WHICH WILL YOU HAVE TEN YEARS FROM NOW?

A bundle of rent receipts or a comfortable Home of Your Own. Will you help support your landlord for ten years or will you break the rent paying habit, be your own landlord, and put the money in your own pocket?

These questions are for you to answer-it is for you to decide.

YOU CAN OWN A HOME

If you want to---you CAN stop paying rent-you CAN be your own landlord. Why not select a Pearsall Home Site NOW at present low values and on the Pearsall convenient payment Westfield property will never be any cheaper. We predict an increase in land values long before the close of 1910, of over 25%. A Pearsall Home Site is a mighty good investmentthe property is the best residential proposition in all Westfield. BILL TO PLAY BASEBALL ON SUNDAY

Governor Wants To Do Away County He Presides in the Absence of Mayor Tax Boards--Eulogies For Late Governor Werts Delivered in Senate.

Trenton, Jan, 18 .- All of the old time bills, and if not all nearly all, made their appearance in the Legislature at the opening session last night. In the batch of proposed legislation were three public untilities measures, one employer's liability act, two for the permission of selling liquor on Sunday, one permitting Sunday baseball, the measures advocated in the annual message of Governor Fort for the repealing of the law creating county tax boards and the extension of the primary system and personal bills by the score.

In the House of Assembly, Mr. Nichols introduced the bills on behalf of the Governor calling for the abolishment of the tax boards and for the extension of the direct primary system so as to include the nomination of con gressmen and governors. The public utilities measure introduced by Mr. Scharf, of Bergen County, provides for the conversion of the present Board of Railroad Commisioners into a public utilities commission and to increase its nowers accordingly. The other bills for this legislation came from Mr. Sullivan, whose bill is a duplicate of the one introduced by Mr. Martin last year, and from Senator Gebhard, which bill is the same as the one introduced by him last year.

Assemblyman Olwell, of Hudson County, made his annual presentation of the bill which would permit Sunday baseball, while a measure by Senator Osborne would permit the sale of liquor after one o'clock on Sunday provided the same is approved at a special election. Another proposed law by Mr. Osborne would make it a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of $5,000 or one year in prison to enter into any agreement whereby a monopoly in the restraint of trade is created. Senator Osborne also presented an employer's liability act which would repeal the act passed last winter and include the Federal provision which eliminates the defence of liability of fellow servant.

There was a resolution introduced by Mr. Schwartz, of Union, which calls upon the New Jersey members of Congress to lend their support to a bill introduced in Congress by Representative Sulzer providing for the removal of the wreck and the proper interment, of the bodies of the seamen who went down with the battleship Maine, on February 15, 1898, in Havana Harbor.

Assemblyman Matthews, of Hunter don County, introduced a concurrent resolution opnosing the the Legislature request New Jersey's representatives in Congress to oppose the proposition to pass an act for the Federal incorporation of corporations to engage in trade and commerce among the states and among the various nations.

Senator Wilson, of Atlantic County presented a petition from the General Lafayette Chapter, D. A. R., asking for $5,000 to erect a suitable monument to commemorate the battle of Chestnut was destroyed by the British Loyalists and Hessians, October 6, 1778.

A bill by Assemblyman Moore, of Passaic County, if enacted into a law, will exempt personal property from taxation up to the value of $500. Another of Mr. Moore's bills would make it impossible for a doctor to be compelled to testify in court concerning any conversation he had had with a patient.

In executive session the Senate con firmed the appointments of Francis J. Swavze, as associate justice of the Supreme Court, and Frederick Adams, as judge of the Circuit Court of New These confirmations were made at the special request of the Gov ernor who thought the appointees might he called upon to sit in court this week.

Out of respect to the memory of George T. Werts, a former governor of New Jersey, who died yesterday, both houses adjourned until next Monday Former Governor Werts was eulogized by Senators Fielder, Mills and Wakelee. Governor Fort issued a proclamation directing that all public buildings be draped for 30 days and that hands of the Finance Ctry's full." the proper salute be fired during the W. W. "MAYOR" WILSON IN THE CHAIR.

Alpers---Officers to Be Paid Twice Monthly, Under New Schedule.

At the regular meeting of the West-field Common Council, held in the Town rooms on Elm street Monday night, six petitions were received, asking for the macadamizing of the roads from curb to curb, and some for the laying of concrete curbs and gutters. The Councilinen who were present, namely: Floyd, Affleck, Hohenstein, Schmitt, Wilson, Davis and Casey, elected Councilman Wilson, Acting Mayor in the absence of Mayor Alpers. Harold Thompson was appointed acting clerk in the absence of Town Clerk Lloyd Thompson. Mr. Robert V. Hoffman addressed the Council, and thanked them for their aid to the Standard Publishfor their aid to the Standard Publish for their aid to the Standard Publishing Concern, after their recent fires. He explained that the use of the back rooms of the Gale Club House for the presses, would help the concern materially. He stated that the official news of the town would be published this week as usual, if not by their own presses, by out of town printers.

There was a long discussion on the printing of the town reports. Bids were due last night, and only one presented. It had nothing on the outside of the envelope to show that it was a bid, and so the clerk opened it. It was the bid of Mr. Hankinson, Editor of the Leader. Mr. Hankinson, Editor of the Leader. Mr. Hankinson explained that he and Mr. Hoffman, Editor of the Standard, had talked the matter over. Standard, had talked the matter over and they had both agreed on a price, which they thought would be the fairest to the town. Mr. Affleck- at once made a motion that the clerk advertize for bids in out of town newspapers. Mr. Davis opposed this, because he believed that the job of printing the town agreement. opposed this, because he believed that the job of printing the town report ought to be given to a town printer, one that owns property, pays taxes, and transacts business in the town. At last, Mr. Floyd seconded Mr, Affleck's motion. Councilmen Schmitt, Hohenstein, Affleck, and Floyd, voted in the affirmative, and Davis and Casey-negative. Councilman Davis at once made the motion that all printers in Town be sent a letter asking for bids on the job, and the motion was carried. Mr. job, and the motion was carried. Mr. Affleck requested that the two members of the Council, who are printers, be excluded from bidding. Five communications were received. asking for liquor licenses, were referred to the Excise and Finance Committee. The dealers asking for licenses are Walter W. Mooney, Lawrence Powers, Herman Browers, John H. Willett, and Wm. Machulesky.

On recommendation of Councilman Davis, Chairman of the Finance Committee, a resolution was passed to pay all the town officers every two weeks; of course this does not include the Councilmen.

LEGISLATURE MEETS EXCISE BILL PASSED THE UNION COUNTY STANDARD'S PLANT HAS BEEN FIRED OUT AGAIN.

Flames Do Considerable Damage The front office of the Standard and its to Composing Room, But Presses Are Saved.

THOMPSON BUILDING BADLY BURNED

But for the Work of the Fire Department, Building and Contents Would Have Been Ruined--Gets a Good Start.

Not since the morning of January 4, 1894, when the plant (then a tenant in the old Arcanum Building) was totally destroyed has the Union County Standard furnished such red hot copy as it did last Saturday night, when, from some source yet to be determined, the fire god played havoc with the Thompson Building and partialy destroyed the printing establishment of the Standard

Publishing Concern, In the day of the great fire, how ever, the conflagration might well have been expected, for the building was a frame structure and a part of a big block of like buildings, but the Thompson Building seemed so well protected against fire risks that those who were safe-guarding its interests could hardly believe their eyes when they arrived on the scene and saw flames bursting from the unner windows. Thus fate, which does not regard neople and thirm made a pretty mess of it. But thanks to friends and the good work of our force, we are fast adjusting ourselves to the new condition of things and by next week we shall be all right.

It is perhaps due to the firemen more than to any one else that the building was not totally destroyed. Chief Decker and his men were on the scene but a few minutes after the alarm was sounded and they worked like fiends until the last splutter of flame had been extinguished.

FREDERICK C. DECKER

(Chief of the Westfield Fire Department, who fell through floor of burning building When the fire was nearly under control, Chief Decker in reconnoitering on carried was smashed to bits, but he escaped without injury.

The fire was discovered by Charle Clark, a Broad Street merchant, who was on his way home. Mr. Clarke saw flames leaping from the first and second On Effiingham Place, macadam from story windows of the building, and ran to the firehouse, where he turned contents, including newspaper stock, letter files and other records, except those in the safe, were totally destroyed, The composing room was almost a Some of the type was melted and other of it was water soaked, and all of the job cases were practically destroyed. In the rear room where the motor, presses and cutter are operaed, there was much less damage. The pulleys and belting were burned o a crisp, but the presses escaped with but slight damage; but the stock in this oom was completely destroyed.

The loss to the Standard is estimated at between $3,000 and $3,500, covered by insurance. The loss to Mr. Thompson on his building, is estimated between $7,000 and $8,000, which is covered by insurance.

The building had been leased by the Town, as a Town Hall. Alterations were being made in the rear to provide for Police headquarters. The Standard Publishing Concern is building a new building on Elm street, where the plant is to be installed. The work on the new building has been greatly delayed by the weather. The Standard was fortunate in having ordered presses for use in its new building, which had not been delivered. It was also fortunate in having completed on Saturday a great quantity of job work, which was delivered at noon on that day.

Although the fire comes as somewhat of a jolt to the Directors of the Standard, it is thought that the Company will be able to recoup its loss, within the next year. The new plant is to be one of the best equipped printing offices in the County and plans are now under way by which it is hoped to have the new building completed and the plant installed not later than March 1st. The. temporary printing office of the Standard is in the rear of the Gale Club House, which is now occupied by the Fown Council and the Police. The business office of the company is at No. 37 Elm street, the offices of H. C.

Presses are being moved over and installed. By Monday morning of next week, the work of the plant will be resumed as usual and job work now held at the office will be completed as quickly as possible. The facilities are adequate to meet the emergency.

The Standrd is thankful for the assistance given by the Westfield Fire Department and the Westfield Police at the time of the fire and during the past We are also grateful to our many friends for the way in which they have stood by us in our misfortune.

INDICTMENT AGAINST F. B. HAM QUASHED BY JUDGE.

Atwater Grants Motion Made by Lawyer Voorhees, Last July.

The motion to quash the indictment found against Frank B. Ham, civil engineer, licensed preacher and prominent Westfield citizen, charged with the forgery of a deed, made by his counsel, former Governor Foster M. Voorhees, on July 7 last year, was granted to-day by Judge Atwater in the Court of Quarter Sessions. When the motion was made last summer, it was opposed by Prosecuor C. Addison Swift, and as a result of an argument between counsel. Judge Atwater reserved decision in order to consider the points raised.

In the indictment which was found against Ham during the May term, while he was acting as a petit juryman, he was charged with forgery in four counts. The first count charges that he inserted the words "bargain and sell' in the deed, changing it from a quit claim deed.

He was charged in another count with publishing the deed, and in another with forging the certificate of acknowledgment. Harriet and Charles Griffith, with others who are nuknown, were the grantors named in the alleged forged deed, and are those claimed to have been injured by the alleged overtact. Mr. Voorhees' argument on motion to quash was that if the changes were made in the deed as charged, no crime was committed, as the records proved that the persons alleged to have been injured were not in possession of the title to the lands purported to be conveyed by the alleged forged deed.

From every section of the store comes bargain news of greatest import—we can't begin to crowd it into the papers, eager as we are to tell you of all the good things.

In the Basement we are making things hum with our great Annual Sale of Housewares, which includes almost every conceivable thing in our wonderful housefurnishing stock-prices are away below usual, bringing big savings to housekeepers economically inclined—chinaware, glassware, tinware, enamelware, and all kinds of specialties are very materially reduced for this January Sale.

One cannot well appreciate the values without a visit to the store.

On the first floor there are interesting sales in many departments, conspicuous among which are the White Goods, including 1910 Embroideries, Dress Fabrics, Sheets and Pillow Cases, Bed Quilts, and the like.

On the Second Floor the mighty Garment Clearances, including all sorts of Women's Dresses, Sults, Skirts, Coats and Furs, the Millinery Clearance, and the winning White Sale of Undermuslins hold the attention of thousands.

On the Third Floor the great January Furniture Sale, the Sale of Floor Coverings. and the Sale of Upholsteries, practically everything reduced 10 to 50 Per Cent. -all are magnets that are attracting people to the Store. Take it all in all, we are making January hum with business.

ON BEING FIRED OUT.

We have been conscious for a long time that our presence in the Thompson Building was not in conformity with the program of events as planned when the Town leased the building last summer. We should have been in another building long ago, and the Thompson building prepared to receive expense and energy, but for the facetiousness of the Weather Man, who played "hob" with all our pet schemes and flually gave us over to an unfeeling God of Flame. Fate, who is no respector of people and things, made short shift of our tenantry. We are fired out again and, Town Solons, we yield the palm to you. We are fired out not through any wish or design of yours, but by a master element which has made our further

The STANDARD, under the circumstances, has been somewhat crippled, but we are trying to go ahead as if nothing had happened to jar our equiblibrium, and cause us to wonder why the lot of the printer seems to be the luckless one. We have gone into temporary quarters for the time being, and, if the Weather Man will atone for his past misbehavior and give us a few weeks of sunshine, we are assured that our new building on Elm street will be ready to receive us. Until that time our printing plant will be installed in the rear of the council chamber in Gale's Olub house, on Elm street, and the business office in the office of the Westfield Highlands Real Estate Co., at 37 Elm street. The latter office may soon be removed to the Gale Building.

Well, it is not so bad after all, and we are not disposed to feel discouraged. The STANDARD has successfully comshow yellow in the present crisis—so much the worse for us. There is no reason why we should. The people of Westfield are considerate, all of those connected with the Standard are loyal, and we are a long way from being a candidate for the poor-house. Whether the conflagration of last week is for better or for worse depends entirely upon the way in which we view it. We thought last week that the Standard the building the fire, and personal the way in which we view it. We thought last week that the Standard the building the fire, and personal the way in which we view it. If we history of twenty-five years. The event of the past week, with the disneter which has followed in its wake. has left us somewhat poorer financially, but richer in resolve and experience,

We assure the people of Westfield that the best is yet to come.

A GOOD WORD FOR THE FIREMEN.

The work of the Westfield firemen as the fire in the Thompson building last Saturday night is worthy of special praise. Chief Decker and his men were under difficulties. been burning at least au hour before it was discovered, and when the firemen arrived on the scene, the front part of the building, upstairs and down, was enveloped in flames. Despite this, how. ever, the firemen plunged into the building in a few minutes had three hose playing upon the fire at critical points. In less than an hour and a half from the Boulevard.

THANK YOU, GENTLEMEN.

If we were to thank all those who have been good to us in a public way, noon at 2:80, the columns of the STANDARD would, we think, be filled in every available space. Our facilities, however, will not permit us to say all that we could and would. But we must not forget to montion Brother Hankinson, for he has been 'Johnnie on the Spot," from first to last. We hope that he'll never be "fired out," but if ill luck of the kind comes his way, we'll do our best to reciprocate. The Police Force, likewise, has been ever mindful of our interests, and has protected our plant during the week. The Common Council! Well, they could not possibly have been more considerate, thoughtful and obliging. We also extend thanks to Welch & Son for allowing us the use of the rooms of H. C. Lockwood on Elm street.

COMMENTS ON THE FIRE

In the Editor's sanctum the picture of Elbert Hubbard was burned to a crisp, but the picture of Teddy hanging just below it was but very slightly damaged. The Printer's Devil says: "You can't lose Teddy; he'll be the next President of the U. S. A."

On a hook in the composing room a marked newspaper file which can not duplicated, were not burned. comments thusly: Printer's Devil "There is no limit to the influence which these political fellers have." The Printer's Devil says: "Cheer up, yo scribes!"

The cause of the fire has not yet been determined. The Printer's Devil says "You can't always sometimes tell."

Some one in the crowd watching the fire, Saturday night, called out when he saw the editor approaching: "Well, you won't get your knocker's sheet out this week." Commenting upon this the week." Commenting upon this the Printer's Devil said: "Why, it was one of those Hall Room Boys what loaf on the street corners. Those fellers haven't had a chance like that to keep warm and loaf since the winter set in. Cheer up! Nobody was hurt.

President Tuttle Re-Elected.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade was held last night and the following officers were elected: President, William E. Tuttle, Jr.; first vice president, J. A Dennis; second vice presilent, A. N. Pierson; third vice president, A. L. Russell; fourth vice president, James G. Casey; secretary, Robert V. Hoffmun ; treasurer, Geo. W. Frutchey; five trustees—John M. Walsh, F. H. Schaefer, H. C. McVoy, H. G. Mooney, W. E Reeve.

Treasurer Frutchey reported a good balance in the treasury. The committee to consider the advisability of a celebration in the spring was discharged with thanks, it being the opinion of the committee and the members of the Board that a celebration would be premature this year. An amendment was intro luced making the meeting of the Board bi-monthly instead of monthly, If this resolution goes into effect, the Board will meet the third Thursdays of January, March, May, July, September and November,

MAKING MONEY

Mrs. Samuels, who lived next door and was almost constantly without a cook, suggested to Mrs. Henshaw that she might lay the foundation of a fortune by making cakes, pies and doughnuts for her friends. Mrs. Bamuels had known a woman who had made hundreds of dollars by filling small orders for such things.

"Why don't you try it?", she had wound up enthusiastically. "I'd order a dozen doughnuts and two ples from you every week myself, and I'd glad-ly pay 20 cents a dozen for the doughnuts and 25 cents apiece for the piec. Mrs. Henshaw's eyes opened wide.
"And I could get orders from other people, couldn't 1?" she queried. "I do believe l'il try."

Thus it was that Henshaw, coming home rather late Saturday afternoon, found his wife up to the elbows in cookery for the neighbors.

"Whew-ew-ew!" he whistled. "Have you undertaken to supply the whole

Mrs. Henshaw sighed a little wear it's going to be a great success. I have orders for five dozen doughnuts That means four dollars, just in one day.

"Did you take out the cost of your materials?" asked Henshaw with disheartening practicability.

heartening practicability.

His wife's face fell. "I never thought about that," she faltered. "Do you suppose that will make very much difference?"

"Count it all clear gain, but don't make yourself sick over it."

Tuesday night, when he came home, Mrs. Henshaw was rather subdued during the early part of the dinner, and when the time for serving dessert arrived Henshaw was surprised to see her rise to clear away the dishes.

"Where's Sophy?" he asked.

I didn't take into account."

For some weeks Mrs. Henshaw was too busy cooking for her own family to worry very much about the future, but by the time she had paid for the extra groceries which had been re-quired to carry on the bakery business she was once more anxious to join the great ranks of the working women. One evening her husband came home to find her poring over a book about

'We have the space, Howard, dear, she explained, "and all we need is a coop and some squabs."
"All right," said Henshaw. "I'll supply the coop if you'll provide the squabs and the brain work for the enterprise."

The coop that Mrs. Henshaw had him buy seemed large to Menshaw, but she explained that it was cheaper in the end to buy a large one, as they would need all the room they could get within a few weeks. Shortly afterward she bought six pairs

They were nice birds," Henshaw said sadly to a friend some weeks later, "and they bore up wonderfully considering all the experiments tried on them in the way of food. However at last they got discouraged and died. We never knew what was the matter with them. They just died, quietly and inconspicuously, one after an-

The sight of that empty coop cut Mrs. Henshaw to the heart every time she looked at it. It was full not only of the ghosts of departed squabs but or the gnosts or departed squabs but of dead hopes as well. However, after the lapse of several weeks she de-cided to fill the coop with chickens and sell the eggs and young brollers, and her hopes sprung up as lively as

The hens laid with such generosit that Mrs. Henshaw's purse actually grew perceptibly fatter. Her first brood of chicks were the pride of her heart. As they gradually lost their in-fant fluffiness and developed from mangy-horrors into plump little broilers, she could almost hear the coins rattling into her savings bank. One Saturday morning she announced to Henshaw that she had made her first sale.

"Mrs. Samuels wants Brewnie her Sunday dinner," she said tri-umphantly. "Will you kill him?"
"Of course," said Henshaw. "I'll do it as soon as I get home to-night." But Brownie was not destined to be eaten by the Samuels family. Mrs. Henshaw met her husband on the front steps that evening, looking rather pale and dejected.

rather pale and dejected.
"Howard," she said, "I'll have to let you make the money for this family. I went out to look at Brownie just now and he came running to me just like a baby almost, and—and I haven't the heart to have him killed. He is such a dear little chickea." She fingered the lapels of Henshaw's coat nerveusly. "I thought at first I'd have you kill one of the others, but I couldn't choose one. I'm too fond of them all. choose one. I'm tee fond of them all.
Don't you think it would be nicer to keep them?"
"I do for a fact," said Henshaw.

African "Sundowner."

There are many etymological ex-cuses for drinking, as an "appetizer," or a "stirrupcup," or a "nighteap." The "sundowaer" is peculiar to the west coast of Africa. It has nothing to do with the Australian "sundowner," who is a sort of tramp. All down the west coast of Africa is a quarter the west coast of Africa is a quarter of an hour between the day's heat and night's languor, which comes with a chill. It is a sort of religious cere-monial to share a "sundowner" at this time and ward off the chill.

"I've seen her off the stage," said the girl with the new mop colliure, addressing the others at the bridge addressing the orders at the bringe table, "and she is a perfect sight. Her complexion is painfully made up. It's my deal, I believe. I hope it will be a no trumper.

Well, she sat next to us in a hox at the theater the other night and of all the concelted people!" declared the girl with the Russian blouse. "She neted as if everybody in the place had come just to look at her. Oh, yes, it is my lead, isn't it?"

"Did you ever see such a mass of pure gold hair in your life?" put in the girl with the velvet shoes, arrang-ing the dummy hand. "It seems too bad that it is a work of art instead of a work of nature. She has it done at the same beauty parlor, I domean where I have my hair sham

"Why, I heard it was a perfectly beautiful wig," said the girl with the mop colfure. "She fixes all the braids and curis first, and then just draws it

"Pardon me; you revoked on that trick." politely said the girl with the Russian blouse. "I should think it would show around the edges or that it would slip. I think she has the most wonderful eyes and eyelashes of any actress on the stage."

"Yes, but they are dyed," declared the girl with the velvet shoes. say her eyes were very small and she had some kind of wondorful operation in Germany and the corners of her eyes were silt and that made them hig and long. I wonder how she dyes her eyelashes?"

"Dips them into the ink bottle, robably," dipposity suggested the girl who was pivoting as dummy be-cause she didn't know the game. "Did you ever hear what made her feet so small?"

No one had heard.

"She was born that way," solemnly declared the girl who didn't know the Jame. "She never had slices taken off them."

"What a humorist!" sniffed the girl "What a humorist!" suified the girl with the mop colffure. "It's too bad that some people we know weren't so fortunate. I think I'll try this a heart, for we must win this rubber, partner.'

Maybe that's what makes cigarettes. Maybe there what makes her so droopy and languid in that last act where everybody just has to cry. I wept bucketfuls."
"Well, when she wasn't smoking or dyeing her cyclashes or pulling on her wig did you ever hear what she was doing?" inquired the girl who didn't know the game, with a little steely glint in her eyes. "My cousin's chum has been her understudy for the past year and her closest friend. She told me that this dreadful person was the most lovable woman she had ever known. Every Sunday she makes the round of certain charitable institu tions and sings for the cripples and orphans and they all adore her. She has two little protegees that she is helping to perfect their musical edu-cation. She has supported an invalid sister for years, and has sent her everywhere for her health. She bought a home for her mother and she told my sister's chum that this year she would be able to get out of debt if she could manage to keep up through the season."

"It's just what I should have ex pected of her," declared the girl with the Russian blouse, ardently. "Tre always adored her and I'm going to have my evening gown made like that apricot gown of hers."

White Sale of Linens Closes January 31st

Tablecloths, Napkins, Fancy Linens Towels and Towelings

Every piece of linen in this Sale is pure flax. We know personally where it was made _saw many of the things on the looms in Ireland, Scotland, and Germany.

In those linen-weaving countries the name of Wanamaker is almost as well known as in New York City or Philadelphia.

"John Wanamaker has done more for the linen industry than any other man, by holding the standard up," said one of the foremost linen manufacturers of Ireland to our linen buyer last cummer.

It is a proud thing for this Store to feel that its high linen standards not only benefit all who pur-chase linens of us, but also help to insure the pure-flax quality and sturdy character of every piece of linen spun in the Old World mills with which this Store deals !

Almost a year ago we began planning for this White Sale. Ten thousand dozens of towels were ordered from a single maker. One hundred thousand napkins of one quality from a single firm. Twenty-five thousand yards of one sort of table linen from one place. One thousand pieces of a single quality of toweling from another. Other large orders were placed, and in a few instances we cleared up large lots of importers' stocks.

Nearly everything in the Sale comes first-hand from the maker to us, which saves to our customers' profits which usually go to importers and middlemen.

The average reduction on our regular low prices is at least one-fourth and sometimes more.

The Return Visit

'I understand that you have some visitors from the country at your house," said Mrs. Wilson, cheerily, when she met Mrs. Warburton waiting for the car on the corner. makes a pleasant change."

Mrs. Warburton coughed—one of those noncommittal coughs that may mean almost anything.

'Yes," she said, "they are relatives of my husband from down in the country where we stayed part of last summer. They came up to do some fall shopping and, of course, camped down on us."

"Of course," chirruped Mrs. Wilson "It's a case of turn about. Now you have a chance to repay them for you delightful stay on the farm. I this it's so nice to have a big house and-

"You just try having a big house some time and see how you like it," suggested Mrs. Warburton, grimly. "Not that these aren't the nicest people in the world," she said, hastily, recalling Mrs. Wilson's predilection for retailing gossip, "but it was rather un-expected, if the truth must be told. When I invited them last summer in a general sort of way I certainly never expected five of them to come piling in on me after telephoning from down-

"Five?" said Mrs. Wilson, elevating her eyebrows.

"Five," repeated Mrs. Warburton.
"My husband's brother and his wife and the three girls. What do you think of that? And me just breaking in an immigrant maid that never saw a gas range until last week!

"You can talk all you like," went on Mrs. Warburton, "about paying up for visiting on the farm by entertaining your country relatives in town, but let me tell you they get the best of it."

"Why, I don't see--" began Mrs.

"Of course, you don't," retorted Mrs Warburton, decisively, "because you've never been through it. When James and I went down to the country in June with little Bobbie these people never had to do a hand's turn for us. At least, they didn't seem to feel called upon to do anything to entertain us and we were satisfied to be let alone to wander around in the woods or sit in the shade while they went on with their work as though we weren't on earth. The only time they put themselves out was when they got up a picnic, and it would have been better if they had never thought We went trailing off to some creek in a wagon without springs and sat down to a cold lunch in the damp woods, eating stuff overrun with ants and fighting mosquitoes, and little Bobbie fell into the creek and was dried out behind a blackberry bush." "The idea!" said Mrs. Wilson, peer-

"Yes, but when they come up here and pile in on top of us we have to turn everything upside down to enterturn everything upside down to enter-tain them," went on Mrs. Warburton, bitterly. "Oh, yes, bless you! "Why, you poor thing!" said Mrs.

Wilson, sympathetically.

"But that isn't the worst," continued the indignant hostess. "Oh, dear, no! James has to come in for his share of it.* After dragging me all over town every day until I'm tfred out, they have to haul us both out to a theater nearly every night. Why, I need a rest cure.

"You can hardly blame them, though," argued Mrs. Wilson. "They don't have big stores or theaters at home, you know."

"That's not my fault," snapped Mrs Warburton. "Why should I be made to suffer for the shortcomings of the rural districts? Country people think that city people live in a whirl of ex citement and have nothing on their citiement and nave nothing on their minds except racing down town to shop in the daytime paring home on crowded elevated.
