

Westfield Art Association Shows Turner Paintings at Library

Artist Depicted Many Historical Scenes on Canvas for Mural Decorations—Exhibit to Extend For Next Three Weeks

Other Artists' Works to be Displayed Soon

During the next three weeks the Westfield Art Association will have an exhibition of the studio works of J. M. W. Turner. The bulk of the exhibition comprises sketches of mural decorations, designed for the Courthouse at Baltimore, the Esplanade at New York, the County Courthouse in Newark, and various other public buildings throughout the country.

Mr. Turner began his career as a painter of the National Academy of Design, and later studied with the artist J. M. W. Turner. Finding that he absorbed all the knowledge that a country could offer for his purpose, he made a pilgrimage to Paris, where he spent the remainder of his life. His Parisian masters were Ingres and Bonnat.

Having been born at Richmond, England, in 1800, Turner, who was living in Paris, felt a compelling desire to return to his native city. Accordingly he left Europe at the first opportunity. In his home he was shortly became director of the Maryland Institute of Art and Design. And it was in Baltimore that he completed what is perhaps his greatest and certainly his most representative work: "The Burning of the American Ship 'Peggy Stewart' at Annapolis." This true American in many ways, Turner delighted in painting scenes from American history. The good ship "Peggy Stewart" was a British vessel loaded with tea, upon which, as everyone knows, was levied a tax that the American colonists hated. While Boston waxed impatient and used ingenious means for evading its protest, the anger of the colonists at Annapolis, fired by the Southern climate, took a more violent form. The good ship of the South burned the ship, and all.

A scene of the burning is the subject Mr. Turner took for his great mural decoration. The colonists are watching the boat fall prey to the flames. Mothers brought their children to witness the event, and citizens lifted their hats in token of the gravity of their situation. Such is the "Peggy Stewart," a compelling and emotional scene.

Have You Heard About "The Big Idea"?

Of late there have been many discreet whisperings abroad, wherever a group of high school students is gathered; and now and then a few fleeting words escape, and always we hear—"The Big Idea."

These low-toned conversations have been repeated so frequently, that our curiosity has been aroused, and we want to know just exactly what "The Big Idea" really is.

We were told to go to the senior class of the Westfield High School for any information, as any member could tell us about it; so we went. But those seniors are as reticent as clams when one mentions "The Big Idea," and act as if they were guarding a state secret. With sly winks and nods at one another they assured us that we would be informed in time to enjoy (?) "The Big Idea," whatever it may be.

The name is full of suggestions, and many have quite vehemently set forth their opinions. One individual, quite emphatically declares that it is his belief that this much talked about "Idea" is nothing more or less than a new and original "surprise" dish, to be served in the high school luncheon in the near future. Another interested guesser suggests that some great scientific discovery has been made by one of Mr. Rogers' intellectual science students, who hopes to startle the western world with his amazing invention. Then, there are those of the fairer sex who are quite sure it is some marvelous, new creation of one of Miss Dickinson's sewing pupils, who will thrill "Gay Paris" with her exquisite gowns, and will henceforth be classed with Lanvin, Molyneux and Paquin.

However, these suggestions are as varied as they are plausible; therefore we suggest that you read the ensuing editions of the "Westfield Leader" and learn more about "The Big Idea."

Reports of C. C. H. Show Splendid Accomplishments

The annual meeting of the Board of managers of the Children's County Home was held in the Town Hall, last night and the same officers, who have served so efficiently, during the past year, were re-elected.

The Board of Managers expressed their gratitude for the co-operation given by the various organizations of Westfield during the past year. The reports of the officers show that eighteen children were completely cured during last year. It is felt that during the next twelve months this number will be greatly increased.

The Board expressed satisfaction at the records made by the children along educational lines and feel confident that this high standard will be maintained.

"Individuality in Education" at High School

Dr. Strayer to Address Parents and Joseph Kutmayer to Entertain

Joseph Kutmayer, the popular violinist who has delighted several Westfield audiences recently has graciously consented to entertain at the Dr. Strayer lecture at the High School next Tuesday evening, January 26th at 8:15.

Patrons of Westfield Schools and all who are interested in children, their growth, progress, individuality and educational achievement have an unusual treat in store on that evening. Dr. George L. Strayer of Columbia University, the highest authority in this country on public school will discuss a timely topic of paramount interest, "Individuality in Education."

Dr. Strayer's splendid efficient work in conducting educational surveys in the leading cities and towns of the United States is widely known. As an author of numerous books on educational administration and methods of teaching Dr. Strayer ranks among the highest in the teaching profession. With his clear decisive thinking and magnetic personality, his popularity as a speaker places him on the programs of the National Educational Association far more often than any other educator. His word in educational circles is considered the final dictum.

With the new Roosevelt school rapidly nearing completion, a discussion of "broadening and finding courses," progress of children, special promotions, the use of intelligence tests and the like is timely and of great significance.

Westfield is fortunate to be able to add Dr. Strayer to the list of prominent educators who have addressed interested parents. This attractive helpful program has been prepared by the School Welfare Council, which represents the five Parent-Teacher Associations, under Mrs. Thomas Armstrong as chairman. Everybody is invited and there is no admission charge.

Dutcher, Robert A. Fairbairn, George W. Frutcheon, Henry D. Hegeman, Chester B. Kellogg, Theodore H. Ludwig, William J. McKee, Roswell S. Nichols, Leigh M. Pearsall, Aubrey B. ## Police Court Monday

In the police court last Monday night, Robert C. Hamilton, of 88 Grove street, Somerville, a driver in the employ of the Plainfield-New York Bus Company appeared before charged with speeding by State Motor Vehicle Inspector D. B. Doyle. He pleaded guilty and was fined $25 by Recorder Augustus C. Nash.

George Geunpelt, of 858 Cross street, Elizabeth, was fined $10 for driving a Ford delivery truck for Walter's meat market, without having a driver's license. Officer George Morton preferred the charge.

Joseph Walcott, of 316 Plainfield avenue, Plainfield, charged by Officer Martin Howarth with passing a traffic signal when it was set against him was given a suspended sentence.

Thomas G. Wilson, of 304 West 104th street, New York City, charged by Officer Grogan with operating a car without lights and failing to stop when ordered by an officer, was dismissed.

At a special session of the Police court, held yesterday afternoon, James Reed, colored, appeared before Recorder Augustus C. Nash, being charged with assault, by Mary Pierce, colored.

It appears that Reed and the Pierce girl had some difference and it resulted in him striking her. She, in turn, bit him on the arm. Recorder Nash gave him his choice of paying $50 or serving thirty days in the county jail. He was taken to the jail, this morning.

Westfield Girl Has Narrow Escape In Auto Crash

Collides With Another Car in Elizabeth—Cars Badly Damaged By Impact

GIRLS WERE UNINJURED

Last Saturday night Miss Marie Gottlick, of 746 Prospect street, accompanied by Miss Peggy Ryan, of Garwood, miraculously escaped death or perhaps serious injury while driving her car on El Mora avenue, Elizabeth. Miss Gottlick's car collided with a machine driven by Morris Shapiro, 355 El Mora avenue, Elizabeth.

The Gottlick car somersaulted with its riders and then righted itself with out more than scratches to either Miss Gottlick or Miss Ryan. The auto was badly damaged. The Shapiro machine catapulted onto the lawn of the Kelly Press and was wrecked. Police cannot understand how its owner escaped death. Both the young women were rescued through the shattered windows of the car when the door of their machine would not open.

Police Commissioner Neasey, of Elizabeth, who was in a nearby "gas" station, heard the impact and helped rescue the accident victims.

Miss Gottlick is well-known in Westfield, being the secretary of Mayor William M. Beard.

Farewell Luncheon for Mrs. Burnes

Mrs. William R. Morrison Hostess at Elaborate Affair

Mrs. Leg J. Burnes, of South Euclid avenue, was the guest of honor at an elaborate farewell luncheon bridge given by Mrs. William R. Morrison, of Lenox avenue, yesterday.

Mrs. Burnes intends to sail on February 6 with her daughters, Maude and Jean, to join Mr. Burnes in London where he is in business.

The luncheon table was arranged to represent a ship and the idea of voyaging was carried out to the last detail, even to the favors which were tiny Spanish galleons resting on waves formed by shirred green silk and pandorchees. Real heather, not the local kind, but from California, was used in the decorations.

Mrs. Burnes was the recipient of a beautiful corsage of violets and a handsome fitted traveling case from her Westfield friends.

Twenty-four guests were present from Westfield, Newark and New York.

Dramatic Recital At Women's Club

At the next meeting of the Women's Club on Monday, January 25, Fae S. Goodfellow will entertain in an Interpretative Dramatic Recital. She not only presents the most up-to-date and varied repertoire of modern plays offered for the recital platform; but as an interpreter of the drama she is considered by discriminating critics to be in the first rank. She possesses an unusually fine voice with a remarkable range which enables her to portray the masculine role as effectively as those of her own sex.

Fae S. Goodfellow is gifted with an abundant sense of humor and has the power to express a wide range of emotions. Her impersonations are vivid and convincing and she successfully carries her audiences to the actual scene of the play for the stage seems portrayed with living characters in real situations.

Ladies' Night at Baptist Men's League

Next Tuesday night, January 26th, the Men's League of the Baptist Church will serve their annual supper at which time the ladies are the guests. The dinner is to be cooked and served by the men. Last year's event marked one of the high spots in the many affairs which the Baptist men delight in offering to their friends. In addition, an entertainment will be furnished by a group of colored musicians who were star performers at one of the club events earlier in the season. A very interesting program is assured every one attending the dinner.

Mother and Daughter Dinner at M. E. Church

Dr. Mary Carleton and Daughter, of China, Speakers At Annual Banquet

The second annual "Mother and Daughter" banquet of the mothers and daughters of the First M. E. Church will be held in the Social Hall of the church on Friday evening of this week and is expected to be a notable affair. The "Father and Son" dinners in this church have been very successful but this getting together of the mothers and daughters is expected to outshine anything of the kind yet held and a big attendance is anticipated by the committees in charge.

There will be a number of speakers after the good things of the dinner have been disposed of, and these include Dr. Mary Carleton, whose missionary and hospital work at the Methodist hospital at Min Tsing, China, has been supported by the First M. E. Church for the last six years or more; Miss Mary Carleton, a young woman native of China who was adopted by Dr. Carleton some years ago; Miss Dorothy Keeney, of China, and Mrs. McCoy, of Blairtown, N. J.

Dr. Carleton labored in China for 36 years, giving the Chinese in her territory about Min Tsing the benefit of her skillful surgery and acquainting them with the love of Christ for all of God's people. Dr. Carleton and her daughter are now living in New York city where the daughter is pursuing studies which will further fit her for Christian work among her own people when she and Dr. Carleton return to China, which they expect to do this year. Miss Carleton is a graduate of Goucher College, Baltimore, speaks perfect English and has a sweet soprano voice. She is the author of a collection of Chinese legends and folk lore stories, which have been illustrated by native Chinese artists.

The committee in charge is having a large sale of tickets at $1 each and all mothers and daughters are invited to come. The tickets may be obtained from any member of the Young Women's Foreign Missionary Society, under whose auspices the dinner will be held, or Miss Waterman, telephone 435.

Bird Club to Hear B. S. Bowdish at Public Meeting

The Westfield Bird Club met Monday evening, January 18 to make plans for the spring work. An exhibit of the bird houses and feeding stations being made by the school manual training classes, will be held the latter part of March. Medals will be given for the best ones and they will be on exhibition and sale. Members reported having seen robins, cardinals and many other birds in the vicinity of Westfield, probably because of the open winter. A committee was appointed to erect feeding stations at certain designated places near town and keep them supplied with food during periods of ice and snow.

The attention of the Club was called to the Roosevelt Memorial Bird Sanctuary at Oyster Bay and to various interesting phases of work for birds.

The next meeting of the Club will be held February 15. This meeting will be open to the public and is to be addressed by B. S. Bowdish, secretary and treasurer of the New Jersey Audubon Society who will illustrate his lecture with lantern slides.

Westfield Troop Association Meets

On Friday last the Westfield Troop Association held their quarterly meeting at the Town Hall. Dr. Chauncey M. F. Egel and Captain Preston Lam, commanding officer of Troop G, were elected to serve on the Board of Trustees for a term of three years taking the places of Mr. Roy Lounsbury and Mr. Robert W. Harden, whose terms had expired.

A resolution was adopted whereby all money donated for the purchase of horses will be turned over to the Treasurer of the Association to be held aside from the regular account and called the Westfield Troop Association Horse Fund and that no money will be spent from this fund except by the Horse Purchasing Committee and that no horses will be bought until the Armory is completed. The committee will be composed of two prominent horsemen, a recognized veterinarian and one military member.

Another resolution was adopted whereby any trooper or officer serving five years in either of the Westfield Units of Cavalry and having successfully passed the requirements of the Membership Committee, will be eligible to join the Association without the payment of an initiation fee.

A vote of thanks was given to Mr. Clarence Carter and Mr. Robert Harden for the work they have done for the Association.

A rising vote of thanks was given Major Ross the President for his untiring work in securing the armory and keeping the Cavalry units together through five years.

Major Ross gave a brief talk on the Armory describing the different rooms and their uses and it seems as if everybody is well taken care of. When the armory is completed it will have the only indoor riding ring, outside Newark, in this part of the State.

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education held last Monday night the Board discussed the budget for next year and went over the various items included in it. While they agreed on the amount of the budget, the members of the Board decided not to release it for publication until after they have a conference with the town council finance committee which will be held tonight. The only other items of business which came before the Board was the request of members of the Board of Realtors that the Board include in their budget an appropriation for the improvement of the grounds around the new Roosevelt school property. The members of the Board of Realtors present were Grover Traynor, H. C. McVoy, the president, H. L. Becker and Harold Gordon. After the Realtors had been heard Howard C. Wick the president of the Board of Education informed the Realtors that their request would be taken into consideration. The Board of Education feels that they should have some assurance that the town will make an appropriation for the Matthias Clark Memorial Park property on Dudley avenue before the Board makes one. During the meeting Miss Alice Bible the high school librarian with a number of assistants served coffee and ice cream to the members of the Board.

Washington P.-T. A. Hears Miss Bond

The regular meeting of the Washington Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school auditorium yesterday afternoon, Mrs. G. G. Brown, vice-president, presided.

After a short business meeting, Miss Edna Young Bond, of the New Jersey Tuberculosis League gave an address in which she outlined the program of the League, under the able direction of Dr. R. P. Emerson.

Miss Bond is quite conversant with the subject of nutrition and stated that there were five primary causes, physical defects, home control, over-fatigue, faulty food habits and faulty health habits. The speaker went into detail and explained thoroughly these points.

Principal George D. Smith, urged the members to attend the Joint P.-T. A. meeting under the auspices of the Welfare Council, which is to be held in the High School, next Tuesday, at which Dr. George D. Strayer of Columbia University is to be the speaker. Mr. Smith stated that Dr. Strayer has a message, which all parents and teachers would find very interesting and instructive.

Contest on Highway Safety To Award Many Prizes

N. Y. Symphony to Appear in Plainfield

Planning the solution of the traffic problem a generation ahead is the policy of the Highway Education Board, according to a statement here announcing the fifth national safety campaign open to all elementary schools of the country.

The campaign includes an essay contest for pupils and a lesson contest in which teachers in elementary schools are to compete. In these contests $6,548 is given for the best essays and the best lessons, the prizes the gifts of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which co-operates with the Board in its highway safety enterprises. The contests close February 24 of this year.

In addition engraved certificates of merit will be given those schools in each state which comply with certain requirements of the highway organization in the teaching of safety education. These certificates bear the signature of Dr. J. J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, Department of the Interior, and of the State Superintendent of Schools, or the principal school official. Dr. Tigert also is chairman of the Highway Education Board.

The contest is being announced now to the schools of the country. Pupils are requested to write essays of 500 words in length on the subject "My School's Share in Highway Safety." Four hundred thirty-eight medals and as many cash prizes will be given for the best essays in the several states, while three national awards will be given for the premier essays that are written by the pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades in school. The first national prize consists of a gold watch and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid, the winning pupil being under the care of Board officials.

In each state a gold medal and a check for fifteen dollars will be given for the best essay, and a silver medal and a ten dollar check for the second best paper. The number of third prizes, each consisting of a bronze medal and five dollars, varies somewhat in proportion to the elementary school enrollment. New York State, for example, receives twenty-seven state prizes, while the number for Alabama is nine, for California thirteen, Texas nineteen, Illinois twenty, and other states in proportion.

In the teacher's contest, three national prizes are given, amounting to $1,500, but the first consists of a check for five hundred dollars and a trip to Washington for the best lesson. The second and third prizes respectively are three hundred dollars and two hundred dollars.

The contests are the fifth of a concerted program undertaken by the Board at the suggestion of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, looking toward some amelioration of present conditions. It is believed by Board officials and many others that the surest plan for relief, both immediate and in the future, is to interest the schools, pupils and teachers, principals and superintendents, in a campaign which is broad enough to involve humanitarian principles, and grave enough to affect the foundations of our economic system insofar as it pertains to transportation.

A generation ahead is not too far to plan, in the opinion of many students of traffic conditions, who believe there will be fewer traffic accidents proportionally, in 1946 than in 1926. They say it is not too early now to begin to train the drivers of automobiles and the pedestrians of that day and generation. In short, the boys and girls of today, it is claimed, will be taught through these contests to be motor wise and safety conscious, with a resultant decrease in the traffic toll of the nation, which in 1925 claimed approximately 20,000 casualties.

While the campaign is intended chiefly for the schools, it enlists the aid of automobile clubs, women's clubs, civic bodies, public officials, and to a very general degree, the support of teachers, principals and superintendents of schools. Indeed Board officials assert that no single group is doing more in highway safety than the schools, through the medium of these contests.

Dates Set For Rutgers Scholarship Examinations

Examinations for State scholarships to Rutgers University will be held on June 4th and 5th, it was announced today. Sixty scholarships, valued at from $200 to $250 a year, will be awarded by Act of the State Legislature to those graduates of New Jersey high schools who pass highest examinations. In order to qualify for a scholarship, a candidate is required to take tests in English and Algebra, and in any other two subjects he desires. The examinations will be held in various high schools throughout the State, and a definite number of scholarships will be awarded each county. There are at present at Rutgers two hundred and forty undergraduates enjoying the benefit of these State scholarships.

Dental Hygiene

Among the occupations which have arisen in connection with the development of preventive medicine and public health work that of the dental hygienist, oral hygienist, or dental nurse, as it has been variously called, is perhaps the most recent. Dental disease is the most common of all human ailments, and seems likely to remain so for some time to come. The public school offers an especially fine field of work for both prophylactic and educational work, and the dental hygienist is employed by the Department of Education in a considerable number of cities, towns and rural districts. Dental hygienists are well paid, considering the time spent in training. The salaries range from $80 to $200 a month.
