Mops and Pails Alternatives To Courts for Some Offenders

by Donna Feeney

Floors are being mopped, cabinets are being moved and cleaned and windows are glistening over at Westfield police headquarters these days. "It's the first time I've seen the tops of some of these lockers in 20 years," says Police Chief James F. Moran jokingly.

The reason for all this cleaning activity? Not a planned inspection by the Board of Health or the impending arrival of the Governor but rather the execution of the Westfield Youth Community Service Project. Known as WCSP or just the "work project" the program which provides an alternative for youthful offenders was instituted on Feb. 2.

Westfield youths who have been apprehended for offenses which constitute disorderly persons violations such as vandalism, malicious mischief, property damage and involvements with small quantities of alcohol may, with the permission of their parents, participate in the work program rather than have these infractions included on their record. Only first offenders are given this option.

To date 12 male juveniles between the ages of 13 and 17 have been involved in the program. "We would have had more if the program was not limited to town residents," says Det. Sgt. Wesley Moore of the Juvenile Bureau. "Many juveniles who recently have been arrested have come from out of town," he adds.

Moore continues, Juvenile court in Elizabeth has ordered three local juveniles to participate in the program. One of these will have to perform 20 hours of work at a residence where he had committed criminal mischief.

The concept of the punishment fitting the crime is what the proponents had in mind when the program was developed by Chief Moran, Moore, Councilwoman Betty List who represented the Mayor's Youth Advisory Board and members of the Youth Concerns Committee and the Board of Education.

Presiding Juvenile Court Judge Steven J. Bercik approved the project for Westfield in December and recently has authorized its continuance based on a progress report filed by Chief Moran.

Most of the work done to date has been limited to the police station where non-uniformed personnel may supervise the youngsters.

Moore says that the Board of Education and the Board Wants State Aid Formula, More Stability

The Westfield Board of Education will go on record as favoring a "good" State school aid formula and a commitment by the State to provide the funds allocated by this formula to school districts at Saturday's special meeting of the New Jersey State School Boards Association.

The board does not approve, however, of a proposal to be considered at the session which it feels could pressure the New Jersey Legislature to provide additional funds for education through increases in the state income tax.

The emergency session of delegates from the State's 611 school districts in Trenton was called because of the cuts in school aid made this summer when the State found it did not have enough money to meet funding promised during the districts' budget preparation periods.

Some districts — Union County Regional District and Princeton among them — are short up to $1 million in income because of the State aid cuts. Westfield's shortage is $36,000, the amount cut in State aid using a base of per-pupil costs as the determining factor in how much each district would lose in State funding this year. Marilyn Gulotta will represent the Westfield board at Saturday's deliberations in Trenton.

A State-wide revenue-raising program, which local board members agree could hike the income tax, is not in Westfield's best interests, it was felt at Tuesday night's special meeting of the school board. This is the route reportedly under discussion in efforts to reinstate funding into the local districts.

What is needed instead, local board members said, is stability — the assurance that the amount of funding promised by the State prior to budget preparations would be the same amount paid by the State to the district during the budget year.

In other business at Tuesday night's meeting, the board approved use of two health textbooks for junior high school grades 7 and 8, awarded a contract for $6,226 to the W.B. Furze Co. of Roselle Park for replacement of various concrete sidewalks at schools, and authorized the sum of $300 for soil engineering at the site of the new Elm St. maintenance facility to the Haller Testing Lab of Plainfield.

Edith Morrison to Retire as Principal

The Westfield Board of Education accepted the retirement resignation of Mrs. Edith Morrison, principal of Franklin School, and approved a paid disability leave of absence for Robert Mayer, Jefferson School principal, at Tuesday night's special meeting. Mrs. Morrison's retirement will begin Nov. 1. Mayer's leave of absence is from Sept. 1 through Dec. 31.

Patrick Rooney, who had been assistant principal at Jefferson School last year and was scheduled to return to the classroom because the school board has eliminated assistant principalships for elementary schools, is expected to be assigned as acting principal during Mayer's leave of absence.

School Superintendent Laurence F. Greene said that a search will begin — inside and outside the school district — for a replacement for Mrs. Morrison when she retires on Nov. 1.

Mrs. Morrison has been employed by the Westfield Public Schools for 16 years. She came here as a third grade teacher at Wilson School in 1965 where she remained for one year. In 1966, she was named assistant principal at Jefferson School until 1968 when she was named principal of Grant School where she served for 10 years. Mrs. Morrison was named principal of Franklin School in 1978.

Frigerio Names Key Fall Campaign Aides

Two veteran campaigners have been named to key positions in the fall campaign of Ronald Frigerio, Republican candidate for Mayor of Westfield.

Richard F. Trabert, former chairman of the Westfield Town Republican Committee from 1973 to 1977, will serve as campaign manager; Elizabeth D. Cagnassola, active in Republican campaigns on state, county and local levels for many years, will be Frigerio's campaign treasurer.

Salads Cost 30-35 Cents More In Revised School Lunch Prices

The price of school lunches for Westfield public school students and staff members will show increases and decreased from five to ten cents this year over last year, but salads will cost 30 to 35 cents more.

According to the price list approved by the Westfield Board of Education at a special meeting Tuesday, school lunch costs follow:

* $1.10 for elementary students (an increase of five cents)

* $1.20 for secondary students (an increase of five cents for high school students and an increase of ten cents for junior high school students)

* $1.50 for faculty members (an increase of five cents at the elementary level, a decrease of five cents at the high school and the same price this year as last year for junior high school faculty members.)

The new price list includes the same charges at all three secondary school cafeterias. In the past, there were different charges at the high school and the two junior high schools.

The most significant increases are in the cost of salads which have gone from 85 cents at the junior high school cafeterias and 90 cents at the high school cafeteria to $1.20 at all three cafeterias.

The cost of milk remains the same — 25 cents for everyone.

One member of the audience at the school board meeting expressed concern about charging elementary students the same as secondary students for milk, saying she felt that this forced elementary parents to subsidize cafeteria costs for the three secondary schools.

"All school lunches are Type A lunches which provide a well-rounded nutritious meal," said Carolyn Lozier, director of food services. At the elementary schools, cold lunches are provided, she said, adding that hot lunches could be made available to elementary school students if enough parents respond favorably in a survey she is conducting.

Mrs. Lozier said that elementary school parents interested in having a hot lunch about three days per

New Central Ave. Park On Tuesday's Agenda

An agreement with the Neighborhood Improvement Council to administer improvements in the Central Ave. area is expected to be authorized at Tuesday's 8:30 p.m. meeting of the Town Council.

The pact will provide municipal administration of $104,500 in street improvements, a $5,000 Central Ave. mini-park and a $3,000 health clinic for area residents. The funds have been made available through the Community Development block grant program.

Council also is expected to take action on a land use ordinance amendment governing community residences for the disabled. The criteria (area day restrictions, parking etc.) have been modified since the bill's introduction last spring and been approved by the Westfield Planning Board.

Final action is anticipated on parking prohibitions in front of a new office building site on South Ave. and granting of a liquor license to Hahne's

Ziobro Hearings Begin in Court

Administrative Law Judge Robert Glickman denied an appeal for a month's delay of trial by Stephen Klausner, attorney for Stanley Ziobro, as hearings on the former junior high school math teacher's suspension by the Westfield Board of Education began yesterday morning in Newark.

Klausner's request for psychiatric examination of a student involved in charges which led to Ziobro's suspension also was refused, but could be forwarded for action by the State Commissioner of Education.

Attended by about 20-25 people, public hearings were adjourned before noon in order to take testimony from the student at a private session reportedly held by Judge Glickman with only the child, her parents, Klausner, attorney for the school board Joseph Rizzi and Superintendent of Schools Laurence F. Greene attending.

Hearings are expected to resume today and will continue tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday if time is needed.

160 Senior Citizens to Benefit From $2400 Foundation Grant

The Westfield Foundation recently approved a grant of $2400 to provide the Westfield Community Center with the interim funding they needed to continue their services to senior citizens. The Community Center has opened its facility to seniors from all parts of Westfield through "The Friendly Place" — a 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., five day a week complete program — and has offered its program for the last six years. It is the only day care type program for seniors in the area. The program has been supported in part by federal community development funding. That funding was cut last year and could not be reinstated until this October. The Foundation's grant enables the center to maintain its "Friendly Place" program until community development funding is available.

Energy Program to Serve Some Elderly, Handicapped

Joan D. Smith, director of the Union County Department of Human Resources announced today that applications are being accepted for the Supplemental Crisis Intervention Program (SCIP). The SCIP Project, funded with a $13,768 grant from the N.J. Department of Community Affairs, provides for a furnace tune-up and the installation of a hot water heater jacket. These energy conservation measures are intended to assist the low-income elderly and handicapped in meeting the increasing cost of energy to heat their homes. Applicants must be at least 60 years of age or handicapped and meet the income eligibility guidelines, which cannot exceed $7,113 annually for a family of two. Proof of income is required to apply.

"Unfortunately, there is a very limited amount of funds available," Smith said in explaining that it is expected that approximately 225 households will be served. Therefore, applications will be accepted on a first-come-first-served basis.

Residents of Westfield may contact the Westfield Community Center, local welfare office, for information.

Exchange Students Need Homes

Youth For Understanding is still in need of homes for foreign exchange students who are in the U.S. for one year. They are presently in temporary placements where for the most part they cannot start school. YFU is a home, school, community based program that allows for sharing cultures at a grass root level.

Some students awaiting homes are:

Xabier Aldaregia from the Basque region of Spain is a very pleasant and helpful young man who appears to be quite serious until you see a warm, infectious smile. Xabier is anxious to play soccer and desires to improve his tennis game. Though sports oriented, his career goal is in the law field.

Bernard Guillon is from Bois-Colombes, France, is pleasant in character and very active. Bernard's career interest is in sports, has worked in a travel agency and a hotel and desires to continue Italian studies. Sophia Valenzuela is from Chillan, Chile, is anxious to start her school experience and have her own family. Her English is excellent, is a very good student and enjoys playing tennis and soccer. Other interests are jogging, reading, crosswords and math games. Sophia's career interest is in medicine or chemical engineering.

John Furuli is from Bergen, Norway, loves sports and would like to play football. He has an enjoyable sense of humor, mixes well with people, is excellent in English and would like to continue karate. John is anxious to be settled in with his own family so they can mutually become a part of each other's lives.

Gill Alerts Motorists To Tougher Traffic Laws

Assemblyman Edward Gill (R-Union) cautioned motorists in his district on the series of tougher motor vehicle laws, passed earlier this year by the legislature, that have gone into effect or will soon go into effect. "I want to alert our motorists now and hopefully prevent an unpleasant surprise later," said Gill.

Gill pointed out that as of Sept. 1 the minimum fine for most moving violations is $50. This list includes failure to obey signs and signals, improper use of lanes and turning procedures, illegal passing, failure to regard police instructions, reckless and careless driving, tailgating, improper crossing of bridges and railroad crossings, and failing to yield to emergency vehicles and school buses. Repeat offenders convicted of two or more reckless driving violations will face a $100 fine.

"This is not a complete list but it will give you an idea of how costly it will be to violate the traffic laws and will make people think twice before committing a moving violation," said Assemblyman Gill.

More importantly, according to Assemblyman Gill, is that New Jersey has followed the national trend toward stiffer penalties for drunk drivers. The new laws require minimum penalties of first offense - $250, and six month license suspension; second offense - $500 fine, 30 days of community service, and two year license suspension; third offense - fine of $1,000 and 180 days in jail. "Keep in mind these are minimum penalties," said Gill. "Also in the area of drunk driving, I am proposing very strict penalties for causing death through drunk driving - even stricter than exist today."

The new laws increase the penalties for driving without a license to a fine of $1,000, ten days in jail and suspension extension. Gill further points out that on Oct. 1, a new habitual offenders law will go into effect, further stiffening penalties for persons with three suspensions within three years.

A member of the Assembly Transportation Committee, Assemblyman Gill has been campaigning for better traffic safety regulations to reduce the fearful toll of deaths and injuries.

Junior Curator Program New at Trailside Center

A new program designed to first teach youngsters about the nature in the Watching Reservation and then enlist those youngsters as volunteers to work with the Trailside Nature and Science Center has been instituted by the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation.

Entitled Junior Curators, the program is designed for children in grades 5-7 and is similar in content to the Trailside Rangers volunteer program which currently takes in those in grades 5-9.

Children who are interested in wildlife and conservation will get first hand experience through the Junior Curator program. Their involvement will begin with three training sessions, scheduled for 3:30-5 p.m., Sept. 16, 23 and 30, at the Trailside Museum. In the sessions, youngsters will learn how to feed and care for the many live animals on display there, including frogs and toads, fish, gerbils, hamsters, guinea pigs, hermit crabs, turtles, tarantulas and any other orphaned or injured animals acquired in the reservation.

After learning the procedures for their care as well as many interesting facts about their lives from a naturalist, participants will sign up on a regular schedule for routine animal care. Their volunteer service will not only be a help, but will also enable youngsters to attend Trailside workshops and courses at no cost.

The Junior Curators is a free program.

"We hope to attract a dedicated corps of youngsters who really like animals and want to learn about them," said Deborah Jamison, assistant director at Trailside, located at Coles Ave. and New Providence Rd., Mountainside.

For information on registering for the Junior Curator program, call the center or the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation office.

"Eclectic Vacation House" featured by Westfield artist Harry Devlin in his book "To Grandfather's House We Go" is being restored by Vance Enck, who will speak on Cape May to Westfield Historical Society Sept. 22 at Grant School.

Program on Cape May Architecture To Open Historical Society's Season

The Westfield Historical Society will open a new season of activities on Wednesday evening, Sept. 22, with a program on Cape May architecture and history by the well-known lecturer, Vance Enck. The 8 p.m. meeting will be held in Grant School auditorium.

Designated a national landmark for its Victorian architecture, Cape May was the turn-of-the-century summer seaside resort for wealthy East Coast families and a vacation stop for five U.S. Presidents. Enck is a lifetime architectural enthusiast and a Cape May resident. He bought a home in Congress Place in the heart of today's historic district, and worked at restoring it before restoration became the fashionable thing to do. "Restoration takes time," he says, "especially since I insist on authenticity." In addition to being a history and English teacher at Bergen County Vo-Tech High School in Hackensack, Enck gives authoritative tours of Cape May during summers and off-season weekends.

The public is invited. A hospitality hour will follow the meeting. Paul Houck is president of the society and Ralph Jones, program chairman.

Sell Empty Governor's Mansion, Says Hardwick

Assemblyman Chuck Hardwick (R-Union) has proposed that the state sell the vacant Governor's mansion, which has become a million dollar burden on an already strained state budget.

The sale of Drumthwacket in Princeton, which the state bought in 1966 for a quarter of a million dollars, would save the state much-needed money in maintenance and costly rehabilitation, the Westfield Republican said. Citing budget pressures, Gov. Thomas Kean has chosen to remain in his Livingston home rather than move his family to Princeton.

"The Governor doesn't need nor want another house," said Hardwick, who is Assembly Republican Delegation leader of the Joint Appropriations Committee. "The state would save a great deal of money, and the very valuable property would return to Princeton's tax rolls."

As a member of the budget committee, Hardwick introduced a measure last year to prohibit state funds from being appropriated for Drumthwacket, but it was not acted on by the committee.

The 159-year-old building is much in need of repair, Hardwick said. The state Department of Environmental Protection has already spent nearly $1 million on outdoor renovations, which include a swimming pool, tennis court, gatehouse and rear terrace, he said. Also, the New Jersey Historical Society has had to spend $1.7 million in private funds for renovations. New Jersey should join Rhode Island, Vermont, Oregon and Kentucky, which do not provide their governors with housing, he said.

"It's foolish for the state to continue paying for the upkeep and renovations of this building," said Hardwick. "We talk of maintaining essential services, then look up from our budgets to see an elegant multi-million dollar mansion that nobody lives in. It's hypocritical to tell people to cut back on spending while this white elephant is around."

Troubled Employees Topic of Seminar

"How to Reduce the Costs of Troubled Employees," will be the topic of an executive-level seminar presented without charge as a community service by Priority Systems for Employee Assistance.

The seminar will be held for business executives on Monday, Sept. 20, from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the Auditorium of Overlook Hospital.

Tony Dennis Almost Ready For Gala Opening of Store

The gala opening of the new Tony Dennis Men's Shop at the corner of Central Ave. and East Broad St. in the central business district is almost ready and a complete new line of fall clothing is waiting to be placed in display cabinets there.

Tony Annese, owner of the exclusive men's store, said the items to be shown in the more than 4,000-square-foot shopping area include several new brand and designers' names. Among these will be dress shirts bearing the Calvin Klein and Pierre Cardin labels; sweaters, winter pants and jackets made by Ocean Pacific (OP), and tailored classics by Levi.

Casual shoes will also be offered along with a special sneaker department featuring Nike, Converse, Keds, Playboy, Jordache and Kangaroo.

Annese, contending the Tony Dennis Shop "is unique in that it caters to the new tastes of the emerging New Jerseyan," said the new store will offer practical clothing of contemporary styling that is reasonably priced.

Most men's stores, Annese says, either specialize in jeans or suits. "Tony Dennis fills the entire area of clothing between those items," he continued.

The spacious showroom in the new store, currently undergoing complete interior renovation and design, will enable shoppers to more easily browse about. Annese said an increased sales staff will also be on hand to help customers in making their selections.

Meanwhile, Annese said, a sale offering outstanding savings continues at the current Tony Dennis Men's Shop site a block away at 106 Quimby St. Once the racks are cleared there, that store will be closed while the new shop is set up.

It was at that site, that the first Tony Dennis Shop was founded 11 years ago. Since that time a Tony Dennis Shop was also established in Elizabeth's Broad St. central business district.

Editor, Leader;

The staff of Spaulding for Children, the free adoption agency for special needs children, with offices in Haddonfield, Orange and Westfield was fortunate enough to hear the keynote address given by Father George Clements, pastor of a black church in Illinois and an adoptive father himself.

Father Clements had issued a call to black churches in Illinois to accept the challenge of recruiting families to adopt a waiting child with the slogan "One Church, One Child" and its success prompted him to suggest that this be the clarion call throughout the nation.

The cooperative move between church and agency has proven a reward to the waiting American children. The strong support of the Black church and the community and social services has the potential of being a boon to all involved since it educates the broad general public concerning the waiting children and specifically the Black community by countering misinformation regarding adoption, red tape and single parent acceptability.

We at Spaulding felt privileged to have heard Father Clements and would welcome hearing from anyone interested in adoption. Our Black Family Recruitment Unit's number is (201)678-4975, our Haddonfield number is (609)428-2667 and Westfield (201)233-2282.

We thank your paper for helping us bring this message to your readers. The children thank you, Claire Stern Staff of Spaulding.

NEW SYMPHONY! IDEAS TO CONSIDER

Editor, Leader; News items of the forthcoming Westfield symphony orchestra, and a responsive letter from Mr. and Mrs. Smiljanic (Leader, Aug. 26), appropriately proclaim the asset value of this noble and worthy goal. However, as a local amateur musician having had two decades of enjoyment playing in local community orchestras, I urge that the motives for establishing a new symphony in this area be carefully reviewed.

A feasibility study is certain to reveal that qualified amateurs, not orchestras, are in short supply. A new orchestra will have to draw upon the existing limited nucleus of presently engaged qualified players. My inquiries among local peers have confirmed that no qualified players are presently idle. Rather, the reverse is true; our community orchestras are in constant search of new and better talent to augment and upgrade their thin ranks.

How then will the Westfield symphony acquire its players? By headhunting in the Plainfield, Summit, Suburban, South Orange and Irvington orchestras? The youth orchestras? These groups will be weakened because of the shortage. By seeking the disgruntled? By fattening fees? If one believes that establishing a new orchestra in this area will bring musicians out of the woodwork, then that orchestra will have the sound of musicians who have come out of the woodwork. If extensive hiring is undertaken, the orchestra will then be "professional," not "community," and soaring budgetary problems will have to be accommodated. Therefore it would appear that the motives for establishing the new group stem not from musicians' needs to form another orchestra, but from administrative needs, at some price, to administer (or conduct).

The hope that "Westfield's orchestra will be composed of serious local musicians who will perform as professionals" is a hope earnestly felt by all the above communities for their orchestras. But do look around - this dreamy expectation soon yields to a less fulfilling reality. Adults with varying musical ability (some don't practice) seek community orchestras for the social uplift as well as for the continuity of their musical involvement. The community orchestra must therefore compromise at auditions and accept players over a range of abilities, or it is not in fact serving the community that is supporting it.

Importantly, a perceptive and skillful musical director is capable of solving problems that arise from overseeing this spectrum of abilities (and egos), or events lead to the frequent turnover of musical directors, as we have seen.

Avery Rosegay Principal cello, Suburban and Summit Symphony Orchestras

"LEVIN-MANDERING"

Editor, Leader; One of the latest paid advertisements by Adam Levin, Democrat for Congress, in my estimation has certainly "pegged" him. It is entitled "Buy and Lie," and though it drips with vitriol about how Republicans are lying and buying with "their millions of dollars for advertising," he himself is doing exactly the same thing, and seems to be a master at both.

Speaking of millions being spent, Mr. Levin is the millionaire who is not only able, but willing to buy whatever needs buying in an effort to unseat Congressman Rinaldo. Levin designed the silly "fish-hook" 7th District, and now he wants to run it. A good name for his game is "Levin-mandering" instead of gerrymandering. "Buy and Lie" by Adam Levin" was a headline which tells us more about the Democratic candidate than he would like us to know.

Increases Dividend

The Central Jersey Bank and Trust Company has announced its second increase in dividend payments during 1982. The board of directors of the bank, at a meeting held Aug. 28, declared a quarterly cash dividend of 27¢ per share to stockholders of record Sept. 15, payable Oct. 1. This is an additional 5¢ per share, making the bank annual dividend $1.10 per share.

Mark Keynote Speaker At United Way Kick-Off

Robert Marik, vice president public affairs of Merck and Co., Inc. and the United Way's campaign chairman, will be the keynote speaker at the United Way of Union County's kick-off dinner Wednesday at the Town and Campus Restaurant, Union. The dinner will officially kick-off the United Way's fundraising drive aimed at $4.079 million dollars on behalf of 84 human service agencies. Joan Corbet, president of the United Way; Alfred Fontana, president of the Union County Labor Council AFL-CIO and United Way's vice president of labor; Arthur Grissi, Union County manager; and Dell Raudelunas, executive director of the United Way will also speak at the dinner.

Disabled Access, Booklet Planned

An access booklet providing information on the accessibility of public facilities for disabled county residents is currently being planned, according to the Union County Advisory Board on the Handicapped. The target date for availability of the Access Book is December 1982. Organization or individuals interested in helping should contact Roy Rusk, Office on Handicapped at the Courthouse in Elizabeth.

Volunteers will be asked to represent each town and go from building to building to determine the ease of accessibility for parking, entrance and interior movement restrooms, elevators and phones. All buildings including government agencies, theaters, museums, recreation facilities and restaurants will be surveyed.

The target date for availability of the Access Book is December 1982. Organization or individuals interested in helping should contact Roy Rusk, Office on Handicapped at the Courthouse in Elizabeth.

STARSCOPE

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 9, 1982
AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Financial news is generally bright, but collecting debts requires a firmer approach. Romantic instinct is not as sharp as you believe... try taking a tip from a friend.
PISCES - February 20-March 20
Career project may come to a standstill, but the lull is followed by a bustling period. Stuffy relationship becomes less formal. Out of town news should be followed up.
ARIES - March 21-April 20
VIP has been promoting you, but now it's time to return some favors. Hobbies picked up now may ultimately prove profitable. Legal matters should not be rushed.
TAURUS - April 21-May 21
Offers you issue now will be taken very seriously - don't get carried away. Ambition is strong, but make an effort to devote time to the private side of your life.
GEMINI - May 22-June 21
Voice from past may ask for a favor; allow some time before making a commitment. Career path is taking some unexpected turns, but don't jump to premature conclusions.
CANCER - June 22-July 22
Delays at this time may be expensive, so expedite matters where you can. Neighbors are in a cordial mood, and you may find yourself striking a pleasant new friendship.
LEO - July 23-August 22
Educational activities are favored, but don't take on an unrealistically heavy load. Actually, in all areas - notably health and romance - remind yourself that moderation is the key.
VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Keep out of reach of matchmakers and other do-gooders. You're your own best friend and adviser now. Be generous about boosting the morale of youngsters and seniors alike.
LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Avoid taking financial or other risks as hunches are on the weak side. On the other hand, taste is impeccable - an excellent week for designing, decorating, and the like.
SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Hobbies are accentuated as a healthy and perhaps profitable outlet. Weigh pros and cons before making a career or other critical choice; decisions rendered now are long-lasting ones.
SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
You excel in a management role, but matters involving shared finances need some quick ironing out. Friend's romantic successes do not mean that your own situation should be taken for granted.
CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Plans are being laid for upcoming advancement or award. Tempers start flying at the drop of a feather. New fall wardrobe emphasizes the warm, conservative sides of your personality.

REPORT FROM WASHINGTON
by Congressman
Matt Rinaldo
12th District, New Jersey

More than 500 people from throughout the congressional district are expected to attend a seminar I am sponsoring on government programs serving senior citizens. The seminar will be held from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., September 11, in Downs Hall on the Kean College campus in Union Township. Among the featured speakers will be Robert J. Myers, executive director of the National Commission on Social Security Reform. Myers will discuss the work of the 15-member panel appointed by the President and leaders of Congress to study the Social Security system and to recommend improvements for its long-term financial integrity. He will head a list of experts on problems of older Americans in health, housing, consumer affairs and public services. Sharing the podium will be John McCutcheon, manager of the Social Security Administration district office in Elizabeth. He will review recent changes in Social Security and answer questions about the program. A report on state services for the elderly will be provided by Jacques O. Lebel, director of the Union County Division on Aging, while Peter Shields, director of the Union County Division on Aging, will describe county programs and services for older Americans. An explanation of Medicare and advice on what to look for in buying supplemental health insurance will be offered by Jack Gamble. He is the Medicare claims director for the Prudential Insurance Company. Consumer protection tips will be offered by Joan Godal, consumer affairs officer for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. Her talk will focus on health gimmicks and what the consumer should watch out for in shopping for drugs, health care items and medical devices, such as hearing aids. In addition to the speakers, volunteers from Memorial General Hospital will be present to take the blood pressure of those who wish to have it checked. This service will be provided from 8 to 9 a.m. Caseworkers from my office will be at the seminar to assist senior citizens with individual problems involving federal programs. Various publications of interest to older Americans also will be distributed to those attending the session. Kean College is close to route 22 and exit 139B on the Garden State Parkway.

The seminar is being held in an air conditioned building with comfortable seating and ample parking nearby. Attendees should arrive sufficiently early to be seated by 9:15 a.m.

The program will serve as an educational forum and will give senior citizens an opportunity to gain a better understanding of programs intended to benefit them, and to receive an updated report on Social Security and the activities of the National Commission on Social Security Reform. The commission is to submit its recommendations to the President later this year, and it is conceivable that Congress will be asked to act on some of the proposals before the 97th Congress ends December 31.

As the ranking Republican on the House Select Committee on Aging, and as a strong advocate of Social Security, I have expressed opposition to any reduction in benefits. Any changes should meet a three-fold test: (1) benefits of present recipients must be protected; (2) any future changes must be phased-in for new workers only; and (3) interfund borrowing should be maintained to ease the temporary strain on the Social Security Retirement Fund.

Inattentive Drivers Top Pike Accident List

Most accidents on the New Jersey Turnpike last year were caused by motorists who failed to live up to their responsibilities behind the wheel. Carelessness, disregard for the law, human error, the physical condition of drivers and mechanical failures were the principal causes. A review of statistics compiled by the Turnpike's traffic engineers reveals that most of the 2983 accidents in 1981 would not have happened if motorists had been alert, had followed the rules of the road and had taken steps to assure their vehicles were in proper working order. Of the total, 1418, or nearly 48 percent, were attributed to inattentive driving, situations where there would have been no accidents had the drivers paid attention to their responsibilities. Drivers who were apparently asleep or drowsy were involved in another 180 accidents and 161 more had been drinking or using drugs. There were 121 accidents caused by backing up or stopping on the roadway, another 95 by following too closely plus 50 by improper passing. Accidents attributed to mechanical failures totaled 290: defective tires, 130; defective brakes, 40; and other mechanical problems, 120. There were 162 accidents caused by objects that fell from other vehicles. The accidents resulted in a total of 32 fatalities and 1433 personal injuries on the Turnpike last year. With a fatality rate of 1.09 and an accident rate of 101.4, the Turnpike continued as one of the safest highways in the nation. Rates are based on incidents per 100 million miles traveled. More than 127.2 million vehicles of all types used the Turnpike during 1981, traveling more than 2.9 billion miles. Preliminary figures, compiled from State Police accident reports for the first seven months of 1982 show that total accidents are 98 above the comparable period last year (1,693 to 1,595). While the number of fatal accidents (10 in 1982 to 15 in 1981) are below last year's total to date, personal injury and property damage statistics increased.

Same-Day Surgery

A simple surgical procedure without the cost and inconvenience of a hospital stay is what is available through Muhlenberg Hospital's same-day surgery program. "Our statistics show, the same-day surgery program is quite popular at Muhlenberg Hospital. Since beginning in May of 1981, as many as 174 patients per month have used this program for a variety of surgical procedures," explained Albert Frankel, M.D., chief of surgery. The majority of cases in same-day surgery include simple gynecological procedures, such as D & C's and tubal ligations, and removal of superficial tumors and cysts. Cystoscopes, dental extractions, vasectomies, circumcisions, myringotomies and ophthalmological procedures are also commonly performed on a same-day basis. With same-day surgery, the patient enters the hospital in the morning and leaves that same day, even if general anesthesia is given. Should there be any concerns after discharge and their physician cannot be reached, the patient is given the telephone number of a hospital unit where their questions can be answered. "Same-day surgery benefits our patients as well as our entire service area," explains Hospital President David Ridgway, "because it frees overnight beds for those in the community who are acutely ill."

Fidelity Union Bank's new Earner Plus™ goes money market accounts one better:

High yields, instant liquidity, plus 24-hour banking.

1. New Earner Plus pays high money market yields.

Now you can earn high money market yields on a checking account! New Earner Plus combines an interest-bearing NOW checking account with your choice of three money market fund investments from Federated Securities, Inc. — a diversified fund, U.S. Treasury Obligations, and a tax-free fund. This means you get the best of both worlds: high yields and instant liquidity. Here's how it works:

The first $5,000 in your Earner Plus account is maintained in a NOW account which earns 5 1/4% interest annually and is insured by the FDIC. Each day, your NOW account is automatically "swept" and all collected funds over $5,000 (with a $100 minimum) are deposited in your designated money market fund. And that's it! Nothing could be easier or simpler, and you have the satisfaction of knowing that your money is doing double-duty for you: it's always working hard earning high money market rates, plus it's always accessible just by writing a check!

2. You get instant liquidity just by writing a check.

Your money is never "locked up" for weeks like it is in some other money market funds. In a very real sense, Earner Plus is a high-yield checking account, because your money is earning interest until you use it. It earns 5 1/4% on balances up to $5,000 and money market rates (less an agency fee) on everything in your designated fund. Unlike some money market funds that also offer checking privileges, Earner Plus does not require a $500 minimum for each check you write. In fact, you can write checks for any amount in your account!

3. Make deposits and withdrawals 24 hours a day with The Treasurer® at over fifty locations throughout New Jersey!

With some money market funds you can lose valuable interest while you're waiting for the fund to receive your deposit in the mail, process it, collect the funds, and finally post the deposit to your account. The Treasurer, however, puts an end to undue delays.

Simply make a deposit to your Earner Plus account, any hour of the day or night, and the funds are available in your account as soon as they are collected! Your money starts working for you faster and you earn more interest. Another advantage that The Treasurer offers is that you can get cash 24 hours a day from your Earner Plus account. And, for additional convenience, there are 100 offices of Fidelity Union throughout the state where you can make Earner Plus deposits or withdrawals.

Please send me complete information on Earner Plus, including a prospectus for each money market fund. I understand there is no obligation.

Franklin Fair to Feature Prizes

A Maruishi aero space bike is one of the prizes being offered at Franklin School's "Rootin' Tootin' Fair" Saturday, Sept. 25, from 10-3 p.m. at the school on Prospect St.

"Our goal is to sell 2000 or more tickets," says Lynne Bunson, prize chairperson. "Our children will be the big winners as the proceeds will pay for extra programs at the school."

Other prizes to be offered are a week's vacation in an A-frame in the Pocono Mountains, an antique Korean wedding chest donated by Delney McKenzie, one month's art lessons from Christine Loeber, and 100 gallons of gas. Tickets are now on sale and may be purchased from Franklin School parents, Lynne Bunson, Cathy Halpin and Barbara Vincenten. Winners will be announced the day of the fair.

The Franklin Fair, which is held every other year, is sponsored by the Franklin School PTA and is the school's major fund-raising effort. Betty Jordan and Judy Johnson are this year's fair co-chairpersons.

"Any kid would love this bike!" is the feeling of Ross and Scott Bunson whose mother Lynne is prize chairperson for Franklin School's fair, Sept. 25.

Troop 72 Completes Annual Canadian Trip

Boy Scout Troop 72 recently visited Canada on its annual week-long summer encampment. An expedition of 11 adults and 22 scouts set up camp on Earncliffe Island in Birch Lake near Kingston, Ontario. The week's activities consisted of swimming, sailing, canoeing, motor-boating and fishing as well as extensive merit badge activity. Over 50 merit badges were earned in swimming, life-saving, canoeing, motor-boating, sailing, fishing and wilderness survival. Several boys earned conservation merit badges by finishing projects to clear trails and prevent soil erosion. The pioneering merit badge included building a dock with rope and logs. The finale was the completion of a mile swim by 14 scouts and 2 adults.

Troop 72 meets each Monday evening at 7:15 p.m. in the Westminster Hall of the Presbyterian Church located on the corner of Broad St. and Mountain Ave. Boys 11-18 years old or in the sixth grade and above are eligible to join. Any questions about joining Troop 72 may be referred to Chairman Pat Duggan at 505 Parkview Ave. or Assistant Scoutmaster Al Halluin at 325 Orenda Circle.

If you have a complaint, share it. Maybe no one else has thought of it.

YMCA Begins Fall Signup, Schedules Open House

The Westfield YMCA is registering for fall classes which begin Sept. 20. To kick off the fall season, a "Widen Your World at the Westfield YMCA" open house celebration is scheduled for Sept. 19, 1-5 p.m.

The Y will be open for complete inspection, including the new Men's and Women's Fitness Centers. Class exhibits and demonstrations will take place throughout the day. The Y is also sponsoring, in conjunction with participating YMCA's in the metropolitan area, a "Widen Your World Sweepstakes" with a first prize of a jet trip around the world. To accommodate guests, the Y will be closed for general membership use during the open house.

Five new classes have been added to the youth fall programs. A Kinder-aerobics classis designed for children 5-8 years to develop strength and flexibility through basic exercise and dance steps. For those 9-14 years a new fitness class, Get High on Yourself, will help youths develop flexibility, muscle tone, strength and endurance. A new gymnastics session has been added for children from 6-12 and Action Socialization Experience will help 9-13 year olds to develop a sense of group works through situation and problem solving games. The American Red Cross Cardio-pulmonary Resuscitation class is also open to those over 12.

Senior Lifesaving, leading to Read Cross certification, will be held on Saturdays for those over 15. Adult swimming lessons will be held for both beginners and advanced swimmers over 18.

Applications for youth and adult full privilege and racquetball memberships are now available. Those registering during the open house will receive a free sports tote bag.

League of Women Voters members June Gleason, membership chairman, right, and Harriet Davidson, president, prepare for coffees.

Swim Series For Handicapped

The program, which is open to youngsters between the ages of 5 and 15 who reside in the surrounding area, will consist of one-hour sessions from 4:30 to 5:30 each of the scheduled days through Dec. 2. There will not be a session on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25.

Another in a series of 10-week recreational swim programs for handicapped and learning disabled children will be held Wednesdays and Thursdays beginning Sept. 29 at Children's Specialized Hospital, New Providence Rd.

According to Andy Chasanoff, assistant chief recreational therapist, children will be handled on a one-to-one basis in the pool. The program is supervised by a certified water safety instructor.

Further information about the program may be obtained by contacting Chasanoff at Children's Specialized Hospital between the hours of 12:30 and 8 p.m.

League Membership Coffees Wednesday

What does the League of Women Voters of the Westfield Area (which includes Fanwood, Mountaine, Scotch Plains and Westfield) do? This will be explained at coffees for prospective new members Wednesday morning at 9:30 and Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of June Gleason at 527 South Chestnut St.

There will be brief presentations by members of working committees on national and state issues such as Voter Service (responsible for the information sheets on candidates mailed to all voters before the November election), women's issues, education, radioactive waste in N.J., transportation and fiscal policy.

The League of Women Voters also has plans for local programs. This year Westfield will study the Westfield school system and publish the study in a

"Know Your Schools" booklet, and Scotch Plains will study safety and disciplinary procedures in the schools.

At the coffees, League members will be available for informal discussions. The League schedules meetings mornings, afternoons, and evenings to attempt to fit everyone's schedules, and has some babysitting services.

Further information is available from Mrs. Gleason or the League of Women Voters phone number (listed in the phone book), which also answers questions about voting procedures. The League of Women Voters is a nonpartisan political organization whose purpose is to encourage citizens to participate in government and politics and whose membership is open to any person who subscribes to the purpose and policy of the League.

Kueter

firm of Monico & Rappa which has offices in Linden.

Rappa indicated that because of Carolyn Kueter's involvement in Westfield political and civic activities for more than 20 years, he expected the campaign to be a broad based volunteer effort drawing on all segments of the community for help and support.

The Kueter campaign will emphasize issues rather than party politics. Rappa indicated that he felt that the interest of the community as a whole are best served in municipal elections when the candidates address the issues "rather than the attempt to avoid them by hiding behind party affiliations."

"With this in mind, the Kueter campaign will be issue-oriented, and will let Westfield voters know that Carolyn Kueter is the best qualified candidate for mayor this time around because of her many years of active political and civic activity in Westfield, and because of her concern for preserving the traditions and values that make Westfield the fine community that it is," Rappa added.

Anyone interested in volunteering help in the Kueter campaign effort may contact him.

"Couple with my own continuing concerns with Westfield's present and future," Frigerio commented, "both campaign aides will be able to share their expertise with all us working on the Republican campaign for local offices."

Target Cars

Several acts of vandalism directed at automobiles were reported to Westfield police during the past week.

A car parked on Prospect St. was damaged on the hood and windshield by rocks, the rear window of a car parked on Dudley Ave. was broken and a car parked in the lot at Norris Chevrolet was damaged; all reported on Tuesday.

Vandals daubed the windows of a vehicle parked on Mountain Ave. Thursday. Other criminal mischief included newspapers being set afire at the Prospector's Store on Prospect St. Wednesday, damage to a lawn on St. Marks Ave. Thursday and the spray painting of a Summit Ct. home Monday.

Mall Committee To Meet Monday

"Stop the Mall" committee will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in the supervisors conference room at the Westfield municipal building.

All residents interested in the committee's work to block the development of the 52 acre Springfield Mall are welcome to attend this open meeting.

More than 160 senior citizens are members of the program and many of them depend on the transportation provided by the center's special bus to get them to the center and home again. The Foundation's grant specifically provides for the salaries of the bus driver as well as the program's coordinator.

Mrs. Julia Meagher, the coordinator has been with "The Friendly Place" for five years and continued the program without pay until alternative funding was found. "The program is important to so many people," explained Mrs. Meagher. "We have about 30 members who are either physically or mentally frail and many more seniors who look forward to this as a meeting place."

"The Friendly Place" provides a variety of activities including crafts, singing and bus excursions once or twice a week. Many members also act as volunteer workers in the program like the choir director who prepares a concert monthly which members present at area nursing homes. "Our members have a lot to share with each other," Mrs. Meagher contended. Other members volunteer in the kitchen. One critical service offered at the Friendly Place is a daily hot meal.

In addition to activities at the Community Center, the program director coordinates special assistance services like tax help, N.J. prescription assistance, CDA home improvements, help with housing applications, health screening, home visits and counseling on problems with Social Security and medical benefits.

Dr. Gary McVicker, president of the board at the Community Center, describes the goal of the program as "to help seniors maintain self-sufficiency, independence and residency in the community as an alternative to hospitals and nursing homes. Dr.

McVicker admits that the Community Center has been badly hurt by government funding cuts during the last couple of years. He explained that the Center must try to pursue avenues of private support. The Community Center welcomes the interest of residents and will provide information about ways that they can help in the work of the Community Center.

The Westfield Foundation is a community foundation which was formed in order to give assistance to community organizations which benefit the Westfield community. This grant is typical of the kind of help the Foundation can offer. It makes grants for specific purposes not able to be supported by other means. It does not make grants to cover operating expenses or provide on-going support. Instead, the Foundation is able to respond with flexibility to meet emergent needs until the sponsoring group is able to act independently.

Shop Talk ... It's business as usual at The Little Shop on the Corner, 104 North Ave., which has reopened after being closed during the month of August. Members of the Westfield Day Care Center Auxiliary are stocking the shelves with new fall merchandise as the group prepares to celebrate the shop's first anniversary on Sept. 16. From left are Mrs. Charles Salmon Jr., Mrs. Robert Beyerlein and Mrs. Reinhard Heidfeld.

Outdoor Fete To Note Little Shop Anniversary

Luncheon served in an outdoor cafe, strolling musicians and door prizes will highlight the first anniversary celebration of The Little Shop on the Corner, located at 104 North Ave. Members of The Westfield Day Care Center Auxiliary will serve a soup and salad luncheon from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. next Thursday. The sound of music will be provided by Westfield accordionist Carolyn Kueter and The Westfield Old Guard Band. Specializing in quality handcrafted gifts, the Little Shop, a Woman's Exchange, was opened a year ago by the Auxiliary whose members and friends serve as staff volunteers. All proceeds are donated to the Westfield Day Care Center where 80 children are currently enrolled in the pre-school and kindergarten programs. Luncheon tickets should be purchased in advance from Auxiliary members or from ticket chairman Mrs. Clayton Pritchett, 13 Barchester Way. Shop hours next Thursday will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.; in case of rain the luncheon will be held at the First Congregational Church of Westfield, 125 Elmer St.

Natalie Ross To Address Meira Group

Westfield resident, Natalie Ross Miller, also known as Enid Nelson on the popular soap opera, "All My Children," will be the featured speaker at Tuesday's meeting of the Meira Group of Westfield Hadassah. The opening meeting, conducted by president Linda Kimerling, will be held at the home of Meredith Rothenberg, 3 Jacobs Lane, Scotch Plains at 8 p.m.

Natalie Ross has been acting professionally since 1957. She holds a B.A. in drama from the University of Washington and was a Fulbright scholar at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London. She has played in Broadway, off-Broadway, and regional theatre productions as well as numerous television programs. She currently portrays Mrs.

Natalie Ross

Nelson in the daytime soap opera, and most recently performed in "The Belle of Amherst" by William Luce at the Beaux Arts Festival in Somerville. In addition she has developed and performed a program for public and private school, church group and senior citizen group audiences, which is followed by discussion periods.

Pearsall Promoted

The Somerset Trust Company, Somerville, has announced the promotion of Thomas D. Pearsall to senior vice president and trust officer.

Pearsall joined Somerset Trust Company in May, 1981, as head of the trust department. He was formerly trust officer with United Counties Trust Company and American National Bank. He and his family reside in Westfield, New Jersey.

State Aid to Education Figures Misleading, Says Senator

Senator C. Louis Bassano (R-Union) today alerted Union County residents to a statewide campaign misstating facts and figures on state aid to education.

"Beware of the Big Lie technique being used in what appear to be letters to the editor from private citizens or party members," Bassano warned.

Bassano revealed that identical letters, signed with different names, have appeared in papers around the state, distorting provisions for state spending on education, and attacking officeholders for voting against increasing equalization aid. "I was attacked for supporting a resolution which they falsely reported would cost Union Township $143,092 and Hillside $102,454. In truth, neither town lost. Neither would have gained one dollar more in school aid if the resolution had passed. "No town in the 21st district would have gained a single dollar more in state aid by supporting the equalization vote, which funneled money from suburban to urban schools."

Identical letters appeared in Monmouth, Morris and Camden counties, with different Senators' names and different figures and towns.

Signers of the letters apparently had only to fill in the blanks of a form letter with the names of their own Senator, the towns and false losses, the local newspapers' name and their own signature.

"The distressing aspect is that the Democratic party leaders who authored the letters depended on the peoples' unfamiliarity with the technical nature of the budget process to escape accountability for their own votes — which were against the interest of the districts to which the letters were sent," Bassano declared.

Democratic legislators voted earlier to slash $14 million in minimum school aid. Those cuts — which I fought vigorously — cost our district $1,386,335, which now must be made up by additional local taxes or cuts in education programs.

Democrat cuts in Minimum School Aid resulted in the following losses to the 21st District:

Cranford	$33,831
Garwood	2,925
Kenilworth	7,346
Springfield	202,058
Union Co. Regional	$1,012,435
Union Co. Vocational	6,528
Union Township	72,387
Westfield	48,825

"Republicans battled to restore the minimum aid. But the Democrats refused to permit it."

Bassano blasted the fill-in-the-blanks attack which misrepresented these facts: Senator Lee Laskin (R-Camden) has branded them "political perjury."

"The Democrats know the facts. They choose to misstate them in hopes of misleading the people. Their actions are cynically and callously calculated to confuse the people we represent."

"Make no mistake. As a public official I'm open to criticism. Our constitution guarantees the people the right to voice their opinions; to take me to task if they disagree with me. Listening to other points of view has often helped me to a wiser course of action."

"I'm the first to admit I'm not always right. But this is not fair comment and criticism."

MARRIAGE STRAIGHT TALK

The Old Folks At Home?

Q: When my folks got too old to take care of themselves, I put them in a home that could take good care of them. Now my wife's mom is past the point of taking care of herself, but my wife wants her to come and live with us. If a home is good enough for my parents, shouldn't it be good enough for her mother as well?

K. Hartley Sulston, Ph. D.

Before marriage, couples advise their values and views, testing agreement on relatively timely matters like child-care. But rarely do we look ahead to the distant problem of parent-care. By the time that this turns up it can be a highly-charged topic, involving life-long feelings, guilt, and such.

This is very much an individual matter, with no "right" or "wrong" attitude. Do continue to discuss it calmly, with caring and mutual understanding.

Presented as a community service by K. Hartley Sulston, Ph. D. and Anne L. Burtin, M.T.S., psychotherapists at 131 South Euclid Avenue, Westfield 233-9637

Norman Greco, Chamber of Commerce president, and Carolyn Klingler-Keuter, a member of the "Stop the Mall" committee, display the T-shirt which will be worn by the T-shirt tester for the T-shirt Test Contest.

Take the "T-Shirt Test"

The Westfield "Stop the Mall" committee is sponsoring a weekly "T-shirt Test" contest. The winner of each week's contest will receive gift certificates redeemable at Westfield stores. Anyone can play.

A member of the "Stop the Mall" committee will be in downtown Westfield each day, wearing the red and white "Stop the Mall" T-shirt. Anyone who sees him can ask to take the T-shirt Test in order to win the prize. The test questions and answers will be published ahead of time in The Westfield Leader.

The questions for the week of Sept. 13-18 are:

1. What mall do we want to stop? (The proposed 52 acre shopping mall on route 22 in Springfield)
2. Why do Westfield residents want to stop this mall? (They believe that the Springfield mall will hurt Westfield.)

3. How will the mall hurt Westfield? (It will create hazardous traffic problems, it will put a strain on our municipal services, it will threaten the prosperity of our commercial district.)

The "T-shirt Test" contest was devised by the Westfield "Stop the Mall" committee to alert community residents to the detrimental effects the proposed development could have on Westfield. The committee is gathering petitions in opposition to the mall, raising funds to help the Springfield citizens group oppose the mall at their township hearings, and is rallying surrounding communities which would be similarly affected by the development.

The committee welcomes the interest of Westfield residents and is happy to supply complete information about the mall development and about the hearings now in progress in Springfield. For information contact "Stop the Mall," PO Box 81, Westfield, NJ 07091.

Gill on Lifers' Advisory Board

Assemblyman Edward K. Gill (R-District 21) has been named to the advisory board of the Lifers Group of Rahway State Prison. The Lifers Group has received much favorable public acceptance in the past for its programs aimed at deterring juveniles from a life of crime.

"I think there is an increasing need in New Jersey for action programs to keep our young people out of trouble. The temptations from peer groups are very strong and the Lifers program demonstrates to the people, sometimes in the most graphic ways, that the prison life is a terrible experience. I feel that whatever it takes to deter young people from a life of crime is worth a lot of my time and effort," said Gill.

The Assemblyman pointed out that it costs the taxpayers of our state $23,000 per year to maintain one single prisoner at a maximum security institution in New Jersey, not to mention the waste of other human and financial costs.

"I believe the program is useful if it only prevents one youth from going to jail. More than 19,000 young people have gone through the program since it began six years ago. Correction officials, judges, prosecutors and Chief of Police have testified to the impact of the program and I hope in some small way I can help the program continue to be a success. After all, our youth is the future of our country," Gill concluded.

Nancy Wallace to Speak At Miller-Cory Reopening

The tenth anniversary year of the Miller-Cory House Museum will begin Sunday, when it reopens for the season.

In the ten years since its opening, the museum has become nationally known and acclaimed for its re-creation of the atmosphere and activities of the everyday life of a New Jersey farm family in the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries. In recognition of these achievements, the current issues of Colonial Homes and Americana magazines are featuring the museum and its activities.

At this time of the year the colonial farm wife would be gathering and drying her herbs. On opening day, Nancy Wallace, Miller-Cory herbalist, will speak on herbs and their uses in the colonial household. Mrs. Wallace is a member of the Herb Society of America. In addition, the Miller-Cory colonial cooks will feature herbs as they demonstrate open-hearth cooking.

The Miller-Cory House, built in 1740, is owned by the Westfield Historical Society, and is located at 614 Mountain Ave., in Westfield. It is opened every Sunday, except for holiday week-ends. The hours from September to June are from 2-5 with the exception of January and February when the museum is opened from 2-4. The museum is closed from mid-June to mid-September. There is a small admission charge.

Rotary Club of Westfield's newest member Bruce Luiger, left, thanks guest speaker Tom Dalton for his talk on the martial arts.

Rotarians Hear Views On Variety of Subjects

The Rotary Club hosted several informative lecturers during its Tuesday luncheon meetings last month.

Bill Ramsey of the Courier News spoke on how computer technology has impacted the communications field. "We are in the midst of a technology revolution which doubles the amount of available information every five years," he said. "By combining a computer with communications through a video-text, it allows news to be immediately accessible to people all over the world. Cable T.V. will be the media through which Video-Text information will evolve."

Kathryn McKellar, editor of the New Jersey Automobile Club's publication "Driving" and a member of a task force whose purpose is to educate the public about the consequences of driving while intoxicated, also spoke. "There are nearly 50,000 deaths on the U.S. highways each year, and alcohol is a factor in half of all highway fatalities. As a result, new drunk driving laws were put into effect on January, 1982 involving stiffer penalties."

McKellar told Rotarians. AAA is introducing an Alcohol Education program to schools this fall, in its continued efforts to improve traffic safety.

Guest speaker Aug. 31 was Tom Dalton, a former wrestler and Olympic coach who holds a 5th degree black belt in Judo. He explained that learning Judo develops the entire person by sharpening concentration skills, conditioning the body, and practicing discipline and control.

More information about the Rotary Club of Westfield is available from James Fleming.

Democratic Candidates Oppose Springfield Mall

The four Union County Democratic freeholder candidates today expressed "opposition reflective of overwhelming public feeling against proposals to build yet another shopping mall on U.S. Route 22."

Charlotte DeFillippo, a former Hillside township clerk, said that "public officials have a considerable obligation to listen to public sentiment when it comes to making important policy in opposition. As freeholders, I feel, we would be obligated to reflect that opposition."

Incumbent Freeholder Thomas Long of Linden noted that, "the fears expressed about even worsened traffic problems on one of the busiest highways in the country, the negative impact on nearby local shopping districts, and the added problems of increased water run-off in an area already plagued by flooding problems are all very valid, and we feel they out-weigh any of the much-touted advantages the developers have cited."

Plainfield businessman Jerry Green observed, that, "as a business-man I am strongly oriented toward the positive aspects of commercial growth. But I think it's plain that all growth isn't necessarily good, particularly in a place like Union County, which is so small and densely populated that virtually any change makes its impact, either negative or positive, felt throughout the area."

Former Freeholder Chairman Walter Boright of Scotch Plains added that, "we must do all we can to encourage healthy development that will benefit our county. We also have a duty to oppose growth that we feel will be negative in its impact on the economy and the quality of life in Union County. In this case, we share the views of many other county residents and officials in opposing this ill-conceived mall proposal."

Old Guard Resumes Meeting

The Westfield Old Guard will end its summer recess and resume regular weekly meetings at 10:15 a.m. today at the YMCA.

Following a short business meeting, a film on the 1981 highlights of the New York Giants football team will be shown. In the afternoon the Old Guard Chorus under the direction of Fred Seifing and the Merrymen band under the direction of John Cowan will hold their first rehearsals in preparation for a busy fall schedule.

During the summer Old Guard activities such as shuffleboard at Tamaques Park and bridge at Red Cross headquarters were popular with the members.

Pro Musica Chorus Resumes Rehearsals

The New Jersey Pro Musica Chorus, a community chorus performing with chamber orchestra under the direction of Frederick Fischer, begins its sixth concert season with rehearsals at the First Congregational Church of Westfield. Starting on Monday, rehearsals will be held in the Patten Auditorium of the Congregational Church, 125 Elmer St., at 8 p.m. The chorus will prepare a Christmas concert which will include the "Magnificat" of C.P.E. Bach. Interested singers are welcome.

Late Registration

Late registration for Union County College's Fall Semester will be conducted through Tuesday.

Registration hours are from 9 to 11 a.m., 1 to 3 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. in Macdonald Hall on the Cranford and Scotch Plains campuses.

Corbet in Okinawa

Marine Lance Cpl. Richard M. Corbet Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Corbet of 211 South Euclid Ave., has departed on a deployment to Okinawa.

He is a member of 2nd Battalion, 9th Marines, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The unit will spend six months overseas as part of the Marine Corps' Unit deployment program. The concept is designed to rotate whole battalions or squadrons at a time instead of individuals at separate intervals. In this way, unit integrity is retained and the actual time they spend overseas is shortened.

During the deployment, the command will conduct training exercises with the U.S. 7th Fleet and units of Allied nations.

"Revival" Furniture At Newark Museum

The Newark Museum will exhibit part of its extensive collection of American nineteenth-century furniture this fall in the Century of Revivals. On view from September 26 through July 5, the exhibition will include three galleries filled with 52 handmade pieces ranging from the Federal period (1815-30) to the Colonial Revival (1880-1900).

Seventeen new courses will be offered for the fall semester at the Westfield Adult School, Oct. 4 through Dec. 13. Brochures outlining these classes and others are now available to local residents at local banks, real estate offices and the Westfield Memorial Library.

Two new classes relating to business and vocational skills include Alphabetic Shorthand, a seven-week, easy to learn method of shorthand; and Real Estate Prelicensing Course, an introduction to the field which will prepare the student for the licensing exam.

Offered as a self help or self improvement class, "You and Your Health," will teach students how to identify early warnings of diseases and illness, to analyze life styles and plan changes and to help locate local health resources and information. Another course in the area of self improvement will be "New Perceptions About Middle Life," an 8 week class designed by Ruth H. Stilwell, covering the stress and strain of the mid-life years, job burnout, the "empty nest syndrome" and various coping mechanisms.

Within the humanities section, several new classes have been added to the curriculum. In "Catch that Thought and Write It Down," instructor Elaine Zack will lead a six week workshop focusing on creative writing. Richard Veit's class, "Civilization As You Like It! Part I" will offer a fresh perspective regarding the origin and development of Western Civilization, including a study of the Sumerians, the Hebrews, the ancient Egyptians and Greeks.

Additional foreign languages included in the fall curriculum will be Advanced German, Beginning Italian and Beginning Japanese. Jerry Daniel's class, "Shakespeare: The Lighter Side", will concentrate on several selected plays with a view to helping the modern reader appreciate the verse, the comic aspects of the plays and the author's understanding of human nature.

Also in the humanities section, Noel Taylor's combined field trip and classroom lecture series, "Environment and Brightwood Park," will provide a study of the geology and ecology of the park and surrounding area.

Two new courses will concentrate on material for those interested in foods. Marian Connolly's Cake Decorating course will demonstrate the art of cake decorating including flowers, borders, basketweave and figure piping. In Microwave Cooking, with specialist Barbara Soucek, a variety of recipes will be demonstrated.

One of the Westfield Adult School instructors gives individual attention following a lecture. More than 100 classes will be offered during the fall semester which will include a variety of new classes.

Finally, under practical on-the-job demonstration in the four session Monday evening class, Wallpapering.

Mail registration closes Sept. 15 and in-person registration will be held Sept. 20 from 7:30-8:30 p.m., Cafeteria B, at the Westfield Senior High School, 550 Dorian Rd. Registrar May Furstner, 232-4050, will answer questions concerning registration or class scheduling.

YOUR CHILD: READY OR NOT? The attention and interest we show our children now creates the confidence they'll need for a successful future. For instance, we can help our children get more out of school by making a connection between what they do at home and what they do at school. • Encourage your children to talk about their school day. If it's important to you, it becomes important to them. • Help your children develop good study habits. Make certain homework becomes an important part of their daily routine. • Give them space to home to work quietly and to display the things they do in school. • Don't let TV become a habit; make watching it a special event. • Resist the temptation to compare your child with other children - including brothers and sisters. • Praise them when things go well at school. Praise, when it's been earned, is a great confidence builder. There are many other ways parents can help children. • Make sure your children get the rest they need. Be certain your children receive a nutritionally balanced diet. • Help make your good habits their good habits. Make meals a family affair. • Make sure your children brush their teeth; it saves their teeth and your money. • Send them to school in clean clothes. The better

"CONTACT SUNDAY" TO HONOR 100 ADULT HOTLINE VOLUNTEERS Mayor Allen Chin has proclaimed Sept. 12 Contact Sunday, honoring the commitment and dedication of the more than 100 trained adult volunteers who staff the area 24-hour hotlines Contact-We Care and its companion service Deaf Contact. The mayor's proclamation coincides with the observance of National Contact Sunday recently announced by the helpline's parent organization, Contact-We Care, U.S.A., Harrisburg, Pa. Contact-We Care, 232-2880, originated in 1975; and Deaf Contact, 232-3333, started last year. With conventional telephone and teletypewriter equipment, they handle 2,000 calls a month from anyone wanting a listening ear for virtually any reason. In addition, the service relays personal messages for the deaf. Their operations depend on private contributions. In announcing National Contact Sunday, Dr. Dennis Gable, associate national director of Contact-We Care, said, "We want the public to know about the deep dedication that is symbolic of our Contact telephone workers. In 1981, more than 1.5 million calls were received at 100 centers in the United States. At Contact, we provide a listening ear for people who are lonely, grieving, fearful, depressed, confused, anxious, guilt-ridden, or dealing with some immediate problem in their lives for which they see no clear solution."

Duplication Federal Criteria Could Reduce "Spill" Dangers

New Jerseyans can be protected from hazardous material accidents like the recent acid spill that hospitalized 31 routed residents from their homes and tied up the N.J. Turnpike for three hours, Senator C. Louis Bassano, (R-Union) said today.

Bassano urged passage of his legislation that would permit N.J. State Troopers to monitor conveyance of dangerous substances, by duplicating for N.J. federal laws on transportation of hazardous materials.

Such inspections are now conducted by a handful of federal inspectors.

"The shockingly small number of federal inspectors is a dangerous weakness in the protective system," Bassano pointed out. "With only 170 investigators in the entire nation — just 3.4 per state — it's virtually impossible to perform the unannounced, random audits or checks on rigs necessary for adequate enforcement of regulations assuring safe transportation of dangerous substances."

State troopers cannot enforce federal regulations. "By enacting identical state standards, our State Police would have the power to perform these checks, and enforce the laws."

An effective state program would prevent accidents such as the one on

Aug. 18 which spilled 4,000 gallons of highly toxic hydrochloric acid from a ruptured tanker truck on the Turnpike in Elizabeth. The accident released noxious fumes that sent 31 victims who inhaled them, to four area hospitals, forced the evacuation of dozens of residents from their homes near the highway, and created a 3-mile traffic jam for several hours.

Quick action by Elizabeth firefighters hosing down the roadway prevented further injuries in the incident which occurred just as rush hour started.

Preliminary inspection of the tank by an expert hired by the Turnpike Authority seemed to indicate the tanker had been rusted through and patched in the past. "An inspection by State Police could have alerted the operator to make necessary repairs in time to prevent the injuries that occurred," Bassano said.

New Jersey, home to the highest concentration of chemical companies in the nation, is particularly vulnerable to hazardous material accidents, the Senator said.

"It is in the best interest of the industry and the citizenry alike to keep a close watch and assure the safe transportation of these dangerous — though useful — materials."

Natalie Becker Teaching Course

"Landscape Painting on Location," a perennially favorite course for artistically-minded adults, will be offered by Union county college, beginning today.

The six-session, non-credit course conducted by the College's Division of Continuing Education will meet on Thursdays from 1 to 3:30 p.m. The first class will be held on the Cranford Campus for orientation. Other classes will be held outdoors at various selected locations.

Class sessions will consist of demonstrations by the instructor and individual instruction to help participants learn about tone, color and composition as related to landscape painting.

Award-winning artist Natalie Becker of Westfield, who has taught the course for a number of years, will be the instructor. Enrollment will be limited to insure that each student receives personalized instruction.

Young Musicians to Audition For N.J. Youth Symphony

Young New Jersey musicians may audition in September for the New Jersey Youth Symphony and the NJYS Preparatory Orchestra.

Members will rehearse weekly with a staff of professional conductors and music teachers, and perform orchestral music in free concerts for the public. In addition, the NJYS program will emphasize educational activities through participation in master classes by prominent musicians for each section of the orchestra, string clinics, ensemble training, and a series of 24 musicianship training classes with guest lecturers. The classes will stress ear training, conducting techniques, some theory and history. The Youth Symphony will travel to Belgium in the spring for participation in an international competition.

Audition requirements include major and minor scales, a prepared solo, and sight-reading. Auditions for the Youth Symphony, composed of students in grades 8-12, will begin Sept. 10 with Tuesday evening rehearsals at the Summit Jr. High School beginning Sept. 21.

Bucknell Booter

Ken Schmalz of Westfield, a freshman at Bucknell, is preparing for action on the university's soccer team.

Valerie Gude Stars As Echo Lake Swimmer

The Echo Lake Country Club Swimming Pool championships, named in memory of Don Large, were held Aug. 29. Valerie Gude was named the meet's outstanding performer as she won all four events in the 9-10 age group.

Joe Tinervin, Annika Kurz and Mary Duthie were awarded trophies as the most improved swimmers on the Club team. Joe won two events and Mary three, while Annika earned four second place medals behind Valerie.

Runners-up for most improved were Allison Ryan, Susan Ripberger and Kathy Martin.

Event winners included Paul Kennedy with three lists; Dee Callaghan and Rob Gude with two; Janine Herman, Tom Tinervin, Patty Meeker, Jorie Sitzer, Ken Pope and Betsy Hazard, all with one.

The Kurz and Pearsall families were the winners of the family relay events. The meet was followed by the last pool buffet of the season attended by 213 members and guests.

John Byrne To Start For Lafayette Gridders

John Byrne, a 5-9, 170 pound junior from Westfield High School in Westfield, will return to his starting right cornerback position when Lafayette College opens its 1982 football season Saturday against Rhode Island.

Byrne, who transferred from Villanova when the Wildcats dropped football, contributed 61 tackles last season to lead the defensive secondary.

Overall, second-year head coach Bill Russo will be hoping to maintain the form that made Lafayette the most improved team in major college football last year. The Leopards' 9-2 record earned them a No. 8 national ranking in the NCAA Division I-AA and the runnerup spot in the Lambert Cup race.

But even with 13 starters and 28 lettermen returning, Russo is being cautious about his preseason predictions. "We won't be able to sneak up on anyone this year," said Russo. "And given our strength of schedule, repeating our performance of 1981 may not be possible."

"Last year the strength of our team was, our defense, especially early in the season," continued Russo. "The reverse is true this year. The offense (with seven starters returning) will have to help us out until we can get the defense to mature."

Y Swim Team Tryouts Slated

Tryouts for the YMCA 1982-83 competitive swim teams will be held Saturday at 12 noon and Sept. 18 at 12 noon. Children wanting to try out must attend both Saturdays.

The YMCA's head coach for the season will be Perry Coultas, who has one of the finest reputations as a competitive swimming coach in the state of New Jersey. As well as coaching at the Y, she is also the head coach of Westfield High School's boys swim team.

Senior assistant coach is Leslie Harwood, who comes to the Westfield YMCA with a strong background in aquatics. She was assistant to Dr. James Councilman at Indiana University, as well as assistant coach at Syracuse University. She has coached the Wayne Valley High School boys swim team for the past two seasons.

Returning from last season is Robin Sury. Robin is a graduate of Allegheny College where she majored in economics. While attending Allegheny she was captain of the swim team. Robin is currently employed by Prudential.

The fourth coach at the YMCA this season is Jim Thomas. Jim has been the head coach at the Plainfield Country Club during the past few seasons. He is employed as a math teacher in Metuchen.

More information about the Westfield YMCA competitive swim team is available from Tim Groy.

Gill Proposes Lt.-Gov. Post for New Jersey

Governor Thomas Kean's continuing hospitalization has prompted Assemblyman Ed Gill (R-Union) to act to provide a Lieutenant Governor for New Jersey.

Gill announced plans to file a resolution calling for an amendment to the state constitution creating the post, with the candidate running on the same ticket as the Governor. The team would be elected by a single vote, as are the President and Vice President of the United States.

Noting that New Jersey is one of only five states without a Lt. Governor or equivalent official elected statewide to assist the chief executive and assume his duties in the Governor's absence, Gill said.

"I'm sure Tom Kean would rest more comfortably in the hospital knowing he had a second in command to relieve some of the load of the Governorship, some of the more routine affairs.

"The workload has increased substantially since the state constitution was written in 1947, 35 years ago, and the Governor might welcome aid with ceremonial events or as a surrogate speaker even when he is in the best of health.

"Kean is performing all of the duties of his office competently from his hospital room, keeping on top of the workload through computer and staff meeting. But having someone to relieve part of his burden would obviously be a relief."

Kean has rased the prospect of possible surgery to correct his back condition; this might require an extended period of recuperation.

The constitutional succession in New Jersey provides for the President of the Senate to assume the Governor's duties during his absence, incapacitating illness, removal or resignation. The line continues through the Speaker of the Assembly, Attorney General and Transportation Commissioner.

"Today, both the Senate President, Carmen Orechio and Speaker of the Assembly, Alan Karcher, are members of the opposition party," Gill noted.

"Perhaps they would not feel totally committed to carrying out administration policies."

The Senate President and Assembly Speaker are picked only by members of their own party to preside over their respective houses. That means only 1/40 of the state's voters would have had an opportunity to vote for the Acting Governor, charged with the responsibility for running the whole state.

"The current system leaves the choice of the state's most powerful official in the hands of a few members of one party without the approval or scrutiny of the public — a dangerous policy," said Gill.

"The selection is of enormous consequence in New Jersey where the Governor wields power virtually unmatched in any other state."

The Governor's second in command should be closely identified with the chief executive, should be selected by all of the state's voters on his political philosophy and programs, and should be kept in touch with all of the problems of the state so he could take over at any time, the Cranford Republican asserted.

Gill contemplates combining the Lt. Governor's office with that of Secretary of State, which has the virtue of requiring no additional funds or staff, since it converts a post already in existence, and assures the Lt. Governor will be fully employed when the Governor is well and at the helm.

The purpose of these SCIP meetings is to impart accurate information, to have an open exchange of ideas and to help parents become informed and involved in their children's education.
