COUNCILMAN-ELECT SAYS MORE OPTIONS SHOULD HAVE BEEN EXPLORED

Mayor Seeks End to Insurance Debate After Disagreement on Committee Approval

Pool Concept Will Continue to Be Investigated With Other Suburban Communities in This Area; Demolition of New Street Structure Draws Support From Most, Opposition From One Councilman

The topic of the town's insurance coverage, which has dominated both Town Council meetings and political campaigns for a number of years, once again surfaced at the December 22 council session, causing Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr. to call for an end to discussion on the issue.

The council December 22 voted to award $720,000 in contracts to three separate firms for property, marine and general liability, workers' compensation and an umbrella policy.

Prior to the vote, First Ward Councilman-Elect Anthony M. LaPorta said he was disturbed the workers' compensation premium would rise from $186,708 to $325,000 next year and added the Insurance Advisory Committee, the town's agent, Pearsall, Maben & Frankenbach, and town Insurance Consultant Hubert Farrow had not given the council the greatest amount of options in coverage.

He noted Liberty Mutual has a dividend plan which, unlike the retrospective rating plan used in the New Jersey state policy the town has decided upon for next year, would pay the town back if it had good experience and not penalize the town for bad experience

He also said the town would save with that plan because Liberty Mutual does not pay agents' commissions.

In addition, Mr. LaPorta said, like in Summit, whose ordinance West-field consulted when forming its insurance committee, this town's insurance committee should be appointed by the Mayor and the entire council and not the Mayor alone.

Third Ward Councilman Kenneth L. MacRitchie said Mr. LaPorta was giving the council the correct advice, and he hoped as a Councilman and insurance executive the incoming First Ward representative could straighten out some of the "bungling" which has been going on in the town's placing of insurance.

A comment by Councilman MacRitchie, that the reference in Summit's ordinance to the appointment of the insurance committee by the Mayor and council was taken out "in some dark corner of Town Hall" when the Westfield ordinance was drawn up, angered Mayor Boothe,

MacRitchie had been present at every discussion about the insurance committee, all of which were held at open public meetings, and former Mayor Richard H. Bagger, who would not take such actions in secret, had appointed the original committee.

He also said he rejected the contention that the Consultant and the five top insurance executives on the insurance committee had aoted incompetently.

Commenting on the workers' compensation issue, First Ward Councilman Norman N. Greco said he had heard the reason Pennsylvania Manufacturers, which covered the town through most of this year but near the end of the year dropped its coverage, was unwilling to cover Westfield because Pearsall is not an agent for that firm.

Mr. Farrow, asked to explain this year's workers' compensation procurement process, noted at a meeting in March with the Pennsylvania firm several serious town claims were discussed and action was taken to instill safer practices in town work-

He also said he had examined the records to see if Pennsylvania Manufacturers had been "loading the

In April, when the town began estimating renewal fees, he noted, the 14 per cent rate increases given by the state on workers' compensation coverage by all carriers had not been anticipated.

This, combined with an approximate 5.5 per cent increase in payroll

Curbing, Auditor Actions Tabled After Questions About Costs

Prospect Street Resident Claims Neighbors Didn't Know They Would Pay

By ROBERT R. FASZCZEWSKI

The Town Council on December 22, tabled two measures, effectively "killing" them for this year, after objections to an ordinance by a Prospect Street resident and objections to a consultant's fee by several

The tabling action, normally de-laying an action of the council until the topic is explored much further, did away with the two measures on December 22 because that was the last meeting of the year, and this year's council cannot bind next year's council to go along with an action it has introduced.

Strong objections to the curbing of Prospect Street from Stanmore Place to Brightwood Avenue — the subject of the ordinance - were voiced by Michael J. Coughlin of 750 Prospect Street, who said many of his neigh-bors were led to believe the town would assume the full cost of the Town policy on curbing and many other improvements, however, is the town pays half of the cost and the residents whose properties are involved are assessed for half the cost based on the frontage of their property on the affected street.

Town Engineer Edward A. Gottko said about 16 people, more than half of the property owners on the affected The Mayor noted Councilman area, had signed the petition asking for curbing.

He added the cost would be $7 per lineal foot, a decrease from the $10 per lineal foot cost cited a few years ago when the idea of curbing first was conceived.

Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr. explained, if more than half of the residents of an area were in favor of an improvement, the town would go ahead with it, but, if half or more than half were opposed, the project would not be undertaken.

Mr. Gottko said it was his understanding the allocation of the costs of the project was explained when the petition was circulated.

The homeowner who circulated the petition, Mrs. Jane Fullerton of 812 Prospect Street, said she had approached all residents who were home the day she sought the signatures and she had told everyone she spoke to about the fact they would have to share in the costs of the project. Several homeowners, even those who only had frontage on Prospect Street, favored the idea, according to Mrs. Fullerton, and her count was 14 in favor and five against. Mr. Gottko said this would be two thirds of the affected property owners since 22 homes were involved. Mr. Coughlin replied, however, that his figures showed only 13 in favor and eight opposed.

Public Works Committee Chairman, Mrs. Margaret C. Sur, said if there was any misunderstanding about the petition wording or the costs of the project the only fair thing to do would be to ask the residents their opinions again and more clearly explain the costs.

First Ward Councilman Norman

N. Greco, while sympathizing with both residents who spoke, said if there was any misunderstanding the homeowners should again be asked their opinions on the proposal.

Third Ward Councilman Kenneth L. MacRitchie added he, too, was concerned the language in the petition might not have been specific enough.

He noted he and fellow ward Councilman Gary G. Jenkins had a standard form they made available to residents petitioning for improvement projects which clearly spelled out the cost factors.

First Ward Councilman-Elect Anthony M. LaPorta said the council should pass a resolution requiring specific wording on petitions about the scope of each project and the listing of costs in terms such as "not exceeding a specific number of dol-lars per lineal foot."

The second action which was tabled would have increased the fee the town pays to Suplee, Clooney & Company, its Auditors, from $30,050 to $32,250 next year.

Citing the fact state regulations will hold the council to a 1.5 per cent "cap" on spending for 1993, First Ward Councilman David A. Mebane said the council should hold the line on consultant fees next year.

Fourth Ward Councilman James Hely added Town Administrator John F. Malloy, Jr. should go back to Suplee,

Utilities Authority Holds Funds Due to Recycler

Approximately $300,000 owed to the Union County Utilities Authority by Automated Recycling Technology System for trucks and other items will be withheld by the county agency in payments to the private recycling service until the authority is paid back.

The Bookkeeper and Assistant
Treasurer of the authority has been instructed not to issue any checks or forward any funds from the municipal recycling contracts account until the dept is settled or the authority decides what course of action to take.

The recycling firm owes the authority $267,000 plus interest that was due December 15 for the company's purchase of 16 recycling trucks and three pickup trucks from the authority.

Also owed to the authority by the firm, which assumed control of the curbside recycling program in September, is $1,000 for the purchase of two office trailers and more than $40,000 for reimbursement of medical insurance payments.

When the recycling contract was awarded in the summer, about 35 employees who had been in recycling positions were kept on the Automated Recycling payroll with the stipulation that medical benefits would be con-

The Consultant also said a county insurance pool was under investigation, but he said unless there was a commitment of at least three years to self-insurance that concept would be "sheer folly" for the town.

Because of the town's exploration of a pool arrangement with other municipalities it has been unwilling to commit to the self-insurance or even policy arrangements for more

Fourth Ward Council Michael E. Panagos emphasized the council had been looking very seriously at selfinsurance, a concept which has been proposed several times by Mr.

Jenkins added the structure was considered a hazard, the council had to think about the safety of Mr. Papandrea's neighbors and the owner would have until January 2 to demolish the structure before the town

Mayor Boothe added Mr. Papandrea actually had about a month until the bids for demolition were awarded --- to do the repairs or demolish the structure.

The council, with the exception of Councilman Hely, voted for the New Street demolition, and the entire council noted to demolish another dilapidated structure at 354 South

Also authorized was the hiring of Frederick Danser as town Labor Attorney for 1993 at a fee of $12,000, a $500 increase from last year.

It is used by some large companies, he said, who have deductibles and insure for the rest of their coverage.

Although the Mayor said he didn't want to discontinue discussion of the poolarrangement because it might be very good for the town, he would like to see discussion on the general topic of insurance ended with the exploration of that arrangement.

Although Councilman Greco and Fourth Ward Councilman James Hely said they weren't entirely happy with the options they were given, they said it was too late in the year to explore many other options.

In addition to awarding the insur-ance contracts, the council authorized a feasibility study for a joint insurance fund with other suburban communities both within and outside Union County.

Legislative Manual Sold To Newark Publisher

Skinder-Strauss Associates of Newark has bought the New Jersey Legislative Manual publishing busi-ness from Edward J. Mullin.

The sale was announced on De-cember 22 by Mr. Mullin and Andrew Strauss, a partner in the Skinder-Strauss firm.

The manual is the definitive reference work on New Jersey state government politics and public affairs. Completely revised annually, the manual is the guide that librarians, news reporters, political activists and others have relied upon since 1872. Mr. Mullin will continue to edit the manual. Currently preparing copy for the 1993 edition, which will be dis-tributed in May, he will remain with the new Publisher thereafter, as an Associate Editor.

Skinder-Strauss, which publishes the New Jersey Lawyers Diary and Manual and a number of other books and directories, has assumed all of the Legislative Manual's production, distribution and commercial opera-

Both men expressed satisfaction with the transaction.

Mr. Strauss said he was delighted to have the manual, with its rich history of public service, in his company's family of publications. He was emphatic in his commitment to maintaining the manual's tradition of completeness and accuracy.

Mr. Mullin said he was happy to see the manual placed to enjoy the production and marketing resources of one of New Jersey's leading directory publishers.

In addition to the Lawyers Diary and Manual for New Jersey, Skinder-Strauss publishes comparable books for New York, Massachusetts, Florida, New Hampshire and Virginia.

The company also publishes various record-keeping tools for the legal profession, as well as a wide array of alumni and professional directories on a contract basis.

Besides its publishing business, Skinder-Strauss operates New Jersey Lawvers Service, a courier service which delivers documents for law firms and business organizations across New Jersev.

Freeholder Chairman Recaps Accomplishments

As his term as the Chairman of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders concludes, Freeholder Louis A. Santagata of Hillside recapped some of the accomplishments that emerged from the 1992 Republican-controlled Freeholder Board in its first year of control since 1987.

"First and foremost," Freeholder Santagata said, "We were able to balance the county budget with the lowest percentage of tax support since 1981! And we did so with virtually no reduction in services

"We achieved this," he continued, "by renegotiating the health insurance and negotiating contracts with more than 2,000 county employees which included medical givebacks unheard of in government and limiting the 1992 raises to under 4 per cent.

"Other goals that were reached," he added, "included avoiding layoffs of over 95 employees at Runnells Hospital in Berkeley Heights, and, by hiring an outside independent consultant, re-establishing a new and equitable salary range which will lay the groundwork for future savings in 1993."

"One of the high points of the year for all county residents," the Freeholder added, "came when State Ar-bitrator Jeffrey Tener touted our vast abilities in the area of negotiating labor contracts for our employees."

"In fact, Mr. Tener admittedly modeled the new three-year contract with Local No. 199 of the Policeman's Benevolent Association on a threeyear contract the Freeholder Board had hammered out with Council No. 8 last April.

The Council No. 8 contract alone saved the county more than $1.3 million, and an additional savings of $1 million is predicted based on the new contract."

"My fellow Republican Freehold-ers, Miss Linda-Lee Kelly, Alan M. Augustine, James F. Keefe, Frank H. Lehrand Mario A. Paparozzi, actively support our extensive efforts to control spending and restore fiscal responsibility to county government," he continued, " and our team spent long hours working toward those

The True Story-Mightier Than the Motion Picture And the Many Theories

As each new year brings us closer to the end of the millennium, we need to see the significance of this "end time." Through this monumental lecture on the Kennedy tragedies, you'll come to realize the truth about this unique era in history and its importance to you. No matter that you cannot now see how this can be; leave the convincing to me Lester G. Murphy and my lecture "The Trinity of Tragedies," which is available now in a cassette recording. A booklet of visuals illustrates and supports the spoken words. The price: $9.09 for a tape cassette, $5.85 for the booklet, making a total of only $14.94, plus tax.

JFK 1963-30 YEARS

RFK 1968-25 YEARS

Don't let another year go by without realizing and resolving your need to know, Why did JFK and RFK, yes, and Mary Jo Kopechne die? If you think you do not need to know, or if you don't care, you're in bad shape, no matter how much you exercise. You're ape psychologically. Now, exercise your right to know the truth. Get the vital information that comes from experiencing this valuable lecture, that the message coming through this work is truly inspired. Here is inspiration for all who will hear the evidence with their own ears and see the evidence with their own eyes. Be among those who will waken to the truth of our time as revealed in this lecture and nowhere else. Truth has no substitute.

Let Goodwill to All Motivate New York To Treat Our State's Commuters Fairly

Let us hope that the goodwill which is supposed to accompany the onset of a New Year so infests the hearts of New York lawmakers that a reciprocal tax measure proposed recently by Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger will prove unnecessary.

The measure, similar to one introduced by former Assembly Speaker Charles L. Hardwick of Westfield in 1988, would tax New York residents working in New Jersey the same way New York taxes New Jersey residents working

It would first compute the tax owed as if the employee were a state resident, and then prorate the liability by the ratio of New Jersey income to all taxable income.

When New York passed a similar measure four years ago, it inspired Assemblyman Hardwick to act, and recent proposals by New York City and state to increase taxes on New Jersey commuters no doubt have inspired the latest proposal by Assemblyman Bagger.

Westfield has many commuters who contribute a great deal to the economic survival of New York City and New York State, and we do not believe they should be asked to bear a greater share of the tax burden.

We urge New York to rethink its proposal in the interest not only of fairness to Garden State residents, but also in the interest of fairness to its own commuters to New Jersey who would be hurt by enactment of the New Jersey pro-

Bending Your Resolutions Can Be Very Profitable

By LOUIS H. CLARK

From my wife's family we inherited ar interesting tradition when it comes to

New Year's resolutions.
When she was a child her father would produce a tin box which could be locked. On New Year's Day everyone would vrite his or her's New Year's resolution. slip it into an envelope and write their names on it. Her father then would lock the box with a key on his chain. Her mother was the only one not required to put in a resolution because she was the nly one they trusted to be judge the following year.

So when our children became old enough to read, write and become abrasive to their parents' nervous systems we set up the same system in our house. Like a fool, I added a $10 prize for anyone who had accomplished his or her resolution during the year. The judge would appor-tion the prize. If they only accomplished defit they are for heads to have they are half they got five bucks. None, they re-ceived nothing.

Last year's was an example. Prissy, the youngest at 7, had written in her careful hand, "I will eat all my vegetables this year." All the other kids immediately cried "foul" because Prissy never eats anything else. She hasn't touched meat since one of her wise guy older brothers pointed out the ham she was eating was carved out of a friend of Porky Pig. That was it. But the judge ruled that Prissy had accomplished her resolution and awarded her $10.

Her next older brother Sandy's resonot been smart to have written something unattainable. "I will do my best to be polite to my brother and sisters this year. While the kids laughed out loud the judge asked him how he would have rated himself. "Well," he blurted out, "I tried but they wouldn't be polite back." He was awarded $7 for effort. Pat, the eldest, had written, "I will never go out on school nights until all my homework is done and will always be home by 10 o'clock." This raised a chorus of jeers. The judge awarded her $7 for the effects of the economy. The Chamber, whose membership includes merchants, service businesses and professionals, created an Economic Development Committee to stimulate interest in our downtown and to seek out new businesses that would be an asset to Westfield. It has a very active "Intown" group that creates and promotes downtown retail events. The Chamber's largest and most successful event is "Festifall," which attracted over 40,000 people to our downtown this year. The Chamber's Beautification Committee meets regularly to discuss and implement programs, like the "Spring Clean-up," that will help keep downtown clean.

The Town of Westfield realized the importance of a healthy, attractive and prosperous central business district and established in January of this year the Westfield Downtown Committee as anadvisory committee to determine whether the vision of an enhanced and revitalized downtown can effectively be accomplished by implementing a revitalization pro-gram such as Main Street through the National Trust for Historical Preservation or by establishing a Special Improvement District similar to neighboring communities. The Downtown Committee is a publicprivate endeavor, and its members represent downtown property owners, retailers, service in sinesses, residents and town officials including the Mayor and Town Council members.

Committee has been very active. Short term issues addressed include:

Additional trash receptacles, dumpsters, recycling programs for the downtown, parking, meter enforcement, traffic control, downtown furniture, taxicab service and mini-

Long-term objectives were established to investigate programs available to communities for revitalization. Main Street and downtown revitalization consultants were contacted and presentations made on programs

After extensive review, it was decided to apply for the Main Street 1993 program because of its revitalization-through-preservation philosophy, emphasis on strong programs, low program start-up cost and the grassroots nature of the program.

The application process will begin on Wednesday, January 6, and the announcement of four accepted communities will be made in early April. It also was decided this approach does not preclude the use of an Improvement District to fund the revitalization effort.

The Downtown Committee pursued funding to maintain its activities. Their success this year resulted in $5,000 in contributions and a $14,000 appropriation by the Town of Westfield. Their activity is now focused on the developing of a voluntary threeear funding program to support Main Street. The funding program will seek pledges from downtown property owners, merchants, other businesses, residents, foundations, the town and all who feel a healthy downtown is beneficial to the entire Westfield

Public relations and marketing efforts to inform the public of the activities of the Downtown Committee began with press releases last spring. A Main Street banner was displayed at various downtown events and 1,000 Main Street brochures were distributed from an information booth at Immediate goals are to advise the public as to the benefit of the Main Street program and to generate financial support.

Editor's Note: The following is another in a series of articles on the Bill of Rights and subsequent amendments to the Constitution. It was written by former United States Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, the Chairman of the Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.

This week's article is about the 19th Amendment.

The 19th Amendment provides. "the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex.

In one stroke, the 19th Amendment enfranchised 26 million women and doubled the number of eligible American voters overnight.

In Colonial America, women had not been permitted to play any sig-nificant role n the public life of the

Despite the efforts of Abigail Adams, who encouraged her husband, future President John Adams, to "remember the ladies." the Revolutionary War and the formation of the new Republic did little to further legal equality between the sexes.

During the first half of the 19th century, women began to play a more prominent role in public affairs, and many worked actively for the abolition of slavery.

However, the continued denial of basic legal rights to women — including the right to own property on apar with men and the right to vote led to the formation of a women's rights movement by the 1840s.

In 1948, the leaders of the movement, including Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott, held a Convention at Seneca Falls, New York, and adopted a Declaration of Sentiments and Resolutions, which proclaimed, although "all men and women are created equal," "the history of mankind is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations on the part of man toward woman, having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over her.'

As proof of this state of affairs, the declaration noted, among other things, men had never permitted women to exercise their "inalienable right to the elective franchise," and had made women "if married, in the eyes of the law civilly dead."

Following the Civil War, the women's movement split into two faction son the question of black suffrage; although some members supported adoption of the 14th and 15th Amendments, others an including women's rights crusader Susan B. Anthony — refused to support them on the grounds they did not prohibit discrimination on the ground of gender as well as race.

Attempts to secure the equal rights for women through the courts during the Reconstruction era failed.

In rejecting a claim the State of Illinois had violated the "privileges or immunities" clause of the 14th Amendment by forbidding women to practice law, several Supreme Court Justices asserted, "the paramount destiny and mission of woman is to fulfill the noble and benign offices of wife and mother. This is the law of the Creator," in Bradwell versus Illinois

Women were dealt a similar blow one year later when the court ruled the right to vote was not one of the privileges or immunities guaranteed women by the 14th Amendment, in Minor versus Happersett in 1875.

Despite these setbacks, progress on the issue of women's suffrage gradually was made in the legislatures of progressive states and territories.

By 1890, 17 states and territories had extended limited suffrage to women by permitting them to vote in school elections.

In that year, the two factions of the suffrage movement that had split in the wake of the Civil War were reunited as the National American Woman Suffrage Association, and Wyoming entered the Union as the first state to extend full voting rights to women.

Wyoming's example soon was fullowed by Colorado in 1893 and Utah and Idaho in 1896.

In 1913, Illinois became the first state East of the Mississippi River to giant women the right to vote in

National Health Insurance Soon Will Be Offered

By Herb Ross

National health care is on its way! We must come to some conclusions. The present system is out of whack. But what system to use: The Canadian Plan.

Canada has a single-payer health-care system. The following information is based on a report by the United States Government Accounting Office to Con-

Access - Primary or emergency care is available to everyone whenever they need it at no charge. There may be time delays for specialty care services, such as lens implants or cardiac bypass surgery, but emergency cases are treated immediately. Canadians choose their own private physicians, who are paid on a fee-for-service basis. Hospitals are private. non-profit institutions. The system is administered by the government of each province.

Obviously, the Canadian system is fi-nanced with taxes. Doctors and hospital fees are negotiated by professional phy-sicians' associations and the provincial governments. They hold costs down by putting limits on spending for expensive technology. Canada's administrative costs in 1987, freed of the expenses incurred by competing insurance companies, were (per capita) one-fifth that of the United

Patients' only out-of-pocket expenses are for services not covered by the pro-vincial plan — such as adult dental care, cosmetic surgery and hospital room amenities — or for private insurance.

Now what is the quality of the Canadian

Believe in or not, there are more doctors per person in Canada than in the United States. Canadians see their doctors more often than Americans do and have longer hospital stays. Their infant mortality rates are lower, and life expectancy is longer.

According to the General Accounting Office, parts of the Canadian Plan could be adopted in the United States to improve access and quality and to lower costs.

There are several other plans kicking

For example, Republican Senator John H. Chafee of Rhode Island offers a health care plan that does not offer universal

It offers tax credits and expanded community health centers and public programs for those not eligible for Med-icaid. Benefits are not listed.

Savings would be from Malpractice reform, Health Maintenance Organizations, public health prevention programs and insurance reform.

Democratic Senator Daniel Rostenkowski of Illinois has a bill that would require play-or-pay with a Medi-care-type plan. It also would provide universal access. It would offer Medicare benefits plus well-child and maternity and prohibit pre-existing condition ex-clusions. Savings would be from national limits on spending in public and employer plans and national budgets.

Democratic Senator George Mitchell of Maine has offered Bill No. 1227 titled Affordable Health Care for All Americans. It provides universal access, but tax cans. Approvides universal access, out tax penalties for people failing to enroll in a health insurance plan and an average benefit plan with prevention coverage. The proposal would prohibit pre-existing conditions exclusions, six months for small businessess. Savings would be from national budgets, insurance reform and reduced administrative costs.

Finally, Democratic Representative Martin Russo of Illinois offers a bill titled the Universal Health Care Act. The bill would create a single-payment national health care system with optional state involvement. It also would provide universal access, average benefits, plus longterm prescription drugs, home care and preventive care and prohibits existing conditions exclusions with no premiums, deductibles or coinsurance. Savings would come from insurance reform, negotiated annual budgets and fees.

And President George Bush offered a plan that would have tax vouchers and credits go to encourage people to buy insurance.

President-Elect William Jefferson "Bill" Clinton's plan is play-or-pay with an additional public program for non-workers. Clinton's plan highlights are universal access, comprehensive benefits and an emphasis on long-term care. Savings would be from Medicare fee schedules and malpractice reform. Par-ticipants would share costs. He supports the National Leadership coalition on Health Care proposal.

The American Medical Association

also offers a plan which has special fea-tures as follows: nearly universal access, excludes part-time, seasonal and non-

L. G. Murphy Releases Tapes on Kennedy Events

The lecture on the three famous tragedies of the Kennedys by author Lester G. Murphy of Rahway was presented to Mensa in February and now is offered in a tape recording. In 1952, Mr. Murphy turned to literature, beginning his first book Unique Man. Two other books, a journal and various articles and letters followed. The bulk of this material was written in Westfield.

One may wonder how this work of the past 40 years could have begun with any relevance to the Kennedy tragedies - the assassinations of John and Robert Kennedy and the Chappaquiddick accident of Edward Kennedy," Mr. Murphy said. "The first of these tragedies, the death of President Kennedy in 1963, did not happen until 11 years after I began to write. So how could this work have begun with any link to events that had not yet become history?

"This is explained by the fact this great work actually began secretly in the distant past and then entered history in the 19th century," the author added. "Now, in the 20th century, I have become the instrument for a higher form of creative expression, for the spiritual enhancement of life

"In 1840, the first of seven Presidents who died in office was elected, Mr. Murphy noted. "Those Presidents were elected in 20-year intervals — a kind of chain — in 1840, 1860, 1880, 1900, 1920, 1940 and 1960. That chain was not created by chance. It would have continued to 1980 had the attempted assassination of President Ronald W. Reagan ended his life in office. But, because that attempt failed, we can see with extraordinary clarity how the death of President Kennedy indeed was meant to end

Mr. Murphy points out in his lec-ture, titled The Trinity of Tragedies to the end of that chain of Presidential deaths has been added a triangular pendant, a trinity of tragedies.

"In being the wearer of that chain and pendant," he added, "American is unique. Upon our nation has been bestowed a great mission, and I am deeply involved in it and I am now beginning to reveal this truth to all Americans and even to the world. In the face of recession, drug abuse, Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome and crime I hold up the hope of a brighter world to come.

Mr. Murphy's lecture is titled The Trinity of Tragedies and he feels his work will gain recognition not only nationally, but also internationally.

For this reason, the author said, the value of the lecture materials offered now will increase greatly. Also, as an incentive to potential buyers, Mr. Murphy will autograph the first 100 booklets of visuals purchased, thus adding to their value.

The author hopes others who feel a responsibility for the future of life on this planet will contact him order to learn more about this great work, which, he feels, does indeed concern the destiny of mankind.

all game and old not allow any westled player to ever make a spark to get things going in the right direction. Senior Tri-Captain Mike Commandini led Westfield with 14 points, which is almost seven points under his season

Also contributing to Westfield's offense were junior forward Mike Checkett, who notched seven points, and senior Tri-Captain Rob Moore, who contributed

When asked about the game Moore simply stated, "The team never got anything going. There was no momentum and they hurtus with their inside play and good penetration. This was just the first game, and there are at least 20 more games for us to prove ourselves. Moore's statement held true as they Tournament in Perth Amboy on Monday against the Warriors from Franklin. Westfield won the contest 60-33.

The offensive star for Westfield was Commandini, who netted 10 of his total 22 points in the third quarter to give the cagers a 38-20 lead going into the last eight minutes of the game. Moore had an outstanding game by scoring 12 points, grabbing 10 rebounds and dishing off them assists. three assists.

The most incredible individual feat in this game was the solid rebounding by Senior Tri-Captain Matt Commandini. Matt snatched seven offensive rebounds and 13 defensive rebounds for a total of 20 rebounds. He also added eight points for the cause. Junior point guard Marc Koslowski also had a stellar game with nine assists, two rebounds and two points. He and senior center Mike Cort stymied Franklin's offense by playing incredible defense and using their quickness to strip the ball from their opponents.

The bench put on a display of team-work and contributed 16 points toward the Blue Devil victory. Checkett had a good game by scoring eight points, grabbing three rebounds and handing out for assists.

The cagers played a big and tough Perth Amboy team last night in the championship round of the Buglovsky Tournament.

Devils Wrestlers Top Hilltopper Team 51-16

By ADAM WEINSTEIN exhalts Weitleth for The Westfield Leade

The key to success in wrestling is a combination of hard work and persever-

As Tri-Captain Seth Coren said, "In an individual sport like wrestling the only way to succeed is through hard, vigorous work and constant training."

Last Wednesday, the Westfield Blue
Devils displayed both of these elements in defeating the Summit Hilltoppers 51 to

In passing their first true test of the young season, many Blue Devils were forced to exert maximum effort in defeating top opponents.

Such was the case in Paul Hayes' 130-pound match, the most exciting of the afternoon. After spending a great deal of time on his back, Hayes quickly reversed and pinned his man with only three seconds left in the second period.

Similarly, Chris Posey survived a scare at 135 pounds when he came from behind to score a hard-fought 806 decision. Yet another determined Blue Devit wrestler James Hogaboom fought his way to a victory in pinning a Hilltopper with 16 seconds left in the final period.

Other grapplers such as Jeff Checchio, Mike Liggera and Tom Whelan were not victorious, but their perseverance kept them from being pinned.

Cheechio, matched against a highly-skilled Summit wrestler, battled to the end in dropping a tight 3-0 decision.

Liggera, wrestling at 145 pounds, was nearly pinned but rallied his way back to a narrow 5-1 decision.

Whelan, wrestling at a heavier weight class, 171 pounds, than his usual 160-pound class, struggled with a solid op-ponent in escaping with a 12-to-3 decision. Three Westfield wrestlers decisively pinned their opponents in the first period. Kevin Sullivan, a freshman wrestling at

Ski Trip Schedule Begins January 3

The Westfield Recreation Commission has established its schedule of winter ski trips for the community.

The first trip is set for Sunday, January 3, to Camelback Ski Area in Tannersville, Pennsylvania. The cost is $41 per person which includes transportation and lift ticket.

Rentals and lessons also are available at an additional cost. The bus will depart from the Municipal Building parking lot at 6:30 a.m. and return at approximately 6 p.m. Early registration is recommended because space is limited.

Future trips are as follows: Sunday, January 17, Vernon Valley/

Great Gorge Sunday, January 31, Montage Ski Aroa Sunday, February 28, Camelback Ski

Each trip costs $41 per person. Children under 12 years of age must be accompanied by an adult, 18 years or older.

For additional information, please telephone the Recreation Department at 789-4080.

Eric Lyght Scores For Saint Anselm

Eric Lyght of Westfield has played well for the Saint Anselm College Basketball Team of Manchester, New Hampshire, this season.

The junior forward has played in all seven games for the 3-4 Hawks. He is averaging 8.4 points and 4.1 rebounds per game.

Lyght's best game this season was a 19-point, nine-rebound effort against Keene State of Keene, New 103 pounds, recorded a fall only 32 seconds into the match.

At 160 pounds, Lance Kovac pinned his man in an even one minute. Lastly, Paul Baly, at 189 pounds, triumphed with a fall at one minute and 54 seconds.

There were four forfeits in the match, three for Westfield and one for Summit. Brian Buldo, Corey Posey and Andy McCabe each notched a victory for the Blue Devils without a battle as Summit placed no wrestlers in their respective weight classes, 119 pounds, 140 pounds and heavyweight.

McCabe, a freshman, also won his junior varsity match that day, recording his first wins in both junior varsity and varsity. In a strategic move by the Westfield coaches, the Blue Devils for-feiled at 152 pounds to avoid a top-notch Summit wrestler.

Yesterday, the Blue Devils held their annual Westfield Invitational Tournament. The tournament results will be covered in next week's article.

Recreation Commission To Conduct Art Program

The Westfield Recreation Commission will introduce an all-new Art for Fun program on Wednesday, January 13.

This program will be offered to Westfield youth in third through fifth grades and will introduce them to various aspects of drawing and painting.

The program will be held in the Elm Street School third-floor art room each Wednesday from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. through March 24.

The instructor is Westfielder Michelle Ceklosky, who holds an Art Degree from Monmouth College in West Long Branch.

The cost is $25 per participant and the enrollment will be limited to 15 students. Registration is on a firstcome, first-serve basis until the maximum is reached.

For information or to register, please stop by the Recreation De-partment in the Municipal Building or call 789-4080.

Prosecutor Begins Effort To Halt Teenage Gambling

among teenage students in Scotch Plains and Roselle Park have led the Union County Prosecutor's Office to become involved in a new program aimed at steering youngsters away from illegal sports betting.

The program, being run in conjunction with Gamblers Anonymous, was initiated, according to Prosecutor Andrew K. Ruotolo, Jr. of Westfield, because teenagers in the above communities had become involved with gambling operations and run up substantial debts.

With the help of Gamblers Anonymous, the Prosecutor's Office has begun distributing a free pamphlet, Gambling Is Not Kid Stuff which will be incorporated into a lecture series which will be made available to schools throughout Union County.

More than money is a stake when youngsters are caught gambling, according to the Prosecutor. Authorities have the right to confiscate any vehicle used to promote illegal gambling, even if it only is used from time to time to carry bets, slips or payoffs.

A car will be seized even if it is owned by the gambler's parents, he

Other property, such as personal computers and telephone answering machines found to be tools for a gambling operation, also may be taken away, the county's chief lawenforcement official said.

A teenager caught gambling also nay lose his driver's license, he added, and courts may be urged to prevent a violator who is under 17 years of age from getting his license when he reaches driving age.

Also, those caught gambling may be suspended or expelled from school. "Anyone who uses or threatens violence to enforce a gambling debt will be criminally prosecuted as an adult, even if he is under 18 years old," Mr. Ruotolo said.

The free booklet has a double message, he noted: A gambling debt is not legally enforceable and law-en-forcement officials will protect youngsters who come forward with information from having their debts enforced; and if they don't come forward and are caught in any investigation they will be subject to severe penalties and possible loss of their cars and drivers' licenses.

The booklets were distributed during the first in-school presentation David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth by members of the Prosecutor's Office Family Court Unit, Gamblers Anonymous, local police, crime-prevention authorities and school officials.

Although the booklets and program are available to all county schools in an effort to stop the spread of gambling, Westfield High School Principal, Dr. Robert G. Petix, said Wednesday the town schools probably will not request a presentation ably will not request a presentation for the time being because the last known incident of illegal gambling at the high school was discovered about 11 years ago.

Emphasis for the time being, he said, is being placed on the prevention of carjacking.

The first synthetic dye was discovered accidentally in 1856 by the English chemist William H. Perkin. This dye, called mauve, is pale purple and was produced when Perkin tried to make quinine from a coal tar product called anitine.

CLOSE EXAMINATION...Jordan Loffredo, 6, of Westfield, used a microscope in the medical exhibit on a recent visit to the New Jersey Children's Museum in Paramus. He also tried out a real stethoscope, tested his vision and learned about circulation. The New Jersey Children's Museum is an interactive museum for childrenunder the age of 8, with 33 "hands-on" exhibits including a real fire truck, helicopter and backhoe and a daily schedule of crafts, videos,

Seminar to Explore Causes of Disease

Dr. Robert L. Harvey Wins Merrill Fellowship

Dr. Robert L. Harvey, the Senior Pastor of The First Baptist Church of Westfield, has been awarded the Merrill Fellowship at Harvard Divinity School in Cambridge, Massachusetts for the fall semester of 1993.

Through the generosity of Charles E. Merrill, the founder of Merrill Lynch and Safeway Stores, Harvard Divinity School is able to offer four sabbatical fellowships each term.

Each Merrill Fellow receives a stipend which will cover most of the expenses of room and board for the term. The divinity school provides full-tuition credit for the term. Fellows are eligible to enroll in courses in the faculty of divinity, Harvard University and the affiliated schools of the Boston Theological Institute.

Merrill Fellows have flexibility in establishing their own educational goals while in Cambridge. There is a weekly seminar that provides a continuing context for discussion, evaluation and fellowship.

Beyond this, Fellows are encouraged to design their own course of study. Among the advantages of this program are the opportunities, both formal and informal, for discussion with members of the various faculties and current students, the rich resources for research in the University libraries, and the cultural and intellectual treasures of Boston and Cambridge.

Dr. Harvey serves as a member of the General Board and is the Chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the Board of International Ministries of the American Baptist Churches United States.

The Pastor attributes much of the credit for the award to the congregation he serves.

They not only approved the sabbatical, they have made their Pastor look good through their leadership in establishing programs of evangelism and ministries to battered women, people with Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, the homeless and hungry, women who have been sexually abused and those in prison. Ultimately these people who have done so much will benefit by this educational opportunity for their

Dr. Harvey is married to Mrs. Joan L. Harvey, the Manager of Speech and Language Pathology Services at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey.

The Harveys have two children, David Harvey of Cranford, a senior account representative for E. W. Blanch of New York City, and Mrs. Susan Cook of Westfield, a program supervisor for the Association for Retarded Citizens of Union County.

no matter where you're headed, when you drink and drive any road could lead to a dead end. Statistics show that even one drink can impair judgement and reflexes, so all it takes is one driver who's had one drink to set the scene for tragedy. Make sure your holiday season has a happy ending. If you plan to drink, ask a friend to drive or travel by taxi. We want you to have a safe and happy New Year.
