GOV. FORT WILL SPEAK.

Has Assured Committee That He Will Be Guest of Honor at Trade Board Dinner.

WM. G. McADOO, MAYBE.

Promoter to be Asked to Talk to People of Westfield—Date Not Certain, But Likely to be Early in May.

The first annual banquet of the Westfield Board of Trade will probably be held early in May. The date has not yet been fixed, since the committee of arrangements is waiting for Governor Fort to determine on what evening he can most conveniently come. Governor Fort has been seen in this connection, and has positively assured the committee that he will be present and speak at the banquet. The affairs of state, during the session of the legislature, have been so exacting that he has held all other matters in abeyance. The session being over, Governor Fort is free to make engagements with certainty. He will, it is understood, be one of the speakers.

The people of Westfield are anxious also to hear William G. McAdoo. Mr. McAdoo's profound knowledge of transportation accommodations, gained in connection with his work as a promoter of great enterprises, makes him a most desirable man as a speaker before an organization which is seeking to enlarge and better facilities in a large and growing municipality such as Westfield. Mr. McAdoo will be another big man whom the Board of Trade's committee will endeavor to secure. Governor Fort's acceptance being now practically assured, the committee is confident that Mr. McAdoo can be prevailed upon to accept also. Every effort will be made to fix upon a date that will be satisfactory to them both.

The dinner promises to be the largest gathering of local citizens ever assembled under one roof for a like object. In addition to the speakers, and the Trade Board members, the representatives of other Boards in the county will be invited. The dinner will probably be held at the Westfield Casino.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD MEETING.

Eighth Annual Gathering of Local Organization, Tuesday.

The Westfield Branch of the Needlework Guild of America will hold its eighth annual meeting in the Presbyterian Parish House on Tuesday, April 20th, at three o'clock.

This organization has but one object, the collection of new clothing and household linen for the poor and needy; only one requisite for membership, viz: the annual contribution of two or more articles of wearing apparel, household linen or a donation of money and it holds but one meeting, the annual, at which time there is the exhibition and distribution of the articles contributed. The first year of its organization the number of garments collected was 765; last year the number was 1347 which were sent to nine different charitable institutions and hospitals leaving 179 as a reserve fund for private cases; it is hoped that a larger number of articles will be given this year.

At the meeting on Tuesday an address will be given by Sister Miriam of St. Catherine's Home, Hoboken, and the ladies of Westfield are cordially invited to be present.

Any person not having been asked and wishing to become a member of the Guild may communicate with the President, Mrs. James O. Clark, or the secretary, Miss Elizabeth French, 630 Clark street.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT MEN'S LEAGUE LAST ENTERTAINMENT.

The concert, under the auspices of the Men's League of the First M. E. Church was in all respects a thorough success. The Levitt children showed their wonderful skill as banjoists and entertainers. They were enjoyed by the largest audience ever seen in the church and particularly by the many school children. Mrs. Scarff brought great applause, through her violin solos, particularly from those who enjoyed good music with good expression. Mrs. Reed entertained by her recitations and comic songs while Mr. Young baritone soloist, sang intelligently. Miss Natalie E. Brainerd and Mrs. Harry N. Taylor were accompanists.

STATE FEDERATION TO CONVENE

AT ATLANTIC CITY MAY 7-8.

Local Club to be Represented by Full Delegation—President to be Elected.

By the invitation of the Woman's Research Club, the fifteenth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs will be held at the Hotel Chelsea, Atlantic City, on Friday and Saturday, May 7th and 8th. Clubs numbering fifty or less are entitled to send two delegates, and clubs numbering fifty to one hundred are entitled to send three delegates. The Woman's Club of Westfield, which is one of the largest in the federation, will probably be represented by three delegates. The most important item of business will be the election of a President for a term of two years to succeed Mrs. Dawson, of Newark.

Trains leave for the convention from Jersey City via P. R. R. at 7:44 a. m., Newark, 7:56, Elizabeth, 8:08, Trenton, 8:51, and arrive at Atlantic City at 11 a. m. Also for the accommodation of those who are unable to go early in the day, a train leaves Jersey City at 3:15 p. m., Newark, 3:27, Elizabeth, 3:35, Trenton, 4:27, and arrive at Atlantic City at 6:10 p. m.

The rates of Hotel Chelsea, American plan, will be as follows: For one person occupying single room, $4.00 to $4.50 a day. Two persons in double room, $8.00. Delegates will make their own arrangements for hotel accommodations.

A reception will be given by the Woman's Research Club of Atlantic City, in the ball room of the Hotel Chelsea on Friday evening, May 7, to which officers, delegates, club women and visiting guests are cordially invited.

"WOMEN OF THE STAGE."

Mrs. Watts Reads Instructive Paper on Evolution of Drama.

The Woman's Club met Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Samach Miller and Mrs. Wheatley were elected members of the Club. The reports of the nominating and auditing committees for the annual meeting were read, and other routine business transacted.

Miss Genevieve Peddie opened the program with a piano solo, "A Spring Song," and responded to an encore with "Alice."

The paper of the afternoon was "Women of the Stage" written and charmingly read by Mrs. Watts. This paper was one of the finest given before the Club in many years, and showed an appreciation and knowledge of the subject that aroused interest and response in every woman present.

The subject was divided into five parts—a general introduction dealing briefly with the drama in Grecian and Medival times, then Shakespeare and his times; the Restoration in 1660; the Eighteenth Century; and the Present Day. The progress of the drama from the crude, primitive, rough representations of the fifteenth century to the elaborate, beautiful productions of our own times, was clearly and skillfully handled. Many pictures of costumes were given; those of Nell Gwynne, Berty Oldfield, Peg Woffington and Mrs. Siddons were particularly interesting. The paper was full of anecdote and apt quotation. At the close Mrs. Watts was greeted with prolonged applause, and later received congratulations from a large number.

Ladies Aid Society Elects Officers.

The Ladies Aid Society of the First M. E. Church held its annual election last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James R. Ferris on Prospect street. The following officers were elected: Mrs. James R. Ferris, president; Mrs. A. W. Hayes, vice president; Miss Ethel Pearsall, secretary; and Mrs. E. A. Brainerd, treasurer. A social hour concluded the meeting.

TEST CASE TO BE MADE OF BILL POSTING ORDINANCE.

Newark Bill Posting Company Gets Into Trouble Therefor.

James Cookman, representing the Newark Bill Posting Co., attempted to post a number of bills on the boards on Elm street, last Monday morning. Cookman went about his work as if he supposed that Westfield had no police force, and that the bill posting ordinance recently passed by Council were a joke.

Across the street, at headquarters, however, Chief O'Neill was on his job, and having received specific instructions from Chairman Floyd of the Police Committee, to arrest any person posting bills in violation of the ordinance, he at once deputized one of his men to round up the assiduous Mr. Cookman. The latter was hailed into court, where he explained that he was carrying out the instructions of men "higher up," who had determined to test the ordinance. The Newark Bill Post Company has been contending for some time that the license of $100 imposed by the bill posting ordinance is prohibitive, but Town Attorney Oliver has advised Council to the contrary. Lawyer Oliver contends that the Town has the right to fix the license fee at $100, and is prepared to fight the case out in court on behalf of the Town.

Mr. Cookman was released from custody, and it is understood that the test case will soon be tried, at which time the Bill Posting Company and the Town, through Council, will argue to a finish on the legal status of the ordinance.

A. H. LACK AGAIN HEADS

PRESBYTERIAN MEN'S CLUB.

Unanimously Chosen for Third Term—Entertainment Course to be Continued.

The Men's Club of the Presbyterian Church held the annual meeting and dinner in the parish house on Friday evening last. Fifty-two members were present at the dinner, which was served by ladies of the church.

The officers and the executive committee elected are as follows: president, Arthur H. Lack; vice-president, David Coalter; secretary, Arthur B. Price; treasurer, Wm. Sissonson; executive committee, Alex. McL. Roland, J. B. B. Douglass, A. N. Pierson, W. C. Reed and H. N. Walker.

The report of the treasurer showed a small balance on hand. Reports were made by F. W. Brush, of the membership committee; G. H. L. Morton, of the entertainment committee; J. O. Ketchum, of the auditing committee, and M. B. Dutcher, of the entertainment committee, all of which were interesting and encouraging. The entertainment course will be continued. On motion of Dr. Calkins, a vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to all the officers and committees for their faithful work for the past year, to which the president responded. The pastor, Dr. Stearns, spoke a word of commendation and admonition at the close.

The club accepted an invitation from the Men's League of the First Methodist church to be their guests on "Discoverer's Day" (October 12th). The suggestion that the clubs of the town form a federation, and that a series of baseball games be arranged, was referred to the proper committees.

Inter-Class Basketball Contest.

The four local high school classes are to compete during the coming week for a banner to be awarded to the class which defeats all others in basketball. The class teams, both boys and girls, have been practicing for the last week, and all speak as though they were going to take the banner. It is hard to tell, and the games are sure to be good and exciting.

Each student playing on his or her class team in two-thirds of the schedule of games is to receive class numerals, which will be awarded on some public occasion to be held at the High School during May. Next Tuesday, the Freshman boys and girls play the Sophomores; Thursday, the 22d, the Junior boys and girls play the Freshmen, and Friday the Sophomore boys and girls play the Seniors.

Board of Trade Meeting Postponed.

The Board of Trade meeting which was to have been held last evening was postponed for one week. Important matters will come up for settlement at the meeting next Thursday night and a large attendance is requested.

TONY IN THE TOILS AGAIN.

This Time For Breaking Into Schmitt's Bakery and Stealing Cake, Candy and Money.

PRIED OPEN THE BACK DOOR.

Made Quiet and Quick Work of It, In His Early Sunday Morning Raid—He is Sent to Elizabeth Post House.

Tony Moratto, the nine year old Italian boy, who last week entered the drug store of James G. Casey, on Broad street, and stole a quantity of candy, etc., and was soon after caught and released under the custody of his parents, seems to be absolutely without fear or conscience. Tony's reputation as a born crook is now pretty well established, and the law may deal as mercifully with him as it can under the circumstances.

Tony had not been out of custody a week before he made another haul; this time with an effort to avoid detection. On Sunday morning he entered Schmitt's Bakery on Broad street, and stole a quantity of cake and candy and helped himself to all the loose change he could find in the till. Tony gained entrance by a rear door, which was not very securely fastened; the boy burglar had little trouble in prying it open without making any unnecessary noise. The occupants on the floor above are sound sleepers when they get right down to the business of it, and they never heard the least noise. Tony made quick work of his shop lifting expedition. This was at 4:30 a. m.

He first tried to open the safe, but failing to make the right combination, he managed to put it in such shape that Proprietor Schmitt couldn't work it. He then pried open the cash drawer, taking out all the money, something over a dollar in cash. Then the cake and candy compartments were pilloaged, until Tony's pockets were crammed full.

The police, were notified of the burglary by Councilman Schmitt shortly after six o'clock and suspicion at once fastened upon Tony. It took the police until after ten o'clock to capture the boy, who remained in hiding long enough to eat most of the cake and candy. What he couldn't eat, he hid at his home.

As soon as captured, Tony confessed with characteristic frankness. He never winked, when he informed the police that they had overlooked one item of the stolen goods—the cake, which up to that time, Proprietor Schmitt had not missed.

Tony smiled blandly when Judge Toucey upbraided him in stentorian tones. The boy seemed to regard the whole proceedings as a huge joke. The Recorder decided that Tony was a hopeless case, and ordered him sent to Elizabeth, there to be placed in the custody of Mrs. Emily Williamson, the probation officer, and head of the Juvenile Court. Tony was taken to Elizabeth, Monday morning. He went without protest. His case will be given immediate attention.

Tony, it is also charged, is wanted for stealing books from the local public schools. The boy had quite a reference library at his home, the products of his bandiwork while an "industrious student."

McKINLEY SCHOOL OPENED.

New Building Inspected Saturday, and Classes are Formed Monday.

The McKinley school building was opened for inspection last Saturday afternoon, and on Monday morning, the students assembled for their classes in the new building. Six classes have been formed, with Eugene Nesbit as principal.

Many people visited the building Saturday. J. W. Davis, chairman of the committee, Charles McDougall, president of the Board of Education, and Dr. J. J. Savitz, Supervising Principal of Schools, acted as a reception committee and escorted the visitors on a tour of inspection.

As stated in a previous issue of the STANDARD, the McKinley school is a commodious and well appointed building. It has eight class rooms and an auditorium with a seating capacity of 200. The furniture and trim is in green, and the walls, of white plaster, furnish a pleasing and restful contrast. The building is heated by steam, which is generated through the rooms by a large electric fan. The building cost $42,800, and the lot $1,200.

ALL STARS WIN FIRST GAME.

Score of 11-10.

The All-Star Baseball Club, which was recently re-organized for this season, defeated the Laurel A. C. of Garwood, last Saturday afternoon on the Westfield avenue grounds by the score of 11-10. The All-Star players had not been notified that a game would be played that afternoon, and the members of the team played baseball in their street attire.

The game was begun immediately after the arrival of the All-Star team, the players taking their respective positions without any preliminary practice.

The Laurel A. C. scored two runs in the first inning only to be tied by the Star players in their half. The game was a see-saw affair, first the lead being taken by one team and then the other. In the seventh inning, (which was the last by agreement) Schmitt walked and stole second. Kelly who had been hitting weakly all the afternoon found the Garwood pitcher for a hot single scoring Schmitt and ending the game.

The Garwood pitcher proved a puzzle to the All-Star batsmen but his teammates made many errors which aided the All-Stars materially in their run-getting.

Eller the All-Star's pitcher could not find the home plate and he issued many passes to the initial corner. His curves did not break right for him and the cold weather made it impossible for him to pitch in his old-time form. Great things are expected of him however, before the season closes.

Other features of the game were Woodruff's catching and Tom's one handed catch of a long fly. Nelson, Marengi and Woodruff each made long hits. The former proved a tower of strength for the Laurel A. C. getting a home run and a three bagger. Marengi and Woodruff, each hit for three bases and their timely swats scored half of the All-Star's runs. How the winning run was scored has already been told. The fact that the game was played on such short notice by the All-Star team makes their well-earned victory a gratifying one to their admirers.

They at present look very formidable and they wish to arrange games with all fast teams of the county. Challenges should be sent to Manager Robert Eller, Westfield, N. J. The next game will be played with the strong nine of the Presbyterian Cadets on April 24th.

The score—
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 R. H. E.
All-Stars 2 2 2 1 3 0 11 — 11 8 4
Laurel A. C. 2 3 1 2 3 1 0 — 10 12 8

FOR A BETTER ROAD SYSTEM.

The care and maintenance of Westfield's public roads has come to be such a large item of annual expense, that it would seem as if, in the near future, the Town Council should give serious consideration to the proposition of bonding the Town for the purpose of building about ten miles of good roadway. At present the Town maintains about forty miles of roads, one half of which are macadamized in a rather make shift fashion. There are in the town three and three-quarter miles of county roads, including North, South and Central avenues. Nearly all the roads throughout the residential section were built by the old Township Committee. They were originally dirt roads, upon which crushed stone was dumped without regard for grade, and with no effort at reconstruction. Orchard street, Walnut street, Kimball avenue, in fact all the roads outside of the recently developed parts of the Town such as the Stanley, Oval and Terrace Park Sections, were built along these lines.

The great difficulty with our present road system is that it was never properly built. Only the central strip was macadamized at all, and this in such a way as to make the road unfit to stand heavy travel. Complaint is often made that the roads appear to be all dirt; and this because the dirt from the sides is carried over onto the macadam center by vehicles.

Poor construction, according to the old and now obsolete methods, necessitates an annual expenditure of approximately $4000 a year for the repair of macadam roads. The repairs made from year to year are of only a temporary nature, since the top-dressing quickly wears off, and because there is no foundation worthy of the name, the road soon appears in worse condition than before.

Road building has become a fine art, and in every up-to-date municipality under the sun roads are being built with liquid asphalt binder, the old clay binder having been discarded as unserviceable. Furthermore, the new system of road building includes not merely the macadamizing of a strip of road in the center, and leaving the sides in their natural and unkept state; but macadamizing from gutter to gutter, an average distance of some forty feet. The central part of the road or about sixteen feet in the center is macadamized for depth of about eight inches (the old roads today in Westfield are macadamized to a depth of from two to three inches) and on the sides, to a depth of four inches.

It is stated by those in authority that Westfield should have at least about ten miles of good roadway, built along the lines suggested above. The cost would necessarily be large, much larger than it would be under the old system. It is estimated that roads macadamized from gutter to gutter with liquid asphalt binder can be built at a cost of $15000 per mile, or a total cost for ten miles of $150,000. This done, Westfield would have a road system equal to any and superior to most towns of the size in the state. And the roads, with good care, would be able to stand the test of heavy travel for all time.

By such a road system, the annual expense would be so reduced as to carry the bonded debt, and the sinking fund appropriation. There would be a net saving each year for the first five years of $1000, the amount now expended for the maintenance of roads; for it is estimated that the new roads would need no repairs at all for five years, and thereafter repairs would only be needed on roads where the traffic was heaviest. These repairs would be in the nature of a light top dressing, which with the heavy macadam base, would keep the roads in thorough condition. On the roads where traffic is light, no repairs would be needed for ten years, and top dressing would then have to be applied only about once in five years.

There is reason for believing that if the Common Council were to undertake the building of a road system along the lines mentioned the plan would meet with general approval. It has been suggested that the entire improvement be not undertaken at once; that the first bond issue be for $75,000, to cover about half of the work. When this has been done, it is declared, the improvement will be so obviously necessary, that public demand will call for the second bond issue to complete the work. There is also a contention raised which should be recognized: Is it fair to ask the town to meet the entire expense of the improvement? Since it is imperative that the roads be macadamized from gutter to gutter, why should not the abutting property owners stand their share of the cost—that is the cost of macadamizing the sides of the street?

Public recognition of the need of better roads, as expressed at the open meeting of the Board of Trade, and as further emphasized by the Mayor in his annual message, and by an insistent desire on the part of patriotic citizens to place the Town in the front of the front rank, argue well for the undertaking of this improvement at the earliest possible moment.

Let the Common Council cogitate.

The game scheduled for last Monday with Plainfield High School was postponed until the following Monday on account of rain.

Mackman—Schweinfurth.

Miss Helen G. Schweinfurth, who returned from Brazil two weeks ago, was another of the Easter brides. She was married to Dr. Robert Lee Mackman, on Monday, in the Methodist Church on Jersey City Heights. Miss Rosalie Schweinfurth was bridesmaid. Mr. Wallace Thomas, of Jersey City, was best man. A dinner and reception was given at the Hotel Seville on Madison avenue and 28th street. Among those present were the sisters and cousins of the bride and friends from Brazil, Washington, D. C., Boston, New York, Jersey City and Westfield.

The couple will spend two months in the Adirondacks and from there will travel through the south and west then to Alamo, Texas, where they will reside. The bride received many beautiful gifts.

Mrs. Parsels at M. E. Church.

Mrs. A. B. Parsels, of Philadelphia, gave a brilliant address in the M. E. Church on Monday evening, under the auspices of Willard W. C. T. U. The pulpit was draped with the flag. The opening hymn "Faith of Our Fathers" was a prelude to the optimistic outlook taken by the speaker. She reviewed rapidly the earlier movements for total abstinence and claimed that the world is growing sober, in view of the advanced position of today. At the close of 1908, there were 125,000 railroad men, who, compelled by the corporations, signed the total abstinence pledge. The world will no longer tolerate the drunken engineer. The old idea was to take the man away from the drink; today we take the drink away from the man. The prayers of the "Crusaders," of 1878 are answered today by the legislatures of the states, in which the saloon is outlawed. Everything she claimed "comes by the way of the Christ." She made a strong plea for the organization of the forces for right, as the forces of the liquor traffic are organized. So convincing were her arguments that although the audience was small, four ladies and three gentlemen gave their names as active and honorary members of the W. O. T. U. At the afternoon meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Wm. T. Reger, three ladies were received as members. Mrs. Parsels predicted that in ten years a stainless flag will float over the homes of America.

An Open Letter

Dear Sir or Madam:

We all appreciate the harmful results of extravagance and extol the homely virtue of economy.

Economy, like charity, should begin at home, and should begin early; to be economical is to be saving.

In order to encourage the habit of saving, we are going to loan a neat compact and attractive pocket Savings Bank to every person who will open a Savings Account with an initial deposit of $1.00.

We believe that the obvious merits of the plan will appeal to you, and therefore trust you will cooperate with us by encouraging your children to open accounts and to systematically save.

Perhaps you will also like a bank for yourself; come in and see them.

UNCLE HENRY ON WOMEN

They Know How to Be Curious
But Men Make Blunders.

"Women are curious," said Uncle Henry, when he was quite sure she was down at the other end of the line. "What I mean is they have curiosity. Any fool knows they're curious, none but a fool."

"Yes, sir, they never take anything for granted. Men always do, that is married men. They do it they know what's good for 'em. You know me, son?"

"Now, take the man that ate the first oyster. He was a woman, more than likely. That is to say, she was probably a man. You know, 'twas a woman ate it, or else she put him up to it. Probably got him to open the shell and then double dined him, same as I do."

"Her desire to know whether it would poison him, together with his indubitable pride, laid the foundation to the immortal oyster fry in a box, of which, young friend, she has been the midnight recipient ever since. See what I mean? He got the first oyster and she got the information and all the rest of the future oysters."

"Now Adam. Of course he wasn't married to start with. He was merely happy. Then the snake gave him curiosity, which he had no business with, and he began to wonder what a woman looked like. One came along and married him. And marriage then became the mother of invention, and has been ever since. Get the idea? All the sons of Adam are a little tainted like."

"Don't go by me, son. Look at his oyster. Hannibal, he had curiosity; the male kind. He was itching to see what sort of a collar and elbow customer Scipio was. He wanted to see Scipio very badly. He saw him very badly, and he saw his finish at the same time."

"And how 'bout Haroun Al-Raschid the original Arabian date maker? He was curious. Do you know what happened to him, Son? No? Well, neither do I, but it was sure something awful. "And Richard the Lion Hearted, and Peter the Hermit, and the painted red skins who wondered what Billy Penn wanted with their golf links; and Wiley Riley, and Gen. Izzy Putnam and Cotton Mather and Agulnaldo—how 'bout 'em? All curious, by gones, and dodging bricks. That is, the survivors."

"See what I mean? Man's got no business trying to be curious successfully. No, sir. Now take me. I'm not more than so so on wondering about things. When I slip my foot and begin probing around I get mine. You hear me, son? I get mine plenty."

"Last Tuesday I think it was, I comes home along about the regular time feeling round about the usual way. I goes in and takes off my shoes, puts on my slippers and house coat and waits for the dinner bell."

"All right. Pretty soon it begins to ring. Up I gets and goes in to dinner. Like that. All right."

"Say, son, she had a layout there that was something neat and nobby. The hand that wields the ladle rules the world, all right. Our cook came with a trunk full of references that smelled like chloroform, exhibits in a divorce suit. She had references in every language—but you can't eat references."

"But my wife is some cook herself. You know what she had done? She had chased the cook for the day and had got up the whole feed herself. Honest, son, I could have kicked myself for eating lunch."

"Henry," she says, "sit down," she says, "and eat it all up," she says. "I cooked it for you."

"Well, you know me. I started with a glass of water, and I was going strong when we passed the last quarter with a new cup of black coffee and a piece of pie like mother couldn't make if she got the recipe direct from Mrs. Gabriel. When I rumped across the finish line with a toothpick in one hand and a finger bowl in the other I was so contented and peaceful I was breathing to the tune of 'Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep.'"

"Then chaos! Then the house of cards crumpled up into a landslide and I got it good. At that psychological moment, as they say in the classics, I began to wonder why, wherefore and how in— The fact is I began to be curious."

"Wife," I says with difficulty on account of the too much feed, "wife," I says, "accept the assurances of my esteemed consideration. You have done yourself proud," I says. "And, prithee," I says, "why this unusual but most delectable repast to banquet?" I says. "Did you expect company?" I says.

"No," she says, "I didn't expect anything," she says, "and that is just what I got," she says, "like that sort of disagreeable." It may interest you to know, Henry, she says, "that this is our wedding anniversary," she says, "or it may not, now you have eaten my lovely food and are not likely to get any more," she says. "You forgot our wedding day, Henry, and my feelings are hurt," she says, "so I sha'n't forget it ever," she says.

"And she won't forget it, either. Neither will I. She's got it in for me now for fair. Too much curiosity, son."

"The only safe way for a man is to never open his mouth unless he's going to put something into it. The minute you let anything out you spoil the picture."

"When a man begins to ask his wife questions, just that minute he begins to make a noise like a goat."

WANAMAKER'S— At Your Service

Do you realize how definitely this vast institution, with its wonderful resources and tremendous facilities, exists for your service? Have you ever given thought to its principles and policies, its unique methods and unusual achievements, and considered what special interest they should arouse in you?

Practically everybody who gives the matter a thought, realizes that Wanamaker's IS DIFFERENT from all other stores.

Serious-minded people, who remember how the retail trade had practically abandoned this locality, before the purchase of this store by John Wanamaker, must inevitably be impressed by the NEW LIFE that has developed here since the change.

Many shrewd business men strongly advised against trying to rebuild this old Stewart business—a little more than twelve years ago, when it had almost died out. They said it was too far down town for a retail store.

But the advice went unheeded. The business was bought. The new principles and methods were planted in this old down-town store.

You all know how soon the Old Stewart Building became too small to hold the growing business. You see the New Wanamaker Building—more than twice as large as the old building—which had to be added. You see within it New York's largest and finest exclusive Store for Men, on the Main floor; and, above, The Wanamaker Galleries of Furnishing and Decoration—which, in size, equipment, facilities and unique features, have amazed the trade and public of two continents—of the world.

But what is back of, and under it all? What caused the new life and the marvelous growth?

A NEW IDEA. And the courage, originality, initiative, genius and aggressiveness to develop it.

And what is the "idea"?

Doing each thing a little better than it had ever been done before. Never being satisfied with what has been accomplished. Always seeking better merchandise. Keeping our travelers scouring old and new continents for newest things and unusual things.

Always living up to our promises. Making good for any mistakes, with our thanks to the customer that brought our short-coming to our attention. Never permitting any customer to keep any merchandise that was not perfectly satisfactory. Giving back the money, or allowing the credit whenever asked.

Lending every helpful service that a store can give, to all customers and visitors. Providing entertainment and diversion of most interesting and refined character.

Always looking for a way to serve you better, and make this store come more closely to your individual idea of what your store should be. We'll be glad to have you tell us how we can make it better.

In the meantime, THE BEST WE KNOW is at your service.

And the best stocks that we could find, the world over—for personal wear, and for the furnishing of the home—are here for your inspection, at the most moderate prices.

THEREFORE:

You may expect at Wanamaker's:

1. Better Service.
2. Better Merchandise.
3. The Newest Things.
4. Living Up to Promises.
5. Making Good for All Mistakes.
6. Thanks for Being Told Our Shortcomings.
7. Money Back, Without Quibble.
8. Every Helpful Service.
9. Eagerness to Serve You Better.
10. Best Stocks the World Can Supply.
11. Most Moderate Prices.
12. THE BEST WE KNOW—always at your service.

F. H. Schaefer & Co.
BROAD STREET

Mr. Lambert States His Case.

Editor Standard,
I have a little space in the columns of the Standard for the purpose of correcting the many erroneous impressions that the readers of the "Leader" and Elizabeth Journal may have gained in reading their account of the proceedings of a meeting of the Town Council held Monday night, April 5th, when a hearing was to be had on "Changing the grade of the roadway on West Broad street from South avenue to Scotch Plains avenue, Osborn avenue from First street to Cumberland street, and Myerson street from Osborn avenue to Union avenue," also "In constructing a storm sewer from the corner of West Broad street and Osborn avenue through Osborn avenue to First street, through First street to the northeast of Railway avenue." In regard to the objections to these petitions, Mr. John T. Cox and myself, realizing the objectors had not properly stated their objections, both representing property interested, endeavored to supplement the written objections, with a few oral remarks. The treatment accorded us, I trust will not appear in the minutes of the meeting, but will have a lasting impression in the memories of those present. However to be brief, my objections (if I had been permitted to have recited them) are as follows:

As the topography of that part of Broad street is similar to that of Broad street at the corners of Prospect and Broad and Elm and Broad where the congested waters were relieved by storm sewers at the expense of the Town, this improvement should be done in the same way. Those who would be benefited would be the owners of the four corners of Broad and Osborn avenue and not the 27 acres it is supposed to benefit. The same as the corner properties of Broad and Prospect and Broad and Elm streets and not the property owners along those streets toward Dudley avenue who would have protested most emphatically if they had been asked to bear the expense of the storm sewer. As to the change of grade in the roadway, it may be an advantage but to many who have studied the roads in wet and dry weather it seems as if the water could be removed without cutting the center of the road down to accord with the sidewalks as they are laid. Several times this past winter the walks in some places, for a distance of 75 to 100 feet have been 4 or 5 inches under water. These two improvements never should have been introduced on petition, but should have come up on ordinance by the councilmen from the Fourth Ward. It is astounding with what apathy a body of men who are elected to look after the interests of the entire community, look on such a specimen of sharp practice, wherein a portion of their constituents can be mulcted to an exorbitant figure. Let the councilmen of the Fourth Ward, introduce this improvement as it should be and there will be no protests, and no necessity for petitions, the signers of which live in all parts of the town, and are not affected in any way whatever, but who signed in order to advance real estate improvements. In this case there were so many (not) benefited that there was almost a unanimous protest.

Why did not the editor of the "Leader" as a good honest citizen should, when he is aware that a wrong is being committed, protest against his fellow creatures being subjected to unjust taxation, and when as he states in the columns of that paper "were feeling too poor to pay for the improvement" (and it seems to be universal nowadays) why did he not refuse to print the petition, and thus relieve the Mayor and Council of robbing H. C. Lockwood of the cost of advertising. The "Leader" now has the chance of refunding will he take advantage of the opportunity? In conclusion, Mr. Editor, in your reports on this subject, which no doubt will be voluminous, be charitable to the people of the 4th ward, as they are very quick to resent imputations of all natures. Thanking you, I remain,

Very truly yours,
IRA C. LAMBERT.

HALSEY WILL IS PROBATED BY COURT.

Fortune of "Old Sleuth" is Now But $7,000, Says Executrix.

Judge Atwater Wednesday admitted the will of Henrietta A. Halsey, widow of Harlan P. Halsey, known as "Old Sleuth," writer of famous detective stories to probate. The Halsey will case has been pending in the Orphans' Court for several months. The will was contested by Lewis Halsey, of Cranford, who filed a caveat against it. He is a son of the testatrix and was named as her provisional heir. The grounds on which he based his objections were that his mother's mind was affected and that she was not capable of drawing the instrument. He was represented by William R. Wilson. The judge has not yet given his opinion in the case. Mr. Wilson said that he will appeal the case to the Prerogative Court.

Raymond T. Parrot represented Rahn Isabella Halsey, of Westfield, to whom the bulk of her mother's fortune was left. She was also named as executrix of the will. The case is a noted one, chiefly because it involves the fortune of "Old Sleuth," amounting, it is said, to more than $50,000.

This was denied during the hearing in the case, by Rahn Isabella Halsey. She claimed that all that was left of her mother's fortune was $7,000, invested in property in Cranford.

Henrietta Halsey came from one of the oldest and best families in the country and was a prominent member of Revolutionary societies. She died in Westfield, Harry Halsey, another son, was named in the will with the daughter.

Edward J. Connolly, of the firm of McGuire, Delaney, Neper and Connolly, of Brooklyn, was assistant counsel for Miss Halsey.

Alpha Sigma Entertains—Its Members.

When our hmr is mostly gone and what is left is streaked with grey, as we sit by the cheery grate and think of the days gone by, we say to ourselves, "Those were days when we had good times." Well, last night was one of them for the members of Alpha Sigma. The regular meeting of the club was held in their rooms at the Westfield Casino but after the routine of business had been performed the members adjourned in a body to the Westfield Inn on Broad Street—and did they have a time? Yes, they did. During the first hour the piano in the front parlor of the Inn figured conspicuously, selections being rendered by Messrs. Starry, Barriwell and Taylor. Wallace Doying either proved that his feet are not as large as they seem to be, or that he has very good control of them for his clogging was fine; while the Alpha Sigma quartet (Starry, Springstead, Barriwell and Provan) filled in the spaces.

In the meantime the management was busy in the dining room and the appearance of the table when President Springstead as toast-master sat down was good to look upon.

There were dishes hot and dishes cold, some were new while others were old; but of the rareties—no they weren't tough; They were great—guess that's enough.

Of course the spread was a dry affair knowing the fellows and being at the Inn, so there is no need to keep it "Mum." The ready wit of Ray Edwards at one end of the table and John McLaughlin at the other provoked bursts of laughter throughout the evening. After a unanimous expression of "Say that was fine—Let's do it again and here too" the crowd broke up to meet again tonight at the Casino when the last game of the Alpha Sigma-Marathon series of basket ball games will be played.
