FOUR FULL-SIZED CLASSROOMS WILL BE CONSTRUCTED

Board of Education Gives Its Approval To $568,000 Washington School Addition

Suggestion to Engage in More Long-Range Planning Draws Critical Responses From Superintendent, Some Members

By JAMES A. BRIDGE, 3rd
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

A $568,000 addition to the Washington School was approved Tuesday night by the Board of Education in an 8-0 vote during its regular meeting at its Elm Street offices.

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Mark C. Smith, recommended four full-sized classrooms be constructed to ease the overcrowding problems at the school, funding for which would come from the district's $1.9 million fund balance.

He eschewed the earlier plan to construct two full-sized classrooms and two multi-purpose rooms.

"It's more prudent to build all four classrooms," he said.

Dr. Smith said he proposed at least one of the rooms be constructed to permit division into smaller instruction area.

The firm of Faridy Thorne Fraytak of Trenton will be employed to draw up the plans and construction specifications for the addition.

The Superintendent noted both he and Dr. Robert Rader, the board's new secretary and district business administrator, have had prior favorable relations with the Faridy firm.

The firm, he said, has built as many as 1,000 schools in New Jersey.

There was brief board discussion on several fronts, ranging from type of construction to planning. Dr. Benjamin Rulf, as the Chairman of the district's Facilities Committee, said he approved of the concept for the four classrooms, but added the committee had not decided between the less-expensive modular construction and the regular construction plan proposed by the Superintendent.

While the savings with modular would approach 10 per cent, Dr. Rulf said, the architect was not in favor of it.

"Mr. Faridy isn't really enthusiastic about it," he noted.

G. Bruce McFadden, a board member, said the board shouldn't trouble itself discussing savings on the order of $50,000 when its annual budget is $40 million.

"The dollars we're talking about are so small," he said.

Dr. B. Carol Molnar said the four classrooms might not be half of what the district would need in the short term.

"A simple calculation shows we need as many as 10 classrooms in the future," she noted.

Dr. Molnar urged the board to develop its own master plan, so the kind of student population surge projected could be handled without being in a "crisis mode."

Dr. Smith said he was dubious about the effectiveness of that kind of planning.

"I'm not sure it's a wise use of time or money," he noted.

He added he didn't believe the board he has served has ever acted in "crisis mode."

Mrs. Susan H. Pepper, the board President, also took issue with the "crisis mode" tag.

"I think we've moved carefully deliberately," she said.

Mr. McFadden said he believed too much planning was not a good thing.

"There is a new thing now that too much planning is not necessarily a very good thing," he said.

In other business, the board approved on first reading three new text books: International Politics on the World Stage, third edition, Duskin Publishing Group, Sluice Dock, Connecticut, 1991, for the 12th grade; The Human Expression, World Regions and Cultures, Fourth edition, Glencoe/MacMillan/McGraw-Hill Publishers, Westerville, Ohio, 1992, for the ninth and 10th grades, and The Americans, A History, McDougall, Littell and Company, Evanston, Illinois, 1991, for the 10th through 12th grades.

The board had a brief discussion about the need for texts for a school year that already has begun.

The Superintendent said teachers' schedules often kept teachers and departments from preparing requests for new texts while the school year was on-going, and the current requests had been generated during the summer break.

Dr. Smith also said state regulations required the school board to vote twice on text approval, something he said was better left to administrators.

County Repaving May Have Caused Conditions Leading to Many Mountain Avenue Accidents

Resurfacing of Roadway, Installation of Reflectors on Guardrails Requested to Help Improve Safety

By ROBERT R. FASZCZEWSKI
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The "massive" amount of accidents which have occurred recently on Mountain Avenue may have been caused by a material used by Union County in repaving the road, Town Council Public Safety Chairman James Hely said at Tuesday's council conference session.

Councilman Hely said the Westfield Police Traffic Safety Bureau reported a certain type of rain causes the road surface to become slick and causes drivers to lose control of their cars.

Town Engineer Edward A. Gottko noted various road contractors have been experimenting with materials such as crushed glass mixed with asphalt for resurfacing and this has caused some problems in various area.

The council asked Town Administrator John F. Malloy, Jr. to write to the county requesting the road be repaved with safer materials.

At the suggestion of the Public Safety Committee, the county also will be requested to install reflectors on the guardrails on Mountain Avenue.

The committee also agreed to continue discussions on a curfew for young people in light of a new state law which enables communities to take advantage of curfews against youngsters being out in the public beyond a certain time.

While First Ward Councilman Norman N. Greco said the proposal might be worth studying in the light of vandulism at the Mindowaskin Park bandstand and attacks on pedestrians at night in the central business district, Fourth Ward Councilman Michael E. Panagos said a curfew made no sense for Westfield.

The Police Department also will be asked to review several unmarked intersections in the Manor Park area of the town and others such as Eaglecroft Road and Hanford Place for stop sign placement.

The police recommendations will be forwarded to the various Councilmen for review before they are submitted for state approval.

Also agreed to were recommendations for speed limit and "slow" signs along Harrison Avenue.

In response to complaints about traffic safety at Central Avenue and Clover Street, Third Ward Councilman Gary G. Jenkins noted the crosswalk has been "hatched," the stopline has been doubled in width, "object markers" to warn drivers of curbs have been painted on the pavement from Cambridge Road to Clover Street along Central and the pedestrian crossing sign is scheduled for replacement.

He added the county will be asked to paint a double line down the center of Central Avenue to prohibit passing.

Mr. Malloy noted the county is exploring the imposition of a 25 mile-per-hour speed limit in the area, and he suggested the town consider passing an ordinance to make the speed limit 25 miles per hour when the school crossing sign is flashing.

Councilman Jenkins noted the school crossing guard previously assigned to the intersection had done much to promote safety, including making her own hand-letter signs urging caution.

Mr. Malloy said, however, the guard had been reassigned for personnel reasons.

The Public Safety Committee, at the urging of Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr., also agreed to study a system whereby town motorists whose car is not used between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. could register with the police and obtain a sticker for their cars which would allow police to stop the vehicles after they were out between the above hours to ascertain they were not stolen.

On another matter, the council authorized the introduction this Tuesday of an ordinance providing for the town to contribute $360,000 to Elizabeth for the rehabilitation of 21 homes in order to meet Westfield's Mount Laurel settlement obligation.

Mr. Malloy explained the town would take the money, which actually will total about $376,000 with legal and other fees, from its capital fund, but it will be reimbursed from the sale of 17 lots out of the total of 27 in Ewan Tract and on four homes in the development which will be constructed on the upper end of Prospect Street by Scalzadonna Construction.

Town Attorney Charles H. Brandt noted the town will be protected in case Scalzadonna does not sell the four units by liens it will place on the properties.

Also authorized was the introduction of an ordinance prohibiting parking near the curbside mailboxes serving the Westfield Post Office along Lenox Avenue near Central Avenue.

After the council authorized the application to the state for $30,822 under the 1993 Clean Communities Act to be used for cleanup of the central business district on Sundays, Mayor Boothe suggested the town might consider allocating funds of its own to cover the cleanup in the six months prior to receipt of the state funds.

Second Ward Councilwoman, Mrs. Margaret C. Sur, also said when the state funds are received the Public Works Department might want to reschedule its work crews so they can clean up the spillway and corners of Mindowaskin Park.

On another matter, Mr. Gottko said at Tuesday's public council meeting a hearing would be held on the town's application for federal Community Development Block Grant Funds and the town this year would apply for money to install handicapped equipment in all its parks and replace current surfaces under the equipment with the safer woodchips recommended by consumer officials.

The Engineer also said the town would be talking with Scotch Plains on the township's proposal to expand its compost area to the former Jerseyland site near Westfield's Brightwood section and include the town as a users of the facility.

The council met in executive session on the proposal following the meeting.

FEWER RESIDENTS TO GET REBATES

As part of the action taken to reduce the state sales tax from 7 to 6 per cent, the Republican-controlled legislature decided in June to limit state homestead rebates to senior citizens, the disabled and those earning $40,000 or less.

Those who were 65 or older last year and the disabled will receive rebates up to $500. Other eligible taxpayers will receive $90 if they are homeowners and $30 if they are tenants.

Previously, all taxpayers earning $100,000 or less received rebates ranging from $100 to $500 depending on their incomes, marital status and local property taxes.

Rebates or notices explaining why residents are not receiving them this year are expected to reach residents by the end of this month.

The Gap Given Permission by Board of Adjustment To Construct New Signs on John Franks Building

Building Owner Gives Assurances Clothing Store, LaMarqué Signage Will Come Down Very Shortly

By MICHAEL J. PETRIANO, 3rd
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

At Monday evening's meeting of Westfield's Board of Adjustment, a unanimous decision was granted in favor of The Gap, which is moving into the John Franks building at 207 East Broad Street, to erect signs in the front and rear of the store.

Attorney David Weinberg explained in later testimony he had been "hired by The Gap to assist them in obtaining all necessary prudence" and was representing John Franks "in its real estate matters with reference to this building."

Mr. Weinberg also said to the board he had been dealing with this matter for the past six to eight months.

In terms of confusion regarding the status of LaMarqué Furs in the John Franks building and consequent signage, Mr. Weinberg said LaMarqué will be "vacating" and moving to "another location."

He also said all John Franks and LaMarqué signs will come down.

When board member, Mrs. Jean Sawtelle, asked if The Gap has a definite contract, Mr. Weinberg said a formal lease has not yet been executed, but also explained all approvals that would be necessary must be "in hand" first.

A question as to last month's testimony arose concerning The Gap when board member, Mrs. Germaine Trabert, asked Mr. Weinberg if the requested letter from John Franks regarding the removal of signs was on hand.

Mr. Weinberg replied the letter was not available, but the owner of John Franks was present.

During later testimony, Mrs. Patricia Woerdich, the owner and President of John Franks, said "before they occupy the building, those signs will come down" and said an agreement had been made with LaMarqué as well.

Arthur C. Fried, another board member, asked when LaMarqué would be moving, and Mr. Weinberg replied in the next few weeks.

James J. Kefalonitis, the Vice Chairman of the board, asked if this could be put into writing, after which Mr. Fried asked for a motion to approve the application on a contingency basis.

After Mrs. Woerdich said LaMarqué and John Franks signs would be removed, the board voted to grant permission to erect signs for The Gap.

Collection of Leaves Will Begin November 2

Area No. 1 to Receive First Pickup During Program

The Westfield Department of Public Works is getting ready for its annual leaf-collection program.

The department will start collecting leaves on Monday, November 2, and will continue through mid-December.

Approximately 13,000 cubic yards of leaves will be collected in a six-week period. This task requires the cooperation of the town's residents.

The town again will be divided into 10 areas, and collection this year will begin in Area No. 1. The crews will move through the town on a repeating basis until collection is complete. The first and second pass through each area will be relatively fast and will concentrate on picking up the major portion of leaves. The final pass will be a "clean sweep" operation.

There are many ways in which residents' cooperation will aid in the program. Vehicles should be kept off the streets during pick-up days. Cars should not be parked on dry leaves because of the danger of fire, since a hot exhaust may ignite the leaves and damage the car. Leaves should be placed in windrows, not exceeding two feet in height, along the curb or shoulder, and raking should be done only immediately prior to collection days. Once the area is cleaned, residents should not rake again until crews are scheduled to return.

Tree branches and other debris must not be mixed with the leaves. The map in this issue of The Westfield Leader shows the 10 collection areas. After determining in which area they reside, residents may telephone a special leaf number, 232-8041, and a recording will indicate where the crews are working on any given day, and how long they will be in that area.

Using this information, they will be able to determine approximately when pick up in their area will occur.

The following additional steps will be taken:

- The Conservation Center on Lamberts Mill Road will be open seven days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., except holidays, so residents may take their leaves there at their convenience.
- Clear plastic bags will be on sale at the Public Works Center at 959 North Avenue West, Westfield, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each work day.

The cost will be five bags for $1. Residents may use these, or any clear plastic leaf bag, to dispose of leaves. The bags may be taken to the conservation center or will be picked up by the Public Works Department Crews at the resident's request.

Please telephone 489-4100 during the work day to arrange pickup.

Utilities Authority Releases Solid Waste Brochure

Copies of the Union County Utilities Authority's 1992 solid waste management brochure are now available to county residents.

The brochure, entitled A Four-Step Plan for Safe, Economical Waste Disposal in Union County, describes how the county's plan for source reduction, 60 per cent recycling, resource recovery and limited landfilling will enable Union County to independently manage the disposal of its solid waste.

"This easy-to-read brochure gives a concise explanation of how Union County is handling the existing solid waste-disposal crisis," authority Chairman Angelo J. Bonanno said. "We hope residents will take a moment to read this brochure and become more informed about solid waste issues and the approach our county has taken in order to meet our waste-disposal needs."

The brochure is being distributed to libraries and municipal offices throughout Union County as part of the authority effort to inform the public about its solid-waste management plans.

Additional copies of the brochure may be requested by residents or community groups by telephoning the authority at 351-8770.

Voter Tallies Decrease This Year Over 1988

The final tallies on voter registration for Union County have produced both good news and bad news this year.

The good news is there are 24,000 more people registered to cast ballots in the Tuesday, November 3, General Election. The bad news is there are 9,746 fewer people registered in the county this year than in the last Presidential Election four years ago.

An estimated 35 per cent of those eligible to vote still have chosen not to sign up for the privilege.

Nearly 5,000 county felons have lost their right to vote.

Of the 493,819 residents of Union County, those signed up to exercise their franchise number more than 252,860. There are 113,744 registered as independents, 92,711 who have declared themselves Democrats and 46,405 Republicans.

Westfield has a total of 18,508 registered voters, with 9,340 independents, 3,790 Democrats and 5,378 Republicans.

Independents took the greatest advantage of registration drives over the last six months, with their numbers increasing by 16 per cent, compared to a 4.4 per cent rise in Democrats and a 3.9 per cent increase in Republicans.

The number of Republicans, however, is 200 less than when George Bush was elected President in 1988.

The attrition among registered Democrats, however, has tallied 2,068 over the last four years, and there also are 7,878 fewer independents.

Independents in recent years were believed to have voted mainly Republican.

Even though the county's population has decreased by 2 per cent in the last decade, the actual number of people signed up to cast ballots has declined at nearly double that rate.

Since 1988, the only communities in Union County to increase their voters rolls have been Berkeley Heights, Garwood, Roselle Park and Springfield.

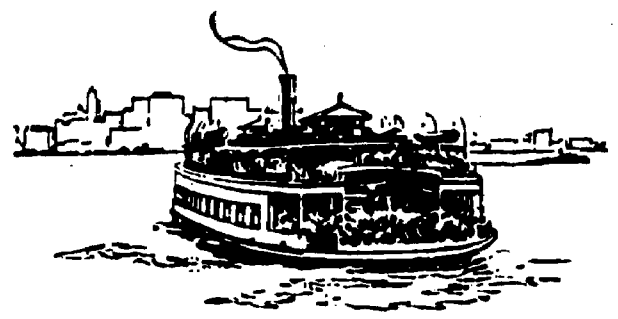
The Jersey Central Railroad depot



A Jersey Central Railroad ferryboat

Festival to Celebrate Jersey Central Depot

A festival on New Jersey railroads featuring the Jersey Central, Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads and other long-gone railroads of New Jersey will be held on Saturday, October 24, in the restored 1889 Jersey Central Railroad depot in Liberty State Park in Jersey City.

Thousands of Westfielders over the years took the train to Jersey City and then the ferry ride across the Hudson River.

Admission is $5 and doors will open at 5 p.m., with the movies beginning at 7 p.m.

The entrance to the park is located at New Jersey Turnpike Exit No. 14-B, with no city streets to drive. Parking is free. Light refreshments will be available.

At 5 p.m., the photographic exhibit of railroading on the Jersey Central and the sale of historic railroad artifacts begins. At 7 p.m., a three-dimensional railroad slide show will begin. It will be followed with several professionally-produced historic movies of New Jersey railroads, most produced specifically for them over 40 years ago.

The films are in private collections and are rarely available for public viewing.

The depot saw its last train ferryboats and trains depart over 25 years ago, but those attending will be able to relive the commuters' journey through the depot, with appropriate sound effects. Some of the old train destination signs will be hung on the old train boards.

The event is hosted by the Friends of the Central Railroad of New Jersey Terminal at Jersey City, a non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation and sharing of the history of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, known by older residents as the Jersey Central such as those who commuted through Jersey City from Westfield. Some of its members are former Jersey Central employees.

* * * * *

The Central Railroad was extended from it's original, 1836, eastern terminus at Elizabethport, through Bayonne, to the waterfront in Jersey City between 1860 and 1864.

Regular passenger service to the first Central New Jersey station/ferry terminal in Jersey City began August 2, 1864.

This terminal was a small, wooden pre-fabricated station that was built in Bound Brook and transported to Jersey City by train. The station was expanded several times until it had to be replaced in 1889 due to enormous increases in business.

The large land area between the New Jersey Turnpike and the Hudson River that is now Liberty State Park was once Communipaw Bay, until the Central New Jersey purchased it and filled it.

The 1864 waterfront station originally was reached by a mile-long trestle from near the Liberty Science Center. For several years the railroad filled the bay to the high-water level with New York City garbage, then covered it with dirt from construction projects along the railroad.

This was very unpopular with Jersey City residents and erupted into the "Garbage War" each summer when the hot weather caused a horrible stench. But the Central New Jersey held off all legal challenges to cease filling with garbage until the filing created a wide causeway for the passenger and freight trains, which replaced the original wooden trestle to the first depot, reports Frank T. Reilly of he Friends.

The balance of the Liberty State Park land south of the depot, which was a large railroad freight yard until the mid-1970s, also was once Communipaw Bay. It was filled during the early 1900s with mud dredged from the Hudson Bay.

The present depot was built in 1889 and used continuously until April 30, 1967 when railroad passenger service to Jersey City was rerouted to Newark and the depot was abandoned.

The 1889 trainshed, with 12 tracks, was replaced in 1914 with a Bush-type trainshed. It was named after its designer, Abraham Lincoln Bush, chief engineer of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad. With 20 tracks under the shed plus others next to it, it was the largest railroad terminal on the Hudson River and one of the biggest in the nation.

In December 1966 New Jersey purchased the passenger terminal and land leading to it for use as a park after railroad service was discontinued, April 30, 1967.

The depot was unused and not maintained until October 1975 when restoration began.

By then rain that had entered through large holes in the roof had done considerable damage to the historic building. Many people thought it was lost forever. Restoration by the state continued, which started with a new roof.

On September 13, 1980 the depot waiting room and train concourse was reopened for public use. Restoration of the ticket office, former restaurant, and most of the rooms on the upper levels still awaits completion.

The visitors area on the ground level has been meticulously restored and a theater is currently being built behind the ticket windows. In July bids were taken for restoration of two ferryboat slips.

There is no feeling in a human heart which exists in that heart alone–which is not, in some form or degree, in every heart.

AWAITING GREAT PUMPKIN...Students from Franklin School prepare for the Great Pumpkin Fair this Saturday, October 24, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., rain or shine. This year entertainment will be provided by skateboard champion, J. T. Murphy, who will perform in a show scheduled for 2:15 p.m. that afternoon. Tickets for this show will be available at the door for a cost of $1.50. Also featured this year will be many craft tables, a Cookie Walk, Polariod Stars with a new Batmobile, a haunted house and many games and field events. An old fashioned hay ride will be held through the streets of Westfield and children also will be able to stuff and make their own decorative scarecrows. A Chinese auction will be held at the fair this year with many prizes from local merchants. Lunch, snacks and baked goods will be available all day long. The Chairmen for this event are Mrs. Beth Lane and Mrs. Susanne Kane.

Eye Openers

HUNTING SEASON

Whether you're shooting a target for practice or a deer, in the woods, it's vital to have good vision when you squeeze the trigger. To shoot with accuracy takes excellent hand-eye coordination and the ability to distinguish detail at considerable distance and against varied backgrounds. The "picture" the hunter sees may be confused by distance, movement, and difficult light and weather conditions.

Unfortunately, some hunters end up shooting fellow hunters instead of animals. A study in Minnesota found that 77 percent of those who had wounded fellow hunters had defective vision -- and half of them didn't realize it! In addition, about 15 percent of the male population is either color-blind or color-deficient and dangerous to their fellows.

For safety's sake, every sportsman who shoots a gun should have his or her vision checked annually. Correction -- glasses or contact lenses -- may not only protect other hunters in the forest but improve the accuracy and effectiveness of shooting.

Mayor Boothe Outlines Progress on Programs

Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr., continuing his campaign for election in November, reports progress on major projects of concern to Westfield residents.

Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr.

"Since I took office in January important progress has been made on the Westfield downtown revitalization campaign, the Mindowaskin Park project, the second senior citizen housing facility and the traffic circle and parking deck proposals," he said.

The Downtown Committee, of which the Mayor is a member, has decided to seek participation in the Main Street New Jersey program offered by the state.

"At my suggestion, the committee is compiling the information that we will need to complete an application. When the state announces it will accept applications, Westfield will be ready," Mayor Boothe said.

"The volunteers making up the Friends of Mindowaskin Park organization are doing a spectacular job in getting financial support. Already new playground equipment has been installed, and money is being appropriated for basic improvements. The Town Council and I will work with them for a first-class park renovation," the Mayor added.

He added the recommendations of the committee on senior citizens that he had chaired had been accepted by the council — seeking federal tax credits and other financial resources and retaining an experienced coordinating consultant.

The consultant is actively at work compiling data needed for the application and seeking proposals, he said.

The Mayor and Third Ward Councilman Gary G. Jenkins will serve on the board of the new implementing corporation.

"I am very pleased with the progress being made on advancing the traffic circle renovation. After extensive discussion and public input, the council last week adopted a resolution urging the circle be replaced with a new traffic control system designed by the town with the help of outside experts. I already am seeking support for this project at the county and state level," the Mayor added, "now that we have achieved the important goal of a Westfield consensus on the solution."

"As for the parking deck proposal," Mayor Boothe added, "the Traffic, Transportation and Parking Committee and I are studying in detail alternative ways of financing such a facility and how to operate it. Once we have this detail and analysis completed we will present to the Westfield community all the available facts for discussion."

"Cautious spending of taxpayer money will continue to be my policy, as it has been for my predecessors," the Mayor continued. "Thanks to the efforts of First Ward Councilman David A. Mebane and the town administration, we obtained a significant reduction in health insurance costs earlier this year."

Stamp Club Plans Talk on 1869 Issue

The Westfield Stamp Club will meet on Thursday, October 29, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church at 414 East Broad Street at 8 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

The speaker for the evening will be Michael Laurence, the Editor and Publisher of Linn's Stamp News, the largest circulating publication for stamp collecting in the United States.

His topic will be "The 1869 Ten Cent Stamp."

Freeholders Contemplate Compost Center Buildings

Engineering and architectural studies in preparation for the addition of utilities and the building of a scale house, an equipment facility and an office at the Union County composting center in Springfield at a cost of $90,740 are being considered by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Clinton Bogert Associates of Fort Lee would be awarded the contract under a proposal by County Operational Services Director Armand Fiorletti.

Mr. Fiorletti has proposed the improvements, estimated to cost the county $1 million, to meet requirements of the state Department of Environmental Protection and Energy to obtain a permit for operating the composting center at the site.

The center has been operating under a temporary permit.

At last week's agenda session of the Freeholder Board Louis A. Santagata, the Chairman of the body, asked Mr. Fiorletti whether it might not be more appropriate for the Union County Utilities Authority to run the facility.

It was noted at the session by county Finance Director Lawrence Caroselli the county makes between $225,000 and $250,000 in revenue from the composting operation.

Mr. Fiorletti noted only 10 of the county's 21 municipalities use the facility

It was suggested by Freeholder Alan M. Augustine many communities may not utilize the county facility because private companies have competitive prices, but the Operational Services Director replied the prices charged by private firms might double or triple in the absence of he county's program, in which Westfield participates.

For the last three years, the county has run the Springfield operation on 60 of 94 acres leased from the state Department of Transportation in the former Houdaille Quarry.

Incentives should be developed to encourage more municipalities to take advantage of the county program, Freeholder Santagata said.

Those communities which do participate truck their leaves to the site and are charged $4.15 per cubic yard. The municipalities which pick up leaves from county roads get a 25 cent per cubic yard discount.

The county sells the composted material to a contractor for 85 cents per cubic yard and participating communities can get the material free if they truck it out of the site.

The Springfield site begins accepting leaves in November.

Freeholder Walter McLeod said at last week's meeting the county should open up its program to also allow individual residents to obtain compost material at the site.

Assemblyman Franks Wants to Cut Red Tape

New Jersey's complex regulatory process would be reformed under two pieces of legislation sponsored by Assemblyman Robert D. Franks which were released from the Senate State Government Committee last week.

Assemblyman Franks believes a more streamlined regulatory process is needed to cut through red tape and improve the business climate within the state.

"Every year a network of state officials, who often answer to no one but themselves, impose hundreds of complex, costly and controversial rules and regulations on our businesses, local governments and every taxpayer in our state. Since 1970, the number of rules and regulations has increased by more than 500 percent," the Assemblyman said before the committee.

Under one measure, an Office of Permit Resolution would be established within the Department of Community Affairs. The other bill would establish an Office of Regulatory Services and provide for greater public scrutiny of state departments and agencies.

"At a time when our unemployment rate is one of the highest in the nation, the need to cut red tape that has had a stranglehold over business and opportunities for new jobs never has been greater. While we all accept some rules are necessary to protect the public health and safety, the management of the rule-making process in New Jersey has gotten out of control," he added.

The bills passed the Assembly with strong bi-partisan support in June before clearing this latest legislative hurdle.

Communications Improvements Can Help Make Council Meetings More Effective

With the anticipated opening early next year of the renovated Municipal Building, perhaps the Town Council would be well-advised to improve communications in its own chambers.

To help the public understand the proceedings and participate more effectively, a few simple changes in procedure might be accomplished at little or no expense.

In fact, some of these suggestions can be put into effect immediately.

For example, council members should speak clearly and at a sufficient volume to be understood by all members of the audience.

Secondly, if the reports of department heads which are read near the end of public meetings are thought to be important enough to be read in full they should be read so all in the room can hear and understand them. Council members should also pay attention and not carry on side conversations while these readings are taking place.

If a complete reading of these matters is thought to be unnecessary, the council should consider waiving the readings as is done in some other communities.

Lastly, when members of the public come to the microphone to speak, they should be asked to give their full name and address. Also, if a member of the public is either too short or too tall to reach the microphone, it should be adjusted for him by one of the many town employees in attendance rather than forcing him to lean over or stand on his toes to be heard clearly.

None of these comments are meant to reflect poorly on town officials or employees who give many hours of dedicated service to Westfield. They only are suggestions on how town meetings could be made a little more pleasant and convenient for those the government is meant to serve.

Letters to the Editor

Dr. Rulf's Views of State Constitution Are Erroneous, Have No Basis in Fact

In last week's letters to the editor, Dr. Benjamin Rulf, a member of the Board of Education, alleges I gave myself "credit for 'saving' Roosevelt Intermediate School." In my letter of September 24, I reiterated my campaign pledge to do all I could to keep Roosevelt open. In that same letter I said, "Those of us who have worked hard toward the goal of keeping it open have won." The word "those" correctly implies the many who worked to preserve the school, not just me.

Dr. Rulf goes on to characterize the poll conducted by The Westfield Leader of local public opinion on this matter as "childish and self-serving." It is strange he considers any solicitation of opinion from citizens who would all be affected by the closing of the school as "childish." As to the poll being "self-serving," presumably because I suggested to the editor of The Leader that it be conducted, that allegation presumes the outcome of the poll was known before it was completed, which is obvious nonsense. One might think Dr. Rulf would welcome learning the sentiment of the citizens he was elected to serve and whose will he is expected to carry out. Apparently not.

Dr. Rulf continues, now denying that anyone on the school board ever "debated" a proposal to close Roosevelt nor did anyone on the board or administration "push" for it. This contention relies too heavily on his use of the verbs "push" and "debate." As the editor's note at the end of Dr. Rulf's letter makes clear, every board presentation on the intermediate schools prior to the release of the consultants' report discussed the closing of Roosevelt as a very viable option. And the "valuable demographic and financial analysis" provided by the consultants was, in similar form, available from one or more other local, knowledgeable sources for far less than $12,000, if at any cost at all. The consultants' report, then, merely reinforced what we already knew or could have learned at far lower cost. If the school board has nothing to hide, as Dr. Rulf insists, why does he bother denying what the record shows is true?

Dr. Rulf's final two paragraphs would be amusing if they were not stupefying. Fortunately, another editor's note refutes his belief that the state constitution stipulates two separate elected bodies to deal with town governance and public education. Acts of the legislature dictate the several options from which a municipality may choose in these matters, one of which is to elect just one body to run both the town and the schools.

Under the structure chosen by those who made the initial arrangements for the Town of Westfield, it is also true that, if a school budget is not approved by the voters, the matter reverts to the town council for resolution.

Finally, Dr. Rulf takes exception to my "uninvited help" in matters pertaining to the school board and its functioning. Yes, I do use this forum frequently to express my views on issues facing our town, including the schools. And I repeat my belief that it is irrational for the town council and the school board to each operate in a vacuum with no constructive cross-communication whatsoever.

I sense in Dr. Rulf's position a wish to define bailiwicks for Town Council and the School Board, the crossing of which by a member of one into the realm of the other is not to be acceptable. I cannot but feel this position smacks of some form of totalitarianism; I must decline to comply with Dr. Rulf's insistence that I abandon my free-speech guarantee and refrain from comment on any action of the school board unless I am "invited" to do so.

I am a citizen of Westfield first, a council member second. Town citizens are all involved in education for a multitude of valid reasons, not the least of which is the fact that about 60 per cent of our taxes are expended for our school system. Dr. Rulf apparently believes the school board to be somehow sacrosanct, immune from question from any quarter particularly a council member! I do assure the good doctor that I will fulfill my council responsibilities conscientiously, and in so doing I always welcome questions, suggestions and ideas from any source as to how I or the council may function more effectively, even from a school board member.

Between the factual enlightenment provided Dr. Rulf by the editor's notes appended to his letter, and by my own response, I close with the suggestion that Dr. Rulf might do a more thorough job on his homework in the future, and not attribute thoughts and interpretations to the New Jersey State Constitution which are totally erroneous and have absolutely no basis in fact.

Dr. Smith's Show Resumes on Cable

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Mark C. Smith's live cable television show, On Line, resumed broadcast over Suburban cable television Channel 36 this month.

A tape of the live show will be shown on Channel 36 each Wednesday of the month at 8 p.m.

The October show, which was broadcast live to provide viewers an opportunity to call in questions to the Superintendent and guests, followed the theme: "New Directions for the Westfield Public Schools."

Guests on that show include Dr. Robert Rader, Westfield's new Assistant Superintendent for Business, Kenneth Sholack, the new Principal of Roosevelt Intermediate School, and Mrs. Carol Phelan, the President of the Roosevelt Parent-Teach-Student Organization.

Mayor Should Show Concern For Co-Generation

I am a new resident to the Town of Westfield.

I am voicing my concern over the co-generation plant scheduled for Clark.

I could not attend the Town Council meeting that was to be held on October 13.

For this reason I am writing as a concerned citizen. I understand the Mayor of Westfield did not see the importance of voicing his concern at the meeting on October 13 since it would not be built on a Westfield site.

I can be reached for further involvement.

My main emphasis is health related.

Dr. Rulf Seeks to Conduct Turf War on Roosevelt Issue

I am confident Councilman Norman N. Greco will respond to Dr. Benjamin Rulf's letter of last week, but I am prompted to a response from my own perspective.

Between newspaper accounts and letters to the editor, I have been reading about the intermediate school perplexity for many months, including mention of the possibility of closing Roosevelt.

I am familiar with the various twists and turns the matter has taken, although the precise dates of each are now vague.

But I do recall the option of closing Roosevelt was mentioned in several articles reporting on school board meetings well before there was any report from the Columbia consultants.

Frankly, considering the under-enrollment the school board faced at both intermediate schools, I find it perfectly reasonable the option of closing one school (the older?) was considered.

Dr. Rulf, however, is vehement in his denial anyone on the school board or in school administration ever let the mere thought of closing Roosevelt even cross their mind, much less be "pushed."

The option of closing Roosevelt might not have survived close examination, whether economically, logistically, or in terms of public acceptance, but the option certainly had to be on the list of choices facing the school board.

But Dr. Rulf seems to insist this option was not even on a list of choices. Amazing! It was surely on the consultants' list, but obviously did not survive close scrutiny as viable, so they rejected it.

Then Dr. Rulf condemns the poll apparently suggested by Councilman Greco to the Editor of The Westfield Leader. He calls it "childish and self-serving."

Were I a school board member, I would have initiated such a poll myself as a means of learning what my constituents wanted.

It would seem helpful to know what the citizens want, but Dr. Rulf doesn't seem to agree.

"Self-serving" also is difficult to understand.

How could it be self-serving for Councilman Greco to suggest an open poll with the results published regardless of how the poll came out? He could well have been blown out of the water by a poll he suggested! He undoubtedly knew that.

That doesn't constitute "self-serving" in my mind; it seems to be a reasonable effort to learn the wish of the citizenry.

"Childish and self-serving?" How so, Dr. Rulf?

Councilman Greco said in a letter to the editor last month he feels it's irrational for a Town Council to be completely divorced from a school budget.

Dr. Rulf expresses horror at that worthy concept. I do know the Town Council already has several members appointed as a liaison committee with the school board, which I applaud.

Then I learn on inquiry that actual liaison meetings occur about twice a year for less than an hour each! Of course the school board and Town Council do have separate spheres of concern, but the funds to resolve these concerns come from one tax base.

Plain common sense would seem to confirm the wisdom of joint budgetary consultation between the two elected bodies.

Contrary to Dr. Rulf's fears, such a willingness to communicate and cooperate on budgetary matters is not synonymous with meddling. Dr. Rulf's remarks are more consistent with some kind of turf war than with a broad-view interest in getting something done more efficiently, smoothly and even economically.

The final point made by Dr. Rulf demonstrated a surprising lack of factual knowledge on a subject on which he is offering wisdom.

Specifically, he states the New Jersey State Constitution requires two separate elected bodies to deal with the two separate issues of town governance and public education.

Actually, the State Legislation, not the Constitution, offers towns and cities several ways to accomplish these functions.

From these several options each town or city is free to choose the one they prefer.

Once choice allows that one elected body perform both functions, which is perhaps not such a bad idea in that such an arrangement would preclude the kind of turf war Dr. Rulf seems bent on promoting.

Mr. Trzesniowski Doesn't Give Entire Picture on County Budget

Victor Trzesniowski, a Republican candidate for Freeholder, in his recent letter to the editor, has tried to mislead and confuse the public about the Union County budget. He has used percentages that he created which do not relate to reality.

Mr. Trzesniowski failed to mention the tax levy, the amount to be raised through property taxes, in this year's budget adopted by the Republicans in control is the highest in the history of Union County.

The $138.1 billion in taxes in their budget for this year reflects a $6.26 million increase by the Republicans over the 1991 budget forged by Democrats — a democratic budget which, by the way, showed the first decrease in taxes anyone in this county can remember.

Whereas, in 1992, the Republicans caused tax increases in 17 of the 21 municipalities.

Furthermore, the total republican budget for this year is also the highest in the history of Union County. This year, Republicans authorized the addition of more than $7.9 million over the Democrats 1991 budget.

Union County has been able to maintain a Standard and Poor's rating of AA+ and a Triple A rating by Moody's for the last five years under the Democrats because we aggressively pursued long-term strategies to arrive at cost-saving solutions to effectuate long-term efficiencies and savings.

Democratic majorities on the Union County Board of Freeholders did not engage in "quick fixes" to meet the budget and did not defer financial issues into future years. These are not my words but those of the above-mentioned rating agencies.

Republican candidate Trzesniowski should have the public believe the Republican Freeholders have achieved something special this year.

What they really have done this year is to abandon the sound fiscal foundation structured by the Democrats over the past several years and given the people of Union County the highest budget and taxes on record.

Bizarre Political Announcements Come from Dr. Benjamin Rulf

Fade into Dr. Rulf's October 15 letter to The Westfield Leader regarding the Roosevelt School issue: "In this election season we are often treated to all sorts of funny and outrageous political announcements."

I'll surely second that motion! One of the more bizarre is Dr. Rulf's letter!

The "furor" over the threatened closing of Roosevelt School was not, as Dr. Rulf suggests, created by Norman Greco and his friends.

It was created by the School Superintendent and the Board of Education who worked on the incorrect assumption the middle school population was going to dramatically decline by the year 2000.

The board made this assumption in spite of a study done by our then Assistant Superintendent Dr. William J. Foley, who emphatically said this population would increase! The board reasoned, however, if the student population declined that certain actions would have to be taken — one of those actions would be to close Roosevelt School.

As we know the board spent about $12,000 for outside consultants to study various aspects of school facility space utilizations. They reached the same conclusion Dr. Foley reached — there would be an increase in the middle school population, not a decrease.

These consultants also conducted a 17-question survey regarding educational values which seemed to have very little bearing on what they were hired to do in the first place.

The consultants never provided a traffic-pattern study or detailed cost estimates regarding the closure of either Edison or Roosevelt School — both of which they were hired to do. In short, this study seemed to be a waste of time and money.

Furthermore, given that one of the possible results of this study could have been the recommendation to close Roosevelt School, The Westfield Leaders' survey seemed to be pretty appropriate.

Granted, it was not necessarily on par with a Gallup statistical poll, but the resounding 98 per cent vote to keep Roosevelt open seems to have accurately captured the sentiments of voters and taxpayers.

I guess the board could have spent another $12,000 on a more scientific poll conducted by outside experts, but I suspect results would not be materially different.

Finally, as a taxpayer and a voter, I take exception to Dr. Rulf's closing comments. I believe if any Westfield citizen, whether on the Town Council, Board of Education or otherwise, becomes aware of some expensive, counterproductive and unpopular folly being undertaken by our government that they have the duty to speak up.

This can only result in better government for us.

Candidate Mebane Sees Many More Issues Than Councilman Mebane: Mr. LaPorta

I would like the opportunity to respond to my opponent's letter to the editor which was printed in your paper last week.

First Ward Councilman David A. Mebane, the candidate, seems embarrassed he fell asleep at the switch on the issue of traffic safety at the intersection of Harrison and Kimball Avenues. I pointed out he lives six houses away from this intersection, which has had six accidents in five years. It took a citizen's petition to improve this intersection with four bright red stop signs. I was happy to present the petition to the Town Council, which led to a solution. Of course, the inaction of Councilman Mebane reflects poorly on the position of Candidate Mebane.

I have said during this campaign I would discuss specifics not glossed-over generalities. However, Candidate Mebane seems to have a problem with my discussion of Councilman Mebane's record.

Candidate Mebane claims he has a plan to reduce the rapid rate of municipal tax increases. Councilman Mebane did not support this plan and voted for the largest tax increase in Westfield's history, 37 per cent in one year.

Candidate Mebane claims he is for an attic waste day. Councilman Mebane never once supported this issue during his tenure on the Town Council.

Candidate Mebane claims he now wants to improve the town's insurance-bidding process. Councilman Mebane voted to protect the cozy political system that rewarded his political bosses at the expense of the taxpayer, in a closed bidding process.

Candidate Mebane claims he wants to discuss ways to lower trash collection fees and the next week says that only a few dollars might be saved through this approach. Councilman Mebane has been silent on this issue until he knew I would run against him.

The record shows that, as a councilman, Mr. Mebane never took a stand on the closing of Roosevelt School until a poll showed 97 per cent of those polled wanted to keep the school open. I call this "Poll Politics."

Mr. Mebane, I have been keeping a close watch on your record and you can not hide from it, even though you may wish to during your campaign.

The Word Sleuths

BY JO & JOHN JACOBSON

Democracy Gives Power To the People

The United States democracy is relatively new, but the elements upon which the word is based are ancient. Its roots go back to ancient Greece and beyond. The word's etymology will provide some insight into man's ageless quest for democracy.

The first element, demos, is a Greek word meaning people. Demos, in turn, came from the early Indo-European word damos, "a division of the people."

The second element is kratia, power or rule, which comes from kratos, meaning strength. Combined, these elements mean, literally, rule by the people. The strength of democracy is that it fulfills man's need to have reasonable control of his destiny.

Here are several other prefixes that normally go with the -cracy suffix: Aristo-cracy, rule by the best, pluto-cracy, rule by the wealthy and bureau-cracy, rule by government officials.

Perhaps not as important as the aforementioned, but not to be ruled out, is our own word construction that has considerable influence on our lives, i.e., wordocracy, "rule by words."

After all, "words," according to Rudyard Kipling, 1865-1936, "are, of course, the most powerful drug used by mankind."

The freedom to use words is essential to man's right and ability to rule.

Patriotic Daughters To Tour Rahway Inn

The Westfield Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will tour the historic Merchants and Drovers Tavern in Rahway tomorrow at 1 p.m.

An example of 18th century architecture, Merchants and Drovers Tavern is on the corner of St. Georges and Westfield Avenues.

Since its origin as a one-room home built onto in 1735 to accommodate the needs of thirsty travelers, the inn has had a fascinating history.

It was the first stop for the stately and wealthy travelers on the Kings Highway after leaving Elizabethtown on the stagecoach journey between New York and Philadelphia. Maintained by the Rahway Historical Society, Merchants and Drovers Tavern now serves as a museum for the community and the state.

Letters to the Editor

Halloween School Fund-Raising Should Include United Nations

Editor's Note: The following is a copy of a letter written to Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Mark C. Smith, and the Westfield Board of Education by Mrs. Pamela G. Orbach of Westfield.

* * * * *

In this age of multiculturalism, I would like the Board of Education to look again at its policy on fund-raising for charitable institutions and consider allowing Westfield school children to collect for the United Nations Children's International Emergency Fund at Halloween.

The United Nations and the fund surely are recognized, uncontroversial organizations that few members of our community would object to having their children support.

The fund always has had a special meaning to children, if they are informed of its role and goals. However, in the absence of participation in the Halloween collection for the fund, I doubt that many of our children even have heard of it.

There is no expense involved in participation in this program, and it does not involve another request for donations from parents.

What it does is add a dimension of caring and giving to the fun of Halloween, which is otherwise a very self-centered, gimme-gimme type of holiday.

I am sure most members of our community would willingly donate to boxes from the fund, especially since this was traditional for most of us in our school days.

We do not want our children to grew up in isolation, with no awareness of the world around them, and they do not. They hear and see the news; as they grow up they read the headlines. They are aware of areas of trouble and need in the world and would, I believe, welcome the opportunity to do their share to help others, especially other children like — or unlike — themselves.

I guess the policy restricting charitable fund-raising to Children's Specialized Hospital and the American Red Cross was intended to limit fund-raising to organizations with local, or identifiably "nearby," impact — the era when Parent-Teacher Associations became Parent-Teacher Organizations because we should focus on our own, local concerns. This is another era, when we hope our children will look outside their communities as well, into the larger, interdependent world of the 1990s.

Information ordering information packets from the fund and collection boxes is available by telephoning 1-800-252-KIDS.

POPCORN™

Hero Rescues Viewers From Their Cynicism

By Michael Goldberger

One Popcorn, Poor · Two Popcorns, Fair · Three Popcorns, Good · Four Popcorns, Excellent

3 popcorns

Despite some structural flaws and a few problems with pace, the good-tempered Hero is the feel-good film of the year.

Doubtless, Director Stephen Frears purposely emulates the farces of surprising nobility that often graced America's silver screen in the 1930s and 1940s — those marvelously comfortable comedies that, via wonderfully-humane premises, extolled the dignity and virtues of the common man...i.e. Mr. Smith Goes to Washington, Mr. Deeds Goes to Town, Meet John Doe, The Great McGinty, It's a Wonderful Life and Sullivan's Travels, to name a few.

Doing his a-little-worse-for-wear shtick a la Ratso Rizzo of Midnight Cowboy fame, Dustin Hoffman plays Bernie La Plante, the human embodiment of a contradiction in terms.

A petty thief and cynic supreme, when doing one of his rare parental visitations Bernie lectures his sweet, idolizing, 9-year-old boy as regards the school of hard knocks. His advice is hardly charitable.

Yet, when flight No. 104 plows into a bridge and there's no one else around but Bernie La Plante to save all 54 lives aboard, guess who rises to the occasion.

For purposely complicated if not completely contrived plot reasons, the unlikely hero doesn't get credit for the extreme feat of bravery.

Instead, coming forth to collect the $1 million reward offered by exclusive-story-hungry Channel 4 is one John Bubber, a heretofore homeless, ex-Vietnam war hero played with panache by Andy Garcia.

Shaved, coiffed and then showered with wealth, Mr. Bubber looks the part and fills the bill as "The Angel of Flight No. 104." The media re satisfied with their creation.

Yet, one hard-nosed, local-news reporter, herself one of the souls saved on that fateful night, begins to have her doubts.

Played well here by a forceful Geena Davis, it's the role either Barbara Stanwyck or Jean Arthur would have commanded in the olden days.

These gals were experts at bringing out the her in John Doe, literally and figuratively...pun fully intended. So you can figure on Geena Davis's stylishly appealing update, Gayle, to scope out the score.

To call this effort Capra-esque would be to unfairly snub Preston Sturges, a peer of Mr. Capra's who was often the more Capra-esque of the tow.

In any case, the great bits of wishful thinking that were their stock and trade are reprised here ever so nicely...without looking like a museum curiosity.

Even Chevy Chase is mostly in character and remarkably restrained in the one-track, crass-boss role pioneered so well by both Adolph Menjou and James Gleason.

But most amusing is Hoffman, effecting his special mumble-gripe routine as only he can — a bit self-conscious but brimming with that special likability that makes him a bona fide movie star.

On the way to proving there's heroism in all of us, he film additionally wishes to comment on the media's mania for sensationalism. But then Hoffman steals most of the emotion when the plot also seeks to convince the self-professed never-do-well is simply loaded with redemptive qualities, especially as a potentially loving dad.

Then again, he's an enigma. His apartment is great; a bit of a fence in odd lot items, his decorative stock consists of hub caps, windshield washer anti-freeze and other such goods prone to falling off trucks.

Hoffman's role, even when it's causing empathy, continually reminds this is a comedy first and foremost.

This effusive character is balanced nicely by Andy Garcia's very suave pretender to the title throne who, it turn out, has heroic qualities despite his opportunistic scam.

That's what the film does — ennobles even the most unlikely candidates, humorously subscribing to the notion man is inherently good. If realism and hard reality at the flicks has you down of late, Hero will come to your rescue.

Not the violent conflict between parts of the truth, but the quiet suppression of half of it, is the formidable evil; there is always hope when people are forced to listen to both sides; it is when they attend to only one that errors harden into prejudices, and truth itself comes to have the effect of truth, by being exaggerated into falsehood.

'Take Two Aspirins' May Not Be Best Advice

By Herb Ross

"Take two aspirins and call me in the morning."

How many times have you heard the advice "take two aspirins," yet we don't take aspirins seriously enough!

In a recent article in Remedy magazine a pharmacist sounded the alarm about the benefits (and dangers) of aspirin, acetaminophen and ibuprofen.

It may sound like we are overreacting a bit. But these relative-safe medications cause the following:

- Dozens of cases of gastrointestinal bleeding and hearing problems and liver damage caused by long-term use of aspirin at recommended doses.
- One case of a 62-year-old man with chronic back pain who took five acetaminophen tablets (500 milligrams) a day and developed liver damage with five months. Fortunately, the damage was reversed a few weeks after discontinuing the drug.
- The tragic case of a professional football player who took four ibuprofen (200 milligrams each) four times a day for two months to relieve joint pain and swelling, and as a result must go for regular treatments on a kidney-dialysis machine.

The aspirin's humble origin of a tea brewed from willow leaves and bark was even used by Hippocrates to relive childbirth pain in the year 400 B.C. Today it is probably the most effective means of preventing heart attack and perhaps strokes.

The interesting idea is a daily dose of 150 milligrams or less aspirin a day (a regular aspirin tablet is 325 milligrams) provides greater protection than higher doses.

So less gives you more!

It seems aspirin blocks the effects of prostaglandis. The active ingredient in aspirin, acetylsalicylic acid, relieves pain and swelling by inhibiting the body's synthesis of pain-promoting chemicals known as prostaglandins.

Prostaglandins are released at the site of any pain or inflammation, and it is at this site that aspirin builds its pain-block, inflammation-reducing fortress, explains Dr. Barbara M. Bayer, associate professor of pharmacology at Georgetown University School of Medicine in Washington, D. C. (Bayer, an apt name for an investigator of analgesics, is no relation to the famous aspirin maker.)

In contract, narcotics take their action in the brain, which is why they can cause drowsiness and addiction.

However, prostaglandins do more than just promote pain. They also protect the mucosal membranes of the stomach lining, which is part of the reason that aspirin causes stomach irritation. Some prostaglandins also cause blood vessels to constrict and platelets to become sticky and prone to gumming up vessel walls. This process can set the stage for disaster in men and women at high risk for heart attack or stroke because it results in a sudden damming of blood flow to and from the heart and the brain.

Regular doses of aspirin counteract the nasty effects of prostaglandins in two ways: By blocking their synthesis, thereby encouraging open blood vessels and smooth platelet transport, and through aspirin's own blood-thinning action.

In fact, aspirin's beneficial effect on platelets lasts for the entire lifespan of those platelets, about a week, which is why heart and stroke protection remain even when aspirin isn't taken every day.

So what's to worry? Well, there is a downside. The aspirin also blocks good prostaglandins — these dilate blood vessels and guard against platelet stickiness!

And if you take less than 150 milligrams, it seems it doesn't effect the good prostaglandins.

And, of course, the druggists seized the moment and came out with a product called "Halprin."

So you don't have to cut a 325 milligram aspirin in half! It only costs more. About $4.95 for 60. So less is more! What can I say except don't prescribe yourself. Because then you have a fool for a patient. See your doctor.

Next week — aspirin and cancer, aspirin and arthritis — and those antihistamines!

Woman Rules the Roost In Almost All Kingdoms

By LOUIS H. CLARK
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

My neighbor, a scholarly woman who loves to delve into the deeper things of life lent me her current copy of The Wilson Quarterly.

This issue deals with scholarly research into the pyramids, the ancient Silk Road as well as reviews of current articles in other scholarly magazines.

The ones that interested me most were the ones on how a "date" became a "date." The other one was all about how feminist researchers have discovered female birds and animals pick their mates instead of being picked as male biologists have long set down as Holy Writ.

Of course the second proposition was, to put it lightly, amusing. Anyone who has lived life outside of romance novels knows that female — let's forget the scientific jargon and call her woman — selects her mate.

The objective of the woman was once "Mr. Right." We all knew that was a euphemism.

Now a woman cuts to facts: As long as he's clean, doesn't test for Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome and has a job she will consider him just like the female walrus wants a male walrus who will protect her and whose genes will produce healthy little walruses.

The woman — not the walrus — will turn down second date after second date because she feels the man is not right for her. She starts doing this at an early age so that when the guy comes along whose chemistry matches her's she will know how to bolster his confidence and let him think he's choosing her.

The first of these articles explained, in the thickest scientific English possible, how the word "date" came into being.

If your great grandfather lived before 1910, he "called upon" a young lady dressed in his best suit and sat out with her on the porch under lots of gaslights. If they had become especially close she allowed him to hold her hand whereupon her mother would immediately appear with a pitcher of lemonade to cool things off.

What was the event which turned "calling upon" into a "date?" The advent of that chariot of romance called an automobile. How when your grandfather was going to take a young lady to a church social or even a dance he called upon her in his Model T and transported her. There were no parents around, no lemonade to cool things off and the I"l ran out of gas" ploy was invented.

So here we have two scientific articles which use God knows how many words to explain what we have always known: No matter whether it's in a car or a porch the woman always has picked her mate unless she happened to be of royal blood and then she had to trust to luck.

Assemblyman Franks Endorsed by Chamber

Assemblyman Robert D. Franks, the Republican candidate for Representative in the Seventh Congressional District, has received the endorsement of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

James Leonard, the Senior Manager for Legislative and Political Affairs for the chamber, said Assemblyman Franks earned the endorsement for this efforts to reduce the "dominating role of government in business affairs and in private lives of citizens."

"I am very pleased to receive this endorsement and to be recognized for my continuing efforts in the New Jersey Legislature to cut the red tape that is strangling opportunities for business expansion and new jobs," the Assemblyman said.

The legislator is the sponsor of a package of bills that would overhaul the state's regulatory system to eliminate overly burdensome, costly and conflicting rules and regulations.

"Businesses in New Jersey are spending billions of dollars every year complying with thousands of state regulations. On the federal level, regulations are costing businesses $562 billion a year," the law maker said. "In order to promote economic growth, we must streamline the regulatory process on both the state and federal level to make it simple, fair and effective."

The chamber also cited Assemblyman Franks' commitment to restore the economic vitality of the state and nation.

The Assemblyman has spearheaded the drive to revitalize the manufacturing sector of the economy, which has been in a steady state of decline for two decades, the chamber said.

Manufacturing employment in New Jersey is now at its lowest level since 1939. Assemblyman Franks' plan calls for assisting manufacturers in opening new markets, developing new approaches to training students and promoting public-private sector apprenticeship programs, according to the chamber.

Judicial Conduct Committee Voids Surrogate Complaint

Surrogate, Mrs. Ann P. Conti, said Friday the Advisory Committee on Judicial Conduct has determined there has been no violation of any ethical standards during her re-election campaign.

A spokesman for the Surrogate, said, "At Mrs. Conti's request, we are releasing a statement from the committee. They have determined the Code of Judicial Conduct permits Surrogates to engage in 'such political activity as is directly related to seeking reelection.'"

"Mrs. Conti would like to concentrate on the issues she has raised in this campaign," the spokesman said. "This ruling obviously puts an end to any discussion about violations, including seeking investigations from the County Prosecutor, because this body is the ultimate authority for judges."

"As a practicing attorney, Republican candidate Philip Gentile should have known how to interpret court rules, something any other qualified attorney can do," she added. "He has never once during this campaign talked about how he would actually perform as a Surrogate, but has only issued negative attacks on Mrs. Conti."

"Mrs. Conti actually decreased the budget in her office this year. What would Mr. Gentile do? Mrs. Conti has written the book, literally, on managing the Surrogate's Office, one that sets procedure for every Surrogate in the state. What would Mr. Gentile do?" the spokesman asked.

"Mr. Gentile's McCarthy-like tactics avoid the real issue in this campaign, which is Mrs. Conti is experienced and qualified to remain as Surrogate. He is not," she noted. "We hope that, even at this late date in the campaign, he can educate himself about the position and bring some serious discussion into the debate."

Town Rotarians Learn About Council on the Arts

Mrs. Barbara Rusco, the Executive Director of the New Jersey State Council for the Arts, talked to a group of Rotarians for the first time at the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club of Westfield last week.

Mrs. Rusco said the Council for the Arts has strength in its diversity, bringing programs in music, dance and song to large and small communities all across the United States.

Arts endowment programs on public television take world cultural programs into every home.

Mrs. Rusco pointed out there are many benefits gained by the community from support given to various organizations and young people are inspired to use skills in classrooms to express humanity through creativity.

Examples of successes are the Vietnam Memorial competition and the grant for production of the movie, Driving Miss Daisy, she noted.

"We tend to forget how art is woven into our lives but cannot imagine a world without it," Mrs. Rusco said.

The council gives direct financial support to 140 organizations and to 21,000 children in schools where the link of arts and sciences changes peoples lives by learning how to learn, she added.

Mrs. Rusco concluded by commending the Westfield Symphony Orchestra, which has received a designation as a distinguished arts organization for two years for great artistic quality and outreach to 3,000 students.

Brad Keimach, the Music Director and Conductor of the orchestra, reminded Rotarians he had been a recipient of a Rotary scholarship and expressed his thanks for the opportunity this opened up for him.

He also encouraged members to attend the next concert to be given by the orchestra on Saturday, October 24, at 8 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church in Westfield.

Beethoven's Coriolan Overture and The Ninth Symphony will be performed.

INSPECTING EQUIPMENT...First Ward Councilmen David A. Mebane and Norman N. Greco shake hands after inspecting the new playground equipment at Mindowaskin Park. This equipment was installed with funding from the Town Council and with the support and effort of the Friends of Mindowaskin Park, the Recreation Commission and the Public Works Department.

Councilman Mebane Backs Long-Range Planning

"To maintain Westfield's financial stability and to deliver high quality services on a least-cost basis, the Town Council must commit itself to innovative long-term strategies," First Ward Councilman David A. Mebane said this week.

"Already, the Town Council's budget accounts for only 13 per cent of the average Westfielder's tax bill, compared to 66.5 per cent for the school board and 20.5 per cent for the county," Councilman Mebane continued. "This year, although taxes increased overall, the council's tax assessment actually was lower than in 1988, 1989 and 1990.

"What follows are some of my ideas concerning the philosophy that should guide Westfield's financial and operations management," he added.

Improving Municipal Services — A new emphasis must be placed on high quality improvement processes in municipal government. The use of these techniques should not only improve municipal services, but also should result in cost savings.

Staffing — Another area of improvement is in the area of staffing of municipal services. for example, we have reduced staffing at the Conservation Center, resulting in overtime savings to the town.

Close monitoring of health insurance and labor costs — In 1992 the Personnel Committee, which I chair, successfully negotiated health benefit savings of $150,000. These efforts should be continued to control spending. The council also should continue to negotiate aggressively to more closely align its labor-cost increases with those in the private sector."

Prudent capital budgeting — Prudent capital spending requires a careful balancing of items the town must have such as infrastructure improvements, such as street paving sewers versus extraordinary capital projects. The council must examine the economic feasibility of capital budget requests and how they fit into Westfield's long-range strategic and fiscal planning.

Regionalization and shared services — Much potential exists for regionalization of municipal services. areas for regionalization include solid-waste planning and regionalized health benefits and property and casualty insurance.

Long-range planning — Westfield must commit itself to long-term strategic planning, both operationally and financially.

"Municipal government must not be afraid of innovation and of long range planning," the Councilman added. It is only through these efforts, and prudent management of the taxpayers' money in benefits and wages, we will be able to stem the tide of exorbitant tax increases."

Friends of Library Seek Expansion of Membership

Won't you be a friend of the Westfield Library?" asked Mrs. Eleanor Senus, the President of the Friends of the Westfield Memorial Library.

This is the month for members to renew and new people to subscribe for membership in the Friends group.

In the past year, the Friends purchased reference books, microfiche materials and equipment, a telephone answering machine, door openers for the handicapped, security mirrors for the reference department and many small furnishings for the library.

On Sunday, November 22, the Paul Salamone Jazz Ensemble will perform in the library Program Room at 3 p.m. This is the first of a series scheduled for the current year.

Membership supports many activities which are open to the public: Free Sunday afternoon programs, bus trips to the Metropolitan Opera, rental books, books for the shut-ins, a copy machine for public use and the paperback collection for the commuters at the train station. There are opportunities to assist in many of these areas.

However, some may just want to pay and reap the benefits: A 10 per cent discount on purchases at the Towne Book Store and the Quimby Street Book Store.

Members are admitted to the preview sale, for members only, on the opening day of the spring book sale.

Membership is available on individual, family, sponsor or patron levels and is tax-deductible.

A mailing has gone out to former members and to all who have expressed an interest in joining. Those who have not received an application may sent their check to Mrs. Henry Myers, 232 Cowperthwaite Place, Westfield, 07090.

MEMBERS NEEDED...Mrs. Henry (Marti) Myers, the Membership Chairman of the Friends of the Westfield Memorial Library, mails application forms to former members and those who have expressed an interest in joining the Friends.

FOR THE CAUSE...Westfield High School French Club President Elizabeth Taranto presents a check to Mrs. Linda Maggio, the Executive Director of the United Fund of Westfield, as Karen Chen, the Vice President; Patrick Cosquer, the Secretary, and Emily McCord, the Treasurer, look on. The club noted, "They wanted to show their appreciation to a very important group and give something back to the community." As Mrs. Maggio thanked the club for their gift, she noted it "indeed fulfills this purpose because the United Fund of Westfield is the best way to help the most people." This contribution pushed the fund to $345,988 or 52 per cent of its $660,000 goal to help support its 19 member agencies.

Mrs. MacGonagle Wins Environmental Grant

Mrs. Cynthia MacGonagle, a teacher at Roosevelt Intermediate School in Westfield, was among 10 project winners announced by Public Service Electric & Gas Company and the New Jersey Business/Industry/Science Education Consortium to receive a grant in the annual Environmental Education Grant Program.

Mrs. MacGonagle will receive $2,000 for her project, "Teaching the Songbird Connection." The 10 awards totalled $12,000.

Mrs. MacGonagle said, "Students will have an increased awareness of the connections and relationships between humans and their environment. Migratory birds will be studied and the students will establish a relationship with a sister school in Latin America to have a greater understanding of seasonal patterns of birds."

The grant program was designed in cooperation with the Alliance for New Jersey Environmental Education. Teacher applicants were asked to link their students' understanding o mathematics, science, computer science and/or technology concepts with environmental topics.

Grants of up to $5,000 each were available for equipment, materials and field trips that would not normally be provided by the school or school district.

The grant program was open to educators in kindergarten to fifth grade and sixth to ninth grade who teach in the firm's electric or gas service area. Recipients are required to conduct the grant project for at least two years. Award winners will be asked to provide an update of their projects in June.

This year marks the ninth the Westfield Twig is sponsoring the benefit, which is the kickoff to the two-weekend Westfield Craft Market, which will be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 30, 31 and November 1, and the next weekend, November 6, 7 and 8.

The market will feature handcrafted items including jewelry, clothing, pottery, toys and other holiday gift ideas.

Last year, the Twig presented a check for $25,000 toward the group's pledge, more than half of which was garnered at the 1991 Craft Market.

Westfield Twig No. 2 is a volunteer group comprised of area residents in service to Children's Specialized.

County Historian At Area Meeting

Robert J. Fridlington, a retired American history professor of Kean College of New Jersey in Union, will speak at the monthly meeting of the Historical Society of Scotch Plains and Fanwood on Tuesday, October 27, at 8 p.m. at the Fanwood Train Station on North and Martine Avenue, Fanwood.

Mr. Fridlington will share some of the tales he discovered writing his book, Union County Yesterday. Besides being an author and teacher, he also is a Past President of the Union County Historical Society.

Those who are interested in obtaining more information about this society can write or telephone President Richard Bousquet at P. O. Box 261, Scotch Plains, 07076 or 232-1199.

Ballet began in the royal courts of Italy during the 1400's. The early dancers were court nobles performing at social occasions of the times.

Mr. LaPorta Discusses Issues Door-to-Door

Anthony M. LaPorta, the First Ward Democratic Town Council candidate, discussed this week his door-to-door campaign in the ward.

"I am out there meeting the voters, discussing issues of importance and getting their opinions," Mr. LaPorta said. "I have been giving this campaign my all since the week before Labor Day, spending very weekend in this effort. I hope to be successful. I have to work harder than my opponent since he is backed by a well-financed and organized political machine, but I hope my work will pay off."

"Many residents have commented this is the first time someone seeking a seat on the Town Council has taken the time to visit them and discuss the issues," he added. "This is democracy in action. For too long the residents of the First Ward have been taken for granted by the political machine that I am running against. The old boy system, which we know all too well, has not been concerned with voter input since they were the only game in town. I'm hoping to chage that."

"The residents of the First Ward are concerned about the future of Westfield. They are alarmed the council has raised the tax rate 37 per cent in 1992 and will increase the tax rate by 263 per cent by 1995. The voters want solutions not finger pointing and excuses," Mr. LaPorta said.

"I have discussed ways to control spending and cage this uncontrolled beast of tax hikes which the Town Council has promised us. We must first perform a bottom-up review of the budget to cut out waste and duplication. Then we must use competition wherever possible to benefit the taxpayers," he noted.

"Many residents remember I was the leading voice for competition in the way the town purchased its own insurance coverages. I fought the political bosses that enjoyed a cozy, non-competitive system," the Democratic hopeful said. "Insurance is the second largest fixed item in the town's budget."

On other issues, the candidate went on to say, "Most residents of the First Ward agree we need a Spring Clean Up Day for household items. I will fight for this if elected," he added. "Also, I have felt the frustration of the voters over the high cost of trash disposal. This must be addressed by the council and I will take this on."

Finally, Mr. LaPorta said, "Citizens want Westfield to remain a nice place in which to live and bring up a family. I am committed to protecting the overall character of our town."

Mrs. DeMarco to Conduct Management Skills Seminar

Mrs. Annemarie Bridgeman DeMarco of Westfield will conduct a seminar entitled Management Skills for Support Staff sponsored by the Support Center of New Jersey.

The center is a charitable concern dedicated to strengthening non-profit organizations by providing high-quality, low-cost management training.

Mrs. Annemarie Bridgeman DeMarco

The nine-minute workshop is part of the center's Lunchtime Series and provides support staff members with the tools necessary to effectively manage time, projects and clients, according to Mrs. DeMarco.

Mrs. DeMarco drew heavily from her work in both the private and public sector in developing this seminar.

An employee of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company since 1986, she has held management positions in employee communications, operations, marketing and data systems.

She has received numerous awards, from the firm's Rose, for increasing operational effectiveness, to its Golden HARP (Honors and Recognition Program) Award for editorial excellence in the development of a corporate newsletter.

Her copyrighted work, Assessing and Improving Not-for-Profit Performance, has been used by hundreds of charities in the greater metropolitan area, she said.

In March Mrs. DeMarco received communications award from the United Way of Morris County for her efforts in managing a United Way campaign for her firm. HALLOWEEN SAFETY TIPS

- Have a parent or older brother or sister go trick-or-treating with you.
- Never travel alone.
- Tell your family which streets you'll be trick-or-treating on.
- Cross only at corners.
- If there's no sidewalk, walk facing traffic.

Automobile Club Offers Safety Tips for Halloween

Halloween can mean danger for children unless parents and drivers take special precautions, according to the New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety.

"Halloween brings out costumed children who are often too excited to look both ways before crossing the street," Paul Kielblock, the club's Safety Manager said. "Dark costumes make trick-or-treaters difficult to see. Worse yet, ill-fitting masks obstruct vision so children can't always see oncoming cars."

The foundation offers these Halloween safety tips for drivers, children and parents:

- Drivers should be extra alert for children darting out from between parked cars. Turn on headlights at the first sign of dusk and take extra care when backing out of driveways.
- With so many children on the streets, a right turn on red can be dangerous, so slow down and watch out. Driving five to 10 miles under the speed limit in residential areas gives drivers and children a margin of safety.
- Children should trick-or-treat while it's still light and wear comfortable, light-colored costumes that make it easy to walk, see and be seen. Carry a flashlight and trim costumes with special reflective tape that shines brightly in headlights.
- Always trick-or-treat on well-lit streets. Never dart out from between parked cars. Walk on the sidewalk or, if one isn't available, walk facing traffic and as close to the curb as possible.
- Parents, be sure to enlarge eye holes on masks and have children remove masks before crossing the street. Better yet, encourage them to wear makeup instead of a mask.
- Accompany children or send an older brother or sister along. If someone can't go, youngsters should trick-or-treat in a group and tell you in advance what street they plan to haunt.

With just a few simple precautions, children will have a devilishly fund — and safe — Halloween.

Republican Trio Promises New Fiscal Responsibility

In recapping their views on the issues facing Union County government today, Republican Freeholder candidates, Mrs. Linda DiGiovanni of Union, Paul O'Keeffe of Plainfield and Victor Trzesniowski of Westfield, agreed fiscal responsibility is the No. 1 priority.

Other vital issues set forth by the three candidates include the promotion of worker re-training under the Private Industry Council, better control of the Union County Utilities Authority by the Freeholder Board and a business-like approach to county government including long-term planning.

Mrs. DiGiovanni said, "We plan to take fiscal control of county government by reducing administrative overhead and re-enforcing controls on insurance, county cars, salary ranges and the past misspending by Democrats of tax dollars for property and buildings intended for county use."

"Since the Republican Party regained majority status on the Freeholder Board last January, they have sought to bring government back to a business type of base," continued Mrs. DiGiovanni, a Credit Manager for a local construction company.

"Our opponents," she added, "who are incumbent Democrats that were swept in with the Florio landslide, have neither supported reform efforts led by Republicans nor sought to undo the problems created by their own party in the late 1980s."

Mr. O'Keeffe, a former Plainfield Mayor and Freeholder, agreed "Fiscal responsibility in our county government is primary if we are to function efficiently in the 1990s."

He added, "It is essential a town the size of Plainfield facing the challenges of an urban environment once again has its own representation of the Freeholder board, and I will provide that representation."

"The fact the tax levy decreased from 67.8 per cent in 1990 to 59.7 per cent in 1992 under Republican control," commented Mr. Trzesniowski, a Westfield businessman, "demonstrates the fiscally-conservative approach of the Republican majority."

"I am committed to keeping budgets in line with very minimal tax increases if any at all," he concluded.

Councilman Jenkins Backs Paving Projects

Councilman Gary G. Jenkins, running for reelection in the Third Ward in the Tuesday, November 3, General Election, described the efforts of himself and fellow ward Councilman Kenneth L. MacRitchie in arranging for various street paving and curbing projects.

According to Councilman Jenkins, a street without curbs can receive full-width paving and granite-block curbing if a majority of the homeowners on he block petition the town for such paving and curbing and if the petition is approved by the Town Council.

Following completion of the project, the cost of the project is divided between the town and the adjoining homeowners; a homeowner's payments, billed as special tax assessments, can be spread out over a maximum of five years at a specified interest rate.

"Splitting the cost of a project between the town and the adjoining homeowners is a very equitable method of funding a project," he said.

Councilman Jenkins cited the role of himself and Councilman MacRitchie in arranging for the approval of the paving and curbing projects on the 800 and 900 blocks of Columbus Avenue, the 100 block of Marlboro Street and the 1700 block of Boulevard.

He also noted pending petitions submitted by the homeowners of Stoneleigh Park, Pearl Street, Washington Street between Carleton and Boulevard, Welch Way and Wyoming Street, and noted he and Councilman MacRitchie would recommend approval of these petitions.

Replacement of existing concrete curbs with granite-block curbs where no paving work is involved, explained Councilman Jenkins, also could be initiated by a petition of a majority of homeowners on a block. Following approval by the council and completion of the project, the project cost would be split between the town and the adjoining homeowners.

Councilman MacRitchie, while serving on the Union County Community Development Revenue Sharing Committee, arranged for the paving and curbing of Stirling Place by means of a federal block grant, in view of the street's eligibility for block-grant funding, Councilman Jenkins said.

Man Held in Injury To Town Patrolman

A Cacciola Place resident was held in the Mountainside Municipal Jail in lieu of $2,000 bail on charges of aggravated assault, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest Wednesday after he allegedly held a crowd at bay, threatened to kill them and injured Westfield Patrolman William Moffett.

According to police reports, the man, Kevin Smith, was screaming obscenities and waving his arms with a package in his hand at a crowd which had gathered on Cacciola Place Wednesday night. Then Patrolman Moffett arrived while Smith was threatening to kill anyone who came near him.

He then threw the package, containing what appeared to be a glass bottle, to the ground, where it shattered, and he began walking toward the crowd, threatening to kill them.

When Patrolman Moffett attempted to arrest Smith and retrieve the package, the man allegedly struck the officer in the chest with his shoulder, and both men were knocked to the ground when Smith reportedly tried to resist arrest further.

After other town police officers arrived, Smith was subdued, according to the reports. Patrolman Moffett was then taken to an emergency medical center in Clark to be treated for knee injuries.

IN THE LEAD...The Blue Devils' Mike Cort shows the style which has helped him jump into the lead on the team in goals and total points this season.

Mike Cort's Proving He Can Make His Mark

By ERIC RUBIN
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Senior striker Mike Cort is having an All-State season so far for the Westfield Blue Devil soccer team. Mike has scored 14 goals and has recorded three assists in 13 games to date.

Cort leads the team in goals scored and total points with 16.

Most people wonder where this goal-scoring ability came from all of a sudden.

In Cort's first year on varsity, his sophomore year, he scored 11 goals. That ranked second on the team. That year was a rebuilding year for the booters.

Last year, Mike did not get as much playing time as he had hoped due to an early-season illness which kept him out of play for a couple of weeks.

Cort tallied three goals last year, all of which came in one game. He scored those goals in the first round of the state tournament against Roselle Park. That win for Westfield propelled them into the next round of play, which eventually led to Westfield's Group No. 4 state championship.

When asked about last year's limited playing time Mike responded, "My illness came at a bad time, and the team was clicking with its starting lineup. There was nothing I could do it to change it. I really was down on myself because of last year's performance. I am just glad I got that opportunity to help the team in the state tournament."

However, this year is a completely different story for Mike Cort. He is averaging at least one goal a game and is being recognized by all the high school teams that play Westfield as the one to either watch carefully or maybe even double team.

Coach George Kapner stated earlier in the season, "Mike has been conditioning all summer by playing the basketball summer league; he looks trim, muscular and in great shape."

Hopefully Cort will continue to keep up his frenzy of scoring and keep his team in contention for a second straight state championship.

Cort said, "This year I had something to prove to myself, to Westfield and to the team."

Field Hockey Squad Wins Three on Week

By CATIE ROBINSON
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield Field Hockey Team continued its success this past weekend with two wins and one tie.

Friday afternoon Westfield met Kent Place at home. The resulting score was Westfield, 3; Kent Place, 0.

Alison Konet started the scoring off. A crossing pass sent by Diana Daniel was helped out by Laura Cashman and passed to Ali Konet, putting the ball past the goalie. This is Konet's fifth goal of the season.

A few minutes into the second half, Erin Allebaugh passed the ball to Jen Swarzenbek who hit it in. With only five seconds left in the game Antonia Ugenti scored for Westfield, sealing the victory.

On Saturday, Westfield played in the quarter-final game of the county tournament. The game was against David Brearley of Kenilworth at home. Westfield once again came out on top. The final score was 4 to 0. The first goal was scored by Cashman, assisted by Ugenti.

With 12 minutes left in the first half, Swarzenbek scored her eighth goal of the season off of a pass by Allebaugh. Then Allebaugh scored one for herself. She was at the top of the circle and drove the ball right into the corner of the cage.

With 11 minutes left in the second half, Daniel scored her eighth goal of the season from a cross pass by Allebaugh. This game was one of the best-played games of the season with a solid effort by the team as they fine-tuned their skills and their rhythm of playing and passing.

Monday, Westfield played Cranford at Cranford. The game ended in a 0-0 tie. Westfield had more than 15 shots on goal and 12 penalty corners. With only two minutes left in the game, a stroke was awarded to Westfield.

Allebaugh's effort was just off to the left of the goal cage. With just seconds left a stroke was then awarded to Cranford. It bounced off the goal and bounced out.

The defense was consistent in its fine play throughout the game, led by Catie Robinson, Heather Pusich, Bridget Keegan, Cathy Clabby and Allison Yockel. Megan O'Brien put in a solid performance as she defended the goal, especially during the last minutes of play.

Westfield will face Summit on Saturday for the semi-final round of the county tournament.

United Force Puts Damper on Storm

In the Boys' Division No. 4 soccer game on Sunday against Summit Storm, Westfield's United Force weathered the storm to come out on top and register their second victory of the season.

During the first half, United Force pelted the Summit keeper with countless shots-on-goal, including three from Erik Schoenemann, one from Andrew Elken and one from Patrick Tuohy. The defensive wall created by right full back Tuohy, sweeper Nike Tricarico, and goalie Richard Meyer held back the Storm to keep the score at 0-0.

In spite of several spectacular saves by United Force goalie Mike Kivetz, Summit Storm scored a goal early in the second half. But the Storm wasn't strong enough to dampen the spirits of United Force.

The Westfield team responded as Brian Kempe delivered the ball to Erik Flinne who scored to tie the game.

Tricarico came close to scoring the next goal when he delivered a shot that hit the goal post. United Force went on to win the game on a corner kick from Elken to Mike Brunhofer to stopper Andrew Pierpan, who kicked a goal high over the keeper's head.

Boys' Soccer Team Continues Unbeaten With Victory Over Cranford, Kearny Tie

By ERIC RUBIN
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield Boys' Soccer Team continued its unbeaten streak with a win over Cranford and a scoreless tie against a tough Kearny team.

In the October 13 game against Kearny, ranked eighth in the state, Westfield once again dominated the whole game.

However, they could not put the ball past the tough Kearny defense. The Blue Devils dominated in shots on goal with a 12-6 edge.

Senior goalie Marc Neinburg recorded his sixth shutout in 12 games. This was an extremely physical game and a total of four yellow cards were given out by the referees. Tow of the four were handed to junior Jimmy Corcoran. This was Westfield's second tie of the year.

In a completely different type of game against Cranford on Thursday, Westfield won a close one by the score of 2-1. Cranford scored the first goal of the game after only seven minutes had passed in the first half. A Cranford player deflected the ball of a Westfield defender which got by Neinburg to take an early lead.

Westfield pulled off a spirited come-back in the second half to thwart the Cranford effort. Senior Mike Cort scored his 14th goal of the season to knot the score at one apiece after only two minutes had expired in the first half. Senior Tony Czar got the assist.

Twenty-five minutes later, as the score remained deadlocked, senior Alexssander Tavares scored his fifth goal of the season to put Westfield ahead for good. Czar recorded his second assist of the game.

The Union County Tournament got underway last weekend. Westfield retained the No. 2 ranking only to be behind arch-rival Scotch Plains.

Westfield played Union on Tuesday.

Storm Ties Stealth, Blanks Caldwell

On Sunday at Elm Street field the Westfield Storm battled the Summit Stealth to a 2-2 tie.

The game was split, with Westfield winning the first half and Summit winning the second half.

Westfield took a 1-0 lead when fullback Ryan Schafer passed the ball to striker Matt Brinkman who shot it past the Summit keeper.

Westfield kept constant pressure on the Summit fullbacks, but was unable to convert another goal.

The town team led 1-0 at the half and the second half started the same way the first half ended with the Storm in Summit's end.

About five minutes into the second half center fullback Taylor McConnell took the ball up the middle of the field uncontested and drove it past the Summit keeper to give Westfield a 2-0 lead.

Summit kept constant pressure on the Storm's defense, but they were denied numerous times by Westfield's aggressive "D" led by sweeper Adam Yoffie supported by fullbacks Daniel Seeger and Cameron Kelly.

Keeper Griffin Maloney made some nice saves to end Summit scoring opportunities. With 10 minutes remaining in the game Summit scored to make the score 2-1 in favor of Westfield. Two minutes later Summit scored on a nice shot into the corner to tie the game. Westfield fought back with a couple of scoring chances, but was denied by the upstart Summit defense.

* * * * *

The fourth game of the season saw the Storm travel to Caldwell to play the Commandos. Westfield seemed to be in control from the opening whistle and took a 1-0 lead when McConnell scored from about 15 yards out. The rest of the first half was evenly played with both teams having opportunities to score.

The good play of fullbacks Schafer and Seeger kept the Commandos' offense at bay. Brinkman scored Westfield's second goal with just 30 seconds remaining in the half.

Westfield kept the pressure on Caldwell. This pressure resulted in two goals by right wing Kevin Mullaney to give the Storm a 4-0 lead. Westfield had many more chances to score but diving saves by Caldwell's keeper kept the score at 4-0.

Both of Westfield's keepers played outstanding — Dan Caporrio in the first half, Maloney, in the second half, to combine for the Storm's first shutout of the season.

Griffin also saved a penalty shot, his third of the season.

Westfield's record stands at 2-1-1.

Cardinals Knock Falcons From Air

A tightly played first half saw no scoring by either the Cardinals or the Falcons this weekend on soccer.

Tight defense by Kate Richlin-Zac and Megan Flynn helped stop Cardinal thrusts by Alaina Buckland and Julianne Pope in the first quarter.

Kristin Connors' goal put the Cardinals in the lead in the third quarters.

Game momentum swung back and fourth as Falcon Wendy Lin and Katie Gildea kept the pressure on the Cardinal defense.

A shot by Caitlin Nish was stopped by Cardinal goalie Stacy Bonsall saving the shutout.

Exceptional games were played by Falcon Katie Reilly and Cardinals Sarah Carpenter and Amy Seligmen to give the win to the Cardinals.

Blue Devil Girl Booters Shut Down Two Squads in a Continuing Romp

By TUCKER TRIMBLE
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Last Thursday the Blue Devils shut out Cranford 7-0. Leading the scoring was Jessica Czar, who posted two points for Westfield. Also contributing were Stacey and Lexi Tourtellotte, Nancy Shultz, Kelly Norton and Stephanie Schultz. Cranford could manage only one shot on goal during the match.

Saturday was the main event of the week as the Blue Devils blanked Livingston 3-0. The first half saw some back-and-forth play, but as Westfield settled into its game the ball was mainly in Livingston's end. It was late in the first half the dam finally burst, with Lexi Tourtellotte booting home a winner at 39 minutes and 12 seconds. Seconds later, at 39 minutes and 58 seconds, Antonia Loffredo raised the score to 2-0 to end the half.

During the second half Westfield outplayed Livingston defensively and offensively, with Lexi kicking home her second goal of the game. The game belonged to the Blue Devils with their fast running and passing game, and the physical Livingston team had to be satisfied with only four shots on goalie Amy Korchak.

After the game Suzy Folger, a sophomore striker, spoke to The Leader. This is Suzy's first year on the varsity squad, although soccer has been part of her life since she was 6. Suzy remarked on some of the changes in the lineup.

"He (Coach Pete Giordano) moved a couple of people around. I think it was good because we won three straight games this way. The first half wasn't so great, but in the second half we passed a lot. We worked on the passing game in practice," she stated.

Westfield fans had a scare as Suzy went down on the field during the game. "I got the win knocked out of me," she told The Leader. "I was going up for a header and got hit." Suzy sat out momentarily and then was back in the game.

She also commented on the season so far. "We had upsetting losses to Pingry and Union Catholic, but so far it's been good."

Westfield now has a record of 10-3. Tuesday they met Montclair. Additional games this week include Irvington today and Rahway.

* * * * *

Suzy Folger's two goals sparked the Blue Devils to a win over Montclair 5-1 on Tuesday. Kerry Humphries opened the scoring at the 12-minute mark. At 23 minutes and 41 seconds Suzy had her fist goal off an assist by Kelly Martin. Seven minutes later Suzy had a repeat with an assist by Lexi Tourtellotte. Jessica Czar clicked with her goal just before halftime and Westfield led 4-0.

Stacy Tourtellotte iced the cake at 11 minutes and 36 second into the second half, and Montclair's lone answering point ended the scoring at 5-1.

Today the Blue Devils meet Irvington, and Friday they play their quarter round of the county tournament against Rahway. Their record now stands at 11-3.

Girl Harriers Lose Out To Kearny in Ridgewood

By LAURA SILVERMAN
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield Girls' Cross Country Team felt the strengths of the Kearny team at the Ridgewood Cross Country invitational on Saturday.

The varsity and junior varsity teams performed with very competitive times, but were not able to uphold the win against Kearny.

The Varsity team saw some changes in this meet as two of the usual runners were not able to compete. Leading the varsity team for the first time together were Tri-Captains Anne Engell, Noelle Nolas and Rennie Silverstein.

Engell finished first for the team with a time of 21 minutes and 37 seconds, taking 37th place overall. Nolas completed the course just behind Engell at 21 minutes and 57 seconds for a 48th place finish.

Sophomores Lisa Citrin and Sarah Hintze ran competitive races. Citrin was up in front as usual with a 23-minutes and 37-second finish for 74th place. Hintze crossed the finish at 23 minutes and 40 seconds, taking 76th place.

Freshman Sharon Gambino, a first-time varsity runner, was able to complete the course in 24 minutes and 15 seconds to take 85th place.

Silverstein battled the flat but sandy course in 24 minutes and 33 seconds for a 93rd place finish. Sophomore Michelle Hewson was not able to finish the race due to an injury. The six finishers gave the team a score of 320 points, which was not low enough to beat Kearny, which had 260 points.

The junior varsity team was led by Freshman Xanda Martins. Martins' was able to capture 47th place with a time of 24 minutes and 37 seconds.

Finishing next was junior Laura Silverman, who completed the course in 24 minutes and 53 seconds for a 52nd place finish.

Sophomore Rebecca Stavenick had a strong finish, taking 54th place with a time of 25 minutes and 1 second.

Freshman Laurel Osterhaus was able to finish the course in 25 minutes and 34 seconds for 59th place. Sophomore Jennifer O'Brien crossed the finish line at 26 minutes and two seconds for a 69th place finish.

Junior Janna Chemitz took 70th place with a time of 26 minutes and 126 seconds. The Junior Varsity Team was able to capture an eighth place finish overall out of 20 teams.

Coach Thomas Hornish was not pleased with the loss against Kearny.

Although the varsity team ran competitively, it suffered from the absence of seniors Kelly Gandy and Emily Gleason.

However, the team still has an undefeated dual-meet record and remains confident the loss will not interfere with continued success this season.

Boy Harriers Capture Fifth in Ridgewood Meet

By ADAM BARCAN
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Finishing third among New Jersey teams, the Westfield Boys' Varsity Cross-Country Team took fifth place of over 30 teams with 178 points in the Varsity "B" race of Saturday's Ridgewood Invitational in Ridgewood.

As St. Anthony's of Long Island dominated the race, the Devils finished a mere 23 points behind second-place West Morris.

Adding to the accomplishment, Westfield competed with senior Co-Captain and No. 2 runner Chris Demasi lost to a foot injury.

Without the usual company of his Co-Captain Matt Gorbaty led the harriers by placing 17th of over 150 runners in 17 minutes and 12 seconds.

Also earning Top 40 medals, junior Andy Ruggiero and sophomore Ted Kilcommons followed in 17 minutes and 25 seconds and 17 minutes and 38 seconds to place 27th and 39th, respectively.

Ten seconds back, sophomore Don Cambria crossed the line in 44th place, while junior Jim Nicoll made an impressive varsity debut to place 51st in 17 minutes and 50 seconds. Junior Geoff North trailed 17 seconds behind in the 61st position, while sophomore Adam Barcan followed, 72nd overall, in 18 minutes and 15 seconds.

"We really eased the loss of Demasi," said Nicoll, "and everyone's times were good considering the awful course. it was quite narrow, and one part was covered in soft sand, which made for bad footing to slow you down."

Led by junior Rich Kostro, who placed 16th in 18 minutes and 34 seconds over the five-kilometer course, the junior varsity squad took third place with 146 points.

Junior Neil Sharma followed his teammate 37 seconds behind in 39th place. Once again, St. Anthony's easily won as they swept the top five places.

Lawrence Ho and Adam Borchin, fifth and 12th respectively, paced the freshmen to a fourth-place finish. Ho covered the 1.55-mile course in eight minutes and 30 seconds, while Borchin trailed 18 seconds behind.

With the invitational season over, the harriers prepare for the upcoming championships.

First on the schedule is the Watchung Conference meet Saturday in Warinanco Park in Elizabeth.

According to Coach Jack martin, Westfield looks to match last year's varsity, junior varsity and freshman titles to gain momentum for the following week's state sectionals.

Junior Varsity Booters Top Kearny, Livingston

The Westfield Junior Varsity Girls' Soccer Team dominated the Kearny team on Wednesday, outshooting them 16-2, for a 3-0 win, so goalies Sara MacConnell and Alexie Burnett had a relatively quiet day.

As usual, the fullback corps of Andrea Duchek, Kim Cross, Laura Lombardi and Liz Kozub kept from getting too near the Westfield nets.

The Blue Devils opened the scoring when halfback Andee Moore timed a run into open space and got a beautiful cross from striker Joanna Rulf and tapped it into the nets. Striker Emily Dexter got the second goal of the half when Moore put a lead pass behind the Kearny fullback and Dexter slammed it home.

The Westfield halfback corps of Lisa Steirman, Sydney Barrows, Laurie Richardson and Karin Rosen kept the Kearny team bottled into their end of the field for the remainder of the half.

Striker Erin Murphy, Michelle Cort, Jill Baker, Tara Miller, Beth Muggeo and Maura Triarsi all kept pressure on the Kearny goalie. In the second half, halfback Moore took a cross from Cort and slammed it home for the final tally.

* * * * *

Westfield probably played its best game of the season in the 3-0 win over Livingston as the passing attack really rolled into high gear. Halfbacks Barrows, Richardson, Rosen and Moore kept their strikers well provided with opportunities on the Livingston goalie.

Striker Baker took a cross from linemate Triarsi to put Westfield on the board at the 15-minute mark.

Murphy hit a beautiful lead pass into the goalmouth area and Triarsi slammed it past a screened goalkeeper. The defense gave Livingston no shots on goal during the game, so MacConnell and Burnett record their sixth shutout of the year. Tri-Captain Duchek, Steirman, Laura Vidovitch, Cross, Lombardo and Kozub turned back almost every attempt before Livingston could cross midfield.

Halfbacks Rosen, Barrows, Moore and Richardson drove the Livingston defender crazy either by coming in and shooting themselves or leading their strikers with some great through passes.

The second half continued the Westfield domination as strikers Miller, Dexter, Muggeo, Jenna Cereflce and Terry Milonette all had chances to score. Dexter took a great cross from linemate Cort to score at the 28-minute mark and close out the game.

Westfield opened up its defense for the Union County championship with a game against Union Catholic on Monday and then came back to play Montclair on Tuesday and will finish the week against Irvington today.

Gymnasts Spin Out Three Wins for Week

By KIM MUSLER
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield High School gymnasts attained three victories during the past week.

The first competition was against Columbia last Wednesday. The toughest Westfield lineup competed because Columbia also is a very accomplished team.

Megan Clarke vaulted; Dana Fizzell competed on the vault, balance beam and in the floor exercise, Dana Fahey was seen on the floor, and Regan Lenehan on the beam.

Both Dana and Regan tied for third place on the bars with a score of 7.60.

The two all-around competitors were Fill Smith and Sara Rosenblatt. Jill captured first place on bars, and second place on vault. Both competitors tied for second on beam, and on floor Jill took second place and Sara third.

The final score was Westfield, 96.35; Columbia, 91.15.

The second victory for the Blue Devils was on Friday at a home meet against Elizabeth. Coach Ellen Kovac put a large variety of competitors on the line since the meet would not be a great challenge for Westfield.

Both Kerry Capone and Amy Jenkins competed for the first time this season. Amy handspringed over the vault and Kerry performed on beam. Melika Harris vaulted. Brandi Kovac also vaulted and additionally did bars, as well as Julie Parker.

Megan competed in all events except vault, and placed first on bars. Regan came in first on vault and second on floor. Dana Fahey won the beam and floor events, and reached second on bars.

Sisters Justine and Katherine Moncrief also competed. Justine was seen on floor, and Katherine on beam.

The final total was Westfield — 86.60, and Elizabeth — 64.15.

Lastly, the gymnasts had a win over Dayton Regional on Monday night. A very strong Blue Devils lineup competed with the hope the team would score their record high for the season.

Sara and Jill were all-around competitors. Megan competed in vault and floor, and Fizzell on vault and beam. Regan was seen on the bars and the beam. Two competitors competed on one event each; Dana Fahey was on bars, and Brandi on the floor.

The final outcome was Westfield, 94.7, and Dayton, 60.1.

Redskins Defeat 49ers in Soccer

After a scoreless first half, the Redskins scored two second-half goals to defeat the 49ers 2-0 in a Division No. 4 soccer game at Jefferson.

David Zorn scored from 18 yards out on a loose-ball scramble after a corner kick by Chip Benisch.

Chip scored a hustling goal on a good crossing pass by Adam Feinberg.

Strong defense keyed the victory. Solid play at halfback, stopper and goal by Chad Puschel as well as a solid effort at forward and halfback by Shingo Hayashida led the way.

However, it was a total team effort. Evan Lee at fullback, along with Andrew Pikademy and Andrew Olson.

Brian Ludlum and Daniel Green hustled all over the field making plays.

Excellent and outstanding plays were made by Allan and Peter Yu.

'A' Football Players Top Springfield 34-13

The Westfield Police Athletic League "A" Football Team improved its record to 3-0-1 with a 34-13 victory over Springfield.

Following a fumble recovery by Brendan Hickey Westfield drove 50 yards to its first score.

Big gains on running plays by Kevin Dowling and Mark Juelis, with gaping holes opened by the offensive line, moved the ball down the field for the score with Juelis carrying the last 12 yards.

The Springfield offense had its next possession stopped by an interception at the Westfield 10-yard line by Johnnie Faggins. Westfield was unable to move the ball and punted. Mike Urciuoli then recovered a fumble on the next play. Westfield was moving the ball when an errant pitch ended the dive. Juelis then intercepted a pass over the middle and returned it 35 yards for a touchdown.

On its next possession Westfield quarterback Billy Ganun completed passes to Bill Hedden and Mike Urciuoli before Dowling ran a sweep to the left 30 yards for the third touchdown. Faggins connected for the extra point.

On Springfield's next possession they broke a long run for a touchdown and the first half ended with Westfield leading 20-6.

The second half opened with a pass interception by Westfield's Jason Yarusi. Ganun then followed excellent blocking on a sweep to the right and went 40 yards for a touchdown.

Chris Guerin broke up an attempted pass. Yarusi then returned his second interception 30 yards to the Springfield eight-yard line. Robbi Jessup passed to Josh Silverstein for the score. Faggins added the conversion making the score 34-6.

Josh Silverstein recovered a fumble at the beginning of the fourth period. Westfield drove to the Springfield 11 on a 20-yard pass to Jason Murray. Murray then ran a sweep for the touchdown that was nullified on a penalty.

Springfield took over and completed a long pass for a final score and the game ended 34-13.

The offensive line of Hickey, Steve Comitini, Yarusi, Bernard Williams, James Daly and Bill Hedden dominated the line of scrimmage.

Stephen Taranto, Kevin Whalen and Mike Runfolo contributed to the blocking effort.

Fine defensive efforts were made by Tony Reggio, Dan Norton and Jesse Keiser.

Next week Westfield travels to Millburn.

* * * * *

The A team also fought to a 0-0 tie with Summit on October 11.

Westfield had two first-half scoring drives fail due to fumbles in Summit territory.

In the second half the defensive struggle continued with Summit finally mounting a scoring threat in the final minutes of the game.

Good defensive plays by Dowling and Juelis forced Summit to attempt a field goal on fourth down from the 15, but the kick failed.

Dowling led the Westfield defense with aggressive linebacking play. Good defensive efforts also were made by Comitini, pressuring the quarterback and Keiser who intercepted a pass ending a Summit drive.

Although the offense failed to score, Dowling and Juelis led the rushing attack while Ganun completed two passes to Hedden and one pass to Urciuoli.

In their first conference game Westfield defeated Cranford 16-12 in a rain-soaked effort. The defense was keyed by Yarusi's outstanding play. Dowling scored both touchdowns for Westfield after Cranford had taken an early 6-0 lead. Juelis blocked the extra-point try. Faggins provided the margin for victory as he kicked both extra points. Cranford had a last-minute touchdown to narrow the score, but again failed to convert on the extra point.

In its second game Westfield beat Scotch Plains 26-0 grinding out four touchdowns on the ground. Dowling again scored two touchdowns while Juelis and Terrance Johnson each rushed for one. Good block performances were turned in by offensive lineman Hickey, Comitini, Yarusi, Whalen and Williams as they repeatedly opened big holes for the running backs.

Hawks Team Tops Cardinals 1-0

The Hawks and Cardinals in Westfield Girls' Division No. 4 In-Town Soccer hooked up for the second time this season before a large gathering at Franklin Field on Saturday.

Neither team could gain an advantage in the opening quarter, as most of the action was controlled by the Hawks' midfielders Chris Gambino, K. C. Anthony, Pearl Shayeheviek and Rebecca Kalisher.

Early in the second quarter, Amanda O'Neill slipped through the Cardinals' defense and passed to striker Laura Kraemer who nailed a shot from just inside the 18 which sailed above the Cardinals' outstretched keeper for the game's only score.

The second half saw the Cardinals pick up the pace with Karen Cancelliere on the wing and stopper Beth Dixon leading the charge.

Hawks sweeper Christie Thompson rose to the occasion time and again, however, and assisted by a talented group of fullbacks that included Lisa Goodman, Nicole Roth, Lauren Todaro and Nicole Panza kept the Cardinals at bay.

The Cardinals' defense was paced by Sara Halderman and goalies Emily Lieberman and Stacy Benoit who stood up to constant pressure from Hawks forwards Natalie Warren, Kelsey Hill and Alana Passannanti.

Hawks keepers Ashley Rayller and Liz McKeon combined for their second consecutive shutout.

Police Athletic League 'B' Rolls Over Springfield

The Westfield Blue Devils Police Athletic League "B" Football Team ran its 1992 record to 3-1 on Sunday with a 34-12 victory over Springfield.

The Blue Devils' defense turned in its usual strong performance, shutting down Springfield's running game and completely forcing them to go to the air for their only two scores.

The powerful defensive alignment consisted of linemen Keith Boudreaux, Joe Murphy, David Mokrauer, Steve Murphy and Tom Wengerter, who together shut down the run.

The defensive secondary, consisting of Marcus Thornton, Brandon Doerr, Todd Dowling, Greg Avena, Rasheed Hawks and Jason Osborne, turned in a fine performance as well.

The real story was the Blue Devils' offensive line that took Springfield out of the game. The powerblocking by Greg Montgomery, Tom Wengerter and Mokrauer opened up huge holes for the superb running of Hawks who scored two touchdowns, and Osborne, Avena and Dowling with one touchdown each.

Quarterback Bobby Baykowski executed a great hootleg run for 40 years to the two-yard line setting up one of the touchdowns.

Strong performances also were turned in by Greg Freisen, Robbie McCullam, Tom Garcia and J.R. Young. Matt Hughes turned in his best performance of the season with four extra points.

The "B" Team travels to Millburn on Sunday, October 25.

GOLF PROCEEDS...Westfield Board of Realtors Golf Outing Chairman Robert Katz presents checks to Board President Pinky Luerssen, center, and Community Service Chairman Joan Van Bergen. The checks represent proceeds from the board's recent golf outing and are intended for the Bobby Fund for terminally or chronically ill children, the Center for Hope Hospice and the Hurricane Relief efforts in Florida, Louisiana and Hawaii.

Golf Outing Helps Raise $3,000 for Charities

Proceeds from the 30th annual Jim Davidson Memorial Golf Outing of the Westfield Board of Realtors were donated to three charitable causes.

The golf committee made a $2,000 contribution to the Bobby Fund, a fund set up by the Realtor Community Service Committee of the Board in 1988 to aid chronically or terminally ill children.

In addition, $500 was given to the Center for Hope Hospice and another $500 to the Hurricane Relief Fund for Florida, Louisiana and Hawaii.

The golf outing was held on September 28, at the Roselle Golf Club and was host to 70 golfers from the Westfield Board of Realtors, its affiliate members and friends.

The winner of the perpetual Jim Davidson trophy was Gregory Young, whose score was based on the Callaway method. The tournament and trophy are named in honor of Jim Davidson, a long-time Realtor in Westfield, who initiated and nurtured the outing for 23 years before his death.

The realtor mens' low gross trophy winner was John Crawford, while Ruth Tate received the realtor womens' low gross statue. George Kelly and Joanne Wirkowski won non-realtor low gross. Realtor low net trophies were accepted by Ed Kole and Kay Gragnano, while non-realtor low net winners were Bob Bruno and Maureen Passerini.

The closest-to-the-pin award went to Jim Flynn, while longest drives were hit by Bob Becker and Wirkowski.

Gift certificates were given to all golf awardees, but additional prizes were won by dinner guests through chances purchased during the evening. While hole and cart sponsors were an important part of the outing, much of the money raised for the charitable donations was from the raffle tickets.

The Westfield board recently made a separate donation to the Center for Hurricane Relief Effort set up by the New Jersey Association of Realtors to aid hurricane victims. All money sent to the association is given directly to those most in need, with no administrative costs deducted.

TAKING A STAND...Westfield left tackle Ron Mammano, No. 59, with the help of other teammates makes a goalline stand in the beginning of the second half in Saturday's football game against Scotch Plains which stopped the Raiders from scoring after they had advanced the entire length of the field.

Hotspurs Fizz Lightning, Chop Down Green Giants

The Hotspurs of the Westfield Soccer Association's Division No. 5 Boys Traveling Soccer League won both of its games this past weekend, advancing to the quarter finals in the State Cup Tournament by defeating the Princeton Lightning on Saturday, and then toppling the East Brunswick Green Giants on Sunday.

* * * * *

The Hotspurs thundered past the Lightning 2-1. They opened the scoring midway through the first half when they worked a throw in from Brandon Kape on the left side of the field across to center striker Xander Rothschild. After a back pass to halfback Glenn Hurley, striker Michael Farley bolted towards the goal where Hurley delivered a perfect lead pass. Farley drilled the ball past the Lightning goalie.

Early in the second half the Hotspurs made the most of a penalty kick when halfback Kape delivered a hard bouncing shot the goalie was unable to handle.

Halfbacks Brad Gillin, Greg Scanlon and Glenn Hurley had all-star performances as they won the ball at midfield to ignite an onslaught of offensive threats.

However, the Lightning came back with a renewed offense and scored a goal midway in the second half on a loose-ball volley.

Outstanding defensive plays by sweeper Conner Mulvee, stopper Matt Hall and fullbacks Evan Molloy and Greg Odachowski prevented the Lightning from striking again.

Strikers Farley and Nick Geissler had an exciting exchange of shots late in the game that nearly produced another score. Farley brought the ball down the right side of the field on a breakaway before delivering a hard shot that struck the left goal post. Striker Geissler was perfectly positioned for the rebound shot, which struck the bottom of the far right post before bouncing harmlessly away from the net.

Ryan MacDonald turned in another spectacular performance as goalie to earn the victory.

* * * * *

The second game of the weekend, a regularly scheduled match against East Brunswick, was the first time the Hotspurs were at full strength all year. They trampled the Green Giants 2-0.

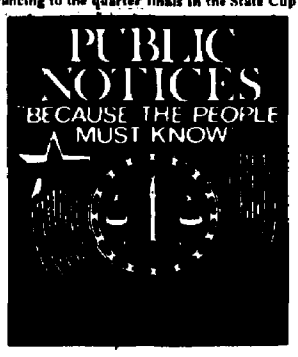
The game was barely underway before center striker Rothschild, on a pass from Farley, found the net with a line drive shot to the right of the goalie.

A few minutes later a corner kick by Brian Bottini nearly produced another goal when Mulvee's shot sailed just past the right goal post. Consistent pressure on the Green Giant defense by strikers Cam Anthony and Adam Walker produced a breakaway opportunity for center striker Rothschild. As the goalie charged out to the 18-yard line to defend against a breakaway, Rothschild lifted the ball over his head for an apparent goal.

However, an unfortunate bounce sent the ball into the left goal post where it lay motionless for a few seconds before being cleared away by the defense.

The second and final score for the Hotspurs started when fullback Odachowski carried the ball past midfield before delivering a lead pass to striker Chris Schwarz. The center pass by Schwarz was received by Geissler who volleyed the ball into the nets.

Geissler and MacDonald alternated in goal for their fourth shutout of the year.



(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.)

Devils Bounce Back 21-0 Over Raiders

By BRIAN HAMILTON
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

After a disheartening home loss to the No. 1-ranked Union Farmers, the Westfield Blue Devil football team had no time to dwell on their defeat because the next week, Saturday, brought the high-powered Scotch Plains Raiders to the Field House site for a key showdown.

Now, if you call the Blue Devils anything, call them resilient.

Senior tailback Jamal Hester carried 27 times for 147 yards with two touchdowns and the Westfield defense stymied their opponents on two goalline stands as the Blue Devils over-powered Scotch Plains, 21-0.

Hester's two scores and another touchdown by junior fullback John Mask were more than enough for the Blue Devil defense, which stood tall on the two Scotch Plains scoring threats.

"I'm very, very proud for the defense. They played up to their ability against a team (Scotch Plains) that had scored 52 points the week before," said Defensive Coordinator Ron Barner after the game. "We had a great goalline stand. I think that was the turning point, because we then put a 99-yard offensive drive together."

That stand and subsequent drive came after Scotch Plains marched 78 yards in 11 plays, only to be denied on fourth and goal at the Westfield one-yard line.

The Blue Devil offense took the ball at the one and marked 99 yards in 15 plays, capping the drive with Hester's first touchdown run, a 10-yard scamper at three minutes and 58 second of the second quarter to go 7-0.

No threats were posed until the third quarter, when Scotch Plains once again moved down to the Westfield five-yard line.

This time it was junior linebacker Steve Monniger coming up big with a sack of Raider quarterback Rameek Wright at the 10. Scotch Plains missed a fieldgoal attempt, and Westfield went on the move again.

Running all eight plays on the ground, the Blue Devils went 80 yards to score on Mask's 21-yard burst to open a 14-0 bulge with 11 minutes and 52 seconds remaining in the fourth.

On their next possession, Westfield moved the ball to the Raider 33-yard line and encountered a fourth down and three situation.

Senior quarterback Chris Infantino rolled left to pass, but instead broke it up at the sideline for a key 11-yard gain, and five plays later Hester scored his second touchdown from nine yards out to finalize the 21-0 Blue Devil victory.

Overall, pride seemed to be the predominant feeling among Blue Devil coaches.

"We played a great game. I'm very proud of our guys," said Head Coach Ed Tranchina. "It was a great performance."

The Blue Devils now will try and continue their winning ways against Newark's East Side on Saturday, the final game in a four-game homestand for Westfield.

The kickoff is at 1:30 p.m.

Blue Devil 'C' Squad Raises Win Streak to 21

The Westfield Police Athletic League "C" Football Team journeyed to Springfield on Sunday and inflicted a 27-12 defeat on the previously undefeated Minutemen.

The three-year Blue Devil unbeaten streak stretched to 21 games.

The town squad exploded for three touchdowns in the first seven minutes of play as Lamont Turner racked up almost 200 yards of total offense while scoring the three touchdowns.

The tough Devil defense of Jim Mitchel, David King, Mike McCue, Dean Ricca, Joe Saunders, Matt Daly, Maurice Boatwright, Jake Dupont, Tim Young, Greg Girisi and Pat McMahon forced Springfield to punt on its first possession.

Kevin McCormack returned the punt 25 yards and Turner scored on the first play from scrimmage on a 25-yard scamper down the right sideline. Lamont added the extra point on a sweep behind the blocking of Mike Ciuciarrelli and Brian Russo.

The Devils forced another punt and Turner quickly made the Minutemen regret it with a 65-yard gallop to paydirt. The Devils held a third time and Turner took a handoff from quarterback McCormack and raced 60 yards for his third touchdown of the quarter. Tightend Boatwright made a beautiful catch of a halfback option pass from Turner for the conversion and the Devils led 20-0 at the quarter.

Westfield first-year defensive players Joe Robinson, Eric Encarnacion, Mike Mroz, Mike Duelks, Kevin Farina, Eric Boger, Robert Hwang, Tony Constantino and Sergio Vilafane played well as they held Springfield to one touchdown in the second quarter.

McCormack closed out the scoring for Westfield with a 60-yard run around the right end in the fourth quarter.

Bruising fullback Chris Giacone slammed up the middle for the extra point to make the final score 27-12.

The Blue Devils take their act on the road again next week at Millburn to start the second half of the season.

Mr. Campbell Outlines Platform for Campaign

"My campaign is a no-nonsense initiative to bring hard work, efficiency, honesty and engineering talent to Washington," William Campbell of Green Brook, an independent candidate for Representative in the Seventh District, which includes Westfield, said.

"The main issue of our campaign is the faltering economy. The key to economic resurgence is to bring back our jobs manufacturing automobiles and electronics," he said. "When we make better automobiles and better electronics in America at the better price, then Americans will buy American-made products. I am an engineer. I know about manufacturing, automobiles and electronics. We can make the better automobiles and electronics in America. I know we can."

Teamwork, determination and leadership from Washington are needed, according to the candidate.

Key conditions now present that give much strength to his campaign are:

- Consumers want the better products built in America.
- Ross Perot is back in the Presidential race. He performed very well in the debate on October 11. He creates potential for other independents.
- Matthew J. Rinaldo, the 20-year incumbent, has withdrawn.
- Voters are dissatisfied with the big parties and are looking to "send a message to Washington."

Mathematics, rightly viewed, possesses not only truth, but supreme beauty—a beauty cold and austere, like that of sculpture, without appeal to any part of our wider nature, without the gorgeous trappings of painting or music, yet sublimely pure, and capable of a stern perfection such as only the greatest art can show.

Board Okays New Sign For Gap

In other business, Edward A. Bonner of Higgins and Bonner, Inc. appeared before the board to request approval for a site plan at 582 Springfield Avenue.

Mr. Bonner, who will convert the First Fidelity Bank building into quarters for a funeral home, was represented by attorney David Russell.

In July the board granted a use variance to Mr. Bonner, which, Mr. Russell explained, was contingent upon the submission of a site plan.

Mr. Bonner, during questioning by Mr. Russell, explained he was trying to create a traditional type of image by taking a "sleek, modern building" and changing its aesthetics.

Mr. Bonner added columns and canopies would be added, the texture of the building would be changed and parking configuration modifications would be made.

Concerning the parking situation, Mr. Bonner said there would be less blacktop area, and only one driveway on one side of the building. He also explained the funeral vehicles would be able to load and still have room for 47 parking spaces.

Regarding signage, Mr. Bonner said the free-standing sign would pick up the design of the columns. He also said this sign was necessary so cars from Route No. 22 could find the funeral home.

After Mr. Bonner explained the addition of a facade on the building, which would be buffered aesthetically, Mrs. Mary D. Herberich, the board Chairman, said the board was "satisfied" as far as the facade was concerned.

During later testimony, Mr. Bonner said he was working with a time restraint. Board member, Miss Pamela S. McClure, said she would be willing to speak with the Architectural Review Board, of which she is a member.

Following Mr. Kefalonitis' motion, the application be granted with the provision the sign be four-and-half feet high, the application was granted unanimously.

Robert Long, the President of Shades of Green at 618 Central Avenue, was given permission to erect a free-standing sign.

Mrs. Herberich said, "To me you don't have any conditions that are unusual enough to make an exception for you," but as Mr. Fried mentioned, the "fact remained" there already were several free-standing signs in the area. Mr. Kefalonitis said if the provision were made the sign be removed upon termination or relocation of the business then he would vote to allow the sign to be built.

Finally, with three provisions delineated by board Attorney Robert Cockren, that the free-standing sign be the only front sign, that the sign on the side be no more than 12 square feet and, if the applicant moves, the sign must be removed, the board voted to grant Mr. Long permission to erect the free-standing sign.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Cass of 826 Summit Avenue, who were asked to return with revised plans, presented plans for an addition to their home which entailed 23 per cent lot coverage, rather than the previous 24.5 per cent coverage.

Mrs. Herberich said even the new revision "makes a bigger house on this piece of property than other people can have."

Yet during testimony, Mr. and Mrs. Cass noted a town-owned lot existed behind the house, and the board once again asked Mr. and Mrs. Cass to return pending investigation of this matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hatfield of 454 Edgewood Avenue, who plan to extend the kitchen part of their house and to construct a wooden platform deck, were granted a variance to build.

The board next convenes on Monday, November 16.

Drug Counseling Topic of Seminar

"Individual Counseling" will be the topic of a two-part seminar to be held on Thursday and Friday, November 5 and 6, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. by the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence of Union County at its office at 300 North Avenue East, Westfield.

Taught by the Co-Director of Discovery Counseling Center in Millburn, the course is $80 and earns participants 12 credit hours toward counselor certification or recertification.

Museum Will Feature Bobbin-Lace Making

The Miller-Cory House Museum, at 614 Mountain Avenue, Westfield, will feature bobbin-lace making and open-hearth cooking on Sunday, October 25, from 2 to 5 p.m. The last tour will begin at 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Mary Jane Allen of Berkeley Heights will demonstrate the craft of bobbin-lace making. This type of lace is created on a pillow form and requires great patience.

Mrs. Allen will have examples of hand-made bobbin-lace and a variety of decorative bobbins, used for holding the threads, many of which she has designed.

Early cooking methods and fireside tasks can be seen in the Frazee building, located near the farmhouse. Tours of the pre-revolutionary home will be conducted throughout the afternoon. All museum volunteers dress in authentic costumes and invite questions about life in early New Jersey.

It was at this time of year farmers "drove" their bees for their honey. The 1802 inventory of Joseph Cory lists "one hive of bees."

In addition to honey, bees provided candle wax and pollinated the orchards.

Visitors will have the opportunity to stop in the Museum Shop, also open from 2 to 5 p.m., as well as tour the grounds and gardens.

Those wishing further information about the museum and its programs may telephone the office at 232-1776.

READY TO SERVE...Mrs. Annamarie Kostler of Westfield, left, and Mrs. Ann Douglas, both of the Museum Cooking Committee of the Miller-Cory Museum of Westfield, are ready to greet visitors in the Frazee building where open-hearth cooking is demonstrated.

HOME SEEKER...On Saturday, October 24, a New Leash on Life of Maplewood will make a repeat visit to Nomahegen Park in Cranford with over 30 dogs and cats for adoption from local shelters from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. All prospective new owners will be screened before placement. One of those available for adoption is Arley, an 11-month-old water spaniel who is housebroken. He can be seen before or on the date of the event. There will be dogs of all ages, 4 months old and up, with many housebroken and trained. All shots will have been given at the time of adoption and prospective owners will be asked to use the group's low-cost spay and neuter services to have each pet altered within two months of adoption.

Overlook Hospice To Hold Reunion

A 15th anniversary reunion celebration for Overlook Hospice in Summit will be held on Wednesday, November 4, at 6 p.m. The event, which also will help mark November as National Hospice Month, will be held in the Arts Center at Kent Place School in Summit.

Aside from serving as a reunion for families of Hospice patients, volunteers and employees, it is also hoped prospective volunteers or those considering hospice for a member of their family, will attend to learn more about the programs' philosophy, a spokesman said.

You can learn something from everything. Everything can teach us something, and not only everything God has created. What man has made has also something to teach us. What can we learn from a train? That because of one second one can miss everything. And from the telegraph? That every word is counted and charged. And the telephone? That what we say here is heard there.

Knowing How Spine Works Can Improve Health

By KENNETH J. CIARROCCA
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Because October is Spinal Care Month, a working knowledge of how your spine operates your body will be instrumental in obtaining optimum health benefits.

Your spinal column is your lifeline. It provides the structural foundation for the master control system of your entire body.

Basic Functions

Your spine is composed of 24 movable vertebrae, joints, and nine fixed vertebrae which form an S-curve. These vertebrae are wide and sturdier at the middle and lower back to support your center of gravity. They narrow at the neck where less weight is carried.

These vertebral bones, along with the muscles and tissues which connect and stabilize them, provide the framework which keeps you upright.

The spinal cord is an extension of your brain which runs through a canal in the center of the spine. Within this cord are millions of bundles of nerves which branch out of holes between the vertebrae called the foramina. The information which is sent and received from the brain controls and coordinates your body's organs, systems, functions and cells.

When the Spine Is Misaligned

If any of the vertebrae that protect the spinal cord happen to slip or twist out of line, the size or shape of the opening where the nerves come through can change. This is a condition known as vertebral subluxation. When the size or shape of the foramina (opening) changes, it can result in pressure, obstruction or irritation to the nerve and related tissues and organs.

Chronic muscular contraction or spasms and tension also can alter the flow of the normal nerve supply. When this happens, the organs, glands and tissues which depend upon the nerve supply may be adversely affects. Impaired nerve flow often causes pain, loss of function and even disease.

Clearing the Way to Health

The science of chiropractic care is based on the importance of maintaining an unhampered flow of information from the brain through the nerves of the spinal column out into every cell of the body.

The chiropractor is specially trained to recognize and correct structural or muscular interference with the spine's intricate pathway and the integrity of the nervous system.

St. Helen's Celebrates With Fund for Needy

The Roman Catholic Church of St. Helen in Westfield, to commemorate its 25th jubilee has announced the establishment of a special fund to help those in need "in thanksgiving for the many blessings bestowed upon the parish," according to the Right Reverend Monsignor James B. Burke, the Pastor.

The amount will be $25,000, representing $1,000 for each of its 25 years, Monsignor Burke added.

The fund is sort of a tithing in reverse and no present programs will be superceded, and no extra collections will be requested.

The money will come from a percentage of each Sunday's collection during the anniversary year.

September 13 was the official start of the fund and it will be completed by June 13 of next year, according to the Pastor.

Since its beginning St. Helen's has been committed to extending a hand to those who need it.

"Helping Hands and Hearts" administered by Miss Marilyn Ryan, the Pastoral Assistant, was among one of the first programs established to administer assistance to the poor and needy.

The monthly "Inner City" collection is another program which, on a monthly basis, is aimed at helping inner-city needs. Both programs are supported by parishioners who besides money fill the baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas with turkeys, food, clothing and toys.

It is because St. Helen's parishioners have so generously and consistently cooperated in providing for the needs of the parish that no "special" collections, pledges or donations will be required to support his jubilee fund, the Monsignor said.

"During this year of celebration we will have the chance to give back and show our thanks," he added.

Fred Nelson, a Trustee of the church and the Chairman of the fund committee, which will research and administer the fund, said the accent will be placed on the needs of the poor and the homeless and donations are not limited to the parish.

Distributions will be made several times during the year, perhaps during the holidays. They will be completed by June. Periodic reports will be made in the parish bulletin and the committee will keep parishioners informed about committee proceedings and determinations during the year, Mr. Nelson noted.

East Side Stuns Boys' Harriers

In a disappointing dual meet on Tuesday, Newark East Side stunned the Westfield High School Boys' Cross Country 26-28 over the five-kilometer Branch Brook Park course in Newark.

Devil scorers included second-place Matt Gorbaty in 16 minutes and 35 seconds, Ted Kilcommons 33 seconds back in fourth place, Don Cambria in a sixth-place 17 minutes and 14 seconds, Adam Barcan a place behind in 17 minutes and 22 seconds and Geoff North 16 seconds back in 10th place.

Frank W. Woolworth once told me that the turning-point in his career did not come until he was thrown flat on his back by illness. He was sure that his business would go to pieces during his forced absence. Instead, he discovered that he had in his employ men who could overcome difficulties when given power to exercise initiative. After that Woolworth left many problems and difficulties to be solved by subordinates and turned his attention to big things.

Columbia Team Knocks Netters From Tourney

By KELLY FEENEY
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield Girls' Tennis Team suffered a disappointing second-round loss in the state tournament to Columbia on Tuesday, by a score of 4-1.

At first singles, Westfield's Liz Ryu faced Marjorie Gantman, the state's No. 1 seed. Gantman won the match with scores that would indicate any easy victory, 6-0, 6-0, however, the match was much closer than the scores show.

According to Ryu, "In the second set a lot of the games reached deuce and I had some chances, but I just couldn't convert on the big points."

At second singles, Gloria Ko played solid tennis, but in the end could not sustain Amy Conway and lost 3-6, 2-6. Jessica Burley, the senior Co-Captain playing third singles, played a solid game in the second set against Mindy Jaffe, but in the end was too late. Burley lost by a score of 4-6, 5-7.

At first doubles, the team of Jessica St. Clair and Lauren Kazanoff played smart tennis to win the first set, but had trouble clinching the victory and succumbed to Traci Price and Stella Costelli 7-5, 4-6, 0-6. The sole victory for Westfield was won by the second doubles team of Kristen Aquila and Sarah Tirone who had no trouble eliminating Becky Gullin and Jaime Pew 6-1, 6-2.

In other matches of the week, Westfield defeated West Orange in the first round of the state tournament along with defeating Rahway and Cranford in regular season competition.

Against West Orange, Westfield managed to dominate and posted a 4-1 victory. Victories were recorded as the three singles players defeated their opponents with relative ease, and in the doubles the second doubles team of Aquila and Tirone came through with a three-set victory over Danielle Lambert and Amanda Bunsuage 4-6, 6-1, 6-4. The first doubles team of St. Clair and Kazanoff lost to the West Orange doubles team.

Westfield easily defeated both Rahway and Cranford 5-0, and with those two wins improved its conference record to 11-0, while its overall record standing is 11-2.

The girls played Elizabeth home yesterday, and will face Kearny at home tomorrow at 3:45 p.m. in Tamaques Park.

Music Studio Artists Teach at Redeemer Lutheran

When the school day ends at Redeemer Lutheran Day School in Westfield, several students remain behind to take instrumental music lessons with three faculty members of the Music Studio, a non-profit music school based in Fanwood.

Elmer Banks

The artists in residence are John Josa, who teaches woodwinds; Dr. Theodore K. Schlosberg, who teaches strings, and Elmer Banks, who teaches bass, piano and drums.

Dr. Schlosberg, the Director of The Music Studio, credits Rodger Borchin, the principal of Redeemer Lutheran Day School, for welcoming this partnership which has made it possible for students to have access to music lessons after school. This program, referred to as the Music Talent Education Program, offers students private and group instruction.

Both Mr. Josa and Dr. Schlosberg are music teachers in the Westfield School District and also teach privately at The Music Studio.

Mr. Banks, one of the newest members of The Music Studio faculty, teaches instrumental music in the Plainfield School District.

Mr. Banks holds a Masters in Music Degree from the University of North Carolina and has extensive performing and teaching experience. He played with the Air Force Band and now performs in churches, at wedding receptions and in jazz lounges. Many area music students know him from the Westfield Workshop for the Arts, where he taught snare drum, woodwind and brass instrument and jazz band for the past two summers.

The Music Studio is a project of the New Jersey Workshop for the Arts, which oversees the Westfield Workshop for the Arts, the Westfield Fencing Club and Union County Music Theater, under the direction of Dr. Schlosberg.

For more information on any of these programs, please telephone 322-5065.

FUND RAISER...The gift wrap sale, McKinley School's first fund-raiser, started September 30. Katherine Kielar, Lauren Steller and Daniel Clark from the first grade are busy making their sales. All proceeds from this sale will directly benefit the children at McKinley through Parent-Teacher Organization-sponsored activities, services and equipment.

Mr. Gillespie Attacks Foes on Fund-Raising

In an open letter sent registered mail over two weeks ago, Eugene S. Gillespie, Jr., an independent candidate for the Representative in the Seventh Congressional District, which includes Westfield, invited all of his opponents to join him in making this election the first in the country to be run free of political action committee money, he said.

"The other four candidates agreed, but unfortunately Assemblyman Robert D. Franks, the Republican, and Leonard R. Sendelsky, the Democratic, refused to go along. Instead they spent their time raising just this kind of dirty money — Mr. Sendelsky at the $4 million Democratic dinner spectacle in Somerset and Assemblyman Franks taking national political action committee money and planning his $500-a-head dinner," Mr. Gillespie said.

"It seems they are in a hurry selling out the Congressional seat to special-interest groups before they even have it," he added.

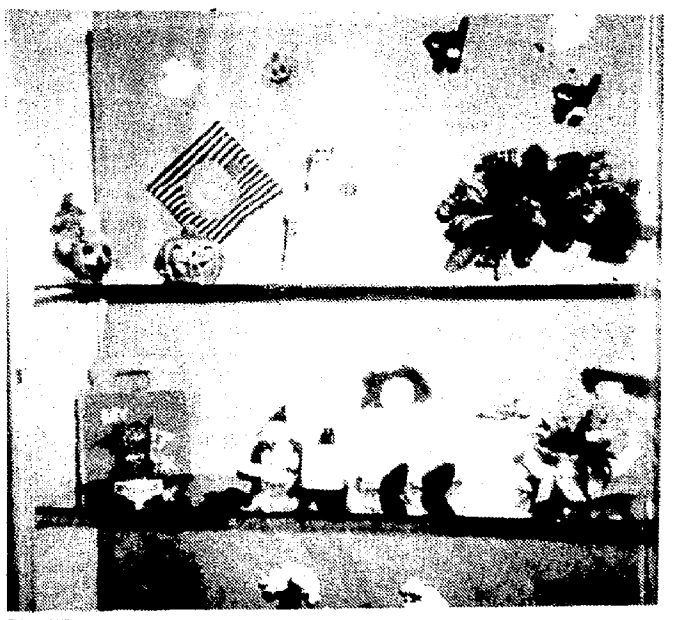
Mr. Gillespie's letter asked his opponents to join him in making the Seventh Congressional District, "the shining example to the rest of the nation in how Congressional races can be contested on the issues in full view of the voters, and without anyone selling his soul to special interests."

The other four candidates joined Mr. Gillespie in this pledge.

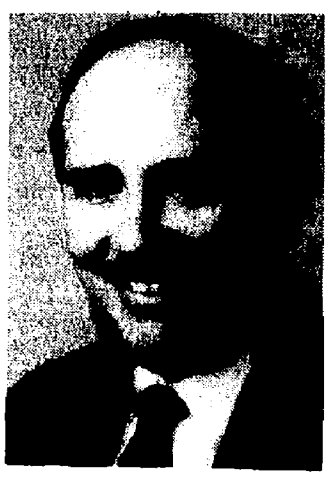
"The silence from the Republic and Democratic candidates is deafening," he added.

"It is now up to the voters of the Seventh District to take back their seat in the House of Representatives from the professional politicians and hacks and their special-interest moneymen," Mr. Gillespie said.

As the last line of Mr. Gillespie's letter stated, "Let the voters of the Seventh Congressional District of New Jersey be the first in the nation to send to Congress a person who hasn't already been bought and paid for."



CRAFTERS ON DISPLAY...The Halloween display in the showcase of the Westfield Memorial Library honors many local crafters, as well as others, whose work is available for purchase at the Little Shop on the Corner in downtown Westfield.



The Reverend James C. Colvin

Reverend Colvin Will Teach For Contact

The Reverend James C. Colvin of Westfield will lead a training session, "Sharing Your Faith," on Wednesday, October 28, for the newest class of volunteer workers for the Contact We Care Helpline of Westfield.

The purpose is to enable the listeners to understand their personal faith values and those of potential callers. Religious faith, as well as listening and communication skills, is considered a valuable resource for the workers on the telephone lines, he noted.

The Reverend Colvin is a support workers for emergencies which the volunteers may face.

The speaker, who practices psychotherapy and pastoral counseling in Westfield, is a fellow in the American Association of Pastoral Counselors, one of several groups of clergy specialists who observe National Pastoral Care Week, October 25 to 31.

The oldest person ever to run for the office of Vice President was Henry Gassaway Davis, who, with presidential candidate Alton B. Parker lost to Theodore Roosevelt and Charles W. Fairbanks in 1904 when Davis was 80.

ON FRONT BURNER...Redeemer Lutheran School kindergarteners show off the new school cookbook, Family Favorites. They are eager to try the section on children's recipes.

Redeemer School Releases Fund-Raiser Cookbook

The Parent-Teacher League of Redeemer Lutheran Day School at 229 Cowperthwaite Place, Westfield, has created a cookbook as a fund-raiser and to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the school.

The cookbook, Family Favorites, contains tried-and-true recipes submitted by families from the school and Redeemer Lutheran Church.

The book has sections on holiday recipes, health foods, children's recipes, ethnic, "Quick-Fix" and outdoor meals.

Artwork by Redeemer schoolchildren appears throughout the book.

Family Favorites costs $6 with proceeds to benefit the children through programs and equipment sponsored by the Parent-Teacher League.

The book is available at the school office and also at the Town Book Store, Woodfield's and Jeannette's on East Broad Street, at Rorden Realty on Elm Street and at Maria's Hair Forum on Prospect Street.
