Woman's Club of Westfield To Celebrate 95th Birthday

At a meeting to be held on March 12 at 1:15 p.m. at the First Methodist Church of Westfield, members of the Woman's Club of Westfield will celebrate Federation Day and the 95th birthday of the club. Honored guests will be greeted by club president, Mrs. Comer D. Shacklett, and include Mrs. Edward C. Goettel, president of the N.J. State Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Jerry B. Loizeau and Mrs. George F. Weinheimer, Jr., past presidents of the NJSFWC; Mrs. C. L. Gautier, 6th District vice president; members of the NJSFWC Board, district chairmen, presidents and representatives of other women's clubs in the district, past presidents of the Woman's Club of Westfield and members who have attained 50-year membership status. Mrs. George F. Weinheimer, Jr., Westfield club member, will give the invocation and Mrs. Harrison R. Cory, honorary member and past club president, will lead the pledge to the flag.

CLUB'S 95TH BIRTHDAY RECOGNIZED — Mayor Raymond W. Stone signs document proclaiming March 12 as Woman's Club of Westfield Day. Woman's club President Mrs. C.D. Shacklett witnesses the signing of the proclamation, which recognizes the club's many hours of volunteer service to the community.

Program Chairman, Mrs. Edwin DeGoff will introduce Carole-Anne Mochernuk, who will present a program of piano music in the Slavic tradition. A high tea hosted by the general membership follows the program.

The Woman's Club of Westfield is a member of the N.J. state Federation of Women's Clubs and of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which is the largest and oldest non-demonominational, international service organization of volunteer women in the world with ten million members in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, and 46 countries worldwide.

Formal organization of the Woman's Club of Westfield took place on Feb. 22, 1895 in the Public Library. It was decided to draw a constitution and by-laws and the second meeting, attended by 40 women, was held in the social room of the Standard Building on March 8, 1895. The

School Board Reviews "Status Quo" Budget

Concerned about containing costs and maintaining the integrity of Westfield's educational programs, the Board of Education is considering "a status quo" budget for 1990-91.

G. Bruce McFadden, chairman of the Board's finance committee, presented the budget at the Board's committee-of-the-whole meeting Tuesday. "We hear the message that there is a strong sense of value for education in the Westfield community," he stated. "And, we recognize the concern about the cost of education. Thus, we are presenting a budget that neither adds new programs with added budget expenditures nor cuts existing programs."

School Superintendent Mark Smith attributed the growth of school budgets in the 1980s to three factors over which the local School Board has little or no control. They are: program changes and federal and state mandates; increases in fixed costs items, like insurance which rose 137% - far above the inflation rate; and the national movement to upgrade professional teachers' salaries (which included a new New Jersey law increasing minimum teacher salaries from $7,000 to $18,500).

Dr. Smith outlined continuing efforts made to hold school costs down while educating fewer students over the past decade. Four schools were closed, he said, and the teaching staff was reduced by 129 positions. If these positions had not been reduced, the budget would be five million dollars higher. In addition, 12 administrative positions have been reduced.

The proposed tentative budget for 1990-1991 shows a total increase over the current budget of 9.9% and would require a 16 cent school property tax increase and the allocation of $400,000 from reserve funds.

Dr. Smith noted that the projected budget increase of more than $3 million is due to an extraordinary increase of $1.1 million in fixed costs for health benefits; a quarter of a million dollar increase in tuition to send special education students to other school districts which have

Six Candidates To Vie For School Board Seats

Six candidates have filed nominating petitions to run for election to three seats on the Westfield Board of Education in the April 24 School Election.

The candidates, listed in the order their names will appear on the ballot, as determined in the official drawing held last Thursday, are:

- Gregory C. Cuca, 500 Montauk Drive
- Susan Jacobson, 768 Tamaques Way
- G. Bruce McFadden, 248 Sylvania Place
- Faith Palamar, 11 Tudor Oval
- Thomas J. Mutaffis, 347 First Street

Melba S. Nixon, 1008 Tice Place

Three of the six candidates will be chosen by Westfield voters to fill three-year terms on the Board. The proposed 1990-1991 school budget will also be on the ballot for voter approval April 24.

Mrs. Jacobson, Mr. McFadden and Mrs. Nixon are incumbents. Mrs. Jacobson and Mr. McFadden, who is vice president of the Board, have served on the Board last year to fill one-year of the unexpired term of Susan Mullen, who resigned when she was named Fanwood Municipal Judge.

Rescue Squad Begins Annual Fund Drive

The Westfield Volunteer Rescue Squad will begin its annual fund drive by sending a letter to all Westfield residents and businesses asking for support. The Westfield Volunteer Rescue Squad is funded entirely by tax deductible contributions. This is the one time each year that the Rescue Squad tries to raise its operating funds.

Rescue Squad Vice President and Fund Drive Chairman Frank Aschenbrenner stated, "We hope for an enthusiastic response from all our neighbors in Westfield. Although donations from residents and businesses of Westfield have been generous in the past years, our costs have continued to skyrocket. We are proud of how we've managed to contain this growth in cost while at the same time answer an increasing number of calls each year. But last year was the first year when it was necessary for us to use money from our operational reserves. This is money set aside for replacement of ambulances and equipment. We are making a special appeal this year to replace these funds and also cover our normal costs."

The members of the Westfield Volunteer Rescue Squad receive no monetary compensation for

Chamber To Honor Individuals At Awards Dinner, March 28

Florence Saland, vice president/manager of Chemical Bank New Jersey, and Joseph Spector, vice president/manager of The Leader Store, will be the principal honorees at the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce annual awards dinner, Wednesday evening, March 28, at The Westwood. They will be honored for their business achievements and their service to the Westfield area Chamber of Commerce.

"Awarding our President's Trophy to Florence Saland," says Chamber President Frank Swain, "gives us an opportunity to applaud the personal commitment to chamber and community service which she has pursued throughout her professional banking career in Westfield. She is widely known and admired for constant willingness to donate financial support of her bank and personal expertise, enthusiasm, and time to worthwhile projects to benefit the Westfield business community."

Mrs. Saland began her career in 1942. For more than 40 years of bank mergers and changes, she worked at the same location for Westfield Trust Company, Suburban Trust, National Bank of New Jersey, Fidelity Union Trust, and First Fidelity Bank. By taking advantage of the educational and training programs of the American Institute of Banking, she moved up the managerial ladder while developing personalized relationships with her business and individual banking customers. When Chemical Bank New Jersey (formerly Horizon Bank) opened in 1986, Mrs. Saland was lured across the street to 206 East Broad to manage the new office.

Mrs. Saland has been active in the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce since the '70s when she became treasurer and helped organize the financial set up of the Westfield Association of Merchants group. For the past

Chamber Announces Five Winners Of "Clean & Green" Poster Contest

Five winners have been selected from among 174 entries in the "Clean & Green" poster contest sponsored by the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee. One winner was chosen from each age related category of girl scout troop. They are: Priyah Bhasin of Daisy Troop #125, Allison Checchio of Brownie Troop #56, Pamela Lygate of Junior Girl Scout Troop #609, Christina Liebrich of Cadette Troop #502, and Christa Walsh of Senior Girl Scout Troop #696. The winners received prizes of $25 gift certificates underwritten by Wyatt & Koss, 138 Central Ave. Certificates may be redeemed at Chamber member retail stores.

All entries were delivered to the Chamber office last Tuesday. They were judged for creativity, message, and artistic merit by a panel of four judges. Two judges are members of the WACC Beautification Committee: Sher-rye O'Brien of Sherrye O'Brien Interior Design at 228 Elmer St. and Jeanne Monaghan of Rorden Realty who is a member of Rake and Hoe Garden Club. Jack Eckler, a Chamber member from Steven Davis Gallery (formerly Frameworks) at 115 New St., and Joan Buhrendorf, a Westfield resident who is the recycling coordinator for Union County, also brought their expertise to the judging task.

The winning posters will be displayed in the window of Rorden Realty, at the corner of Elm and Quimby streets, for two weeks. Many other thought-provoking contest entries will be displayed in local retailers' windows.

The "Clean & Green" poster contest gave Westfield Girl Scouts an opportunity to convey their concerns about global and community environmental issues. The contest will be followed by the Westfield Girl Scouts' participation in a "Cleanup Day" on March 17 in Westfield.

Board Postpones Vote on Carwash/Gasoline Station

After hearing further testimony from representatives of Amoco Oil Co., on Monday, Feb. 26 the Westfield Board of Adjustment postponed voting on a proposed convenience carwash/gasoline filling station on South Avenue (presently Ralph's Amoco) until several members of the board have had the opportunity to view a similar operation.

Representatives of Amoco appeared before the board last month and were asked to reappear this month with more information. The company was asked to supply a photograph or rendering of a similar site, trip generation figures, and a traffic study. At Monday's meeting the oil company complied with all the requests except for the submission of a photograph or rendering.

Speaking on behalf of Amoco was Joseph Staigar, a traffic engineer from Chatham. Mr. Staigar presented to the board a three-part traffic impact analysis. He reviewed the current conditions of South Avenue at peak traffic times, assessed the impact after the proposed carwash is constructed and operating, and did a site plan evaluation.

Mr. Staigar surveyed the site on two separate occasions during peak traffic times in the morning. He estimated that 1,400 to 1,500 cars per hour passed the site in the east and westbound lanes combined. He related to the board that these type of stations generate customers from the existing flow of traffic, and it is unusual for people to come out of their way to have their vehicles washed at these carwashes. The traffic engineer estimated an approximate 30 cars per hour entering the station for gasoline, and an estimated 10 cars per hour entering to be washed.

Amoco representatives testified that the carwash would be coin-operated as a "safety factor," and that their would be two vacuum pumps at the site, a vending machine depot, with three machines, and a gasoline pumping area housed underneath specific programs for them; and a $2 million increase in salaries. The health benefits program, fully funded by the School Board, for some 600 employees, is part of contractual agreements. "We achieved some cost containment measures in this area in our last contract which called for increasing the amount employees pay for prescriptions and requiring second opinions," said Dr. Smith. "We will explore further ways of mitigating these costs in future negotiations."

Noting the huge increase in these fixed charges, Dr. Smith pointed out that Westfield's per pupil costs for fixed charges in the 1988-1989 school budget fall sixth out of 12 similar school districts in the state. "This statistic shows that Westfield's fixed costs which include health benefits for staff are not significantly higher than other comparable school districts." Using statistics from the New Jersey School Boards Association, Dr. Smith stated: "Westfield Boards of Education have made efforts to hold costs down. The district tends to spend less than comparable districts."

In the New Jersey School Boards Association statistical report, Westfield's $6,404 current expense per pupil is eleventh out of the 12 districts with similar socioeconomic and educational backgrounds.

Discussing salaries, the superintendent said that salary increases average about eight percent. "We're competitive but we're not out front," he said. Of 20 Union County school districts, Westfield's teacher salaries are in the middle or lower half. For example, the salary of a Westfield teacher with seven years' experience is near the bottom of the list - 18 out of 20. For a beginning teacher, Westfield offers a salary that is 10th out of the 20

Union County school districts. Dr. Smith reported on the "status quo" budget's impact on education. It will maintain elementary class size at the Board's policy range of 18 to 25 students; it will maintain key programs; it will continue recent initiative/improvements in areas such as elementary computers, science, writing, staff development and teacher peer assistance. There will be a moratorium on sabbaticals and a slight staff reduction because enrollment is no longer declining - it is leveling off, with projections for next year showing a minimal decrease of about seven students (from 4337 to 4330).

"The budget does not allow us to add new programs with new budget dollars," Dr. Smith said. He said that a proposed Spanish language immersion program for one first grade class in September, 1990 will replace a regular first grade class. The superintendent reported that the Spanish Consulate has verbally agreed to provide $6,500 for instructional materials and supplies and library books in Spanish for the program. Thus, the foreign language immersion program will not require new budget dollars.

William J. Foley, assistant superintendent for business, said that he assumed 90% of State Aid for the budget's income. Local school districts will be notified of state aid after Governor Jim Florio presents his budget message to the legislature on March 15.

The tentative $36,750,796 school budget will be on the Westfield Board of Education's agenda for approval at its public meeting on March 20. There will be a formal hearing on the proposed budget on April 3 and citizens will vote on the budget at the annual school election, April 24.

THERE'S GOING TO BE A RUMBLE — Westfield High School Drama and Music Department will present Jerome Robbins' "West Side Story," next Thursday, March 15, Friday, March 16 and Saturday, March 17. Showtimes are 8 p.m. with a Saturday matinee at 2 p.m. The production is under the direction of Joseph Nierle, James Beil and Choreographer Linda Kay. There is a cast of 40 with a 17-piece orchestra. ### Woman's Club purpose of the new club, inspired by intellectual and cultural pursuits, was social and civic improvement of the environment. The first club president was Miss Emma Bridges.

Active participation in the General Federation started when the club was federated in 1896 and as early as 1906 one member of the Westfield club acted as Secretary of the State Federation and a First Vice President served in 1910. From 1970-72 Mrs. George F. Weinheimer, Jr., was elected State President and other members have filled many district and state offices.

As the club grew so did its civic responsibilities. When the need for a free public library was felt, a town library committee was formed with past club president Miss Bridges as chairman and the club continues to support the library.

The club was responsible for formulating the District Nursing Association, chapter of the Red Cross, Girl Scouts, Thrift Shop, and the first Christmas collection for the Children's Country Home, now the Children's Specialized Hospital, was taken in 1911. The club supported the State Federation's move in 1915 to establish a college for women, now Douglass College. In 1919 a playground committee was organized and was sponsored by the club until it was taken over by the town. The club, along with other organizations, supported the founding of the Westfield Adult School.

Among the charities receiving aid from the club presently are the Chamber of Commerce, Children's Specialized Hospital, Overlook Hospice, President's Project - Federation foundation, Westfield Rescue Squad, United Fund, Westfield Day Care Center, the Firemen's and Police Benevolent Associations, Washington Rock Girl Scout Council, Boy Scouts of America and the Westfield Community Center.

Since it was founded, the Woman's Club of Westfield has been active in promoting education on the individual, community and state levels. A continuing aid to education was established in 1949 and since that date 65 four-year scholarships and 90 freshmen grants have been awarded to graduating seniors in Westfield High School. The Education Committee bases its selection of recipients on academic achievement, leadership and financial need.

In 1955 a four-page paper became a monthly magazine, The Bulletin, and today contains approximately 18 pages mailed to each member to inform her of club activities for the coming month. Revenue from advertising helps cover clubhouse expenses.

The dream of their own clubhouse finally materialized in 1955 with the purchase of the home at 318 South Euclid Ave. After considerable work the house was dedicated in April, 1956 during the presidency of Mrs. Ethan A. Hescok, who is a present honorary club member.

To celebrate the bicentennial of the United States, the club was responsible for the restoration of the kiosk newstand at the railroad station. There was also a school coloring contest and the commitment for the purchase of 250 flags to be displayed in Westfield on holidays.

The Woman's Club of Westfield consists of four separate groups of women. The regular club and the Juniors who meet during the day and the Junior Woman's Club and the Fortnightly Group who meet in the evening. There is a total membership of 262 which includes ten members who have been in the club for more than fifty years. Members of the club include women of all ages who want to develop their horizons by meeting new friends, gaining more knowledge of their communities, state and world around them, learning new skills, sharing creative talents, bringing new interests into their homes and accepting the challenge of improving their social, cultural and physical environment.

There are nine departments in the club open to all members and include American Home Life, Antiques, Art and Crafts, International Affairs, Literature, Music, Recreation, Social Services and Travel.

Goals of the club maintained over the years will not change with the challenges of the 1990s, and members will continue striving for these objectives through scholarship, benefits to local charities and the nurture and beautification of the environment.

NEW RULES ON 401(K)'S

The 401(k) retirement savings plan has long offered an attractive, tax-deferred pension plan -- like an IRA, only better. Contributions are not subject to current income taxes, there are no income limits to participation, and employees can put in up to 20 percent of salary, up to a maximum of $7,000 a year, adjusted for inflation: $7,627 in 1989. The limit includes employer contributions, if any.

Two more advantages -- the paperwork was not difficult for employers, and employees could borrow against their account (if the plan was written that way, and it often was).

Under new rules, if loans are permitted, they must be available to all participants and beneficiaries on a reasonably equivalent basis. Top employees should not be able to borrow more easily than lower-paid ones. This may include some retirees and others who've left the company -- and so increase paperwork problems. Also, interest rates on loans -- long lower than usual -- must now be equal to those of banks.

Hour of Need

Most residents received an appeal in the mail this week from the Westfield Volunteer Rescue Squad requesting funds for its operating expenses for 1990.

We stress that this is the only plea which our Squad will make to the community this year.

For those who have been fortunate enough not to have had to call for its services, it is perhaps difficult to realize how vital the Squad is to the Town.

During the course of a year, many letters appear in our readers' forum from residents expressing their gratitude to Squad members who were there in their hour of need. The following letter was received yesterday, just prior to press time; we thought it a fitting tribute to the Squad to include it here:

A recent fall against the glass door of the stall shower at home resulted in a very severe gash in my left arm and the loss of a lot of blood.

The Westfield Rescue Squad arrived within a very few minutes of my wife's phone call and found that my blood pressure had dropped drastically. The Rescue Squad team gave me oxygen on the spot, summoned a medical emergency team and promptly drove me to Overlook in a magnificently-equipped ambulance. The knowledge, effectiveness and professional competence of the Rescue Squad team were all absolutely first class and I believe that their great efforts kept my condition from deteriorating to a dangerous point.

Westfield town offers many advantages as a community to live in and, from my recent experience, I believe that the Westfield Rescue Squad and its volunteers rank right up among the best advantages.

George T. Skaperdas
14 Wychview Dr.

Whether fire, sudden illness or a domestic accident threatens, our Squad volunteers are on the scene doing what they do best — dispensing aid with compassion — and SAVING LIVES.

The Westfield Volunteer Rescue Squad asks for no recompense for its services. Its members are enthusiastic members of the community who are ready around the clock to safeguard our families. Let us show them our support in their hour of need.

Everything You Ever Wanted to Know About IRA's

If the mere mention of the term "Individual Retirement Account (IRA)" makes your head spin, you're in good company. According to the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs) some of the most frequently asked questions among taxpayers relate to the rules on IRA contributions. Here's a quick run-down of the basic facts.

Can I Still Make and Deduct IRA Contributions?

If neither you nor your spouse actively participated in a company retirement plan for any part of the taxable year, the answer is "yes." You can contribute and deduct up to $2,000 or 100 percent of your wages, whichever is less. If your spouse works and is earning at least $2,000, you can contribute and deduct an additional $2,000, for a total of $4,000; a non-working spouse increases your total allowable deduction to $2,250.

How do I know if I am considered an "active participant" in an employer's retirement plan?

Here's the rule of thumb: If your company's pension plan states that you are eligible for coverage, then you are considered an active participant. But as simple as it may sound, determining whether or not you are an active participant in a qualified retirement plan can be confusing. For instance, Dan participated in the Aris Company's retirement plan. On January 14, 1989, Dan left Aris and began working at XYZ Inc., which does not have a retirement plan. Although Dan participated in Aris' retirement program for only the first two weeks of the year, he is nevertheless considered an active participant.

Perhaps the easiest way to determine your participation status is by glancing at the information box on your W-2 form. If the box contains a printed mark, the IRS will consider you an active participant in a retirement plan. You may also want to check with your employer.

What happens if I do participate in a retirement plan?

If either you or your spouse participate in an employer's retirement plan, the deductibility of your IRA contribution is based on your adjusted gross income (AGI).

On a positive note, participants in a retirement plan do not necessarily lose the IRA deduction. Married couples with an AGI of $40,000 or less and singles with an AGI of $25,000 or less are still entitled to the full deduction. However, when your wages surpass those figures, your deduction starts to decrease. For every $1,000 in AGI over $40,000 (if married) and $25,000 (if single), you lose $200 in deductions. The end result is that the deduction phases out entirely for married couples with an AGI of $50,000 or more and for singles with an AGI of $35,000 or more. Does it pay to make a non-deductible IRA contribution?

Only you and your financial advisor can make that judgement. But you should keep in mind that deductibility is not the only thing IRAs have going for them. One of the greatest advantages of IRAs is that they enable you to accumulate retirement savings on a tax-deferred basis. What that means in dollars and cents is that your savings grow faster.

If you decide to make a non-deductible IRA contribution, you must inform the IRS by attaching Form 8606 to your federal tax return. To be safe, you should keep a personal record of all non-deductible contributions made between now and the time you receive the entire sum of your IRA funds. If the recordkeeping requirements make you jumpy, remember there are other ways to accumulate funds tax-deferred. Ask your CPA to describe your options.

How are IRA distributions taxed?
In the past, all withdrawals from IRA accounts were taxed as ordinary income. Today, the rules are a lot more complex — especially if you make a non-deductible contribution. Since these non-deductible contributions have already been taxed, any future distributions from your IRA accounts will be taxed based on the ratio of the non-deductible contributions to total contributions.

What are the rules on withdrawing IRA funds?
If you withdraw any IRA money before you turn 59, you may have to pay income tax on all or some of the amount withdrawn (depending on the proportion of deductible contributions to

AUTO INSURANCE

Editor; Leader:

Although Governor Florio deserves applause for his initiative in raising once again the troublesome issue of automobile insurance reform, we had all better take care to subject his specific proposals to careful analysis lest we find ourselves even worse off than before. The circumstance that the Governor has sufficient votes in both the Senate and the Assembly to rush his package into law does not necessarily equate to the public interest.

It is disturbing to find nothing in Gov. Florio's package of proposals which relates to the principal problem — the high cost of providing automobile insurance in the State of New Jersey. One need not be a partisan of the insurance industry to wonder if there isn't an element of paranoia on the part of those who insist that our own relatively small state has been singled out from all of the rest of the country for abuse. Not even the best run insurance company can remain in business indefinitely if it has to pay out more money than it receives. Forbidding insurance companies to pass along selected costs to customers may seem a superficially attractive strategy to some but could risk poorer customer service by placing the financial pressure to cut back in personnel.

One examines Gov. Florio's proposals in vain for any attempt to address the issues of (1) safe driving practices, (2) phony insurance claims and repair frauds, and (3) excessive personal injury litigation. As to the first, anyone using our highways these days can observe a disturbing incidence of really excessive speeds (and I don't mean a mere five or ten miles per hour above the speed limit) and an amount of weaving from lane to lane that can be frightening. The second is more difficult to observe first hand, but the New Jersey Insurance Department is understood to have estimated that such fraud adds $100 to $250 to the premium of every auto insurance policy. The last issue has been subjected to extensive public analysis and debate but, for reasons best known to itself, a Senate majority has always blocked any attempt to enact a true no-fault system which would limit the right to sue to instances of serious injury.

Unfortunately, many of the proposals in the Governor's package do little but shift costs from one policyholder to another. It is argued, for example, that a rating system is unfair if it has any relation at all to age, address, sex, or marital status. A major difficulty is that too many notions of fairness depend almost entirely upon the eye of the beholder. Is it fair to raise the rates of mature drivers when a disproportionate part of the insurance company's costs is historically attributable to drivers in their teens or early twenties? Is it fair to raise the rates of someone living in a rural or suburban area when a disproportionate part of those costs is attributable to drivers living in more heavily traveled areas? Is it fair to raise the rates of young female drivers when a disproportionate cost share is historically attributable to young male drivers? Is it fair to raise the rates of young married male drivers when a disproportionate cost share is attributable to young male drivers who happen to be single? Reasonable people may answer any of these questions in different ways, but attempting to hide the questions from view can hardly be in the public interest. Changes in the rating system will produce at least as many losers as winners. Let's at least look before we leap, remembering that changing the rating system will do nothing at all to reduce the amount of money the insurance companies may be required to pay out in claims.

Governor Florio's proposal to let drivers shift medical coverage from their automobile policies to their health policies is equally disturbing for similar reasons. His proposal seems to do nothing at all to reduce insurance company costs. Where is the saving? The cost of health insurance would have to rise and who would pay for the premium increases? If the insured were to pay, it would likely cancel any saving that might be realized on his or her auto insurance policy. Requiring employers to pay instead would, at the very least, add to their cost of doing business

Report from Washington

By Congressman Matt Rinaldo
7th District, New Jersey

The devastating effects of massive oil spills have been graphically demonstrated in recent months after a series of terrible tanker accidents provided us with photos and news accounts of oily sea birds and dead or dying marine animals. Where the environment is concerned, it is clear that there is a price to be paid for our dependence on oil and gas for fuel.

It is also clear that when precious and environmentally fragile ocean shore is destroyed, that price is too high.

Our shores and estuaries are important not just for recreation. They are crucial for the role such areas play in the life cycles of marine animals. A host of species, including fish and birds, breed in these areas. Newly hatched marine animals remain in these safer, shallow waters where food is abundant, gaining size and strength before they move to deeper waters as adults.

When such fragile coastal areas are destroyed or damaged and their potential as breeding grounds is ruined, the casualty list includes future generations of marine species that will not be born. The population of important species of fish and birds is thereby reduced.

In addition, there is a more measurable loss when such accidents occur. That is the loss of tourist dollars for local economies when beaches and ocean recreation areas are fouled. In my view, these assets are too irreplaceable to risk. That is why I am sponsoring legislation to protect the environmentally fragile ocean shoreline against the pollution threat of offshore oil drilling. This bill would ban drilling rigs closer than 125 miles to the New Jersey shore.

This legislation is intended to establish buffer zones stretching seaward from protected coast lines on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and the Gulf of Mexico. These buffer zones would vary in size from region to region, depending on environmental requirements. Under no circumstances could drilling rigs be operated closer than 50 miles to a protected coastline. Buffer zones for most of the protected shore areas would prohibit drilling anywhere within 100 to 175 miles of land.

The proposed National Ocean Protection Act also would authorize the federal government to buy back drilling leases in two environmentally sensitive ocean regions and would establish permanent bans on drilling in areas now protected only by temporary prohibitions.

According to estimates by the Department of the Interior, a ban on offshore drilling in fragile ocean areas would affect only 4.67 billion barrels of untapped oil and gas reserves. Unaffected by a ban would be an estimated 77 billion barrels, or 94 percent of the recoverable, untapped gas and oil believed to lie offshore beneath the ocean floor.

We can save nearly three times as much oil as we are giving up with this drilling ban just by increasing the fuel efficiency of cars and trucks. I think this is a small price to pay to guarantee that these areas will be protected for future generations.

Under the proposed legislation, ocean drilling would be prohibited within 50 miles of Maryland and Massachusetts; within 100 miles of Oregon, Washington, Alaska, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia, Delaware, New Hampshire and Maine; within 125 miles of New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island; within 145 miles of California and within 175 miles of North Carolina.

Drilling would be banned within the Georges Bank fishing grounds off the coast of New England, and exploration leases granted for waters near the Florida Keys and in Bristol Bay,

"My Left Foot"
A Winner, Hands Down
 BY MICHAEL GOLDBERGER

A friend recently informed that he enjoys my reviews best when I'm "funny." I'd like to please the pal more often, and had every intention of doing so this week. Problem is, the schedule called for reviewing My Left Foot, a true-to-life tale about a cerebral palsy victim who prevails against the odds to become a noted artist/writer via his only mobile appendage, his left foot.

So go be funny Mr. Film Critic — have 'em rollin' in their relax-oloungers.

"Gee, Madge, did you read Popcorn™ this week—hilarious bit about that crippled Irish painter, Christy Brown."

At first thought, such treatment would spell sacrilege, blasphemy, and just plain bad taste. We still have a rather Medieval view of disease, and it's hard to shake the tradition. We look furtively at the handicapped, cautious not to stare, and silently better off if he had taken to stand-up comedy instead of side-show freakdom. That was tragedy by all the classical definitions. But, though never losing sight of the important issues at hand, filmmaker Sheridan fully proves that Christy Brown's tough travail ultimately is an interesting aspect of the human comedy.

Following the director's tone splendidly, the principal actors display a levity in the face of various hardships without appearing to be completely-out-of-touch dolts. This certainly is not one of those films that glamorizes the benefits of being disabled, that ridiculously popular genre that overstates matters and stupidly suggests that being born with a horrible handicap is your ticket to miraculous accomplishment.

Brown, superbly played by Daniel Day-Lewis, is a wonderfully entertaining cynic who passionately fights for his piece of the human experience, which he simply defines as being accepted in mainstream terms. Also very entertaining and totally on key is Ray McAnally as the lower middle-class patriarch of the Brown family who struggles with the daily frustrations of feeding an ever-increasing family while dealing with his own ego problems associated with fathering a boy like Christy. But, best in the cast is Brenda Fricker as the devoted mom, a deftly acted character who warmly defines motherhood at its finest.

Along the way, writer/director Sheridan, who co-authored the screenplay with Shane Connaughton, gives us a sociological update on the state of being Irish via the bleak Dublin neighborhood that serves as the fascinating, often poetic backdrop. Employing traditional storytelling methods, Mr. Sheridan achieves a winning honesty — a key element that may give My Left Foot a leg up on the competition come Oscar night.

thank our lucky stars — "Oh, there but for the grace of God." In short, we're generally not very comfortable around such folks. Comedy is the furthest thing from our minds. Ironically, the bulk of special-needs-people have a far more pragmatic attitude toward the benefits to be gained from a healthy sense of humor.

Happily, director/writer Jim Sheridan shows great insight into the psychology of such matters, and resolutely has the Oscar nominations to prove it. The approach in My Left Foot is buoyant, engaging, and remarkably devoid of dirge-like self pity.

None of this is to say that the Elephant Man would have been a lot in the state and make New Jersey employers that much less competitive with respect to employers in other states. What about New Jersey residents who are employed outside of the state? What about drivers without employer paid health benefits? What about drivers covered by Medicare or Champus, both of which are programs of the federal government? These are all questions which deserve responsive answers.

Overall, Governor Florio's proposals may be a useful starting point for a thoughtful and much needed overhaul of New Jersey's automobile insurance laws. To that extent, he is to be congratulated. Any attempt to railroad them through, however, with no serious effort to address the issues which make New Jersey such an expensive state for an insurance company to do business in, would have the earmarks of a scam which could take us out of the frying pan right into the fire.

NAPKIN

Let's Map It Out!

The origin of napkin seems quite obvious. It must have something to do with nape, a middle English word meaning neck. If you went along with this assumption, you were wrong but in good company. Napkin has little to do with the neck, despite the fact that it is occasionally tied around a child's neck to protect its clothing against spills and spots.

The origin of this word is intriguing. It is derived from the Latin word mappa, meaning "napkin or a small cloth thrown into a ring (not a napkin ring) to start a game." At one time, geographical designations were drawn on these small cloths. In the Latin language, a drawing of the world on such a cloth was called mappi mundi, literally "a napkin or small cloth depicting the world." The early Romans also used mappa to describe a linen book. Our English word map comes from this source. The French converted mappa to nappe, and later the English added the diminutive kin (for the sake of redundancy).

Apron came from the old French work napron, but lost its "n" by emigration as it traveled to England. This, incidentally, is the reverse of what usually happened to an "n." Etymologically, "n" usually emigrates from the word "An" to affix itself to the word that follows. Example: an "eke" (extra name became nickname).

In many cases, a napkin simply ends up as a map of one's last meal!

You're Retired When...

Down at Old Man Meister's Coffee Shop, Noah Maltby, the retired statistician, is even more indignant than usual. "Did any of you see that fool on TV last night riding an old steam locomotive and saying, 'I hope everyone gets to ride on one of these. They're one of the few remaining symbols of a simpler time.' That jackass! Did he ever ride one on a hot summer's day when you had to leave the windows open - if you could even get them open - and cinders got into your eyes and you came home looking like a miner who hadn't showered? 'Simpler times,' my foot. Those diesels they ride nowadays are like palaces compared to them."

"I saw that," Carol Webster, the retired banker, observes. "That simpler time thing? They all have that illusion. Just last week my granddaughter said to me, 'It must have been wonderful when you were a girl, Grandma. Boys were courteous and girls didn't have to chase them for dates. It's a jungle out there now. It was so much simpler when you were a girl.' I was about to tell her some home truths but Eadie gave me the eye so I shut up. They have no idea what we went through."

Nora Teel, a very smart looking lady says, "I think it was simpler for teachers though. Nowadays we have to teach sex education, driving, dancing, social attitudes, AIDS and drug prevention. All the things which should be taught at home."

Teachers don't have time for the three Rs let alone science and little bits of history. And then we have to be constantly on hand to see parents nearly all of whom know better than the teacher what's good for the class. Why, before I retired I'd have parents come and cry to me that they couldn't do anything with their children. They wanted me to threaten them with dungeons and dragons to make them behave!"

"Did you?" Carol asks.

"I did not. If I had those same parents would have been the first to complain to the superintendent that I was insensitive!"

"Well I don't know about that!" Terry Sanborn, the retired principal, says. "Teachers were looked down on in those days. And the pay!" Terry shakes his head. "But this simpler past thing. This generation all think it was simpler because they know how everything turned out. They think it couldn't have happened any other way. The present has a myriad of roads to choose from. That's why it is a jungle out there, Carol. Down any one of them might be a waiting dungeon or dragon. It's the jungle of change. We all say we want it. But we really don't. Change scares us."

"Well I know one thing that'll never change" Zack Roberts says, standing up "I'm going home now to start on my income taxes. That's one thing I know will always be there."

Are you buying the right municipal bonds?

What you don't know could cost you money.

Municipal bond buying is far more complex than it used to be. The market has responded to tax reform with innovations, and as market conditions continue to change, the "right" bond today could be the wrong bond for you tomorrow. It's no longer enough to look only at yield and rating.

Did you know:

- You could lose up to 6 months' interest if you are unaware of your bond's call feature?
- You don't have to sacrifice yield for safety? You can get the security of insurance plus competitive yields in today's market.
- The high yield bonds you bought in the early '80s could be called away from you?
- You need only 7 days' notice to receive your original principal plus interest back on some bonds?
- You can get a long-term yield on a shorter-term bond?
- You can still get triple tax-free income, even if the bonds you want aren't available in your state?
- You can build wealth and plan for future income in one convenient package?
- You could be getting a higher yield, if you are a qualified buyer, with AMT bonds?

Find out what else you should know. Ask for your free brochure.

PaineWebber's comprehensive new brochure, "Mastering Municipals," is unlike any other in the industry. It provides a detailed explanation of each bond's benefits and features. And best of all, you can use it as a checklist to determine if you are buying the right bonds. Call today for your free copy. We think you'll say "Thank you, PaineWebber!"

Lions Club Kicks Off Its Annual Fund-Raising Drive

The Lions Club of Westfield kicked off its 1990 fund-raising drive at the Steak & Ale Restaurant in Mountainside last week. The theme for the dinner meeting was a "Sports Night." A presentation was given to the members by Lion Joseph Gibilisco of the Rahway Lions. Mr. Gibilisco, a Rahway funeral director, is a collector of autographed sports memorabilia and entertained the members with signed baseballs, footballs, boxing gloves, shoes, original unused tickets to various sporting events and autographed uniform tops, the most notable being a shirt worn by New York Yankee manager Billy Martin. At the close of the meeting Lion Gibilisco donated a baseball signed by Billy Martin to be raffled off to the club members in attendance. The funds raised were to be used as the club desires.

The Lions Club of Westfield has selected the Eye/Earmobile as this year's fund-raising project. The club's two vehicles have been available to all who requested them, but their age is showing and massive repairs or replacement are needed. The Eye/Earmobile offers free eye and ear screening and is staffed by a trained Audiologist and Optometrist. The Eye/Earmobile will be on Elm Street in Westfield on May 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Also discussed at the meeting was the upcoming Easter Egg Hunt and the White Cane sale set for Saturday, March 31.

Hemsath Fund Established By Westfield Foundation

as regional vice president in the New York office. One of his favorite pastimes was flying. He qualified for a private pilot's license and has his own plane. His wife, Diane, and other members of his family still maintain residences in town.

This fund has been established by a close friend with the hope that other friends of Robert Hemsath will likewise make a gift to the memorial fund in his memory. Contributions may be made to the Robert A. Hemsath Memorial Fund, c/o The Westfield Foundation, P.O. Box 2295, Westfield, N.J. 07091.

Irish Soda Bread at Not Just Cookies

In Ireland, rounds of soda bread accompany every meal, from breakfast to high tea. Each warm, thick slice makes a delectable platter for butter and honey or marmalade.

At NOT JUST COOKIES in Westfield, we bake Irish Soda Bread year-round; but it is especially popular in March because of St. Patrick's Day.

Visitors from Ireland have repeatedly told us that our Irish Soda Bread is authentic— and no wonder — we use the finest unbleached flour, fresh buttermilk, fresh butter and fresh eggs. Our special conveyor oven radiates heat similar to the old-fashioned brick ovens or stone ovens used in Ireland.

The best thing, of course, is that you don't have to be Irish to enjoy our Irish Soda Bread... or does everyone have a little Irish deep down inside?

P.S. Please call us at 233-7268 to reserve a few loaves. You can watch it come out of the oven or we can have it wrapped and ready.

Represented in the collection will be over 1,000 works of art in oil, watercolor, graphics, and sculpture by world-renowned artists as well as those now gaining prominence. This year, Hadassah has commissioned a special, limited edition lithograph by the acclaimed artist Joseph Dawley, which will be presented to patrons at the opening gala.

This Art Show and Sale serves as the primary means of fulfilling Westfield Chapter's commitment to Hadassah's programs. Because of funds raised, medical researchers and physicians have been able to make many breakthroughs in all areas of health care.

We invite the public to join us Sunday, March 18 through Wednesday, March 21 when we once again turn a small corner of Westfield into an international art museum.

Westfield Public Schools Will Present Acclaimed String Teacher

The Fire Arts Department of the Westfield Public Schools will present internationally acclaimed string teacher and author, Kato Havas, on March 17, at Roosevelt Intermediate School in Westfield. Ms. Havas will explain, demonstrate and implement her "new Approach In String Playing" during five master classes of mixed strings (violin, viola, cello, string bass). All participants will provide their own instruments and attend classes as follows: 9 a.m. - teachers, 10 a.m. - parent partners, 11 a.m. - first year mixed strings, 1 p.m. - second year mixed strings and 2 p.m. - third year mixed strings.

Students in grades kindergarten through 12, parents and teachers in the Westfield district as well as interested string players throughout New Jersey have been invited to join in this workshop.

Kato Havas, born in Hungary, was introduced to the violin at the age of five, and gave her first professional recital at the age of seven. Her compatriot, Emil Telmanyi, arranged for her to study at the Royal Academy in Budapest, where she received the traditional Hungarian virtuoso training. Later she toured most of the major capitals of Europe, made her debut at Carnegie Hall at the age of 17 and was acclaimed by the critics everywhere.

Mrs. Havas married at 18 and while bringing up her three daughters, withdrew altogether from professional life. It was during this period of withdrawal, that she evolved her method of teaching. In questions and limitations of contemporary violin playing, she found she had stumbled upon the core of the problem, she said. She began to teach a few people, mostly her friends.

A series of articles about her method by Noel Hale appeared in the "Strad" a string periodical, "I was privileged" wrote Mr. Hale, "to witness the teaching of a method of violin playing entirely new to me, which I believe is capable of revolutionizing the technique of playing... the Havas method represents a way of playing which would seem to me the answer to cramp, certainly the answer to how to enjoy playing instead of being worried by it... writing as a personal witness, I must say that I have been amazed at the results of this unusual approach."

Ms. Havas was invited to lecture at Oxford; she gave talks and demonstrations on television and pupils sought her out from all over Britain as well as from the continent.

Being honored for her many years of service to the Westfield Fife and Drum Corps is Mrs. Janet Gebauer, past Director. Mrs. Gebauer will remain as a member of the organization's Board of Directors. Shown making a presentation is Senior Fifer, Caroline Barna.

"Fife and Drummers" Honor Past Director

The Westfield Fife and Drum Corps honored Janet Gebauer at its annual dinner for her more than three years of dedicated service. Mrs. Gebauer's efforts with the Fife and Drum Corps have brought national attention to the organization and to Westfield.

The Board of Directors accepted her resignation and named Bob and Agnes Trainor of Scotch Plains co-directors of the Corps.

The Westfield Fife and Drum Corps consists of boys, girls, young men and young women ranging from nine to 18 years old. They participated in over 20 parades and competitions in 1989 throughout New Jersey and New York.

Members of the Corps receive expert instruction on fife and drum. Lessons are conducted every Tuesday evening at the First United Methodist Church, 1 East Broad St.

Stenciling and Cheese Making Featured at Miller-Cory Sunday

The Miller-Cory House Museum, 614 Mountain Ave., Westfield, will feature stenciling on tin and wood and cheese making this Sunday, March 11, from 2 to 5 p.m. Volunteer Mary Ellen Halsey, who is currently president of the New Jersey Chapter of the Historical Society of Early American Decoration, will show visitors how to stencil on household items and furnishings. Among the examples she will have on hand will be a decorated Hitchcock-type chair, trays, and boxes.

This craft was popular in America during the late 18th and first half of the 19th centuries and followed a period of highly decorated furniture in England and Europe. Special training was not necessary to achieve results and homes were prettied up with little expense.

The interesting process of making cheese will be explained and demonstrated by Jean Kilcommons, co-chairman of the Museum's Cooking Committee.

Bonnie LoPresti will be among the docents conducting tours of the 250 year old farmhouse which served as a private home until 1972. All volunteers dress in authentic costumes and invite questions about life in early New Jersey.

The Miller-Cory Juniors, the young members of the Museum, will be learning how to make silhouettes during the afternoon and the Gift Shop will be open for browsing from 2 to 5 p.m.

Training sessions for new volunteers are scheduled for March 13, 20, and 27 (all Tuesdays) beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in finding out more about the Museum and its programs is welcome to call the office at 232-1776.

Devil Varsity Tri-Captains Advance to State Mat Tourney

The dream of every New Jersey high school wrestler is to compete in the State Tournament at Jadwin Gym in Princeton University. To qualify for this honor, a wrestler must place in the top three in his District Tournament to qualify for the Regional Tournament, and then place third or better in the Region to qualify for the State Tournament.

Eight Blue Devil grapplers took the first step at the District 11 Tournament on Feb. 24 and qualified for the Region 3 Tournament, which began on Feb. 28 at Union H.S. as second and third place District finishers faced each other in the preliminary round. Champions from the four districts competing (9, 10, 11, 12) were seeded and drew byes into the quarter-finals, which were held on March 2. The semi-finals, consolation and finals were held on March 3.

At this level, the competition is fierce, with a trip to the State Tourney at stake, and the cream rises to the top. It was fitting then that the Devil grapplers to qualify for the trip to Princeton were Senior Tri-Captains Chris Jordan (112 lbs.), John Povalac (135 lbs.) and Ken Marsh (189 lbs.) — the team leaders were the key factor in the team's great success this year. Chris took first, while John and Ken each took third.

The other Westfield wrestlers competing for the last time this season were sophomores Paco Gonzalez (103 lbs.), senior Marcus Elias (119 lbs.), sophomore Paul Jordan (125 lbs.), junior Glen Kurz (130 lbs.) and senior Roger Sullivan (160 lbs.)

Tournament Summary:
As a District Champion, Paco Gonzalez (103) was seeded third and drew a bye into the quarter-final round, where he had to face Dante Puorro of Dayton, who he dropped a 3-0 decision to in the County Tournament final. This time Paco wrestled an outstanding match and almost pulled it out, dropping a 4-3 decision.

Chris Jordan (112) dominated Jason Yee of Dayton in the preliminary round and advanced to the quarter-final, where he pinned Rick Ortega of Governor Livingston in 5:12. He then faced top-seeded Francis Dunn of Boonton in the semi-finals and was in control all the way as he posted an 8-2 decision to set up his third match with Willie Carpenter of Cranford. Carpenter had defeated Chris 6-2 in the County final and 7-5 in the District final, and this time was more dominating as he built a 10-0 lead going into the third period. But he got a little too over-confident and chose neutral in the third period, which proved to be a fatal error. Chris caught him with a headlock throw and had him on his back for over a minute, finally nailing the pin at 5:38 in a stunning come-from-behind upset to take his first Region 3 title.

Marcus Elias (119) pinned Rob

DeFreitas of Governor Livingston in 1:50 of the preliminary bout to advance to the quarter-final, where he had to face second seeded Ed Dunn of Boonton. Eli turned in another intense effort, wrestling head-to-head with Dunn until he got caught in the third period.

Paul Jordan (125) was dominating in the early rounds as he pinned Rob Hassen of Dunellen at 1:45 of the preliminary and Tony Allocca of Madison at 4:22 of the quarter-final, and advanced to the semi-finals, where he had to face top-seeded Dan Lilley of Union again. Paul wrestled tough and Lilley had to settle for a technical fall. Paul then fell just short of making the trip to Princeton as he lost in the consolation round to the tough Mark Besser of South Plainfield and finished fourth — not bad for a sophomore.

Glen Kurz (130) another District Champion, was also seeded third and drew a bye into the quarter-final, where he had to face the tough Scott Hibbard of Union for the third time this season. In their first two encounters, they drew and Hibbard took a close decision. This time Hibbard prevailed 13-6, despite a gutsy effort by Glen right up to the final buzzer.

John Povalac (135) also a District Champion and third seed, advanced to the quarter-final where he decked Mike Lefke of Whippany in just 56 seconds. He then had to face second seeded Kevin McCann of South Plainfield in the semi-final and dropped a tough 6-4 decision, setting up his fourth match of the season against Rich Rivera of Rahway in the consolation bout. In their first three meetings John had squeezed out close, one or two point decisions; but this time with a berth in the State Tourney at stake, John was at his peak as he dominated Rivera with an 11-6 victory.

Roger Sullivan (160) ended a close contest with Eugene Belle of Roselle Park as he scored a fall in 2:58 of the preliminary round to advance to the quarter-final, where he faced third seeded Mike Dunlap of Scotch Plains. Roger wrestled his aggressive style throughout, but was stifled by Dunlap's stalling tactics and came out on the short end of a 7-4 verdict.

Ken Marsh (189) decked Brian Wilder of New Providence in 1:45 of the preliminary bout, setting up a re-match with fourth seeded Bill Coon of Columbia. Ken had "tech-failed" Coon in the dual meet, but this time it wasn't so easy. Coon was obviously up for this one, but Ken stayed in control and took a 6-4 decision to advance to the semi-finals, where he faced undefeated top-seed Mike Westhead of Madison. Ken was never in trouble, but had a hard time scoring on the tall, lanky Westhead and dropped a 9-2 decision, which placed him in the consolation round for a rematch with second seeded Dave Peterson of Johnson. Ken had dropped a questionable 5-4 verdict to Peterson in the County final and now it was payback time. This time he left nothing to chance and dominated Peterson from start to finish, scoring two three-point near falls enroute to an 11-1 major decision a trip to Princeton.

Povalac and Marsh begin their quests for a state crown in the pre-preliminary round, which begins at 5 p.m. on March 14. As a regional champion, Jordan draws a bye into the preliminary round, which is scheduled for 7 p.m. the same evening. The quarter-finals and wrestle back consolations will begin at 6 p.m. on March 16, while the semi-finals and finals are scheduled for 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. on March 17.

SENIOR TRI-CAPTAIN CHRIS JORDAN puts arm bar on Jason Yee of Dayton Regional in preliminary round at 112 lbs.

SENIOR TRI-CAPTAIN JOHN POVALAC breaking down Rich Rivera of Rahway en route to 11-6 decision in consolation bout at 135 lbs.

Between 1882 and 1887, Hugh L. Daly was a pitcher for several major league baseball teams. He won seventy four games, including a no-hitter. He had only one arm.

SENIOR TRI-CAPTAIN KEN MARCH locks up with Bill Coon of Columbia in 189 lb. quarter-final match.

Holy Trinity J.V. Wins With "Buzzer" Basket

A last minute basket capped a fourth quarter rally by the Holy Trinity fifth and sixth grade team. The basket, scored by Sean Manahan, lifted the Blue Braves to a 22-21 victory over Christ the King (Hillside).

Holy Trinity's quintet trailed for most of the contest, but the tenacious defense of Billy GaNun, Matt Leahy, and Kevin Clancy kept the game close. The comeback was also spurred by the offense provided by Matt Angeles and the strong rebounding of Kyle Bartlett and Ryan Harmer.

Manahan whose buzzer beater provided the team with its most exciting victory of the season.

Coach Brennan's squad has been assisted this year by the fine play of Matt Janson, Eddie Jintoli, Tom Dowling, Denny Oravez, Chris Boales, Jamie Clark, Matt McAvoy, and Wes Alexander. The assistant coaches are Tony Pazmino and David Brennan.

Eye Openers

IT'S TIME TO SEE YOUR OPTOMETRIST:

The wise patient has his or her eyes examined regularly, whether or not there are seeing problems. Just like your body, or your child's body, the eyes are constantly changing. An annual or bi-annual eye examination can sometimes disclose medical conditions that can be treated to slow down or prevent vision deterioration. If you are like most people, you're probably not seeing your optometrist regularly, despite good intentions. However, it is essential that you make an appointment immediately if any of the following symptoms are present: (1) blurred vision (at distance or at near); (2) headaches; (3) pain of any kind in the eye; (4) squinting; (5) eye irritations; (6) fatigue after reading or watching TV (or any other seeing task); (7) ESPECIALLY FOR YOUR CHILD: difficulty in learning how to read, sporadic attention span in school, disinterest in books, poor school performance, truancy in the teen years. To be especially safe with your children's eyes, have them examined annually. Surely eyes play a more important role in learning than teeth do, and most children see the dentist often... schedule the optometrist, too.

Ms. Merdinger has been a merit scholarship candidate in the Doctor of Musical Arts degree programs at Manhattan School of Music. She received both a Bachelor of Arts and Master of Music degrees from Yale University. Her earliest study began at the age of seven in the Intensive Study/Pre-College Division of the Westchester Conservatory of Music where she was awarded the Artist's Diploma in both piano and flute.

Following the concert, a soup and sandwich luncheon will be available at a minimal cost. Babysitting is provided free, 12-1:30 p.m.

Funding for the concerts has

been made possible in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, through a grant administered by the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

Following her Wednesday, March 14 performance in Westfield, Ms. Merdinger will be performing a solo recital in New York City at Merkin Concert Hall on Monday, March 19 at 8 p.m. at the invitation of Artists International.

In her lifetime, one termite queen can produce over 500 million children.

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS
by Kitty Duncan, Pharmacist

If you have a question on any medication, or the proper way to take it, give us a call at 233-0662, 0063, or 0664, JARVIS PHARMACY, 54 Elm Street. Free prescription delivery will include, when needed, pickup of the prescription at your home, careful compounding in our pharmacy and delivery back to you. Expert photo finishing is available through Kodak. Hours: Mon thru Fri 9am-9pm, Sat 9am-6pm, Holidays 9am-1pm.

SELF-CONTROL
It used to be that a person with minor symptoms of ill-health would automatically turn to the doctor for diagnosis and medication. However, over the past two decades, there has been a steady trend toward self-diagnosis and self-medication. In recognition of this trend, the Food and Drug Administration began reviewing its approval of over-the-counter products in 1972. Since then, the FDA has lifted the prescription-only restrictions on at least thirty medications. For its part, the FDA ordered improvements that made the new over-the-counter drugs safer and more effective. The consumer's responsibility lies with self-diagnosing correctly and reading the instructions and restrictions that apply to the drugs taken.

HINT: Since 1982, the money Americans have spent on self-diagnosis kits has more than quadrupled.

Church Women Plan Luncheon For 63rd Year

The Presbyterian Women will celebrate their 63rd Anniversary by sponsoring a Birthday Luncheon on Thursday, March 15, at 12:30 p.m. in the Assembly Hall. The speaker will be Ruth McCracken Pringle, 1988-89 Moderator Synod of the Northeast. Her topic is "Bloom Where you are Planted," a discussion of women in the church.

Ruth McCracken Pringle is a graduate of Wilson College, a Presbyterian Women's College in Chambersburg, Pa., with a major in physics. She is married, has five children and two grandchildren. Mrs. Pringle is a member of the Cranford Presbyterian Church and serves as an elder, teacher, and choir member. Presently she is active in the Visiting Homemaker Service of Central Union County and on the board of Home Care Council, a state organization of home-maker agencies. Since July 1st, 1989 she has served as stated clerk of the Elizabeth Presbytery and has been a member of the Personnel Committee and active in care of clergy and spiritual enrichment groups within the Presbytery. She is a member of Synod Mission Council, where she has participated for 12 years, and acts as Immediate Past Moderator.

Each Circle will take part in decorating a table depicting a specific month. Persons having a birthday in that month will sit at their designated table. Circle assignments for the birthday tables are as follows: Circle #1, January; Circle #2, February; Circle #3, March-April; Circle #4, May-June; Circle #5, July-

August; Circle #6, September; Circle #7, October; Circle #8, November; and Circle #9, December. Circle #13 will prepare the luncheon.

Members of the church family and community are invited to at-nondeductible contributions) plus a 10-percent penalty. The only exceptions to this rule are if you become permanently disabled or the distributions are paid under the life-annuity exception. You can also be penalized if you don't start to withdraw money from your IRA account before April 1 of the year following the year in which you turn 70. How many transfers can I make between IRA accounts?

You can make as many direct transfers from IRA trustee or accounts that you believe are necessary. However, if you do withdraw your IRA funds and close your account, the transfer is considered a rollover (you are permitted one per year), and must be redeposited in a qualified IRA account or other qualified plan within 60 days. If you miss the 60-day deadline the amount withdrawn will be taxed and, if you are under age 59, it will be subject to a 10-percent early-withdrawal penalty.

Although you must deal with the possibilities of withdrawal penalties and tax-deduction restrictions, IRAs generally remain one of the more widely recommended methods of building retirement funds. If you do decide to make an IRA contribution, CPAs urge you to watch how your account is performing. Don't let possible income "slip through your fingers." For instance, if you have thousands of dollars in a nonproductive mutual fund, switch to an investment that has a proven record of success.

For additional information on whether or not an IRA is right for you, consult your CPA. Money Management is a weekly column on personal finance distributed by the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants.

WCP's Latest Offering Is Definitely Worth a Visit

By Kathleen L. Gardner

For their third offering of the 1989-90 season, the Westfield Community Players have chosen a tragi-comedy by German dramatist Friedrich Duerrenmatt. "The Visit," adapted by Maurice Valency presents the audience with a twisted love story and a parable of unquarable greed.

The play's action takes place in the small, Central European town of Guellen in the 1930s. The fabulously wealthy Claire Zuchanassian, played by Michele Brown, returns to her hometown after an absence of forty-five years.

What has been a depressed area, Madame Zuchanassian turns into a thriving town on the promise of her millions. But there is a condition attached to her bequest, of which the Guelleners are made aware only after they have become entangled in her vengeful murder plot.

Mrs. Brown is superb as Madame Zuchanassian, possessing a cool elegance (accolades to her dresser, too — the costumes were eye-catching and stylish). John Marino is excellent as Madame's former lover, Anton Schill, a Guellen shopkeeper, and family man.

Other notable performances are given by Henry Luftman as the teacher with a conscience, and John Correll as the Burgermeister.

The whole cast worked together as an ensemble under the deft direction of Natalie Ross Miller, assisted by Naomi Yablonsky. Marnie Burke is stage manager and Arnold Claman is production manager.

Performances will be given March 9, 10, 16 and 17 at the playhouse, located at 1000 North Ave., West.

While the March 9 performance is a sold-out benefit for the Knights of Columbus, tickets for the remaining nights are available at Rorden Realty, Inc. and Jeannette's in Westfield, and at the box office, 232-1221. For group sales, contact Doris Molowa at 232-1269.

Westfielder Partners Top Executive Search Firm

This month, Marra/Pizzi Associates Inc., based in Millburn, will be two years old. "When we founded the company," says Don Pizzi, one of its principals and longtime Westfield resident, "our aim was to be one of the top five upper middle and senior management executive search firms in the state." That goal has been met.

At the time of its founding, Mr. Pizzi and his partner, John Marra, a Jersey City resident, also decided that their company would be one of the top 25 recruiting firms in the tri-state area, and one of the top 50 in the country.

Don Pizzi moved to Westfield in 1976 with his wife JoAnne and their two young sons, Mark, five and Adam, three. At that time, Mr. Pizzi had been in the executive search community with such firms as Touche Ross & Company, and Korn Ferry International, the world's largest executive search firm.

In 1976, working in mid-town Manhattan and commuting from Long Island, Pizzi explains that his boss, "who lived in Westfield, recommended we pay a visit." Mr. Pizzi recalls how he was immediately attracted to the town's colonial charm, the downtown area, the school system, and the fact that it was easily accessible to Manhattan and the Jersey shore.

Soon after the family was settled into their first Westfield home, Mr. Pizzi rejoined Korn Ferry, as a Vice President and Partner in charge of their high technology group. Two years later, he was ready to go out on his own. "After 12 years of developing my own recruitment style, I wanted to do things my own way by providing my clients with a highly personalized service."

"My mentor advised me to locate my business in New Jersey," explains Mr. Pizzi. "He said there was a growing need for executive search professionals to serve New Jersey's industrial community from within the state." This advice, New Jersey's business climate, and perfect timing set the stage for the success of Mark Adam Associates, (named after his two sons), which Pizzi founded in 1982. "We were located at 66 Elm St., Westfield - myself and one secretary. For six years we were retained by New Jersey's corporations to recruit senior managers, directors, and vice presidents to manage the functional areas of finance, MIS, marketing and operations for New Jersey's industrial community."

Just when Mr. Pizzi felt it was time to expand his business, which by then employed a staff of five, John Marra entered the picture. "A close friend of mine, who was also a close friend of John's brought us together," Pizzi explains. Mr. Marra, a former Vice President and Controller for Food Fair/Pantry Pride and Senior Manager at Touche Ross, had his own executive search firm for some four and a half years, Marra Marson Associates, Inc., which specialized in senior-level financial recruiting. After almost six months of conversations, Don and John decided to merge their companies and open shop in February, 1988.

Marra/Pizzi Associates Inc. specializes in assignments for senior financial, accounting and management information systems executives, as well as the consumer packaged goods, telecommunications, financial services, and real estate industries. The firm has a staff of nine, six of whom reside in Westfield.

Pizzi believes that the key to the company's success is its ability to provide New York sophistication to New Jersey's growing corporate market by fulfilling their need for senior-level executives in a personalized, responsive manner.

Over the past three to four years, Don Pizzi and John Marra have seen New Jersey's reputation as a strong market for executives grow substantially. "Previously a fast-track executive had to hop on the PATH to a fast-track job in New York. Now those executives are discovering that same track runs through New Jersey," explains Pizzi.

Living in Westfield for more than 14 years, Mr. Pizzi and his family have become heavily involved in the community. Mark and Adam Pizzi, now 19 and 17 years old, attended Westfield schools, and achieved all state honors for their school's tennis team.

Mr. Pizzi and his wife are members of Westfield's Youth Ministry at St. Helen's parish. For three years they have welcomed a group of 15 year olds to their home once a week to coach them on their confirmation in the Catholic faith. Mr. Pizzi is also on the Board of Directors of New Jersey's chapter of Rainbow's For All God's Children, an organization that provides support to children of divorced and deceased parents.

Schmiede Tree Experts Celebrate 35th Year

Thirty-five years ago Martin Schmiede had no idea that his newly formed business would one day care for the trees at St. Patrick's Cathedral in Rockefeller Center, New York. Yet that is just one of the many jobs that has been handled by the Schmiede Tree Expert Company, formed in 1955. Since then the firm has also landscaped large portions of the Garden State Parkway as well as maintained trees at Picatinny Arsenal in Dover. Needless to say, many of Westfield's trees have been cared for by the Schmiede Tree Expert Company.

Operations were started on a tract of land in Watchung, on Route 22, which it still uses today. At that time the firm specialized in designing Japanese gardens, Chinese sunken gardens and contemporary landscape architecture. In 1958 the firm changed into one which services trees exclusively. In 1984 the company purchased a half acre of land at 2295 South Ave., in Scotch Plains which is presently being used as headquarters.

As the firm celebrates its 35th anniversary, it touts the following services: tree pruning, removals, transplanting, cabling, surgery, diagnosis, treatment of malnutrition and trace element deficiencies, rotomisting, hydraulic power spraying and other controls of insects and fungus diseases.

Martin Schmiede, the founder and president of the company has been training young aspiring tree surgeons ever since the company was established. Mr. Schmiede received his degree in forestry and horticulture in 1949 after study in European nurseries and the Ruebenkamp Trade School in Hamburg, Germany. In 1964, he received his State license as N.J. Certified Tree Expert by the Department of Conservation and Economic Development in Trenton. He has been a guest speaker for civic organizations and participated in school programs on such complex issues as symbiosis, mutations, modifications, cross pollination, grafting, stratification, propagation, air and soil pollutants and selection of disease resistant strains.

Mr. Schmiede attributes 35 years of success in such a seasonal business to "finding that place in the road where preparation and opportunities meet, but most of all, hard work!" And he views a bright future through the efforts of his son Walter.

Suburban Cablevision To Help with U.S. Census

Suburban Cablevision has announced that it has joined in a nationwide effort to promote citizens' participation in the 1990 Census.

Suburban Cablevision is running 30-second public service announcements reminding viewers of the importance of the Census. Political power is redistributed every ten years on the basis of the Census for the U.S. House of Representatives as well as state legislative district boundaries. The Census also provides the basis for the annual redistribution of federal funding to local transportation, education, housing and social services, among others.

"If we can help in this effort," stated Frank DeJoy, Suburban Cablevision's vice president and general manager, "by encouraging our subscribers to return accurate, on-time census forms, all of our communities and residents will benefit."

The goal for the Census is to count the population of the United States as it exists on April 1, 1990. The Census campaign begins two weeks before April 1, and two weeks after, ending April 15.
