Wall Street versus Real Estate

The average Westfield young man of to-day—the young man who will soon be called upon to take the place of the older man in the Building and Loan Association, on the Board of Education, as manager of the bank affairs, in the meeting of the church trustees—is quick to catch the tip from Wall street as to the rails, copper, sugar, steel, etc., and little influence is needed to induce him to put up as margin one, two or three hundred dollars “just as a flyer.” He does not regard it as gambling but rather as an extra good opportunity owing to the inside information secured. Then some one on the inside pulls the string and the lesson learned is charged in life's ledger to experience. We think we know what we are talking about. Practically all the members of The Pearsall Company earn their livelihood in and about Wall street (but not on margin operations.)

When this same Westfield young man is urged to put one, two or three hundred dollars down as a first payment on a strongly secured, well located home site he does not use the same snap judgment he did on the Wall street tip but is indifferent or, if interested at all, gets the advice of every Tom, Dick and Harry and then concludes home site buying is “risky.”

Think of it—Wall street tips at once accepted and acted on without hesitation; sound advice on home site ownership in Westfield cast aside as being “risky.”

Young man, tie yourself fast to a good home site right here in Westfield and you will make no mistake. If you don't like those we offer, secure one from some other source; but buy a home site above all other things you do.

FIFTY CHILDREN HAVE BEEN CARED FOR AT HOME THIS YEAR.

Twenty-Eight Now There—One From Newark and Jersey City.

The Children's Country Home of Westfield is still doing excellent work in caring for poor and crippled children. The home is now in its seventeenth year of public service, and during this time, has cared for on an average of forty to fifty children every summer. Last year fifty-six stayed at the home (for intervals averaging two weeks) which was twelve more than the year before. This year fifty children have already visited the home, twenty of which were crippled. These poor and sickly children, from not two years old to thirteen, enjoy greatly their outing in the country. At present there are twenty-eight children at the home, of which twenty-five come from Newark, and three, who are homeless, from Jersey City. The Jersey City children are being kept until there is room in one of the city hospitals. Three of the children are paralyzed and not able to walk. Many of the children which have been at the home this year, have been afflicted with hip and spinal diseases, and came from the hospitals; others come from the Newark Home for Crippled Children, while still others have been taken in because they had no homes.

The children are appreciative of the good care which they receive at the home. On the fourth, they enjoyed the annual treat of ice cream and cake, the gift of Dr. J. A. Korman, of New York City, the good friend and helper of the local enterprise.

Parents of the children frequently visit them on Sunday, and are guests of the matron during their stay.

There has been a new lavatory and closet installed near the play room in the basement. Mr. Schwartz has the land under cultivation and the children enjoy the fresh vegetables and fruit from the garden. Fresh eggs and sweet milk also are the benefits of the house.

Mrs. Schwartz, the matron in charge, is in her sixth year of active service; she is popular with the children and with those who are associated with her in the charitable work of providing for their comfort, and betterment.

WESTFIELD HAS GONE DRY.

A Drought Is Upon Us That Threatens Destruction of the Lawns and of the Gardens.

BLESSED BE THE TARRIA WAGON!

Experts Advise: "Don't Water Lawns and Gardens 'Til Twilight, and Don't Cut the Grass."

Westfield, as other eastern towns and cities, is in the slough of a drought. There hasn't been any rain worth mentioning since June 8, and nature is holding up her parched lips and silently pleading for something to drink. This is the condition of things throughout the east; the garden products are drying up; the farmers are predicting a corn and potato famine if rain doesn't come very soon; the trees, the grass, the shrubs seem dull and lifeless. It's a pretty serious how-de-do, in these none too-prosperous times.

In the west, Jupiter Pluvius seems to have let loose all the hose pipes on his water wagon. There is water, water everywhere, and plenty of wind, and lightning into the bargain. It's a pity that the elements couldn't arrange to distribute the rain over a wider area. The east had too much, the west too little rain in the spring; but in the summer, the rule was applied conversely. Blessed be the tarriva wagon for it keeps us from choking to death with dust. Chairman of the Road Committee Aslack and Engineer Vars are smiling now.

It is noted, too, that the man with the garden and the one-time verdant lawn is doing his best to assist nature by a free application of the hose. Against this practice he is duly warned by a man that knows his business. A local florist, commenting on the situation, yesterday, gave a STANDARD representative some timely hints for dissemination among the general public.

He said: "Do not cut the lawn; do not water or sprinkle the grass or garden while the sun is upon it. If you feel compelled to do these things, do them in the twilight or else leave them undone. Nature is very arbitrary and won't stand for that sort of thing." And may it rain very soon!

PENN'S CHAMPION CROWDED.

Local Checker Experts Give Lawson a Run For His Money.

The fame of Westfield as a centre for checker wizards has gone abroad, especially since the recent tie match with New York. Mr. Charles Lawson paid the local players a visit this week to try conclusions with them. Mr. Lawson is champion of Pennsylvania and recently defeated Mr. Bradford in a match of twenty-four games. Bradford, it will be remembered, captain of the New York Checker Club team, played a tie match with Dr. Green on Memorial Day.

Four local players namely Oash, Kimball, Whitaker and Green went against Lawson in Orr's store on Broad street. While defeating each, he won from our checker editor by the small margin of one game. The score was: Lawson, won 4, lost 3, drew 3; Green, won 3, lost 4, drew 3.

Mr. Oash's score was also very creditable. Mr. Kimball and Mr. Whitaker acquitted themselves very well considering the strength of their opponent.

RAILROAD HOBOS JAILED.

Thirteen hobos were arrested last Wednesday afternoon, by Chief O'Neil and the railroad police for riding freight trains.

Many complaints have been received by the railroad authorities from farmers and other citizens living near the railroad tracks. It is complained that the hobos mount the coal cars and throw large pieces of coal, hitting people, animals and breaking many windows. They also get off the train, when it is stopped by signal, and ransack the gardens and other places where they can get anything to eat or of value. The railroad also suffers. Freight and box cars are entered and baggage and freight stolen. This work is going on all the time, but recently it has been increasing.

Wednesday afternoon a number of railroad detectives and Chief O'Neil stopped a train at the switch house and captured thirteen men. They were arraigned before Judge Toucey and some, who were thought to be persistent at the business were given time in jail; others were released, after Judge Toucey had reprimanded them.

OFFICER WHO RAIDED COCK FIGHT ARRESTED ON CRUELTY CHARGE.

Charles Sickles Held Under $200 Bail by Recorder Toucey.

Charles Sickles, an officer of the S. P. O. A. at Fairwood, had occasion to shoot a horse at that place about 6:30 o'clock Saturday morning, but made such a poor job of it that the horse was still alive at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The people in the neighborhood became so incensed about the matter that the borough officials preferred charges of cruelty against Sickles and he was arrested later in the afternoon by County Detective Gahan and taken before Justice of the Peace Toucey at Westfield. Justice Toucey released Sickles on $200 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Sickles is the S. P. O. A. officer who arrested the cock fighters a few weeks ago in Fairwood. His victims were charged with cruelty to animals.

CANNON COMING HERE.

Park Commission Soon to Receive Historic Relics—Shell Too!

At the meeting of the Park Commission Monday night, the contract was awarded for bringing the two big naval guns from the Brooklyn Navy Yard to Westfield.

There has been a great deal of delay in getting these guns allotted by the Navy Department. Owing to the reorganization, during the past year, of Departmental methods in the Navy Department, the obtaining of the allotment of the guns was very slow. By the persistent efforts of Senator Briggs, however, the guns were allotted about six weeks ago.

These guns are heavy naval ordnance of the war of 1812, and weigh about 4½ tons apiece.

One of these guns, it is proposed, will be placed on the Mountain avenue triangle, and the other on some site to be designated after the gun arrives.

The Navy Department recommends that the preparation of the mounting of these guns be deferred until after the guns have arrived. The Navy Department has, also, allotted to Westfield sufficient 9 inch shell to make a pyramid for each gun.

SPRAYING THE TREES.

A Few Timely Hints in Connection With Commission's Report.

The report of the Park Commission on the spraying of the elm trees shows that 520 trees were sprayed by E. W. Chamberlain. The spraying was begun about the middle of May, but was very greatly delayed by the extremely wet weather which prevailed the latter part of May and early June. This made the spraying very slow and the excessive rains which occurred at times following the spraying washed some of the arsenite of lead from the leaves.

Some of the earlier sprayed trees have suffered to some extent, but later sprayed trees have been protected by the spraying. A comparison of the condition of the trees in Westfield, with other localities where the elm leaf beetle has been present will show this.

The beetle is now reaching the pupae stage. Some good can be done now by spraying the trunks of the trees with kerosene emulsion. This can be easily prepared and has the same effect on the pupae as it does on any of the sucking insects infesting other shrubs and trees.

Big Eight Excursion, Tuesday.

The "Big Eight" Sunday School excursion to Ocean Grove will leave at 8:20 from Westfield next Tuesday, the 20th. This will be the twenty-eighth annual excursion. The churches going on this excursion are the Presbyterian, Baptist, Willow Grove, Mountside and Branch Mills of Westfield, and the Baptist, Methodist and Episcopal of Scotch Plains. The two sections returning at 6:10 and 8:50, will stop at Cranford, Westfield and Fairwood.

Matinee Meet For Cups.

The Westfield Driving and Riding Club have planned for another matinee race meet and have decided the date to be Saturday, the twenty-fourth. There will be three trotting races and the idea of a motorcycle race is being discussed. The races will be 2:30 trot, Irving Cup; 2:25 trot, Egol Cup; free for all, Hutchings Cup.

PARK COMMISSION, IN REPORT TO COUNCIL, FAVORS BOND ISSUE.

Not to Exceed $20,000 for Purchase of Land for Parks.

At the meeting of the park commissioners on Monday night at the town rooms, it was decided to make a recommendation to the town council, at its meeting next Monday evening, that the town proceed to acquire for park purposes, while accessible the following properties:

The Peckham property adjoining the lake on the north, and extending to Euclid avenue and to Mountain avenue, opposite Triangle Park; the triangle bounded by Lenox, Central and North avenues; the triangle bounded by Broad and Clark streets and North avenue; and the property on the west side of Central avenue between the railroad and Ross Place abutting on the property of the Central Railroad.

The cost is not to exceed $20,000, to be paid for by a bond issue, if the council approves. That matter, however, and the whole proposition now is up to the council.

In regard to these recommendations a member of the board says: "This matter has been before the commission for the past year. It has been very carefully considered in consultation with members of the council and with a committee from the board of trade, as well as with other prominent men of the town. The acquisition of these properties will add greatly to the attractiveness of the town. The plots in question can be secured either by purchase or condemnation proceedings."

WHO WILL PAY THE BOARD BILLS OF THIS AESTHETIC TOWN CHARGE.

Township of Cranford Has Problem on Its Hands—Court Will Decide.

The township of Cranford has a woman boarder, who is at present quartered in the most luxurious hotel in the place at the town's expense. She is Mrs. M. B. Block, a former Plainfield woman, who several weeks ago, had her husband arrested for non-support. At the trial Block was allowed to choose between going to jail, or furnishing a bond for his wife's maintenance. He gave the bond, and for a time made the weekly remittances.

Then Mrs. Block was informed that instead of cash she must come to Plainfield to live with her husband's relatives. After a time the woman, it seems, became tired of law relatives and returned to Cranford and insisted upon her rights as a pauper resident. The township authorities not knowing what else to do with her, engaged board for the woman at the leading hostelry.

The township attorney, Berkeley C. Austin, began suit against Block's boardmen. The case is now in the hands of Judge Wittemore for his decision. If the decision is in the town's favor, Mrs. Block's board bill will have to be paid by the boardman; if not, less luxurious quarters will be found for the woman during her maintenance as a public charge in Cranford.

HUSBAND RETURNS AFTER HIS FUNERAL; SAID TO BE CRAZY.

James P. Hoover, Wasn't Drowned, as Wife Thought—Did He Work Here?

"Whom are you in mourning for?" said James P. Hoover when he walked into his former home at 254 Neilson street, New Brunswick, after an absence of six weeks.

Mrs. Hoover almost swooned, but managed to gasp: "Why, I buried you in Staten Island two weeks ago."

"Well, I've just landed a job at Westfield," said Hoover, "and I guess I'd better go back there to earn the funeral expenses." He started out to take the job.

Hoover, who was formerly a Pennsylvania Railroad fireman, disappeared on June 7. On June 26 a body which answered his description was found floating in Princess Bay, Staten Island. Chief of Police O'Connell, of New Brunswick, notified Mrs. Hoover, who positively identified the corpse as that of her husband.

Hoover is not known at all here, and the New Brunswick police, who have been in consultation with Chief O'Neil, believe he is crazy.

The new telephone directories are being distributed.

FINDS A TWO-HEADED TOAD.

Uncle Alfred Pearsall Makes a Singular Catch at Pot Luck Ranch, Yesterday Morning.

FREAK HAS SIX LEGS TOO.

Four Fore Legs, Green; Two hind Legs Reddish Brown; Kept in Box and Fed on Insects, It Sings All the Time.

While digging at the rear of the foundations of Pot Luck, yesterday morning, Alfred E. Pearsall made a discovery which will be attractive to proprietors of museums and of peculiar interest to scientists. The circumstances and nature of the find are curious enough. Mr. Pearsall now has a prize in the way of a freak toad, which will cost another man a pretty penny to acquire. This freak of nature is nothing more nor less than a two-headed, six legged tree toad.

Mr. Pearsall, or rather "Uncle Alfred" is an early riser. Yesterday morning, shortly after sun up, he went out on the Pot Luck campus to do a little digging as an aid to a good breakfast appetite. He was about to root out some large stones at the foot of a sapling, when his eye fell upon the toad. He at first supposed that there were two toads standing side by side, but, on close examination, he discovered to his astonishment, that there was but one toad with two heads and six legs. The heads were placed side by side, one of them coming out of the side of the body from the neck; the other being to all appearances the natural head. The two extra legs were in front, and grew out of the body one above the other, and were distinguished from the hind legs in color. The hind legs were a reddish brown in texture, but the front legs were a light green.

Another peculiarity of the toad, was the singular shades of color in its back. Mr. Pearsall described them as being a blend of green, brown and white. He says that the toad can hop faster than most of its kind and takes leaps of no less than two feet at a time. He experienced no little difficulty in catching his prize freak. After chasing it about the fields and roadway, he finally called Mrs. Pearsall to his aid, and she caught it in her apron.

He took the toad to the house, where it was placed in a large box with a thin wire netting at the top. The toad is fed on flies, ants, and other insects, which it eats ravenously. It seems to enjoy its isolation from the outside world, and sings all the time, but whether out of both mouths or one, Mr. Pearsall cannot say. He and Mrs. Pearsall have become quite attached to it, during its twenty-four hour sojourn.

Uncle Alfred, however, thinks that it would be better off in an aquarium, and, if all goes well, he proposes to take it to the city in the near future. He anticipates getting a large sum of money for it. Meantime those who are curious to examine it, may do so, free of charge, by calling at Pot Luck Ranch, next Sunday afternoon.

MRS. E. E. WILLIAMSON DEAD; LEADER IN STATE'S CHARITIES.

Head of Juvenile Court Succumbs Suddenly to Apoplexy.

Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, probation officer for Union County, and known throughout the country as a leader in the suppression of juvenile crime, died suddenly at her home, Pearl and Williamson streets, Elizabeth, Tuesday morning at 1:35 o'clock. Death was due to apoplexy. She was the widow of Benjamin Williamson, Jr., who died March 11, 1900, and a daughter of Erasmus F. and Emily N. Reed Hornblower. Her father died June 25, 1898.

Mrs. Williamson was active in many charitable enterprises, and no woman in the State took a deeper interest in the betterment of mankind. She was appointed Probation Officer by Judge Vail in February, 1902. She helped in bringing about the establishment of the Rahway Reformatory, and the Home for Feeble Minded at Vineland, N. J. She was a member of the Sorosis Club, of New York City, and the Monday Club, of Elizabeth. She was President of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs for a term of two years. She gave much of her time to charities in her home city, and, notably, was she interested in the affairs of her church, Trinity Episcopal, of which the Rev. John R. Atkinson was pastor, and her spiritual adviser.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and was attended by many prominent State, county and local officials.

Had Something of a Sinecure.
As far back as the reign of Queen Elizabeth there was a crown official, known as the "uncorker of ocean bottles," whose duty it was to open all sealed bottles cast up by the sea and examine the contents. The official "uncorker" continued to flourish down to the reign of George III., when the position was abolished.

Gossip is Necessary.
Gossip responds to a human need, and gossip about dead men cannot hurt them. It clearly shows the stuff that reputations below a certain grade are made of. Many of the smaller glories owe their longevity to the laziness of the survivors. For who can afford to be painstaking about such trifles?—Frank Moore Colby.

Most cases of Colic are caused by undigested and fermenting foods in the horse's stomach. Fairfield's Blood Tonic for Horses Only strengthens the digestive organs and prevents Colic by preventing fermentation of foods. Sold under written guarantee by Patrick Traynor.

Just Playing Off

The Young Couple Inspected a High-Class Apartment.

"Ready?" said she, my Angelina.
"Ready!" said I.
And after I had set my wits but at an even more exultantly dignified inclination, Angelina and I fared forth, full of a certain purpose and seeking a fearful joy.

"Now, to-day," she said, "we will only look at those apartments that have a view over the river."

"I'd rather have a view over the park," I objected.

Whereupon she gave me a look and simultaneously we bent our steps toward the river.

"Don't you think a river view is better?" she asked.

"O, much better!" I agreed.

"So romantic!" murmured Angelina. Whereupon I placed my hat at the most gallant possible angle.

"So beautiful!" murmured Angelina. And in spirit I clasped my hands and rolled my eyes, slumbering a little, perhaps, when Angelina looked at me, and swinging my stick with the flourish of exorcism.

"And so inspiring!" murmured Angelina.

And after I had put my hat straight and hunched my shoulders to the proper degree, I walked along with my eyes upon the ground, dragging my feet a little, and with a dark and brooding aspect between my brows.

Angelina stopped before a marble palace which was adorned by a legend that a high-class apartment was here to be let.

"Now!" she said, "look rich!"

And as I obediently assumed an aspect of wealth beyond the dreams of avarice, we ascended the marble steps.

Advancing through the inner portals, looking rich and dignified beyond comparison, we allowed the liveried attendant to approach us and to request the favor of our wishes and desires.

"How large is this apartment to let?" I then made query.

"Ten rooms," he answered.

"Very small," sighed she, my Angelina.

"Has it a river view?" I demanded.

"An extra fine view," he assured us.

"From how many rooms can the river be seen?"

"From two."

"Oh, dear!" sighed she, my Angelina.

"Do I understand you to say," I demanded, wagging my head till he looked at my hat; "do I understand you to say that you can only see the river from two of the rooms?"

"Yes, sir," he answered, in growing alarm.

"And that if one were in any of the other eight rooms, and wished to view the river, one would have to go into one of the two rooms?"

"Yes, sir," he miserably answered.

"Well," I remarked, after a respectful pause, "I suppose we might as well look at it."

And making a secret pantomime to her, my Angelina, with my thumb and my finger, we entered the waiting elevator and were slowly borne aloft.

"O," said Angelina, unguarding her nose at last as we entered the vacant apartment, "is this it?"

And as for me, I tapped the floor with my stick in a knowing sort of way.

"Two servants' rooms," announced the attendant.

"Only two?" cried Angelina.

And taking me aside she lifted her eyes to me in innocence and pathetically whispered:

"Then where in the world could we put Marie?"

"Two baths," announced the attendant, with a growing respect.

"Only two?" I exclaimed.

And with a thoughtful gesture with my stick, I remarked to the river view:

"It's a standing source of wonder to me how some folks manage to keep clean!"

"The grand piano," said Angelina, reflecting, "could stand here."

"Yes," I protested, moodily enough; "but where would you put the ornate clock?"

"The colonial suite could come in here," mused Angelina, "and the chippendale pieces in there."

"But where," I complained, "but where would you put the gobelins?"

"True," mused Angelina, "I hadn't thought of them!"

"How much?" I asked, setting the attendant with my eye, "how much is this apartment?"

"Twenty-five hundred," said he.

"Haven't you," said I, "something larger? Something, say about $4,000?"

"No, sir," he sadly mentioned; "this is the largest we've got."

But when we got home at last to a certain snug little three-room flat (as snug and as comfy as Angelina alone knows how to make it), and when Angelina had adorned herself with her phiafore and was whipping that mayonnaise dressing (the while I sat upon the tubs and played a loving accompaniment upon our grand jewshury) my beloved one lifted her rosy face and proudly cried:

"And I'm sure they're not one bit as happy as us!"

To which I made answering cry:

"Angelina, when I get rich and famous—"

Whereupon Angelina whanged the fork on the plate with such rapidity that it sounded like teeth chattering.

"Play Love and a Cottage and Thou," she commanded.

Mendelssohn as a Boy.

A quaint description of the boy Mendelssohn is given us by one Derwent: "He took his place among the grown-up people in his child's dress, a tight-fitting jacket, cut very low at the neck, over which the wide trousers were buttoned; into the slanting pockets of these the little fellow liked to thrust his hands, rocking his curly head from side to side and shifting restlessly from one foot to the other."

Cat's Bite May Cause Loss of Hand.

As Annie Kromer was walking along the street in Nazareth, Pa., she stooped to pet a stray cat. The beast sprang at her and fastened its teeth in the back of her left hand. Suffering excruciating pain, the girl ran several blocks to her home, with the infuriated cat still hanging on. It had to be killed with a club before it let go its hold. It is feared the girl will lose her hand.

Horsley Had No Difficulty.

Sir Victor Horsley, the great pathologist, was engaged in a discussion with some brother physicians on hydrophobia when a crusty old son of Aesculapius burst out: "Mad dogs, indeed! I would like to know who can say when a dog is mad." "I think," said Victor quietly, "that if one entered the room just now you would find no great difficulty in deciding."

Delay in commencing treatment for a slight irregularity that could have been cured quickly by Foley's Kidney Remedy
may result in a serious kidney disease. Foley's Kidney Remedy builds up the worn out tissues and strengthens these organs. Sold at Gale's Pharmacy.

Advertising That Paid.

We have been arguing for a long time that advertising paid. Here a few months ago one of the boys in the office lost a pen, necklace, locket, or it might have been a diamond stud. Anyway, he inserted an ad. in this paper and, let it run several times, and here
the other day, during the Christmas clearing up, he found it in the office.—
Dolhan (Ala.) Eagle.

The Age of the Microbe.

People just now are living in a state of almost morbid apprehension concerning what they should eat and drink. There have been the phre-nologic age and the red sandstone age.
The present age would come to be known as the bacillus, microbe and tubercle age.—Ribblesdale in the House of Lords.

To Strengthen the Heart.

If the heart is weak but otherwise normal it can often be strengthened by active leg movements, such as running on tiptoes, swinging the legs back and forth and in a circular motion, flexing the foot and knees and running. This last should be begun slowly and not continued too long at first.

A Real Strain.

A landowner in the great northwest
had just described the incredible riches of the region. Some one protested, and he defended himself, says a writer in the Outlook, with a paradox: "The truth is so wonderful that it takes a whipper to express it!"— Youths' Companion.

Camphor as Medicine.

As a medicine camphor is invaluable
if used judiciously. If six or ten drops are taken on a lump of sugar when sneezing starts, a bad cold in the head can often be checked. This dose should not be repeated closer than an hour apart. Be sure that it agrees with you.

Look Pleasant.

There are persons who think that to be grim is to be good; that pety is a sort of facial longitude, and that a thought, to be really wholesome, must be shaped like a coffin. Never trust a man that doesn't laugh.—New York Press.

Will Maintain Old Road.

When the Simpler tunnel was made in Switzerland the old road over the pass was no longer kept free of snow in winter. This, however, resulted in so much inconvenience that it has been decided to keep the road open all the year.

Politeness.

It is the best distance-stick between a man and fools—a stick that saves one even the trouble of striking! To be polite with a fool is to be isolated from him. What good politeness!—Catulle Mendes.

The Silver Lining.

The most disastrous times have produced the greatest minds. The purest metal comes of the most ardent furnace, the most brilliant lightning comes of the darkest clouds.—Chateaubrland.

Intellect vs. Fashion.

"I have two daughters," sighed the female moth, "and I wish the younger were more like the elder. She devours books, but the other is frivolous and cares for nothing but clothes."

Unjust to the Girls.

The report that this country spends only a million dollars a day for sugar is distinctly disappointing, if it is not grossly unjust to the bonbon consuming capacity of the matinee girl.

Bluff That Doesn't Pay.

The man who fails to bluff a girl by threatening to marry another generally feels about like the boy who comes home at dark after having run away to be a hero.

They Cannot Understand.

When a true genius appears in the world you may know him by this sign, that the dunces are all in confederacy against him.—Swift.

A Sign.

When a woman says she "has her suspicions" it is a sign that she is willing to share them with other people.—
Chicago Record-Herald.

How It Felt.

Uncle Silas (after his first ride in an elevator)—Well, by gum, I've fallen down lots of times, but that's the first time I ever fell up.

Most Obstinate Things.

A bachelor says a mule is the most obstinate thing on earth, but married men know better.—Chicago Daily News.

Her Good Luck.

Let every mother thank heaven that she doesn't always know what her boy is doing.

The Pity of It.

Most of the women who know best
how to manage husbands don't know how to get them.

In at the Death.

"There is much at stake," said the executioner, as he applied the torch to the fat heretic.—Yale Record.

So the World Judges.

Actions are the rainment of the man.

DR. MORGAN WRITES
HIS AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

It seemed curious to us that, upon the first intimation of war, all the gold and silver disappeared as if by magic from circulation! For months the country used postage stamps for fractional currency and it did not take slow tradition long to see the advertising possibilities, and to give away little contrivances of type and pushboard to hold these postage stamps which could hardly pass an hour from hand to hand without becoming dog's and almost beyond recognition! By printing one's advertisement on the postboard one found his profit in distributing gratis the small convenience! The same thing happened in France during the France-Prussian War and even as late as 1872 not only in France, but in Italy (which always felt the monetary conditions in France then and maybe does now—I used to have my pockets full of the cheaply-printed fractional currency that was so dirty that in paying it out I was obliged to take my caddy's or my trades-man's word for what wealth it represented!) As soon as our government could get at it, it issued what was called "postal currency" and with it redeemed this dirty postage stamp circulation and this postal currency with the greenback for a dollar and upwards lasted until Grant won the fight for hard money as he had won the Civil War by saying, in his little quiet way,
"The only way to resume specie is to Resume it."

Another intine feature of war times was the Patriotic Letter Envelope. First it had the stars and stripes but soon
other designs appeared—engels, soldiers, battle-scenes and, finally caricatures (for it is the genius of our people to find sport and humour even in the grimest situations!) I have seen a collection of these war-time envelopes that run into the tens of thousands of samples.

Best of all, scarcely had the echo of the guns at Sumpter spread, than our National poets began to get in their fine work. The very first was a stirring parody on "John Anderson my Joe!
John," "Bob Anderson my Beau Bob!"
It came out on the first page of Frank Leslie's Illustrated newspaper, with a big picture of Columbia crowning with laurel Major Robert Anderson the hero of Fort Sumpter. I only recall the last lines:

"I don't like standing armies, Bob, as very well
you know
But I love a man that dares to Act, Bob Anderson my Beau!"

And it was repeated on every lip!

Soon "Trancendillo" and "Billy Boy" and "Nolly Bly" and "Nancy Till" and "Roll on, Silver Moon" and the run of popular songs of that ilk began to disappear and we had "Wamp the Flag around me Boys" and "Tenting Tonight
on the Old Camp Ground" and "Old Shady" and the "Year of Jubilee" and "Kingdom Coming" and War songs galore. A composer named Henry O.
Worth was a prolific producer of these.
Meanwhile, although the regimental bands found strains of the "Star Spangled Banner," "Hail Columbia,"
"The Red, White and Blue," sufficiently martial, it occurred to a lot of worthy old gentlemen to offer a prize for a "National Anthem." Of course they got nothing but trash, or at least they never reported whatever they got! The only outcome was a clever skit gotten out by a newspaper man named Newell who wrote under the pen name of "Orpheus O. Kerr"—(office seeker) who wrote rhymes in the swing and gait of a Holmes, Longfellow, Bryant and anybody else! on the style of James and Henry Smith's famous "Rejected Addresses" when a similar faux pas was attempted in London by offering a prize for an opening address at the inauguration of the rebuilt Drury Lane. I only remember one—that purporting to be sent in by William Cullen Bryant (the then editor of the New York Evening Post) beginning:

"The sun sinks sweetly to his Evening Post."
But meanwhile Bayard Taylor wrote a ringing poem (and it ought to ring today.) Its title was "Scott and the Veteran." It pictured a deceptively old man of 1812 offering his services to old Gen. Scott. "An old and tattered veteran to the War Department came"
it began, but I recall only a snatch:

"They've torn the flag of Lundy's Lane—the old red white and blue
But while a drop of blood is left I'll show that drop is true!"

And the Confederates had "Dixie,"
"The Bonnie Blue Flag," and a Mr.
Randall wrote a stirring appeal to Maryland "My Maryland" to join the Southern Confederacy and set it to the splendid music of that German College song "O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum!"
to which music our American Colleges had already set the Latin words of the "Lauriger Horatius!"

But while these good old duffers were offering prizes for a National Anthem
the unexpected happened. One day there marched down Broadway the Twenty Massachusetts Regiment, of which Fletcher Webster (son of the great Daniel Webster) was colonel.
And it sang as it marched "John Brown's Body Lies Mouldering in the Grave, His Soul is Marching on!" That was all of the words there were. No body knows to this day where the tune came from, nor cares what words went to it. But from that moment there was no other War Hymn! All the nation caught it! And, until the end of the War every band played it and every soldier shouted it! Other verses were suggested—John Brown's knapsack is stamped upon his back, "He's gone to be a soldier in the Army of the Lord!"— almost anything, repeated three times, so only to bring in the finale "His Soul is Marching on!"

By and by, a last verse—with the irresistable American tendency to minimize serious matter, became "We'll Hang Jeff Davis to a Sour Apple Tree."
But, words or no words, it was the only soldier's song, and thousands of brave fellows died to its chords!

Of poetry for recitation it seemed to come up readily the day or the day after the event which inspired it! Longfellow's "The Cumberland" rang true.
(Up to that time his episode in "The Building of the Ship" beginning "Thou too, Sullon, O Ship of State!" written in the excitement of the old Nullification times had been among our best patriotic poetry.) Then there was the electric "Sheridan's Ride" of Buchanan Ried and Whittier's "Barbara Friecht" which in spite of its absurd picture of Gen. Stonewall Jackson (commanding an army of twenty thousand men) marching up the streets of Fredericktown at the head of a firing squad, and alternately giving orders to fire! and threatening any private who fired without orders that he would "die like a dog," was yet acceptable! I suppose, really, there is some foundation for the story. Lee's army were careful to shoot no non-combatants. They came to Maryland to offer to reclaim her from the cruel Northern yoke, and to permit her to share their rags, and were careful to pay all their bills in good Confederate money! Maryland, we remember, refused to be rescued from the cruel Northern yoke or to cast in her lot with such sans culottes, and at Antietam the Army of the Potomac escaped from McClellan and drove "Lee's Miserables" back Southward again. (There was never any lack of fighting material in the Army of the Potomac and it did not always obey McClellan's orders to be careful and not hurt anybody but itself!)

Five Years

of Heart Trouble Cured by Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

"Before I began taking Dr.
Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had pains in my left side, and under my shoulder blade, could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath the least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition.
When I had taken six bottles I was cured."

MRS. C. C. GORKEY,
Northfield, Va.

If there is fluttering or palpitation it is an indication of a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. It is not necessarily diseased—just weak from over-work. The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. You can make a weak heart strong by taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. Get a bottle from your druggist, take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms. Sold at Gale's Pharmacy.

FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1909.

SOME HOT WEATHER TALK.

These are warm, stupid days and void of any excitement. Do you wonder that we can't find a topic of conversation that seems fit for editorial comment? We can't help the drowsy, uninteresting condition of things. It is always so before campaign time and dog days. We dare not comment on the weather. Everybody is conscious of the heat, and uncomfortable because of it. Why remark upon the obvious? It is for our more fortunate neighbors, who are a-summering by the sea shore or in the mountains to write back home to their friends—write real spicy, insinuating comments on the cool nights and breezy days, as if that sort of thing would effect dispositions and the thermometer here!

And, why score our councilmanic fathers for wanting to take a holiday? They can't be expected to furnish real live copy with the temperature at 95. It's too early for politics. We must let all these things alone until the proper time. Why even the police blotter records no arrests worth mentioning! When the Dog Warden is disappointed that will be an item, but thereafter we can't be expected to say much about him and his work. Who wants to talk about dogs any way, and especially the kind they put into the pound?

We might discuss congress and the tariff, but what's the use? That's been discussed by congress quite enough. We wish they'd do something worth while down in Washington. There hasn't been an undesirable citizen discovered during the session, and there must be a few of them there. And it hardly seems the proper thing for so important a matter to be settled without a single combat.

What shall we talk about? Half of our circulation is in the mountains, a quarter of it at the sea shore, and the rest of it at home trying to keep cool. What does it matter so long as we circulate what we circulate? The letter carriers are well pleased; only they do wish that the man at the far end of a long street would go away from here or move into the middle of the block. Maybe you'd wish so too, if you had to walk an extra quarter of a mile just to deliver a newspaper. But it must be done for the paper is out early, and our subscriber insists upon getting his on Friday afternoon.

O yes, we almost forgot! There is going to be a Firemen's Parade here this fall. Something real illuminating, and patriotic. It will call for all kinds of fancy decorations by the citizens, and all kinds of hospitality by the firemen. All the companies in the State, we are told, are going to be asked to participate. It will be a Big Success. Are you interested?

Further, let us advise you that the tunnel scheme, which will make this State a first cousin to New York is being forwarded as rapidly as skilled mechanics can do the work. They begin operations from the Erie terminal at Jersey City, next week, which will be a great help to the patrons of that road. It is said that they are going to start the work of building the connecting tubes at the Central Railroad terminal very soon. Then we shall go a-whizzing through to New York, just taking time at Jersey City to jump off the train and into the subway. Are you bored?

Suppose that we talk about flies. Have you heard the report that there is going to be an awful pest of them in August? Comforting isn't it? And mosquitoes are very rare, owing to the dry weather. Maybe that will help your sweet disposition some. Did you read of that catpillar scare they had on board an ocean steamship the other day. Passenger was asleep in his state-room and woke up to see the crawly things parading through the key hole. Stop your scratching! Those catpillars have an object in life. They have been deputized by the U. S. Department of Forestry to go up to New England and eat up all the destructive gypsy moths they can find there. So, don't get restive. There is a destiny which shapes our ends. Are you tired?

Very well. Blame it on the weather. You can't sleep anyway.

A SURE PROOF OF IT.

In some two hundred copies of last week's edition of the STANDARD, there appeared under the advertisement of Welch & Son, on the local page, a cut of a dwelling very similar in design to the residence of E. T. Perine, on Dudley avenue; by some the inference was drawn that Mr. Perine's house was for sale for the nominal sum of $5000 and prospective buyers at once became active.

In deference to Mr. Perine, however, we beg to explain that his house is not for sale at the price mentioned, but that a house which the cut was meant to represent, and owned by H. C. Lockwood, is for sale through the agency of Welch & Son. We regret that the similarity in the general design of the two houses should have caused Mr. Perine any embarrassment. It was in anticipation of a possible confusion of the properties that we had the cut taken from the form after a few hundred papers had been printed. It is unfortunate that these few should have fallen into the hands of bargain hunters who have, doubtless, been making overtures to Mr. Perine. We are thankful, however, for this recognition of the STANDARD as an advertising medium. It is unqualified proof of the fact that

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE!

MRS. EMILY WILLIAMSON.

The death of Mrs. Emily Williamson at her home in Elizabeth, Tuesday morning, is a loss to the state, which she so faithfully served. Mrs. Williamson was a practical woman. She gave of her time and her talents to the work of reforming the young and criminally inclined. Many of the best reformatory institutions and laws in this state are monuments to her tireless energy and administrative ability.

It is hardly within the range of human possibility for one person to undertake so much without making errors in judgment. Mrs. Williamson was human, and it was this quality as much as any other that made her so admirably well qualified for her peculiar sphere of usefulness. Her contemporaries will remember her for the great good that she has done; and history will doubtless make record of her worth as a leader of the forces that worked for righteousness in her day and generation.

Miss Gladwin Gives Birthday Dinner.

Those present were Misses Edith Male Gladwin, Madelyn Worth, of Walnut street, Marjorie Phillips, of the Boulevard, Annette Gladwin, Catharine Alpers, of Elm street, Mildred Bance, of Walnut street, Helene Gladwin and Katherine Felt, of Orchard street.

CARNIVAL DRAWS CROWD.

Cranford's Annual Regatta Scores Usually "Big Hit."

The annual venetian carnival held last Saturday evening at Cranford, on the Rahway river, proved to be a great success. Both banks were crowded with eager spectators who watched the one hundred and fifteen beautifully decorated boats sail twice down and up the river.

Many people from Westfield and vicinity attended, the railway company running extra cars to carry the people to and from the place. The Seventh Regiment Band, of New York, and the Imperial Military Band of Plainfield furnished music for the evening.

The prize winners and prizes were: Best decorated craft, Howard Cox, prize, sixteen foot "Old Town" canoe; second, J. G. Bremner, prize, canoe fittings; third, Eric Anderson, prize, a Thermos bottle.

Best of the Novelty Class, Jules DuBarry, craft representing the Sandy Hook light house, prize, a Gladstone bag; second, A. S. Clark, craft representing a prairie wagon, prize, a Bristol steel fishing rod and outfit; third, Mrs. Beatie W. Bratton, craft representing "Little Miss Muffet," prize, a silver mounted umbrella.

Spurious Coinage in Spain.
Spanish coins have been counterfeited, perhaps more than the coins of any other country. Even at the present time Spain is redeeming counterfeit five peseta pieces. These coins were made by private persons and were equal to the regular government coins in point of fineness and weight, the manufacturers being satisfied with the seigniorage or difference between the face value of the coin and its value in bullion silver.

Scot Invented Postage Stamps.

The postage stamp made its first appearance in 1839. Its invention is due to James Chalmers, a printer of Dundee, who died in 1863. England adopted the adhesive stamp, according to a decree of December 21, 1839, and issued the first stamps for public use on May 6, 1840. A year later they were introduced in the United States and Switzerland, and soon after in Bavaria, Belgium and France.

Not Always.

The girl who has nothing to do should learn this: People are not necessarily ignorant because they have not read the latest novel or heard the latest poem. One bad fault some girls have is that they look shocked when a man acknowledges that he hasn't read the latest novel.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

Jersey's Summer Hotels.

It is estimated that the summer hotels of the White mountains are worth $5,000,000; of Vermont, the same; Massachusetts, $10,000,000; those of the Catskills, $3,000,000; of the Adirondacks, $7,000,000; of Connecticut, $4,000,000, and those of New Jersey over $50,000,000.—Hotel World.

Make Perfect Penholders.

In India there is a patent medicine firm which converts into penholders the wooden packing cases in which it gets some of its drugs from America. This firm makes such a good penholder that the government buys it, although all the work is done by hand.

Colors of Flames.

The various colors of flames in a wood fire are caused by the combustion of the elements of the fuel. The light blue is from the hydrogen, the white from carbon, the violet from manganese, the red from magnesia and the yellow from soda.

Had to Have Her Cigarettes.

Mathilda Haska of Budapest has broken off her engagement because her fiancé, who is a nonsmoker, wishes her also to give up the habit. She declares she can live without a husband, but not without cigarettes.

Surely the Limit.

"Some kinds of dishonesty are almost unbelievable," says the Philosopher of Folly. "Cheating at solitaire is a common form. But I know a man who gives himself short change at his own store."

Daily Thought.

Without friendship this life is but misery, and it is so difficult to find a true friend that the search is almost needless; but if you ever do it ought to be cherished as an exotic plant.—Nelson.

Splendid Russian Harbor.

Vladivostok, the principal Russian port in the far east, possesses a well-protected, land-locked harbor, with from thirty to ninety feet of water over a wide area.

Novel Use for Pincushions.

In some parts of Holland a silk pincushion on the door-knob proclaims a birth. If the pincushion is red the baby is a boy; if white, a girl.—Home Chat.

Superstitious Brokers.

About the London Stock Exchange, a few years ago, and probably now, a man might have been seen with a small bag of nuts. The brokers would buy these for luck.

Cynical Definition.

"Courtship," said Mrs. Matrimonial Failure, "is a bark that sails from the court of Cupid and lands at the court of divorce."

Don't.

Young man, don't take a girl's hand in yours and tell her you love her unless you are prepared to pay her board for life.—Chicago Daily News.

Splendid!

What a splendid thing it would be if people who lose their tinners were unable to find them again.

The Labor Problem.

The labor question will never be solved as long as it is necessary for anybody to labor.

Greece a Pastoral Country.

About one-half of the population of Greece are agriculturists and shepherds.

Defect in Steel Ships.

Steel ships are more easily penetrated by rams, ricks, etc., than the old wooden bottoms.

American City Leads All.

New York has more money invested in better hotels and theaters than any other city in the world.

The Only Limit.

Men do less than they ought unless they do all that they can.—Carlyle.

That magic word—invests our every offering—who has not experienced the consciousness of success; SUCCESS made sweeter by consciousness of having earned it? You know—everybody knows, the satisfaction that comes from having secured something really unusual for the money. That is the consciousness of success: SUCCESS won through knowing a good, square, out-of-the-ordinary proposition on sight. We notice the consciousness of that kind of success in many faces visiting this store these days. There are reasons by the hundreds—We are out of the high rent district—we have you 25 per cent. on every purchase. Then, too, 'tis easy to pay the Dwyer Way.

Cause for Anxiety.

Wiggles—"I hear Jenks has been very ill. Is he out of danger yet?" Waggles—"Well, he's convalescent; but he won't be out of danger until that pretty nurse who has been taking care of him has gone away."—Life.

No Need to Be Alarmed.

An English writer says education is ridding the world of genius by making everybody a mediocrity. Don't get scared. A real genius is always a long way ahead of the very latest education.

Act for Oneself.

Well, is it for us to do our own thinking, listening quietly to the opinions of others, but to be sufficiently men and women to act always upon our own convictions.—Ralph Waldo Trine.

True and False Friendship.

False friendship is like the ivy, which decays and ruins the wall it embraces; but true friendship gives new life and animation to the object it supports.—Burton.

Why Worry?

It does not pay to fume over things we cannot change. As the poet says "expense of spirit is a waste of shame." Flout fortune and be merry.

As Most of Us Do.

The tailor and milliners have begun to tell people what they are going to wear just as if they were not to continue to wear what they get.

Time for Parental Concern.

It is time for the wise parent to take action when his son acquires the nickname of "Kid."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Probability.

It is probable that Eve wanted that apple because the serpent made her believe it had been marked down.

The Limit of Knowledge.

James: To know one thing thoroughly would be to know the universe.

Animals as Shamers.

Many animals feign illness. In military stables horses are known to have pretended to be lame in order to avoid going to a military exercise. A chimpanzee in the zoo had been fed on cake when ill; for some time after his recovery he often feigned coughing in order to procure further dainties.

It Ignited.

Little Rollos, four years old, came to the table, where we had tomato soup, of which he is very fond. Being very hungry, he could not wait for it to cool, but hastily ate two or three spoonfuls; then, laying down his spoon, he exclaimed: "My goodness! that soup is so hot it makes sparks all down me."—Delmeator.

Odor of Ambergris.

It is claimed for ambergris that not only has it its own odor, but that it also possesses the quality of exalting the flavor and perfume of other substances with which it is brought in contact. The odor is similar to that of musk; but it is much more penetrating and enduring.

Good Way to Look at Task.

Big things are only little things put together. It is encouraging to think of this when confronted by a big task. Remember that it is only a group of little tasks, any one of which you can easily do. It is ignorance of this fact that makes some men afraid to try.—Warren.

Instructions Easy to Follow.

Anna had heard the doctor tell her mother to keep her feet warm and her head cool. After the doctor had gone the little girl said: "He needn't have told you that, for I couldn't be any other way with a boll on my foot and a cold in my head."

Popular Names in Britain.

In England and Wales, out of every 100,000 girls and boys, 6,820 are called Mary and 6,590 William.

Immense Mexican Haciendas.

Some of the haciendas in the Mexican state of Durango contain a million or more acres.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That We

Westfield Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL No. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Don't's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cures them permanently. Here's Westfield proof:

Miss Katie Brady, 91 Downer St., Westfield, N. J., says: "Headaches and backaches troubled me for so long a time that I really thought there was no hope for me. The kidney secretions also passed too frequently. I consulted physicians but received no relief until finally learning of Don's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Frater's Pharmacy. They gave me prompt relief, my back was strengthened and it was not long before I was free from the back aches and dizzy spells. Don's Kidney Pills proved satisfactory in every respect and I take pleasure in recommending them."

Going Down.

The rebellious angels had just been cast out of heaven, in the swift downward flight Lucifer overtook Beelzebub. "What's troubling you, Bub?" he called. "An old problem," answered the future foul fiend, between somersaults—"Where are you going this fall?"—Philadelphia Record.

The Provincialism of Self.

The narrowest provincialism is that of self. The natural man, like the singing bird, comes out of the forest as inevitably as the natural bear and the wild cat stick there. To seek to be natural implies a consciousness that forbids all naturalness forever.—James Russell Lowell.
