"The Purpose of Life Insurance"

The Prudential

with its 8,750,000 policies in force, will shoulder it for them?

says an Insurance writer, "is not to prevent or replace loss--- it is to distribute loss.

"A loss which may be ruinous when borne by the individual or the family is hardly felt when distributed among a large number of persons."

Why allow your family to shoulder a risk when

When your system's out o' kelter,
When you've got a chronic pain,
When you feel as if no shelter
Was provided from the rain,
When you fuss and fume and worry,
Think that life is one sad song,
Take the hint, old sport, don't hurry!
It will cheer your way along,
Though your appetite is measly—

Aged State Pensioners.

Robert E. Pluribus Unum Smith is an old-age pensioner in Australia. In his application he added the words, "otherwise known as Rowdy Bob." In spite of this uncomplimentary second title, the local authorities certified his character as "good," and he had no difficulty in getting his $2.40 a week from the state. The oldest Australian pensioner is a woman of 105.

Photographic Marvels.

A photographic printing machine recently exhibited had a roll of prepared bromide paper fed in at one end and turned out finished photographic prints at the other end at the rate of 2,000 to 3,000 per hour. These photographs are sometimes used for illustrations in newspapers and magazines.

London Clubwomen Using Tobacco.

Glorified pipe smoking is the latest fad among clubwomen of London. The pipe used is a dainty Japanese affair known as the kisseru. It has a gold and silver bowl and mouthpiece. The bowl holds a pinch of tobacco from which about seven whiffs can be obtained.

The Woman in the Moon.

Samoa Islanders believe that the moon came down one night and stole the woman Sina, working in the twilight. Never able to return to earth, you may see her now in the moon, with her mallet and the board on which she was beating out bark to make cloth.

Bricks from Ant Hills.

Excellent bricks are made of the soil of ant hills in Central Africa. The natives tread it with water into a doughlike substance, which is shaped in rough wooden molds. It is then dried in the sun, and afterward baked in native kilns.

TO DISCUSS ROADS.

This Important Question To Be Taken up by Board of Trade This Winter.

MEETING NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Large Attendance Expected—Special Committee Appointed By President Tuttle to Make Preliminary Report.

The program for the year's work will be considered at the regular meeting of the Board of Trade next Wednesday night, in the Town Hall. The Board is to make an extra effort this year to secure the co-operation of the members in the affairs of the Town of Westfield. A committee recently appointed by President Tuttle, consisting of Paul Q. Oliver, chairman; A. L. Russell and C. E. Pearsall, will make a report. The meeting is held on Wednesday night because of the annual dinner of the Men's Club of St. Paul's Church on Thursday night.

This committee has in charge the arrangement of a program of regular and special meetings of the Board for the winter months. At these meetings questions of public importance will be discussed. Speakers who are qualified to discuss the subject under consideration will be heard.

There has been a feeling in the Board for a long time that the principal work cut out for the corporation was that of securing the interest of local citizens in public affairs. To this end the meetings this year will be made instructive. One of the most important questions to be considered will be the building and maintenance of roads. Modern road building is something quite distinct from the old idea. The new modes of travel have created new needs which have been met by scientific methods. Necessarily the first cost has increased materially, but the plan is economical because it insures a permanent road bed which cannot be destroyed by the automobile travel.

It is to remove all misunderstandings as to the reasons of the necessarily large increase in the cost of roads and to give the public a clear and comprehensive idea of how roads are built that the Board of Trade takes up the question.

It is felt, too, that other local problems which have heretofore not been clearly understood by the people, should be discussed. Among these will be the much mooted water question.

In any event, the Westfield Board of Trade is informing, and every citizen is making it his business to bring a friend along who needs and desires to better Westfield and its public spirit and enterprise.

Queer Attribute of Salmon.
About 80 per cent. of salmon die before they return up the river to the sea, and those that do return spawning are coarse, and, when white in the flesh; in fact, are as bad as bull trout, for so-called "bull trout" are not a different kind, but are plainly salmon which spawned.

NEEDFUL KNOWLEDGE.

Old People Should Learn to Defend the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are unmistakable that they leave no room for doubt. Sick kidneys excrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, with sediment, irregular of passage or accompanied by a sensation of scalding. Back aches constantly, headaches, dizzy spells may occur and the victim often weighed down by a feeling of wear and fatigue. Neglect these things and there is danger of dropsy, diabetes or diabetes. Any one who has symptoms is warning enough in treating the kidneys at once, often proves fatal.

There is no use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Westfield

Dimler, 85 Kimer street, Westfield, N. J., says: "For some time I suffered from kidney trouble and though I used several well known remedies, I failed to find relief. My back was very painful, I had frequent headaches and my health became much run down. I consulted a physician, but his medical treatment failed to benefit me. There were other symptoms which showed that my kidneys were disordered and when Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a box at Frutcher's drug store. They gave me such prompt relief that I continued taking them until I was cured. I cannot say too much in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills." Sold by all dealers. Price 50 cents. MR. DENNIS IS ELECTED MAYOR.

In the Fourth Ward, Robert DeCamp, Democrat, defeated George F. Brown, Republican, by a majority of 88. The contest in this ward was hard fought.

Henry W. Evans, Republican nominee for Council in the First Ward, had little difficulty in defeating his Democratic opponent, John Darsh. Mr. Evans' majority was 87.

Westfield gave Woodrow Wilson a majority of 88, the largest majority for the Democratic nominee being recorded in the Second Ward.

Locally the Republican Assembly ticket ran strong in every ward, Lloyd Thompson receiving the largest vote, 886, which was 84 votes more than he received in 1908, when he has high man on the ticket.

William E. Tuttle, Jr., the Democratic nominee for Congress, received a large vote from his home town, defeating William N. Runyon, Republican, by a majority of 446. Mr. Tuttle ran strong in all the wards.

The vote for Freeholder was a surprise in the fact that the Democratic nominees, John G. Ten Eycke and J. Raymond Lambert made a good fight and received a large vote. Both of them are said to have made a house-to-house canvass for votes. But the Republican nominees, Charles A. Smith and Joseph Perry were elected, securing a majority in every ward in the town. Mr. Smith's majority was 296 and Mr. Perry's 197.

By the election Westfield will have a Democratic Mayor and a Republican Council. The line up of the Council is as follows:

Floyd, Evans, Moser, Middleditch and Casey, Republican; Hohenstein, Oswald and DeCamp, Democrats.

There was little interest in the election of a Tax Assessor and Collector, Addison H. Clark and John M. C. Marsh, the Democratic nominees for these offices having no opposition. Mr. Clark's total vote was 1853 and Mr. Marsh's 1838.

James W. Vall, Republican, defeated A. W. Lamey, Democrat, for Coroner by 194 votes, and James N. Worl, Republican, defeated Edwin R. Obblins, Democrat, for Justice of the Peace, by a majority of 196 votes. Henry W. Chamberlain was successful over his Democratic opponent for Constable, William Stitt, by a majority of 188 votes.

In every respect the election was one of the most strenuous ever held in this town. The Democrats, encouraged by the popular support being given Woodrow Wilson, worked hard in every ward, and they were well organized, too. Both parties had workers at the polls from sun-up to sun-down, and automobiles and carriages were kept busy conveying voters to and from the polls throughout the day. Everybody was good-natured about it. Not even a political brawl was reported and opposing workers were seen swapping yarns whenever there was a let-up in the onward march of the "vest-pocket" voters to the polls.

It was thought that the local election would be close in every ward, but early returns indicated that Mr. Dennis was running strong in all the wards and was probably elected. His election was conceded before midnight as it was seen then that his majority in the Fourth Ward could not be offset.

Both tickets were out, although the Democrats usually put in the straight ticket, while the Republican tickets from top to bottom were badly damaged.

Now the result is being argued pro and con, but the "I Told You So Boys" were right as usual. They knew just what was going to happen days ago!

Summer, Prophet.

Here, under a bright sun, such as shone at Asplenitz or Buena Vista—amidst the peaceful harmonies of nature—on the Sabbath of peace—we beheld bands of brothers, children of a common father, heirs to a common happiness, struggling together in the deadly fight with the madness of fallen spirits, seeking with murderous weapons the lives of brothers who have never injured them or their kindred.—Speech of Charles Sumner, 1848.

Smart Baby.

The doctor swears this is true. It is about his young daughter, who is not yet a year old. Just about noon the other day, when the doctor and his wife sat down to breakfast, of which they are very fond, the nurse brought the baby in from a long ride. The baby sat down around in the woman's arms, leaned over until she could see what was in the shining dish filled with boiling water and then remarked "See-see!"

Butter by the Yard.

In Cambridge the quaint old custom of selling butter into sticks and selling it by the yard still exists. So sometimes have the butter merchants in the markets become to this practice that they use neither weights nor scales. A nut cut with a knife and the yard of butter is divided into halves, quarters or eighths, as it may be required.—Home Chat.

The Quality of the Meat Sold at Windfeldt's is Unexcelled

We make a specialty of buying the choicest meat that can be obtained. No one will deny that the Windfeldt quality is unexcelled by any market.

We cordially invite inspection of our choice cuts of Sirloin, Porterhouse, etc. Call at the Windfeldt store and examine them on the block. Order a cut for trial, if you are not a customer. Remember that the price is low.

In this connection, we wish to point out that Quality always determines price. For this reason it is not fair to compare prices unless quality is taken into consideration. The Windfeldt store guarantees low prices on all goods but puts the first emphasis upon quality.

Official newspaper for Westfield, N. J.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1910.

Problems of 1911.

During the year 1911, the people of Westfield are to concern themselves with sober reflection upon some very important problems of administration. Among these will be Road Improvements, in which all are vitally concerned because they involve public expenditures. Modern road building is a fine art with which few are familiar. And this important detail of local government is in the hands of the Road Committee of Council with the assistance and advice of Town Engineer, A. W. Vars. Mr. Charles M. Affleck whose term of office will expire on January first next, has commendably filled the office of chairman of Road Committee for the past two years. With a limited appropriation, Mr. Affleck has given himself conscientiously to the task of improving our public highways. He has had to be governed by conditions and the needs of the entire town. Mr. Affleck has done as much as any man who ever occupied the position for the good of the people at large. He has been misunderstood and the subject of much undeserved criticism. It is probable that as long as our present form of government lasts men who occupy this position will be handicapped in their enthusiasm for work, unless steps are taken to give the citizens a sympathetic understanding of the problems involved. It is not possible for any public officer always to yield to the demands of a particular section. He must legislate for the whole people. Nor can he be always explaining. In justice to all public servants, therefore, the work of interesting the people specifically in local questions must be speedily undertaken.

The Board of Trade held a meeting last year at which Road Building was discussed. The question will be taken up again this year in the hope that every citizen in Westfield, be he a member of the Board of Trade or not, will interest himself in the subject and attend the meetings with a mind open to conviction. Another question of importance is water. That has been brought to the fore this year with insistence and was a mooted question in the local campaign. Our citizens in authority will investigate the question, probably by the appointment of a special committee. The citizens need exact information along this line which cannot be had by assailing the Plainfield-Union Company, but by a careful and impartial study of the physical aspects of the situation. Such deliberation can accomplish only a good object if undertaken in the right way. Nothing is to be gained by passionate appeals to prejudice; nor is it helpful to assail the motives of those who believe that municipal ownership of water is neither practical or feasible under existing conditions. The main consideration is how a man reasons, and what facts he brings to bear upon the issues involved.

Unless something is done to crystallize public opinion nothing definite can be accomplished. This newspaper will welcome an impartial discussion of the water question. Any citizen of Westfield having an opinion to offer or a question to ask is invited to use the columns of the STANDARD. Copies of the special article on "The Economic Side of the Water Question," may be had at this office free of charge. Having read the arguments advanced therein the reader will be prepared to write this newspaper and give his views upon the subject.

There are other important questions which must be considered and the Mayor and Council of the Town should be encouraged in the discharge of their duties by the co-operation of the citizens. It may have occurred to many that our citizens in authority are handicapped by our present form of government. Legislation for a change in form, whereby the appointment of a Board of Estimate and Apportionment and a Comptroller can be made, thus to simplify and make more thorough our local methods of finance, would be helpful.

Westfield is big! And it is growing! With its growth and extension there has come a need for new things. Let us give ourselves over to a thoughtful and thorough study of local needs and conditions with a view single to the good and welfare of the town.

The Election.

The Democratic landslide all over the country on Tuesday upset the mathematical calculations of the most astute students of the political game. Not that something of the sort was unexpected, for the atmosphere was dense with rumors of a "change," but that the manifestations of the sweep should have effected every town, city and hamlet in this and other states was not a part of the program of the prophets. To say why it happened is to challenge a thousand or more individual conclusions—and what would be the use. The result is convincing, and even the leading apostle of the strenuous life, whose activities in the universe have helped to "swell the flowing tide," is constrained to hold his tongue.

The election is over and the people have emphatically expressed themselves. Let us to work then in a spirit of sober earnestness. The Democratic party has it in its power to carry out all the progressive campaign pledges. And as the Governor-Elect of New Jersey put it, "It is up to myself and the party to make good."

The coming local administration will be made up of Democrats and Republicans who have been elected to office by convincing majorities by a Republican constituency. Now that the election is over, party and personal preferences are set aside and the whole people unite to co-operate with our citizens in authority in furthering the interests of the Town. We offer our congratulations to the successful aspirants to public office, and we wish them an era of progress and good will. And to those who have borne the burden of public responsibility, we offer our gratitude for services rendered by them as public spirited citizens. They have done well by the Town. May the year 1911 bring increased prosperity to Westfield.

They Belong to Westfield.

Westfield is coming to the front as the home of statesmen. Lloyd

Thompson's ability to overcome the majorities usually rolled up by the victorious party in a landslide, has given him prestige throughout the county, and we dare say the news has not escaped the attention of people in other parts of the state.

William E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, was elected to Congress by a majority of over 4,000. We shall confidently expect to hear Westfield favorably mentioned at Washington as well as Trenton during the next two years. In paying tribute to her favorite sons, citizens have given their home town a mark of distinction. In this all important matter of local pride, party affiliation is not a first consideration. Witness the fact that Mr. Tuttle is a Democrat and Mr. Thompson a Republican. Answer—they belong to the Town of Westfield.

Congressman-Elect Tuttle, being a bachelor, will doubtless appreciate the information that if the wives of some of the citizens had been voters his majority would have been materially increased.

Another argument for Militant Suffragettes which must not be overlooked when Congress convenes.

The Democrats ought to be happy, and the Republicans ought not to be downhearted. For the first time in fifteen years the state went over to the Democrats.

One consolation for the defeated; the gun was loaded with shot and hit everybody branded with the G. O. P. label.

We note that Woodrow Wilson's majority in Westfield was 23.

It is Wilson—and that's all!

Casey's at the bat.

BARN OF JACK SELLS AT GRACELAND BURNED TO GROUND

Destroyed Building and Contents
Valued at $1000.

The barn of Expressman Jack Sells, at the Graceland end of North avenue, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The firemen were called out, but there was no hope of saving the building and a large part of its contents. A pony and pony cart were rescued from the flames, however, in the nick of time. One brand new buggy, two sleighs, five tons of hay, and 100 bags of oats were destroyed. The damage done is estimated at $1000, a part of which is covered by insurance.

The cause of the fire is not known.

Historical Reception to Dr. and Mrs. Leemis
A "historical reception" will be tendered to Dr. and Mrs. Leemis by the Men's Club of the Congregational Church in the church parlors, on Tuesday Evening, November 15, from 8 to 10, to celebrate the first anniversary of the installation of the pastor. Scraps of history of old and new Westfield will be appropriately celebrated. Excellent music has been provided and reasonable refreshments will be served. Everybody is invited.

A. C. LINGO

Carpenter & Builder

431 Westfield Avenue,

Westfield, N. J.

Dear Sir:—

I take this method of calling your attention to the fact, that I am now prepared to give my prompt and personal attention to jobbing in all its branches. I make a specialty of pleasing the most exacting and would like an opportunity of estimating on any work, you are contemplating, no matter how small the job. Now is the time to get your order in for storm-shed and weather strip. Few people appreciate what a great saving in coal they will effect. My charges are low. Think it over and give me a trial as I am sure it will be to our mutual advantage.

Yours very truly,

A. C. Lingo.

—Fred Phillips and family have moved to Chicago.

—R. T. Mills left Wednesday on a western business trip.

—The Central Railroad is having the trees in the station park trimmed.

—Harold Edwards, of Embree Crescent, is spending the winter in Brooklyn.

—Miss Amelia Bostable, of New York, visited Miss Edna Hasking, election day.

—The last cartload of brick for the new firehouse arrived at the freight yard Monday.

—Mrs. A. C. Martin, of Dudley avenue, has been entertaining Miss H. East, of Brooklyn.

—Abbie Frederick Russell, formerly of Westfield, died of heart failure, Wednesday, November 3rd, at East Orange, N. J.

—The alumni association of the Westfield High School will hold a business meeting and dance at Washington School hall, Friday evening, Nov. 26th.

—Dr. C. M. F. Egel attended the banquet of the Plainfield Dental Society at the Park Club, Plainfield, last night. Dr. Egel is president of the society.

—Miss Stone, curving for South avenue, between Summit and Westfield avenues, has arrived on the ground and work will shortly commence upon the improvements.

—Eugene H. Hall, president of the Hall Signal Company, Garwood, will address the Men's Club on Wednesday evening, November 3rd, in the Methodist church.

—George F. Marsh, of Mountain Ave., has been confined to the home for the past week and under the doctor's care, but is improving and expects to be out and about in a few days.

—E. P. Roe's widely read love story, "He Fell in Love with his Wife," which has been included in the circulating libraries for a quarter of a century, has been put in play form by Edith Ellis and will be produced in this city at an early date.

—Congressman-elect William E. Tuttle, Jr., and Bishop Courtney, of New York, will be the principal dinner speakers at the annual banquet of the Men's Club of St. Paul's Episcopal Church one week from to-night, in the Presbyterian parish house.

—Miss Randolph's Sunday school class will hold a cake and candy sale in Mr. H. C. Lockwood's office, corner of North avenue and Elm street, on Saturday afternoon from two until four o'clock, for the benefit of the First Congregational Church in the Philippines.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. Wallace Doying observed their first wedding anniversary by entertaining a number of their friends at the younger set, at their Washington street home, Thursday evening. Orchestra, chess, cards, coffee, cigarettes, confectionery, cards, conversation and congratulations constituted the ceremonies.

—The Westfield fire ladders will be very much in evidence next Sunday, November 13th, when an excellent photograph of the entire Westfield Fire Department in full uniform, will be given free with the Sunday World.

The photograph, which was taken expressly for the Sunday World will be issued as a special separate photo supplement on heavy paper ready for framing. Recognition of this sort is quite a compliment to the Westfield firemen and a well deserved tribute to their efficiency and creditable record. No doubt there will be an extraordinary demand for this picture.

—Miss Annie B. Hanson, of Ashbury Park, visited relatives in this place Wednesday.

—The Board of Freeholders will hold a special meeting on Friday, November 18th, to pay election bills.

—Too numerous to mention citizens remained home from business Wednesday, the result of election bills.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. E. D. Jackson, of Dudley avenue, East, left Thursday for Chicago to visit their son Lawrence, who is engaged in business there.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Edwards and family of Embree Crescent, will leave tomorrow for Melrose, Florida, to be gone until the first of May.

—The Union Thanksgiving Day service will be held in the Congregational Church at 10:30 a. m. The Rev. Dr. Stearns, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will preach.

—The Rev. John Fitch, of Plainfield, will preach in the First Baptist Church next Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Greenwood, the pastor, will preach at his former church in Meriden, Conn.

—A social meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the hall on Prospect St., on Tuesday afternoon, from half past three until five o'clock. Members and friends are invited to come and bring sewing.

—The ladies of the Baptist Church will hold a "Bazaar Sale" this afternoon and evening, also to-morrow afternoon and evening, in the store formerly occupied by the Filmer Construction Company, on Elm street.

—The next regular meeting of the Woman's Club will be held on Monday afternoon next, November 14th, at three o'clock, in the Presbyterian parish house. "Queen Elizabeth" will be the topic and music a feature of the program.

—The funeral services for the late Mrs. Charles H. Dietz were held Tuesday evening, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Ross, in Chestnut street. The Rev. Dr. W. I. Stearns, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiated. The body was taken to Woodlawn Cemetery Wednesday for interment.

A Democrat's View of It

The new party has moved into quarters reeking with infection and nothing can be hoped for until there has been a thorough disinfection of present conditions.

Within the year the coming administration will have become so humiliated with corruption that the nation will be crying, "Help!" and we will see Roosevelt leading his forces on to battle for the nation's salvation. Roosevelt's (mistake) or failure was that he went to sea in an abandoned and scuttled ship.

I am willing to trust my fate to the assertion that any one not in accord with Roosevelt's policies (in the main) is either a fool or a knave.

A DEMOCRAT.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS

The Westfield High School football team defeated the Knickerbocker Athletic Club, also of Westfield, at Recreation Park Tuesday afternoon by a score of 6 to 0. Features of the game were the long runs and forward passes of Hunt and Keyes, of the High School team.

Over 100 spectators enjoyed the game. The quarters were played in ten minutes. Mr. Martin, of the High School faculty acted as referee and L. Dallas was umpire.

Don't Play With Fire

A COMMON caution to children but also good for grown men and women. You are playing with fire when you insure your property without carefully selecting the company which promises to protect you against loss. Companies differ just like individuals. Why take chances when, at no extra cost, safety can be had by simply saying to us, when your insurance expires, "Give me a policy in the Hartford."

The "Hartford" is the best known fire insurance company in America. For a century it has promptly paid every loss, the aggregate now amounting to more than $164,000,000. Its reputation for fairness is unexcelled. Its resources are never in danger from the hidden rocks of stock speculation, because invested only in the safest securities. One hundred years of life and growth have demonstrated its able management and unshaken stability. You are not playing with fire when you ask for the "Hartford."

Francesca's Busy Morning

Francesca is an American child, with the face of a blonde Dutch cherub, the vivacity of a French infant and an Italian front name. All this is hard to live up to when one is but three-and-one-half years old. On one particular morning Francesca found life especially trying.

She had started out after breakfast with a properly smiling morning countenance and a perfectly clean pink frock. When she ran gleefully into the room where her mother was, that young matron regarded her offspring with an abstracted eye. Her thoughts were on her trunk, which she was in the act of packing.

"Run right out of here!" commanded Francesca's mother. "And stay out till I finish! You'll mix everything all up!"

Francesca slid out of the room and then beamed. Across the hall interesting things seemed to be in progress in her aunt's room.

"Francesca!" was her greeting. "Get up—you're right in the middle of that stung and musing it dreadfully!"

"Watchdogs!" Francesca demanded. "Covering a box couch—can't you see?" inquired her exasperated aunt. "Get up and run away—don't come in here till I finish. It's all tacks and scissors and hammers and things!"

"I want the hammer! Give me the hammer!" cried Francesca delightedly. She felt herself propelled upward and outward. Then she landed in the cottage living room before she could gasp for breath. Being there she decided not to howl after all, especially as something on the writing table attracted her eyes.

"Francesca!" called her mother. "You are so still—what are you doing?"

"Nothing," said Francesca. Her aunt peered over Francesca's shoulder. "Dear me!" she said. "If she isn't sitting in the Morris chair with her hands folded like an injured angel!"

"Injured angel nothing!" said her mother a few seconds later. She knew Francesca's silences were full of significance and had come to investigate. "She has your red leather bridge out and has bent up all the cards! Francesca!"

"Put her outdoors to play," suggested her aunt. "It's a lovely day. She can't do more than sprout a few trees or knock out the foundations of the house!"

"I don't know," said her mother. "Those rainy days she made life a horror by her teasing to go out and play, but she's so contrary. Francesca, darling, don't you want to take your ball and little red wagon and go out into the yard awhile in the nice sunshine?"

"No," said Francesca, determinedly. "Auntie'll give you the kitchen spoon to dig with," came from the couch-covers.

"No," said Francesca. "What that child needs is diplomacy," said her aunt. "We won't let Francesca go out of doors, will we, mother? She has to stay in the house all this nice day—"

"I wanna go outdoors!" wailed Francesca.

"There!" said her aunt five minutes later when they had bundled her out with her toys. "If you'd handle her the right way you could do anything with her!"

A few minutes later Francesca's mother, who had glanced out of the window, flew into the yard and bore her child indoors.

"It's terribly easy to manage her!" she remarked sarcastically. "This child's pulled up three geraniums, broken most of the ferns and dug holes down the path with her spoon and all in ten minutes!"

"I only hope she applies the same energy to getting on in the world when she grows up!" wailed Francesca's aunt. "Francesca, sit in that chair and don't you dare budge! I'm going to keep an eye on you."

"Where is it?" inquired Francesca, presently. She was searching up and down her pinafore.

"What?"

"Your eye," said Francesca. "Can I have a pin to sew it?"

"Yes!" said her aunt. "Run out into the pantry and lift the cover from the big tin breadbox on the floor and take a slice of bread. There's butter on the top slice, which was left from the other time you were hungry this morning."

Francesca pattered away. Presently they both went to look for her. On the floor sat Francesca, both hands full of chocolate-coated cake, stuffing it away as one famished. Much of the chocolate smeared her countenance and her dress.

"Oh!" cried her mother. "I forget that I put the cake in the breadbox. And I thought she could wait that dress on the train and all her others are packed! Francesca!"

"I wanna drink!" said her child. "You wanna spanking!" said her aunt. "I wish I were not uncharitably opposed to corporal punishment! I'm kind of changing my views!"

Francesca slid over to them. She slid one hand into her mother's and grasped her aunt's apron with the other, raising her chocolate-smeared, cherubic countenance beseechingly. "I wanna kiss you!" she pleaded, impudently.

"You little imp!" said her mother. "Isn't she the little!" said her aunt. Then they looked down at Francesca's order for bread.

Serious Business Talks

Why do some people buy homes while others continue to collect Rent Receipts?

This may be answered in one word of one syllable—Thrift.

Several weeks ago we made the statement that we had sold several houses, mentioning the buyers' names.

We also mentioned that we were about to start several more, the details of which we would be pleased to talk over with possible clients.

Now Read Carefully

The results were, that the new house which we are building on Lenox Avenue near Stanley, was sold before the roof was on, and the one we are starting on Lenox Avenue opposite, is sold.

(Two more good lots on Lenox Avenue sold.)

You note we have not mentioned the buyers' names—were you one of them?

If you are a rent-payer, don't you think in duty to your wife and family, you should give this matter your serious consideration?

We can refer you to our clients both in Westfield and Plainfield, and we can safely say they are proud of their homes.

A "Randolph" constructed house is an honest house built by day's work by mechanics who take a personal interest in our success. Ask them.

Stomach Troubles Cured by Vinol

"I suffered so long from stomach trouble and indigestion, that I lost flesh rapidly—VINOL cured me after everything else had failed. It strengthened my digestive organs—gave me a hearty appetite, and I can eat anything without the slightest distress. I do not believe anything equals VINOL for stomach trouble and indigestion."

W. E. WATKINSON,

Portland, Me.

Mr. Theo. G. Wallace, of Detroit, Mich., writes, "I suffered for years from a chronic stomach trouble. VINOL entirely cured me after everything else had failed."

It is the curative medicinal elements of the cod's liver, combined with the strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in VINOL, which makes it so successful in restoring perfect digestion, and at the same time building up the weakened run-down system.

Try a bottle of VINOL with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

The Chinese Way.
In China children are brought up almost as if they were deaf and dumb. A Chinese boy or girl will sit in the presence of father or mother for hours and never say a word unless spoken to. The Chinese boy who would speak to a caller at the house unless he had permission would be considered a most impudent rascal. Here in America the children do most of the talking, and the old folks have to keep quiet.

The Modern Child.
A young girl, incorrigibly given to slang, went with her mother to the funeral of an aunt. The dead woman had been strikingly handsome in life, and her features retained all their attractiveness. "How do you think Aunt Blanche looked?" asked the mother when they had viewed the corpse. Enthusiastically the child replied: "Dead swell, didn't she, mother?"

Your Violets May Have Sympathy.
With all its fascinations, violet raising is often attended with many disappointments. Perhaps one reason for amateurs having trouble with unhealthy plants is an over-ripeness of the soil that is given them. For, unlike some other flowers, violets are apt to have a sort of sympathy all their own from over-ripeness.

Moderation a Requisite.
It is a good thing to have good friends, but not to be dominated too much or too long by their example.—Rev. William Dickie.

Precious Metals Lost.
The loss from wear and tear and shipwreck of precious metals has been estimated at two tons of gold and 200 tons of silver yearly.

Hard to Change.
You cannot, in any given case, by any sudden and single effort, will to be true, if the habit of your life has been insincerity.—F. W. Robertson.

A two faced individual—the parson performing the marriage ceremony.

It requires some nerve to christen the election bet hat by wearing it to church.

When it comes to fixing responsibility it makes a world of difference who does things.

It doesn't alleviate the sting of political defeat any to recount the reasons why it happened.

One of the ill effects of aerial navigation has been discovered; it produces clouding of the brain.

Once in awhile in life's travels we run across a direct who is the chaff of a crop of good advice.

There are very few mourners in the procession that trails a dead ambition to the political graveyard.

Fall house cleaning time gives the man of the family a chance to play his part in the moving pictures.

Adam was handicapped in his opinion of women; his real information was confined to that one woman.

One unfailing sign of a woman growing old is when she can't remember where she laid her eye glasses.

The sensitive part of the sting of defeat is when we are waiting for it; more so than after we have met it.

When a father maps out his boy's career he loses sight of the fact that he is dealing with an undiscovered country.

After the election, how quickly some political philosophers uncork the thoughts they were saving until it was all over.

Meekness is the careful housewife who doesn't make a complaint when her husband forgets to use the door mat on a rainy day.

The preacherman's toughest job is in selecting enough of the occasional commendation he receives to satisfy his own sense of duty.

The ease with which a woman fabricates about her age is well matched by the nerve of the man who lies about the way he voted.

You can tell they are on their way back from the honeymoon when the groom gently holds the bride's carcases off so she will not crush the cigars in his vest pocket.

A man can swallow political defeat election night without making a wry face right up to the point where his wife welcomes his home coming and tells him she is tickled to death.

People continually hunting for something to complain about might reflect upon the fact that there is just so much Swiss cheese to the pound no matter how the holes vary in size.

The reaching for political preference is a game of trying to be several kinds of a good fellow before election and realizing how many different sorts of a chump you were after you are dumped.

We can't help but admire the definite and determined way the patient plodder travels but we tremble at the thought of the time when he will be too tired to taste the fruit of his toil.

We know of a business man in town who has a novel way of reminding himself of the important things he should attend to on the morrow. Before leaving the store at night he writes to himself on a postal card and the first mail of the next morning brings the card with the important routine of the day.

A public man thinks he gives himself to his constituents, but it is really his family who gives him. He has the stimulus of a public task to occupy his mind; the family has nothing but his enforced absence, his preoccupation when at home, his worries and the stinging shafts of criticism which are not tempered or lightened because they rest on him.

A Forced Reduction of Stock Creates a Sale of Tremendous Magnitude at the Height of the Season

The Building Adjoining Occupied by Wisc, to be Turned Over to Us Next Week Instead of September First as Expected.

We have acquired the building adjoining us, which we intend occupying in addition to our own. It was to be given over to us in the middle of August or by September first. We prepared accordingly, and purchased not only our usual quantities, but sufficient for our requirements with the additional room. This has given us an exceptionally large stock, much larger than we can take care of in our present quarters. Now the contractors come and say they must have room to work. We cannot condense our stock more, we can only reduce it by selling.

We Must Sell and Sell Quickly

no matter what the sacrifices necessary to accomplish it, so we offer you the best bargains you have in many a day—the sort you may expect at a season's end; not when goods are in demand, as they are now.

This is the Time of Year to Buy Underwear

¶ Mentor Suits give a new kind of underwear comfort—no drawers to slip down or to show above trousers.

¶ No shirt to crawl up and no double thickness about the waist. Very elastic because knit on spring needle machines.

¶ Fit like a second skin—in fact, so in sympathy with every line and movement of the body you don't know they are on.

¶ That why we call them Unconscious Underwear.

¶ Fabrics to suit all tastes. Come and see.

¶ It's time to be thinking about heavier underwear—and in this regard we might say we were fortunate in securing a new shipment of the celebrated Mentor Comfort Underwear.

¶ There is such a demand for this brand of underwear that we can't always get the supply we want—hence we are glad to announce that we have received a good stock in all sizes and various weights.

¶ You probably know about its excellent qualities, but if by chance you do not, it's your duty to become acquainted with it, when you are ready for a change.

¶ Mentor Comfort Underwear costs us more than some others, but we don't raise the price to you.

referred to the committee on buildings and grounds. A communication was also received from H. Willoughby regarding the condition of Washington street and Westfield avenue. Mr. Willoughby said in part that he did not want to hurt any one's feelings but he did think the streets mentioned needed a little attention as they had been left in pretty bad shape after the contractors had finished their work. The matter was referred to the road committee.

Mr. Jackman, in a communication, asked that proper protection be given the surrounding forests as regards fire protection, saying that the chestnut trees especially needed protection, as the older trees were now blighted and the young shoots would be destroyed if a fire swept through them. The Mayor will take care of this matter himself.

The ordinance to change the name of a part of Harrison avenue between Mountain avenue and Park View avenue to Dudley avenue, passed second and third readings, as did also the ordinance to vacate certain streets in the Manor Park section and the ordinance for a blue stone sidewalk along the northeasterly side of Westfield avenue from Park street to Washington street.

No objections were made to the sidewalk on Mountain avenue for which a petition had been received from T. B. Reynolds.

Resolutions were passed for a blue stone sidewalk along both sides of New street from Central avenue to South Elmer street and also for a sidewalk on both sides of Kimball avenue from Euclid to Harrison avenues. The hearings on these resolutions were set for November 15.

The building inspector's report showed receipts of $35 for building permits during the month of October. The reports of various other town officers were read.

S. W. Hill, who resides on West Walnut street, asked that a street light be placed in front of his property as the condition of the roads were in such a state as to warrant one in that vicinity.

A resolution was presented by Chairman Atlock for the assessment of the cost of sprinkling the streets with tarvis and oil.

"Cubs" to Have Dinner.

The Westfield "Cubs" will have a team dinner in New York City on Saturday evening, November 20. All players having played for Manager "Mac" will be there and also Mr. A. H. Clark and Mr. G. A. Schaefer. This will be the first time that all the players have assembled for a meeting and a fine time is expected. Among the "Cubs" are some fine singers, such as Ben Hines, "Duke" O'Connell, Dudley Green, and Ford Douglas. They will form the evening's quartet.

note the degree of distinguishing difference.

As any offence is pardonable until it is discovered the deeper duty devolves upon appearance, thus reality is ruthlessly relegated to the rear.

The lie of necessity is manufactured by the man whose manhood has moved—the mendicant who wants money "to buy a cup of coffee." This style of lie is also a help to the benighted husband who has not the heart to be honest at home.

The cheerful liar can be countenanced in any community; his prevarication delves into detail, the deeper the detail the more flimsy the fib whether it be fish, foreseeing events or the funny sayings of his small kids.

The one satellite in the firmament of falsehood is the lie of sincere kindness, which wholly obliterates, by its brilliancy, the spluttering star of the lie of sheer necessity. This lie twinkles merrily when we shun the man who is no good because contact with him might cause us to surrender our secret sentiment.

The strain of sentiment that has subjected Dickens to the scorn of some and everlastingly endeared him to the hearts of those who see humanity in his humor well covers the sincere kindness kind of white lie in the poverty stricken Finch heading over his last guinea to Charles with the remark—"there's plenty more where that came from," and the rebound: "There are some falsehoods, Tom, on which men rise as on bright wings to Heaven; there are some truths, cold, bitter, tainting truths, that lead men down to earth with leaden chains."

Down to brass tacks; it is difficult for the defeated and the disappointed over the result of the battle of ballots to any more than—"Well, it won't make much difference to the country and the common people."

But do they believe it?

In conclusion, don't overlook the lakewarm lie, which means activity in politics and other public matters with an anchor of apathy attached.

BILL FRANKLIN.

"Standard" Advertising Pays.

In response to an inquiry by a STANDARD man, a representative of the Pennell Company had this to say: "You see, in the early fall we had about 30 cords of fireplace wood, gotten together in our cleaning up process of our Brightwood Forest property. To dispose of this wood we did a little local advertising, and every cord has been sold. A little later, perhaps, we will have more wood for sale as we intend to keep on cleaning out our Brightwood Forest property of all undesirable trees leaving none but sturdy oaks, dogwood, beech, maple, ash, etc. of which kind we have hundreds of beautiful trees and we hope in time to make this tract one beautiful grove of well developed forest trees."

"Thank you," said the STANDARD man. "I am glad to again hear that STANDARD advertising pays."

WHAT THE CANDIDATES SAY.

Mayor-Elect Dennis Statement.

I did not expect that the people of Westfield would give me a handsome vote; in fact, I had anticipated that if elected it would be by a small majority. The result was a happy surprise to me.

I am very grateful to the people of Westfield for their vote of confidence and it shall be my duty as Mayor to be the representative of the whole people irrespective of party.

I am opposed to the holding of a "recess" or "executive session" during the council meetings and one of my first acts will be to do away with this formality. I think that all public business should be acted in the open, so that the people may know what is going on. There may be a few exceptions to this rule, but, in my judgment, they are very few and far between.

I have every reason to believe that the coming administration will be cordially supported by the citizens. There is much important work to be done by council and the support of all is essential to success.

Councilman-Elect Evans —

Please thank my friends for their vote of confidence. I appreciate it.

Councilman-Elect Moser —

I am grateful to the citizens of my ward for electing me to office. I shall do my best to assist in giving the town a business-like administration.

Town Clerk-Elect Clark —

I am very much surprised at the big vote given me, and I am grateful. I shall do my best to fulfill the duties of the office to the satisfaction of the citizens of Westfield.

Councilman-Elect DeCamp —

I thank the citizens of my ward for electing me to office. I shall do my best to deserve their support.

Councilman Mohanstein —

I wish to thank the people of the Second Ward for returning me to office. It means that they are satisfied with what I have done for the ward and the town. I shall continue to do my best.

Lloyd Thompson —

The returns show that I have secured the confidence of the people of my town and county. That is the most gratifying feature of the election so far as my own candidacy is concerned. I am encouraged to continue with renewed energy and zeal to serve the people's interests, and alone, as a representative in the legislature. To the people of Westfield whose loyalty has been so thoroughly manifested in a year when I had set so strongly against my party, I owe deep appreciation. If Westfield failed me this time my defeat would have been complete. I shall endeavor to justify their good will.

Congressman-Elect Tuttle —

I am naturally pleased that the Democratic party has been elected in the confidence of the people, and that the State of New Jersey has risen to its opportunity and elected Woodrow Wilson Governor. I believe that his administration will be one of the ablest in the history of the State, and that he is in line for high national honors.

In my own election a signal honor has been conferred, and I realize the obligations and responsibilities involved.

Although I received a flattering vote throughout the District, the most gratifying returns were those from my home town. From Westfield, which is ordinarily Republican by four or five hundred majority of over four hundred and fifty is a tribute for which I find words to express my gratitude and appreciation. My only regret is that I may meet the expectation of my friends, and that they may have cause to regret the confidence reposed in me.
