At Monday evening's Board of Adjustment meeting, a major decision on the agenda was to permit the Gap, which is moving into the old John Franks building at 207 East Broad Street, to erect signs on its exterior, provided a letter from the building's landlord is received saying the previous signs definitely will be removed.

Representing the Gap was attorney Daniel S. Bernstein, who explained along with expert witness and Gap designer, Michael Ryan, two signs for the front and rear of the building, each measuring 30 inches high by three feet, eight inches long, were to be erected.

In addition, Mr. Bernstein said four small signs, two saying "Gap" and two saying "Gap Kids" were to be painted on the windows at the front, with similar signs on the rear windows.

The former would measure one foot high by one foot, four inches long, and the latter would measure one foot high by three inches long.

Mr. Bernstein also said the Gap would "like the public to be aware" and the signs would altogether measure less than 10 square feet.

During the testimony, Mr. Ryan said the first floor of the building would house Gap clothing, and one third of the second floor would house Gap clothing as well, and two thirds of the second floor would house Gap Kids clothing.

A question was asked concerning the status of La Marque Furs, which has been housed in the second floor of the building.

Concerning the signage as well as the presence of La Marque, Mr. Bernstein said, "I assume they've made some arrangement with the furrer."

In regard to the number of signs, Mrs. Mary D. Herberich, the board Chairman, asked if less signage would be just as effective.

Mr. Ryan replied two, rather than four painted signs in the windows

Co-Generation Plant Vote Will Be Taken October 26

Attorney for Applicant Presents Closing Arguments

The Clark Board of Adjustment's decision on the $100 million co-generation plant proposed for the United States Gypsum site on Walnut Avenue and Raritan Road near the town border will have to wait another month.

At Monday night's session of the board, at which a vote was expected, closing arguments were heard from David Frizell, a Metuchen attorney representing the applicant, E.E.A. Development, and the board decided not to cast ballots on the matter until its Monday, October 26, session.

In another development this month, the Clark Board of Education on September 8 voted unanimously to oppose the facility, citing safety and environmental concerns caused by electromagnetic fields school board members believe will be present if the facility is allowed to go into operation.

Hundreds of residents have attended each of several hearings which have been held on the proposal for the 150-megawatt plant which would produce electricity to be sold to Consolidated Edison of New York and steam to be sold to Gypsum.

Most of those speaking at previous sessions have been opposed to the facility because, they say, it will increase pollution and add to traffic congestion while decreasing home values in the area.

A Linden real estate consultant, Saul Schachter, who spoke at a September 8 Board of Adjustment meeting on the facility, said, however, the co-generation plant would increase property values and not reduce them.

Mr. Schachter also said the reason

Clark residents are having trouble selling their homes is the recession and not the plan for a co-generation plant.

The closest co-generation plant to Clark is a facility operated by Schering-Plough in Kenilworth, according to Mr. Schachter, and studies of homes in the vicinity of that facility showed an increase rather than a decrease in values after the plant opened.

Mr. Frizell said at the September 8 hearing fear is adversely affecting the quality of life among Clark residents, and hysteria is being generated by ignorance.

Two residents of Belvidere Avenue, Robert Dello Russo and James F. Carden, are spearheading an effort to install a plaque honoring Noel A. Taylor, the retired Westfield High School science teacher who died on September 2, and was the moving spirit behind the establishment of Brightwood Park as a natural preserve.

Mr. Taylor founded the Saturday Science Program, which brings noted scientists to the school to meet with students.

He authored a book, Activity Units in Biology, and a pamphlet which outlines the history and geology of Brightwood Park and its ecology and serves as a trail guide to trees, vines, ferns and birds and other fauna in the park and the flora of the park.

The pamphlet, Mr. Taylor notes in the publication, was written "to give people a general understanding of a natural resource in a suburban atmosphere."

He refers to the park as "a quiet sanctuary for all lovers of nature where one can relax and listen to the sounds of nature, enjoy its beauty or begin to understand the lesson that man depends on wildlife for survival."

"If one understand that man does depend on nature for his existence, one can also understand that man cannot continue to subdue the whole planet Earth."

"Man and living things must learn to live together."

A history of the park included in Mr. Taylor's pamphlet notes the area in which it is located once was known as Turkey Swamp.

The swamp was drained, according to the pamphlet, and some farming apparently was done in the area. Later the area was abandoned and allowed "to return more or less to a natural form."

In the early part of the 20th century, the pamphlet continues, the middle of the area, which now is the pond, was used as a dump.

"When constructing the pond," according to the pamphlet, "a layer of coal ashes three to four feet thick, extending down below what is now the dam, was excavated. During the excavation, many artifacts, some dating back to the 18th century, were found by various people."

Some of these artifacts, Mr. Taylor noted, showed the remnants of the dairy industry which flourished in the area at one time.

Milk bottles discovered gave evidence of the Westfield, Dunker and Garwood Dairies, Woodacre Farms, Mountinside Dairy, Sanders and Sons of Westfield and the Woodbrooke and Plainfield Dairies.

In more recent times, the pamphlet continues, the upper part of the park, near Liberty Avenue and Prospect Street, was used by the town as a dump. At one time, the area was marked off in streets for development, but it never was developed except the

DEVELOPMENT OF SITE KEPT ON HOLD FOR FIVE YEARS

Council Authorizes Wetlands Study Of Town's Ewan Tract Property To Prepare for Possible Sale

Insurance Consultant Proposal Draws Suggestion for Per-Hour Compensation;
Flat-Fee Arrangement Approved by Majority; Pooling With Others Discussed

By ROBERT R. FASZCZEWSKI
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

The development of the Ewan Tract, the 10.5-acre site in the northwest corner of the town and Westfield's largest undeveloped parcel of land, which has been on hold for five years because of Mount Laurel litigation, came a step closer to going forward Tuesday as the Town Council informally voted to authorize the expenditure of $7,900 to hire a consultant to do preliminary wetlands studies on the parcel.

At the end of 1987, the town had subdivided the tract and was prepared to sell 27 residential lots at a public auction when the Mount Laurel suit, filed by local developers who claimed the town was not properly allocating sites for low- and moderate-income housing, put a halt to the sale.

According to information obtained from the office of Tax Assessor Robert W. Brennan at the time of the proposed sale, prices on the lots would have ranged from $162,000 to $258,500.

The council has not yet decided whether the site will be sold as subdivided in 1987 or its configuration changed.

"We long have wondered whether there was a wetlands issue on the tract," Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr. said Tuesday, "if wetlands are in existence on the tract and we apply to the state for sewer extension or storm-environment permits, we would be asked to have a wetlands certification by the Department of Environmental Protection and Energy. This makes this preliminary step necessary."

Responding to a suggestion by Fourth Ward Councilman James Hely, the council wait until next year's capital program was planned before spending $7,900, the Mayor said he would rather get "the news" now than waiting.

The vote for the study was unanimous, however.

On another matter, the council gave its consent to the hiring of Hubert Farrow of All Risks, Ltd. of Red Bank as the town's Insurance Consultant for another year at a flat fee of $9,000.

Finance Committee Chairman James J. Gruba said his committee had approved the rehiring of Mr. Farrow on a split vote after John Crout of the Insurance Advisory Committee told Councilman Gruba the members of that committee did not want to take on the duties performed by Mr. Farrow.

List Approved For Improvement Of Intersections

The committee also was divided on whether it would be advisable for the town to enter into an insurance pool with other communities, something which is being explored by Mr. Farrow, Councilman Gruba said.

The Mayor noted the Union County League of Municipalities would be discussing insurance pooling at its October meeting.

Although he was in favor of hiring an insurance consultant because of the "strong recommendation" of the Insurance Advisory Committee, First Ward Councilman David A. Mebane said the council should more clearly define the responsibilities of the position and it should require Mr. Farrow to charge the town on a per-hour basis with a ceiling on his fee possibly set lower than $9,000.

First Ward Councilman Norman N. Greco responded if the town set any ceiling with a per-hour fee, the consultant would bill the town for hours up to the ceiling anyway so there was no point in changing to the per-hour system.

Town Administrator John F. Malloy, Jr. noted Mr. Farrow last year performed many services beyond what his normal fee would have encompassed.

On other matters, Public Works Committee Chairman, Mrs. Margaret C. Sur, said her committee endorsed sending a proposal for a stop intersection on Sherman Street and Cranford Avenue, as suggested last week by a resident, to the state for approval.

She also said the committee favored a memorial for Noel A. Taylor in Brightwood Park, but the residents supporting the memorial should be asked to design it similar to plaques which already are situated in Houlahan Field or other town parks.

On another matter related to roads, the council gave its tentative approval to the installation of additional stop signs and other "intersection enhancements" at the following intersections:

Englewood Road and Coleman Place
Willow Grove Road and Rahway Avenue

Longmeadow Mill and Willow Grove Road
Clifton Street and the Boulevard
West Broad Street and Rahway Avenue
Central and Clover Street
Watterson Street and South Avenue
Boulevard and Park Street
Virginia Street and Central Avenue
Mountain Avenue and East Broad Street

East Broad and Chestnut Streets
Lawrence Avenue and Walnut Street
Mountain and Dudley Avenues
North Avenue and South Euclid Avenue

Wychwood Road and Kimball Avenue
Wychwood Road and Woodland Avenue

South Chestnut Street and Lenox Avenue

The council also tentatively approved the introduction of an ordinance setting forth the specific salaries agreed to in a three-year contract with the Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association approved last week.

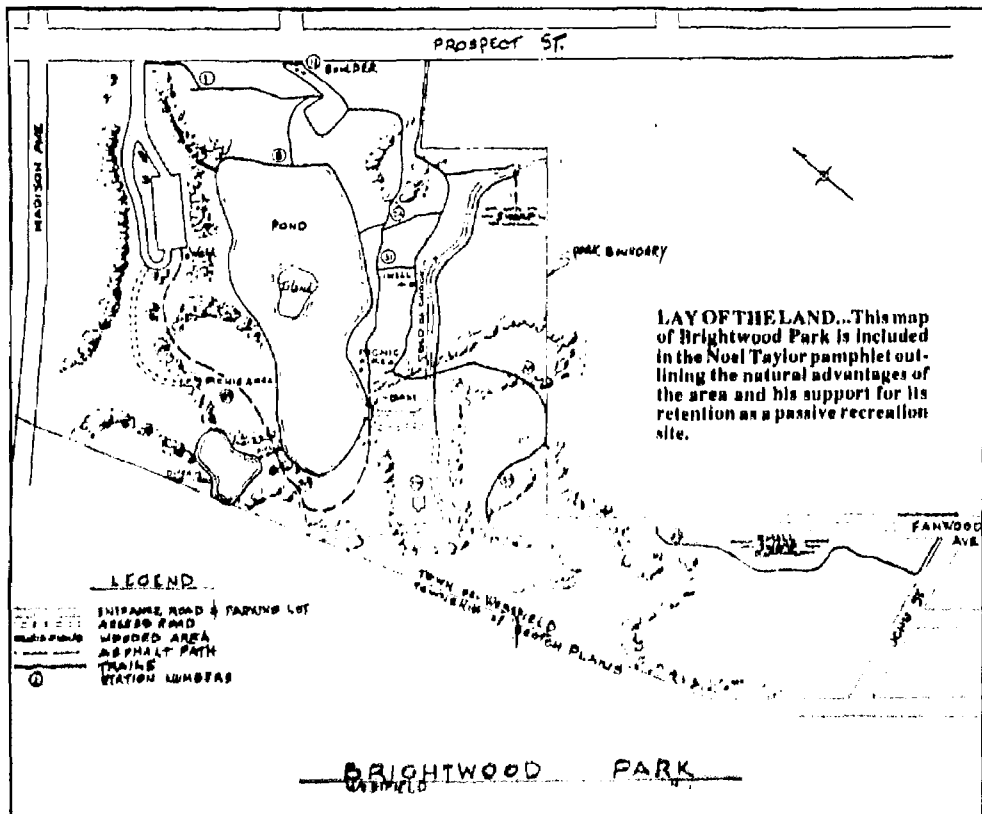

Mayor Boothe also announced a town bicentennial committee will be appointed next week.

The council also agreed to the appointment of Mrs. Bonnie Danser of 25 Stoneleigh Park to the Historic Preservation Commission.

MUNICIPAL BUILDING TO CLOSE TOMORROW

The Westfield Municipal Building will be closed tomorrow so that electrical work in connection with the ongoing renovation project may be done, Town Administrator John F. Malloy, Jr. announced Tuesday.

Prosecutor Won't Probe Surrogate Charges Now

In response to a charge by Republican Union County Surrogate candidate, Philip Gentile, County Prosecutor Andrew K. Ruotolo, Jr. of Westfield has reiterated the policy of his office except for extraordinary circumstances not to investigate allegations of election law irregularities until the campaign in question is concluded.

Mr. Gentile, in a press release to several county newspapers last week, charged that incumbent Democratic Surrogate, Mrs. Ann P. Conti, had acted improperly by soliciting $100 contributions to a Monday, October 5, fund-raiser from attorneys who do business with her office.

He also said the Surrogate was attempting to avoid listing contributors on state election law reports by limiting contributions to $100.

In a letter sent to Republican County Chairman Frank X. McDermott of Westfield and Democratic County Chairman Neil M. Cohen of Union in response to the Gentile charges and others made in other campaigns this year, the Prosecutor said he wished his office to remain independent of political disputes, and added his office cannot be diverted from the important work in several areas it has instituted to aid the victims of crime in order to investigate political campaign charges.

Although the Prosecutor told The Westfield Leader, "If there is to be any investigation it will not be held until after the election based on a policy, established under my predecessor, which will be strictly enforced," he did confirm state election law minimum campaign expenditure reporting requirements begin with contributions over $100.

Mrs. Conti said the $100 price tag was not set to avoid reporting requirements, but rather to keep prices down during the current recession and everything done in connection with the fund-raiser was done in accordance with the law.

There was no connection, she said, between the attorneys contacted for the fund-raiser, who were on a list of friends and associates used by her campaign committee based on past campaigns and attorneys whose practice involves them in business with the Surrogate's Office.

"All attorneys who deal with this office are treated specially," she said, "and there is no connection between the purchase of tickets for a fund-raiser and how an attorney is treated here. Any attorney in Union County who has dealt with this office will confirm that."

The Surrogate said nothing improper was done in connection with the fund-raiser and in soliciting contributions from attorneys, a practice she has followed in her last two elections.

PUMPKINTIME...The Great Pumpkin Fair will return this year to Franklin School on Saturday, October 24, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. rain or shine. Co-Chairmen, Mrs. Suzy Kane and Mrs. Beth Lane, are shown preparing for this event. Featured this year will be an old-fashioned hayride through the streets of Westfield, and also a skateboarding exhibition by champion, J.T. Murphy. Games, field events, a Haunted House, scarecrow making, and crafts also will be featured. Food, beverages and baked goods will be available.

Republican Trio Pledges To Restore Fiscal Integrity

The candidacies of Victor Trzensniowski of Westfield, Mrs. Linda DiGiovanni of Union and Paul J. O'Keefe of Plainfield for three-year Freeholder terms in the Tuesday, November 3, General Election have been announced by Union County Republican Chairman Frank X. McDermott of Westfield.

"The goals of electing responsible and committed Republicans to the Board of Chosen Freeholders," Mr. McDermott said, "are to remove the last of the Florio team, to provide economy in government and to continue the Republican trend of fiscal responsibility initiated with the election of other Republican Freeholders in the last election."

Mr. Trzensniowski, the President of WRT & Associates of Westfield, is a member of the Union County Community Development Revenue Sharing Committee and the Westfield Senior Citizen Housing Complex Phase No. 2 Board.

He serves as the President of the Westfield and Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross and is a past officer of the Westfield Jaycees.

According to Mr. Trzensniowski, "The most important issue facing the Board of Chosen Freeholders is fiscal responsibility. It will be imperative during the next three years to create a professional approach to county government that will also provide for the continuation of services with minimal tax increases."

"The previous Democratic administrations," continued Mr. Trzensniowski, "have wasted millions of dollars in taxpayers' money."

Mrs. DiGiovanni, a third generation Union County resident and the mother of three grown children, is the Credit Manager for Construction Specialties, Inc., served two terms as the President of the Auxiliary of Union Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks and currently serves as the Community Center Coordinator for the Boys & Girls Club of Union.

"We must take fiscal control," Mrs. DiGiovanni said, "by reducing excessive administrative overhead, implementing greater managerial efficiencies and enforcing controls over insurance, county cars, salary ranges and mis-spending of tax dollars on property and buildings for county use."

Mr. O'Keefe, a Senior Account Executive of Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Company and former Mayor of Plainfield, served on the Freeholder Board from 1984 until 1990 and served as its Chairman in 1986.

A recipient of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Award for Outstanding Leadership and the Plainfield Jaycees Distinguished Service Award, Mr. O'Keefe also served as the President of the Plainfield City Council.

"In this time of increasing pressure on governmental resources, we must take a long-range view on how to best control costs while effectively delivering services," he commented.

"We must undertake," he continued, "an analysis of all departments and an evaluation of privatization in particular areas. We must be willing to change the way we do business."

"The three candidates," concluded Mr. McDermott, "will rely on the Republican theme of 'a new vision for the 90s.' Union County residents will learn a lot more about these three people between now and November 3."

Student Summer Activities Told to Parents Group

The Westfield High School Parent-Teacher Organization opened the school year at its first meeting with a presentation by six students who spent their summers both abroad and in the United States participating in varied programs.

Louis Clinton, a senior, participated in a program at the Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology in Terre Haute, Indiana, where he attended classes in engineering. These were college level classes.

Gen Weber attended Concordia Language Camp in Dent, Minnesota, where she participated in a two-week immersion program in Japanese language, culture and customs. Gen lived in a village where only Japanese was spoken, Japanese food was eaten and Japanese games and activities were played.

Anne Engel was a student at Cornell University's summer program where she took college level courses and was able to earn college credit. She lived on the campus in the dormitories and got an advance taste of college life.

Christopher Vogel spent a week in New York state working with park rangers repairing trails at state parks. He spent time camping out and living off the land.

Seth Coren participated in an exchange program to Osaka, Japan, where he lived with a family, went to Japanese schools and interacted with Japanese students for six weeks.

Michelle Maraffi spent the summer in Italy where she played with an international orchestra performing in Rome for the summer.

These students had opportunities to broaden perspectives and gain multi-cultural experiences.

The Westfield High School Parent-Teacher Organization meets monthly. There is an educational, information program which is followed by a business meeting where Dr. Robert G. Petix, Principal, a representative from the Westfield Board of Education, and the group's President, Mrs. Georgia Aquila, informants about occurrences at the school and in educational programs.

A donation of $15 per person is requested. For tickets, please telephone 241-9142.

Mrs. Conti has co-authored a "Surrogate Instruction Book." The first such manual in the state, it sets procedures for the 21 county Surro-

The Surrogate also has prepared a booklet on why a person should have a will, and what happens if there isn't a will and a person dies. She distributes the booklet on wills at various meetings she speaks at to inform residents of surrogate procedures.

An attorney who specialized in family law, adoptions and estate practice, Mrs. Conti holds a Bachelor of Science and a Master of Arts Degree in Education and Guidance from Seton Hall University in South Orange.

She graduated from Seton Hall Law School in Newark and was admitted to the New Jersey Bar.

The Surrogate was admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States and served as a law clerk for Union County Judges.

She was elected to her current post in 1983, and is running for re-election this November.

After raising her five children, she worked as a teacher of handicapped children. She served as attorney for the Union County Board of Social Services until her election as Surrogate, and is President-elect of the Union County Bar Association and a Trustee.

Mrs. Conti will be the first woman to serve as the President of the County Bar Association.

Councilman Mebane Backs Waste Collection Reforms

First Ward Councilman David A. Mebane predicted this week solid waste issues would continue to be a leading agenda item on both the municipal and county level in years to come.

Councilman Mebane explained the most important role for the Council on solid waste management is to monitor costs and where possible to identify savings as they appear.

Households in Westfield are charged an average of between $30 and $35 a month for solid waste collection. On top of that, however, Westfield pays the Union County Utilities Authority almost $27 per household annually for recycling, and pays large fees annually to the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority.

With respect to garbage collection, the Councilman said he hopes deregulation will result in a reduction of garbage-collection costs.

"If not," he said, "Westfield should study whether adopting a municipal single-carrier garbage collection system would result in savings to Westfield taxpayers. Such a system could enable Westfield to choose garbage carriers by competitive bidding. In addition, it could result in a system whereby low-volume garbage generators such as senior citizens, could be charged a lower rate reflective of their lower volume."

The First Ward representative also said many residents have complained to him about the hours of garbage pickup, pointing out they often are awakened during the early morning by noisy garbage trucks.

According to Councilman Mebane, "The town should work with the haulers, or otherwise take other appropriate action, to resolve this issue and other operational issues as they arise."

One positive aspect of solid waste management observed by Councilman Mebane is the commitment of both Union County and Westfield to recycling.

"The privatization of recycling and the expansion of the categories of materials available for recycling to include tin cans, corrugated paper and plastic bottles should improve the quality and effectiveness of this program. It also will assist Westfield's efforts to comply with the state's goal of 60 per cent recycling."

"I also would favor Westfield rejuvenating the attic waste collection program," the Councilman Mebane noted. "There is no question wide support exists in Westfield for this program. Other towns, such as Scotch Plains, have implemented this program with success in the past. If a way can be found to conduct an attic waste collection day on a cost-effective basis within Westfield's budgetary constraints, this program should be made available."

"Finally," he said, "Westfield's regional authorities, and the fees they charge, should be carefully monitored. The Union County Utilities Authority should be encouraged to continue to explore high-tech disposal systems, such as for composting, to ensure Union County residents have access to the best and cheapest solid-waste disposal systems. Similarly, the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority should focus on reducing costs to its municipalities. The sewerage authority's fees should be closely monitored, and its fees should be justified where required."

Merrill Lynch Sets Investment Seminar

"In light of the dramatic drop in interest rates, income from certificates of deposit has declined significantly," stated a spokesman for Merrill Lynch in Westfield.

The firm will hold an investment seminar focusing on alternative fixed income investments as compared to certificates of deposit.

The seminar is open to the public and will be held at Merrill Lynch, 195 Elm Street, Westfield, on Tuesday, September 29, at 7:30 p.m.

Please call 789-4168 for reservations.

United Fund Gives Hand To Agency for Handicapped

Westfielders, through their United Fund gifts, are funding the service of the Association for Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped, which provides a permanent support system to teenagers and adults with disabilities.

The private, non-profit, social service agency is one of the 19 agencies funded by the United Fund of Westfield.

Kevin Blake is a perfect example of the successful participants in the Transitional Opportunities Program, funded by the Division of Youth and Family Service and run by the association.

Born in Perth Amboy 20 years ago, Kevin spent his first 13 years in a single-parent family. A brother drowned in a tragic accident, one sister entered an institution at an early age, another sister was imprisoned, but with constant support from the association, Kevin graduated from high school, learned the basic skills of daily living, held a job for six months and functions as well as an almost independent person.

Kevin now is in his first year of college at Johnson and Wales University in Providence, Rhode Island, pursuing a degree in Culinary Arts.

Without the contributions of Westfield residents, people like Kevin may never get a chance to lead productive lives.

For more information on the association's programs and services, or to contribute to the success of any participating agency, please telephone the Westfield United Fund Office at 233-2113.

Tamaques School To Hold Fund-Raiser

Tamaques School, on Willow Grove Avenue, Westfield, will hold its annual mum and pumpkin sale on Friday, October 2, in front of the school from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

In addition to the wide variety of mums and pumpkins, members of the Parent-Teacher Organization also will be selling corn stalks and gourds. These items will be "farm fresh" from Dreyer Farms in Cranford.

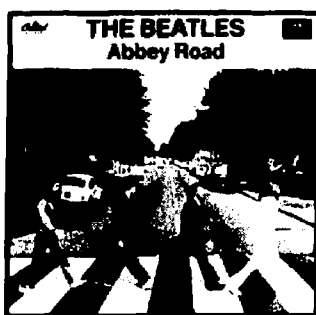

The event is a fund-raiser to benefit the school children.

In the Land of Gobbledegook, the Writer Of One Clear Sentence Is Truly King

At $114 a page, the reader will learn very little except the obvious from the antiseptic and pedantic study about "housing students for intermediate school education" recently released by two consultants for the Westfield Board of Education.

Called "A Study of Enrollment, Space Availability and Utilization, and Certain Related Costs," the document brims with jargon and with information barely pertinent to the subject.

Besides "memetic education" and "transformation approach," we are subjected to stiff doses of numerology, the mystical significance of numbers which was one of the great pastimes of the Middle Ages.

If any of our readers can decipher the following voodoo passage, they will be graced with the Alexander Haig Award for the Interpretation of Stilted Language and Gobbledegook.

"From our perspective as researchers, it was useful to make the concern for program equivalency more problematic; that is, as researchers we thought we should not assume either that the two programs (1+2) were alike or equivalent (A), or that the stronger program (A) would predominate over the weaker (B) if the programs were merged. As part of the study, we asked about the assumption that the programs were equivalent or that the middle school ethos was strong enough to predominate in a merged context. If the two programs were neither alike in character nor quality (A1 and B1), then the educational significance of combining them in one building was not and could not be as simple as might be anticipated when examining numbers and spaces aside from their educational context. Seen from a problematic perspective, there were several possible situations, each of which defined a different sense of what it meant to consolidate the programs. For example, one might consider the following possible scenarios:

"Consolidation of A1 and A2 = A(1+2), a continuation of the model.

"Consolidation of A1 and B1 = A dominates B or B dominates A.

"Consolidation of A1 and B1 = AB, conflictual differences unresolved.

"Consolidation of A1 and A2 = C, same original programs, but with development of new design.

"Consolidation of A1 and B1 = C, different original programs and development of new design."

We hope nobody will take a document like this one too seriously; it is the occasion for guffaws. Westfielders long ago decided in favor of retaining Roosevelt Intermediate School.

Westfielders overwhelmingly want to retain both intermediate schools to avoid overcrowding in the future, since there could be some modest increases in the number of students. They also want to provide a greater measure of safety and convenience by having intermediate schools closer to home than would be the case, if there were to be but one such school.

Officials Scramble to Hide From Position To Close Roosevelt: Councilman Greco

In my campaign for this elected office, one of my pledges to the constituents whom I asked to vote for me was to do all in my power to keep Roosevelt Intermediate School open.

Too many members of the Westfield Board of Education and school administrators have been trying for quite some time to deny their association with the push to close Roosevelt. The consultants' report, after the groundswell of opposing to the closing, is just a smokescreen to mark the real intentions of some school board members and administrators to close the school.

In the light of town opinion, these individuals have been scrambling to deny their original purpose to close the school.

The School Board found it necessary to spend $12,000 to find out what those who wanted the school to remain open already knew.

Those of us who worked hard toward the goal of keeping it open have won, greatly helped by Publisher Kurt C. Bauer of The Westfield Leader, who published the overwhelming results of their poll, affording our cause strong impetus.

But I made other promises during my campaign, and I will continue to work diligently to achieve those goals, as well. Among them, of course, is to effect all possible economies in the running of the Town of Westfield, and to work with our School Board toward the same end in that major area of cost.

Our schools, of which we are justifiably proud, do account for over 60 percent of our tax dollars. I believe it is irrational for the Town Council to be completely divorced from the school budget.

I also will continue to work to control crime, to keep our streets safe and in good repair, to implement measures to encourage the revitalization of our business district and to promote the creation of neighborhood patrols as a valuable crime-control measure, including the growing and costly problem of vandalism.

There is much to be done on all of these issues, and I dedicate myself to the continuing efforts to bring them under control as an essential means of preserving the quality of life in Westfield.

The restraint of tax increases is probably paramount, but is followed closely by the other issues mentioned. I feel my efforts to save Roosevelt were a good start, but I pledge no letdown on my part to take my council position seriously to the benefit of our town, our residents, and my constituents, even if I don't always take myself too seriously.

My telephone number is still 233-7782, and my eyes, my ears and my mind are always open.

Board President Denies a Decision Was Made to Close Roosevelt

The purpose of this letter is two-fold: To thank The Leader for its coverage of school news throughout the year and to correct some misinformation in The Leader's report concerning the Columbia University consultants' study and recommendations concerning the town's two intermediate schools.

James A. Bridge, 3rd, reporter for The Leader, regularly attends School Board meetings and accurately reports on them. However, in the September 17 issue of The Leader, the article about the intermediate school study report includes an inaccurate sentence. That sentence appeared as paragraph eight in the article, as follows: "One year ago the board's announcement of its intent to close Roosevelt led to a groundswell reaction against the plan."

This statement is not true. When the Board of Education announced its intent to study the two intermediate schools, there was neither a decision nor public announcement that the School Board's plan was to close one or the other of the schools.

The Intermediate School Study was commissioned in response to a recommendation of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Enrollment Projections and Building Usage and to the Quality Education Act's ruling, at that time, that local school districts would have to assume the state's share of pension and Social Security payments for teachers. That amount for Westfield was estimated at some $6 million. Faced with a financial burden of that magnitude, the School Board

Councilman Mebane Supports Plaque For Noel Taylor

At last week's Town Council meeting a proposal was made to place a memorial in Brightwood Park to honor Noel Taylor, Westfield's renowned late naturalist and scientist and advocate for Brightwood Park. I strongly endorse this proposal and urge the Council to act on its expeditiously.

Noel Taylor's vision was to preserve Brightwood Park as a natural, undisturbed reserve. The town should honor and preserve that vision, not only by raising a memorial but also by considering long-term actions to preserve Brightwood Park.

I would urge the Mayor and council to take the appropriate first step of approving the proposed memorial. We also should tap into the community's interest in the park by considering the appointment of a citizens committee to develop a long-term plan to preserve and enhance the park.

David A. Mebane
First Ward Councilman

began to investigate ways to cut costs, rather than simply passing on this incredible increase to local property taxpayers. One way to cut costs would be to consolidate two schools into one.

The Board of Education commissioned an independent study of the two schools, focusing on educational priorities and enrollment projections as well as economic considerations. During the course of that study, the state announced its intent to change the Quality Education Act, so the state's share of teacher and pension Social Security costs would remain with the state and not be transferred to local school budgets.

At that time, the school board announced major savings, such as closing a school, did not seem to be warranted. The Columbia University consultants continued their objective study and reported last week the driving force behind their recommendation to continue both schools was a projected enrollment increase.

I hope this sets the record straight once and for all. The Board of Education did not enter into its study of the two intermediate schools with a decision made to close one of them. The board's study was commissioned to obtain an objective recommendation from recognized professionals concerning the best educational and most economic way to educate intermediate-aged school children in Westfield.

Report from Washington

American Ingenuity Helps Boost World Environment

American environmental ingenuity and enterprise already are evident in many projects around the world. They range from the extraordinary achievement of a few Texas-based companies that put out hundreds of oil well fires in Kuwait to restoring the denuded rain forests in Central America.

Stone Container Corp. has spent $15 million replanting 60,000 acres of rain forests that disappeared in Costa Rica decades ago with hardwood seedlings from India that grow to 90 feet in less than five years. It will yield 100 tons an acre of harvestable pulpwood, pump $2.5 million a year into the native economy, provide jobs for 1,300 people and reclaim the environment.

In the Mideast and Asia, American engineering firms have constructed water desalination plants in several countries where the scarcity of water and drought are a persistent problem. Several underdeveloped countries are using international bank loans to hire American firms to build wastewater treatment plants and to prevent raw sewage from being dumped into nearby streams. These projects are a key part of United States-led overseas efforts to protect public health around the world.

Under Communism, the former Soviet republics and Eastern Europe were left with an environmental nightmare that may take a century to clean up. One of the most immediate challenges involves safeguarding 62 Soviet-designed nuclear power plants of the Chernobyl type that pose a potential disaster in Eastern Europe. The United States and the group of seven industrial countries are mounting a program of training 1,000 nuclear plant safety engineers and organizing international financing to replace, rehabilitate and decommission the most dangerous plants at a cost estimated at $50 billion. It is an enormous opportunity for American nuclear power companies.

Environmental technology already is a big business in the United States. In New Jersey, for instance, more than $5 billion worth of wastewater treatment plants have been constructed in the last 20 years. In the next decade, the federal government will spend more than half a trillion dollars to restore wetlands, clean up hazardous waste sites, reseed forests, dispose of nuclear and hazardous waste, clean the air and purify and protect the water polluted by a century of ecological neglect and ignorance.

State and private investment will double that amount. It means millions of jobs and a vast wealth of experience and new technology.

Environmental cleanup will generate a global market estimated at $1.2 trillion over the next decade. Japan and Germany already have recognized the tremendous opportunities that will develop in this field.

We in the United States also must make certain American companies reap their share of this future market. The expertise of American industry that has been gained from our environmental experience and investment in this country is unsurpassed.

Don't Let Sea Birds Gull You

Gullible — easily cheated or tricked; credulous.

For centuries, the sea gulls' name has been synonymous with gullibility and even stupidity. The word gull was simply the Celtic word used to describe this intrepid sea bird.

The pejorative (derogatory) sense of this word stems from the fact the gull was known to readily swallow anything thrown to it.

However, there is evidence the gull's habits are changing. They have recently been cited for their boldness and adeptness as scavengers.

These revelations about the much-maligned gull were reported in a Wall Street Journal article on October 6, 1986. Apparently not all gulls are willing to be gullied by man.

The Journal article reported incidents in which gulls have taken to raiding farmers' fields, looting cherry orchards and swiping food from grocery bags and backyard grills.

If this turn of events continues, lexicographers may be forced to redefine gullibility. In the future, perhaps, a word might even coin a new word, such as peopable, to describe persons gullied by sea birds.

Blood Pressure Tests To Be Held Today

The Garwood Board of Health will conduct a free blood pressure screening today from 6 to 7 p.m. at Kings Supermarket, located on South Avenue, Garwood.

More than 23 million Americans have high blood pressure and many are unaware they have it. In most cases, high blood pressure is painless and produces no symptoms, according to a health department spokesman.

People should be screened for high blood pressure if they:

- Are 35 years of age or older.
- Are no under a physician's care for high blood pressure.
- Have a family history of high blood pressure.
- Have not had a blood pressure test in over a year.
- Have stopped taking blood pressure medication without their physicians' approval.

Councilman Mebane Sets Office Hours

First Ward Councilman David A. Mebane will hold his regular monthly office hours on Saturday, September 26, from 10 a.m. to noon in the Administrative Conference Room at Westfield Town Hall.

"Regular monthly office hours, which I will continue if re-elected, are an important part of my constituency services. Town Councilmen should be accessible to their constituents and available to address their concerns," Councilman Mebane said. "Likewise, I am currently engaged in my door-to-door campaign, a service I am providing to meet with First Ward residents and to discuss issues of concern with respect to Westfield, the First Ward and the residents' neighborhoods."

Does Our School System Need A Bond Issue for Computers?

One sometimes wonders where the priorities are.

Our Board of Education spends in the neighborhood of $145,000 out of surplus, as I hear it, for seemingly unnecessary work on the field behind the high school. Then they let us know we need a bond issue to buy computer equipment.

How about if they did it the other way around? Instead of using a surplus — a surplus!! — for digging, sodding, irrigating, whatever, a highly-serviceable recreation field — why not use the surplus to purchase the computers?

Was there a realization that the town might not stand for a bond issue to fix up a field that hardly needed to be fixed?

But who could turn down a bond issue for computers for our children?

It's the old story. If you have unneeded money, spend it any way you can. Give it back to the taxpayers?

Heaven forbid! It might be difficult to get in the budget next year.

National United Way Scandal Has Nothing to Do With Town Effort

The Westfield United Fund Campaign is getting underway. Unfortunately, the National United Way became involved in a scandal tied to the President of that organization. Such must not be thought of as having any tie-in to the Westfield United Fund. Our local tie-in to the National United Way has been that we have received material from them which has been of value to us, and the small amount that we have paid to them really covers such material. We have not contributed their suggested percentage of our local budget.

We should not let the situation of the National United Way in any way affect our participation in the Westfield United Fund. Our fund is doing a great job for Westfield and on a very low cost basis. Previous to its organization as it is now set up, each organization now within the United Fund put on individual campaigns and it became an impossible and intolerable situation. As a result, the United Fund was organized and that has brought about a logical low cost of financing these much needed agencies that benefit Westfield so much.

We must not let the national situation affect our local giving.

Visiting Committees Might Bring More Excellence to Schools

At Harvard University there is the long-standing tradition of the "visiting committee." Each department voluntarily submits itself to annual review by a dozen or so authorities, none of them of course connected with the university. The input provided by the visiting committees contributes significantly to the excellence of each department.

A similar mechanism might be put in place in the Westfield Public Schools. Our town overflows with professionals in all fields, many with doctorates and other distinguished credentials. The town of Westfield is known for its excellence, as ensuring visiting committees to the various areas of instruction could be formed by volunteers.

Our townspeople historically have been much committed to excellence in education. Why not give this idea a try? If it works at Harvard, Westfield is sure to profit as well.

Life of Representative Fenwick Seen Representing Service and Usefulness

Today we grieve the loss of the Honorable Millicent Fenwick — Ambassador, Congresswoman, Assemblywoman, mother, grandmother and a friend.

Born Millicent Vernon Hammond on February 25, 1910, she was a woman who worked for the betterment of mankind.

When she was five years of age, her mother drowned on the Lusitania, a loss from which she never fully recovered. Married in 1934, divorced in 1938, she found herself the single mother of two young children. In need of employment she applied for a job at Bonwit Teller, but was turned down because she had no high school diploma. She went on to secure a position as Associate Editor of Condé Nast Publications where she worked from 1938 to 1952.

Mrs. Fenwick's public career began in 1938 when she served as a member of the Bernardsville Board of Education. Additionally she served as Chairman of the Somerset County Legal Aid Society and was a member of the Bernardsville Recreation Commission. She went on to become a member of the Bernardsville Borough Council from 1958 to 1964 and served as Vice Chairman of the New Jersey Advisory Committee to the United States Commission on Civil Rights.

In 1969 Mrs. Fenwick won a seat in the New Jersey Assembly where she advocated civil rights, consumer interests and prison reform. She was appointed as Director of New Jersey's Division of Consumer Affairs in 1972. In 1974 Mrs. Fenwick resigned her Consumer Affairs appointment to seek the Republican nomination for the House of Representatives from the Fifth Congressional District of New Jersey.

She was sworn in as a member of the 94th Congress on January 14, 1975 at the age of 64. She was the pipe-smoking grandmother who took Washington by storm. She was graceful, independent, wise and strong-willed. She was the inspiration for Garry Trudeau's cartoon character, Lacey Davenport.

During her tenure by Congress she introduced a resolution that was signed into law establishing a commission to monitor the 1975 Helsinki Accord and investigate human rights violations.

Millicent Fenwick deeply disapproved of dishonesty and the lack of standards in politics. She fought for a Congressional campaign funding reform law that would prevent members of Congress from receiving money from special interest groups. Throughout her political career she refused to accept Political Action Committee money, calling them "the greatest evil that's still lawful in our election system."

In 1982 Mrs. Fenwick ran for the United States Senate and was defeated by Frank Lautenberg, but she was not deterred. She accepted an appointment to serve as Ambassador to the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization in Rome, where for four years she supervised international programs to help promote agriculture in financially depressed areas.

In March of 1987, failing health forced her to resign after 49 years of public service. She returned to her home in Bernardsville, to the bedroom she and her sister had shared as small children. She also returned to bury her only daughter who died from cancer later that year.

Her own health continued to deteriorate, yet she never gave up. "Growing old is no game for sissies," she often said. When inclement weather would prevent her from taking her daily walk outdoors, she would walk up and down the stairs in her house for exercise and in the summer could be found weeding her garden.

She remained as active as her health would permit. She continued to answer correspondence from constituents on a daily basis, trying to help them with their problems. Each note was handwritten, no secretary or typewriter for her...it was more personal that way.

"The business of government is justice...what is the business of a human being...I think it is to be useful. What other real satisfaction is there that compares to being useful to another human being?" Mrs. Fenwick once asked.

POPCORN™

Sneakers Sells Suspense
Softer Than Normal

By Michael Goldberger

One Popcorn, Poor • Two Popcorns, Fair • Three Popcorns, Good • Four Popcorns, Excellent

Five fellows who run a high-technology security firm are hired by "who knows who?" to heist a newly-invented decoding device — a nifty gadget certain to make its possessor the most powerful entity in the world...more or less.

Thus reads the plot of Sneakers, a fairly entertaining cat-and-mouse that provides a modicum of intrigue and suspense without making the tragic mistake of taking itself too seriously. The level of anxiety created lies somewhere between a Ken Follett squaker and a recent-vintage 007 movie.

Starring Robert Redford as the tacitly-accepted head of the company, the movie plays like Mission Impossible, updated of course, and replete with a liberal lean.

Mr. Redford, suddenly much younger-looking than he's seemed of late, plays Martin Bishop, a once-upon-a-time 60's activist whose bio includes a decade or two on the lam in Canada.

Now, he and his cohorts eke out a living by showing businesses how vulnerable to theft they are...by breaking into said institutions, at the latter's request of course.

Bishop's partners in crime prevention are all romantic figures per this movie's nostalgic terms — all kindred spirits, fringe characters with a heroic spirit, dreamers ousted from the straight and narrow due to their individualism. Come to think of it, this band of merry men may have a precedent in literature.

Sidney Poitier plays a top sleuth who left the Central Intelligence Agency amidst curious circumstances; David Strathairn is a blind master of deduction; Dan Aykroyd as "mother" portrays a technical genius who functions brilliantly despite a humorous case of paranoia, i.e., the same folks who shot Kennedy framed Pete Rose, and River Phoenix is a boy computer wiz the guys recruited after flushing him out in a previous assignment. In other words, everyone but Trini Lopez is in the cast.

Doubtless, Robert Redford was drawn to the project via its humanitarian sensibilities.

Problem is, the screenplay, while directed ably enough by Phil Alden Robinson, has very limited potential...an inherent flaw, with a tongue-in-cheek, buddy-buddy spirit propelling the overlong saga, it just wouldn't do to give the work a harsher, more realistic edge. As a result, while there's a nice enough share of derring-do sprinkling through the scenario, that sense of ultimate threat is absent.

Purveying a 1960s sentimentality with 1990s hardware, the fantasy here is that, finally, if the forces of evil are kept from this latest find, then, at long last a remaking of the world is possible. An analogous right-wing fantasy would be the Rambo films, wherein Sly Stallone returns to Vietnam to win what amounts to unconditional surrender. Ah, yes, the beat goes on.

Of course, there are some surprise powers-that-be to challenge our elite ensemble of flower children-turned-computer commandos. Look for Ben Kingsley in a particularly well-executed performance. Those who take their espionage adventures sans sugar and cream will dismiss Sneakers as a common re-tread albeit laced with personality appeal and a little bit of soul.

Mr. LaPorta Sees Poll
Supporting His Candidacy

Anthony LaPorta, the First Ward Democratic Town Council Candidate, discussed this week the results of a poll, recently made public, of the First Ward registered voters.

"The results of this poll completely validate my candidacy," Mr. LaPorta said.

"The greatest concern of the voters is the skyrocketing property taxes in Westfield. I really don't think anyone needs a poll to know our municipal tax increases are like a runaway train — out of control and very dangerous," he added.

"I have addressed the Town Council numerous times during the past two years discussing control of our public spending. My opponent in the November election, Councilman David A. Mebane, claims he also is concerned about the very rapid increase in our taxes, but his actions on the Town Council prove otherwise," Mr. LaPorta said.

"Mr. Mebane is a member of the Town Council's Finance Committee, which is responsible for submitting the budget to the council for a vote. He is part of the problem, not part of the solution for our tax difficulties. In fact, he has helped compose a plan of very large tax increases for the next four years. I know we can do better than that."

"I have spoken out often at the public meetings of the Town Council, discussing detailed ways Westfield could save hundreds of thousands of tax dollars through real competition in the insurance-procurement process. Insurance is the second largest item in our municipal budget. We spend in excess of $2,000,000 a year. Mr. Mebane has been the protector of a cozy political arrangement in insurance procurement which has cost the taxpayers quite a lot of money. This money could have been saved or used for other purposes," the Democrat noted.

"It is not enough to say taxes are too high. A member of the Town Council must back that up with well-thought-out ideas which claim the savings of tax increases, while preserving and enhancing our town's distinctive character," he added.

The poll also discussed the Roosevelt Intermediate School issue.

"I find it interesting to note Councilman Mebane never took a stand on the closing of Roosevelt until another poll showed 97 per cent of the respondents wanted the school to stay open. What we need here is less poll politics and more leadership on the council," Mr. LaPorta said.

The candidate went on to say that he has always favored keeping Roosevelt open.

Another issue found to be of interest to the First Ward voters was the concern of traffic safety.

Mr. LaPorta discussed his part in helping frustrated neighbors get new stop signs erected at the dangerous intersection of Kimball and Harrison Avenues.

"My opponent lives six houses away from this intersection and did nothing about it, even after numerous accidents had occurred. It took a petition from the residents and a voicing of concern at a council meeting to get results. If Councilman Mebane was unaware of this situation on his own street, I wonder if he can be counted on to address other concerns of First Ward voters," the hopeful said.

Finally, the poll showed strong support for a spring cleanup day for household items.

"This is an issue that is very important to me," explained Mr. LaPorta. "I have been campaigning door-to-door for the last month informing voters of my support for this service."

He went on to point out his rival, Councilman Mebane, has been on

How to Protect Your Assets
When Going Into a Nursing Home

By Herb Ross

Last week we told you we would interview a leading attorney relative to how you may protect your countable assets if you should require nursing home care.

Richard Gordon of Westfield has written the following relative to the questions posed last week.

There are no simple solutions to the issues raised in last week's column.

As stated last week, Medicaid is a program of last resort — only after all private "countable" resources are spent will Medicaid be available.

A principal residence can be protected if sufficient time is available for planning. Even though a primary residence is considered a "non-countable" asset, a lien may be placed on the home of a Medicaid recipient if there is no surviving spouse.

Also, the state may require the home of a single person to be sold if it cannot be established the Medicaid recipient will be able to return home within six months.

Generally, any transfer of a "countable" asset within 30 months of applying for Medicaid will result in Medicaid disqualification.

Therefore, if a single person transfers his home to a child within 30 months of applying for Medicaid, Medicaid will not be available until either: Thirty months have elapsed from the date of transfer or the fair market value of the home has been consumed by nursing home expenses.

Of course, there are additional problems in transferring one's home to another.

First of all, you no longer own your home.

Also, there could be gift-tax consequences depending on the value of the home and whether prior gifts have been made.

Such a transfer also will result in the loss of the $125,000 exclusion, if you are 55 or older, of any gain realized on a future sale. The transferred property could now be subject to claims of creditors on the person who now owns "your" home.

For married couples, once again, there is no simple solution. Either husband or wife can transfer his or her interest in the home to the other at any time. However, there is no guaranty the "well" spouse won't become ill and need the services of a nursing home.

However, under present law, the spouse who becomes the sole owner can transfer the property to another party without penalty or fear of having the house sold to reimburse Medicaid.

Other possible solutions for protecting your home include gifting with a reservation of a life estate, establishing a trust or, for single persons, establishing joint ownership with another party.

All of these "solutions" have drawbacks and must be considered carefully before being implemented.

Can Some Bright Inventor
Save Us From Our Lawns?By LOUIS H. CLARK
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

At last the federal government in its inexhaustible wisdom may possibly be a help to a tired, overworked husband like me.

Not right now you understand, but in the future, and not that far distant future they've been talking about since I was a kid, but next spring!

I hope you all saw that story in the newspapers about the Environmental Protection Agency informing us the average lawn mower — your's and mine — emits as much pollution as a car that has gone 50 miles if you use it for only one hour. I didn't know that either.

I will show this story — with pictures and paragraphs — to my environmentalist wife.

"What are you trying to do to the atmosphere?" I will say in my most righteous voice, "making me mow that lawn twice a week? Just think a million guys doing the lawn that often and you are creating more than 50 million extra miles of pollution. Do you really want that?" Maybe I'll only have to do it once a week.

The federal agency also says electric lawn mowers are non-polluters and also are more quiet than the gasoline kind.

I can't go along with that. I guess the guys who made that finding never had a neighbor who once started off his electric mower one Saturday at 8 p.m. It sounded as though a thousand squealing pigs had descended on us. It only stopped when four of us descended upon him with threats of bodily harm that he agreed to start his machine at the more normal time of high noon.

Also, the agency seems to have forgotten that one million electric lawn mowers, there's easily that many within two miles of my house and they all go on at the same time, must get their power from somewhere.

So all the pollution you save at one end will be spewing out of the power plants burning extra coal or oil and creating more pollution than you've had before.

I hear you saying, "Okay wise guy. Do

Project Graduation typically involves an all-night alcohol- and drug-free post-graduation party in June for high school seniors. The purpose of Project Graduation is to avoid the tragic drinking and driving accidents by teenagers that often comes from traditional celebrations after events such as graduation.

The symposium will provide information for communities planning their first Project Graduation program or those who have conducted the program in past years.

Representatives from the Parent Teacher Organization, civic groups and recreation commissions and teachers and administrators who are interested in sponsoring the program in their communities are invited to attend.

At the symposium representatives of three New Jersey schools which have conducted Project Graduation will share their experience.

Additionally, there will be "round table" discussions for experienced schools or "getting-started" panel discussions for first-time schools, and a "best ideas" summation from the round-table discussions.

The event will end with refreshments and a book swap where schools can trade pins, buttons, articles, videos or other materials on Project Graduation with other schools.

To register for the symposium, please write to A. Donald Pray, Symposium Chairman, at Project Graduation, Post Office Box 2213, Westfield, 07090.

"Project Graduation continues to represent one of the state's most effective programs in reducing fatal and serious injuries to our young people during graduation time," James A. Arena, the Director of the state Division of Highway Traffic Safety, who funds the program in schools throughout New Jersey, said.

In the years the division has sponsored the program, students at participating schools have not been involved in any motor vehicle accidents on the night of Project Graduation.

In addition to those held at school facilities, some Project Graduation celebrations take place at a variety of sites, including city parks, recreation centers, health clubs, Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations, Elk, Moose and Masonic lodges, country clubs, campgrounds, college campuses and sports arenas.

Each school that is awarded funding from the Division of Highway Traffic Safety receives a $1,500 grant to purchase promotional items, such as T-shirts, buttons and bumper stickers to publicize the program. The grants are designed to be start-up funds, establishing the program as a tradition in the community.

For more information about Project Graduation or to obtain a grant application for start-up funds, please telephone the Division of Highway Traffic Safety at 1-800-422-3750.

The deadline for applying for this school year is Monday, November 2.

Rake and Hoe Prepares Anniversary Luncheon

In 1952 the Rake and Hoe Garden Club of Westfield was founded by a group of young women who were interested in gardening, flower arranging and landscape designing.

Since that time the club has become well known for the civic work it has done, by the educational opportunities it has offered to its members and by the house tours and holiday tours and flower shows it has presented to the public.

Since the beginning, the club has been involved with the public gardens of Westfield, including foundation plantings at the then Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Association, the Azalea planting in Mindowaskin Park, the evergreen screen at the Memorial Pool and the planting on the side facing East Broad Street at the new Library building.

In addition, club members have helped at the garden at the Miller-Cory House Museum and is involved in the planning of a wildflower memorial garden and arboretum at the Reeve residence.

Starting in 1954, the Rake and Hoe Garden Club has made flower arrangements for Lyons Veterans Hospital, aiding Runnells Hospital and the Cerebral Palsy School of Union in later years, and just a few years ago planted and now maintains the Touch and Scent Garden at the Trailside Museum Visitors Center.

To celebrate this 40th anniversary, the club this year will present "Lunch-Thyme—A Celebration of Herbs," a gourmet luncheon featuring herbs in each of the dishes.

The luncheon will be held in members' homes on Wednesday, October 14, at noon and advance reservations are required. The members have been busy making favors such as "tussie-mussie" bouquets and "garden tea" as gifts to those attending, and educational programs on herbs and their uses will be presented at each luncheon house.

Tickets at $20 are available from any Rake and Hoe member, or by telephoning Mrs. Nancy Wallace at 232-6795.

Transportation Unit to Meet This Evening

The Transportation, Parking and Traffic Committee of the Town Council will hold a special meeting to discuss various traffic and parking matters, including renovation of the South Avenue traffic circle, but not to take formal action, today at 8 p.m. in the Council Chambers of the Municipal Building at 425 East Broad Street.

Soroptimists Begin Year With Vacation Auction

Soroptimist International of the Greater Westfield Area began its 1992-1993 club year with a vacation auction held on September 9, at the home of club member, Mrs. Ellen Ramer.

The auction items were collected by club members from vacation spots during the summer. Proceeds from the auction go toward sending club delegates to the Soroptimist regional convention held in October.

The group will hold its first regular monthly dinner meeting of the 1992-1993 club year on Wednesday, September 30, at Wyckoff's Steak House at 932 South Avenue, West, Westfield, beginning at 6 o'clock with time to network and socialize. The business meeting will begin at 6:30 o'clock. No guest speaker is scheduled since this is a required membership business meeting.

The group will kick off its fund-raising activities by participating in Macy's Benefit Day on Tuesday, October 27, at Menlo Park Mall. This is a day-long event and only open to people who hold a ticket. The cost per ticket is $5.

Please telephone Mrs. Regina Kelley at 789-0384 or Mrs. Lucy Wilson at 233-6334 to purchase tickets.

Other fund-raising activities for this year are a holiday auction to be held on Wednesday, December 9, and a theater party to be held on February 19. Monday raised from these events will be returned to surrounding communities in the form of two scholarships, one for a graduating high school senior and one for a mature woman who is furthering her education at an awards dinner to be held in June.

The club's annual "Spring Soiree" Fashion Show will be held on March 30. All fashion show net proceeds will benefit the Center for Victims of Family Violence, a program of the Union County Mental Health Association.

Specifically, the proceeds will be used to fund Choices, a support group which is available free of charge to battered and abused women to help them establish a life away from violence.

Soroptimist International is a non-profit organization of business, professional and executive women who are dedicated to providing service to their communities.

For more information on attending the meeting on September 30 or for information on becoming a member of the group, please telephone Mrs. Kitty Duncan at 322-9237 or Mrs. Gina Clark at 654-8570.

When We Enjoy the Fruits of Our Labors

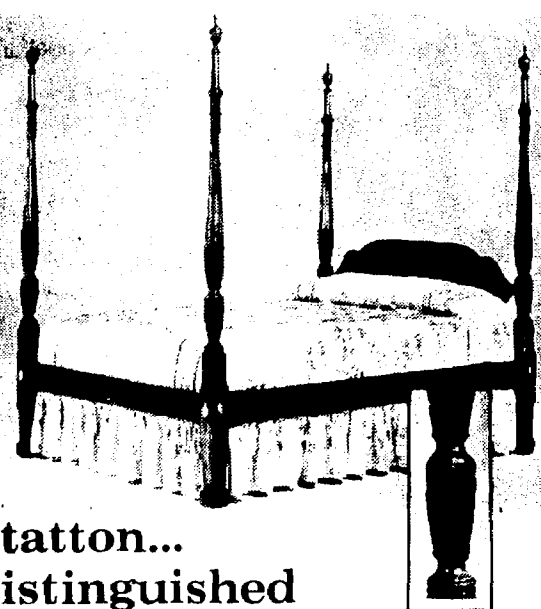

"Come, ye thankful people, come,
Raise the song of harvest home;
All is safely gathered in,
Ere the winter storms begin!"

We can almost imagine the figures in Harvest Time singing this 19th-century hymn as they happily go about their tasks. For this work, Charlotte Sternberg drew upon fond recollections of her family's garden and autumn days spent canning home-grown fruits and vegetables. She especially remembers the grape arbors that yielded their fruit for jam. "All summer long," says Sternberg, "the arbors would scent the air deliciously, and any day in winter you could open a jar of grape jam to get a glorious whiff of summertime."

Junior Essex Troop 'B' Keeps Cavalry Spirit Alive

Editor's Note: The following history of the Junior Essex Troop "B" of Cavalry, which was formed in Westfield, was made possible through the efforts of James C. McNamara of Fayetteville, North Carolina, formerly of Westfield, who once was a member of the troop.

Army Colonel H. C. K. Mattison of Montclair formed the first group of the Junior Essex Troop of Cavalry in the fall of 1931 with the support of Colonel Lewis B. Ballantyne, who then was the Commanding Officer of the 102nd Cavalry of the New Jersey National Guard, with headquarters in the Roseville Avenue Armory in Newark.

The organization has expanded to three troops, A, B and C, with an annual membership of approximately 200 boys divided among the three troops.

Incorporated on June 18, 1943, the group has as its purpose "to encourage patriotism and to foster the love of horses among boys and to train them in horsemanship, cavalry drill, marksmanship and military discipline, to the end when they reach proper age they may be prepared for service in the armed forces of the United States. Such purposes are to be carried on wholly within the State of New Jersey."

The troop is composed of junior members, who are the active cadet troopers, senior members, who are the parents of the troopers, and other adults interested in the organization.

The business activities, military training and corporate responsibilities are directed by corporate officers and a Board of Trustees elected by the senior membership.

The military directives stem from the Commandant of all three troops. Junior Essex Troop "B" was formed in 1936 under the sponsorship of the Second Squadron of the 102nd Essex Troop Cavalry of the New Jersey National Guard, headquartered in the Westfield Armory.

While the mechanization of the armed forces was in progress, the horse cavalry still was a branch of the armed services and the Junior "B" Troop was authorized to use the trained Army mounts in the Westfield Armory under the instruction of the National Guard squadron officers.

When the United States entered World War II the 102nd Cavalry was called to active service and moved with the horses to Fort Jackson, South Carolina for a time. The unit subsequently became mechanized.

By this time, the troop had developed into a self-reliant organization, and its members decided to retain the heritage of the disappearing horse cavalry in spirit.

For a period of time, Troop "B"

Overlook to Offer Free Prostate Tests

As part of Prostate Cancer Awareness Weeks, September 27 to October 11, Overlook Hospital in Summit will offer free prostate cancer examinations to men over 40 on Wednesday, September 30, and Monday, October 5, from 6 to 10 p.m.

The two-week event is designed to focus public attention on this serious cancer and encourage men to have an annual examination.

Prostate cancer will strike nearly 132,000 men this year and kill more than 34,000. It is the most common tumor and second leading cause of cancer deaths in American men. The disease mainly afflicts men age 40 and older, and can develop and spread with no warning signs, so early detection is critical, an Overlook spokesman said.

A limited number of appointments are available, and registration is required.

Please telephone Overlook's Department of Health Education at 522-2963 to register.

The Craft Market features hand crafted items including jewelry, clothing, pottery, toys and other holiday gift ideas.

Tickets for the Champagne Benefit are $12 each and are good for admission to the Craft Market both weekends.

Tickets are also available: At the door of the benefit, at Children's Specialized Hospital on New Providence Road, Mountainside, or at the hospital's Outpatient Center on South Avenue in Fanwood.

Proceeds from the benefit's ticket sales, along with 10 per cent of the sales of the 130 exhibitors during the benefit, will support Westfield Twig II's $50,000 pledge to Children's Specialized for a two-patient room in the hospital's Long Term Care unit.

Last year, Twig II presented a check for $25,000 toward the group's pledge, more than half of which was garnered at last year's Craft Market.

The Westfield Twig II is a volunteer group comprised of area residents in service to Children's Specialized Hospital.

Henry Meier, 74, Was Space Effort Contractor

His Firm Built Patterns for United States Rockets

A Mass for Henry Meier, 74, of Westfield, who had manufactured patterns for early United States space rockets was offered on Saturday, September 19, in Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church in Mountaintide after the funeral from the Dooley Funeral Home at 218 North Avenue West, Cranford.

Mr. Meier had been owner and operator of Craft Pattern Works in Hillside for 57 years.

The firm manufactured wood patterns that were used in building the first space rockets for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in the 1960s.

The agency had contracted him to design from the blueprints the wood pattern for the nose cones of rockets.

He also had made wood patterns for the robot sent in the space rockets, for the box used to examine the moon's rocks in 1969.

Mr. Meier also had prepared patterns for radiological machines and conveyors in dry cleaning stores.

He also had made patterns for companies such as International Business Machines, Coca Cola and White Conveyors.

Mr. Meier also had been a member of the New Jersey Business and Industrial Association and the Bishop Wigger Council of the Knight of Columbus of Irvington.

He had been Scout Master for Troop

21 of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Parish in Maplewood.

Born in Jersey City he had lived in Maplewood for 32 years before moving to Westfield 17 years ago.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Stella Meier; three sons, Laurence Meier of North Plainfield, Gregory Meier of Westfield and Arthur Meier of Landing; a sister, Miss Hilda Meier of Fairview, and three grandchildren.

Board of Adjustment Approves Signage for New Gap Store

had been considered as an alternative.

In terms of placing one large sign on the storefront, Mr. Bernstein and Mr. Ryan both said the signage in question looks "more subdued" than that on the rest of East Broad Street.

At the end of the testimony Mrs. Herberich said the plans already had been approved by the Architectural Review Board.

However, G. Graydon Curtis, a board member, said he was "reluctant to proceed" without knowing the status of the La Marque store, and Arthur C. Fried, another board member, said he would vote for the application, with the proviso the lease of the fur store was to be terminated or was already terminated.

Mrs. Jean Sawtelle, another board member, expressed approval, saying the sign plan was more pleasing than one large sign.

When the question arose whether the application should be granted, and if La Marque disputed the decision if the Gap still could erect the signs, Robert Cockren, the board Attorney, said the board could control whether the signs go up, but the decision to be made by the board depended upon the consent of the owner of the building.

Finally, the board decided to receive a letter from the landlord regarding the question of La Marque furs, after which it will render its decision.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Knorck of 139 Vernon Terrace requested permission to erect a garage to provide handicapped access to their home for their son, Robert Knorck, from his automobile.

Because the garage would extend "practically right to the property line," according to a neighbor, the board suggested Mr. and Mrs. Knorck consider other alternatives, including an architect or group, according to Lawrence J. Mannino, a board member, that could help with facility's improvement.

James J. Kefalonitis, a board member, spoke on behalf of the neighbors as well, and said this was the "hardest case" he "had to make a decision on."

Mr. Cockren explained zoning laws do not provide for health or handicapped reasons for which to grant a variance, and he, Mrs. Sawtelle, Mr. Fried and Mr. Mannino suggested alternatives, with the board subsequently deciding to ask Mr. and Mrs. Knorck to come back with revised plans in October.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parkinson of 820 East Broad Street, who applied to erect a two-level deck, were granted permission to build, with a provision suggested by Mr. Curtis the deck not extend past the sideline of the house. The application was passed with altered plans to be drawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Cass of 826 Summit Avenue, who applied for permission to erect an addition, were asked to find the permit for the deck that already exists, and to "cut down" their plan's dimensions. The board also asked them to reappear next month with revised plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Oster of 567 Lawrence Avenue applied for permission to erect first- and second-floor additions, which Mrs. Herberich noted were "well within his coverage."

Most board members noted as well the plans improve the general appearance of the home, and Mrs. Oster said she and her husband "considered the aesthetics of it for ourselves and our neighbors." The board granted unanimous approval.

Alan Helfman of 725 Standish Avenue, who applied to erect an addition, was asked to return with more detailed plans next month.

The board reconvenes on Monday, October 19.

Mrs. Readlinger, 68

Mrs. Donald (Catherine Campbell) Readlinger, 68, a former resident of the town, died on Tuesday, September 8, at Kimball Medical Center in Lakewood.

A memorial Mass was offered on Thursday, September 10, at St. John's Roman Catholic Church in Lakehurst. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Valerie Fund, 1878 Springfield Ave., Maplewood, 07040.

Arrangements were by the Anderson & Campbell Funeral Home in Lakehurst.

Residents Want Park To Remain as Is the pamphlet, Mr. Taylor said, "The park has nature trails arranged in such a way that anyone may take a self-guided tour. The park also serves as a very healthful and peaceful place to relax, picnic and observe nature. The 38 acres of Brightwood Park should be enjoyed by Westfield people of all ages."

The commitment by Mr. Dello Russo and Mr. Carden to see the town does all it can to retain the park as a passive, natural recreation area seems to fit in with the goals set forth above by Mr. Taylor.

When a fellow says, "It isn't the money but the principle of the thing," it's the money.

Vikings Start Year With 2-1 Victory

The Westfield Vikings kicked off their fall traveling soccer season by earning a 2-1 victory over the Metuchen-Fishkill team on Sunday at Peter Houtman Field in Westfield.

The Vikings, a Division No. 4 team for girls aged 10 and 11, scored the first goal about two minutes after the opening kick and never relinquished the lead.

In the score, Elizabeth Tozzi sent the ball into the net with a left footed play. Meg Hendrich, the right halfback, moved the ball down field then crossed in front of the goal mouth and Tozzi did the rest.

With 11 minutes done in the second half, Valerie Griffith, the left forward, took a pass from Erika Van Anglen, the center striker, and sent it into the left side of the goal.

Seven minutes later, Metuchen scored as the referee ruled the ball had crossed the goal line although Tozzi, working as goalie, appeared to have stopped the ball short of the line.

On the defensive side, Andrea Constantino, Abigail McMahon, Amanda Kelly and Leigh Kendrick combined speed and toughness to create a virtually unbreakable backfield.

Laura Thomas used superior foot power to set up several goal shots for the front line. Her efforts were rewarded for the mid field strikers, Emma Schaller, Megan Frisley, Megan Pustich and Abigail Rose, who at one point displayed outstanding teamwork.

United Force Drops Match to Meteors

The United Force of the Westfield Soccer Association's Boys Traveling Team began its fall season in a game against the South Brunswick Meteors.

The host South Brunswick team proved to be a formidable opponent as the Meteors attempted that after about in the first quarter, but United goalkeeper, Richard Meyer, responded with six saves to keep the score at 0-0.

In the second quarter United turned on the speed and turned up the offensive threat. Right halfback, Erik Finne, and right wing, Daniel Sawicki, carried the ball down the field to set up shots on goal for center forward, Niko Treanick, and center halfback, Erik Kucharski.

In both cases the South Brunswick goalie prevented a score. United was unable to answer the goal scored by the opposing team but goalkeeper, Brian Kempis, kept the score from edging higher with two big saves.

Third quarter action was highlighted by several dramatic saves on the part of goalkeeper, Meyer, but the Meteors' persistent offense resulted in two goals.

In the fourth quarter the Westfield team lived up to its name and united to score against their opponent. Right wing, Andrew Ekan, drove the ball down field and centered it, allowing Meyer to assist on a goal scored by Finne.

Cort Scores Winner In Match in Elizabeth

By ERIC RUBIN
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Senior striker, Mike Cort, is single-handedly ripping apart Westfield's opponents this year. He has scored four goals in two soccer games to date.

Cort notched a hat-trick in the season opener against Wayne Hills and scored the winning goal against Elizabeth last Friday.

When asked about the recent success Mike commented, "I honestly haven't been playing any different. However, my teammates all are making spectacular passes and I guess I am just getting lucky."

Westfield upped its record to 2-0 with a win over county rivals, Elizabeth, on Friday.

The first half was a defensive duel. However, Westfield's Jeff Haag connected on a 30-yard penalty kick which slipped through the hands of the Elizabeth goalie after 20 minutes had expired.

Behind the defensive play of Co-Captain Mike Ryan, Glenn Wojcik and Brian McGuire, Elizabeth was unable to score for 31 minutes until an obstruction call gave Elizabeth a 15-yard penalty kick. Elizabeth's Jaime Yamirez scored a pretty goal off the penalty kick to knot the score at one apiece.

Thirteen minutes into the second half of play, Mike Hall placed a perfect pass to assist on Cort's fourth goal on the season. This goal by Cort would prove to be the game winner for Westfield as the final score wound up to be 2-1.

When asked about the play of the team and especially Cort, Coach George Kapner commented, "Mike has been conditioning all summer by playing in the basketball summer league; he looks trim, muscular and is in great shape."

He continued, "The defense played a great game against Elizabeth. We dominated most of the game, especially Ryan. He is doing an incredible job filling in for the injured Keith Zadorian."

Westfield played Rahway Tuesday and plays county rivals, Summit, today.

Coach Tranchina Sees Playoffs For Gridiron Squad This Year

By BRIAN HAMILTON
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Westfield football Head Coach Ed Tranchina doesn't out-and-out predict victories, but he knows his team can put "w's" in the win column.

"We can beat anyone on any given day, but we can lose to anyone as well," said Tranchina, with guarded optimism. "It all depends on how well we play that day, and how well our opponent plays."

Tranchina hopes his 1992 Blue Devil football squad can play very well week after week, in what he hopes is a play-off bound season. It will be tough with several key starters graduating, but again Tranchina is confident.

"I expect the people coming in, to replace the graduating players, will play as well or even better than last year's group. The top teams we play had mostly seniors on the field last year, so everyone really lost players. We just hope our kids can come in and get the experience to do the job," Tranchina said.

The "top teams" the Coach refers to are once again Elizabeth and Union. The Devils haven't beat Union in almost a decade, and both teams are ranked in the top 20 nationwide.

So who does Tranchina turn to? "Our senior class is a key strength of our team. They provide good leadership and are really in it together." The team concept is very important to them," he noted.

Leading the senior class are Tri-Captains Chris Infantino, Dave Duelsks and Seth Coren.

Infantino, at six feet, two inches and 165 pounds is the starting quarterback, a role he saw action in last year after graduate quarterback Mike Catenacci was injured. Infantino completed 20 of 46 pass attempts for 388 yards and three touchdowns last season, giving the Blue Devils a promising glimpse of what's to come this year.

Infantino will have plenty of passing targets. Seniors Rodney Hayes, five feet, nine inches, 150 pounds, and Dave Schwarzenbek, five feet, nine inches, 155 pounds, provide reliability and speed at wideout.

At tight end, senior Corey Hayes, five feet, 11 inches, 160 pounds, will start with junior, Paul Baly, six feet, one inch, 175 pounds, getting playing time as well.

The Devils also are set with a talented and deep backfield. Duelsks, five feet, seven inches, 170 pounds, and junior, John Mask, five feet, 10 inches, 180 pounds, will share fullback duties while senior, Jamal Hester, five feet, 11 inches, 170 pounds, and sophomore Erwyn Lyght, six feet, 165 pounds, are expected to provide Westfield with blinding speed at tailback.

Coren, six feet, one inch, 210 pounds, anchors a relatively small, but quick and powerful offensive line. Coren and junior, Ron Noble, six feet, two inches, 230 pounds, are the guards, with senior, Mark Borton, six feet, two inches, 240 pounds, and junior, Steve Monninger, six feet, one inch, 175 pounds, at the tackle slots. At center will be senior Ron Mammano, six feet, one inch, 240 pounds.

In addition, the Devils have found an answer to their kicking game, which was shaky at times in 1991. Senior Dave Harwood, five feet, 11 inches, 185 pounds, provides a solid, steady foot for Westfield.

Tranchina is pleased with this lineup. "We have a balanced offense with the personnel to either run or throw," said the Blue Devil coach. "We'll take what the teams give us — if they horde the run, we'll pass and vice-versa."

Defensively, the Blue Devils return a talented, experienced squad to their 4-4-8 defense. Up front, Mammano and Borton return at tackle, as do Noble and Coren at end, giving Westfield a quick attack at scrimmage.

The linebacking corps is somewhat new, with Corey Hayes the only starter who saw significant action in 1991. His inside counterpart will be junior, Andrew Dupuis, six feet, one inch, 200 pounds, with sophomore, Mike Mitchell, five feet, 10 inches, 225 pounds, getting action.

On the outside are juniors, Monninger, and Mike Rotella, six feet, 175 pounds.

The secondary is a veteran bunch with seniors, Duelsks, Rodney Hayes and Schwarzenbek blanketing opposing receivers.

Tranchina would like to see a continuation of good defense from 1991.

"We can be even better overall than last year," he said.

With both changes and stability on both sides of the ball, what does Tranchina expect in 1992?

"We want to be the best team we can possibly be," said Coach T. "If we do that, we'll definitely be in the thick of things."

Kim Kumpf Hits Record for Wesleyan

Girl Harriers Show Style at Class Meet

By LAURA SILVERMAN
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield Girls' Cross Country Team displayed strength as well as ability in the Catholic Track Conference Class Meet at Warinanco Park on Saturday.

Although this meet was not a team competition, those in the individual grade levels turned out very competitive times.

Sophomore, Lisa Citrin, gave an outstanding performance, covering the 5,000 meters in 23 minutes and 39 seconds. Close behind her was Michelle Hewson, finishing with a time of 24 minutes and 18 seconds. Rebecca Stavenick and Jennifer O'Brien crossed the finish line at 24 minutes and 22 seconds and 25 minutes and 52 seconds respectively.

Janna Chernetz and Amanda Kong, both first-year runners, made up the junior squad, finishing at 27 minutes and 17 seconds and 29 minutes and 59 seconds.

Exciting and powerful finishes were made by Captains, Anne Engell and Noelle Nolas. They each brought home a medal, finishing in the top 25 of their class.

Engell completed the course in 22 minutes and 20, with Nolas close behind at 22 minutes and 41 seconds. Emily Gleason met high expectations with a time of 22 minutes and 58 seconds. Kelly Gandy, a new addition to the team, came in at 23 minutes and 32 seconds.

The meet was very successful for both veteran and new runners. Citrin's performance, which was two minutes faster than her recent time trial at Tamaques Park, earned her a spot on the varsity team in competition against Union this past Tuesday.

Coach Thomas Homish sees competition focusing on Kearny at the conference level, Union, Cranford and Plainfield at the county level, and West Orange and Livingston in the state sectional competition.

After watching individual members of the team compete on Saturday, Homish commented, "Our goal of packing our front five runners in the front of races is very doable, and we will see how successful we are on Saturday in the Steward Memorial meet."

On Tuesday the Blue Devils made it all look so easy as they shut out Rahway 2-0.

Acting on an assist from Abby Bomba, Stacey Tourtellotte knocked in a ringer at 30 minutes and 38 seconds into the first half. Moments later Lexi Tourtellotte capitalized on a tripping penalty by Rahway and posted the final score of 2-0 at 31 minutes and 49 seconds.

When reached after the game, Lori Chelius, one of the Tri-Captains and an offensive halfback, commented the team played "great defensively."

"Maybe we didn't play as well as we did against Randolph and Hillsborough, but a win is always great," she remarked. The Devils now stand at 3-1.

Hawks Take Flight Over Cardinals

The Hawks and Cardinals in Westfield Girls' In-Town Soccer opened the 1992 division No. 4 season with a game at Franklin Field.

The Cardinals, Emily Lethman opened the scoring on a breakaway midway through the first period.

The balance of the first half pitted the speed of the Hawks' Kelsey H. Christie Thompson and Amanda O'Neill against a tenacious Cardinals' defense led by Kelly Meyer and Kate Nowicki as the Cardinals maintained their 1-0 advantage at the half.

Natalie Warren put the Hawks on the board early in the second half and the game remained a tight struggle until striker Laura Krasner put the Hawks on top late in the contest.

The Cardinals' Aline Beckland and Elizabeth Ambrose shined on offense, but the Hawks' defense, led by Liz McKee, Sara Beth Ewer and Aline Pommerehne, proved up to the task. Striker Ashley Stoyler put the game out of reach with a blast to the lower right corner of the net to give the Hawks a 3-1 victory.

Coach Giordano Shows Optimism About Girls' Soccer Season

By TUCKER TRIMBLE
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Westfield Head Girls' Soccer Coach Peter Giordano recently spoke about the upcoming season. He is "very optimistic" about his team's chances for this year.

His Blue Devils completed last season with an impressive overall record of 18-4-1. Of the 22 girls who made up the winning team, 15 are returning and seasoned veterans. The composition of the team breaks down into five seniors, six juniors, nine sophomores and two freshmen.

Bouncing back from their surprising loss last week to Pingry 3-2, the Blue Devils came through with an important win over Randolph on Thursday.

Lori Chelius first put Westfield on the scoreboard, and Stacey Tourtellotte iced the victory with her two goals, one of which was a solo breakaway.

Randolph, last year's state champions, were held to a single goal scored by Kathy Wareing.

Then it was on to Hillsborough on Saturday with a shutout victory of 1-0. The first half saw both teams play the ball back and forth, but early in the second half, at 22 minutes and 33 seconds, acting on an assist from Lexi Tourtellotte, Nancy Schultz connected with what was to be the winning shot.

For the second year in a row, the team is led by three Captains. This year they are Chelius, Liz Capano and Stacey Tourtellotte.

Capano took time out from her rigorous daily practice schedule to speak to The Leader.

Capano, who plays "stopper," or center fullback, thinks the Devils' great strength is their ability to play as a team, both offensively and defensively. The forwards, halfbacks, fullbacks and goalies all complement each other to form this successful team.

The Blue Devils now have a record of 2-1. They played Tuesday against Rahway.

Field Hockey Squad Opens with a Victory

By CATTIE ROBINSON
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Westfield's field hockey season began last Friday. Their first opponent was Middlesex. The varsity team won 4-0.

The first goal was scored by Colleen Gleason about half way through the first half. As Westfield continued to dominate the game, Jen Swarzenbek scored with an assist from Becky Taylor. In the second half, Laura Cashman scored with an assist from Erin Allabaugh.

The last goal was scored on a corner by Diana Daniel who received the pass from Allabaugh.

Westfield dominated and controlled the entire game. With a tight defense, consisting of Gleason, Cattie Robinson, Heather Pusich, Bridget Deagan, Kathleen Clabby and Jane Petrino, there were no shots taken against Westfield's goalie.

On Saturday Westfield did not fare as well. Playing one of their toughest opponents, the Blue Devils were unable to score. The result was Morristown 4, Westfield 0. Westfield out shot Morristown. Unfortunately, the ball just did not go into the goal.

Monday afternoon Westfield faced another tough opponent. The game against Pingry unfortunately ended in a 1-0 loss for the Blue Devil hockey team.

After the tough loss on Saturday, Westfield rallied and played another great game.

After the first half there was no score. Halfway through the second half a goal was scored against Westfield. The girls picked up and Swarzenbek put the ball into the cage with an assist from Diana Daniel. The game continued with Westfield keeping the pressure on Pingry and the ball at the goalies' pads. With two minutes left in the game Pingry scored, which led to another loss for Westfield.

When asked about the team, Coach Meggie McFadden said, "We began with a 1-and-2 record last season and ended with a record of 10-6-3. We have met our two toughest opponents in the early season."

A senior on the team, Daniel stated, "It's early in the season and we have a lot of time to improve our record...and we will!"

Westfield moved on with their season, facing Mountainside St. Mary's yesterday at home.

Girl Netters Post Wins In All Matches Played

By KELLY FEENEY
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield Varsity Girls' Tennis Team started its season in smashing style. Victories have been posted over Union, Linden, Irvington, and Watchung Hills, placing the Blue Devils first in Union County.

In the match against Union, Westfield was able to squeeze past the Farmers and pull out a 3-2 victory.

Liz Ryu, at first singles for Westfield, came on strong against Union's Tammy Zawacki, but in the end fell short, 3-6, 3-6.

Union posted its second victory at second singles when Sunny Montas defeated the Devils' Gloria Ko 6-1, 6-2. Westfield bounced back from these two losses and earned victories at third singles, with Jessica Burley breezing past Laura Ross 6-0, 6-0, and first doubles as Jessica St. Clair and Lauren Kazanoff romped Laurel Seigal and Cindy Wojciechewski 6-0, 6-0. Also contributing to the win for Westfield was the second doubles team of Shari Gersch and Heather Post, who passed Katie Fitzpatrick and Jessica Makar 6-2, 6-2.

In their next match, on Friday, the Devils eliminated Linden 5-0. At first singles Ryu defeated Zelka Basic 6-3, 6-0. Ko and Burley, at second and third singles, respectively, easily won their matches wit 6-0, 6-0 victories. Kazanoff and St. Clair, at first doubles, also posted a 6-0, 6-0 victory, while the second doubles team of Kristen Aquila and Sarah Tirone also clinched a 6-0, 6-0 win.

Mirroring their easy victory over Linden, Westfield continued its dominating with a 5-0 win over Irvington on Monday. All matches were two-set victories for Westfield, with the exception of the first-singles match. Ryu was forced into a third set, eventually winning 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. The victory came after a surprisingly strong showing by Irvington's Faizah Shariff.

On Tuesday the Devils faced their toughest competition to date, Watchung Hills.

Westfield was victorious 5-0 in a match that was closer than the score indicates. Ryu won at first singles 7-5, 4-6, 6-1; Ko posted a victory at second singles 6-3, 7-5, and Burley continued her winning streak, breezing through to a 6-0, 6-0 win. In doubles, St. Clair and Kazanoff pulled through, 6-1, 7-5, and Aquila and Tirone secured an easy 6-3, 6-3 victory.

The Devils look to next week for stiff competition in the Union County Tournament. They hope to improve their third-place showing of last year.

AS ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE PROGRESSES, it is not unusual for its victims to have clear memories of childhood, yet not recognize those dearest to them. It is this tragic symptom and others that make Alzheimer's as devastating to a victim's family as it is to the victim.

In conjunction with consultants from the Dementia Research Clinic at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Meridian Healthcare has supported a series of studies aimed at innovating new and better ways of caring for the memory impaired.

Meridian's leadership role in supporting dementia research resulted in the first Alzheimer's care unit modeled on principles of modern psychiatry. Today that

The goal of Focus is to prolong the independence of the memory impaired by sharpening their remaining abilities. Focus offers an individual program of care for each patient, provided by a specially trained staff in a secure and structured residential environment. Eye Openers

WHY JOHNNY CAN'T READ

When youngsters have difficulty in school, some parents and teachers are quick to assign blame to behavioral problems or learning disabilities. A simple reason may be that the child simply does not see well enough to follow happenings in the classroom or examples on the blackboard. Interestingly, teachers working with adult illiterates found a similar problem. In a cooperative program of the State University of New York School of Optometry and the Literacy Volunteers of New York City, vision screening was offered to the participants. The eye doctors found that more than 70 percent of the adult illiterates failed the vision tests; many had never had their eyes checked before. Fitted with glasses and/or given vision training, many were helped to learn to read.

Smart move: Bring your youngster to your optometrist for pre-school testing. It may make a big difference.

Boy Harriers Capture Third in Class Meet

By ADAM BARCAN
Specially Written for The Westfield Reader

Led by strong sophomore and freshman team finishes and high individual senior placement, the Westfield Boys' Cross Country Team took the equivalent of third overall in Saturday's Catholic Track Conference class meet in Elizabeth's Warinanco Park.

The meet, where each grade ran separately, was scored by adding the top three places of the sophomore, junior and senior teams to find overall placement. If a third Devil senior had run, Westfield would have grabbed third of over 50 teams.

For the seniors, Co-Captain Matt Gorbaly led the way with a fifth-place time of 16 minutes and 55 seconds over the five-kilometer course. Fellow Captain Chris Demasi followed 30 second back in 14th.

Junior Andy Ruggiero placed 20th in 17 minutes and 53 seconds to lead the Devil juniors. Teammate Jim Nicoll trailed in 18 minutes and 30 seconds.

Ted Kilcommons grabbed 10th place in 17 minutes and 36 seconds to lead the Westfield sophomores to a third-place finish behind powerful Christian Brothers Academy and Tottenville, Staten Island.

Don Cambria and Adam Barcan also placed 22nd and 27th, respectively, as the Devils dominated the field of over 250 runners.

Lawrence Ho and Adam Borchin paced the freshman crew by finishing 10th and 24th, respectively. Their times of 12 minutes and 52 seconds and 13 minutes and 19 seconds helped to capture a fourth-place team finish in the first race of their careers.

"I was a bit overwhelmed by the sheer number of runners," said Borchin, "but I soon settled in and focused on running my race."

The Devil Harriers now look toward an even stronger showing at Saturday's Stewart Memorial Meet in Warinanco Park. Last year's highlights included a junior varsity championship and third-place freshman finish. Coach Jack Martin feels a top-three varsity team finish is attainable.

Gaining momentum for Saturday, the harriers rolled over Union Tuesday, 16-47 in Tamaques Park.

Devil scorers included Gorbaly and Demasi tying for first in 16 minutes and 58 seconds, Ruggiero seven seconds back in third, Kilcommons in fourth-place 17 minutes and 16 seconds, and Barcan taking sixth in 17 minutes and 32 seconds.

Gymnastics Team Takes First Two Contests

By ELLEN KOVAC
Specially Written for The Westfield Reader

This year's Westfield High School Gymnastics Team's season has gone into full swing.

The gymnasts' first meet, against South Plainfield on Friday, resulted in a victory for Westfield, 92.95 to 75.65.

Other strong competitors in the meet against South Plainfield included junior Katherine Moncrief and sophomore Brandi Kovac.

Also on this year's gymnastics squad are: Senior Malika Harris; juniors, Kerry Capone, Kim Musler and Amy Jenkins; sophomores Alison Gorski and Julie Parker and freshmen Katie Catenacci, Debbie Lintz, Justine Moncrief, Lauren Rosenblatt and Dorothy DiComo.

Besides being a large team, "our team is really close and we have strong motivation and work habits," commented Dana Fizzell.

On Tuesday the gymnasts defeated Union Catholic of Scotch Plains 89.10 to 70.30, again demonstrating exceptional depth of talent on the team.

Smith placed first on both vault and floor exercise with scores of 8.55 on each event. Lenahan placed first on uneven bars with a 7.65 score, and Sara Rosenblatt placed first on beam with a 7.90 score.

After only two meets, Sara has qualified for the state sectional meet on lance beam by twice exceeding a score of 7.75, while Smith already has qualified for sectionals on floor exercise by exceeding the qualifying score of 8.25 two times.

The team is preparing for an expected tough tri-meet against Linden and Fanwood-Scotch Plains to be held at Westfield High School tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Girls Junior Soccer Team Opens Season With Wins

The Westfield Girls' Junior Soccer Team picked up where it left off from last year's undefeated season by defeating Randolph Township 4-0, and beating Hillsboro 3-0.

Led by Tri-Captains Andrea Duchek, Andy Moore and Erin Murphy, the girls went undefeated in three pre-season scrimmages and opened regular season with a 4-0 triumph over a tough Randolph team.

Striker Emily Dexter led off the Westfield attack with a deflection at the 25-minute mark of the game, and linemate Michelle Cort scored on a straight in shot at the 37-minute mark to send Westfield off the field with a 2-0 halftime lead. The halfbacks corps of Erin Murphy, Sydney Barrows, Joanna Ruff, Lisa Steiman and Andy Moore kept Randolph in their own end of the field for the majority of the game. Freshman goalkeeper Alexia Burnett recorded her first career shutout as she replaced Sara MacConnell who is out with a broken finger.

The fullback corps of Kim Cross, Liz Kozub, Laura Lombardi and sweeper

Andrea Duchek made sure she was well protected by limiting Randolph to two harmless shots on goal. In the second half, Andy Moore fired in a shot from the 18-yard line and left half Erin Moore put one into the back corner to close out the scoring.

In the Saturday Hillsboro game, the fullback corps again dominated the match as Andrea Duchek, Liz Kozub, Laura Lombardi and Kim Cross limited Hillsboro to five shots in the first half and three in the second half. Striker Emily Dexter led off the scoring at the eight-minute mark, and linemates Laurie Richardson, Beth Muggeo and Karin Rosen kept the pressure on an excellent Hillsboro goalie. Again the halfback corps of Erin Murphy, Sydney Barrows and Lisa Steiman kept the opposition in their end of the field and Michelle Cort deflected a cross from Emily Dexter at the eight-minute mark to give Westfield a 2-0 lead. Cort scored again at the 10-minute mark on a beautiful lead pass from right half Andy Moore to give Westfield a 3-0 win. Freshman Alexia Burnett posted her second shutout of the season.

ville and in taxation from New York University in New York City. He is a member of the International, American and New York Bar Associations and a Trustee and Past President of the College Men's Club as well as a member of the Board of Trustees of the United Fund of Westfield. He and his wife, Mrs. Judy Hancock, are the parents of two children, John and David Hancock.

Mr. Leshner is a Vice President of Madison Equities in New York City. He is a Pennsylvania native and a 16-year Westfield resident. Miller-Cory Will Feature Tape-Loom Weaving

The Miller-Cory House Museum, at 614 Mountain Avenue, Westfield, will feature tape loom and lap loom weaving on Sunday, September 27, from 2 to 5 p.m. The last tour will begin at 4:30 p.m.

Narrow woven fabrics known as tapes were used in many ways during the 18th and early 19th centuries, such as drawstrings for controlling fullness in clothing before elastic came into use, to hold up stockings and tie grain sacks.

Mrs. Eileen O'Shea of Summit and Mrs. Ruth Hazen of Perth Amboy will demonstrate and explain how these fabrics were woven in intricate patterns on special looms. Girls often were responsible for weaving a supply of tapes for the entire family and could devote more time to this craft during the winter in New Jersey.

Costumed docents will guide visitors through the 1740 farmhouse with furnishings based on an 1802 inventory. Members of the museum's Cooking Committee will demonstrate cooking procedures at the time of the Millers and Corys as they prepare a meal over the open hearth in the Frazee Building.

Visitors also will be able to enjoy the grounds and gardens and learn about the many varieties of herbs from Mrs. Elizabeth Birdsell in the herb garden. Educational materials and gifts items, including recipe books, can be found in the Museum Shop.

For further information about the museum and its varied programs, please telephone the office at 232-1776.

SURROUNDED BY GHOSTS...Volunteers, Mrs. Irene Salkins, left, and Mrs. Connie Mason, have fun getting acquainted with Halloween merchandise at the Little Shop on the Corner, 116 Elm Street, Westfield. Currently "haunting" the walls and shelves are ghost families made of starched gauze, witches, scarecrows and plush black cats. Other new arrivals with a Halloween theme include aprons, pot holders, pumpkin baby bids and rattles, fabric trick or treat bags, door and wall hangings and books on Jack-O-Lantern carving. Proceeds from the Little Shop benefit the Westfield Day Care Center and the Westfield Day Care Infant Center.

Weichert Sees Brisk Sales This Summer

The summer of 1992 was marked by brisk activity in the sale of homes, reports Weichert, Realtors, the nation's largest independent real estate company.

James M. Weichert, company President, said, "In August, for example, the firm's sales were up 20 per cent over August 1991."

"August typically is a month for vacations and back-to-school preparations, and usually is not an active month for real estate sales," Mr. Weichert said. "August 1992 was an exception."

"Buyers and sellers alike have had some confidence restored in the economy and have begun to take advantage of today's remarkably low interest rates," the Weichert President explained. "In fact, the last time interest rates were this low, the average price of a home was just $35,000."

ONBOARD... Miss Debbie Anderson has joined Coldwell Banker Schlott Realtors' Westfield office as a Sales Associate. Her background includes seven years of experience in real estate. She has been cited frequently as a top real estate producer and is a member of the Million Dollar Sales Club, the Ambassadors Club and the Silver Achievement awards group.

Classic 'Phantom' To Invade Center Saturday, October 10

Long before Phantom of the Opera by Andrew Lloyd Webber recently became a blockbuster Broadway musical, a string of celluloid "phantoms" had been haunting the world's movie houses for several decades. The most enduring is the one in which Long Chaney, the silent cinema's legendary Man of 1,000 Faces, played the title role.

This classic 1925 version of Gaston Leroux's 19th century thriller will be revived at a special showing at the Union County Arts Center on Saturday, October 10, at 8 p.m., with live musical accompaniment on the theater's vintage "mighty Wurlitzer" pipe organ.

The keyboard artist, Lee Erwin, will be featured at the Wurlitzer console. Mr. Erwin was a popular performing artist in the heyday of radio drama and was later associated with the Arthur Godfrey radio and television shows. He also toured the country with screen legend Gloria Swanson, providing musical accompaniment for showings of her silent classics.

Mr. Erwin has been a frequent guest performer at the 1,300-seat center, a professionally restored 1920s vaudeville-movie palace.

Reserved seat tickets are $6 each and are available at 1601 Irving Street in the heart of Rahway's historic restoration district at the junction of Main and Irving Streets and Central Avenue. Please telephone 499-8226 for information.

ON BOARD... Mrs. Shay Coleman of South Plainfield, an experienced real estate associate, has joined Burgdorff Realtors' Westfield office. A member of the Westfield and Plainfield Boards of Realtors, she entered the field in 1987. A long-time resident of Westfield, Mrs. Coleman was graduated from Westfield High School and earned an Associate of Arts Degree from the University of Vermont and a Bachelor of Science Degree from the University of Bridgeport in dental hygiene and business communications. Mrs. Coleman is active with the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council and the recycling commission. She and her husband, Richard, Manager of Construction for the Shorecrest Company East in New York City, have two daughters.

Councilman Jenkins Favors Equipment for Sycamore

Third Ward Councilman Gary G. Jenkins, seeking reelection in the November 3 General Election, recommended the municipal government purchase additional playground equipment for Sycamore Field.

Councilman Jenkins noted the presence of three climbing toys and a teeter totter on Sycamore Field; neighborhood parents indicated to him the climbing toys are inadequate and the teeter totter is unsafe. He recommended the procurement of equipment which would include a slide, a steering wheel, a horizontal bar, strap swings and toddler swings.

A toddler swing is designed to a child can be buckled in. He also recommended the removal of the hazardous teeter totter. Councilman Jenkins stressed the new equipment and the playground surface must comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act and the regulations of the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

According to Councilman Jenkins, the playground equipment at Sycamore Field serves two groups of children: Children who live in the Manor Park neighborhood and younger siblings of children who play soccer on Sycamore Field. He referred to an informal census of children in the Manor Park neighborhood, which was organized last July by Third Ward Councilman Kenneth L. MacRitchie, and conducted by several neighborhood parents. This census found 101 children in the Manor Park neighborhood, up through children graduating from third grade.

Councilman Jenkins noted he and Councilman MacRitchie supported last year's municipal purchase of playground equipment for the Jefferson School playground.

Jewish Charitable Unit Sets New Member Coffee

The Medina Chapter of Na' Amat is inviting all young Jewish women in the area to attend a prospective members coffee on Thursday, October 1, at 8 p.m. The event will be held in a Westfield home and will feature an array of home-baked refreshments in addition to the opportunity to learn about the charitable as well as social activities of the club.

The Medina Chapter is a charitable organization comprised of young Jewish women from Westfield and the surrounding communities who enjoy a wide variety of social activities in addition to raising funds to support the needs of women and child in the United States and Israel.

During most recent club year, the Medina chapter raised funds by sponsoring several events including a flea market, a Flock Night at Flamingoes and selling Entertainment coupon books.

In addition to its charitable activities, the chapter hosts social programs of interest to its membership and often their families including: Holiday and swimming parties, talks by a local pediatrician and by child psychologists, a beauty makeover demonstration, a couples' buffet dinner, children's play dates, family Shabbath services, exercise demonstrations, a circus trip, a family outing to a farm, a couples game night, a Ladies Night Out and a gift boutique.

The chapter is affiliated with its national group, founded in 1925 to raise funds in support of programs aimed at meeting the needs of women and children both in the United States and in Israel. Over the past 67 years, the group has built schools, day care centers and vocational training facilities in Israel to meet the needs of its growing population.

When founded, Na' Amat assisted in the settlement of immigrants arriving from Eastern and Western Europe as well as North Africa and neighboring Arab countries. Today, Soviet and Ethiopian Jews comprise the primary component of immigrants to Israel. Since the rapid growth in Soviet and Ethiopian immigration began, Na' Amat has mobilized its membership and professional staff to assist in the settlement efforts, providing language classes, day care, social service referral and friendship in a new homeland.

Thousands of families have been adopted by Na' Amat volunteers who assist the new arrivals through the maze of social services as well as in learning about daily life in Israel. (To attend or for more information, please call 654-6221.)

LETTER OF THE LAW...Michael J. Lapolla, the First Assistant Prosecutor of Union County, left, was the guest speaker at the Westfield Rotary Club meeting last week. Mr. Lapolla is shown with Rotarian Robert M. Reid who is the club's Program Chairman.

Assistant Prosecutor Tells Rotary About Car Theft

Law enforcement was the subject of a talk given by Michael J. Lapolla to the members of the Rotary Club of Westfield at last week's regular meeting. Mrs. Lapolla is the First Assistant Prosecutor in the Union County Prosecutor's Office.

Mr. Lapolla announced, on the day of the meeting, the Prosecutor's Office had seen the culmination of six months work with the Federal Bureau of Investigation and United States Attorney's Office in bringing down a case in Union County involving $20 million in fenced goods.

The Prosecutor's Office includes 55 attorneys, 75 investigators and 100 support staff members and is responsible for the prosecution of criminals, he said.

Union County is the first in the state to introduce mandatory in-service training for all officers from Patrolman to Police Chief. This training will be conducted at the John H. Stander Police Academy in Scotch Plains and will cover subjects such as: The use of force, the pursuit policy and domestic violence.

Incidentally, Mr. Lapolla noted, more police officers are killed on cases of domestic violence than in any other situation in the United States.

He dealt at some length with the problems which have earned New Jersey the unwanted title of "The Auto Theft Capital of the World."

A task force which is spending 98 per cent of its time on the streets is in operation and deals only in auto theft where the in thing is for juveniles to steal for the joy of putting police officers and other members of the public in danger, Mr. Lapolla noted.

The juvenile justice system is strained and is unable to cope with the number of thieves, Mr. Lapolla said. Many offenders are repeaters and are jailed on the fourth offense he added, and of the juveniles jailed, 90 per cent have a chance they will do adult time later.

Mr. Lapolla concluded by saying ways must be found to have parents take their responsibilities seriously and to take corrective measures with first offenders such as having them spend 30 to 60 days in a boot-camp situation.

A taxpayer must now list the social security number of all dependents claimed who are over two years old.

Safety Council Gives Tips on Fire Prevention

October 4 to 10 is National Fire Prevention Week.

In an effort to protect families from the perils of residential fires, the New Jersey State Safety Council offers the following tips:

- Routinely check electrical appliances and wiring. Never overload outlets or extension cords. Replace all frayed or cracked cords. Repair outlets that do not work, light switches that are hot to the touch and lights that flicker. Unplug appliances such as hair dryers when not in use. Keep space heaters at least three feet away from anything combustible and never use them to dry wet clothing.

- Keep matches and lighters away from children. Each year, about 142,000 fires which result in major property damage and death are started by children playing with fire.

- Know what to do if clothing catches fire: Stop, drop to the ground and roll to smother the flames.

- Install smoke detectors on every level of your home. If only one detector is used, place it in the hallway outside sleeping areas. Test detectors monthly and change the batteries annually. Working smoke detectors more than double your chances of surviving a fire.

- Plan two escape routes from each room. Make certain children are thoroughly familiar with the routes so they can escape if alone. Practice home fire drills regularly with the entire family.

- Designate an outside meeting place away from the house where family members will go after escaping. Never re-enter a burning building. If someone is missing, alert firefighters.

According to the United States Fire Administration and the New Jersey Bureau of Fire Safety, in 1991 residential fires accounted for 76 per cent of the 5,500 fire deaths in the United States and claimed most of the 155 lives lost in fires in New Jersey.

AT THE BELL...Brendon Pantano, a first grader at Holy Trinity Interparochial School in Westfield, contemplates the school year while other students wait the school bell.

Town Jews to Begin High Holy Days Sunday

Jewish residents of Westfield will join their brethren around the world beginning on Sunday evening in observing the High Holy Days.

Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year, is celebrated in the fall on the first and second days of the Hebrew month of Tishrei.

The holy day now known as Rosh Hashana is known in the Torah as a day when the horn is sounded.

The holy day, which sets forth the themes of sin, atonement, repentance and forgiveness. For those attending the daily morning services for 30 days before the holy day the Shofar, or ram's horn, is blown as a reminder of the oncoming of the holy day and

After the final meal on Erev Yom Kippur, or the eve of Yom Kippur, at home, worshippers go to the synagogue for Yom Kippur services.

The Yom Kippur services are longer than those held Friday evenings, at regular Sabbath services.

The first important prayer after services begin is Kol Nidre.

It is sung by the cantor three times. The cantor usually is assisted in the chant by a choir and the congregants, sometimes join in.

Kol means all and nidre means vows or promises.

In this prayer Jews ask God to forgive them for vows or promises they may have taken but found impossible to fulfill.

On Yom Kippur day there are four services—Shachrit, morning service; Musaf, additional service; Mincha, afternoon service, and Neilah, closing service.

During these services the Yizkor prayers are read in remembrance of dear ones and family who have died.

First Baptist Shares Space With 'Y'

Westfield's First Baptist Church and Westfield "Y" Kiddie Korner have forged new cooperative use of the educational building located at 170 Elm Street.

The "Y" leases the building from the church for a full range of day-care programs offered Monday through Friday. On Sunday mornings the First Baptist Church School utilizes some of the classroom space for its 2- and 3-year-old program.

"The agreement promises to be very satisfactory," said Dr. Dee Dee Turlington, the Minister of Christian Education and Evangelism at First Baptist. "It allows two institutions that serve the children of the community to make the most efficient use of a facility perfectly suited to preschoolers.

Friends of Library Marks 20 Years of Service

"The Friends of the Westfield Memorial Library is completing its 20th year of service to Westfield," Mrs. Leo (Eleanor) Senus, the President of the Friends of the Library, said.

"This is an impressive benchmark. Couple with it an increasingly supportive role to a now larger and better-equipped library and you have a history that more than supplies bookshelves," Mrs. Senus added.

On September 14, Mrs. Senus presented these thoughts as she met with the new officers to set the theme for the year.

The group discussed programs for 1992-1993, which include two events for children and two for adults.

The dates have been set for the children's programs as follows: December 1, 4 to 5 p.m. for children in kindergarten through second grade; February 27, 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. for those in third through fifth grades.

More information on these and on other events will be announced.

The library always depends on public tax dollars in order to operate and when tax dollars were short in 1972, the library needed friends to help it.

Friends of the Memorial Library had its beginning that year as an answer to the need. Ten leaders of the community met with the Library Director in December, 1972 and formed a group that became known as the Friends of the Westfield Memorial Library.

Mrs. John Farley was the first President. Other Presidents followed and most of them are still active in the organization.

Mrs. Paul (Lynn) Kolterjahn, the President in 1976-1977, said "I remember the first year when $100 donated by a corporation became the basis of our treasury."

In the past 20 years, the Friends of the Memorial Library has increased five-fold in membership and 20-fold in its financial support of the local library and now is providing many programs and special services which were once impossible, Mrs. Senus said.

Some successful events were the trips to the opera, mystery night and programs focused on children. The rental collection, books for the shut-ins and art and computer acquisitions are among the contributions of this group, she added.

The organization was especially active from 1979 through 1981 in

Back-to-School Nights Start the Academic Year

Back-to-School Nights in the town's nine public schools began this week and continue through October 29.

Back-to-School Nights are traditionally the best-attended parent functions, stated Dr. Mark C. Smith, Superintendent of Schools.

In addition to Back-to-School Nights, the district will continue to provide parent education opportunities throughout the school year. These include parent workshops, such as the "Drug Free Years" series, Family Mathematics, Family Science and new this year, Family Tools and Technology.

To acquaint parents with the new mathematics program, which follows "hands on" guidelines established by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics and developed by local professional staff members, a series of meetings are scheduled. The dates for the "Mathematics Meetings" are:

- October 14, elementary math, McKinley School.
- October 15, elementary math, Franklin School.
- October 26, intermediate math, Edison School.
- October 28, intermediate math, Roosevelt School.
- October 29, high school math, Westfield High School.

All mathematics meetings will begin at 8 p.m.

Back-to-School meetings began last night at Jefferson and Washington Schools for all grades, at Wilson School for grades three to five and at Franklin School for kindergarten through second grade.

Westfield High School will hold its Back-to-School Night, beginning at 7:30 tonight, Thursday, September presenting the needs of the library to the community and in raising over $200,000 for the Friends of the Memorial Library Building Fund, while last spring's annual book sale had record sales of $13,300, Mrs. Senus noted.

"All this is to say this 20th anniversary year shall represent a mark of excellence as members return and assist in providing top quality library services," she noted.

Membership applications are available at the circulation desk in the library.

"We are on the mark for more friends," Mrs. Henry (Martie) Myers, the Membership Chairman, said.

The schedule for other Back-to-School Nights follows:

- September 30, McKinley School, all grades, and Wilson School, kindergarten.
- October 1, Franklin School, grades three to five, and Edison Intermediate School, grades 6, 7 and 8.
- October 5, Roosevelt Intermediate School, grades 6, 7 and 8.
- October 8, Tamaques School, all grades.

Town Library to Benefit From Mott's Label Program

Westfield residents can help the Westfield Memorial Library's Children's Department receive free books by collecting Mott's proofs-of-purchase.

The library is participating in the "Mott's Library Program" sponsored by Mott's U.S.A.

Mott's will make a contribution towards the purchase of new books in exchange for proofs-of-purchase of its apple juice and apple sauce brands collected by the library.

Proofs from the following labels are acceptable: Mott's Juice Boxes, any variety; Mott's apple juice, any size, except cans; Mott's apple sauce, any size or variety, and Mott's apple sauce fruit snacks, any variety.
