PUBLIC MEETING ON TOWN HALL QUESTION.

Board of Trade to Hold Special Session at Casino, Tomorrow Night.

EVERYBODY INVITED TO TAKE PART.

Effort Will Be Made to Discover the Consensus of Public Opinion in the Matter.

The Westfield Board of Trade will hold a special meeting tomorrow night, at the Casino, at which the Town Hall site question will be fully considered. The meeting will be of a public nature and all those interested in the question are invited to be present and take an active part in the discussion.

The meeting has been called by President Tattle at the special request of a majority of the members of the Board, in the form of a petition. The object of the meeting is to act conjointly with the Council in seeking to determine the consensus of public opinion in regard to the purchase of a site for a Town Hall.

Since the Council voted to purchase the Sinclair property, a great deal of dissatisfaction has been expressed by the citizens, who regard the purchase price as too high. Others claim that it is not necessary to purchase a site at all; that the town is in no need of a site or hall at all, and that to buy at this time, when so many other improvements are absolutely needed, is to burden the tax payers. Still others there are who want the town hall site purchased, and the building of the hall deferred until a later time. So many and so diverse are the views expressed, that the Council is in a quandary as to what to do.

Members of the Board of Trade appreciate the situation, and in order to aid the Council have called a public meeting, when the whole question will be thoroughly reviewed, and it is quite probable that a vote of those present will be taken, or some form of resolution passed expressing the sense of the meeting.

The members of the Council, it is expected, will be present, and some of them may take an active part in the discussion. Mayor Alpers has publicly expressed his view in the matter. He has said, on a public occasion, that the purchase of a Town Hall site by Council was in conformity with the will of the people, expressed at the last general election, when authority was given to the Council to issue bonds for the purchase of a site and for the building of a town hall. The Council, Mayor Alpers has declared, could do no more, no less than what it has done, namely, select a site, and this has been done with much care. Mayor Alpers declares that the building of the town hall can be deferred for some time to come.

Many citizens share the opinion that there is no need for a Town Hall in Westfield; if, it is said, an election were held at this time the proposition would be overwhelmingly defeated. However it is conceded that the Council has acted within its rights in proceeding, at this time, to fulfill the obligation imposed at the last election, when the proposition was carried by a vote of two to one, although the light vote cast indicates that the building of a town hall was not regarded as a burning question at that time.

The meeting of the Board of Trade, Saturday night, promises some interesting developments, and it will probably be one of the most lively gatherings of its kind ever held here. The Council has as yet taken no definite action in the matter, further than to express its choice as to site. The ordinance, authorizing the bond issue, has been passed on first and second reading; another vote must be taken before it shall become a law. The ordinance, it was understood, would be acted upon at the next regular meeting of Council Monday night.

Trolley Car Leaves Track.

A west bound work and supply car of the New Jersey Railway Company left the tracks at the corner of Prospect street and Newton Place last Saturday morning at 9:15. The car was moving slowly in order to take the turn at that corner when the front trucks of the car left the tracks and sank in the earth to the axles of the wheels. The Superintendent said that the cause of the accident was the heavy rain and the combined weight of the load and car, which had caused the tracks to spread. The westbound track could not be used for traffic until 11:00 o'clock, when the car had been raised and set in place.

GOLF CLUB IN BLACK FACE.

Lawrence Bogert's Dark-Town
Prodigies Give a Real Minstrel Show at Casino.

AUDITORIUM CROWDED TO DOORS

And Everybody Made Happy by a Thoroughly Enjoyable Performance—Plenty of Local Hits.

The Westfield Golf Club minstrel show was given at the Casino, Monday night, before an audience that filled the auditorium. Nearly four hundred people were on hand when the curtain went up, disclosing a double row of black faces, in the center of which stood a snow white brilliance, the genial countenance and spotless wig of the Interoctor, Mistah Edward Proud-fit, who for the purposes of his distinguished office, had forgone a facial burn and bath.

In front of the stage were grouped the ten members of Harry Wetton's orchestra, which played overtures and sentimental ditties until Mr. Lawrence Bogert, the guiding spirit and musical director of the show, took his place on the band's bench. This was at 8:45 o'clock and from then until 11:30 Dark Town had its inning, and after the manner of its kind, made merry to the delight of everybody.

Of course the Tambos and Bones were the real cut-ups. They always are. The Interoctor told all the jokes they knew, with the assistance of the Interlocutor, and Charlie Halstead proved himself a past master in this line. Bill Bogert and Joe Sherman, and Charlie the tambos, "swapped" yarns with Fred Philipson, Joe Cunningham and Ed Faulkner, and at each exclamation, some local celebrity caught it. "Never since I was a boy," said one, "I have seen a more enjoyable show." "It was the best I ever saw," said another. "I like to be the sweetheart of a Westfield Girl," was given in his best speaking voice. Except for a few digressions from the vernacular, Ed did well. His song was particularly complimentary to Westfield feminines in general, and mildly critical of Westfield masculines in particular. He had to give the whole eleven stanzas, and he never got a single word misplaced, with only the footlights to guide him in reading from his voluminous MSS.

The opening number was a medley, "Down in Jungle Town," and "Ask Her While the Band is Playing," sung by the troupe, and then Frank Sparrell got sentimental and sang very feelingly, "Roses Bring Dreams of You." Fred Philipson, who is a bit of a wag, sang "Geo I wish I Had a Girl," and acted as if he were giving a parody on the sentiment expressed. Bob Perry's "Arab Love Song" had the correct Semotic twang to it, but it was explained that Bob had two medals, one leather and the other gold; the former he had received for singing, and the latter for stopping.

Joe Sherman would qualify at a Georgia Camp Meeting. We don't know how to explain Joe's special aptitude. We simply state that he sang "You're in the Right Church but the Wrong Pew," with an intelligence that seemed to convince his auditors that he'd had some experience in that line. It is earnestly hoped that, without embarrassment to himself, he "got in the wrong pew again."

Joe Cunningham vocalized "Don't Take Me Home," preferring jail to married life, and as he was the only soloist who had a third stanza to offer us an encore, he convinced everybody that he really regarded some further explanation necessary to prove his sincerity. Bill Bogert sang "Take Plenty of Shoes"—and Bill was funny. He must have been reminiscing. Then Ed Faulkner "elocutioned," and in the absence of "Hun" who was indisposed, his brother Pete Randall said, "That's What Makes a Nigger's Hand White Inside." Pete was taught this ditty at Princeton, and he sang it with the real academic polish. "Part One" concluded with a song and chorus "Good Old U. S. A. for Mine." George Taylor was the chief executionist, and the Interlocutor duly apologized for him on behalf of the U. S. A.

When the curtain went up for Part 2, Overseer James Boyd Wilson tripped upon the platform, and paid a fitting compliment to Mr. Lawrence Bogert for the service which he had rendered in training the troupe. On behalf of the Club, a bouquet was given to Mr. Bogert in appreciation of his work. Mr. Bogert bowed his acknowledgments.

That Home Among the Trees

The selection of a home site is a most important matter. One cannot afford to spend $5,000 to $6,000 in a home on a cheap lot; a lot that is just "cheap"—nothing else to commend it.

Surroundings must be considered; elevation and improvements as well.

No one can possibly make a mistake if they select one of the large home sites owned by The Pearsall Company on Grove Street and Westfield Avenue. Every lot is beautifully shaded, high and dry, pleasant surroundings, convenient to depot—walking or by trolley. Right in the heart of modern development.

A home among the trees adds much to genuine home comforts. The song birds put a dash of brightness in your everyday life. In the hot summer days you are well protected from the sun's rays by the shade of stately trees and yet you have the cool breezes wafted across your porch—all tending to make your home life ideal in every sense of the word.

The lots we are offering on most reasonable terms.

JERSEY CENTRAL WILL CONNECT WITH TUNNEL.

This Announcement is Made by Representative of Mr. McAdoo.

On a recent trip of New Jersey and New York real estate men through the Hudson tunnel, K. G. Conger, representing Mr. McAdoo, made an announcement which raised a cheer when he said the Jersey Central would ultimately connect with the tube.

He said that drawings are already made for this work and that it will be begun as soon as the connection to Forty-second street is completed, and pushed rapidly forward. Mr. Conger strongly intimated that the Central Railroad work will very probably be started in a year or a little more.

The speaker outlined the vast benefits this State will derive from the various tunnel connections and said that the increase in real estate values is already beginning, and is bound to go forward with leaps and bounds. He explained in detail and convincingly how this is being brought about and was roundly cheered by those present, who are deeply interested in the advancement of New Jersey.

New Manager For Scheuer & Co.

William Gickling, of Perth Amboy, has taken charge of the local branch of Scheuer's store, to succeed E. Lawrence resigned. Mr. Gickling has had considerable experience in the business, and under his direction the business of that concern promises rapidly to grow. At the same time local patrons are assured of courteous treatment, good service and the best goods at the lowest possible prices.

Fireside Council's Musical.

At the meeting of Fireside Council last night a very pleasing musical program was rendered by the Misses Ruth and Eva Whitney of Jersey City, consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers. The violin selections were especially enjoyed, and those who were not present missed a treat. The young ladies were ably accompanied by Miss Ella Ferris of this town.

Police on a Hunt.

Ducks making a noise at and early hour on 11th and 12th streets attracted the attention of Policemen Ditzel and Straub the other morning. Going there they found the cause. A big opossum was seen, and killed by the officers.

WESTFIELD MAN KILLED BY TRAIN AT BROAD ST. CROSSING.

James Zumbo of Downer Street, May Have Been Stealing a Ride.

James Zumbo, aged 23 years, and unmarried, whose home was on Downer street, was run over and killed at the Broad street crossing of the Central Railroad at 8:45 Wednesday night. The body was removed to Colo's morgue at Plainfield.

The dead man was a shoemaker by trade and was employed at Rahway. Both his arms were broken, his skull fractured and his body terribly mutilated.

Zumbo, it is thought, was struck by a train. His body was found by the gate-man about ten feet from the gate, lying across the inside rails of the west bound track, the train having passed over his body. Investigations by the police, however, have not determined whether Zumbo was walking the track, or was riding the coal train, and in attempting to jump off was caught between the cars, when he was killed.

Women Discuss Literature.

"Women in Literature" was the topic of discussion at the meeting of the Woman's Club Monday afternoon. Papers were read by Mrs. G. A. V. Hankinson on "American Women Writers," and by Mrs. L. D. Calkins "Women in Literature."

The musical program consisted of solos by Miss Tiffany, Mrs. E. S. Robinson accompanied. Miss Tiffany has never been heard in Westfield to better advantage. Her singing of Chadwick's Nocturne, and "Allah" by the same composer disclosed a voice of wide range and dramatic power, and her songs by MacDowell were expressive of the sweetness and melody which characterize all the work of that distinguished American composer.

The Advance Club Meeting.

The members of the Advance Club were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. St. George Rathborne, of Euclid avenue, Friday night. Mr. Cairns, Miss Brainerd and Miss Watson, read from Scott, and music from Beethoven was played by Mrs. Searl on the violin, Mrs. Taylor and Miss Baile on the piano. William Sissonson will entertain the club at the next meeting.

THE BEST WAY TO SAVE.

No Way So Good As Investing In a Reliable Life Insurance Policy.

There is no way in which a man can save for his family's benefit better than through Life Insurance premiums. The company then saves them all in aggregate for him, invests this steadily growing fund of his to an advantage which he is rarely in a position to attain, and pays the originally agreed amount of policy when he dies or when he reaches a stipulated age.

Many mortuaries methods of encouraging men to save have been evolved, but none possesses all the advantages of Life Insurance.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Nervous
Collapse

"I have traveled for thirty years continually. I lost a great deal of sleep, which together with constant worry left me in such a nervous state that finally, after having two collapses of nervous prostration, I was obliged to give up traveling altogether. I doctored continually but with no relief. Dr. Miles' Nervine came to my rescue—I cannot describe the suffering which this Nervine saved me. Whenever I am particularly nervous a few doses relieve me."

ANGEL LIBBY, Wells, Me.
There are many nervous wrecks. There is nervous prostration of the stomach, of the bowels, and other organs. The brain, the kidneys, the liver, the nerve centers are all exhausted. There is but one thing to do—build up the nervous system by the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. Its strengthening influence upon the nervous system restores normal action to the organs, and when they all work in harmony, health is assured. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Newark's Automobile Show.

Society people from all parts of the State attended the Newark Automobile show in the Essex Troop Armory Wednesday night. The entire night was devoted to the members of Essex Troop who thronged the big show. Last night the Automobile clubs of New Jersey attended the show and there was a meeting of the Associated Automobile Clubs of New Jersey in the executive offices of the building. At this meeting important legislative matters were discussed. The automobile dealers of New Jersey will attend the show tonight and a meeting of the various trade associations will be held. The show has been a highly successful one in every way, there being about fifty sales. Rain prevented many from attending the show Wednesday but there was a fair crowd despite this.

Dr. Morgan to the Front.

Westfield, New Jersey, Feb. 10, 1909.
Editor Standard:
My letter which you print in today's Standard was written in response to Mr. Skinner's statement that this troublesome gun was one of Gen. Maxwell's battery at Springfield, the mate of one mounted at Union Village, etc., etc.

Now, by the time my letter is printed, Mr. Skinner says that it is a British gun captured by citizens of Westfield from Knyphausen's invading army.
Really Dear Sir I am afraid I cannot keep up with Mr. Skinner.

When he finally decides what kind of a gun he wants, it will be time enough to finally verify his statements.
If it is to be a British piece let photographs and dimensions of the gun be sent to the Ordnance Department of the British War Office. A record will be found there doubtless of the character of field pieces sent to America at the required date.

Meanwhile what is the use of the Westfield Public Library or of any Public Library, or of the Great New Jersey Historical Society at Newark, if there is any dispute to-day as to the routes taken by Knyphausen and Matthews in the foray on Springfield, and the line of their retreat, or as to whether either route, coming or leaving, led through Westfield?

And, by the way, when Mr. Skinner speaks of "Westfield" does he mean the Revolutionary Township or the present town?
If Springfield—where the battle was fought—was a part of "Westfield" why then there was a battle in "Westfield."

But even then, I am afraid that the old Gun is not a Revolutionary relic.
I spoke in my last letter of my wish to close my part of this controversy. But I seem to be in it to stay. So when Mr. Skinner decides whether his gun is American or British we will go at each other merrily again.
Faithfully,

APPLETON MORGAN.

P. S.—When we remember that England—then as now, was the rich and powerful and military superior of Europe and that her armies were in no need of using old fortification guns on wheels for field pieces—is there any crying need of going on with this discussion.

The Historical Society of New Jersey.
Newark, Feb. 19, 1909.

Editor Union County Standard.

Dear Sir:

I am quite interested in your account of the capture of that old cannon now in the Soldiers' Cemetery.

In Record's History of Union County (Newark, F. W. Record—East Jersey History Company, 1897, page 614) which is the only history of Union county or of New Jersey in these rooms which mentions the matter, the account is quite the same as you give it. As I have faithfully searched all the newspaper and pamphlet files of the date and consulted more than twenty histories of New Jersey in the Revolution, and as I can find no mention of the matter anywhere else, I suppose the above quoted authority settles the matter.

"One affirmative witness is worth a million who don't know," and of course everybody is dead. Knyphausen, according to Lowell (Hessians in the Revolutionary War, page 258) had three cannon at Springfield, at the crossing of the railway. These may have been abandoned in the retreat, and one of them found its way to Westfield. But as Greene's army returned and occupied the burned town (Washington being with Gen. Greene's headquarters—see Baker's Itinerary of Gen. Washington) it is remarkable that the official report of the engagement mentions no guns captured or that, if any were captured, they were not, according to the rules of war, turned over to the Quartermaster's Department. Washington—according to Bancroft, Hillard, Lossing, Irving, Bryant and, in fact, all the historians of the Revolution—was a strict disciplinarian, and the number of guns or standards captured in an engagement is always mentioned in official reports as indicating the degree of success achieved and an army could not afford to throw away any war material at that time.

Knyphausen's soldiers marched by way of Elizabethtown (Elizabethtown) to Connecticut Farms (Union Village) and there deployed into two columns. One of these columns entered Springfield at the crossing of the railway river at the main street and the other, for flanking purposes, penetrated to the mill dam at Millburn (just where the ruins of an old paper mill stand alongside of the railroad station of the Lackawanna today). But as there was no enemy to flank at that point they withdrew and lay on their arms until evening, when ordered to join the retreat. Lowell testifies abundantly to the loyalty of the Jersey farmers.

But how one of Knyphausen's cannon could have strayed from its battery and found its way to Westfield, four miles from the action, is what it is hard to understand. If a brass piece it must have been of British make; if of iron, it may be an old Ticonderoga or Crown Point piece. The question is a long one and involves the question of whether the colonists had any cannon foundry—or it may be a French or a Spanish piece. We must remember that from the year 1607 to the close of the Revolution, not only England but France and Spain had forts in many places in what is now United States territory.

I hope the question will be thoroughly sifted. I don't know of any local question that could be more interesting.

Yours truly,

F. G. COXDR.

P. S. Lossing's Field Book of the Revolution gives not only records, but local traditions and sketches. I have read it very carefully and am mystified as to how he could have overlooked the facts set forth in Record and in your issue of to-day.

VINOL CURES CHRONIC COUGHS,
COLDS AND BRONCHITIS

After Other Remedies Fail

"I have been troubled with a chronic cold and bronchitis for a long time and have tried many remedies without finding relief. Through the kind suggestion of a friend I tried Vinol, and after taking four bottles, am entirely cured." A. H. Wilde, 733-8th Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.

B. McDonald, 147 W. Congress St. Paul, Minn., writes: "I contracted a severe cold last winter and thought I would never get rid of it. I tried Vinol as a last resort, and it has completely cured me."

Vinol combines two world-famed tonics, the healing, medicinal properties of cod liver oil and tonic iron, deliciously palatable and agreeable to the weakest stomach. For this reason, Vinol is unexcelled as a strength-builder for old people, delicate children, weak and run-down persons, after sickness and for Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis.

VINOL is sold in Westfield by Geo. W. Frutchoy, Druggist.

C. R. Kluger, the Jeweler, 1060 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed." TWO FAULTS COULD BE CURED.

Prospective Husband and Wife Both Full of Confidence.

An Irish boy marries when he has a rid house, and an Irish girl just when she pleases, says Seumas MacManus, in Lippincott's. Sometimes she so pleases while yet her years are few; at other times she is content to wait upon wisdom. In the latter case, of course, she makes a wise choice; but in the former almost always a lucky one—for luck is the guardian angel of the Irish.

"You're too young to marry yet,
Mary," the mother said, when Mary pleaded that she should grant
Laurence O'Mahony a particular boon.
"If you only have patience, mother, I'll cure meself of that fault," was Mary's reply.

"And she's never been used to work, Laurence," the mother said to the suitor, discouragingly.

"If you only have patience, ma'am," was Laurence's reply to this, "I'll cure her of that fault." And he did, too.

Albanian Customs.

Some strange customs exist in Albania. To compliment an unmarried woman, for instance, is provocation for death. A bloody enemy is under amnesty while in the company of a woman. A woman may shoot a fance who breaks his betrothal or call upon the young man's father to kill him. If a man commits murder, and, flying for his life, enters the house of another, friend or foe, he is safe. This is the case, even if he takes refuge in the house of a brother of the man he has slain. He may not remain there forever; but for three days he can live on the best that the house provides.
When that time is up, he is shown on his way. Twenty-four hours is given him to make his escape; after that the amnesty is over and the blood feud begins.—The Balkan Trail.

To Avoid Taking Cold.

Persons who take cold easily can greatly strengthen the entire respiratory tract by bathing the chest and neck morning and night with cold salt water; by "drawing" the salt water into the nostrils and expelling it from the mouth, and by taking deep inhalations of fresh air before an open window, expanding the chest and holding the air as long as possible, then slowly exhaling it. Do this morning and night for ten minutes, and all tendency to colds will vanish; besides you will notice a tremendous improvement in your health and appearance.

Medical Fees in Old Times.

The remuneration of physicians originally consisted in presents, but at the time of Hippocrates payment in money was already customary. Physicians received also public praise, the "crown of honor," the freedom of the city, the privilege of eating at the king's table.
Physicians employed by the state received a yearly salary, as high as $2,000 in some instances. Rich people would pay enormous sums for a successful treatment, and a case is recorded in which $200,000 was paid.—
New York Medical Journal.

Tee-totalers(?)

"Have you tried cloves with your tea?" asked the matinee girl. "I went to a studio tea given by Mrs. X., the artist, last week, and on a tray with the sugar and cream sat a cunning little china basket filled with cloves.
Some put their cloves in the tea, but I nibbled mine and thought of toothache, men coming back between the acts, and all sorts of memory-conjuring things. Of course, we told more spley stories after we dipped into the clove basket—why not?"

A REVIEW OF THE TOWN HALL QUESTION.

A call has been issued through the Board of Trade for a public meeting, at the Westfield Casino, tomorrow night, to consider the expediency of bonding the town for a town hall site and building purposes. The call has been issued on a petition signed by many respected and disinterested property owners, who regard the question of vital importance to the community at large, and who consider the present phase of it as somewhat embarrassing to the members of the council. The present attitude of the general public seeming so uncertain, and the opinions expressed so diverse, it has seemed to them as altogether fitting that an effort should be made to discover the wishes of the majority. To this end, the public meeting has been called, to which every citizen is invited and impartially to express his views. Each shall have equal opportunity to declare himself.

In considering the question it is important to bear in mind at this time one thing. Whatever the objections to the town hall proposition may be, and however strong the sentiment against it, the citizens must realize that the council's action to date has been in line with what it reasonably believed to be the public's demand. At the last election the general proposition to bond the town was submitted to the people, and while there was no agitation or discussion, it was favorably acted upon. And, when the Council, acting by authority of the citizens, first proposed the purchase of the Gale site, there was a long pause, during which public opinion seemed to beat rest. This was followed by the Standard's letter campaign, in which, while the views expressed differed, the points in question were that the Gale site was not suited to the purpose, and that some better site could be selected. In fact, the desirability of sites seemed to be uppermost in the public mind, the matter of expense to the town, or the advisability of such an outlay, not being seriously regarded at all.

The Council again took up the matter along the lines suggested by the people, and Mayor Alpers appointed a special committee to make a thorough investigation, and to report back its findings to the committee of the whole. The committee gave its best effort to the work, and as a result some twenty offers for sites were submitted, of which five were selected as available. Then the Council took up the recommendations of the committee, and after long debate, and by a vote of five to four, expressed its favor of the Sinclair site on Elmer street. Up to this time there had been no well defined expression of opinion against building a town hall; but since this action, the public has practically reversed its attitude on the subject, and has turned from tacit acquiescence to open opposition based on a more thoughtful consideration of the question. We presume that this opposition arises from the fact that it is easier to oppose a particular than a general proposition; still, why the advisability of bonding the town at all should not have been previously considered can be best answered by students of the psychology of the public mind. However, that this is not only a public's right, but is an evidence of praiseworthy interest—a desire to prevent that which has been unconsciously allowed to go too far without protest—is not to be disputed. This interest is rather to be admired. The one thing desired and hoped for by all impartial observers, however, is that this belated interest should insure an avoidance of criticism of the Council. The councilmen are doubtless as ready to retract at the behest of the people as they were to promote what they believed the people wanted. If the meeting develops a public sentiment against the town hall project, it will be because mature consideration of the whole question has convinced the people that the financial circumstances of the town, and the feeling that such a building is not an imperative need, make it wiser to postpone the undertaking to some later date.

This should be the broad viewpoint taken by all those who take part in the meeting tomorrow night, for it is the only real and tangible view-point. The council could justly resent harsh criticism of its action as a body, for it has clearly acted within its prescribed rights. The Westfield Council would only merit harsh criticism if it should proceed adversely to the people's will after an adequate demonstration of that will has been made. This, we believe, the council is in no way disposed to do.

We hope that all those who take part in the meeting tomorrow night will consider the facts as they are, and will keep the discussion on a high plane. The meeting should be advisory, not denunciatory. Only in so far as it is the former will its real purpose be achieved.

IT'S WORTH KEEPING IN MIND.

Gov. Charles E. Hughes, of New York, delivered the winter convocation address before the students of the George Washington University, at the Belasco Theatre, Washington, Feb. 22. His theme was the "Progress and Ideals of Washington." Gov. Hughes hit the nail squarely upon the head when he said:—

"While free institutions may be founded and supported by the heroic service of exceptional men, the strength of these institutions and their capacity for endurance must be found in the intelligence and conscience of the people as a whole and in the readiness of the people to respond to noble ideals in public and private life. In his humbler sphere, with less talent and smaller opportunity, battling in the lesser struggle of his restricted environment, every citizen may be heartened by the example of the great leader in our early history who with extraordinary powers met extraordinary emergencies with unsurpassed ability and fidelity. To derive this inspiration should be the chief object of the commemoration of this day."

In a word, the kind of institutions, and the kind of government we enjoy, locally and nationally, depend entirely upon the intelligence and public-spiritedness—the capacity—of the governed.

As a New Yorker Views It.

Editor Union County Standard.
Dear Sir:—In passing through Westfield on Tuesday evening last, I thought for a moment that my chauffeur had made a mistake, and driven into the lake. Further observation, however, showed me that I was on Westfield avenue at the junction with South avenue.

The roadway was standing, I shall not attempt to say how deep in water, but its depth was sufficient to cover my party with water and mud; the man, who of course had no inkling of such a state of affairs, being unable to stop in time to save us a drowning.

I read in the STANDARD that your town is about to invest $75,000 in a town hall. Might I suggest, for the benefit of my fellow travelers, that a few dollars of the $75,000 might be put to good use in remedying the condition of the roadway at the point mentioned?

Yours truly,
E. L. PRICE.

Trinity Church, Cranford.

At Trinity Church, on Sunday last, at the morning service, and again at a special choral service at 4:30 in the afternoon (a service which will be a distinctive feature on the third Sunday of every month) large congregations manifested their interest in the new vested choir composed of mixed adult voices under the competent leadership of Mr. Roland H. Horne as organist and choir-master. This is the first vested choir ever formed in Cranford, and its excellent singing of the musical part of the beautiful church service augurs well for a full measure of success and an increased interest in church matters in that parish.

Mead—Maduro.

Miss Josephine Maduro was married to Theodore Mead, of Roseville, on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Worl, where Miss Maduro has made her home for some time. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. I. Stearns, pastor of the Presbyterian church. The wedding was strictly private, only the immediate friends of the bride and groom being present. The bride was given away by her father, S. Maduro, of New York. Mr. and Mrs. Mead left at 11 o'clock for Washington, D. C., where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will take up their residence at East Orange, where Mr. Mead has bought and furnished a home.

Witke—Kern.

Charles Frederick Witke was married to Miss Margaret Clara Kern, of Brooklyn, at the home of his father, J. S. A. Witke, Hillside avenue, Monday evening. The ceremony was held in the art room, and was attended only by the members of the families and by Rev. Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Hayes. After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Witke will return to Flatbush, where they will reside for the remainder of the winter, and will later move to Westfield where the bridegroom intends to build a home.

The WANAMAKER STORE Announces The Spring Exhibition of DRESS FABRICS

In Many Ways the Most Interesting, Original, Artistic and Comprehensive Display Presented in the History of This Store

Not in Paris, not in any of the great capitals of Europe, not in the leading cities of America is there such an exhibition place, so spacious, so light, so conveniently arranged as the Wanamaker Dress Goods Salons. So that nowhere else, even if there were such an assemblage of beautiful fabrics gathered, would there be the physical facilities for such an exhibition as is now ready for public view.

Our experts have assembled here every new weave and every fashionable color tone which could be discovered by a personal tour abroad during the recent weeks, in addition to the large orders placed earlier both abroad and at home.

The Wanamaker Dress Goods Salons are arranged after an entirely new and original idea, which, while perhaps impossible where facilities are not so ample, is a radical departure from the usual methods of showing dress fabrics, providing infinitely greater comfort and convenience to women who wish to examine and purchase. The shelves are open to those who wish to see our entire stocks, and a separate table is provided for each customer.

A season of extraordinary colorings is impending. This exhibition presents them in most exhaustive variety. In special prominence are the wonderful deep, rich shades of prunelle, the loveliest violets, soft antique shades of rose, rich tapestry greens and all the other unusual color tones that have captivated Parisians as well as American women who have caught early glimpses.

Here are suggestions from the new fabrics:

Morning

Pattern Cloths, in subdued, unobtrusive stripes in gray and soft color-mixtures; will be used for tailor-made morning gowns. These materials are shown in a variety of exclusive patterns:

London Costume Suitings, 54 in. wide, at $3.75, $4 and $4.50 a yard.

Imported Serges, black-and-white, blue-and-white, and gray-and-white, 52 in. wide, at $2 a yard.

Striped Serges, in gray, blue, brown and tan, 46 in. wide, at $1.50 a yard.

Costume Suitings, shadow stripes, 48 in. wide, at $2 a yard.

Corded Suitings, two-toned effects, 50 in. wide, at $2 a yard.

Tailor Suitings, quiet shades of gray with white stripes, 47 in. wide, at $1.25 yd.

Vigoreaux Suitings, eight color-combinations, 48 in. wide, at $1.50 a yard.

Vigoreaux Suitings, fashionable grays, 52 in. wide, at $1.75 a yard.

Afternoon

Satin surface fabrics will be worn almost exclusively for afternoon costumes. The following materials are shown in the new Paris shades:

Satin Directoire Cloth, 42 in. wide, at $1.50 a yard; 54 in. wide, $2 a yard.

Satin Striped Prunella, 46 in. wide, at $1.50 a yard.

Shadow-striped Prunella, 42 in. wide, at $1 a yard.

Satin Soleil, 42 in. wide, at $1 a yard.

Bordered Serge, 46 in. wide, $1.50 a yard.

Fancy Striped Serge, 50 in. wide, at $1 a yard.

Fancy Baliste, 42 in. wide, 75c a yard.

Costume Broadcloth, 48 and 50 in. wide, at $1.25 and $1.50 a yard.

Imported Chiffon Broadcloth, 52 in. wide, at $2 a yard; 54 in. wide, $2.50 and $3 a yard.

Imported Satin Soleil, 50 in. wide, at $1.75 a yard.

Evening

Luxurious materials of silk-and-wool, with a clinging texture, showing a superb lustrous satin surface; will be used for evening costumes. They are shown in the newest Paris evening costume shades:

French Satin Cloth, lustrous surface, 43 in. wide, at $3 a yard.

French Satin Serge, 46 in. wide, $3 a yard.

Satin Cloth, 43 in. wide, at $1.50 and $2 a yard.

Silk-and-wool Soleil, 40 in. wide, at $1.50 a yard.

CHECKERS.

Westfield vs. Newark.

Our local players did not relish the defeat sustained some weeks ago at the hands of Newark players. Accordingly they went down to Newark on Washington's Birthday, determined to turn the tables on their foes. (?)

Play began promptly at three o'clock in the rooms of the Republican Club on Halsey street.

At Table No. 1 sat R. L. Craig, of Paterson, N. J., opposed to J. H. Cash.

Table No. 2, E. A. Lavallette vs. R. S. Green.

Table No. 3, C. A. Lillie vs. J. H. Kimball.

Table No. 4, J. W. Moore vs. L. M. Whitaker.

Table No. 5, J. O. Brill vs. T. A. Ball.

Table No. 6, J. O. Smith vs. W. H. Baker.

The last named at each table represented Westfield.

In all 24 games were played, four at each table.

The final score favored Newark, but by so close a margin that defeat seemed like victory. Newark 12, Westfield 11, drawn 1, total 24.

Throughout the play the tables were surrounded by interested spectators. Surprise seemed general that so small a town as Westfield should be able to turn out so many able players.

A bountiful dinner followed the match.

Mr. R. L. Craig handed us this score of one of his games at Table No. 1, because of its variation from the ordinary line of play. Evidently it was new to Mr. Cash, although the "Cross" is a special favorite with him, and he failed to get the proper continuation.

"CROSS."

R. L. Craig, (black), J. H. Cash, (white). 11-15, 23-18, 8-11, 27-23, (a) 3-8, (b) 24-20, (c) 9-13, 18-14, 10-17, (d) 21-14, 15-18, 22-15, 11-27, 6-9, 32-23, 23-18, 1-6, 25-21, 12-10, 20-11, 8-22, 20-17, 13-22, B. win.

Notes by R. L. Craig.

(a) A fine variation from the old line of path of 4-8. [Mr. C. said to us he would be willing to play this variation against any man in the world.—Editor.]

(b) I consider this weak, 32-27 is much better; a fine reply to 3-8.

(c) Very good, as white is apt to make a blunder here, as one would hardly know what to play.

(d) White has to play after this.

Another interesting game at Table No. 2 follows.

"AYRSHIRE LASSIE" DECLINED.

11-15, (a) 24-20, (b) 15-19, 23-10, 12-19, 22-18, (c) 8-12, 18-15, 4-8, (d) 25-22, 10-14, 20-25, 14-18, 27-24, (e) 9-14, 20-16, (f) 7-11, 16-7, (g) 3-10, 24-20, 18-23, 20-10, 2-7, (h) 28-24, 25-22, 32-23, (i) 22-17, W wins.

Notes by the Editor.

(a) This move forms the "Ayrshire Lassie."

(b) Black does not like the Lassie and proceeds to break her up.

(c) We prefer 9-14.

(d) In order, if 7-11, to play 20-25, maintaining the outpost at 15 without necessity of 20-22, for white man at 23 is needed for later development.

(e) 7-11 would have prevented the irresistible attack for which white is now prepared.

(f) Forced, or black will lose a man by 10-11, followed by 24-20.

(g) 2-11 would not save the game.

(h) 14-17 would be better, but black saw that this move would lose a man by 25-22, followed by 15-11, and in trying to avoid this loss reached defeat much quicker.

(i) 15-11 is equally decisive.

End Play.

Problem No. 77 by R. S. G.

Black: Men on 3, 8 and 12, kings on 1 and 19.

White: Men on 23, kings on 9, 17, 18, 25 and 26.

Black to move and win.

Solution: 10-21, 28-10, 12-16, 10-12, 3-7, 12-3, 1-5, 9-10, 5-7, sweeping the board. B wins.

Problem No. 78 by Atty Gen. Edmund Wilson.

This problem was published in a recent issue of the Newark Call, as a special from Red Bank, the home of Atty Gen. Wilson. The problem, according to the despatch, "is said to be one of the most difficult ever brought out." Yet several of our local solvers mastered it on sight.

Black: Men on 2, 3, 5, 12, 17, 20, king on 26.

White: Men on 14, 19, 24, 27, 28 and 32, king on 15.

White to move and win.

WORK OF THE WESTFIELD

BOYS' SIGNAL CORPS.

Good Progress Made by Presbyterian Church Division.

The Westfield division of the Signal and Telegraph corps of the United Boys Brigades of America, has shown great improvement since its organization on November 16, 1908. Drilling every Monday evening at the Parish House of the Presbyterian Church, under the instruction of Colonel Walter Allen Stryker, the members have made good progress in signaling with flags, lanterns and telegraph.

Friday morning, February 12, the brigade went out for road work. Friday evening they gave an exhibition drill before the men's clubs which was highly commended. Sunday night, the 13th a Muster-in-Service was held at the church, at which ten U. B. A. men were present among them being Major General Geo. H. E. Robinson, Commander of the New Jersey Division; General H. M. Stratton, Commander of the Brooklyn Division; and General Hartman, Commander of the New York Division.

During this service General Robinson presented the corps with a charter and the non-commissioned officers with warrants.

Rev. Mr. Brooks, of Trinity Reform Church, of Plainfield, and Mr. Shepherd have been watching closely the work of the brigade for the purpose of starting a division in their home church.

The personnel of the brigade is as follows: Fred C. Brush, first sergeant; S. Williams, second sergeant; E. Witke, quartermaster sergeant; H. Fink, J. Ludlow, H. Miller, S. Reese, E. Archibald, B. Carpenter, L. Catto, G. Cook, C. Ewing, L. Holmes, R. Stiles, R. Tice, G. Howarth, W. Lambert, L. Meyer, R. Miller, W. Reese, C. Sisserson, H. Taylor, R. Tompsoe, B. Irving, corporals.

The brigade has proved itself to be a benefit to those in it, and to the town and church.

A farmer that sowed wheat all over crop of oats, wheat and corn the same, what would you think of him? What would you say of a man who fed his horse, cow, hog and poultry from the same package of condition powder? Is The Order of Things

In Newark's Best Cloak and Suit Department

Springtime almost seems upon us, viewed not only from the weather standpoint, but the appearance of our garment department. Each day presents its quota of

New Tailored Suits, the number of 14.98

would do us credit, even at the season's height.

One of the models is noted for its graceful lines and stylish appearance, which even a severely plain garment has when it comes from Straus's. But not all are plain by any means; some have a touch of braid or satin trimming which, according to the ideas of many, give a suit an added charm.

The suit coats are lined throughout with satin and are tailored and finished up to the best Straus Standards.

GOLF CLUB IN BLACK FACE.

and at the top of his stick, the orchestra played an introduction to Billy Carter, monologue and bongo specialist, who told of his experience in matrimonial speculations, and sang a few negro melodies. Fred Phillipson, who had in the meantime got acquainted with soap and water, next appeared in the role of "Sport Lovensolm," and acted the part of the Hebrew to perfection. Willie Bachman sang "Sweet Genevieve," so sweetly that he was compelled to respond to an encore which he sang even more sweetly. Then Fred VanEps entertained with a few bongo solos, and the curtain went down "neath a shower of flings from above, while the minstrels sang:

"We Thank You, yes we do!
You just you, we hope we've pleased
this evening,
Good by all, and that's our parting
word in leaving,
We feel blue, losing you,
With your smile so sunny, honey, we thank you."

While everybody joined heartily in singing the "Star Spangled Banner."

The chorus deserves a Carnegie Hero medal—Gold.

It was a good show, and well worth repeating. It is the prevailing opinion that entertainments of this kind should be the rule rather than the exception at the Westfield Golf Club.

The stage manager was James H. Wilson; William F. Duffy was electrician; and the committee of arrangements was as follows: Wm. E. Tuttle, Jr., chairman; Wm. J. Bogert, Jr., Spencer Gales, Fred Phillipson, W. R. Davis, Frank J. Sparrell, A. L. Randall, J. B. Wilson, E. B. Proudft.

The minstrels were: Wm. Dastable, John Barr, Floyd Cooper, James Dodd, Edward D. Floyd, D. S. Paile, O. H. Kye, J. B. Wilson, G. W. Randall, E. S. F. Randolph, F. D. Mooniey, George Schoonmaker, Frank J. Sparrell, C. R. Swannay, A. D. Tuttle, W. E. Tuttle, Jr., Harold Thompson, F. H. Ungerer, A. R. Whitman, A. L. Randall, G. W. Taylor, Robert Parry.

EXERCISES AT HIGH SCHOOL.

Washington's Birthday Commemorated by a Play, "Valley Forge."

The exercises in memory of George Washington were held last Friday morning at the Washington School. The program began with a song by the school, "God of Our Fathers," followed by an interesting and humorous play given by the fifth grade of the grammar school. The platform was made to represent a camping scene at "Valley Forge." The decorations consisted of hats and tents covered with snow, and a campfire, about which were many soldiers. The cast of characters was: George Washington, R. Cairns; Sambo, E. Reese; Mike (wounded soldier), J. Whalen; British spy, H. Darby; Angel of Valley Forge, A. Wheeler; Privates, J. Knight, H. Leggett, A. Roy, H. Crutenden. "America," sung by the school, concluded the exercises.

It Was An Agreeable Surprise to Him.

A stranger walked into our office one day last week with the meekness of one seeking a favor and said he wanted to buy a small house within his very limited means—$2,000.

A few minutes later we were hurrying him in our automobile to a place which suited him exactly and he thereupon agreed to buy.

He thanked us profusely for our courtesy, which he characterized as extraordinary, declaring it to be quite in contrast with the cold and shabby treatment received in neighboring towns when the smallness of his proposition was made known.

But that is our way—the transaction being small or large. Our customers like it, deals are effected more quickly and pleasantly, and we, ourselves, feel the better for it.
