Dedication

In this momentous year of Nineteen Hundred and Forty-Three, when the clouds of war cast their blight upon all parts of the globe, it seems fitting and proper to dedicate THE WEATHER VANE ANNUAL to those who have left the Senior Class of the Westfield High School to engage in the titanic struggle against those forces that threaten the spirit of freedom and justice, of which the school is a dynamic representative.

There are eighteen boys in all: Seaman Second Class Bill McFarlane, Private First Class Richard Hinterleitner, Air Corps Cadet James Riach, Merchant Marine Cadet Marcel Rodriguez, Seaman Second Class Donald Briant, Apprentice Seaman George Price, "Seabee" Emile Georgett, Private Richard Hillier of the U. S. M. C., Private Don Goettel, Aviation Cadet Charles Simpson, Merchant Marine Cadet James Smith, Private Edward Frickman, Corporal Curtis Damm, Private Richard Coleman of the U. S. M. C., Seaman Second Class Walter Correll, Private Phil Wight, Private James Kjellmark, Private Robert Hamm, and Merchant Marine Cadet Robert Gardner, truly a cross-section of the Senior Class. They are no longer youths, their minds immersed in the sundry tasks of school, but men taking their places in the fighting might of freedom.

Thus it is to you, our former classmates, that we dedicate this book with utmost pride and devotion, coupling with this dedication the assurance that you will not be our sole representatives in this prodigious conflict, but merely the vanguard.

Betty Jane Allen

Red-haired Betty Jane is fond of writing and journalism. Her shy grin of friendliness makes her welcome everywhere. Hoping to breed dogs, she's proud of "Con'el," her cocker spaniel.

Bradford Alpers

This gentleman, inspired cheerleader, and fine pal, is one of the pillars of the class. If there is a job to do or office to fill, draft Brad and insure success.

Anna Alonzo

Whenever Anna sets her mind on doing something, she gets it done. Although her goal is a secretarial position, she likes to sing and play hockey in her spare time.

Jane Anderson

"Good things come in small packages" certainly applies in Jane's case. A long list of athletic activities including hockey, skating, and tennis makes her fun to be with any time.

Douglas Augell

A hep-cat, definitely on the ball but also a persevering student, Doug presides as Master Councillor in the De Molay. His spare time is spent with a cute little blonde.

Helen Atamantyk

A quiet Dodger fan, Helen is one of our more dependable seniors. A good listener with an attractive smile and alert mind, Helen will make good as an Army nurse.

Harriet Auster

"A letter," is the familiar squeal from this peppy girl. "Hat," who divides her time between licking stamps and listening to Harry James, will always be remembered for her conscientiousness.

Ruth Backus

"Butch," athletic jokester, and charter member of the "Ellis Club," is a regular attendant at Mr. Karnell's Sunday gatherings. Her friendly smile and cheery greeting make "Butch" tops.

Donald Bagger

Don, who loves an argument and stubbornly holds his ground, has distinguished himself in public speaking. A realist, somewhat skeptical, he recognizes unsolved problems and would build for the future.

Barbara Baker

Bobbie believes in seeing America first and has been in every state in the Union. An ardent devotee of journalism, Barbara has been a faithful worker for the Hi's-Eye.

Virginia Barnes

Although she's diminutive in size, one cannot well overlook "Barnie." Her talents include a mastery of the silver blades, but we're sure she'd sooner dance with an "Angell."

Frank Bartholomew

Without Frank and his trumpet, school just wouldn't be school. "Fred-die's" likeable personality and his great talent should certainly bring him the best in life, for he well deserves it.

Angel Bavosa

"Angel" is capable of completing practically anything, including forward passes. His feats at left end will long be remembered. His industriousness and willingness to work should bring results in later life.

Pat Bavosa

Varsity left guard and boxer extraordinary describe this quiet, good-natured fellow who makes up for his stature through many achievements. Pat says little, is friendly, and accomplishes a lot.

Polly Belcher

Everyone who knows Polly loves her for her unaffected manner, cheerful smile, and good nature. Middlebury will profit no end by her keen mind, lively wit, and love of fun.

Phyllis Belcher

"Vivacious" is the word for Phyllis, for there'll never be a dull moment when she's around. Phyllis's ability to win friends and her ambition indicate a successful musical future.

Mary Bloomsburgh

Nothing in English or French literature ever stumps Mary, and her heated discussions on the intelligence of authors peps up many a class. We predict a brilliant future for her.

Robert Bosworth

If your car breaks down from excessive use (?) let Bob fix it. This unassuming mechanic and intellectual will help you out. Before rationing he took many fifth period lunchers home.

B.G.C.

Tessie Braents

"Shorty" aspires to become five feet tall, and stretching exercises are a part of her daily routine. Her chief interests are band leaders and a certain Marine in the Solomons.

Lynn Dennesholtz

Dubbed the class recluse by home-room men-about-town, Lynn nevertheless has travelled extensively, especially in the West. He approves engineering as a life work, canoeing as a recreation.

Don Briant

Don left the cheerful atmosphere of 101 to join Uncle Sam's bluejackets as a gunner's mate. Quiet, serious, and sincere, Don merits happy sailing in his stirring naval career.

Robert Brooks

"Ghost Train" sound and stage man, king of aquacloons, physics wizard—Bob's a real scientist. His red hair, cheerful smile, cool temper, and perpetual wit make him welcome everywhere.

Marilyn Buckn

A winning smile and a cheery nature are two of the reasons "Lynn" has so many friends. Although she is a good student, she finds time to collect the newest records.

Patricia Byrnes

Pat is one of the reasons why you get your Hi's-Eye every other Friday. Pat's understanding, sincerity, and willingness to help others have long been admired by her many friends.

William Carlin

Bill Carlin, one of Miss Grimler's ablest tenors, is shy and reserved when not singing. When not dreaming in class, he can usually be found working on some hard, undesired job.

Esther Christensen

Her sweetness and capability make Esther a valued friend to the many people who know her. A whiz either on skates or behind a typewriter, she's always willing to help.

Edward Christiansen

This seemingly quiet fellow removes his mask of silence on the basketball court, where he has been dubbed "Hawkeye". Also a golf "ace," he is certain of success in later life.

Dorothy Clark

"Chief" of the subversive activity in any gathering, Dot is known for that effervescent personality. C. E., certain church activities, and the Navy keep our future ambulance driver busy at present.

Bill Clotworthy

Bill, our versatile M. C., plans to continue in the field of speech. Actor, producer, backer, and diving clown, this suave fellow's the little man behind every big project in school.

Helen Packley

Helen's irresistible smile and winning personality have won her many a friend in school and out. Always "in there" giggling, she's the very best of company and "tops" with us.

Richard Coleman

Something new was added to W. H. S. this year, a blond, "smoothie" dresser who likes tomboys. When he was here, his heart belonged to Trinity; now it belongs to the Marines.

Walter Correll

When Walt joined the Navy, the Axis was just one step nearer defeat. His good-natured kidding and ever-ready smile together with his superb cookery will soon make him an admiral.

Frances Crandall

Definitely one of our most dignified and popular seniors is Francie-Lew. With her musical talent she has contributed much to W.H.S. Her charming manner has attracted a large circle of friends.

Thomas R Crawford Jr.

Famous for his pep on the cheering squad, Tommy has a special brand of vigor that lightens the routine of classwork. A jazz fan, he exhibits rug-cutting abilities of the best.

Bubsie Dannerhauer

Here's a peppy little senior with a winning way, "corny" jokes, and the latest gossip. Bubsie's one of the better-known members of the Dannerhauer clan, prominent in Westfield High.

Lois Darrell

"Darrelli," a talented stenographer, is one girl who proves that good looks and brains do mix. Ushering in the movies and listening to Glenn Miller records are her favorite pastimes.

R.C.H.

Betty Davis

Well remembered for her portrayal in the fall play, Betty is an active member of both the dramatic and music departments. A gay smile makes her one of our cheeriest seniors.

Walter Dean

"Deaner," always searching for something new, is one of the more prominent members of the "Women Hater's Union," though he'd sooner spend his dues on a good evening of bowling.

Bill Dellard

"Laughing Boy" Dellard is what they call him, but Willie isn't always silly, for he takes his trumpet and trombone playing seriously. He is partial to Priscilla Lane and blondes.

Geraldine Dexter

Here's our peppy newcomer from Michigan who has made herself a real part of our class. As she is interested in all W.H.S. activities, she has made many friends here.

John Dietze

The spark that ignites any party with unselfish good humor, John also has quite a number of "flames." The trite phrase "all-round good fellow" must have originated with him.

Malcolm Downs

Malcolm is another fellow whose seventeenth birthday conflicted with gas rationing. Nevertheless, he finds solace in flaunting a knowledge of aeronautics gained with the few survivors of Mr. J's draft-preparation class!

Kay Edge

Kay, that striking blonde, may some day grace the cover of Mademoiselle, or write famous short stories. We know she will have the "edge" on all her competitors in either field.

2ms.

Edward Ellis

Very well versed in football, basketball, baseball, and blondes, Ed has made many friends in the year he's been in W. H. S. He can always be recognized by his hands-in-pocket stride.

Charlotte Epps

Slim, graceful "Char" catches many an eye. Besides being pretty and good-natured, she has an intellectual turn. An outstanding favorite with both boys and girls, she will be missed in W. H. S.

Gloria Epstein

Woody Herman, horseback riding, and swimming are Gloria's firsts in life. We're sure her vivaciousness and unending cheerfulness will make a hit with her future nursery school students.

Alice Ewing

Writing to Detroit and entertaining numerous friends keep Alice busy. This modest girl, who is easy to get along with, loves children and plans to make child care her vocation.

Miriam Ewing

This girl with the ready smile and neat appearance hopes to be a secretary. Fond of sports and clever with her hands, Miriam is also a hard worker and fine friend.

Franklin Fagan

A philosopher and critic is this witty master of "math". His clear reasoning and distinctive personality will always be most helpful assets. Frank is a sincere and modest honor student.

Suzanne Fischer

Suzie with the big bright smile is our original four-year woman. Always there with a joke, or a stick of gum, she enlivened plane geometry class and study periods.

John Fletcher

Tall, quiet, smiling Jack is our brusque, businesslike class treasurer and president of the Literary Club, who has proved himself able in any capacity. Success will surely be his.

Frank Fontinello

A boogie-woogie hep-cat on the "ivoories," "Pop" has a sparkling personality and a steadily increasing family of fellow students. He's a jolly pal with heaps of staunch friends.

Ronaldin Korte

The man who was runner-up in the contest on famous women at the Community Fair has history licked in more ways than one. We believe he'll make the headlines sometime.

Werner E. Frickman

Ed's time is divided between the grocery business and tinkering with his "limousine." A cheery smile greets his friends, who wish him the best of luck wherever he may be.

William M. Funk

"Waldo," the band's potential flag carrier, is an ardent devotee of chemistry and photography. As "Madame la Marquise" at the Community Fair, his acting and his sparkling humor were universally enjoyed.

Betty Gaido

Here's the holy terror who makes merry within the portals of the old Alma Mater. This bane of all teacher's lives, "Bag," is star tackle of the "team." Kill Ozzie !!!

America Galizia

Who says that beauty and brains don't mix? One of our outstanding seniors, America has that certain ability for leadership which comes with friendliness, attractive appearance, and high scholastic standing.

Gloria Gamble

One of Mr. Warner's apple polishers, "Glo" has really worked hard at U. S. history. Actually her main interest lies in Virginia and she can keep you spellbound for ages.

Bob Gardner

Now a member of the Merchant Marine, Bob left early in the year. This quiet lad was loyal, dependable, and trustworthy, and was admired by all who knew him.

Don Garrison

Don, a maestro of the eighty-eight, can play anything and everything. Often he may be seen with a little girl sitting beside him, for he needs someone to turn pages.

James Gentles

Jim is an ardent Boy Scout and a hiking and camping enthusiast. An "expert" on political affairs and the business world, he hopes someday to be an accountant or a politician.

Emile W. Georgatos

"Ace," that quiet (?) confirmed bachelor, boogie addict, and swimming mainstay, was one of the first "stoodents" to enlist. We know his adaptation to competition will help him in the "Sea Bees."

Jeannie Gilber

Jeannie is the bright-eyed gal with the four star personality who captivates her audience. Remember Julia in "The Ghost Train?" Her sweet disposition and charm always make a hit.

Margaret Gillis

Star halfback with sparkling eyes, contagious giggle, and endless streams of chatter is "Miggie." This future lab-technician, who faces everything with a smile, will make Florida State her Alma Mater.

Jane Gilpin

Sports, especially tennis and swimming, are the forte of "Gilp," a gal with definite opinions. She keeps an eye on the Air Corps and need not worry about a certain "Young" man.

Don Gettel

Pigeons previously occupied most of Don's time, but now it's Uncle Sam's signal corps. Quiet, reserved, and possessing a friendly personality, Don will always be held high in our esteem.

Shirley Goetze

Shirley, better known as "Little Lulu," is one of our "brains." She may often be heard exercising vocally in A-201. Just ask her about those handsome lifeguards at Breton Woods!

Rosalie Gordon

"Lee" is the girl with the beautiful smile, big brown eyes, and wonderful personality. Her spare time is spent waiting for the mailman and those "V-Mail" letters from India.

Eleanor Gress

Always ready to do favors for friends, always early for appointments, always blushing when "He" appears, always worrying about tests, always resenting derogatory remarks about her dog—that's our "Ellie."

Harriet Griffin

Our demon center of the hockey field, "Butch," is definitely an all-around gal. This studious and warbling alto is very susceptible to three things—gossip, fun, and big brown eyes.

Ruth Griffin

"Oh crumb!" mourns Ruthie when she can't give a speech. Although she is an ardent sportswoman and an enthusiastic Hepburn fan, she aspires to be a nurse. Those fortunate patients!

Gordon Hamilton

Musician, scholar, gentleman, and wit describe "Doc," that popular and omnipresent man-about-school. His all-around good fellowship makes him one of the outstanding leaders at W. H. S.

Robert D. Hermin

Bob, the Master Councillor of the Sir Galahad Chapter of the De Molay, is well known for his flair for public speaking and narrating. His voice is a marvelous asset.

Audrey Hand

A cute senior with a heart-shaped face and an attractive personality, "Aud" is liked by all for her friendly interest in everyone. She's also a conscientious and co-operative student.

Charles Hamon

Philosopher, psychologist, humorist, and man of the hour, Charlie is one of our most influential seniors. This sterling gentleman and scholar has a magnetic personality, but his jokes are "corny."

Sylvester Hargrave

Sylvester, that demon of the basketball court, is everywhere renowned for his aggressiveness. But Sylvester has an intellectual side also. You should hear him quote Shakespeare, line after line.

Howard Harms

Slap-happy "Hoppie" is an admirer of the Merchant Marine and aspires to service in this gallant band. We'll remember his smile, his swimming, and his chickens—of the feathered variety.

Jane Nealy

Woman about horses, "Blondie" possesses a love for sports that has made her an outstanding athlete. Super kid—smooth dresser—A student—she's tops in any man's language.

Catherine Hew

"Bunny" is the kind of person we like to have around; so she figures in every school activity. Charm, friendliness, beauty, and brains characterize this twinkling-eyed senior.

Doris Hewison

"Hewie," distinguished by her blonde hair and dimpled smile, spends much of her time punching a typewriter. A future secretary, Doris' dimples and heart belong to the Navy.

Helem Hiep

"Come on!" That's "Bebe" whizzing around that corner. We envy her golden locks and her humor. It's evident she spends her time dreaming up those super expressions floating around school.

Richard Hillier

A pillar of strength in football and track is Rick, our contribution to the Marines. He's a talented actor and artist, a loyal pal, and a credit to his class.

Gertrude Hinterleitner

Although Gertrude spends much of her time working for the Typing Club and playing badminton, her real interest is with a certain Army lad. We all wish you luck, "Gertie."

Janis Nixon

Jan, the girl with the gorgeous brown eyes, entices not only the fellows in the armed forces, but also those who are not. She spends most of her spare time bowling.

B.R.

Jack Holmes

Having four years to blow his horn, Jack has become a loud noise. Although not helping his school work, Jack's athletic abilities greatly attract the fair sex. Good luck, Jack!

Yvonne Hunter

A fiend at bridge, house parties, and making money, Yvy's sincerity, friendliness, and ever helpful attitude make her a never-to-be-forgotten member of our class. She is also decorative.

George Ingalls

The dark, silent type, George may often be seen touring the town on his "snazzy" English-type bike. He is also one of 201's leading authorities on "Dodger-ology." (No cracks!)

Josephine Ingraham

Victimized by Speech and addicted to fortune-telling and children, Josie is known for her engaging friendliness to all. Buoyed up by her cheerfulness, she'll win no matter what.

Carl Jackson

Another of our clan of hep-cats is Carl, who is still walking about in one of those almost extinct zoot-suits. Well informed about sports, he's an undiscovered second "Joe Gordon."

Dick Jeske

An Iron Man during football, somewhat rusty in basketball, completely disintegrated in a certain girl's hands, but pure steel as a friend is the honorable Boss, Dick Jeske.

Ruth Johnson

A natural student, Ruth's extremely fond of children and would make an excellent teacher, although she aspires to be a nurse. Much of her time is spent playing the violin.

B.R.

Majel Halquist

A walking edition of Vogue with long black hair and an engaging smile. Majel possesses genuine interest in everything and is an indispensable cog in the wheel of many activities.

Phyllis Kindeach

Beautiful, but not dumb, Phyl is not only Diana of the gymnasium and Pallas Athena of the classroom but also a Rockette of the Community Fair who can do the can-can.

Jim Hillmark

If Jim, our drafted hero, performs on the battlefield as he did on the grid-iron, the war will soon be over. Humorist and inventor, Jim was a valuable classmate and a friend.

Joan Kramp

"Krampie" glitters with intelligence and her name adorns the Honor Roll. Pretty clothes, musical talent, and personality characterize the only senior who witnessed the filming of "Captains of the Clouds."

Marie Bree

"Mimi," an industrious but quiet senior, is, paradoxically, one of the headaches of Mr. Thompson's fourth period class. Bowling, singing, and the newest jokes are three of Marie's many interests.

Dorothy LaChaire

Look carefully in the midst of that crowd, and there's Dottie doing something "wacky" again. Always a wonderful cheerer-upper, Dot's known for those zooty jackets and that certain blond marine.

Harrieh Lambie

"Lambie," one of the bright spots on our campus, is a likeable brunette, a constant source of amusement and a dabbler in the arts. She's really got originality—plus!

Jane Lambert

Another member of the A-201 troop, smiling, dark-haired Jane is an able member of the choir. Loyalty and a frat pin from Kansas State are two of her prized possessions.

Julie Lanza

An expert at roller-skating and jitter-bugging, Julie can usually be found chewing gum and keeping people laughing with her jokes. Her spare time is spent writing Uncle Sam's boys.

Robert Lo Roe

Bob, a famous member of Mr. Johnson's physics class, is the proud owner of a tan Ford and numerous motorcycles. Your future in engineering seems bright, so good luck, "Shrimp."

Donald M. Lammert

Don's knowledge of short-wave dots and dashes makes him the envy of all the radio students, and even the teachers. His versatility and humorous disposition have made him many friends.

Anna Lawa

Although she is known as a good student, Anna has other interests besides her love of reading. These include baseball, ice skating, and a keen desire to fly an airplane.

Kenneth Lawrence

Ken's love of nature has enabled him to learn much about wild animals. Nothing can discourage him, and his happy-go-lucky nature always impels him to do what he wishes.

Arthur Leaman

Much missed is this serious, brown-eyed lad with the mellifluous voice and a flair for dramatics. Our "verray parfit gentil knight" entered Haverford College after mid-year examinations. Good luck, Arthur!

Norman Leary

Cheerful Norman hails from Michigan. Thinking we had no snow here, he forgot his skis. A superb combination of good looks, bright sayings, and happy smile makes a swell fellow.

Barbara See

Here's a gal with that terrific combination of blonde hair and brown eyes. A super personality, sympathetic nature, and scintillating humor will always make her presence a great asset.

Richard Lewis

"Richie" is the boy whose blond hair has been the source of many a feminine sigh. Determined to be a C.A.A. pilot, this boy's got what it takes.

Barbara Little

Good humor and fun are synonymous with Bobby. With her sarcastic quips, marvelous anecdotes, and funny stories, she can always take time out from her numerous activities to cheer you up.

John Loesch

A B. S. in Chemical Engineering is the goal of this lad, whose talents include a gift for oratory. John's philosophy and subtle sense of humor have won him many friends.

Virginia Love

"Ginny," a tall, slim blonde, hopes to go to a teachers' college after graduation. Ice skating and dancing are her favorite sports, and her main desire is to play the drums.

Alfred Suerenhof

This tall studious fellow exhibits prowess in many sports. Although recipient of the coaches' award for scholarship and sportsmanship, "Bud" seems headed for distinction in the field of medicine.

Van Lyman

Somewhere in W. H. S. seventy-four inches up, may be found an agreeable chap, Van Lyman. Always game for a little fun, Van has proved his merit in all-around good fellowship.

Mary Jane MacLay

"Mac" is the Amelia Earhart of the senior class. Her pleasing personality and numerous stories make her a welcomed addition to any group, especially Miss Fox's eighth period study.

Bruce L. Malcolm

Small of stature but mighty of accomplishment is Bruce. A football and basketball player, he is admired by all. He recently joined his father and brother in the Air Corps.

Corinne Manning

This loyal supporter of Annapolis confounds us with those rapid-fire descriptions accompanied by wild gestures. With her independence and flaming red hair, Torchy's bound to set the world afire.

Sally Marks

"Sal," sharpshooter in everything from skeets to physics, possesses the rare faculty of seeming serious and acting otherwise. hard worker, Sally can be depended upon to accomplish anything of importance.

Fannie Marvosa

Hard work always gets its reward and that is why ambitious Fannie gets A's. Her main ambition is to work in a defense factory, and we certainly wish her luck.

Joan F. Massett

"Tish," another A-201 protegee, combines love of music with creation of terrible puns she's forever uttering. "Tish," everybody's friend, has another love—watching the trains roll in on Saturday night.

Pauline Mastuier

A former resident of Scotch Plains is this newcomer. Interest in design shows in attractive clothes and explains an ambition to educate women to dress appropriately in her own shop.

Janet Matthews

Before rationing Janet was frequently seen in that grey "cab." Interested in the world around her, she likes particularly Latin American history and other courses in the field of social studies.

Don Maxwell

This Mountainside emigrant is usually tearing around with Smitty, scaring us little boys and girls with bike or with Buick. The Air Corps will soon be a Maxwell richer.

Martha Maxwell

Marty's that senior with the infectious giggle, who will be remembered especially for her sultry singing of those "Mad about Him Blues" and for her loyalty to the Navy Air Corps.

Bill McFarlane

"Mac," one of the first valiant additions to the U. S. Navy, was a charter member of the four year clubs and was one of the most popular of the "irregulars."

Jack McHugh

Jack, dark chap with the "butch" haircut, belongs to the four year club and delights in being "wacky." This prominent auto mechanic is conscientious about everything except school.

John Merritt

Johnnie's a peppy little fellow who's always in a mad rush, usually in that famous grocery truck. He's everybody's pal and his cheer leading keeps us all perpetually hoarse.

Ruth Grossomilt

This valuable member of the choir is envied for her long hair and wicked fingernails. One of our favorite people, Ruth possesses a gay personality, making her popular in Plainfield too.

Maida Mickle

Our "little maid from Japan" is an extensive traveler, a good dancer, and a super tennis player. A vast story collection adds much to her already vivacious personality and wins friends.

Margaret Miller

"Porky" is one who boasts good looks, mischievous brown eyes, talent, and hosts of friends. Few people can resist the wonder personality and true friendship of this future beautician.

Robert D. Miller

Bob, better known as "Mousie," is WHS's outstanding clarinet player. What he lacks in size he makes up in scientific knowledge, musical skill, good humor, and a generally fine character.

Janet Mills

"JAM" spends most of her time keeping in good with her college references, thinking about Cranford, and digging up interesting bits concerning her Scotch ancestors of whom she is proud.

Audrey Minchin

Audrey's the vivacious girl with the black curly hair and snapping blue eyes. Definitely distinguished by her continual giggle and mischievous smile, she is a boon to any gathering.

P. O.

Grafton King

Author, musician, and poet laureate, Grafton is also an imitator of Mortimer Snerd. A baritone in the choir, he possesses musical knowledge as great in extent as his literary achievement.

Ruth Mitzenius

Ruthie's friendly smile will do much toward helping her attain her goal of modeling. Those fingernails plus don't stop her from indulging in her favorite sports—badminton and bicycling.

Shirley Moffett

Up and down the keyboard race Shirley's agile fingers, playing everything from jive to Beethoven. A loyal friend, a persevering student, a marvelous cook—but a gullible listener to tall tales.

Naomi Montroy

Known to many as "Red", Naomi is another student who may claim laurels in music. We hear she takes a personal interest in the war. Is he in the R. C. A. F.?

Margie Marton

This pretty girl with sparkling eyes and dimples has designed many a poster and it is no wonder that she has contemplated commercial art as a career. Let's ask Bill.

James F. Wharuch

This authority on chess, French, and opera is well known about school for his winning smile and interesting opinions. He will surely succeed in his ambition to become a doctor.

Lena Musano

A good companion, Lee agrees with the old saying, "Silence is golden." It is said that she has a way with the soldiers, sailors, and marines, but she prefers the sailors.

Marilyn Muth.

"Zeke" excels in dramatics, athletics, and good conversation. One of those girls with a smile for everyone, she nevertheless portrayed the role of domineering wife to perfection in our play.

Marie Head

"Rie" is that adorable almond-eyed person one always finds day dreaming. This dependable and efficient worker's pet diversions seem centered in Rahway and Springfield. Those pretty eyes play havoc.

Maryannetta Nein

Our diminutive senior, though lacking in size, has an abundant supply of vitality and friendliness. Always laughing, "Mousie" will surely make a wonderful kindergarten teacher, full of charm and cheer.

Ann Nelson

Ever showing those dimples with an impish grin, "Manny" has blushed her way through high school in the regular three years, in spite of frequently "forgetting" to do her Spanish homework.

Danforth Kettleton

Dan, our tropical fish fancier, has a collection of denizens of the deep that affords him pleasure. He is also president of the French Club and Mr. Gesner's right-hand man.

Louise Neubauer

Louise is known for her stylish clothes and generous nature. If she isn't participating in one of her many activities, she is probably at home playing with her cocker spaniel.

Jean Norris

Jean does not shout what she is thinking, but however quiet she is, celebration is taking place. She is a lover of the theatre and dotes upon Tyrone Power.

Ann Nichols

Super shopper, model, writer, and candid-camera fiend, talented Nicky supports a variety of activities. This peppiest of seniors is renowned for her scintillating personality and her loyalty to friends.

Bill Nichols

Here's the working man with the Ford that is always welcome to his fellow students. Margie occupies much of his time, but in the rest we've found him to be "swell."

Harvey Nicholson

Harvey, one of our most popular seniors, has plenty on the ball. Wherever there's a job to do or a leader in demand, you can depend on him to "cook with gas."

Janice Outram

"Outie," who utters side-splitting jokes with preternatural solemnity, is a source of amusement to her friends. An ardent amateur photographer, she has generously donated many pictures to the Annual.

Barbara Palmer

Barbara is noted for her activities in the Red Cross. Many a refugee has received aid, thanks to Barbara, and her blond French correspondent is a reward for the righteous.

Douglas Parizhau

An ambitious jokester whom failure does not discourage, Doug is popular with his fellows. His athletic prowess has best been shown on the football field and in outdoor track.

Dorothy Partington

Dot not only is a member of the intelligentsia but also has a sparkling personality. A born conversationalist, she is welcome in any company, serious or social, great or humble.

Leland Paul

"Rock," hopeful tackle on the football squad, likes to hunt and hitchhike. This De Molay stalwart is a well-known wrestler, and his geniality and humor make him welcome everywhere.

Connie Petersen

Connie, with that cute wink and those flashing eyes, is the one to help a friend in time of trouble. Mention the word "Canada" and watch her face light up!

Thomas J. Potts Jr.

Famous for his penchant for picking locks, Tom also plays a mean chess game. But his primary interests are centered around electrical gadgets and wiring. He's a great swing record fan, too.

Remember Your Books!
Buy Bonds + Stamps

George Price

This authority on farm problems came to us last fall and deserted us for the Navy in March. While here he kept 207 agog with stories of his America's prowess.

Harold Rasmussen

A real scientist, "Raz" is a camera fiend. He is remembered too for his stroboscopic experiments. The ardor with which he plunges into anything augurs well for Harold and the future.

Russell Rausch

This plane enthusiast and aquarist can also boast an extensive butterfly collection. Russ enters heartily into everything he does and is careful about the important things: his bike and friendships.

Eleanor Red

When El, that rare untemperamental artist, flashes her "million-dollar" smile, you know a good joke is in the offing. Although she bowls well, her real specialty is swimming.

Lois Reichard

The third Reichard is a pretty girl with a pleasing personality. Her proficiency on the piano and the bass clarinet provides relaxation after a hard day's work at "Apple Hill."

William J. Reusch

Bill, who perspires annually at piano recitals, is known at school for witty (?) remarks and crazy puns. Being the life of any party, he is welcome at social gatherings galore.

Ivan Rygwiers

Friend, counselor, general sympathizer with a subtle sense of humor, "Rennie" can cheer up the gloomiest members of the class. She has lately become interested in the merits of the Betas.

Dorothy Anne Rice

Anne confirms our belief in that old saying concerning "sugar and spice and everything nice." Our blonde violinist and nature lover is partial to the Army and has many friends.

Harold Richardson

This lean, clear-headed chap possesses a quiet assurance that marks him as a leader of others. Myriad activities do not prevent his being an avid skiing, tennis, and ping-pong enthusiast.

Albert Jay Rieger

Although peaceful by nature, Bert's got a knack for breaking arms, especially his own. All in one piece, though, he's a boy you can trust and a great guy to know.

Gloria Robinson

"Good things come in small packages" can certainly be used to describe blue-eyed Gloria. She loves to sew and ride horseback, and always has a smile for her many friends.

Jean Rockey

Need original ideas backed with plenty of energy? Ask Rockey. But if you want to see her at her best, just watch her kick up dust on a tennis court.

Marc Rodriguez

"Frenchy," our 190 pound star tackler, is now engaged in active service with the Merchant Marine. Before his enlistment this smiling lad played handball very proficiently at the Y. M. C. A.

Chloe Rye

This diminutive brunette is an accomplished pianist. She collects records and likes dancing and outdoor sports. Many people have found a sympathetic friend in this quiet girl with varied interests.

Ray Salm

Ray, the quiet, unassuming fellow who does all the work cheerfully and without reward, is the most valuable football player and class vice-president. Persons of this caliber are few.

Connie Sands

Good looks, personality, and brains are skillfully blended to produce this cheerful member of our class. A beaming smile, artistic ability, and sparkling style of conversation account for her many friends.

Dominic Santacrose

Dom, if anyone asks you, is that meteor who just took the corner on two wheels. A real whiz on his delivery truck, he's got the makings of another "Burn-'em-up" Barnes.

Laurence Schaefer

Medals for shooting and ribbons for horsemanship are commonplaces in Larry's young life. A penchant for discussion led this garrulous young man to join the Forum and the Literary Club.

Marilyn Schaub

Schaubie, the little blonde gal with the big personality, keeps up W.H.S. morale with her "Lulu" sketches. You'd never take that bridge-fiend and manslayer for our class baby.

Herman Schmitz

"Scamity" is a rotund, red-haired little fellow who always has a "good" joke to tell. Since taking the radio course, his only ambition has been to become a naval radio operator.

Julia Schneider

Our tall blonde bell-ringer, who is equally adept with knitting needles and paint brushes, spends much of her time in the band room. She is friendly, studious, and dependable.

John R. Schott

Evidences of John's exceptional artistic ability are often seen on the school bulletin boards. Also John is one of the finest basses in our choir. Unassuming John's success is assured.

Leanne Scott

Here's that woman again! That means Scottie, another member of the slap-happy "Kill Ozzie" clan. Her effervescence and gabiness seem inexhaustible and are certainly irresistible. Keep 'em laughing, Scottie!

Dorothy Scruton

Need pepping up? Just see "Scruie." This bubbling little blonde keeps everyone laughing and groaning at her "jokes." Some lucky man is going to have a wonderful secretary.

Bill Seedorff

"Rug-cutting" is Bill's meat, and that's on the record. Never without a laugh or a "good" story, Willie possesses unlimited good nature and a repertoire of cracks and gags.

George Seymour

"Tiny" is the W. H. S. giant, best known for his football days, his collection of firearms, and a swell sense of humor. George is admired by teachers and students alike.

Florence Shaffer

This laughing frequenter of the Candy Kitchen loved root beer, "cokes," and good jokes. "Pecky," who unfortunately left us in the winter, always had something nice to say about everyone.

Barbara Skuman

Generously endowed with the "gift of gab," the General is one of those frivolous females who lighten our lives with superb smiles. Eyes west — Cincinnati or Missouri — ah, Brotherton!

Martha Shiley

This "cute" blonde with the "wacky" personality spends most of her time with a pen in one hand and a letter in the other. Marty is an addition to any crowd.

Charles Simpson

"Ace" is another boy who has gone to help his Uncle Sam "Keep 'em Flying." He is a swell fellow, who loves to laugh, enjoy a good movie, and jitterbug.

Jack Smith

"Snookie" and his deep bass voice are well known around school. This lover of argument is now learning his mathematics behind the scales of the produce counter at the Acme.

SAS

James Smith

Until Jim joined the Coast Guard, life was just a bowl of cherries. Woodworking, drawing, and fifty-mile Canadian canoe trips helped pass the time. Now Jim sometimes misses school.

Merle L. Smith

Half of Merle's life was ruined when gas rationing was introduced and cowboying banned. Life is bearable, however, for he can continue swing drumming and still plays with "The Tophatters."

Norman Smith

A streak of blue lightning with yellow wheels—that was Herky before the pleasure driving ban. Aggressive and enthusiastic about most things, he attacks wrongs with a go-getting, successful vengeance.

Van Snerily

"Snev" has the second nickname of "Lightning" for his amazing speed on the track and hurdles. He is solid, substantial, and can't stand such frivolous things as pastoral poetry.

Henry Snyder

Henry is that high school "kid" you think about when you see a Mickey Rooney picture, even though his car has only three wheels. A future engineer, Hank's bound for M. I. T.

William Spach

If it's black and blue and rattles, it's probably Bill's leaky prodigy, a '30 Chevy which is nursed into perpetual running temperament by Willy, our "Jack of the monkey grease."

David Stalknecht

Dave is the possessor of one of the most versatile and likeable characters in W. H. S. Whether it be bowling, ping-pong, gymnastics, or singing bass, you'll find he excels in all.

Steve Stocksloger

Steve will do anything for fun, even venturing upon the unorthodox. Witness his jaunt across the country and his weird style of tennis. Hail, care-free spirit and woman-hater extraordinary!

Sid Swallow

Our whirling dervish, "Brud", has one definite aim, Naval Aeronautics. Tops scholastically, Sid is now lending his scintillating personality plus singing ability to Rensselaer before being Annapolis bound.

Ray Taylor

This tall amiable fellow is outstanding on the basketball court, and he is a skilled golfer. He is another one of the "notorious" members of the seventh period physics class.

William Taylor

Bill has introduced to our small hamlet the culture of the metropolis. His well-expressed opinions on subjects ranging from social standards to theoretical physics are everywhere regarded with deepest respect.

Melvin Teets

Mel, one of our finest football players, is the "swellest" pal we know. His cheerful personality and handsome appearance, which have led him to many conquests, point to a bright future.

Peggy Jean Teets

If red hair means temper, then Peggy is a wonder at self control. This capable secretary of the Spanish Club and faithful band member plays a fast game of tennis, too.

Lois Thomas

When Lois is not squealing with joy, she is reflecting upon child psychology, for she is an accomplished "sitter." We think she has a good old Anglo-Saxon taste in jewelry.

Virginia Thompson

She may be hard to find in a crowd; but if you hear that certain giggle, then you know it's Ginny. She is always active and in high spirits.

Cynthia Townley

"Cynsie" is a comparatively new "face" around our campus. The Townleys keep open house day and night. Super records, solid clothes, and that touch of peroxide characterize our well-liked Cyn.

Martha Tucker

Layers and layers of velvet tone come from Martha's 'cello, which she handles masterfully. As brilliant as she is musical, Martha has a gift for repartee that delights her friends.

Ray Twaits

Being manager of our stellar swimming team and ranking W. H. S. artist makes "Gruesome" a busy boy. O. Soglow and Rube Goldberg will find a worthy contemporary in our class cartoonist.

Jeannie Vaiden

Lovely Jeannie, sincere and devoted friend, is one of our favorites, for she enters into everything with a willing spirit. She finds time, however, for bridge games and romps with Hudi.

Claire Van Doren

Claire, whose heart is in Michigan, manages to keep her head in W. H. S. Magazine and yearbook have evinced her artistic talent, and her lovely voice has charmed many a listener.

Norman Van Doren

Although somewhat quiet, Norman can defend his deeply held beliefs powerfully. Aviation, meteorology, skiing, skating, and classical music broaden his outlook and make this friendly chap popular with everyone.

Estelle Villa

Although Estelle is majoring in stenography, she plans to go to a modeling school. Her main "interest" is overseas in Ireland, and Estelle is patiently keeping the "Home Fires Burning."

Ruth Vivian

Music and dancing find an enthusiastic participant in Ruth. This lively and humorous blonde is philanthropic; she sold candy for the publications one freezing day. She favors the Merchant Marine.

Jean Warburton

Since Jean came to Westfield this fall, her "nifty" clothes and friendly smile have made us wish we had known her sooner. She still returns to Plainfield High to visit.

Marilyn Washburn

"Cute," "popular," and just plain "nice" are adjectives that describe everyone's friend, "Lyn." That sincere friendly smile goes along with an invitation to come up to hear those terrific Miller records.

Carroll Webber, Jr.

Our chess wizard is a brilliant student who has contributed mirth and enlightenment to the lives of students and teachers. Radical theories in physics and mathematics develop in his fertile brain.

Elsa Weijlard

Happy-go-lucky "Honey Bun" hails from Rahway. Impulsive painting and two fingered piano playing are her more famous accomplishments. Her unceasing good humor has secured many friends for her.

Harriett West

"Wimpy" is that lighting expert, famous for his queer grunts, double-talk, and super-salesmanship. Noted as the busiest boy in school, Harriett has everything down "pat," and toots a sax besides.

Valerie Wheeler

Val is equally well versed whether the subject be moron jokes or opera. Her elfin grin and easy manner have gained her many friends. The Metropolitan is her ultimate goal.

Patricia White

Gracious, sincere Patty of the titian hair and cool, collected manner is known for efficiency in everything she undertakes. An artistic temperament is reflected both in dress and in creative work.

Allen Whiting

Sees all, learns all, tells all — that's Allen whose pungent prose entertains all readers of the school publications. Fine musicianship and splendid scholarship further contribute to a grand little man.

Phil Wight

A dark, handsome Romeo, Phil was best known, before he left for the Army in January, for his cheerfulness, his yellow flivver, his genuine good fellowship, and his bright smile.

Cardyn Wilhelme

"Bobbie's" pet occupation during school hours is tooting the clarinet, but come summer all she needs is a sailboat and a lake. Chatter and giggles fill her odd moments.

Margery Wilson

Flute tooter, "kid" minder, and chief organizer for school activities, Margie excels in being A-1 scholastically. Although constantly in the throes of physics problems, Margie is always ready to help others.

Kay Wissert

Kay, better known as "Flea", is famous for her sense of humor and her endless chatter. Skating, "That Rush-in' (Russian) Winter," and the nursing profession are Kay's main interests now.

Mary Evelyn Young

Everyone's crazy about Youngie, our class devil. She's always buzzing around in third period, or acting natural in certain senior plays. She's noted for her smooth dancing and her rug-cutting partner.

THE ANNUAL STAFF

Charlie Hansen
and the Tin Can King

Bunny
Herr

The labor shortage in the printing industry, rapidly increasing costs, and uncertain deadlines were some of the problems encountered by the staff of the WEATHER VANE ANNUAL.

However, with Charles Hansen as editor-in-chief and Ronald Foster as business manager, the staff strove to produce a yearbook that would compare favorably with past efforts. Much credit for the interest and appeal of the book should go to Frances Crandall and Bunny Herr, picture editors; Maryannetta Nein, activities editor; Bill Clotworthy, able sports editor and sales manager; Harold Rasmussen, chief photographer; Carroll Webber, write-up editor; and the splendid staff of artists headed by Claire Van Doren, Cynthia Townley, and Ray Twaits. These were given advice and help by Miss Bordner, Miss Howard, and Mr. Lewis, literary, art, and financial advisers.

Other workers were John Loesch, Corinne Manning, Marilyn Muth, Marilyn Schaub, Barbara Baker, Barbara Little, Barbara Lee, Harvey Nicholson, Robert Brooks, Harold Richardson, Harrison West, Anna Alvanos, Virginia Barnes, the members of the Typing Club, and the many seniors who contributed write-ups.

A vote of thanks is also due our professional photographer, Mr. John J. McCutcheon, a kindly friend of many years' standing.

This year the Art Club has been working exceedingly hard for the war effort. Many requests have come from the American Red Cross, the British War Relief, the "Name a Bomber" Campaign, the Community Fair, and other organizations requiring advertising.

The work of the club was shown throughout the town in the Red Cross Home Service window and other windows, but one of the major tasks was the creation of a model depicting a bombed town in England. This contained rescue, first aid, and salvage squads, and illustrated ways in which we are helping the British. The model was exhibited in the People's Bank during the Community Drive.

Another project, a large eagle designed and painted by Claire Van Doren, was used to promote the sale of War Stamps and Bonds at the booth in Jarvis's Drugstore. This design was also employed on Honor Roll notices.

In April the club members worked hard to produce distinctive sketches for the WEATHER VANE ANNUAL.

Individual honors go to those who had work exhibited in the Bamberger Scholarship Art Exhibition in Newark; namely, Ray Twaits and Cynthia Townley. A cartoon by Ray and a water color sketch by Cynthia were hung.

The Art Club officers were as follows: President, Claire Van Doren; Vice-President, John Schott; Secretary and Treasurer, Marjorie Morton. Miss Howard is Sponsor.

ART CLUB

LITERARY CLUB

Books of current interest as well as significant classics were presented at the monthly meeting of the Literary Club. Not only reports that required research but also those that were given extemporaneously offered varied material. Crowning a profitable year was attendance at a performance of Maxwell Anderson's play, THE EVE OF ST. MARK.

The officers were Jack Fletcher, president; Majel Kalquist, vice-president; Martha Tucker, secretary; and Harvey Nicholson, treasurer. Miss Margaret Dietrich serves as sponsor.

TYPING CLUB

The Typing Club, directed by Miss Mary Colley, has been functioning throughout the year with the following officers: President, Connie Petersen; Vice-President, Estelle Villa; Secretary, Lillian Petruzzella; and Treasurer, Lena Musano.

The main event of this year was the presentation of a play stressing secretarial etiquette in which Estelle Villa, Virginia Barnes, Esther Christensen, Lillian Petruzzella, and Kay Edge starred.

THE FORUM

The Forum derives its name from the famous meeting place of ancient Rome; its purpose is the fuller understanding of the affairs of state. The Forum presents its programs on current affairs to the student body in assembly as well as at its own social supper meetings. The adviser is Mr. Weyman O. Steengrafe. Those who served as officers are President, John G. Loesch; Vice-President, Danforth Nettleton; Treasurer, Laurence Schaefer; and Secretary, Donald H. Bagger.

SLIDE RULE CLUB

The Slide Rule Club is small, but it can boast of some of the brainiest students in school. Formed to teach the principles of the slide rule and to develop proficiency in its use, it provides training that often proves very useful in courses taken in college.

With Walter E. Johnson, Jr., as faculty adviser, Charles Hansen as president, Ray Salm as vice-president, and Douglas Parizeau as secretary-treasurer, the club has had a very successful year.

Entering its tenth year of publication, the HI'S-EYE kept up the tradition of the "bigger and better HI'S-EYE" by again winning a first rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

To acquaint W.H.S. students with the Victory Corps and its purposes was only one of the HI'S-EYE'S endeavors to understand the present and prepare for the future. Others were explanations of pre-induction courses, college entrance requirements, armed forces' reserves, and the faithful reporting of students' activities in the war effort.

By adjuring students to participate in the "Buy a Bond and Name a Bomber" campaign, the HI'S-EYE brought about the one hundred percent participation by pupils, teachers, and clerks in the $25,000 subscribed. Westfield placed tenth in the national drive with an increase of one and one-third bonds per capita.

As a paper conservation measure the annual April Fool issue was omitted; only the fifteen regular issues were printed.

The staff, which lost two members, Jim Kjellmark and Larry O'Brien, to the armed forces, included Allen Whiting, editor; Patricia Byrnes, associate editor; Betty Jane Allen, managing editor; Grafton Mintz, news editor; Doris Jackson, sports editor; and the Journalism I and II classes under the supervision of Robert L. Foose, faculty adviser.

WEATHER VANE MAGAZINE

Honors came to the WEATHER VANE magazine when for the ninth time it was awarded first place in its class at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention in March.

Because lack of subsidy and a desire to conserve paper made curtailment necessary, only two issues were published this year, a United Nations issue and a spring miscellany. In accordance with suggestions made at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention less space was given to athletics and more to the war effort. A new department dealing with aviation was edited by Russell Raush.

With the HI'S-EYE staff, members of the magazine staff worked at the refreshment stand at Recreation Field during the football season. Candy was also sold in the front hall after school, and the proceeds were used for special art features and for entrance and registration fees at the annual convention.

Staff meetings were held on Thursday during the third period and were devoted to proof reading, planning of issues, reading and selection of material, and the presentation of reports. A party was held at the literary adviser's home in May.

The officers were Richard Barker, editor-in-chief, and Bert Rieger, business manager. The publication was represented at the C. S. P. A. Convention by Gloria Gamble, Claire Van Doren, Danforth Nettleton, Richard Barker, and James Wittke. The advisers were Miss Dolores Bordner and Miss Harriet Howard.

WESTFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

VICTORY CORPS

The Victory Corps, proposed by the United States Office of Education Wartime Commission as a nation-wide student organization for secondary schools in wartime, was organized last fall. Although this organization has official sanction, it is entirely democratic and voluntary in character.

Eligibility for membership is dependent upon services performed. General membership is open to any high-school student participating in a program of physical fitness, pursuing a course of studies directed to the war effort, and currently engaging in at least one important continuing or recurring wartime activity or service. Westfield High School members have been working at least one afternoon a week rolling bandages for the Red Cross, gardening, helping at the Consumer Center, selling war bonds and stamps, and engaging in other activities related to the war effort.

MASK AND MIME

One of the largest and most active clubs, Mask and Mime, is open to all sincerely interested in any phase of dramatics. Miss Ruth E. Arthur is sponsor.

The group began a busy year with its fall presentation, EVER SINCE EVE, a delightful comedy based upon school life. Then members worked on the staging, lighting, and make-up for the traditional Christmas Program. In February the senior play, THE GHOST TRAIN, drew most of its actors and stage crews from the personnel of the Mask and Mime Club. Finally, after a little respite during which the club made its annual April theatre trip to New York and saw KISS AND TELL, two one-act plays, SUNDAY COSTS FIVE PESOS, a comedy based on life in a Mexican village, and RIDERS TO THE SEA, a tragedy of the Irish fisherfolk on the Galway Coast, were presented in assembly.

This year's officers were as follows: William Clotworthy, president; Marie Tifft, vice-president; Jeanne Gilbert, secretary; and Millicent Caulfield, acting treasurer. Robert Forcé, treasurer, entered the armed forces.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL SOCIETY

The Archaeological Society was formed in 1928, its main purpose being to bring together boys interested in the American Indian.

At meetings this year the sponsor, Mr. Harold Thompson, gave interesting talks on different kinds of Indian relics and their collection. Members were also given an opportunity to exhibit and discuss their collections. Guest speakers were scarce.

The officers for this past year were President, Danforth Nettleton; Vice-President, Russell Raush; and Secretary-Treasurer, James Bostwick.

COLLECTORS' CLUB

The extremely varied hobbies of the Collectors' Club include the collection of such articles as coins, stamps, butterflies, minerals, bells, and post-cards.

Much of the success of the group is due to the enthusiasm of the sponsor, Miss Olive Hammell, who co-operates fully with the members and officers, and the competence of the officers: President, David Bingham; Vice-President, Gordon Wing; Secretary, Gloria Epstein; Treasurer, Jean Hansen; and Program Chairman, Walter Palmer.

WRITERS' CLUB

Although the Writers' Club is one of the smaller school organizations, its efforts have been recognized, for many contributions have been accepted for publication in the WEATHER VANE and some selections have been entered in contests. Stories, essays, and poems are read and constructively criticized at each meeting. The climax of the year is a trip to New York where some good dramatic production is enjoyed.

The group completed its third year of activity under the direction of Miss Margaret Dietrich. Membership is open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors who are willing to write or wish to learn to write creatively. The group meetings are held at the homes of the members on the second Thursday of each month. The officers for the present school year are President, Bradford Alpers; Vice-President, Ann Nichols; Secretary, Dorothy Partington; and Treasurer, Helen Mercner.

CHESS CLUB

Since its creation four years ago, the Chess Club can boast of an undefeated record in all matches played against other schools. Internal competition is keen, and the majority of the meetings are devoted to tournament play.

Mr. Gaston B. Cesner acts as sponsor, and the officers for this year are President, Carroll Webber, Secretary, Dorothy Partington; and Ladder Leader, Richard Barker.

LIBRARY COUNCIL

The Council, under the direction of Miss Marion Scott and Miss Alice M. Bible, carries on the important, unseen work of the library. Each member devotes two periods a week to preparing new books for use and keeping the books used in order. Some members plan to make a serious study of library work.

The officers of the 1942-43 council are President, Pat Byrnes; Vice-President, Joan Peterson; and Secretary-Treasurer, Joan Massett.

CATALYST CLUB

Under the leadership of Mr. James Montgomery, its new adviser, the Catalyst Club enjoyed an active year. The adviser gave demonstrations that made clear the principles behind the incendiary bomb, spontaneous combustion, and flares. Assisted by Bill Funk, he disclosed the truth behind color tricks performed by magicians. Bob Hruda experimented with alloys.

The activities of the sixty-four members were directed by the following officers: President, Douglas Parizeau; Vice-President, Henry Yordon, Secretary, Jean Rockey; and Treasurer, Jack Fletcher.

GIRL RESERVES

More than 100 girls, directed by Mrs. Cameron and Miss Arthur, comprised the combined clubs of the Girl Reserves. Under the capable management of Florence Clark the Annual Winter Conference, attended by girls from Northern New Jersey, was held in Westfield. Besides this the clubs have enjoyed bowling and swimming parties, the annual dance, and participation in numerous outside activities.

The officers in the senior group were President, Barbara Lee; Vice-President, Margaret Mickle; Secretary, Ruth Sortore; and Treasurer, Dorothy Scruton.

RED CROSS COUNCIL

The Red Cross Council has obtained satisfactory results this year, although only three general council meetings have been held. At the first meeting it was decided that the group should provide amusement in the form of scrapbooks, games, and puzzles for veterans' hospitals and other institutions; participate in the Victory Book Campaign, the Scrap Metal Drive, and the Red Cross Drive; pack Christmas boxes for children in foreign countries, and take courses in canteen, nutrition, sewing, and surgical dressings.

To date a great deal has been accomplished. The Red Cross Membership Drive in November netted $105.78, while the War Fund Campaign in March brought in $60.34. Twenty-nine Good-Will Christmas Boxes were filled for unfortunate refugee children in Europe, and letters of thanks have begun to arrive. At Christmas time twenty boxes of various comforts were sent to veterans in the Lyons Hospital. Spurred on by the slogan, "Give the books you want to keep," the council collected a total of 597 books from February 9 to March 5. For rolling bandages, two members, Majel Kalquist and Hildrud Kellogg, earned pins for twenty-five hours' work.

A significant contribution was made by the boys in Mr. Thompson's workshop. A number of excellent rolling book carts, bedside tables, dart boards, checkerboards, cross-word puzzles, and shuffle boards, requisitioned by the Senior Chapter, were made.

The officers for the year were: Co-Chairmen, Majel Kalquist and Otis Armstrong; Secretary, Sally Evans; and Treasurer, Gordon Winklepleck. Miss Annie P. Hewitt and Miss Gertrude M. Swift were the sponsors.

JUNIOR AUXILIARY

During the past year the Junior Auxiliary has endeavored to do its part on the home front. The fifty girls, under the leadership of their newly appointed adviser, Miss Gertrude Foutz, and their officers, Frances Crandall, Marie Tiffet, Bunny Herr, and Charlotte Epps, have attained their aim in carrying out their traditional purpose of aiding the Children's Country Home by entertaining the children and providing for their care.

According to precedent the one thousand dollar mark is the acme of their ambition, and such projects as dances, apple sales, magazine commissions, and a cake sale contribute to the materialization of that dream.

Although the national food situation has cut the rations of the monthly meetings, no loss of energy or enthusiasm has resulted in the carrying out of the Sadie Hawkins' Day Barn Dance, in taking charge of the Thanksgiving donations, or in officiating at the Christmas party at the Home.

The finishing touches to a successful and rewarding year were added by the Salvage Prom and a movie benefit, plus the election of new officers for the coming year.

Madam President
FRANCES CRANDALL

SERVICE CLUB

The Service Club, although it has been in existence for only two years, is the only high school club accepted in our Victory Corps. In the spring of 1941 Dr. Neubauer and twelve faculty members selected a group of students to provide the services needed in our school. Adding to its list of duties of ushering at many school affairs, guiding visitors and new students, taking charge of the lost and found, the Service Club sponsored a tin-can salvage drive and a penny campaign.

Mr. Babcock, the sponsor, is assisted by the president, Van Lyman; the vice-president, Margaret Gillis; the secretary, Anna May Martin, and the treasurer, Helen Mercner. There are seven committees, each of which has a special duty. The chairmen of these and the officers form the executive council.

Each member must be sincerely interested in devoting time to the service of the school and must have passing grades in all subjects. Two periods a week is the required time to serve, in addition to any of the special services the club renders.

At the meetings, which are held monthly, each committee reports its progress. The program committee tries to add a bit of entertainment by means of skits, quiz programs, et cetera. Usually the club sponsors a picnic in the fall and a party in the spring, the prime purpose of which is to make the acquaintance of new students.

LATIN CLUB

In 1932 the Latin Club was organized and it is now supported by all the Latin classes. Besides serving as an interesting relaxation, the club has as its purpose the stimulation of greater interest in the life and customs of ancient Rome than class periods can supply. Officers of the club are elected at the end of each year for the following year, and they are named consul, vice-consul, scriptor and quaestor, after the ancient Roman officers.

This year, because of the war and the consequent lack of transportation facilities, several of the club's activities were limited. The annual joint meeting with the Rahway Latin Club, as well as several other activities, had to be abandoned. Nevertheless, the club carried on.

Some of the many activities of the club included games with Latin words, plays written by the members and modeled on the Latin text, and debates on problems and situations of long-ago Rome. These activities are of interest to every student who is taking Latin, and they help him to appreciate the language in associating it with the life of the Romans.

Meetings are held on the first Thursday of each month in the cafeteria or auditorium. The club is under the able sponsorship of Mr. Edmund Allen and Miss Gertrude Foutz. This year's officers were Tom Gilroy, consul; Robert Jacobi, vice-consul; Joan Peterson, quaestor; Carolyn Decker, assistant quaestor, and Grace Harkrader, scriptor.

EL ATENEO

The purpose of El Ateneo is to promote interest in the customs, manners and personalities of Latin America and Spain and therefore to further international relations as well as to increase fluency in the Spanish language.

During the first semester the club was composed of second and third-year students only, but in February those in first-year classes with an average of C or better were eligible to join. These new recruits were subjected to an interesting initiation ceremony.

At the monthly meetings, well-known Spanish and South American games were played and several interesting movies were shown. "Americans All" and "Fiesta of the Hill" were obtained from the office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs, and Jim Harms's pictures on South America were also shown.

One of the main events this year was the presentation of a comedy, "Don Enrique Va a Los Estados Unidos," in which Eduardo Bruner, from Argentina, played the lead. Other parts were played by Tom Gilroy, Barbara Reynolds, James Harms, Peggy Teets, Norman Smith, Carolyn Wilhelm, and Elizabeth Quimby.

At the Community Fair the Spanish Club charmed everyone with a most colorful exhibit, with the added attraction of Mexican and Spanish songs and dances. Tropical fruit, souvenirs imported from Mexico, and a very attractive collection of cactus plants were sold after the sales had been opened with a Spanish song, sung by Jean Vowles. All in all, the exhibit produced the atmosphere of a genuine Spanish fiesta.

Under the direction of Miss Stella Hemphill and Mr. Samuel Bunting, El Ateneo has enjoyed a profitable year. The officers who carried out the program were: President, Janice Outram; Vice-President, Dorothy Scruton; Secretary, Peggy Teets, and Treasurer, Tom Gilroy.

LE QUARTIER LATIN

The French Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Gaston Gesner and Miss Gertrude Foutz, well merits its reputation of being one of the largest and most active school clubs. This year a variety of meetings was presented. The vocabulary game, an old stand-by, was enjoyed both by the new members and by those who had played it before. At one meeting the club was privileged to have as guest speaker a native Frenchman who had recently come to the United States from Europe. Although first-year students found a little difficulty in following the fluent speech of the foreigner, others were pleased at the facility with which they understood. Bradford Alpers and Frances Crandall co-operated in the music department to enliven our Thursdays by leading the singing of well-known French songs, ranging from the popular "Alouette" and "Au Clair de la Lune" to the war song, "Madelon." When the Take-It-or-Leave-It game was played the entire group enjoyed watching the contestants, who did admirably in spite of the fact that many were sophomores. In the Community Fair the French Café lent an air of music and dancing and a short skit in verse, "Madame la Marquise," was applauded by all who saw it.

The officers for this school year are as follows: President, Dan Nettleton; First Vice-President, Martha Tucker; Second Vice-President, Julia Schneider; First Secretary, Dorothy Partington; Second Secretary, Catherine Herr; First Treasurer, Allen Whiting; Second Treasurer, Marię Tiff.

Return of the Age of Chivalry

SENIOR PLAY

Acclaimed as one of the best plays in years was the senior play, "The Ghost Train," which ran for three nights instead of two. It was presented in the school auditorium on February 11, 12 and 13.

The story of "The Ghost Train" is centered around the station at Clear Vale Junction, Maine, where passengers of the ten forty-five express have taken refuge. The passengers are almost frightened into leaving the station and spending the night elsewhere by tales of a "ghost train" and the deaths which follow it, but a flippant Englishman, who got them into their predicament, persuades them to stay. To the surprise of everyone he solves the mystery and, at the same time, reveals himself as a detective from Scotland Yard.

The roles of the passengers in the station, consisting of Teddie Deaken, a seemingly silly, obstinate fool; Miss Bourne, an elderly spinster who continually worries about her bird; Richard and Elsie Winthrop, a married couple on the verge of divorce; and Peggie and Charlie Murdock, a young married couple on their honeymoon, were played by William Clotworthy, Mary Evelyn Young, Richard Hillier, Marilyn Muth, Catherine Herr, and Harvey Nicholson, respectively. Saul Hodgkins, the station master, who was unknowingly connected with a group of smugglers, was interpreted by Tom Crawford, while Julia Price, a "gun moll" posing as a frightened, superstitious young girl, was brilliantly portrayed by Jeanne Gilbert. Julia's father, Herbert Price, and his friend, Dr. John Sterling, both important in the band of smugglers, were roles played by Donald Bagger and Van Lyman. Jack Smith took the part of a detective.

The dramatic success of the play was attributed to the patient and understanding direction of Miss Ruth E. Arthur, while the financial success was due to excellent publicity by a committee headed by Phyllis Kinhead and to the co-operation of the seniors.

HI-Y

On account of the clutching hand of Uncle Sam and the spirit of adventure imbedded in every member of the Hi-Y, the ranks have been sadly depleted. However, the club managed to carry on with the same outstanding success as in previous years.

The boys were led throughout the year by Presidents Ray Salm and Gordon Hamilton. Assisting them was Herman Schmitz, vice-president of the Blue Chapter. Harold Richardson and Norman Van Leuven took care of the secretarial duties, and Jack Fletcher and Melvin Teets served as treasurers. Originally the White Chapter was headed by Richard Hillier, now in the U. S. Marines.

As usual, the Hi-Y held its regular series of dances for the raising of funds used exclusively for the benefit of the needy.

In the fall Herman Schmitz, Howard Harms, and Harold Richardson served as representatives to the Montclair State Convention, while Harvey Nicholson, Ray Salm and Gordon Hamilton represented the club at the Annual Model Legislature at Trenton in the spring.

The sponsors of the club, Mr. James Hall, "Y" secretary, and Mr. Walter E. Johnson, Jr., were assisted this year by a new member of the faculty, Mr. Donald H. Babcock, a popular addition.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

"To create enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage development of character in pupils of the Westfield High School" remains the creed of the Westfield Chapter of the National Honor Society in this, its third year of existence.

In order to be eligible for membership, a student must be a senior or a junior, must rank in the upper ten per cent of his class, and must be outstanding in character, leadership and responsibility. This year, under the sponsorship of Mr. William H. Warner, the chapter held its annual induction in April when three seniors and sixteen juniors were presented for membership.

Senior members are as follows: Charles Hansen, President; Phyllis Kinkead, Vice-President; Martha Tucker, Secretary; Danforth Nettleton, Treasurer, and Bradford Alpers, Anna Alvanos, Polly Belcher, Robert Bosworth, Frances Crandall, Franklin Fagan, America Galizia, Shirley Goetze, Gordon Hamilton, Catherine Herr, Anna Lawa, Barbara Lee, Ruth Mitzenius, Louise Neubauer, Dorothy Partington, Marilyn Schaub, Carroll Webber, Harrison West, Patricia White, and Allen Whiting.

THE CHOIR

Despite the war effort the choir managed to serve Westfield with an inspiring Christmas program, especially inspirational in times such as these. Such pieces as "And the Glory of the Lord" from Handel's "Messiah" and an entirely different Basque carol, "Oh, Happy Bethlehem," in addition to recitatives and solos by Norman Van Leuven, Shirley Goetze, Claire Van Doren and Kenneth Swallow, and the benediction by Valerie Wheeler, made the tableaux more beautiful and more lasting in our memories. The Alumni were with us to assist in the antiphonal number, "While I Did Watch My Sheep at Night," a seventeenth-century hymn. Everyone admitted that the choir surpassed last year's performance with more difficult and more lovely songs.

"The United Nations" was the theme of the Music Festival. A group of Russian song, "Alleluia, Christ Is Risen"; the Justinian hymn, "Only Begotten Son," and the ever-famous "Hospodi Pomil," new and strange to Westfield ears, was interpreted by Miss Grimler. "The Galway Piper," a song from Ireland, showed off Frances Crandall as an accompanist and provided delightful and difficult singing for the choir. Perhaps the most stirring selection was "Psalm CL" by Franc or "Recessional," Kipling's immortal poem set to music. This year's modern piece was "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" by Jerome Kern.

The choir still numbers 110. So many girls wanted to join, however, that Miss Grimler was forced to hold auditions in the fall. Like the clubs, the organization has officers, but it is the secretaries who do the work. These take attendance at every rehearsal and give out detention. The officers are Norman Van Leuven, president; Valerie Wheeler, vice-president; Joan Kramp and Kenneth Swallow, secretaries, and Jack Smith, treasurer.

The traditional Christmas program of our school seemed even lovelier than usual in a world at war. Parents came to the high school on the evening of December 22 to view the combined efforts of the Art, Music and Dramatic Departments.

The Choir, under the able direction of Miss Janet Grimler, gave its usual beautiful and inspiring performance. Among the selections sung during the program were "And the Glory of the Lord" from Handel's "Messiah," "Blessed Is He Who Cometh in the Name of the Lord" by Gounod, "While I Did Watch My Sheep at Night" by Jungst, and "Jesus the Christ Is Born," a folk song from the Appalachian Mountains. The program closed with the stirring "Hallelujah Chorus."

Besides the 110 choir singers, effectively vested and bearing lighted tapers, there were eleven students taking part in the tableaux. Appearing in this year's tableaux were Madonna, Patricia Caufield; Angels, Yvonne Hunter, Charlotte Epps, Kay Wissert; Shepherds, Jack Walther, Don Brown, Jim Bostwick; Wise Men, George Seymore, Bill Mott, Harold Bracher; Joseph, Miguel Zinty.

The tableaux were placed in a setting of simplicity and beauty prepared by the Art Department, under the direction of Miss Harriet Howard.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

BAND

Despite war-time restrictions on transportation, the band, under the capable leadership of Anthony P. Ingram, displayed its usual finesse and marching skill before the crowds last fall at the home football games. While the temperature dropped to thirty degrees and the breeze more than once threatened to carry off the flag-bearers, the blue-and-white uniformed musicians continued to provide the marches for the inspiration to get those few extra points. Unfortunately for the senior members, Turkey Day found the field too muddy to risk with the uniforms, so the band closed the season by marching around the cinder track. Armistice Day found the band freezing its fingers once again, while Memorial Day brought opposite weather.

Flag-Pole Sitter's View of the W.H.S. Band

The big event of the year, the band concert, occurred three days after the ban on pleasure driving became effective, but the concert proved a success musically and financially. Emphasis on Russian and American music was dominant. Shortly before the Music Festival, Mr. Ingram was called into the Army and William H. Warner took over. Regretting the loss of Mr. Ingram, the band gave him a War Bond in appreciation. War again affected the schedule, as the annual Band Parents' Dinner was cancelled and only a concert given for the group. Music Week and the girls' gym program rounded out the musical season. An interesting feature of the festival was the playing by the band of an arrangement by Mr. Ingram that was accepted for publication.

SPRING FESTIVAL

More than two hundred students combined to make one of the most successful and significant Spring Music Festivals ever produced in the twelve years it has been given. Directed by Miss Janet M. Grimler, the festival was devoted to the theme "United Nations." Amidst colorful flags of the Allies, the musical organizations of the High School played and sang songs of all countries opposing the Axis powers.

The chorus, boys' glee club, girls' chorus, boys' double quintet, orchestra, band, and instrumental groups were only a few of the participants. Music of China, Russia, Great Britain, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, and various other nations made up the program. Many students also worked behind the scenes with costumes and tickets and all contributed to make the festival the success that it was. Members of the Service Club ushered for the concert.

ORCHESTRA

Although the orchestra was small, the importance of its work was great. It was this group that provided the music for the fall play, the senior play, and the assemblies. The group also participated in the Spring Festival.

Following Mr. Ingram's entrance into the Army, Miss Grimler took charge. Under her baton the orchestra will play for the last time this year, at the graduation exercises of the Class of 1943.

Westfield's Four Horsemen

FOOTBALL . . 1942

Coach Joe Freeman

Westfield did not produce a winning team in 1942 for two reasons: lack of manpower and injuries to key players throughout the season. For the first game of the year, Head Coach Joe Freeman fielded one of the smallest squads ever seen at Westfield High. Westfield did not have an outstanding team; but what is more important in this day and age, the school had a fighting, scrapping crew, who never gave up and fought to the final gun.

In the opener on September 26 the Blue Devils made it ten in a row, as they soundly trounced a good Somerville team, 19-6. Ray Salm bucked over for the year's first tally, while Angelo Bavosa and Spero Arbes also scored. A fighting Millburn team went down to defeat the next Saturday, as halfback Rick Hillier cut for the sidelines and, behind beautiful blocking, raced fifty yards for the touchdown and the game, 7-0. It was in this game that Spero Arbes, pile-driving fullback, was injured and sidelined for the rest of the season. He was the most powerful runner on the team and his slashing play was sorely missed throughout the rest of the season.

The largest crowd of the year came out to see Westfield grimly stave off defeat minute by minute, yard by yard, against a big Roselle team on October 10, but in the last five minutes Westfield lost by the slimmest of margins, three points, snapping its winning string at twelve.

Roselle Park moved in on October 17 and quickly took the lead, but they had not counted upon Westfield's furious last-half drive, which knotted the count at 6-6 and almost won for the Elm Streeters.

One thousand "before O. P. A." rooters traveled to South Orange November 6 to see a battered Westfield aggregation play Columbia, then the behemoth of Jersey football. With Lady Luck, the fifth man in their backfield, the Gems left the field on top, though Westfield outfought them throughout the game. The Devils' razzle-dazzle style clicked consistently for substantial gains, giving Westfield the edge in first downs, but the scoreboard finally read: Westfield 12, Columbia 26.

After the furious Columbia game, midseason slump was bound to take its toll, and this it did, as the Blue Devils dropped three games on consecutive Saturdays to the Miranda-led Bound Brook team 24-7, to Summit 26-19, and to West Orange 24-13.

But upon recovering from these setbacks, Westfield, sparked by little Doug Parizeau in his debut for the Blue and White, rode roughshod over a good Ridgewood eleven, leaving a 14-0 verdict as proof of their superiority.

And finally, just to prove they had found the winning combination, Westfield met Ferris High on Thanksgiving Day and sent them home smarting over a 13-0 loss.

Thus, when the judgment day rolled around, Westfield had compiled a record of four victories, five defeats and one tie, quite acceptable considering the injuries received by the team.

Coaches Joe Freeman, John May and Bart Ellis deserve much praise for their work the past season, which was highlighted by the Rialto football rally, the Heisman Memorial trip, and the Annandale game.

Finally, on December 4, our gridiron warriors were honored by Coach Freeman, who gave letters to Dick Jeske, "Iron-man" tackle; Rick Hillier, high-scoring back; Bud Luessenhop, recipient of the Coaches' Award; Ray Salm, voted the most valuable player; Dick Baake, George Mead, Mel Teets, John Dietze, Bruce Malcolm, Bill MacDonald, Pat Bavosa, Angelo Bavosa, Chick Stevens, Jack Holmes, Dick Watrous, Jim Kjellmark, Ed MacCloskey, Spero Arbes, Captain-elect John Murphy, and Captain Ted Vreeland.

CHEER SQUAD

Under the able direction of Miss Gertrude M. Swift, girls' physical education director, the cheer squad, composed of thirty-eight members, has cheered at all the football games. The enlarged squad was started at the Bound Brook game on October 31, and was continued at all other home games.

With the introduction of the larger squad a variation of the usual couple per section was begun. Some of the girls also wore white jackets which formerly were used by the boys. As an added attraction at the Thanksgiving Day game Mr. Robert Snevily, father of Van Snevily, helped lead the "fight" cheer.

Early in the year awards of varsity letters were made to those who had served on the squad for three years. The recipients were Frances Crandall, Jane Gilpin, Jean Rockey, Bradford Alpers, Tom Crawford, Bill Hanna, John Merritt, Harvey Nicholson, Bill Seedorff, and Steve Stockslager.

Other senior members of the staff were Harriet Auster, Charlotte Epps, Audrey Hand, Bunny Herr, Phyllis Kinkead, Barbara Lee, Corinne Manning, Betty Gaido, Jean Scott, and Mary Evelyn Young. The juniors were represented on the squad by Flossie Clark, Pat Cooper, Mari-Lou Griggs, Mary Lou McCredie, Joan Peterson, Phyllis Wheelwright, Otis Armstrong, Richard Cory, Tom Hunter, and Gordon Winklepleck; while the sophomores contributed two girls, Jane Dens and Peggy Shannon, and eight boys, Harold Bracher, Charles Brotherton, Ken Brown, Dick Burton, Stewart Clark, Edwin Hall, Harry Vanderbilt, and Jim Wittke.

BASKETBALL

Without one remaining letterman from the quintet of 1941-42, which won 16 games out of 19 played, the WHS cagers of 1942-43 did not compile a very impressive record. On the contrary, it was one of the worst in Westfield court history. When the final records were aired, it was noted that the Blue Devils had won three games and dropped twelve.

Coach Dan Rowan had the difficult job of teaching a group of new men an entirely new system and of breaking many of the boys of bad habits picked up while playing back-yard basketball. The rigor of the schedule seemed too much for this group of green players, but in many of the games they proved to skeptics that they had the stuff of which Westfield teams are made.

The team began the season at Thomas Edison at Elizabeth, where they met a tough and experienced quintet and lost by a 47-31 score. In the first home game, a week later, they lost to a big North Plainfield five, 26-17. The first win of the season was on January 5 at Union, where the Devils won, 35-32. One week later they produced the first at-home win by defeating Bound Brook in a thrilling, fight-studded tussle, 30-29.

Those two wins were destined to suffice for seven weeks, as the court-sters dropped ten in a row, to Roselle Park twice, Thomas Edison, Millburn, Dunellen twice, Bound Brook, Union, North Plainfield, and Hillside, in the first round of the county championship.

Then on February 23 came the last game of the season, with Millburn, a previous winner by 40-22. They had nothing to salvage out of a pitiful schedule except their own personal honor, and they did just that, in the fighting Westfield way, as they soundly trounced Millburn, 39-32.

Harry Laur was the individual star and highest scorer for the season, his highest for one game being 18.

John Dietze, Dave Reier, Chick Miller, Ray Taylor, Sylvester Hargraves, Dick Jeske, and Bruce Malcolm did admirable work all season.

At the award assembly on March 26, Coach Rowan presented major letters to the following court stars: Captain Dietze, Dave Reier, Sylvester Hargraves, Chick Miller, Harry Laur, and the efficient, hard-working Senior Manager, Bob Vail.

SWIMMING

After a year's lapse, the swimming team splashed its way back to the top of the W. H. S. sports ladder, ending its season with the record of three wins, one loss, second place in the county meet and two medal winners in national competition.

Weyman O. Steengrafe was new to Westfield this year, but proved himself an able coach, as he molded a veteran group into a potent, winning squad.

The team began their season at Pingry, when they dunked the Elizabethans, 41-18, Westfield taking every first but one.

On February 24, South Side entertained the tanksters, handing them a 41-16 win, featured by a tie in the 100-yard breast stroke.

Pingry, on March 10, gave the Devil Dunkers a battle, but W. H. S. emerged victorious, 32-25, taking the last event in a thrilling meet.

It took a champion to defeat Steengrafe's stellar splashers, as Central, Newark "champs," eked out a 30-27 win.

Coach Steengrafe presented letters to Jack Ruh, "soph" sprinter; Malcolm Downs, jack of all trades; George Mayer, third in county back-stroking; Phil Byrne, third best county breast-stroker, and Manager Ray Twaits. Major letters were presented to Jack Holmes, county champion and third fastest 50-yard secondary school swimmer in the United States; Emile Georgatos, second best county 100-yard free-styler; Jim Loveland, 220 ace, and Howard Harms, all of whom composed the fourth best free-style relay team in the secondary schools of the Nation.

TRACK

The track team, always one of Westfield High's greatest, is looking forward to another successful season; and if gym classes are any indication, the team should be good. The boys reported in better condition than ever, on account of hard conditioning under the tutelage of Coach Duncan during the winter.

According to Coach Goodrich, "I am depending more on the new boys than on the returning veterans. These tall, rangy sophomores look best to me. This is the best sophomore class I've seen for a long time."

The team this year, as before, will be strong in running and weak in the field events. Ray Salm is the only experienced man in the latter, but great things are expected of sophomore Bill Heinz.

The two veterans are Doug Parizeau and Van Snevily, quarter-miler and hurdler, respectively. They will probably be supplemented in the shorter distances by Jack Pollock, Vince Creedon, Gordon Hamilton, and unknown sophomores.

Hank Yordon is the only long-distance man, but here again the sophomores look good.

Van Lyman is the capable senior manager.

Dual meets are scheduled with Union, Thomas Jefferson, Millburn, and Linden, and a triangular contest with Bound Brook and Hillside.

The team is also entered in the Newark Board of Education, the Union County and the State meet, while Coach Goodrich is sending the relay team to the Penn Relays.

TENNIS

The W. H. S. tennis team, most successful of all, returns to action with five lettermen from last year's state championship squad. Prospects are good for a third consecutive championship for Bunting's Bashers with Harold Richardson, Al Luessenhop, George Mead, Dave Reier, and John Dietze doing most of the work.

Matches have been scheduled with Pingry, Morristown, Millburn and Perth Amboy in home and home contests.

Bill Hanna is the efficient senior manager.

GOLF

The golf team is pointing towards improvement over its 1942 season, with five lettermen returning to the links. Coaches W. E. Johnson Jr. and E. C. Allen are looking to Bruce Malcolm, Ray Taylor, Tom Gilroy, Larry Schaefer and Ed Christiansen to bring Westfield High an undefeated team, with matches scheduled with Metuchen, Scotch Plains, Millburn and Roselle Park, each a home and away affair.

Bob Sortor replaces Walter Correll, now in the service, as manager.

BASEBALL

With only three returning lettermen, Coach Joseph W. Freeman's prospects for the baseball season are not good. Captain Ed MacCloskey, strong-armed third-sacker; Chick Miller, steady infielder, and Ted Vreeland, stalwart gardener, are the only veterans.

If need be, Coach Freeman will move MacCloskey behind the plate to take advantage of his accurate right limb. Miller, at either short or second, and Myron Smith, Jimmy Turpin's sub last year, at first base, are reasonably sure of berths. Bruce Brown, Gurson Berse, Bruce Malcolm, John Ludlow, or John Corke are likely to fill the remaining positions. Bob McManigal, Herb Nelson, Cliff Bull, and Bill French from the pitching staff are the best prospects to patrol the picket line with Vreeland.

MacCloskey, Vreeland, and Smith are the only long-distance "bashers" on the squad, so the inexperienced mound corps will have a harder job than usual. Charles Frankenback, Bill French, and southpaws John Murphy and Cliff Bull will probably handle the flinging chores.

Needless to say, the team will miss Jim Turpin's and Jack Hahn's hitting and Jack Loeffler's consistency behind the mask.

Games have been scheduled with Millburn, Bound Brook, Linden, North Plainfield, and Edison in home-and-home duels and single games with Rahway and Hillside.

John Merritt will handle the managerial post.

THE G. A. C.

Despite many changes due to the war, the G. A. C. has completed a successful year under the direction of the following officers: President, Jean Rockey; Vice-President, Phyllis Kinkead; Secretary, Joan Walker, and Treasurer, Julia Schneider. Miss Gertrude Swift is the sponsor.

The most important change came to the well-known point system. Formerly girls received an award upon accumulating 100 points and only ten points were given for participation in a sport. Now a new credit system has been established to reward the girls for participation and ability. A girl need go out for only three sports and make a class team in one of them or make the quarter-finals in an individual competitive sport. Girls not able to make a class team or the quarter-finals in any sport may secure an award by participating in a fourth sport. Credit for any sport is withdrawn if the participant deliberately misses a team game without stating a legitimate excuse within a week.

In May, two of the most important events of the G. A. C. year took place. On May 1 the annual program on Recreation Field, entitled "Victory Through Physical Fitness," was presented, and on May 7 a G. A. C. evening replaced the dinner formerly held.

PHYSICAL FITNESS

The seniors have seen many changes come into their Physical Education Program, all tending to fit it to wartime needs.

Gone are the old gymnasium classes with easy competitive games. They have been replaced by a program designed to equip the student physically, mentally, and morally for the dark days which lie ahead.

In the fall the boys built their own obstacle course, resembling those used in Army camps. Calisthenics, boxing, wrestling, running, and individual conditioning such as rope climbing replaced football, basketball, and baseball of former years.

The girls retained only hockey, fencing, and modern dancing and shortened the time usually devoted to these in order to provide for a stiff course in calisthenics and apparatus work. Regular Army drill was undertaken by both boys and girls under the direction of several Army men from the Armory.

The most noticeable change in the girls' program was the change from an accumulative point system emphasizing ability to merit system emphasizing participation, which enabled more girls to obtain awards.

No matter what happens, the students of Westfield High School will take the added burdens in stride and ready themselves for victory.

RAY TWAIN

This year, once again, the bi-annual Community Fair opened the portals of W. H. S. to all who were lured by the clamor of the barkers and the martial strains of the opening band concert.

Given for the benefit of the HI'S-EYE and the WEATHER VANE, the various clubs and special activities contributed their efforts to the many separate enterprises.

Bewildered parents and wide-eyed underclassmen wandered through the throngs which crowded each new attraction.

The French cafe, the Spanish fiesta, and the German Christmas, sponsored by the language departments, were those respective countries come to life. The fish-pond, where prizes awaited all, and the G. A. C. kissing booth proved to be strong attractions, judging by the number of prize-laden and lipstick-smeared patrons. Everywhere barkers proclaimed the new thrills in store behind those mysterious doors of the House of Horrors and the Junior Auxiliary bathing beauty show. At the art exhibit, portraits were sketched and original Christmas cards were sold. Fortune-tellers and weight guessers did a thriving business. Students, for the first time, felt that they at last possessed something to hold over the heads of the esteemed faculty, for the Rogues' Gallery had revealed the likenesses of our teachers at three months or less.

The numerous other features included, a side-show, complete with freaks, an Aeronautics Exhibit, Our World, Latin-America, Cartoons and Football Movies, and for those who were hardy enough to brave the last flight of stairs, star-gazing (through a telescope) was permitted on the roof. After so much activity, patrons were glad to repair to the canteen in the Cafeteria.

Last, but all will agree by no means least, was the vaudeville show, with side-splitting comedy, dancing, and music. Both shows were packed to watch the can-can girls, the jitterbugging, the comedians, and to hear the band and its singer.

Out of the estimated 1,400 people who attended, 599 were paid admissions. The co-chairmen, Margaret Mickle and Jack Fletcher, by their untiring work, brought the school publications a profit of $439.40, so that in spite of any difficulties this year's Community Fair was one of the most successful in the school's history.

THE ANNUPED

The R. A. F. has its Gremlins, disturbing enough, no doubt; but on April 15 at 5:45 p. m. a few members of the WEATHER VANE ANNUAL staff caught a glimpse of an odd little character whose machinations, though confined to earth, are exasperating enough to make editors' brains throb, their hair turn gray, and leave them begging for deliverance from his wily tricks. He was promptly dubbed an "Annuped."

To be sure, we had smelled an odor resembling burning rope, had heard the clatter of wooden shoes, and had listened to a prolonged gurgling sound during some of our darkest hours, but never had we seen anything but the absorbed faces of the slaves of the Senior Class until a little figure dashed out of nowhere on the afternoon of our deadline. He wore a modified zoot-suit, armpit pants with the "neat-pleat," a sharp black and red checked shirt and a flashy green and white cap. A lock of tawny blond hair covered up one pink eye and set off a faintly purplish nose. Behind one ear was a post-office pen and between protruding teeth was a miniature stogie, which expelled from time to time great clouds of black, pungent smoke. As he went through the door of 101 without opening it, he winked one pink eye and gurgled.

At last we understood what was the malicious force that hid important pictures, caused equipment to disappear, spirited club write-ups away, made typists strike the wrong keys and tempted boys to go into the service without leaving their John Hancocks behind.

The Annuped

CLASS WILL

Knowing that "man wants but little here below nor wants that little long," we, the Class of 1943, composed of Amazons and Tarzans bred by the new Physical Fitness Program, make only a few modest bequests in this our Last Will and Testament:

First: To Mr. Babcock we leave the "ghost of Dietze," a keg of aspirin, and 1944's Lotharios to be.

Second: To Miss Grimler we give a lighted baton for use in blackouts.

Third: To next year's senior girls we leave bigger and better hen parties.

Fourth: To the Smiling Irishman, if he'll take it, we bequeath Mr. Johnson's car.

Fifth: To all the boys who need it we leave Bill Clotworthy's wit.

Sixth: To all male teachers we bequeath a joke book so that they may vary their repertoire of classroom jokes.

Witnessed in the lair of the Annuped, at the zero hour in the year of the great hegira to the Army, the Navy and the Air Force.
