N the nature of things the young people marry and move away. They should not only have telep service in their own homes, but should see to it that there are telephones in the homes of the parents. Remember that the old folks get lonesome. Think of the pleasure a daily conversation with their children will bring them. Don't let the hurry of life crowd from your mind the thoughts of those who have done so much for you.

Older people are less apt to install telephone service because it was not a convenience of their day and they are not eager to take up modern methods. Could you do a more unselfish act than install a telephone for the old folks so that intimate relations between your house and theirs may exist?

Remember, too, that every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance station.

meeting in the Washington school, Tuesday night. The legal tangle over the action of the Board in engaging Mr. Wilson Potter to submit preliminary plans was taken up. President Stern, Dr. J. J. Savitz and every member of the Board, excepting Mr. Merrill were present.

The action of the building committee in engaging Mr. Potter to submit preliminary plans at a cost not to exceed $100 was brought before the Board in a forcible manner. District Clerk Taggart read a writ of certiorari which was obtained by Linus Hettield, through his attorney Samuel Koestler, against the local Board of Education and Wilson Potter. Justice J. J. Bergen granted the writ which requires the clerk to send all documents or copies of same relating to the transaction to the Supreme Court at Trenton on or before

I we recommend that a duplicate of the assessors roll be published in th placed where he or she can see or hear to the best advantage. A new machine which standardizes the hearing test was suggested. Such machines have proved satisfactory in a great many schools.

Dr. Egel stated some needed im provements such as washing of walls, the painting of the walls and ceiling and cementing of the floor of the lunch room, painting of exterior of Prospect school, the erection of a concrete or stone wall in the rear of the Prospect street property, some rubber treads for the Lincoln and Washington buildings, some crashed stone for playground of Lincoln school. On motion of Mr. Low, Dr. Egel was authorized to get estimates for the fence and other matters and to spend amounts up to $100 for needed improvements without further permission from the Beard.

Mr. Davis gave a list of needed books and miscellaneous supplies. The question was raised as to whether such supplies should be purchased from local or

Special Committee Reports That Charges of Harrison Ave. People Show a "Strange Condition." WOULD DO AWAY WITH OLD METHODS

And Give Citizens Chance to Be Heard Before Assessments Are Made--As to the Front Foot Valuations, Etc.

Severe criticism of past methods of axations and recommendations which sovere criticism of past inethods of thatations and recommendations which are to form the basis of this year's work by the local Board of Tax Assessors, formed the substance of the roport submitted to the Westfield Council, Monday night, by the special committee appointed by Mayor Alpers to investigate the charges made by Harrison avenue property owners at the public meeting last winter. The committee, composed of Councilmen A. J. Wilson, R. F. Hohenstein and Edward D. Floyd, has made a thorough investigation of the subject of local tax assessments, and the report points out the chief weaknesses of the old, and makes suggestions, which if carried out, will provide a new and satisfactory method of assessment.

The report, in full, is as follows:—

Get Your Dog Licensed Now.

Because of the special proclamation which requires all dogs to be muzzled up to July 1, many have thought that it was unnecessary to secure dog licenses until this time. This is an error, as all dog licenses should have been renewed on or before June 1. Those who have neglected this matter should get their licenses at once, in order to comply with the town regulations.

MINORITY SITE WINS BY EIGHT MAJORITY.

Biggest School Election in History Of Town Furnishes a Hair Raising Finish and Surprise.

A TOTAL OF 1355 BALLOTS CAST.

Mountain Avenue Site Gets 342, Against Both 322, and Washington Site Gets 686.

The proposition of the minority in the Board of Education to erect two wings on the Washington school at a cost of 65,000, was carried by a majority of eight votes after the most strenuous election ever held in this town. More votes were cast than at any previous school election, the total ballot being 1355. Of this number 686 for the Washington site, 342 for the Mountain avenue site, and 322 against both propositions; necessary to a choice 678.

The result was a surprise to many, for it was generally conceded before the election that both propositions would be defeated by the voters. Neither was considered satisfactory, although the minority side had the call for the reason that there was such astrong feeling against the Peckham "dump" as a school site. The Washington proposition was advanced as an alternative which aimed to defeat the Mountain avenue proposition. It, was noted that even the champions of the Washington site were taken by surprise when they learned that their plan had carried.

The contest will probably hold the record for interest in matters of this kind for some years to come. The polls opened at three oclock, the judge and tellers occupying a space in the lower hallway. From the opening of the polls was a steady stream of people going to carriages, some in automobiles, and others a-foot. Several automobiles were kent busy bringing in voters from homes and trains. After the last ballot had been east, the box was removed to the school auditorium where the votes were counted. Chairman Tuttle announced the decision from the platform.

Although the rain came tumbling down shortly after sundown, a great many stayed in the auditorium during the counting in order to hear the vote counted. At the start it looked as if the opponents of both sides would win in a walk, but, later as the tellers got to the imiddle of the pile." the Washington site ballots were called so fast that Dr. Egel, who was in charge of the "string" could not gether them in fast enough. Toward the end the situation looked "ticklish" and a hair raising ninish became evident.

Then the result, congrutulations and 'good night."

The chairman of the meeting was William E. Tuttle, Jr., William Town-ley was secretary. George Cox and J. M. C. Marsh, tellors, with Dr. Egel, W. A.

The Free Sewing Machine

You have read a great deal about the "Free' sewing machine lately in the magazines. You will doubtless read a great deal more about this wonderful machine in the future, and you will in all probability own one yourself before very long. The sooner you purchase a "Free" the better you will be off. We have been handling this new machine now for some time, and every one that we have sold is a permanent advertisement not only for the machine itself, but for the Bamberger store as well. The "Free" is the machine of today—tomorrow and the future. It is the simplest and yet most scientifically constructed sewing machine ever made. A representative of the maker will be with us tomorrow and we'd like to have you drop in and hear what he has to say. $2.00 down and $1.00 a week will buy a "Free"—and the $2.00 applies directly to the cost of the machine, too.

Miss Draier Addresses Woman's Assn

The Woman's Association of the Congregational Church met with Mrs. J. F Cownerthwait, of Kimball avenue Monday afternoon. Twenty-five members listened to a vital talk on " The Work of the Woman's Trade Union League," by Miss Mary Dreier, of New York, President of the League. Miss Dreier stated that six millions of women are employed in industry in the United States. The League aims to help these workers get fair wages, reasonable hours, sanitary shops, and not to employ children under 14. Every consumer can aid by refusing to purchase sweat shop goods. Low wages and overwork mean poor food and bad housing. All should help to maintain American standards for American womanhood.

GEO. WATSON Selling Out Entire Stock To Close Estate

All Men's Clothing, Furnishings, Hats, Shoes, etc., in the Geo. Watson Stores at Broad and Market Streets, will be closed out

Below Cost

The Geo. Watson Stores is one of the landmarks of Newark. Established over 60 years ago, it has, by reason of the honesty of its business methods and the high standard of quality excellence which has been maintained in its stock, become famous throughout the whole State of New Jersey.

Since the decease of the owner his fine business principles have been upheld and the same superiority of quality has distinguished the stock of this store. Today the name of Watson stands for all that's fair and best in merchandising in Newark and beyond.

The stocks now in the store are at the full tide of completeness, embracing the very latest fashions in Men's Clothing and accessories of all kinds, and only the necessity for the settlement of the estate could warrant such a sacrifice as is now announced.

It is deemed unnecessary to urge upon those who read this announcement the extraordinary nature of the opportunity now presented.

THE SALE BEGINS SATURDAY JUNE 11th, 8:30 A. M.

The store will be closed until then in preparation.

REV. MR. CROSS REPLIES TO MR. SALTER STORRS CLARK.

As Hypothetical Father He Dissapproves of Certain Modern Methods.

Westfield, June 7, 1910. TO THE EDITOR OF THE STANDARD:

Westfield, June 7, 1910. To the Editor of the Standard:

With your kind permission I will state my case more especially. Mr. Salter Clark, in his courteous letter has stated a case, but not his case. There are three typical cases to be considered, his mine, and a third. His case is that of a man with a family of boys whom he can afford to send to college and does so because he wishes them to be well educated. Mine is that of the hypothetical father of a family of boys whom I cannot afford to send to college, though I also, wish my boys to be well educated. The third is the case of the man, who from lack of interest, neither expectsor wishes his boys to receive the higher education that the college represents.

The third class is sometimes called "the poor," which term I am willing to accept it it means poor in ideal: if imeans poor in pocket, the phrase is misleading, and often singularly inaccurate. The constituency in my class. I believe is about fifty per cent of the children of the town: the "poor" constituency is about forty per cent of the children of the town: the "poor" constituency is about forty per cent of the children of the own: the "poor" to measure the could not refrain from the obvious comment that all Mr. Clark's constituency. Mr. Clark, however, gets even with us by assuming the championship of the "poor" of the existing curriculum as a sufficient education for the "poor" is discounted by the fact that it does not satisfy the needs of the boys in his own class. What he says in effect, is that the sons of the "poor" do not need a higher grade of academic education that what they now receive in the grammar school, but that the boys of his own class do need it, and will get it by going to high school and afterward to college. He throws a sop to the "poor" by opening extra commercial courses, which is not education but a sort of a play as many know.

But what about my boys of the second class? They also, in their father's ing extra commercial coirses, which is not education but a sort of a play as many know.

But what about my boys of the second class? They also, in their father's opinion, need the higher education, but they will not get it. Why? Because it is not to be had in the grammar school, and I cannot afford to keep them at home after the age of fifteen or sixteen. They must go to business at that age, therefore to be handicapped in middle life by not being able to meet college men on equal terms.

Now, sir, when I reflect that their father went to business as an office boy at fifteen and a half years of age, having studied French from the age of six, Latin, (Caesar, Livy, Cicero, Horace) from the age of ten, German at twelve, algebra and geometry at twelve, chemestry and other sciences at thirteen, natural philosophy and trigonometry at fourteen, and that he still lives to tell the tale, I am concerned to ask why my loys should be denied the educational advantages that their father had? It must be conceded, of course, that not all fathers of today were so advantageously circumstanced. Andin this fact, perhaps, may be found the reason for eously circumstanced. And in this fact, perhaps, may be found the reason for the continuance of our present faulty eously circumstanced. And in this fact, perhaps, may be found the reason for the continuance of our present faulty educational system.

Fathers, who themselves received but a meager education, have but little disposition to demand higher education, as an end in itself, for their sons. The man, for instance, who never studied Latin does not appreciate the value of that particular study for his boy. This fact he does appreciate, that the prosperous men of his acquaintance are not all equally well educated, and that many a man who has made a commercial success of life regrets the lack of an educated mind.

Supposing now that the fathers in Westheld sympathising with my case as I have stated it, were favorable to a radical readjustment of public school affairs, the first change necessary would be the esbablishment of separate boys and girls' schools for this reason (in addition to the others mentioned in my first letter) that the advanced subjects enumerated above can be taught successfully to boys between the ages of ten and fifteen whereas girls are not mentally ready for them, until they have reached the age of fifteen. Hence, my accusation against co-education is that the boys are kept back, waiting for girls: that our Westfield boys are wasting the most precious years of life, educationally speaking; that they are at tending what is practically a girls school, are being brought up in a feminine atmosphere detrimental to the best interests of the male sex.

On behalf of the girls, (for I am also a hypothetical father of girls), I may say that their father does not want them to be their brothers' competitors, either in studies or athletics; nor does he wish them to mix promiscuously with all the boys in the town who are not their brothers.

I am obliged to Mr. Clark for taking the most precious ten on the subject.

boys in the town was brothers.

I am obliged to Mr. Clark for taking the brother to write on the subject.

I am offen too. the trouble to write on the subject hope he will write again, and often too. I have not attempted to touch the question of finance which he raises, because that is a matter in which, as a past member of the Board of Education, he can speak with the greater authority. But with regard to the distribution of pupils under various teachers. I would venture to predict better results from a staff of "all-round" teachers who are expected to teach everything, than from staff of "all-round" teachers who are expected to teach everything, than from a staff of specialists. If I had time, I think I could show that special subject teachers disturb the mental poise of children of school age, and that the older educational methods are the sounder.

older educational methods are the sounder.

My thanks to you, Mr. Editor, for the use of your columns; I must not write again of this subject, not for the present. Perhaps these who have read the correspondence will begin to wonder, at the forthorning commencement exercises, whether, after all, it is worth while to maintain an elaborate night school system which brings to graduation fifteen or sixteen pupils, and denies to my children and the children of the "poor" equal opportunities with the children of the well-to-do. A system, moreover, which, while it does justice to neither sex, favors the girls at the expense of the loys.

Under advertised hearings Mr. J. N. Wilcox protested against the laying of a sidewalk along the northwest side of work done by these pupils is due to the New street, from Central avenue to south Elmer street. The protest of Mrs. Hart was withdrawn.

Mr. Edward Hussey asked why the line of the sidewal on Newton place and Dudley avenue had been shifted two feet from the line assigned two years ago. Engineer Vars explained have to stand in concrete. Mr. C. E. Pearsall said that about 100 feet of walk had been laid in accordance with the old line. Mr. Vars asked Mr. Hussey how far his concrete steps were from the center of the street, and was answered 31 feet. Mr. Vars stated 33 feet was the correct distance in this street and that he had not given Mr. Hussey authority to use the 31 foot scale

Mr. Wolfert protested in writing and orally ugainst the continuation of a "brick streak" on Elm street as bricks would be noisy, hot and dirty. He favored wood blocks. A curb is needed and he wished to put in a cement walk and curbing himself, also asked to have the matter deferred. The request was referred to the proper committee. Mr. Wolfert also thought the three poles at Broud and Elmstreets were an obstruction and wished to put a light on his brick building.

Bills approximating $1,700 were ordered paid.

The applications of John Cox and A. B. Price to have their sewer assessment reapportioned were not in due form and were referred back to the signers for further details.

Westfield

Samer Irani: at Berrbabese et IN SCHAEFER Stare.

If you see an article advertised in the first class magazines ask for it at Schaefer's.

We aim to be distributors for Westfield of the best brands of advertised dry goods.

Why take chances with unknown or nameless merchandise when you can get the best at Advertised merchandise is always guaranteed merchandise.

No concern whether large or small, department store or specialty store can give a better article than the advertised brand.

Why then do the larger establishments push their own makes in preference to nationally advertised goods? Because the profit on the advertised brands is smaller to the merchant, but the customer is assured of the best quality.

An article nationally advertised is an article of merit and every statement made about it is backed up by the manufacturer and by the Schaefer Store.

If any advertised article does not prove satisfactory we will refund the purchase price.

A Disinterested Citizen of the Town of Westfield

Who buys groceries, meats and vegetables for their Quality and without regard for their price is pursuing a safe plan if he is a man of means and does not need to economize. He can usually get satisfaction so far as the excellence of what he buys is concerned. But How About That Important Item of Cost?

The Windfeldt Store likes to deal with the man who can afford to buy the best goods in the market. He is usually the Best Kind of Customer; but the Windfeldt Store is an accommodation to him as well as to the poor man and he this all-important reason:

The Windfeldt Store offers the best goods in the market at the Lowest Market Price. No matter who you are or what you are, Mr. Buyer, you get the benefit of the combination plan. We supply you with the best cuts of meat, the choicest dairy products and vegetables and the most reliable and finest brands of groceries, and whether you are concerned with the price or not, you will find that we hold steadfastly to the system of low prices and the best goods.

Only the other day a customer called at our store and asked us why was we charged so much for spring lamb. Our answer was that our price of spring lamb was as low as it could be at this season of the year. Being further questioned as to why lower prices were quoted, we informed our custom ers that he could take a choice cut of our lamb at our price and compare it with the so-called spring lamb sold at a lower price; if the Spring Lamb which he bought from us was not far superior to that bought at the lower price, we would refund the money. The Customer took our advice, made the comparison, and reported back to us two days later that our lamb was as good as any he had ever eaten, and that the so-called spring lamb of our competitor was an inferior great and tasted more like mutton.

This by way of showing that the Windfeldt Store does not misrepresent that emphasis is piaced on Quality; that the price is as low as possible, and the the confidence of our customers is worth more to us than any other busine assec. The advantages of the Combination Plan are patent to all who buy at the
