Mrs. Gulotta to Leave School Board

In a press release today, Marilyn Gulotta, the first woman president of the Westfield Board of Education, indicated that she will not seek a third three-year term on the School Board.

"My decision is based primarily on the desire to expand my professional duties and responsibilities," she said. Mrs. Gulotta is employed as a programming analyst with the Prudential Insurance Company in Roseland. "My decision not to seek a third term by no means ends my interest in the well-being of an educational community which I have been very proud to serve. I intend to keep up my intelligence of the progress of the district," she continued.

In 1981, Mrs. Gulotta became the first woman president of the Westfield Board of Education.

In her six years on the school board, Mrs. Gulotta has served on every standing committee and has chaired five committees: the management, staff relations, legislation, community information and operations and facilities committees. In addition, she has served on the policy committee, has been Westfield delegate to the New Jersey School Boards Association and the Union County School Boards Association, and has been board liaison to the Town Council and to the Grant, Edison, Franklin, and McKinley Parent-Teacher organizations.

"During the past six years in which I have been able to influence and to contribute to education," she said, "I have tried to follow a very simple philosophy which I believe is consistent with what education is all about—that the only constant thing in life is change. In education, I suppose this translates into the doctrine that what was good enough for our parents was not good enough for us, and what was good enough for us is certainly not good enough for our children. As parents, as members of a Board of Education, as professional staff members, or, in fact, as citizens of a community in which young people are growing up, we would be derelict in our responsibilities if we turned these children out into a world of the 1980's armed with the

Students to Have Short Days While Teachers Attend Workshops

Two half days of inservice training workshops for teachers in the Westfield public schools are scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 15 and 16 when students will be dismissed at the end of the state-mandated four hours of instruction.

Goal of the inservice training session for the six elementary schools is "to improve learning opportunities for students through review of proven teaching techniques used by staff in day to day classes," according to School administrators will present an inservice workshop on WILS (Westfield Instruction Learning System) at the elementary schools. Workshop leaders include: Superintendent Laurence F. Greene, Franklin School; Principal Wilson Jackson, McKinley School; Principal D. Joseph Pellicone, Washington School; Assistant High School Principal Richard Willett, Wilson School; Edison Junior High School Assistant Principal Edward Braynack, Jefferson School; and Dr. Rock, Tamaques School.

Teachers at the two junior high schools have had the WILS program. Teachers at the high school are scheduled for the WILS workshop on March 9 and 10 with the following leaders: WHS Principal Robert Pelix;

Council Acts on Revisions To Video Game Regulations

A completely revised set of regulations will govern the operation of video games in Westfield if an ordinance introduced by an 8-1 vote of the Town Council Tuesday night meets the challenges of a public hearing and final vote Feb. 22.

Eleventh hour changes approved in an amendment Tuesday will set the license fee for the initial game in each location from a recommended $400 to $500, with each additional game on the same premises to carry a license fee of $400.

The last-minute change, approved by a 5-4 vote, came following suggestions by Brian Fahey, Democratic councilman from the fourth ward, that the fee structure be on a sliding basis dependent on number of games, and another by Ward 1 councilman Harry Brown that higher license fees be charged.

Fahey, an attorney who represented clients in suits concerning video game regulations in Westfield prior to his election to council, and also in other communities, also said that the proposed ordinance "invites litigation" on its net floor area criteria. Suggesting that the law is essentially a "crowd control" ordinance, Fahey said that record stores and ice cream parlors have greater numbers in them at one time than establishments offering video game play.

Fahey was the sole dissenter to introduction of the amended ordinance.

Charles Brandt, town attorney and author of the 20-page ordinance printed in full in today's Leader, said he felt that the proposed regulations meet the criteria established by Judge Milton A. Feller in decisions rendered in various video game suits initiated in Union County.

Supporting the ordinance, Mayor Ronald J. Frigerio asserted that it is not the council's intent to "invite any suit... we shouldn't act in fear of one."

The ordinance, if passed Feb. 22, will affect all 17 of the video games now operating in Westfield, as well as any new ones. Game distributors now pay a $100 license fee and operators (owners of the premises in which the games are located) pay an annual license fee of $1,000, a sum which has been challenged.

Highlights of the proposed ordinance include the following requirements:

- Inspection and certification of premises by agents of the police, fire and building inspector's departments.

- 100 square feet of space per machine.

- One foot or more of open space between machines.

- Two means of ingress and egress.

- Free flow of pedestrian traffic around machines.

- Location of machines prohibited close to windows or plate glass.

- Adequate ventilation and bathroom facilities.

- Noise restrictions.

- Prohibition of alcohol (where unlicensed), drugs, gambling, betting on premises.

- Provisions for security guard for any location where more than five machines are operative.

- $100 annual license fees for distributors, $500 operator's fee for first machine, $400 for each additional fee.

Unanimously approved by council was an ordinance appropriating $130,000 for the purchase of a diesel tractor and two 25 cubic yard dump trailers to be used primarily by the public works departments in its operations at the Conservation Center and leaf collection program.

Council also acted to reach an agreement with Fairview Cemetery for modifications to the del-

$1.5 Million Maintenance Tab, Ranking System on Board Agenda

The Westfield Board of Education will hold its February business meeting at 8 p.m. on Tuesday in the board meeting room at 302 Elm St.

The agenda includes a public hearing on the board's proposal to expend 1.5 million dollars for maintenance projects in the town's schools.

Also included on the agenda is a board's proposal to expend 1.5 million dollars for maintenance projects in the town's schools.

If approved Tuesday night, the dual ranking system will be used for the Class of 1986 and future classes. Students entering the tenth grade in September, 1983, will have two rankings instead of one. At present, a single class rank is developed from a student's grade point average which uses only academic subjects. All courses, whether they are regular, honors or Advanced Placement (the equivalent of a college level course) now carry the same weight.

Under the new dual ranking system, there would be two rankings: a general ranking system in which every subject taken by the student is included and given equal weight, and a weighted academic system in which only courses in

Library Closed This Saturday

The Westfield Memorial Library will be closed Saturday, Feb. 12 in observance of Lincoln's Birthday.

200 School Kids Fingerprinted

"Approximately 200 school children were fingerprinted last Saturday," reports Police Chief James F. Moran.

The voluntary program for town youngsters between the ages of 5 and 17 continues this Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon at police headquarters. Free fingerprinting will be offered each Saturday morning during the month of February.

The prints, which may be kept by families for identification purposes, will immediately be handed over to parents who accompany youngsters or older children who appear alone. The chief repeats that no identification will be asked of those who request fingerprinting and no records of the prints will be kept by the police department.

academic areas, accepted as academic units by college admission offices, are included. In addition, in the weighted rank, honors courses and Advanced Placement Courses would be given additional weight in determining the student's grade point average and class rank.

Under the dual ranking system, both the general rank and the weighted academic rank would be reported to colleges, including a description of how each rank was determined.

The dual ranking system was developed from recommendations made by an ad hoc committee composed of students, staff members and parents at the high school.

Planners Permit Extension To Elmer St. Building

To add approximately 60 ft. to the front of the building and construct two apartments on the second floor. He asserted that Petersen's sales and service shop is set back 110 ft. from the front of the property line and is hidden by surrounding businesses, trees and parked autos. Needs for greater visibility and additional space for display and storage of merchandise were advanced as reasons for the application. Because the number of parking slots will be reduced from 11 to four, board member Frank Dooley asked that written proof of off-site parking for tenants of the two apartments be required. Councilman and board member John Brady requested fire safety inspection assurances.

Brady, Dooley, Chairman Frank Sullebarger, Mayor Ron Frigerio and Town Engineer Ed Gottko constituted a quorum at the brief meeting.

They also granted Charles Higgins an extension of a building permit granted in 1981 for property at 702 West Broad St. Higgins' attorney, Daniel

To Try Again on Ward Commission Formation

The formation of a Westfield Ward Commission, postponed because of a protest last week by Sheldon Weinstein, chairman of the Westfield Town Democratic Committee, is on the agenda of the Union County Board of Elections meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Westfield Municipal Building. To comply with State law, Westfield must re-ward to equalize population in its four wards.

Fund Meets $417,000 Goal

The Westfield United Fund relies heavily on the generosity of local civic groups for support, and a donation this week has achieved its $417,000 goal.

The Westfield Jaycees expressed their confidence in the United Fund's value to community residents with a substantial contribution to the fund. Jaycee

President Stan Cuba presented the gift saying, "We believe that the United Fund has the best developed screening system and is the most efficient way to give help where it is needed in our community."

"It's a rough year for our agencies," Mrs. Maggio said. "We greatly appreciate the Jaycee gift. Our agencies touch residents of all ages and offer human services of every kind. Wholesome activities for youth like scouts and Y programs, including scholarships for in-town and camping experiences, are offered. Local family support groups like the Community Center and the Neighborhood Council receive important funding from the annual campaigns. Daily life for shut-ins or the aged is helped by visiting nurse and homemaker services. The Westfield Jaycees push the United Fund of Westfield to 100 percent of the $417,000 goal. "In keeping with our creed that service to humanity is the best work of life, we are proud that we are able to help support the work of the Fund," stated Stan Cuba, Jaycee president, as Linda Maggio, executive director, on behalf of the 18 member agencies, accepts the Jaycee contribution. Mrs. Maggio noted, "The Jaycees have been most supportive of our efforts in manpower and dollars throughout the years, and we are most grateful for their continued help."

Cruise Tickets Begin "Journeys" Of Brownies at Ingathering

Contributions and water-related activities highlighted the town-wide ingathering of Westfield Brownies last week when the high school cafeteria was converted into a series of cruise ports where girls could "wade in" to learn more about the gift of water.

Each troop received a banner when their Thinking Day contributions were made to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. One of the oldest voluntary funds of its kind, it was established in 1928 as a living memorial to the founder of Girl Scouting in the United States to promote international friendship and to assist Girl Scouts and Girl Guides worldwide.

After the ingathering of all the Brownies for singing and presentation of donations, the scouts used their cruise tickets to determine which of the 14 locations would begin their journeys through seven activities.

Brownie leaders from individual schools and Girl Scout Senior Troop 696 each supervised two ports offering the same activity from the various Worlds of Girl Scouting. Included were the Worlds of the Arts, Out-of doors, People, Today and Tomorrow, and Well-being.

Port tours through "Water Appreciation," "Floating and Sinking," "Making Music With Water-filled Glasses," "Legends and PFD's," "Table-top Try-its," and "Clouds" enabled the participants to fulfill a requirement of the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council Gift of Water patch. The appreciation of water as one of the world's most valuable resources is emphasized as Girl Scouts learn more about their roles in conservation, use, and care of it.

All Brownies formed a Friendship Circle for the closing ceremony conducted by Edythe Gingerich, Community Service Team member who coordinated the event.

Donovan to Speak At GOP Dinner

Secretary of Labor Raymond Donovan will be a guest speaker at the annual Lincoln Day Dinner sponsored by the Republican Committee of Union County, it was announced today by Alfonso L. Pisano, Republican County Chairman.

Governor Thomas H. Kean is also expected to make an appearance, Pisano said. The annual event will take place tomorrow at the Town & Campus in Union. It will begin with a cocktail hour at 7 p.m.

"Teenage Tragedy: Depression" To Be Explored Wednesday

"Teenage Tragedy: Depression — Symptoms and Solutions," will be the topic of a parent education meeting on Wednesday at 7:45 p.m. in Cafeteria B of Westfield Senior High School.

Robert Thurston, school social workers from special services, and Frank Roscoe, school psychologist, will be discussion leaders along with Dr. Richard Willett, assistant principal of Westfield High School. All are members of a new High School Crisis Intervention Team which has been developed to help spot and deal with this wide-spread adolescent problem.

Symptoms of depression to look for at home, complicating problems that develop, suggestions for whom parents can call for help in dealing with the problem, an explanation of what the school is doing, as well as how parents can work with the school will be a part of the discussion.

This school/community dialogue is one of a series of programs sponsored by the Westfield High School PTO and is open to the public.

Rehearsing for "Jungle Book" are Wilson School students, at top, Tom Vierschilling and Alexis Hay, and, below, Sam Wunderle.

Wilson School Plans Musical Adaptation of "Jungle Book"

The fourth and fifth grade students of the Wilson School will present Walt Disney's musical adaptation of Rudyard Kipling's classic, "The Jungle Book," at 7:45 p.m. Tuesday. The production will take place in the Wilson school auditorium and the public is invited. Frank Almoth, principal of the Wilson School, and an accomplished musician and experienced actor, will direct the production.

"The Jungle Book," long a favorite of children's literature, consists of a series of short stories that explore the relationship between man and animal with humor and wit. In 1967, Walt Disney adapted Kipling's work in an animated feature set to music. It is this adaptation that the Wilson School is producing.

DAR to Award Eighteen Certificates to Contest Winners

Transit Fare Hike Talk Gets Rise from Gill

In a strong letter to the Executive Director of N.J. Transit, Governor Thomas Kean and Commissioner John Sheridan, Assemblyman Edward K. Gill (R-Dist. 21) objected strongly to the frequent announcements of possible fare increases by N.J. Transit. "Having just passed several tax increases, partly to prevent increased fares, I strongly resent any further mention of fare increases now," wrote Gill.

Pointing out that he represents a large number of commuters, Assemblyman Gill said that he would actively fight to retain present fares. "I will not have my commuting consti-tents harassed by continual threats of increased fares. They have been very patient and loyal, and they deserve better treatment," Gill concluded.

Dr. Vernick Guest Of Old Guard

Dr. Harris Vernick, Westfield physician, will speak about geriatric medicine at today's 10:15 a.m. weekly meeting of the Old Guard at the YMCA. Retired man in the Westfield area are invited to attend.

The Old Guard Chorus and Merryman Band will entertain at Cranford Hall at 1:30 p.m.

Dr. John Collier Jr., executive secretary-treasurer, Department of Missions, A.M.E. Church, New York City. Gill is the 1983 recipient of the Clergy Council's Martin Luther King Award for Community Service. A former Mayor of Cranford, Gill was recognized for his work in civil rights, in senior citizen programs and other civic endeavors.

The Children's Theater, a drama group from Westfield High School, entertained grades K-3 at McKinley School recently. The theme of the program — "You and Me-Free To Be" — included several skits and songs. The audience was asked to participate in many of the presentations. An improvisation of "The Three Little Pigs" concluded the program. ## Mrs. Lozier Winner In Soup Competition

Carolyn Lozier, food service director at Westfield school district, was recently named second place winner in the third annual H. J. Heinz Company/Custom Management Corporation (CMC) Soup Sojourn Promotion, according to an announcement by Carol A. Howell, vice president of professional services for CMC. Custom provides professional dietary services to Westfield school district.

Co-sponsored by the H. J. Heinz Company and CMC, food service directors have the opportunity to originate their own themes to create fascinating soup presentations.

Mrs. Lozier's winning entry spotlighted unique ideas which centered around a "Soup Sojourn la Difference in International Dining" theme.

Each day a different country was highlighted, for example: Italy, which featured Italian Chickerine Soup; China, which included Won Ton Soup or Egg Drop Soup and Hawaii with Hawaiian Garden Style Pea Soup. Lozier and staff decorated their designated area and dressed accordingly with each presentation.

In recognition of her efforts Mrs. Lozier was presented a check in the amount of $200 on behalf of Heinz and CMC.

A member of Custom's operational team since 1980, Mrs. Lozier has participated in a variety of promotions through CMC and in 1981 was recognized with a certificate award for merchandising. She attended Kansas State Teachers College and graduated with a two year "Life Certificate."

Founded in 1967, Custom Management Corporation is a professional contract management company which performs a range of institutional, health care, educational, business and restaurant services with nearly 500 accounts nationwide.

Mrs. Lozier and her husband reside in Westfield with their two children.

To Honor Computer Pioneer, Local Inventors

National Inventors Day will be observed Feb. 13, honoring the innovative work of inventors here and nationwide. Special honors will go to Dr. George R. Stibitz, former Bell Labs mathematician and pioneer in the development of computers, but several local inventors also will be recognized.

Stibitz, now professor emeritus of Dartmouth Medical School, is being inducted into the National Inventors Hall of Fame in Arlington, Va. He is the sixth Bell System inventor to be so honored. At Bell Labs from 1930 to 1941, his inventions included the first electrical digital computer, called the "complex number calculator."

Inventor Day, initiated in 1973 by the National Council of Patent Law Associations, is sponsored by the Patent and Trademark Office of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Local residents who have been granted patents recently by the U. S. Patent Office include many engineers and scientists from Bell Labs, where employees have averaged nearly a patent-a-day — some 19,800 — since 1925. In 1982 Bell Labs people at facilities in eight states were awarded about 300 patents in addition to those granted to people at other Bell units such as Western Electric Company.

Westfield and Mountain-side inventors at Bell Labs, Murray Hill, and Whippany locations include:

• Stephen E. Levinson of Westfield, member of the human machine voice communication group, sharing a patent title "Spelled Word Recognizer."

• R. C. LeCraw of Westfield, member of the electronic materials and processes department, two patents, "Advantageous GARNET Based Devices" and "Devices Depending of Garnet Materials."

• Bertram Schwartz of Westfield, co-recipient of a patent, "Semiconductor Lasers with Stable Higher Order Modes Parallel to the Junction Plane."

• Nicholas F. Maxemchuk of Mountainside, member of the distributed computer systems research department, patents for "Visual Display Terminal without Finger Repositioning" and "Spread Spectrum Arrangement for (DE) Multiplexing Speech Signals and Nonspeech Signals."

• David H. Auston of Mountainside, head of the high speed materials and phenomena research department, patent for "High Speed Photodetector."

Looking at Negotiations

"Bad times."

That's the message emanating from Washington and Trenton.

President Reagan hopes, among other things, to freeze military and government civilian employees' pay and delay cost-of-living increases for Social Security beneficiaries to help alleviate budget woes.

Governor Kean's budget also reflects the poor economy, assumes a 9.3 unemployment rate and seeks to hold a 3.5 percent increase for state employees, including teachers at state colleges.

The state and federal budgets necessarily affect residents of Westfield, but perhaps not so dramatically as our local municipal and school budgets.

Of primary importance, because of its impact on the local property tax (close to 70 percent of our local dollar supports education), is the school budget on which residents have a chance to share their views at two special meetings in March and then again at the polls during school district election in April.

More than half of the school budget is for salaries - this in a year, uniquely enough, that all five of the district's employee groups or unions are negotiating contracts. None of them is likely to be ratified before budget submission and ultimate passage or rejection of the 1983-84 school budget.

The largest number of these employees is, and rightly so, instructional staff which this year totals 423 for a student body of 5,436. In budget projections the teaching staff is expected to decrease by about 20 in the 1983-84 school year. Student population also will be lower.

The current school year budget for instructional staff is $11,774,965, and under a tentative budget would increase by $651,298 to $12,426,263 next year.

We would hope, particularly in light of an announced 3.9 percent national cost-of-living increase for 1982, the facts that many Westfield homeowners live on fixed incomes, 60 percent of our taxpayers do not have children in public schools, and many residents have lost their jobs, that the Westfield Education Association and the Westfield Board of Education will negotiate new contracts responsibly.

Of our 423 teachers, only 18 earn less than $15,000 a year. Bulk of all of our staff is at the top of the scale, 16 years, with those holding bachelor's degrees earning at the 16th step, $26,350; master's, $28,175; master's plus 30 credits, $30,075; and doctorates, $32,050.

Westfield schools employ 144 with bachelor degrees, of which 54 are at top step or above; 126 with master's degrees, of which 58 are at top scale or above; 143 with master's degrees plus 30 credits, with 117 at top scale or above; and 10 with doctorates, with seven of these at top scale or above.

With few exceptions, teachers move from one step to the next simply by virtue of completing another year in the district; this brings them automatic increments of anywhere from $300 to $2,000 depending upon the step. Under the contract ratified three years ago, teachers above the top of the scale accrue a longevity payment of $500 a year; those with 20 or more years of service in the system earn $800 annually.

These salaries - while called "annual" - are based on 180 days of work - or 35 five-day weeks. A typical year includes vacations at Christmas, mid-winter and spring, plus all of July and August and scant parts of June and September.

Once a teacher has survived the first few years of teaching, he or she earns tenure and with few exceptions, continues on the school staff until he or she leaves the system voluntarily or retires.

There are even more benefits which many employees in the private sector do not enjoy: Eighteen sick days a year (many of them cumulative); medical, dental, major medical, dental and pharmaceutical plans. Fringe benefits for all of Westfield public school employees (about 600 all told) are listed in a summary of next year's budget as costing $1,776,204, up by $493,704 over the 1982-83 season.

Based on these figures, the average cost of fringe benefits (not including retirement contributions, Social Security, etc.) is estimated to cost about $2400 per employee next year.

Public employees are definitely not "second class citizens" in terms of pay, benefits, hours, vacation periods or working conditions. Should they think the grass is greener in the private sector, no chains bind them to the schoolroom.

But if they hope to prove their dedication to the world of education, and hope to seek support at the voting booth for the 1983-84 school budget in April - which could well have a rocky road to success - we urge members of the WEA to be moderate in their demands, and the school board firm in a commitment to represent all of the citizens of Westfield in their contract negotiations.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

All letters to the editor must bear a signature, a street address and a telephone number, so authors may be checked. If contributors are not able to be reached at local phone numbers during Leader business hours, the writer's signature may be notarized.

Letters must be written only one side of paper and typewritten.

All letters must be in the "Leader" office by Friday if they are to appear in the following issue.

REFUND DUE

Editor, Leader;

We would like to express our gratitude to the large audience who attended our concert of the Bach B minor Mass at the Congregational Church, especially the standees and others who heard it from the narthex.

We apologize to those who were turned away and we wish the gentleman who had purchased his ticket weeks earlier, would reach us for a refund.

URGES

"EDUCATED" VOTE

Editor, Leader;

I should like to suggest to all Westfield citizens who are presently opposed to our school budget that you physically visit some of our schools. I urge you to do this before voting day - make an educated decision.

I should also like to suggest that you make an effort to attend a budget presentation. (Call the Administration Building, 654-6400, Ext. 380, for a schedule or attend a public hearing on March 8th or 15th.) When you vote during general elections, you listen to all candidates running - our children and our town deserve the same consideration and attention.

Many of these Letters to the Editor from citizens are filled with misinformation. Please try to reach your own conclusions. Talk to those who really know - a Board of Education member or an administrator.

There are several points you must consider: This is a quote from the New York Times by Education Editor Gene Maeroff: "Time and again families choose one community over another simply because of the reputation of the schools. They will pay vastly more for a house that is no more desirable than another because they want their children in one school system rather than another." Westfield's reputation for a fine school system will disintegrate if we continually defeat budgets, as will the worth of our homes.

Another point: please keep in mind that the Board of Education has absolutely no control over 80% of the budget, which goes to salaries and fringes dictated by contracts. The remainder keeps our children in books as well as in heated buildings. Your parents educated you; won't you "have a heart" and help us educate ours. Please reconsider before you turn down our children and your future.

"YES" ON BUDGET

Editor, Leader;

I recently attended a Westfield PT Council meeting and was impressed by two key issues besides the meager turnout.

First, it is important for local residents to support the proposed school budget. We have all seen the New York Times headline stressing "as the schools go, so goes the community" (and thus the property values). There is a genuine interest in the welfare of our youngsters and their quality education. With this in mind, we

Life In The Suburbs

By Al Smith

must realistically accept growth in the budget as it must keep pace with the quality education system we expect.

The second issue I must highlight is the interest and sincerity of our present school board members. These individuals are devoting their time, expertise and concern to the community and are sensitive to the economic trends we all bemoan. They, however, feel obliged to present Westfield residents with a sound budget, responsive to student, school and community needs.

In tandem with the budget issue is our call to select new school board members in the April election. Voter turnout will be discussed, but prior to that candidates need to be heard by the populace. Residents can attend forums, read articles and come to know the candidates. These will be the individuals giving Westfield some direction. Their interest deserves our support just as the school budget warrants a "yes" response.

New Program to Aid Gamblers

New Jersey residents troubled by compulsive gambling may now seek help at the new Council on Compulsive Gambling of New Jersey, Assemblyman Chuck Hardwick (R-Union) announced.

A contract between the Department of Health and the New York-based National Council on Compulsive Gambling was signed in Trenton last week. The opening of the new office is the culmination of three years' work, Hardwick said.

Hardwick had allocated a $60,000 appropriation in this year's budget to begin an awareness and treatment program for compulsive gamblers. Such an allocation was twice vetoed by former Governor Brendan Byrne.

Both the state and the gambling industry have a responsibility to help, Hardwick explained. And for next year, he said, the proper state mechanisms are in place to fund the program with proceeds from the gambling industry, he said.

"The state had sanctioned and has an active role in promoting gambling, so the state has a unique responsibility to help those who fall too deeply into debt," said Hardwick, who is minority whip.

"Time and again, thousands spend too much money gambling, and end up losing more than they can afford. Eventually, many become destructive compulsive gamblers. It is these people who must be helped," he said.

The toll goes beyond the gambler, Hardwick said. Many crimes are committed in connection with compulsive gambling, including white collar crime and armed robbery.

"Everyone has a stake in this problem," said Hardwick. "I am hopeful the new program will begin to curtail it," he said.

The problem of an ailing industrial base cannot be met by an adversary system pitting labor, management, public interest and the government against each other. Nor can it be resolved within each industry seeking to promote its own interests without gauging the effects of industrial production in other areas of the economy. A modernized steel industry, for instance, could not survive without a robust domestic auto industry.

New Jersey and other Northeast and Midwest states, burdened with old industrial plants, are learning a hard lesson from this recession. Many industries, such as the Singer Co. in Elizabeth and Western Electric in Kearny, are permanently shutting down these old plants. But there is no national industrial policy that raises real hope that we can reverse the trend. This translates into recurring cycles of unemployment and regional stagnation. It also means a sustained decline in productivity that will lower standards of living.

While we are in the midst of a great technological revolution, millions of previously productive American workers still need to be educated for the transition to a new world of work in the 1980s. Supplies of energy and other natural resources are strained. Investment in new plants and equipment is down, and business analysts see no long term future for our basic industries.

Before America can succeed in revitalizing and renewing its industrial base, it needs to know where it is going. It seems clear we need a new institutional mechanism to insure that our crisis to crisis industrial policy evolves along more rational, long term paths.

One idea I am supporting in Congress is the creation of a National Industrial Development Board composed of representatives of business, industry and labor, and major organizations representing minorities, small business, environmentalists and consumers. Members of the commission would be nominated by House and Senate leaders from both parties and appointed to six year terms by the President. The board would have a small staff of experts to undertake studies of industrial trends in the United States and the world and make an annual report and recommendations to Congress.

One of the basic goals would be to encourage capital formation for areas of future industrial growth and jobs. Instead of looking only at the profit picture for the next year, as many industrial managers are forced to do, the board would look further down the road towards long term economic expansion.

The recent study of the Japanese machine tool industry proved that long range planning and investment, rather than trade barriers and government subsidies, are chiefly responsible for Japan's growth into the world's second ranking economic power, despite serious deficiencies in energy and raw materials.

The key concern of the Japanese government in helping its industry compete in the world market is to assist Japanese firms in raising capital. When the United States first began to have a large trade imbalance with Japan in 1971, the White House Trade Representative began to develop a policy to meet the competition, but with the devaluation of the dollar the sense of urgency vanished.

This is the kind of short-sighted, stop-and-go political response to changing economic conditions in the world that have plagued American industry and are causing so much trouble now. We have no long range economic policy or even a method to arrive at a national consensus on economic matters.

DiFrancesco Calls Budget "Realistic, Responsible"

Governor Kean's 1984 state budget offers a realistic, responsible approach to funding state services in these difficult economic times by combining fiscal austerity with job creation initiatives, according to State Senator Donald T. DiFrancesco.

"The $6.8 billion budget recognizes the need to make state government leaner and more responsive to its citizens."

"This is a tight budget, the tightest in years. State operating costs would increase only 3.4 percent - well below the inflation rate. The Governor has held overall spending in check, even though costs that are beyond the control of the executive branch, such as employee benefits and debt service, are rising a whopping 11.2 percent."

"It is the kind of budget the residents of this state have been demanding for years, and the kind of budget Governor Kean promised to deliver. The budget is balanced without the need for new taxes or the use of fiscal gimmicks."

AAMH Relocates Agency Office

The Union County Chapter of the Association for Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped has moved into new and expanded quarters at 60 Prince St., Elizabeth, it was announced.

Sidney Blanchard, executive director of the non-profit social service agency, said an increased caseload and a need to better service its clients, necessitated the move.

The AAMH, established here in 1979, works with mentally handicapped adults in Union County to help them lead independent and productive lives within the community through a variety of services, including housing, job placement, crisis intervention and money management.

Gambling "Disease" Topic Of Cablevision Series

Compulsive gambling is a serious, but hidden and underestimated problem plaguing the state, according to Assemblyman Chuck Hardwick (R-Union).

In his "Chuck Hardwick's Legislative Report," appearing on Thursday evenings on Suburban Cablevision's channel 32 through the month of February, Hardwick examines compulsive gambling, what causes it, who it affects, and how it can be helped.

"In New Jersey alone," Hardwick said, "there are thousands of persons hurt by compulsive gambling, including the gambler, and his family and friends."

"I will be interviewing two compulsive gamblers, who joined Gamblers Anonymous after years of gambling, falling deep into debt and destroying their lives," Hardwick said. Also appearing on the program will be Arnie Wexler, vice president of the National Council on Compulsive Gambling and a New Jersey resident, and the director of the state Division of Alcoholism, Riley Regan, who helped establish a state program to help compulsive gamblers.

Program Geared for Kids Of Local Working Parents

A new program designed to provide after-school care for children in grades 1-6 of working parents is available at the YMCA.

The "Kids Enjoying the Y" or KEY program is specially designed for working parents to involve children in a program which is both fun and educational and supervised by professionally trained staff and educators.

They will transport children from school to the YMCA by bus. A nutritional snack precedes the afternoon consisting of various activities including swimming, gym activities, arts and crafts, tutoring, values education, and sport skill classes designed for specific age groups.

The program will be held Monday through Friday from school dismissal time until 6 p.m. beginning Feb. 28. Registration is now in progress and may be for three, four, or five days per week. Enrollment is limited to Westfield students.

Barbara Baker's second grade class at Tamaques School recently had a lesson in making gingerbread houses. Mrs. Louis Evangelista and Mrs. Jeremiah Cronin, class mothers, made the gingerbread houses and decorated them with icing, M and M's, gum drops, and peppermint candies — the children eagerly watched. After the houses were completed, each child was given a gingerbread cookie and it was decorated with icing and candies. Shown above are, from left, Elizabeth Taranto, March Nienburg, Neil Kirk and Jonathan Snitow.

Crime, Vandalism Topics For Democratic Club

The Democratic Club of Westfield will meet at the Westfield Motor Inn at 8 p.m. Monday. Continuing its series of meetings on town concerns, the club will be addressed by a member of the Westfield Police Department.

Burglaries and vandalism are concerns of Westfield residents, and the meeting will provide information for individual involvement in crime prevention.

At its last meeting, the Democratic Club heard about the public library from Paul Kolterjohn, president of the Library board of trustees. Kolterjohn reviewed the history of the public library in Westfield, emphasizing the vital role of volunteer action in creating and improving this important service. The Democratic Club strongly endorsed Kolterjohn's appeal for a modern facility suitable for the town of Westfield.

Carolyn Klinger Kueter, 1982 Democratic candidate for Mayor, said, "During my campaign, a major concern raised by the people I met all over town was fear of vandalism and crime. The best way to prevent this fear is to provide people with knowledge of how to protect their homes."

The program of the Democratic Club will support police efforts to provide information necessary for residents to create a safer community.

Lillian Lindeman, center, receives New Jersey Association of Health Care Facilities' Volunteer of the Year award for her contributions to patients at the Westfield Convalescent Center in Westfield. Making the presentation is State Human Services Commissioner George J. Albanese. Shirley Sporman, right, is activities director at Westfield, a 158-bed long-term care center. Stuart Zeckendorf is administrator. The 70-year-old award winner, who attends evening college classes in her spare time, uses a wheelchair to travel throughout the facility for individual visits with patients. She also entertains groups of residents with songs from the piano and organ, prepares a monthly four-page newsletter and creates art work for the facility's hallways and bulletin boards.

Tuesday is Senior Citizen Day at Westfield High School according to a proclamation jointly signed by Mayor Ronald J. Frigerio and High School Principal Robert G. Pelix. The 9 a.m. to noon event includes tours, classroom visits and refreshments. Each senior citizen will have a high school student host or hostess. This first-time event for Westfield was planned by the Student Council as an opportunity to share "what's happening at Westfield High School" with members of the community who do not have children attending the high school. Pictured at the proclamation signing are (left to right) Daniel O'Connor, Student Council officer; Dr. Pelix; Mayor Frigerio; and Louis Martino, a senior citizen who plans to participate in the special event.

"Futures Unlimited," a non-traditional career conference, was attended recently by 17 Deerfield students.

Sponsored by Rutgers University and the New Jersey State Department of Education, the conference gave the female students an opportunity to hear about high-growth technological careers that are often not considered by girls.

The students were selected to attend the conference on the basis of evidenced ability in the areas of math and science. Computer center, engineering, and technological lab activities, skilled trades workshops, and mathematics and science experiments filled the day.

Attending were Lisa Abend, Lauren Bruschi, Maria Buckley, NaRee Chung, Carolyn Engert, Alison Funk, Linda Groiss, Kim Logio, Marianne Lopapa, Robin Mishkin, Beth Post, Amanda Summer, Gwen Thompson, Chris Ann and Lauren Venes, Sherry Weinberg, and Janet Wilson.

They were accompanied by Susan Collier, Deerfield Librarian and the district's Affirmative Action officer; Pamela Gray, enrichment coordinator; and Edwin Sjonell, guidance counselor.

Fourth graders Chris Gallivan and Joey Agnone watch as Nathan Shalit demonstrates chemical experiments using ordinary household materials. Shalit is author of the book "Cup and Saucer Chemistry," a copy of which he autographed and placed in the school library. Each fourth, fifth and sixth grade class had a 45 minute individual presentation which was sponsored by the cultural arts committee of the McKinley PTO.

Jerseyans' Share of Federal Budget $4,581 Per Person

New Jersey taxpayers will be required to pay $33.9 billion in Federal taxes as their share of the cost of the Federal budget of $44.5 billion proposed by President Reagan for the next (1984) Federal fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1983, according to an estimate today by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce.

This estimate is based upon the State Chamber's calculations that New Jersey taxpayers currently bear 3.99 percent of all Federal taxes. Whether the Congress decides to cut — or add to — President Reagan's spending proposals, New Jersey taxpayers will pay out proportionally, the Chamber explained.

The President's proposed budget, the Chamber said, would cost taxpayers in New Jersey $33,855,150,000 and it noted that this amount is:

— Over 7½ times the $4.5 billion of local property taxes levied in 1982 in support of all of New Jersey's counties, municipalities and school districts.

— Nearly 5½ times the $6.4 billion of State taxes appropriated to operate the State Government and provide financial support for schools and local government and local property tax relief during the State's current fiscal year ending June 30 next, and — equal to $4,581 for every man, woman and child estimated to reside in the State.

In releasing the State Chamber's Federal budget calculations, Frederick A. Westphal, president of the State Chamber, noted that President Reagan's proposed $44.5 billion Federal spending program for the new fiscal year beginning next Oct. 1 reflects an increase of $43.3 billion over indicated spending in the current fiscal year of $905.2 billion. Westphal observed that New Jerseyans' per capita share of the budget as proposed — $4,581, represents an increase of $497 over last year's figure. "President Reagan's proposed 1984 budget anticipates a deficit of $188.8 billion. This would be $18.9 billion less than the minimum $207.7 billion deficit we now expect in the current (1983) fiscal year. The projected deficit for 1984 amounts to a potential burden of $7.53 billion for New Jerseyans or $1,018 for each person in the State.

"It is in the interest of every citizen that the Federal budget — still seemingly out of control — be curbed and brought into balance," Westphal stated.

"For years we have witnessed the corrosive effects of inflation — the inevitable result of constantly-increased spending and mounting government debt — eating away at both the earnings and the savings of every citizen.

"At long last, however, we appear to be bringing inflation under control. "The task now is to retain this new measure of inflation control yet revitalize our presently stagnated economy," Westphal said. He called upon the leadership of both the Administration and the Congress to bring the Federal government's spending more nearly in line with its income. "The size of the Federal deficits now projected for the next few years must be reduced. Their existence poses a potent threat to the economic upturn we now see developing. And they are also a potential cause of renewed inflation.

"Every family must balance its budget each year and it is their interests which mandate that our national government do likewise as quickly as possible," Westphal declared.

He recapped the ever-increasing impact of Federal spending upon New Jersey taxpayers, noting that the burden has increased more than 2½ times within a span of only ten fiscal years (1975-1984) — the total cost for New Jersey taxpayers rising from $13.3 billion in FY '75 to $33.9 billion in FY '84 while the per capita burden has climbed from $1,799 to $4,581.

"What Ever Happened to Mom's Apple Pie?" — Janice Smullen, Westfield resident, shares her knowledge on nutrition with Meryl Klinghoffer, Rachel Kreisman and Neely Marcus of Doris Hockstein's ALP class at Roosevelt Junior High School. Mrs. Smullen spoke to the students about junk foods and the possible restyling of teenager's diets. This presentation was scheduled through the school system's STS (Sharing Talents & Skills) program.

Police Training to Focus On Problems of the Elderly

When the Union County Police Basic Training Academy at Union County College opens its 47th session on Friday, Feb. 18, it will be responding in a new way to a new need: Training police recruits to better relate to the county's elderly population.

Based on recent police data as well as a survey by the Union County Division on Aging which both indicate that a significant number of the county's senior citizens have been crime victims, the academy, which provides basic training for police recruits around Union County, will incorporate new approaches to dealing with older citizens into its curriculum, according to Dr. John Wolf, academy director and chairman of the College's criminal justice department.

"Out of a general population of approximately 504,000 in Union County, 94,000, or 18 percent, are elderly," Dr. Wolf reported. "The significant statistic is that of that elderly population, 12.1 percent were reported victims of either burglaries, assaults, vandalism or frauds last year, based on extrapolation of crime data. Additionally, a survey of the Division on Aging indicates that 8,000 senior citizens interviewed in Union County reported they are alarmed at reports of muggings and assaults on the elderly."

Since police in Union County are now dealing with an "immense number" of calls involving the older population, and have to deal with the fears they experience after such incidents occur, "law enforcement officers need to better relate to and understand the psychological needs of that group in our community," Dr. Wolf explained.

To that end, the 45 police recruits enrolled in the 47th session at the Academy will learn special skills which will help them in their everyday dealings with senior citizens. Training will expose them to interviewing techniques which will aid them in responding not only to muggings and other crimes against the elderly, but to calls involving family disputes, emotional disorders and other psychosocial and environmental aspects where the elderly are involved, as well, according to Dr. Wolf.

"The special needs of the elderly will be integrated into all applicable areas of the Police Academy curriculum," Dr. Wolf said.

Summit, Roselle Park

Fall to Westfield

Three Central Jersey League wrestling teams met recently at Roselle Park's Aldene School.
Westfield's All Star A Team soundly defeated
Summit's Hilltoppers 61-9
before going on to beat the Park Panthers 56-5.

In the first round of the triad only two Summit
grapplers, Anthony Facchinei (63) and Leo Pietrantonio (67) were able to score against the Little Devils.
At 50 pounds Paco Gonzales led the way decision-ing Kevin Logue 4-3.
Nevada Hurt's 6 point first period pin preceded two Summit forfeits. After the double Westfield loss, the Devils returned to the fold taking all remaining bouts. Chris Jordan

superior Cory Logue
(120-), T.J. Diaz decided Jason Evers 5-2. Mark Hoffmann majored Bill McDermott 9-0 and wrestling at 90 pounds, Michael Noerr pinned Matthew Duffy in the third set. The Westfield matmen closed the book on Summit when they could not match weight for Randy Wojcik at 95 and 105 pounder, Ryan Venkous.

Using Summit as an appetizer, the All Stars were now prepared for the main course. The Panther Cubs struggled courageously but could not overcome
Westfield's onslaught.
Three falls, six decisions and a tie gave the boys in blue their fourth strong victory in as many outings so far this season.

Seventh Grade League Completes Sixth Week

Kentucky, Louisville and Georgetown won by large margins as defense seem to take the week off.
However, North Carolina topped Virginia based on a second quarter rally that otherwise overshadowed a tight defensive game. The standings through the sixth week are as follows:

DIVISION 'A'
North Carolina	5-1
Georgetown	4-2
Virginia	3-3
Notre Dame	0-6
DIVISION 'B'
Boston College	4-0

Kentucky 31
St. John's 11
Kentucky broke into the win column for the first time while beating a tough
St. John's. The victory showed off the talents of Tim Glynn. He scored 15 points, controlled the boards and proved his All-Star billing. Glenn Thompson played one of his finest games and chipped in for 8 points. The team was aided by the skills of Mark Gruba with 6 points and the support of Dave Brezezinski.

St. John's started out
cold and never warmed up.
Jeff Sherman had a good game, as did John Duffy.
Bob Kornicke and Steve Miller scored in the losing cause and Mark Tabs played his usual hard game.

Louisville 22
Villanova 9
Dave Goebic and Brennan Smith proved too tough for Villanova. Dave had 10 points before fouling out in the last quarter and added to his All-Star credentials.
Jason Hagman hit for 4 points, but showed good skills as the back court leader.

Glenn Biren continues to lead this team in search of its first victory. He had 7 points and exhibited his court skills. He was helped by the great effort of Max Wunderle and fine play of Lisa Gray and Charlie Brown.

Georgetown 53
Notre Dame 35
Jim Jackson's team gave Notre Dame a lesson in good team play and passing to the open man.
Once again, the team was led by the super play of Mark Nelson and Tom Ward. they scored 42 points between them and dominated the boards. The backcourt trio of Dave Brown, John Esposito and Jack McEvilly constantly kept the ball moving and showed good leadership in the winning effort.

Joey Deer played his heart out in this losing effort. He had 10 points and was helped by Dan Ginsburg and Bobby Ehret. Charlie Ott and Kevin Lombardi tallied points in the losing cause.

North Carolina 32
Virginia 25
Neil Horne led his team with 6 points in the second quarter as the team built a big lead that held. Dean Huddleson led the team in scoring with 12 points. The fine play of the team was reflected in the play of Lynn Cassidy, Andy Gutterman and Mike Gagliardi.

John McCall had one of his finest games, as he scored 7 points and continually fed Center Jim Mozoki. He ended up with 12 points and continues to show why he is one of the best centers in the league.
Chris Dembiec, Pat
Houlihan and Craig Mastrangelo scored and played their usual steady
game.

SRO at High School Cage League Games

In the seventh week of the High School Basketball League, capacity crowds viewed several league records broken, along with some great basketball. The standing room crowds at Roosevelt Junior High School saw the Thick-Necks end their losing streak and up-end the young Red Devils, 68-58. The following game saw the first place 76'ers shoot down the Budmen's run at the league lead 43-37, and in the final game of morning the Alabama Slammers stood off a Blue Demon come-back, 53-52.

Thick-Necks 68
Red Devils 58
A contest between the Big Red Devils and the Thick Necks matched power versus finesse. The first 3 quarters proved that finesse can overpower power as the Devils controlled the tempo as well as the lead. However, in the end the strength and depth of the T-N squad was just too much to handle as Mike Costa paved the way to a 68-58 victory.

Trailing by 11 going into the final frame, the T-N opened up its half court game and beat the Devils on the break, outscoring them 27-11 to open up a 5 point lead. The momentum, all Big Red for 3 periods, was now in the hands of Mike Costa, Kevin Lasher and company. Costa put on a show for the packed house at the "Roosevelt Garden." He scored 20 4th quarter points (36 points overall on 16-19 shooting) which came on a variety of slam dunks and a few long range jumpers. Lasher, who added 18 points, stated, "the victory was a team effort." The duo of Ed Capano Jr. and "Flash" Gordon combined for 14 points and 20 rebounds.

The Devil's advocate: With the acquisition of Cornell Muse, the Devils changed their style of play from one-on-one ball to team play. Muse dished out 10 assists to go along with his 10 points. However, the Devils still lack a player who can take charge when the game is on the line. Greg Price played one of his finest games of the year, scoring 18 points while grabbing 11 rebounds. Look for the Devils (1-6) to bounce back strong next week against the mighty 76'ers (7-0). In order to do so, they need a healthy Dan O'Connor and a rejuvenated Adrian Cornelius. At this point in the season the playoff picture is a bit cloudy but one thing is for sure, the Devils are down, but not out.

76'ers 43
Bud Men 37
This game pitted the league's most high powered offense against the league's best defense and ended with the running and gunning 76'ers on top, the Sixers got the first basket and never trailed, beating the Bud Men the second time this year. The Sixers came out hot, hitting their first five shots. They were lead by the league's second and third leading scorers, Tom Treotola (18 points, 2 assists) and Dom Downey (15 points, 5 assists and 5 rebounds). At times it seemed as if the Bud Men were going to get back in the game, but it just wasn't a Bud day. Sean Smith kept the League big man "Ralph" Rochford off the boards and away from the basket with great "D". The closest the Buds got was four points, let in the fourth quarter, after a Mike Cauterucci jumper (12 points), but seven consecutive foul shots put the game away.

This win extended the 76'ers win streak to seven.
Alabama Slammers 53
Blue Demons 52
The Slammers and Demons, both tied for fourth place, played an intense game that went down to wire with the Bama Slammers nipping the Blues, 53-52.

This barn burner was even throughout with the lead changing hands a total of seven times. Even with absence of one of the members of the "Supreme (front) Court", Pete Murphy (visiting UCLA and USC to determine which football scholarship he wants), the Slammers still were able to hold on. Junior Ladis and "Bomber" Brownstien, the league's biggest guards, combined for 10 points, 12 assists and 14 rebounds. The Blue Demons stayed close with the deep shooting of "Gun" McGann (18 points), the defense of Willie "Sneezy" Muse (7 steals, and 8 rebounds), and the all around play of John "the Assassin" Houlihan. But the Slammers were just too good with Joe Longo scoring a career high 27 points and snatching 11 rebounds, and Rich Harlan ended the day with 12 points and 14 rebounds; he did all that while playing injured.

LEAGUE TALKS — With just three regular season games left the playoff race is red hot with all teams still very much alive. This week also had loads of League records broken. The records broken were: most points by one team - 68 by Thick-Necks, tying the '81-82 Bud Men who scored 68; most points by two teams in one game - 126 by the Thick-Necks and Devils, former record by '81-82 Bud Men and Jerry's Kids 118; and the most points by one player - 36 Mike Costa, former record Mark Jenkins 29. This week's Player of the Week goes to Mike "the boxer" Costa who scored a season, career, and league high 36 points. Costa also helped his team to victory by ripping 9 rebounds and dishing out 5 assists. Saturday's crowds were the second highest in Westfield High School Basketball League history. One of the spectators, Ken Miller, was heard to say "Watching a WHSBL game has more excitement than a MET game." Dan O'Connor missed this week's game, but still has a comfortable lead in total fouls (26).

BREW'S PICKS — Last picks were three for three; for this week: 9 o'clock game — Bud Men over the Alabama Slammers, 44-43. This is one that could go either way, but the Bud Men's pressure defense will veto the Supreme (front) Court of Harlan, Longo, and Murphy.

10 o'clock game — Thick-Necks over the Blue

Demons by 8, 56-48. This should be the Blue Demons sixth loss in a row, but they could stay close with Chalk Coates coming off the injured reserved list giving some fire-power and with good outside shooting of McGann. But the T-N will pull away with the scoring of Costa and Lasher and the inside play of Chris Capano and Flash Gordon. 11 o'clock game — Red Devils in an upset over the 76'ers, 49-45. The Devils need this one to stay in the playoff picture. They have gone out and gotten two free-agents Kevin Price and "Sleepy" Muse to try to assure victory. The Devils will concentrate on slowing down the potent offense of the great Tom and Dom Show. But the Devils edge is World B. Slamowitz.

League Directors have decided to raise the salaries of league co-presidents, Rich Brown and Ed Capano, because of increased attendance and National interest. The specific amounts are not yet known, but will be announced in late March. Next weeks games are not yet sold out and tickets will be sold at the west door of Roosevelt before the games, next Saturday.

Knicks, 76ers, Lakers 5th Grade Cage Winners

Fifth grade basketball results last weekend were:
Knicks 22
Pacers 20

The Knicks played their finest game of the season, winning at the final buzzer on a shot by Scott Coren off of a rebound by Erik Holton. The game was nip and tuck throughout. The scorers for the Knicks were Scott Coren, Josh Klein, Lance Partelow, Steven Price and Ryan Singel. Darcie Graf rebounded well for the Knicks and Erik Holton had two 4th quarter steals that led to baskets that clinched the win.

The Pacers played one of their best games in the close loss to the Knicks. The Pacers were again led by Lou Rettino. Key Baskets were also made by Ian Rhodes and Ron Shovlin. Playing their finest offense of the season were Terry O'Brien and J.C. Wiley.

Supersonics 23
Nets 13
The Supersonics played their best game of the season beating a tough Net team. The Sonics scoring was led by Terry Quinn (7), Jason Meyer (5), Chris Ward (4), Jay Kunicky (4), Jon Meyer (3). Playing great defense under the boards were Scott Parise, Mark McCaffrey and Andy Kern. Sitting out the game with an injury was the great hustler Steve Burkowski.

Nets baskets were hard to come by in the game as the supersonics defense provided few opportunities for second shots. Michael Kelly's 4 points led the Nets scorers. David Greenberg, Carolyn Sherman and Paul Stanzel played well in this first Net loss of the season. Mark Gilrain continues to show good improvement in getting rebounds and getting the ball out from defensive basket. Ryan Gardiner's rebounding efforts are also worthy of particular attention.

76ers 26
Suns 20

The 76ers scored their first victory of the season with an excellent team effort. Roland Boyd led the scoring with 10 points. Willie Folger followed with 6. Also providing offensive punch were David Weinstein, Mike Mannelli, Jennifer DeRosa and Chris Ahloskog. Defensive standouts were Adam Bortoff, Josh Youdovin, Raju Vengopal and the team spark plug Aliza Best.

It was a hard fought game during all 4 quarters.

The Suns were down one point at the end of the third quarter, but could not hold the aggressive 76ers. Brian Mueller led the Suns with 10 points, followed by Tom Jividen with 6 and Robert Weinstein with 4. Charles Foley, Mark Hardy, Jeff Skolnok and Robert Jeremiahs played excellent defense.

Lakers 25
Blazers 10
The Lakers, led by Jim Murphy's 9 points, Ben Beyerlein's 4 and outstanding guard work by Marcie Bartlett gave the Lakers their 4th win. Matt Shea, Mark Bartlett and Jodie Gross played the kind of offense that they should be proud of. Jim Murphy and John Pugliese alternated in center position giving the Lakers great jumping power. Pugliese also had two blocked shots as did Jim Murphy.

For the Trailblazers Jay Koslowsky and Kevin Denaker each had four points. Clark Hawgood, Matt Taylor and Ken Goski worked hard on defensive play. Eric Brody and Chris Ward get two combined for 38 rebounds and John Davidson and Mitchell Gouss each had 4 steals as defensive guards.

7th Grade PAL's Continue Unbeaten

The Seventh Grade PAL basketball all-stars continued their all winning ways by steam rolling over four opponents to up their record to 8 wins and 0 losses. Combining fine defense with a fast breaking offense, the little Blue Devils continue to impress opponents and fans with their outstanding passing.

Westfield 38 St. Bernard's 25

In a hard fought contest tied at 15 at half time, the Devils outscored their opponents 12-1 in the 3rd quarter to put this game away. Combining the fine defensive play of Clint Factor, Kevin Stock, and Jim Mozoki, along with the shooting of Neil Horne, and Mark Nelson, the second half play turned this game around. Dave Brown, and Dean Huddleston also contributed excellent passing upon entering the game that led to several fast break lay-ups. High scorers were Nelson with 14, Horne with 7, and Stock and Factor with 6.

Westfield 43 Berkeley Heights 17

In a game where everyone played extremely well, the fast break was run to perfection. The aggressive board play of Nelson, Mozoki, Dean Huddleston and Dan Ginsburg led to many second and third shots along with starting the many fast breaks. The guards who benefited most from these outlet passes were Brown with 11 points, Stock with 8, John McCall with 6 and Tom Ward with 4. The big men inside were Mozoki with 19, Nelson with 16 and Huddleston with 9.

Westfield 52 Summit 32

Playing Summit's 8th grade all-stars didn't phase Westfield at all. Once, again, combining the fine shooting of Nelson with 16 and Horne with 8, the outstanding guard play of Stock and Factor, and the strong board play of Mozoki, the Devils outscored their opponents by 10 in the 3rd quarter to pull away. Dean Huddleston with 7, Dave Brown with 5 and Dan Ginsburg with 4 provided the super bench strength that was needed.

Westfield 60 Wayne 18

In a display of the best all around team performance of the season, the little Devils ran off 12 straight points in the beginning of the game and never looked back. With the outstanding passing of Stock, Horne, Kevin Zippler, Andy Guterman, and Bob Ehret, Wayne seemed to be caught sleeping on several occasions as the ball moved up the court so fast. The beneficiaries of all these passes were once again the big men, Mozoki, and Nelson. Nelson led all scorers with 14 and Mozoki with 12. Dean Huddleston and Bob Ehret both sparked coming in off the bench and providing excellent offense inside the key area.

tion basin located at the cemetery, which, pending final agreement, could cost the town $50,000. Town and cemetery officials have disagreed since 1975 on some aspects of the detention basin which, since its construction, has alleviated flood conditions in the area. It is anticipated that Tuesday's action by the council will lead to a final resolution of differences.

Council also approved the appointment of Enrico (Rick) Russo to fill a vacancy on the Neighborhood Improvement Council, and approved a Feb. 26 auction of impounded bicycles and a March 9 auction of a town lot at 701 Forest Ave.

A scheduled hearing on charges of liquor violations by Shoppers Liquor Mart on South Ave. was postponed until Feb. 22.

Malloy

Mayor Chin cited Malloy's expertise in budget preparation as a principal reason why he should be considered for the award. As a result of the administrator's "careful planning," Chin said, "we have been able to stay within the caps and we have maintained a stable and consistent tax rate without any major cutbacks in local services."

Malloy's "tact, diplomacy and managerial skills" also were praised by the former mayor, particularly in the areas of labor negotiations, public relations, Mayor-Town Council relations and overall administration.

Former Mayor Chin read a poem extolling Malloy at Tuesday's ceremonies, when current Mayor Frigerio and members of Town Council added their congratulations as well.

tools of the '50's, the technology of the '50's, and the thinking of the '50's.

"We are on the threshold of magnificent inroads in education, demanding from all of us an open mind and the realization that basic education will not be quite the same as it was a generation ago."

"We should be looking forward to a well thought-out reorganization of instruction which the board has already approved, to the significant impact of computer-assisted instruction and, most important, to a picture of educational needs for the 1990's and the new century forthcoming."

In addition to the school board seat held by Mrs. Gulotta, the terms of two other board members expire this year. They are Board President Leo Senu and board member Alice Dillon, both completing first three-year terms.

Voters will elect three citizens to the school board at the annual school election scheduled, at this time, for April 5. A bill to change the election date to April 12 has been passed by the New Jersey Senate and Assembly and is awaiting Governor Kean's signature.

For the April 5 election, the deadline for citizens interested in filing nominating petitions to become candidates is Feb. 24.

nationally disturbed all receive a portion of their yearly budgets from United Fund allocations. In 1983, these agencies are feeling the effects of state and federal budget cuts and are struggling to maintain programs in the face of inflation.

The Jaycee gift was possible this year because the group's fund raising efforts have been so successful. The Jaycees sponsor yearly scholarship grants which they fund with their various projects. Therefore, with the scholarship funds assured, the Jaycees' distribution committee was able to recommend additional charitable donations, among which was the gift to the United Fund campaign.

Slick Roads Cause Minor Crashes

Icy roads resulting from Sunday's snowstorm contributed to 13 accidents Sunday and Monday. Most were categorized as minor, according to police.

A Cranford woman was taken to Rahway Hospital after her car slid on the ice on Lambert's Mill Rd. between Lambert Circle and Raritan Rd. Monday morning. Czarlowa Hilton, 61, was reportedly treated and released.

An 18-year-old Scotch Plains youth was transported to Overlook Hospital, Summit, after the car in which he was driving struck a parked car on West Broad St. between Marion Ave. and Florence Ave. Sunday afternoon. Herbert W. Goines Jr. was treated and discharged.

Vandals Active This Week

Numerous incidents of criminal mischief were reported to police during the past week.

Three cars parked on Park St. were spray-painted Saturday. A rock was thrown through the storm window of a Hillcrest Ave. home the same day.

Vandals struck the southside train station area twice. The doors of a vehicle were kicked in Friday and the telephone receiver was ripped from a public telephone Sunday. Flares were thrown atop the roof of a Pennsylvania Ave. house Friday.

Four acts of vandalism occurred Monday. An advertising sign on a North Ave. property was knocked down; a snowball was tossed through a garage on Central Ave.; a pickup truck was entered on Norman Place and tires were slashed on the Tiffany Drug Store delivery vehicle while it was parked on South Ave.

"A" Team 3-4 In Swimming

The Westfield YMCA Girls "A" team lost to the Passaic-Clifton "A" team in a meet at the Passaic pool on Feb. 5. The score was 113-77. The loss was the fourth for the Westfield team in seven meets in tough Division A competition.

From a Westfield standpoint the highlight of the meet was Christina Caroe's first place finish in the 12 and under individual medley. Her time was an impressive 2:27.7. Melissa Zemsky won the 10 and under breaststroke event and Ria Cuppari won the 11/12 breaststroke race. The second place finishers for the Westfield team included Carolyn Ribardo and Maureen Kinney in freestyle events and Anne Wampler in the 10 and under breaststroke race. Lynn Cassidy took second place in the 11/12 backstroke race and Kerry Hertell, Melissa Horner and Kelly Scott were second place finishers in butterfly races.

North Carolina 42 Georgetown 20

The Tarheels put together a true team victory, highlighted by everyteam member hitting the scoring column. Chris McEvilly and Ted Hobbie led the scoring with 8 and 7 points respectively. McEvilly played his best game of the season. Tom Cassidy and Mike Shoemaker scored 6 points each and handled the back court chores. Mike Smith, John Pushko and Chris Shea each had 4 points and banged the boards at both ends. Tommy Marshall and Rich Poller each chipped in with a basket and hustled the ball upcourt on the fast breaks. The low point of the contest occurred when Phil Tarheel season scoring leader Ted Hobbie was removed from the game late in the 4th quarter for X-rays to a damaged left knee.

Harpichord Recital

At St. Paul's

Edward Parmentier

Westfield will welcome back one of its distinguished sons when Edward Parmentier returns to play a harpichord recital on the Abendmusik series at St. Paul's Church, 414 East Broad St., Sunday at 4 p.m. Parmentier, a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, where he teaches harpichord, ensemble performance and music history, is recognized today as one of America's leading harpichordists.

Sunday's program will include three Scarlatti

Sonatas, J.S. Bach's "Italian Concerto," "Toccatina in D" and "Concerto in D" (after Vivaldi) and "Suite V in C Minor" by Forqueray.

In addition to teaching and conducting in Ann Arbor, Parmentier has toured throughout the country as a recitalist.

Parmentier studied harpichord with Gustav Leonhardt in Amsterdam and Albert Fuller in New York and holds degrees in classics and musicology from Princeton and in humanities from Harvard. Two seasons ago he conducted, in Ann Arbor, the first American performance of Handel's "Messiah" with an orchestra of original instruments. The performance was widely heralded, being broadcast on National Public Radio, as a part of a symposium on performance practice of "Messiah" attended by scholars from throughout the country.

Parmentier, son of Amory J. Parmentier of Westfield, attended Westfield public schools and was head chorister of St. Paul's Choir of Men and Boys.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the door.

State Museum To Exhibit Work of Local Ceramist

The work of Westfield master ceramist Albert Green will be shown in the south gallery of the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton from Feb. 18 through March 27. Titled "Clay: A Potter's Canvas," the exhibition is part of the Museum's New Jersey Artist Series.

An artist's reception, which is open to the public, will be held Thursday, Feb. 17 from 6 to 8 p.m. at the museum on West State St.

Green began his career as a painter, and his subsequent transition to ceramics reflects an affinity toward the use of subtle gradations of color and light on a three-dimensional surface.

He was honored in 1975 with a retrospective exhibition at the Morris Museum of Arts and Sciences in Morristown, and his work was exhibited simultaneously in a one-man show at The Newark Museum. He has also exhibited at more than 30 other major museums including the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York and the Craft and Folk Art Museum in Los Angeles. Some of his pieces are in a Smithsonian Institution traveling exhibition currently being shown widely in the United States and Asia. He is represented in the permanent collections of the Newark and Morris museums as well as in numerous other public and private collections throughout the world.

A stoneware plate and bottle created by Albert Green, ceramist of Westfield. His work will be shown at the gallery of the state museum in Trenton from Feb. 18 to March 27.

Fong Chow, former curator of Far Eastern art at the Metropolitan Museum of Arts and himself a noted potter, has written: "Albert Green is a potter's potter. His work shows a combination of versatility, strength, sensitivity and mastery of his craft that is seldom seen today. If Albert Green were Japanese and had produced his body of work in Japan, he would have been declared a Living National Treasure long ago, just like Kawai, Hamada, Fujiware and Arakawa."

Plans Afoot For Spaulding Walk-athon

A planning meeting for the Spaulding for Children annual Spring Walk-a-thon took place recently at the home of Mrs. Carl Corsentino, Westfield. Also in attendance were Michael Melchior and Lynn MacDonald, Scotch Plains, and Beth Siemer, North Plainfield.

The meeting focused on the possible dates for the walk; suggestions for improvements and adjustments using previous walks as models; and the number of volunteers needed. The group hopes to include this year a wider age spectrum among the walkers with extra emphasis on singles groups and families.

A meeting with student, school, church and community representatives will be held Feb. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at the Spaulding for Children office, 36 Prospect St. The meeting is open and informal and welcomes attendance of anyone interested in working with the free adoption agency of special needs children.

Mrs. Carl Corsentino, of Westfield is co-chairperson for the annual spring Spaulding for Children Walk-a-thon. Last year more than 130 persons — mostly school aged youngsters — raised more than $4000 for the free adoption agency.

Spaulding successfully placed 47 children in 38 families last year. Placements included 26 males and 21 females. Younger children were handicapped and/or placed with siblings. Twenty-six youngsters were white, including 2 Hispanic children; 18 were black and 3 were interracial.

Sinnott To Discuss Wills

Rose Marie Sinnott

Rose Marie Sinnott, former surrogate and freeholder will speak to the Westfield Business & Professional Women's Club on "Wills" and their importance Tuesday, 6:30 p.m. at Alison's Restaurant, 240 North Ave.

As surrogate, Sinnott was under law responsible for admitting wills to probate, granting letters of administration where there were no wills, granting letters of guardianship for minors, issuing letters of testamentary trusteeship, and issuing certificates of authority to executors, administrators and trustees.

Kings To Feature Belgian Endive

Kings Super Market in Garwood will hold Belgian endive demonstrations tomorrow and Saturday, Feb. 18 and 19 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Customers will be able to sample Belgian endive prepared in a variety of ways. A brochure containing recipe suggestions also will be available.

Genuine Belgian endive is being sold at reduced prices at the store during the two-week promotional period.

Although endive generally is used in salads in this country, Europeans and gourmet cooks also steam, braise and include it in baked casseroles.

Containing about 68 calories in a pound (or about 14 calories per head), Belgian endive is low in sodium, high in iron and fiber and contains vitamins A, B1, B2 and C. Because of its high water content it can be steamed in its own juices.

Fresh, crisp Belgian endives are creamy white, have light-yellow points and are tightly closed.

Now is the height of the Belgian endive harvest although it is in season from September to May.

Eye For Screening Pre-Schoolers

All pre-school children will be offered free eye screening testing on Thursday, Feb. 17 at the Presbyterian Church of Westfield, 140 Mountain Ave. The screening will be done by volunteers of the Greater Westfield Section of the National Council of Jewish Women in conjunction with the New Jersey Commission of the Blind.

The purpose of this program is to discover amblyopia, or lazy eye, and other problems of eyesight that can go undetected in pre-school years. If not corrected at this age, some of these eye problems can affect the child's ability to learn in school or can result in permanently weak eyes.

Any child three-half to five years of age, may be brought to the church between the hours of 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Collegians

Jeanne Shapiro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shapiro of Westfield has been named to the dean's list following the completion of her first semester at the University of Vermont.

OUR HEARTS ARE IN IT — Westfield Junior Woman's Club members (from left), Norma Nemeec, Terry McKeever, Sharon Sullivan and Joan Agresta, help address 10,000 envelopes to Westfield residents. The envelopes will be mailed out on behalf of the American Heart Association in a February appeal to raise contributions for the Heart Fund. Juniors ask that their neighbors help the Heart Fund continue the fight against heart disease, a major cause of death in the country today.

Jrs. Join In Heart Fund Appeal

The Junior Woman's Club of Westfield recently completed the addressing of 10,000 letters which will be mailed to Westfield residents by the American Heart Association this month. This large and well coordinated effort took the 35-member club three months to complete. The task included signing letters, writing out addresses and stuffing envelopes.

The Social Service Department of the club is chaired by Judith GaNun and Patricia Esposito.

Members of this department include Joan Agresta, Eileen Cambria, Diana DeCarli, Theresa McKeever, Norma Nemeec, Lynn Ryan, Sharon Sullivan and Danielle Walsh, all Westfield residents.

When asked why the Social Service Department decided to take on this project, Mrs. GaNun replied, "We wanted to be involved in the fight against heart disease on the grassroots level. Hopefully, our friends in Westfield will recognize our efforts and support the Heart Fund appeal."

Each year the Junior Woman's Club of Westfield raises funds for numerous national and local charities. In 1982 the club contributed more than $8,000 to help in the fight against Sudden Infant Death Syndrome.

Information regarding tickets is available from the chairman of this event, Mrs. Richard M. Nash, 1437 New Church St. Rahway. Deadline for reservations is Monday.

Bolder 1983 Valentines Reflect New Trends in Expression

In 1973, a typical valentine verse was:
"Everything that makes you dear to me I keep in my thoughts in my heart in my love.
Happy Valentine's Day."
The 1983 Valentine's Day verse is likely to read a bolder, more direct message:

"XXXXXX...OOOOOO...XXXXXX...etc."
...especially the 'etc.'!
Happy Valentine's Day."
Valentines have traditionally been considered the grandest of all romantic cards, but new card lines available since the early 1970's have added a contemporary touch to the ways that people say "I love you." Does that mean that relationships have changed in the last decade?

"The feelings haven't changed," says Terry Meyer, product manager for American Greetings Corporation, the largest publicly owned manufacturer of greeting cards in the world. "But as stereotyped roles were discarded, ideals and expectations changed."

"Romantic cards introduced in the early '70's for everyday sending situations featured soft focus photography — images were filtered and diffused. The line had the name 'Soft Touch,' and only soft, pastel colors were used. The verses were also written entirely in lowercase letters."

"Now those cards feature sharp image photography, bright, punchy colors and short, terse messages," he continued. "It's a sign of the times," says Meyer. "Ten years ago, romantic cards talked in idealistic terms about relationships. Now people are dealing with them, openly and directly."

"People are open in their realizations that everything isn't always nice, neat and romantic; there are problems. But," they say, "we're working on them."

Meyer explained why the soft, romantic look in Soft Touch cards was developed and why it changed. "In the '50's, the expectation was 'we're together forever, there are never any problems, we have a love-and-kisses relationship.' Those expectations were not realistic, but they were middle-America ideals. In the '60's, youths rebelled with social turmoil, casual sex and superficial relationships. Many people weren't ready for the shift — it had occurred too quickly and went too far."

"So a countertrend developed — a throwback to a simpler lifestyle," says Meyer. "The trend was romantic; the reason was nostalgia."

The crosscurrent back to a more romantic time was also reflected in advertising, particularly in women's products like perfumes, and in television programming, music and home-decorating ac-

"...especially the 'etc.'!" Imagine finding this message on your bathroom mirror February 14! The 1983 Soft Touch valentine is bolder and more candid than a similar card of the '70's. American Greetings says that the cards are reflecting a trend toward greater honesty in relationships in the last decade.

The upbeat valentines of the 1980's appeal to the same market that they attracted ten years ago — the 25-to-35 year olds. The messages are bold and candid, with artwork that's crisp and alive with bright colors according to Meyer.

"The thing that hasn't changed is the underlying theme of caring in relationships," he continued. "That has carried through, only now the expectations are more realistic, and people seem to be more honest with each other."

Half a Point Keeps Trackmen From Union County Championship

Winning is easy. It is losing that hurts. The Westfield boys winter track team felt the pain of defeat last Monday at the Union County Championship as it lost the title to Elizabeth by the slimmest margin in the meets history, 40-40½.

Going into the meet the team knew it had its work cut out. It had to defeat a team they had beaten by just two points a week and a half before. The real problem was that this time the team didn't have distance star Andy Jacob, who was ranked first in the mile and two mile but came down with strep throat.

Greg Kasko had an outstanding day, the gap in the mile with a first place finish. His time was 4:37.1. Kasko also teamed up with Kevin McGorty in the high jump. McGorty placed first, 6'7" and Kasko was third, 6'0". In the two mile Greg then grouped with Tom Splaine and was successful, again placing third in 10:22.1. Splaine ran well placing second in 10:21.7.

In the sprints Rich Forbes also had a fine day. He placed second in the 60 yard dash in 6.4. Forbes placed third in the 440 yard run clocking in at 54.9.

A tough battle was lost in the 880 as Brian Benstien placed second in 2:05.7. Jim Fisk won the second heat in 2:07.8 which was good enough to place him fourth overall. Placing fifth by inches, Kevin McGorty ran the hurdles in 7.8.

As the meet dwindled, it was determined that the title would be decided by the mile relay. Going into the race Westfield had a 1½ lead. The team needed a win or for Elizabeth to beat them by only a point, but it was not to be. The team of Wayne Tiller 55.9, Bill Byrne 54.4, Kelvin Blanton 54.4, and Rich Forbes 53.3 placed second to Elizabeth and ran the second fastest time at the Elizabeth gym.

Sprinter Wayne Tiller duels with a Plainfield competitor in the County meet held at Elizabeth's Dunn Gymnasium.

Miller Greg Kasko led the Union County race from gun to tape. He also placed third in both the two mile and the high jump to give Westfield 12 points in its bid for the title.

That Thursday the team came back to beat Cranford in a duel meet 40-19.

Westfield had a fine day overall, with first place finishes in all but two events. The best performance was turned in by Kevin McGorty as he placed first in the 60 yard hurdles, setting a new school record of 7.45.

Other winning performances were turned in by Rich Forbes in the 60 yard 6.3, Greg Kasko 2:02.5 in the 880, Brian Benstien 4:32.3 in the mile and the mile relay of Kelvin Blanton 52.5, Bill Byrne 53.4, Kevin McGorty 53.7 and Rich Forbes 51.8 with a final time of 3:31.1.

On Sunday the team travels to Jadwin Gym at Princeton to compete in the Group IV state championships.

Westfield High sprinter Rich Forbes uncoils from the blocks in last week's Union County Meet, which Westfield lost to Elizabeth by one-half point. Forbes ran 6.4 in the 60 but was nipped by Elizabeth's Tony Jeffries in the same time.

Not a Good Week For Devil Cigarettes

By Maria Fleming

The first week of February was not a good one for the WHS girls' varsity basketball team. The Cagerettes dropped to 4-12 with losses to Cranford, 46-43, Plainfield, 57-41 and Linden, 41-34.

Cranford dealt the Devils a hard blow when the two teams met last week. Both WHS and CHS played weak ball in the first three periods, with Cranford earning a 33-25 lead.

Fourth quarter action made up for the unusually slow-paced game, however. Noreen Morris dominated fourth quarter play. The senior forward had two layups off two steals before the first minute had ticked away. Morris kept right on chipping away at CHS's lead, sinking a jump shot immediately following her two layups.

Morris' six point streak brought Westfield within range of CHS, bringing the score to 33-31. Senior guard Rosann Fusaro continued the streak with two free throws that knotted the score at 33-33.

Cranford didn't score until four minutes into the period when the team killed the Devil eight point streak with two points of its own.

Over the next four minutes, the two teams battled back and forth, each team attaining and relinquishing the lead at least once more.

With three minutes left Morris eased in another jump shot from outside the key to re-tie the score. Lisa McGowan followed up with two foul shots to put WHS over Cranford 41-37. Westfield didn't score again.

CHS tied it up a final time with two field goals. The last minute saw the Cranford team go to the line twice, sinking three of four free throws — enough to squeak past a disappointed Devil team.

Coach Kehler "Roast" Plans Completed

Sports personalities from throughout the area have volunteered to serve as official roasters of WHS football coach Gary Kehler when the Westfield Booster Association and friends honor Coach Kehler at a testimonial dinner on Saturday, Feb. 19, at 7 p.m. at L'Affaire Restaurant, Route 22 in Mountainside.

Tickets for the event have been moving quickly and are sold on a first come first serve basis from any member of the Booster Association or at the following in town locations: Century 21 Taylor & Love Realtors, Rorden Realtors and Greco Steam Carpet Cleaning. Chairman of the event, Bob Baldwin, asks that anyone who cannot attend but would be interested in making a donation in honor of Coach Kehler contact any of the above ticket sellers.

The list of roasters include Lou Relino, Union HS football coach; Glen Kehler, son of the roaster and former all state running back; Frank Burns, football coach at Rutgers; John Pepe, sportscaster of station WERA; Allan Chin, former mayor of Westfield; Dick Zimmer, long time associate coach and close friend; Al Sidar, president of NJ Association of Colleges and Universities and an ex coach of Gary Kehler at Rutgers; Frank Verducci, coach at Barringer HS; and close friend, golfing instructor of Coach Kehler and soon to retire as athletic director at WHS, John Lay.

The Feb. 19 testimonial will provide a way to say goodbye and thanks to Gary Kehler the coach and hello to the new director of athletics. It will also provide a humorous look at Kehler and his storied career at WHS.

After 22 years of coaching at WHS the Blue Devils never had a losing season and posted a record of 172-26-7 in football, 237-44-10 in wrestling and 299-38-5 in golf, a record that few schools can match.

Things looked good for WHS until the Cards turned the tables on the Devils. In the fourth quarter alone she tallied 14 of WHS's 18 points. She also had three steals, hit 70% of her shots and assisted in several key plays in the period. Morris tallied 22 points for the day, shooting slightly under 60% from the floor.

Earlier last week, the Cagerettes met a sharp Plainfield squad. With a score of 28-17 at the half, Westfield was down but not out. The Devils poured it on in the third, jumping to within one point of the Cardinals. Lisa McGowan sank four field goals for eight points in the quarter.

The last two quarters belonged to Linden, however, as the squad popped in ten field goals and four free throws for 25 points. The Devils scraped together 17 points in the half — not enough to hold the lead or swing the victory.

Although the Devils outran and out-shot Linden, an inability to keep the Tigers off the board really hurt the WHS cause.

Morris and McGowan were the Devil stand-outs last week. In addition to her 22 point performance against Cranford, Morris had ten points in the Fairfield game and eight points against Linden. McGowan also played consistently sound ball. She scored in double figures in all three contests. Her 14 points against the Cardinals and 12 points against Linden were team highs for those two contests. McGowan's 38 points for the week were second only to Morris' 40.

Tomorrow the Cagerettes will face Elizabeth, away at 3:45.

Cagers' Slump Continues

By Dave Coates

The Westfield High School boys' varsity basketball team continued to slump last week, as it lost to Union county powers Plainfield 75-60 and Linden 62-40. The Blue Devils have now lost six in a row, bringing their record to 6-11.

The Devils went up against a red hot Plainfield team early last week, and discovered why the Cardinals are considered to be one of the best teams in the country. Westfield may not be a contender for the county crown, but as Plainfield fans will agree, the Devils may have one of the best players in the county. Chris Rupp saved his best all-around performance for the Cardinals, compiling 29 points, 13 rebounds, and 4 blocked shots. Unfortunately, Rupp was the only bright spot for the Devils.

On the other hand, Plainfield displayed a couple of fine players in Gene Vaughn and Del Harrison. The Vaughn-Harrison show was divided into two acts. Act I, Vaughn scores 15 of his 19 points in the first half, act II, Harrison scores 21 of his 23 points in the third quarter alone. This duo put on a great show, but a show Devil fans would only like to see once.

The Devils hung close in the first half of the game, getting to within striking distance at halftime, 34-27. However, at the start of the second half, Harrison showed amazing long range shooting as the Cardinals outscored the Devils

Dan Hauck draws two Plainfield defenders to him, before dishing the ball off to a wide open Chris Frerecks for an easy basket.

31-14 in the third quarter on their way to an easy 75-60 triumph.

Against Linden, the Blue Devils put up another early fight, but as it turned out, the Tigers were the ones who had the knockout punch. Don Franco, Linden's outstanding guard, and Rupp played to a stand off, scoring 15 and 16 points respectively. But the balanced scoring of Linden is what made the difference. The Tigers had six players with five or more points, while the Devils only had two.

Once again, the Devils hung tough in the first half, down by only five at halftime, 27-22, but once again, the Devils couldn't go the distance. The Tigers outplayed and outscored the Devils in the second half, scoring 35 points to the cagers 18. A big fourth quarter by Linden was the key to the large spread.

Sophomore John Miles continues to complement Rupp in the scoring department, throwing in 14 against Plainfield and 10 against Linden. Rupp has shown tremendous improvement over the last several games; in his last seven games he is averaging close to 20 points a game. He is a leading candidate for all-county honors.

Helpline Volunteers Cited

Several volunteer telephone workers who performed exemplary service during 1982 on Contact We Care and Deaf Contact, were cited recently by the area 24-hour helpline center at its annual meeting in Westfield.

While anonymity of volunteers and callers is rigidly maintained, the center's overall achievements were outstanding according to Executive Director Rev. Wesley Olson and President Weyman Steengrafe. Their reports to the center membership of more than 100 volunteers noted in particular that 37 workers had served more than the required eight hours monthly on the phones. Of these six put in more than 200 hours, and five worked the eight-hour night shift more than 20 times.

Further acknowledgment was accorded the 11 volunteers who in 1982 reached an overall accumulation of 500 hours including prior years. Special recognition was extended to one worker for a total of more than 1000 hours since the center started in 1975.

The center averages 2000 calls a month from area people who are troubled or need help with personal matters. Contact We Care (232-2880) and Deaf Contact (232-3333) depend on donations for their around-the-clock community service. P.O. Box 37, Westfield, N.J. 07090. The center is affiliated with Pres. Reagan last year with a 1982 President's Volunteer Action Award.

Microbiologists may now have an explanation as to why a particular tampon brand (now off the market) seemingly gave rise to toxic-shock syndrome (TSS) in some of its users. The scientists say that a vaginal enzyme breaks down the tampon's super-absorbent material. Carboxymethyl-cellulose breaks down into a sugar product that provides ideal growth environment for staphylococcus aureus, the organism that causes TSS. The breakdown of the tampon material causes it to change from a solid to a gel. Since the gel takes up menstrual fluids along with white blood cells, the white blood cells cannot penetrate the gel to combat the TSS organisms.

Coach Perry Coultas said before the meet, "If we're going to win it, we'll be relying on the depth of our team to do it." As predicted by Coach Coultas, the boys scored in practically every event, consequently scoring the majority of the points.
