THE DOG CASE.

Jury of Twelve Acquits Robert I. Richardson of S. P. C. A. Cruelty Charges.

The case of Mrs. Edith L. VanHouwen of Pinewood, acting as State agent of the New Jersey S. P. C. A., against Mr. Robert I. Richardson for cruelty in shooting a dog owned by Mr. Edward Keegan was tried before Recorder Toney, in the town hall, Wednesday afternoon. Lawyer Paul Q. Oliver represented the plaintiff, and lawyer Walter Hatfield, Sr., the defendant. The jury consisted of Messrs. Snyder, Hensel, Wilcox, Decker, Erbeck, Clark, Carpenter, Cox, Lee, Baumann, Eckol, Candee. The S. P. C. A. sued Mr. Richardson in the sum of $100.00 on the charge of needlessly mutilating and maiming a dog belonging to Mr. Keegan. The facts as brought out are as follows:

On March 27, last, while Mr. Richardson with his friends, Mr. Dallas and Mr. Walker, were taking their dogs out for exercise, a bull terrier whose ownership at the time was unknown to Richardson, attacked Richardson's nine months old pup. Richardson used a heavy stick on the bull terrier. Keegan's dog then left the pup and grabbed the ear of a dog belonging to Mr. Dallas. Again Richardson applied his stick, but this time without avail. Richardson then drew a revolver, and "shot over" the dogs, in order to frighten the bull terrier. The dog did not retreat, so he fired two more shots, making three in all. One of the shots took effect and the bull terrier started off limping. Mr. Keegan appeared on the scene at this time and said Richardson had shot his dog.

Messrs. Dallas, Walker and Richardson on oath corroborated these facts. Dr. Butler testified that the dog was shot in leg and stated course of bullet. Mr. Duffy, a neighbor of Keegan swore that once Keegan had warned him to "keep away from his dog for he did not know what the animal might do," and that the dog had growled at him. So far as he knew the dog was kept confined by his owner except when the animal slipped his collar. Richardson on examination said he shot to protect his property and his person. He admitted that he was frightened at the time and that he fired the third shot to "hurry along" the bull terrier while the dog was in the act of retreating. After able speeches by both attorneys, the Recorder charged the jury. After deliberating eleven minutes a verdict of no cause for action was brought in.

"Advertising Pays"—P. J. Windfeldt.

P. J. Windfeldt, of Windfeldt's combination meat, grocery and vegetable store, says: "I have been advertising consistently in the STANDARD for over a year, and I am now fully convinced that advertising pays. I could not be induced to discontinue advertising. I believe that any business man will find it profitable to advertise in the STANDARD, provided he advertises persistently and consistently, and is able at all times to PRODUCE THE GOODS." Mr. Windfeldt's judgment is worth considering. He is a practical business man! See his advertisement in this issue.

HIGHEST HONORS FOR RAHB.

Best Scholastic Record Ever Made in Local High School.

By establishing a general average of 94.3, Arthur Rahb, son of Councilman Rahb, of Garwood, has made the greatest record in the ten years' history of the Washington High School. He is a member of the senior class which will be graduated June 17. Mr. Rahb intends to enter Harvard University. Miss Mildred Bunce, with an average of 90, will receive the honor grade, and Miss Madeline Worth, with the same average, will be the salutatorian. Eight young men and thirteen young women will be graduated. To get a diploma a pupil must maintain a general average of 85 per cent and must not fall lower than 60 in any one subject.

Washington School will hold its graduating exercises in the school auditorium, Friday evening, June 17. Rev. Dr. S. L. Loomis of the Congregational Church, it is reported, will preach the baccalaureate sermon, Sunday evening, June 12. Class day exercises will take place June 15.

The athletic association of the High School will give a dance in the Washington School, May 10, if the Board of Education will give permission.

PLAINFIELD MUSICAL CONTEST

WESTFIELD CAPTURES 2 PRIZES.

Harold Griffiths Takes Second in Solo Contest of the Grammar Section.

At the public school musical contest, held in the High School auditorium at Plainfield, yesterday afternoon, Westfield captured two second prizes. Harold Griffiths and Clifford Ewing, of the Washington Grammar School, took part in the solo contest of the grammar section. Griffiths captured second prize. The junior section brought back a bronze medal. Allan McGuire and Miss Marion Tice represented Westfield in the high school solo contest. This afternoon the local grammar section will compete in the three-part song contest, and tonight Westfield will be represented in the boys' and high school sections. The fine showing that the local pupils have made is mainly due to the able and untiring efforts of our musical supervisor, Miss Mabel E. Bray.

Tuttle, Jr.; Speakers, Lloyd Thompson; Table arrangement and Printing, George T. Crutenden, W. E. Tuttle, Jr., W. B. Toney and Lloyd Thompson.

Columbia University Concert.

Last Friday night the Glee and Mandolin Clubs, of Columbia University, gave a joint concert in the Congregational Church. The church was filled with enthusiastic hearers. None were disappointed, for, not often does Westfield enjoy such a snappy and pleasant musical evening. Below is the program:

Part One—A Toast to Columbia, Glee and Mandolin Club; La Spagnola, Mandolin Club; The Mulligan Musketeers, Glee Club; The Ghost's Patrol, Mandolin Club; Tenor Solo—Thine Only, D. J. Ballwinkel; Bill of Fare, Glee Club. Part Two—Midnight Sams—Medley, Mandolin Club; The Turtle and the Clam, Glee Club; A Dream, Mandolin Quartette; Baritone Solo—For This, Walter Avery; The Goblin, Glee Club Quartette; Sans Souci, Glee Club. The tenor solo of Ballwinkel and the baritone solo by Mr. Avery are especially to be commended. The beautiful Columbia song, "Sans Souci," was greatly appreciated. Both Glee and Mandolin Clubs fairly surpassed themselves and Westfield hopes to welcome them again. Mr. and Mrs. Randell Stern gave a reception and dance to the Columbia students and a few friends after the concert.

Mrs. Redpath to Give Health Talk.

On Tuesday, at 8:30 o'clock, Mrs. J. W. Redpath, of New York, will give an illustrated health talk to women, in the parlors of the Methodist Episcopal Church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. All Westfield women are cordially invited to be present and hear an instructive talk on a subject of vital importance to all. Admission will be free.

CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY.

First Presbyterian Church a Log Cabin 180 Years Ago.

This year the Presbyterians of Westfield and the surrounding towns will observe, in a fitting manner, the 180th anniversary of the historic First Presbyterian Church in Westfield.

In 1790 the first services were held in a log cabin which stood near the house where Joseph E. Brower now resides. Within a short time a frame building was erected near the present site of the church. The bell was hung in an adjoining apple tree. In 1758 the church was enlarged and a belfry was put up. During the Revolutionary war the British raided the church and took the bell to Staten Island.

Morgan, the murderer of the celebrated fighting parson, the Rev. Mr. Caldwell, of Elizabeth, was tried and convicted in this building. He was hanged on Gallows Hill. In 1892 a new building was built in front of the present site. In 1882 the present handsome and commodious church was erected.

Here is a list of the ministers: Rev. Nathaniel Hubbel, 1790-1749; Rev. John Grant, 1750-1753; Rev. Benj. Woodruff, 1750-1803; Rev. Thos. Pictou, 1803-1818; Rev. Alex. Frazer, 1819-1829; Rev. Edwin Holt, 1827-1829; Rev. Seth Williston, 1830-1831; Rev. Jas. Huntington, 1832-1849; Rev. E. B. Edgar, 1850-1873; Rev. Alex. McKelvey, 1873-1876; Rev. Wm. H. Still, 1878-1882; Rev. N. W. Cadwell, 1882-1902; Rev. W. Irvin Stearns, 1903.

Mrs. Jas. T. Pierson, gave pictures of all these pastors, excepting the first four. They hang in the present parish house. The church would be very grateful to any persons who may discover pictures of the remaining four pastors.

Recently the church has established a trust fund to preserve the historic old burying ground. Many of the headstones are 150 years old. The ancestors of many families in and about Westfield are buried here. Many brave Revolutionary and Civil War veterans sleep beneath the sod of this historic cemetery.

Meeting of R. A. Grand Council.

The Grand Council of the Royal Arcanum will hold its twenty-eighth annual session at Lakewood, May 2 and 3. T. S. Class, of Westfield, the present Grand Regent of this jurisdiction has been suggested for another term. Mr. Class has done such efficient work that this proposition has been endorsed at the numerous county meetings held throughout New Jersey. Throughout the entire State the Royal Arcanum has taken long strides during the past year. Union county has made a particularly good showing, due largely to the hard work of Mr. Class.

Cantata at Congregational Church.

At a special service held in the Congregational Church last Sunday afternoon, the fine cantata, "The Seven Last Words from the Cross," by DuBois was sung. Miss Beaumont, soprano; Mr. Clarence M. Smock, of New York, tenor; Mr. A. M. Best, baritone; were the soloists. The chorus consisted of twenty-five Westfield persons and is the first appearance of the new Choral Club. To Mr. Best great credit should be given for the excellent rendering of this great sacred cantata. The church hopes to give Elgar's, "The Light of Life," some time this summer.

COUNCIL EXPECTS TELEPHONE CO. TO CARE FOR FIRE ALARM WIRES.

Library Appropriation is Increased at Adjourned Meeting Monday.

The Town Council met in the town hall last Monday night. There was a difference of opinion between the Council and the telephone company concerning the removal of the telephone poles along North avenue. The telephone company said it was unable to obey the order of the Council to remove said poles because the fire alarm wires were attached to them and asked the Council to remove the alarm wires to the poles of the Public Service Corporation across the street. Then the company would remove the poles or turn same over to the town for the use of the fire alarm wires. The Council believes that the telephone franchise requires the company to remove its poles, and also to place the fire alarm wires in the underground conduits. The Fire Committee was requested to investigate this matter.

Owing to the absence of Councilman Davis, who was to make a report upon proposals received for the work, action upon the contract to place tarriva upon the streets was deferred.

The tax ordinance for 1910 was amended, and the appropriation for the free library was increased to $2,400.

The resignation of William H. Conway as a member of the fire department was received and accepted.

Upon final reading the ordinance to sprinkle Harrison avenue between Broad street and Kimball avenue with tarriva was passed.

The Council by resolution appointed the Park Commissioners as Shade Tree Commissioners, thus taking advantage of the new law permitting such action. By this action, the care and protection of the shade trees is now entirely in the hands of the Park Commission.

C. E. Kimball and W. Sissonson requested a sidewalk grade in Rahway avenue. The matter was left with the Engineer and Sidewalk Committee with power to act. Property owners of North street petitioned for sidewalks and curbing. This was referred to the Sidewalk Committee. W. H. Howarth requested a pipe to complete the improvement of brook property at 202 Mountain avenue. This was referred to the Road Committee.

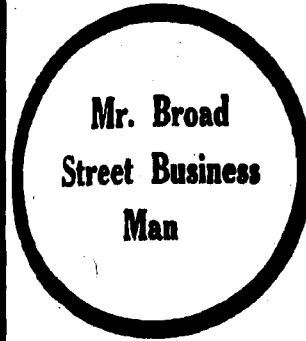

Census Contest Closes Monday.

The census contest of THE STANDARD as to the population of Westfield in 1910, according to the Federal Census, now being taken, has naturally created a large amount of interest. Over 500 guesses were received. Our town is wide-awake and growing every week. No doubt many who have not kept close tab on real estate developments will be surprised at our growth. The prizes will be awarded as soon as the federal returns are received. No guesses will be received after Monday, May 2, as the contest closes with this issue.

Burglars in Westfield.

Burglars entered the home of R. L. Smitley, corner Euclid and Lenox avenues, Sunday night. The house was closed as the family are in California, at present. Early Monday morning, Mr. Dickson, the milkman, found an open door and window. Dickson reported his find to Mr. Walter J. Lee, who notified the police. Closets and drawers were ransacked, but nothing was stolen as all the family's valuables are in storage.

Other Folks' Joy.

We should be childish creatures if we could have no joy in our fellow mortals' joy, unless it were in agreement with our theory of righteous distribution and our highest ideal of human good; what our corners our mouth would get—our eyes, what frozen glances! and all the while our possessions and desires would not exactly adjust themselves to our ideal.—George Elliot.

Correcting an Error.

It was a minister's small son, whose habit was to ask God to bless each member of the family after his prayer. Having been put to bed one night in a hurry, he forgot one of them. Kneeling again with hands clasped and eyes closed, he addressed the Lord, thus: "Oh, Lord, wouldn't that kill you? I forgot grandma! God bless grandma. Amen."—Delineator.

No Book Hunters Now.

A well-known provincial member of that very honorable trade of second-hand book-selling said recently: "The hunt after rare books is as keen as ever, but I chiefly miss the young men who would mark down a book in my street-stall and would save up to buy it. There is plenty of book-buying, but there is no longer any book-hunting."—Hearth and Home.

Blame Apprenticeship System.

Lack of a proper apprenticeship system for training boys 14 to 20 years of age in the different trades is widely believed in England to be responsible in a large degree for the "casual labor," lack of employment and poverty of thousands of men now afflicting the united kingdom.

The Ideal Meal.

The ideal meal consists of bread, butter, and cheese, according to Dr. J. E. Squire, who delivered a lecture to the British National Health society. "These foods," he said, "contain all the elements necessary for the proper working of the body, and thus form a complete meal."

A Formula.

Right ideas, backed by persistence and promulgated at psychological moments, will gain a foothold and become a great force for good, no matter how determined may be the opposition.—Detroit News.

Woman's Club Elects Officers.

On Monday afternoon the Woman's Club of Westfield, met in the parish house of the Presbyterian Church and elected the following officers: President, Mrs. J. T. Tubby, Jr.; first vice-president, (Mr. F. V. Sunborn; second vice-president, Mrs. J. B. Harrison; recording secretary, Mrs. Fred P. Phillips; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. S. Roberts; treasurer, Mrs. Paul I. Oliver. The club is in excellent financial condition, having $200 in the treasury. New books to the value of $50 were placed in the club alcove of the public library. It was decided to call off all meetings until October. A tea followed the meeting.

Concert in Presbyterian Church.

Last Friday evening the Grand Concert Quartette, of New York, appeared at the Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of the Men's Club. The large seating capacity of the church was taxed to its utmost to accommodate those present, both lower floors and gallery being entirely filled. Every member of the Grand Concert Quartette is an artist of high rank and their efforts were justly applauded by the appreciative audience.

Miss Benedict, the contralto, sang Liszt's "Die Lorelei," with sweetness and grace not often approached. Mr. Martin's rich bass voice brought forth great applause. Miss Hudson, the soprano, aroused great enthusiasm; the old favorite, "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," being particularly appreciated. Mr. Wells made a hit with his tenor solo, "To La Costa." The main feature of the first part was the beautiful duet, "Barcarole," sung by Miss Hudson and Miss Benedict. The skillful work of the accompanist, Miss Wolverton, aided the singers and gave increased pleasure to the audience. The concert ended with the singing of "The Persian Garden." Below is the program:

Quartet from "Rigoletto": Tenor Solos, (a) "Love Me or Not," (b) "Boat Song," (c) "To La Costa," Mr. John Barnes Wells; "Die Lorelei," Miss Pearl Benedict; Duet (Soprano and Contralto) "Barcarole," Miss Solo, "The Horn," Mr. Fredric Martin; Soprano Solos, (a) "The Wood Pigeon," (b) "Flow Gently Sweet Afton," (c) "Spring," Miss Caroline Hudson; "The Persian Garden."

This concert is the last in the series of entertainments provided by the Men's Club of the Presbyterian Church. Westfield appreciates the efforts of the club to provide such high class entertainment and rejoices in its success.

Plainfield Theatre.

"Three Twins" again comes to Plainfield Theatre, Saturday afternoon and night, April 30, 1910, when doubtless the legion of followers of that most popular of all musical comedies will wear the smile that will not be eradicated, for of a surety no jollier, snappier, or more rib-tickling comedy has visited the classic precincts of this village for many a day. Jos. M. Gates has succeeded in evolving a musical comedy with a real plot, and there is just enough love interest in "Three Twins" to keep the folks who lean towards the sentimental side of life in a delightfully preoccupied condition. Song hits galore are found in "Three Twins," with startling situations throughout. A chorus who are never idle are found in "Three Twins," and it is in a class, so far as musical comedy is concerned, above all others.

"Bird Mimic" at High School.

Last Monday evening, Mr. Edward Avis, widely known as the "bird mimic," gave his entertainment, "An Evening in Birdland," in the chapel of the Washington School. In spite of the heavy downpour of rain about 200 were present and enjoyed an hour of rare entertainment. The program was illustrated with nearly 100 colored stereoscopic views. Mr. Avis is known as America's premier bird mimic. He reproduces rather than imitates the songs of our native birds. The songs of the robin, meadow lark, thrushes, vireos and chickadees were especially accurate, but the best of all was the fine chromatic love song of the sparrow. Mr. Avis reduces the calls of wild birds to printed notes, shown upon a screen. A delightful number was the imitation of an old, country church organ, playing "Nearer, My God to Thee," given by Mr. Avis on the violin; at the same time whistling the song of the wood Pewee, as heard outside the church. Mr. Avis appears before such audiences as the Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences and the Washington, D. C., Audubon Society. The alumni association of the High School deserves great praise for providing Westfield with such a delightful evening's entertainment. At the conclusion the audience showed its appreciation by extending a vote of thanks to the alumni association.

High School Alumni Meeting.

The alumni of the Westfield High School will meet in the chapel of the Washington School on May 30 at 8 p. m. The business meeting will be followed by a dance. Tickets admitting lady and gentleman, 75 cents; gentleman, 50 cents.

The Combination Plan is Economy of Effort.

Ask any housewife who trades at the Windfeldt store what, in her opinion, is the best feature of the Combination Plan and she will answer:

"The Combination Plan saves work and worry. I wouldn't trade at any other store than Windfeldt's because I can get what I want when I want it at the one place. This means that my meats, groceries and vegetables are sent at the same time, under one order; and at the end of the month, when I get my bill, it is all itemized as I have bought goods each day, and I do not have to bother with bills from the butcher, the grocer, the baker, the vegetable man. I get all my household necessities at the Windfeldt store, and I get one bill covering the same."

If a non-customer will take the trouble to ask any of our regular customers about our method, we are confident that she will get an answer that will encourage her to trade with us. We have a system that reduces the cost of labor for us, and saves the housewife the extra work of dealing with three or four different concerns and looking over several bills each month. Furthermore, because we have minimized our running expenses we are able to SELL GOODS MORE CHEAPLY.

We have heard reports from time to time that we could not long stand the pace. Some have said that we were selling goods at too low a figure; others that we were trying to do too much. These arguments are easily answered thus: We have stood the pace and our business is increasing every year.

The reason for our low prices and our growth is that we have not increased our burdens, but lessened them by the adoption of a system in which departments are coordinated. We carry a large stock of goods, with the fewest possible clerks and helpers consistent with efficient service. Our delivery wagons do the work of every department—they stand waiting at the door to serve you for any meal in the day, at any hour of the business day. Our book-keeping is simple, but accurate. We use the celebrated McCaskey System, by which every thing you purchase is itemized, and at the end of the month you are supplied with a complete list of just what you purchased and when you purchased it.

To our regular customers who understand our methods, the fact that we are able to do so much for the people of Westfield is no surprise. They know that our cooperative plan is for their benefit as well as for ours, that we are not seeking to make a maximum but a FAIR profit and give our customers the advantages of the system that BUYS THE BEST AND SELLS THE BEST CHEAPLY, THAT DEALS IN EVERY HOUSEHOLD NECESSITY AND THEREBY OFFERS TO THE HOUSEWIFE THE OPPORTUNITY TO BUY EVERY THING AT THE ONE STORE.

OUR NEW DEPARTMENT.

We have just added another department at the request of customers. We now keep BUTTER-MILK, SWEET BUTTER, and POT CHEESE, FRESH EVERY DAY. Our first supply was not large enough to meet the demand, and we doubled it the second day.

The Kicker.

Every community has its coterie of Kickers, and because they kick persistently, and, often, courageously society invariably holds them up to ridicule. There are those who kick against high taxation, those who kick against high prices, those who kick against the expenses incidental to public enterprises, and those who kick on general principles.

And, whether Society is partial to his methods or no, the Kicker is a factor in social progress. The intelligent Kicker accomplishes things which are for the public good. Take for example that celebrated Kicker, Mr. Citizen Fixit. There seems to be nothing attempted in the way of civic improvement that quite suits his fancy. His fellow townsmen laugh at him, and call him a harmless eccentric. He is always on hand at a public occasion to take part in the debate. He usually manages to interfere in some particular with the fixed program of business; but he succeeds by his sledge hammer methods in hitting the weak spots so hard that they need to be removed or repaired.

So, too, that citizen who rebels against the insolence of street car conductors or the carelessness of an express company, kicks to a purpose. He does not bite his lips and swear to himself—he gets directly down to business. He writes a letter to the company; receiving no reply he calls on the manager, who refers him to some other official, who in turn refers him to the "man higher up." Get discouraged? Your Chronic Kicker get discouraged? Never! It may take him a month, six months, a year, but he finally is allowed an interview with the illusive Mr. Man-Higher-Up. If that interview is not satisfactory, Mr. Kicker will persist until the company yields to his demands rather than have its officials "bored to death."

It usually follows that the Kicker is sincere. He does not kick for the want of something better to do, but because he wants to right a wrong. We know of one man who spent $10 collecting an over-charge of fifty cents; of another who went through a year's litigation and stood all the expense to compel the enforcement of the sanitary code; of still another who had himself appointed a special officer in order that he might assist in the arrest and conviction of automobilists who violated the speed law. There are great kickers in history. Martin Luther was a kicker. Calvin and Knox were kickers; Oliver Cromwell was a kicker. Thomas Carlyle is the greatest kicker in literature.

And, so, the Kicker goes through life, always a-kicking, and usually at something tangible and definite. He is popular no where under the sun, and his neighbors detest him because he insists upon keeping their children off of his front lawn, and doing other even more "pointed things." He is, in the opinion of those who know him by reputation, a hard master; but the fear is that he is often misunderstood. Perhaps

What Mr. Cleveland Said About

Life Insurance

"When I was a young man I took out two Policies for my mother. One was for $2500 and the other for $5000. I have held on to them all these years, and am still paying premiums on them. This is the thing for everybody with somebody dependent on him. Get a Policy and then hold on to it. It means self-respect; it means that nobody will have to put something in a hat for you or your dependent ones if you should be snatched away from them. Nobody who liked you living will be called on to do anything for you or yours with ill-grace and a grudging heart."

We'll Try, But It Seems Hopeless.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Being a new comer to your pretty little town of Westfield, I have personally done a little shopping about town, getting a line on various merchants and their goods, my idea being to select an up-to-date grocer, butcher, baker, etc., with whom I could safely place what small orders I might have from week to week. A few days ago I happened in a well stocked grocery store and, among other articles, purchased a certain standard grade of condensed milk. Every article I purchased gave entire satisfaction, but still I wished to make the circuit and try other merchants. Yesterday I stopped in another grocery store, apparently well stocked, but absolutely free of customers. I made a few small purchases including another can of condensed milk, same make, same size. I noticed the grocer charged four cents more than did the other store and I called his attention to the fact. What do you think of this for a reply? "Well, you see the other grocer advertises and does a big business, he can afford to sell cheaper than I can."

I promptly told the merchant that it was a clear case of dollars and cents with me and that I should patronize the other fellow, the fellow who charged four cents per can less for exactly the same goods. I further suggested that it might be a good idea for him to try a little advertising himself if he felt sure his competitor was enabled to undersell him "because he advertised and did such a large business."

Now that I have my groceryman located I will go the rounds of the butchers until I find one who gives full weight, good meats at fair prices.

If you want the address of the grocer who don't advertise, does a small business and charges exorbitant prices for the little business he does do, I will gladly furnish same. Your advertising man might put a little life into his make-up.

Yours truly,

H. H. FOSDICK,

DEAR SIR—A tree expert from the Dovey Tree Expert Company will visit Westfield on May 3rd, to examine some trees in which I am interested, and he will be glad, at the same time, to look at the trees of any other persons in Westfield who are interested in having expert advice as to their care and treatment, particularly in the way of tree surgery, which may require expert treatment to save the life of valuable or old trees.

If any of your readers are interested in having this man examine some of their trees, and will send me their names, I shall be glad to see that he calls when he is in Westfield.

—The annual rally of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union will be held in the Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening May 1st.

—The Westfield Royal Stars, a colored baseball club, has been organized; and its books are now opened for all middle weight teams. Engagements can be made through the manager Milton Robinson.

—There will be a meeting of the voters of the Fourth Ward to discuss the proposition of a new school house as proposed by the Board of Education, at the McKinley School, on Saturday evening, April 30, 1910. This is a pressing and important matter and all the voters of this ward are urged to attend.

—About 100 voters of and near the Second Ward met Wednesday night at the home of Mr. Arthur N. Pierson to discuss the proposed new school building. Mr. E. S. Randolph, the real estate man, presided. Nearly all present were in favor of erecting a school building on Broad Street, near Chestnut.

—The Senior Class spread of the local High School was held Wednesday night in the Modern Shop store, corner of North Avenue and Prospect Street. Refreshments were served and the class had the usual good time. According to the Juniors, only a stalwart cop, glass windows and outside help, prevented them from demolishing the senior spread.

OBITUARY.

John H. Roy, Jr.

The funeral services of the late John H. Roy, Jr., who died Sunday night, were held Wednesday morning. Rev. Father Byer said solemn high mass in Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church. The choir of St. Mary's Church, Plainfield, sang. He was 15 years of age and had been sick for two years. His father, John H. Roy, Sr., of North Broad Street, is connected with the Roy Press, New York. The deceased was graduated from a Brooklyn grammar school, where the family formerly lived. The father and family came here two years ago, hoping that the pure air of Westfield would benefit the sick boy. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Fairview cemetery was the place of interment.

Lay Hold of the Common Good.

If men hate the presumption of those who claim a reputation to which they have no right, they equally condemn the faint-heartedness of those who fall below the glory which is their own. Lose, then, the sense of your private sorrows and lay hold of the common good!—Demosthenes.

Lives There the Man?

Lives there the man with soul so dead as to disown the wish to merit the people's applause, and having uttered words worthy to be kept by cedar oil to latest times, to leave behind him rhymes that dread neither berrings nor frankincense.—Pershing.

Hard Task for Government.

Gin is still used as a medium of exchange in some parts of the Niger country in Africa, but the government discourages it. Owing to the extreme conservatism in these districts the task is difficult.

English in Switzerland.

A Zurich newspaper published the following advertisement in English: "Residing board house among a charming set of mountains. Very becoming for families or singular individuals. Shadowed glades and amiable places for resting for guests of the cure. All facilities for mountaineering expeditions. Excellent kitchen, with lager beer running from the tap."

Absent-Minded Alderman.

A Lynn (Mass.) alderman at a recent aldermanic meeting inquired what had become of an order he had introduced some time before calling for an arc light on Willow street. The city clerk, after digging into his files, informed him that the order had come before the board nearly a month previous and that he had voted against it.

Do You Gamble?

Some people put the savings of years into a home and then rely on their luck to avoid the thousand and one chances of fire. Do you?

Other people invest their entire assets in a store or a factory, and then wholly or in part insure themselves, thinking that they can carry the risk as well as the insurance company. Do you?

The average man has most of his property in one place. To carry his own insurance is to depend upon chance, i. e., to gamble, with ruin as the penalty for losing. The business of the insurance company is founded on the law of averages. It can be safely conducted, but only when its stability is based on the experience of tens of thousands of risks widely distributed over a continental area.

The Hartford fire Insurance Company offers unsurpassed indemnity. Its business is distributed among more than ten thousand cities, towns, and villages throughout the United States and Canada. During 99 years it has paid every just claim—more than $125,000,000 in all. Its policies are safeguarded by ample resources and an honorable record.

Westfield, N. J., April 29, 1910.

My Dear Harmon,

It seems needless to send out letters to our friends "The Public" of Westfield, announcing the fact that we are located at number 17 Elm street in the Elmwood Apartment Building, and will continue to handle a general Real Estate, Construction and Insurance Business, with our complete shop located at 217 North avenue.

We have made several sales and rentals since locating in our new office. If you listed a farm with us on Wednesday and we sold it by the following Tuesday you would consider it good business, would you not?

How about having a furnished house listed in the morning and rented in the afternoon of the same day.

We are doing very well but want to emphasize the fact that people must list early if they care to have results.

Of course it is needless to state that we are welcoming prospective clients and will handle their business as expeditiously as possible.

Wishing you a successful season, I am

Yours truly,

FORT OUT OF RACE.

Governor Declares He Will Not Be a Candidate for U. S. Senator to Succeed Kean.

BUT STOKES WILL STUMP STATE.

Baird and Murphy Also Looking for Honor—Silzer's Gubernatorial Boom Started—Other News of Interest.

THREXTON, April 27.—An important announcement has been made by Governor Fort to the effect that he is not and will not be a candidate for election as United States Senator to succeed Senator John Kean, whose term expires this year. Governor Fort says that he will not be a candidate for the place if he has anything to say about the matter and it is his opinion that he should have some little say.

This announcement by Governor Fort is made particularly interesting because of the fact that positions are being circulated throughout the State and will be filed with Secretary of State Dickinson placing former Governor Edward Casper Stokes before the people of the State as a candidate for the place. It is the intention of Governor Stokes to stump the State from one end to the other in an effort to become the Republican choice for the senatorial top.

There are other candidates but it is not known just what action they will take in furthering their candidacy. David Baird, the leader of South Jersey, former Governor Franklin Murphy, of Essex County, and former Governor John W. Griggs, are among others who are more or less interested. It is not likely, however, that any of these candidates will submit their claims to the people at large.

Events are also happening in the Democratic ranks. With State Chairman James R. Nugent pleading for harmony in the party ranks, State Senator George Silzer, of Middlesex County, an avowed candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is going about the State making bitter speeches against boss rule. Senator Silzer will be supported in his candidacy by Senator Osborne, of Essex County, Senator Gehlert of Hunterdon County and other progressives.

To date there has been no action taken looking toward an investigation into the alleged orgies of the last few hours of the legislative session. Governor Fort put it up to Speaker Ward of the House and Speaker Ward in return has written the Governor a letter flatly refusing to follow the advice of the Chief Executive to appoint a committee of assemblymen to conduct a voluntary investigation into the disorderly scenes. Speaker Ward makes his stand on the declaration of the Governor that neither the latter nor the speaker has any authority to probe the scandal without explicit action by the Legislature. The speaker declined absolutely to institute an investigation that has not full authority in law. On the other hand he urges the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature to deal with the scandal if he (the Governor) knows of any acts of disorder which occurred on the floor of the Assembly or in the committee rooms nearby which reflects discredit upon members of the House and upon the State.

Ladies' World.

The May number of the Ladies' World not only keeps up its excellent reputation, but is, we think, the best issue of the publication that has yet appeared. There are two contributions that stand out above the others: One, the impressions made by Slezak, the famous Bohemian tenor, after a seven months' stay in America; and the other, the visit of Frances Starr to the historic town of Stratford on Avon. Both are written in a style delightfully captivating and are decided additions to the month's literature. The fiction also is remarkably good, the chief writers being Winifred Kirkland, Grace MacGowan Cooke, Mary Heaton Vorse, Anna Story Allen, Edgar White and Eva Dyan, who show some of their most interesting work. Dr. Margaree A. Cleaves continues her series on the Prevention of Disease, and Laura A. Smith tells women a great deal about Government positions, what they consist of, and how they are to be obtained. The household department is full of practical information that will be generally helpful at this season, and there are besides several pages of fashion and dressmaking, the usual articles on up-to-date needlework, health, good looks, the children, etiquette, etc. On the whole, a great deal of entertainment for a very moderate sum.—[New York: Fifty Cents a Year.]

What's in McClure's.

Under the title of "The New American City Government" George Kibbo Turner tells in the May McClure's of the rapid spread of the commission form of government; Burton J. Hendricks has an article on "The Skulls of Our Immigrants," which upsets the belief so long held by scientists that the skull was the one thing that could not change; W. A. Du Puy and E. T. Brewster show what the rat has cost us in lives and money, and M. Paoli gives his reminiscences of the Czar of Russia. Foremost in the fiction is an unusual detective story, "The Anthropologist at Large," by Dr. R. A. Freeman, editor of the London Lancet. Other stories are "The Glamour," by Oscar Graevé; "The Blue Pearl," by Neith Boyce; "The Nineteenth Hat," by Arnold Bennett; "The Point of View," another war story by "Ole Luk-Ole;" and "The Education of King Peter," by Edgar Wallace.

A New Venture in Architecture for Westfield.

A few weeks ago in these columns we called attention to the improvements in architecture in Westfield showing the improvement in Elm street, the new Pierson apartment, the proposed F. H. Schaefer Co. store and a plea for a change in the architecture of the dwellings and now Walter J. Lee, our enterprising real estate agent of the Flat Iron Building, offers something new in the house line for sale. In our advertising columns he tells us of a new home being erected in the Terrace Park section and invites the public to watch it carefully in its course of construction. The house, a half-timbered English, is a new style to this town—although not new to its builder, LeRoy E. Warren, of Princeton—he having built some twenty-five of the same character in Princeton, all of which he has sold to several professors of that famous college town and to several prominent New Yorkers who are now making their homes there. Mr. Warren's reputation as a builder is of the best and the same carefulness in his work that has made him successful will be exemplified in this house, and will add to this already pretty portion of the town, a model and unique home.

Embree Citizens Work on Road.

Embree Crescent property owners have become thoroughly disgusted with the condition of that thoroughfare. The sewer contractor left the street in an almost impassable condition. One day last week Frank W. Edwards and his two sons, Ray and Harold, with a neighbor, Mr. Tavenor, loaded up wheelbarrows with picks, shovels and rakes and started out to make repairs on the roadways. They started at the corner where Embree Crescent leaves Clark street and continued on up to Brightwood avenue picking off the mounds of rock and dirt and filling in the low places. They made quite a presentable showing in their roadbuilding. It now remains to be seen whether or not they will present a bill at the next Council meeting for the work they did on the roads. It is rumored that such a bill is to be presented.

Needs of Outside Interests.

"Only the woman with useful interests outside her daily routine of homey duties in her home can escape the pitfalls for the devoted wife and mother," says Isabel Wilder in Woman's Home Companion for May. "The woman who lives only in the lives of her husband and children, and sees the world only in the relation it bears to them, is the woman to whom in some form her children and husband must sacrifice themselves. If during the years her children need her constant care she finds in that her sole reason for being, in the years to follow, when they need her care no longer, she will find she has not the wisdom of a wide experience and the serene quality of companionship that happy self expression alone can give, and which would make her both needed and wanted in their later lives. The dependant woman has always that quality of fear that makes the jealous and exacting wife and mother who sees in every new relationship of husband or child a menace to her place in their lives and affections. "The independent woman is the woman who lives by means of her own resources of 'mind, body and estate,' who finds through well-trained powers, always at her command for service to her family or society, a serenity and poise which make her fit for the highest and sweetest companionships and the most ideal home and social life. If these are denied her a place will always be found waiting for her where useful service with wisdom and calm capability is needed."

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness It Would Bring to Westfield Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back. Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

"I would save much needless woe. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Many residents of this vicinity endorse them."

Mrs. C. Rosseter, 127 Watchung Ave., Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I suffered from a severe backache and occasional attacks of rheumatism. Being told that Doan's Kidney Pills were very effective in cases of this nature and believing that my trouble arose from disordered kidneys, I procured a box. Their use soon brought relief and since then I have always kept a supply in the house. Whenever I feel out of sorts, I take a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills and am soon feeling well. This remedy has my highest endorsement."

Wood Favored for Violins.
"On my last trip through country towns," said a traveling man, "I met a drummer who had a queer side line. He was buying up old church organs and was shipping the wood back to a violin manufacturer in New York. He said that the maker of violins thought that wood that had done service in one of those little cabinet organs was the best he could find for the average fiddle and he paid that drummer a small commission on every wornout organ he could pick up."

Pretty Nearly Correct.

Andrew Pellisari, who said he lived somewhere in Mulberry street, was arraigned in the New York children's court charged with playing ball on the street. "Don't you know it's 'Yes, sir,'" sobbed Andrew. "Don't you know that you are likely to hurt somebody? The streets don't belong to you. Now tell me, son, to whom do the streets belong?" "De automobiles," answered the culprit. "Discharged," said the judge.

The Feast of Dolls.

The feast of the dolls is the quaintest of all the little Japanese girls' festivals. In the storehouse, where are kept all the family treasures, there are boxes filled with dolls which have come down from the grandmothers and great-grandmothers. Each new bride brings her dolls when she comes to her father-in-law's house, and she keeps the feast each year till her eldest daughter is old enough to take it up.—London Daily News.

Gold Sweats.

Gold in transit by sea "sweats," however tightly it may be packed. It is usually sent in stout kegs, and squeezed in as tightly as possible; but there is a regular allowance for loss by attrition upon the voyage, and in the course of years this loss to the commercial world amounts to a large sum.

Passive Virtue Not Enough.

Beware of making your moral staple consist of the negative virtues. It is good to abstain from all that is hurtful and sinful. But to make a business of it leads to emaciation of character, unless one feeds largely also on the more nutritious diet of active sympathetic benevolence.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Feminine Lack of Logic.

Tell a wife that men are selfish, she will readily acquiesce. But tell that same woman that by spoiling her boys—whether in the nursery or at school, or university—she is sowing the seeds of egotism, she will give an emphatic denial.—Exchange.

Historic Dagger Sold.

The dagger presented to Lord Darnley by Mary Queen of Scots in the year they were married, and believed to be the one with which Rizzio was killed, was sold at Sotheby's, London, recently, for $50.

The Real Need.

A French army officer has invented eye-glasses which enable the wearer to see behind him. What most people need is a device which will enable them to see a foot or two in advance of their noses.

Less Cotton Grown in India.

Decrease in the area devoted in India to cotton culture is shown by the fact that there are 17,323,000 acres under cotton, as compared with 17,710,000 acres a year ago and 19,732,000 acres the year before that.

The Kicker's Value.

The kicker is a factor in every live community. If the kicker keeps his head, uses tact and does not turn crank he is the best friend of progress. Long live the reasonable kicker!

A Needed Improvement.

A woman wants a divorce because her husband made her walk to meals. Those dirigible balloons now advertised here are not coming any too soon.—N. Y. Herald.

Make Persuasion Do Work of Fear.

Yet hold it more humane, more heartily, first, by winning words to conquer willing hearts, and make persuasion do the work of fear.—John Milton.

Dream Superstition.

To dream you hear horses neigh, augurs that you will have new and powerful friends, who will do you much service.

Original Night Rider.

The Omaha Bee says that Paul Revere was the founder of the rough riders. He was also the original night rider, wasn't he?

Climatic Peculiarity.

New York, despite its more rigorous climate, is 900 miles nearer the equator than is the British capital.

Form of Love-Making Barred.

Love-making on postal cards is in violation of the postal regulations of Russia.

Improved Hedge Trimmer.

A hedge trimmer, operated on the principle of a barber's clippers, has been patented by a resident of Oregon.

Invention of Arabians.

Gunpowder was invented by the Arabians about 700.

All's Well That Ends Well.

Happy are the miseries that end in joy.—German Proverb.

EMMIE LOU'S MUSKETEER

By PHIL SIMMS

Emmie Lou was all right until the Fenton stock company came to the opera house. After that a certain coldness sprang up between her and Alpheus Rogers, and it was even said the engagement had been broken off. Alpheus never had been accused of being handsome. Also he had bunnions and big feet, and clerked in a hardware store.

Lonsdale von Ruville was a different sort of a person. His feet were small and bunions, while his eyes seemed made for love glances and flashing defiance at those who would oppose him. He was leading man with the Fenton Stock.

Emmie Lou was entranced. Every day she watched him. How he could fight. How bravely he met all comers with his slender sword, and how easily he vanquished them all!

One day Bettie Scraggins remarked in Emmie Lou's presence that she had heard it said play-actors were very deceiving. But Emmie Lou merely smiled.

But with the Fenton Stock was one woman who agreed with Bettie, and she a little timid creature who played "A Villager," or "First Voice," was in private life none other than Mrs. Lonsdale von Ruville, or, to be more exact, Mrs. Ebenezer Rumph, which was the leading man's other name.

She knew what it was to go days without a kind word; what it meant to feel the weight of his fist upon her; what it meant to be ignored, sneered at, forsaken.

Miss Janet Rannie, leading woman, pretty and blonde, was the wife of the heavy, Thomas Ragsdale, most popular man in the cast, and whose name off the stage was Dennis O'Hagan.

Lonsdale was sweet as pie on Miss Rannie and made no bones of it. Miss Rannie laughed at him. Thomas looked on but said nothing, trusting implicitly in his pretty wife.

It was the last week of the engagement, and D'Artagnan was being given the bravest interpretation he'd ever enjoyed. Lonsdale was his handsomest and the women in front were calling him all the dear names in the category. Emmie Lou had shaken hands with him the day before at the after-matinee reception on the stage, and out in front was now in momentary danger of taking wings and flying right into the air in sheer happiness.

The applause was deafening when the curtain went down. In a darkened corner of the stage Lonsdale met Miss Rannie. He caught her by the wrist.

"You've played with me long enough," he whispered hotly into her ear. "You don't care for that chump husband of yours? You—"

"Brute!" Miss Rannie cried, and tore herself from his embrace as the stage manager came up.

The great duel scene was drawing nigh. The audience was holding its breath in anticipation. How D'Artagnan would face them and slay them one by one!

When, just before he took his cue, the stage manager whispered something into Ragsdale's ear, he became livid, then purple.

With a bewitching smile Lonsdale crossed swords with the heavy. The first stroke and parry sent a thrill through the audience and likewise through Dennis O'Hagan, for the "heavy" was not the actor, Thomas Ragsdale, any more.

"You puppy!" he cried, loud enough to be heard in the street, "you would insult my wife, would you, you whelp!"

And with that he grabbed Lonsdale von Ruville by the nape of the neck and with the flat side of his sword figuratively cased the leading man into a frizzle.

"Take 'em off! Take 'em off!" bawled Von Ruville in terror, dropping his sword. "He's killing me!"

He fell to his knees in abject fear, and O'Hagan's musketeer boots started a tattoo on his back that lasted as far as the stage door. Then the curtain fell, with the audience roaring.

Just as matters had been adjusted back of the footlights, so had they out in front. Everybody came to set things in their right light.

Detective's Queer Error.

An incident which proved humiliating to a Russian detective occurred in one of the principal squares of Copenhagen. A distinguished looking foreigner went up to a policeman, and pointing to a man who was crossing the square, said: "Kindly arrest that man. I am a Russian detective, and I have tracked him from St. Petersburg. He is a murderer, and I have a warrant for his arrest in my pocket." The policeman took both men to the police station, despite the protests of the second man.

There it was ascertained that he, too, was a Russian detective who was in Copenhagen for the purpose of watching over the safety of Empress Marie. Before catching his colleague the first detective, who had been thrown on the wrong track in an unexplained fashion, had traced him from Helmsfors to Stockholm and thence to Denmark.

An Utter Failure.

"That man couldn't make a success of anything."
"What makes you say that?"
"Why, he actually made a failure of a butcher shop."

That every cloud has a silver lining is a comforting belief based largely on faith.

The "Cubs" to Start Off Strong.

On April 30th, Manager Macdonald will take his "Cubs" to Maplewood, N. J. to play the Maplewood Field Club and on the following Saturday, May 7, they will meet the Corn Exchange Bank team, of New York, in Westfield at Recreation Park. George Young, of this town, is captain of this fast aggregation of ball-players and he is determined to decisively defeat Manager Macdonald's "Cubs." Last Saturday they defeated the Greenpoint N. Y. C. A. of Brooklyn, by a large score and Captain Young says his ball players will surely win when they visit our peaceful little hamlet.

The "Cubs" lineup for tomorrow will be as follows: Johnson 1b., Dallas 2b., Wilson s. s., Young 3b., Hunt l. c., Maxwell c. l., Smith r. l., Douglass c., Coddling p., Quigley and Carlson subs. The pitching will be backed up by George M. Domenece who had a tryout with Jersey City in 1909.

The lineup for the Corn Exchange Bank team will be printed in next week's issue of the STANDARD.

MARINERS' FEARS OF FOGS

Numerous Safeguards Devised for Protection Against Dire Peril of the Ocean.

Probably the greatest menace to the safety of navigation at sea is the fog. Modern steamships are seldom endangered by the severest storms, but when the impenetrable envelope of mist encloses a vessel, she is exposed to the most terrible of perils—a collision at sea. A single ship may be comparatively safe even in a fog, but when there is a fleet of vessels the danger is greatly multiplied. In addition to the customary fog-horns and sirens a fleet of warships often will keep informed of their relative positions by the firing of signal-guns from the flag ship. Another excellent method generally employed is the use of the fog buoy. Each vessel in a warship fleet carries a fog buoy, a large cask painted a bright red. This is cast overboard at the first sign of any fog and floats from the stern of the vessel attached by a rope of grass fiber which does not sink beneath the surface of the water. Sufficient rope is paid out by each vessel, so that its fog buoy floats at the bow of the ship next astern—two cables' length (400 yards) when in close order and double that distance in open order. By this means the exact stations of the individual ships of a fleet are maintained, even though proceeding at a moderate rate of speed.
