The 1988-1989 yearbook staff has chosen "A Step Above" as this year's theme. We felt that not only were the students "A Step Above" the rest, but so were the faculty, our sports teams and our clubs. Westfield has continually excelled in nearly all it has set out to do, and this is obvious through the achievements of all our students and teachers. The seniors demonstrated their responsibility by being the first class in the history of WHS to be awarded the privilege of "open lunch". This was yet another example of Westfield High School's excellence. Because we have excelled at such a wide variety of activities we feel confident enough to declare ourselves "A Step Above."

Westfield's halls are filled with great friends.

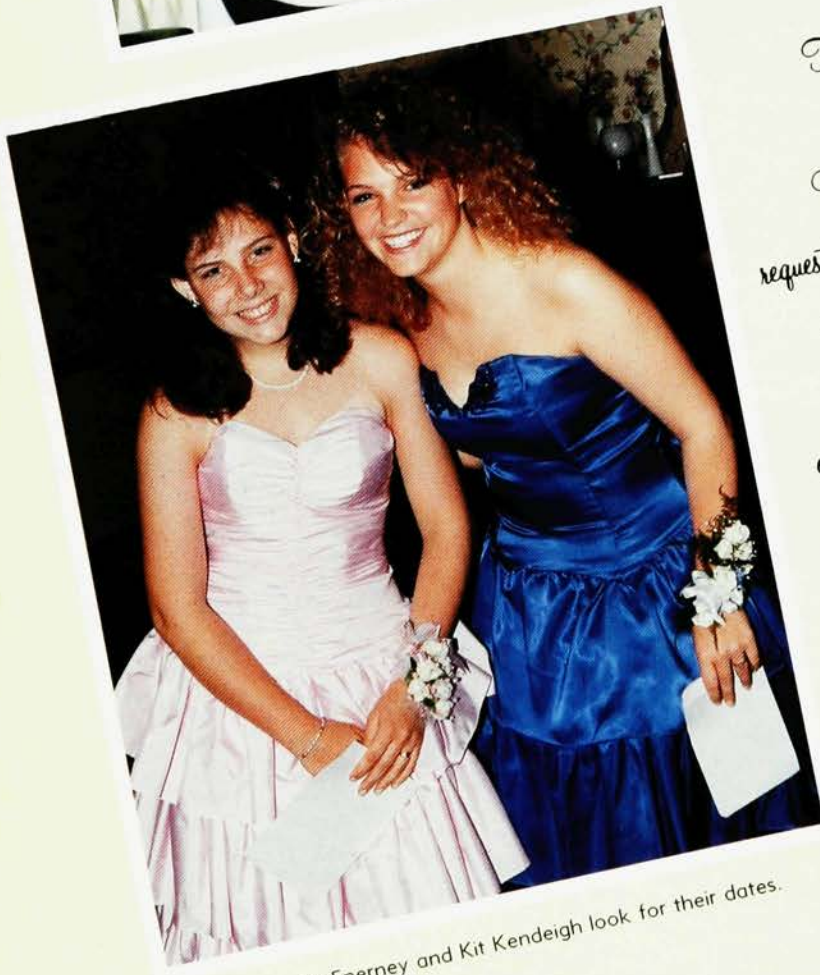

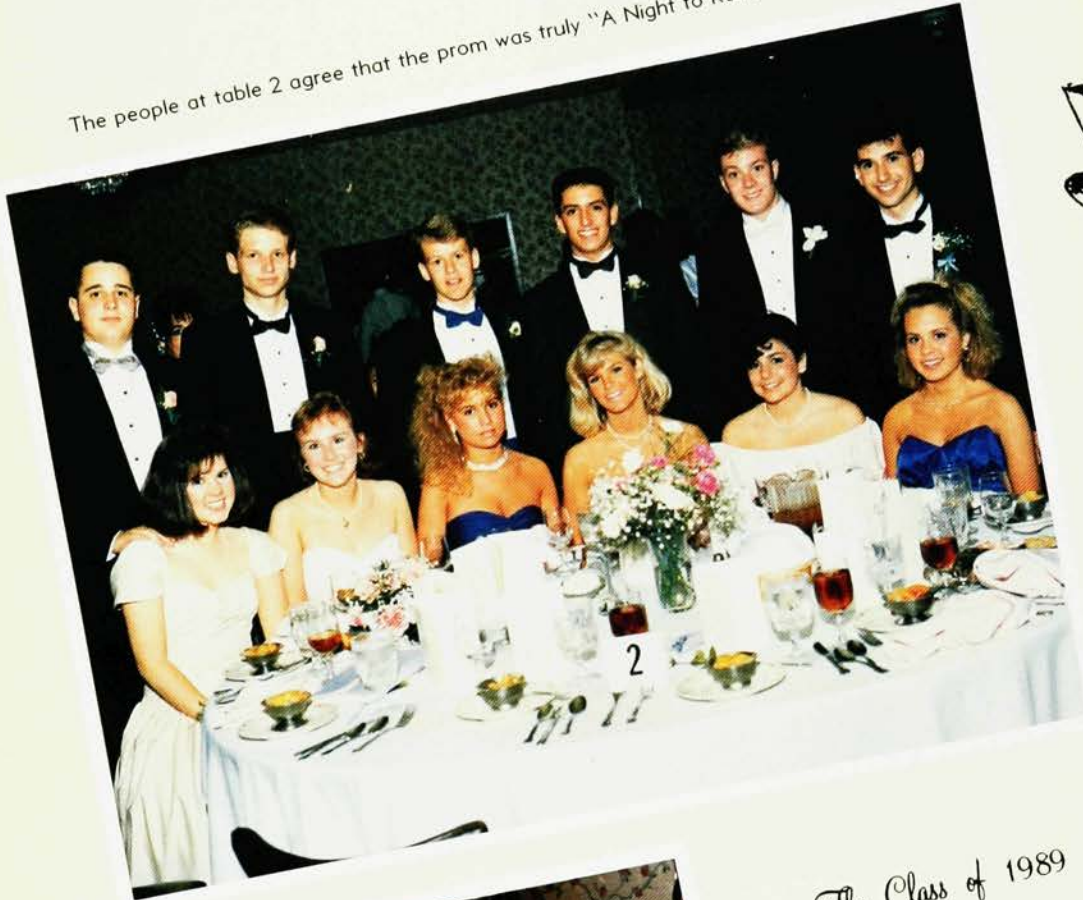

These underclassmen use the Science Resource Center as never before.

There is more to student life than just tests, grades, GPA's, and class ranks. Outside the classroom we have varied interests that have nothing to do with academics. These include our weekends and our time after school. Outside the school walls we like to spend time with our friends doing things that make us individuals. Some things we do can still involve the school, such as going to dances, sporting events, and plays. Our time away from school lets us develop our own interests. However we spend our time, it will be "A Step Above" the rest. From seniors to freshmen, students all have active lives outside school.

A Night To Remember

The big night Friday, May 20, 1988 finally arrived — it was "Prom Night". Juniors and Seniors rushed home in anticipation of the great time they were going to have. All the plans they had made and dreamed of would finally come to pass. Each had visions of a fabulous night to come, with their good friends, dancing every dance and visiting with one other. Each couple tried to spend time with their senior friends who would be graduating in June. The prom was surely a night to be remembered and, although it did not last forever, the memories definitely will.

Anthony Cannatelli and Wendy Lemke dance the night away.

Thanks to Mr. Scott and Mrs. Allebaugh, the special aides at the prom.

The day we have been awaiting since we understood what it meant — GRADUATION! It is a final step to adulthood, and the end of mandatory education. Most of us are headed to college, formal learning, but we will be free to study those subjects in which our interests lie. Others may go straight to earning a living or travel and will truly be on their own. Whatever we are doing, we will have to test our independence, which can seem overwhelming, but always exciting. After our time spent at Westfield High School, we will be well-prepared for what follows graduation, not only academically, but socially as well. Graduation may mean something different to everyone, but all in all that June afternoon is one of those special days you do not forget, because it is a significant turning point in our lives.

Seniors await the great moment of receiving their high school diplomas.

The Spirit Lives

October 14, 1988 marked the annual Pep Rally where the 1988-1989 fall sports teams were introduced by their captains. At 2:00, the entire student body of Westfield High School came together to show their dedication and support for our athletes. There was a feeling of pride and spirit in all of us. The Pep Rally prepared us for the following Saturday, Spirit Day, which was a day full of WHS sporting events from almost every sport. All in all, it was a great start to a new season and a new year of athletics. The pep rally was just one more indication which showed that the WHS student body is "a step above."

"Nickolas Nickleby"

Nickolas Nickleby by Charles Dickens is the story of a young man in England during the 1800's. After his father's death, Nicholas decides he must take care of his mother and sister.

He goes off to a boy's school where he sees the brutality of Mr. Wackford Squeers and his wife. Nicholas turns the brutality against Squeers and frees poor Smike, the chief brunt of Squeers' brutality. From here on Nicholas's mission become righting the wrongs of London.

The play is the essence of Dickens's most theatrical novel, a parade of colorful characters: wicked uncle Ralph; stylish Madame Mantalini; "decayed" Arthur Grime; pitiable orphan Smike; the winsome Cherryble brothers; lovely Madeline Bray; scheming Lady Hawk; and the amazing Crummels with their seedy theatre troupe. Standing above all the villains is the infamous, wicked Wackford Squeers, who with his horrible wife and daughter, runs his dreadful school with his cane and tablespoons of foul tasting medicine. Nickolas Nickleby is a delightful blend of comedy, mystery, and melodrama with the hero triumphing over the villain as could only have happened in Victorian England.

SENIORS STEP OUT

"Say Cheese!"

One of the many new additions to W.H.S. was open lunch — although it wasn't new to some. This meant that seniors didn't have to sit in the overcrowded cafeteria. Getting to lunch by either foot or car usually was not a problem, except for the students who won a spot in the parking lot lottery. Just remember, "NO TRANSPORTING UNDERCLASSMEN!" In contrast to many administrators' worries, seniors were able to eat, socialize, and return to their next class in the allowed time of forty minutes. Some of the places most visited by students were: Roots, Dukes, McDonalds, Burger King, Genneros, Ferraros, and Roy Rogers. With all of these different places to eat, some seniors chose to return home to eat. For some, open lunch meant getting extra lunch money from Mom and Dad or from your own savings, but it was definitely worth not having to eat in the school cafeteria. We proved that we were responsible and ready for the world!

This Roy Rogers sign became a familiar sight to seniors who were allowed to go out for lunch.

A Tradition Above the Rest

The WHS annual homecoming ceremonies took place on November 23. The afternoon got off to a great start with the first ever homecoming parade which began at Roosevelt Intermediate School and ended in Mindowaskin Park. Spectators were delighted to see a tradition of the homecoming parade begin. WHS sports teams and clubs were represented in the parade. The homecoming candidates were driven through town as part of the parade.

Later that evening, the annual bonfire invoked spirit in us. WHS graduates returned to join in the festivities of the bonfire. Following the bonfire, a reception was held in Cafeteria B where the homecoming King and Queen were to be announced.

The candidates for King were Tom Cassidy, Chris Cognetti, Benton Cummings, and Randy Wojcik. The candidates for Queen were Amy Flynn, Kit Kendeigh, Amanda Ross, Cece Stark, and Marli Vogel. And the 1988 Homecoming King and Queen were ... Tom Cassidy and Marli Vogel.

Thanksgiving day marked another end of the custom with the annual Westfield versus Plainfield football game. This year, our football team was victorious with a score of 7-6.

This year's homecoming brought in a melange of the old and new. The homecoming Queen and King, the bonfire, and the football game were followed in by the new homecoming parade.

Feel The Rhythm

Music is a part of every student's life. Most students spend their money on tapes, albums, or CD's. Some people do more than just listen to music; they make it. The average band in high school is just out to have fun but some are following a dream to become famous. High school years are the beginning of a chance to achieve that dream. They spend hours practicing or jamming.

There have been several Radical Rock Concerts the past year and many people went to hear their friends or classmates and perhaps future stars. Notable bands this year were the Even Stevens and Navaria.

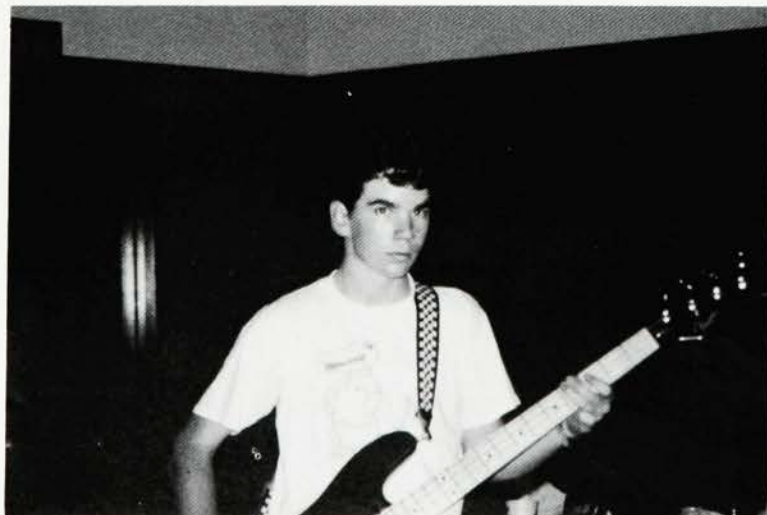

Some bands that were formed at WHS have stayed together after graduation, trying to break into the music scene by playing at various clubs or even making albums and tapes. The Fundamentals, Whirling Dervishes, and the Union Bells are a few among these bands. The ultimate goal of the bands is to become "A Step Above" the rest.

Off To Work We Go . . .

Some people think school should be a student's only job; but if you go into almost any store in town you'll find many who disagree. Most people feel that as long as the job does not interfere with schoolwork, it is good to have one. The money's usually the reason for the job, but it also gives people who are not involved with a sport something to do after school, and it teaches responsibility. The downside can be working on weekends instead of spending time with friends or getting that necessary rest. A job has become a necessity for many, especially seniors. The majority of seniors have jobs and need them for all their expenses such as cars, weekends, and college. Many sophomores and juniors work, as well as some freshman. Working can be a good experience, and even if you don't love your job, the paycheck makes it worth it!

Grease

Westfield High School goes back to the boppin' 50's with its production of Grease. The musical is a story of simple days, teenage romance, and school life at Rydell High. Along with the many ongoing plots, Danny Zuko, the Burger Palace Boy, has to decide whether to go with his heart or with his friends. Sandy Dumbrowski has to decide whether to keep her sweet, wholesome, naïve Sandra Dee-like personality, or become a hip Pink Lady.

Lots of hard work and precious time was put into this production. Many thanks go to Mr. Nierle, Mr. Beil, and Susann Kalitan for their support and guidance. This all proves how well "WE GO TOGETHER."

"Look at me, I'm Sandra Dee," sings Kit Kendeigh.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

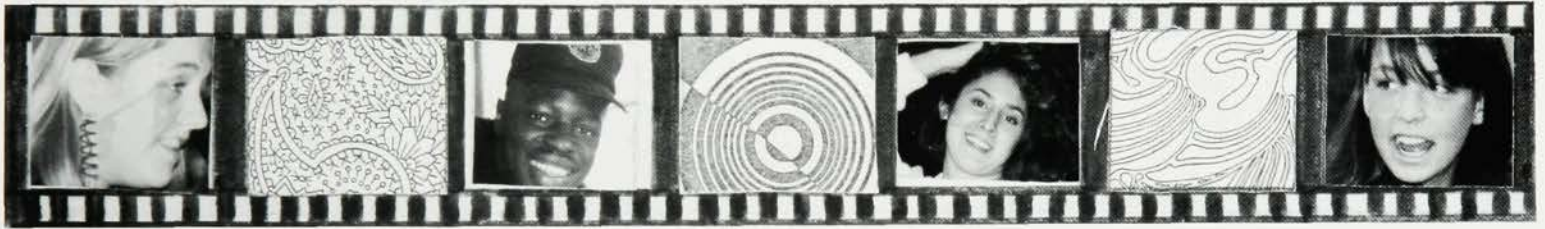

FASHION: n. 1. the current style or custom, as in dress or behavior; the mode for the present. This textbook definition does not do justice to the diverse styles seen in the halls at WHS. This year many individuals defined their own sense of style while others chose to follow already established fashion trends. The preppy style including rugbys, Levis, faded and pinned at the ankle, Bass Bluchers and classic keds took everyone a step above. L.L. Bean and Jansport bookbags were found on the shoulders of every fashion-conscious student, and Liz Claiborne seems to have cornered the market in purses. If preppy was just not the fashion statement you wished to make, vintage clothing, artsy village garments and basic black were very popular. Clothes make the man, but man can also make his clothes as was evident from the profusion of tie-dyed t-shirts, boxers, and socks. Whatever style you followed or created, diversity was definitely the key word when describing fashion at WHS.

Vacation!! Ah, music to our ears! The word vacation is one which makes the wait for summer a bit more bearable. It means that we actually have more than two days to do anything we want. Whether one looks forward to sleeping, shopping, skiing, visiting friends or relatives, or just nothing at all, it is rare that a student complains about having a vacation. Some people were lucky enough to go somewhere warm during the winter months and to come back to school brown and healthy looking. Many went to resorts in various parts of the world or to Grandma's condo in Florida. Some went on skiing trips to Colorado, Vermont or the Poconos and had a great time racing down the slopes and drinking hot chocolate. A large majority of students stayed home and simply relaxed and enjoyed the change of pace from the rigorous school days. All in all everyone enjoyed the chance to recharge. How could they not enjoy sleeping past sunrise?

A Step

In the News

In addition to our everyday WHS announcements, we got a taste of world and national news as well. This year's main event was the 1988 Presidential Campaign, which ended with the election of President George Bush and Vice-President J. Danforth Quayle. Prior to the election, President Ronald Reagan ended his eight-year term with a visit from Soviet Premier Mikhail Gorbachev. Unfortunately, the historic visit was cut short due to the devastating earthquake in Armenia. Neighboring New York City hosted Princess Diana on her first trip to the Big Apple.

Many people lost some faith in the airline system of transportation following the fateful Flights 103 and 811, the Eastern Airline Strike and various threats from terrorist groups. Unfortunately, the word terrorism became a big part of our vocabulary, being connected with Flight 103 and the British author Salman Rushdie's book, The Satanic Verses. This was labeled "blasphemous" by many Moslems, including the Ayatollah Khomeini of Iran, who eventually put a multi-million price-tag on the head of the author.

The entertainment world once again was the source of various controversies, most of which started out private but ended up public. Rockstar Madonna initiated controversy when her video "Like A Prayer" was banned in some countries, as well as her divorce from bad boy Sean Penn. Other newsmakers were the Given-Tyson divorce, rocker James Brown's arrest, and the slim Oprah Winfrey.

School News

Several new policies were added to the curriculum this year at WHS. Included were open lunch, free flow, I.D. cards, and also the addition of the freshman class and the change to the four-year high school.

The privilege of open lunch was warmly received by the seniors who proved that they could handle the responsibility.

Free-flow was a controversial policy. It allowed students to travel freely through the halls without a pass, as long as there was no "congregating."

I.D. cards gave a new twist to school rules. Students were required to have cards available at all times in case they were asked to identify themselves to a teacher. Those students without their I.D. cards were given two hours of detention.

The first class of "freshmen" at WHS took a giant step into our corridors, classrooms, and cafeteria, our lives and hearts. Their terrifying energy and many talents have added a spirited fourth dimension to our school community.

We've reached the end of our trail at Westfield High School. Nights of endless applications engulfed us, but those nights have proved worthwhile because we have been accepted to colleges. No more SAT's, no more applications. This year was our chance to be a step above as upperclassmen. We gained the special privilege of open lunch and, in addition, were the first class to receive student I.D. cards. Maintaining top grades during the first semester caused us a bit of stress. With the arrival of the second semester, however, came senioritis. Some of us suffered an aching for graduation. Ending the year we had the prom, graduation, and the senior banquet to celebrate the end of our years at Westfield High School, but also the beginning of our future.

One step from the top, the juniors are ready to take on the world. They have succeeded in a year which requires intensive study: they have written research papers, taken the PSAT's and the SAT's. They have been called upon to work to the best of their capabilities. New responsibilities are taught to them for they must carry around an egg-baby for a week. It sounds tough, but they had fun along the way. Clubs, varsity sports, jobs, and other extracurricular activities slowed down the fast pace. A driver's license and senior privileges are the immediate aims of the junior. Meanwhile the junior looks to college and a career in the future. He is prepared to prosper in the world after completing this demanding year. In all, juniors had to work hard to succeed, but in the end, they will turn out to be a step above the rest.

What the heck did my friends talk me into?

If you come near me with that camera, I'm gonna sock ya one — BUCKO!

This year was different from previous years at Westfield High School. The sophomores did not enter the high school alone. Along with the freshmen, they experienced the fears of getting lost in the hallways, meeting new people, and being intimidated by the upperclassmen. This fear diminished, though, with the assistance of the junior and senior buddy system.

However, although sophomores entered the high school with the freshmen, they are a unique class and have left a mark of their own. Sophomores have many new and exciting experiences awaiting them in the future including getting a driver's license, looking at and applying to colleges, finally, graduation. These events may seem far away for the sophomore, but, in reality, they are just around the corner.

SOPHOMORES

Making the transition from junior high to high school is always a big step for Westfield students. This year it was an even greater challenge. Our three-year high school became a four-year high school. The incoming freshmen were put to the test and succeeded with flying colors. They overcame directions to the pool and the third floor from students who clearly were not a part of the Buddy System. The class of '92 proved to the upperclassmen that they would not be stepped on. They went through the first few weeks looking lost and bewildered; however, as everyone does, they found their way to the library and the cafeteria and, more importantly, found their place at WHS. They're sometimes short, sometimes tall, but always easily recognized. They're the first freshman class ever at WHS, and they have made us proud. The freshmen added a new dimension to our school, contributing a younger spirit and courage to the student body.

Robert Jeremiah is all smiles as Mr. Frinzi gives him a passing grade.

Academically, the students and faculty at Westfield High School are ranked high in the state of New Jersey. We earn our reputation by working hard to ultimately meet our individual goals.

It is important to have a good education in order to prepare for the future. Our school offers a variety of courses to choose from which enable us to achieve our goals. Subjects offered range from Journalism to Biology II A.P. to Independent Living. This way, we have the opportunity to take courses that interest us as individuals. Although we are forced to conquer many challenges including the dreaded thesis paper, achievement tests, and the dissection of a frog, when students graduate from Westfield High School, they leave with a real sense of accomplishment setting them "A Step Above" the rest.

Creative Escape

All English courses offered at Westfield High School, from Freshman English I to English IV A.P., share one common characteristic. Each class gives us an opportunity to escape our everyday surroundings to faraway places in the past, in the present, and in the future. We enjoy these experiences by reading novels, jumping into exciting discussions, and yes, we must not forget all of those papers.

When a teacher assigns a paper, our common reactions are groans. We plead with our teachers to postpone the assignments, but to no avail. We usually end up working until the early morning hours. Miraculously, we manage to hand them in on time. This is quite an achievement; and somewhere along the line, we eventually learn that procrastination is not worth all of the stress and anxiety that it causes. Although we may feel overworked and often wish that our teachers would ease up, our accomplishments enrich today and promise to be valuable for the future. For the world we enter in English class will stay with us forever.

Know Yourself

With the 9th grade in the high school system, the Social Studies Department is growing by leaps and bounds. For the first time, 9th graders were able to take Cultures, a new course. Other courses offered to us included European History, Survey, Heritage, and Issues. We can study the history of our great country and other countries from prehistoric times all the way through the present. For those of us who really want to explore the wonders of history, our school gives us the opportunity to take challenging advanced placement courses in American History, European History, and Government. Also, there are many social studies electives such as International Relations, Sociology, Psychology, Introduction to Law, Comparative Religions, Economics, and Anthropology.

We have to work hard in our social studies classes preparing outlines, taking tests, writing essays, and extracting information from many different sources. We always have to be on our toes ready for surprise quizzes and oral exams. Most of all, the Social Studies Department encourages us to explore many dimensions of the world and our place in it.

Speak Out

As if English were not enough, we have an opportunity to learn a second language such as French, German, Italian, Latin, or Spanish. In addition, this year we were offered a no grade, no credit course in Russian. Some students have even begun to study a third language. However, by taking a foreign language course, not only do we learn to speak, read, and write the language, but the study of its culture has become an intricate part of the courses as well. Each language goes above and beyond the classroom and allows us to become more aware of cultures through such activities as the Latin Saturnalia and the German Wintermarkt.

This year, Westfield High School decided that students do not need to wait until junior high or high school to begin studying a foreign language. Therefore, our school sent exceptional foreign language students to elementary school students involved in the ALP program in order to introduce various foreign languages to them. Nevertheless, whether we started learning a foreign language in elementary, junior high, or high school, we all have become increasingly aware of other cultures through the foreign language course.

To certain students at our school, English is in fact a foreign language which they must learn. Just as any other foreign language, these students come to learn about the culture and language. However, unlike other students, they have the advantage of living in the country where their foreign language is spoken. This enables ESL students at our school to become accustomed to the English language and culture.

"Those grave and beautiful games that numbers play with one another from everlasting to everlasting." (Kitto)

Did you ever realize how much we use math in our day to day lives? Often, we tend to think that all of those theorems and equations that we are forced to memorize will never be useful to us in the future. However, much to our surprise, we will use applications of math in our everyday lives. Just think — we will all need to know how to balance a checkbook, figure out tips, fill out tax returns, etc . . . Our school offers several math courses including geometry, algebra, trigonometry, and calculus. We must take at least two years of math courses to fulfill our graduation requirements. However, many of us take three or four years of math courses.

When we learn a new equation or theorem, math can often look like a foreign language. Eventually, what may seem impossible at first will soon become possible as our teachers help us to understand difficult problems.

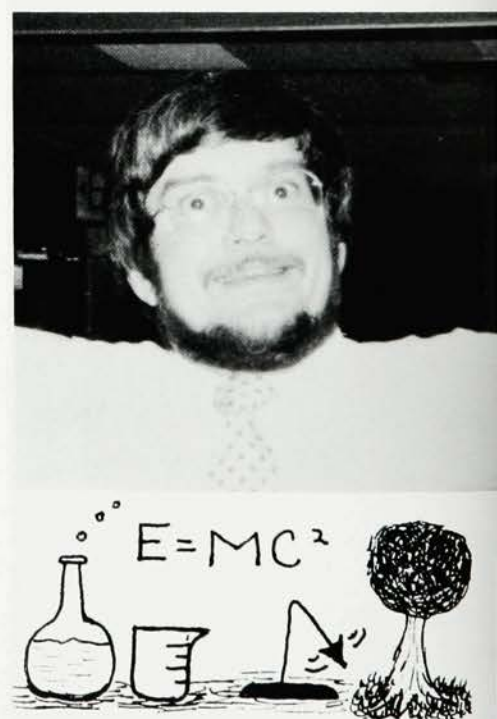

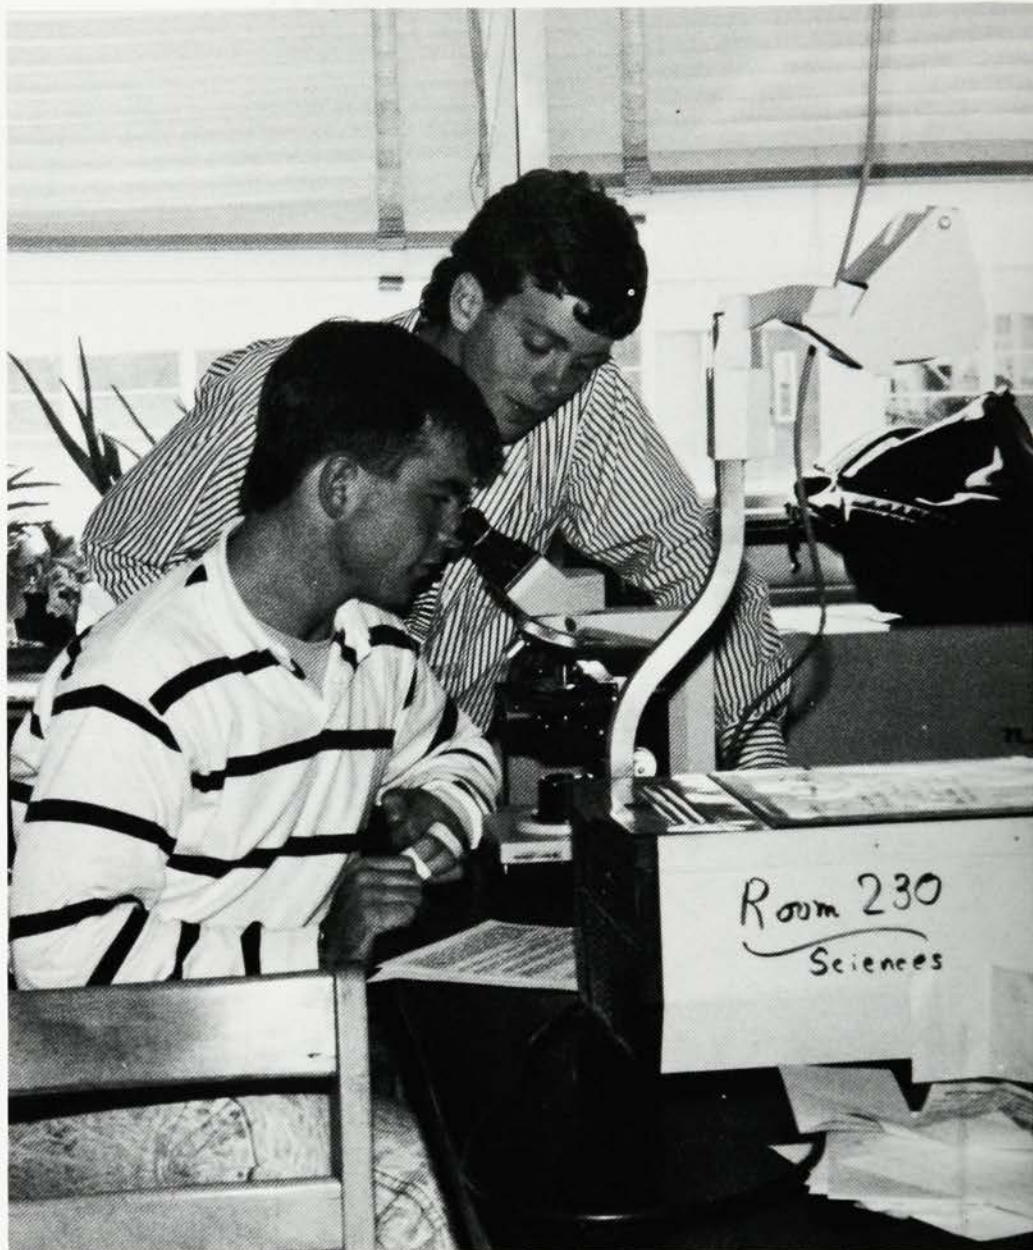

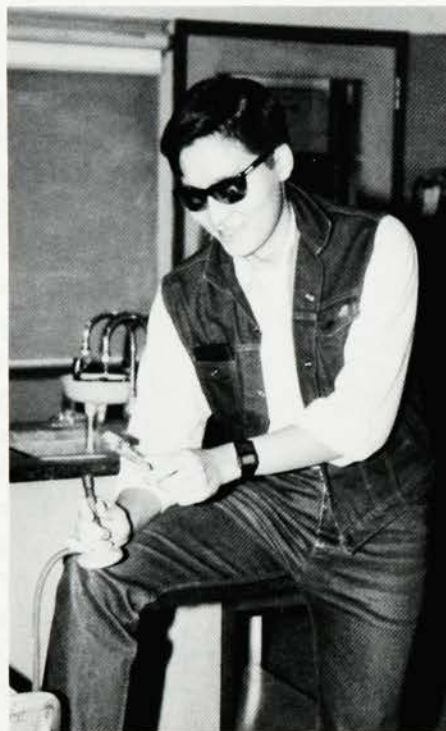

Also, students may elect to take Introduction to PASCAL, Probability and Statistics, and computer science. The computer courses offered at our school enable us to learn numerous computer languages. Probability and Statistics, a semester course, is geared to teach statistical procedures. In any case, both the required and elective math courses are aimed at helping us to prepare for our futures and to reach "step above."

Let's Experiment

Through the science courses offered at our school, we are able to learn about our surrounding environment, atmosphere, and the entire world. The Westfield High School Science Department encourages students interested in the field of science to learn and reach for their highest level of understanding. The science teachers also make science more interesting and fun to learn for those of us whose futures do not lie in the science field.

Once a week, each science course has a lab which lasts for two periods. During the labs, we have the opportunity to have a "hands on" experience. Labs range from dissecting a frog in Biology, litmus paper experiments in Chemistry, and several ticker tape labs in Physics. Environmental science classes take several field trips to interesting places including Raritan Valley Sewage Authority, the Great Swamp, and Cheesequake Park.

One of the best aspects of the science department is the freedom for students to visit the science resource room during a free period. Here we can talk to our teachers or study in a relaxed and peaceful atmosphere. The science department bridges the gap to a world of laboratories and test tubes and makes it a little more fun for everyone.

Get In Shape

From running the everlasting 600 meters in the September heat to fighting for victory in team handball, the Physical Education department encourages all students to actively participate and enjoy the activities. This year, for the first time, students were introduced to square dancing as one of the activities in gym class. Other activities included volleyball, softball, fitness, weight training, archery, project adventure, etc . . .

Along with exercising in Physical Education class, students learned about sex, drugs, and alcohol and family relationships in Health class. During our junior year, the health teachers carry out a unique project. By requiring juniors to create and take care of "egg babies," as if they were real children. Students experience the many difficulties and responsibilities of raising a family. By the end of our four years, we gain an understanding of our physical and emotional relationships within our society.

The Contemporary Living and Industrial Arts courses at Westfield High School allow us to choose numerous electives in which we have an interest or future career goal.

The Contemporary Living courses include Modern Foods, Independent Living, and Child Growth and Development. Modern Foods teaches students to plan meals involving aspects of cost, time, and preparation. Independent living classes answer many questions we have about applying for a job, selecting a place to live, and generally how to plan for the future.

We are also offered courses in the area of Industrial Arts, including Architectural Drawing, Woods, and Graphic Arts. These electives allow students the opportunity to use their imaginations and create individual projects.

Not only are the Contemporary Living and Industrial Arts good courses to take, but they will prove useful in the future.

CONTEMP.
& IND. ART

Imagine That . . .

Express Yourself

The Fine Arts program ranges from teaching the novice student the basic principles of art and music to enhancing the talents of an experienced student.

The Art I course introduces the basic design and concepts involving both abstract and natural subjects. In more advanced art courses, students go further in depth in techniques in drawing, painting, and sculpting.

The Fine Arts Department also offers numerous courses in voice and music. Voice classes offered include Voice Class I through IV. These classes are geared to help the individual student to progress in areas of vocal technique, musicianship, and stage presence. Many students participate in choir which provides a good experience in terms of technique, sightsinging, and performance. The music program gives students an opportunity to play an instrument in Marching band, Symphonic band, String Orchestra, and Symphony Orchestra.

Also, Public Speaking and Drama are offered which develop a student's communication process. This is very important in today's society and will help in future success.

Many students participate in an alternate academic program called Project '79. This program evolved in 1979 and was designed to prepare students for college in a smaller classroom setting while covering the same material taught in the traditional courses. The program has proved very successful thanks to its hard working teachers who motivate their students to do their best.

Students involved in Project '79 are able to learn in a good environment with more personal attention than they would be given in the traditional classes. The teachers are able to spend more time with individual students.

Students take English, science, social studies, mathematics, and physical education/health classes. The students are able to earn at least 25 credits each year. However, several students are encouraged to take electives or languages in which they have an interest.

Making The Grade

The Business Education department at our school offers us many practical courses including courses in accounting, typing, and word processing among many more. Students who develop an interest in one of the many business courses are able to move onto higher levels and possibly towards a future career.

In Accounting I, students learn how to record business transactions and how to set up accounts for businesses. A second course is also offered which builds upon ideas from Accounting I.

Typing and word processing have become a key skill in today's "computer age." These courses prepare students for both today as well as the future. Students learn how to type reports, job applications, and personal/business letters. In Word Processing I, students learn to use today's software. The experience they achieve will aid them in their futures.

A Look Ahead

The Real World

Our school gives us a chance to further broaden our horizons and to explore the "real world" through the Cooperative Office and Industrial Education and the Union County Vocational Center programs. Unlike a traditional curriculum, students involved in these programs have an opportunity to be exposed to future career goals in business, marketing, health, clerical, and secretarial occupations. In the Vocational program, students take major subjects part of the day and then report to the Union County Vocational School to learn and train for a specific trade.

Students who take part in the Cooperative Office and Industrial Educational programs take their major subjects in the morning. In the afternoon, they hold down a job approved by the school for which they obtain school credits.

Most importantly, both of these programs allow their students to plan, pursue, and practice future career goals of their choice.

Westfield teams have found that success comes easily. Some people wonder if there is something in the water that causes this success. Last year, the varsity teams compiled a 263-76-7 record with a .780 winning percentage. They also won 21 titles over this 1987-1988 season. There were one Group IV, Public School and State Division A titles won. Four teams were runner-ups in the state finals. Sectional titles were won by four teams. Seven Watchung Conference and seven Union County titles were compiled over the season. All of this success can be attributed to the hard work of both the coaches and athletes and the teamwork and team spirit that is felt throughout Westfield athletics.

The team also produced two All-Americans in graduates Brendan Flaherty and Gregg Schmalz. Graduate Chris Miller was a key player for the Blue Devils, making incredible saves at the position of goalie. Other key players were Colin McLane, Jason McLane, Chris Ward, and Benton Cummings.

Clearing the Hurdles

The boys' track team had another successful season. Led by captains Dennis McGorty, Roger Albertson and Anthony Buoscio and graduates Scott Hevert, Jeff Sherman, Craig Russell and Jason Hagman, the team set new individual and relay records, won honors in the nationwide Penn Relays and placed second in the county and conference championships. Sherman set a new record in the pole vault, Sherman and Hagman in the two-man pole vault and Sherman, Hagman and McGorty in the three-man pole vault. This season was a fresh start for the team because of the opening of the new, ultramodern track which helped lessen the pain in many a competitor's calves. The team was also able to host a meet of its own, the Blue Devil Classic, thanks to the improved facilities. The team looks forward to a bright future because of a strong crop of underclassmen such as Phil Gallagher, Bush Dorsey, Dave Stravach, Dan Avis and Brian Leegan.

The Westfield sprinters, led by Leroy Gallman, center, attempt to defeat the Elizabeth team in the 100 meter dash.

County Champs

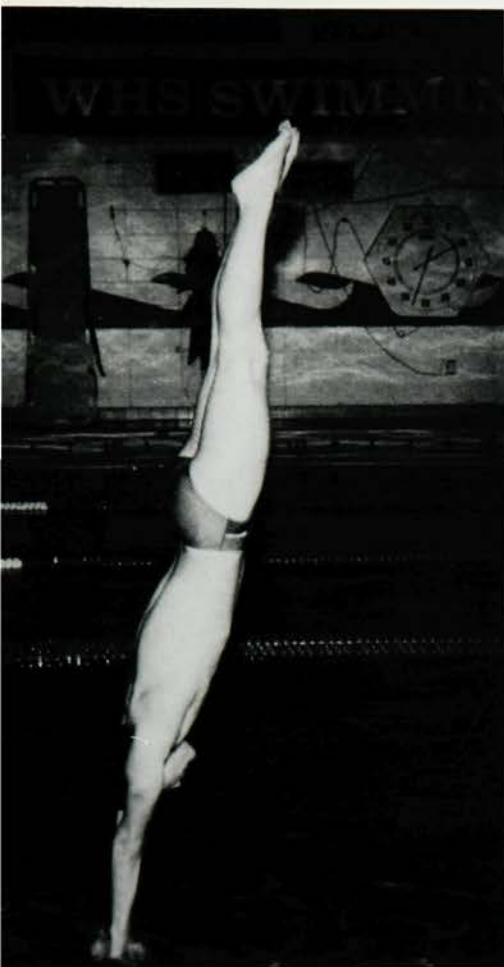

Sporting a 10-5 record, the boys' swimming team achieved a successful season, winning the Union County Championship for the 34th consecutive year and placing fifth in the Pirate Invitational. The season proved to be a rebuilding one for the mermen, with many young swimmers improving and excelling under the leadership of new coach

Chris McGiffin. Captains Peter Wright and Austin Burkett helped to spur the team's spirit throughout the season both in practice and meets. Even though the team felt the loss of many key swimmers to graduation, the boy's hard work and comaradery made their season a fruitful and enjoyable one. The team also went on to win the state sec-

Motivated Strokes

Success was the key word in the girls' swimming season. The team won the Division A state title, county title and for the fifth straight season went undefeated at 12-0. The girls defeated arch-rival Cherry Hill East, the second win being the best because it won them their state title. Senior Mei-Mei Caroe broke school records in the 200 and 500 free and the county record in the 500 free. Diver Vicki Catenacci placed second in the county behind state champion Ali Buckley of Scotch Plains. This season Coach Marilyn Diamond had her 100th career victory, one year after the team had won its 100th dual meet. The 200 free relay of Valerie Gude, Brandeis Wright, Anne Burkett and Caroe were highly successful. Caroe placed fifth in the 500 free at the Meet of Champions. A welcome addition was the assistance received from coach Peg Wright. Other standouts were Lara Weber and Amy Tully.

Determined to Conquer

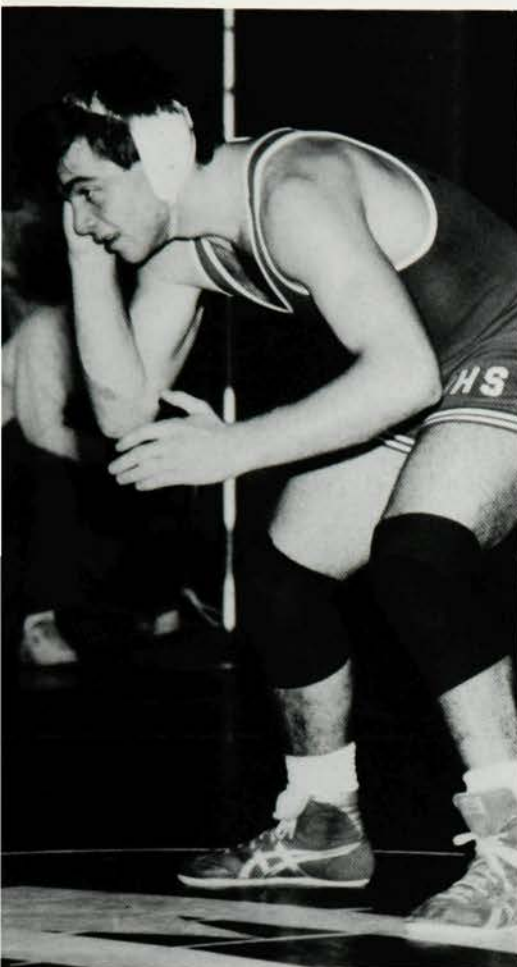

The wrestling team overcame its many injuries, finishing with a 9-4 record and a District 11 championship. The team was stricken with injuries and illness and never was at full capacity. Junior Chris Jordan won the county and district titles and placed third in the regions. John Povalac also won the county title at his respective weight class and placed third at the districts. Senior Randy Wojcik missed three weeks of the season because of a bout with mononucleosis but came back to win the district title. Sophomore Glenn Kurz placed second in the county and the districts. Matt Brown placed second in the county and at the regional meet. Other standouts for the grapplers are Gerald Benaquista, Ken Marsh, Mike DiBella, and Marcus Elias.

Through the Hoop

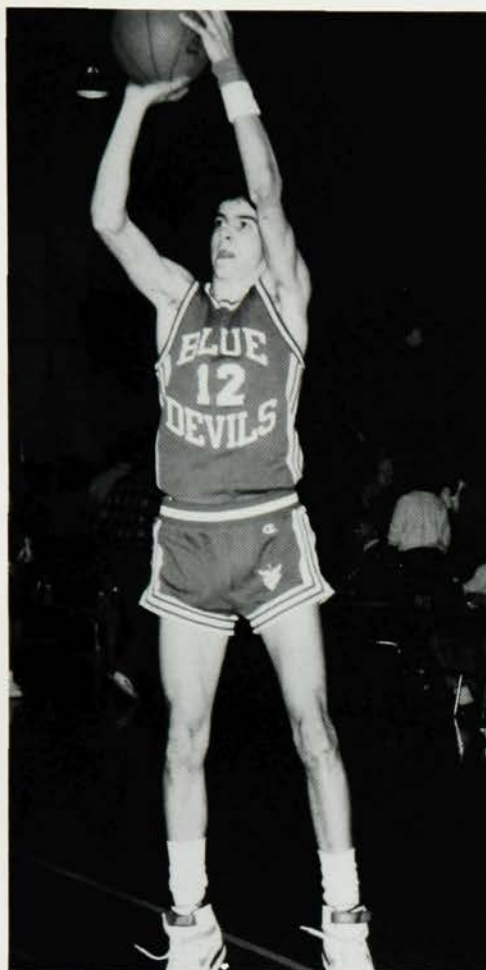

The cagers met with difficulty in their schedule and posted a 6-14 record this season. The team defeated Governor Livingston in the first round of the Union County Tournament, but was then defeated by Elizabeth in the second round. The boys had faced Elizabeth with 7'2" Luther Wright two times before in the season. The team had impressive victories over Irvington, 86-62, Union Catholic, 51-44, and Governor Livingston, 54-34. Senior Ted Hobbie led the cagers in scoring this past season with 10.2 points per game. Hobbie was lost toward the end of the season due to an injury. Nick Dilorio also played well for the team with an impressive 29 point game against Irvington, including three baskets from three-point range. Lee Krasner, Ron Shovlin, Tom Cassidy, Lee Topar and Roy Jansen also made important contributions to the Blue Devil team.

Sophomore Lee Topar boxes out his opponent as he prepares to try for an offensive rebound.

One Track Mind

This year's winter track team was of a highly different composition from those of past years. There were a mere seven juniors and seniors on this year's team to lead the twenty-seven freshmen and sophomores. So instead of the usual practice of intimidating and terrorizing the running novices, these poor upperclassmen, led by captains Phil Gallagher, Dave Stravach, and Ed Dorsey, were forced to engage in less offensive activities such as running and stretching. The outnumbered seniors managed to retain some semblance of order among the team, except for occasional attacks on miler and two-miler Brian Leegan, for whom no amount of protection sufficed to stave off the angry hordes of underclassmen. Nevertheless, led by the captains, juniors Dan Avis and Brian Leegan, and sophomore Mark LaCaruba, the team turned in many fine performances and looks forward to the maturity of the rest of the team. Led by seniors Chris Walsh and Jen Rulf, in the half-mile and mile respectively, the girls' team performed very well, placing impressively in both the country individuals and relays.

Shooting for Success

The girls' basketball team finished with a .500 winning percentage at 10-10. The unseeded team made it to the semi-finals of the Union County Tournament, knocking off seeded Hillside and Roselle Park in the process. Junior Kim Kumpf lead the team in the tourney by combining for 55 points in the three games. The girls were defeated in the semi-finals by state power Union Catholic. Point guard Marcie Williams lead the team with 220 points. Claudia Carnevale, Kim McGowan, Jodi Heimlich and Nanette Cunningham made important contributions to the team. The team was a young one that featured only one senior. Coach Shapiro said, "They are looking forward to a seasoned team setting the pace next year."

In a jumbled confusion, Claudia Carnevale scores two points for her team.

Left — Carolyn Gosen looks for an opening beyond her defender. Right — Marcie Williams leaps high in the air for a lay-up.

With a 1-2 record, the bowling team finished yet another successful season. Led by junior bowler Bruce Ricker, the team placed second in the National Division of the Watchung Conference. It also placed fifth at the Central Jersey

Winter Bowling Classic where 40 other teams competed along with the Blue Devils. Ricker led the team with a high game of 235 while freshman Jeff Hemer had the team's high series at 588. After placing well at the county match, the Blue Devils placed third in the North Jersey Section II playoffs. Hemer bowled a 581 series in this tourney. Ricker finished the year with a 190 average while Ian Rhodes maintained a 174 average throughout the season.

Inspiration and Dedication

Inspiration and dedication. These are just two words that can be used to describe the coaches at Westfield High School. These men and women put in as much time, if not more, than the athletes themselves to help create a winning season and to instill a sentiment of good sportsmanship in their players. But often the hard work of these people goes unnoticed. Therefore, this page is dedicated to the coaches of WHS, who share their talents and skills with the athletes at Westfield and who have helped create a winning spirit for the Blue Devils.

Andy Cozewith and Phil Gallagher show their devotion to the Latin Club.

Bob Fillipone and his disciples debate about the true meaning of peace in the arts.

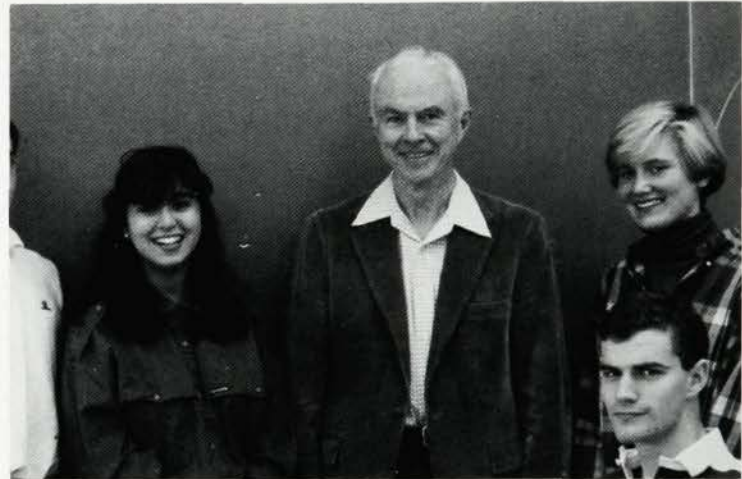

WHS clubs come in all shapes and sizes, but whatever your interest you can expect to find a club that suits you at this school. The choices range from the newly formed Surf Club, to the Key Club, and always, WHS had something for everyone. Clubs dealing with politics, stocks, current events, amnesty, and world peace; clubs that allow one to practice the traditions that occur in these clubs. Clubs that allow one, not only to get its general philosophy, but also to experience the ideas that the club sets forth, thus making WHS clubs, truly a step above. For many students, school does not end after ninth period, but rather at the close of a meeting. This produces a more well-rounded academic environment. Not only are there activities in the classroom, but also out of classrooms in clubs. And with the addition of the freshman class, there are even more activities to choose from.

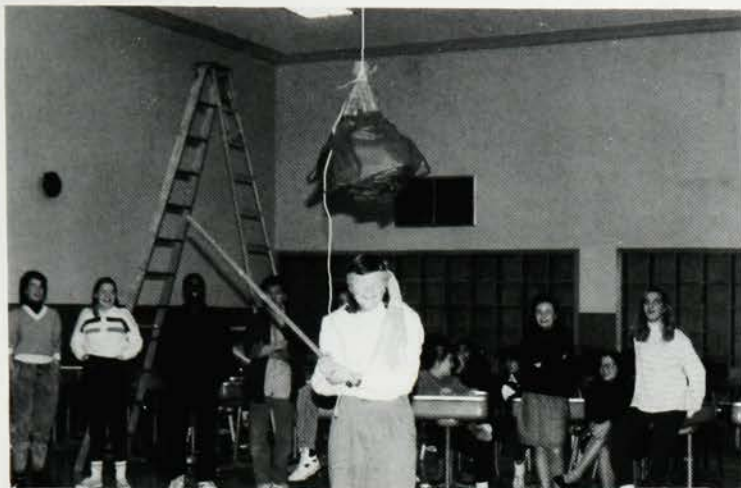

EXTRACURRICULAR

Saturnalia

The Latin Club has once again dedicated itself to bringing a little touch of Ancient Rome to W.H.S. Led by co-consuls Kim "Just say 'Hi!'" Gosen and Chris "Don't let him in the party" Shea, the club reached new heights of reality this year with its scholarship program and cultural activities. Ms. Meierhan's performance of the Dance of the Defrocked Slavegirl at the December Saturnalia Festival shall be forever engrained in the memory of all who were fortunate enough to witness the performance, especially the male part of her lusty audience. Perhaps Senior Amy "I'm bigger than you are" McFadden summed up the year best when she said, "How did those Romans manage to wake up the morning after and built those statues?"

¡Fiesta!

The Spanish Club is designed to organize activities for its members (such as field trips to restaurants, museums, or plays) to fundraise money for graduating seniors (last year we gave $1700 in scholarships); and last but not least to support a Mexican boy ($200 a year). We also participate in many school spirit activities, a few of which are the Valentine's Day Carnation Sale, the year's Halloween Candy Sale, and Carnival Night. It's definitely one of the most worthwhile clubs you'll ever join!

Key In

The Computer Club is a contest oriented club. This year, the club has increased in size as well as activities. The members are the traditional current A.P. Computer Science students and other students who have great interest in computers. This year, the club, again, participates in four major contests. In addition to the contests, the club hosts speakers and performs demonstrations with different computer languages. With help from the advisor Ms. Trees and the president Dave Chou, the Computer Club has organized itself for another successful year.

Dig It

The Volleyball Club has been in existence for three years now. It was founded in 1985 by Avon Chandler in his sophomore year. Each year has been successful for the club. The club meets one day a week after school during the fall season, and at the end of the spring season, and closes its year with a match against the Girl's Varsity Volleyball Team.

Many thanks go to the advisor, Mr. Mark Pastir. Without his commitment of time and patience, the success of the club could not be.

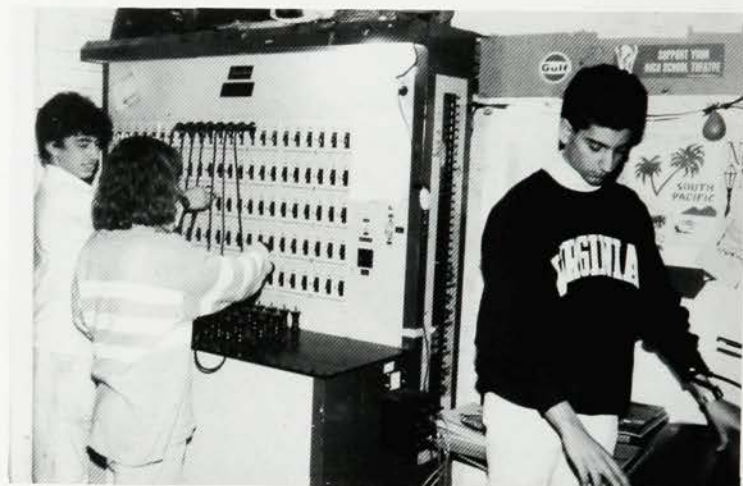

You've got to "dig" it!

Light It Up

The Westfield High School Lighting Crew constitutes a group of freshmen, sophomore, junior, and senior students who, through hours of dedicated work, and design, hang, position, and then finally, execute the lights for all of the High School's theatric performances. In addition to these performances, we are also responsible for designing the lights for any groups that rent the auditorium. Anyone who has an interest in lights are welcome to join the Crew, no experience is necessary.

Although we try our best, some complaints still remain from the actors that are in the shows we light. These complaints range from, "Could you change that gel, it's an ugly color." to the most frequent, "The lights are too bright!" Despite all the complaints from the talent, the Lighting Crew Golden Policy has always been "If you think the lights are too bright, CLOSE YOUR EYES!!!"

Think It Thru

The Foundation is Westfield High School's very own bird-watching club. This year in the Foundation we went to an estuary and plugged up holes in the glass and made leather hand bags. We couldn't get the projector the first time and we almost didn't get the film the second. We took a trip to Israel, but the one to the Caribbean got cancelled due to inclement weather. We went to go see Chuck Close and his fingerpaint paintings at Onion County. We all had options and we all bought rolls. We went to the club and watched the smooth criminal do back flips. Special thanks to Ms. Geddis for her (long & inspiring adj.) guidance and supervision. The fire represents knowledge and the sun is a symbol for enlightenment and the chains are like a girl who was twelve feet tall and had short hair.

It all started a long time ago in a far away land when a boy fell off his bicycle . . .

East Meets West!

The Asian Awareness Club is relatively new to the school and as a result, is still developing. Arising from its early stage of development, comes its dependence on reliable and creative club members to suggest new and interesting activities that can be held during the school year. The basic goal of this club is to create a better understanding of the numerous Asian cultures of both past and present through activities relating to both classic Asian lifestyles, and the more modern lifestyles of Asians in America. Another objective for the club this year will be to recognize and discuss the more serious topic of racism and the problems faced by first generation Asian-Americans.

Brush Up

This year's Art Club has continued in its tradition of artistic creativity under the supervision of Mr. Silveira. The club members' talents serve a dual purpose: as a means for both artistic expression and profit. The three main projects that the club sponsors are: 3-Dimensional pumpkins for Halloween, Christmas crafts, and Valentine's Day deliveries. The profits from these projects are then used toward the club's annual museum trip and also toward scholarships for Art Club members. This year's club officers were: President Young Song, Vice-President Jack Wish, Secretary Nanette Cunningham, and Treasurer Melinda Gavitt.

Where are we now? Bananas. In between the fires of hell and Evelyn. Having sprung forth from the seed of Sammy's boot.

Put out the plastic audience. How surreal, yet so subtle. Is it art or is it just Artie? But what can you expect from a bunch of vagabonds? Definitely no nic-nic.

Get to Work!

The Future Teachers of America Club is designed to inform students of programs and scholarships available to those who wish to pursue a career in education. Ms. Jane Smalley, history teacher and participant in the Alternate Route Program, introduced members to the "alternative route" to teaching. Mrs. Gaile Boothe, club advisor and WHS math teacher, shared her feelings about the future of education in America. In general, the Future Teachers of America Club made students aware of the importance of teaching and encouraged members to continue their desire to be responsible for the education of the future leaders of America.

Upper Left: Ms. Smalley adds humor to her teaching approach. Left: Mrs. Boothe demonstrates the art of teaching to Michelle Day, the program chairperson.

Auf Wieder Sehen!

This year the German Club had its first annual Wintermarkt. It was held on December 6 during periods 5-8 in the cafeteria. Along with the beautiful handmade craft items, cookies made by the German Club members were sold. The Wintermarkt was a great success, earning money for scholarships for German students. The German Club also had a very successful Holiday Party held at the Lauer's house.

Club officers are President Kim Myers, Vice-President Mark Friedrich, Treasurer Andi DeFur, Secretary Dara Feivelson.

Our new German teacher and club advisor, Mrs. Torre, helped to make this year one of the best for the German Club.

Fight for Life

The Code Blue Team did very well this year. All the team members are certified in C.P.R. (Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation) and are ready for action at a moment's notice. With a team of twenty-five members, there are always enough people to help out in case of an emergency. The team captain this year is junior Karl Thompson and Lieutenant is senior Kirsten Lauer.

Let's Talk!

The Psychology Club, which was formed in the 1987-1988 school year, was comprised of students who were interested in learning about the human psyche and why we behave the way we do. Meetings were held monthly and speakers were brought in to discuss many topics. A member of Covenant House spoke on teenage runaways, and the school psychologist, Janice Sawicke, held a meeting to encourage students to think about a career in psychology. Refreshments were served at the meetings, and everyone involved enjoyed hearing from the various speakers.

Welcome

This year one hundred nine students at WHS are new to the Westfield community. Newcomers' Club was organized by two of these new students, junior Gretchen Boger and sophomore Tina Stevens, in order to make friends and to become familiar with their new school and town. Although the purpose of the club this year is primarily social, the members plan to serve next year as a Welcoming Club for new students to ease the difficult transition to an unfamiliar school, student body, and community.

Surf's Up!

The Surfing Club was designed to introduce the incredible sport of surfing to WHS. Without the constant support of our advisor, Lorraine Besch, this task could never have been achieved.

New Jersey's waves were surprisingly consistent this year. We made the afterschool surf trip to Long Branch almost daily and, occasionally, the wild adventure to Cape Hatteras was taken as well.

The sport of surfing is quickly gaining popularity on the East Coast, and the number of surfers at WHS is slowly growing as well. The surfing movies were a success as well as the "Stop Ocean Dumping Petitions." The only hard thing to deal with this year was all the days when we were in some math class taking notes, while the surf was 5' and wind offshore.

Good luck in the future,

Jeff Pinkin

Donuts-n-Cider

A club whose primary purpose is to wake up high school teens at ungodly hours on weekends is one whose continuing existence must be questioned. Why have students continued to appear for all these years? For the sheer thrill of seeing Doc Stoneback in the morning? This theory was once highly considered but has since been discarded as utterly ridiculous. Could it be some need in students to be in the school six days a week and not just five? No, anyone with that problem would quickly be submitted for psychiatric observation. Alas, people don't come for companionship; there was often too much of that the night before. The reason people come to Saturday Science is the donuts and cider. The lure of free food and drink, along with a dark hall in which to consume them, is irresistible to those with low levels of money and food. Of course, Doc Stoneback would say the Nobel prize winners are the draw, but we all know that's not true.

Rock-n-Roll

Racial Rock Reactionaries is the music club for students who want to broaden their musical spectrum beyond top 40.

This is accomplished in three ways. The first way is through free after-school concerts. The second way is by showing free movies. The third and most important way consists of sponsoring evening concerts which promote and display local bands. These bands include high school bands as well as many professional bands who have released records.

RRR also produced a Musician's Directory for students who want to form their own bands.

We had a very successful Halloween concert with S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drinking and Driving) which featured Union Bells and the Cynics.

Special thanks to Mr. Judd for his dedication and hard work as club advisor.

Follow the Dream

Minority students made up approximately 4.4 percent of the student population at Westfield High School this year. The Awareness Club was designed to keep minority identity alive and to instill in others the need to be sensitive to the minority student's plight in and outside of school. The Awareness Club welcomed participation by all students.

The Awareness Club was involved in several activities, including a college tour of two Pennsylvania Colleges, Lincoln University and Cheyney University. Members of the club also attended a college fair hosted by Rutgers University. A car wash was held in May to raise money for scholarships to senior members.

The highlight of the Awareness Club's year was its members participation in the Black History Program held on Thursday, February 16, 1989, in the library. Group discussion on race relations, films, guest speakers and performances by students highlighted the day's events.

Simply Logic

The Math League is a contest oriented club open to any student who wishes to participate. Usually the contest is held early in each month from November and April. It is always held for thirty minutes, on a Tuesday after school. The problems on the tests are very challenging as well as practical. Students who participate in these contests feel a sense of accomplishment when they solve the problems. Overall, the Math League is one of the many clubs in WHS that is educational as well as intellectually stimulating and exciting. Thanks to the advisors Mrs. Hornish and Mr. Jacobsen, WHS once again scores high and wins letters for high achievement.

Proud Elephant

With the 1988 Presidential Election, great awareness of political parties was stirred among our students here at WHS. So much interest about the candidates caused the formation of two new clubs, the Young Republicans and the Young Democrats. It was not hard for the Young Republicans to think of activities to do. After all, they have won the past three presidential elections, Ford, Reagan, Reagan, not to mention our new President in 1989, George Bush. One of our biggest events this year was a mock Presidential debate with the Young Democrats. Speaking for the Republican side was co-President Carol Jones, and members John Feeney and John Macko. We also had a food drive around the Christmas holiday to benefit the homeless. Advisor Mr. Charles Brown and Co-Presidents Meg Yarnell and Carol Jones, emerged as seasoned campaigners.

Chess Masters

The Chess Club is more than just a club, it also is a chess team which competes in the Union County Chess Conference against other school teams. The team is comprised of members from the club.

The club advisor is Mr. Goslin and officers are President Oran Margulis and Vice President Adam "Studs" Cherensky. Other members of the team include Josh Youdovin, Ted Okuzumi, Kevin Toth, and Phillip Werner.

Right: Matt Lonseth already ran out of plans only a few minutes after the game got started. Below: Ted Okuzumi and Josh Youdovin concentrate on this close match while Adam Cherensky tries to see a way to defeat them both.

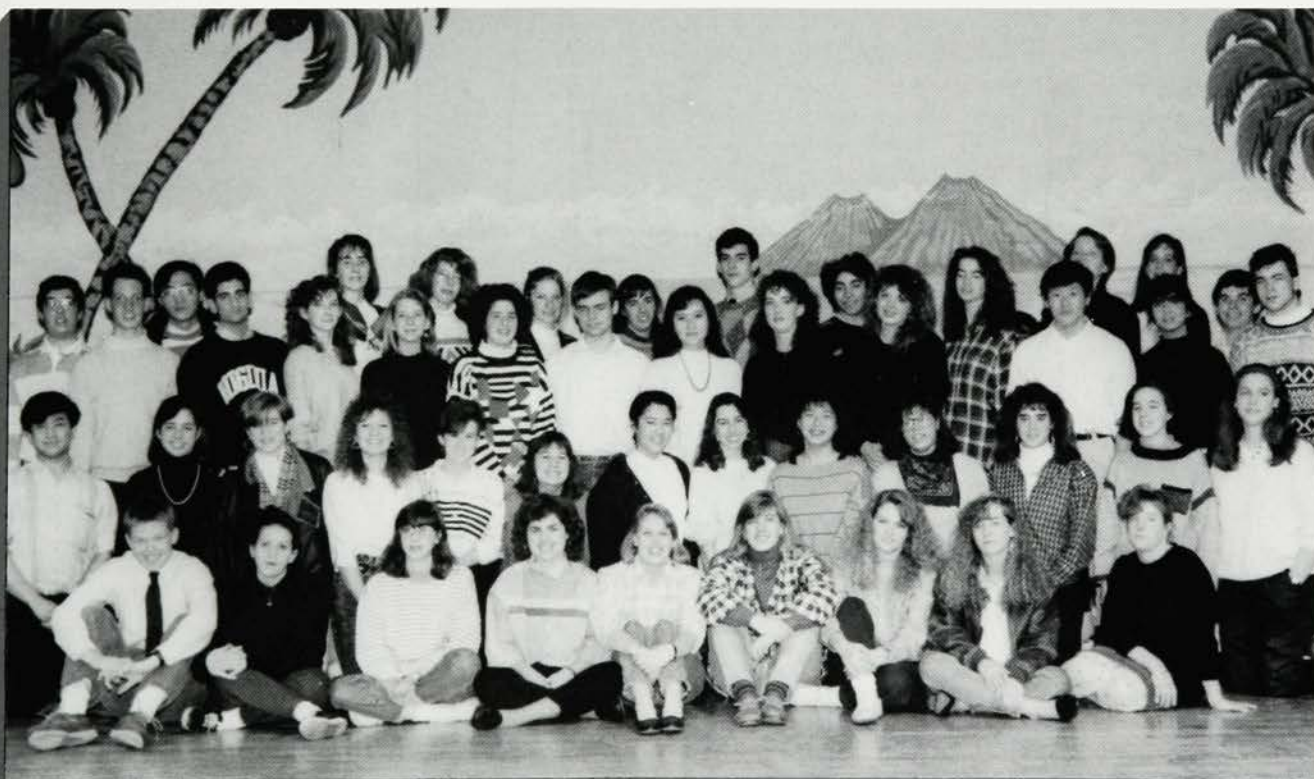

Scholars

The members of the National Honor Society have been working diligently with all their hearts, minds and bodies throughout this joyous school year. In August, members stuffed envelopes, collected papers, and distributed signs so all would be ready for that first big day in September. Once the year started, things really got rolling. Treasurer Chris "Tabulator" Shea spent hours counting the money raked in from unsuspecting teachers. Phil Gallagher organized the many worthy causes throughout the year. Mike "Do-Nothing" Hamilton primarily delegated his duties so that he could catch those cartoons. We still don't know what Amy "Giggle" McFadden did this year. Mr. Quagliano was the nerve center of the whole operation. The class of 1990 certainly has quite a legacy to live up to after this sparkling year.

Modern Women

The Women's Studies Group was founded this year by a group of young women and their advisor Ms. Roy. The club seeks to increase student awareness of gender issues by studying women in literature and other media. Members held meetings to discuss readings and to see videotapes about women's issues. The club also organized a week in honor of Women's History in March.

Right: Kerry Weiss shows pensive thought after discussing early roles of womenhood in society. Below: Ms. Roy explains the roles of modern women to the members of the club.

Caring — Our Way of Life.

The WHS Key Club is a service organization whose members are dedicated to helping others in our school and community. This year, we were joined by the new freshman class, a welcome addition to both WHS and to the club. Some of our projects included assembling the PTO newsletter, selling raffle tickets for Spaulding for Children, helping with College Night, sponsoring a Thanksgiving food drive and running a clothing drive. Our greatest undertaking, however, was helping to move the Westfield Memorial Library to its new location. The enthusiasm of our 131 members helped to make this year a great success.

Wake Up Calls

Singing, or more like trying to sing, at 7:30 in the morning is not something that your average high school student wants to do. For the Choraleers, though, this is a reality. Twenty-four talented singers make up the Choraleers and perform music ranging from madrigals to modern jazz. This year, apart from singing at the normal school concerts, the Choraleers sang at community concerts for the Rotary Club, the A.A.R.P., and others. A highlight was entertaining at the Mardi Gras Ball. It was another great year.

Upper right: Amy Clayman tries to sing with emotion. Below: Erika Blumberg and Sarah Wolf take time to study the music before they start singing.

Looking Left

In the 1988-89 school year, the Young Leftists continued to learn about current social and political issues. They held a Peace Day Celebration to commemorate the designation of WHS as a peace site. Speakers addressed the issues of peace, globality, and alternatives to war. Other speakers informed the group about homelessness and the Star Wars program. Club members and other students volunteered weekly at a soup kitchen in Newark, New Jersey. The club sees itself as a forum . . . political leaders but ourselves.

We Do Business

This was the first year that FBLA was introduced in Westfield High School. FBLA, which stands for Future Business Leaders of America, is a club for those interested in pursuing a business oriented career. It operates on a national and state level, and also is available in some colleges. Since this was the club's first year, we had a slow start, but managed to attend some seminars and competitions. Nonetheless FBLA was able to introduce and educate young adults into the business world. We demonstrated this idea at Westfield High School by having "Business Day", a day when business owners came and talked to students about their business and how to achieve success. Even though the club this year has had difficulties starting, the foundation for a successful year next year has been set.

Right: Ross Martin is dreaming of becoming a future business leader of America. Below: Four members of FBLA are happy about their plans for the future.

Buon Giorno

Qui si parla italiano! . . . The Christmas Party . . . club singers, tombola, canzoni, and the chocolate santas and snowmen . . . Italian Night . . . waiters, waitresses, folk songs, the tarantella, the quadriglia . . . Field trip to "Little Italy" in New York . . . Spring break in Italy . . . "Aaaaaah!"

2nd Vice President: Dan Donayre
Secretary: Debbie Saliola
Treasurer: Jerry Infantino
Advisor: Mr. John Scafaria

Left: Jerry Infantino, Linda Isolda, Dan Donayre, Ann Glynn, and Debbie Saliola organized the club to another successful year.

The Environmental Awareness Club continued its success throughout its second year. Co-Presidents Miriam Mogenдорf and Melissa Friedman along with advisor Mr. Gange helped to plan this year's activities. The purpose of the club was to increase student awareness of various environmental issues. One of the major undertakings of the club this year was the start of the recycling program within the high school. Club members placed a box in the cafeteria where students could place their empty aluminum cans. The cans were then collected and brought to the town's recycling center. In addition to this project, the club also discussed different environmental issues such as animal rights, radon, and the ozone crisis.

Shout Out the Colors!

The 1988 Westfield Varsity Football Cheerleaders were successful in raising spirit this past football season. The cheerleaders started off their season at Cheering Camp where they received awards in performing excellence as well as proudly walking off with the NCA Spirit Stick.

Also, they helped initiate new traditions at WHS with a spirit dance, new partner stunts and pyramids, and marching in the first Homecoming Parade. And of course, they attended the football dinners. The cheerleaders were led by Tri-Captains Lyrée Burke, Kit Kendeigh, and Cecily Stark, and seniors Melissa McEnerney, Koller Walsh, and Travis Redd. Special thanks to our coaches Miss Fence and Miss Rainey. The 1988 Varsity Football Cheerleaders — Stand Up, Be Proud . . .

Marching On!

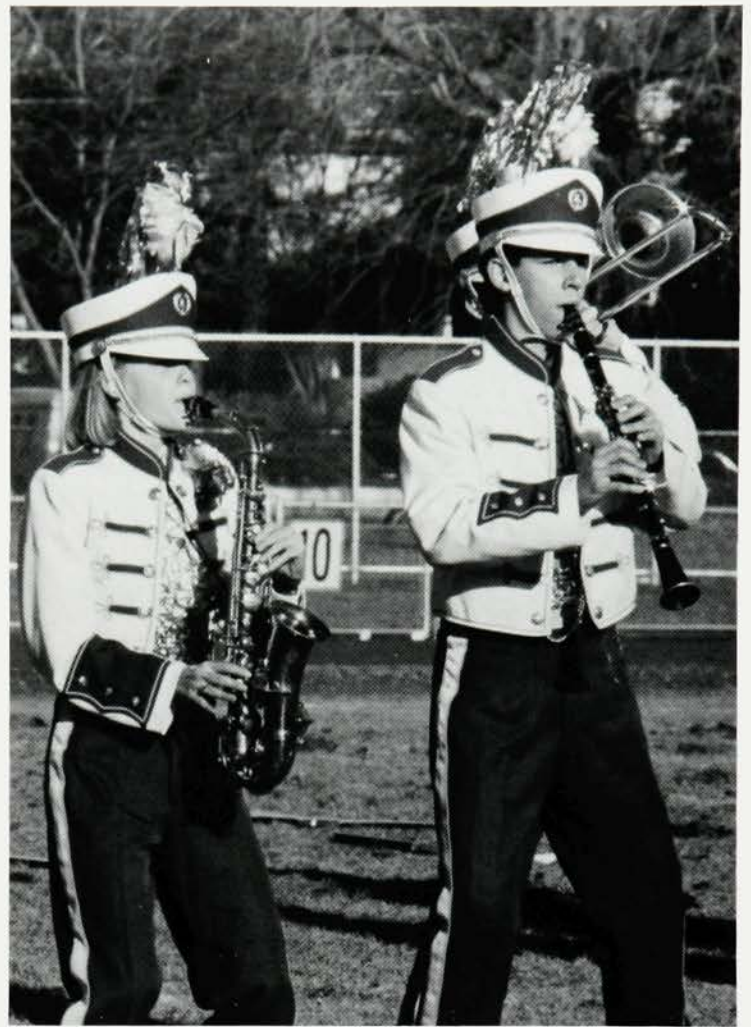

From Marching Band camp in August to Virginia Beach in the spring, the Marching Band, led by new director, Linda King, was a huge success. It hosted the second annual Westfield Invitational band competition and did extremely well. The marching band also played at Westfield High's first nighttime football game, which was a thrill not only for the band, but for everyone involved.

This year's drum majors were Lisa Morrow and Caroline Howlett. They conducted the band during all the football games, the Homecoming and Halloween parades and the numerous competitions.

In the spring the band ventured to Virginia Beach where they participated in parades and competitions. The band sold candy and fruit in order to raise money for their trip.

Celebrate the Art

Folio is the official high school literary and artistic publication. The Folio is a thirty-two page magazine consisting of student poetry, prose, art, and photography. Folio also sponsors its annual Coffee House at which teachers and students perform and celebrate the arts.

Deadlines

Hi's Eye is Westfield High School's very own weekly newspaper. The newspaper has been part of WHS for over fifty years and continues to thrive.

The advisor for Hi's Eye for over twenty-eight years has been Mr. Walt Clarkson.

Hi's Eye has won several awards this year from the New Jersey Scholastic Press Association for its layout, writing and photos. The long list of awards continues throughout its history for journalism and photojournalism excellence.

Hi's Eye is also one of the few high school newspapers in the state. Since Hi's Eye is a weekly newspaper, there is a lot of pressure on the editors to deliver a good newspaper under time restraints. This year, as with previous years, the editors have produced excellent and memorable issues and should definitely be commended.

The first ammendment is alive and well in room 106 thanks to the outstanding job of all the editors on the staff and, especially, Mr. Clarkson.

Ninety-Nine Percent Effort!

"It's not easy — you've got to be committed." That's what the 1988-89 Weather Vane candidates were told before they were chosen as members of the staff. Most of them agreed that the time commitment would be worth it in the end. As the year went on, many of us began to wonder what we had been thinking. But, as we look back and flip the pages of this book, we see our creative efforts in print and we realize that our hard work, frustration and time were truly rewarded.

How many people showed up today?/ Where's Grace's tape, the one we've listened to 100 times?/ Chuckle, chuckle, chuckle/ Who's running to Roots?/ We really need a freshman "Roots boy"/ Hi Jennie-ie/ Does Mr. Hornish mind if we drink his hot chocolate?/ You can't rip up pictures just because you don't like the people/ WAPIS/ I leave home for school — NO SUN — I leave school for home — NO SUN/ Someone please run to the faculty room to get me a Coke./ How do you copyfit?/ Where is the ladder?/ Why is Rach late?/ Hol, the reason why I'm late... / Piswa?/ Is good... / You have such talent... / Dave, stop hitting me — Don't touch me./ Who's that sitting in the back of the room?/ Thanks...

Madame Clark poses for a moment in the spotlight.

The Blue Devil radiates so much school spirit that Mr. Scott needs his shades.

Teachers. Even though we, as students, always complain about the homework, tests, and papers they give us, we know that they are really great people who care about us, support us, and for seniors, write those recommendations for us. Yes, Westfield High does have an exceptional teaching staff (which grew this year with the addition of 27 teachers), but let's not forget the other members of our WHS faculty. The guidance department, now with nine counselors, helps us change classes and decide on college and career choices. The secretaries in the main office, Office A, and guidance help keep the school organized. The support staff cleans up after us and keeps us well fed; and the administration makes new policies to better the school. With all of these great aspects, how can we not say that the WHS faculty is "A Step Above" the rest?

No, these people did not come over on the Mayflower, but they do represent the Colonial Westfield spirit.

Downtown Westfield comes alive during the annual "Mall Day" festivities.

Throughout Colonial Westfield's history, the merchants and professionals have served the community with excellence. They offer their quality services to the entire town. The students and businesses are interdependent. Westfield businesses not only produce well-made products, but they also provide many employment opportunities for WHS students. Often, students work for doctors, lawyers, and retailers during their school year. These opportunities let students work toward future goals in the professional world. These jobs increase the students' sense of responsibility. Together, the businesses and academic communities aid students in becoming "A Step Above" the rest.

307 SOUTH AVENUE

This year was notable for several changes at WHS. Both ends of the spectrum received a dash of excitement. The freshmen entered the labyrinth of WHS, transforming the school into a four-year high school. Our seniors were able to hop over to town or back home for a bite to eat.

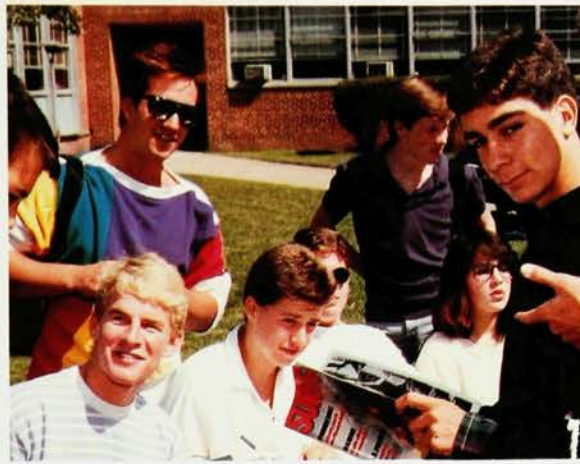

No matter whether we were freshmen or seniors, juniors or sophomores, unified as students, we may attest to the claim that we strived to excel in the academic, athletic, and social realms of WHS. We try continually to push ourselves a step above. But the adventure has just begun. This leap in knowledge and spirit may perhaps seem to be only a skip to many people; this step may be analogous to a catalyst which spurs us into a new direction or keeps us steadfast in our present routes. Always, though, we stand up and above.
