More Light For Your Money

This is a Public Service talk about lighting.

Artificial light is a necessity.

Illumination is a science and an art.

In order to get the greatest return for the money you are paying for electricity, for illuminating purposes, your lighting system should be exactly suited to the premises it is intended to light.

In other words get the benefit of ALL the light you are paying for by making all of it USEFUL light; by making it do the work you want it to do.

This applies to homes as well as to stores or shops, for there are two ways of lighting any building—a right way and a wrong way.

The right way gives satisfaction every time; the wrong way rarely does.

We want you to light your premises the right way. We want you to be satisfied with your light, for we want your good will.

If your lighting installation is not giving perfect satisfaction let us hear from you. We may be able to help you. We are anxious to try.

YOU CAN ORDER your COAL by TELEPHONE

COAL OFFICES are apt to be in out-of-the-way locations, as on railroad sidings, etc. The telephone in the home saves trouble, and in case of sudden need of fuel, much time, in the ordering of coal.

This is but one of many ways in which the home telephone saves steps and trouble daily. All the needs of the household, as groceries, meats, plumbing, baggage express, etc., can be ordered conveniently and quickly.

The reasonable cost of residence telephone service places it within the reach of all.

AUTOISTS NARROWLY ESCAPE CONTACT WITH A LIVE WIRE.

Donald Faile and Party Hold Up Trolley Until Repairs Are Made.

While riding in Donald Faile's touring car, which Mr. Faile was driving, Harold Thompson and Joseph Sherman, Jr., had a narrow escape from injury, last Sunday night, barely missing contact with a live wire. The car with its occupants was turning the corner at Newton Place and Prospect street, where the wire was sparking just ahead. Faile gave the wheel a quick turn and avoided hitting the wire by a few inches.

The situation looked dangerous for passing trolleys and vehicles, so Sherman was deputized to hold up the trolleys while word was sent by telephone to the Public Service Corporation. A repair car was immediately sent to the scene and the wire was temporarily repaired.

It is singular that the accident should not have happened at a time when there was greater danger of accident. Newton Place is seldom used as a thoroughfare; but because of the excavations in Dudley avenue and Clark street this route is completely shut off to automobiles coming to and from the Golf Club. Fortunately the vigilance and quick action of Mr. Faile's party prevented what might have been a serious misfortune.

In order that none of the young ladies may be kept at home for lack of an escort who is eligible for admittance at the general meeting a special provision has been made. Upon written request, made by some young lady who is herself a member, to Harry S. Parker, 518 Clark street, town, and the payment of a small fee to show sincerity, he will issue a permit which will enable a young man who is not a member of the Alumni to accompany her. This permit must be issued before the day of the meeting, so give Mr. Parker plenty of time by making your application at once.

WHY THE STANDARD GROWS.

One of the Largest Weekly Advertising Mediums in State.

The Union County Standard continues to grow as an advertising medium. A glance at the columns this week will convince the readers that there are few if any weekly newspapers in the state that carry more display advertising.

The reason for this is the large and increasing circulation of the newspaper. It covers Westfield and environs, local news is to be found on every page.

During the coming year the Standard will print special interviews with prominent local public officials, professional and business men on matters of lively interest. Last week an interview with Dr. Robert R. Sinclair on "The White Plague" was published; this week the public road question is discussed by chairman of the Road Committee, Charles M. Affleck. "Town Finances" will be considered next week by a competent authority.

NEW CASHIER ASSUMES DUTIES AT PEOPLES BANK, ON MONDAY.

Herman H. Griswold Comes Here Highly Recommended.

Mr. Herman Howard Griswold, for seven years cashier of the Galeton Banking Company, Galeton, Pa., will assume charge of banking affairs at the Peoples National Bank of Westfield, on Monday, as successor to John M. Walsh, who resigned to accept a position with the Audit Company of New York.

H. H. GRISWOLD.

The new cashier of the local bank has much to commend him to his new post of responsibility. He was graduated from the Canton, Pa., High School, took a course in law at Dickinson College, and has made a special study of banking law. He was teller of the Farmer's National Bank of Athens, Pa., for two years, previous to his holding office in the Galeton Bank, for seven years.

Of his personal qualities the Leader-Dispatch of Galeton, says:—"During Mr. Griswold's residence here he has been so closely allied with the best interests of Galeton and her people that the topic of his departure to new fields in the near future has been discussed with a general feeling of regret. His conservative business methods coupled with characteristic affability has won for him the confidence and respect of the entire community. Mr. Griswold, as well as his estimable family, will be greatly missed in Galeton, but realizing the broadness of the business field opened to him in his new position, we can but unite heartily with our people in wishing him all the success that he so richly deserves."

Twenty-Fifth Wedding Anniversary.

A pleasant reception was given November 6, by Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Haking at their home 188 Euclid avenue, in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage.

After a pleasant evening, refreshments were served, and the guests departed with many good wishes for long life and prosperity to their host and hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Haking were the recipients of many beautiful presents.

To Celebrate Anniversary Dedication.

The dedication anniversary celebration of the Branch Mills chapel will take place on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Charles E. Granger, of Newark. Miller Brothers, of Orange, will furnish the instrumental music, and there will be solos by Miss Elsie Mooney, and Mr. H. J. Martin, Jr., of Westfield.

Robert Foresman to Address Men's Club.

The Men's Club of the Congregational Church will entertain the ladies and gentlemen of Westfield in the church on Tuesday evening, November 10 at 8 o'clock. Admission will be free. Mr. Robert Foresman will speak and there will be good music. All are cordially invited.

Didn't Make $100,000 in Cotton—His Assets Are $6.98.

Mr. Clifford E. Pearsall denies the report published in a Plainfield newspaper that he had recently made $100,000 in the cotton market. He says he's figured up his assets and finds that they amount to $6.98.

"Why, I've been over-run with creditors, borrowers, doctors, friends, and charity patrons—all demanding a share of the profits. But there's nothing doing. I've already felt a terrific shock after the dream. Been writing checks as if I were a millionaire. There's nothing in it, boys!"

MANY COMPLAINTS AGAINST CONDITION OF PUBLIC FOUNTAIN.

Faulty Construction Thought to Be Cause of Stopping Water.

Many complaints are being made against the condition of the public drinking fountain in the Washington School Park. It is declared that the flow of water has in some way been stopped, and that the fountain, in its present shape is useless. As the water comes from an artesian well, which has never gone dry, even in periods of long drought, it is thought that the sudden stopping of the water is due to some fault in the construction of the fountain which was recently built around it.

It is reported that members of the Common Council have been appealed to, but that they have declared that the matter was not in their hands. It is also said the Park Commission disclaims responsibility. The matter, it is said, will now be called to the attention of the Woman's Club through whose efforts the fountain was built, and an effort made to discover the cause of the stopping of the water. It is thought that the difficulty can be speedily righted.

MISS BEEBE AND MONS. DETHIER PLAY BEFORE WOMAN'S CLUB.

Large Audience Hears Artistic Recital—Miss Alpers Accompanist.

After the regular meeting, at which the First Vice President Mrs. Frank W. Smith presided, a delightful afternoon of music was had at the meeting of the Woman's Club last Monday, with Miss Carolyn Beebe, Miss Ruth Alpers and Mons. Dethier as performers; each was cordially and appreciatively received by a large number of representative ladies. Miss Beebe a Westfield girl has won honors as a pianist at home and abroad and is a credit to the town. Miss Alpers and Mons. Dethier were as enthusiastically enjoyed. The club is to be congratulated on such a fine musical presentation, and the people of Westfield on being able to attend so delightful an entertainment at a nominal admission price. The policy of the Woman's Club is to give the town the benefit of first class lectures and music, at a very moderate admission fee.

Musical program was as follows: Greig, Sonata in G minor; Allegro molto ed appassionato; Allegretto espressivo alla Romanza; Allegro andante; Miss Beebe and Mons. Dethier; Meditation from Thea; Massenet; Petite Symphonie D flat major; Goldstein-Dethier; Alra Ruses, Op 6; Wieniawski; Mons. Dethier; Scherzo in C sharp minor; Chopin; Nocturne in F major; Schumann; Ungarischer Tanz in D minor; Brahms; Miss Beebe; Saint-Saens; Sonata in D minor; Allegro Agitato—Adagio; Allegretto Moderato—Allegro Molto; Miss Beebe and Mons. Dethier.

An announcement was made of the meeting to be held on Monday, November 22. Mr. Frank Mason of Boston, a member of the executive board of the National Federation of Boys' Clubs will speak before the club, also several Westfield gentlemen. This meeting will be open to the public and no admission charged. Everyone interested in doing something for the boys of the town, in the way of a gymnasium, boys playground or club, is cordially invited to be present. Mr. Mason is a most charming and interesting speaker and he comes to Westfield without charge to talk of the good work done by his organization in many towns and cities throughout the country. The Club hopes to see a large audience at this meeting on the 22d.

THE CARE OF THE ROADS.

Chairman of Committee, Charles M. Affleck, Tells What is Being Done to Better Conditions.

STREETS MACADAMIZED ENTIRE WIDTH.

Consideration Also Being Given to Methods of Preservation—Kinds of Brick Used For Paving, Etc.

Mr. Charles M. Affleck, Chairman of the Westfield Road Committee has ideas on roads, some of which he imparted to a representative of the STANDARD last Tuesday evening.

"Few of our citizens," Mr. Affleck said, "realize that we have right here in Westfield, about forty miles of road, of which twenty-three miles, are macadamized; besides this, we have the township boundary road of three miles and the county roads running through the town of three and three-quarter miles, which latter are maintained by the county."

"Mr. Affleck would you mind telling the readers of the STANDARD a little about the past, present and prospective of road making in Westfield?" asked the reporter.

"Well," replied Mr. Affleck, "as to the method of road making; formerly we macadamized the forty feet of curbing way in a street, with a strip in the center only 16 feet wide, but found this unsatisfactory, as it afforded too fine an opportunity for frosts and thaws, and consequent broken streets, slush and mud in mild weather; so we've changed this plan and are now running the macadam clear across; a sixteen foot strip, six inches deep, in the middle, and a twelve foot strip four inches deep, on each side. The side strips are made thinner because of the lighter traffic. Harrison avenue is done in this manner and residents there say it is the finest street in Westfield. When all streets are brought under this system, I believe the people will be able to visit each other comfortably in bad weather, without air ships."

CHARLES M. AFFLECK, Chairman of Road Committee of Westfield Common Council.

"We have found a coal tar product called Tarmac to be of great use on roads in good condition and fairly smooth, and I think the use of it will result in a great saving to the town, as it not only lays the dust but preserves the road. The grade 'B' which we use for this is more fluid than some of the other grades, and readily flows into small holes, cracks and crevices; it is so liquid in fact, that we have applied it to roads from an ordinary sprinkling cart. After Tarmac 'B' has been sprinkled, a thin layer of sand or clean sweepings from the road are applied. This treatment generally lasts the season and we have found it very effective in laying the dust and preserving the road. One great advantage of Tarmac 'B' is that it can be applied without heating. "When roads were too rough and uneven to use Tarmac 'B', road-oil was used, but I don't think with much success; it doesn't last well and in a couple of weeks roads are as bad as ever; people also complained of the bad smell it made, and as I couldn't get it performed, nothing could be done for them. "Our neighbors in Plainfield are successfully experimenting with Tarmac, grade 'X', in constructing a new road of over a mile; it is used there as a binder instead of clay, as it hardens like tar; and is also waterproof. When Elm street is macadamized Tarmac 'X' will be used. "We have had much trouble with gutters on streets with steep grades, and have tried cobblestones Belgian block and brick; and the result of my observations of all these sorts is a strong

A Minister's View of Life Insurance

"I am a profound believer in life insurance for all classes and conditions of men and women. Next to the duty of securing salvation in the world to come is the duty of men to secure life insurance in the world that is here and now. Next to a good hope for eternity is the comfort which comes to a man from knowing that he has made provision, by life insurance, for his old age and for the support of his family in the event of his own death. To do so seems to me a religious obligation, an obligation often as binding upon women as upon men."—Rev. Dr. R. S. MacArthur, of Calvary Baptist Church, New York.

Young Ladies Auxiliary Seeks in This Way to Help Home.

The Young Ladies Auxiliary, the society that held and made such a splendid success of "Tug Day" last year, will hold a card party at the Westfield Casino next Wednesday afternoon, for the benefit of the Children's Country Home.

The young ladies have been working quietly and have decided upon this charity card party, which it is hoped will be another item to the list of their successful charity functions.

They have decided that bridge and five hundred will be the games of the afternoon. They are providing for a large attendance and will give the card lovers a chance for a good afternoon's pleasure and charity.

Ladies who play bridge are requested to choose partners before the game and to continue with the same partner for the afternoon.

Most men are particular about their apparel, especially young men. And Marshall & Ball Garments are the sort that please particular men. That's why we enjoy so much of their trade.

There are so many strong features embodied in our garments that it is difficult to tell which predominates. Worthiness of materials is highly important with us. Then we strive to provide patterns which are above the commonplace.

In the modeling we are careful about the correctness of style, even to the little details of finishing the collars, lapels, cuffs and pockets. The shape-retaining qualities of our garments stand out most strikingly. That's because the inside construction is given extremely careful attention and because the tailoring is executed by craftsmen of superior skill. And this feature is equally prominent in all our clothing, from the lowest priced to that of the more costly materials.

Our showing of Fall and Winter Overcoats was never more inviting, either in the models or the patterns, there being an unusually wide choice for men of conservative ideas as well as for those who demand the extreme in fashion.

THE PUBLIC ROAD QUESTION.

Perhaps there is no question of more vital concern to the people than "roads and highways." In these days of the big automobile touring cars, our public thoroughfares are a cause of continuous care, and a thousand devices are employed to keep them in fit condition. The public deprecates poor roads—and high taxes, yet it can hardly expect the former without the latter.

Particularly is this true under present conditions, when more than the half of our roads are built to meet former needs—when there were no automobiles, and, consequently, less wear and tear. Today, therefore, we are trying to meet new conditions by old methods, and the result is hardly satisfactory. We must keep "dressing" the roads every spring, putting the veneer of form on the worn out substance—at a considerable cost and for only a temporary or makeshift improvement.

The problems which confront the road builders of Westfield today, are these: (1) Either to use the yearly appropriation for necessary repairs; (2) or to lessen these repairs—allowing those localities affected by the curtailment to suffer for the time being—and to formulate a plan whereby new streets, or sections of streets shall be built along modern lines and improved methods of road building, every year out of the appropriation; (3) or to call for a bond issue, whereby ten miles of road can be built at one time. In any event, some move must soon be made for the permanent improvement of public highways. Expediency may warrant delay, but conditions will eventually demand action.

TO THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH.

Repeatedly efforts have been made by friends of the Christian Science Church to induce this newspaper to publish news matter helpful to the cause. There being no local interest in the articles submitted, and their value as news being comparatively nil, we have declined to publish them.

With sincere believers in Christian Science, we have no quarrel. This is a free country, and everyone is entitled to think and believe as he or she may choose. Doubtless many have been benefited by the principles and practices of the Christian Science doctrine, which in its essentials, amply demonstrates any old doctrine that mind in the normal individual is more powerful than matter. There are ramifications of this doctrine, to be sure, different ways of applying it, which the Christian Science Healer knows, which the theologian knows, all the great moral and religious reformers have known, and which any student of psychology knows. The good that such doctrine and teaching may do among many people is not to be controverted, only is to be understood that there is a distinction and a difference in methods. To such as are convinced that mental healing is a panacea for all physical ailments, and that this science is correctly practiced only in the Christian Science Church—nothing can shake their faith! To them who believe that, no matter how vigorous and strong the mind of the individual, or how firm his faith, a physician is sometimes necessary, a fact which to some is obvious because of the omnipresence of Doctors and Undertakers—to these newspaper articles will avail nothing. The Standard will neither seek to injure nor to help the Christian Science Church. News we will publish—but this newspaper is not a propagandist for any religious cult or sect.

MORE POWER TO THE ENTERPRISE.

If a Boys Club in Westfield accomplished but one of its objects it would stand as a monument of achievement to the glory of the Woman's Club. We hope that the women will be able to secure the establishment of such a club, and we pray that this great object may be achieved: THE ANNIHILATION OF THE STREET LOAFER.

Westfield, New Jersey,
November 5th, 1909.
Editor of the Standard,
Westfield,
New Jersey.

Dear Sir:—
A couple of days ago I received through the mail that which we all were expecting, a bill for the taxes of the current year.

I am a new comer and am, therefore, to some extent, more or less unfamiliar with the manner of government of the town, but I am given to understand that the governing body is styled the Common Council, which body is composed of citizens of the Town elected by the people. Whether this is the body which determines the rate of taxation, I do not know, but I notice that on each tax bill there is a statement showing the different objects toward which the money raised by the payment of taxes is directed, and which aggregates $1.95 for each one hundred dollars of valuation.

There can be no doubt but that each of the objects therein enumerated is a worthy one, but I should like to ask you to let me know through the columns of your valuable paper what is meant by the item which reads "Town and other purposes, $0.84"? I can understand what is meant by "Town," but the balance of the expression is what puzzles me; by the word "Town" is meant, at least so I gather, every legitimate expense which the town itself should bear, such as lighting, police, fire department, streets &c., and the balance of the expression must mean expenses other than those which the town should pay, that is expenses which have nothing whatever to do with the government, management and expense of keeping the town in its proper condition, and as a taxpayer, I should like to know what these "other purposes" are.

Again, I note that there is sought to be established what is styled a "Sinking Fund"; I should like to know what the objects of this fund are to be? what is to be done with the money? Is it to be kept for future use, if so what? If the town has no present need for this additional money, then I would like to ask by what power they seek to enforce payment thereof? If it is to be kept for future use, it seems to me that the property owners have as much, or more right to keep it in their own pockets than has the town to take it away, and farther, it might be that when the time came to use the money thus raised, the persons, one or more, who paid same, would not own their property and would not have to pay it.

I am not writing this letter in any spirit of fault finding but because I want to find out the "whys" and "wherefores," and to feel that such moneys as I shall pay by way of taxes are moneys which the town is justly entitled to collect.

Yours very truly,
WALTER R. BUNNELL.
Look on the back of your tax bill.

Miss Marian Black-Hawkins of Andover, England, domesticates wasps to kill flies and other insects that annoy careful housekeepers. She takes the young wasp, nearly starves it to death and then feeds it with honey, and after once or twice "repenting" this treatment the wasp is docile and will not sting the hand that feeds it. However, it is not likely that her example will be followed to any great extent.

His "Kitchen Setter."—
Little Oscar, aged five, had a dog which was almost always to be found behind the stove in the kitchen. Oscar once visited at a house where there were two fine dogs. The master of the house told him that they were Irish setters. The little fellow, who was very fond of his pet, answered quickly: "Mine is a kitchen setter."—The Delineator.

Hairpin Industry a Large One.—
One of the greatest of the world's manufactures of hairpins is at Palmerswick, England. There are no fewer than 300 persons employed in turning out these trifles of the boudoir, and hundreds of automatic machines are in constant operation transforming miles of wire into tons of finished pins.

Rest in Reclining.—
You say you can rest as well sitting in a chair as resting on the bed. You may be resting, but just the same when you lie down you save your heart ten beats a minute, and that means a great deal to a nervous person, especially one who is subject to attacks of headache.

It was Miss Dewey's birthday. After the reception at which friends from New York, Brooklyn, Boston and Cranford were present, refreshments were served and delightful music furnished by Mrs. Hegeman. HAS HEART TROUBLE

We have just placed a Policy for $10,000 on the life of a man 33 years of age who has been declined three times previously for heart trouble. His is a chronic case, and there was no way for him to secure life insurance at regular rates. Under the New York Life Insurance Company's method of insuring sub-standard lives, we were able to write a Policy for this man with his age rated up to 39 years to cover the extra mortality. His Policy gives him the increased surrender and paid-up insurance values, as well as the larger dividends under an age 39 contract. If you have had any difficulty in securing insurance, why not consult us about this plan.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed some frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I can fully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy."—Gale's Pharmacy.

THE CARE AND PRESERVATION OF STREET TREES.

(CONDENSED FROM DEPT. AGRICULTURE BULLETIN.)

The increasing number of state and municipal laws which are being enacted for the care and preservation of street trees is an ample evidence of a growing public interest, but the whole-tree laws of any community cannot be thoroughly effective unless the public is familiarized with the important sources of injuries to trees. These sources of injury are undoubtedly more numerous in the cities than in large towns than along village streets and country roads. Nevertheless, the increasing number of overhead electric wires in the latter thoroughfares is resulting in much serious damage. Illuminating gas escaping into the soil is also a source of injury.

The piling of brick, lumber, and stone slabs close against the trunk of a tree may cause injuries which will allow decay to enter at that point. Tying wires for the purpose of supporting derricks or telephone poles is a common practice which will cause injury unless properly done. The correct method is to use a number of small strips of board against the trunk.

The cutting away of branches in order to make an unobstructed road for moving of a building along a highway is frequently encountered. This should be stopped by obtaining from the court an injunction, by which the work can be delayed until a judgment is given. The regrading, widening, and general improvement of highways cause annually an unnecessary loss of many beautiful park and avenue trees, which could well have remained, were some competent person directing the work.

In grading lawn areas it sometimes becomes necessary to make deep cuts or large fills about the bases of trees, which may cause their death if they are not properly protected. In case of fills, a wall should be built around the base of the tree to keep the soil from the bark. If a cut, a mound should be left to protect the roots.

Trees with brittle wood, as well as broad-headed, vase-formed trees, are often seriously injured by wind and ice storms and killed from the effect of freezing. The greatest danger from freezing lies, not in the fact that many trees in a normal condition of growth are killed, but rather that improper pruning and unprotected wounds cause cavities which fill with water during summer months. This water freezes during cold weather and the ice thus formed splits seams up and down the trunks of branches. These seams or cracks, small at first, close during the first summer, but during the succeeding winter are again subjected to freezing, which opens permanent cracks that continue to increase in size year by year.

Along city streets, where conditions are so often unfavorable to tree growth, the holes for newly-planted trees should be filled with loamy soil, and they should be large enough to provide for future development. A bed 4 ft. wide by 8 ft. long and 2 ft. deep is none too large. In streets which are often congested with people an iron grating should be placed around the base of the tree to protect the immediate soil from being tramped on and made impenetrable to surface water.

Trees that have been seriously girdled through failure to remove wires, or from other causes, can often be saved by bridge-grafting the wounded part. This is done by trimming smooth the edges of the girdled part and inserting sections of the same species under the bark in such a way that the wound is bridged over. These sections, being placed very close together around the stem, become united at the ends with the old trunk and serve to conduct the elaborated food material along the lower parts of the tree. During the period of uniting, the sections are covered with grafting wax much as in an ordinary graft. In time, as the tree develops, the wounded part is entirely healed.

M. E. AFFLECK.

The Resourcefulness of Sue

Sue was a typewriter and Ethelinda sold lovely laces in a big shop. They lived in an apartment that had plenty of closet room—five rooms and bath, to be exact. Sue usually stopped on the way home and bought two lamb chops and a head of lettuce, if it was the beginning of the week, or five cents' worth of stew meat and no lettuce, if it was toward the tag end of the week, near pay day. Sue was generally the one to negotiate the purchases because she left the office at five and came up town on an express train, while Ethelinda's shop didn't close until six.

Now, upon a certain evening they had invited Marie and Ralph to dine with them. They could say "dine," because they intended to turn in the necks of their shirt waists and wear their near-Brussels lace collars and because Marie was going to bring over her finger bowls. It behooved Sue to shut up her typewriter on the very stroke of five, therefore, even if the manager passed her the glance of a frappee, and make all possible speed to the express train.

She had the list of dinner items complete. Chops, bread, lettuce (oh, this was Monday evening), corn on the ear, a meringue pie and some berries for desert. She looked like the Goddess of Plenty as she reached the door of the flat house.

She had to put down the chops, the bread and the lettuce on the floor of the vestibule while she dug in her bag for the keys.

Keys? Keys? Here was her pen-knife, her handkerchief, a pencil, three hairpins, some chewing gum, a powder puff, a nail file, a mirror and her list of dinner supplies—but no keys. Clearly she must have left them at the office in her hurry. Now, here was indeed a pretty how-de-do!

Ethelinda wasn't due for an hour, the guests were apt to come along any minute, and she had ordered the grocer to send around the four bottles of "ice cold" right straight away, and now she couldn't even get in to open the dumbwaiter door.

It was comparatively easy to collect the pie, the chops, the bread, the lettuce and the berries and go down through the cellar and up the four flights of stairs to her apartment door. But then what? She sat down on the stairs and thought some more. There were two flats on a floor. She could ring the bell of the next-door lady and beg to be let climb out her kitchen window, across the fire escape and into her own kitchen window. Fine! Whereupon she rang. No answer. Lady away. Lovely! Now what? And time was flying. There was but one other way. The flat just over theirs was vacant. She might get into that if the door was open, go out the kitchen window, and down the fire escape to her own.

She carefully deposited the chops, the berries, the corn, the lettuce, the pie and the bread upon the floor and started upstairs. The door of the empty flat was unlocked. Ah, joy! She rushed to the kitchen window and gazed down through the fretwork of the fire-escape to the street. My! It was a long drop if she slipped. Furthermore, the ladder was a rusty old thing, and as the flat house was at the corner of the block, the fire escape hung to the outer wall of the building. The openings in the iron platforms at each floor were right over each other, and offered a clear drop, if anything happened, straight to the areaway. She hoped she'd fall nice and plumb into the area, and not out on the sidewalk, where everybody passing by would have to see her all mussed up.

She stepped forth courageously, desperately, and put her foot on the iron ladder. It seemed firm. She tried not to look down in the street but she couldn't help noticing a man driving a sprinkling cart. He gazed up in her direction and shouted, please antly: "Oh, I say, Maude, the water's fine. Drop in!"

"Two small boys playing ball in the street yelled at a companion a block away: "Hey, Chimaine, hurry up! Pipe de lady burglar!"

"Oh, you blue stockings!" remarked a college youth from across the way. And two men who were repairing the street stopped their steam roller and called out: "Don't jump! We'll save you!"

The ladies in the tenement opposite nearly fell out of their respective windows in their enthusiasm over the unusual spectacle. The grocery boy from the corner store dropped a barrel of potatoes on the grocer's foot, the driver of a delivery wagon paused with his parcels slipping from his arms—and all because a desperate young person was descending a fire escape. It seemed to Sue to take an hour at least to get to the platform outside her own kitchen window. Her hands and dress were red with rust and her hat was on one ear. She ducked hastily into the open kitchen window with a triumphant cry—into the arms of the amazed Ethelinda.

"Sue!"

"Ethelinda!"

"You frightened me nearly to death!"

What on earth—

"I'm not on earth. I'm in the air. What are you doing home at this hour, Ethelinda?"

"Why, the store has begun closing at five. I thought I'd hurry home and help you get dinner."

ITS GREAT POPULARITY

MAKES THIS SALE

A Money Saving Opportunity

We shall make piano history during the next two weeks. We announce a sale of nearly TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY—to be exact, 247—fine pianos at about two-fifths of actual worth. Never before have we had such a magnificent collection of new and slightly-used pianos to sell at such sacrifice prices.

Never before have we had such a demand for the LAUTER-HUMANA (the wonderful player-piano that, having human-like control, anyone can play with feeling and expression), and a very large proportion of our sales has included the taking of a new or slightly-used instrument in part payment. So great has been the popularity of the LAUTER-HUMANA that people who had purchased new pianos but three and four months before have unhesitatingly changed off for a LAUTER-HUMANA. This sale is the result.

There are instruments by practically every maker of reputation in this country. There are Lauter Uprights and Lauter Grands, and, indeed, some Lauter-Humanas that were used temporarily while instruments of special design were being prepared for purchasers. The great fact for you is this: You can come here while this sale lasts, and secure a fine piano at a previously unheard-of low price.

Let us name to you some of the pianos included in this sale. The list that follows can give you no idea of the variety and quality of the pianos in this collection, but it will serve the purpose as far as print may:

SHORT HILLS AND LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL PLAY ANOTHER TIE GAME.

School Teams Evenly Matched—Another Game, Perhaps.

The local High School football team divided honors with the Short Hills High School eleven last Saturday afternoon at Recreation Park. The score was 0-0. This is the second game this season that the score has been tied 0-0 against these opponents. The game which was seen by a good crowd, was exciting from beginning to finish.

The local team started the game and kicked off. The Short Hills team gradually worked the ball to the center of the field and here it went back and forth, first one team holding the other for downs and visa versa. Finally, the local team made a big gain by a forward pass, but lost as much by its failure. Here Irving made a good tackle. The Short Hills team got the ball in the pass but fumbled it and lost it. The first half ended without either team scoring.

The Short Hills team started the second half by a kick off. The local team gained but was forced to punt. Here one of the Short Hills men ran from the ten yard line to the center of the field but was finally stopped by Smith in a flying tackle. The Short Hills team then tried a forward pass but Reese hit the ball and Irving fell on it. Here the local team made a big gain by a forward pass and then they punted. Their opponents were soon forced to punt, but the kick was blocked and Doerer seized the ball for Westfield. A few trick plays soon brought Keyes over the line and Buckley kicked the Basket Ball Season Starts Monday.

At the special meeting of the High School Advisory Board on Basket Ball, held last Monday afternoon, preparations were made for the coming season which opens next Monday. Elsie Porine, Madelyn Worth, Alan Johnston, Herbert Buckley, J. Cameron Elliott, and Edmund Underwood were accepted as members of the conduct committee, with Robert Hanford as chairman. Howard Day, Sargeant Bush, Walter Reese, Robert Keyes, Dudley Green, Harris Hopwood and Philip Keeler, were accepted as members of the Property Committee, with Gordon Losee as chairman. All rules and regulations were ordered to be posted before the opening day.

goal. This brought many cheers from the crowd.

The High School team kicked off and one of their opponents succeeded in carrying the ball back to the center of the field, but here he was tackled and fumbled the ball. But the local team was held for downs and having the ball their opponents made towards their goal, slowly but surely. Amid great excitement, cheering and yelling, they carried the ball over the line. But they were penalized five yards for being off side. This gave the local High School another chance, but they were unable to hold back their opponents. After this touchdown, a dispute arose that took fifteen minutes to settle after which the Short Hills team kicked the goal from the twenty yard line instead of the fifteen yard line. This made the score 0-1 and after another minutes play the game was called.

The line up was:

The local manager is trying to schedule another game with Short Hills, to be played in Westfield, as the local coach will not play in Short Hills on account of a short field. If the game, which surely will be exciting, is to be played tomorrow, the manager will post notices on all the bill boards.

What "King's English" Means.

"Queen's English" and "king's English" are both terms that have been in common use for years to designate grammatical English. In Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" we read: "Here will be an old abusing of God's patience and the king's English." Such phrases as "murdering the queen's English" and "clipping the queen's English" arose from a book by Dean Alford on the subject of accurate speech.

The Printer's Children.

The case of the musical man who named his four daughters after the eight notes of the tonic sol-fa scale is matched by that of the provincial printer who named his children from the type fonts he used—Ruby, Pearl, Diamond. The first two are no uncommon names for girls, only Ruby happened to be a boy. He followed in his father's footsteps and afterward became a printer's manager in London.

Modern Ideas Grafted on Ancient.

The ceremony of cutting the wedding cake, which falls to the bride, is a survival of the old Roman "cutting together," which signified that the bride was reconciled to her lot and that the husband granted her a share of his property, and the habit of putting back her veil is a remnant of savage custom, which decrees a woman must dress differently after her marriage to signify she is a wife.

Moonlight Blindness.

Moonlight most intense sometimes causes more eyes in Cuba, and the natives navigate and perambulate with umbrellas and parasols. This very obstinate affection is cured by washing the eyes with moonlight-fallen dew, so the inimitable Frank Steinhart, former consul general to Cuba, said. Not so strange a joke and cure after all, for such dew has been found to be radioactive and electric.

His Death Saved Women.

The death is noted of a Chinaman of foreign parentage whose claim to distinction appears to have been based on the fact that he "had had three American wives." His decease at the untimely age of 43 leaves it a matter of speculation merely what his record would have been had his life been prolonged.

Marvel at an Early Age.

Christian Henry Holmoeck, at one year old, knew the chief events of the Pentateuch. At 13 months he knew the history of the Old Testament and that of the New at 14 months. When he was 2½ years old he could answer any ordinary question of history or geography. He was a French and Latin student at the age of three.

Useless Knowledge.

The young man had just faced the parson with the only girl, and was now in search of information. "Can you tell me how to govern a wife?" he asked of the old man who has been up against the game for 30 years. "I can," replied the other, sadly, "but what's the use—she won't let you!"

Calculating Meanness.

"I suppose you heard what Meanley did in church last Sunday when the plate came round to him?" "Dropped a button in it, I suppose." "Worse than that. He leaned over and whispered: 'I paid the pastor's car fare yesterday. We'll call it square.'"—Catholic Standard and Times.

Breeding Ground for Birds.

The volcanic islands known as the Doges of Islands of the Aleutian archipelago, Alaska, have been ordered set apart and reserved for the use of the department of agriculture as a preserve and breeding ground for native birds.

In Doubt.

"Engaged to that beautiful girl and yet not happy?" "Well, she's gone in by turns for rowing and tennis and horses and golf and dogs." "Say on." "Sometimes I wonder if I am a sweetheart or merely a fad."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Nature's Reckoning.

There is no gathering the rose without being pricked by the thorns.—Pilpay.

Necessary to Genius.

Genius lights its own fire, but it takes determination to keep it going.

Help.

CLAIMED THAT SON-IN-LAW PAID $100 FOR PATERNAL CARE

But Court Rules Local Farmer Paid $100 "Borrowed"

Because he claimed that his son-in-law, Walter E. E. Pierce, of Newark, had paid $100 for the care of his daughter, William Becker of Newark, refused to pay back the $100. His son-in-law claims was not $100, but $10. Judge Whittemore Saturday in the District Court, gave judgment holding Pierce's claim, allowing $142, which is the original $100, and interest since the loan was made seven years ago.

Pierce, who is a carpenter in Newark, brought suit in the District Court for $100 damages. Both Mr. and Mrs. Becker when on the stand, stated that when Pierce was 10 years old, his daughter, Maggie, was taken to the home of her father, as they were adverse to the marriage. They testified that they agreed to pay them $100, if they consented to the marriage, and that they consented. Mr. Becker, testified that he was sick of Maggie, and that his daughter, who then seventeen years old, had reached the age when she could not be kept in the home, when Pierce came along and got away.

The statement of the Becker's denied by Pierce, who insisted that money he had given them was only loan. Pierce is now twenty-six years old. Becker is a truck farmer here.

From Lucile's Diary

I have always liked Malcolm Cox very much, and I never supposed he could be as unreasonable and domineering as he has proved himself recently.

Monday evening of last week when we were coming home from the theater he said he was tired of dilly-dallying.

"Dilly-dallying," I repeated. "What do you mean?"

"I mean," he answered in a voice sterner than I had ever dreamed he could speak to me, "that you must either say yes or no—that I am through with this uncertainty, I want to know, Lucile, if you care for me enough to promise to marry me."

"Do you call that pretty love-making?" I asked, laughing a little nervously.

"You know what I want, Lucile. I want you, and you have known it a long time. I have tried pretty love-making, and, no matter what I have said or done, you have always put me off with a laugh or some other means of keeping me on tenterhooks. Lucile," his voice fairly thrilled with emotion, "I'm not going to wait any longer for a definite answer. Is it to be yes?"

"I don't see why we have to be engaged," I said, poutingly.

"We don't have to be," he replied in a sort of doomsday voice that frightened me into slipping my hand into his and murmuring. "But we shall be, Malcolm."

Of course, after that he was much happier and began at once to talk about a ring.

Although I had never been very keen for being engaged, since an engaged girl always has more fun, I thought at first it was not going to be so bad after all, especially the next morning, when mother woke me about nine o'clock, bringing into my room a box of lovely roses which Malcolm had sent me on his way downtown.

But my hopes of peace and harmony were dashed that very night when Malcolm came to the house right after dinner, frightfully out of humor.

"You know," he said, "I asked you last evening if you had any engagement for this afternoon, and you said you hadn't. So when I found I could get away from the office I phoned to ask you to come down for afternoon tea with me and I was told you were out. That was disappointment enough without my seeing you, as I did, in Knight's automobile."

"I think you are very foolish and quick tempered, Malcolm, to be vexed at such a little thing," I said. "When Arthur came for me I could hardly say, 'No, thank you; there's a possibility of some one else asking me out this afternoon, could I?'"

"You could have told him of our engagement and then he would not have expected you to go in his car."

"Why, Malcolm! I don't want to tell anyone now. Let's keep it a secret for a long time yet."

"I should much prefer to tell everybody to-day."

"Oh, no; let's have it a secret for a little while at least. That's the dear boy."

"Well, just as you say, Lucile," he acquiesced with quite good grace. "But now, what shall we do this evening?"

"I can't do anything this evening Malcolm," I explained. "That is, with you. I've already accepted an invitation to go to the theater with Ned Bartlett." Malcolm scowled, so that I hastened to add: "He invited me a week ago, so you mustn't mind."

"But I do mind," he grumbled.

"Well, how about to-morrow evening?"

"I have to stay at home to-morrow evening, because that delightful Mr. Raymond I knew in Europe is coming. He wrote me that he was to be in town just one evening on his way west and he wanted to pass it with me talking over the good times we had abroad. Of course you can come too, Malcolm, though it might be a little dull for you."

"I shall not want to intrude upon your duet of reminiscences," Malcolm said, in the bluntest way. "If by any chance, Lucile, you find yourself disengaged any evening this week we might arrange to pass it together."

"Certainly," I answered, generously overlooking his sarcastic manner. "How will Saturday do? This is Tuesday and to-morrow Mr. Raymond will be here. Thursday I promised to go to the country club dance with Arthur Knight, and there's a possibility of Canby Fuller's coming Friday evening. But Saturday I'll be free to go out with you."

"You're very kind," he said, laughing ungraciously.

He was positively rude. The very moment I mentioned Mr. Raymond he became annoyed and spoke in the most unreasonable manner. Then he cut the conversation off in the middle of my explanation. In a very short time a boy from his office brought me a letter, in which he said that since I found so little time for his society he inferred our engagement must be irksome to me, and if I desired to break it he would release me. I simply sent back the two words, "Very well."

I am glad that the tiresome affair is over. I hope, though, that Malcolm soon will feel like being friends again, for in some ways he is the most generous and thoughtful man I know.

Of course I can't help regretting the ring a little, for I have always wanted a sapphire and diamond ring, and that is what we had decided upon.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Posterman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy."

GUY CALLAWAY'S PLUCK.

Badly Hurt by Fall From Motor Cycle, He Resumes Exhibition.

Guy Callaway of Central avenue, while riding his Indian motorcycle at a speed of about fifty (50) miles an hour in the speed try-outs on Guttenberg Track last Sunday was thrown some fifteen or twenty feet and knocked unconscious. He was taken to Hudson County Hospital where it was found that he was suffering from twisted ligaments in his left ankle and leg, lacerations about the legs and bruises about the head and trunk. In two hours he was back again at the Race Track. After a few repairs to his machine, he showed his great pluck and nerve in mounting it and starting for home (about forty (40) miles) amid the cheers and well wishes of some two thousand spectators.

He will be about in a few days though a little lame. "Never Again," says Guy.

PLAYING AROUND A BON-FIRE

LITTLE GIRL FATALLY BURNED.

Aldonia Machulski, Age Five Years, Burned To Death Saturday.

While playing near a bon-fire in the rear of her home on Grove street, last Saturday morning, Aldonia Machulski, age five years and seven months, was so badly burned that she died from the effects ten hours later. The little girl, it is said, was poking the flames with a stick when her clothes caught fire. She rushed to the house, but before she could reach the doorstep she was enveloped in fire.

Her mother rushed to her aid, and smothered the fire with a wet blanket. Dr. F. A. Kinch was called, and he did all that he could to relieve her suffering. Anesthetics were given, but she died at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. The funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the house. The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery, Plainfield.

Unfortunately Proclaimed.

While on active service a French soldier was informed by the mayor of his village that his father had recently died. In acknowledgment he wrote as follows: "Monsieur le maire, j'ai heurtly thank you for my father's death. It is a little accident that often happens in families. As for myself, I am in the hospital minus one leg, with which I have the honor to salute you."

Trees Brought Rain.

In lower Egypt rain fell very seldom. During the French occupation, about 1789, it did not rain for 16 months, but since Mahomet Ali and Ibrahim Pasha completed their vast plantations—the former alone planted more than 20,000,000 olive, fig, cotton, acacia, plane trees, etc.—there now falls a good deal of rain.

Man's Wants.

In a western town recently men waded waist-deep in water to get to a saloon which had been isolated owing to a cloudburst. Have you ever heard of men who were willing to get their feet wet in order to reach a counter at which books on philosophy were being sold at a discount?

To Sterilize Books.

A successful mechanical process for the sterilization of books has been recently devised in France, and a suggestion is being considered providing for the establishment of plants in different parts of the city for the regular treatment of the volumes used in schools.

Useless Bother.

"Pa," said little Henry, who was being led gingerly through the ruins of Pompeii, "I don't see why they've got the streets all dug up here. What's the use of puttin' in gas or water pipes when they ain't hardly anybody lives in the town?"

Big, Big Sale of Black Ostrich Plumes

A Finer Lot Than We Have Ever Sold Before

An off-color, ill shaped diamond may claim the title of a "genuine diamond," still it is not in the same class with the brilliant, pure, perfect gem, which is really worth having. Ostrich Plumes, like diamonds, are graded; these we offer at about one-third under price are "gems"—the fine-appearing, rich looking kind. Considering quality we have never presented better values.
