WESTFIELD CHURCH NEWS.

NOTES ABOUT THE SEVERAL DENOMINATIONS.

The Pulpit Supplies Next Sunday--Who Will Preach--Special Services--Sunday School and Prayer Meeting Topics.

Note:--The usual hours of services in the several churches will be found in the Church Directory on page two.

Baptist Church.
The Rev. O. J. Greenwood will preach in the Baptist Church next Sunday morning and evening.

Congregational Church.
The Rev. Henry Moody Guernsey will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational Church on Sunday morning, preaching on "A Liberated Life." There will be no evening service.

At the annual meeting of the church and society held Wednesday evening to vote on the question of a new Sunday-school building, the reports of the committee were received. The meeting decided to do nothing toward building at present.

Holy Trinity Church.
Every Sunday masses at 8:30 and 10:15 a. m.
The repairing and decorating of Holy Trinity Church will be done during the month of May.

Methodist Church.
Rev. Dr. John R. Wright, pastor of the Methodist Church, will occupy the pulpit on Sunday morning and evening.

New York Avenue Baptist Church.
Services on Sunday at the New York Avenue Baptist Church will be held, in charge of the pastor, Rev. P. W. Ross, at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Sunday-school at 8:30 a. m.

Services on Sunday will be held at the usual hours, 7:30 and 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. The Rev. Charles Fiske of St. John's Church, Somerville, will officiate and preach at the evening service.

The last meeting of the Missionary Study Class was held yesterday at the home of Mrs. C. M. Tremaine. A paper on "Home Life and Problems in the Philippines" was read by Miss Jarvis. It was voted to send the weekly contributions to Bishop Brent of the Philippines.

Monasteries in Belgium.
The number of convents and monasteries in Belgium, and especially at Bruges, has increased with wonderful rapidity. In 1846 there were 779 such institutions in the country with a membership of 12,000 men and women. In 1900 there were 2,500 institutions with a membership of 38,000. Practically one-third of the buildings in Bruges belong to religious societies.

Intoxicants in Switzerland.
In Switzerland a state monopoly covers both the distillation and sale of all intoxicants, and much good has already resulted, at the same time bringing in an annual revenue to the government of $1,000,000. This money is distributed among the cantons, with the proviso that ten per cent. be sent in combating intemperance.

Epworth League Schedule.
On Monday evening of this week the Epworth League of the Methodist Church held its regular monthly business meeting at the home of Mr. E. L. Brainerd, on Westfield avenue. After the business had been transacted the literary department of the league presented a very interesting and enjoyable program.

A piano solo was rendered by Miss Natalie R. Brainerd, after which six of the young men sang a Cornell College song with much effect. Mr. Harold R. Welch assisted with piano and violin solos. He also caused much laughter with his imitations on these instruments. Miss Thompson rendered a piano solo, and was followed by Miss Katherine Edwards, whose recitation was heartily applauded. The story of the New England undertaker and the pumpkin pie, as told by Mr. William Webb, added to the variety and amusement of the evening.

The social department then served refreshments while Mr. Harold Welch again favored with a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. J. Fischer at the piano. The meeting was very well attended, and all agreed that they had spent a most delightful evening.

Sunday School Conference.

The eleventh annual institute of the Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union was held Monday in the First Presbyterian Church, Plainfield. At the afternoon and evening session, in the absence of the president, Miss Beeching, Mrs. F. R. Baker, vice-president, was in charge, and contributed a delightful missionary talk. The afternoon programme was interesting and varied, including besides Mrs. Baker's talk parts by W. D. Murray, Mrs. A. E. Grone and Miss Cairns. In the evening, E. C. Knapp, director in Bible study in Broadway Tabernacle, New York, gave the address, taught the lesson, and held a superintendents' conference. Mrs. W. H. Morse, who is one of the officers of the union, heard Mr. Knapp at Hartford last summer, and at her instance he spoke. His topic was "Ten reasons why the boy left Sunday-school." At the conference, Superintendents Pearson, Dempsey and Russell were present from Westfield.

Men's Club Elects Officers.

The Congregational Men's Club held an annual meeting Tuesday evening and elected the following officers for the new year: President, E. G. Hanford, Vice-President, Robert V. Hoffman; Treasurer, M. Hoppock; Secretary, Ernest Alpers. The members discussed quite thoroughly the work of the organization during the past year, which was regarded as fully successful. Plans for next season's program were suggested and discussed. The new officers were promised the hearty co-operation of the members.

FOR A HOT DAY

Nothing equals an Electric fan for comfort on a hot day. It cools the atmosphere and makes work easy. No home, no office, no store or factory should be without one or more of these aids to summer living. Why suffer with the heat when at small cost you can have an ocean breeze in your home? An Electric fan brings vacation pleasure to those who can not go away. There are a variety of fans for various specific places. Large ceiling fans for public buildings and small styles for residences. Look into this matter now and keep cool later.

UNITED ELECTRIC COMPANY

Advance Club Meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Taylor entertained the Advance Club on Friday evening last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Darsh, of Prospect street. The regular routine business was transacted and was followed by a very instructive and pleasing program. Miss Wohlfert rendered a violin solo, entitled "A Romance," by Van Goens, and responded to an enthusiastic encore, with a selection, "Son of Basia," by Kelerbach. Prof. Edmund Skiff, of Plainfield, sang "The Two Grenadiers" and for an encore sang the very pretty ballad, "The Captain," by James H. Rogers. Dr. W. I. Stearns read by request an article on "The Discovery of Radium," by Madam Currie. Dr. J. J. Savitz gave a talk on "Educational Needs of Woman at the Present Day." A paper on "Woman as Novelist" was written and read by Mr. St. George Hathorne. Prof. Skiff then sang two selections, "My Jean" and "I Love and the World is Mine," after which Miss Wohlfert again favored with violin music. Mrs. Harry Taylor was accompanied throughout the evening. Refreshments were served by the hostess and a very pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

Baseball Notes.

The class of ball that was played here last Saturday cannot fail to win its way to the hearts of base ball enthusiasts.

Geiger and Eichler, the husky boys from Bayonne, are getting their eye on the leather.

Campbell and Sweeney are consistent sticklers, the former is called by his former team mates, "home-run Pete."

Fritz made a couple of good sacrifices hits in Saturday's game.

The feature play of the game was when big Fritz made one mighty jump into the air and caught a throw from Eichler, left-fielder, nailing a man at home plate. This crushed the last hope of the visitors.

It was about hopeless for anyone to try to get to second base, as the ball was right there waiting.

On Decoration Day the Garwood's bring a strong team here and claim they are going to trim Westfield the same as Somerville was trimmed Saturday.

Welner will be in the box this time for Garwood, and will be supported by a good strong line-up.

They are going to show Westfield that Garwood is a larger spot on the baseball map than Recreation Park.

Welner against Loy. Game starts about 3:15.

Dance At Elizabeth.

About fifteen couples from Westfield enjoyed a dance at Jacob's Hall, Elizabeth, on Tuesday evening last. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. H. Weyhenmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. B. Kenney, Mr. and Mrs. H. Leek, Mr. and Mrs. S. Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. Garcin, Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, Mrs. J. Eskholme, Mrs. George Peck, Mrs. Charles Reese, Miss Elva Wilcox, Miss Edith Eskholme, Miss Mildred Kenney, Mr. William Grogan, Mr. John Ketchum, Mr. Edward Kenney, Miss Mabel Benson, of Brooklyn; Mr. Banks and Mr. Eward Lading, of Plainfield.

March Chuk for Decoration Day.

There is no grander scenery anywhere than you will find on the journey to March Chuk via the New Jersey Central.

Jersey is attractive especially in the northern section and the rolling country offers a variety of attractions the like of which no other section can boast. Pennsylvania and its mountains are too widely known to need elaboration, but March Chuk and vicinity is a garden spot, if ever there was one. The Switchback Railroad is novel in as much as no motive power is needed for operation. The inclines are gradual and in the fourteen-mile journey there are many interesting experiences and fascinating scenes are unfolded with a startling rapidity.

For a day's outing there is no place more thoroughly enjoyable than March Chuk, and when the small cost of a day's trip is considered there is little left to be said. The New Jersey Central will run one of its popular one day excursions to March Chuk on May 30th by special train which will leave Westfield at 9:12 a. m., arriving at March Chuk at 4:15 p. m. The returning train will leave the mountain resort at 5:40 p. m., hence there is ample time for journeying over the Switchback, visiting Flag Staff and Glen Onoko.

TO THE TRUSTEES OF Westfield Baptist Church.

Gentlemen:--
"Always have your church buy linseed oil at barrel prices. Don't let them pay $1.50 a gallon for canned oil, which ought to cost 60 cents a gallon. Ready-mixed paint is about half oil and half paint. Buy oil fresh from the barrel, and add it to the L. & M. Paint, which is semi-mixed, and you then get a full gallon of paint at the lowest price."

4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil will paint a moderate sized house.
Actual cost L. & M. about $1.20 per gallon.

C. S. Andrews, Ex-Mayor, Danbury, Conn., writes, "Painted my house 19 years ago with L. & M. Looks well to-day."

A Select Entertainment

Will be held in
The Westfield Club Hall
On Friday Evening, June 1, at 8.15 Sharp

Under the auspices of The Westfield Cadets.

The program will include: Opening Address, J. J. Savitz, Esq.; The Westfield Cadets, Military Drill; Miss Alice L. Emmons, Harmonica Selections; Mr. Wm. A. Stewart, Musical Varieties; Miss Louise Morehouse, Soprano; The Mozart Male Quartette; Mr. Fred F. VanEps, Banjoist.

Admission, 50 cents. Tickets and chart at Fritchley & Hathaway's Pharmacy. Proceeds will be applied toward the purchase of uniforms for the cadets, an object worthy of your support. The boys are being trained under a military officer, a fine thing for them physically and morally.

IN 1898 the cost of outdoor poor relief in Newark was less than a third of what it was in 1880. This decrease is in part attributable to the influence of The Prudential as a teacher and promoter of thrift through Industrial Life Insurance.

BOARDING AND LIVERY STABLE

Use Your 'Phone.

If the weather is disagreeable or your time too valuable to come to the store, you can talk from your home with any of our departments -- give orders, instructions, or seek information.

Intelligent operators in our central office are ready to answer every call any hour of the day.

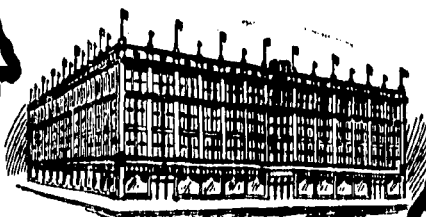

12 central wires enable you to get our ear whenever you call. Seldom that Central will have to say "Wire's busy. Shall I call?"

Close to one hundred phone stations throughout the store enable you to reach any one you wish to talk to--on business--in a jiffy. We believe we have by odds the largest and best telephone system in the State.

HIS OFFICIAL OPINION.

The Captain Thought the Soup Was Good Enough for Tea or Coffee.

Rear Admiral Longecker, who recently retired, was talking one day at League Island navy yard about discontent among soldiers and sailors, relates the Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Men are often discontented without reason," he said, "but oftener they have good ground for their grumbling, and it is because their officers are stupid or lazy that conditions do not improve."

"I remember once visiting a pompous, handsome, stupid army officer."

"During my visit a private approached the officer with a full cup and saucer in his hand."

"Well, Blinks, my man?" said the officer in a condescending tone.

"Captain," said the private, saluting, "I'll ask you to taste this here. I won't make no complaint. I'll just ask you to taste this sloop, and if you don't say, by--"

"That will do, Blinks," the captain interrupted, in his dignified way, for Blinks was getting angry, and he took the cup from the man, bent forward stillly and swallowed a couple of mouthfuls of the liquid.

"Then he looked at the private, calmly."

"This is not bad," he said. "I can't taste anything wrong with this, Blinks. By the way, what is it? Tea or coffee?"

War Strength of Nations.

The total war strength of the army in Austria-Hungary is 2,580,000 men; France, 4,350,000; Germany, 5,240,000; Great Britain--England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland--884,095; Japan, 632,007; Russia, 5,258,000, and the United States, 100,000 regulars and 111,000 militia.

EUROPE'S HAPPIEST PEOPLE.

From Their Adherence to the Home Country the Swiss Take the Palm.

If it be in harmony with one's surroundings to work and to thrive a little and to rear children, to have liberty and security and be tolerant and self-respecting constitute any measure of happiness, then the Swiss are by all odds the happiest people in Europe. Such, says a writer in Everybody's, is the judgment of all observers that have been much among them. You can test it by a single reference. From every other nation in Europe there is emigration; from Switzerland little or none. At all times about 300,000 Swiss are in foreign countries, learning languages or methods of combining travel with work, but they come home. The typical Swiss never thinks of making permanent residence outside of Switzerland, or, if once thinking so, he changes his mind when he makes trial thereof.

Paradoxical.

Arctic explorers state that the water which will slay our thirst augments it when congealed into snow, and that the natives of the Arctic regions prefer enduring the utmost extremity of thirst rather than attempt to remove it by consuming snow. Yet if the snow be melted, it becomes drinkable water.

Prisoner's Fortune.

A man is now serving the last months of a two-year sentence in San Quentin prison, California, for shooting his wife. His large investments in land in Los Angeles and vicinity, made before his imprisonment began, have increased in value to such an extent that they are now said to be worth upward of $1,000,000.

TRUE JAPANESE COURTESY.

Emperor and Shogun, Ancient Opponents, Exchange Greetings Politely.

I remember, many years ago, a dinner at the palace--a great official dinner--where among the guests were many of the old leaders of rebellious old niphodiers of the Shogunate; the last Shogun himself, says Mary Crawford Fraser in the World's Work. Prince Tokugawa, proud, silent, grim, sat opposite to me, and I wondered if any human emotion could show itself on that impassive face. At that moment the emperor raised his glass and bowed in kindly smiling fashion to his ancient opponent. The face changed, was suffused for one illuminating moment with a glow of responsive fire. It seemed as if the emperor were once more thanking the Shogun for his splendidly patriotic act, when, after years of struggle, he voluntarily laid his power and his prerogatives at the emperor's feet "for the good of the country," and as if Prince Tokugawa, looking back--and looking forward--for Japan, said to himself once more: "It was well done."

An Invitation.

"They have said they will say--then let them be saying."

The World's old woman, but we'll go a-Maying."

The blundered has come in the wake of the swallow: Anonymous, columbines, dance in the hollow;

The river is laughing; the hedgehog discloses

A present of lilacs, a promise of roses; And sweet from the orchard, where blossoms are falling,

That tempter, the Wind, like a truant is calling.

"They have said they will say--e'en let them be saying!"

Away! Little Gipsy, for we'll go a-Maying!"

Arthur Cattermole, in 'The Criterion.'

THE MAN WHO WON.

(With Apologies to George Ade.)

Once upon a Time there was a Ginko who was well developed to work, so he made up his mind he would become a Candidate. Work had been obnoxious to him from the Time he first saw it explained on the blackboard in grade A, and all through life his mind worry had been that some day he would bump into it without knowing it. He was a constant and devoted reader of The Weekly Clarion and Howler and frequently contributed pieces to the Page where the Labor News was run.

He was wise to Laborer's all right, and whenever labor became unsatisfied he would write an Open Letter and tell them just how to fix things up. He always thought The Job of Walking Delights with Something on the Side for Incidentals would be About the Real candy, but somehow the Mutt holding the Job didn't have Sense enough to Quit.

After waiting Ten long and Weary Years for the Job he finally gave up and decided that the only Thing left was A public office. So he got a Jig stick and went out among The people and told Them he was Ready coin when it came to Representing them, and that Everybody up in the North end was crazy to have him run For office.

Afterward he would go over on The North side and hand out the Same line of Conn. He used to Use a glove stretcher to Stretch his month When he got up mornings so the Smile would Last all day. He was a Prime favorite up in the Hun district near where They were filling in. He used to get A clean shave and reverse his cuffs in the Morning and sally up There with a Line Of Bunk that shriveled His conscience to a wisp.

He knew them all from A to Izzard, and called Everybody Jim because he said Their real name reminded him of a Football Rush. After being introduced to Reballidxxvlll Handljkxxvzzoll, he would brush an Imaginary speck from the Victim's collar and say "Jim, what'll you take?" Then he'd turn around to The Man with the White apron and order Suds for the Lot.

Sometimes when his stomach was in good order and the gang was looking he would stop on the street and Idas some sweet little girl with Two braids whose Polks lived back in the Alley near The Livery Stable. This showed that he was A man of The people and didn't consider Himself Above the Common Herd. When it Came to Entertaining the Crowd At Murphy's on the Corner near the Cemetery he was There with a Box of Gags that Would make Lew Dockstadtor go back to The Town Hall with his Merry Troupe of Artists. He used to Tell stories That made Them Yell to The skies. He would stand There with the Gang and play the Human sponge till the man Behind would Look at his Ingersoll and Yawn, after which he would break For home, First stopping At a Place Down Town to get something to Take the Taste out Of his Mouth before Going to the lay.

After he had Conned The Citizens in the Outlying district to sign Their names to Something begging him to become a candidate and had it Printed in the Papers he had a lot of lovely pictures Took of Himself and when no one was Looking his faithful Fido who had been promised the Job of Chief keyholder to The stationary Closet would hang them up in Saloons and places like That. In the picture he had a Clean shave and Looked real Nifty. His forehead was broad, high and intelligent, too. There's nothing like a good Forehead. Sometimes It's the Whole cheese in a picture.

After he had whipped Things into shape and promised every Victim something Good and Soft he drew a mental picture of the Situation, and couldn't see how he could Fall to become the Big Noise on election Day. Election night the Telephone company was kept busy replacing Wires to his Phone that had melted when Hot returns were coming in. He was Neck and Neck till after Twelve o'clock but after that the Strain was over.

Along about Two he heard the Eighth Ward Silver Cornet band coming down the Street playing see The Conqueror Hero comes, and after they had started all the dogs howling in the Neighborhood with the Victory march, the Ginko with tears in his eyes took them Over to the Place on the corner and stood the proprietor Off for an Eighth outright. When he got Back he Took his Wife to get Ready and take the children To the Ten-cent Theater the Next day, because the Passes ought to be used.

It was Four o'clock when he Hit the Mattress that morning, and he liked it so well He let Two meals go by before Getting up.

Two days later he Met Reballidxxvlll Handljkxxvzzoll the Victim that lived near where they were filling in. The victim held out His hand and told the Ginko that his Brother Jim was out of a Job and that maybe He could do Something for Him. The Ginko looked on with A wise Look and told him his Brother Jim might get something to Do by applying to the Free Employment Bureau. Holding out Two fingers for the Victim to shake the Ginko stepped into an Auto in Walling and was Chugged up Street.

King Edward's Subjects.

It is not widely known that Edward VII. rules over more Mohammedans than the sultan of Turkey, over more Hebrews than there are in Palestine, and over more negroes than any other sovereign who is not a native of Africa.

Let Us Send You The COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE Three Months, Free

Three months' free trial for merely sending your name.

No money,--no letter,--nothing but your address on the attached coupon.

If, after three months' trial, you wish to have the magazine stopped,--merely tell us,--and the copies received will cost you nothing.

You are to be the exclusive judge.

And there'll be no questions, no quibbling,--nothing.

We'll leave the decision all to you.

If, after three months' test you find you need the COSMOPOLITAN, let us send you the magazine for the full year.

That's all there is to it.

Remember, though, that in reading the COSMOPOLITAN, you are reading one of the oldest high-class magazines published to-day in America.

Such eminent and great men have in the past contributed to the reputation of the COSMOPOLITAN as: President Roosevelt, Mark Twain, President Eliot, John Wainwright, Count Tolstoi, Henry Waterson, Jas. Whitehead Riley, etc., etc., etc.

The following list of eminent contributors--taken from among a hundred others--will indicate the remarkably high standard that will be maintained by the COSMOPOLITAN during 1906--LECTION: Sir Gilbert Parker, Alfred Henry Lewis, Booth Tarkington, ART: Frederic Remington, Henri Lanois, Frank Verbeck, SPECIAL: Henry Waterson, Edwin Markham, Elbert Hubbard.

No finer array of talent could possibly be offered than the list of world specialists named above.

"Home" magazine is the key-note to the COSMOPOLITAN.

In no sense is the COSMOPOLITAN a small, cheap, 10-page mail order monthly.

It is, to the contrary, a great 240-page illustrated home magazine.

Its editorial policy aims at every phase of clean, wholesome home life.

An abundance of bright stories, full of full, life and action, will interest every member of the family.

Topics of the day are treated squarely by experts of international repute--political reform, international affairs, economics, social problems,--and a hundred other timely topics of which every intelligent man or woman must be informed.

The COSMOPOLITAN also affords unusual advantages for the refining and educative value of art,--Remington, Lanois, Fogarty, Verbeck, are only a few of the masters represented.

Bagged at the Knees.

It is difficult to avoid "talking shop." A story which illustrates this is told of the late Col. H. C. Toler, the noted horseman, who died in Wichita. A Kentuckian was speaking of Col. Toler and said: "Col. Toler raised John R. Gentry and many other famous horses. The turf has suffered a great loss in him. A better judge of horseflesh and a pleasanter man you'd never find. I used to love to watch him studying horses. He was very keen. He was at his best then. A rich tailor once brought him to see a new acquisition, a trotter of doubtful quality, for which, however, $4,500 had been paid. The tailor was full of enthusiasm about his horse. He little knew he had been done. 'Look at him,' he said, 'There's a horse for you. Look at them legs.' 'Very pretty,' said Col. Toler, grinning. 'Very nice legs, indeed. But don't you think they bag a bit at the knees?'--Troy Times.

Local Water-Powers.

"What do you understand by a contract?" the new teacher of Number Two asked Willy Straw. The answer came promptly.

"It's the fire-insure down at Interville Corners," he said, in breathless haste to impart his knowledge. "But it leaks some, and it isn't half so good looking as the 'Torrent,' either. You just wait till parade day and you'll see, teacher!"--Youth's Companion.

There by Accident.

Regular Customer (lifting something out with his spoon)--What have you been putting in this clam chowder?

Walter (inspecting it)--That seems to be a piece of a clam, sir. It will happen once in a while.--Chicago Tribune.

Travelling is Dangerous.

Constant motion jars the kidneys which are kept in place in the body by delicate attachments. This is the reason that travelers, trainmen, street car men, teamsters and all who drive very much, suffer from kidney disease in some form. Foley's Kidney Cure strengthens the kidneys and cures all forms of kidney and bladder disease. Geo. E. Hausman, locomotive engineer, Lima, O., writes, "Constant vibration of the engine caused me a great deal of trouble with my kidneys, and I got no relief until I used Foley's Kidney Cure." The COSMOPOLITAN, furthermore, has just begun one of the most remarkable exposures ever attempted by a contemporary magazine,--"The Treason of the Senate," by David Graham Phillips.

It will be strictly impossible, during this series, for us to insure newsstand purchasers a copy of the magazine, but

We do guarantee that all readers who have, under this special offer, applied direct to the office for copies, will receive regularly the magazine during this brilliant series of articles.

Be sure to read this most scathing of all political exposures.

We thoroughly believe that every intelligent reader will not only make but actually want the COSMOPOLITAN, should he once see the magazine itself.

And that's why we offer a three months' free trial at our expense. We leave the decision entirely up to the merit of the monthly.

If you don't like the three months received, you may stop the paper, and the copies received won't cost you a cent.

The offer is clear, plain, straightforward.

You are to be the only judge.

We are going to have it all to your decision.

Could anything be more fair?

Fill out to-day the coupon below--place in an envelope--mail to us--and receive three months' test free.

But mail the coupon to-day--to-morrow will never come.

WHAT FIRST STOVE WAS.

Simply the Hut or Cave in Which Primitive Man Made His Dwelling.

The most important uses of fire were taught by fire itself, writes S. E. Forman, in "Stories of Useful Inventions" in St. Nicholas. As the primitive man stood near the flames of the burning tree and felt their pleasant glow he learned that fire may add to bodily comfort; and when the flames swept through a forest and overtook a deer and baked it, he learned that fire might be used to improve the quality of his food. The hint was not lost. He took a burning torch to his cave or hut and kindled him a fire on his floor of earth. His dwelling filled with smoke, but he could endure the discomfort for the sake of the fire's warmth, and for the sake of the toothsome of the cooked meats. After a time a hole was made in the roof of the hut, and through this hole the smoke passed out. Here was the first stove. The primitive stove was the entire house; the floor was the fireplace and the hole in the roof was the chimney. The word "stove" originally meant "a heated room." So that if we should say that at first people lived in their stoves we would say that which is literally true.

A BURRO AND A THISTLE.

Favorite Food of the Diminutive Burden Bearer and How Obtained.

The Rocky mountain burro, one of the most sagacious of animals, seeks the thistle as a favorite food, and the pungent spines with which it protects its leaves at every angle are doubtless a recognition on its part of this fondness of grazing animals for it. Few experiences of frontier-life are more amusing, says Country Life in America, than to watch the donkey's attack upon a large bull thistle. He walks about it, seeking for a favorable opening, projects his lip gingerly against its spines and jerks back as he feels its prick. He surveys it pensively for a moment or two and then slowly raises his foot and strikes it, pausing to watch the effect of the blow. He then perhaps strikes it from the other side and watches again. The blows become rapid, and at length it is broken down and thoroughly trampled, after which it is consumed to the last vestige.

Friday May 25, 1906.

A man's greatest opportunities are those nearest at hand.—Edith Root.

The Jersey City Evening Journal last night published in full the speech of Randolph Perkins before the Summit Board of Trade the other evening in reply to the utterances of the Colby adherents before the same body. We regret that lack of space and time preclude the publication of Mr. Perkins' discussion in the Standard this week, as it is a comprehensive review of the taxation question and should be read by all who desire to be adequately informed on both sides of the subject.

Plainfield lawyers are seriously considering the formation of a local bar association in that city in order that a law library and other professional facilities may be established nearer their offices than is now the case. The headquarters of the county bar association are in Elizabeth, too far, the Plainfielders say, to benefit others than the lawyers of the county seat.

George L. Record, the Colby candidate to succeed Senator John F. Dryden, issued his promised statement this week, outlining his own candidacy and the basis upon which he will seek the nomination.

The appointment of Freeholder M. M. Seudder to membership on the County Taxation Board will gratify his many friends in both political parties.

Railway has increased the liquor license fee from $250 to $500 in that city.

The Memorial Day Fund is still open and should not be forgotten.

Enjoyable Birthday Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Dewey of Park street gave a party on Monday afternoon last from four to seven o'clock in honor of the eleventh birthday of their son, B. Harold Dewey. About seventy-five guests were present and enjoyed various games on the lawn in charge of Miss Mabel Dewey, after which refreshments were served in the dining room from a prettily decorated table, in the center of which was a beautifully ornamented birthday cake with eleven candles. Pretty favors were given to each guest and the little folks spent a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon.

Fairview Cemetery Matters.

At a special meeting of the Fairview Cemetery trustees, held last Friday evening, the subject of a water supply to be installed on the grounds was discussed, but no definite action taken at that time. The matter of renting rooms on the ground floor on Elm street was left to a committee to effect arrangements under certain conditions.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS SEUDDER.

Westfield's Freeholder now a Member of County Board of Commissioners For Equalization of Taxes.

Freeholder Mulford M. Seudder has received the appointment as member of the Union County Board of Commissioners for Equalization of Taxes. Mr. Seudder received the following letter from Governor Stokes announcing the appointment:

State of New Jersey,
Executive Office,

May 22, 1906.

Mr. Mulford M. Seudder,
Westfield, N. J.,
My dear Mr. Seudder:—

I take pleasure in appointing you a member of the Union County Board of Taxation under Chapter 120 of the Laws of 1904. Your colleagues will be Mr. Frederick H. Andrews, of Plainfield, and Mr. C. C. Pollard, of Elizabeth.

Very sincerely yours,
E. O. Stokes.

It had been rumored in political circles for some time that Mr. Seudder was being urged for the place, though Senator Ackerman wanted J. Williams Crane, of Plainfield. One of the three commissioners must, under the law, be a Democrat. Both Crane and Seudder are old time Democrats. The salary of the place is $1,600. Mr. Seudder is exceedingly popular in Westfield and throughout the county, and is busy acknowledging the congratulations of his many friends upon the signal honor conferred upon him by the appointment.

There will be two freeholders to be appointed from Westfield now, one to succeed Seudder and one to succeed the late W. W. Connolly. The Council will make the appointments, and those who are appointed will probably be candidates for the full terms at the November election.

Open Athletic Meet.

The Soccer Athletic Club of Westfield, N. J., have closed their books with 132 entries for the meet Decoration Day at Fair Acres on the list. They have entered men from all parts of the state, representing clubs and schools. The prizes are on exhibition at A. E. Snyder's store, and are, as a whole, the finest set of prizes ever given in any athletic meet held in Westfield. The following is a list of schools and clubs represented in the meet: Westfield High School; Soccer Athletic Club, of Westfield; B. S. C. of Westfield; B. O. H. of Westfield; Westfield Cadets; Edward Clark Club of Elizabeth; Agenda Club of Roselle Park, N. J.; Comet Athletic Club of Rutherford, N. J.; Triangle Club of New Brunswick, N. J.; Newark Y. M. C. A.; New Brunswick High School; I. O. F. of Westfield; National Turn Verein of Newark; Seton Hall Prep. School, and many other persons who are entered unattached. The games will start promptly at 1:30 p. m.

Fireside Council Notes.

At a regular meeting of Fireside Council, R. A. last evening, Messrs. Townley, Gilby, Class, Morton and Taylor gave some interesting talks on the doings of the Grand Council session held at Lakewood.

On June 5th Fireside members will visit Bayonne Council. A number of the members have made up a dinner party for that evening in New York.

On June 11th Bayonne Council will return the visit.

Fireside has taken the lead in organizing a Past Regents Association of Union county.

June 23rd will be the birthday of the order and from the home of every member it is desired that the Stars and Stripes be unfurled.

Sleep and Memory.

Seven hours of sleep is the minimum amount required by the average person, according to Prof. Weygand of the University of Wurzburg. He ascertained experimentally that reduction of the usual period of sleep by three hours diminishes the power of the memory by one-half. Fastening, he found, had a much less injurious effect.

Long Litigation.

In 1613 certain villages of Lorraine sued the department of forests in defense of the right to cut wood in a certain forest. After nearly three centuries of litigation the supreme court at Lelpaic has just given a final decision against the department and condemned it to pay all costs.

Alphonso Good Swordsman.

The young king of Spain is an expert in the use of the sword. When a child he practiced with wooden swords with the young nobles of his court. His marvelous ability was even then noticeable, and he is now considered one of the most expert of the royal fencers of Europe.

THE TOWN COUNCIL SESSION.

Taggart Appointed Commissioner of Assessments—Huck Ordinance Now a Law—Other Business Transacted.

The Council met Monday night and confirmed Mayor Perkins' appointment of Frederick S. Taggart as Commissioner of Assessments to succeed the late W. W. Connolly.

The ordinance to regulate hucks and huck fires in the town was adopted on that reading and is now a law.

No objections were presented to the petition for a sidewalk on Summit avenue beyond Park street, and an ordinance will be introduced. The Finance Committee recommended that the Park Commissioners be requested to meet the Sidewalk Committee of the Council and explain in detail the items making up the total of $100, which the Commission recently requested the Council to appropriate for the cure of the Mountain Avenue Park.

On the recommendation of the Finance Committee the Council voted to accept one cent in payment of a disputed tax bill rendered to H. B. Tremblin.

W. M. Harrison requested the Council to allow him to connect his property on Harrison and Kimball avenues, Maye and Maple streets, with the low sewers on the same conditions heretofore made in the case of the Westfield Real Estate Company. The communication went to the Road and Sewer Committee.

The Telephone Company was granted permission to erect poles on certain streets where permission of property owners had been obtained.

On petition of W. G. Peekham and others a proceeding was begun to establish the grade of sidewalk on the northwesterly side of Dudley avenue between Elm street and Mountain avenue.

James O. Clark was granted permission to grade Walnut street between Clark and Prospect streets before July first at his own expense and to take the surplus dirt for his own use.

The request of F. W. Wohlfert for permission to erect a sign over the sidewalk in front of his store on Broad street was referred to the Sidewalk Committee, though Councilman Alpers stated that it was the sentiment of the Council that no such requests would be granted.

Fatal Trolley Accident.

One of the trolley line cars going toward Plainfield Wednesday afternoon, at a high rate of speed crashed into a stone wagon at Scotch Plains, instantly killing the driver, Charles Cashen, of Plainfield. The man was hurled from his seat in front of the car, which struck him. One horse was so mangled that he was shot to death, and the wagon was completely demolished. The motorman declared that the driver of the wagon wheeled suddenly from the side of the track and started to cross directly in front of the car which could not be brought to a stop in time.

Perkins Defends His Record.

Honore Leader Randolph Perkins appeared before the Summit Board of Trade on Monday night and made a vigorous defence of his record as a legislator at Trenton during the last session. Mr. Perkins' speech was in the nature of a reply to Everett Colby, who had spoken there a few nights before. Mr. Perkins discussed Equal Taxation, the Hillary Law, and other topics of interest.

Silk from Cellulose.

Artificial silk—of which the daily production is now seven tons, or five per cent of the total consumption of silk—is practically pure cellulose to which the superficial luster of natural silk has been given.

Ceylon's Pearl Fisheries.

During the season of 1905, which lasted 48 days, there were 300 boats employed in the pearl fishing industry of Ceylon, from which the government derived $767,000.

Letter to Henry G. Mooney.

Westfield, N. J.
Dear Sir: Carrie Hardware Co., Atlantic City, N. J., had been dealing in paint for more than fifty years; and last year found-out Devco. This is how they did it.

Bought two cans, took off the labels, sent to a chemist for analysis.

The chemist found it pure; and they took our agency.

That is the way to find out a paint; but not every dealer can do it. There ought to be public provision for making good things known without cost. It's a pity American citizens haven't got it. The people want it, even more than the trade.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devor & Co.

LUCILLE'S DIARY.

I think I have more trouble than most girls. I try to be kind and thoughtful for others, but no matter what I do my friends are always getting vexed at me. It's hard to bear, but when I realize that I put myself out a great deal for people, and more than half the time they don't appreciate it.

Now, there's Alice Maltby, the girl that's visiting Mrs. Green. I've done a lot to make it pleasant for her. As for her being grateful—well, she's quite the reverse.

I took Canby Fuller to see her and he was really very nice to her for my sake. Canby will do anything I ask him, and when I suggested that he pay her some attention while she was here he said he'd be glad to do so. I told Canby that it was only right to be kind to a lonely girl like Alice. I said I thought she was entitled to some pleasure even if she wasn't a beauty. Canby looked rather surprised at this. I suppose he didn't realize that I'd be so thoughtful. I told him, too, that I intended to show her how to arrange her hair more becomingly, for I thought it was a real pity for her to make herself any less attractive than she really was by waiting for her hair to grow that ugly big knot at the back of her head. He said that was Greek, and I laughed at him for knowing so little about hairdressing.

The funny part of it is that when I offered to show Alice how to do her hair more stylishly she thanked me and said she preferred to continue wearing it in her usual way. Several persons, she said, had assured her that it just suited her classic profile. I wonder if Canby could have told her that awkward tale was Greek. He may have done it, thinking it would please me, for he knew I wanted him to be kind to her. But I didn't expect him to make silly, flattering speeches like that.

Canby invited Alice and me to go to the theater. That is, he remarked to me that he should like to take us, so I selected a play that I wished very much to see and then rang up Alice and asked her to go with Canby and me. It turned out that she had seen the play in New York in the winter before she came here, but it was the only thing in town that I thought worth while, so I didn't say anything to Canby about her having seen it. Really it was the best thing here, and I new Canby well enough to know that he'd want to take us to the best.

If Alice Maltby was a tactful girl she would not have let Canby know that she had seen the play before. It was very inconsiderate of her when he asked if she knew the story of it to own right up that she had seen it in New York. It would have been much more unselfish of her to evade the subject. I felt sorry for Canby, for he was naturally disappointed. He had thought he was giving her a new pleasure and he knew how anxious I was for him to make her have a good time, so, of course, the poor fellow was quite uncomfortable because he hadn't chosen another play.

He proposed going to supper after the theater and at first Alice didn't want to. She said she wasn't used to going to restaurants at night without a chaperon. I told Canby that I was simply starved and if he didn't wish to take me home in a fainting condition he'd have to give me something to eat. Alice consented then and we had a delicious little supper at one of the nicest places in town. I was so glad to have her see that particular restaurant, for I don't believe she'll have another chance.

It was dreadfully late when we got back to the Greens', where Alice is staying. I asked Canby to look at his watch just as we were starting up the steps of the house, and when he struck a match and told what time it was I was frightened, because father hates to have me out late at night. Mother told me only last week that he said he wouldn't stand for it, so I warned Canby that we must hurry.

"Don't wait to watch Alice into the house," I said. "She is all right, and if we don't simply fly we'll lose the next car. You don't mind, do you, Alice?"

"No-o-o," she answered, ungraciously. She didn't seem to realize how important it was for me to get home before it was much later.

Canby stood for a second hesitating. Then I turned and ran rapidly down the steps and there was nothing for him to do but follow. He called out: "Good night; I'm awfully sorry, Miss Maltby, to leave you so informally," and then we rushed on to catch the car.

"This morning I called up Alice to have a little chat with her about last night. She was positively chilly over the telephone. She said that Canby had her latchkey in his pocket and that she stood on the porch ringing the bell 20 minutes before she could rouse anyone. She also said a great deal about feeling ashamed of having to get Mr. Greene up at that unearthly hour. She really seemed to think, I believe, judging from the tone of her voice, that it was all my fault.

It will be just like her to tell Canby about it, too, and I suppose he will think I ought not to have hurried him away. It's absurd for me to be blamed for Canby's forgetfulness, especially when I was trying so hard to do what was right by getting home before father should begin to worry about me. Father is so cross and unreasonable when he is worried.—Chicago Daily News.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Next Monday night Charles Frohman manages a Shakespearean festival at the Academy of Music, New York, which will no doubt prove to be one of the most notable engagements of many seasons. He will present E. H. Southern and Julia Marlowe, the strongest combination of stars ever made in America, in magnificent productions, of favorite Shakespearean plays. The play for the first week will be "Romeo and Juliet." It affords Mr. Southern and Miss Marlowe wide scope for their splendid abilities.

CALIFORNIA TOMATO PLANTS

Three Months After Planting the Vines Climb to a Height of Twenty Feet.

The largest tomato plants in the world are found in California. One grower has three plants which have reached a length of 30 feet.

In three months from the time the seeds were planted, says What to Eat, they had climbed to the top of a 20-foot trellis. When they reached this remarkable height they grew backward until they attained a length of 39 feet.

They have no special care or cultivation, and have had no protection from the weather; yet in spite of every disadvantage they kept on growing and fruiting in the most astonishing fashion.

The trunks are one and a half inches in diameter, the foliage thick and luxuriant. Enormous quantities of tomatoes have been picked from these three plants, and the fruit is of unusual size, possessing fine flavor.

OCEAN LINER DELAYED.

Barracles Impeded Her Progress Across the Atlantic.

This was the excuse recently given by the officers of a big ocean liner which reached her destination three days overdue. The power was there, but her progress was retarded by the barracles which had gathered on the bottom and sides of this great vessel.

In referring to the matter a member of the firm of Fruthey & Hathaway, our local druggists, remarked, "This instance has a parallel case in the field of medicine. It is old-fashioned cod liver oil, which contains medicinal properties capable of splendid work as a body-building, strengthening medicine, yet on account of the system-clogging, greasy oil which it contains, its medicinal powers are impeded and its value lost.

Yet we know the power is there, and it has remained for two great French chemists to find a way to separate these medicinal, health-producing elements from the oil and give us Vinol. Vinol actually contains all the medicinal curative and strength-creating properties of cod liver oil, but contains not a drop of oil to upset the stomach and retard its work. In other words the barracles have been removed from this famous medicine by us.

We ask every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in Westfield and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging-on coughs, bronchitis or incipient consumption to try Vinol on our guarantee to return money if it fails." Fruthey & Hathaway, Druggists.

GRAVEL CURED

(Philadelphia, Penn., Item.)
A healthier, heartier, happier man than John J. Neill, of 2437 North 8th St., Philadelphia, could not be found in a day's search. The fact that he is still alive is a constant wonder to his friends.
Several years ago he began to suffer in describable misery from stone in the bladder. An eminent physician in Philadelphia told him that a surgical operation was necessary. So much did he dread the result for if unsuccessful it meant death, that he put off the evil day as long as possible. While in this frame of mind, he heard of

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Although disheartened, he bought a bottle of it, and within a month had experienced beneficial results, and before he had finished the third bottle, the gravel was completely dissolved and his sufferings at an end.
Mr. Neill feels that he owes a lasting debt of gratitude to Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, made at Rondout, N. Y., and for orders of the bladder and urinary organs. He says: "It will effect a cure if once possible." Favorite Remedy is prescribed with un-failing success for rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation, and nerve troubles in which has cured many that were considered beyond the aid of medicine. No Opportunity Ever Equaled THE PURSCH SALE OF SMART SPRING CLOTHING.

The people appreciate good clothing at a saving. That's proved by the continual demand for Pursch's Fine Garments. There's no handsomer or better clothing made, but with the ending of this sale also ends the possibility of purchasing garments of Pursch's make, as we purchased the entire balance of his stock at his closing-out sale.

While the rush for these splendid Spring Suits and Overcoats has been unequaled in the history of our business, lines are still complete.

But don't put off coming in till styles and patterns are all picked over. Another week or so will find the stock sadly broken up. There'll be another crowd of eager buyers. Better come as early as you can.

Pursch's $15 Suits.

Black thibets, blue serges; also grays; coats long, with deep back vent, creased side seams and pointed lapels, at..... $10

Pursch's $18 Suits.

Up-to-date Spring Fabrics; coats cut long and loose, with deep back vent; concave shoulder; trousers cut peg top, at $12.50

Pursch's $20 & $22 Suits.

The snappiest ready-to-wear suits you ever saw; grays, blue serges and finished and unfinished worsteds, showing all the points of elegance of custom-made garments, at..... $15

Pursch's $15 Raincoats.

All this season's newest fabrics and shades. They're as full of style as they can be. They're dressy rain or shine, at..... $10

Pursch's $18 Top Coats.

The new grays, tans and olives; also black, short and medium length; cut full, with broad shoulders and the new lapels, at..... $12.50

Pursch's French Back O'coats.

Made to sell at $20 to $25, in the new grays; cut long, with form-fitting waist, flaring skirt, deep back vent and creased side seams. They're decidedly popular this season for $15 young men.....

OUR REGULAR LINES.

Here's a Snap. We've gone over our regular lines of Hart, Shaffner & Marx and Kuppenheimer Spring Suits, and have taken a number of $25 suits, in the most popular fabrics and marked them at $20. Coats are made with fitted backs—that is the fitted effect is present, but they have that loose, stylish hang that most men like; centre vents, broad looking lapels that set flat; collars that hug the neck; fronts hand-padded, which makes them keep their shape as long as the coat lasts. Don't let this chance get away.

BAD TRICK OF GOOD TRADE.

Lawyers Point Out Evils of Practice in Personal Injury Litigation.

"The most serious evil of modern practice." This is the significant verdict pronounced upon the present
abuse of personal injury litigation.

The words are used, not by the employers who suffer through this abuse,
but by the Green Bag, a magazine published by and for lawyers themselves.
Practically the entire current number is devoted to this one subject.

One of the writers, in discussing the notorious runners, tells of a case in which the day after a street car collision 34 suits were brought from one office in favor of passengers. Drug stores and barrooms are subsidized; it is carefully noted abroad that so and so is good for $25 dollars if a safe case is sent him.

A case in most of our large cities must wait at least two years before it reaches a jury. The cost of a trial is large, and since this must come out of the lawyer's pocket, unless a verdict is won, he makes the cases that he wins pay for those that he loses.

Even a handsome verdict is pared down by counsel's and doctor's commissions, and the cost of trial to such an extent that a plaintiff would generally fare better if he had taken the beside settlement offered by the claim agent of the insurance company. Many an uninsured employer would pay comparatively liberally if he did not know that his money, instead of going to his injured workman, must pass across the itching palm of counsel.

War on Soap.

Scientific medical authorities are waging a war on soap; that is, soap in a form commonly used. The cakes of toilet soap for promiscuous use have already been driven from nearly all the hotels and office buildings in New York. Some startling discoveries were made recently in tests of soap taken from a number of New York hotels. With and disease bacteria were found in nearly every sample. The soap from the first-class hotels was no better than that found in cheaper hostleries.

Borrowing Money.

First Russia said she wanted to borrow $100,000,000; then it was $600-000,000, and now it is $800,000,000.
After all, the experience of the world has shown that it is easier to borrow $50 than it is to borrow 50 cents.

Imperial Tribute.

The kaiser has sent $75 for a commemorative tablet to be placed on the tomb of Gustav Ludwig, the historian of English art, who died at Venice in 1905.

GIRL BASEBALL PLAYER.

Champion of Her Sex Who Has a Great Record as a Thrower.

Four years ago Miss Marion Reynolds was the champion female ball player of Maine, if not of the United States. She was born on a farm, says Modern Women, and was one of a large family, mostly boys, all of whom were noted local baseball players.

As she grew to maturity her services were frequently required to make up the regular number for a team, and in this way she got such practice that she equalled any of them on the team.

A claim was made by the friends of a young lady in a New York college as the champion because of her throwing a ball 181 feet. But at Belfast, Me., Miss Reynolds threw the regulation ball, notwithstanding a strong wind was blowing, a distance of 182½ feet.

The measurement was made by the managers and several doubters. After the exhibition they tried her as a catcher, pitcher and batter, and she could outplay them all.

Miss Reynolds is of medium height and graceful form. Her manners are pleasing and unassuming. She dresses with taste. She has played ball in many cities, but has retired from the game and is now teaching school.

NEW YORK SAMARITANS.

Incident of the Fallen Horse, the Calm Driver and the Willing Helpers.

It has been said of New Yorkers,
and the saying is supported by a series of traditions, that if the wind blew off a man's hat in New York at least 50 persons will run to pick it up, anxious to recover it, brush it and run a block to return it to the owner.

Yesterday a horse drawing a heavily loaded wagon on the Bowery slipped and fell. Before the animal got through kicking and struggling it was tangled in the harness from bridge to breaching.

The driver looked tired and seemed to enjoy his cigarette and the respite from work. In a minute horse and wagon were surrounded by a crowd.

Twenty or more men got busy and pretty soon the horse was on its feet,
the harness adjusted and the crowd scattered. The driver didn't move an inch from the time the horse fell until he clucked to the horse to resume the trip. He didn't even smile. He took it as a matter of course.

When Most Accidents Occur.

It has been observed that the number of accidents increases progressively from hour to hour during the first half of the day, says an English scientist; after the midday rest, in the first hours of the afternoon, the number is notably less than in the last hour of the morning.
