Think about gold for a second. A lot of different things may flash through your mind from Robert Frost to a glowing sun, but ultimately the universal significance of gold lays in wealth. Here at WHS, wealth reaches beyond the petty material possessions we obsess over daily but transcends into arenas of social experimentation and self discovery. Through our experiences with others we learn about ourselves for the memories we have and the people we meet are the shades that make up the colorful spectrum of our lives. Our times here are golden, my friends, for they are full of happiness, prosperity and vigor.

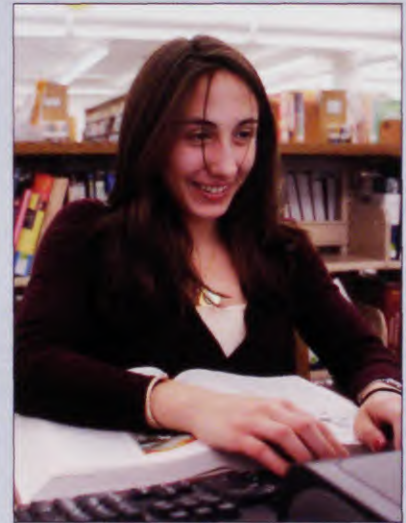

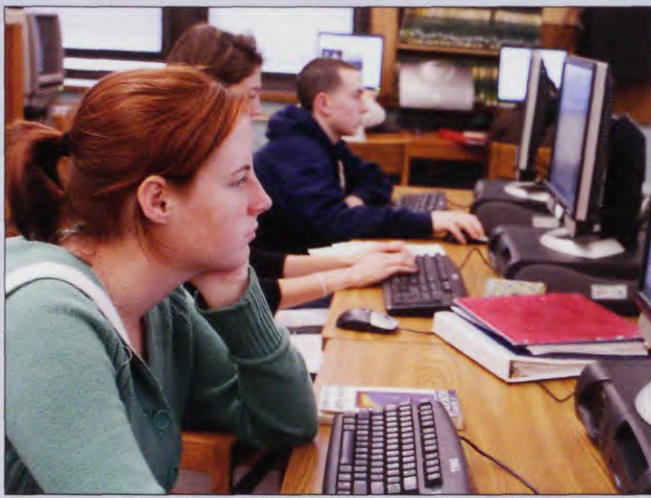

These qualities comprise the best moments of our high school careers; moments that we want to remember in the best way we know how. Friends, teachers and all that falls in between the realm of social and academic education have been engraved into our hearts as each experience, each moment, each tick of a school standard analog clock proved time was moving forward.

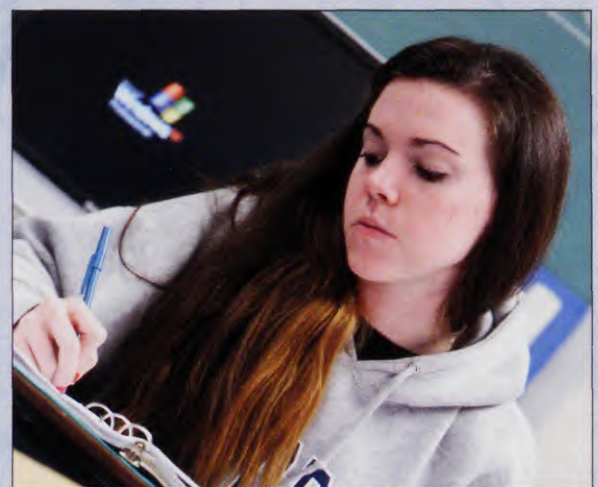

So as you are flipping through the pages of this yearbook and are distracted by your horrific cowlick in a candid photo of you and your friends, you should instead remember that moment in time. That was the time in the courtyard when your friend unwrapped a starburst with his tongue and ended up swallowing the wrapper. That was the time when you laughed so hard, colorful Vitamin Water came out of your nose. These are the times that make up high school and these are the times we will want to remember as golden.

Class of 2009

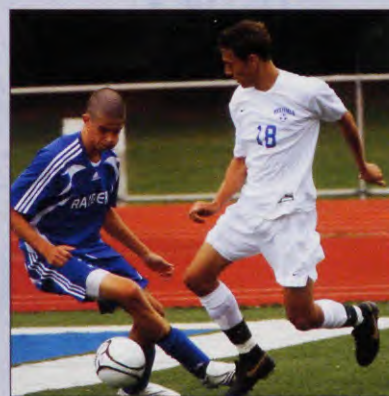

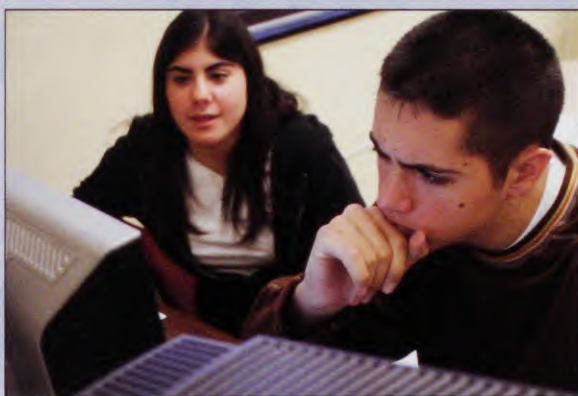

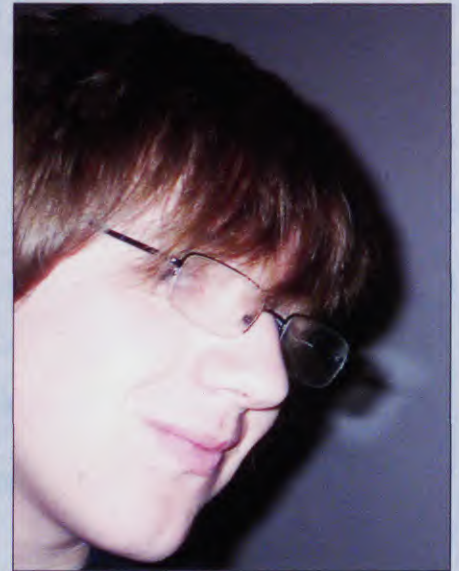

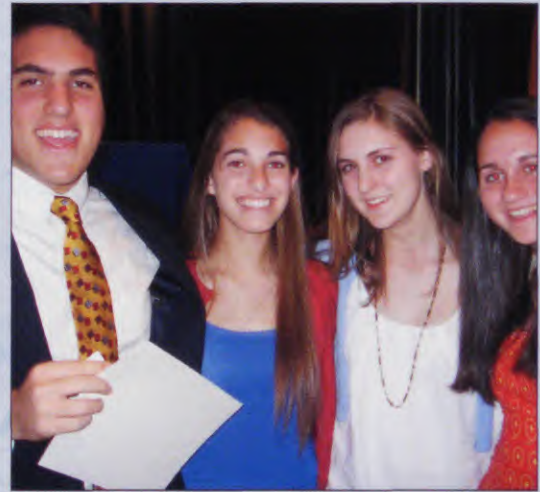

SENIORS

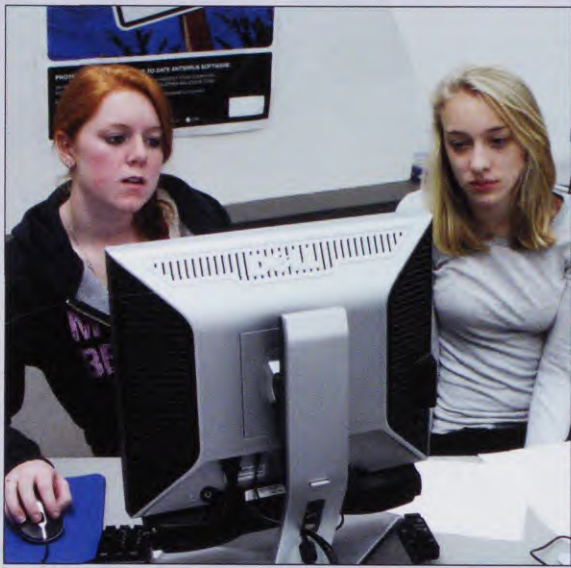

Congratulations, Class of 2009! We have made it! June 2009, the long anticipated month has finally arrived. Throughout the past four years we have been faced with numerous challenges. From our freshman year and getting acclimated, to the "forgotten" sophomore year, to the dreaded Junior year filled with the JRP and research, and all the way to today - the senior year - with the seemingly never ending college applications. This moment has been long anticipated and we all certainly deserve to bask in the glory.

Yet academic achievement is not the only success that we have had in our time here. Throughout the past four years we have grown as a class, and, more importantly, as individuals, from teenagers into young men and women. We have learned more about ourselves, our inner strength and all that we are capable of achieving. Although we have not fully discovered who we are or where we fit in the world, we have come a long way and will be able to face the next chapter of our lives with confidence and optimism. Although life will take us all in different directions, we will all still share the memories of our four fond years here at Westfield High School.

JUNIORS

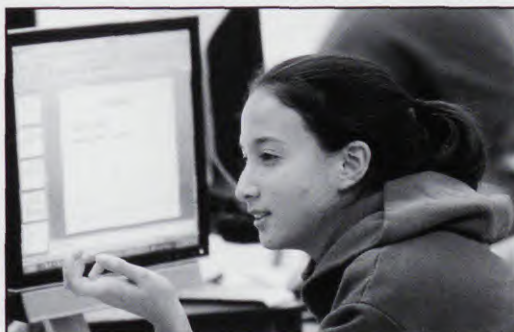

So, this year was tough. But the junior class somehow managed to come powerfully through at the last minute, ala Powderpuff 2008. Yeah, this year was filled with more three-letter acronyms than we'd care to remember, but it also was filled with incredible memories that have cumulated into another great year at WHS. Through all the lunch specials at Hersheys (thanks to our new open-lunch status), JRP index cards, chicken salad Fridays and all those mornings waking up early to grab a spot on Rahway, this year has helped turn us into the passionate, driven, successful students that defines the Class of 2010. And now we can look back and say we tackled the dreaded junior year and still managed to have the best time. We are 2010.

Sophomores

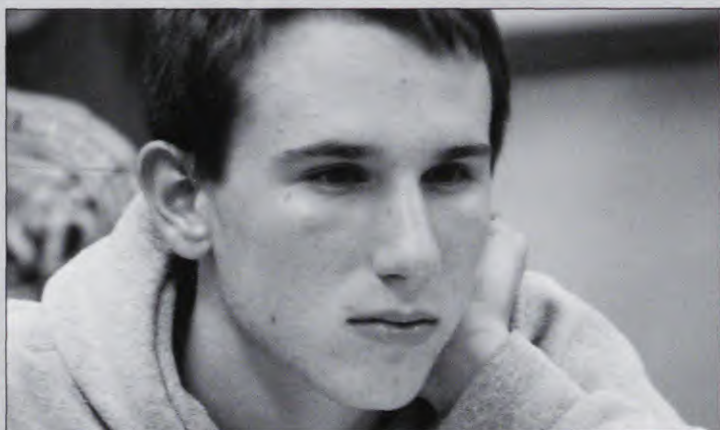

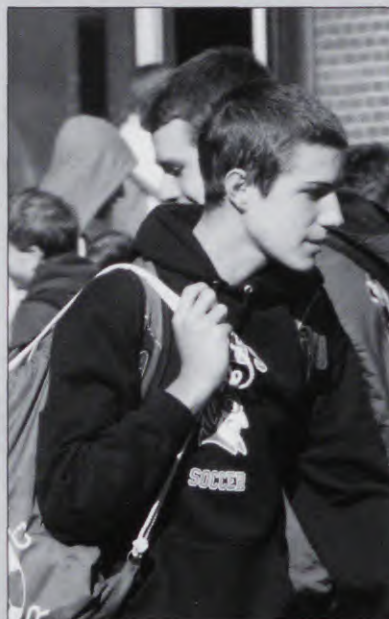

Why has sophomore year been deemed as the forgotten year of the high school experience? Perhaps it is because we do not have any of the added pressures that have been bequeathed upon the other grades; the freshmen must adapt to their new environments, the juniors must survive through the SATs and JRPs, and the seniors must endure the grueling process of deciding on what college to attend. We may not realize how this year is one to cherish, seeing as we still have our arduous studies and hectic lives to deal with. But that just comes with the territory of being in high school. Knowing who our friends are and who we are gives us the chance to pursue our passions and discover what we want out of life.

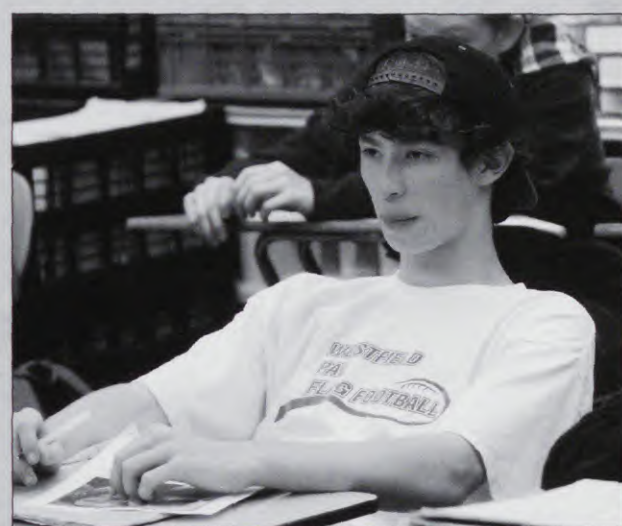

This is actually a year to be remembered.

Freshmen

All of a sudden everything counted. The protective walls that had shielded us in middle school began to disintegrate and for the first time it was our decision on what we let into our lives. Reality had sunk in. The first day of freshman year was a blur of new faces and awkward smiles. It was a day of reminiscing about a summer that had ended too soon and whispers of the exciting days ahead. That day has bound us together for the next three years. As we walked through the halls of WHS for the first time, eagerness and hope rushed through us. We are finally here, ready to rise to new heights, fall hard together and most importantly, be there to help each other up along the way.

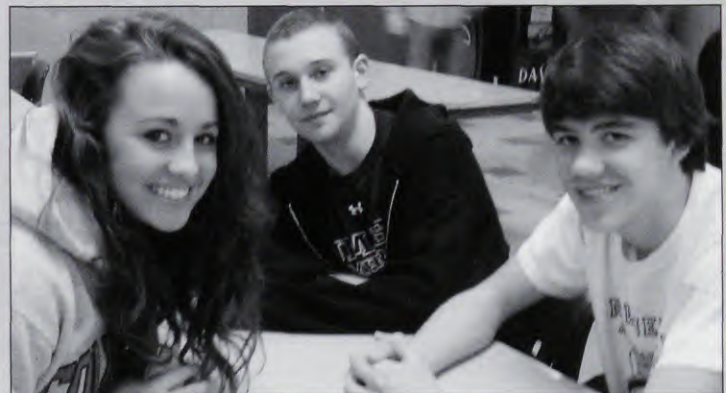

Even though, individually, we might not fully understand who we are or have reached our full potential, as a class we have made the first step as one. We will always look back at freshman year and remember the friends we made, the opportunities, and the experiences that will always be near to our hearts. As we began our high school experience side by side, we will continue adding and growing as a whole. But more importantly, together we have finally seen beyond the walls.

ACADEMICS

A Chinese proverb once said, "Learning is a treasure that will follow its' owner everywhere." If it was not for academics there would be a lot of uneducated people walking around on the streets not knowing what was going on. Seven hours under fluorescent light blubs discussing the theory of evolution, learning about the French Revolution or solving a proof using the Pythagorean Theorem isn't easy. Adults definitely don't give us enough credit. Hey, how many of our parents wrote a JRP or spent four years plus middle school and elementary school studying a second language? The American high school student certainly does not receive enough credit for the immense hours spent studying. One thing is true, the knowledge we gain and the skills we learn will last a lifetime.

-Brigid L. Ryan

Project 79

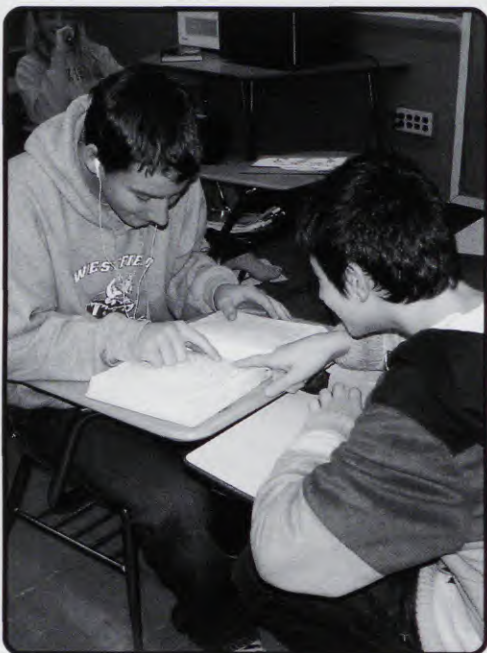

Innovative Times

Carla Somnolet and Brandi Alvarez are grateful for the bond they have made through the Project '79 program.

Derek Wanfried and Alex Schaefer enjoy the time they have to hang out before class.

Below: Hannah Gelb gets a seat all to herself in the Project '79 office.

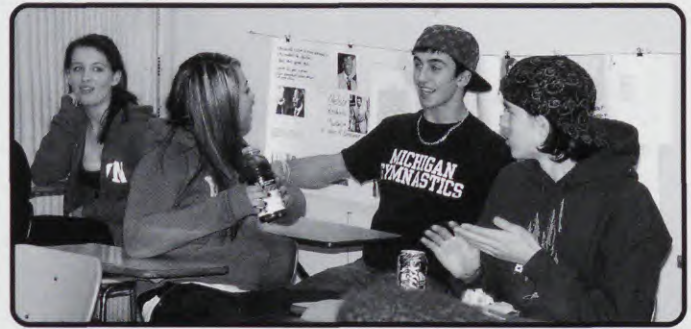

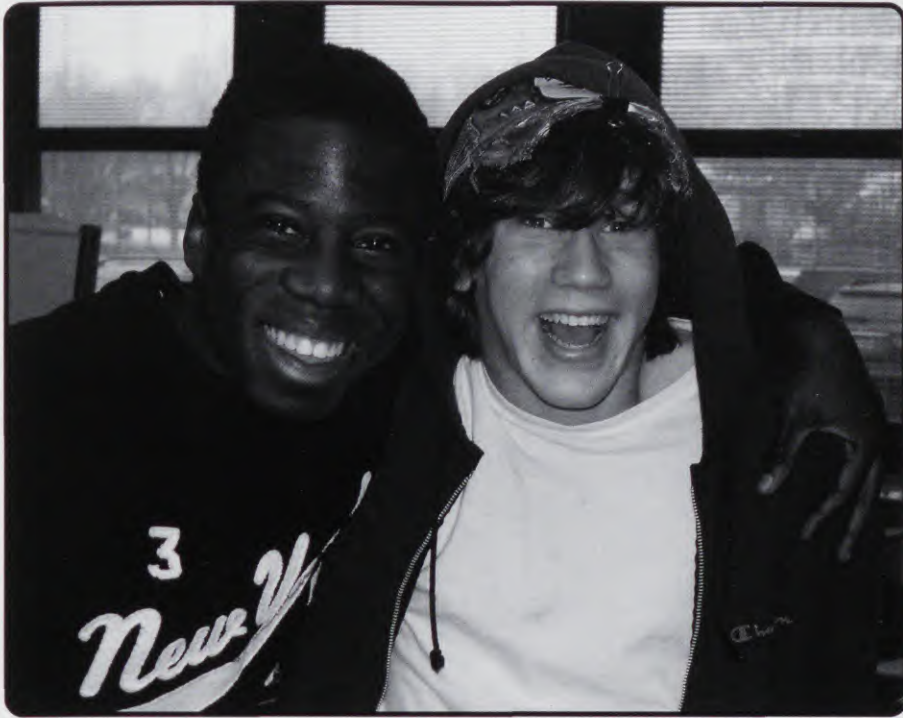

'Innovative' does not even begin to describe the students who are in Project '79 at WHS. Beginning with their annual Coffeehouses, theatrical performances and ending with the many incredible field trips (and of course, last year's unquestionably unique "cool/cute") Mr. Horn and the rest of the Project '79 staff always come up with a great new exciting way to expand the mind of Project and other students alike. No matter the time, Project '79 has always shined with some of the most creative and resplendent students, who receive a little extra guidance where they need it the most.

Above: Colin Embry and Josh Ettinger show the Project '79 bond.

Right: Nicolette Koerner and Lindsay Anderson let Ms. Glynn know that they are fans.

Below: Mrs. Stumbers and Dan Mandelbaum discuss world issues in Global Studies.

Katie Schaaf concentrates on a presentation from her fellow students.

English classes at Westfield High School give students the opportunity to express themselves through writing and open communication. Every year students read a wide array of literary works from all over the world, from all different centuries. Through studying these works, students gain a better understanding and appreciation for the human condition and how it transcends all cultures and generations. Not only do students study literature, but writing as well. From essays to creative writing, students learn to express their imaginations and help get prepared for the JRP and for college applications. The rich and diverse nature of the curriculum gives students the inspiration and skills needed to explore the world of literature.

Jill Pate and Liz Albright look at their experiment in order to gather observations for their lab report.

Above: Grace Mustard and Val Hoffman go to the front of the classroom to get materials for their lab.

Below: Ben Hand and Will Rosen figure out a solubility curve.

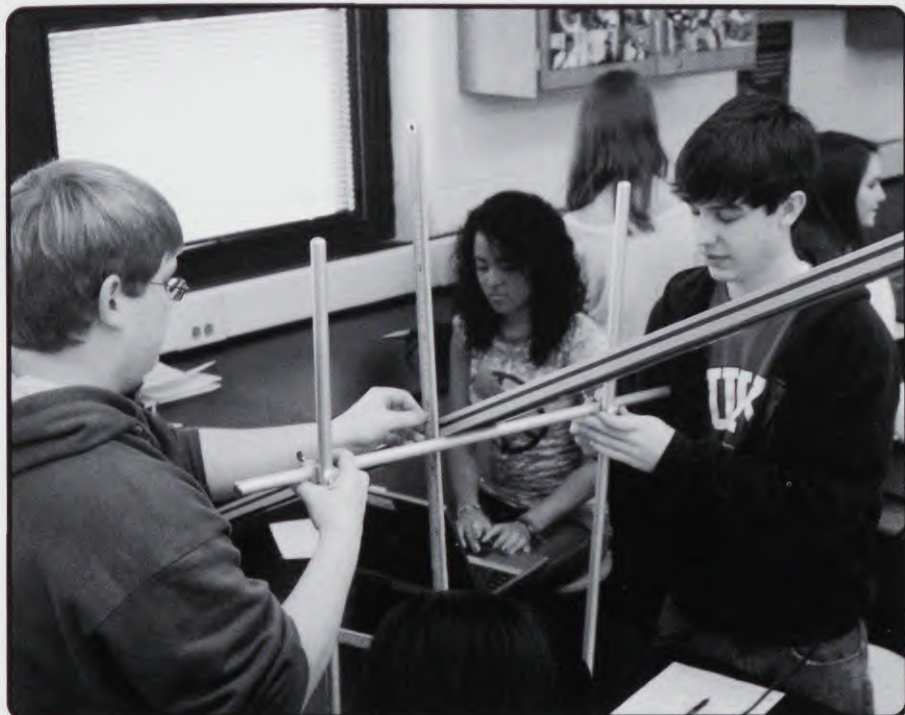

Everyone knows there's no end to experiments and discovery. Science is the perfect field for such research, and WHS is the perfect place with many broad courses. This enables students to stretch science to its limits. While some students decide to begin high school with Earth Science, others leave that subject for their senior year. There is also Organic Chem, AP Chem, and AP Physics. These courses not only look great on a college resume but would also be great as accomplished when entering college. No matter which science courses are chosen, the WHS student is sure to leave high school with experience in inquiry. The many lab hours spent, the many beakers broken and (hopefully not) hands burnt all pay off in the end.

Above: Katherine Payne, Bridget Grogan, and Colleen Cleary are relieved because "Nose Goes" for the pond soil is not necessary since Tessa Bohman volunteered to obtain it.

Below: Dan Berke and Brandon Eng have fun as they review their class notes.

Right: Forget Ben and Jerry's! Andrea Petrarca and Alyson Moskowitz's cookie dough will capture the green market once taste tested by Ms. Mc Loughlin!

Below: Sharise Friday and Danielle Hopkins work together to identify an organism.

Mathematics

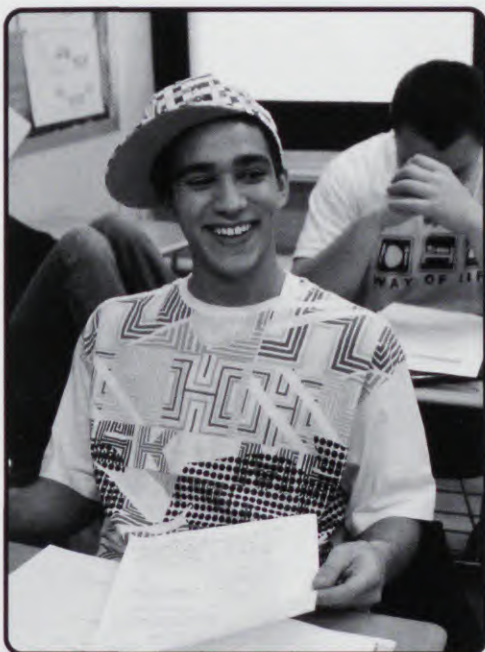

Calculating Times

Connor Melofchik, Maddie DeJohn, Emma Foley, and Ege Tuncel work hard and relax easily after a hard test.

Tony Mastrocola studies for math in a computer lab in order to increase his skills.

Whether it's finding the derivative of a function in your AP Calculus class or writing a proof in that stubborn advanced geometry, the courses offered at our High School are not that good ole Arithmetic. On any given day you might be factoring a trinomial in Algebra II, finding an angle, or proving that $\sin^2 x + \cos^2 x = 1$. High school math has definitely changed. You can take a class to learn how to make a spreadsheet or you can take AP Stat and get college credits. Crunching numbers in a excruciatingly short amount of time is exactly what Math students learn to do in the numerous courses offered. It must not be forgotten how big of an impact paying attention in any of these classes will be for your HSPA testing. So grab your Ti-84 and calculate away.

Below: Rob Realmuto, Julie Watkins, and Joe Yoo pay attention to succeed.

Social Studies

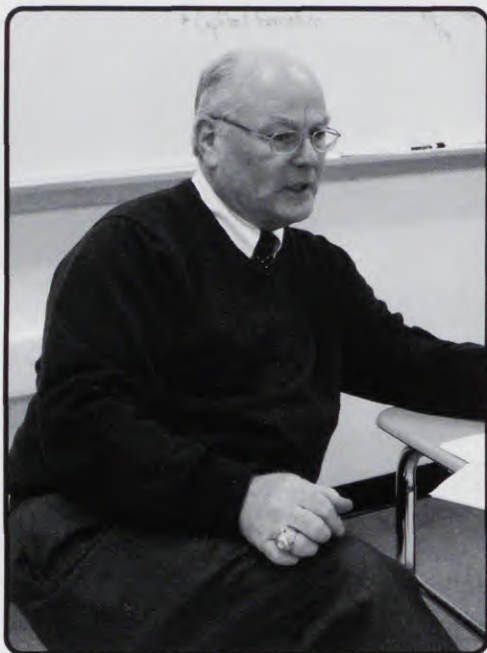

Historical Times

Kyla Grodzka and Rosa Vasquez smile at a joke made by their teacher.

A group of classmates get to work on a group project together.

Below: Gabi Fraenkel and Nicoletta Kalos know that Social Studies always makes them smile.

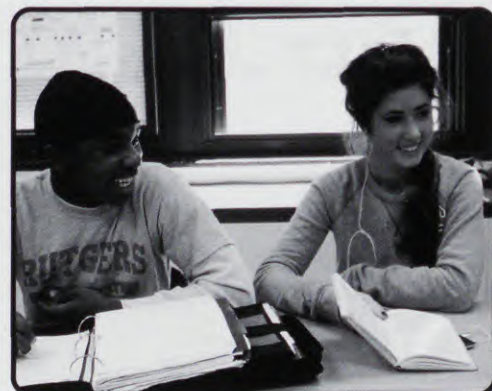

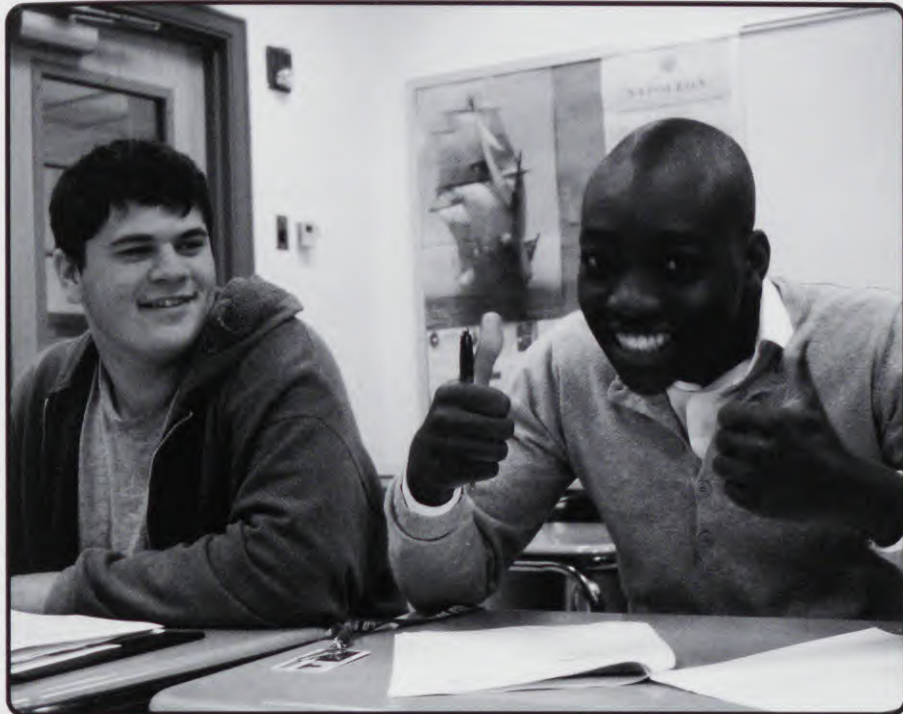

Examining past human behaviors and choices as well as their resulting events is crucial in understanding our current environment. Study begins in Global history with a center on the earliest of times and leads to a more specific focus on the issues faced in the past and today in the U.S. Such knowledge provides us with invaluable appreciation of historical precedents and how to avoid the bad and continue with the good. Understanding where we have been is just as important as deciding where we are going. Whether we are learning from our mistakes or building upon strong foundations, we must remember that our current day actions are history in the making.

For years, the Westfield World Languages Department has offered a variety of languages that meet every students' interests. Spanish, German, French, Latin and Italian - and what a wide range it is! Through classes students are given the ability to immerse themselves in a language and culture different from that of their own. From reading novels in their second language to trips abroad, students are given the opportunity for an immersion experience. Through learning about other cultures and other languages, students help bridge the gap that divides us all. More over, having exchange students visit the high school truly proves itself to be a learning experience for us all.

During the school year every student is required to take physical education and health. In physical education, upperclassmen have the ability to choose from a variety of sports including badminton, archery and deck hockey. The underclassmen participate in programs such as Project Adventure for freshmen and Intro to Fitness for sophomores.

In Health students are educated to be prepared for any possible life-threatening situation. Included in the curriculum are many infamous projects: the Baby Project, completed in the junior year, and training in CPR, done in the senior year. From staying fit while having fun, to issues on health and wellness, students get views on all sorts of information to learn what's good for their bodies as well as knowing what is healthy for their life.

Creativity! Acting! Painting! Dramatics! Welcome to the world of art and drama. To art students, time seems to cease as they immerse themselves in their own creativity. Actors need to be completely immersed into their characters to create a completely new and believable imaginary world. Together, these creative mediums make for something inspirational. What better way is there to be lost in time?

The annual art show, the fall play and the spring musical reflect WHS students' endless ingenuity. Though sometimes it takes many after-school hours, every WHS Drama production will leave you thinking. Using inspiration from a variety of sources, every WHS piece of art will awe the audience.

If one were to walk down the hallway near the auditorium, chances are that they would be greeted with the sound of music. Westfield High School is very fortunate to have a vibrant and diverse music department. Throughout the year, students in one of the many musical ensembles and choruses work hard at perfecting their skills that will be performed at the winter or spring concert. No matter what group the student is a member of, they are guaranteed the opportunity to be exposed to a wide variety of music. Not only is there opportunity to perform music, there is also the chance to study music theory as well as compose. No matter what program the student participates in, it is guaranteed to be a rewarding one.

Computers have become a standard feature in all aspects of life, and computer use is alive and well in the classrooms of WHS! At any given time of day, you can find students in one of the many Computer Labs in the school. Programmers are creating Critters in GridWorld, Juniors are enhancing their knowledge of their JRP topics on the Internet, biologists are analyzing data on Excel spreadsheets, statisticians are drawing conclusions on Fathom, and Fitness students are recording their progress and goal-setting. Students will be ready to leave our school and go out into the world knowing how to use the technological tools before them.

A great deal goes on in television production, especially in WHS. From creating a 30 second commercial in TV1, "Info Cafe" in TV2, "BDN" in Broadcast Television, to creating your own personal projects in independent study, the television studio allows students to get hands on experience. It isn't uncommon to see the television students using the school as their backdrop when working on shoots. So don't be surprised if you see something or someone you recognize on Blue Devil TV. With the help of the staff anything is possible. Whatever your passion: broadcasting, comedic news stories, sports commenting, TV shoots, creating movies, editing video or directing, Blue Devil Television is there for students passionate about the media.

From Modern Foods class to Gourmet Foods class, students learn to make various types of gastronomic creations. There are donut holes, spaghetti, pizzas and salads. And, for those lucky enough to have the class during first semester, ginger bread houses to celebrate the winter season! Students have fun cooking with their fellow classmates while working in groups to get the job done. After all, food is what brings people together. Next time a delicious scent of food is wafting through the middle hall, remember that the Foods students are in the process of cooking up some great treats!

The tools of a tradesman are special. Whether one is creating a detailed leg of a table by hand on a lathe or building a simple bird house, the detailed craft of woods is for the meticulous and for those who enjoy the connection of craft and soul. From stools to cabinets to guitars, Woodshop is there to help. By taking Woods 1 and Woods 2, students get an in-depth understanding of the various tools needed to successfully complete almost any project. Some students will even further their learning beyond Woods 2 and create an independent study to suit their creative tastes. No matter which courses are chosen, woods students are exposed to the art and function of creating with a lasting material with satisfaction.

SPORTS

From landslide victories to hard-earned championships, the Blue Devils have brought home yet another year of shining glory and triumph. Whether it's spiking a serve, scoring a touchdown, shooting a goal, or racing to the finish line, WHS athletes have truly excelled in all fields. And, just as the number of victories has increased, so has the level of good sportsmanship and high team spirit. The success of each winning game would not have been possible without the strong student support and steadfast dedication. As each sport season progresses, the Blue Devil tradition of pride and excellence continues to live on.

Our 2008 soccer season was not only a time filled with unforgettable memories of victories and competition, but a chance for each of us to grow as athletes, students, and friends. In between practices, psych parties, games, and car pool rides, our team bonded beyond the boundaries of the soccer field. We pushed and motivated each other, but most importantly we played for each other. This team chemistry helped us prove skeptics wrong by amassing a 14-3-2 record, a #1 seed in the Union County Tournament, a #2 seed in our section for the state tournament, and the Watching Conference Champion title. The team continues to be victorious representing the top in Union County and a strong force in the state. The skill, speed, and heart of the girls will prove successful for many more years to come.

The Varsity soccer team started off the season with a big win against rival Scotch Plains at home. This sparked the team as they cruised their way to an 11-1 record for the first part of the season while being ranked top 20 in the state. Following the Blue Devils second 1-0 win against Scotch Plains, a few players went down with injuries and the team took a while to recover. The team finally came back to life in their 3-0 win over Union, making them Watchung Conference Champions for the third year in a row. Other highlights of the Blue Devils' season included a 1-0 overtime win against Cranford in front of a plethora of cheering fans, as they all participated in their first of many blackouts of the season. Packing each stadium every time, the students uplifting support helped the team finish with a very successful 12-3-3 record.

Even with a new coach and a young team, we proved ourselves this year both as individually skilled tennis players and as a cohesively spirited team. We were fierce competitors, beating rival Kent Place to take home the Union County Championship for the fourth year in a row, and avenging last years loss to JP Stevens by beating its team this year in the State Tournament. On the court, we dedicated ourselves to improving our personal game. That same passion was applied to the team dynamic and it was great to always enjoy full support from our teammates. The season was a true success. In fact, The Star Ledger named WHS Girls Varsity Tennis the Team of the Year! Congratulations to Coaches Frank Geiger and Bonnie Underwood on a winning first year, and of course to all the girls who contributed to one of the best girls tennis teams the school has ever produced.

The toughest part of the season did not come during the blistering head of double sessions, the pad-popping of practice, or the heartbreaking loss to Elizabeth. It came on the last snap of the Thanksgiving game, which declared the end for some of us, and a year long wait for others. In a season defined by team records, individual records, spectacular plays, and overall success, it was the brotherhood we established that we will remember most. The bar is set high for the teams of the future, and although their success is close to certain, it will be hard to duplicate our mobility, agility, and hostility.

Whether it was football games or competitions, the WHS Marching Band found both success and great times wherever they went. Throughout the season, the band practiced The Classic Schizophrenia by Key Poulán. This year the band competed in the USSBA-Group 3 division and took a number of awards, including awards for best color guard, best music, and best drumline. Work on our show began in August and greatly improved by the All-States Competition in November, where we took second place. By the time All-States Competition at Allentown, PA arrived, Westfield Blue Devils Marching Band had been announced as one of the top bands for progressing at a constant rate from three to four points from competition to competition - three to four points being great amount of points for Marching Band students! This amazing season could not have been accomplished without the time, talent, and great effort every member contributed to the band. We were one great band with one great sound.

This was a great season for the cheerleaders! We worked hard and accomplished a lot during practices and games. We raised funds by selling Westfield flags at our games and having bake sales at school. We also helped arrange our school's first pep rally in many years and participated in our annual bonfire. We showed our enthusiastic spirit at every game while we fired up the crowd to get the players pumped up. During rain or shine, we were always there, along with our loyal fans, to support the football players. With the guidance of our dedicated coaches, this season was exciting and memorable.

2008 was a proud year for the Blue Devil cross country team. Led by captains Julian Applebaum, Andrew Marra, and Ross Tucker under coaches Jack Martin and Chris Tafelski, the team ran a memorable season replete with enthusiastic team spirit, personal bests, and historic milestones. In a remarkable first, the Blue Devils finished over 70 runners under 19 minutes on their home course at Tamaques Park. The team also ran the fastest combined JV time in Westfield history at the infamous Holmdel Park. Sweeping the last Watchung Conference championship ever and finishing the season #19 in the state only further cemented the 2008 Blue Devils' formidable strength and determination.

Blue Devil cross country has always been about more than just running. It's a sport where lasting friendships are made, personal barriers are conquered, and over 80 young men compete together as one unified force. The future is bright for the Blue Devil Harriers, and they will surely rise to the challenges that lie ahead.

Chelsea Bryk keeps a steady pace during a long run.

A lot of people wonder how we can participate in a sport where all we do is run. They probably think we're crazy, and to tell you the truth, we are. The Westfield Girls XC team is one huge gang of 80 crazy girls who evolve more and more into a family each day the season progresses. We get through the impossible workouts because of the bond we all share, which is strengthened by our intense love of bandanas and spandex. This season we returned to the State Group IV Championships at Holmdel Park, keeping the WHS tradition alive. Through the sweltering summer fun-runs, our second consecutive Conference Championship win, and the frigid November championship season, the team has shown what the peace, love, and spirit of WHS XC is all about.

For years, the field hockey team has had a new battle to overcome every new season. This year, our challenge was to replace the seven graduating seniors on varsity. Enduring mile runs, sprints, push-ups, shots, and saves, we proved to our county that we were up to fight. After some close losses against high ranked teams, mainly Oak Knoll and ALJ, our determination temporarily disbanded. However after one particular game against Kent Place, we demonstrated that our season was not yet over by holding their strong team off in double overtime with a 2-2 final school. And yet again, in our final game of the season, our team opened a new page as we scored three goals in the second half after being down by three, allowing us to enter into overtime once again. But overall, our season is best summarized into one quote: "Before we became a team we had to become a family." The memories and friendships formed during the season will never be forgotten. The best part about the 2008 WHS Varsity Volleyball season was that each player brought something unique and important to the court. Each point we earned and each game we won was the result of everyone's combined efforts. Though we didn't always make plays in the most conventional manners, when we focused on our team communication and utilized the trust we truly had in one another, we were an extremely competitive unit. We put up great fights against tough teams like Union Catholic, Watchung Hills and Chatham, but nothing was sweeter than beating SPF on its home court. We truly were a team, both on and off the court, and no one could deny our closeness and team unity. Through our toughest practices, hardest losses and greatest wins, all of us remained extremely close and our "ragamuffin" love is what we will remember for the rest of our lives.

After the bowling teams success last year in winning the state championship as well as the conference championship, the 2008-2009 teams knew they had to work hard to repeat these accomplishments. The team kept the race for the conference title tight all season but in the end came up short. Westfields bowlers also made a run to the states, but did not perform at their best in the tournament. Despite these unfortunate outcomes there were many positives throughout the season. The teams Varsity showed a lot of potential early in the season by winning the Bishop Ahr Tournament and holding a lead in the conference for some time. The team continued to have success in tournament play while placing second in two, losing by less than ten pins in each. The bowlers then captured another sectional title proving that they were a force to be reckoned with. Overall the season was a success and became memorable through determination and pride.

After winning state championships the previous two years, the 2008-2009 girls swim team had big shoes to fill. The season started slowly with a tough tie against rival Bridgewater-Raritan. Little over a month later, the girls regrouped in a meet against number one Star Ledger ranked Immaculate Heart Academy. This marked a turning point as the team pulled together to rally in the last few races, losing by less than four points. Never looking back, the team continued on to become Union County and Sectional Champions. Entering the State Tournament as the number two seed, the girls crushed Bridgewater-Raritan and proceeded to State Finals. Despite swimming the meet of a lifetime with multiple school records and the highest power points in Westfield High School history, the team lost to West Windsor Plainsboro in the final 4x100 freestyle relay. Despite the loss, however, the girls proved themselves to be one of the best teams in Westfield High School history. The seasons rebound proved not only the teams depth, but their ambition and desire and offered a memorable conclusion to a great season.

When November 15th came along, the team 2008-2009 Boys Swim Team had one goal in mind: to finish as the number one team in the state. Sixteen wins and five school records later the team can finally say mission accomplished! Three months may seem like a long time, but it really flew by. What got Westfield to the top of the ranking was the hard work, determination, and motivation by Coach Jeff Knight. Along the way the team beat Lawrenceville Prep., St. Joseph's Prep., and Christian Brothers Academy, three teams who Westfield had not beat in numerous years. Westfield's win over CBA got them to the #1 spot on the Star Ledger Top 20 rankings in the state. The team's depth carried them to get 4788 powerpoints, the most in school history. As well, five team records were broken: 200 Freestyle, 100 Freestyle, 100 Butterfly, 100 Backstroke, and 400 Freestyle Relay. Westfield finished #1 in the state with an undefeated season and their 22nd State Championship.

Our 2008-2009 winter season wouldn't have been successful without the hard work, effort and dedication from each and every player on the team. Even though we did not excel in the UCT as we wanted to, we came out victorious by winning the Watchung Conference title, alone. We were all one big family; we struggled through tough losses and battled for key wins; our hearts were in it together. We worked hard and fought hard to make a name for ourselves over the past couple of years, and it finally paid off after several winning records at the end of each season, this year's being 15-10. We all improved greatly as we competed against some of the top competitors in our area and states. We gave not only our school, but community something to be proud of. We never gave up on each other, stayed strong, and played with our heads up high. As Marino would say, "We turned this program around and no longer will teams step all over us." We wish the best of luck to the girls in the years to come and hope they will continue to give Union County a team to fear.

The 2008-2009 boys basketball season was one to remember. With the whole nucleus of the team returning, we were determined to improve from last year. The improvement was clear throughout the season. We competed in many close games. Some of these games include a one-point loss to Top 20 ranked Elizabeth, and an overtime loss to Top 20 Union. We also came out victorious in many other games. We were able to beat rivals Cranford and Scotch Plains, as well as advance further in the County Tournament than last year, beating Dayton by 29 points. The lessons we all have learned from this years season will never be forgotten. Our team has truly bonded like a family and it showed on the court. With many returning players for next years team, we know that they will continue the tradition of Westfield Basketball. We wish them all good luck for next year and years to come.

This year has been a historic year for Westfield Wrestling. With a 15-2 record, along with a senior dominated team it proved to be a successful season. The Blue Devils qualified for the sectionals, won District 1, qualified 11 team members to regions, and at one point was the only undefeated team in the state. Important victories throughout the year consisted of: Cranford, Scotch Plains, Madison, Rahway, and a sectional quarterfinal win against Piscataway. Without living by our seasonal motto, Outwork Everyone, as well as putting in the time and effort in the off season, none of our accomplishments this year would have been fulfilled.

Over the past four years we have devoted our winters to the ice hockey team, and wouldn't have rather spent that time any differently. From camp in the summer up until the state tournament, every game and every practice has made for an incredible season every year. This past season was especially rewarding, finding success from our team and unbelievable support from our fans. The hockey season consisted of great moments, memories, and victories. 8:30 games at Warinanco against teams like Cranford, Johnson, and Scotch Plains will always be remembered with the school spirit and victories against these rival teams. Defeating Cranford, Governor Livingston, and SPF was a result of our excellent team unity and chemistry. Everyone contributed to the team some way this year and this was the main reason for our successful season. We're going to miss it, but we were thrilled to be a part of something truly special for our last year.

Track and field is distinguished for the eclectic mix of individuals it attracts; unlike most other sports, which require practice and experience from a young age, many of our track and field careers begin here. Though we come from different places, together we help another jump higher, run faster, and grow stronger. We build a team identity based on healthy competition, on exercise, on the fresh air of a twenty-five degree day, on that tired feeling of the end of a speed workout, and the list goes on. Reflecting on the 2008-2009 season, we are proud of our teams never-ending spirit on the track, in the field, and at the field house. As seniors, we are sad to note that our winter track experience has come to a close, but we are confident that our underclassmen teammates will carry on the legacy of this program.

Westfield track and field teams are traditionally very strong and deep, and this year was no exception. Every year, we aim to compete with the best teams in the state. This year's team featured strong performances in nearly every event, highlighted by the 4x800 meter relay team, who qualified for the East Coast Relays as well as the Penn Relays. The team also had solid representation at the state sectional and group meets, with one member, Josh Einbinder, advancing to race the 800 in the Meet of Champions.

The 2009 lacrosse season proved to be a great success. With a fresh set of talented players as well as gifted returning members, the team was a formidable threat. The tough schedule, which included Pingry, Summit, Peddie, and Kent Place, required much training in the off season. In order to meet our challenges we kicked off the season with a competitive Rutgers high school league, indoor training at Center Circle, and a Tri-State high school league. This year also marked the first year for regular scheduled trainings at Roosevelt Middle School. The commitment on behalf of all the team members prepared us for the season.

Through hard work at practice our team bonded and became a tight unit. Our cohesiveness was manifested through communication, team spirit, and excellent coaching. Our passing game as well as our on and off ball movement were the key ingredients to our success. The intensity that we showed were unmatched by any of our opponents.

Chelsea, Hannah, and I would like to thank all of our teammates for a memorable high school season.

After coming off of a rebuilding year, the lacrosse team has great aspirations to achieve its potential. Some of the team goals are to work as one cohesive unit and build off its positive attitude. Among the more important goals for the team were to stay together as a team and improve on its record from the year before. With a strong junior class and a young but talented sophomore class, the team looks to the future as well. With strong leadership from its captains Andrew Arnold, Chris Rhodes, and Kyle Wright, the team will build from the defense up. Playing as it always does, a tough schedule, the lacrosse team looks to always win big games against tough opponents. The team will also look to key contributions from multiple important juniors and seniors to lead the team to victory and lead the team on a new path.

Our softball experience at Westfield High School has proven to be a memorable one. Despite the long practices, awkward tan lines, and our suffering social lives during the season, there is something special about spending six days a week with twelve teammates and two coaches. Starting the first Friday in March and lasting as long as we keep winning, our teammates become a second family. Although we choose a different Squad Sister each week, we know that we can count on each of our teammates at any time. With eight seniors and five juniors, we have set high standards this year this year is our year to win counties and sectionals. Over the years we have made some practices very interesting from making up new words and dancing in the hitting gym, to coordinating Theme Thursdays and attempting April Fools Day pranks, our season always has some unexpected occurrences. Last year the 2008 Blue Devil Baseball team enjoyed a successful season at 18-6 despite being plagued by injuries. The senior dominated team finished as Co-Conference Champions while making it to the county finals and state semi-finals. Despite graduating many seniors, this year's team hopes to reclaim the county championship which was last won three years ago. In order to achieve the championship the team will have to rely on consistent pitching and strong defensive performances. The Westfield Boys Track and Field program is deeply rooted in the Blue Devil tradition of hard work, excellence, and empowerment. This season was no exception. In addition to recording some impressive performances, the team came together under to same unifying experience. It was empowering to go to practice every day knowing that you had over 130 teammates ready to bring fire on the track and power on the field. It became practically impossible not to catch the Blue Devil spirit. Our coaches helped foster this team atmosphere from the first stretch of the tempo warm up, to the final check-out at the end of practice. Every runner, no matter how slow or fast, and every field guy, from slender to stocky, added something unique to this atmosphere, and made this season one of the most memorable yet.

A track meet might last only a few hours, but the memories of all the workouts, races ran, BBQs, exhaustion and laughs will last a lifetime.

Spring track is big. If there is one word to describe track, it would be big. Not only is it big in the number of the girls who take part in it, it is also big in everything that it has to offer. The various events covered by track and field, from hurdling 400 meters to hurling a discus or javelin, create a program open to individuals of diverse talents and specialties. Track is big in everything we get back from it new times, new records, new friends, new memories. In everything we do, we build ourselves and each other. We compete against the finish line, the measuring tape, our opponents and our own team. Together, we make a family bound by the turf in our shoes, our love for our sport and our care for one another.

The Westfield High School Boys Tennis Team is as formidable as ever! After two excellent seasons--winning the Group IV State Championships in 2007 and 2008, the Tournament of Champions in 2007, the Union County Championships, the prestigious Newark Academy and Delbarton Tournaments, and the Westfield Invitational Tournament--the team had a record 61 consecutive wins. This year the team is as ambitious as ever and hopes to repeat its reign as Group IV State Champions.

Off the court, the team frequently consumes hundreds of all-you-can-eat sushi rolls, and takes pride in its vast international alumni network, including Akis and the other fierce veteran athletes.

Last year, the Westfield High School golf team had a tremendous year, finishing with a record of 22-1 in season matches. The teams success included winning the Union County Golf Tournament, the Watchung Conference Tournament and the Sectional Tournament, which proclaimed the team Group 4 champions and advanced the team to the Tournament of Champions (TOC). Despite tough conditions, the team finished about middle of the pack at the TOC and finished the season with a rank of 6 in the state. This year the team is looking forward to defending our titles of Conference, County and Section champions and would like to improve our play in the TOC. Other goals that the team would like to accomplish are finishing #1 in the state and having an undefeated season.

EXTRACURRICULAR

Extracurricular activities are one of the most memorable parts of the high school experience. The countless clubs and organizations offer great opportunities to pursue personal interests, learn new skills, and explore various hobbies, while developing strong relationships with other students. So whether you enjoy community service, foreign culture, intramural sports, social activism, or literature, there is sure to be something for everyone! By participating in an extracurricular activity, we create precious, unforgettable memories that last a lifetime.

The Model United Nations/Youth and Government Club had another excellent year. Over one hundred and twenty students took part in the Hershey Conference trip this year winning numerous awards, including Premier Delegations. The students comported themselves with skill and dignity. One special note, senior Daniel Morse ran the conference this year as Secretary General along with our fourteen other officers. In the spring a new conference was added for freshmen members and we look forward to success there. The Youth and Government Club has had another solid year, gaining recognition at this year's Trenton conference. Congratulations to all who participated.

Transition Project Peer Times

The Transition Project is a program for all ninth graders that helps them make a smooth transition to Westfield High School. Transition Leaders include one hundred and thirty dedicated Juniors and Seniors who meet with ninth graders in small groups throughout the year. Each time the groups meet they participate in an activity that starts the group talking about different issues related to high school. When you stop into a Transition Group you are likely to hear a lively discussion about friendship, peer pressure, stress, and becoming part of the community of WHS. The Transition Project is coordinated by Ms. Maureen Mazzaresse and Mr. John Cheddar. They work with Ms. Damaris Dominguez, Mr. Antony Farag, Mr. Darren Finkel, Ms. Caitlin McDonald to train and support the Transition Leaders for each Outreach.

Starting a new tradition this year, the front hallway of the school was decorated for homecoming, which is a very exciting, popular, and eventful day. The parade, filled with fabulous floats, kicked off the homecoming events. It started at the Westfield Memorial Library and finished at Kehler, where the Powderpuff game began. The junior and senior girls battled it out for the class title and in a nail biting finish the juniors prevailed 16-15. After the sun set, the fun events continued with the annual behemoth bonfire. Homecoming King John Chironna and Queen Danielle Zamarelli were crowned and for the first time ever a DJ pumped up the crowd while students bonded by the bonfire. The 2008 Homecoming was a great success and a memorable time.

WHS Folio Coffeehouses give students and faculty a chance to showcase their talents in various artistic areas. The event is held once a month and includes musical performances, poetry, dramatic readings, comedy acts, monologues, skits, and more. The shows are open to anyone who wishes to attend and are a great way for members of the WHS community to express themselves. The event is hosted by the Folio staff, the publishers of the annual literary arts magazine, which is distributed at the end of every school year. Profit earned from each coffeehouse goes towards the production and distribution of the student-compiled magazine.

The strangest (and funniest) museum outing you've ever experienced! That's how many audience members might describe Westfield High School's production of Tina Howe's Museum. The play follows a museum security guard on the last day of a three-artist collective exhibition, called The Broken Silence, and all the strange guests that come in to see the fantastic artworks. The play also questions society's view of art, and the way it affects people who take part in it. Director Mr. Devlin could not have done a finer job directing his first show at Westfield High School. Mr. Chambers also created another fantastic set along with creating artworks for the museum that could rival the artworks of the MoMA.

As the holiday season started to reach a crescendo, other heights were being reached by the talented students in the WHS Music Department. On two nights in December, friends and family crowded into the auditorium to listen to the music created by all of WHS's talented musicians and singers. Beautiful aria's, instrumental solos, and powerful musical works for full choir, orchestra, and band filled the auditorium and brought warmth to the cold December nights. These concerts surely put everyone in a cheerful, festive mood as we moved into the winter season, and on into a new year!

For three nights in mid March, a talented group of WHS students gathered together to perform Kiss Me Kate. For months the entire cast practiced and worked hard to perfect their parts, their end goal being to have a successful performance. When the shows finally arrived and the whole show was completed, every person in the audience was amazed. With the extraordinary singing and dancing there was no doubt that the cast had achieved its goal.

For the past 15-years, during the month of May, the Westfield High School gymnasium is transformed into a public art gallery for a week. The purpose of this is to spotlight the outstanding artwork created by students in Kindergarten through 12th-grade at the District Art Show. Preparation in high school art classes is ongoing from September as students work diligently on their assignments and look forward to being selected for the show. There's an excitement in the air when the doors open on the first night at 7:30PM with art teachers acting as docents. Townspeople come to see the creations; parents come to meet art teachers; search for children's artwork; and to see the work of many others. The District Art Show is a wonderful way to experience the everyday curricular education our art teachers offer in the schools.

After years of hard work and long hours of studying, students who have stood out as distinguished students in their grade are nominated during the Spring of their junior or senior year for membership in the NHS branch of the National Honor Society. Entering the NHS gives the students an opportunity to give back to their community and the people who have taught them over the years. This year emphasized service back to the community. Students continued their service as in years previous: taking on individual tutoring jobs, acting as tour guides for incoming freshman, and helping lost parents find their way at parent nights. Additionally, in supporting this years dedication to service, NHS teamed up with other clubs to spread the word about fundraisers, and even started a new tutoring program with the Community Center. Not only does giving back to the community give the members an opportunity to excel individually, but it also builds upon the qualities that make the student body of WHS great.

Student Council Gathering Times

The Student Council always comes through with its promise to add to the richness of student life and fulfill the duties of fundraising for charity while giving its members experience working as a leadership body. The annual Volleyball Tournament is an example of how their responsibilities also lead to fun and fulfillment. Other activities through the year include hosting back to school night, the annual car wash, sports tournaments, Homecoming events, faculty holiday reception, Battle of the Bands, and the Senior Kiss Good-bye. All of the events end on the same note: great memories for a great year!

Oh, the fun times in Yearbook Club! Did we have as many people as last year in the club? Perhaps not, but it was still a lot of fun. Sure, there were people running around all over the school on Tuesdays and Thursdays, but we still managed to make it on time for the deadlines. No matter how tight our schedules were after school, we can now look back in the year and see how much work we have done. We can say "Hoorah! Our work is complete!" Do the people outside of Yearbook Club know the pressure that we go through for one Yearbook? No, perhaps not. But one thing is for sure, they don't know the fun times we had as a group.

FACULTY

There is a group of people that students often forget to thank - The Faculty. Teachers, custodians, counselors and administrators dedicate their time to help the students of Westfield High School. The student body sometimes does not realize that the faculty, both in and out of the classroom, shape the road to the future for the students. In turn, the faculty hope that the students will form their own path to the world. Dedicating their lives to what they love to do, the faculty use their knowledge and experience to guide the students through their high school lives, helping the students discover their interests, strengths, and passions. The past will remain in history, but the faculty's knowledge will always remain with us for as long as we are alive.

CLOSING

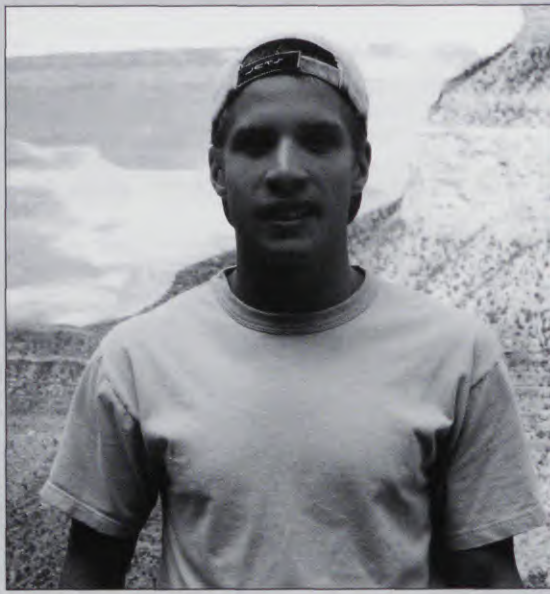

'09 Golden Times! As the 2008-2009 school year is coming to a close, I don't think that there could have been a better theme! This year was definitely filled with many "Golden Times" - from the spirit filled sports seasons, to the creative music concerts and drama productions, to the imaginative Folio Coffee Houses, to just trying to make as many memories as we possibly could, this year has certainly been what many would consider "Golden."

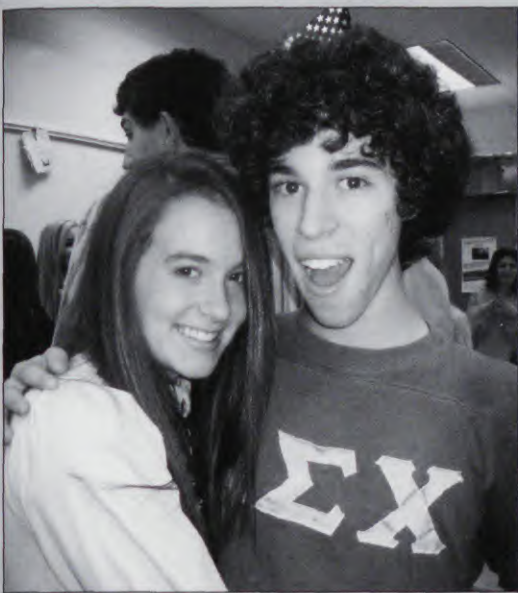

Now as we, the Class of 2009, leave Westfield and go our own separate ways, we will each forge our own lifestyle. Yet the one thing that we will all have with us forever are the golden memories that we have made.

SUCCESS

TO LAUGH OFTEN AND MUCH;

TO WIN THE RESPECT OF INTELLIGENT PEOPLE
AND THE AFFECTION OF CHILDREN;

TO EARN THE APPRECIATION OF HONEST CRITICS
AND ENDURE THE BETRAYAL OF FALSE FRIENDS;

TO APPRECIATE BEAUTY,

TO FIND THE BEST IN OTHERS;

TO LEAVE THE WORLD A BIT BETTER,

WHETHER BY A HEALTHY CHILD,
A GARDEN PATCH OR A REDEEMED SOCIAL CONDITION;

TO KNOW EVEN ONE LIFE HAS BREATHED EASIER
