TWO SITES OFFERED. BIG MEETING TO-NIGHT

Majority in Board Concedes Right of Minority to Submit an Alternative Proposition.

2 WINGS TO WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

Legal Question Involved as to Method of Preliminary Expense Incidental to Work—Big Meeting To-Night

The Board of Education held an adjourned regular meeting in the Washington School, Monday night. Both the majority and the minority of the Board were on hand with architects and plans to discuss the new school site. The action of the Board in engaging Mr. Potter, the designer of the Washington and McKinley schools, to submit preliminary plans and charging same to current expenses brought forth opposing opinions from Town Attorney Paul Q. Oliver, and State Superintendent of Schools, Charles J. Baxter. President Stern, Dr. Savitz, District Clerk Taggart, and every member of the Board was present. Mr. Oliver wrote: "As to whether the Board of Education has the right under the school law to engage an architect to do certain work preliminary to the submission to the voters of a proposition for the erection of a new school building, and to expend money for the purpose, I beg to say that I find nothing in the school law to warrant such expenditure. Section 45 of the Act of 1904 defines the term 'current expenses,' in such manner as must exclude therefrom any disbursement for the purpose stated unless such disbursement can be taken to be an incidental expense, and I think it is not an incidental expense."

Mr. Baxter wrote that he was advised by the Attorney-General of New Jersey, that, "The securing of such preliminary sketches and specifications as will enable your board and the legal voters to act intelligently in determining the amount of money necessary for the erection of a new building, is entirely proper, and that the cost of securing them may be defrayed as an incidental expense of the district to be paid out of moneys raised for current expenses."

Acting on the letter from Mr. Baxter, the Board by a majority vote engaged Mr. Potter, who designed the McKinley and Washington schools, to submit preliminary plans at a cost not to exceed $100. If his plans were accepted by the voters this sum would go on the payment of the customary architect's fee of 3%. In response to a question put by President Stern, Mr. Potter said he had probably designed in all 140 schools similar in character to the one proposed.

When the question of the test pits came up Mr. Low stated that "Some years ago experts had said there was an inexhaustible supply of water, sufficient for a city of 50,000 population, on the Mountain avenue site." He added, "Who wants to put a school in a mud-hole?" It was suggested that nearly all of Westfield was on a similar foundation. Mr. Grape asked "Is it really true that the site of the Washington school was once a swimming pool?" It was stated that reports of competent engineers would be submitted soon.

Since the designs of Mr. Potter had been submitted to the architects employed by the minority, Mr. Merrill asked a like privilege for Mr. Potter. Mr. Potter stated that he did not care to examine the drawings of the other architects, as he was not competing with them. It was simply a question as to whether or no his plans were accepted. He was surprised that another architect should examine his plans under the circumstances, as this was a breach of professional courtesy. Mr. Potter then withdrew.

Dr. Egel then introduced Mr. Charles Darsh, of Westfield, and Mr. Josselyn of New York. It was stated that they were to receive no fees whatever for this preliminary work. President Stern also inquired as to their experience in designing school buildings of the specific nature required here. Mr. Josselyn said none, but that in conjunction with other architects, he had designed the Horace Mann School in New York and other important buildings. Mr. Darsh said he had helped to design some of the Yale and other well known buildings. Blue prints were then displayed. They had no basement or third floor plans, as the designs were constructed hurriedly. Mr. Josselyn stated that he was not familiar with the New Jersey practice, as to whether the unilateral or other system of admitting outside light into school rooms was in vogue. It was estimated that two wings of six rooms each added to the Washington school

TWO PROPOSITIONS FOR SCHOOL AND SITE TO BE DISCUSSED AT WASHINGTON SCHOOL.

LEIGH M. PEARSON'S VIEW.

Former Member of Board Ably Champions The Mountain Avenue Site—An Appeal For True Progress.

The new school site and building will be fully and freely discussed at the public meeting for that purpose in the Washington School auditorium tonight. There are wide differences of opinion on the propositions of the majority and minority members of the Board. There will be speakers for both sides followed by a general discussion. It is expected that the attendance will tax the capacity of the hall.

The following letter has been received from Mr. Leigh M. Pearson, a former member of the Board of Education:

WESTFIELD, N. J., May 27, 1910.

EDITOR UNION COUNTY STANDARD:

DEAR SIR:—The citizens of Westfield seem to be taking more interest in school affairs just now than at any previous time in the history of our town. This must result in general good to the community and will doubtless bring about an intelligent vote when the new school site question comes definitely before us. Up to the present time no one has come out into the open as opposed to additional school accommodations. All recognize the immediate necessity of providing at least twelve more class rooms, and many feel the need of recitation rooms for the commercial course. This clearly indicates that the tax payers are willing to vote sufficient money to give Westfield's children every school facility demanded by the laws of the state. The chief question then is the proper location for the new building or buildings. Much has already been said and written about the advisability of enlarging the Washington school (the recommendation of three members of the Board of Education), and of purchasing the Peckham property on Mountain avenue upon which to erect a new school building (the recommendation of six members of the Board of Education). It was my good fortune to be a member of a former board, and I thus had an opportunity to become informed on the intricate system which surrounds every public school plant of any considerable size such as that of our own town. I learned among other things that it was important to have each school building central to the greatest number of pupils attending that particular school.

Investigation indicates that the Mountain Ave. site is in this respect ideal, best lending itself to this important requirement. I have been told that the cost of site and building as at present advocated by the majority of the Board of Education will be in the immediate vicinity of $100,000 and not $150,000 as some would have us believe. Nowhere within reasonable distance from the district now needing increased school facilities can property be had at anything like the price at which the Peckham property may now be secured. The chief objection to this site, as far as I can ascertain, is the wet, low condition of the land back from the street. Some even call it a "swamp" and totally unfit for the purpose proposed. This brings to my mind the condition of the land on the east side of Carleton Road between Rose Place and Park street, owned by Channery B. Ripley when I was a school boy. Where my home now stands was formerly a pond on which we floated a raft and in which we caught cat fish. Comparatively little money drained the property and filled in the low places and I doubt if there is today a more beautiful block in Westfield than the one above mentioned. Gardens and lawns have taken the place of the former "swamp."

Twenty years ago the northeast corner of Broad and Prospect streets was a "swamp" as truly as one could find hereabout. Where the Westfield Trust Company building now stands another "swamp" was to be found at that time. Many a man who is the head of a family in Westfield can hark back to the day when he learned to swim and dive in Round Pond near the present Recreation Park. Proper drainage and treatment have so changed these places that today it seems impossible the former conditions could have existed. So far as the Mountain avenue site is concerned I feel sure the ax, shovel and comparatively little filling will transform what is now an ugly spot to a beautiful park of which Westfield would be justly proud. Well do I remember the overwhelming objections to buying the Henry property on Elm street for the purpose of enlarging the Washington campus. It was low, "swampy," with a brook winding through it. Weeds, old boards, stones and more or less rubbish made it unsightly. But several public spirited citizens secured the property and waited for public sentiment to change. I doubt if there is a man or woman in Westfield today who would allow this same property to be withdrawn for other than its present use. Nevertheless, a howl was raised by the tax payer at that time about the undue haste of the Board of Education in providing for future needs. Had not that opportunity been embraced private dwellings would now make its acquisition impossible. As individuals we are sometimes prompted to pay a little more than we would care to for an article of great durability rather than get something at less cost but in which there is no ultimate economy. To my mind the Mountain avenue site lends itself peculiarly to the plan set forth by the majority of the members of the Board of Education. Doubtless my tax

OVER TWO HUNDRED ENJOY TRADE BOARD'S SECOND ANNUAL BANQUET AT CASINO.

GREAT DOINGS AT I. O. S. GAMES. "TRIPLE PLAY" BEATS EXPERTS.

It is to near going-to-press-time to tell all about the interesting and exciting things that were done at the annual Spring games of the I. O. S. at the home of President and Mrs. George T. Crutenden, last evening. It has already been recorded in the memory book of each participant that the President arranged an unbeatable program, and that twenty-three (there were that many who took part) is no hoodoo number. Everybody was as happy and energetic as a candidate for a varsity team.

There were nine events and a base ball game. The summary is as follows: 100 inch dash, won by Charles E. Kimball. Protested by Tuttle on the ground that the winner was a ringer. Kimball got the medal just the same. 100 inch obstacle race, won by Grace Stowe Harden—she fairly tore over the course. Hurdle race, won by Harold Thompson after a desperate contest with six others who failed to shoot the tiddledy-wink in the cup. Potato race, won by Bessie Smith, who balanced the last potato on the spoon with her thumb. The judge allowed it, as the others were not looking. Sack race, won by A. H. H. Moody and A. B. Smith. Final won by Smith because Moody missed count. Smith had his nerve with him, and can count peanuts after the bag is untied faster than he can eat them, which is going at a tornado speed. 200 inch relay race won by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Moody. Exciting finish. Three arm race won by Grace Stowe Harden and DeArmond Tuttle. Their skill said to have been due to trickery as DeArmond is a bachelor and never sewed in his life. 200 inch handicap won by Fortunata Thompson. Adele Bogert Ungerer was a close second. Very spirited. Shot putting won by Hon. Lloyd Thompson. Very suspicious, but owing to the victor's high office the argument only lasted one hour. Base ball game between the Never Hits and Butter Fingers, in which the former made a triple play with one man on base. G. Harold Crutenden was umpire and throughout the game it was noted that he stood alongside of Captain Kimball of the Never Hits, and that his father winked at him twenty-nine times. Tuttle will carry the matter to the tennis courts. The score by innings:

The Never Hits	120020003-8
Butter Fingers	001010031-6

Batteries, McCormick and Harden; Foster and Smith. Time of game, eight hours, including disputes with the umpire. Smith was strong with the bat and was ably assisted by the girls who took turns running the bases for him.

Those present were: President and Mrs. George T. Crutenden, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Condit, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Harden, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. H. Moody, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ungerer, Miss Bessie Smith, John McCormick, A. D. Tuttle, Mrs. Carrie Hegeman was at the piano.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

The Westfield Golf Club will open the season for tournament play tomorrow afternoon. The courts have been in use for several weeks and there is every promise of a busy season. Twelve teams have entered for the handicap doubles tournament which runs through the summer months, sixty-six match games being required to finish the schedule. The following members have teamed up and entered: K. Stern and E. Takaki, Wm. Gould and F. G. Smith, C. R. Cunningham and L. J. Dietz, J. Cunningham and A. L. Randall, C. R. Swaney and F. Taggart, C. Kyte and Dr. L. G. Newman, J. E. Cutler and F. B. Sanborn, F. Cooper and F. Hegeman, R. S. Gules and G. W. Randall, S. Ohki and S. Sakamoto, R. DeCamp and H. Thompson, C. G. Moore and W. H. Orr.

In addition to tournament play there will be invitation matches. The first will be with the Danforth Tennis Club of Jersey City on June 4th.

The tennis committee for 1910 are Messrs. Cutler, Gould and Smith.

No! For The Progressive Dinner.

Have you bought your tickets for the Progressive Dinner to be given by the Men's League of the First M. E. Church, on the evening of June 2nd. Tickets are 50c each and are selling quite rapidly. They entitle you to a four course dinner which will be served at different places. Tickets should be purchased of any of the officers before the evening set for the dinner, in order to have places reserved. Start is to be made from the church and upon returning to the church for the last course, those that join in the fun will be entertained by eminent speakers in a few after dinner speeches.

Proposals For Culvert.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Committee of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, at the Town Hall, Westfield, N. J., on Tuesday, June 7, 1910, at 3 P. M., for the construction of a culvert on Westfield avenue, Westfield, N. J.

Plans and specifications may be examined at the office of F. J. Hubbard, County Engineer, 301 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J., or at the residence of the undersigned.

The Committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

C. A. SARR,
Chairman Committee.

Former Governor Stokes is Optimistic of the Future of New Jersey.

CHAIRMAN TUTTLE IS VERY WITTY.

Hon. Lloyd Thompson, Mayor Alpers and Otto Kempner Contribute to Oratorical Menu—The Event of the Year.

The second annual dinner of the Westfield Board of Trade, at the Casino building, Tuesday night, was an unqualified success. Over 200 members and guests were present. Seated at the table on the stage was President Tuttle of the Board of Trade, who acted as toastmaster. At his right were former Governor Stokes, Otto Kempner, President of the New York and New Jersey Real Estate Exchange, Mayor Alpers and Assemblyman Thompson. At his left were W. G. Besler, General Manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey; Republican leader Charles N. Coddling, and Dr. S. L. Loomis of the Congregational church.

The walls of the main hall and stage were draped with American flags and the tri-colored American bunting. The ceiling was hung with blue and yellow bunting. The table for the guests of honor was on the stage, while the other guests were seated at round tables in the main hall. In the center of each table was a bouquet of flowers.

After a blessing by Dr. Loomis the banquet began. The speakers were former Governor Stokes, Hon. Otto Kempner, Mayor Alpers, Mr. Besler and Hon. Lloyd Thompson.

Toastmaster Tuttle's speeches in introducing the speakers were witty and to the point. He said:

"During the past year our real estate developments have been intelligent and conservative. Homes in the restricted residential sections to the value of between $400,000 and $500,000 have been erected. Our population has rapidly increased due to the activities of our citizens. Our death rate is lower and our tax rate higher, and the Republican majority larger than ever before. We shall erect a school building of from six to sixty rooms on a site that will please everybody. We are in no danger of getting in the condition Railway and Elizabeth once were under rotten, corrupt and crazy governments. Since New York is growing with irresistible force, Westfield is bound to grow with it, and we hope to make it the banner suburban town."

Former Governor Stokes reviewed New Jersey's standing as a State of the Union, and made an optimistic speech on "Progress and Character," saying:

"For the second time I am the guest of your Board of Trade. I do not like to speak twice in the same place for I find that audiences, have memories, and you all know the creepy feeling that comes over us when a speaker begins to tell original stories. I did not come in late to make a dramatic entrance, but came on the Reading and Central Railroad. I should have walked. I was rescued at Plainfield by Mr. Coddling and his party, who brought me here in an automobile. I talk like a minister who divides his sermon into three parts. At first he gets around his subject, then he gets away from it, and finally, he tries to get back to it."

"Since colonial days New Jersey has been an important state. Our small commonwealth was the center of the long revolutionary struggle. Before and since the civil war, our population and our importance as an industrial state, has steadily increased. The percentage of gain in population is exceeded by only four states. Likewise our increase in actual numbers is exceeded by only a few states. Twelve per cent of our people are wage earners in factories. The first incandescent lights and the first malleable iron were made in New Jersey. The first telegraph message was dispatched by Professor Morse at Morristown. We have more than produced our quota of naval heroes and sailors. Lawrence and many others were residents of our State by birth or adoption. We are nearing the completion of the prophecy of Alexander Hamilton that the greatest city in the new world would be in New Jersey, across from New York. Newark, Passaic, Paterson, Westfield, Plainfield, Elizabeth, Bayonne, Jersey City and other ambitious towns are rapidly joining hands to form one great industrial and commercial community, the greatest and happiest the world has ever seen and under one flag."

"New Jersey has always belied the ## Mountainside Progressives Get Setback.

There was a hot contest at Mountainside, Tuesday, over the recommendation of the Board of Education to increase the school appropriation from $1,200 to $1,700. There was considerable hustling, and some turgid and flowery language was used, but the bears by a vote of 44 to 40 won the day. As a result the borough will have to get along with $1,200. It was urged that a larger appropriation was absolutely needed in order to carry on the school work properly. Many of those advocating the increase were the heaviest taxpayers, several of whom had no children of school age; while the opposition came from the smallest taxpayers with the largest families.

The monthly meeting of the Social and Literary Circle of the M. E. church was held with Mrs. G. H. Whitney of Hillside avenue, last Friday. A musical and literary program was enjoyed by those present.

The Live Business Man Advertises in the "Standard"

REV. SYDNEY CROSS DOES NOT APPROVE OF CO-EDUCATION PLAN.

Westfield, May 26, 1910.
Editor of STANDARD.

Sir: In discussing school problems, there is a fundamental question which should receive our first consideration before it is too late. Granted the need of ample edifices and an efficient teaching staff, how shall these be used for the greatest benefit of our children? In two ways.

1. By separating the boys from the girls. The time has come, in the development of our town, to have the boys and the girls in separate school buildings in every grade above the first three or four. We are strong enough to do it, numerous enough, and it is to be hoped, sufficiently enlightened. Co-education, as a necessary expedient in villages or small townships is permissible, but co-education as a principle, with the interests of both sexes in view, is open to grave objections. Space will not permit an adequate statement of those objections, but they may be summarized briefly as follows:

a. Co-education discourages the boys. It tends to educate the girls at the expense of the boys and is therefore not for the best interests of society. It is well understood that at a certain age girls learn more quickly than boys. Over and over again in school-life the boy gives up the unequal contest, and resigns to his sister the intellectual culture for which he is the better fitted by nature. The excuse is made that boys have more interests in life than girls and that this is the reason why they give the less attention to their studies. The fact is that each takes the line of least resistance. The girls for a few years excel more easily in studies; the boys in athletics. The result is that most of our boys do not get a proper education.

b. Co-education tends to break down the barrier of diffidence or shyness that nature has placed between the sexes. There are persons who consider such bashfulness to be an absurdity, or at the best an oddity. They do all in their power to bring boys and girls together, with a view, so it is stated, of refining the boys. It is not said that girls need the society of boys, but that boys need the society of girls. The result is that the boys are familiar rather than chivalrous with the opposite sex, whilst the girls lack, sometimes to a deplorable degree, feminine grace and modesty. In the attempt that co-education makes to help each sex acquire the distinctive virtues of the other, none of the virtues come to full fruition. And the boy is the greater loser, because of his comparative immaturity during the school period.

Let the Board of education be asked to prepare a scheme to establish separate boys' and girls' schools, the boys to be taught exclusively by men, who shall be paid largely increased salaries. This would attract to Westfield the best male teachers available. Men would be encouraged to enter the scholastic profession, and to remain in it. The position of a man teaching his own sex exclusively, and getting well paid for it, is one of dignity, and would appeal to young men of character and ability.

2. The second way of using the schools to the best advantage is by abolishing the High School as at present constituted. On entering High School, pupils take up, for the first time, studies which might just as easily have been begun at an earlier period in life. It is admitted that some children have to leave school before they have had much education. The remedy for this is not the introduction of educational heresies, such as "commercial" education, but the thorough lack of advanced studies to the earlier grades. Abolish the High School, as such, but add a few higher grades to the Grammar School. Teach boys Latin and Algebra at twelve, Higher Mathematics at fifteen. Poetry all the time; have a different schedule for girls with studies adapted to their special needs; make the children do more home work and then send them into the world at sixteen or seventeen with all the advantages of what would be practically a college education. This is done in private schools, and in Europe, and might be done in the Public Schools of Westfield if parents could be brought to realize the preposterous waste of time and money which the present High School system entails, and the known fact that very little is accomplished after the first year—for boys practically nothing.

SYDNEY CROSS.

Pine Stronger Than Steel.

Calculation confirmed by experiment has shown that, weight for weight, pine wood is stronger than steel in both transverse and tensile strength. It is regarded as doubtful if any metal could be made into a hollow rod equaling a bamboo rod in stiffness without exceeding it in weight. In structures of wood the weak points are always at the joints.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Mint to Amateur Carpenters.

A nail driven into oak or other timber oftentimes binds or breaks. To avoid this all is needed is a little wax or soap. The nail, if greased with either of these will go straight into the board. Carpenters who do finishing work bore a small hole in the handle of their hammers and then fill it with either wax or soap, running the nails into it as they use them.

Superlatively Great.

A group of men were seated about a table in the cafe of a western club discussing the rise of the prohibition sentiment when Wade Ellis bustled in. "A great man," said one. "A very great man," replied another; "he had John D. Rockefeller on the stand for a whole day and forced John to admit that he made money."

Ing-rate.

The Lady with the Feather—"No," I said, "this is too much. I've allowed you to buy me flowers and chocolates and to take me to theaters and dinners; I've even granted you the liberty of hiring a motor car for me—and this, I said, is all the thanks I get—you try to kiss me!"—The Sketch.

Only An Expert Can Tell the Difference Between Butter and Butterine

But There is a Difference in Quality and Price. Butterine is cheaper.

The Windfeldt Store

Deals in Both

Butter & Butterine

BUTTERINE, more commonly known as OLIO-MARGARINE, is not BUTTER, although it is sometimes advertised and sold as such.

BUTTERINE has a certain pleasing flavor, and is so good an imitation that it will pass as butter. Only an expert can tell the difference between Butter and Butterine, and he must make a careful analysis before he can determine.

But the Windfeldt Store is careful not to misrepresent. It will never sell Butterine for Butter, although merchants sometimes take advantage of the opportunity and by misrepresentation make a handsome profit, and their customers are none the wiser.

The Windfeldt Combination Store has taken out a license to sell BUTTERINE and will hereafter supply it to its customers—those who desire it—at the price for which it ought to sell in the market; that is we will sell it as Butterine. In this way it will be evident to all our many patrons that we are not selling BUTTER at below wholesale price, a thing which no merchant can afford to do. Come in and talk this important question over with us.

Butterine is perfectly healthful and those who want a good substitute for Butter will do well to buy it. It is cheaper than the best butter, and where families must practice economy it answers the purpose.

Try our Butterine. We feel confident that you will be satisfied with the PRICE and QUALITY. This store does not handle anything but the best goods in the market.

Of course, if you want the best grades of butter we have them at the lowest market price. Our Dairy Department, which we but recently added, has been an unqualified success. There has been an insistent demand for Fresh Butter, Buttermilk, Milk and Eggs, to meet which we offer a large and fresh supply daily. We sell the best grade of butter at the lowest market price.

We often emphasize, in these columns, the quality of goods which we carry—and this for a specific reason. A fine quality of Meat or Vegetable or other household necessity, has a permanent value. This is an era of high prices. If goods are sold cheaply, that is at below market cost, as a rule they are cheap goods. No merchant can afford to sell the best goods obtainable at a ridiculously low figure, for the reason that he would soon be bankrupt. He must make a profit.

AT THE WINDFELDT COMBINATION STORE our aim is to sell the best goods at a small margin of profit, and we have so systemized our business as to be able to do this. The Combination Plan gives us facilities for handling and delivering goods at a minimum of cost which are only possible to the merchants who do business on a large scale.

So it happens that the Windfeldt Store is able to stand the test of service, of competition. We sell cheaply, we deliver promptly and our customers remain our customers because we do not misrepresent.

All the Household Necessities handled by the Windfeldt Combination store have quality and give satisfaction. The best way to prove our claim is for you to compare the goods which you buy from us as to quality and price with those which you buy from other merchants. We are satisfied that you will put your O. K. on the Windfeldt brand.

Petition and Notice.

the Council of the Town of Westfield.

The undersigned, being the owners of at least one-sixth of the lands fronting on the proposed improvement, hereby petition your honorable body to amend the North Avenue, from the east line of the C. N. R. Co. of N. J. to the Westfield Avenue, to be improved in the following manner:

By re-setting the existing curb on the north side of said street, and by setting new 4x12 inch blue curb on concrete on the unimproved portion of said street.

By constructing vitrified brick sewer 8 feet wide on 4 inch concrete along both gutter lines.

By macadamizing the street for a width of 6 inches between the gutters, and filling the eight foot wide side of center line of the street, with crushed stone.

By re-surfacing existing macadam with "Tarmac X" binder at the expense of the Town.

The cost of the said improvement to be assessed upon the lands benefited by the same. A deposit of $50.00 accompanies this petition as required by law.

criticism that we are merely a social and commercial people. Our progress would not have been possible without character, rectitude and justice. The voice of disparagement of to-day has been heard throughout the land in every age and generation. Evil we have, and always will have; but what are they when compared with the good deeds and achievements of the nation. Evil does not constitute the national type any more than the few evil words in the dictionary constitute the language of Shakespeare or Milton or Lowell or Lincoln at Gettysburg. The colonists were charged with subservience to their financial welfare and business interests, and with loving wealth and ease. Yet these were the men who suffered the hardships of Morristown and Valley Forge. Likewise our citizens who helped save the Union during the civil war, and who marched down to Cuba when the state's honor has been and is patriotic to the core. In every crisis American character has been tried in the balance and not found wanting. Every problem that may arise in the future will be solved in the interests of the common welfare of all the people.

Mayor Alpers said: "Our town is in a flourishing condition financially. Our bonded indebtedness is less than 3 1/2 per cent of our ratables. We have a good sewer system, good school buildings, good sidewalks and paved streets. We are able to spend more money for public improvements if we spend wisely. This is not a time for false economy. We should look into the future and erect a school building that is worthy of the town; one that will provide for our needs for some time to come. The mayor of Westfield should have more power. At present he has the responsibility but not the power. It should take a two-thirds vote to pass a measure over his head. We should own our water works and lighting facilities and keep the money spent for these purposes in Westfield. Our excise commission is better than that of any town in Union County, not excepting Plainfield. Our excise laws are kept to the letter. We should aim not only to get good men nominated for office, but should aim to get the best men interested in public affairs."

Otto Kampner spoke for the real estate interests and developments. He said: "The country is a barren waste until improved by man. The real estate man builds up and improves a community. If you have a good system of water works, sewers, lighting and streets, then, and not till then, will your community grow and prosper. Let us build not for the moment, but for the future. No advance is possible unless the merchants, business men and citizens unite in an organization, such as a Board of Trade, to push the interests of a town."

Mr. Bealer said that his road was in line with other roads, and had advanced, or had in consideration the advancing of the wages of all its employees from 5 percent to 12 percent. This advance for all the roads aggregates the great sum of $200,000,000. Hence the cost of living was increased for the railroads as well as individuals. However the Central would advance the compensation rates from Elizabeth out only 25 cents per month. He added that Westfield would get its share of public improvement, but made no definite promises.

Assemblyman Lloyd Thompson was the last speaker of the evening. He said there were two kinds of men dangerous to any organization, the confirmed pessimist and the professional optimist. We have forged ahead in spite of the confirmed pessimist. What we need is a happy medium between the two types, the meliorist. He is one who works to, better things; who goes ahead quietly, steadily, tirelessly; is willing, if necessary, to stand still, but not to fall back or turn around. He is the man that does most for our town. Mr. Thompson said that if all went well, we might hope to have a new north side station within the next hundred years.

The committee in charge were Messrs. Lloyd Thompson, Charles N. Codding, George T. Crutenden, Paul Q. Oliver, Frank H. Schaefer, Walter B. Toney, W. E. Tuttle, Jr. The committee is to be congratulated in getting such able speakers, and in running off this important affair without a hitch. The Eureka Trio, of New York, colored vocalists and instrumentalists, furnished excellent entertainment while the courses were being served. The menu is as follows:

Clams on half shell; cocktail sauce; olives; celery; radishes; salted almonds; cream of chicken; crabs a la diable; green peas; fresh mushrooms in crust; Siberian punch; cigarettes; stuffed chicken; string beans; fried potatoes; tomato and lettuce salad; cream cheese; crackers; Roquefort; mer glace; petit fours; coffee; Ballardvale water; cigars.

HORSE RUNS AWAY.

Mrs. Gilmarin and Children Escape Injury—Carriage Smashed.

Mrs. Gilmarin, of Prospect street, while out driving Tuesday evening, with three children, between the hours of seven and nine, had an upset in consequence of which the horse became frightened and ran away. Mrs. Gilmarin attempted to turn around near the junction of Highland and Lawrence avenues, but cramped the wagon too short and an upset resulted. The horse broke loose and ran along Highland avenue, Broad and Elm streets up to the Central Railroad station where he was caught by some local hackmen and taken to his stall in Decker's livery stable. The horse was bruised about the fetlocks and the wagon was badly smashed. Fortunately neither Mrs. Gilmarin nor the children were injured.

Orange Aldermen and Mayor Dine Here.

Mayor Seymour and the aldermen of Orange, with a party of friends, forty-six in all, automobile to Westfield, and held their second annual dinner at the North Avenue Hotel, Tuesday evening. The music and entertainment was furnished by Warner's quartette, of Orange. Proprietor Willet served an excellent course dinner.

RUTGERS SCHOLARSHIP.

Competitive Examinations in Each County Court House.

The competitive examinations for free scholarships in Rutgers College, the State College of New Jersey, will be held at each county court house in the State on Friday and Saturday, June 3 and 4, 1910. The examinations will begin at 9 a. m. sharp, and continue until 6 p. m. each day. Hereafter these scholarships are open to candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts (A. B.), the degree of Bachelor of Letters (Litt. B.), as well as for the degree of Bachelor of Science (B. S.). In 1910 the number of points required for admission to the courses are as follows: A. B., Litt. B., and general B. S. courses, 15 points, and the technical B. S. course, 13 points.

On Friday, June 3, there will be examinations in English, United States, medieval and modern history, Greek, German, French, physics, chemistry, botany, zoology. On June 4 the subjects will be algebra, plane and solid geometry, plane trigonometry, ancient history and Latin. Mr. Irving S. Upson, Registrar of the college, New Brunswick, N. J., will give or mail circulars of full information to any person who may apply. A number of local High School pupils will take the examination.

Work of Manuscript Women.

In Lichfield (Eng.) cathedral the central pillar of the chapter-house and the clustered shafts and vaulting ribs which spread from it are very fine specimens of early English work. One of the pillars contains the quaint design of a cat with a mouse in its mouth. It is supposed to have been executed in a humorous spirit by one of the masons, who, so far as the stone permitted, made it quite realistic.

Not for Hans.

Hans came in from his ranch to buy a horse. "I've got the very thing you want," said the Bergman. "It's a fine road horse, five years old, sound on a quail, $175 cash down, and he goes ten miles without stopping." Hans threw up his hands in protest. "Not for me," he said—"not for me. I live eight miles out, and I'd have to walk back two miles."

Revelations of Color.

Colors tell a tale. Feminine ingenuity shows a gaudy affection for musty blacks, for stilly fawns and gawdies grays. Those of overflowing vitality, on the other hand, love bright colors—orange, scarlet and blue. People of amiable, but rather indefinite character, show a decided preference for pale shadowy shades—pale blue, pale pink, white or cream.—Gentlewoman, London.

Signals That Carry Far.

When an African chief of the Nigerian tribes is ready to begin harvesting and requires extra assistance, says Popular Mechanic, he sets some of his tribesmen drumming. They beat a huge kettle drum made of skin stretched on a calabash and a small side drum. The sound of the drumming carries a great distance, and laborers come in from all directions.

Wasting Letters.

We have only a few letters in the alphabet, yet many persist in wasting them. Here comes M. Pheasant, Mr. Lloyd, Mr. Brent, Mr. Llewellyn, Mr. Percey, Mr. Wilcocks, Mr. Hammerslight, Mr. Maygonnigale, Mr. Macrae, Miss Carrollyne Welles, Miss Macaulands, Georges Kheller, etc.—N. Y. Press.

Timber Too Widely Scattered. While there is an abundance of suitable timber in Brazil, it is difficult to find many districts where the trees suitable for lumber are close enough together for profitable work. Transportation causes much difficulty, often making it impossible to transport logs to a mill or lumber to a market.

This is great news for bookworms. These are sets of books that were used in our recent big sales at about one-fourth subscription prices for window and other display purposes, and some have been slightly damaged in the handling—in hardly any case sufficiently damaged to be worth mentioning. Yet, because they cannot be said to be strictly perfect, we have again reduced prices, bringing them away below the extraordinary prices quoted when we had our big sale of publishers' stocks.

The Question at Issue.

The questions at issue in the coming school election have been adequately defined by the majority and minority representatives of the Board of Education.

The majority favor the selection of the Mountain avenue site and the building of a school house at an approximate cost of $80,000, with partly completed rooms for use when required.

This that Westfield may have a thoroughly efficient and comprehensive school system, adapted to present and future needs.

That Westfield may have a Park system in conjunction with the schools, and that two important parts of the town may be connected by the extension of Orchard and Walnut streets to Euclid avenue;

That efficiency, service, systemized methods, can be properly provided in this way and that to consider first cost only is pure expediency and will in the end work to the disadvantage of the schools and the tax payers;

That the Mountain avenue site can be made, at a nominal cost, into splendid school grounds and park, that will serve adequately the needs of the schools as a site, and will be a permanent improvement and add to the attractiveness of the town;

That the law and modern educational needs call for the maintenance in the schools of all those branches of study which go to make young men and women better and more useful in life, such as manual training, physics, chemistry, etc.;

That schools must be built to provide adequate facilities for the proper maintenance of these departments, and without them schools are not wholly efficient.

The minority insist that the main question under consideration is that of cost. The action of the Board in the question of a new school, therefore, should be one of expediency; a school being built to serve present-day needs at the least possible cost;

That the distribution of pupils under a graded school system is not of prime importance;

That manual training, courses in physics, chemistry, etc., are of only secondary consideration, and should not be made an essential of the local educational plan;

That a gymnasium in the local schools is not needed, and, therefore, its maintenance is an unnecessary expense;

That the Mountain avenue site is not fit for school purposes, because of its nature;

That this is a time for economy. The town cannot afford to spend much money under present economic conditions.

We respectfully commend the above to the serious consideration of the voters—men and women—of the town of Westfield.

And, without the least desire to do injustice to the members of the minority party in the Board, who are pleading their case from none other than disinterested and conscientious motives, our chief criticism of their opposition to the Mountain avenue site and the building of a $80,000 school house thereon is that their alternative is offered as an expedient in which the single element in its favor is a matter of first cost. We believe that the Town of Westfield was never in better financial condition than it is to-day; that our public debt is not large considering the town's resources; that physics, chemistry, manual training, etc., are absolutely indispensable; that the Peckham property can be made into a splendid school site at a nominal cost; that the majority in the board are right in appealing for a broad, comprehensive plan of action.

As to economy, this is always important, but economy must be on the broad lines of a public good which comprehends future as well as present exigencies. The minority proposition will be popular, because it appears to be a money-saver, but in the end it will be far more expensive than the purchase of the Mountain avenue site and the erection thereon of a modern graded public school.

As to general economic conditions, certainly there is no convincing sign that Westfield or the country at large is going into bankruptcy. Present conditions merely fulfill a well-defined economic law that following a period of financial depression such as we had in 1907 there must be a few years of readjustment before the wheels of progress will resume their former speed. We were for years preparing for a financial crisis. It came! Now we are readjusting ourselves to new economic conditions, which promise to be less spectacular than in that "unparalleled era of prosperity," but more healthful and more substantial. In such circumstances we need not fear that an expenditure wisely planned and judiciously carried out can be anything but economic in its purposes and far-reaching in its results.

OBITUARY.

David E. Miller.

David E. Miller, of 126 Elmer street, a lifelong resident of Westfield, died at his late home, Saturday morning at 10:30, of heart trouble. He was 65 years of age. Mr. Miller had enjoyed good health until January of this year. He was born in the old Miller homestead on Dudley avenue, and received his early education here at the "old brick school-house" and at the Rev. John F. Pingry's school at Elizabeth. In 1872 he married Ellen Brokaw, who lived near Springfield. For many years he was engaged in the grocery business. In 1871 his firm started under the name of E. Miller & Sons, and later continued under the name of Miller Brothers. Six years ago Mr. Miller retired from active participation in business. He was an exempt fireman and a charter member of Upworth Lodge, No. 50, A. O. U. W., of New Jersey. Mr. Miller was a life-long Democrat and active in affairs of his party. For many years he was Surveyor of Highways. Strict integrity in business matters and a pleasing personality, had won for Mr. Miller a host of friends. He was a direct descendant of Jonathan Badgley, a Revolutionary soldier who served under thirteen captains at various times during the achievement of independence, bearing arms in the battle of Connecticut Farms and others. Jonathan Badgley was his ascendant through his mother, who was Eliza Badgley, a great-granddaughter of James Badgley, who donated part of the lands of the old Presbyterian church. Mr. Miller was named for his grandfather, who served in the war of 1812. He is survived by his widow, a brother, Mr. A. J. Miller, of the Boulevard, who is the only survivor of Mr. Miller's paternal family, and the following children: Miss Elsie M. Miller and Charles E. Miller, of this place, and Arbie Miller, of Rahway. One year ago a daughter, Martha Miller, died and two years ago a son, Isaac Elmer Miller, passed away. The funeral took place from his late residence, Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. C. J. Greenwood officiating. Interment in the family plot at Fairview.

Mrs. W. H. Abbott.

Mrs. W. H. Abbott died at her home in Plainfield last Friday night. She had been in poor health for a long time. The funeral services were held at her late home in Plainfield, Monday afternoon. Interment in Hillside cemetery. Mrs. Abbott will be missed by her host of friends in this place. She is survived by her husband, mother, one son, one sister and two brothers, one of them being Mr. E. B. F. Randolph, of Westfield.

EDITOR STANDARD:

It writing out some of my reminiscences of the civil war for the STANDARD last summer, I quoted as much as I could recall of Col. Chas. G. Halpine's "Song of the Soldier." I have today come across the whole of it, and it seems to me that in view of the approach of another Memorial Day it might well be reprinted in your columns.

Yours faithfully,
APPLETON MORGAN.

SONG OF THE SOLDIER.

Comrades known in marches many,
Comrades tried in dangers many,
Comrades bound by memories many,
Brothers ever let us be!

Wounds or sickness may divide us,
Marching orders may divide us,
But, whatever fate betide us,
Brothers of the heart are we.

Comrades known by faith the dearest,
Tried when death was near and nearest,
Bound we are by ties the dearest,
Brothers evermore to be—
And, if spared, and growing older,
Shoulder still in line with shoulder
And with hearts no thrill the colder,
Brothers ever we shall be.

By communion of the banner—
Battle-scarred but victor banner,
By baptism of the banner,
Brothers of one church are we!

Creed nor faction can divide us,
Race nor language can divide us,
Still, whatever fate betide us,
Children of the flag are we!

PRIVATE MILES O'REILLY.

Sidewalk Cyclists Hailed to Court.

The sidewalks of the town are healthier for pedestrians than wheelmen. Officer Canfield arrested five Italians and one negro for riding bicycles on the sidewalks of West Broad street, Wednesday morning. Their wheels were retained as sureties until last evening, when the offenders were brought before Judge Tenney. As this was their first offence, the Judge was lenient and allowed the offenders to go with a reprimand, excepting one Italian who was fined $5 for insolence.

The Growth of Westfield Continues
Unabated

and that which started the development several years ago constitutes a perpetual feeder for it, namely, a combination of superior natural conditions unequalled hereabouts and on a Civic Pride among the residents quite out of the common.

Not a Succession of Jerks But a Long Steady Pull

characterizes in a homely way, perhaps, the kind of energy that has actuated this healthy movement, and keeps it young.

House Owners Here
Are Indeed Fortunate

and so will those who may become owners before prices get beyond their reach. In the light of its manifold advantages, values here are materially lower than prevail in other suburban towns entitled to be classed as of Westfield's standard.

This Office Has Listed
Everything Worth
While Here,

in fact a more complete list of properties than any other office in town by virtue of its leadership. Our Human Interest Service is at your command.

Houses to rent furnished and unfurnished at rentals ranging between $30 and $125 per month.

Lots for sale at prices running from $8 to $50 the front foot.

Houses for sale ranging from $4,000 to $30,000.

TWO SITES OFFERED

 would cost $25,000 on a basis of 10 cents for each cubic foot.

President Stern suggested that "the total efficiency of the result as well as the cost of the building should be discussed. We think the schools should have a systematic, well organized, well ordered plan." In reply to Mr. Low, Mr. Stern stated that such was not the case to-day and the addition of two wings to the Washington school would not help so far as proper distribution of pupils was concerned.

An invitation from the Women's Club inviting the Board to discuss the school problem on June 1, at 3 o'clock was read.

The Board by unanimous vote decided to allow the Juniors to have twenty-two numbers on their dance program, at the reception given to the graduating class on June 17.

Mr. Dennis inquired concerning the option on the Mountain avenue site. It was stated that the Board had a legal and binding option on the site with the owner, Mr. W. G. Peckham.

A motion was passed that the President and District Clerk be authorized to sign the petition to put in a storm sewer, and to reduce the grade at the junction of Osborn avenue, West Broad and Pearson streets. Such improvement will do away with the usual winter pond of water at this corner.

The public is invited to hear a joint discussion of both minority and majority plans to-night. Notices have been posted and each side will have a fair and equal hearing, after which discussion will be open to the public. Two plans will be submitted. One is the Mountain avenue site with the plans of Mr. Potter, and the other is to add two wings of six rooms each to the Washington school.

The Board adjourned until to-night at 7:30.

WEAK, WEARY WOMEN

Learn the Cause of Daily Weas and End Them.

When the back aches and throbs. When housework is torture. When night brings no rest nor sleep. When urinary disorders set in. Woman's lot is a weary one. There is a way to escape these woes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills. Have cured thousands. Read this woman's testimony.

Mrs. Christ Wolfe, 650 Prospect Ave., Roselle, N. J., says: "About three years ago my health was much run down as the result of kidney trouble. My kidneys were very weak and my case became worse daily. I was never free from a dull, nagging pain in my back and I also suffered from headache, dizziness and chills. I finally began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and the contents of three boxes cured me. I take pleasure in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to other persons similarly afflicted."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MISS CALLAWAY ON STAGE

Former Westfield Girl to Appear As "Kim" in "Seven Days."

Miss Emily Callaway, Westfield graduate, winner of the "W" for athletic prowess, formerly of Westfield, is about to go on the stage. Next season she will take the part of Kim McVain in Waggoner's and Komper's production of "Seven Days." She has been appointed understudy for the Actor Theatre Company. This will be her first professional appearance on the stage, and the first time she has appeared on the stage in girl's clothing. She always acted boy's parts at Westfield, and was prominent as a member of the Barn Swallows, the college dramatic club. She wrote several plays that are popular with college and amateur dramatic societies, among them being "Prince, Charley," "Miss Oliver's Dilemma" and "The Power of Friendship."

Miss Callaway was born in Chicago, but claims to be a southern girl because she is descended from the Callaway family of Georgia, which claims relationship with Washington and Daniel Boone. Her mother is a grandniece of Betty Ross. Her uncle was the late S. R. Callaway, President of the New York Central.

Keep yourself posted on what is happening in Westfield by reading the Standard. It contains all the news.

What the June Woman's Home Companion Contains.

The first of the summer numbers of this remarkable woman's magazine has reached beyond its own high standard in interest, varied and practical material. The cover, a Dutch girl painted by R. Ford Harper, is a pleasure in itself, and the illustrations throughout are the work of some of our best artists.

The fiction is from the pens of leading writers: A new romance by Grace S. Richmond, begins in this June number. "The House of Healing," by Juliet Wilcox Tompkins, is still going merrily along, and such popular writers as Alice Brown, Annie Hampton Donnell, Mary Hastings, Hulbert Footner and Pauline Henslip Lee are represented by short stories, which for charm, feeling and a delicate sense of humor are in a class by themselves.

June is a month in which so many important events happen that the comprehensive woman's magazine must be annually full of interesting articles: The June number of the Woman's Home Companion includes "Wedding Gifts that are Different," "A Novel Graduation Program," "When You Graduate," "A Vacation Trip to Europe," etc. Kate V. Saint-Maur contributes another of her practical articles this month on strawberry culture, and the love of song, "You're Worth All the World to Me," by Alfred G. Robyn, is just the right thing to sing on summer evenings. Unusually carefully selected fashions are shown this month by Grace Margaret Gould, with an eye particularly to the needs of the girl graduates.

The special departments are filled with timely and good advice on many subjects, and the younger readers of the Woman's Home Companion find in the June number almost a small magazine for themselves. Among the offerings, in the children's department is a letter from Selma Lagerlof, the author of that now famous story, "The Adventures of Nils."

WESTFIELD, N. J.

The above illustrates how the new school site and Westfield park will look in the event of the favorable action of the people of Westfield on the proposition suggested by the majority members of the Board of Education in conjunction with the Westfield Park Commission for the purchase of the W. G. Peckham property on Mountain avenue for a school site and park. If this improvement is put through, it will give Westfield adequate school facilities for some years to come and will carry out a proposed improvement in the arrangement of our highways that has been an imperative need for many years past. At the present time, there is no connection with Euclid avenue and Mountain avenue from Broad street as far as Kimball avenue, a distance of a quarter of a mile. By the extension of Walnut street as an entrance to the park, and to connect with Euclid avenue, easy access to either street can be obtained. The extension of Orchard street into the park also provides a short cut to Euclid avenue. A further advantage is gained by the fact that the sources of the Westfield Park lake will be cleaned so as to provide a free flow of water into the lake and do away with the present nuisance of having marshy ground along its course. The present course of the brook is very irregular and it could be straightened and cleaned out at a nominal cost.

The people of Westfield are urged to view this project along the lines of broad economy and to bear in mind that the present financial standing of the town is better than it ever has been; that the resources of the town are destined to multiply; that the adoption of this plan at this time will eventually be a great money saver. It is hoped that the long-standing prejudice against the Peckham dump will not mitigate against the justice and the practicability of the majority proposition made by the Board. In private enterprise far greater obstacles than those which, in the minds of many, seem insurmountable in the purchase of this tract, have been overcome. There is no reason why property situated in the heart of a good residential section of the town should be condemned always to bear the name of a brush heap because of its present unwholesome aspect, which does not appeal to the artistic eye of the resident or visitor. The fact that the Peckham property is and always has been an eye-sore is all the more reason why public-spirited citizens should rise to defend the plan which promises to convert it into a beauty spot.

THE LIBRARY.

"I know of no agency in America save our Public Schools that is doing so much for good citizenship: so much for the general weal; and so much for the perpetuity of our free institutions as the free circulating libraries."—Hon. William Sulzer in the House of Representatives, March 1910.

"I like library-giving for one reason particularly. The library gives nothing for nothing. The youth who is improved by it must co-operate. If he does not read and study he finds no reward. Nothing for nothing is the law within its walls. Help yourself is the decree."—Andrew Carnegie.

BIG MEETING TO-NIGHT

bill will be somewhat smaller if the plan of the minority is adopted, but in the end I shall pay much more and not have anything like as splendid a park campus as would be the case should the majority plan be adopted. Nine able men have spent much time on the question of school site: two-thirds of them agree on the Mountain avenue site. Therefore, while still open to conviction, I stand ready to cast my influence and vote in favor of this site. As this is beyond doubt the most important matter the citizens of our town have yet had to decide, it seems all should carefully inform themselves on every phase of the subject. Attempts at belittling the efforts of the minority or majority will not aid in the proper selection of a site. It is to be hoped the ultimate vote will be very one-sided so as to leave no doubt in our minds as to our having made the right selection.

Yours truly,

LEIGH M. PEARSALL.

THE WESTFIELD LEADER

Change of Form
Change of Ownership
Change of Price

THE WESTFIELD LEADER PRINTING and PUBLISHING COMPANY has been incorporated, under the laws of the State of New Jersey, by Walter J. Lee and associates who have purchased the entire interest of G. A. V. Hankinson in the Westfield Leader and its entire Job Printing Department. The first issue under the new management will be improved as much as the very limited time will permit. Greater and more numerous improvements will be made during the Summer, so that in the early Fall Westfield will have a Newspaper and Job Printing Establishment equal, if not superior to that of any in a town of its size in the State.

The Price on and after June 1st will be 2 cents a copy, the form 8 or more pages, a new make up, and the entire establishment a "live wire." In the Fall The LEADER will be in a new home, with new presses, new type, commodious quarters and vastly increased facilities to meet the growing demand of a growing community.
