Red Cross Begins Membership Drive

The local chapter of the American Red Cross reports that its annual membership drive will be held in March, according to William Lonsdale, vice-chairman of the membership and funds committee.

While the Westfield-Mountain-side chapter depends to a major extent on the Westfield United Fund to meet its financial needs, those funds are not sufficient to take care of all the services the chapter is being asked to deliver. The annual March membership drive helps make up the deficiency.

The Westfield-Mountain-side chapter, through its staff of active volunteers, is involved in a wide variety of services which are becoming increasingly important to residents of both communities. The chapter provides emergency and disaster relief, conducts blood banks which covers the blood needs of residents of both towns, and makes available counseling services for servicemen, veterans and their families. The chapter has recently expanded services to include the field of health. Programs are now available through the chapter in babysitting, parenting, nutrition, vital signs and low down on high blood pressure. Additional courses and programs will be available in the near future. The chapter is particularly active in safety services giving instruction in first aid, lifesaving and cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

Town Budget Heads Agenda

Town Council is scheduled to introduce the 1985 municipal budget at its 8:30 public meeting Tuesday; also scheduled for introduction are ordinances to amend the town code to increase waste disposal fees; delete the chapter entitled "Comic Books and Other Publications" from the town code; and add "dog kennels" to the list of "Home Occupations" prohibited activities.

Council is also expected to approve the 1985 Recreation Commission Summer Sports Camp program, award a contract for fire department uniforms, and authorize an auction for the sale of property at 317 Livingston St. and 619 Stirling Pl.

Carl Bailey Declines to Seek New Term on School Board

B. Carlton Bailey Jr. announced today that he has decided not to run for the Board of Education for a second term at the annual school election on April 2.

Completing a three-year term, Bailey said: "I have promised my family that I will spend more time with them and I wish to pursue other community and professional interests."

The retiring school board member issued a challenge to all the citizens of Westfield to become involved, active participants in the budget process and other school issues.

Bailey, whose term expires in April, said: "Over the past few years, the Westfield Public School System and the Board of Education has recognized its strengths and its weaknesses and programs are in progress to capitalize upon those strengths and improve those weaknesses. Examples of this progress include moving to a middle school system in 1987-1988 and the recent and massive architect's report outlining what needs to be fixed in our school buildings."

"This is a watershed year with negotiations, as well, when the citizens of Westfield must come to grips with future settlements which exceed the cost of living indices, including fringe benefits. We cannot cannibalize our school system by giving high increases which will result in the dual problems of having to fire teachers to meet the payroll and increase class sizes when fewer teachers remain.

"I issue a challenge to all the citizens of Westfield to become involved with and support the Westfield public school system through active participation in the budget process and other school issues. Together we can maintain the high standards for our school system that underpin the desirability of the Town of Westfield as an outstanding place to live and work."

Bailey was appointed to the school board by the Board of Education in January 1982 to complete 120 days remaining in the third term of Thomas F. Sullivan who resigned from the board. Bailey was elected to a full-three year term in April, 1982.

During his three years on the school board, Bailey was chairperson for two years of three committees: By-Laws, curriculum and instruction and policy. He is also chairperson this year of the legislative committee and last year he was chairperson of the community information committee. Also, he has been a member of the management and staff relations committees.

Bailey was the school board liaison with Franklin School in 1982-83 and with Tamaques School in 1983-84 and 1984-85.

Rescue Squad Appeals To Westfield Businesses

In anticipation of the Westfield Volunteer Rescue Squad's March fund drive, Warren Rorden, president of the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce, is sending a letter to "all" Westfield businesses asking for their support. Enclosed with the letter, being mailed this week, is a window sticker so the business people of Westfield can display the fact that they have responded to the Rescue Squad appeal for funds.

Rescue Squad Vice President and Fund Drive Chairman Mel Bailey commented, "We feel that the business men and women of Westfield will be proud to show their employees and customers that they support the Squad. We hope that an enthusiastic response from Westfield businesses will carry over to the March general appeal to Westfield residents."

All Westfield residents will receive a letter from the Rescue Squad during the first week in March. This is the one time each year when this volunteer organi-

RESEARCHING NUTRITION SERIES: Marcia Beronset, clinical dietitian, at left, and Mary Ellen Kazar, dietary director, review research materials they are using in a four part series entitled "Keeping Well By Eating Well" offered in March by Children's Specialized Hospital in cooperation with the Westfield Adult School. The program marks National Nutrition Month and is open to the public free of charge.

New Nutrition Series at CSH

"Keeping Well By Eating Well: Nutrition and its Relationship to Health and Disease" is the topic of a four part program which will be presented next month by Children's Specialized Hospital in cooperation with the Adult School.

The courses, open to the public at no charge, were developed to increase public awareness of basic nutrition, food nutrients, and their relationship to disease prevention.

According to Mary Ellen Kazar, dietary director, and Marcia Beronset, clinical dietitian at the hospital, the American diet is traditionally high in cholesterol, sugar and sodium and low in dietary fiber. This course will offer guidelines for reducing and avoiding excessive substances in the diet and increasing dietary fiber for healthier meals.

Ms. Kazar and Ms. Beronset will lecture the series, which is being presented as part of the hospital's participation in National Nutrition Month. Research for the courses included the latest findings of the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association on the role of nutrition in the prevention of cancer and cardiovascular diseases.

The program topics and dates include: "Nutrition and Weight Control," March 6; "Controlling Sodium March 13; "Increasing Fiber in Your Diet," March 20 and "Controlling Fat and Cholesterol," March 27. All programs will be held in the Specialized Hospital auditorium, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., with the exception of the March 6 program, which will be from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Other areas of coverage will include weight management and the role of exercise in weight control.

Enrollment in the program is free, but advance registration is requested. Ms. Kazar and Ms. Beronset recommend that interested persons attend all four sessions, since basic knowledge of the subject builds from one session to another.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Education Department of Children's Specialized Hospital.

French Students To See "Musketeers"

By Becca Lang
WHN News Bureau
French classes of Westfield High School, in conjunction with the French Club will go to New York City to see an English-French production of Alexander Dumas' "The Three Musketeers" on March 6.

According to Linda Clark, French teacher and club advisor, the play uses what is called an "instant replay" technique. At the end of various scenes performed in English, the lights are turned off and a strobe light is turned on the actors. They walk backwards through the scene creating the illusion of a motion picture film running in reverse. The lights then go back on and the scene is played again in French.

Clark added, "I'm looking forward to this production of Les Trois Mousquetaires. It is a production that can be enjoyed by all students on all levels of French."

Loss of UMTA Subsidies Could Mean Higher Rail, Bus Fares

Should New Jersey Transit lose its annual operating subsidy of $44,500,000 from the Urban Mass Transit Administration, officials foresee an immediate 20-25% fare increase on all bus and rail lines as the only way to keep the system running.

"There has not been a fare increase on the five passenger rail routes or the 18 bus routes in Union County since October 1981," said Louis J. Coletti, Union County manager. "The loss of these funds as proposed by President Ronald Reagan in his federal budget package will seriously affect both the present and future condition of mass transit in this country."

In addition, N.J. Transit's annual capital improvement funds would also be reduced by $109,000,000 through the proposed federal cuts. All N.J. Transit projects would be at risk, including the Direct Rail Access between Morris and Essex Counties and New York Penn Station and replacement of the aging portion of the bus fleet.

In a report on the effects of the proposed cuts on Union County and its thousands of daily mass transit commuters, staff of the Union County Division of Transportation Engineering, Dept. of Engineering and Planning, predicted a significant reduction in funds received from the Urban Mass Transit Administration (UMTA).

"Approximately 29% or $17,107,000 in UMTA funds to the Union County Subregional Transportation Program budget would be cut," Coletti said. "These funds, used to operate and administer transportation programs at the county level, would seriously hamper our effectiveness and performance."

On top of this, future monies to perform technical studies would be eliminated," Coletti continued. "Union County received $36,000 to conduct a bus and rail parking study at the county's rail stations for 1985 but such a program would be impossible under the proposed cutbacks."

Coletti plans to make the public and our legislators at the state and federal level aware of what he termed the "severe consequences" which would result locally from the cuts.

"It is ironic that just as we are perfecting our mass transit network and making strides in informing the public of services available, as well as encouraging use of the bus and rail lines, the federal government wants to eliminate the funds which make this possible," Coletti summed up. "Union County is looking at a variety of reductions in aid from the federal and state levels which will make it impossible to continue to provide programs and services to county residents while maintaining a stable budget. We are already pressed to the limit."

Assembly Honors Edward Gill With Unanimous Passage of Bills

In its first order of business the Assembly Thursday honored a late colleague, Assemblyman Edward Gill, and then unanimously passed two of his bills that will create research centers in food and biotechnology in the state.

Family of the former Union County Republican, who died last week, looked on as his colleagues paid their final respects.

"Ed was a real inspiration to us who knew him," said Assembly Republican Leader Chuck Hardwick who served in Union County's 21st district with Assemblyman Gill. Hardwick submitted a resolution honoring Gill that described him as one who "truly exemplified the American concept of representative Democracy," Hardwick added; "He brought know-how and dedication to public service. Dedication right up to the end."

Several legislators noted that just last week Gill was successful in establishing the state's first system of placing photographs of missing children on milk cartons. "He will be remembered in the faces of those children," said Assemblyman Chuck Haytaian, R-Warren, Sussex.

"He was such a fundamentally good human being," said Assemblyman Robert Franks, R-Essex, Union. Another colleague, Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, R-Essex, Union, noted that Gill "was more concerned about doing the right thing rather than who got credit for it." Assemblyman Joseph Palaia, R-Monmouth, said Gill "had a sense of love for the people in the Assembly, and the people he represented." And Assemblyman John T. Hendrickson, Jr., R-Burlington, Ocean, remembered Gill as "an individual and a humanitarian."

The Advanced Technology Center in Food Technology, as provided in A-1763, will be established at Cook College of Rutgers University, but under the bill other public and private institutions of higher education and their faculties may be considered for participation in the work of the center in the future by the New Jersey Commission on Science and Technology.

The center's purpose is broad-based. Among its many functions, it will establish programs in the center to promote food technology research; coordinate the related fields of study at Rutgers, and serve as a forum for the exchange of ideas among industry, government, academia, and the public.

The other bill, A-1764, establishes the Advanced Technology Center in Biotechnology. This center will be established on the adjoining campuses and under the joint governance of Rutgers University and the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. Participation by other public and private institutions of higher education and their faculties may also be considered by the New Jersey Commission on Science and Technology.

The purpose of the Biotechnology center is to establish programs to promote biotechnology in the same fashion as food technology as provided for in that bill.

"New Jersey is stepping way ahead of the nation with these innovative initiatives," said Hardwick, who moved both bills for a floor vote. "We have an abundance of resources in this state that need to be tapped and coordinated so we can progress together. These two bills will help do this, while attracting new businesses and academic interests, as well as triggering job growth," he said.

The two bills implement recommendations of the report of the Governor's Commission on Science and Technology, on which Gill served as a member. It is anticipated that the centers will receive $40 million of the $80 million bond issue passed by the voters in November, 1984.

Gill was first elected to the Assembly in 1981 and was reelected in 1983.

Historic House Owners Was Chronicler of Local History

Joshua Warren Brown was born in New York in 1850. In 1861 he moved to Westfield with his family.

"Our coming was heralded as a great event," he wrote in 1929. "Two large vans, with four horses each, transported the goods, taking nearly an entire day."

The previous year his father, Joshua, had bought a small farm of 25 acres on Jerusalem Road (now Clark St.) from Josiah Ferris for $3000. (Ferris is the great grandfather of Miss Helen Pearlsall of Ferris Place.) The farm was located beyond Dudley Ave., which did not then exist.

Warren Brown's father was one of only eight or nine commuters. There were only six houses from the farm to the depot. "We had an iron-grey horse that attracted considerable attention — very stylish-looking and unlike any other in town. Our depot wagon was a brand-new cart with two large wheels, all brightly painted. When riding fast, the occupants had hard work to keep inside, especially in going around corners."

The depot was a small frame building at the head of Clark where it met Broad St. The freight house, on wooden piles, was across the tracks. "Some mischievous boys pushed it over one evening." Diagonally across from the depot was "the community's only store, owned and operated by Charles Clark, Sr."

The Central Railroad of New Jersey then ran between Somerville and Elizabethport. At Elizabeth one transferred to Newark and New York on another line. "The last evening train from New York arrived about nine o'clock. It had one passenger car on the end of a string of coal cars, and my father was frequently the only passenger..."

"The coal trains ran slowly going west, as it was hard to make the steep grade. They went through Scotch Plains. Fanwood was not even dreamed of... Most of the coal trains were long, so that the brakeman on the front could drop off at Clark's store with an order, have it filled and jump on the rear of the train, still in motion."

"John M. C. Marsh was the most prominent and important man in town. He was of a genial disposition and willing to assist anyone. Having a wonderful memory, he seemed to know all things pertaining to the town."

Other leading citizens included Gideon E. Ludlow, Dr. F. A. Kinch and W.W. Connolly, the undertaker. Young Warren attended the only school in town, a two-story brick building on Mountain Ave. where the phone company is now. "The winter sessions were attended largely by sons of the farmers, some husky lads being among them."

The Presbyterian Church across Mountain Ave. "was an old-fashioned building with shingled sides, winding stairs leading to the pulpit platform and antique-looking box pews. It stood in front of the present

On the left is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence English at 730 Lawrence Ave. At the right, the same house is pictured in 1883, when it was the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Brown at the location today known as 266 East Dudley Ave.

The Browns purchased the house in 1867 from Joseph C. Garretson of Elizabeth for $15,000 — a huge sum for a house in those days. The deed to Garretson has not been located. A Joseph C. Garretson, law student, boarding at 71 Broad St., was listed in the Elizabeth city directory for 1865-67 (but neither before nor after that.)

The house's ownership changed hands several times between 1868 and 1906, including a sheriff's sale in the former year for $5,000.

In November 1906 Mr. and Mrs. David B. Collins acquired the Dudley Ave. property from Mr. and Mrs. Chester M. Smith. Collins, a lumber merchant, then purchased the present 730 Lawrence Ave. property from Mary P. Tubby, wife of local architect Josiah T. Tubby and daughter of the prominent attorney, W.G. Peckham, in February of 1907. It is reasonable to assume that the house was moved in this period of time. The Collins' then built the Mediterranean Revival house now located at 266 East Dudley.

building and remained standing until the new one was completed" in 1862. "It was a novel sight to see the two buildings in train formation, about 25 feet between them, and both with high steeples."

In 1867 Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Brown purchased the house now located at 730 Lawrence Ave., on its original site at 266 East Dudley Ave. (SW corner of Lawrence). For more than 40 years he ran a shade and awning business in Westfield. He retired in 1929 and resided in Plainfield until his death in 1937. On his retirement he penned his recollections of early Westfield, which were published in the Westfield Standard and quoted in this article. A reprint of the entire article will be available free to all who take the Historic House Tour March 2, at the Browns' old house at 730 Lawrence Ave.

A Successful 50th

Congratulations are in order for the Hi's Eye, Westfield High School's prize-winning newspaper which celebrated its 50th birthday Feb. 15.

A special eight-page edition, dedicated to the late Dr. Robert Foote, a journalism teacher at WHS before he became principal, and to Walt Clarkson, advisor to Hi's Eye for 25 years, marked the golden anniversary.

An indeed they have been golden years for Hi's Eye which has surmounted various obstacles, many of them financial, in maintaining its superiority among high school newspapers.

Probably the highest praise comes from Westfield High School alumni who cut their journalistic eye teeth on Hi's Eye.

Many of them now successful in the fields of publishing, teaching, reporting, editing, radio, TV, and related fields. And many of them credit their current expertise to their experiences in high school journalism.

Hi's Eye has consistently walked off with prizes in national scholastic press competitions, and well it should. Its news and feature articles deal with a wide range of subjects from drugs, alcohol and sex to school budgets, music, drama and sports — and various topics in between. Its photography has been singularly outstanding.

To the staffs of Hi's Eye — for 50 years — we say congratulations! To Walt Clarkson — for 25 years an advisor and friend — we say thank you! ... for the patience, understanding and competence needed to guide students to award-winning efforts.

Letters To The Editor

All letters to the editor must be signed, dated, and addressed to the Editor, c/o The Westfield Leader, 50 Elm Street, Westfield, N.J. 07090. Letters may be edited for clarity and brevity. The Editor reserves the right to refuse or edit any letter which could be offensive to readers.

Letters must be written only on one side of paper and must be typed. The Editor does not accept letters which are handwritten, or which are not typed. All letters must be in the "Editor" office by Friday if they are to appear in the following issue.

DISPLEASED

Editor, Leader:

As a citizen and tax payer of Westfield I have to take issue with some of the comments in the Letters to the Editor over the past few weeks, concerning the existence of The Young Leftists Club in the Westfield High School.

Since we are tax payers and since more than two thirds of our tax money goes to support the school budget, we have the right to voice our displeasure with the way our money is being spent. To state that school monies are not used to pay the advisor of The Young Leftists Club in the High School is nonsense. The advisor is a teacher, who receives a salary, which we pay for. The extra curricular activity of the club is conducted in a school building the upkeep of which is being paid for with our tax money. The custodians who have to be present for extra curricular activities are receiving extra money for that time, — our tax money.

The legality of the club is not in question. We have a right to be outraged because a school system reflects the sentiments of a town, and oh, what a reflection. To the statement of our High School principal "The Peace Site designating is not a political statement," I can only reply — are you really so naive?

Having lived in an Eastern European country, after surviving World War II, my views about leftism very much agree with Mr. Burke's. To my knowledge left wing organizations represent the horrors which I was forced to live in and the end result of a Peace movement sponsored by any leftist group represents to me a far greater danger than the danger of a war. Since I lived thru a war, this is not a statement easily made.

The mention of Right-wing organizations and conservative groups leads me to suggest that perhaps, since our money is being used, such a group should be also formed at the Westfield High School. It would at least lend a counter balance.

Out of my own bitter experience I have to assure you, that to equate leftism with communism is not irresponsible and does not represent closed mindedness. It is unfortunate that we cannot relate our own experience to people who take the freedom which we enjoy in this country for granted, simply because they do not know about the tragedies and misery on the other side. I do understand the idealism of our young people and while I do not believe that they themselves present any danger to us, I am convinced that the adults who are in support of the Young Leftists are at best playing a dangerous game.

I would like to end this letter with a suggestion. It is a known fact that the best way to learn a foreign language is to live in that particular country. The quickest and surest way to cure our Young Leftists would be to send them behind the Iron Curtain. I will not be as cruel to suggest a one-way ticket.

COMMENTS MRS. LOUDEN

Editor, Leader:

I wish to publicly praise Mrs. Harriet B. Loudon, Westfield High School drama teacher, and thank her for all her years and great work at WHS. As was reported in the 7 February issue of your paper, Mrs. Loudon is retiring in March.

As a recent graduate of WHS and one who worked with "HB," as she liked to be called, and benefitted from her expertise, I can attest to the devotion of this remarkable woman. The energy with which she taught and listened to students is truly astounding. She inspired and drove students to excel, and excel they did. The fruits of her efforts can easily be seen in the multitudes of awards won by the WHS Drama Department and its students at various intra- and interstate competitions throughout the past years. What's more, she was a humanitarian, one who cared about students. She lent support when support was needed, talked to us when we went to her for advice, became an integral part of school life for myself and many others. HB's talents and presence will sorely be missed at WHS. I thank her for all of her marvelous years and wish her only the best for the future.

Money Management

Did you change jobs in 1984 and move to a new residence? If so, you may be entitled to some hefty tax deductions for expenses associated with moving, says the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs).

CPAs say it's not uncommon for taxpayers to be unaware they are entitled to deductions for moving expenses, and statistics from the U.S. Census Bureau and the Internal Revenue Service lend evidence to this claim. More than 13 million Americans changed addresses in 1984, says Kristen Hansen, a U.S. Census Bureau demographer. But historically, only 10 percent of those who move claim deductions for the expenses involved, according to IRS figures.

The main reason so few taxpayers take these deductions is a strict IRS eligibility requirement. However, CPAs say some people may be missing out simply because they overlook these deductions.

To claim deductions for moving expenses, taxpayers must use the long form (1040). "So, people who file the short form — which does not provide for itemizing deductions — may not realize they can deduct these expenses," explains William Stromsæm of the American Institute of CPAs' Federal Taxation Division.

Three requirements must be met to deduct moving expenses: You must have moved because of your job; you must work in the new locality for at least 39 of the first 52 weeks following the move (if self-employed, 78 weeks of the first two years following the move); and the distance between your new job location and your former residence must be at least 35 miles more than the distance between your old job and former home.

Here's an illustration: Tom moved in 1984 because he was offered a better job. The distance between Tom's former residence and new job is 40 miles. The distance between his former job and former residence is five miles. Since the difference between the two distances is 35 miles, Tom can deduct his moving expenses provided he stays at his new job location for 39 weeks.

You can, by the way, take the moving expense deduction before completing the full 39 or 78 week requirement, CPAs note. However, if you move to another new locality that does not satisfy the distance requirement, and do so before meeting the 39 week time requirement, you will owe the IRS some money. At that point, you can either file an amended return or include the disallowed amount as income on your upcoming return.

Costs you deduct for moving to a new residence include direct and indirect expenses. Direct expenses are the costs to you and your family for traveling to your new residence, along with costs for meals and lodging. Indirect expenses cover househunting trips, temporary living expenses and expenses involved in selling, purchasing or leasing a residence. You may not deduct more than $3,000 for indirect moving expenses, and only $1,500 of the $3,000 may be deducted for temporary living quarters and househunting trips.

Here are some helpful reminders on deductible moving expenses:

Direct expenses: You may deduct the cost of traveling to the new location, plus related costs for lodging and meals, plus payments to move your belongings. If you must use your own car, you may deduct the actual cost of gasoline, oil and repairs, or you can deduct it using the standard mileage rate of nine cents a mile. Whichever you choose, you may also deduct the cost of parking and tolls. In addition to deducting the cost of a mover, you may also deduct the cost of storing any personal belongings for up to 30 days and the cost of transporting a pet or a car to the new location.

Indirect expenses: If you want to deduct the cost of any househunting trips, you must have a job lined up at the new location prior to the trip. Deductible househunting expenses include transportation, meals and lodging for yourself and your family. The househunting trips do not have to be successful to be deductible. You can also deduct the cost of meals and lodging for yourself and your family while you are waiting to move into a permanent residence. However, you may not deduct these temporary living costs for more than 30 days.

Fees to real estate agents and attorneys or any other costs involved in the sale of your old home or purchase of a new home are deductible. You can deduct any amount forfeited for a security deposit if you must break a lease to move.

IRS Publication 17 has a detailed list of deductible moving expenses. If you have difficulty in sifting through all this, expert help is available from your CPA.

Report from Washington

By Congressman

Matt Rinaldo

7th District, New Jersey

Government whistle blowers and investigators are meeting with increasing success in ferreting out billions of dollars in waste, fraud and abuse in government contracts.

In the six month period ending September 30th, there have been 2,023 successful prosecutions in cases involving fraud, waste and abuse in government contracts, according to reports from Inspectors General assigned to various departments. Slightly more than $59 million was recovered as a result of the investigations, and 483 persons or firms doing business with the federal government were disbarred from further procurement contracts or their business relations with government agencies were suspended.

As a result of the IG inquiries and audits, agency managers have commitments to recover another $1 billion and have introduced management efficiencies designed to save $3.7 billion. Another $4.3 billion in questionable costs sustained by contractors were uncovered in audits by the Defense Contract Audit Agency and are being investigated.

Almost $9 billion in actual savings and anticipated management efficiencies have occurred between April and September 1984.

In the case of the special aircraft toilet seat cover that was purchased in 1983 from Lockheed for an unbelievable $640, the firm has since refunded the government $29,000. Lockheed wound up losing $38 on the sale of each of these special seat covers for military aircraft, according to Pentagon audits.

Some critics who have cited other shockers, such as the purchase of $400 claw hammers and $9,000 wrenches, neglected to mention that the Pentagon obtained a refund from these contractors and refused to pay the overcharges. Defense officials also took what was described by the Pentagon as "stern disciplinary action" against those who permitted the abuses to continue before they were uncovered. The Pentagon now requires contractors supplying spare parts to certify that their prices are as low or lower than those charged to their "most favored customers."

According to the IG reports, the Defense Department demoted and fired those responsible for gross inefficiencies and faulty procurement contracts. These indefensible purchases were made several years ago, but have only been brought to light as a result of the department.

Chamber to Meet For Business Update

The Executive Board and the Board of Directors of the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce will hold their first meeting of the year at Sinclair's on North Ave., on Monday evening, Feb. 25. Hors d'oeuvres will be served during the meeting which begins at 6 p.m.

Several members of the Chamber have been invited to speak in the evening's program entitled "Westfield Business Update." As representatives of different fields — real estate, retailing, law, and others — the speakers will give specific information on the local business climate as they see it now. Following the planned presentation, all attendees are invited to share their experiences in discussing what's good, what's not so good, where business in Westfield is going, and how the Chamber can help different groups achieve their goals.

Among the 31 members of the Chamber Boards expected to attend this meeting, there are a number who were newly elected to serve in '85. New members of the Executive Board are Marilyn Hurlfish of National State Bank who serves as Chair of Community Affairs, and Saul Drittel of Milady's who co-chairs the Parking Committee. New members of the Board of Directors are John Morgan of the Phone Nook, Dennis Wilkens of United Jersey Bank, and Peter Mogendorff of The Runners Edge. In addition to Board members, anyone is invited to attend this informative and social gathering. Reservations must be made in advance by calling Susan Jardine at the Chamber office.

Jesse Feigenbaum Merit Finalist

Jesse A. Feigenbaum, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jerold M. Feigenbaum of East Dudley Ave., has been named a Finalist in the Merit Scholarship competition. She is a senior at Pingry School in Martinsville.

According to Josa, instructor at Roosevelt, the Central Jersey Intermediate Band and Orchestra was established years ago to give an opportunity for the more talented players from the Central Jersey Schools to perform challenging music with fellow musicians of the same high caliber.

The annual concert of these organizations will be presented the last Sunday in March. This event is sponsored by the Central Jersey Music Educators Association whose members, music teachers from New Jersey Schools, donate their time and effort to promote music education in the State.

Phonathon to Fund College Career Center

Union County College's seventh annual Phonathon will be held Sunday, March 3, it was announced today by William J. Biunno of Mountainside, chairman of the Alumni Annual Giving Campaign.

The Alumni Association's goal this year is to establish a Career Planning and Placement Center for the entire Union County College community, Biunno reported.

To move this project ahead more rapidly an all-day Phonathon will be conducted when several thousand alumni living in Union County will be called by alumni volunteers and asked for their pledge to the 1985 Alumni Fund. Calls will be made between noon and 9 p.m. from MacDonald Hall on the College's Cranford Campus.

"Prizes, food and the renewal of friendships will add to the fun that will make our Phonathon terrific. I'm looking forward to welcoming volunteers on March 3. We'll have a phone for everyone," Biunno said.

The Phonathon represents the third phase of the Annual Giving Campaign. A request for contributions went out to major gifts prospects and a message appeal was mailed to over 18,000 alumni throughout the United States earlier in the month. Only those persons who did not respond to the solicitation will be called, the chairman explained.

"This personal touch makes an important difference in our fund raising success. Last year over $10,000 was raised by our alumni to assist the College in establishing two Electronic Writing Centers on the Scotch Plains and Cranford Campuses. We hope to substantially increase the amount of money raised this year," Biunno said.

Planners for the all-day Phonathon are now signing up volunteers who can devote an hour or two of their time to telephone Union County alumni. Anyone interested in participating in Phonathon '85 should contact Mrs. Linda Leifer, director of alumni affairs.

B Minor Mass Celebrates Bach Tri-Centennial

The Oratorio Choir, soloists and orchestra of First United Methodist Church, Westfield, Philip R. Dieterich, director, will perform J.S. Bach's Mass in B Minor Sunday, March 24 at 3 p.m., in the church sanctuary to celebrate Bach's 300th birthday.

The 90-voice chorus has been rehearsing since October to prepare this concert Mass for performance. Vocal soloists will be Dilys Jones Smith, soprano; Diane McCloskey, mezzo-soprano; Stephen Sturk, tenor, and James Moellenhoff, bass.

The instrumental soloists will include Edward Raditz, violin; Lucinda Lewis, horn; Douglas Haislip, trumpet; William Hoff and Genevieve Hall, flute; Melanie Feld, oboe and oboe d'amore; David Bossart, bassoon; Mary Wortreich, continuo, and Donald Dumler, organ.

The story of the B Minor Mass is a remarkable one, according to Dieterich. In 1933 Bach was Kantor at St. Thomas Church, Leipzig, and was having difficulty with his employers. In order to gain more respect from the Leipzig authorities, Bach sent a Protestant Mass setting (a "Kyrie" and "Gloria") to the Elector of Saxony in Dresden. Bach hoped to be given the title of "Court Composer," but the Elector did not respond.

Toward the end of his life, Bach decided to put together a complete setting of the Mass texts. For his earlier works he took the "Kyrie" and "Gloria" and chose a "Sanctus." Then he reworked and compiled some of his finest choral and solo compositions. Carefully selecting music which he had written for other occasions, Bach borrowed for himself music which fit the mood and sense and even the syllabic stresses of the Mass texts. Bach was not a Roman Catholic, and the massive scale of the work made it too large to fit into a liturgical service.

Members of the Oratorio choir of the First United Methodist Church are shown rehearsing for the performance of J.S. Bach's "B Minor Mass" in the church sanctuary, 1 E. Broad St., Sunday, March 24 at 3 p.m., in honor of Bach's 300th birthday. Tickets are now on sale in the church office or at Jeannette's.

The first German performance of the entire work did not take place until 85 years after Bach's death. It was performed in 1835 in Berlin. The music was not published as a complete work until 1856. The first British performance took place in London in 1876. The Bach-Bethlehem Choir gave the first American performance in 1900. Today, 235 years after it was completed, the work is more popular than ever.

Tickets for the Westfield performance March 24 at 3 p.m., 300 years and three days after the birth of Johann Sebastian Bach, are now available at Jeannette's Gift Shop, the church office, or from any Oratorio Choir member.

Obsolete Medical Supplies Donated To Ethiopia by Union County

Union County officials recently helped the famine victims of Ethiopia by sending medical supplies and other items that were once stored in Union County to be used in case of enemy attack, according to Louis J. Coletti, Union County Manager.

Colonel Richard Crosta, director of the Division of Emergency Management of the Union County Department of Public Safety, coordinated the distribution of the supplies to the Newark Metropolitan African Relief Fund, which will deliver the supplies to Ethiopia.

The supplies, which included eight medical operating tables, an X-ray machine, three anesthesia apparatus, three irrigators, 12 oxygen and 10 nitrogen tanks, 60 stretchers, bandages, surgical pads, gauze dressings and various other items, came from obsolete "packaged disaster hospitals" in Union County.

These "disaster hospitals" were established more than 20 years ago throughout the country in case of enemy attack. Supplies were stored in packaged crates in public and private buildings, but are now considered obsolete by the federal and state government.

One such "hospital" was located in the Ciba-Geigy Corp. in Summit, Colonel Crosta said. After it was declared obsolete, he was given control over the supplies stored there, and he had them transported to the Office of Emergency Management warehouse in Westfield.

"The government said the supplies could be given away but not sold," Crosta said.

He gave some supplies to the American Red Cross, the Salvation Army and other organizations. The Union County Prosecutor's Office received some equipment for their laboratory and a sterilizer was given to the Union County Cooperative Extension Service for cooking purposes.

The bulk of the supplies, much needed medical equipment, was delivered for distribution to help ease the disastrous situation in Ethiopia.

"The family of Union County employees and the residents of Union County have been donating food and money to Ethiopia all along," said Coletti.

Eye Openers

SPORTS AND CONTACT LENSES

Q: Will contact lenses, instead of glasses, improve one's golf game?
A: It's hard to say, but you'll probably be more comfortable while playing. Golfers and other athletes often get clearer vision with contact lenses. There is no frame to get in the way, which generally allows for a greater field of vision. And contact lenses alleviate the peripheral distortions sometimes experienced by eyeglass wearers who need strong corrective prescriptions. Contact lenses do not slip or slide on your face during play, nor do they fog up in weather changes.

Q: If you are hit by a ball, will contact lenses prevent an eye injury?
A: They may or may not. If the impact has not already knocked it out, remove the contact lens from the eye that's been hit by the ball. This should be done immediately to prevent any scratching of the cornea. If your vision returns to normal shortly after the impact, generally there is no serious injury. However, it is wisest to have your optometrist check the lens to be sure that it does not have any harmful scratches or tears.

Lecturer to Speak On Christian Healing

Christian healing is not the result of blind faith, will-power, or positive thinking, states Christian Science lecturer Jack E.
Hubbell of Palo Alto, Calif. Instead, he continues, "it is the prayerful realization of God's love for man."

Hubbell, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak here on Saturday, March 2, at 11 a.m. at First Church of Christ, Scientist,
422 East Broad St. His lecture covers the spiritual basis of Christian healing.

"Like Newton's falling apple hinted at the existence of the law of gravity," says the lecturer,
"so Christian healing hints at the existence of spiritual law."

The speaker refers to the works of Jesus — his feeding of the multitudes, healing the sick, even walking on the water — which appeared as miracles, but were actually the natural demonstrations of his understanding God's law.

Hubbell, a lifelong Christian Scientist, has been active for many years in the Christian healing ministry as a Christian Science practitioner and teacher.

splendor and ambitious programming, regularly presents a four-concert series at Carnegie Hall

Jack E. Hubbell

The title of his lecture is "Exploring the Universe: Is It Spiritual or Material?" Hubbell will be introduced by Jacqueline
M. Nelson, a member of First Church of Christ, Scientist, which is sponsoring this free public lecture. Child care and parking will

No advance reservations are

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

by Kitty Duncan, Pharmacist

When your physician gives you a prescription, to relieve the symptoms of an infection or other problem, you can have it filled promptly at JARVIS PHARMACY, 54 Elm St., 233-0662, 0663, 0664. Special discounts are given to senior citizens and we'll be happy to quote the price of any prescription before filling it. Open: Mon thru Fri 9am-9pm, Sat 9am-6pm, Holidays 9am-1pm.

RELIEF
Millions of people use over-the-counter antacids to relieve the symptoms of upper gastrointestinal distress. An antacid neutralizes hydrochloric acid. When one smells, tastes, chews or swallows food, hydrochloric acid is produced. This potent, gastric acid is secreted by glands in the lining of the stomach to aid in food digestion. Why the same amount of acid secretions plagues some people but not others remains unclear. The only symptoms that can be safely and effectively self-diagnosed and self-treated with non-prescription antacids are those that are caused by excess stomach acid. These symptoms have been described as a burning distress that is felt in the upper abdomen, behind the chest, and as high up as the throat.

HANDY HINT: Antacids do not act by forming a physical "coating" in the digestive tract.

Center Holds Valentine's Day Dance

Dressed up in their brightest reds, Westfield Convalescent Center residents celebrated St. Valentine's Day with their annual dance.

In a dining room decorated with pink and red balloons, the residents and their guests sat at tables covered in red and white and enjoyed special Valentine hors d'oeuvres prepared by the kitchen.

Mrs. Amy Landers, a volunteer, played the piano for the dancing and singing.

Those with the best costumes won prizes. Mrs. Ella Creter won for the brightest red bow. Mrs. Dottie Powers was awarded a prize for the best red dress, and the Center's administrator, Stuart Zeckendorf, was judged to have the best red tie.

The R.S.V.P. Outreach Group of the Westfield Senior Housing made calico sachet hearts trimmed with lace for the guests. Students from local church groups made flowered table decorations.

"With all the things that local people made," said Shirley Sporman, recreation director at the Center, "everybody got some kind of a prize. Westfielders are certainly wonderful in the way they support their convalescent center."

"Mrs. Betty Huston is one example," continues Mrs. Sporman. "Her mother and mother-in-law were both residents here, and she does all kinds of things to help out."

Gill/St. Bernard Upper School To Award Scholarships

The Gill/St. Bernard's Upper School in Gladstone will offer several scholarships to deserving students entering grades nine through twelve for 1985-86, according to director of admissions Patricia Layton. Two academic scholarships of full tuition will be awarded, one to an incoming ninth grader and one to an incoming eleventh grader.

Financial assistance totaling $4,000 will also be awarded through the dramatic arts scholarship fund. Funded by a gift from the Charles G. and Elizabeth A. Mortimer Foundation, the dramatic arts scholarships will be awarded to students with "substantial academic ability and an enthusiasm for the dramatic arts." According to Mrs. Layton, the interest in dramatic arts need not be limited to on-stage performance but includes behind-the-scenes technical training as well.

All scholarship awards are based on academic potential and positive participation within the school community. Students competing for the awards are required to follow the school's admissions procedures which include aptitude testing and an interview with faculty and administration. Scholarship testing will be held on Saturday, March 2 and Saturday, March 16 at 9 a.m. on the Gladstone campus.

Gill/St. Bernard's is a non-sectarian, non-discriminatory, college preparatory day school enrolling 350 students in pre-kindergarten through grade 12. For further information and applications, contact Mrs. Layton.

ment's on-going review of all spending.

I also was informed that the Defense Department's criminal investigation branch opened 49,000 cases for review since 1981, and about 20,000 were referred for prosecution or administrative action that resulted in over 1,500 convictions. In the last fiscal year, the Defense Contract Audit Agency saved $7.4 billion as a result of closer scrutiny of military spending.

When the American taxpayers read about the ludicrous expenditures by government agencies of $640 for toilet seat covers and $400 claw hammers, they lose faith in the entire government procurement system. Federal agencies and Inspectors General need to do a better job of informing the public about the successful prosecution of those responsible and the fact that government audits and investigations are uncovering these abuses, otherwise the public thinks that nothing is being done.

A recent report by the President's Council on Integrity and Efficiency noted that there have been 10,262 successful prosecutions in fraud cases since the Council was established by the Reagan Administration in 1981.

Stepped up audits and the introduction of better management techniques have enabled the federal government to save or recover $46 billion in the last three and a half years. However, the recommendation of the Office of Management and Budget to sharply reduce appropriations for auditing of federal programs and grants from $11.2 million this year to $8.7 million in fiscal 1986 would slow down efforts to weed out waste and fraud.

We need continued auditing and oversight of these programs, not less. The proposed $2.6 million reduction for 1986 represents a drastic cut. While it achieves a small savings in the budget, in the long run it would be penny wise and pound foolish.

The minute government contractors discover that there has been a relaxation of financial controls over contracts and programs, they will be tempted to take more liberties and to exercise fewer cost controls. It is contrary to the Administration's policy of curbing waste, fraud and contract cost overruns, and I'm urging the OMB to reverse course and restore the funds to the new budget.

One of the problems that the Administration is confronting is that the more abuses and waste it uncovers and prosecutes, critics of government get more ammunition to attack the whole procurement program. The Administration deserves credit for exposing this unconscionable fraud and for recovering billions of dollars.

JV Cagers Advance To Tourney Semi's

By Todd Brecher

Led by freshmen Neil Horne and Mark Nelson, the WHS junior varsity boys' basketball team easily defeated Scotch Plains and Roselle Catholic to raise its record to 21-2 and advance to the semifinals of the Union County Tournament.

The first-seeded Devils took on fourth-seeded Union, with whom they split two regular season encounters, on Tuesday (too late for Leader deadline). The winner advances to the finals Saturday night at Dunn Arena in Elizabeth.

The play of Horne, who had 42 points and five steals in the two games, was expected, as he was WHS' leading scorer during the regular season with a 20.8 point average. However, the emergence of Nelson was a pleasant surprise for Westfield. Nelson, who averaged just 5.4 points and 3.6 rebounds during the regular season while shooting 43% from the floor, had 25 points on 63% shooting and 19 rebounds in the two tournament games. His rebounding effort, along with that of center Rob Gladden and forward Andy Kendeigh enabled the Devils to control the boards, as they outrebounded their two opponents by a combined total of 81-33.

WHS first tournament match was with Scotch Plains, a team they had beaten twice, but in tough games. However, this time was a different story as Westfield shot 52% from the floor and outrebounded the Raiders 46-16 in romping 83-39.

Leading 16-11 in the first quarter, the Devils scored 19 straight points, eight by Horne, to take a 24 point lead and put the game out of reach. The 83 points equaled WHS' highest total of the year and the 44 point margin of victory was their highest of the season.

Five players hit double figures for Westfield, led by Horne with 24. He was followed by Gladden with 14 points and 11 rebounds, Nelson with 10 points and eight rebounds, Matt Cowell with a season-high 11 points, and guard Scotty Blackmon with 10 points.

Cagerettes Fall to Union

By Rebecca Rozanski

The WHS girls' varsity basketball team lost the second round of the Union County Tournament, dropping to Union 62-52.

Freshman Krissy Jeremiah led the Devils, scoring 21 points. Nancy Kasko dished out 12 while Junior Tracey Arther tallied ten for the cagerettes.

During the first quarter, Arther sank a shot from the top of the key to tie Westfield up 5-5. Jeremiah went on to score 7-10 on an inside shot. Jeremiah closed out the quarter sinking a corner shot to put Westfield 10-16 at the end of the first.

The cagerettes went on to narrow Union's lead in the second. Arther started the team off, sinking a side shot to bring the score to 12-16. Jeremiah tallied six points for the cagerettes, including four for four on the line.

Holy Trinity Storms Past St. Michael's

By J. Nazzaro

Holy Trinity lightning struck at Thundermountain in Cranford, Friday night and when the rain of baskets had ended Holy Trinity had devastated St. Mike's, Cranford 83-45 with its highest point scoring of the season. As the tempest raged baskets and foul shots poured in from all angles of the court. Nicky DiIorio with 5 baskets and 2 fouls teamed up with Greg Pulaski who struck with 3 set shots. Jerry Hughes with steals and fast drives hit with 5 baskets and Paul Nazzaro with a lay up. When the rain of baskets ended in the first quarter Holy Trinity's storm path had demolished the home 30-10. In the second quarter Andy Allorto displaying ball control and penetration struck for 3 baskets. Timmy Dursee, Rich Allorto and Sean Duggan each scored a basket. At half time Holy Trinity had taken a commanding 44-18 lead.

Despite a valiant struggle by St. Michael's to stem the tide, the force of the Holy Trinity storm drenched the home team relentlessly. Utilizing his team depth, and four steals, Kendeigh contributed seven points and 19 rebounds to the massacre.

The Devils' had a tougher time with Roselle Catholic but eventually pulled away to a 70-47 victory, this time shooting 54% from the floor and grabbing 35 rebounds to Roselle Catholic's 16.

After Westfield had opened a 15-4 first quarter lead, Roselle Catholic began to burn the nets from the outside and went on a 19-8 spurt to gain a 23-23 tie. However, WHS began to show some life, pulling away to a 34-29 lead at halftime.

Nelson scored six of his 15 points early in the third quarter as The Devils tried to pull away, but John Maginess and Kevin McGuire hit two outside shots apiece and Westfield could increase its lead only two points, to 44-37 midway through the period.

Two things happened which greatly affected the game. First, Maginess and McGuire, who at that point had 10 and 13 points respectively, were shut down by the Devil defense. They scored only four more points the rest of the way. Secondly, WHS' sleeping giant awoke. That sleeping giant was Gladden, who had only five points and one rebound to that point. Gladden took control of the boards, grabbing eight rebounds and scoring eight points in the last one-and-a-half quarters. Nelson grabbed 7 of his game-high 11 rebounds in the second half to combine with Gladden to give the Devils a 23-7 second half rebounding advantage.

These things enable Westfield to score 12 unanswered points to take a 19 point lead. Horne had six of his game-high 18 points during the run including a three point play which capped it off and gave WHS a 56-37 lead.

Maginess scored the final basket of the third quarter and cut the lead to 17 but Gladden and Kendeigh, who had 12 points, each scored four points in the final period together matching the Roselle Catholic total for the period. Six other Devin points gave them a 23 point victory and a berth in the semifinals.

Jeremiah went on to rebound her own shot back into the net to put Westfield 18-23.

Kasko sparked the Devils in the third sinking seven points, including three for three on the line. Kasko started the quarter sinking a side shot to put Westfield 28-31. Kasko also closed the quarter 36-45 stealing the ball to sink a lay up.

Down 59-58 in the final quarter, Arther sank an elbow shot to put Westfield 40-59. Later in the quarter, Jeremiah scored from the top of the key, bringing the score to 46-52. Jeremiah tallied three freebies for the Devil's in this quarter. Junior Varsity player Tasha Strond dished out four for the cagerettes at the end of the quarter. Strond scored on a lay up to bring the score to 50-52. Strond scored Westfield's final basket, closing the game 52-62.

Coach Dominick DiIorio's cagers continued to show the opposition by turning the frey into a passing game. The combination of Andy and Rick Allorto and Jerry Hughes netted 7 baskets and 2 fouls. Brian Egan scrapped in the middle for miscues by St. Mike's. Timmy Dursee got the range and swished the net cleanly with 3 baskets. In the 3rd quarter Holy Trinity increased its lead to 65-26.

The rainstorm diversified in the 4th quarter as Nicky DiIorio struck with lay ups. Charlesworth hit a basket and followed with a lead pass to Munch who laid it in. Andy Reeves and Joe Tinervin pressed the game with turnovers and steals. When the lightning ended Holy Trinity had bolted themselves to a 83-45 victory and a 12-1 Season record. Point scoring was: DiIorio 22, Hughes 17, Andy Allorto 14, Timmy Dursee 8, Rick Allorto 8, Pulaski 6, Nazzaro 2, Munch 2, Duggan 2, Charlesworth 2. Holy Trinity: 30 14 21 18: 83 St. Michael's: 10 8 8 19: 45

PAL Sixers Win Three

Westfield's sixth-grade PAL team continues to dominate play at that level as evidenced in a 3-1 record in its latest outings.

Westfield 66 — Summit 41
The team overpowered Summit, 66 to 41, as John Fox topped the scoring chart with 14 points and Drew Rountree added 10.

Jeff Suto, with eight points, and Lee Topar, who got seven, continue to play solid games in an effective offensive pattern. Top performances also were by Martin Dau, Lee Polizzano, Brian Schackman, Mark Cagnassola and Christian Leshar.
South Plainfield 42 — Westfield 34

Westfield met undefeated South Plainfield in a well-played game which saw the local contingent lose 42 to 34.

Westfield, trailing by as much as 14 points in the third quarter, rallied back to within two points behind the offensive and defensive play of Jeff Suto, who scored 14. John Fox, Lee Topar and the much-improving Martin Dau played key roles and were aggressive throughout the contest.

Westfield 50 — Keansburg-St. Catherine's 10

Surprised when foe Keansburg jumped off an early lead, Westfield took off by the second quarter and handily defeated St. Catherine's of Keansburg by a 50 to 10 score.

Mark Cagnassola, Pierre Manning and Brian Schackman led the defense in the first half. The second half was all Westfield with Drew Rountree scoring 10. Jeff Suto had seven points, and Lee Topar and Rich Fela each added six.

Westfield 40 — Florham Park 38

The Westfield offensive unit moved the ball extremely well with Mark LaCarrubba, Pierre Manning and Jeff Suto being effective on their passes. Lee Topar led the scoring with 12, and Lee Polizzano had six. The pair, along with John Fox, controlled the boards at both ends of the court.

Coming into the game and playing admirably were Brian Schackman, Mark Cagnassola and Christian Leshar.

Miles' Dunks Fail To Secure Cage Win

By Bill Peadarok

Just as last year when they were eliminated by Elizabeth in the first round of the Union County Tournament, the WHS cagers again were dismissed early, this time by Scotch Plains, 63-60.

What made this loss all the more disheartening was not only the fact that WHS had defeated the Raiders in two previous meetings during the regular season, but also that an awesome 24-point outburst by Johnnie Miles was wasted. Miles, who scored 13 fieldgoals, all in the last three quarters, broke loose with three spectacular dunks to add to his output.

The last of these dunks gave Westfield a 56-53 lead, but a 6-2 spurt by the Raiders gave them the lead for good. Reggie James put Scotch Plains ahead for good 59-58 on a driving bucket. Then with :33 seconds remaining, James hit two free-throws to ice the game, 61-58.

Despite good execution down the stretch, the first quarter was very sloppy with Scotch Plains holding a 14-11 lead after the first quarter. Bill McCoy, even though less dazzling, also scored 26 points with eight coming in the first quarter.

Miles began to heat up in the second quarter as he scored 10 points and WHS ran off an 18-8 spurt as they hung on for a 31-27 halftime lead.

It was proven, though, during the third quarter that one man does not make a team. Miles again erupted for 10 points, but no one else scored for the Blue Devils as Scotch Plains outscored WHS 15-10 to take a 42-41 lead after three quarters. During Senior forward Johnnie Miles soars to the basket for a spectacular reverse slam, one of three dunks he had in the Union County tournament loss to Scotch Plains.

the last quarter, the Raiders hit on only seven of 17Fs, but in the waning moments, James and McCoy each connected on a pair to allow Scotch Plains the privilege of embarking into second round action. Despite this loss, (12-9) WHS will still compete in State Tournament action beginning Feb. 25.

Matmen Lose To Phillipsburg

The WHS wrestling team reached the finals of the North Jersey Section 2, Group 4 wrestling tournament last week by defeating previously undefeated Morris Knolls in the semi-finals.

Even though the final score was 25-25, Westfield was awarded the win due to pins. Westfield scored two pins while Morris Knolls had none.

The grapplers lost in the finals, though, to the No. 1 team in the state, Phillipsburg, 47-9. In regular season action, Westfield, hurt by injuries to Rich Hingel (129), Joe Valenti (135), and Mike Stagaard (170), who hurt his thumb in the Morris Knolls match, lost to North Edison 29-27. Due to illness, Jim Post (101) also missed the match.

Against Morris Knolls, Westfield gained key victories in the 108 and 122 pound weight classes. John Schaefer (108) came up with an impressive pin, 1:29 into the match, while down 2-0. Mike Verdisco (122) upset Jeff Vittorio, 10-6, to give WHS a 15-4 lead after four matches. Vittorio had been 11-2 going into the match.

The other four victories were obtained by Rob O'Hara (115), Jay Factor (188), Larry Smaracko (HWT), and still undefeated Stagaard. O'Hara pinned his opponent in the third period after building a 12-4 lead. Factor and Smaracko both won decisions, 8-2 and 5-2, respectively, and Stagaard won a major decision, 13-3.

Both Factor and Smaracko were undefeated for the week. Factor is now 18-1, his only loss being an upset in the early rounds of the Union County Tournament. Smaracko, who has won his last seven dual-meet matches, is 11-8.

Westfield made up its match against Union, which had earlier been snowed out, on Tuesday. Tomorrow and Saturday, Westfield will host the District Tournament.

Girls Upset Cherry Hill, End 10-Year Swim Record

By Kerry Lucke

A ten year winning streak was shattered last Wednesday as the WHS girls' varsity swim team upset Cherry Hill East 87-85 at home.

This was the first time that WHS ever defeated Cherry Hill in a dual meet.

Although WHS maintained a lead throughout the entire meet, the score was tied going into the final event, the 400 yd. freestyle relay. The team of Elizabeth Cummings, Melissa Horner, Christina Caroe and Allison Scott touched out the Cherry Hill team to seal the victory in the most exciting meet of the season.

Every event was a battle to the finish. Regardless of who won the race, both teams remained screaming and cheering to see who would pull out the fourth and fifth places. Every point proved to be vital.

The shock of the upset was best exemplified by Coach Marilyn Diamond at the touch of the final relay as she said, "I don't believe it!"

Aside from the medley and freestyle relays, WHS won only three of the nine individual events. This shows the team's overall depth.

Kerry Hertell captured first place in the 50 and 100 yd. freestyles, while Caroe won the 500 yd. free. The 200 yd. medley relay was won by Lynne Cassidy, Karen Linenberg, Jen Horner and Hertell.

Scott cut two seconds off her time in the 200 yd. free in a close race. She touched second at 1:59.3. Scott also placed second in the 100 yd. free.

Coach Diamond remarked, "This win was the result of fantastic team effort."

This meet concluded the girls' regular season. They finished with a record of 7-0. Their State Championship Meet will take place on March 9 in Lawrenceville.

Devils Dominate

Watchung Wrestling

Westfield White Devils dominated Watchung last Wednesday in good style, looking very comfortable.

Ricky Molinaro (50) set the tone for the entire match pinning his opponent in the first period. The trend continued throughout the meet with pins registered by Nate Lee (63), Leon Burton (67), Jeff Pereira (70), Chris Edling (77), Jason Calvert (85), and Sam Wunderle (105).

Kurt Duchek (80) and Jim Luersson (95) controlled all the way in obtaining victories.

Chris Delmonico (53) and Gary McMillan (60) won by forfeit. Stephen Flynn, Joel Kamins, Michael Davidson and Calvin Wise showed good determination in tough matches.

School Board

Candidate Deadline

Today (Feb. 21) is the deadline for interested citizens to file nominating petitions to become candidates for the Westfield Board of Education at the annual school election on April 2.

As of 11 a.m. yesterday, not one nominating petition had been filed with School Board Secretary Dr. William J. Foley.

Of the three incumbents whose terms expire this year, only one — Carl Bailey — made his intentions known by releasing an announcement today that he will not be a candidate for a second term. Board Members James England and George Weimer and any other interested residents have until 4 p.m. today to file a nominating petition.

If there are no candidates, or less than the three candidates needed to fill the three seats that expire this year, the school election is held. Any "write-in" candidates are offered the job. If they refuse or, if there are insufficient people to fill the three vacancies, the County Superintendent of Schools appoints citizens to the School Board.

If there are candidates, there will be a drawing for ballot position at 8 p.m. tomorrow (Fri., Feb. 22) at 302 Elm St.

Dr. Dersh Visits Washington School

Dr. David Dersh recently addressed Rita Murphy's second grade class at Washington School. Dr. Dersh talked about tooth eruption and dental health. In addition, the children were educated on other topics, including the anatomy of the tooth, why some people get toothaches and what a dentist does.

Toothbrush kits were presented to all class members, and students were taught the importance of brushing and flossing.

Dr. Dersh received many questions from the class, including what a root canal treatment entails, and how a dentist repairs broken and missing teeth.

Dr. Dersh practices in Westfield on Walnut St., where he has a general dental practice with Dr. Malcolm. He spoke at the invitation of the teacher and STS coordinator of the Westfield Public Schools and expresses his thanks to the class for their interest in their dental health and the warm welcome he received.

County Wages War On Drunk Drivers

The Union County Department of Public Safety has organized a DWI (Driving While Intoxicated) Task Force to address problems of drinking and driving in Union County, according to Louis J. Coletti, county manager.

The purpose of the Task Force is to develop methods to prevent drunk driving by focusing attention on the following areas: Enforcement, legislation, education, community awareness and rehabilitation/treatment. Progress has already been made in the area of enforcement since the establishment of Union County police sobriety checkpoints. At each checkpoint, educational literature is distributed to the public while officers check the driver's sobriety. Drivers who appear to be intoxicated are given breathalyzer tests to determine blood alcohol levels. Intoxicated drivers are arrested.

The Union County Police have arrested 12 drunk drivers within 29 hours of operation at DWI Checkpoints, according to County Police Lieutenant Tom Grady. In addition, Lt. Grady pointed out that, "The public response from all age groups has been overwhelmingly positive to continue checkpoints." Additional efforts to improve enforcement activities will be directed by Union County Prosecutor John Stamler, chairman of the enforcement committee.

The Union County DWI Task Force was organized with the assistance of the N.J. Office of Highway Safety. The Union County Task Force will be chaired by Mary D. Pilgrim, criminal justice planner in the Department of Public Safety. Several counties in New Jersey have organized DWI task forces in response to growing concerns about drinking and driving. Other counties include: Bergen, Cape May, Cumberland, Essex, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Morris, Passaic, Somerset, Sussex and Warren.

In the area of community awareness, the Union County Council on Alcoholism has successfully implemented the S.O.B.E.R. (Slow on the Bottle, Enjoy the Road) campaign, under the direction of Irene Flynn, public information coordinator. The Union County Council on Alcoholism, located at 300 North Ave., provides information, counseling, education, and other types of assistance to the public. Gladys Kerns, director of the Council on Alcoholism, is chairman of the DWI Community Awareness Committee.

The Task Force intends to organize student groups, such as SADD (Students Against Drunk Drivers) and Safe-Ride programs in the county. The Chairman of the DWI Education Committee is Dr. Vito Gagliardi, County Superintendent of Schools. The Task Force hopes to establish educational programs which will not only inform students of legal ramifications of drunk driving, but will also focus on the dangers of alcohol addiction.

Legislative efforts to combat drunk driving have been enhanced by organizations such as MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers). In New Jersey, astute legislators and MADD organizations have been instrumental in the enactment of some of the toughest drunk driving laws and penalties in the country. The legislative committee will be chaired by Senator Donald DiFrancesco. New legislation has begun to focus on rehabilitation/treatment in addition to criminal penalties. An example of legislative efforts to address the aspect of alcohol treatment is the Intoxicated Driver Resource Center (IDRC), now required in each county. Participants in the program are required to pay a fee for program expenses.

The Intoxicated Driver Resource Center requires DWI offenders to attend a 12-hour alcohol education and highway safety course, under new State laws. The Union County Intoxicated Driver Resource Center is directed by Peter Moran, Department of Human Services. The Rehabilitation/Treatment chairman is James Davis, alcoholism coordinator.

"Famine and Africa" Described To Leftists by Anthropologist

By Gil Margulis
WHIS News Bureau

Dr. Richard Franke, a professor and anthropologist at Montclair College, spoke at the recent Young Leftist meeting regarding the present famine in Africa. Professor Franke is an author of the book "Seeds of Famine" which details the Sahel famine of 1968-74 in Sub-Saharan Africa that he studied first hand in depth.

Believing that U.S. aid to Africa "is not getting at the root of the problem," he cites the fact that "of the $10 billion in aid sent to West Africa, only 2% goes to ecological reconstruction." The more food aid is sent, the more the price drops, and there is "less incentive to produce food by farmers. The next year, after the official famine is called off, people go hungry."

Dr. Franke points out that "food-aid is not always needed." In the Guatemalan earthquake of 1976, "more food aid was shipped than needed," thus depressing food prices and causing less food than needed to be produced the next year.

During these African famines, "the wealthy class and the leaders of the country exaggerate the figures of people starving." This is done so that the excess could be sold for inflated prices. Also, transportation is generally lacking in these nations. So what occurs is that massive amounts of food rot at the docks, unable to get to the people who need it.

When asked about the press' role in covering the present African famine, Dr. Franke chided the press for "trying to entertain people," because "it likes to sell spectacular events." He also commented on how the press failed to report on the roots and causes of the famine.

Dr. Franke endorsed the services of a few relief agencies, those who look ahead and try to help solve the problem. These include Oxfam, American Friends Service Co., and Codel, he said.

Club advisor Bob Bruno commented, "This kind of presentation truly makes us more aware of what two-thirds of the world is experiencing."

Participates in Moot Court

Patricia A. Bonner of Westfield, a second year student at the Rutgers School of Law at Camden, will take a trial spin at an appellate court case brought by a defendant convicted of aggravated sexual assault.

The issues under debate are whether identification obtained after hypnosis that refreshed the rape victim's memory and whether the defendant's confession, recorded over the telephone in a call instigated by the police, are admissible as evidence in the hypothetical suit.

This year, 67 law students and some 85 judges will participate in the Stratton Advanced Moot Court experience, which is part of an elective course designed by the State University of New Jersey's professional school to provide practical experience before panels of judges and practicing attorneys.

Following the initial arguments March 4-7, the quarter-finals and semifinals will be held March 20 and 27, respectively. The finals, in which the two remaining pairs of students will battle for the top awards, are set for April 3.

Bonner earned her bachelor of arts degree in English at Mount St. Mary's College. She was the recipient of the American Jurisprudence Award from the Co-operative Lawyers Publishing Co. for academic excellence in the study of Constitutional Law.

Police Issue Alert on "Capt. Rodgers," Post Office Has

Obscene Phone Caller

The Union County Police today asked the female residents of the county for their cooperation to help them apprehend an obscene phone caller who identifies himself as a Union County police officer.

Acting Union County Police Chief Richard Mannix said that three women received phone calls over the past weekend from a man who identifies himself as "Captain Rodgers" of the Union County Police. He then enlists their aid to catch an obscene telephone caller by asking them to stay on the line if the man calls, since they will tap the telephone line.

After they agreed, they received obscene phone calls, usually within minutes of the first call. In each case, Mannix said, the women identified the obscene caller as having a similar voice to "Capt. Rodgers," although lower in tone.

Mannix said the three calls took place in Roselle Park,

Linden and Elizabeth, and four other calls exactly the same have taken place since the first one in Cranford on Oct. 4, 1984, in various towns.

He appealed to any woman who receives, or has received, a call from someone identifying himself as "Capt. Rodgers" of the Union County Police, to contact Det. Rudy Rivera of the county police, who is handling the investigation, at 233-0070.

"I have a feeling a lot of these calls have not been reported, and I appeal to any women who receives a call of this nature to please help us by calling Det. Rivera," Mannix said.

He added that the calls seem to be made by using the phone book, since there is an alphabetical pattern to the calls.

In addition, Mannix said that this same type of incident has happened for the past two years in Bergen County, and his office is working with the Bergen County authorities to solve this problem.

The Westfield Post Office has "D" stamps available. An adequate supply of the stamps and other nondenominated items is available to help customers make a smooth transition after last Sunday's postal rate increase.

The nondenominated stamps in sheet, coil and booklet formats represents the new 22-cent first-class rate. There are also nondenominated postal cards and two-cent stamps which can be added to the 20-cent ones.

"Nobody likes to see higher postal rates, but this increase is moderate and justified," Postmaster M.J. Collins said. "Since the last increase in November 1981, the cost of living in the United States, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, has gone up almost 13 percent. The 22-cent stamp is only a 10 percent rise."

"The nondenominated items are available, because we estimate that stamp inventories in Post Offices at present will fall short of public demand, and we want to avoid customer inconvenience," he said.

Commemorative stamps, beginning with the Jerome Kern one, and other 22-cent stamps, are expected to replace the D stamps by the end of March.

Schlott Forecasts Solid First Half

Schlott Realtors' offices throughout the greater New York metropolitan area are gearing up for the strongest spring market in the company's history, according to president Richard L. Schlott.

"Real estate is an 'interest rate intensive' industry," Schlott said. "What happens in our industry is to a great extent a reflection of what happens to the interest rate. With the interest rate showing a steady decline and the economy continuing its recovery, real estate specialists across the country are predicting heavy sales activity," Schlott said. "We are no exception. The economy in this area is booming, and we expect the first half of 1985 to be the strongest or as strong as any in our 14 year history."

"Our salespeople who are out in the market find that the benefit of lower interest rates to the homebuyer is very often overestimated," Schlott said. "According to the National Association of Realtors' economists, for every one percentage point decline in the interest rate, the value of real estate increases by about five percent. Sophisticated home buyers in this area know that and don't wait for the interest rates to drop before they buy."

"The interest rate and the strength of the economy, however, do have an effect on corporate relocation activity," Schlott explained. "Much of the success of Schlott Realtors can be attributed to our preeminence in corporate relocation. With the economy in a recovery mode, we expect an active spring relocation market."
