Water in Some Westfield Cellars

The country needed rain—Westfield gardens and lawns needed rain—they received an abundance of it last Monday and Tuesday, a 50-hour downpour. But in many places throughout Westfield the water got into the wrong place; cellars were flooded and many a man's front yard and rear of his property also, resembled a good sized lake.

Nothing Like This on the Pearsall Properties

Tuesday afternoon late, a member of the Pearsall Company braved the storm in order to inspect the various developments of the Company. The Brightwood Forest property was inspected and the drainage found to be perfect. Why shouldn't it be? Its elevation, 185 to 229 feet above sea level and the natural lay of the land, makes wet cellars and miniature lakes and ponds an impossibility. The Pearsall property on Grove street was next inspected—same result.

LEWIS S. HYER DEAD.

Veteran Editor Dead at Home in Rahway, Aged 70.

Lewis S. Hyer, until six weeks ago editor of the Rahway Democrat, which he had owned and edited since 1895, died at his home in Rahway on Monday, after a brief illness, aged 70 years. Judge Hyer held a number of offices in Union county, among them, when the Democrats were in power, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for two terms and on his third term when this office was abolished, Mayor of Rahway and clerk of the Board of Chosen Freeholders. For twenty years he was on the executive committee of the New Jersey Editorial Association. He recently sold his paper to former Mayor Furber. He is survived by a wife and one son, Frederick O. Hyer, lawyer, who ran for senator last fall on the Democratic ticket. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon in the Rahway Methodist Church.

Weather Man Has the Laugh on the Prophets Who Can't Explain Why We Got It All—The Printer's Devil Laments in Verse.

Say 'aint it funny how the Weather Man Acts up the days? The Old Boy makes me chide: If I could run my job the way he can I might have fun, but you bet I'd get fired. First things go dry: for days, and days, and days. There 'aint no rain: the farmers raise a kick 'Bout crops and such: the Deacon prays and prays. For water 'till there 'aint naps in the creek. Then of a sudden, when we're all gone dry, Long comes an ocean full of somethin' wet. And it just rains and rains, a mountain high— Say do we get it? Well, now you just bet it! Ah, what's the use of drivin' 'till you're sick? Can't Weather have a Brain storm? Swell as folks.

—The Printer's Devil's Lament.
The Weather man is certainly a "pesky thing." After deputizing J. Pluvius to stay in the west with his watering cart until the east was furnished, and after having succeeded in nearly killing vegetation, he suddenly gives Old Japs orders to pull up stakes and bring all his watering apparatus to the neighborhood of New York, there to lot loose all of the available supply of wetness.

And such a wetness as it was! Nobody expected it, and the Prophets are now vainly attempting to explain why they failed in their calculations. The truth of the matter is that the Weather Man had the laugh on them. Everybody had been so long complaining of "no rain," that His Highness thought it best to bestow a plenty of it at the unexpected moment. So New York city and environs got enough of it to last until the crops are harvested at any rate.

For twenty-four hours the total rainfall was about six inches. During the fourteen hours from eight o'clock Monday morning until ten at night the total precipitation was 4.24 inches. The record for the twelve daylight hours on Monday was 3.94. This exceeded by one-tenth of an inch the highest record of the last thirty-seven years.

Everything was wet through, saturated. The streets of the town, particularly in the out-lying districts, looked like small rivers; and small streams that had gone dry because of the long drought were suddenly converted into rushing torrents. The corn fields, bending beneath their load of grain, were hurled to the ground by the heavy down-pour. Many cellars in the town were flooded, and report has it that some good citizens were forced to wade pools dexterously to keep the water from rising to the first floor. The damage done locally is reported to be comparatively slight.

Despite the fact that it would seem as if there were no more water in J. P.'s cart, report comes from the Weather Bureau that we may be visited with something even more exciting than a heavy rain. It is said that a gale is blowing up along the coast, which may take on real tornado proportions by the time it reaches New York harbor, which may be tomorrow. As everybody is on the lookout for the tornado, it will probably refuse to pay us a visit. The Weather Prophets have prepared themselves against such a contingency by qualifying their prediction with an "if the storm is not side-tracked," which is equivalent to saying that—O, well, we're prepared to take to the cyclone cellar anyway.

Last Call to the Excursion.

All is ready for the Inter-Council excursion to Bellewood Park, tomorrow. Trolley leaves Broad and Elm streets at 8:30 for Picton.

Quite some interest is being manifested in the games for which very handsome prizes have been offered. It is hoped our Westfield people will take a fair share of them.

THE G. O. P. EXCURSION.

Candidates Nailed Their Colors to the Mast and Sailed Before a Favoring Gale.

U. S. SENATOR KEAN ABOARD.

Vivian Lewis With Gubernatorial Bee in His Bonnet; Thompson, Pierce, Schwartz, Assembly; Smith and Calvert in the Field.

It may be an "off-year" in politics, but the Republican excursion to Rockaway, last Saturday, proved that it is no "off-year" for aspirants for office. The party shate is not made up with such exactness, either, in these days of open primaries, but it is made up all the same, and the candidate who can secure the backing of the organization regards his fight for nomination as half won.

Candidates were numerous at the outing; there are other years to come that will not be "off," even though they may be "odd" years. In consequence, the making of a slate for 1909 was no great task. The candidates for county offices nailed their colors to the mast and sailed before a favoring gale. Apparently every aspirant, who may strictly be regarded as such, was favorably received by the organization. At present writing the ticket looks like this: Frank Smith, county registrar; James C. Calvert, county clerk; Carlton B. Pierce, Augustus W. Schwartz and Lloyd Thompson, for assembly. The latter, it is understood, will succeed Albert F. Kirstein, of Rahway, who, it is said, has declined a renomination, or rather has withdrawn from the fight for place.

New Jersey will need another Governor when Mr. Fort's term expires. Vivian M. Lewis, State Commissioner of Banking and Insurance, who has his eye steadfastly fixed on the gubernatorial nomination, was a guest of the occasion, and his presence by some was taken to mean that county leaders view his candidacy with approval. Mr. Lewis, United States Senator Kean, and Leader Daniel Voorhees, of Morris county, and State Treasurer, traded yarns on the upper deck. Senator Kean enjoyed his first outing, and was busy a good part of the time, shaking hands with his friends. He seemed to be having the time of his life. Another engagement forced him to leave the beach by train shortly after dinner.

Never was a more successful outing run off. From the final tuck of the starting whistle until the Isabella was hauled and tied up to the city dock, there was not a feature of the excursion to mar its success. When the tickets had been taken up by James White and Sidney Williams, badges and cigars were distributed to the excursionists and they were free to amuse themselves aboard the spacious and commodious vessel. A buffet luncheon of sandwiches, coffee, etc., was provided, and there was music all the way to the beach by Hildebrandt's orchestra. There weren't 350 persons aboard.

When the landing had been made at the beach at 12:45, the party, led by the band, marched to the restaurant overlooking the sea, where dinner was served. The men sat at long tables, placed so that the ocean breeze swept over them and a full view of the water could be had.

The menu offered mock turtle soup, fish, meat, chicken, vegetables, ice cream and coffee, and everybody ate with the hearty appetite acquired on the long sail.

The four hours left to the excursionists after dinner, before the boat started on her return trip, they spent roaming up and down the boardwalk, taking in the rifle galleries, and other amusements of the resort. The steamer left at 7:10 p. m. and returned to Elizabeth about 10 o'clock.

Besides the men mentioned, some of those who made the trip were Hamilton F. Kean, Donald McLean, secretary to Senator Kean, Sheriff Robert J. Kirkland, Postmaster Palmer H. Charlock, Halsey Brant and William Garrison, of Elizabeth; Judge Nowcorn, Mayor Fisk, Andrew McCordell, former Mayor Buckle, A. Ayer, Aldermen Buxton, Wilson, Glock and Rudolph Postmaster Elias Bird, Joseph Noonan, Walter L. Hotfield, Jr., W. Angelman, Frank Blatz, of Plainfield; J. H. Warner, of Rahway; H. Woolston, of North Plainfield; and Attorney Frederick S. Taggart, Councilmen Charles A. Bechtold, Augustus Schwartz, Collector Geo. A. Laing, Assessor L. A. Robbins, Marshall Boynton, John Klopff, representing Mountinside Borough; Town Clerk Lloyd Thompson and Robert V. Hoffman, of Westfield.

IT WAS A WET NIGHT.

Only Six Members of Council Present at Regular but Brief Session Monday.

"MAYOR" WILSON IN THE CHAIR.

A Few Routine Matters Disposed of in Short Order—Members Dressed to Suit the Weather.

Only six members attended the regular meeting of Council, Monday night, and Councilman Wilson, looking the part, presided in the absence of Mayor Alpers. The slim attendance was not due to any indisposition on the part of the absentees, nor to the fact that J. Pluvius was hurling buckets of water from the skies. Far from it! The worthies who braved the storm declared that it was good sport, and those who stayed away did so because they were vacationing, and too far from the scene of action to get back.

It was a wet weather assemblage. "Mayor" Wilson wore leggings of the real suburban variety, and Councilman Middleitch wore knee boots, a rain coat, and carried a large umbrella. To further protect himself against the elements, the Third Warder hired a hack—and still he got wet, so he complained. The other members present, Messrs. Mulbury, Hohenstein, Atlock and Schmitt were dressed for a blizzard. If the proceedings had been half so lively as the Weather Man, there would have been a news story under a three column scare head.

But everything was as quiet and orderly as a Sewing Society meeting, and certainly there were fewer topics of conversation under the regular order of business than would be tolerated in any well regulated Sewing Bee. Acting Mayor Wilson tried his best to enliven the multitude by requesting "those present to address the chair on matters of local import." There was not a whimper from Newspaper Row, which, by the way, constituted the audience. To be sure the Town Attorney was there, in his official capacity, but he had nothing to say—and he said it.

There were three bids filed for the laying of sidewalks and curbs. They came from A. L. Clark Stone Co., of Elizabeth; J. W. Manhattan, and the Union County Contracting Co. The bids were laid over until a special meeting to be held August 30.

The ordinance to resurface the macadam, reset the curbs and lay brick gutters on Prospect street, from Broad street to Walnut, street was passed on its second, third and final readings.

The ordinance to lay an eight inch sanitary sewer on Edgingham Place, from Clark street to Prospect street, was passed on its second, third and final readings.

The town clerk was ordered to advertise for bids on the improvements of Prospect street and other improvements to be returnable on Tuesday, September 7.

A letter was received from A. H. Clark stating the amount on the County Road Bonds due October 1st was $501.00, interest on which has been paid.

A letter was received from L. M. Pearsall asking to have the collector apportion the assessment on the property on Elm street and Dudley avenue. This was ordered done.

The Council adjourned at 9:10 by the clock, which hangs over the Mayor's sanctum.

DOG WARDEN FINALLY CAPTURED, AFTER AN EXCITING CHASE.

After a chase, lasting several months, the Town of Westfield has captured him. It happened at the regular session, Monday night, and was really the only happening of real consequence. The members of Council who participated in the closing chapter of a far-famed episode are now congratulating themselves. By them it is looked upon as an accomplishment.

The truth must out: Westfield has a Dog Warden. The ordinary unit wouldn't have been at all effective, but the perquisites of the office, carrying fees and a salary, are regarded by one Charles Lance as sufficiently tempting to warrant a try at least. So Mr. Lance has been officially designated as the Keeper of the Pound, and is now on a still hunt for stray pups without a license.

"LADY SIDNUT" WINS AGAIN.

Only Local Trotter To Win Cup at Mallnee Meet Saturday Afternoon.

"FRED V." AND "MAUD C." IN POOR FORM.

Big Crowd Enjoys Best Racing of the Season—Time in 2:24 Pace Lowered by Brower's "Mary S."

A large crowd, in fact the largest at the track this season, witnessed four exciting horse races at Fair Acres Race Track, last Saturday afternoon. The track was in fine condition, and the weather man was there in his best clothes to enjoy the sport. The matinee, which was given under the auspices of the Westfield Driving and Riding Club, was a splendid success from start to finish, and surpassed all former meets and matinees of the season.

C. B. Smith's "Lady Sidnut" was the only local trotter which succeeded in taking one of the four cups offered. "The Rector," owned by Harry Evans, and "Fred V." owned by Frank Irving made a very poor showing. Westfielders expected better things of those favorites but they fell far behind expectations. "Maud C.," owned by "Ray" Edwards, did some good work, but only captured a red ribbon. The mare is capable, but seems to lack proper training.

In the 2:30 trot, "Queen," "Lady Sidnut," "Judge Gifford," and "Schley" were the only horses to start. The other four entered had been withdrawn. The first heat was without excitement, "Lady Sidnut" crossing the wire with plenty to spare. In the second heat, "Schley," who lead the field, at the start off, gave "Lady Sidnut" the lead at the quarter mile mark, but picked up at the three quarter mark and took the lead with "Lady Sidnut" following closely. It seemed a sure race for "Schley"; the "fans" were all straining their necks in the excitement, when, suddenly, "Schley" broke on the home stretch and gave "Lady Sidnut" the heat. "Queen" held third in this heat. On the third heat, "Queen" trotting close second, broke at the three-eighths mark, but took the same position at the five-eighths mark. At the three-quarter mark, "Schley" had the lead, and "Lady Sidnut" stole second place from "Queen." In the fourth heat, "Lady Sidnut" succeeded in taking the lead from "Schley" who broke at the three-quarter mark. "Queen" came in second.

In the first heat of the 2:24 Pace, although there were only five starters, many attempts were made for a good start. This heat showed some uneven racing. But the start of the second heat was one of the best of the day. "The Rector" broke at the quarter mark, and did remarkable work in picking up from last place to third at the finish. "The Rector" made an desperate attempt to take second place at the seven-eighths mark, and caused a flurry of excitement in the grandstand. "Mary S." owned by C. Brower, took this race easily and was never hard-pressed at any time. The time for this class was lowered four seconds. The time of the heats was 2:20, 2:20½ and 2:22½.

The first heat of the 2:26 Trot was won by "Hartwood Belle," "Fred V." taking second honors. In the second heat "Fred V." had to fight hard for second place with "Maud C." The latter finally overtook Irving's horse at the seven-eighths mark. The crowd watched "Maud C." pick up and overtake "Fred V." and they cheered heartily. Both trotters are favorites. They also cheered to see "Fred V." defeat "Ray" Edwards' "Maud C." in the first heat. In the third heat "Fred V." had a poor start and "Maud C." broke about 100 yards from the wire, but succeeded in keeping the lead. Edward's horse again broke at the half-mile mark. "Maud C." then began to move a little faster, and finally overtook "Hartwood Belle" at the seven-eighths mark; but when fifty yards from the wire, "Maud C." broke and gave the heat and race to "Hartwood Belle."

In the second heat of the 2:45 Trot, most of the trotters broke at least once. The third heat was very interesting. "Josie D." broke at the three-eighths mark and left the lead to "Whisper" who held it until she broke at the five-eighths mark, when "Josie D." took and held the lead until the end of the race.

Sam Harding's Trophy

By Duke Cuyler

Among the first who built their cabins on the shore of the beautiful Ossipee lake was a man by the name of Sam Harding.

Alone with his wife and child he had threaded the forest that lay between the settlements at Dover Point and the lake, and, once arrived upon its banks, he built his cabin, and set about his work at once of clearing up a homestead.

For many years there had been suspended from a smoke-stained beam above the broad fireplace a trophy of the early days he had spent on the shore of the lake.

It was an Indian's scalp.
So long had it hung there that it was as dried and smoke-begrimed as the beam itself.

Few there were of his visitors, who, remarking it, failed to inquire why it was thus preserved.

To these he did not fail to tell its history, as we shall do now.

We will give it in his own words, so the reader may imagine that he is sitting in the cabin of the old pioneer, with the strange trophy suspended before him.

"You ask me why it is that I keep that thing in the house? Well, I will tell you.

"When I first came up here to settle on the banks of the Ossipee, it was a howling wilderness for miles and miles on every side.

"I hadn't but one white man for a neighbor, and he lived two miles away, down at the foot of the bay.

"But I had plenty of another kind. There were wild beasts and savages on all sides, and there were times when they both gave me lots of trouble.

"With the beasts I could get along pretty well.

"When they got too neighborly, I would spend a few days in hunting, and get them thinned out, so that for a time I could live in peace.

"But with the redskins it was different. It wasn't no use to try and thin them out, although there was times when I had to try my hand at it. My plan was to keep on the right side of them if I could, but I could not always tell which side that was. They were mighty uncertain. You never could tell for a certainty when they were friendly to you or when they were waiting for a good chance to take your scalp.

"A big bear, one which I judged by his track would weigh at least 500 pounds, had been into my corn, and the way he had finished it was enough to make anybody's temper rise. It seemed as though the critter had trampled down and destroyed a good five bushels of it.

"There was not any trouble in following the trail he had left behind, for his feet were as big round as a peck measure, and you could see where he had planted 'em, a half dozen rods ahead.

"The valley became narrower and narrower as you went up, until at last the rocks came so close together that they shut out the sunshine, and a kind of twilight filled the place.

"I had just made up my mind that I should find his bearship not far from here when all at once I heard a deep growl only a little ways away.

"The next minute I saw him—he had seen me and was sitting up on end, to give me a hugging when I came near enough.

It was a good chance for a shot, and bringing my rifle to bear, I took good aim for the spot right between his fore shoulders and fired. The next moment he was kicking among the dry leaves, giving up the ghost. "I knew that there would be no need of another shot, so I did not stop to load my rifle again, but rushed right up to the spot.

"I wasn't long in getting there, and when I did, I found that there was somebody before me.

"A redskin, a fellow I had had some trouble with before, was standing over the bear, who was just gasping his last, and the varmint had sent an arrow into it, and I knew in a moment that he meant to claim the carcass for his own. But I had no intention of being cheated out of my meat in this way, so I walked up to the bear, and whipping out my knife, cut its throat.

The redskin looked as ugly as pizen, and in broken English wanted to know what I did that for; the bear was his, and he was going to have it, he said.

"I showed him that it was my bullet, not his arrow, that had killed it, but that did not make the matter any better.

"White man let it alone, or Injun have his scalp," he cried, as he drew his knife.

"You'll have to take it first, you thieving redskin," said I.

"I had not hardly got the words out of my mouth before he sprang upon me. But I was ready for him. I knocked aside his hand, which he meant to twist into my hair.

"For about a minute it was as hard a tussle as ever I had in my life; but at last I managed to trip him up, and down we went across the carcass of the bear. As good luck would have it, I came uppermost, and the next minute I plunged my knife to the hilt into his heart.

"That did for him; and I rolled his carcass off the bear, and went to work skinning the animal. I took as much of the meat as I could carry, and the scalp of the redskin, and started for home. When I got there I hung the scalp up where you see it, and it hasn't been moved since."

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY,
Department of State.

NOTICE OF A SPECIAL ELECTION.

In pursuance with the provisions of Chapter 229 of the Session Laws of 1909, entitled "An Act to provide for submitting the proposed amendments to the constitution of this State to the people thereof," approved April 21, 1909, notice is hereby given that on Thursday, the fourteenth day of September, 1909, a SPECIAL ELECTION.

will be held in the several election districts or precincts of this State at such places as the clerks of the several townships, cities, and municipalities of the State shall provide, to enable the electors qualified to vote for members of the legislature to vote for or against certain proposed amendments having been submitted by the sessions of the Legislature of New Jersey of 1908 and of 1909, in pursuance with the provisions of article nine of the constitution of said State. The said proposed amendments are contained in the form of ballot hereto annexed, which ballot has been provided for use at said special election, in pursuance with the provisions of said Chapter 229 of the Laws of 1909, and said law requires that to vote for any particular amendment, the voter shall strike out the word "against," to vote against any particular amendment, he shall strike out the word "for." No ballot will be counted for or against any amendment unless the vote is indicated by striking out either the word "for" or the word "against."

S. B. DICKINSON,
Secretary of State.

FORM OF BALLOT.

FIRST AMENDMENT.

FOR AGAINST THIS AMENDMENT.
1. Strike out paragraph ten of Section IV of Article IV, and change the numbers of the following paragraphs to correspond.

SECOND AMENDMENT.

FOR AGAINST THIS AMENDMENT.
Change paragraph ten of Article V to read as follows:

"The Governor or person administering the government, and four citizens of the State appointed by the Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall constitute the Board of Pardons. The members of said Board of Pardons, or person administering the government, shall be one, may remit fines and forfeitures, and grant reprieves, commutations, pardons and paroles, after conviction in all cases except impeachment. The four members specially appointed shall hold office for five years, and receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during the term of their appointment.

THIRD AMENDMENT.

FOR AGAINST THIS AMENDMENT.
(The different paragraphs of this amendment being necessarily interdependent, are considered as one amendment.)
Change Section I of Article VI so as to read as follows:

SECTION I.
The judicial power shall be vested in a court for the trial of impeachments, a Supreme Court, County Courts, and such other courts, inferior to the Supreme Court, as may be established by law, which inferior courts the Legislature may alter or abolish as the public good shall require.

Strike out all of Sections II, IV, V, VI and VII of Article VI, change the number of Section III of Article VI to Section II, and insert the following sections in Article VI:

SECTION III.
Any judge of any of the courts of the State may be removed for disability continuing for one year, or for refusal to perform the duties of his office, by a vote of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate and of two-thirds of all the members of the House of Assembly, voting separately, after a hearing before both Houses in joint session.

SECTION IV.
1. The Supreme Court shall be organized in three divisions, namely, the Appeals Division, the Law Division and the Chancery Division. It shall consist of a Presiding Justice of the Appeals Division who shall be styled the Chief Justice, a Presiding Justice of the Law Division, who shall be styled the Chancellor, and eighteen Associate Justices, whose number may be increased by law.

2. The Appeals Division shall consist of the Chief Justice, and six other Justices of the Supreme Court to be assigned by the Chief Justice of the Appeals Division, and the Justices of the Supreme Court assigned by the Governor to the Appeals Division shall serve in said division until the end of their term.

3. Whenever the number of causes before the Appeals Division shall be so great that the division cannot promptly hear and determine them, the Governor shall, when authorized by statute, temporarily assign five of the Justices of the other divisions to sit in the Appeals Division, which shall thereupon sit in two divisions for the hearing and decision of causes pending at the time of such assignment.

4. Four Justices shall be necessary to constitute a quorum of the Appeals Division for any cause in the Appeals Division. The Supreme Court may provide by rule for the making of interlocutory orders by a lesser number of Justices or by one Justice; such orders to be subject to revision by the Appeals Division.

On the hearing of a cause in the Appeals Division, no Justice who has given a judicial opinion in the cause in favor of or against the judgment, order or decree under review shall sit at the hearing to review such judgment, order or decree, but the reasons for such opinion shall be assigned to the Court in writing.

5. A majority of all the members of the Supreme Court, to be presided over by the Chief Justice, shall constitute a quorum for the assignment of Justices, and for the appointment of officers, and the enactment of rules.

6. The Supreme Court shall appoint one or more reporters, not exceeding three, to report the decisions of the Court, and shall by rule define his or their duties and powers. The reporters shall hold office for five years, subject, however, to removal at the discretion of the Court.

of any cause on review, saving, however, the right of trial by jury.

2. The jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the Supreme Court and the Justices thereof not hereby conferred on the Appeals Division, and the jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the County Courts and the Justices thereof, and such further original jurisdiction not of an equitable nature, and such further appellate jurisdiction from inferior courts as may be conferred by statute, shall be exercised by the Law Division of the Supreme Court, and by the several Justices thereof, in accordance with rules of practice and procedure prescribed by statute, or in the absence of statute by the Supreme Court.

3. The jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the Prerogative Court and the Ordinary, not hereby conferred on the Appeals Division, and the jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the Court of Chancery and the Chancellor, and such further original equity jurisdiction as may be conferred by statute, and such further appellate jurisdiction as may be conferred by statute, shall be exercised by the Chancery Division of the Supreme Court, and by the several Justices thereof, in accordance with rules of practice and procedure prescribed by statute, or in the absence of statute by the Supreme Court.

4. Terms of the Supreme Court presided over by a single Justice of the Law Division for the trial of issues joined in, brought to the Law Division of the Supreme Court shall be held in the several counties at times fixed by the Supreme Court. (Until so fixed, such trial term shall be held at the places and times now fixed by law for the holding of the Courts of Common Pleas in the several counties.)

5. The Supreme Court may provide by rule for the transfer of any cause or business from the Law Division to the Chancery Division, or from the Chancery Division to the Law Division of the Supreme Court, and for the giving of complete legal and equitable relief in any cause in the court or division where it may be pending.

6. Nothing herein contained shall prevent any action, by law or of right, or any power or jurisdiction conferred upon any court or judge since the adoption of the Constitution in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, and nothing herein contained shall prevent the Legislature from conferring upon any inferior court which may hereafter be established such power, or jurisdiction as was exercised by or which may now be conferred upon the inferior courts mentioned in section I of Article VI of the Constitution of 1844.

SECTION VI.
The County Courts shall have and exercise, in all cases within the county such original common law jurisdiction concurrent with the Supreme Court, and such other jurisdiction heretofore exercised by courts inferior to the Supreme Court and the Prerogative Court as may be provided by law. The final judgments of the County Courts may be brought for review before the Supreme Court in appeals Division. Until otherwise provided, the jurisdiction heretofore exercised by the Courts of Common Pleas, Orphans' Courts, Courts of Oyer and Terminer, Courts of Quarter Sessions, or by the Justices thereof, shall be exercised by the County Courts pursuant to rules prescribed by the Supreme Court. The Justices of the Law Division of the Supreme Court shall be ex officio Justices of the County Courts. All other Justices of authority now vested in any court, judge or magistrate with jurisdiction inferior to the courts in this section mentioned, and not superseded by this article, shall continue to be exercised by such court, judge or magistrate until the Legislature shall otherwise provide.

SECTION VII.
This amendment to the Constitution shall not cause the dissolution of any court or proceeding pending when it takes effect. The Supreme Court shall make such general and special rules and orders as may be necessary for the transfer of all suits and proceedings to the appropriate division or court created by this amendment. Matters pending when this amendment takes effect shall be decided by the Judge or Judges to whom they were assigned, and the order, judgment or decree made or advised by a Judge or Judges shall be entered as that of the division or court to which the suit or proceeding shall have been transferred.

SECTION VIII.
Strike out paragraphs 1, 2, 5 and 8 of section II of Article VII; and substitute the following paragraphs in place of paragraphs 1 and 2, and change the numbers of the paragraphs following 5 to correspond:

1. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the President Justice of the Law Division, the Chancellor and the Associate Justices of the Supreme Court shall be nominated by the Governor and appointed by him, with the advice and consent of the Senate. They shall not be less than thirty-five years of age, and shall have been practicing attorneys in the State for at least ten years. They shall hold office for the term of seven years, shall be salaried, and shall receive their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their term of office, and they shall hold no other office under the government of the State, or of the United States, and shall not engage in the practice of law during their term of office. The Chancellor and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and the Vice-Chancellors and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, in office when this amendment takes effect shall continue to hold office until the expiration of their respective terms.

2. The Governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint one Judge of the County Court in each county, and such additional County Judges or Justices in any county as may be authorized by law. The County Judges may hold court in any county subject to the control of the Supreme Court. The County Judges shall not be less than thirty years of age, and shall have been practicing attorneys in this State for at least five years. They shall hold office for the term of five years; shall at stated times receive for their services such compensation, which shall not be diminished during their term of office, as the Legislature in its discretion shall fix for each county, and they shall hold no other office under the government of the State or of the United States, and shall not engage in practice of law during their term of office. The Justices of the Common Pleas in office when this amendment takes effect shall be the Judges of the County Courts until the expiration of their present terms.

3. This amendment shall take effect on the first Monday in February, in the year next following its adoption by the people.

4. The Legislature shall pass all laws necessary to carry into effect the provisions of the constitution and this amendment.

SECTION IX.
1. The Appeals Division shall have and exercise the appellate jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the Court of Errors and Appeals, the jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the Supreme Court on writ of error, and the jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the Prerogative Court on appeal, and by the Ordinary on appeal, may be conferred upon it by law, together with such original jurisdiction as may be incident to the complete determination of any cause on review, saving, however, the right of trial by jury.

2. The jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the Supreme Court and the Justices thereof not hereby conferred on the Appeals Division, and the jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the County Courts and the Justices thereof, and such further original jurisdiction not of an equitable nature, and such further appellate jurisdiction from inferior courts as may be conferred by statute, shall be exercised by the Law Division of the Supreme Court, and by the several Justices thereof, in accordance with rules of practice and procedure prescribed by statute, or in the absence of statute by the Supreme Court.

3. The jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the Prerogative Court and the Ordinary, not hereby conferred on the Appeals Division, and the jurisdiction heretofore possessed by the Court of Chancery and the Chancellor, and such further original equity jurisdiction as may be conferred by statute, and such further appellate jurisdiction as may be conferred by statute, shall be exercised by the Chancery Division of the Supreme Court, and by the several Justices thereof, in accordance with rules of practice and procedure prescribed by statute, or in the absence of statute by the Supreme Court.

4. Terms of the Supreme Court presided over by a single Justice of the Law Division for the trial of issues joined in, brought to the Law Division of the Supreme Court shall be held in the several counties at times fixed by the Supreme Court. (Until so fixed, such trial term shall be held at the places and times now fixed by law for the holding of the Courts of Common Pleas in the several counties.)

5. The Supreme Court may provide by rule for the transfer of any cause or business from the Law Division to the Chancery Division, or from the Chancery Division to the Law Division of the Supreme Court, and for the giving of complete legal and equitable relief in any cause in the court or division where it may be pending.

and members of the General Assembly shall receive annually the sum of ten hundred dollars during the term for which they shall have been elected, and while they shall hold their office, and no other salary, for any purpose whatever. The President of the Senate and the Speaker of the General Assembly shall, in virtue of their offices, receive an additional allowance, equal to one-third of their salaries as members.

FIFTH AMENDMENT.

FOR AGAINST THIS AMENDMENT.
(The different paragraphs of this amendment being necessarily interdependent, are considered as one amendment.)
Strike out paragraph 3 of Section I, of Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

3. Elections for members of the Senate and General Assembly shall be held every two years on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, beginning on the first Monday in November, and thereafter, on the second Tuesday in January of each year, at which time of meeting the legislative year shall commence.

Strike out paragraph 1 of Section II, of Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

1. The Senate shall be composed of one Senator from each county in the State, elected by the legal voters of the county, respectively, for four years.

Strike out paragraph 2 of Section II, of Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

2. As soon as the Senate shall meet after the first election to be held in pursuance of this constitution they shall be divided by the Senate as equally as may be into two classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the first year; of the second class, at the expiration of the fourth year, so that one class may be elected every second year and vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, the persons elected to supply such vacancies shall be elected for the unexpired terms only; provided, that the Senate having the longest period of time still to serve at the time of making said division shall be entitled to the longer terms.

Strike out paragraph 1 of Section III, of Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

1. The General Assembly shall be composed of members elected by the legal voters of the counties, respectively, every second year, beginning on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, and thereafter, on the second Tuesday in January of each year, at which time of meeting the legislative year shall commence.

2. The General Assembly shall, in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten, and at its first session after each United States decennial census hereafter, and not oftener, divide and arrange each county of this State into a district or districts for the election therein of a member or members of the General Assembly. Each Assembly district shall contain, as nearly as practicable, an equal number of inhabitants, and shall consist of convenient and contiguous territory in a compact form, but no county, or part thereof, shall be joined with any other county, or part thereof, in any such district; provided, that each county shall, at all times, be entitled to at least one member, and that the whole number of members to be chosen shall never exceed sixty.

3. The Court of Last Resort, by whatever name known, is hereby invested with exclusive original jurisdiction and with full power, under such procedure as may be by rules prescribe, to review any division and arrangement made by the Legislature into Assembly districts of the counties of this State for the purpose of determining whether such arrangement of division, or any part thereof, is in accordance or in conflict with this section, and, if in conflict herewith, to adjust the same, or such part thereof as may be in conflict herewith, null and void, in case said court shall determine such arrangement and division, or any part thereof, to be null and void the Legislature shall proceed to make a new arrangement and division, all or in part as the action of the court may require.

Strike out paragraph 3 of Article V and insert in place thereof the following:

3. The Governor shall hold his office for four years, to commence at twelve o'clock noon on the third Tuesday of January next ensuing the election for Governor by the people, and to end at twelve o'clock noon on the third Tuesday of January, four years after he shall have taken the oath of holding that office for four years next after his term of service shall have expired; and no appointment or nomination to office shall be made by the Governor during the last week of his said term.

Strike out paragraph 6 of Section II, of Article VII, and insert in place thereof the following:

6. Clerks and surrogates of counties shall be elected by the people of their respective counties at the elections for members of the General Assembly. They shall hold their offices for six years.

Strike out paragraph 7 of Section II, of Article VII, and insert in place thereof the following:

7. Sheriffs and coroners shall be elected by the people of their respective counties at the elections for members of the General Assembly, and shall hold their offices for four years; after which four years must elapse before they can be again eligible for serving. Sheriffs shall annually renew their bonds.

Add to Section II of Article VII three paragraphs, to be known as paragraphs 12, 13 and 14, to read as follows:

12. All elections for Governor, members of the Senate and General Assembly, sheriffs, coroners, county clerks and surrogates, of counties and all other officers now or hereafter necessary to be chosen by the electors of the whole State, or of any county thereof, shall be held every second year, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, beginning anno domini one thousand nine hundred and ten.

13. All elections for Justices of the peace and all and any municipal officers, as distinguished from State and county officers as heretofore provided, now or hereafter necessary to be chosen by the electors of any city, borough, town, township, village or subdivision thereof, or any municipality of this State, except counties, shall be held every second year on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, beginning anno domini one thousand nine hundred and ten.

14. Except as herein provided with relation to the office of Sheriff, all officers holding any elective office at the time these amendments take effect shall continue in the exercise of the duties thereof according to their respective commissions or terms of office, and until their successors may be elected and qualified under and in accordance with the provisions of these amendments, and all officers whose terms of office take effect prior to the election and qualification of their successors in office, at the election for the respective offices first held under the provisions of these amendments, shall continue in office until their successors can be elected and qualified.

The Legislature shall pass all laws necessary to carry into effect the provisions of the constitution and these amendments, and to carry into effect the provisions hereof.

These amendments, if adopted, shall take effect and go into operation on the first day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and ten.

FOURTH AMENDMENT.

FOR AGAINST THIS AMENDMENT.

Strike out paragraph 7 of Section IV of Article IV, and insert in place thereof the following:

7. Members of the Senate shall receive annually the sum of one thousand dollars,

CLOSE HARMONY IN THE G. O. P.

The outing by the Union County Republican organization to Rockaway, last Saturday, was productive of a few candidates for office. Vivian Lewis, of Passaic, who is being groomed for gubernatorial honors, was a guest, and his presence is taken to mean his endorsement by the County organization in his fight for the nomination. United States Senator Keen, who was the chief guest, is thought to favor Lewis' nomination.

County Chairman Frank Smith and County Clerk James C. Calvert are candidates for re-nomination, and it goes without saying that they are assured of the endorsement of the organization. Assemblymen Pierce and Schwartz, and Town Clerk Lloyd Thompson, the three probable nominees for the assembly, seemed to be the only ones in the race who gained favor with the organization at the outing. On all sides their nomination was accepted as a settled thing.

It was a noticeable and notable fact that the outing was productive of close harmony within party councils. In former years there has been a long string of available candidates, and a possible chance of several of the starters either dropping out, or being forced out of the race before the finish. To pick the winners has not been an easy matter in years gone by. But this year, there was evidently a united sentiment in favor of the candidates. There was not a show of dissatisfaction, nor even the rumormongering of the runners. Everybody was happy and contented with the proposed slate.

Under such conditions, it is safe to draw the conclusion that Union County Republicans will present a solid front to the enemy at the polls this fall, the result ought to spell victory for the G. O. P. in the headlines of every paper in the country on the morning after next Election Day.

THE EMPLOYEES LIABILITY ACT.

The Employees Liability Act will become effective on Wednesday, September 1. This act protects employees who sustain injuries, or are killed in the performance of their duty, and particularly is it effective as a protection to railroad employees. Section three of this act reads:

"III. By reason of the negligence of any person in the service of the employer, who has the charge or control of any signal, switch, locomotive engine or train upon a railroad, said employee, or in case the injury results in death, the executor or administrator of such deceased employee who has left surviving a husband, wife or next of kin, shall have the same right of compensation and remedies against the employer as if the employee had not been an employee of, nor in the service of the employer, nor engaged in his work. The provisions of law relating to actions for causing death by negligence, so far as the same are consistent with this act, shall apply to an action brought by an executor or administrator of such deceased employee suing under the provisions of this act.

It will be remembered that the Employers Liability Act was planned by State Senator Ernest R.

Ackerman, of Plainfield, and became a law through the untiring energy of Mr. Ackerman and his associates in the Legislature. Another feather in the cap of the Senator from Union!

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENTS.

The proposed amendments to the Constitution of New Jersey to be voted on at a special election to be held on September fourteenth, as amended, will be found on another page of this issue. A careful perusal of these amendments, by comparison with the clauses which it is sought to amend, will be helpful to all voters. It is a citizen's privilege to know why he votes and what he votes for; it may likewise be his duty to vote intelligently.

There is ample time for every voter in Westfield to perform the first duty of citizenship and acquaint himself with the nature of the proposed amendments; to prepare himself to vote. The proposed amendments will appear in the STANDARD for three consecutive issues.

EXPRESSMAN BADLY HURT.

Trunk, Weighing 300 Pounds, Falls Upon Ross Edwards, Breaking His Nose.

Ross Edwards, employed by Altman & Co., had his nose broken and was severely bruised and cut up, yesterday morning from a trunk falling on him in front of Burton's stables on North avenue. The trunk which weighed 300 pounds was on the rear of the wagon and Edwards jumped up and grabbed the top, tilting it so as to take it down from the wagon. The trunk slipped on the edge of the wagon and struck Ross in the stomach. The blow knocked him over on his back to the ground. The trunk fell on him and broke his nose and cut his face and the back of his head severely. Dr. Laird was immediately summoned and attended him after which he took him to his home in Germantown.

Dictionary That Filled Want.

One of the greatest works performed by Americans in Korea was the making of the Korean-English dictionary. This was done by Dr. S. C. Gale, a Presbyterian missionary. He began it in 1892, after a four years' residence in the country, and completed it within five years. Prior to that there was no means of intercommunication between the foreigners and the natives except through the Chinese language.

The Musician's Errand.

A Chicago man whose after-dinner peace of mind had been disturbed by a particularly inharmonious street orchestra, went to his door in answer to a summons from the collector. "Well," he inquired impatiently, "what do you wish?" "I'm the musician," said the caller, somewhat taken aback, "and I've come—I've come—" "Oh, I see, said the man, "you've come to apologize!"

Why Wife-Beat?

Wealthy citizens of a New Jersey town have formed a vigilance committee for the purpose of punishing working men who beat their wives. The wealthy citizens doubtless consider wife-beating unnecessary and pernicious when it is so easy to find chorus girls who are willing to help one forget domestic troubles.

Charles and His Love Could Live on
So Little

"Well," she said, "did you see him?"
"Yes," he groaned, "I saw him. Mh-l-h-l-h-l. If he were not your father, I would say—"

"Hush!" she whispered.
"For two cents," he groaned again,
"I would quit college and go to work and—"

"Hush!" she whispered again.
"Think of your career!"
"After all," he said, "love can get along on very little money."

"Yes, Charles? Yes?" she breathlessly exclaimed.
"Yes," said he, "I have been studying the matter."

And as he emphasized the word he coughed modestly behind his hand and drew a memorandum from his pocket.

"Now, in the first place," he said,
"we must have a house. In the suburbs, you know. Say ten rooms, vines on the porch and all that sort of thing."

"And a little conservatory?" she breathed.
"And a little conservatory," said he.
"And a pergola, Charles?" she asked,
clasping her hands.

"A pergola, of course," said he.
"Won't that be beautiful?" she sighed. And sighing again she added,
"But, Charles! The rent!"

"No," said he, "the furniture comes first."
"Dear Charles," she whispered, "how clever you are!"

"Yes," said he, "the furniture comes first; and so I looked over the advertisements of the installment people;
but—well, they all want a deposit down and—"

"I know, Charles," she whispered, patting his hand.
"But all at once," said he, "it came to me like a flash! Like a flash!"

He made a gesture with his hand to show her how a flash comes, and continued:
"I said to myself, 'We will rent a furnished cottage and there's the house, and there's the furniture both provided for with one stone!'"

"Of course," she hesitated, "there's still the rent—"
"Forty dollars a month," he said.
"Ten rooms. We'll sublet five of the rooms to five really nice people and charge them two dollars a week each.
There's company for us, if we want it,
and there's the rent!"

Whereupon she clasped her hands and languished.
"Next," said Charles, "there's the food."

"I'm an awfully light eater," she breathlessly exclaimed.
"Take eggs," said Charles, ignoring the interruption. "What is more simple and what is more nutritious than an egg?"

"I can boil them, too!" she cried, and she looked around as though for an egg to boil.
"Simple," said Charles in a learned manner, "and nutritious. Various, as well. You can boil them—soft or medium, or hard; you can poach them, try them—one side or two; scramble them; make them into omelettes—herb omelettes, Spanish omelettes, corned beef omelettes; you can use them to trim the hash and the spinach, and the salad. Give me an egg!" cried Charles, making a grand, beckoning gesture for that absent egg, "and I dery the world!" And after emotion had spent itself, he shortly added:
"Chickens!"

"Chickens, Charles?" she asked.
"Chickens?"
"Yes," said Charles, "we'll keep
chickens!"

"Why, Charles!" she exclaimed.
"Why, this is wonderful! Why—"
"Wait!" said Charles, holding up his finger. "Chickens eat corn."

Her countenance fell.
"We'll grow it!" said Charles, beaming with triumph, and silencing her admiration he resumed: "Next comes the milk."

She looked at him expectantly.
"The milk," he said, in all due modesty, "bothered me for a time. Yes, I'm willing to confess that the milk bothered me at first, but here is how I solved that: In every suburban section of any size the residents are always, to a certain extent, going away and coming back. Now, many of these must have cows—cows that have been long in the families—cows to whom the families were attached. In a word, pet cows. Well, then! We will keep these pet cows for their owners whenever they go away. And there," he cried in trembling tones, "and there's the milk and butter and cheese and eggs and chickens and rice-sausages and Baltimore style and fried and soup, and everything else you want!"

"How will the cows be fed, Charles?" she asked.
"On our grass!" he beamed.
"And the vegetables—"
"We'll grow them!"

"And the fruit, too, we could," she laughed.
"And the fruit, too!" said Charles.
"Now as for clothes—" he began,
frowning.

"Oh, I have a lot of clothes," she said.
"So have I," said Charles.
"Somehow," she breathed, "I always knew that love could get along on very little, but I never thought—"

"To-morrow," he said, "or next day, I shall begin looking for a house, and when all the arrangements are made we will find a minister and—I wonder how much the minister's fee is?" he muttered.

"I think," she said, "it's generally $5 or $10."

And as for Charles, he thought long and earnestly, but at last he despaired.
"Hang it!" he said. "There's always something!"

WHEATLEY'S PLAY

By Barbara Carter Wilson

"Mr. Wheatley."
He shut the door hastily and went back to her.

She impulsively threw her arms around his neck and raised her face to his. Their lips met.

She hurriedly extricated herself from his embrace.
"What utter folly! I must marry the duke."

"You shan't."
He slipped his arms around her again, but she moved resolutely away.

"I must. I shall be sorry for ever and ever afterwards if I don't. It's been the dream of my life to wear a ducal coronet."

"Nonsense!" he said sternly.
Lady Joan threw herself petulantly down on the sofa.

"Oh, you don't know a woman's mind," she moaned.
"Yes, I do. I know your mind is weighing love against social ambition and I know love will weigh down the scales."

"You don't know how weak we sometimes are," she went on, unheeding. "It's foolish and horrid and wicked, but if I marry any one but the duke now I shall make him wretched."

"I will chance it."
Four hours later Lady Joan, exquisitely gowned, went up the staircase at Mrs. Tattersley-Smythe's. She had only been a widow for a year, and always wore white or mauve still because she knew it suited her better than anything else. Her beautiful face was flushed with triumph, diamonds sparkled in her hair, and at her breast.

It took a long time to get up the staircase, but she did not mind, because the duke was at her side.

When they reached the top he was obliged to leave her, because of an important debate in the house of lords.

He said something to her in a low tone, which no one else could hear, and lingered reluctantly, but he was a man who always prided himself on doing his duty to his country.

When he had gone, Wheatley appeared.
"Don't come near me," she cried, petulantly. "He's coming to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock for my answer;
I can never forgive you for this afternoon."

Wheatley raised his eyebrows incredulously, which increased her annoyance.
"I hate you," she said, vehemently.

"What time do you leave this crush?" he asked her carelessly.
"I ordered my brougham for 10:30.
I want to get to the opera for the last act and then go on to the countess's ball. Now go and talk to some one else. A dear friend has just told me our names begin to be bracketed, and one can't be too careful."

They seemed a long while getting to Covent Garden.
She looked out of the window. Everything was strangely dark outside, and they seemed to be travelling with unusual speed.

"Where are you going?" she asked,
but no answer came to her repeated summons.

Lady Joan became suddenly uneasy.
Horrid stories about people going suddenly mad flashed through her mind.
"Stop!" she cried. "Stop at once.
Do you not hear?"

The man looked round, drew up the carriage and sprang down. Under the chauffeur's cap she recognized Wheatley's face.

"You!" she cried with sudden glad relief. "Oh, I was so frightened. I feel safe now you're here. But why are you driving my brougham? Where are you taking me? Surely it is some trick."

"Lady Joan," he answered quietly,
"I told you this afternoon you should not marry the duke."

"What do you mean?" she asked.
"Are you running away with me?"
"Something rather like it."

"How dare you?" she cried passionately. "How dare you!"

"A man dares anything when he loves as I do. I love you with my whole soul," he went on boldly. "I would do or dare anything to win you.
I hoped if I could get you away alone somewhere you might listen to me before you promised the duke."

"How dare you," she said again.
"Lady Joan," he answered coolly, "I dare anything, as I have told you."

"You are very cruel," and there was a sob in her voice. "You think you will compromise me and the duke will hear and won't marry me."

"Upon my soul I had no such thought," he said hoarsely. "Shall I take you home or to the countess's ball?" he asked in a low tone.

"Home at once," she answered.
"He closed the window, mounted the driver's seat, turned the car round and drove back to town."

When the brougham stopped in Park street, Lady Joan sprang lightly out and ran up the steps without speaking; but when she reached the top she looked back anxiously.

"Aren't you coming in?"
"I think not."

He stood and watched her until the door opened, then bared his head and walked quickly away.

All the next day and the next and the next Lady Joan was watching and waiting for a visitor who never came.

At last she could bear it no longer and sent a messenger boy with a note to Wheatley's chambers:

"I have refused the duke."

The "Hyde of Land."

According to an ancient law in England, "a hyde of land" included what could reasonably be cultivated with one plow. This applied for scores of years, but at the dissolution of the religious orders in the reign of Henry VIII, the "hyde," or cultivated land of the abbots of Westminster, all reverted to the possession of the crown.
That marked the gradual decline of that means of measuring land, and before many years the term fell into disuse, never to be revived.

Her Secret Resentment.

A parson was sent for by a dying parishioner, who had always sternly refused to have anything to do with him before. He hurried to her bedside, found her in a most contrite mood and made the best of his opportunities in a long extemporé prayer, ending with a sonorous "Amen!" The last word made her sit up with sudden energy. "Aye," she exclaimed, "that's it! It's a' for men and nowt for us poor women in this world!"

Keeping Milk Pure.

If milk has been allowed to stand uncovered in a jug or bottle, pour the liquid off carefully into another utensil that has been scalded clean. Pour very slowly, so that the sediment is left at the bottom of the original jug, as this part of the milk is injurious.
It is well to leave an inch or two of the milk in the first receptacle rather than the dregs merely.

Serving His Sentence.

day, an' de fus thing he knowed dey

Praises American Woman.

Alfred East says that American women, like American machines, need but little man power. "The American woman, he says, is the most chummable woman in the world, therefore she is the most charming. Our excellent educational system, he thinks, is responsible for the fact that American women are such "good fellows."

Evidently Some Time Had Elapsed.

There is in London a school for mothers. One poor woman was dissolved in tears when he a baby was un-dressed at the hospital and its wasted limbs revealed. She ingeniously explained her grief by saying that "it was a beautiful child last time it was undressed."

Manage Your Own Kingdom.

The puzzles that vex us are numberless. Remember the mass that keeps the world well balanced is composed of the cheerful, commonplace hordes making the best of every day. Manage your own small kingdom and do not fret about the future of society.

New Century Forces.

The twentieth century is to employ the elements of air and water and the fierceness of the sun in a utilitarian way exceeding all fancies of the fabu-list, all the imaginings of the makers of fiction.—Indianapolis News.

Varieties of Girls.

"There are three kinds of girls," says the Philosopher of Folly; "those who are pretty and foolish, those who are homely and sensible, and those that have nothing to preserve them from being old maids."

It is suggested that unselfishness is the great need of the world to-day.
Trouble is everybody is waiting for

Rheumatic Pains

"My mother is a great sufferer from rheumatism, and Dr.
Miles' Anti-Pain Pills is the only remedy that relieves her."

MRS. G. DAVENPORT,
Roycefield, N. J.

The pains of rheumatism are almost invariably relieved with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They also overcome that nervous irritation which prevents sleep because they soothe the nerves. In chronic sufferers they are invaluable. When taken as directed, they relieve the distress and save the weakening influence of pain, which so frequently prostrates. Many sufferers use them whenever occasion requires with the greatest satisfaction, why not you? They do not derange the stomach nor create a habit.
Why not try them? Get a package from your druggist. Take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

$600 Worth of Furniture for Four Hundred Dollars

The ambitious, thrifty young married couple, with only four hundred dollars capital, planning a new home, will best appreciate what it means to get TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS' WORTH MORE OF FURNITURE THAN THEY EXPECTED TO GET for the amount they had to spend. It is better than getting a $200 check from father, because it is the first lesson in "Self Help."

Hundreds of newly-wed brides are annually delighted with Furniture investments, at Wanamaker's in August; and even if the "day" is not set until September, arrangements can be made to deliver the furniture you buy now, to the new home, when it is ready.

Three galleries, each almost a full city block in size, are filled with the furniture that is here to select from—the simplest sorts, and least expensive kinds, up to the finest and most artistic furniture that is made; with August reductions on most of it, ranging from ten to fifty per cent. Is it any wonder that the buying has been so eager and enthusiastic?

While newly added lots maintain variety this week and next, it is the part of wisdom, for those who have new furniture to buy this Fall, to act promptly, while these large savings are available. The cost of a long journey will be amply repaid, for the furniture will cost a quarter to a third less than must be paid later.

We will be glad to send special information upon request. If you haven't received the Wanamaker Guide Book, ask for it in your next letter. It's interesting, and costs you nothing.

ADVERTISE

Reached Agreement.

"Well, do the women agree as to the new arrival?" "Practically, yes. Some say she looks like a fashion magazine, and others say she looks like a back number."—Washington Herald.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages; and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Drifted into It.

"Yes, I've managed to get into debt pretty deeply," said Kayrless. "Indeed," remarked Wise, "I gave you credit for more sense than you seem to have." "I'm! the trouble was that my tailor gave me credit for more dollars than I seem to have," said Kayrless. — Catholic Standard and Times.

What Dead Reckoning Means.

Dead reckoning is a term used in navigation to express the estimation that is made of a ship's place without having recourse to observation of the celestial bodies. It is made by observing the way she makes by the log and the course on which she has been steered, making allowance for drift, leeway, etc.

No Harm in Discussion.

Old fogies say talking about diseases makes folk get diseases, which is sheer rot, or rather it is assuming that the people are miles beneath themselves in mind and self-control. Man is like a rubber ball. Stop the squeeze, give him half a chance and he will swell the dents out every time.

Egyptological.

Ptolemy of Egypt was making a critical survey of the sphinx. "Well," he said with confidence, "there's no question about her being a woman all right, but I guess if she opens her mouth she won't put her foot in it." Which had no bearing whatever on the argument.

Truth About Pictured Love.

"The real truth about pictured love is that if any girl was clasped in a man's arms, as she is in the books, she would get a crick in her neck that would prevent her looking at her back hair for a week.—Atchison Globe.

Proof of the Pudding.

"Say, ma, who did the baking to-day?" asked Farmer Wheatly. "Jane, my dear," answered Mrs. Wheatly. "Humph!" snorted Wheatly. "Do you know I've heard a good deal about that college bred, but I must say I don't think much of it."

His Vows Forgotten.

The Wife—"Once you said you'd gladly give the world for me." The Hubby—"Well." The Wife—"And now you refuse to sell that suburban lot of yours and buy me an automobile."—Cleveland Leader.

Possible Difference.

"A vast difference bechune appearances an' facts. When a man laughs at ye, it may be because his heart is merry. It may be only th' clatter av a weak character through an impty head."

A Woman's Reason.

A woman can have so many different reasons for loving a man she wants to love that it doesn't make any difference whether they are real or not.

An Early Approximation.

It is our observation that the best descriptions of heaven are those put out by the railroads calling attention to the scenery along their respective routes.—Topeka Capital.

Would Cut a Splurge.

"If," says the Alfalfa Sage, "I ever become wealthy the first thing I will do will be to purchase the biggest touring car in town, and the second thing will be to purchase two more."

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. S. Nuebaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success. Gale's Pharmacy."

Galedonian Club Games.

The pioneer club for field sports in America, The New York Galedonian Club, will hold its fifty-third Annual Scottish Games at Washington Park and Casino, Grand Street, between Maspeth and Newtown, L. I., on Labor Day, Monday, September 6th. The sports of the day will commence at 11:30 a. m. and will continue until 12 p. m. As there are thirty-two events on the programme with an aggregate prize list of $878 in cash, there can be no question as to the standing of the competitors who will take part. The greatest interest will be in the five mile race, the prizes for which are $125 for first, $50 for second and $25 for third. Fifty-three years in promoting games is a record that any organization should be proud of. The Club in all those years has made it a point to pay the prizes immediately after each game, and as entries are received up to the time of starting event, a large entry list is always the result, which makes the games well worth witnessing by all lovers of field sports.

Heart Party in Honor of Miss Luqueer.

Frank Corning gave a card party to twelve of his friends, last Friday evening, at his home on Lenox avenue, in honor of his cousin, Miss Helen Luqueer, of Rye, N. Y. All present enjoyed a pleasant evening playing "hearts" after which refreshments were served. Four handsome prizes were given to the winners.

Those present were: Misses Helen Luqueer, of Rye, N. Y.; Ethel Johnston, of Philadelphia; Irma Hayden, of Jersey City; Madelyn Worth, of Walnut street; Marion Clark, of Charles street; and Florence Martin, of Euclid avenue. Robert Keyes, of Broad street; Frank and Stewart Corning; Fairfield Foster, of Academy Place; Clifford Brown, of Dudley avenue; and Spencer Embree, of Clark street.

Daughters of America Install Officers.

At the meeting of Star of Westfield Council, Daughters of America, held last Friday night, the following officers were installed for the ensuing term: Councillor, Anna Voulersmidt; associate councillor, Harriet W. Clark; associate junior past councillor, Linnie Lear; recording secretary, Eliza Clark; financial secretary, Minnie VanNest; treasurer, P. G. DeLong; conductor, Annie Frazee; warden, Amos H. Hann; inside sentinel, William Howarth; outside sentinel, Martha Hill; trustees, T. E. Lear, Amos H. Hann and Mrs. Acker.

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Some People We Know, and We Will Profit by Hearing About Them.

This is purely a local event. It took place in Westfield, Not in Buffalo or New York. You are asked to investigate it. Asked to believe a citizen's word; To confirm a citizen's statement. Any article that is endorsed at home is more worthy of confidence than one you know nothing about. Endorsed by unknown people.

Edward Monday, 19 Harmony St., Westfield, N. J., says: "I cannot speak too highly of Doan's Kidney Pills as quickly and permanently removed the pains across the small of my back. I also had sharp twinges through my loins, which extended at times into my shoulders. There was a weakness of my kidneys and when I caught cold the trouble was aggravated. I tried several remedies but did not find relief until Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention. I procured a box at Frothing's Pharmacy, and before long the pains entirely disappeared. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I am now enjoying the best of health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and into no other.

Walt Whitman Egotistic.

This anecdote of Walt Whitman and Thomas Bailey Aldrich is from William Winter's reminiscences: "I remember one moment when he (Whitman) contrived to inspire Aldrich with a permanent aversion. The company was numerous and the talk was about poetry. 'Yes, Tom,' said the inspired Whitman, 'I like your tinkles; I like them very well.' Nothing could have denoted more distinctly both complacent egotism and ill-breeding."

About "Grass" Widow.

"Grass widow" is not necessarily a slang term. It appears in the marriage register of Halesend, Essex, England, as early as 1654. It is said to be a corruption of "grace widow" and dates from the days when divorcees were granted only by the authority of the church. The woman who was so empowered to separate from her husband was commonly called a grace widow, and from this the expression gradually gained its present meaning and spelling.

WESTFIELD, NEW JERSEY.

The Plainfield Theatre.

"Billy, the Kid," the great Western play, which will be seen at the Plainfield Theatre on August 24th, while melodramatic, is consistent and tells a story that is full of interest, having for its big climaxes incidents and situations that are exceptionally dramatic. The comedy element is furnished by a good natured Irishman; a fine type of old Southern Colonel and his colored orderly. The love interest that is developed in the telling of the story is exceedingly strong and the types which are introduced are taken from life and well and clearly drawn.

McFadden's Flats.

It is wonderful when you stop to think that for fourteen years Gus Hill has had a musical farce comedy, "Mc-Fadden's Flats," on tour, and during all that time of its great success it has become a household word. Why, may we ask?

There is a reason, and the American public has made that reason more emphatic each year. The show suits the masses; it is clean, bright, brimful of good musical numbers and specialties, and each year it progresses with the times.

You go to see "McFadden's Flats" because you know that it always is a good show. You go because you are sure to have and enjoy an evening of laughter, till care and business worries are forgotten. It acts as a tonic for your health. You know the greatest medical men tell us, "laugh and grow fat." Plainfield Theatre, August 21st, matinee and night.

At Proctor's This Week

Proctor's Plainfield Theatre thronged nightly last week by audiences who appreciated excellent vaudeville and high class moving picture performances at a minimum cost. The films of art to be shown this coming week are as usual away from the ordinary and will no doubt be appreciated by the patrons. The bill for Thursday, Friday, Saturday is very good. Enters Musica Trio, in a merry musical melange; Ella Cameron & Co. in a comedy sketch, "The Natty Family"; Cole & Maythis, singers; and "Two on a Bed."
