY GROWTH.

James E. Grapes Shows Great

Progress Made in Last Five Years.

THE VIEW POINT HAS CHANGED.

It's an Honor to be a Suburbanite Now—

Transit Facilities Make Westfield a Residential Centre.

Up to within the past five or six years the assumed trials and tribulations of the suburbanite were considered by the so called comic papers as a fruitful field in which to exploit their wit and humor. He was frequently portrayed as being confronted with almost unsurmountable obstacles to and from his home, namely, snow-drifts of enormous proportions, with a rope tied around his waist, the other end of which was attached to his door knob, being rescued by a Shovel Brigade of his townspeople; and again, startling headlines that "Mr. Jones, of Jonesville, N. J., has been kidnapped by a Jersey Mosquito," which resulted in his being considered by his city friends a martyr. He was looked down upon, and he acknowledged with more or less embarrassment, that he was of the genus Suburbanus; for the same reason, undoubtedly, that the feminine gender considered it a mark of disgrace to have a coat of nature's tan.

Happily, these conditions have undergone a change in the past half dozen years or more, and now a coat of tan is looked upon with pride, and to be classed as a subarknute, a privilege.

The new situation has been brought about in a large measure by increased transit facilities, larger and faster ferry boats, greater number of trains, local and express, bringing the out-lying districts within a zone of twenty miles, as near the City Hall, in point of time, as the upper parts of New York City, assuring the possibility of securing all the conveniences of the city and comforts of the country, and the elimination of the hardships of the suburbanite of ten or fifteen years ago, giving him now high-class schools, the opportunity of living closer to Nature, the means of securing the necessities as well as the luxuries in his home town, police protection, fire protection, postal service, free delivery and collection of mails, churches of each denomination, and an innate desire as a free-born American Citizen to be monarch of all he surveys, own a piece of land, however small; and latterly, distasteful of stock markets, and other similar fields of investment.

He realizes now the stability of Real Estate as an investment. He feels the necessity of giving children and family the advantages of out-door life. He appreciates the privacy of home life, which is impossible in the crowded cities, and the fact that it is cheaper to own a home than to pay rent. He has the knowledge that money has been made by real estate investments in Westfield. He has seen the strong, steady growth, which has rapidly been increasing the last few years, due largely to the publicity that has been given to Westfield by advertising in various channels.

These results have also been brought about by supplying the suburban districts with every convenience that can be obtained in the city, and educating the public as to the facts; and every credit should be given to the Pioneer Real Estate Operators for their untiring efforts.

The land values in the City of New York have reached such a point that it is impracticable for the average person to own his own home. It is possible to secure greater returns per square foot by the erection of Apartment Houses, and the systematic holding of the Flat-Dwellers, than could possibly be obtained if the land were given over for individual residential purposes.

Nature seems to have smiled on Westfield and its immediate vicinity, in respect to its elevation, resulting in good drainage, the unusual growth of trees, the absence of any post-breeding spots, and an irresistible fascination, that holds all those who have once lived in the town.

The growth of Westfield has been of a strong, steady character, with an absence of what is commonly known as a "boom," therefore, reliable, which in the past few years has been rapid and vigorous, until now it has the proud distinction of out-stripping her sister towns by a considerable proportion in the percentage of growth.

Some twelve or fourteen years ago, property that is now selling for $40.00 per foot or more, was purchased for $5.00 and $10.00 per foot, and those who took advantage of that price have reaped

N. J. SUNDAY SCHOOL ASS'N. CONVENES TUESDAY.

Fiftieth Anniversary Will Be Celebrated at New Brunswick.

The fiftieth anniversary of the New Jersey Sunday School Association will be celebrated at its annual convention, to meet on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday November 17-19, at the Second Reformed Church of New Brunswick. The steady increase of interest in progressive forms of Sunday-school work, and the historic interest of this occasion, promise an unusually inspiring time. The General Secretary, Rev. E. M. Fergusson, of Newark, reports large delegations forming in nearly every county.

The program is of high character throughout. Besides some of the best of the New Jersey workers, eminent leaders will be present, such as the International secretary Marion Lawrance of Chicago, Dr. Joseph Clark of Ohio, Jr. W. A. Dunce and Marshall A. Hudson of Syracuse, N. Y., Dr. George W. Bailey of Philadelphia, and Rev. M. S. Littlefield and Dr. S. Parkes Callman, of Brooklyn. The usual interesting reports will be heard, covering all phases of the state and county work.

Among the special features may be noted a series of visits to New Brunswick's noted educational institutions; an exhibit of Sunday-school methods, text-books and appliances; an opening devotional rally, led by Rev. W. H. Morgan of Newark; institutes on home department, teacher training and elementary work; a rally of all organized adult classes on Tuesday afternoon and evening, with banquet of class delegates; a rally of Pastors on Thursday morning, with a conference on Decision Day methods; a rally of superintendents Thursday afternoon and banquet Thursday evening, with question box led by Mr. Lawrance, the most noted Sunday school superintendent in America.

The great feature of the convention, however, will be the historical session on Wednesday afternoon in the First Reformed Church, near the grave of Hon. Theodore Frelinghuysen, first president of the association. At this session various former leaders will participate; a memorial address will be delivered by Dr. Clark of Ohio, son of the former state secretary, and Rev. Frank A. Smith of Haddonfield, N. J., will forecast the work of the future. The present and past officers of the state association will dine together at the close of the session.

The reports to be presented are expected to show the greatest amount of progress in the whole fifty years of the Association's history.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1908.

A WESTFIELD BOARD OF TRADE.

So much attention has been given in our news columns to politics of recent days that there has been little time or opportunity for a discussion of other things which are of as much consequence to the people of Westfield. National elections, however, come but once in four years, and the interest in them holds other questions subservient for a time. Election over, we hasten to face the local problems which must be met and solved within a short time.

When the rapid growth of Westfield is considered the figures almost startle us. Investigation shows that our present population approximates 7,500. As contrasted with the population of 5200 in 1905 this is a gain of 2,300 in about four years. We must believe that this is not unusual, because, despite the panic through which we have just passed, Westfield continued to grow as a residential centre, and, it must be admitted, at a larger rate than as a commercial centre. However, we are growing rapidly commercially, and the question may be asked: What are the business men of Westfield doing to make their own position as business men secure, so that they shall be able to meet the demands of a community which promises to grow as rapidly within the next five years as it has heretofore? It would seem as if the business men of Westfield were inclined to be less progressive than the exigencies of business demanded. There is no consolidation of interest; no common point of understanding; business follows the line of the least resistance; things are being done in the old way, and by old methods.

As a local institution, the UNION COUNTY STANDARD has frequently called attention to the need of a Board of Trade in Westfield. Towns of smaller population and fewer advantages have Boards of Trade, and these bodies have given an impetus to business. If a business man would figure out the amount of business he is doing in proportion to the population of the town he would be forced to conclude that it is a very small fraction of what he might do, if he were to put a little ginger into his enterprise. Through a Board of Trade business men will be able to feel the public pulse, and to exercise an influence through such a body which they cannot possibly hope to exercise as individual tradesmen.

We trust that every business man will take this matter seriously to heart. We shall insist on urging that a Board of Trade is vital to the interest of business men of Westfield. We believe that the sooner it is done the better it will be both for them and for the town. There is no time better than the present for action. To this end we respectfully urge the influential business men of Westfield to "get busy."

THE AMERICAN WAY.

With the general election over, the country has settled down to business. From every quarter comes reports of increased activity in the industrial world. After a period of unrest and uncertainty, the fires of confidence seem to have been rekindled, and a readjustment of our financial and commercial life is to be the next step in the sequence of events.

It is interesting to note how readily the American people adapt themselves to conditions. Despite the feverish anticipation with which the outcome of a great election was awaited, and the temporary pause in business made necessary thereby, once the verdict was known, there followed an almost immediate restoration to the normal and usual method of doing things.

It is a characteristic of the American people, possessed in greater degree by them than by any other, that they have the recuperative power of youth. With grown-ups the process of mending takes time and care. The old man falls down stairs, and is a long time recovering from the shock. The small boy falls, but is quick upon his feet, laughing and eager "to try again."

Young America is the small boy. His hurts are of little consequence, because he meets them in the spirit of the philosopher who counts everything a gain that contributes to his physical, moral and spiritual experience.

It is the indomitable grit and superb faith of the American people that make them supremely great.

We must go forward, and forward we will go!

Annual Missionary Institute for North Jersey.

For three years past the Missionary Institute has held three day sessions each Fall in the city of Newark. This year six centres are established and one day institutes will be held. There will be two sessions, afternoon and evening, with a short intermission for dinner. There will be conferences for both Young People's Societies and Sunday Schools. There will be two sessions of the Normal Study classes, and other interesting features, including an illustrated Lecture, with moving pictures an entirely new method of presenting missionary work.

Westfield is invited to participate in the Institute which will be held in the Second Presbyterian Church, West Jersey Street, Elizabeth, Saturday afternoon and evening, beginning at 2 o'clock. A fee of 25 cents is charged which will admit delegates to all sessions. The illustrated Lecture, 9:00 to 9:45 p. m., will be free to the public. All the churches of Westfield are asked to send delegates. Enrollment should be sent to George M. Sention, 330 S. Broad street, Elizabeth, or handed in at the registration desk on the day of the Institute.

To Name the Triangle Park.

The Westfield Park Commission is considering a name for the Triangle Park at Lawrence and Mountain avenues and Walnut street. Several names have been suggested to the Committee any one of which would please the general public. The two names most talked of are those of Wells Park, after Martin Wells, the first mayor of the town of Westfield; the other is the Sinclair Park, after the late Robert Rutherford Sinclair, who was one of Westfield's foremost citizens.

Another Dollar Gone to the Devil.

Fred Toms, the Standard's industrious Devil, is contemplating a bang-up time on Thanksgiving Day. He has been saving his pin money, which he says now amounts to 79c. plus. The plus is a shiny dollar which he picked up on Broad street today.

Being a very conscientious chap, he wishes it understood that anyone having lost a dollar recently can come to the Devil and get it. "Why that's dead easy. They've got to tell me what kind of a dollar I found before I give it up. An' they got to go some too, 'cause I'm a good spender," says the Devil. "Gee, that's just like takin' bird seed from a cuckoo clock."

"They're laying for me," becomes a familiar expression among poultry raisers who feed their hens Fairfield's Tonic and Egg Producer for Poultry only. Fairfield's does the work every time, because it is scientifically prepared to meet all the requirements of poultry. Sold under written guarantee by Patrick Traynor.

OBITUARY.

Mary A. Coles.

Mary A. Coles, the wife of James Coles of 310 North avenue, died on Sunday evening last at her former residence of acute indigestion and heart failure. The attack commenced about one o'clock and at eight o'clock she passed peacefully into her rest. Mrs. Coles was born in Devonshire, England, and came to this country in May 1872 accompanied by her husband to whom she had been happily married on November 23, 1863. For twenty-nine years after reaching these shores she had been a resident of Westfield and vicinity. In May 1891 she united with the Congregational Church of Christ in Westfield coming there by letter from the First Presbyterian Church in Plainfield which she had joined shortly after coming to this country.

Nineteen years of her busy life were spent in Mountainside. There she found time in addition to the care of a large growing family to interest herself in the chapel work maintained in that Borough and proved a faithful worker and devoted helper. Her love for the work constantly manifested itself and only a few days before her death she seemed the happiest of a group of ladies working for the Chapel Extension Fund. It was as wife and mother that her qualities shone the brightest.

In her home she constantly sought opportunities of being helpful and never seemed so pleased as when doing something for others. Her unselfish example and devotion will remain a constant source of inspiration to those who mourn for her.

She is survived by a husband and nine children—Mrs. George B. Reynolds, Miss Sarah A. Coles, Mrs. Frank T. Young, Mrs. Leonard F. Collins, John Coles, Mrs. Frank J. Housman, William R. Coles, Mrs. Fred Housman and Mary F. Coles, besides fifteen grandchildren.

The funeral services occurred on Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. F. E. Sturgis, D. D., pastor of the Congregational Church, of which the deceased had been a member for over twenty-four years, assisted by the Rev. C. J. Greenwood, pastor of the Baptist Church. After brief services at her late residence the remains were taken to the Mountainside Union Chapel where formal services were conducted by the officiating clergyman and the favorite hymns of the deceased—"Mother's Prayer" and "Asleep in Jesus" were sung by Mrs. H. J. Holmes and R. P. Greaves. The interment was at Fairview, five sons-in-law and one grandson acting as bearers.

Cora Mizell.

Cora Mizell, aged 25 years, died suddenly Saturday afternoon at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Daniel Manning, of Spring street. She was unmarried and is survived by her mother, five sisters and two brothers. Funeral services were held Monday evening at 8 o'clock from the Manning home, and the body was taken to Windsor, North Carolina, for interment.

Funeral of Late Thomas Wallace.

The funeral services of Thomas Wallace, who died in Vermont on Saturday, were held on Tuesday afternoon from Brown's funeral parlors on Elm street, and the interment was in the family plot at Fairview. Mr. Wallace was a brother of Mrs. James French and Mrs. C. F. Cristy. He was a former resident of this place.

Mrs. Fannie C. Wickwire.

Mrs. Fannie Cushman Wickwire died at the Homeopathic Hospital, Rochester, N. Y. Tuesday after a short illness. Mrs. Wickwire was formerly a resident of Westfield and lived with her son-in-law, Charles O. Poor.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. E. E. Townley and family desire to express their appreciation and gratitude for the many kind acts shown them by neighbors and friends in their recent bereavement.

"Oak Farm" at Casino.

"Oak Farm," a three act comedy-drama was given by the Oak Farm Dramatic Club, of Plainfield, in the Westfield Casino last night before a fair sized audience. The play proved to be very interesting the principals taking their parts well. This troupe of amateur performers has now been organized for three years, and is increasing its prestige throughout the towns of the state by the very excellent performances which it gives.

The management of the Westfield Casino is to be congratulated upon having secured their services for Westfield.

HIS WELCOME

"Well, Uncle Lem is gone," Barbara

"Uncle Lem is here and spoke in tone."

"I never thought of his doing," she said. "I stayed of minutes with the girls all the evening he had been here because I couldn't bear to have Margaret Prince see him use that horrid language and know he was our relative."

"In good, anyhow," cried Bobby from a basket near the fire.
"Everybody sat in in horror."

"Well," defensively — "mother's often said he wasn't any real relation — just married mother's aunt. That isn't much. And everybody was always cross about it when he came."

An embarrassing silence followed.
Barbara looked reproachfully at his wife, who looked crimson but met his eyes bravely. She was reproaching him, too.

Barbara and Charles and Dick stared at Bobby in stern disapproval, while inwardly each smothered a symmetrical, half-frightened fiddle.

For there was no denying that Uncle Lem — ungrammatical, uneducated, uncle Lem — who had been in the habit — ever since the children could remember — of "making the rounds" among his relatives once a year, had always in life been frankly recognized as a trial to be endured. Now, however, even Bobby should have known better.

"I think I always made him feel welcome," said Mrs. Burbank. "But I can't help wishing that I had really been gladder at heart when he walked in unexpectedly. You see, it so often happened that he came at inconvenient times. Poor old man! He had a lonely life and he hardly ever stayed more than one night. If I had realized—"

"Which now I'd liked, were to his tiresome old stories," said Dick.

"I wish I hadn't been so mean about giving up my room to him, since it was the last time," Charles said. "I thought he was going to keep on coming forever."

"What I'd wanted his porridge when he asked me," Bobby put in, taking his cue at last. "I didn't like to eat out of his spoon, that's why."

Burbank shook his head. "Well, never 'make the rounds' again," he said, with honest regret. "I must admit that I wasn't always as glad as I ought to have been when he came crambling into my office. Poor old uncle!"

A few days later, as Burbank sat at his office desk, his wife's voice came to him through the telephone.

"Max Burbank!" it said. "What did you mean by saying that was an obituary notice of Uncle Lem? I just picked up that paper you brought home last night and it's an account of a surprise party his neighbors gave him on his eighty-fifth birthday. You didn't read it through?"

"What? No, I guess I didn't," Burbank admitted, lamely. "I saw his name and the two dates, '1833-1908,' and I thought I knew the rest. Well, well!"

This happened at two o'clock. Three hours later Burbank called his wife on the telephone.

"Mary," he said, his lips close to the transmitter, "we're saved. What do you think? Uncle Lem is here now in my outer office."

"Max! You don't mean it?"
"Yes, he'll be out with me to spend the night."

"But, Max, tonight's the children's party."

"Mary!" There was a pause. "It's a chance given back to us and we mustn't miss it. Tell him—tell him we're delighted, Max."

Next morning,
as Uncle Lem started away from the house with his nephew, the Burbank children stood around their mother in the kitchen.

"Be sure you come to our next party, Uncle Lem," they chorused sweetly.

The old man grasped his big cotton umbrella in one hand and reached the other to Mrs. Burbank.

"Mary," he said with a quiver of his chin, "I want to tell you one thing.
There isn't a place in the whole rounds where I get the real welcome you give me here. God bless you!"—Chicago Daily News.

FOR THIS MOTHER

Mrs. A. G. Tison, of Livermore, Cal., writes: "I picked up from my doorstep one day a little book in which I soon became very much interested.
My little girl of five years of age had been troubled for a long time with loss of appetite, extreme nervousness and undue fatigue. She was all rundown and in a very delicate condition."

"This little book was very comprehensively written, and told of the new method of extracting the medicinal elements of the cod's liver from the oil, eliminating the obnoxious oil which is so hard for children to take."

"Just the thing," said I, "for my little daughter," and I immediately went for a bottle of Vinol. It helped her wonderfully. She has gained rapidly in flesh and strength, and she does not take cold half so easily."

"I am extremely grateful for the good it has done her, and I hope other mothers who have weak, delicate or ailing children will be benefited by my experience and just give Vinol a trial."

As to Sybilus.

Old Maguire Hines, who had a hundred of the well particularly his own, was at a dining where the dessert consisted of Sybilus. When a beautiful was set before him he looked at it and shook his head. "Oh, Mr. Hines, do try some; I'm sure you will find it very nice," whispered the waitress honestly. "Ah, it looks as pretty as a white satin balloon, Mrs. Norton," replied the old man, "but I never could eat wind."

Well Trained.

"The worst thing about my visit to Kentucky this summer," said the girl who had come home, "was that the horse Cousin Ed lent me to ride always took me up to the side door of the corner saloon in the little town, and would not budge until I jumped off his back and mounted again. Not one of the men of the family would admit that they ever rode the horse."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Monkey in Hat Decoration.

While a Budapest (Austria) lady was present at a menagerie performance some monkeys broke loose, and she left the place in terror and returned home. When she removed her hat, which was of large dimensions, she fainted at the sight of a monkey's face grinning at her from among the trimming of flowers and fruit. She is now bringing an action for damages against the proprietor of the menagerie.

Essential Parts of an Egg.

The white of the egg and the yolk both serve as a storehouse of food for the young chick during the process of incubation. Though differing materi-found to consist of the same essential parts—the germ cell, the yolk and the yolk membrane.

OLD SCOTCH PLAINS HOTEL
WAS BUILT 171 YEARS AGO.

Iron Casting Discovered in Fireplace Bearing Date of 1737.

While digging out an old fire place in the Scotch Plains hotel on the county and Monday morning, workmen discovered a piece of iron casting on which was inscribed "This house was built in 1737." The casting had been placed in the wall back of the old fireplace. This gives authority to the statements made that the old hotel was one of the oldest landmarks of Colonial times, and that it was the headquarters for Revolutionary army officers during the war. Legend adds that some of General Washington's troops made it their headquarters. It is said that it was a rendezvous for fission soldiery.

The hotel is now owned by William Deegan, the base ball player, who made his reputation as a slab artist under the management of Philip Danb and his Hoboken team. Mr. Deegan purchased the hotel two years ago, and has since been giving his entire time to its management. He proposes to play base ball again next year, and it is probable that he will pitch for either Newark or Jersey City. Mr. Deegan is very proud of the find, and will have the iron casting mounted on a bronze slab and placed over the fire place in the dining room of the hotel.

A New Source of Income for Women.

Where is the woman who does not like a stipulated income? Where is the woman who does not like that income regularly?

We try to regulate our expenses to suit our incomes, and woe to the man who does not!

If we do this in life, what about the family we leave behind us? Should they not take even greater care to keep expenses within the income when the breadwinner is gone? But the income, you ask. What about that?

Most men insure for one, two, five or ten thousand dollars, as they can. In time they pass on, and some morning the life insurance agent calls and hands the widow a check for the amount of the policy. She thanks him; the check is sent to the bank and soon the money is invested in an undertaking endorsed by some kind friend or relative. As time passes the scheme fails and the widow loses all. How often have we heard the story.

Will the same story be told of your wife? We hope not, but it may be unless you take proper precautions. Men in the Life Insurance Business heard the story so often that they looked around for a plan to meet it, and The Prudential Insurance Company, of Newark, N. J., has what it calls a New Monthly Income Policy that seems to fill the bill.

This policy provides for a monthly check from The Prudential to the widow say for $50, which at age 30 would necessitate a present saving of less than $14 a month. The checks are guaranteed to come every month, every year, for 20 years, and the family will receive a total of $12,000 in all. This very newest idea of The Prudential's has met with instantaneous success. The Company regulates the cost to the age, and will send full particulars of this new home-protecting plan if you write them.

Worth Knowing.

To remove Pimples, Blackheads, Blisters and all forms of Skin eruptions, is, according to a well known physician, a very easy matter; he says that many are afflicted with some one of the above ailments, and are subject to great deal of embarrassment on account of the unsightly appearance which they present, and recommends the following simple harmless and inexpensive treatment. Go to your Druggist and get this prescription filled: Clearola one-half ounce, Ether one-ounce, Alcohol seven ounces, mix, shake well and apply to the parts affected night and morning, allowing it to remain on the skin at least ten minutes, then wipe off the powder from the skin. Use a soft cloth or sponge in applying the mixture and in from ten days to two weeks your face will be smooth and clear as a marriage bell. Get the Pure Clearola, which is only put up in one-half ounce packages. Ask to see it.

A farmer that sowed wheat all over his farm and then expected to raise a crop of oats, wheat and corn from the same, what would you think of him? What would you say of a man who fed his horse, cow, hog and poultry from the same package of condition powder? The intelligent farmer uses Fairfield's Tonic because there is a separate preparation for each kind of animal. Sold under written guarantee by Patrick Traynor.

Raw Colds.

When the lungs are sore and inflamed the germs of pneumonia and consumption find lodgement and multiply. Foley's Honey and Tar kills the cough germs, cures the most obstinate racking cough, heals the lungs, and prevents serious results. The genuine is in a yellow package. Gale's Pharmacy.

A Serious Affair

The young woman with the tip-tilted nose surveyed the young man with a perfect expression of sad sweetness.

"I can't believe a word of what you say, you know," she said. "Well, I like that!" exclaimed the young man, reproachfully. "I'd like to know why. If I were like some men I might understand, but —"

"But of course you are different," the young woman suggested.

He eyed her narrowly, but her expression of childlike innocence did not waver.

"Of course I am," he affirmed, stoutly. "That's what I've been trying to impress upon you all these months. If you've learned as much as that I'm encouraged. You won't believe me just because you are contrary. If you'd stop to think you'd realize that my remarks are not in the least extravagant."

"There you go!" gant. Anyone with good eyesight would admit that you are the prettiest, sweetest!"

"There you go again!" Interrupted the young woman, resignedly.

The young man considered her for a moment, with his head on one side.

"I have it!" he said at last. "You take this attitude just to lead me on and make me say more. You like to hear me say such things and it is just your clever, feminine way of dragging more of them out of me. Tell me, isn't that so?"

"Jimmie," said the pretty girl, in what seemed like frank admiration, "how did you find me out? I never thought for a minute you'd learn my secret. Now that you've discovered me, I suppose there is an end of it. You'll never say nice things to me again. It's going to be hard."

"You don't deserve that I should," admitted the young man, severely. "But I'm frightfully weak-minded and I don't believe I can help doing it. I've got into the habit, you know, and when I look at you the remarks just come without any volition on my part. I struggle against it!"

"Yes, I've noticed you struggling," said the young woman. "And it's an entertaining spectacle."

"I'm glad you find me entertaining," said the young man, thankfully. "That's at least a start for me. Think what a happy home you could have with a village cut-up like myself in it as the illuminating star! Think of that and then consider your cruel refusal of my heart and hand!"

"What!" exclaimed the girl with the tip-tilted nose. "How on earth did I let anything like that escape my notice? Did you actually propose to me, Jimmie, when I wasn't paying attention?"

"You'll lose something good some day by being so absent-minded," prophesied the young man. "Was I proposing to you? My goodness, girl, what have I been doing the last hour. If not that? Did you think I was chatting about a new crochet stitch or the best way to make good bread?"

"Well, I wasn't sure," admitted the girl. "I never am perfectly sure just what you do mean. So it seems safer as a rule, to think that whatever it is you say you don't mean it!"

"I never meant anything more in my life," insisted the young man.

"Possibly not," said the young woman. "Still, that doesn't prove anything, either. Why, if I were to believe you and get all excited and interested over the fact that you seemed to be asking me to marry you it is ten to one the conversation would turn out to be an advertisement for a new breakfast food! You see, I know you too well, Jimmie!"

"Can't you be serious?" asked the young man, forlornly.

The young woman rested her chin in one hand and surveyed him for a moment. "I'm every bit as serious as you are," she said at last.

"Say, this isn't a joke," he added. "You've known all along that I was head and heels!"

"I've known nothing of the sort," broke in the pretty girl, sternly, fluffing out her pompadour. "Did you suppose I was sitting up nights, wondering what your intentions were? Did you suppose I was worrying for fear I was going to lose you?"

"Not if you have average human intelligence!" said the young man. "In that case you have rested in peace for weeks, knowing you had me clinched. What I'm interested in discovering is what you are going to do with me. If you aren't going to try to get along without me, are you?"

The girl and the young man gazed long and earnestly at one another's eyes. Hers fell first.

"To tell the truth, Jimmie," she admitted, "I don't believe I could!"

The city of New York estimates the number of its trees at 700,000.

Like a Boy's Pocket.

On killing a Plymouth Rock fowl at Charlton, in Kent county, England, Mr. Charles Downs found the following extraordinary collection in its crop: About 20 pieces of glass, one cartridge, six nails, one tin tack, a 1 1/4-inch screw, a 1 1/2-inch copper rivet, one bone collar stud, one shirt button, six trouser buttons, one brass stud, one piece of coal, one clock screw and one boot button.

Not a Thoughtful Race.

As a race we seem to have no desire for any such adventure as introspective thought, to leave an awesome shrinking from our own souls. In trains, on summer shores before the most alluring of seas, on piers, at handstands people are provided with books, papers, periodicals, anything—a timetable would serve—to keep themselves at bay.—Black and White.

Conundrum.

A good conundrum is like an inanimate object, because it cannot die. A correspondent of the New York Sun recalls one propounded by the poet, John Godfrey Saxe. Although of reputable age, it has not been much in print. Can you tell me why a hypocrite's eye can better decry than you can, or I, upon how many toes a pussy cat goes?

Way to International Peace.

The nations can have perpetual peace if they will, and without the cost of eternally preparing for war. They can arrange for it by binding international agreements, and that would be the common-sense way to proceed and the eminently practical way.—Victoria (B. C.) Colonist.

Easing His Mind.

"The physically unfit should be removed," declared the new thinker of old thoughts. "I'm glad to hear you say so," responded the gentleman chauffeur. "It will make me feel easier in my mind when running over a decrepit pedestrian." — Philadelphia Ledger.

Bird and Insect Policemen.

There are bird and insect policemen which kill the rogues among their kindred. Ladybirds, for instance, keep the green flies off roses, and the red-brown ant patrols the cotton fields and keeps them clear of the destructive cotton boll-weevil.

Heat Hard to Imagine.

The electric furnace is capable of attaining a heat of 7,200 degrees. This is a fearful temperature, and will melt almost everything solid known to man. In comparison with this heat a red-hot iron bar would be called cold.

A GOOD REASON.

Westfield People Can Tell You Why It Is So

Doan's kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause backache, headache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Westfield people testify to permanent cures.

W. L. Randall, living at 69 Central St., Westfield, N. J., says: "Prior to using Doan's Kidney Pills, my back troubled me for a long time. There was also a constant pain in my loins and I seemed to be growing worse day by day. I tried many different remedies in an effort to find relief, but was unsuccessful until a friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box at Frutcher's Pharmacy. Since using them, I have been enjoying excellent health and will always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a good reliable remedy for diseased kidneys."

handsome profits. The opportunities to-day are as great in proportion as they were then, for the reasons before stated, as well as because of the annual connections, which, as noted in the New York papers of October 21st, have been assured to the Central Railroad of New Jersey in connection with the Hudson McAdoo Tunnel. The increased population acts as an endless chain, bringing the attention of Westfield to others, together with the fact that Westfield to-day is being brought before the public by systematic advertising.

Financial disturbances, beginning last fall, have convinced many that the advice given by noted men for a number of years, that "the surest road to success is the possession of real estate," was sound; and the fact has been demonstrated that real estate, if properly selected, is the safest investment on earth.

Cranford Foot Ball Gladiators Square Things.

Cranford Foot Ball Gladiators evened matters up Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Marathon A. O. by the score of 6-0. The local aggregation contends that they lost by a fluke. It is purposed to demonstrate that the Marathon's can play rings around Cranford when the odd game is played. The local boys will settle down to hard and consistent practice in preparation for this event.

Marathon Basketball Tossers Defeated.

The Marathon Basketball Team was defeated by a five from Elizabeth in the Westfield Casino, last Saturday night, by the score of 27-25. Both teams played a good fast game, and there was lively interest manifest throughout. A large crowd attended the game.
