

COUNCIL TAKES UP TAX BUDGET

Passed on First Reading After Slight Amendments Had Been Made to Ordinance

OTHER BUSINESS DISCUSSED

At the meeting of the town council held in the town hall on Monday night the tax budget for the year 1915 was taken up and after some slight amendments had been made to it was passed upon first reading as follows: For lighting the streets of the town, $10,350; for police, $12,000; fire department, $7,750; hydrants, $16,500; poor, $1,200; water, $2,600; interest on debt, $8,639.42; board of health, $1,500; public library, $3,150; sinking fund, $7,762.53; sewers, $2,400; incidental expenses, $5,000. Total $77,851.95.

The Westfield Trust Company, Peoples National Bank and The National Bank of Westfield were designated as the depositories for the town funds.

No objections were received against the work and materials used for the improvement of upper Summit avenue, Doring road, Scotch Plains avenue, Hazel avenue and St. George Place and these improvements were referred to the Board of Assessors. Ordinances to improve Kimball avenue, between Euclid and Harrison avenues and to lay sidewalks in certain sections of Union avenue were passed on final reading.

Recorder Springstead reported fines for June amounting to $10. Town Treasurer Darby reported a balance on hand amounting to $9,414.33. A vacation of two weeks was granted Miss Holmes the stenographer in the town clerk's office. It was decided by the council to insert a clause in the recent bond issues so that the bonds will be registered. A quit claim deed was ordered given to Theodore Williams. The request of the Park Commissioners asking the council to issue bonds to the amount of $25,000 for the improvement of the park property was referred to the Town Plan and Art Commission.

The town acted favorably on the request of Mr. Becker and others for the improvement of Pleasant Place and Edgewood avenue and a hearing for objections to this improvement was set for Monday evening, August 17.

By resolution the council decided to lay sidewalks in Myrtle avenue from Central avenue to the Morgan property and in Grove street from Central avenue to the Garwood line.

Mayor Evans presided and all the members of the council were present.

MRS. H. S. GRATTEN HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Last Monday afternoon Mrs. H. S. Gratten of Cranford was injured and had a narrow escape from being killed when the car in which she was returning from the Cranford Golf Club to her home hit a car owned by H. A. Colby of Plainfield and which was driven by a colored chauffeur.

The Colby car was making the turn from East Broad street into Springfield avenue when the accident occurred. It is said that the car was hugging the left hand side of the road and making a short turn. Mrs. Gratten who has driven a car for the past three years is said to be a very careful driver. She swung her car to the extreme edge of the road and averted a head on collision, but her car was badly damaged, the lights, windshield, mud guards and running board were broken and the steering gear put out of commission.

The car had to be towed to a Cranford garage. The Plainfield car was unhurt and proceeded on its way. The accident is one of many that have happened at this turn and it seems to be impossible to avoid them.

MOSQUITOES SCARCE IN WESTFIELD.

Last Thursday night the Union County Mosquito Commission through its chief R. M. Gies, had every inspector in the county, eighteen in number, out collecting mosquitoes from three stations in each district from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. In this town the inspectors were stationed at Summit avenue and Washington street, Broad street and the town lake and at Prospect street and Dudley avenue. In each case only two mosquitoes were caught. Mr. Clark one of the inspectors had his arms bare and found but seven mosquitoes and succeeded in catching six. A report of the kind of specimens which were caught will be made as soon as they can be examined.

Another call has been issued by Chief Gies to the inspectors to be out tonight again.

BAY BRIDGE UNDER DISCUSSION

Freeholders Adverse to Spending Money Required Without Vote of Approval by Citizens of Union County

A meeting of the Boards of Freeholders of Hudson and Union counties is being held at Elizabeth today for the purpose of talking over the proposition to build a bridge across the bay to Jersey City at a cost of two million dollars. According to the plan as outlined the expense of the erection will be borne by the two counties and the state. Hudson will bear forty per cent; the state forty per cent and Union twenty per cent. The total cost to Union County will be about four hundred thousand dollars.

One of the freeholders in an interview with a Standard representative stated that the board was adverse to spending that much of the counties' money without the voters being given a chance to vote on it by referendum.

The building of the bridge will lessen the distance from here to Jersey City by about five miles and will do away with going around by Newark. Whether the benefit to be derived from the project will warrant the outlay of this amount of money is a question and remains for the people to decide.

BODY OF MRS. CALWELL ARRIVED HERE TODAY

Placed in Receiving Vault of Fairview Cemetery Pending Arrival of Dr. Cadwell

The body of Mrs. N. V. Cadwell, who died in Rome on July 3, of the Roman fever arrived in New York this morning and was brought to this town and placed in the receiving vault at Fairview cemetery where it will remain open pending the arrival of Rev. Dr. N. W. Cadwell who is at present ill in Rome with heart trouble. A cablegram was received from Dr. Cadwell by friends in town today that he was much improved in health and expected to sail for home about the middle of next month with his son Paul. At the time of Mrs. Cadwell's illness Paul was in Paris and did not reach Rome until after his mother had died.

Dr. Cadwell was for many years pastor of the Presbyterian church here and went from this church to the Olive Presbyterian church in Atlantic City. Dr. and Mrs. Cadwell were traveling abroad when Mrs. Cadwell's death occurred.

Westfield K. of C. To Receive Charter.

Westfield Council, Knights of Columbus are planning another big time for August 5, when the National charter, containing the names of the fifty-four charter members of the local council will be received from headquarters in New Haven.

At this meeting of the council in addition to receiving the charter photographs of the charter members will also be received and it is the intention of the council members to hang the charter and photographs on the two pillars at the head of the council room. John J. Daly is busily engaged preparing a suitable program for this event.

PAINT STORE ON FIRE FOR SECOND TIME

The fire department was called out on Wednesday afternoon about five o'clock to a blaze in the store of the New Jersey Paint Company on Broad street and which is managed by N. Pinkenstein. The firemen responded quickly and found the store full of smoke. They soon had a stream of water playing on the building and after the smoke had cleared away it was discovered that the fire had started under the counter on which the show cases were placed.

This is the second time that this store has been afire, the first time being several months ago when the building was almost completely gutted. The damage done by the fire this time was very slight but the damage by water will amount to about $100.

It is understood that the stock was to have been sold at a constables sale today. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Fireside Council Meeting.

At the meeting of Fireside Council, Royal Arcanum held last night, Grand Regent Harding and Deputy Grand Regent Ward were the guests of the Council. Grand Regent Harding made an address in which he told of the new legislation of the Supreme Council. One candidate was admitted by card. After the business meeting refreshments were served.

Owing to the inclement weather only thirty members were present.

SCHOOL GARDENS ARE ADVOCATED BY COUNTY AND LOCAL AUTHORITIES

R. M. Fraunfelder, County Inspector and Principal J. H. McLaughlin Favor Them for Schools in This Town

In an interview with Mr. R. M. Fraunfelder, of Roselle, who has recently been appointed county inspector of school gardens for Union County, Mr. Fraunfelder set forth his plans regarding school gardens in Westfield. He advocates the employment of one teacher, preferable a teacher of nature subjects, for the entire year of twelve months and that this teacher have charge of the school gardens. It is his idea to have these gardens cultivated not only during the spring term of school but during the summer vacation period as well. He advocates that a garden be cultivated in connection with each school; where a school ground does not permit of such a garden, a vacant lot in the vicinity could be used. He also advocates individual gardens at the pupils' homes, which shall be inspected from time to time by the local teacher and by the county inspector. He has laid out a complete program for the raising of vegetable products, which includes not only their cultivation but preservation. He suggests, as a final step, that such simple vegetables as beans, peas and corn be raised and that these should be canned by the students themselves.

Mr. Fraunfelder suggests that it is not too late even yet to open a summer garden and early varieties of beans and peas could even now be brought to maturity so that same could be canned this fall after the opening of school. One suggestion of Mr. Fraunfelder's was that boys and girls might work together in the garden project of raising vegetables to can and then share the completed products. Mr. Fraunfelder has secured a list of boy's names in Westfield, who are interested in garden projects and has initiated the management of a series of gardens in Westfield this summer. Indications are that keen interest will be shown in this management and another year will see many students with private gardens.

Principal J. H. McLaughlin, of the McKinley school, has for two years, maintained a school garden at the McKinley school; there has been but one drawback with this garden, it not being fenced, has laid it open to depredation and waste by vandals in the vicinity, who have robbed the crops on maturity. This has greatly discouraged the students in this particular locality. Mr. McLaughlin is devising means, however, to protect his little farm from these plunderers, and he expects another season to have a ideal garden.

Mr. Fraunfelder's enthusiasm will undoubtedly be the means of having gardens started in connection with the other schools and the management will undoubtedly take a firm hold upon Westfield next year, especially so as it has been intimated that the various Parent-Teachers Associations will take an interest in the management.

Regarding school gardens County Superintendent A. L. Johnson made the following statement:

I believe that the time has come for Union County to give serious consideration to the subject of "School Gardens". Under the intelligent direction of principals and supervising principals who have had some gardening experience and assisted by teachers with special training in this work, it would seem that every school district could at least make a beginning.

I am perfectly aware that in some districts conditions are such as to prevent the establishment of a school garden on property belonging to the district, but in every community there are vacant lots adjacent to school buildings which may be procured for this purpose without additional expense to the Board of Education.

A brief historical statement of progress made in other countries along this line might be advisable, chiefly to show that America has not made a corresponding rate of advancement.

SCHOOL GARDENS IN EUROPE.

In Austria an Imperial school law went into effect in the year 1869 which made provision for the establishment of a school garden in connection with every school. At the present time there are about 20,000 school gardens in Austria and in some provinces not a single school is without one. Sweden enacted a law the same year, and in 1894 there were 1670 school gardens in that country. Germany began giving instruction in the culture of fruits and vegetables as early as 1814. Prussian village schools introduced the school gardening project in 1819. Berlin has large grounds for gardening just outside of the city limits in which every child who applies may have a small garden of his own. In this city there are sent to all elementary schools daily two wagon loads of leaves, flowers, plants for use in nature study, drawing and elementary science.

Bosch in 1893 founded a large central botanical school garden. Here the children are taken and are given regular instruction in gardening. Since 1898 Leipzig has given to every new school 400 square meters for a botanical garden. Since 1873 Belgium has required every school in the Kingdom to maintain a garden of at least 39 1-2 square rods. It is reported that school gardening has given a remarkable impetus to vegetable gardening at large. When we consider how densely Europe is populated this becomes a statement of remarkable importance.

In the year 1880 the French ministry not only established school gardens but decreed that instruction should be given in the normal schools, in order that their graduates might "carry to the elementary schools and exact knowledge of the soil, the means of improving it, the best methods of cultivation, the management of a farm, garden, etc." As a result the French government reports 20,000 elementary schools with gardens. A private investigation however carried out by Mr. Clondesley Brereton shows that 45,000 French schools have gardens attached.

The movement in Russia began in the seventies but did not advance very rapidly until 1887. The movement has steadily advanced until the most recent report shows that 520,000 school children have gardens of their own. Nearly every school in the Netherlands has a garden in which children work.

England has been the most backward country in all Europe in the matter of school gardening. In 1895 only 84 schools had established school gardens. Prior to 1902 the counties of Surrey and Berkshire were the only districts which had done anything worth while, but the effort made here proved such an unqualified success that educators throughout the country looked for special educational legislation.

In the new course of study of 1904 for all elementary schools, nature study is given first place and a special grant is offered to each school for the purpose of establishing school gardens. The latest report shows 32 school gardens connected with day schools and 22 counties maintaining other gardens connected with evening schools.

While Great Britain has been neglected of home interests she has not been unmindful of the needs of the colonies and much effective work has been accomplished in Africa, Australia, Ceylon, India, and Canada.

SCHOOL GARDENS IN AMERICA.

The first record of a school garden in America is found in the will of an old Quaker named John Fox who in 1691 gave a tract of land near Philadelphia "for a playground for the children of the town to play on, and for a garden to plant with physical (medicinal) plants, for herbs and hedges to know simples and to learn how to make oil and ointments."

Two hundred years later a school garden was established on the grounds of the George Putnam School, of Roxbury, Mass., by Henry Lincoln Chapp, at that time master of the school. From 1891 to 1900 only wild flowers were cultivated in this garden, but after the latter date other Massachusetts towns had made such a success of vegetable gardening in connection with school work that the Putnam school began to grow vegetables. At about this time the normal schools of the State began to give courses in gardening and at Hyannis the garden had furnished a large part of the material for the following subjects of study: Writing, Composition, Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, Banking, etc.

In 1901 the Twentieth Century Club of Boston established a garden of 82 beds on Fourteenth street near the English High School. Later on in the following year the Massachusetts Civic League maintained three hundred and fifty gardens. School gardens were subsequently established in connection with elementary schools in the cities of St. Louis, Chicago, Washington, Omaha, Worcester, Cleveland, Brookline, Mass., New York City, Rochester, Yonkers, Philadelphia and Hampton, Va., and in many other places. The greater number of these have proved so successful that they have been made permanent.

St. Louis has led in this movement, and the school authorities aided by one of the leading daily papers which gave prizes for the best gardens permanently established vegetable gardening throughout the city.

The seedmen have aided the movement generally by distributing free seeds to school children to be used in planting school gardens.

Colorado started the school gardening plan in 1902. Owners of property free and the city water company adjoining schools furnished free supplied water for irrigating purposes without charge. The plan proved so popular that the vegetables and flowers grown in school gardens were exhibited at the Colorado State Fair. In the same year Chicago through a committee on vocational schools distributed 4000 packages of seeds among the grammar grades, and later in the summer found that over 3000 children had started home gardens.

Someone may very properly ask, "What has school gardening to do with education?" The following experiment carried out by a large corporation will answer this question.

"In the Spring of 1897 the National Cash Register Co., of Dayton, Ohio, employed a gardener to lay out 40 plots, 10 ft. by 130 ft., each, to be used by boys of the neighborhood. His factory was located in a section popularly known as 'The Garden'.

PLAYGROUND MECCA FOR CHILDREN

Daily Average Attendance 200. Little Ones Have Much to do Many Contests This Week

Considerable interest is being shown in the public playground at the Washington school park. The daily attendance averages about two hundred. There is much for the little folks to do, a sand-box with beach sand affords amusement for about forty of the youngest, the new seesaws and the other apparatus gives enjoyment to many. Games of skill, tennis, croquet and bowling are very popular among both boys and girls.

Athletic contests are held each week, according to the rules of the playground commission. There are three classes in which a boy can compete, some of the events are the standing broad jump, chinning the bar, and the sixty and one hundred yard dashes. When a boy reaches a certain fixed standard set for his class, he receives a bronze badge, awarded by the national playground commission.

These in charge of the playground pay close attention to the conduct of those who may be on the grounds, no boisterous conduct is allowed and all games or frolics which might subject any one to injury are carefully guarded against.

Miss Putnam who has charge of this work or a member of the high school spends an hour each day telling stories to the little folks.

Wednesday occurred the first bowling tournament for the girls at the Washington playground. The following girls belong to the club: Mildred Fredericks, Thomasine O'Neil, Edith Beaumont, Marion Beaumont, Florence Biddle, Ruth Thompson, Louise Cole, Margaret Knight, Rosamond Holmes and Helen Michaels.

The contest was very interesting. The girls bowled with enthusiasm and the contest was finally won by Rosamond Holmes and Helen Michaels. Florence Biddle and Ruth Thompson had the second highest score.

Yesterday afternoon there was a lolly pop race in which a line of boys and girls took part and afforded much amusement for all. The feature of the race was the fact that every one who took part was given a chance to throw a ball at the face of a man which was painted on a piece of canvas and the one who put the ball through the opening made to represent the month received a lolly pop as a prize.

This afternoon the second bowling contest of the boys will take place and promises to be interesting. On July 10, the first contest was bowled and was won by Thomas Brady and Raymond Melick. William Erbeck and George McMahon were second.

The attendance record was broken on Wednesday afternoon when there were 200 children on the playground and fifteen mothers.

Miss Putnam the instructor of the playground is planning to have a parents day next month when there will be some more interesting and amusing events.

A. J. MILLER AND FAMILY HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Last Saturday afternoon while riding in his automobile on the Jerusalem road a peculiar and very lucky accident happened to A. J. Miller of the Boulevard. Mr. Miller with his wife and two sons were riding along the road near the new reservoir of the Union Water Company when they were forced to the side of the road by a heavy touring car which was coming down the hill at that point. The road bed gave way from Mr. Miller's car and the car with its occupants slid to the bottom of the embankment.

Where the accident happened the dirt that has been taken from the reservoir excavation has been used to widen the roadway and it had not been tramped down solid and the car just slid easily down to the bottom and was not damaged in any way.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller and their sons were badly frightened by the experience. After a few minutes they got word to a local garage and a number of men and a heavy car dragged the Miller car to the firm roadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller and family are receiving the congratulations of their many friends over their narrow escape.

TO SET NEW SCHOOL BUILDING FURTHER BACK

The new High School building ground for which was broken last week and which was staked out 25 feet from the street line has been moved 15 feet further in from the street line, making it 40 feet in all. This was decided on at a meeting of the Board of Education on Monday night. The members of the Board it is said felt that the building would be too near the street line if left at 25 feet and so decided to move it back 15 feet further.

NIGHT TENNIS AT GOLF CLUB

Has Proven a Successful Innovation. Have Been Many Exciting Matches in Open Men's Doubles Tournament. Large Gallery Witnessed the Contest.

The popularity of tennis at the Westfield Golf Club has been greatly increased this year by the installation of a system of artificial lighting on two of the courts, so that this pastime may be enjoyed during the cool of the evening by those whose business has heretofore confined their time for tennis to the few hours available during the week-ends. Indeed the influence of this innovation is felt throughout the entire vicinity and the Golf Club has arranged that persons other than club members may use the courts upon paying a nominal guest charge, and many experienced players from out of town avail themselves of this opportunity for increased practice and enjoyment of tennis.

Two courts are provided with artificial illumination, and reservations for any stated time are made in advance to accommodate those desiring to play. The system of illumination comprises 24-25 watt tungsten lamps in Holophane reflectors of a type especially designed for this use, the lights being suspended upon cables along each side of the court. The light is supplied entirely from the sides so that the player facing the net does not have the glare of the light against a dark background. The reflectors are so constructed and arranged that the light is thrown directly across the courts from the 12 units on each side, and the court is provided with a white surface which forms an effect of reflection for the reflection and refraction of light so that a surprising brilliancy of illumination is obtained. The highest light, which passes out of the range of the direct light from the illuminating units, is reflected directly into the eyes of the player, thus eliminating the glare effect. All the lights are controlled on the night courts express their complete satisfaction and have found that night play is enjoyed as much as during the day.

Probably no sport event of a larger hold in Westfield has attracted the widespread interest that is now being shown in the Open Men's Doubles Tournament, which is being played this week on the night courts at the Westfield Golf Club. Each night the events have been witnessed by from 200 to 500 spectators, who have come from Westfield and the surrounding towns to take advantage of the attractions offered. The convenience of automobiles has been so great that the services of a traffic policeman have been necessary. The entry list includes a number of players of wide reputation and those who come to view the matches are seeing a brand of tennis which far exceeds anything heretofore seen in Westfield. The entry list includes:

1. Lindsay Dechen, H. Throckmorton, William O'Neil, Club, Rahway.
2. W. H. Brown, Jr., Russell Brown, Clifton Tennis Club, Staten Island.
3. Paul P. Gould, Charles Buckner, Harlem Tennis Club.
4. L. B. Thomas, H. M. Kirkland, Elizabeth Town and Country Club.
5. Monroe Long, Warner Mulford, Park Club, Plainfield.
6. B. H. Throck and L. F. Ballard, Seawater Tennis Club.
7. G. L. DeLong, Jr., H. N. Bartlett, Terrace Park Club.
8. Phil Van Dewater and Ludlow Van Dewater, Plainfield.
9. F. W. Elmer and W. O. Tins, Westfield Golf Club.
10. Alan C. Plume and C. G. Collin, Jr., Cranford Casino.
11. A. Goodland and C. A. Brown, Rutherford.
12. C. G. Collin and C. H. Briggs.
13. P. G. Throckmorton and T. Ernst, Seawater Tennis Club.
14. H. Pittenger and J. Cornwell, Plainfield.
15. B. P. Randall and H. Cowperthwaite, Westfield Golf Club.
16. Edwin Shield and Paul Traylor, Stanley Oval Tennis Club.
17. E. S. H. Vandergast and H. N. Glazebrook, Elizabeth Town and Country Club.

The results of the matches played are as follows:

- 1st Round—Dunham and H. Throckmorton defeated Brown and Brown, 6-2; 6-4.
- Wheeler and Kirkland defeated Gould and Buckner, 6-3; 6-4.
- H. H. Throckmorton and Ballard defeated Long and Mulford, 6-4; 3-6; 3-4 (default).

MUCH STOCK BRED ON RANGE OF WEST DIES ERE IT REACHES MARKET AGE

Waste Said to Add Millions of Dollars to People's Meat Bill and Gives Another Cause for the High Cost of Living—Results Reported From National Forests Show That Large Part of Loss Can Be Stopped.

(From the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

Washington.—That at least one-twentieth of all the stock bred on the open range of the West dies before it reaches market age and that much of this loss can be stopped is shown by results reported from the national forests. This waste is said to add millions of dollars to the people's meat bill, and gives one more cause of the high cost of living. Winter storms and summer droughts strew the ranges with the bones of cattle and sheep; predatory animals take a heavy toll; poisonous plants sometimes kill half the animals in a herd almost overnight. Cattle contract anthrax, black-leg and other diseases, get stuck in bog holes, slip off icy hillsides; and sheep pile up and die of suffocation. Insects which madden and kill swell the total losses as do a multitude of other minor causes of death and injury.

If any of the animals to be grazed upon a national forest seem to be suffering from disease, the stock is subjected to a rigid inspection by the federal bureau of animal industry before it is allowed to enter the forest. If an animal grazing on the forest develops suspicious symptoms, the permittee is requested to remove it. The carcasses of animals dying from infectious or communicable diseases must be buried or burned, preferably the latter. To protect their stock against blackleg permittees are encouraged to use vaccine furnished free by the department of agriculture. Sheep suffering from scab or from lip and leg disease are barred from the forests until they have been treated in conformity with the requirements of the bureau of animal industry. The co-operation between the two bureaus has made it possible to keep the forest ranges remarkably free from all forms of stock disease.

The settlement and development of the West does not appear to have greatly reduced the number of animals which prey upon domestic live stock, and the loss from that source runs into the millions of dollars each year. Within the forests, however, the number of domestic animals killed has been appreciably reduced by the campaign against wild animals waged by the officers of the service. During the past eight years forest officers killed over 25,000 predatory animals, consisting of coyotes, wolves, bear, mountain lion, wildcats, lynx, etc.

The losses due to poisonous plants have been in the aggregate the most numerous, and the most difficult to guard against. Stockmen knew generally that certain flats or valleys or hillside slopes could not be used for grazing without heavy losses of stock, but there was much doubt as to what caused the loss. Gradually it was determined that the losses were due to various species of plants. Later, it was learned that in most instances these plants, while extremely poisonous during certain periods of the year, were comparatively innocuous during the remainder of the grazing season. The forest officers determined the various plant species which cause death or injury to live stock, the periods during which each species is dangerous, and the areas of forest land upon which the plants are sufficiently abundant to cause losses of stock. The next step was to devise ways and means of preventing the losses. Where definite information is obtainable the outer limits of the poison areas are marked by warning placards which give the name of the poisonous plant, the kind of stock to which it is injurious, and the period during which it is most harmful. With this warning, stockmen are enabled to so handle their stock as to prevent the occupancy of the poison area during its danger period. In cases where the areas of poisonous plants are comparatively small the permittees have been encouraged to fence them, material for fence construction being furnished free of charge by the forest service. The result of this work has been to reduce the number of animals lost through poisonous plants as compared to the numbers lost several years previously.

Notwithstanding all precautions which may be taken against poisoning, losses from this source must be expected. During the past several years the bureau of plant industry has been making a study of poisonous plants and of antidotes. In the case of larkspur, for example, the bureau has determined methods of treatment which are reasonably successful, under normal conditions. The only difficulty has been that the animals suffering from poison are generally out upon the open range and may not be observed by their owners until it is too late to apply an antidote. The forest service has therefore arranged to meet this situation in an experimental way by equipping a limited number of rangers with hypodermic syringes and the necessary chemicals. Armed with this equipment a forest officer can in a few moments administer a treatment which may save a $40 steer.

"17 DRY YEARS" PREDICTED

Director of French Observatory Says There Will Be Slight Rainfall From 1918 to 1935.

Paris.—The Abbe Moreux, director of the observatory at Bourges, predicts a dry cycle of 17 years from 1918 to 1935.

"Seventeen years of dryness," he says, "followed by as many years of humidity, such is the consequence of our being directly dependent on the sun. The last great maximum was to occur, according to my calculations, toward 1900 to 1907. It was this which enabled me, in 1902, to predict the rainy period which has persisted over almost the whole surface of the globe and which brought us the great floods of 1910.

"The rainy maximum which I had announced for 1913 has just ceased. We are about to enter into a dry period, which will last more particularly from 1918 to 1935."

Already, says the astronomer, there are signs of reawakening activity. The sun spots have appeared in the high altitude of the central planet. The seasons are about to become more marked, the winters colder and the summers warmer.

BORROWS FROM FORMER WIFE

Man Remarried Following Divorce Asks Suitcase of Ex-Spouse for Use on Wedding Trip.

St. Louis, Mo.—E. D. Luckey, a former principal of the John Marshall school and conductor of European tours, paid a friendly visit to his former wife, Mrs. Rebecca A. Luckey, recently and borrowed a traveling bag for use on his honeymoon trip to Europe with Mrs. Luckey No. 2, who was Miss Elizabeth S. Reed.

The remarriage of the man and his departure on a wedding trip carrying the borrowed bag was made known by Mrs. Robert Brinsmade, aunt of Mrs. Luckey, who says that the couple were married several months ago at Redding, Conn.

Miss Reed was formerly a teacher in the Columbia school. She was a member of a party that was piloted on a European trip in 1911 by Luckey. This tour figured in the divorce trial, Luckey being accused of flirting.

NAVY'S DRINK "LID" RULES

Secretary of Navy Daniels Says That Wine Need Not Be Thrown Into the Ocean.

Washington, D. C.—Speculation as to the grace with which officers will accept Secretary Daniels' order banishing intoxicants from the navy increased as the "wet" days drew to a close. The order became effective July 1. Thereafter no officers may have liquor on shipboard or on any naval reservation.

"All orders are to be reasonably interpreted," said Secretary Daniels, when asked what was to be done with liquor which happened to be on ship. The secretary added that he did not expect his officers to feed the contraband goods to Neptune.

This phase of the new order of things is important, because some of the ships have been accustomed to procure a year's wine stock at one time. Especially is this true of a vessel on a foreign cruise.

MAPLE BEETLE HAS ARRIVED.

Lovers of trees in this town are being much exercised over the appearance of a new insect known as the maple beetle which has been discovered on several of the trees along the streets. The beetle is particularly noticeable on the maple trees on Elm street near the Keystone store and is said to be a very dangerous insect and if left to itself will play havoc with the maple trees.

Forester B. C. Howell reports that he has not seen any signs of the army worm in this town as yet. This worm is very numerous in various parts of the state and is doing considerable damage to lawns and to the cranberry bogs in the lower part of the state.

FISHING PARTY ENJOYS TRIP.

Town Clerk Charles Clark, George W. Baker, Building Inspector Frank Moffett, Overseer of the Poor A. C. Fitch and C. S. Rhoads comprised a party who went to Waretown on Wednesday and spent the day fishing on Barnegat Bay.

They returned late that night bringing with them about eighty weak fish and very much pleased with the day's sport.

Woman Suffrage Pro and Con

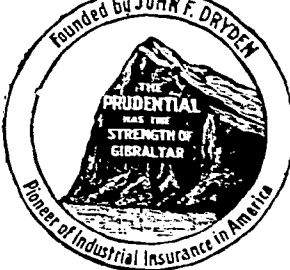

"Losing Her Influence."

"Jane Addams, the Progressive, has lost the unique position accorded to Jane Addams, the non-partisan," says an anonymous anti-suffragist in the Fargo Forum and Republican. Miss Addams told the National Suffrage Convention last year that she was received by President Taft with the same kindness and courtesy as usual, when she had occasion to go to him in regard to some humanitarian measure even though she was at that very time campaigning in behalf of another candidate. She herself has made no complaint of finding her influence lessened. If it has been lessened, however, it was not because she had the right to vote, but because she exerted her "indirect influence" in behalf of Roosevelt while she was still an unfranchised citizen. It was before Illinois adopted equal suffrage that Miss Addams seconded the Colonel's nomination and made campaign speeches for the Progressive party. This undoubtedly displeased men belonging to the other parties and caused them to think less of her political judgment; but it did not lessen the personal esteem felt for her by level-headed men, or (even in President Taft's case) their regard for her opinion as an expert on humanitarian matters.

The point is that her activities in that political campaign belonged wholly to the sphere of woman's "indirect influence," since that was all which Illinois women then possessed. No one asserts that Miss Addams' in-

Teach Agriculture.

By Mayor Henry W. Evans

In these days of financial stress, when the high cost of living is a problem with which the majority are trying to cope, school gardens and teaching our boys how to cultivate them might aid somewhat in the solution.

Twenty years ago living in Westfield was much less expensive than it is today. One of the reasons was the greater number of farms under cultivation and the smaller population. As Westfield and the surrounding country has grown in population, the farm with its produce has been eliminated and freight, hauling and huckster's charges have been added to the cost of our food products. In European countries much more attention is paid to the cultivation of the ground than in this country which is manifest by the greater yield from land that has been under cultivation there for centuries in comparison with our own that has been tilled a much shorter time.

The benefit of manual training is shown by the splendid exhibition of our boys. The knowledge of how to till the soil is as important to the general welfare as knowledge of mechanics and with the waste land available for the asking, school gardens could be conducted with practically no expense to the community from their operation.

School Gardens.

The County Board of Education has employed a director and instructor for school gardening. This is a feature in the development of education, which has been recommended by Mayor Evans on several public occasions, and one which would seem to be most practical and worthy of the careful consideration of our Board of Education.

There is no doubt that ample property can be obtained for the scheme in any section of our town, and we hope that another season will not go by without putting into use this very inexpensive and profitable means of interesting the pupils in something that is practical as well as profitable.

The Standard is authorized by one of her citizens to start the ball rolling by offering a $10.00 prize for the best, and a $5.00 prize for the second best garden if such a scheme is carried out under the direction of our Board of Education.

It might not be untimely to suggest that some of the activities of our Woman's Club might well be directed toward encouraging and taking up the school garden scheme.

Poor Economy.

Again our Town Fathers have passed an ordinance and let a contract for a curb to curb street improvement without insisting upon a cement or a brick gutter. We have often called attention to the shortsightedness of his policy, and while we believe the Council to a man believe that it is poor economy and bad practice to construct a curb to curb road without a hard gutter, they seem to lack the backbone or something to stand out against it.

Stannore Place, a short street in the north section of our town, running from Prospect to Clark Street, is being improved from curb to curb without a hard gutter.

Starting at Prospect Street, where the cement curb and gutter has been down for several years, one can see a most excellent example of a street improvement where the gutter is included in the improvement. At the Clark Street end of the proposed improvement a most telling example of macadamizing up to the curb without the cement gutter can be seen. This latter street was improved about the same time as Prospect Street, and yet the gutters are overgrown with weeds, filled up with street dirt and mud, and are not only unsightly, but very unsanitary. The fact that the drainage does not have a free flow permits it to settle into the ground and underneath the road foundation.

We believe all authorities will agree that the life of the improvement on Clark Street without the gutter will not be over two thirds as long as the improvement on Prospect Street with the hard gutter. The expense for putting down the cement gutter as against running the macadam up to the gutter is not over 20 cents or 25 cents per foot, or $20.00 to $25.00 for a frontage of 100 feet, which, distributed over ten yearly payments is almost too small to be considered as a point of economy by the property owner.

On the other hand, the Council by such methods are burdening the town with a system of streets that prove in the end little better in appearance than the old dirt roads, and will be a constant source of added expense to maintain, repair and rebuild.

Local History Profitable.

There seems to be quite a discussion regarding the efficiency of our schools, the curriculum, and other matters, all of which go to make up our educational system. While we do not venture suggestions from any special experience in educational matters, we would like to suggest some features in education that it might be well to consider, and possibly add to the curriculum with considerable profit, viz., the history and geography of our town, county and state more than is found in the present text books.

There is much interesting and profitable history in the part that New Jersey and her brave men played in the Revolutionary and Civil wars. Our own town contributed a liberal quota of 61 soldiers to the roll of the Continental Army.

The trial for the murder of Parson Caldwell, which was held in the old church; the hanging of the spy on Gallows Hill; and the history concerning the old one horn cannon would be profitable knowledge, and yet we venture to state that there is not one pupil in a hundred who knows anything of these incidents.

A knowledge of our country is, of course, profitable, yet a knowledge of the history and geography of our own state and county is more profitable and practical and should not be neglected.

An Encouraging Sign.

One of the best signs of the times in the political field is the earnest effort which the party leaders are making to induce the best men to give themselves for political office.

While the present mode of nomination handicaps the work of these leaders very much, they are, nevertheless, bending every effort that their picks shall be clean and of the highest order.

This marks progress and is a most encouraging sign. The earnest way in which the campaign is being worked up indicates that there will be none of the mud slinging or other disagreeable features which have marked so many campaigns in the past.

It is believed that the platform will be very short, as the people seem to be weary of the burden of too much legislation. This will, no doubt, make the applicants few and very carefully chosen.

"The Deadly Parallel," 1894-1914.

There is a "deadly parallel" between conditions of the country today and those of twenty years ago, declares Dr. Simeon D. Fess, representative in Congress of the Sixth Ohio District. Dr. Fess is a close student of political conditions, being the author of the History of Political Theory and Party Organization in the United States.

"Democrats can not ignore the deadly parallel of twenty years ago," he says, when they superseded a protective tariff system by their revenue system under the name of the Wilson bill. Imports increased, exports decreased, the balance of trade was turned against us, gold was exported, capital could not invest, labor lost employment. In a word, business was paralyzed.

"In the face of such distress, the Democratic party sought a new issue and a new leader and it found the issue in '16 to 1' and the leader in William Jennings Bryan. We were told the tariff had nothing to do with it and that the depression was world-wide. Now, Wilson says, it is merely "psychological."

"Now, note the deadly parallel: For the first time in twenty years imports have outrun our exports. In the single month of April, 1914, the change against us from the month of April a year ago, was sixty-four million dollars. This tendency was continued in May, a direct result of the Underwood tariff act, the second Wilson bill. Capital is hesitating, labor is unemployed, gold is leaving the country in frightful proportion, business is paralyzed and the nation is facing an issue of bonds, and a season of depression similar to that of twenty years ago under the last Democratic administration of revenue system of tariff. When we remind our Democratic friends of our warnings last year when we discussed the Underwood bill, in which some of us pointed out the inevitable consequence, we are indicted as calamity howlers. Wilson declares it is simply a state of mind.

"It is an interesting study to note the parallel, the similarity of the present Democratic regime with that of twenty years ago. I can not believe that the people will fail to connect results with causes."

Complete Your Schooling.

To the Editor of The Standard:
Dear Sir—I read with much interest your editorial of July 17th, headed "Complete Your Schooling."

During my membership of the Cranford Board of Education it was a constant question before the Board, why scholars left school. This question could not be answered from within, but could have been by the public had an opportunity been offered them to do so, and even when the opportunity came, the public did not take advantage of it.

The same condition, evidently from superficial observation, exists in the Westfield High School today. Constant errors are being made and not rectified, no opportunity is given for an appeal from seeming mistakes, in the present system of education.

Twice have I brought before the school board my objections to certain rulings in the school. Twice have I sought to bring the matter before the Board of Education and in every instance I have been unable to receive any definite consideration. Now the question comes up "why do not the schools keep the scholars until they are through with their education?"

I think, Mr. Editor, it would be a very great benefit to the people, if you could pursue a policy of inquiry among the residents of your town, whom I believe could tell you the reason why such a small percentage of the scholars ever reach first year High School. THE ANSWER MUST COME FROM THE PEOPLE.

Yours very truly,
A. J. BECKLEY.

LAST EXCURSION TO THE SEASHORE.

Members of the Sunday Schools of the Methodist, Congregational and Episcopal churches are looking forward to next Tuesday, July 28th, on which day the annual excursion of these schools to Ashbury Park and Ocean Grove will be held. A number of tickets have already been sold and a great many people have signified their intention of going on the excursion, which will be the last one of the season from Westfield to the two resorts by the sea. Chairman Taylor of the committee in charge stated that they had made their final arrangements with the railroad, and with good weather they confidently expected to have one of the largest crowds they have ever carried.

Owing to a ruling of the Public Service Commission of New Jersey, restricting the size of trains, the excursion will be run in two sections, the second section leaving within five minutes of the first. The committee have arranged to have a sufficient number of cars in the two trains so that there will be plenty of room for everyone. The trains leave Westfield at 8:27 A. M., and returning leave Ashbury Park at 7:10 P. M.

Can Your Boy Swim ?

If so he has an accomplishment that will afford him pleasure, and perhaps relief in danger.

The current of life is hard to stem. There are so many ways to spend money now-a-days that a young man has hard work to save it. One help to the one who tries to stem this current is the ability to save—teach your boy how to save money regularly by starting him on an Endowment Policy. When he receives the proceeds he will safeguard and invest them wisely because he will realize what the accumulation has meant in effort and self denial.

ON THE FUNNY SIDE

WHAT TROUBLED JIM MURPHY

Hot Tobacco Heart, as Physician Had Diagnosed, But the Effects of Cabbage Plant.

They were talking about the doctor and his diagnosis in the lobby of a Washington hotel the other evening when Congressman Thomas G. Patten of New York told of an incident that happened in Gotham.

Some time ago, he said, an esteemed citizen who wasn't enjoying his usual appetite and cheerfulness, consulted a physician, and was told he had tobacco heart. The information he imparted to his sympathetic friends. A few days later one of his friends met the doctor on the street.

"Say, doc," remarked the friend, "did you tell Jim Murphy that he had tobacco heart?"

"Jim Murphy," repeated the doctor, thoughtfully. "Yes, I believe I did. Why?"

"Nothing," was the smiling reply of the friend. "Only if you had ever smoked one of his cigars you would have made the diagnosis cabbage heart."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Distressing Symptom.
"Doctor," said Dennis, the old squire's valet, "don't you think the master is getting mighty thin?"

"No harm in that, Dennis," said the doctor; "he was too fat. He'll be healthier when he's thinner."

"Likely he will," said Dennis, disapprovingly; "but Ot won't be able to wear his old clothes then."—Grip.

Timely Warning.
"What's this game you're tryin' to introduce into Crimson Gulch?" asked Bruce Bob.

"It's called pinochle," replied the traveling salesman.

"Well, put it away. If some of the boys was to see all them aces comin' out in the same deal, they'd be almost sure to get rattled an' start shootin'."

Efficiency Test.
"The head of our concern decided to have everybody undergo an efficiency examination and apportion the jobs accordingly."

"How did it turn out?"

"The office boy won the manager's job and the manager couldn't pass at all."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Concession.
Grumpy Straphanger (loudly)—I wish you'd move those confounded valises out of the aisle.

Indignant Sitter—Those ain't valises—those are my feet.

Grumpy Straphanger (more cheerfully)—Well, you might at least pile one on top of the other.

TOO LATE.

The Victim—I see that you've arrested the fellow that stole a piece of dress goods from me, and I've come to get my goods.

The Desk Sergeant—I'm sorry, but he's just been put under bonds to keep the peace.

The Good Old Clothes.
"Surely you don't want me to wear clothes that are out of style," she protested.

"Yes, I do," replied the reckless man. "As a matter of decorum, I wish you'd put on the clothes you wore five years ago!"

Delay Insured.
"The doctor told me I must quit eating rapidly."

"The habit is hard to conquer."

"Yes; but I have managed it. I make it an absolute rule never to tip a waiter."

Preoccupation.
"Poets are seldom practical."

"That's true. A poet is no busy looking for the first wild flower and the first robin that he misses the first cloud."

MUST BE SO

The Preacher—I think the members of the choir are going to ask for more money.

The Deacon—Why?

The Preacher—For the last two Sundays they have been listening to the sermon.

VERY LIKELY

Silas—Why does that there man in ther band run ther trombone down his throat?

Hiram—I reckon he has a taste for music.

HARD LUCK

The Successful Candidate—My friend, I have nothing but praise for your work.

The Politician—Is that all? Gee! there ain't nothing in that fer me.

THE REASON

Mrs. Highmide—I'm completely disgusted and I want to get a divorce.

Lawyer—What has your husband been doing?

Mrs. Highmide—Nothing.

UP IN THE AIR

Hear Everything is going up.

Don't You—even airships are going higher.

WESTFIELD A. A. OUTCLASSES ROSELLE

The Roselle Casino team was completely outclassed by the Westfield A. C. at Recreation Park last Saturday, being walloped to the tune of 14-7. Pearsall proved a stumbling block for the visitors, while the home team slugged Benedict and Proudfoot at will. The game was practically won in the first inning, Westfield sending five men across the plate on four hits and two errors. Schenk's shoe-string catch of Strickland's drive featured the game.

In the absence of Manager McDonald, and Captain Green, Assistant Manager Valiant took charge of Westfield's proceedings. The line-up was given a severe shake-up, which accounted for many of the Cubs' errors.

SCHENK WAS THE STAR OF THE GAME.

Tomorrow the Marconi nine will play at Westfield. The wireless men will come prepared to avenge their previous 6-2 defeat.

Honor to Kitchener.

A statue of Lord Kitchener has just been unveiled in Calcutta. A large gathering of Bengal notables, European and Indian, all the regular troops in the garrisons, and a large contingent of Boy Scouts witnessed the unveiling of the statue. The governor, Lord Curzon, made a speech in which he praised Lord Kitchener's ability as a soldier and an administrator.

WESTFIELD WINS FROM RAHWAY.

Last Saturday afternoon the Westfield Golf Club team journeyed to Rahway and defeated the Hideran Club team of that city four out of seven games. There was a large number of spectators who witnessed the games. The Rahwayites won the Men's Singles and Doubles in an easy manner as Dunham and Throckmorton were too strong for the local players. The results of the games follow:

1. Dunham and H. Throckmorton, Rahway, defeated F. Smith and H. Cowperthwaite, 6-3, 6-3.

Dr. L. G. Newman and S. W. McAneny, Westfield, defeated A. Freeman and W. B. Clark, Rahway, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

L. Dunham defeated J. E. Nitchie, 6-2, 6-3.

Thought for the Day.
Science is nothing but trained and organized common sense, differing from the latter only as a veteran may differ from a raw recruit, and its methods differ from those of common sense only as the guardsman's cut and thrust differ from the manner in which a savage wields his club.—Huxley.

Introducing New Wood.

Five million gallons of wood oil (also known as tung oil), made from the seeds of the wood oil tree, was imported from China last year, and the product is said to have had a revolutionary effect on the varnish industry of the United States. It has largely taken the place of kauri gum and has made possible the manufacture of a quicker drying varnish, which is less liable to crack than that made from kauri gum, and has been found of special value in waterproof priming for cement. The tree is climatically adapted for cultivation in the Southern states, and the department of agriculture is distributing one-year-old specimens to bona fide experimenters.

Teaching Backward Children.

Miss Elizabeth E. Farrell, superintendent of the ungraded schools in New York city, says that the person who is feeble in body may be restored to normal health, and is the same with a person feeble in mind. The school of the future, she says, will cease talking about the weakness of a child and will emphasize his strength instead. Training will be based on what we know to be good for the individual child and not on what we have always thought to be good for children in general.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. Westfield Building and Loan Association in Flourishing Condition. 600 Shares Added to Subscription Lists During First Quarter of Fiscal Year

The steady increase of subscriptions for stock in the Westfield Building and Loan Association is very interesting and is substantial proof of the confidence in the management of this well established institution.

The last annual statement of the Association reports 4849 shares in force and during the first quarter of the present fiscal year over 600 shares were added to that number.

On April first the 14th series of stock of 150 shares matured and was paid off and at that time about $25,000 in cash was paid to the holders of that stock.

During the second quarter of the year about 240 shares were subscribed for bringing the total number of shares in force well over 5500.

In June a new series was opened and more than 100 shares have already been subscribed which will make a substantial addition to the number in force previously.

At the meeting last Tuesday evening the receipts amounted to about $200, and although this is slightly over the average, still for some months the receipts have averaged over $7500 and are constantly growing.

To keep this substantial amount at work to the best advantage is the policy of the officers and directors and a amount of thought required to get from the great number of applications received, only those that will be the best for the Association. It is greater than the average person will realize.

The Association has been active in the interests of Westfield for more than twenty-five years and meets on the third Tuesday evening of each month in the rooms, corner of Elm and Quimby Streets.

Garwood Voters Decide in Favor of Receiving Bids For $9,000 Hall and Fire House

As a result of the special election held Tuesday, the council will immediately receive bids for a new $9,000 borough hall and fire house. There were forty-four voters in favor of constructing the building, opposed by thirty-two voters.

Preceding the election Mayor Erikson sent circular letters appealing to the people to make Garwood among the progressive towns of Union County. He claims Garwood has the advantages of the neighboring towns of Cranford and Westfield but it remains for the citizens to demand good streets, schools, proper sewage and all other things which tend to push a town forward.

HOT WEATHER MAXIMS.

Overcome by the heat. This will be a frequent headline in the papers for the next three months.

In the minds of the majority of the people, all ills resulting from excessive heat are grouped under one head. There are, as a matter of fact, two distinct types of ailment from this cause—heat stroke, or thermic fever, and heat exhaustion. In the first of these the patient usually runs a high temperature and the treatment calls for ice baths. In heat exhaustion, the heart and respiration are depressed. When the humidity is high over-exertion is more apt to cause heat exhaustion.

In extreme weather endeavor to secure some circulation of air in the dwelling and workshop. There is less likelihood of prostration when the air is in motion.

No time should be lost in securing the services of a physician when anyone is overcome by the heat. No layman is competent to distinguish between the two types and give the treatment required.

In beginning the summer months it is well to fix these few maxims in your mind:

Don't hurry—remember it was the tortoise that won the race.

Don't worry—for your own sake and the other fellow's.

Eat regularly but sparingly—even an ostrich should use some discretion in hot weather.

Alcoholic beverages—if you must use alcohol, burn it in a chafing dish. Avoid ice water and ice-cold beverages—it is dangerous to paralyze your stomach because the thermometer is on the rampage.

Throckmorton and Ernst, 6-2; 6-3. The semi-finals in this event are scheduled for tonight, and the finals for Saturday night, at 8:30, at which time three out of five sets will be played to decide the winner of the tournament. Handsome prizes are provided for the winners and runners up.

The tournament has already proven to be such a success that the Golf Club plans to make this event a fixture for each year.

The introduction of night tennis at the Golf Club is due to the untiring efforts of Mr. John E. Nieche, chairman of the tennis committee of the club, whose clear foresight of the possibilities in the plan have given to the Golf Club and to Westfield an attraction which has met with immediate popularity.

The night courts at this club are the only ones of their kind in this part of New Jersey and the success which has attended its installation will no doubt cause other clubs to follow its example.

Semi-Finals Played Yesterday.

The semi-finals for the Ladies Handicap Committee Cup was played on the links of the Westfield Golf Club yesterday afternoon and resulted in Miss K. Barr and Miss E. Enzel being the winners. The former by 3 up and 1 to play and the latter by 2 up. The finals will be played this afternoon.

SCHOOL GARDENS ARE ADVOCATED

ularly known as "Slidertown." Lots sold from $200 to $300 apiece, many of the employees drank hard, and few owned their own homes. The president of the company decided that he owed his success to those habits of industry which he had acquired as a boy on the farm. With him the opening of the gardens and the expenditure for land, gardeners, tools, seeds, etc., were purely a business investment of dollars and cents. And it has paid. The company has more than doubled the land used for the purpose. It still pays all the expenses of the gardens, including seeds, and gives prizes worth $50 each year for the best gardens. Conditions in the neighborhood have become so desirable that lots are now worth from $900 to $1500 apiece, the vicinity is known as South Park instead of Slidertown, there is hardly an unemployed house there, many of the factory people own their own homes, and houses for rent are almost never vacant. It was shown that the very boys who worked in these gardens developed in their school work much more rapidly than those who did not. The company has now organized a neighborhood garden for the children of this section and children may have a plot of their own with seeds, plants and instruction for the nominal fee of ten cents.

The movement has grown to such proportions that the United States Department of Agriculture estimates that there are about 75,000 school gardens. Illinois leads in numbers and New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts follow in the order named.

Nichols was the winner of the first prize which was a silk handkerchief and Mrs. I. Hussey the second, which was three embroidered handkerchiefs.

TOWN TO BE DRY AS SAHARA

Great Big Fine in Taylorville for Giving a Drink or Imbibing With Friend.

Bloomington, Ill.—The desert of Sahara has nothing on Taylorville in relation to dry territory. This central Illinois town has adopted the most radical antiliquor ordinance ever framed in the United States. To give a man a drink of liquor, to be caught imbibing with a friend or to store a supply in a private home will result in a fine of $25 to $100, according to the temper of the court. The complete text of this measure follows:

1. No citizen may give another citizen a drink under a penalty of not less than $25 nor more than $100.

2. No liquor will be permitted in clubs or residences under penalty of $25 to $200.

3. The mayor may close any club which violates section 1 and the club may be fined $50 to $200.

4. No keg parties will be allowed. Any one caught drinking with another may be fined $5 to $100.

5. The owner of a building harboring liquor shall be subject to a fine of $50 to $200.

6. No sign advertising liquors of any kind may be posted in Taylorville and no liquor advertising of any kind will be permitted in the Taylorville newspapers.

7. Draymen must keep a record of all liquor they haul, showing to whom consigned. No hauling will be permitted between sunset and sunrise. The ordinance was submitted by Alderman Lee and seconded by Alderman Wood. It was adopted by a vote of five to three. The wets are up in arms and assert that the ordinance is "too ridiculous to stand in court."

RED WHISKERS COST LIFT

Exceptionally Portly Woman Accepts Services of Man Who Resembles Husband.

Freeport, L. I.—Passengers were relayed when trolley car No. 19 jumped a switch near Milburn avenue. The steps of the cars at this junction are high from the ground and women found much difficulty in stepping up. Some were lifted by men.

One portly woman found the task too much, and after making valiant attempts to step up at the four entrances she took occasion to give her opinion of the service. A strongly built man stepped to her aid.

"Permit me to assist you," he offered.

"Get out," she exclaimed. "I don't allow any man but my husband to lift me up."

But she was suddenly startled by the appearance of a slightly built man, with reddish whiskers.

"There, sir, you can assist me if you will. You look so much like my own husband."

The latter complied and the woman got aboard.

DOG FAITHFUL TO THE END

Although Fatally Poisoned Faithful Canine Delivers a Note to His Mistress.

Greeley, Colo.—Dragging himself into the house with a note for his mistress, Mrs. John F. Redman, Colonel Hunch, a thoroughbred St. Charles spaniel, looked pitifully up into her face, sank in a heap on the floor and died from poison that had been fed to him in some mysterious manner. The note was from Mr. Redman, clerk of the County court, and the message related to home affairs.

Colonel Hunch was taught to carry notes in his collar when he was a puppy, and all that was necessary for either his master or mistress to do to get the note delivered was to slip it under his collar and tell him to go. Colonel Hunch never disappointed his owners, and when he was given what was his final message to deliver took more than an hour to traverse the seven blocks from the courthouse to the Redman home.

HAM BONE LURE FOR ANTS

Cleveland Official Advises Lawn Owners How to Eliminate a Disagreeable Pest.

Cleveland, O.—Complaints have been pouring in to City Forester Boddy concerning the invasion of some of our best and most exclusive lawns by the ant.

Brown, mottled patches appear on the greensward before the startled eyes while they are admiring the smooth beauty. Then the lawn owners ring up Boddy.

"Bait them," is Boddy's advice. "Take a ham bone, from which the meat has not been entirely removed, and place it on the lawn. The ants will gather on the bone from about 100 feet surrounding. The bone can then be doused into hot water, and the ants killed."

This cure, however effective, does not appeal to the aristocratic person at the other end of the wire, but it's the only thing to do if the lawn is to be saved, Boddy asserts.

False Teeth Fill Street.
Chicago.—The explosion of a vulcanizing machine in a dentist's office sent a shower of false teeth down upon the heads of State street pedestrians.
