AIDS FOR HOSTESS

NOVEL ENTERTAINMENTS THAT MAY BE WELCOMED.

Charming New Year's Party—Millitary Social for the Boys—An Old Time Affair—Popular Fudge to the Fore.

New Year's Day Entertainment.

A charming party to be given on New Year's day is called "A Carnival of the Year's Festival Days." The hostess is the "New Year" crowned in white, with tiny rosebuds for trimmings. The association by four persons representing the "four seasons." As the guests are asked to come as the months in the year, the month being designated in the invitation, and then there are these special guests: "January Night," "St. Valentine," "February Twenty-second," "St. Patrick's Day," "All Saints' Day," "May Day," "July Fourth," "Labor Day," "All Halloween," "Thanksgiving Day" and "Father Christmas." The costumes for these characters almost suggest themselves, so details are not given. Fruit cake, egg-nog and all sorts of winter good things figured in the refreshments.

A prize may be given for the best costume, consisting of a leather-bound bag.

Many requests come in for entertainments suitable to be given by church societies and clubs.

A Camp Fire.

This military social may answer in churches that have a boys' or young men's military organization, or if practical a local Grand Army post might be pressed into service. At any rate the idea is a good one, and may be adapted to several purposes.

Arrange the room with three small tents on one side, and three opposite. At one end have an officers' tent. Near the center of the room have a camp fire, with uniformed sentries keeping guard. There must be a file and drum corps and the military company will arrive in uniform and make a grand entrance. Sing the old war songs and have a bevy of pretty girls, dressed as Red Cross nurses, to serve the refreshments, which should be regular army rations—coffee in tin cups, corn bread, hard tack, doughnuts, baked beans and pie.

An amusing feature is a push cart with buns, and a man carrying yards and yards of wienersurst and a pair of large shears to cut off the sausage.

Another push cart bears a box with a hole in it, the hand to be thrust in and a hard-boiled egg drawn out; on each egg there is a number; the guests are to be told to preserve these figures and late in the evening the announcement will be made that Nos. 9 and 13 have drawn prizes. These will consist of trifles to add to the fun, such as a sword, toy gun or military hatpin. There will be a burlesque court-martial and war-time stories, while "taps" from a bugle will close the evening after the singing of "Tenting To-Night" On the Old Camp Ground.

A Curio Exhibit.

A hostess casting about for something new in the way of entertainment invited her guests to a curio party, telling each one to bring a curio of some description, or an object having an interesting history. As each one arrived he was asked to deposit his article on a table, when it was given a number. When all had assembled papers bearing as many numbers as there were articles were given out, each person being instructed to write down what he thought the object might be, of course omitting a description of the curio which he had contributed.

Then each person read his ideas, after that the real histories of the articles were given by the owners.

The result was a most amusing and interesting evening.

Here is a partial list of some of the curios at a party given recently: A piece of hard tack from a survivor of a shipwreck, concerning which the owner gave a vivid account of the accident; a scrap from a rebel battle flag; candlestick from a New Orleans antique shop; a paper bearing hieroglyphics written by a cannibal chief, who flagged the ship on which the possessor was a passenger; a handkerchief once belonging to Marie Antoinette; and a glove once the property of Adelina Patti.

A Retrospect Party.

Here is an entertainment the details of which are so old that they are really the newest thing to be done. Invitations were sent out to 20 intimate friends asking them to come costumed as children. The following couplet was written at the top of each invitation:

"Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight,
Make me a child again just for to-night."

On the evening designated the women arrived in short skirts, pantaloons, hair in braids or flowing with round combs; the men appeared in knickerbockers, blouses and "Little Lord Fauntleroy" suits.

"Stage coach," "Button, button, who's got the button" and "Blind man's buff" were played with the fervor of the long ago. All sorts of childish games were recalled and old songs, such as "Where Is the Merry Party?" "Nellie Gray" etc. When supper was announced the table and refreshments were in keeping with the games. A doll was the centerpiece, the favors were all kinds of toys. Each "girl" and each "boy" had a tin bucket of old-fashioned candy—slices and hearts, with a stick of peppermint candy which was tied on the handle. A bill was at each place instead of a napkin, also a "pusher" and a "baby" spoon. Books were placed on some of the chairs to make them high enough. Much and milk was served in blue bowls, with slices of toast, ginger cookies, and delicacies fried in shape of dolls, animal crackers and sandwiches completed this simple repast. Every one pronounced the jolliest affair imaginable, and the hostess said she had never entertained with so little worry.

A "Fudge" Sale.

The "Land a Hand" circle decided that a lucrative way to add to their funds for charity work during the winter would be a "fudge" sale, so they sent out cards to their friends announcing that "fudge" could be purchased on such and such a date, giving the house number.

These cards were ornamented with pen and ink sketches of a girl stirring "fudge" and were really very clever. But the making of the popular confection was the best part; the favored men of the club were asked; chafing dishes were brought into service, and by ten p. m. there was a fine array of the toothsome dainties. Here is the recipe used; it is supposed to be infallible if directions are minutely followed:

Plain fudge, which is the foundation of all the other varieties, is made by taking two cups of granulated sugar, half cup of milk, a piece of butter size of a walnut, chocolate to suit the taste, two teaspoonfuls of vanilla. Put the milk, chocolate, butter and sugar in a granite saucepan, cook briskly until the mixture "balls" in ice cold water. Stir while cooking, and the vanilla when taken from the fire, beat hard until thick, turn onto a buttered pan, mark into squares with a knife which has been dipped in cold water.

Nut fudge is made by stirring in any nut meat preferred when it is ready to be taken from the fire. Coconut may be used, also candied fruits, chopped rather fine.

Maple fudge is made by using light brown sugar, instead of granulated, and leaving out the chocolate.

Each masculine "helper" wore a white apron, and assisted or hindered to the best of his ability. All voted the party a great success and the sale which took place the next day netted a goodly sum. The candy was put up in pound and half pound boxes, the layers separated by oiled paper.

Three Good Toasts.

May this be our doctrine wherever we're twirled.
A fig for the cares of this whirligig world.

Here's to the bride to be,
Smiling, bright and fair;
Here's to those who would like to be,
Wondering when and where.

Come in the morning, or come in the evening,
Come when you're looked for, or come without warning,
A thousand welcomes you'll find here before you.

And the oftener you come here the more I'll adore you.

A DARNED-NET DESIGN.

which fill in the patterns at the edge should be worked in ordinary lace thread; the edge of our model lace is finished with buttonhole and picots; it would, however, be quicker and quite as effective to sew on a pearl edging such as is used in lace work.

Shadows Under the Eyes.

Dark circles under the eyes are nearly always significant of some internal derangement, particularly liver or kidney trouble. If the lines are very pronounced it would be wise to consult your family physician. By drinking two or three glasses of water a day the trouble can usually be corrected, and under any circumstances, this will be good for your health. When arising every morning bathe your eyes with cold salt water, and at night rub the dark rings with orange flower skin food.

Ravishing Slippers.

Pale pink slippers, embroidered with gold and pink beads, are as dainty a bit of footwear as anyone could want. But you've got to have a mighty pretty foot to wear them.

Embroidered Gropes.

Silk embroidery on crepe de chine is very delicate and pretty.

THE WOMAN OF STYLE.

Clothes, as a Whole, Need Not Be of Latest Mode, But the Accessories Should Be.

The gown and hat do not constitute the whole costume. Naturally they are the major part of it, but a woman so often makes or mars her costume by a bad veil, the wrong belt, an ugly pair of gloves or an unbecoming collar.

There is something more than neatness to her shoes, also, if she would be well-shod. There are distinct fashions in footwear as in apparel, in stockings as in hats, and often an entire change of style in veils, especially the way they are draped.

How often have you seen a woman you thought was very effectively dressed, fashionable? You have recognized her last year's gown and hat in a color that is probably not first style this year, but the dash and fashion of her tongue, gloves, veil and belt made up for anything else about her that goes by.

It is a remarkable thing that a woman who shows herself clever and knowing about all these minor, but important trifles of dress, seems to be more fashionable than the woman who puts all her thoughts on a coat and skirt, and knows nothing of what the shops offer in the way of fashionable accessories.

True, it isn't wise to rush into wearing every novelty that the counters offer. This is not being well dressed, but few women can afford to ignore knowledge if not adoption of all the new things that are brought out at least four times a season which are to be worn with the gown.—Anna Rittenhouse.

NICE CURTAIN MATERIALS.

Numbers of Lovely Stuffs Are Now Offered for Inner Curtains—Variety Given Below.

There are so many delightful curtain materials sold by the yard that a tour through the shops will show how much there is to choose from. Raw silk, and china silk, chailles, linen taffetas, Singapore lattice, bloom lins, serge and even turkey red can all be used when plain materials are needed. Among figured materials charming varieties can be found; cretonnes with their creamy grounds, white glazed chintzes with their strong designs of old-fashioned flowers, linen taffetas with stencil floral effects, madras in soft greens, with old rose or yellow flowers, or madras in self-tones in lovely shades; they seem to grow more beautiful each season. Japanese cottons in blue and white, Java prints in strong contrasting colors, and also in yellow and white, red and white, and sometimes in green and white.

Among the oriental stuffs plain colors in deep rich shades can sometimes be found, and hold their color in a way that no western-made fabric seems capable of doing. Some of the muslins with flowers are also excellent for eastward windows only that good colors and designs must be selected as there are many poor things shown under this class of goods. All the materials mentioned can be used for inner curtains, but they must not be chosen haphazard. Inner curtains must become part of the wall line and must be harmonious in color and design with the general wall treatment of the room in which they are used.

Far from the Facts.

"What do you think of my historical novel?" asked the author.
"It is an achievement," answered the chilly critic. "You have at last succeeded in showing that fiction may be stranger than truth."—Washington Star.

Good for the Hands.

You might try a big basin of hot water softened with borax powder. Throw a teaspoonful of finely ground oatmeal in the water. By the time it is cool enough for your hands the water will be a deep milky hue and you will find it good for the hands.

PATIENCE AND HOPE

It is not reasonable to assume that any chronic malady, even though attended by no dangerous symptoms, can be cured at once. And any preparation said to do this may well be distrusted. But it is the experience of multitudes of intelligent people all over the land, for many years, that a persevering use of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, according to directions, will soon relieve and ultimately cure cases of Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Debility of the Stomach, Hoarseness, Indigestion, and all disorders arising from a impure state of the blood, when no other medicine or treatment has been of any permanent benefit. Sufferers may properly be reminded that Favorite Remedy is a scientific preparation, placed upon the market to the benefit of humanity, and is not a preparation of the first principles of medicine, but a prescription made with uniform success by Dr. Kennedy before he ever dreamed of making it public.

Three Troubles—One Cause.

Weak bowels, feeble digestion, and dainty nerves are usually found in combination, but the principle thoroughly digested and assimilated the food cannot be nourished; and unless the liver and kidneys properly secrete the bile and throw off the waste matter that Nature does not need, the blood is impure and the nerves break down. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy corrects the disordered liver, and tranquilizes and strengthens the nerves. The result is increasing vigor, sound sleep, and a clear mind.

"MALAKA"

For refinishing furniture, hardwood floors, school desks or any varnished surface, Malaka has no equal.
It requires no brush or experience in its application.

It is applied to the surface with a soft cloth, a thin coating is left which dries perfectly hard in four or five hours, leaving a beautiful finish which will not crack or show scratches.

Surfaces treated in this manner, when signs of wear are observed, will be kept in perfect condition indefinitely. All germs on the desks or woodwork of schools, colleges, hospitals, cars and public buildings, can be destroyed by wiping them over with a soft cloth saturated with Malaka, which accomplishes a two-fold work, the destruction of germs and a renewal of the finish.

WILD DUCK OR GOOSE.

Clean Birds as Soon as Brought In—Mistake to Think Gammy Flavor Is Thus Spoiled.

If the hunters of your family ever bring home wild ducks or geese, you want to know how to prepare them. Don't be led away by that old, mistaken idea that they want to hang awhile, without cleaning to get the "gammy" flavor. The meat is "gammy" enough and if the entrails are not promptly removed, there'll be a very unpleasant flavor.

After plucking the birds, clean and wash them thoroughly and rub them well inside and outside with fine salt in which you have mixed some black pepper and nutmeg. If you like the flavor, don't fill with anything, but dot liberally with butter and bake brown, basting frequently. A cup of rich cream, added during the last hour of baking, improves the gravy.

Germans generally put a few bay leaves and slices of lemon in the baking pan, and instead of the cream they add a glass of good red wine at the last. If the bird is not very young, it is best to cover it in the bake oven at first, later removing the cover, and adding water only when it is necessary. The gravy is thickened a little with flour.

There is no use trying to roast an old bird—the wild ones are even worse than the tame in that respect. But there is another way of preparing them very palatably. After plucking and cleaning, cut them up and rub each piece with salt and lay in fresh vinegar over night. They can remain in vinegar longer, if necessary, but must be put in a cool (not freezing) place and turned often.

When ready to cook, take some good beef drippings, put in a pan over the fire with several onions cut fine, and when light brown, add flour and brown, stirring all the time. Next pour in enough boiling water to make a nice gravy, add salt, pepper and a little cloves and several bay leaves, a good piece of butter, and some vinegar. Then put in the parts of the duck or goose which have been lying in vinegar (throw the vinegar bath away), cover hot closely and stew slowly until tender. When done you can add some red wine to the gravy or not, just as you prefer. The gravy should be a little sour and spicy, but not too much so.

Wild rabbit can be prepared in the same manner. Some people drop in a lump of sugar when stewing the latter.—Farm and Home.

Vinol THE GOD LIVER PREPARATION WITHOUT OIL

Vinol is fast superseding old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions because, without a drop of oil or disagreeable feature, it contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil, actually taken from fresh cods' livers. By our process the oil, having no value either as a medicine or food, is separated from the medicinal elements and thrown away. Unlike old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, Vinol is deliciously palatable, agreeable to the weakest stomach, and therefore unequalled as a body builder and strength creator for old people, puny children, weak, run-down men and women, after sickness, and for all pulmonary diseases. Everything Vinol contains is named on the label.

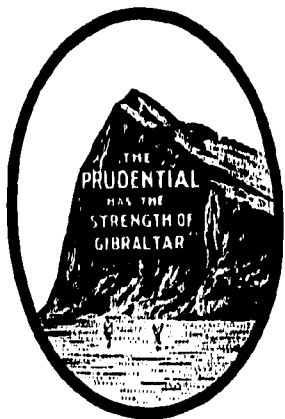

OUR GUARANTEE—We have such faith in VINOL that if you will take it we promise if it does not benefit or cure you we will return your money without question. We take all the risk.

FINE FRUIT FONDANTS.

How to Make Good Fondant That Will Serve as Base for Many Different Candies.

Put one pound of sugar in a pan, add one gill of water and one dessertspoonful of glucose. Boil till a little on a spoon will come off in a soft ball when dipped into water. Pour on a marble slab, which has been wet with hot water. Let it get a little cool, then add one ounce of butter, and work backwards and forwards with a wooden spoon till it looks milky.

Now gather it up in a lump and work and knead with the fingers till it is a smooth and creamy mass. This can now be separated into portions and colored and flavored. It can be used as sweets or as coating for fruit fondants.

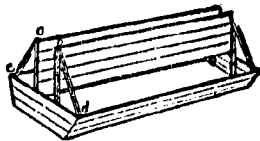

To make these have your pieces of fruit—pineapples, for instance, or cherries. Each bit of fruit must just be big enough when coated to fill one of those dainty little paper cases. Lay a piece of wax paper on a board or tray. Now put your lump of fondant in a small bowl.

Set the bowl in a pan of boiling water till the fondant melts. Dip each piece of fruit into the fondant, coat it well and lift with a fork, which is sold for the purpose, on the wax paper. These will dry in two hours. This same fondant can be used for a great many different candies.—Marion Harris Neil.

LIVE STOCKA PRACTICAL FODDER RACK

By Its Use the Feeding of the Stock Can Be Done with Least Waste.

Economy should be practiced in feeding corn fodder as well as any other feed. There is a large amount of waste caused either by carelessness or by not having suitable racks from which to feed the stock. In the rack shown in cut the fodder is saved to the greatest degree. With the two divisions a and b between which fodder is placed to be eaten by stock from underneath at end d, there is little opportunity for getting the fodder under foot. The rack is five feet high, four feet wide at bottom and five feet between c and d. The opening below the center division is 15 inches wide. My troughs, says the writer in Farm and Home, were built 14 feet long, but any length may be made.

THE MORGAN HORSE.

A Word About the Breed and the Government's Experiment in Breeding.

The announcement of the purpose of the secretary of agriculture to establish a stud of Morgan horses at the Vermont experimental station has caused considerable comment as to the desirability of efforts to encourage the breeding of this family of horses. Some hold that the breeders of the country are already producing a sufficient number of Morgan horses, and need no assistance from the government. Others are of the opinion that there is only a limited demand for horses of the Morgan type in the markets of this or other countries, and that, if the government stimulates the production of such horses, most of them will either remain in the hands of the breeders or be sold at an unremunerative figure.

Both of these classes of critics have some reason for their arguments, comments the Country Gentleman; but this does not necessarily prove that the government would not be doing a good thing by properly selecting a stud of these animals and breeding for uniformity and prepotency. There are many Morgan horses in the country, but they vary greatly in type, and it is not an easy matter to find either stallions or mares for a breeding stud at reasonable prices. Neither is it easy to find a team of good Morgan horses that can be purchased at a reasonable price.

Again, many of the Morgans are too small to sell on our markets for anything but ponies, and the demand for that class of horses is limited. However, there are Morgans and Morgans, and it is possible to find some stallions 15½ to 16½ hands which, bred upon mares of equal or greater size, would produce offspring desirable for the harness classes, if the breeding animals were properly selected for conformation, disposition and action. It is practically impossible for individual breeders to select a type of horse that is uniform in its principal characteristics, and to breed it to this one type a sufficient time to fix the type by developing its prepotency.

This the government, working with the experiment stations, can do, if the plan is intelligently matured and followed without material deviation. Such a breeding operation needs to be constantly under the eye of the director, who should have full authority to practice the most rigid selection. Whether this can be accomplished as the government service is now conducted is open to question, but it is worth trying.

Draining Large Areas.

The draining of large areas of land calls for expert advice and superintendence. The man who owns a small piece of land and has an outlet for his surplus water will find little trouble perhaps in getting a drainage system to work; but it is far otherwise with a large area, whether that area consist of a level plain or of hills. It is very easy to construct a drainage system that will not work well on the hills and that will not work at all on the level land. Expert advice and superintendence cost money, but they are worth money. A drainage system should be built to last; but if it is built unscientifically it may have to be partly torn out before it has been in the ground many years.

The Milking Stool.

On the side of the box that I sit on to milk I have tacked in loop form a leather strap which makes it very handy to move. It can be hung by this loop on a peg or nail under shelter, to keep it dry and clean.

Care in Feeding.

When the team is not taken from the stable for several days, the concentrates—grain portion of the ration—should be reduced one-third, and the usual ration not be given until work or exercise demands it.

The destruction of forests is followed by excessive drought, excessive heat, devastating floods and tropical-like storms that wash the fertile soil from the hillsides and fill up the beds of small streams.

Special Piano Sale

Remarkably Low Prices for Valuable Pianos Taken in Part Payment for the Pianola Piano.

TWO important characteristics distinguish the pianos in this sale from those offered elsewhere: First, the uniformly high grade of the pianos themselves, second, their excellent condition. The fact that they came into our hands in exchange for the Pianola Piano accounts for the unusually desirable character of the individual instruments. The makers represented include:

Weber
Steck
Sohmer
Gabler
Hazleton

Steinway
Wheelock
Hardman
Decker Bros.
Bradbury
Etc. Etc.

Chickering
Mason & Hamlin
Kranich & Bach
Stuyvesant
Fischer

An indication of the exceptional character of our Special Sales is the growing consternation among other piano manufacturers at the number of their former patrons who have seen fit to replace their pianos (considered entirely satisfactory before the advent of the Pianola Piano) with this new piano which everyone can play. Certain well-known manufacturers have even made repeated offers to the Aeolian Company to buy back, at private sale, all instruments bearing their names, in order that their pianos of such recent factory numbers and in such good condition might not be brought into the open market at prices less than are obtainable in the manufacturers' own warerooms.

Such propositions have invariably been refused because the Aeolian Company finds that the high character of the pianos sold through its Exchange Department is an important factor in making friends for its other instruments and in bringing music-lovers in touch with the personality and atmosphere of Aeolian Hall.

Uprights from $95 upwards; Grands from $375.

Purchasable on moderate monthly payments.

Every person contemplating the purchase of a piano, whatever the style or make preferred, or the amount to be invested, should examine these pianos before the sale ends. You may intend to buy in the future. You may be ready to purchase now. In either case it is likely that the piano you have in mind is here, almost certainly at your own price, very likely at less.

THE AEOLIAN COMPANY, Aeolian Hall 362 Fifth Ave., near 34th St., New York.

NOTE:—If unable to call at Aeolian Hall, our representative for this vicinity is Mr. W. E. MacClymont, 19 Woodbine Avenue, Plainfield. Telephone 329-M, Plainfield, who will be pleased to answer inquiries.

RULES FOR MISTRESSES.

When engaging a servant be careful to explain her work to her, and let her understand that the work must be done in your way, and not in the way of any former mistress she may have had. And this explanation must be made so that it shall not reflect upon the routine of any other household.

Try and arrange the hours so that the servant may have an opportunity to attend church on Sundays.

When the servants do well encourage them by a few words of praise.

Do not allow them to have visitors after certain hours in the evening.

Give your orders for the day as early as possible.

Insist upon being informed when anything is broken or lost.

See that the maid wears a clean apron while making the beds, and that she knocks at each bedroom door before entering.

Order maid who opens the door not to let visitors stand in the hall, nor to give parcels to strangers without previous instructions.

When you reprove, do so firmly and decidedly.

Retain your temper under all circumstances.

Pay your servants' wages promptly.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

ARE YOU VERY TIRED?

Simplify Daily Duties as Far as Possible for We Were Not Meant to Overwork.

There is too much tiredness in the world, especially among business women.

Half the day's work has to be done by force of the will, since there is not force of body enough to carry them through.

Most women accept this as unavoidable. To be tired is normal, whether one has charge of a baby or a typewriter. To tell them nature intended back and burden to be in due proportions does not help matters. They are too tired to theorize.

To get up fresh and cheery in the morning, do your duties vigorously, with energy to spare for a song and a smile, and lie down in the happy, wholesome weariness of a well-spent day—that surely was the original plan for our days.

Are we never to get back to it? Some say the way lies through gymnastics, others hunt for "Don't Worry" clubs and good resolutions. Still others seek it by simplifying the daily duties and throwing off the world's comparative standards.

And the last are nearer to reaching the goal than any of the others.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Where the Air Was.

Reid—Fine air up there in the country where I've been.

Greene—Why didn't you bring some of it back with you?

"I did. It's in my automobile tires."

—Yonkers Statesman.

A Hard Pace.

"Dyer married only a year ago and gone into bankruptcy! How did it happen?"

"Trying to live up to the wedding presents they received."—Town Topics.

Stampede.

Stubb—Great Scott! Why are all those girls rushing like Indians to the belt counter?

Floorwalker—Why, there is a special sale of the latest novelty belts.

Stubb—Novelty?

Floorwalker—Yes; each belt is made to represent a masculine arm.—Chicago Daily News.

Cynical.

"Curious idea, this transmigration of souls," said the man who reads profound things superficially.

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne, "if thought some human beings I know could possibly be transmigrated into animals I shouldn't be nearly as fond of pets as I am."—Washington Star.

"Here's freedom to him that had read
Here's freedom to him that had read
There's none over there that the truth should be heard.
But them who want the truth and light."
—Robert Burns.

Charles H. Denman has been prominently identified with base ball interests in Westfield for many years. During the past six seasons he has not missed being with his men on any Saturday afternoon. Mr. Denman's business engagements will prevent his assumption of the leadership again next summer, and outlinings of the diamond will greatly regret his withdrawal. The association has an excellent field, and the sport should be maintained, if possible. The annual meeting, soon to be held, will doubtless develop some plans for insuring ball next summer.

The STANDARD will publish each week during the New Jersey Legislative session a summary of the situation at the capital and the progress of legislation. Those who desire to keep posted on the doings of our lawmakers at Trenton would do well to follow these articles week by week. The session this year is one of the most important ever held. Many vital principles are being fought out there now.

The State Sewer Inspector has informed the mayor of Westfield that this town does not meet the requirements of the State law relative to the proper disposal of sewage. The area of the disposal beds is not sufficient and will need to be increased. The Council is now considering an appropriation out of the general fund for this purpose.

Under the title, "The Gentleman from Essex," a lengthy character sketch of Jherrett Colby, is given by Lincoln Steffens in one of the February magazines. The sketch includes the political history of Colby's evolution from a man who wanted to mix up in politics to the smasher of the Essex County machine.

The railroad time table corrected to January 23 will be found on page 2 of THE STANDARD to-day. Arrangements have been made with the company to keep it published and corrected. It will always be found in the same column in which it to-day appears.

The proposed automobile law providing for a tax on automobiles and for the use of such tax revenue for repair of roads torn up by the machines, should also provide a method of restoring broken limbs and shattered nerves of unfortunate victims.

And during all the warm spell no one mentioned mosquitoes.

When Calling.
On entering the drawing-room a caller should at once advance and shake hands very cordially with the hostess. If any introductions are made she should acknowledge them by a bow and a slight smile. If any of the persons introduced are relatives of the hostess the visitor should offer her hand.

THE TOWN COUNCIL MEETING.

Annual Reports Soon to Be Printed—
Extension to Be Built on Fire House—
Assessments Continued.
The Council held a short meeting Monday evening. Mayor Perkins and Councilmen Russell and Eckholm were unable to be present. Councilmen Mooney and Richardson were appointed a committee to arrange for the compiling of the annual report. Bids for the printing will be received at the next meeting, on Feb. 1st. The Buffalo Steam Roller Company were requesting payment of $750, due on the road roller purchased by the town. The matter went over till next meeting. Bids of $350 from John Goltz and $248 from Wilcox & Pope for building extension on fire house were received. Wilcox & Pope got the contract.

The application from George P. Brown to John Engine Co. No. 2 and of Fred Warden to John Truck Co. No. 1, were received and accepted.
The Law and Rules Committee was requested to prepare a revised list of the rules of procedure of the Council.
Resolutions confirming assessments, to which Carrie Hart, C. M. F. Egel and Joseph D. Bennett had filed objections, were adopted. The assessments in the cases of the latter two had been corrected by the commissioners.
The Surveyor's Ordinance was read over and a few questions of English discussed and settled.

Dr. Stearns to Lecture.

Dr. W. J. Stearns, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, will shortly lecture before the Woman's Club of Westfield on "The Bible in Shakespeare." The program committee of the club has been empowered to arrange a special date for the lecture. Dr. Stearns recently presented the subject before the Advance Club. At the meeting of the Woman's Club Monday afternoon a number of members assumed the characters of "The Merchant of Venice" in a reading of the famous drama. Miss Helen Burroughs read a paper on "Shakespeare's Heroines." The president was empowered to appoint a committee to investigate the matter of installing a lunch counter in the Washington School building, with a view of taking up the question with the Board of Education if the plan seems advisable.
New Jersey has been selected as the subject for next year's program.

Advance Club Enjoy Shakespeare.

Col. George H. Starr read an interesting paper on "Writing as Exemplified in Shakespeare's Writings" at the Advance Club Tuesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Dancourt, on Ross Place. The paper was illustrated by appropriate quotations from the dramatist read by Miss Drinker. Miss Mooney and Mrs. Harry Taylor added to the evening's pleasure by their vocal and instrumental music.

Congregational Men's Club.

The Men's Club of the Congregational Church held an important meeting on Tuesday evening and discussed plans for its future activity. The Club decided, among other things, to meet on the fourth Tuesday of each month and to fix the annual dues at one dollar. The Club has subscribed to the periodical called "Brotherhood," published by the Federation of Men's Clubs which the Congregational Club has decided to join. President E. A. Merrill appointed Committees on Religious Work, Sociality and Music. The officers were constituted a Committee to make arrangements for dinners, speakers and other features. Refreshments were served before adjournment.

Westfield Also Suffers.

The Dunellen Call prints the following editorial about loitering in the post office of that place:

"It has become the custom among many of the young boys and girls of the borough to make the lobby of the post office a general hanging-out place, especially so at the opening of the mails, which has obliged some of the older people to wait out on the sidewalk until the lobby was cleared or to force their way through the crowd inside in order to get their mail. If the children that make this a habit would at once get their mail and get out in order to give some one else room, it would not be so bad. That is not what they are evidently there for, as they congregate around in little crowds laughing and talking and seem in no hurry to leave. The youngsters should take a tumble and begin to realize that such public places are not for that purpose, or for any one in particular to monopolize to the detriment of the general public convenience."

A Matter of Wills.

They were discussing the things which help a man to obtain success in the world, when one young man said: "There's nothing like force of character. Now, there's Hanks. He's sure to make his way in the world. He's a will of his own, you know."
"But, Brown has something better in his favor," argued his friend.
"What's that?"
"A will of his uncle's."—Tit-Bits.

Not in His.

"Do you think there are microbes in kisses, Miss May?"
"I don't think there would be in your kisses."
"I—ah—that's nice of you; let's—"
"Microbes are said to possess intelligence and nothing intelligent lingers where it is apt to come into contact with cigarettes."—Houston Post.

EYE DESTROYED BY RED HOT SPENT SH.

Blacksmith George Beaman, while at the Anvil, Meets With a Very Unfortunate Accident at Mountalido.

While mending a steel hoop at his carriage factory at Mountalido, Monday afternoon, George Beaman, the proprietor, was struck in the left eye by a piece of flying splinter. The particle was at a white heat and penetrated the eye, blinding Beaman instantly. His father-in-law, J. T. Eogland, and his brother, Charles Beaman, at once came to his assistance. He was removed to his home on Mountain avenue, near by, and a physician was hurriedly summoned. He advised taking Beaman to Plainfield at once. Beaman was taken there Monday evening, to the office of Dr. F. C. Ard, who examined the patient and declared his condition very serious. He was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital. At first it was thought that an operation would be necessary, as the steel piece penetrated the eye socket and total blindness was feared. Anesthetics were applied to relieve Beaman's suffering, and last night he rested very comfortably. It was said at the hospital this morning that Beaman was in better condition than he had been since the accident. Dr. Ard has hopes of saving the eye and will postpone any operation for a day, at least. In the event of an operation Beaman's eye will be taken out.

Fireworks at Fireside Last Evening.

Fireside Council's newly elected officers for 1906 were installed last evening by Past Grand Regent Lightfoot in the absence of Fireside's Deputy, Drummond, who was unable to be present on account of sickness. Past Deputy Grand Regent Gilyard acted as Grand Guide. After the installation the members were entertained by some good speeches by Bro. R. P. Van Zandt, of Jersey City; J. R. Gallagher, of West Hoboken; F. L. McFarlane, of Bayonne; Wm. Koester, of Bayonne, and Louis Haggan, of Hoboken. Bro. Gilyard kept his promise about the fireworks as mentioned in last week's STANDARD, setting off ten whizz-bangs in Fireside's room, without having to call the services of Fire Chief Decker. Cutler Schmidt served the collation in his usual good style. The new orator promises a good time each meeting throughout the year. "Come out next meeting, February 5th. There will be more fireworks. Past Grand Regent Washington will be there. Come out and help shoot him and other grand officers."

The following officers were installed: Regent, George B. Taylor; Vice Regent, George H. Birds; Past Regent, George H. L. Monting; Collector, Eugene C. Hamford; Secretary, George W. Park; Treasurer, Frank A. Taggart; Oration, Theodore S. Class; Chaplain, Robert E. Perry; Guide, Samuel F. Lee; Warden, Hubbard D. Nitchie; Sentry, William V. Wyckoff; Trustee, Dr. H. H. Butler.

No Loitering in Police Station.

The following notice has been posted in the police headquarters:—
"Your attention is called to Section 5 of the Police Ordinance—No person shall be permitted to remain in the police station without permission from the officer in charge except members of the Department and persons on business.
By order of Police Committee."

They meet every Monday at the school chapel. The members expect to give an operetta some time in the spring. The officers are:—President, Miss Marquette Darling, vice-president, Harold Welch; secretary, Miss Marjorie Bohannon; treasurer, Miss Alice Hamford.

Westfield Loses Bowling Lead.

The match rolled Wednesday night between Westfield and the Park Club resulted in the Park Club's winning two out of three games. In all three games the men rolled ordinary scores, and some fell rather low, a few dangerously near the 100 mark. Park got the highest score of the evening with 300, and Barlow was the highest individually with 200.

Park took the first game somewhat easily, and there was a difference of forty-eight pins. Both teams fell back a little in the next game, but Park managed to come out ahead with sixteen pins. Westfield took a brace the last time the teams rolled and won out with a lead of thirty-one pins. The score:

TO THE TRUSTEES OF
Westfield Baptist Church,

Gentlemen:—

Don't allow your church to pay 8 cents per pound for wood.

If they buy 100 pounds of white lead in kegs they get 85 pounds of white lead and 12 pounds of wood; but when they buy L. & M. paint they get a full gallon of paint that won't wear off for 10 or 15 years, because L. & M. Zinc hardens L. & M. white lead and makes L. & M. paint wear like iron.

4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.

L. & M. costs only $1.20 per gallon.

C. S. Andrews, Ex-Mayor, Danbury Conn., writes:—"Painted my house 19 years ago with L. & M. Looks well today."

Sold by F. W. Wohlfert, Westfield, N. J.

Personal Visits.

Personal visits are necessary in recognition of invitations to dinners, luncheons, breakfasts; balls or any other invitation to an entertainment which is limited to a selected number of guests. One should always call within a fortnight after the function. A reception or tea is accounted a visit and cancels all obligations on the part of hostess and guest. Formal calls in the city are paid between three and 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon and the visit should be a very short one. It is always more complimentary and considerate to observe a friend's day at home than to pay her a chance call on another day.

REFRESHING HIS MEMORY.

When the Clerk Heard That Smith Had Money He Remembered Him.

At ten o'clock a traveling man stepped up to the clerk's desk at the Hillman, relates the Birmingham (Ala.) Herald, and with some agitation said to Clerk Graves:

"Mr. Graves, I have just come from a man who says he is one of your old schoolmates. He told me you and he were old friends. His name is Joan Smith, and he used to live at Pumpkinville. Do you know him?"

"Smith! Smith!" said Graves wondering. "John Smith, of Pumpkinville, I don't recall him just now. What's the matter with him? Is he in jail?"

"In jail!" exclaimed the traveling man. "Why, no. He's just home from Alaska, where he made $200,000 digging gold in the Klondike and he's coming back to Alabama to spend the money."

"Oh, yes, to be sure!" said Graves. "Why, what was I thinking about! Smith—Johnny Smith, of Pumpkinville, three miles from Sassafras? Why, I should say I do know him! Johnny and I used to fish together in the creek for minnows and hang our clothes on the same stump when we went in swimming. Say, if you see Johnny, give him my love, and tell him I'm coming round to see him when I get off in the morning."

Hollow Cheeks May Be Rounded Out by Massage—What the Thin Girl Should Eat.

To build up hollow cheeks, take a rotary motion with the tips of the fingers from the chin, up and out, to the eyes. Slide down and repeat until the entire face is covered.

The woman who is thin and blue should live on sugar, with a preference for maple sugar and hot breads. This will feed her nerves and her muscles.

Changing the color of the skin is not hard. There are no chemicals that will make one almost snow white, and in Paris the women study these and employ them. The French woman aims to have a face like milk, lips like cherries, nostrils like fire, eyes that shine and lashes that sweep them.

Both houses after busy sessions Monday evening and Tuesday morning adjourned at noon Tuesday until Monday night to clear the way for the important public hearings which had been announced.

The professional lobbyist is a gentleman of the past if the recommendations of the anti-lobby committee are passed in the shape of a bill by the present legislature, and it is extremely probable that such legislation will be enacted. The report provides for the registration of representatives of corporations appearing before committees and interesting themselves in legislation. It also provides certain restrictions as to lobbyists appearing on the floor of either house importuning members. Other provisions are as follows:

That persons found guilty of attempting to influence legislation on the floor of either house shall be publicly reprimanded and denied the floor privileges; that newspaper correspondents found guilty of similar offense, shall be deprived of their desks; that necessary counsel and agents shall be docketed in both houses and the list made public by the attorney general; that no agent shall be employed conditioned on the passage or defeat of any bill; that no work be done for or against bills except before committees; that an agent who does not sign the roll and produce written authority from his company within ten days shall be subject to a fine of $1,000; that the legislature may disbar agents at its will; that at the close of the session the lobby docket shall be deposited with the secretary of state, together with a report of each agent; that violations be punishable by disbarment for not more than three years or by fines not exceeding $1,000.

That the judiciary committees of both the senate and the house shall have charge of all taxation and corporation bills; that the judiciary committees have charge of all banking and insurance bills and all franchise bills; that at least two hearings be had on each bill and that all further attempts by agents to influence legislation shall be made subject to penalties; that the public be admitted to all hearings; that notice of hearings be published in newspapers; that persons refusing to disclose interest in hearings may be excluded; that the introducer be required to state the author and purpose of his bill; that lobbyists under suspicion must account for themselves to the governor and if unable to do so shall be excluded from the statehouse; that witnesses may be required to testify in all investigations.

Robbins Files Minority Report. Speaker Robbins, as a member of the commission, filed a minority report declaring that he cannot concur in all of Mr. Colby's recommendations. He is in favor of excluding lobbyists and says he has met few of them in his legislative experience, especially asserting that there is no need to reflect on the newspaper correspondents.

Governor Stokes on Monday night sent the following nominations to the senate: William I. Lewis, district court judge in Paterson (reappointed); George K. Large to succeed A. Burdette Herr as prosecutor of Hunterdon county; Eugene Emley to be prosecutor of Passaic county (reappointed).

The senate in executive session confirmed these appointments: James B. Dill, judge of the court of errors and appeals; Jay T. Eyck, judge of the court of common pleas for Essex county; Robert H. Ingersoll, judge of the district court of Atlantic City; Clement Simonsen, judge of the court of common pleas of Salem county; Lewis H. Starr, prosecutor of the pleas for Gloucester county; George R. Wright, state commissioner of charities and correction.

There was some opposition to the confirmation of Judge Dill, but the senate ratified the nomination by the governor.

There was a flood of bills in the assembly Monday night. The most important among them was the Morris canal bill, which came from Mr. Mills of Morris county. It is almost a complete duplicate of the bill which was passed by the house last winter, but which was stopped in the senate by charges of bribery.

To Abolish the Gallows. Another effort to abolish the gallows is made in a bill introduced by Senator Wakelee of Bergen. Electro-cution in the state prison under regulations such as New York state has is provided as a substitute for hanging, and it looks as though the plan would have a better chance than the one proposed—viz, that of abolishing capital punishment altogether.

Senator Scovel, chairman of the municipal corporation committee, announced Tuesday that the Miller local option bill would be given a public hearing at the statehouse next Tuesday at 1 p. m. Among the important house bills introduced were:

By Mr. Miller: An equal taxation act, same as assembly bill No. 1, but distributes the money as follows: One-half of 1 per cent of the entire assessed valuation shall be retained by the state treasurer for general state purposes, the balance shall be distributed by the treasurer among the several municipalities through which the railroad and canal may run in proportion to the value of the main stem or waterway located in each such municipality.

By Mr. Marcell: Makes it illegal to use money for election purposes by candidates for office except for personal expenses. Requires political committees to publish amount of money expended for election purposes and prohibits solicitation of funds from candidates or corporations by committees.

The senate passed Senator McKee's joint resolution providing for a commission to investigate the practicability and probable cost of the acquisition by the state of the title to the potato waters.

For an Automobile Commissioner. Senator Prallghyzen of Somerset introduced an automobile bill which provides that the assistant secretary of state shall be commissioner of motor vehicles and provides for the method of arrest without warrant, for the registration of drivers of machines, for their examination and for the appointment of inspectors. The salary of the commissioner is to be $1,500 a year.

The first bill to pass both houses of the legislature was a measure to permit borough officers to qualify within thirty days after their election.

Mr. Merch presented a bill in the house Tuesday at the same time Senator Colby introduced one in the senate, both providing to amend the primary election law so that all officers—state, county and municipal—shall be nominated directly at primary elections without the intervention of delegates or conventions.

Senator McInturn presented a resolution asking for the election of United States senators by popular vote. He also introduced a bill requiring the regular ballot boxes to be placed in election booths where machines are placed in order that the voter may use either the ballot box or the machine in voting. A hearing is to be given next Tuesday on the Martin resolution providing for an investigation of the insurance and trust companies of the state.

An important limited franchise bill was introduced Tuesday by Mr. Barber of Mercer. It provides, among other things, that franchises are to be given out to the highest bidder and that the franchise is to run twenty-five years in cities of the first and second class and fifty years in other municipalities.

Senate joint resolution No. 1, extending the thanks of the state to Captain Casto and his crew for their heroic rescue of the passengers and crew of the steamer Cherokee, passed the senate Tuesday.

Assemblyman Gibbs introduced six bills relating to the game laws.

Equal Taxation Hearing. Delegations from all parts of the state gathered here Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning to attend the hearing given by the house judiciary committee on the equal taxation bill presented to this session of the legislature. Majority Leader Randolph Perkins is chairman of this committee. The hearing was given in the assembly chamber, and those heard were the participants in the three cornered taxation fight—the leaders of the north Jersey reform movement and the backers of the administration taxation bills, who are fighting each other, and the railroads' counsel, who assert that they are seeking only fair play for the railroads of the state.

George L. Record, corporation counsel of Jersey City and generally recognized as leader of the Colby equal taxation move, was here to protest against house bill No. 1, the administration's equal tax measure, which provides that main stem railroad taxes shall be paid to the state by the latter distributed to municipalities. Mr. Record favored the Martin bill, which provides that the railroad property shall be taxed in the different municipalities at the local rate and for direct local benefit. He asserted that under the Martin act the railroad taxes would go where they belonged and added that this could be done without the services of the state board of assessors. He urged that the railroads be made to pay a fair use of the taxes required for the running of the state and municipal governments.

Joseph A. Dear of the Jersey City Journal and a member of the Hudson county citizens' equal taxation committee made an argument in favor of the system of direct taxing of railroads by the different taxing districts as against the administration plan of having the state impose this tax at an average of all taxing rates and then distributing the money to the counties in proportion to their population. He declared that Jersey City was being wronged out of much money by the present system of railroad taxation.

Counselor William H. Corbin, representing the Lehigh Valley and the Erie railroads, spoke strongly against the policy of "soaking the railroads." All the bills now before the legislature were, in his opinion, unconstitutional and manifestly unfair. The average taxation of the whole country, he declared, was $274 a mile, while in New Jersey it is $777. If the governor's plan to make the railroads pay $5,000,000 to the state in taxes is carried out, he said, the railroads would be bearing one-fourth of the total taxes of the state, and this would be unfair, as it would be nearly one-fourth of the net earnings of the roads. He said the railroads would support any just measure of taxation.

The Pennsylvania railroad was represented by Frank Lloyd of Camden, who urged taxation that would be just to both railroads and private property owners. He referred to Governor Stokes' assertion that $500,000,000 of personal property in this state is escaping taxation and advised the legislature to get after that property.

JERSEY LEGISLATURE

Third Week Teems With Matters of Vital Interest.

REFORM BILLS LIKELY TO PASS

Anti-lobby Committee Announced Last Session Makes Its Report—Judge Dill Confirmed—Another Effort to Abolish the Gallows—New Morris Canal Bill.

(Special Correspondence.)

Trouton, Jan. 25.—The third week of the legislative session teemed with matters of vital interest to the people of the state. Equal taxation, anti-lobby, ballot reform and tax rate problems were the most important of the matters under consideration. A great deal of time was given by the house judiciary committee to a hearing Tuesday and Wednesday on the equal taxation bill recently introduced, and the report of the committee appointed last winter by Governor Stokes to investigate lobby methods proved fully as sensational as was expected.

Both houses after busy sessions Monday evening and Tuesday morning adjourned at noon Tuesday until Monday night to clear the way for the important public hearings which had been announced.

The professional lobbyist is a gentleman of the past if the recommendations of the anti-lobby committee are passed in the shape of a bill by the present legislature, and it is extremely probable that such legislation will be enacted. MESSAGE FOR HOLLOW CHEEKS.

The face becomes indescribably chic when it is lighted up in this manner. If the skin is a persistent red it should be cleared. A red skin is pretty until one is past 40. But after 40 the red-faced woman is never a beauty. The face should be made less conspicuous in color, and this can be done only by dieting. If the woman with a red face will stop eating for a day, and drink nothing but water, she will see a change in her face next day. She should fast one day a week. If she were to fast and drink water from Saturday night after dinner until seven o'clock Monday morning it would be a good thing for her.

If the skin is brown and green and yellow, and spotted generally, there is no way except to wash out the system. Try the continental method and live on milk awhile.

The dose is a glass of milk every hour for a week. It is said to clear the system.

7 Good Reasons

Why You Should Shop

At Hahne & Co's.,

Newark's Store Beautiful.

1 Stocks are Enormous, as complete as in the best of New York City Stores, and many departments are more thoroughly stocked and goods are more advantageously displayed than in any store in America. Qualities are as high and cover a wide range of grades than in most of the big stores of the country, meeting practically every purse without dragging quality to a low level.

2 Styles of Goods and garments are strictly up-to-date and far in advance of the average store, vying with the most exclusive metropolitan shops. Our buyers are the only ones in New Jersey who are sent abroad to work in conjunction with our Paris representatives and to post themselves on the trend of fashion, and our facilities otherwise for keeping posted are unsurpassed by any dry goods organization in America, making this store a fashion authority.

3 Time is Saved the shopper at this establishment because of the completeness, variety and convenient arrangement of the stocks, the bringing together into one harmonious whole, practically 100 full fledged stores under one roof, making it easy to get anything needed for personal or home adornment in one store.

4 Money is Saved, first, because, by being able to make many purchases under one roof, your time is saved; secondly, by having a large corps of the most skilled managing buyers and handling such immense quantities of merchandise, we secure advantages that do not accrue to lesser concerns, enabling us to sell dependable grades of goods at the lowest possible prices at all times.

5 Conveniences and comforts are provided our patrons almost with prodigality. Perfect ventilation, the many broad, roomy, light, airy aisles throughout the establishment, the ten large, airy, speedy elevators, the mezzanine floor rest rooms—with their easy chairs, writing desks, etc.—the elaborate toilet rooms, the nursery for the children, the temporary hospital—with its cots and trained nurses—the splendid restaurant; the smoking room for men, all contribute in a very material way to your comfort.

6 Safety in Shopping here is absolute, and in a dual way. First, there is safety in purchasing anything we sell, the qualities being the highest obtainable for the money, and the privilege of returning unsatisfactory goods being always extended to you unless so specified at time of sale. Second, the building is absolutely fireproof in its construction—the only store of its kind in all New Jersey. It has great entrances and exits on three streets, stairways aplenty conveniently located, every appliance for the prompt extinguishing of an incipient blaze; the elevators are of the most modern construction—all metal—and with powerful hydraulic supports, making it impossible for an elevator to fall.

7 Local Pride, not only of Newarkeers, but of all Jerseymen, in one of the grandest, one of the largest, and, admittedly the most skillfully planned, best arranged and most complete mercantile establishment in the world, should be sufficient in itself to impel you to do your trading here. This store is an institution worthy in every way of the patronage of the most conspicuous as well as the most humble of the citizens of New Jersey, for HAHNE & CO.'S is

NEW SNAKE-BITE ANTIDOTE
Permanganate of Potash Experimented With in India with Good Success.

So often has the discovery of some alleged infallible cure for snake bite been announced that it will be prudent to adopt a skeptical attitude toward the new claim put forward in the Indian Medical Gazette. But facts of great weight are in evidence, states a London report, which certainly justify further and more exhaustive investigation. At the Royal Society meeting last year a paper bearing the names of such eminent authorities as Sir L. Bruntton, Sir J. J. Payrer and Dr. Rogers spoke favorably of immediate treatment with permanganate of potassium. Acting on this suggestion Dr. Rogers at once initiated a succession of practical experiments, and now reports the results in a dozen cases. In two instances the drug failed to neutralize the fatal poison, but many hours had elapsed before it was applied. But nine of the victims recovered, and as five had been bitten by cobras and two by Russell's vipers—an equally deadly snake—their identity was proved on capture and death—it certainly looks as if the permanganate does operate as an antidote if used quickly. The drug has the additional merit of being very cheap and accessible, while the only process required is to make an incision over the bite, a ligature having been previously applied to prevent the poison from spreading and to rub in the cure with the fingers. A more scientific method is to use a special lancet.

STOVE SET UP ON POSTS.

Pipe Was Short and It Had to Be Elevated to Reach the Roof.

During the college days of ex-Mayor Bessom, of Lynn, he had two of the professors of the college as guests at a hunting camp in the Maine woods, relates the Boston Herald. When they entered the camp their attention was attracted to the unusual position of the stove, which was set on posts about four feet high.

One of the professors began to comment upon the knowledge woodsman gain by observation. "Now," said he, "this man has discovered that the heat radiating from the stove strikes the roof and the circulation is so quickened that the camp is warmed in much less time than would be required if the stove was in its regular place on the floor."

The other professor was of the opinion that the stove was elevated to be above the window. In order that cool and pure air could be had at night.

Mr. Bessom, being more practical, contended that the stove was elevated in order that a good supply of green wood could be placed beneath it to dry. After considerable argument, each man placed a dollar bill upon the table, and it was agreed that the one whose opinion was nearest the guide's reason for elevating the stove should take the pool. The guide was called and asked why the stove was placed in such an unusual position.

"Well," said he, "when I brought the stove up the river I lost most of the stovepipe overboard and had to set the stove up there so as to have the pipe reach through the roof."

He got the money.

To Renew Old Carpets.

Worn and faded Brussels and velvet carpets may be made to look like new by re-dyeing. After the carpet has been cleaned and laid, wipe it off with vinegar water and allow to dry. Prepare a good dye, selecting a predominant color in the carpet, and apply with a wide paint brush. All colors and shades will not absorb the dye alike, so that a design will remain and all worn places will be covered.

Oyster Soup.

Clean one quart of oysters, chop and then parboil, drain and add to liquor enough water to make one quart of liquid. Brown three tablespoonfuls of butter with three tablespoonfuls of flour, add oyster liquor and cook slowly for one-half hour. Season with salt and paprika and celery salt. Just before serving add one cupful of cream; two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley may be added if desired.

NEW YORK THEATRE.

The Rogers Brothers, in their new musical play, "The Rogers Brothers in Ireland," will be the attraction at the New York Theatre for a brief engagement, beginning next Monday evening.

LIBERTY THEATRE.

Thomas Dixon, Jr.'s play, "The Clansman," has made a substantial success at the Liberty Theatre. It is a powerful melodrama and both an education and an entertainment for while it holds one's attention as a drama, it reveals the truth of the horrors of negro domination in South Carolina, and the reason for the organization of the K. K. Klan.

PROCTOR'S.

R. A. Roberts, the distinguished Boy-How actor, will head the star bill at Proctor's 58th Street Theatre during the week of January 20. Mr. Roberts comes fresh from the London Coliseum, and will be seen in a dramatic sketch forming an incident in the life of the famous English highwayman, "Dick Turpin."

Grand Opera forms part of the offering at Proctor's 23rd Street Theatre, the week of January 20. Miss Mastelli, who was the famous mezzo soprano in the Metropolitan Opera House, will sing at each performance, selections from the grand operas. Her voice is brilliant, her stage appearance very attractive, and she will undoubtedly prove an excellent drawing card.

The popular play of Proctor's Fifth Avenue all-star company will be afforded ample opportunities to show their abilities in "The Merchant of Venice," which will succeed "Mrs. Jack" during the week of January 20. Amelia Bingham's impersonation of "Portia" is sure to be an achievement that will rank with her well-remembered performance of "Cleopatra," "Katherine," "Madame Sans-Gene" and "Fedora."

"Capt. Swift," one of those intensely dramatic and powerful plays, permeated with great heart interest, which brought the famous old Union Square Theatre stock company, under A. M. Palmer's management, into great repute, will be revived by Mr. Proctor's company at 125th Street January 20.

USE MADE OF OLD SHOES.

Worked Up Into Imitation Leather Novelties of Various Descriptions.

Janitors collect the shoes cast away by tenants and send them to auction rooms, where they are sorted into piles marked "Men," "Women," "Children." Several poor people made fair bits, relates the Shoe Retailer, but the auctioneer did not seem eager to sell. Finally, a red-faced man pushed his way through the crowd and offered ten cents apiece for the whole lot. His bid was successful.

"I was killing time with talk waiting for that fellow," said the auctioneer afterward. "He always pays high for these shoes, and he does not want them for wearing, either. He wants to beat them out for the leather in them. He gets what material there is, puts it through a process and makes stamped imitation leather novelties, such as picture frames, bags, pocketbooks, pen-knife holders, and even chair backs and seats. He finds a ready sale for these novelties and gets a good price for them."

Moved Up a Peg.

A naval officer, according to the Buffalo Commercial, told of the trials of a colleague in marrying off his many daughters. In the same family was a son, an observant lad of ten years. Toward the close of the winter the officer informed his son that he was going to lose his sister, Ethel, who was engaged to wed a young lieutenant. "I'm sorry to hear that," said the youngster, "because I'm awfully fond of Ethel. Still, we'll have Alice and Eva and Maud and Susie, won't we?" Then, after a moment's reflection, he added: "By the way, dad, this arrangement will advance Alice a number, won't it?"
