

Alcohol/Drug Workshop Slated for January

Twenty-eight elementary school staff members will participate in workshops in January conducted by Gladys Kearns, executive director of the Union County Council on Alcoholism, Inc.

The workshop will include development of skills necessary for the understanding of alcohol and drug-related issues.

"Through these workshops, we will work with staff to help alert them to the problems children live with in today's society," said School Superintendent Laurence F. Greene.

"With a trained team of staff members at each school, we can help children by understanding them better," he stated.

The elementary school teams include principals, teachers, nurses, secretaries and custodians.

The workshops were planned after Mrs. Kearns asked that a workshop be planned in one of the schools as a pilot project.

"Each of our elementary school principals was enthusiastic about the project and wanted to help kids," said Dr. Greene, "so we scheduled one systemwide workshop. If kids need help and we can provide it, we want to do it systemwide rather than at one school."

The workshops will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Board Meeting Room at 302 Elm Street. Franklin, Washington and Wilson Schools will meet on January 17 and 18. Jefferson, Mc-Kinley and Tamaques Schools will meet on January 24 and 25.

Participants include:

Franklin School - Faith Divisek, principal; Maureen Pigott, nurse; Robert Harrison, sixth grade teacher; Gloria Lyng, secretary; and William Yacullo, custodian.

Washington School - D. Joseph Pellicone, principal; Elizabeth Willard, nurse; Joan Horn, fifth grade teacher; Lynne Miller, Librarian; and Carolyn Knox, secretary.

Wilson School - Frank Almroth, principal; Louise Lindsey, fifth grade teacher; Dianne Gray, secretary; and Jorge Concepcion, custodian.

Jefferson School - Holly Slaughter, Acting Principal; Eloise Mason, nurse; Mayzette Stover, fourth grade teacher; Phyllis Basto, secretary; and Patrick DeMaio, custodian.

McKinley School - Charles Jackson, principal; Carolyn Jennings, nurse; Lenore Robina, sixth grade teacher; Phyllis Lisanti, secretary; and John Scama, custodian.

Braynock Appointed Chairperson for School Reorganization

Edward J. Braynock, assistant principal at Edison Junior High School, has been appointed Chairperson of The Steering Committee for K-12 Reorganization.

School Superintendent Laurence F. Greene announced the appointment last week after reporting to the Board of Education that responses to questions about the proposed reorganization have been answered by State Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman.

Mr. Braynock will lead the staff committee in completing plans for the reorganization of the Westfield Public Schools to a K-5, 6-8 and 9-12 organization in September, 1987. Presently the schools are set up with kindergarten through sixth grades in six elementary schools, seventh through ninth grades in two junior high schools and one three-year high school. The new organization would continue elementary schools for grades kindergarten through five and the high school for four grades (nine through twelve) and would include two intermediate schools for grades six through eight.

Since the intermediate schools would be new to the community, much work has been accomplished by the Steering Committee and its sub-committees. For instance the School Board approved a "Philosophy of an Intermediate School" in October, 1982; approved ten Goals of an Intermediate School in October, 1982; approved curriculum sequences for sixth, seventh and eighth grade students in an Intermediate School in March, 1983; approved the social studies sequence for grades five through nine in October, 1983; and recommended the target date of September, 1987 for the reorganization.

"Much work has been done by the staff in planning the reorganization," said Dr. Greene, adding "Much more needs to be done."

Still to be done, he pointed out, are five areas:

- 1) The delivery of instruction — or how will sixth grade students be taught (in self-contained classrooms or in a departmentalized manner or by a team?) and how will seventh and eighth grade students be taught?
- 2) Curriculum — will there be additional courses offered (inroduction to foreign language, science labs for sixth grade students?) or changes in the present curriculum?

3) Staff Development — will training be needed for the staff, and if so, how will it be accomplished?

4) Facilities — any modifications needed at Edison or Roosevelt Schools?

5) Fiscal Restraints — "We do not have all the monies in the world to do whatever we want to," Dr. Greene said. "We are seeking a balance between the best system possible at a cost that is not prohibitive."

Mr. Braynock has been a school administrator in Westfield since 1967 when he came here as assistant principal at Roosevelt Junior High School where he remained until 1982 when he was transferred as assistant principal to Edison Junior High School.

Other members of the Steering Committee are: Bob Hild, Camille Kahn, Peggy Krychowecy, Joseph Pellicone, David Rock, Valerie Torquati, Sally Vejnaska and Eugene Voll, principal of Roosevelt Junior High School, who was appointed to the committee this year.

Mr. Braynock replaces M. Evelyn Maloney as chairperson of the committee. Miss Maloney retired in September.

Union County Issues Unsafe Ice Skating Warning

The Union County Department of Parks and Recreation and the Union County Police want to warn residents of the danger in ice skating on lakes and rivers that may look frozen, but are unsafe.

"Skating Today" signs will be posted if the county lake, river or pond is frozen enough for ice skating, according to Charles Sigmund, Assistant Director of the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation.

A 24-hour hotline is available for information on natural ice skating as well as skating at the Warinanco Park Skating Center. Residents can call 241-3262, seven days a week.

Red Cross Kicks Off Famine Relief Campaign

The Red Cross will launch a nationwide campaign Sunday to support relief efforts for the starvation in Africa.

The famine is sweeping through Africa. Each day thousands of men, women and children die. They are victims of malnutrition resulting from the worst drought conditions to ravage Africa in nearly 200 years. It is estimated that 40,000 people per month are dying and more than 3,000,000 are homeless. The situation endangers 185 million people.

Since many of the affected countries are land-locked, transportation and distribution of food and medical supplies can only be managed over primitive roads by trucks or animals. Due to civil strife, the Red Cross is many times the only agency allowed to conduct relief operations.

The Red Cross, in cooperation with the League of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies, has issued a world-wide request for funds for emergency relief operations. Donations will purchase food and medical supplies, obtain four-wheel drive vehicles and airlift services — and provide trained medical and relief personnel.

The theme of the campaign, "Help Pick Up the Tab," is based on the idea that a contribution of $4 can feed an African child for one month.

The effects of contributions will last beyond any fiscal or calendar year. Water wells dug by these funds will continue to yield; food production programs begun now will continue to provide goods and children saved from starvation now can become productive citizens of the world for decades to come.

"Americans can be assured," said Gertrude A. Elster, executive director of the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the Red Cross, "that their contributions to the local Chapter are turned over to the national organization for relief operations and that 100% of the funds received are used for this purpose."

Individuals and groups wishing to assist the local Red Cross should send their contributions to the American Red Cross, 321 Elm St., Westfield, 07090, marked "African Famine Relief."

WHS Marching Band Show

The Westfield High School Marching Band will perform their award-winning season show for the Cosmos indoor soccer game at the Brendan Byrne Arena on Wednesday evening, Jan. 9.

The Band Parent Association is sponsoring direct bus service to the Meadowlands. Anyone interested in purchasing tickets may contact the high school office.

Board of Health To Meet

The Westfield Board of Health meeting will be held on Monday, Jan. 7, at 5:30 p.m. The meeting will be held in the Council Conference Room, located on the first floor of the Westfield Municipal Building, 425 E. Broad St.

The meeting's agenda will be distributed at that time.

Bike Inspection

At Library

Bicycle inspection will be conducted by the Police Department Saturday, Jan. 5 in the town library parking lot. Inspection hours will be 9 a.m. to noon.

Officer Ed Belford, president of the Policemen's Benevolent Association Local #9, presents their contribution to Linda Maggio, executive director of the United Fund of Westfield for the 1984 campaign. "We are most grateful for the continuing generosity of the PBA and most fortunate to have their commitment," Maggio said. "The vital programs and services of our member agencies can only continue because of help like this. We hope all Westfielders will join with the PBA and support our effort. We need almost $28,000 to reach our goal of $480,000 to assure each agency of receiving the total allocation promised by the United Fund. During this holiday season, we thank those residents who have responded to our appeal. If you have not, we urge you to do so today. On behalf of the United Fund and our member agencies, we wish everyone the very best in the New Year."

Elementary Schools to Close Early Jan. 9

Westfield's six public elementary schools will close at the end of a four-hour session on Wednesday, Jan. 9, so that staff members can participate in an inservice program called "Here Today, Here Tomorrow."

The teacher training workshop, sponsored by the Conservation and Environmental Studies Center, Inc., deals with recycling energy and solid waste.

The workshop was coordinated by Joan Buhendorf, Union County Recycling Coordinator and V.

Eugene Vivian, director of research at Conservation and Environmental Studies Center in Browns Mills.

Ninety-four teachers are scheduled to participate in the inservice workshop.

Elementary schools will close at 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Both morning and afternoon kindergarten classes will meet from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on that day. Secondary schools will be in session the regular full day.

Board of Education Meeting Rescheduled

The Westfield Board of Education will hold its January formal public business meeting at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 8 in the Board Meeting Room at 302 Elm St.

The January meeting was originally scheduled for Tuesday, Jan. 15; however, since Jan. 15 is a school holiday, commemorating Martin Luther King's birthday, the meeting was changed to Jan. 8.

The meeting is open to the public, with time for public input on any agenda item at the beginning of the meeting and time for public input at the end of the meeting.

For information on the agenda, contact the Board of Education Business Office, ext. 380 Monday and Tuesday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

4th Annual Para-Transit Christmas Meeting

George Albanese, commissioner of the N.J. Department of Human Services, spoke at the fourth annual Union County Para-Transit Christmas Meeting, held recently at the Plainfield Country Club.

Albanese called the Para-Transit Unit, a division of the Union County Department of Human Services, "the best para-transit system in the state."

The former Union County manager added that, "other counties that wanted to start a para-transit system came to Union County for information."

The Union County Para-Transit System, in its sixth year of operation, provides free transportation to the elderly, disabled and transportation-disadvantaged residents of the county.

Library Borrowing Policy Expands

As of Jan. 1, 1985, patrons of the Westfield Memorial Library can use their library cards to borrow material from selected public libraries in the area. Participating libraries include Clark, Cranford, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Summit, Scotch Plains and Mountainside. A complete list of these libraries with addresses and telephone numbers may be obtained at the Westfield Memorial Library circulation desk.

When borrowing from another library, it is only necessary to present a valid library card. The material may be returned to any library in the network who will then assume responsibility for returning it to the home library. The borrowing policy will be governed by the lending library.

Early Planning Will Locate Local Comet Watchers on Two Continents

When Halley's Comet whips around the sun in April of 1986, members of Amateur Astronomers, Inc., based at Union County College, will be watching it from two separate locations: Chile and Australia.

Both observation sites have been chosen because existing conditions indicate almost perfect viewing of the phenomenon, according to the Rev. Allen Tinker, the AAI'er who is in charge of the Chile portion of the "Halley Watch."

The Rev. Tinker made one reconnaissance trip to Chile this summer and plans to make another early in 1985. It was he who chose the site in Chile and he will make the preparations for the 50 or so amateur astronomers who will journey there to observe and photograph the comet as it streaks past the Earth on its once-every-76-year appearance.

The Chilean location, about 250 miles north of Santiago, was selected for a number of reasons, the Rev. Tinker said, the main one being that it is the location of the largest observatory south of the Equator in the Southern Hemisphere.

"In addition to having the facilities of the Cerro Tololo Inter-American Observatory as our base, the climate in Chile is very dry, there are no clouds, and very little rain. More importantly, the atmosphere is very clear, with no smog or light pollution," the Rev. Tinker said. And, he added, Chile is due South of New York so there will be no time changes to concern the astronomers.

On his second trip, the Rev. Tinker will visit a number of places in Chile, checking out everything from motel accommodations to transportation back and forth to the observation site, which is over 7,000 ft. up in the Andes Mountains.

He will attend to every detail of preparing for the comet's appearance, down to providing viewers with folding lawn chairs. These will be needed, the Rev. Tinker explained, because comets do not move quickly like shooting stars but do change position against the starry background. Therefore, observers will be stretching their necks heavenward for an hour or so as they watch the comet's progress through the skies. The astronomers will photograph not only the comet itself but also other sky objects which cannot be seen in New Jersey. Some are below our horizon and are never visible this far north.

Another 50 members of AAI have signed up to go on the Australian "comet chase," according to Dave Kuchinsky of Scotch Plains, who is coordinating that part of the trip. Mrs. Beth Yull of New York City, also a member of the planning committee who owns a travel agency, visited the "down under" continent this summer and while there she set up an itinerary, worked out travel logistics and obtained names of people in the vicinity to be contacted beforehand.

The site in Australia was also chosen because the conditions for observing are near-perfect, especially since there is no light pollution at all. Ayers Rock, in the central part of the continent, is not a large town but is near an optical observatory and will provide fairly good housing facilities for the astronomers. It is also considered "almost one of the wonders of the world," Kuchinsky said, "because of the exquisitely beautiful sunrises and sunsets there."

Kuchinsky will return to Australia early next year to determine the exact viewing site, decide how to set up equipment, and make other arrangements. It will be fall in that part of the world and the comet is expected to rise around 7 a.m. Observers will have to get up at 4 in the morning to get things in order before the sunrise to view the comet in a dark sky.

"Unless there are insomniacs along, there will be some difficulty in choosing between watching for the comet and taking in the sun's spectacular sky show," according to Kuchinsky.

"We will be watching for the comet to rise from the East but it will look as though it's coming from the West," Kuchinsky pointed out. They will have crossed the International Date Line and the comet will appear a day later than in Chile but actually earlier by nine or ten hours. For non-astronomers, calculations of that nature become "astronomical," as Mr. Kuchinsky admitted.

Unlike the planets which move in a predictable pattern, comets, which occasionally flash through the heavens, were once believed to be sent by the gods as warnings of coming disasters. Then the British astronomer Edmund Halley, took an interest in the bright comet which appeared in 1682. After nearly 25 years of study and research, Halley predicted that the comet would reappear in 1758, and verified other previous years when it had appeared. Although Halley died before the comet came back again, it was named in his honor.

Members of Amateur Astronomers, Inc., who jointly operate the Sperry Observatory with Union County College in Cranford, intend to be among those studying Halley's Comet to help them better understand the birth and evolution of the solar system.

Comet Halley (circled) was detected for the first time on its current journey toward the sun on Oct. 16, 1982, by astronomers at the California Institute of Technology. The astronomers used an advanced electronic detector system and the 200-inch Hale telescope at Palomar Observatory. On Sept. 22, 1984, Japanese comet-watcher Tsutomu Seki became the first amateur astronomer to photograph Halley's Comet.

"Magic Carpet" Registration

Registration for "Magic Carpet Story Time" in the Children's Department of the Westfield Memorial Library will be held Jan. 10 through Jan. 25. Children must be registered in person and be library members. Designed for boys and girls in kindergarten through second grade, the sessions will meet Thursdays, Feb. 7 through Mar. 28 (except Feb. 21) from 3:45 to 4:30 p.m. in the Hopkins Room.

You're never too old to play Santa, as was shown this season by William Townsend, who lives at Ashbrook Nursing Home in Scotch Plains. Full of the spirit of love and giving, the 83-year old distributed gifts to the more than 200 children who paid holiday visits to Ashbrook and the Grand St. YMCA Pre-school Kiddie House. Presents were prepared by the 120 men and women living at the nursing home, 1610 Raritan Rd.

"Residents of the Union County area who receive Social Security checks will receive a new form from the Social Security Administration in the mail during January," according to John H. McCutcheon, manager of the Social Security office in Elizabeth.

"The information on the form will be used to help beneficiaries determine if they must pay an income tax on their benefits under a recent change in the law," McCutcheon said.

"Only ten percent of those people receiving Social Security checks will have to pay any income tax on their benefits. If you are single, you will pay no tax if all of your income, including one half of your Social Security benefits, is under $25,000, or under $32,000 if you are married, including one half of your combined benefits," he said.

McCutcheon added that "If you have any questions about the statements, which could be received by the end of January 1985, call us at toll free number, 1-800-200-1000. If you have questions about payment of taxes, call the Internal Revenue Service at 622-0600."

"Try not to visit our office. We'll be very crowded. Use your telephone in the comfort of your home," McCutcheon concluded.

Real Estate as a Career

Have you ever considered real estate as a career? As in other professions, not everyone is cut out to be a real estate agent, according to Betty Thiel, president of the Westfield Board of Realtors. Persons considering such a career should weigh their motivation and personal qualifications before making any decisions.

Answer the following questions as honestly as you can:

- Are you able to live on your financial assets for three months more, or are you dependent on a monthly paycheck to make ends meet?

- Are you sufficiently disciplined to refrain from spending a large commission check on the premise that you might not see another for several months?

- Would you be discouraged if your closing falls through and the check you counted on didn't materialize?

- Are you prepared to dash out of the house at 10:30 on a Sunday night to present a contract?

- Are you willing to forego a long awaited evening out or an important social event to obtain that sale or listing you have pursued for so long?

- Are you prepared to have the door slammed in your face as you announce that you are the neighborhood real estate professional "just stopping by to get acquainted"?

If the answers to these questions present you with problems, perhaps you should reconsider. Real estate is an excellent profession, but like others, it is not for everyone — especially the weak-willed or lazy.

Who, then, is a good candidate for this demanding field? The person who is independent, well organized, hardworking and financially secure. The individual who is willing to work long hours and enjoys making contacts with the public and who can view rejection as a challenge rather than a personal affront. The person who is willing to invest time and money in education, and who does not depend on such corporate benefits as paid vacations and holidays, medical and dental insurance, sick days and company-paid social security and unemployment benefits.

If this description fits you, then, by all means, pursue a real estate career. You may wish to interview some agents or take a real estate seminar at a local college before you begin to study for your real estate license.

A career in real estate is not a hobby or pastime. The real estate profession devotes as many and often more hours to their profession as a doctor, nurse or attorney, the Westfield Board of realtors said.

Featured in the display case at the Westfield Memorial Library is a collection of Victorian holiday memorabilia provided by Carla Capuano, standing, and Tina Ventimilia, proprietors of T.L.C., a company specializing in estate and house sales.

Garbage by the Pound?

It's been 40 or more years since New Jersey became one of the first states to outlaw the traditional garbage dump and demand that solid waste go to a "sanitary landfill," so that it would be covered over with earth and not left to rot in the sunshine.

That was a great forward step in its day, and the landfill went unchanged until only about a decade ago when the still-infant state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) began to formulate tighter regulations about where landfills should be put, what could be deposited therein and when they should be closed.

The DEP pioneered with those regulations, just as an earlier generation pioneered with the landfill concept. The trouble is, DEP could control new landfills, and it could dictate that old ones close when they reached a DEP-ordained capacity, but it could do nothing about controlling the locations of those which existed in pre-DEP days.

That category covers practically every landfill in New Jersey, and just about all of them would fail to meet DEP criteria, locationwise, if they were proposed today. Most are in the wrong places in terms of polluting surface and underground waters with leachate, for example. All will have to be closed sooner or later.

Meanwhile, the public is so justifiably upset about pollution (which to one degree or another we all allowed to happen before society got wise to what it was doing) that DEP is finding it impossible to find places for more landfills. Yet we produce more solid waste than ever, and it has to go someplace.

What we've got to do is reduce the volume of solid waste destined for landfills, either by salvaging recyclables from our waste stream or burning the waste to recover energy. In either case, a residue will still have to be landfilled.

Aside from saving precious resources and vast amounts of energy which are used to fabricate goods from virgin materials, recycling obviously spells less material for landfilling. And New Jersey has one of the country's best state recycling plans, and a law which monetarily rewards recyclers and towns which promote recycling seems to be working. But recycling needs more of a boost.

This calls for changes in the way we do our garbage business. Right now, the householder who reduces his or her waste volume by recycling can look next door and see the neighbor putting out many times as much waste. Yet both pay the same disposal bill, whether they hire a private hauler or the town takes it away.

It's time we generators of waste were being charged by volume so the recycler pays less than the profligate throwaway types. And it's time that the garbage hauler, private or municipal, finds it advantageous to get into the recycling business.

As usual there are institutional barriers to recycling. The Board of Public Utilities (BPU) regulates the disposal rates we pay. BPU is not closely related to DEP, which regulates landfills. Both DEP and the state Department of Energy (DOE) share the state Office of Recycling. Despite generally successful bureaucratic attempts at ending confusion, some conflicts need to be resolved.

The answers may be embodied in legislation (A-3453) introduced by Assemblyman Harry A. McEnroe of Essex County. His bill would encourage recycling by having the BPU require private haulers to charge on a volume basis. About a third of the towns in the state use private haulers and collectors.

It would also let the collectors make an honest buck through recycling instead of, as they currently fear, having such profits charged against their solid waste tariffs. It would also make permanent the present six cents per cubic yard recycling tax on landfilled waste, due to expire at the end of 1986.

That latter touch would forever mean the more waste landfilled the more tax to be paid, while the more recycling that gets done, the more state recycling grants to be forthcoming. The towns that recycle would be rewarded by the towns that do not!

FAMILY EXPRESSES THANKS

To the Editor:

Our family would like to express its profound thanks to the many hundreds of people of this community who have been a source of solace and strength to us on the loss of our son and brother, Chris.

At a time like this, one is acutely aware of the benefits of close ties to one's neighbor, community and church. Perhaps undue attention is given to problems and shortcomings of youth today. We can attest that if the young people we know are any indication, there is plenty of room for faith in the future.

WESTFIELD P.D. COMMENDED

To the Editor:

I want to commend Chief James F. Moran and the Westfield Police Department for the thoughtful and sensitive procedure they used when it becomes necessary for them to inform a family of the accidental death of one of its members.

The procedure involves several steps. First, the police contact neighbors and, where appropriate, the rabbi, priest, or minister of the family with the news and ask them to stand by. Then the police contact the supervisors of family members and ask the supervisors to escort or drive the members safely home. Meanwhile, the police alert neighbors and clergy to meet the family members when they arrive at home. Only then, when the family members are in their own home, surrounded by friends, do the police officers tell the family what has happened and make available as much detail as they know.

There is no good way to bring any family the news of the sudden death of one of its members. But some ways are better than others. The Westfield Police Department has the best. I have ever seen or heard of. I thank and commend them for that.

Legg Mason's Trust Raises Value

Total assets in Legg Mason Wood Walker's mutual fund, The Value Trust, reached $100 million at the close of stock market trading, Dec. 14, John F. Curley, Jr., president of the fund, announced. The 2 1/2 year-old fund, which began with a $100,000 investment by Legg Mason in 1982, now has more than 15,000 shareholders.

The Trust was recently cited by Lipper Analytical Services, Inc., as achieving the best investment record among all mutual funds with similar investment objectives during the period May 31, 1982 through Sept. 30.

The Trust's total return during the period was 110.4%, compared to an average return of 53.2% for the funds as a group.

Mr. Curley attributes the Trust's success to Legg Mason's investment philosophy called "the value approach to investing." "The approach follows investment precepts," Mr. Curley said. "It emphasizes purchase of a diversified portfolio of common stocks of sound companies which are temporarily out of favor. Value stocks usually have low price-earnings multiples when purchased, and the objective is to sell at higher prices when their value is finally recognized in the marketplace."

Ernest C. Kiehne, Chairman of Legg Mason's Investment Policy Committee, manages the Trust's portfolio. Investments with the assistance of securities analysts in Legg Mason's Research Department.

Legg Mason provides securities brokerage, investment banking and other financial services through Legg Mason Wood Walker, Inc.

Report from Washington

By Congressman

Matt Rheldo

7th District, New Jersey

Controversial spending and tax issues combined with thorny problems left over from last year will spark plenty of political fireworks when the 98th Congress gets down to serious business later this month.

The budget deficit and tax issues are two of the principle items on the legislative agenda and will dominate the early days of the session. While the Administration has unveiled its plan to attack the deficit through sharp cuts in spending, many of the proposals are extremely controversial and will encounter stiff resistance, especially in the Democratic-controlled House. The first real challenge will come when the President delivers his budget to Congress later this month.

As it now stands, the deficit ranks as the most pressing economic issue facing the new Congress and only through bipartisan cooperation can we expect to develop a plan that will have the support to get through both houses. In the absence of substantial changes, the deficit could reach $210 billion in fiscal year 1986 and seriously threaten continued economic growth.

In reducing the level of red ink, no part of the budget can be sacrosanct, and that includes defense. Military appropriations will be the subject of heated floor debates, especially continued funding for the MX missile, anti-satellite weapons and other big ticket items on the Pentagon's shopping list. Cuts will have to be made in defense spending, and one way to do this without seriously affecting national security is by stretching out some of the weapons procurement programs.

Only after Congress comes to grips with the deficit can serious consideration be given to the various proposals for overhauling the federal income tax system. While proposals have been floated for making the system simpler and fairer, it is a complex matter, and Congress must proceed cautiously to ensure that it does not adopt reforms that turn out to be less desirable than the tax system now in place. After the merits of each plan have been fully aired and weighed can we expect to come up with a plan that would have the support of the American people.

The new Congress will also have to come to grips with several matters left over from the last Congress. These include legislation overhauling the nation's immigration laws, a bill releasing interstate highway funds, and a renewal of the Export Administration Act which controls U.S. shipments abroad to protect national security.

Also lost in the rush to adjourn last year and likely to resurface in the new session is the civil rights measure overturning the Supreme Court's Grove City decision, which narrowed the reach of major anti-discrimination laws.

Other issues of particular importance to New Jersey are the extension of Superfund to clean up the nation's worst hazardous waste dumps and reauthorization of the Clean Water and Clean Air acts. While it appears that Superfund will be extended, the outlook is less favorable for passage of tough new Clean Air and Water acts. Both bills face considerable opposition.

I strongly support renewal of the Superfund program for another five years with an increase in funding. While another bid can be expected to push through a strengthened Clean Air Act with an acid rain provision, it is unclear whether there is enough support to get the measure enacted into law. I offered an acid rain bill in the last Congress and intend to reintroduce it in this session.

Another issue expected to be taken up early in the session is the freeze on interstate highway funds. About $7.23 billion in highway trust funds earmarked for the states has been funding for a mull after serious disagreements developed over two high-cost road projects viewed by

Local Students to Assist WSO Conductor

Westfield High School music students Traci Brown, Mia Ginsberg and Linda Mike were interviewed by Westfield Symphony music director Brad Keimach, and selected to assist him at rehearsals and concerts during the orchestra's 1984-85 season. The new educational program which recognizes talent in Westfield's young musicians was initiated this fall as a joint project with the Fine Arts Department of the Westfield Public Schools.

"These students who will be involved in all aspects of concert production and performance, provide a valuable service to the orchestra while they enjoy the unique opportunity to work with a professional symphony orchestra," comments Mr. Keimach. "This is another example of the Westfield Symphony's commitment to education and enrichment in the community, and I am pleased to be associated with the program."

Traci Brown, the assistant for the April 13 concert which features Peter Winograd performing Sibelius, is in the 11th grade.

She has played cello for the past four years, having studied in Buffalo, N.Y. and at the Westfield Summer Workshop with Mr. Philipone. She is currently working with Mr. Shapiro as a member of the WSO orchestra.

Mia Ginsberg is recognized as a pianist and accompanist for theatre groups, school and church choirs and as an actress appearing in many local productions. This year she is the Junior/Senior Choir president, secretary of the junior Music Club of Westfield and a member of Mask and Mime Dramatic Club. She was the winner of the N.J. Mozart Competition at Monmouth College in 1983 and the Russell E. Lanning Competition (1983-1984). She has studied with Sondra Tammam of Westfield. Mia will assist Mr. Keimach at the June 2 complete concert performance of Verdi's "Otello."

Linda Mike, whose principal instrument is the bassoon, is a member of the Westfield Wind Ensemble, which traveled and performed throughout Europe this past summer. She is also a member of the WSO Marching Band (in which she plays the tuba) and plays tenor saxophone and bassoon with the symphonic band orchestra, jazz band, brass quartet and Blue Rock Band at the high school. She is a past winner of the Burris Instrumental Award given by the Roosevelt Junior High School Music Department. She continues to study bassoon and tenor saxophone with John Josa. Linda is assistant to the conductor for the Jan. 18 concert which features a fully-staged performance of Stravinsky's "Soldier's Tale" with the Westfield Symphony Chamber Players.

For further information about the remaining three concerts in the Westfield Symphony's 1984-85 season, contact the orchestra at P.O. Box 491, Westfield, N.J. 07091.

WHS Spanish Club Forms Honor Society

This year the Spanish Club at WHS has decided to form a Spanish Honor Society or Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica. This honor society will be open to any member of the Spanish Club who has an "A" or better average over a period of six consecutive marking periods (one and a half years of Spanish Study).

Spanish Club advisor Suzanne Jacobus, who is a member of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese, recommended the idea of the honor society to her club officers. Jacobus feels the purpose of this honor society, "is not only to praise the exemplary student, but encourage the student to continue their studies as well as promote the study of Spanish to other students."

The candidates will be chosen after mid-year exams, but the actual induction will not take place until early March. The Spanish Honor Society will be added to the many chapters around the nation. WHS's chapter has been named "Pensativa." The chapter will give out 12 scholarships to college-bound seniors and 4 travel awards to Spain, Mexico and other parts of Latin America. The members of the Spanish Honor Society will also be eligible to submit their Spanish writing talents for publication in the national high school Spanish literary magazine and give them the opportunity to compete in the national Spanish exam.

Board of Realtors Commends Neighborhood Watch Program

While many people complain about crime, not enough of them are doing something about it according to Betty Thiel, president of the Westfield Board of Realtors. "No one is suggesting that anyone take the law into their own hands, but by reporting suspicious activities to the law, it's possible to get good results.

According to the Board of Realtors, people in many neighborhoods have organized "Neighborhood Watch Groups" all over the country.

The groups work with law enforcement officials and have been effective in reducing crime. In a watch group, volunteers comb the area when crime is most likely to occur, generally after dark. This usually involves two people who cruise the neighborhood she said.

"No one takes any direct action against a potential criminal, but suspicious activities are reported to police. Most walkers thoroughly check out the neighborhood, usually on one-hour shifts. They check in with a volunteer station to verify that everything is okay.

"The cost of maintaining a Neighborhood Watch Group is relatively low. A good pair of CB walkie-talkies, preferably with rechargeable batteries, and a sturdy flashlight are the only start up costs involved. While there will be some occasional need for maintenance and batteries, the largest cost is in the time involved in setting up a schedule and going out on the watches. In groups with many volunteers, it takes only an hour of time every couple of weeks. Many groups rotate the "base station" responsibilities, which generally involves evenings for a week at a time."

"If you care about theft, break-ins or violence in your neighborhood," Mrs. Thiel said, the board encourages you to get involved. The groups are effective in reducing crime. If there is no Neighborhood Watch Group in your area, contact the local police.

Schools Help Students Cope with Alcoholism

While the use of most drugs by teenagers has dropped somewhat, the use of alcohol remains high. And among the general population, one person in 10 suffers from alcoholism. The impact of both these alcohol-related concerns is the topic of an NJEA Review look at how schools can help students cope with the illness of alcoholism.

"The American Medical Association defines alcoholism as a disease which affects a person physically, emotionally, and mentally," notes the Review.

Recognizing those effects on a student is the first step in providing individual help. The symptoms include such things as problems in school, physical complaints, blaming others for one's difficulties, lying, and sudden financial problems or stealing.

But it isn't only personal abuse that causes problems for children. Since "alcoholism is now being recognized as a family disease," says the Review, it is equally important to provide counseling to students who live with an alcoholic.

"The non-alcoholic parent and children react by swinging with the alcoholic's moods. Therefore," the Review points out, "the family is never constant, but in constant turmoil." The anxieties of the non-alcoholic parent may actually turn him or her into "the major disturbing factor" for the child.

What can the school do? A former New Jersey teacher who is also a delegate to the Al-Anon World Service Conference says it is difficult to help if the family denies the problem. She recommends, however, letting parents know of problems the child is having in school, giving the child "a sense of order and training which is lacking at home," and urging a teenager to attend Alateen, which provides help for teenagers in understanding and coping with an alcoholic parent.

Schools can, and do, offer specific programs, both for those who abuse alcohol and those who suffer the effects of alcoholism in the family. One example is the Tom River Alcohol and Substance Abuse Program (ASAP).

Led by an advisory group that includes community members as well as school staff members, the program has four elements: alcohol education, a peer education program, a student assistance program, and a "crossroads" program for students who have actually gotten into trouble.

Formal units on alcohol are woven into the health curriculum in seventh grade, with sections in fifth and sixth grades.

The peer education program resulted from brainstorming by students themselves. High school students, who receive training on issues related to substance abuse, work in pairs as they present information and hold discussions with fifth graders.

The Students Assistance Program, staffed by two ASAP counselors, tries to help kids who, individually or through their family, are suffering the effects of alcoholism.

Has this innovative and comprehensive program had any effect? An advisory council member reports, "The last survey of student attitudes towards drugs and alcohol shows students are really thinking more about the harmful effects these substances have on them. We find these signs encouraging."

Workshop

Tuller, principal; Jean Harmsen, fifth grade teacher; Bebe Asman, librarian; and Thomas Brown, custodian.

After the workshops, Dr. Greene explained, the trained team in each elementary school will work with other staff members to share with them what was learned at the workshop.

He said that the program was planned just for elementary schools because the high school has, in place, a Crisis Intervention Team of staff members trained to help students. Programs will be planned for the two junior high schools.

Cagers Defeat Scotch Plains And Irvington

By Bill Pendak

The WHS boys' varsity basketball team had a successful 2-0 week as the Blue Devils defeated both Scotch Plains and Irvington in close contests.

In the Dec. 27 contest against Scotch Plains, the Raiders led virtually the entire first half. Scotch Plains led 14-10 after the first quarter as Mike Brown led the Raiders with six points. Scotch Plains opened its lead to five points at halftime 27-22 as the Raiders played great defense in limiting Westfield to five baskets and 12 points in the second quarter.

WHS got its offense in gear in the second half as the Blue Devils scored 41 points behind the scoring of Johnnie Miles, Jeff Wade, and Steve Barden. Miles, who led WHS with 22 points, scored 20 of those points in the second half. Wade connected for 10 second half points and Barden added seven.

The Blue Devils outscored Scotch Plains 23-16 during the third quarter to take a 45-43 lead after three quarters.

In what has become the case all season long, the game went down to the wire. With Reggie James scoring eight points and Bill McCoy, who led the Raiders with 21 points, contributing seven, Scotch Plains stayed close.

Leading by one point 60-59, WHS's Steve Weinstein was fouled, but even though he converted on only the first free-throw, he grabbed the rebound off his missed second FT. Wade, who scored 20 points and added five assists, sank two FTs to seal WHS's 63-61 victory.

The Blue Devils then hosted the Irvington Campers on Dec. 29 and held on for a 79-74 triumph.

The 79 points topped WHS' season-high of 70 scored against Union Catholic. Miles scored 32 points, hitting on 13 field goals. Wade added 12 and Mike Walsh contributed 11 points. This marked the sixth time out of seven games this season that Miles and Wade had combined to score a majority of the team's points.

In outscoring the Campers 27-17 in the second quarter, WHS opened up a 41-31 halftime lead. Miles scored eight points to again pace the scoring, but Walsh also played a major role as he continually grabbed offensive rebounds and then converted seven of eight FTs from the line.

During the third quarter, Irvington closed the gap as Eddie Ingram poured in 12 points. His jumper near the end of the third quarter made the score 56-52. WHS led 60-54 after three quarters of play.

During the last quarter, Irvington came even closer. With 1:56 remaining, Ingram hit a FT to narrow the score to 71-68. Irvington again narrowed it to three points 73-70, but Miles hit two crucial FTs to ice the game.

WHS hit on 11 of 12 FTs during the fourth quarter. Miles added a season-high 14 rebounds and Wade dished out five assists. The (43) Blue Devils open the New Year at Plainfield on Jan. 3 at 3:45 p.m.

Russian Jewry Lecture In Plainfield

Dr. Andre Ungar will lecture on Russian Jewry at Temple Shalom, 815 W. 7th St., Plainfield, on four consecutive Sunday mornings, beginning Jan. 6, 10:30 to 12 noon. These free lectures are sponsored by the temple's Adult Education Department, and the community is invited to attend.

Jan. 6 - "Before the Deluge"
- Russian Jewry from Khazars to 1905.

Jan. 13 - "The Revolution" - Kerensky, Trotsky, Lenin, etc., to 1936.

Jan. 20 - "Under 'Tsar'

Stalin" - to 1953.
Jan. 27 - "Krushchev, Kissinger, etc." - the new diaspora.
Dr. Ungar was born in Hungary. He received his Ph.D. in philosophy from the University of London in 1954, when he was ordained as a rabbi by the late Dr. Leo Baeck. He served at Temple Israel, Port Elizabeth, South Africa from 1955-57, at which time he was expelled from the country because of his public opposition to racial discrimination. Dr. Ungar teaches at the New School for Social Research and New York University.

Adult Ed Series at Presbyterian Church

The 1985 Adult Education Program at the Presbyterian Church in Westfield will begin the year with an exciting new series entitled: "Responding to the Parables of Jesus". The church's staff will play a major role in teaching and participants to actively understand and interact with the Parables' message.

The four-part series will begin on January 6 at 9:00 a.m. with Dr. Jeffrey Wampler, Senior Minister of the Church, providing a general introduction to the parables. The introduction will explore the parable form, the uses to which Jesus and evangelists put the parables, and several different methods of interpretation which the church has used across the years.

On Jan. 13, Dr. Elizabeth Platt will begin the more in depth discussion of specific parables, and will relate several parables to what's happening in our world today. On Jan. 20 Mr. James Cole will guide an analysis and discussion of the "Last Judgement Parable". Finally, on Jan. 27 there will be small group discussions of four parables with Jeff Wampler, Elizabeth Platt,
Dick Massey and Shevawn
Duvall acting as group leaders.

The series promises to launch the 1985 program with great inspiration. Please come all four Sundays at 9:00 a.m. to the Assembly Hall, Presbyterian Church in Westfield, 140 Mountain Ave.

Members of the Presbyterian Church in Westfield serve others in a great number of places all over the world. Dr. Jeffrey R. Wampler,
all the places where the church has interests.

There is a long list of countries from whom the International Gift Sale Committee buys items for its annual sale. These items are made by refugees who can become self-sufficient with the sale of their handicrafts.

On the map also are the fraternal workers who have been affiliated with the church through the years. A fraternal worker is a minister who comes from another country to serve the Westfield church.
Members of the church keep in touch with these workers regularly.

A third category of world influence are people and institutions which are given financial support in the operational budget of the church. The generosity of the members allows much help locally, regionally, nationally and world-wide.

Together with the above groups and individuals, the members of the church generously support a special giving project called One Great Hour of Sharing. That, plus support for Church World Service, helps people all over the world in times of disaster both natural and man-made.

"The map project clearly demonstrates the interdependence of Christians all over the world and we are proud of our church's contributions" remarked Dr. Wampler.

Mrs. Brown to Address GSWF

Mrs. Jessie Plant Brown of Westfield, coordinator of the Oral History Program of the Westfield Historical Society will be the featured speaker at the Jan. 10 meeting of the Genealogical Society of the West Fields, to be held at 1 p.m. in the Waterk Room of the Westfield Memorial Library. In addition to members and their guests, all other interested persons will be welcomed.

Speaking on "The Oral History Program of the Westfield Historical Society," Mrs. Brown will discuss the purpose, inception and methods of the program and also play selected portions of taped interviews with several individuals who have spent fifty years in Westfield. The intent of the GSWF program is to encourage genealogists to get started on oral history programs of their own families, capturing on tape the voices and reminiscences of older family members.

As an executive member of the Bicentennial Committee for Westfield, Mrs. Brown helped create and manage the Bicentennial Center at the north side railroad station until its closing in 1980. She is also a charter member of the Miller-Cory Association, a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Westfield, a member of Atlas Chapter No. 99 Order of Eastern Star, and a member of the First Congregational Church. She is a past president of the Westfield Rescue Squad Auxiliary and a past president of both the Fortnightly Group and the Junior Woman's Club of Westfield.

Born in Hartford, CT, Mrs. Brown moved to Westfield with her parents at age three and later became a member of the first Girl Scout troop in Westfield, "Daisy I." She continued her support of scouting by becoming a leader and co-leader of Brownie and Girl Scout troops in the Washington Rock Scout Coun-oil and still retains an associate status in the Council, helping with badge work relative to the history of Westfield.

After completing her education at the New York School of Design, Mrs. Brown joined the staff of Arthur Rule, Sr., developer of the Wychwood section of Westfield in the early 1930's. As a professional hostess, she showed the model homes, which had been completely furnished by Good Housekeeping and recorded the comments and criticisms of potential buyers.

A dream to open her own interior decorating shop began to form. Soon "Jessie Plant, Interior Decorator," 231 East Broad St., opened its doors to Westfielders and a clientele from surrounding areas. Despite the success of the shop, Mrs. Brown chose to close it when she married in 1937 and acted as an interior design consultant from her own home. She rejoined the business world in 1947 when she became a Realtor Associate with the Westfield office of H. Clay Friedrichs, Inc.

S.A.T. Course Offered

The Educational Services Center will be giving a S.A.T. course which will begin the week of Feb. 3 for the March exam and the week of March 10 for the May exam. This is a seven session course devoted to the improvement of verbal and mathematical reasoning skills. Test taking strategies are an integral part of each session. The course meets for three hours per week in a small group setting. Courses are held in Scotch Plains and Cranford.

The courses are directed by Marcia Frankel, M.S., high school English teacher and administrator and Emanuel Frankel, M.S., guidance counselor and principal. The courses are staffed by certified high school teachers who hold advanced degrees in the fields of their expertise.

A College Admissions Seminar will be conducted for parents and students by John Fagus, M.A., Director of Guidance and expert on college and career planning for over 25 years. Highlights of the evening will include a mock interview and guidelines for writing the college admissions essay. This evening will be devoted to dealing with specific problems associated with the college admissions process. Time will be allotted for questions from the audience.

For further information call Educational Services Center.

Diabetes Management Program

Diabetes management has come so far in the past several years that many diabetics and their families have questions about the new treatment options available to them. At the next meeting of the Union County Chapter of the American Diabetes Association, to be held Monday, Jan. 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the Westfield Rescue Squad, those questions will be answered.

Dr. Bernard Robins, a diabetologist practicing in Springfield, will speak about the latest research and treatment advances as well as his own particular specialty, the insulin pump. Dr. Robins is President-Elect of the Association of Insulin Pump Therapists as well as the New Jersey Coordinator for the U.S. Public Health Service Centers for Disease Control and the New Jersey State Department of Health Insulin Pump Surveillance Program.

This will be an excellent opportunity to hear from a specialist in the forefront of diabetes care.

The WHS junior varsity boys' basketball team defeated Scotch Plains and Irvington last week to raise it record to a sparkling 7-0. The Devils' defeated Irvington 72-60 with an excellent mix of defense and foul shooting. Although Irvington hit the offensive boards enough times to take 82 shots, the Devils allowed them only 26 baskets. Since Westfield scored 24 baskets, two fewer than the Campers, it was the Devils' 24 of 30 foul shooting (Irvington made only eight of 16 shots) which gave them the victory.

DePaul 22
St. Johns 14

DePaul led by Danny Kelly rallied for 10 points in the 4th quarter to put the game out of reach of a battling St. Johns team. The DePaul offense was led by Danny Kelly, Pete Jenkins, Roy Bodayla and Scott Miller. Jeremy Barbin, Kevin O'Brien, Josh Schwartz keyed the DePaul defense which playing hard the entire game.

Hal Connolly led the St. John's scoring the 4. St. Johns presented a well balanced attack with Anthony Townsend, Dan Barcan, Eric Pepper, Brian Partelow and Jeff DeVito chipping in. Ethan Ross and Josh Albertson contributed some fine ball handling and Chris Tulio and Owen Evans played strong defense.

Illinois 28
Duke 20

Illinois won the game because Bendan O'Donnell and Gary DeCheillis controlled the boards. Chris Wojick led the team with 12 points. Guards Matt Fountain and Mark Byrne set the tempo of the game with some great passes. Matt McCall played great defense and added 4 points, while Kurt Duchek was a big force off the boards.

Duke staged a strong comeback that fell just short of catching the fine Illinois team. Ray Price scored 8 points. Matt Connell had 6 and Dave Cavan, David Kevoe and Ian Lauer scored 2 points each. Garth Burrill, Chris Gorman and David Byrne played excellent games at defense. The entire Duke team rebounded well and made excellent passes.

Notre Dame 22
Georgetown 16

Notre Dame won their second game of the season with a fine team effort by all eight boys. Every boy on the team scored at least two points, led by Tim Martin with 8. Leonard Stern and Scott Goldberg followed with 6. Strong rebounding by Brian Muzas, Joseph Marinelli and Danny Higgins and the fine defensive play of Billy Mansfield and Steve Shelton contributed to the all around team effort.

In the first period Jed Barrett scored the only two points for Georgetown. Brian Hegarty, Teddy Glynn and Richard Brice played good defense. In the second period Bobby Rittenhouse rebounded extremely well for Georgetown. At the half the score was 16-4. In the final period Mike Davidson scored for Georgetown. Brian Murphy passed well. In the 4th period Georgetown came alive and scored ten points. Jay Ball and Lee Frankel scored 6 of Georgetown's points.

WHS JVs Undefeated

By Todd Brecher
The WHS boys' junior varsity basketball team continued their excellent start last week as they defeated Union, Union Catholic and Linden to raise their record to 5-0.

The Devils' most impressive victory was a 70-51 defeat of Linden. They played perhaps their best game of the season thus far, as they made 28 of 44 field goal attempts and outrebounded Linden 30-17.

After having trouble with the Linden press, early in the game, the Devils pulled away and led by 12 midway through the third quarter, but a 12-6 Linden run closed the lead to 50-44 by the end of the period. However, a 15-2 Westfield run at the beginning of the fourth quarter, which was led by Neil Horne's five points, gave the Devils a 19 point lead and they coasted to the victory.

Horne made 11 of 14 shots from the floor and 5 of 6 from the foul line to score a game high 27 points and also had three steals. Westfield center Rob Gladden had 18 points and 12 rebounds while Devil forward Andy Kendeigh contributed 11 points and 5 rebounds. Linden was led by Charles Lewis and Shawn Worthy who each had 12 points.

Against Union the Devils had a 12-3 spurt early in the second quarter which gave them a 13 point lead, a lead which Union could never cut to less than seven points and WHS coasted to a 58-42 victory.

Gladden had his best performance of the year as he scored 20 point, hit 9 of 12 shots, and grabbed 12 rebounds. Horne and Kendeigh each had 10 points and Kendeigh had five rebounds and four steals. Union was led by Franklin Prather who had 12 points while Sal Amgelo had eight points and 10 rebounds.

The Devils had a much tougher battle against a gutsy Union Catholic squad, who despite making only 16 or 44 shots, was only down 46-40 halfway through the fourth quarter. However, the Devils, led by Gladden, scored seven straight points to win 53-40.

Westfield had an extremely balanced effort, as four players went into double figures in scoring. Gladden had 16 points and six rebounds, Kendeigh had 11 points and 12 rebounds, Horne had 10 points and two steals, and guard Scotty Blackman had 10 points five rebounds and four steals. Union Catholic was led by Jeff Zamboni who had 10 points and Eric George who had eight.

The JV Cagers faced Scotch Plains today and will entertain Irvington on Saturday.

WHS Jr. Varsity Results

The game was not decided until late in the fourth quarter, when Westfield, leading 62-57, outscored Irvington 10-3 to power to the win. WHS center Rob Gladden led the run with six of his 16 points (he also had a game-high 11 rebounds.)

The Devils had seemed to be on their way to a blowout as they led 23-8 after the first quarter and 35-20 at the end of the half. Westfield forward Andy Kendeigh scored 14 of his 21 points while guard Neil Horne had eight of his game-high 23 points to lead the Devils in the first half.

WHS had extended its lead to 41-21 early in the third quarter when Irvington forward Richard Lawrence entered the game for the first time. Lawrence would score 13 points, pull down five rebounds and grab six steals to bring the Campers back into the game. However, his efforts and those of David Bowers, who had 13 points and eight rebounds, were not enough to stop the Devils from taking their seventh victory.

Earlier in the week, WHS had defeated Scotch Plains 58-47 in a game which was closer than the score would indicate. The game was a virtual tie except for a 13-2 Devil spurt in the second quarter. The run, which was led by Gladden's six points, took Westfield from being down 23-22 to leading 35-25 at the half. The Raiders could come no closer than eight points in the second half and WHS coasted to an eleven point victory.

The Devils were led by Horne, who scored 22 points and had five rebounds, and Gladden who had 13 points and 11 rebounds. Guard Scotty Blackmon contributed to the Devil effort with seven points and six steals. John Lusk led Scotch Plains with 15 points, but he scored only two in the second half. Jim Weber scored 11 points for the Raiders.

Westfield will travel to Plainfield today and play host to Rahway on Saturday.

Photography Exhibit

Photographer Anne Ross will exhibit her most recent color photographs in a one-person show at Swain Galleries in Plainfield from Jan. 7 to Feb. 2. Represented among her 20 Cibachrome prints are such diverse locales as London, Shelter Island, Bermuda and Colorado. Having made the transition from her earlier black and white photography, Ross continues to find that the brilliance of color, particularly with Cibachrome materials, has created new visual dimensions. Her work has appeared in numerous metropolitan area exhibits, is included in private collections and was accepted for the 1983 Biennial Juried Show at the New Jersey State Museum, Trenton. Ross served as the photographer for the professionally-produced "Haven in Summit," a sound-slide history of the Reeves-Reed Arboretum. One of her winter scenes of the arboretum was published on the cover of the Jan. - Feb. 1984 issue of "New Jersey Outdoors" magazine.

The Ross exhibit at Swain's, which was established in 1868 and is located in a Victorian house at 703 Watchung Ave., Plainfield, may be viewed on weekdays from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Home Health

There is an urgent need for homemaker-home health aides it was announced today by Mrs. Lorraine Mills, social worker and training coordinator of The Visiting Homemaker Service of Central Union County.

Pointing out that there is opportunity for good pay and advancement in homemaker-home health aide service, Mills said that there are no age restrictions although preference will be given to mature persons of any age. Many present workers are over 45 years of age.

Aides Needed

"The person who has raised his or her own family or helped aged parents or relatives in time of illness or stress often makes the best homemaker-home health aide. A friendly, understanding personality, good judgment and good health are more important for this work than years of formal schooling," Mills said.

She explained that interested applicants will be given a two week training course. A homemaker-home health aide's duties, she said, include caring for children and handicapped, ill or elderly persons; planning and preparing nutritious meals; marketing; and carrying out the instructions of a physician or nurse.

Interested persons should write or call: Mrs. Lorraine Mills at The Visiting Homemaker Service of Central Union County, 526 North Avenue East, P.O. Box 846, Westfield, NJ 07090.
