Report of Sexual Assault in Town Discovered to Be False by Police After Investigation of Incident

She Reportedly Made Call to a Friend Expressing Fears About Stranger; Authorities Unsure Whether False Report Charges Will Be Filed Against Woman

By ROBERT R. FASZCZEWSKI
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

A report, widely publicized in another local newspaper in Westfield last week, about an alleged sexual assault on Monday afternoon of a woman employee of an East Broad Street clothing store, was found to be totally false, town police said Thursday.

According to police reports on the alleged incident, prior to the investigation which showed the incident to be fraudulent, the employee was working in the store when she was approached by a man who was approximately 30 years old and five feet, 11 inches tall, unshaven and wearing a gold bracelet or watch.

The man began talking to her about the economy, the police report said, asked about security in the store and said he was surprised she was alone.

At one point, according to police, the employee telephoned a girlfriend in Fanwood and said the man in the store was making her nervous. She then hung up and said she would call back later.

At this point, the police report said, the man asked the alleged victim if he could use the restroom and, when he asked her assistance in finding a light switch in the restroom, the man grabbed her, struck her in the face, got on top of her and attempted to rip off her clothing.

At this point, the report continued, a chime on the front door of the store sounded and the man fled the store. The alleged victim then closed the store and went to a friend's home in Scotch Plains.

Police then dispatched several units to the downtown area and broadcast a description of the suspect to other police departments.

During the investigation, according to the police report, several employees of other stores in the central business district said they had seen a man matching the description of the suspect in their stores. Although, since the event never occurred, these reports by employees of other stores were merely erroneous assumptions.

The clothing store employee who reported the alleged incident had numerous cuts and bruises on her face, upper chest and neck and sore ribs and back, according to the police report.

She refused treatment by the hospital, the police report said. See another story on Page 12

POLICE PROBE PROVES COMPLAINT WAS FALSE

After careful and repeated examination of evidence and witness statements, the Westfield Police said the alleged sexually-motivated attack on January 11 on a saleswoman in a downtown clothing store was baseless and false, Police Chief Anthony J. Scutti announced.

Upon close scrutiny of the information and evidence compiled from numerous independent sources, the police began to become more and more skeptical of the accuracy of the initial report, Chief Scutti added.

The would-be victim was interviewed by Westfield detectives on two subsequent occasions since the incident. As a result of this additional questioning, the saleswoman admitted the attempted sexual assault was completely fabricated. However, a motive behind the staged attack is unknown. At this time police complaints are not contemplated, the Chief noted.

Westfield Rescue Squad and said she would seek treatment by her own physician, according to the report.

In fact, the police subsequently found the whole report by the woman of the incident to be totally false.

Westfield Police Records Bureau Captain Owen M. McCabe said Thursday a number of time elements in the account of the incident did not match when an investigation was made, and some of the statements made were not sufficient to substantiate the report.

Captain McCabe added police routinely follow up on such reports because they have to assume they are legitimate until proven otherwise.

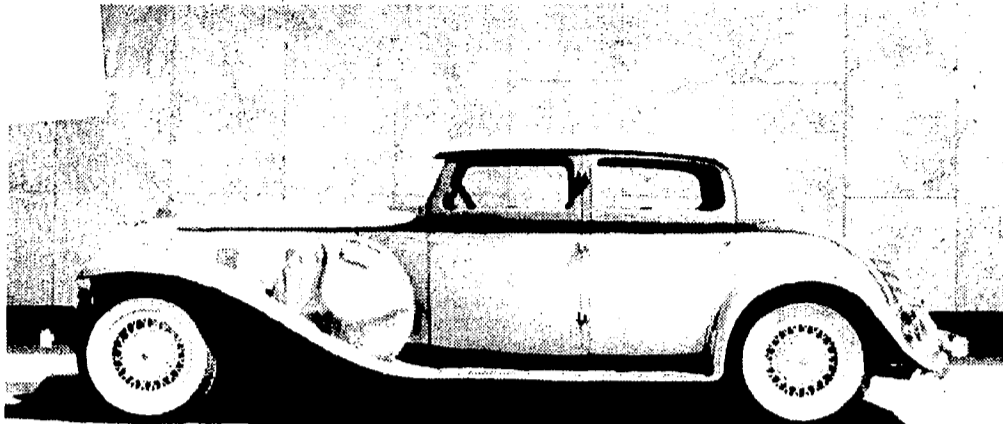

The police report of the incident was not listed on the blotter or summary of police calls from which the press obtains information on such matters.

The incident does not signal a rash of such events in the town or the business district, he said, and police have received a number of such false reports from time to time.

Sometimes the reports are motivated by matrimonial or other relationship problems, the Captain noted.

Captain McCabe said it has not yet been decided whether any charges will be filed against the employee for filing a false report, and such a determination must ultimately be made by the Union County Prosecutor's Office.

In a story accompanying the account of the alleged incident in the other local newspaper, several merchants in the business district were interviewed, and they made statements their employees would be more fearful of being left alone in town stores because of the alleged incident.

RIDE IN STYLE... Among the items being auctioned as part of the Westfield Symphony Orchestra's gala benefit is a ride in a mint-condition 1932 Stutz Monte Carlo, one of only six in existence. The car is not as well known as the Stutz Bearcat, but has the name engine. A peach color, the car has been in the family of Summit resident, Norman Miller, for many years. The sale is Saturday, January 30, at the Hilton at Short Hills. Please see a story on Page 2.

Council Considers Reconfiguring Ewan Tract Based on Wetlands

Site's Existence Before State Regulations Probably Would Not Exempt Town

By ROBERT R. FASZCZEWSKI
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

A proposed reconfiguration of lots on the Ewan Tract, the 10.5-acre site in the northwest corner of the town which is Westfield's largest area of undeveloped land, to accommodate wetlands found on the site was outlined Tuesday night by Town Engineer Edward A. Goutko.

The proposed plan, which was developed by the Public Works Department, would remove 12 of the 28 building lots currently mapped out on the site, which the town may sell by the end of this year to, among other things, compensate the town for money being spent on affordable housing in Elizabeth to satisfy Westfield's Mount Laurel obligation. Mr. Goutko said Tuesday the plan developed by his department differed from that recommended by a wetlands consultant hired by the town in that this configuration would eliminate the need for transition areas around the wetlands and the requirement the town seek Planning Board approval for its plans.

If the plan is approved by the council, he noted, the town then would seek a letter of interpretation of its plans from the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and Energy as the first step in final approval of the wetlands delineation.

The proposed plan would keep the Bailey Court portion of the site intact, but would split up other currently delineated streets.

Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr., concerned the town would be losing the estimated $162,000 to $258,500 sale price of each of the parcels proposed for elimination, asked if the town could pursue its case without reconfiguring the lots based on the fact the site was acquired prior to state laws governing wetlands.

Town Attorney Charles H. Brandt replied the consultants say pursuing the matter through the courts would be expensive, possibly resulting in a landmark case. In another public works-related matter, Public Works Committee Chairman, Mrs. Margaret C. Sur, said her committee had preliminarily recommended the following streets be resurfaced this coming year with New Jersey Transportation Trust Fund aid:

- Elm Street from North Avenue to East Broad Street
  - Elm Street from East Broad Street to Cowperthwaite Place
  - The 500 block and the 700 block of Summit Avenue
  - Westfield Avenue from South Avenue to Park Street
  - Ross Place
- Third Ward Councilman Kenneth L. MacRitchie said there was no interest among residents of Ross Place in resurfacing if the state would require changing the width of the street.

Mr. Goutko said there was plenty of time for the council to prepare a list of state-aid-supported projects because the paperwork from the state would not be received by the town until March or April.

On another street-related matter, Councilwoman Sur noted her committee was recommending a new procedure for receiving applications from residents for curbing projects.

The council last month halted action on such a project for Prospect Street after a resident complained he and his neighbors had not properly been advised of the cost of the proposal.

Under the proposed new procedure residents who desire a curbing project first would be required to sign a petition saying that were interested; the Public Works Committee then would send residents letters estimating the costs of the project and they then would have to mail back a response saying they still wanted to go ahead with it.

The status of the Prospect Street project still is undetermined for this year, the Engineer said, because the entire curbing program would have to be studied as part of the 1993 capital budget process.

On another matter, the council gave its informal approval to the hiring of Suplee, Clooney & Company as the Town Auditor again for this year at a fee of $32,200 — approximately $2,000 over the fee charged last year.

In a presentation preceding the vote, Robert Cagnassola of Westfield, who directs the town's auditing for Suplee, Clooney, outlined the firm's services and pointed out extra work the firm does for the town without extra charge such as helping the Treasurer's Office with investments and helping the Violations Bureau change its accounting methods.

He also said the state now requires municipal auditors to work on accounting for state and federal grant funding and other changes have been made in state procedures in recent years which have made municipal auditing more difficult.

As one example of increased costs which have forced up fees Mr. Cagnassola cited his hospitalization, which increased from $133,000 to $174,000 last year.

Although all the Councilmen said they were impressed with the firm's credentials, First Ward Councilman Anthony M. LaPorta said he would have liked to have seen the fee remain at around the level it was in 1991 — $28,000.

Finance Chairman James J. Gruba said unless there was a compelling reason he saw no reason to change auditors and the last reason to change

Parent Conference Proposal Is Opposed By Some in Town, School Officials Say

Superintendent Doesn't Believe Day Off for Consultations Will Be Popular; Consolidation Suggested

By TUCKER TRIMBLE
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

During Tuesday's Board of Education meeting, Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Mark C. Smith, presented the board with the proposed 1993-1994 school calendar for continued discussion and the adoption on first reading. Final approval is expected to take place at the board meeting on Tuesday, February 9.

The board anticipated some problems with Tuesday, November 2, as the day set aside for elementary parent conferences, when part of the school district is in session and part off.

"This is an unpopular day for parents," Dr. Smith said. "They do like parent conferences, but they don't like their kids having the day off."

Board President, Mrs. Susan H. Pepper, suggested the conferences be combined with the early-dismissal day scheduled the week before, which is one of two early-dismissal days throughout the year used for teacher in-service.

The board prefers the term "early-dismissal" over "half-day," pointing out four hours constitutes a legal school day, and since the children are let out at 1 p.m., this minimum is met.

"Clearly it's the board who will have to make the decision about the calendar," Mrs. Pepper said, "although I expect we'll hear more discussion."

Discussion and input from schools and parents have been few and far between so far.

Franklin School's request for opinion from parents had a few responses, with the results showing a clear 2-1 in favor of not starting school before Labor Day. They were split on whether or not to have a week-long break in February and another 2-1 against observing Columbus Day.

Wilson School staffers questioned every parent by telephone, but the results were not available at the meeting.

"I've had fewer than half a dozen comments," reported board member, Mrs. Melba S. Nixon. "It's delightful"

FOR THE CAUSE... The Hearing Society, located in Westfield and serving Union County and the surrounding area, has received a grant from the Exxon Corporation for the purchase of a duplicating machine to be used in connection with its office work. This was accomplished through the efforts of Raymond Obrock of Westfield, left, an annuitant of Exxon. The company's employees and annuitants are encouraged to be involved in volunteer work. Mr. Obrock is shown giving the check to the Executive Director, Mrs. Kay Schmitt. Mr. Obrock is a volunteer at the society and is on the Board of Directors. The society has been serving the deaf and hard of hearing for over 50 years, through free lipreading and sign-language classes, social activities, referrals and scholarships for deaf students. The office is located in the First Baptist Church at 170 Elm Street and meets on Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. for lipreading and sign-language classes. For information, please write to the Hearing Society, P.O. Box 2534, Westfield, 07091, or telephone 233-0266.

Gala Auction Planned For Symphony Event

A pair of shorts autographed by Tom Selleck, golf and lodging at Marriott's Heritage Club on Hilton Head, dinner at the Four Seasons, tickets to Guys and Dolls, American airline tickets to London, courtesy of Turner World Travel, a hat autographed by Don Mattingly, a TAG Heuer watch, jewelry from Tiffany's.

These are only a few of the many auction items that will be available at the Westfield Symphony Orchestra's gala benefit, "An Evening of Stars." To be able to bid on these items and help fund the symphony at the same time readers must purchase gala tickets.

The event will be on Saturday, January 30, at the Hilton at Short Hills. Ticket holders will enjoy a variety of hors d'oeuvres, a four-course dinner, entertainment by Clint Holmes, dancing, the auction, a 50/50 raffle and a chance to meet the Honorary Chairmen Celeste Holm and Wesley Addy. Plus, there will be other special guests.

Those interested in attending should telephone the symphony office at 232-9400.

Chamber of Commerce Adds 11 New Members

The Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce announces the addition of 11 new members during the past few months.

Three new retailers, four service businesses, three professional firms and one non-profit organization continue the diversity of fields representative of the membership as a whole.

New retailers are: Camera 3/Total Image Productions on East Broad Street; Manhattan Bagel on South Avenue, West and Shades of Green, a florist, on Central Avenue.

New service businesses are: Bousquet Roofing Co., Inc. of Scotch Plains, County Home Security Alarm Co. of Clark, Impressions by Design, Inc., a graphic design studio on Elmer Street and Small-Business Software, a firm specializing in office computer automation.

Daalt Systems, Inc., a financial planning firm; Dr. Katherine Garner, specializing in organizational consulting, and Michael E. Rosenberg, a Certified Public Accounting, are the new professional members.

Union County National Organization for Women joined as an associate, a category of membership available to non-profit organizations.

"We always welcome new members," said Vice Presidents for Membership Robert Katz and Mrs. Harriet Perna.

"We look forward to developing mutually beneficial relationships through participation in future chamber activities," they said.

County Viewed as Key In Republican Primary

Although he is supporting Mrs. Christine Todd Whitman in the Republican Primary for Governor, Union County Republican Chairman Frank X. McDermott of Westfield sees the county as the site of a major fight for votes between former Attorney General Cary Edwards and Mrs. Whitman.

Mr. McDermott believes more members of his party will support Mrs. Whitman, however.

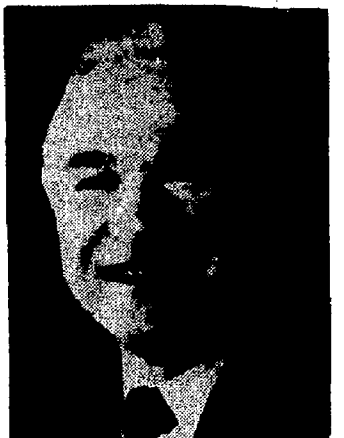

A steering committee named last week by Mr. Edwards includes three former Union County Republican Chairmen, two Municipal Chairmen and a former Municipal Chairman.

The initial steering committee includes former County Chairman, Mrs. Barbara Ciaman, former town Chairman, Mrs. Jean Sawicelle; Town Republican Vice Chairman Thomas Manahan, Victor Trzesniowski and Board of Education member, Dr. B. Carol Molnar, all of Westfield.

Mrs. Ciaman said she expects Mr. Edwards' experience and his willingness to address tough issues will help him defeat Democratic Governor James J. Florio in November.

She added the committee will continue to expand its membership.

Mr. McDermott noted while Mr. Edwards has the support of two Municipal Chairmen in the county,

Frank X. McDermott

Mrs. Whitman could obtain the backing of 15 or 17 municipal leaders.

The county organization is not expected to officially endorse a candidate for Governor until the end of next month, he added.

Union County is expected to play a key role in the Primary because it does not lean heavily toward either party, the County Chairman commented.

Town Library Offers Donations Program

Through the Westfield Memorial Library Gifts Program, patrons may celebrate a birthday or anniversary, recognize a graduate or remember a friend or a business may show appreciation to a retiree.

Historians Seek New Members

In addition to individual donations, many civic groups contribute to the library by donating a specific sum each year in recognition of the organization or its accomplishments.

The Historical Society of Scotch Plains and Fanwood needs members to maintain its club meetings, its Cannonball Museum and garden, its participation in local activities like the Memorial Day Parade and its lecturing and touring service to school children and various organizations.

While the library will not accept the donation of actual material as part of this program, a financial contribution may be directed toward specific types of collections of favorite subject areas such as sailing, gardening, music and travel.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, January 26, at 8 p.m. at the Fanwood Railroad Station on North and Martine Avenues. The society will be setting up its agenda and activities and needs suggestions and commitments.

Through the gifts program, library materials are purchased for placement in the general collection for all patrons to use and enjoy.

The society is open to everyone. Further information may be obtained from the President, Richard Bousquet, at P. O. Box 261, Scotch Plains, 07076 or by telephoning 232-1199.

Complete information is available in the gifts program brochure available at the library circulation desk.

County Manager Submits Projected $247.2 Million Budget to the Freeholders

By PAUL J. PEYTON
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

Union County Manager, Mrs. Ann Baran, last Thursday submitted a projected budget of $247.2 million to the nine-member Board of Chosen Freeholders.

The budget includes a tax levy increase of 4.3 per cent, the lowest for the county's budget in 15 years with the exception of 1991. The budget represents an increase of 8 per cent over last year's county budget. A total of 3,065 county employees are on the payroll, Mrs. Baran said.

"Taxpayers have lost faith in the ability of government to do more with less," she added. "There is a perception on the part of the public that government asks for more tax dollars, gives less service and doesn't care.

"We are working very hard to give citizens their money's worth. Taxpayers want value for their dollar and we want to give that to them. I have prepared a budget that adheres to the same standards and sensible guidelines taxpayers have to use to run their own homes," the County Manager said.

The budget includes $111 million for projected salaries, $11 million for the 1992 budget.

Operating expenses breakdown to $19.6 million for insurance costs, $1.8 million or 10 per cent over 1992; $19.4 million for debt service, a $1.9 million or 10.9 per cent hike; $11.5

million for pension and Social Security costs, a $700,000 or 6.5 per cent increase, and $26.4 million for social services, $1.9 million or 7.8 per cent over last year.

Departmental operating budgets were either frozen at 1992 levels or held to the 1.3 per cent cap, Mr. Baran noted in her executive budget summary.

Appropriations in the budget include $44.2 million for general government, $21.8 million for the judiciary, $18.4 million for roads and bridges, $75.8 million for health and welfare and $12.6 million for education. Total appropriations for this year are $247.2 million compared to last year's figure of $238.7 million.

In reaching a balanced budget as required by law, Mrs. Baran noted in her executive budget summary report, Union County is mandated to conform to the state cap law that limits revenue to be raised by property taxes, which resulted in revenues raised for $240.3 million, $9.7 million less than the projected expenditures of $250 million for this year.

Not included in the cap law are the individual budgets of the courts, the County Prosecutor and other constitutional officers. These departments and agencies can request appropriations that exceed the 1.5 per cent cap.

In addressing the deficit, Mrs. Baran has recommended a number of revenue enhancements to address the budget deficit and balance the budget.

First, the County Manager has recommended an increase in user fees at county parks with the bulk coming from out-of-county users. This action would generate an anticipated increase of $250,000.

She recommends 50 new correction officers be hired for the county jail in Elizabeth in addition to filling 12 existing vacancies. By filling the 62 positions by Monday, March 1, the county significantly reduced overtime costs at the jail with anticipated savings of $350,000.

Mrs. Baran has recommended municipalities in the county that use the county's computerized tax assessment system contribute $2,000 annually rather than have the county bear the full cost. This would provide an additional $30,000 in revenue, she added.

The County Manager has recommended a unilateral freeze on job vacancies with the exception of critical health, welfare and safety positions until the budget is finalized. This would generate $170,000 to apply to the deficit.

Also, Mrs. Baran supports a freeze in spending on non-essential purchases and travel expenses until the budget is completed.

Other money would come from providing a revenue-enhancement guarantee for bond insurance to the Union County Improvement Authority which would result in $250,000 in revenue.

Also, surplus from last year would be included to the tune of $2.9 million. This was added to $6.1 million that had previously been calculated into the budget when 1993 budget projections were made this past October.

Mrs. Baran said.

This money came from retroactive Medicaid claims at Runnells Specialized Hospital in Berkeley Heights, register and transfer fees, state prisoner reimbursement and federal prisoner reimbursement, according to the executive budget summary.

One major reduction Mrs. Baran has recommended is the closing of Runnells' 30-bed residential facility.

The facility currently operates on a $1.4 million deficit. By closing the facility, the county would generate $470,000 in savings on a prorated basis as of Thursday, April 1.

Other savings at Runnells include $260,000 through reorganization of personnel, $570,000 through increased revenue in peer grouping as well as increased occupancy and ongoing state aid reimbursement and retroactive payments for state aid through the Cornerstone psychiatric program, anticipated for this year of $600,000.

Mrs. Baran said additional revenues calculated into the budget will lower the budget deficit by another $1.2 million from the County Register, Clerk's and Welfare offices. An additional $1.1 million was received last month from the state in matching funds for the Division of Social Service appropriations.

During the Freeholder meeting last Thursday Freeholder Chairman, Miss Linda-Lee Kelly, said, "This budget proposal was carried out very expeditiously."

The budget now goes to the Freeholders for suggestions and/or changes.

The final budget first must be introduced and then acted after a public hearing is held later in the year.

Funding Shortfalls Cause Complaints to Freeholders

By PAUL J. PEYTON
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

Concerns over shortfalls estimated at $128,000 in Union County's Paratransit System and $36,000 for the county's psychiatric clinic were addressed to the Board of Chosen Freeholders at last Thursday's Freeholder meeting by representatives of both organizations. Both systems fall under the county's third-party funding mechanism.

Mrs. Barbara Brande Resmund, the Division Director of Catholic Community Services, told the Freeholders Paratransit has existed for 14 years. The system has 60 vehicles which are used to transport residents for medical care including dialysis, chemotherapy, radiation therapy, job training for the disabled, occupational therapy and mental and physical therapy, she said.

Also included are transportation to citizens' places of work as well as educational trips.

"Many of our community-based agencies and hospitals depend on the Paratransit System. Without the system, residents would not be able to afford going for health and occupational services," Mrs. Resmund said.

Mrs. Resmund added the crisis began in October when the county was informed there would be a $115,000 reduction in revenue it receives from the state, as a result in a decline in casino revenue funding. Coupled with increased costs, Paratransit was left with a deficit of $336,000, she noted.

The Director said Frank L. Guzzo, the Director of the county's Human Services Department, has recommended $224,000 in carryover funds be used to lower the deficit to $128,000.

"If we cannot work together to restore these funds, it will seriously impact transportation services to the disabled and the senior community, and substantially reduce the quantity and quality of service," Mrs. Resmund noted.

She said without available and affordable transportation, vulnerable county residents would be "left without care, and this we feel would be both fiscally and humanly irresponsible."

Mrs. Resmund requested funding for the program be extended while a solution to the crisis can be found.

Mrs. Ann Baran, the County Manager, said following a meeting with Freeholders Louis A. Santagata and Frank H. Lehr last month it was decided any cuts in the budget for the system should be put off until the end of this month.

Mrs. Baran recommended a second extension be granted through the end of next month. Otherwise, she said, Paratransit would have to start immediately to make cuts in its budget.

The extension request was recommended by Freeholder Mario A. Paparozzi, the Chairman of the Freeholders Finance Committee.

"The downside of doing this, extending funding to Paratransit, is I'm taking the money that has been allocated over a year and I'm spreading it out," explained Mrs. Baran. "If the decision is not to fund this program, then you are going to have to make further cuts than you would if you spread out the reductions over a period of a year."

Mrs. Ina White, a member of the Senior Citizen and Disabled Residents Transportation Advisory Board, told the board of how the Paratransit System has provided invaluable service to her.

As Community Outreach Coordinator at Kean College, Mrs. White said she is responsible for a recreation social group for those with mental disabilities. Six members or one quarter of the group use the Paratransit System to get to the meetings.

"They have no other way to get there. They do not drive and they don't have family members available to drive them," she said, adding mass transit is not an option for these people.

Mrs. White said the group provides vital social contact as well as new skills to the mentally disabled. She said without her own handicapped-equipped van, she would have difficulty getting around. She lives a mile from a bus stop and taxi cabs cannot accommodate motorized wheelchairs.

Private ambulatory services can cost between $30 to $50 per hour. She said many of these services only offer medical transportation.

Mrs. White urged the board to make

Paratransit part of the regular county budget. She said currently the county only pays for insurance and office space, one of only four counties that do not offer further assistance to Paratransit systems.

"With the passage of the Americans With Disabilities Act, governmental and private agencies will be making the changes necessary to accommodate persons with disabilities. Employers will be ready to hire persons with disabilities and public accommodations will be more accessible and more ready to serve them," Mrs. White noted.

"With all these changes, people with disabilities will need the services of the Paratransit system more than ever," she said.

Mrs. Joyce Antila Phipps, a citizen member of the Union County Psychiatric Clinic Board of Trustees, urged the Freeholders to maintain the current level of funding for clinic services. She said there are proposed cuts in funds this year and a total loss of funds in 1994.

She added the loss of funds will result in the closing of the clinic's satellite office in Summit, an office which provides service to the chronically mentally ill, patients released from hospitals and people who

Downtown Committee Elects New Officers, Gears Up for Revitalization Program

Robert L. Newell was re-elected Chairman of the Westfield Downtown Committee at that organization's recent annual meeting. At that meeting, the committee also began formulating their proposal for a Main Street project for downtown Westfield.

Anthony Annese, Saul Drittel, Norman N. Greco, Frank MacPherson and Warren Rorden were also re-elected Vice Chairmen, representing property owners, retail businesses, Town Council, community and service business interests, respectively. Michael W. Fox was elected Treasurer, and Dr. B. Carol Molnar, Secretary. Former Mayors H. Emerson Thomas and Robert H. Mulreany again agreed to serve as advisory directors and are joined by Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger.

The committee will apply on March 3 to be one of four New Jersey communities to participate in the Main Street New Jersey program. Main Street is a nationwide program for revitalizing historic downtowns begun in 1976 by the National Trust for Historic Preservation and administered through state-run programs.

"The Main Street program accomplishes downtown revitalization in a way that's perfect for Westfield," Mr. Newell said. "Westfield has a long tradition of united various elements of the community in a volunteer effort to get the job done, whatever it may be, for the good of the town. The Downtown Committee is hoping everyone will pitch in and pledge to get Main Street working for Westfield."

Westfield already meets the historic architectural and population requirements of Main Street, and the committee is now starting its drive to meet the required three-year public and private financial pledge commitments by the March 3 deadline.

Mr. Newell, who is also the current President of the Westfield Chamber of Commerce, has served this past year as the committee's first Chairman. He is the Principal and founder of Robert Newell Lighting Design in Westfield. Mr. Newell is a Trustee of the Friends of Mindowaskin Park and a member of the Steering Committee for Westfield's Bicentennial in 1994.

Mr. Newell is a Director of the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross and a member of the Rotary Club of Westfield.

Mr. Annese represents property owners on the committee, is a partner in Denton & Annese in Westfield and was a member in Tony Dennis Men's Wear from 1972 to 1991. He is overseeing the organization of the Main Street application.

Mr. Annese was Chairman of the Westfield Association of Merchants from 1984 to 1989 and was chosen Westfield's merchant of the year in 1988. He has been a member of the Westfield Chamber of Commerce since 1972 and has served on that group's Board of Directors.

Mr. Drittel represents Westfield's retailers on the committee. He is the owner of Milady's, the Broad Street dress shop which has been a family-owned business in Westfield for 64 years. Mr. Drittel is a charter member of the Westfield Chamber of Commerce, has served on its Board of Directors and is a past "Retailer of the Year."

First Ward Councilman Greco is a Past President of the Westfield Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Rotary Club of Westfield. Mr. Greco has been the owner of Greco Steam Carpet Cleaning in Westfield since 1960 and also does volunteer work for the Westfield Rescue Squad.

Mr. MacPherson, the founder and Chief Executive Officer of MacPherson Control Products, Inc. in Plainfield, has resided in Westfield for 36 years and was active in the Stop the Mall effort a few years ago. Mr. MacPherson served on Westfield Town Council for two terms and is a former Director of the United Fund of Westfield and Past President of the "Y's" Men's Club.

Mr. Rorden, President of Rorden Realty, is also a member of the Westfield Symphony Board of Directors. A former President of the Westfield Chamber of Commerce, he was Chairman of the Stop the Mall Committee. Mr. Rorden has lived in Westfield for 50 years and is a member of the Board of Directors of the Westfield "Y," and a Past Chairman of the Westfield Board of Realtors. He is representing Westfield service businesses on the committee.

Mr. Fox, a Certified Public Accountant with his own company in Westfield, is the Treasurer, serving his first term on the committee. He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants of New York and New Jersey.

Mr. Fox was elected to the Westfield Board of Education last spring. He is a Past President of the Westfield Board of Health, and a member of the Rotary Club of Westfield and the Budget Review Committee of the United Fund of Westfield.

Dr. Molnar, the Secretary, also serves on the Westfield Board of Education and the Westfield Planning Board. A Westfield resident her entire life, she is an attorney employed by Summit Bancorporation in Chatham.

Mrs. Molnar is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Friends of Mindowaskin Park and Youth and Family Counseling Services. Appointed by Governor Thomas H. Kean to the New Jersey Capital Budgeting and Planning Commission in 1986, she was recently reappointed to that position by Governor James J. Florio.

Main Street programs focus on downtown revitalization through design, organization, promotion and economic restructuring and provide technical assistance, training and consultation to the communities chosen to participate.

No federal or state funding is provided, and Main Street requires participating communities raise the money for their programs from a public and private partnership which demonstrates local support for the undertaking. The Westfield Downtown Committee is seeking pledges from downtown property owners, local as well as national Westfield

THE 6TH DECADE

Oversight of Procedures Should Help Everyone

By Herb Ross

In my column dealing with surgical procedures, angiograms and angioplasty, I was most concerned the public be protected by an "oversight" committee at each hospital where these surgical procedures are performed.

The conclusions drawn about the values of angiograms and angioplasty were not mine but appeared in several articles and on television.

But surely Dr. Henry Altszuler of Westfield, who wrote a letter to the editor in the December 17 issue, should have understood that a "watchdog" committee to evaluate procedures should be welcomed. After all it would benefit both patients and doctors because it would decrease the chances for huge awards in malpractice suits.

I'm sure that we'll have more on the subject. If there are any recent articles in medical journals that have new information on results of these procedures, I'll be happy to publish same. Send them to me in care of The Westfield Leader.

Now, this week, we are going to tell you about seniors who get a new lease on learning when they join the Elderhostel program.

For example, in a packed classroom of a Los Angeles campus a professor is explaining complicated political and military strategy to 50 students in his class on politics in the Middle East.

"Iraq is not home for the Palestinians, just as Uganda or Beverly Hills is not home for the Jews," insists the instructor Yoav Ben Horin. In an intense discussion about the Gaza Strip many people joined in and when the professor indicated the session was at an end the entire class said "no."

The students want to keep going because many of them have already taken quite a long break, 50 years for some, since they last were in school. Although many Elderhostels declined to state their exact ages, some admitted to being "over 70."

The program is available through colleges and universities. The number of seniors who have gone to school through Elderhostels in the United States is impressive. The initial enrollment in 1975 was 220. Now nearly 500,000 have attended classes.

The senior Hostel program was inspired by Europe's youth hostel program and the more active roles of the elderly in Europe.

Martin Knowlton, an educator and social activist, and David Bianco, the Dormitory Director at the University of New Hampshire, founded the Boston-based program in 1974. Besides filling empty dormitories in the summer, they were filling a need in senior citizens for life-long learning.

The various course offerings abound. One can study the ecology of the wetlands, economics through the ages, sociopathic behavior, simplified physics or Russian culture. Less-academic offerings include music of the 1950s, folkdancing, water exercise and Shaker basketry.

So it's off to school again. Sharpen your pencils and your minds.

And if you want to enroll contact your local college and ask if they have a "Elderhostel" program!

Merrill Lynch Plans Seminar on Bonds

The change in federal administrations and projected changes in tax rates create opportunities in tax-free bonds, according to a spokesman for Merrill Lynch.

Merrill Lynch will hold a free investment seminar focusing on "Tax Free Investing for 1993."

The seminar is open to the public and will be held at the firm's office at 195 Elm Street, Westfield on Tuesday, January 26, at 7:30 p.m.

Please call 789-4305 for reservations.

The Westfield Leader

—Serving the Town Since 1890—

P.O. Box 250, 50 Elm Street • Westfield, N. J. 07091

Dear Westfielder:

The Westfield Leader has the highest readership of any paid weekly newspaper in Union County — with nearly two-thirds of our town's households numbered as paid subscribers.

Every week it enables its subscribers to receive the most complete coverage of any area newspaper of every event in Westfield from town government and politics to high school sports to weddings, engagements, complete obituaries, other social news and the many events sponsored by our town's numerous civic organizations.

It also offers viewpoints on a variety of topics — current films, senior citizen issues, humor, psychology and current events by experts in each field who are your neighbors.

Many of our readers give gift subscriptions to those in and out of town and also send The Leader to those in college. Perhaps, this is the time you might consider some of these possibilities.

The Leader, your hometown newspaper since 1890, is the official newspaper for Westfield and also an official newspaper for Union County.

With all good regards,

Kurt C. Batier

If Brain's Overworked Cure It With Poison

By LOUIS H. CLARK
Specially Written for The Westfield Reader

Hey all you guys and gals who aren't happy about the noise, third class, a real breakthrough in science. They have just found out it's because our brains work too fast.

Honest. Now I never look at the Health Bear or at any of the other doctors who pontificate on television because I don't want to get the disease they're talking about. Yes, call it fear inherited from my wife's Celtic ancestors, but I truly believe you can catch a communicable disease if your brain knows it's out there and figures it has found another way to torment your sleep.

But this one was different. Here was this poor guy on television who once played the violin professionally and now couldn't because his hands trembled so much he couldn't finger the strings and get those soaring sounds which make the violin what it is. Then it showed a guy hitting a nail and making him yell when he hit his thumb instead, just like you and me.

Then this authoritative doctor came on, white hair and all, and said some people cannot do those things because their brains issue too many commands to the fingers. Like a child who you can't understand because he's trying to get all his thoughts out at once and ends up talking gibberish which even a computer couldn't untangle.

I can't say I enjoyed seeing how they cured the violinist. They put a milliliter of a gram of a deadly poison, curare, into the violinist's fingers and killed some of the nerves so the brain's commands wouldn't scatter all over the place but channeled them all down one corridor so now he's playing just as well as he did 10 years before. They never showed what they did for the guy with the hammer.

Not that I'm going to try and fix my clumsiness with tools the same way. First of all, it would mean more work around the house and I have become used to being a slob. It's just better to let the professionals do the work.

Not only that, if I ever had the treatment done on me as sure as leaves grow gold and brown in autumn someone would foul up, put a little too much poison in the needle and let it seep back through to my brain which has enough trouble right now doing everything it's supposed to do anyway.

But at least I can tell my fix-everything friends I'm not in their class because my brain is too active. I'll intimate subtly it only means I'm smarter than they are.

They won't believe it, but I can't think of a finer excuse for clumsiness.

Support Group For Separated Meets Sunday

CARE FOR YOUR CONTACTS

Keeping your contact lenses clean not only helps you see better but makes your eyes more comfortable and less likely to become irritated or infected. Unless you have extended-wear lenses or disposables, daily care is essential.

First step is to wash your hands before handling lenses. Daily cleaning with an appropriate cleanser removes protein deposits and other debris from the lens. Rub gently on each side for about 10 seconds. Rinse with saline to remove cleanser and debris before disinfecting. Check expiration dates on eye-care products.

Disinfecting works to kill any microorganisms on the lens that might cause infection. After a number of hours (follow instructions carefully), the disinfectant solution is neutralized, the lenses are rinsed and are ready to wear.

Once a week, use an enzymatic cleaner that can break up the protein deposits that daily cleaning misses.

MR. AND MRS. BARRY ALLEN WOLF
(She is the former Miss Margaret Ann DiSalvi)

Miss DiSalvi Bride Of Barry Allen Wolf

Miss Margaret Ann DiSalvi, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. Daniel DiSalvi of Westfield, was married on Saturday, October 17, to Barry Allen Wolf of Voorhees, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wolf of Willingboro.

Officiating at the morning ceremony at First United Methodist Church of Westfield were the Reverend David F. Harwood and the Reverend Benjamin O. Gould. A reception followed at the Beaver Brooke Country Club in Clinton.

Known as Margie to her friends, the bride wore a bluish pink silk gown with a beaded lace bodice and lace appliques on the tulle skirt. She wore her mother's headpiece, which was a crown of seed pearls. The bride carried a bouquet of ivory roses and pink bouvardia.

Miss Debbie Lynn Wolf of Willingboro, the sister of the groom, was the maid of honor, and Mrs. Joanne DiSalvi of Green Bay, Wisconsin, the sister-in-law of the bride, was the bridal attendant. They wore ivory lace-trimmed, long-sleeved, button-down jackets and carried bouquets of rubrum lilies and iris.

Serving as best man was Charles Wolf of Voorhees, the brother of the groom, and the groomsmen were Thomas DiSalvi of Green Bay, and Army Lieutenant Lawrence DiSalvi of Germany, brothers of the bride.

Miss Katherine DiSalvi, the niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a bluish pink silk shantung dress with touches of ivory lace and carried a basket of daisies, pink bouvardia and purple statice.

The ring bearer was Master Christopher DiSalvi, the nephew of the bride.

Serving as greeters were Mrs. Linda Ferrol of Hammond, Indiana, and Mrs. Vicky Schindler of Trenton.

The bride is a graduate of Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School and Kean College in Union, where she majored in Occupational Therapy. She currently is the Director of Occupational Therapy at the Good Shepherd Home-Raker Center in Allentown, Pennsylvania.

The groom is a graduate of John F. Kennedy High School in Willingboro, and Kean College, where he majored in Occupational Therapy. He currently is the clinical manager of the Back-To-Work Program at John F. Kennedy Medical Center in Edison.

Following a wedding trip to Barbados, the couple resides in Allentown.

Newark Academy To Open House February 6

An admissions open house and tour of Newark Academy in Livingston, "Invest 90 Minutes in Your Child's Future," will be held on Saturday, February 6, from 10 to 11:30 a.m., at the academy at 91 South Orange Avenue.

Prospective students and their parents will be able to meet with the Headmaster, Dr. Allan Strand, with faculty members, and with current parents and students for an overview of the opportunities offered at the school.

A program for parents will include discussions with teachers, coaches and current parents involved in the academic, athletic and arts programs. At the same time, prospective students will be able to go to the library to meet current students of the school, participate in small-group discussions and enjoy refreshments.

Program highlights will include a presentation on the International Baccalaureate program and a tour of the new 20,000-square-foot Elizabeth B. McCraw Arts Center.

Founded in 1774, the academy is an independent co-educational country day school with 520 students in the sixth through 12th grade located on a 66-acre campus.

Newark Academy is the only school in New Jersey authorized to grant the International Baccalaureate diploma which prepares students for admission to universities and colleges both within and outside the United States.

The school's curriculum includes advanced-placement courses in 16 academic subjects as well as English as a Second Language.

For further information, please telephone Fred McCaughan, Director of Admissions, at 1-201-992-7000.

gether," emphasizes the many ingredients that make Girl Scouting possible: Girls, parents, volunteers and program.

Annual Giving contributions enable the council to serve more than 7,300 Girl Scouts in 24 communities in Union, Middlesex and Somerset Counties, including Westfield.

Donations help maintain Camp Hoover as well as offer special opportunities for girls to lead, learn and explore beyond the troop setting, to recruit leaders and train them, to maintain standards that ensure the safety of girls and adult volunteers and to provide a staff to advise, support and offer one-on-one consultation services and training for volunteers in all communities.

Those interested in supporting Girl Scouting should telephone Mrs. Martha Daly at 232-3236 at the Girl Scout Service Center.

Miss Karey Harwood, Mr. Wood to Take Vows

The Reverend and Mrs. David F. Harwood of Westfield announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Karey Allison Harwood of Chicago, to Wesley Swain Wood of Chicago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Wood of Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

The bride-to-be graduated from Westfield High School in 1988 and from Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut last year with honors in English. She is employed as a research associate in medical ethics and health policy by the American Medical Association.

Her fiancé, a 1988 graduate of Mount Tabor High School in Winston-Salem, graduated from Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. last year, where he was a government major and a member of Phi Beta Kappa national academic honor society.

He is employed by Bell, Boyd and Lloyd as a paralegal.

The couple plans to wed on Saturday, August 7.

Funding Shortfalls Cause Complaints to Freeholders

are at risk of returning to much more costly hospital care.

Also, funds for victims of abuse, mostly women and children, "will be sharply reduced," she added.

Mrs. Phipps said the costs of community-based mental health and services are less than 20 per cent of the cost of hospitalization.

"We will either pay for it now and pay less or we will pay later and pay more in the future," Mrs. Phipps noted. Freeholder Chairman, Miss Linda-Lee Kelly, said she and the board are aware of the concerns in the budget without regard to third-party funding. She said the Freeholders will be making recommendations on funding for these programs.

Rahway Councilman William Wnuck addressed the Freeholders on the Rahway City Council's continued opposition to the county's resource recovery plant currently under construction in Rahway.

Mr. Wnuck said the council recently passed several ordinances and resolutions concerning resource recovery. One ordinance prohibits the incineration of recyclable materials in the city. Another resolution seeks approval of a referendum on mass-burn incinerators.

He said the Rahway Council hopes to have approval for a referendum by May.

The Councilman said his governing body also has passed a measure requesting a change in the design of the incinerator to eliminate the ammonia injection system.

Councilman Wnuck also said a resolution was passed that seeks a change in the Union County Utilities Authority whereby Rahway members of the Union County Concerned Citizens, a Rahway-based group adamantly opposed to the incinerator, would be allowed to be members of the authority.

The Councilman said the Rahway governing body favors a referendum to be placed on election ballots on this matter.

He added that United States Senator William "Bill" Bradley has agreed to visit the Rahway-based incinerator at the urging of citizens groups.

Mrs. Joanne Eash, a member of Concerned Citizens of Union County, voiced her objections to the continued construction of the resource recovery plant.

"Our children's lives are at stake and this Freeholder board is doing nothing to get a lead-screening program in effect. They have done absolutely nothing about the resolution passed by the City of Rahway, a resolution passed in 1992 to halt construction until a feasibility study can be completed," said Mrs. Eash.

Mrs. Eash told the board the citizen group has sought help from newly-sworn-in Vice President Albert Gore to get an investigation and hearing on the incinerator permitting process and other related processes.

"I hope the Freeholder Board finally will open their eyes and care about the people," said Mrs. Eash.

Legal Secretaries To Meet Tuesday

The Union County Legal Secretaries Association will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, January 26, at 6 p.m., at Sinclair's Restaurant at 240 North Avenue, Westfield.

The speakers for the evening will be two investigators from the Union County Prosecutor's Office.

All secretaries, attorneys, members of the bench and bar and friends may attend.

Reservations or information may be had by telephoning 527-4500.

Symphony to Introduce New Tenor to the Area

The Westfield Symphony Orchestra's annual opera-in-concert program will introduce tenor Richard di Renzi to concertgoers in this part of the state.

Mr. di Renzi will sing the role of Turiddu in Mascagni's Cavalleria Rusticana at the concert on Saturday, February 6, at the Presbyterian Church in Westfield at 140 Mountain Avenue. Music Director Brad Keimach will lead a pre-concert discussion at 7 p.m. in Westminster Hall. The concert, which will begin at 8 p.m., is being funded in part by symphony Board of Directors members, John J. McCormack, 3rd.

Mr. di Renzi is a native of Somerville and has sung with all the major opera companies in New Jersey. He also has appeared in London's Royal Festival Hall. This year he will debut with the Opera Orchestra of New York and Greater Miami Opera, where he will sing the lead role of Don Jose in Carmen.

Tickets for this concert are $19, $16 for seniors and $10 for students and may be purchased at the following outlets in Westfield—Lancaster, Ltd., Rorden Realty, Town Bookstore, Weichert Realtors and Turner World Travel.

For further information, please telephone the symphony office at 232-9400. The concert also is made possible through a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts of the Department of State.

Architectural Review Board Elects New Officers

The Westfield Architectural Review Board held its organizational meeting on January 12.

The board was created by ordinance in late 1991 for the purpose of advising the Planning Board on the Board of Adjustment on matters relating to architectural design, landscaping and colors.

The board will meet on the second Monday of each month in the Mayor's Conference Room in the Municipal Building. The public may attend these meetings in order to learn about the activities of the board.

During the organization meeting the following officers for the 1993 term were elected:

William Swooney, Chairman
Robert Algrin, Vice Chairman
Miss Pamela S. McClure, Secretary

Other members are: Mrs. Marilyn Shields, Mrs. Nancy Priest and Jay Biren.

In addition to dealing with general business matters at the January 12 meeting, the board also discussed the ShopRite proposal submitted last month. The board met with the General Counsel for Village Supermarkets, the owners of the proposed market, and the architects on the proposed project.

Discussion centered around the comments submitted by the board in December and focused on the proposed aesthetics of the building, provision for frontyard setback, landscaping enhancement and facade signage.

The architects agreed to consider the board's suggestions and resubmit plans for the site.

The next meeting of the board is scheduled for Monday, February 8, at 7 p.m.

IN CONCERT... Harpsichordist Kenneth Cooper will join violinist Ani Kavafian and cellist Carter Brey in a program of Baroque music on Saturday, January 23, and, again, on Sunday, January 24. The mostly music concert on January 23 will be held at the Prospect Presbyterian Church at 646 Prospect Street, Maplewood, and the January 24 concert will take place at Temple Emanu-El at 756 East Broad Street, Westfield. Both concerts will begin at 8 p.m. For additional information and reservations, please call 1-201-762-8486. Tickets are $15 and $8 for students.

There will be no pickup on the Northside on Thursday, November 25. Residents are reminded to set out their recyclables by 7:30 a.m. the day they are scheduled for collection. Residents should prepare their materials according to the following guideline:

• NEWSPAPERS — must be clean and tied in bundles that are no more than 12 inches thick. The bundles may not include paper bags, magazines, telephone books or junk mail.

• GLASS BOTTLES AND JARS — must be well-rinsed with all caps and lids removed. Glass must be placed at the curb in a sturdy, reusable container. Only bottles and jars will be collected. No windows, glass, dishes, pyrex, mirrors or crystal.

• CORRUGATED CARDBOARD — must be clean, flattened and tied in bundles. No paper bags, magazines, telephone books, junk mail or newspapers will be collected.

• PLASTIC BOTTLES — must be rinsed well with all caps and lids removed. All bottles should be flattened. Only plastic bottles that contain pourable liquid, such as milk, soda, juice or detergent will be accepted. No squeeze bottles, packaging, plastic wrap or containers holding food or hazardous materials, such as motor oil or antifreeze, will be collected. Acceptable materials will have a PET, PETE or HDPE mark or the number 1 or 2 in a triangle imprinted on the bottom of the bottle.

• ALUMINUM AND TIN CANS — must be well rinsed and placed in a sturdy, reusable container. Paint cans and spray cans will not be collected.

• MIXED PAPER — must be tied in bundles no higher than 12 inches. Materials placed in plastic bags will not be collected.

Acceptable materials include magazines, glossy catalogs, coupon inserts, envelopes, color news inserts, sweepstakes forms, notebook paper, construction paper, real estate listings, mixed color paper and photocopy and fax paper. Unacceptable materials include food boxes and chipboard. Newspaper and corrugated boxes cannot be combined with mixed paper.

Washington School Ready For 45th Production

Friday, February 5, and Saturday, February 6, will mark the 45th annual production of the Washington School show.

This year's show, "Boogie Woogie Bean Counter of Company B," written by Louis Carlou, will be presented at Roosevelt Intermediate School.

The show is comprised of an all-volunteer cast of approximately 150 parents, teachers and the school's Principal Kenneth Wark.

The tradition of staging a yearly show began at Grant School in 1949, when a small-scale talent show was produced to encourage attendance at Parent-Teacher Association meetings.

In 1950, the Grant School Board voted to make the talent night an annual fund-raiser. When Grant School closed in 1980, nearby Washington School decided to continue the tradition. Over the years, an ever-increasing audience has necessitated a move to Roosevelt School for production performances.

This annual show is Washington's major fund-raiser, with the net proceeds making up the total budget for the 1993-1994 school year.

This year's cast includes:

- |                 |                    |
|-----------------|--------------------|
| James Szeyler   | Mrs. Farn Dupre    |
| Robert Albino   | Mrs. June Porcann  |
| Richard Neckson | Mrs. Wendy Omar    |
| Kenneth Mirsky  | Mrs. Donna Neckson |
| Peter Warren    | Mrs. Lauren Flatt  |
| Harold Star     | Mrs. Carla Larson  |
| Mrs. Nancy Lau  | Mrs. Norma Nemeo   |

Mr. Wark will appear in the play as Dr. Coldhands with Washington School teachers appearing as his nurses.

This year's set design is under the direction of Mrs. Linda Tomasso and Richard Solon.

Tickets went on sale at the offices of Barrett and Crain Realtors at 43 Elm Street, Westfield, beginning yesterday.

Additionally, they may be purchased at the door on the afternoon and evenings of the performance or by telephoning 233-4793.

Cancer Support Unit To Meet Monthly

Insight, a professionally-led monthly support group for cancer patients and their families, is being sponsored by Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center, the American Cancer Society and the Jewish Community Center of Central New Jersey.

The group meets on the first and third Thursday of each month from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Jewish Community Center on Martine Avenue in Scotch Plains. There is no fee.

For more information, please call 668-2244 or 889-8800.

County Historians Map Program on Markers

Mrs. Jean-Rae Turner, the Co-Chairman of the Monuments Survey Committee and the Secretary of the Union County Historical Society, will present a program at 3 p.m. on Sunday, February 14, on the survey, "Union County in Brass and Stone."

The meeting will be held at the Abraham Clark House on West Ninth at Chestnut Street, Roselle. A business meeting of the society's Trustees has been called for 2 p.m. before the program by Arnold H. McClow, the President.

The society initiated the study of Union County markers two years ago. The first monuments found in the county are the boundary stones for Union County's borders.

The people of Rahway erected a monument to Abraham Clark in the old Rahway Cemetery in 1848. Mr. Clark is the only signer of the Declaration of Independence who resided north of the Raritan River. He was known as the "Poor Man's Lawyer." The meeting place for the society is in a replica of his farmhouse.

The replica was erected in 1940, by the Abraham Clark Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Sons of the American Revolution.

In addition to being the meeting place for the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Sons of the American Revolution and the historical society, the house also serves as state headquarters for the New Jersey Sons of the American Revolution. The talk will be illustrated by colored slides taken by Richard T. Koles.

HELPING HANDS...Among McKinley School students who recently aided an elementary school in Naranja, Florida school which was damaged by Hurricane Andrew, shown, are: Daniel Lippman, Na'Ve Hurtt, Ariel Garfinkel, Emily Colvin, Katherine Lechner, Layna Radnick, Mecca Pettiford, Moe Bluta, Denise O'Connor, Michael Duels, Mikaela Enriquez and Christine Genova.

McKinley Students Aid School in Florida

Through the Westfield and Mountainside Red Cross, McKinley School in Westfield has adopted an elementary school in Naranja, Florida.

The Red Cross contacted Dade County officials and received a list of schools in Dade County and the special needs for them from Hurricane Andrew.

Naranja Elementary had "career laboratories" set up in a section of the school room for teaching children the various occupations such as electrician, plumber and other occupations. The hurricane destroyed the laboratories and McKinley School started a canister drive for the school.

A total of $210.86 was donated to the Florida school along with letters and drawings from the McKinley students in kindergarten and second and fifth grades.

A hollowed-out stone was one of the first lamps. Ancient peoples used plant fibers as a wick to burn fat placed in the hollow.

Many People Speak At Air Noise Hearings

Editor's Note: The following article was submitted by Mrs. Pamela Barsam-Brown, the Director of the Newark Runway No. 22 Coalition, which includes Westfield resident.

The high degree of public interest in the ongoing hearings on aircraft routes over New Jersey, is evidenced by the large turnout of public officials, and the diversity of the participants attending.

These hearings are being held by the Federal Aviation Administration to collect public feedback on a document it published, the Draft Environmental Impact Study. This study was forced upon the agency after public outcry which resulted when the agency started to implement its Expanded East Coast Plan in 1987. The purpose of the plan was to reduce delays at the area's three major airports by creating numerous new air routes over areas of New Jersey which previously had little or no air traffic.

At the Cranford hearing on January 5, Senator Frank R. Lautenberg delivered the keynote speech. He denounced the scorn with which the agency has treated New Jersey's public officials and citizens, and called the report's contents "unacceptable."

Senator William "Bill" Bradley's statement deplored the agency's lack of supporting data for its claim ocean routing would not be feasible.

Other public officials testified the document would not pass simple tests of methodological soundness. Councilman William McClintock of Scotch Plains, pointed out the entire Draft Environmental Impact Statement had been done "backwards": The study was to evaluate the effects of the implementation of the plan. Conducting the study after the fact, the agency then managed to interpret the current plan as the status quo, in effect canceling the "no-change" option which every impact study is supposed to consider.

This logic leads to the statement in the agency's handout, "Consequently, the plan as defined represents both the proposed action and the no action alternatives," the Councilman said.

Mayor, Mrs. Joan Papen of Scotch

Plains, noted in conducting the study, agency workers had installed sound-measurement equipment only in the most quiet areas and then when this was discovered they at first refused to change the locations.

Assemblywoman, Mrs. Maureen Ogden, gave instances of the flagrant bias against New Jersey, which runs throughout the document when alternatives are considered.

George Brown, the Deputy Mayor of Scotch Plains, using the agency's own data, pointed out their goal of reducing delays at Newark airport had not been attained with the plan.

Numerous other public officials represented their constituents at the Cranford hearings, such as Mayor Daniel Aschenbach from Cranford, as well as some of his Commissioners, Fanwood's Mayor, Mrs. Linda Stendor and Council President, Mrs. Maryanne Connelly; Scotch Plains Council members, Mrs. Irene Schmidt and Alan M. Augustine, a Linden Councilman, Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger of Westfield, State Senator Donald T. DiFranco and Representative Robert D. Frank.

In addition, testimony was heard from citizens of Westfield, Fanwood, Scotch Plains, Cranford, Linden, Roselle, Monmouth, Chatham, Newark and other neighboring towns.

Aside from the misinformation, and lack of technical data for agency claims, a number of citizens deplored the fact the study completely failed to address such important issues such as safety implications of flying aircraft over densely-populated communities, health and human disorders directly related to frequent, loud aircraft, declining property values and the effects of flights under 3,000 feet.

Readers may:
• Send comments by Friday, March 5, on what needs to be addressed in the final Environmental Impact Statement to: Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the Chief Counsel, Docket No. 26987, 800 Independence Avenue Southwest, Washington, D.C. 20591
• Attend the public hearings on Tuesday, January 26, from 1 to 5 p.m. or 7 to 11 p.m., Hyatt Regency, 2 Albany Street, New Brunswick.

FIRST CUSTOMERS...Westfield High School seniors Christopher Pansy, Seth Cohen and Lance Kovac, sample food for the Quarter-a-Dip Dinner to be held on Saturday, January 23, for the high school's Bash '93.

Bash Committee Plans Quarter-a-Dip Dinner

The Westfield High School Bash '93 committee will hold a Quarter-a-Dip Dinner in the high school cafeteria on Saturday, January 23, prior to the Kearny versus Westfield varsity basketball game.

The dinner will be held from 6 until 7:20 p.m. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Students, members of the community, and those planning to attend the basketball game may attend the dinner. Admission to the dinner will be $2 at the door.

A Quarter-a-Dip Dinner consists of a buffet with many different entrees, salads, pastas and desserts on it. Patrons will pay a quarter a "scoop" for each item they choose from the buffet. Food is being cooked and donated by parents, teachers and Bash '93 volunteers.

All proceeds from the event go toward funding the all-night graduation party that is co-sponsored by the Optimist Club of Westfield, the Westfield High School Parent-Teacher Organization and the Westfield Recreation Department. The Bash '93 party will be held following graduation.

Day Care Center Hosts Three Children's Shows

The Westfield Day Care Center will host theater for youngsters by showcasing a special performance of the Shoestring Players in Love, Magic and Brusselsprouts at the Westfield High School Auditorium on Sunday, January 24, at 2 p.m.

The Shoestring Players is a professional touring ensemble of eight actors and one percussionist which performs for young audiences.

Their production of Love, Magic and Brusselsprouts will showcase three comic folktales from Sweden, Java and Russia.

In Lars, My Lad! the story includes a clever young man, a vain princess, an invisible helper and an angry king. Everything goes wrong and turns out right.

In Into the Jungle, Princess Scree chases Prince Sedona into the jungle. The barbarians chase her, the gods chase the barbarians, a mighty battle is fought and true love wins.

And Baba Yaga is a farce of a good little Russian girl, a hedgehog who isn't a hedgehog and Baba Yaga, the foolish witch of Old Russia. All this is topped off with an intermission where the cast will have all of the children in the audience involved in the storytelling.

During the performance 10 young performers will use only their imagination and energy to create seascapes, fountains, palaces, animals and forests to the accompaniment of a percussive score.

The result will be a mixture of mime, choreography, chants, song and dance superimposed on a narrative.

Tickets are $5 in advance and $6 at the door and can be purchased at The Little Shop on the Corner, Rorden Realty and the Quimby Street Book Store in Westfield.

All proceeds from the ticket sales will benefit the Westfield Day Care Center.

For more information, please telephone 232-6717.

Conference Proposal Studied by Board

to have people understand we do put a lot of thought into the calendar."
The calendar was unanimously adopted on first reading.
Provoking discussion and concern was the approval for the Westfield High School Marching Band, Colorguard and Jazz Band trip to Orlando, Florida in early April.

Although there are three scheduled fund-raisers to defray student costs, the concern is there may be some students who simply cannot raise sufficient funds to participate.

"One can never be sure a child who needs money gets it," pointed out Dr. Smith.

He reiterated he is ambivalent about trips of this nature, and in fact, has refused two trips that involved international travel because of expense and lost school time.

Former band leader parents assured the board the practice in the past has been to provide scholarships from the parents to students who have demonstrated initiative in raising funds but come up short, and indicated there was no doubt this practice would continue.

Also approved on first reading were revised courses of study that deal with course proficiencies in languages at the high school level.

These mandate the students should have acquired knowledge, according to state guidelines.

These guidelines are specific even down to the chapters studied in the textbooks designated for the course. The languages are Italian, French, German and Spanish with Latin being governed by a different guideline.

Nothing is worth more than this day. —Goethe

On another matter, Councilman LaPorta presented the Laws and Rules Committee with several suggestions he said would improve the procedures for making appointments to advisory boards.

He suggested:
• Including all council members in discussions on appointments
• Having council members review all resumes of those under consideration

• Establishing term limits on boards and commissions

• Rescheduling appointments to the first Tuesday in February to give council members time to consider appointees

• Asking local political parties to voluntarily decline money from full-time, paid town employees and reviewing the practice of such employees contributing to local political parties

• Asking what part the Sunshine Law plays in council appointment considerations

PEARL TWO... Mrs. Betty Birdsell will demonstrate knitting as done in early New Jersey on Sunday at the Miller-Cory House Museum.

Two Factions Seek Control; Or Are They Really Two?

Editor's Note: The following article was written by Lester G. Murphy, a chronicler of the tragedies which have befallen the Kennedy family.

In his book The New World Order, A. Ralph Epperson names two basic factions in contention for control of human life. He has done extensive research and made insightful observations. His treatise, however, fails to cover a third faction now contending for "control" of human life. That faction is what might be called, "The Consummation of the Secret Purpose for Which Christ Came."

The two factions Mrs. Epperson mentions are, first, one composed of several groups, all with basically the same motives and objections: The Masons, the Illuminati, the Communists, the Humanists and the New Ager. The second, the faction Mr. Epperson advocates, is traditional Christianity, which, he claims, is the targeted prey of the first faction.

Because groups such as the Masons and Illuminati have existed for some time, especially the former, who, he claims, trace their lineage to ancient Egyptian mysteries, we can assume this polarity between Judaism-Christianity and its foes has roots in the far distant past.

Conceivably, even before Judaism and Christianity appeared there existed the rudiments of a struggle of this kind.

The New World Order could really only be an attempt, perhaps even a dying attempt, of something atavistic and with an origin deep within Man.

The fruit of Eden was indeed an ambivalent mouthful when Eve bit into it. For in biting she had to taste both good and evil, the ingredients of the fruit of knowledge.

Because these two forces are all-pervasive, and apparently were in the fruit of Eden, it is conceivable these two opposing factions have varying degrees of both good and not so good, of evil and not so evil principles and procedures.

Remember the words of the Lord in Isaiah 45:7: "I form the light and create darkness: I make peace, and create evil: I the Lord do all these things." The opposites are created by God.

These two factions must be seen and understood, therefore, as constituents of the duality of life, which is indeed a system composed of many kinds of opposites.

Certainly, opposites exist in man. Physically, the body is symmetrical, a structure or system of opposites, as seen in the fact we have two sides with right- and left-hand members in various pairs.

Our psyche, too, is symmetrical, and to a large degree is involved with the time concept: Past and future being opposites with a central element of present.

Carl Jung, in his study of the past and particularly of the alchemists, saw the need to unite the opposites and said of modern man, "The great problem facing modern man is the need to unify the opposites."

Mr. Jung, the psychiatrist, could have had in mind the unification of those opposites that are in the human psyche and which we have seen to manifest in the polarity of good and evil, of Christianity and those forces that would oppose and destroy it.

Perhaps there are good principles and procedures in both factions that, combined, would lead to unification. If evil is created by God, perhaps there is some good in it, some good in that faction which Mr. Epperson claims intends to destroy Christianity.

Perhaps with its threat to traditional Christianity, that "evil" faction will serve a good purpose by prodding reluctant Christians to accept "The Consummation of the Secret and Sacred Purpose for Which Christ Came" rather than be annihilated.

Despite all of his praiseworthy research and exposing of New Age despots, the fact remains Mr. Epperson is unaware of the third faction now contending for control of human life; if we can say the Creator who created human life has the skill to control it. For by that third faction, the Creator intends to assume control.

If that Creator made man free, with free will, does that Creator now nullify that freedom, seeking to make us "slaves to divine will"?

For of the three factions from which man is to choose, that one which the Christian must choose to survive — namely, the third — is rooted in the mind of God.

No, man is not a slave to the almighty will but still has the free decision of choosing one of the three contending factions.

Why is the second faction no longer the recommended choice? While traditional Christianity was a transformation of Judaism, it was not complete at its inception and is not complete now.

Christianity is insufficient for the spiritual needs of the psyche it altered through the ages. Christ came to cause great change, which produced our world of modern science and the great increase of true knowledge science brought to man. The myth of Eden with its fruit of the knowledge of good and evil, of the opposites of life, has ripened into reality.

This great change in the psyche developed man's mental nature but left the development incomplete.

Now Christ is coming a second time to cause further development, so Man may evolve spiritually and inherit the kingdom of God, which is within the psyche.

This will happen when man learns how to unify the opposites of conscious and unconscious minds through techniques of Yoga that make possible the interiorization of consciousness, so the conscious awareness experiences that inner kingdom.

The Second Coming is now in motion, but at present only fluctuates forward and backward, waiting for mankind to make the free decision of whether or not to accept and follow what the Creator has sent in this century.

The new teachings that will make it possible for modern man to unify the opposites are indeed available to those who will freely choose to accept them and to follow the path of "The Consummation of the Secret Purpose for Which Christ Came."

Will traditional Christianity accept the transformed religion of Christ and thereby cause the Second Coming to move steadily forward?

Or, will good Christians do nothing and thereby let evil have its way? Remember, not to choose is also a choice; which choice will you make?

Twenty-Fourth Amendment Outlawed Taxes at Polls

Editor's Note: The following is one in a series of articles on the Bill of Rights and subsequent amendments to the United States Constitution.

It was written by former United States Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, the Chairman of the Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.

This week's article is on the 24th Amendment.

The 24th Amendment, ratified on January 23, 1964, eliminated the last major barrier to equal access to the ballot box in federal elections by outlawing "poll taxes."

A poll tax is a flat tax levied upon a class of persons within a certain jurisdiction without regard to a person's wealth or ability to pay and is required to gain access to the voting booth.

Because poll taxes effectively barred poorer citizens from voting, they were used in the states — particularly in the South — to defeat the purpose of the 15th Amendment and prevent blacks and other minorities from voting.

Between 1939 and 1963, legislative efforts to abolish poll taxes were made in every session of Congress, but they all failed. Finally, in 1964, the growing success of the Civil Rights Movement made it possible to secure passage of an amendment prohibiting poll taxes in all federal elections.

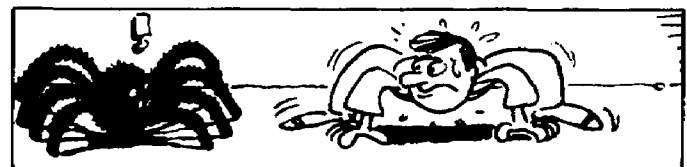

At the time the 24th Amendment was ratified, five states still imposed a poll tax. Following ratification, four states continued to levy a poll tax in state and local elections.

This state of affairs did not continue for long, however, because the Supreme Court soon ruled denying citizens the right to vote for failure to pay a poll tax violated the equal-protection clause of the 14th Amendment, effectively abolishing poll taxes in national and state elections, in Harper versus Virginia Board of Elections in 1966.

By guaranteeing citizens equal access to the voting booth irrespective of wealth, the 24th Amendment made it possible for the political process to more closely reflect the judgment of all the people.

Dalmatian puppies are pure white when they are born. Their spots appear after about three or four weeks.

The tarantella, a popular Italian folk dance, gets its name from the city of Taranto. According to folklore, the people there danced the tarantella as a cure for the bite of the tarantula spider.

Animal Adoption Group Plans Open House Sunday

People for Animals, a non-profit, all-volunteer animal welfare organization, in association with other animal welfare groups, will hold a pet adoption open house on Sunday, January 24, from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Due to the large number of animals available, the event will be held at Hay Hill Kennels at 905 North Washington Avenue, Green Brook, one mile south of Route No. 22. The kennels has donated the use of its facility for the day.

To assure a successful adoption, families should ask questions and let the entire family participate in the adoption decision. Some practical questions to ask about a prospective pet include: Will they get along with other pets? Can small children and older family members handle the new pet? Is there enough room in your home and yard? Will someone be at home to properly care for the new pet? Can the family handle the additional food, shots and potential health-care expenses.

All animals are fully inoculated, veterinarian checked and, in most cases, spayed or neutered.

For information, please telephone 355-6374 or 241-4954.

Delbarton Fathers Plan Benefit Dinner-Dance

The 39th annual Delbarton dinner-dance, sponsored by the Fathers and Friends of Delbarton School in Morristown, will be held on Saturday, February 6, at the Madison Hotel in Convent Station.

The Rod and Regina Keller Scholarship Fund for Delbarton School will receive all proceeds from the black-tie event.

The evening will begin at 6:30 o'clock with a cocktail reception to be followed at 8 o'clock by dinner and dancing.

The highlight of the evening will be the drawing for a choice of prizes, either $20,000 in gold or one of three trip options: A flight on the Concord and accommodations in castles in Ireland and England, an Australian tour or a family cruise. The raffle also will benefit the Keller Scholarship Fund.

The evening again will be sparked by a Grand Event that will feature $6,000 in prizes, including a $4,000 mink coat donated in part by Flemington Furs; a Caribbean trip for two and a videocassette recorder.

Everyone who purchases a dinner dance ticket will be eligible for this drawing, which will take place at the dance.

Among members of the dance committee is John Hug of Westfield.

Museum Will Feature Embroidery, Knitting

The Miller-Cory House Museum, at 614 Mountain Avenue, Westfield, will feature the crafts of crewel embroidery and knitting on Sunday, January 24, from 2 to 4 p.m. The last tour will begin at 3:30 p.m.

Crewel is an early form of embroidery worked in woolen yarn. Mrs. Jinny Morbeck will demonstrate and explain this type of needlework.

Using wooden needles and handspun yarn, Mrs. Betty Birdsell will demonstrate knitting as practiced in New Jersey during the 18th and 19th centuries. Both the first Miller and first Cory families to own the 100-acre farm had eight children. Numerous knitted stockings, shawls and other items would have been needed and well used by these families. People living on farms often spun and dyed their own materials for both crewelwork and knitting.

Other aspects of life during the winter will be explained by docents in period dress while they guide visitors through the rooms of the farmhouse with furnishings based on the 1802 inventory of Joseph Cory's possessions.

A close-up presentation of a Colonial cooking technique will be given GOING UP... The United Fund of Westfield has raised $541,900, or 82 per cent, of its goal of $660,000. "It takes everyone of us to make the pieces fit and to move the thermometer to 100 per cent. The United Fund of Westfield still is the best way for Westfielders to help the most people," a spokesman for the fund said. Pledge cards and contributions may be sent to 301 North Avenue, West, Westfield, 07090.

by members of the museum's cooking committee in the main house. The Gift Shop contains many books on early American living as well as cookbooks and unique craft items.

Another Volunteer Training Program will take place in the early spring. Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer may attend.

Councilman Greco Attacks Story on Alleged Assault

Editor's Note: The following is a statement from First Ward Councilman Norman N. Greco which was supplied to The Westfield Leader at Tuesday night's conference meeting of the Town Council.

The subject and tone of the headline article in last week's issue of The Westfield Record did a serious disservice to the town.

The opening line converted an allegation of a sexual attack in the business district into a "fact," something it was not known to be then.

Nor was there any mention of the ongoing investigation of the matter by local police, a statement which establishes there is perhaps more to learn about the veracity of the allegation. These significant omissions misled readers into a conclusion the incident and allegations had been found valid by police investigators.

I fully realize there are deadline pressures imposed upon weekly newspapers which are more severe than those faced by daily newspapers.

Obviously, if a story misses the issue of a weekly paper due off the press two days hence, that story must then wait a full week, whereas a daily can hold a story of which they are skeptical for a day to permit a more complete investigation by authorities.

This imposes on weeklies the need to be particularly careful in the wording of late-breaking stories not to mention the need for more investigation, for example, and to make clear an allegation is as yet uncorroborated or unsubstantiated. In this instance the investigation was far from complete and the allegation was dubious from the outset.

The main point is the story raised an unjustified alarm among citizens concerning their safety in our business district.

For several days after the story appeared local merchants and other professionals reported a marked decline in customer traffic downtown.

The recession has done quite enough harm to our local businesses without further aggravation.

Much thought and effort have been expended over a long period to lighten security and police patrols downtown, and elsewhere, by Chief Anthony J. Scutti, and the very low incidence of crime in the district testifies to the effectiveness of this continuing campaign. Citizens have a considerably higher degree of safety in Westfield and our downtown than in any of the numerous shopping malls in this or surrounding counties.

The alleged assault which was the basis for this headline piece has now been discredited as a fraud by further police investigation.

We can only hope this fact will be as prominently reported in the next issue of The Westfield Record and appropriate restraint and language might be used in reporting any such bizarre event in the future as a means of preventing unnecessary alarms of this kind.

Do not stand in a place of danger trusting in miracles.

The Choral Art Society Performs Verdi and Puccini

By HENRY WYATT
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

The Choral Art Society's concert of January 16 presented a juxtaposition of the rare and the familiar, the labor of youth and the fruit of age.

The rarity was a Mass by the 18-year-old Giacomo Puccini, composed as a graduation thesis during his last student year at the conservatory at Lucca. It was only four decades ago that it was discovered in Lucca by an American scholar. Yet it remains a rarity in performance; no recording will be found in the current Schwann catalogue, and with good reason.

From time to time student works appear which merit a secure place in the repertoire. Bizet's Symphony in C and the 1st Symphony of Shostakovich readily come to mind. But most student compositions do not measure up, and in this vast category belongs the Puccini Mass.

It is technically competent for the most part, but structures are needlessly complete, and musical ideas seem insufficiently gestated, and it is not very original. One hears echoes of Verdi, such as the unison choral passages that sound like the Flemish martyrs of Don Carlos, or the intimate string and woodwind scoring from Aida. But the great Verdian fire is lacking and little in this Mass rises to the level of those minor contemporaries of Verdi whose music, outside Italy, is today but the province of specialists and is unlikely to be revived by major opera houses.

The few dabs of orchestral color were not illuminated by the generally lackluster playing. For most of this concert it seemed that the orchestra was merely along for the ride.

Vocal matters fared much better. The society's director, Mrs. Evelyn Bloke, knows how to elicit warmth and discipline from her singers, and the chorus sang with firm ensemble. The soloists, tenor Mark Bleeke and bass-baritone Samuel de Palma-Levy, were distinguished. Nevertheless, one wished for more; not only a higher standard of orchestra performance, but wider dynamic contrasts and more energetic tempos would have been welcome. Perhaps some seed of genius, which later as Tosca and Turandot, would have been revealed in Puccini's graduation thesis.

Also performed were Verdi's Four Sacred Pieces, which he composed at the age of 85, three years before he died. The depth of spirituality is far greater in this music than in the Puccini work and was especially well served in the two motet movements, the moving setting of Ave Maria and the Laudi alla vergine Maria for female voices. And, despite some intrusive problems of intonation and raw tone from the orchestra, the Stabat Mater was dramatic and stirring. Here, indeed, the society hit its stride, and for the most part the performers were up to Verdi's ageless powers of musical invention and inspiration. As familiar as this music is, those powers never cease to amaze.

retailers, service business owners, residents and civic groups, and all who feel that a healthy, attractive downtown is an asset and benefit to the entire Westfield community.

Mr. Newell noted that the committee decided to recommend the Main Street program because of "its revitalization-through-preservation philosophy, emphasis on strong programs, low program start-up cost and the grassroots nature of the program."

The Special Improvement District option, which provides a stable source of funding through an assessment of the business and property owners of the district agree to pay, might again be considered for funding major downtown capital improvements later. "The Main Street project will be an excellent way to introduce the climate and consensus needed for such development," he added.

Boy Cagers Lose Three; Streak Now at Seven

By ERIC RUBIN
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield Boys' Basketball Team pushed its losing streak to seven games as it fell to three teams this past week. The record now stands at a bleak 1-8.

When asked about the woes of the team this year, senior forward Tri-Captain Rob Moore stated, "We are trying to keep our heads up. Our season has not gone the way we hoped it would, but we are going to keep working hard and we are grateful to our fans and all the support they have been giving us recently."

The week started out on Tuesday when the Blue Devils traveled to East Side. This game didn't go the way the cagers had wanted it to as East Side outshot and outrebounced the Devils on the way to a 63-54 victory for the Red Raiders.

The leading scorer in the game was Westfield senior Mike Comandini, who netted 15 points. Rob Moore also contributed a season-high 12 points.

Westfield then traveled to Scotch Plains, the home of the cagers' biggest rivals.

Westfield took an early first-quarter lead of 14-11 and things were looking good.

Coach Stewart Carey then gave all the starters a breather at the end of the quarter, only leaving in Mike Comandini. This proved to be a pivotal move as the Raiders went on a huge 16-0 run to put them ahead for good.

The cagers kept it close throughout the whole game, mostly by either a four- or five-point margin, but they couldn't close the door on the Raiders.

The closest Westfield got was one point.

This came with 14 seconds remaining in the game and the cagers were controlling the ball.

At 54-53 Mike Comandini dribbled down the court, only to be denied of the shot. He passed off to Moore who, in turn, got fouled. Moore missed the first end of the one-and-one and Scotch Plains grabbed the rebound. Then it was a matter of seconds until time ran out on Westfield. The final score wound up to be 54-53.

In what they thought would heal the wounds of the two previous losses, Westfield had a well-needed home game against the Linden Tigers. The cagers dominated the whole game, never letting the Tigers get closer than an eight-point margin.

Then the comeback began for Linden. They began sinking almost all of their outside shots and dominated the boards both offensively and defensively.

Linden sank a three pointer to tie it and then another to put them ahead 47-44, with about one minute and 30 seconds to go. Those shots proved to be the last of the game as neither team could score in the remaining time.

The Blue Devils threw up two long three pointers with time running out, but both fell short and the final score remained 47-44.

The leading scorer for Westfield was Mike Comandini, who netted 21 points. Moore contributed nine and Mike Cort had eight.

The Devils played a tough Union Catholic team with star Jaime Dec on Tuesday and will play Cranford at 4 p.m. today in Cranford.

Boys' Swim Squad Captures Fourth Pirate Title in a Row

By PETER CATANZARO
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

For the fourth year in a row, the Westfield High School Boy's Swimming Team won the Pirate Invitational Boys Swimming Championships in West Windsor on Saturday. Saturday's victory makes Westfield the only team to ever win the competition four years consecutively.

The Blue Devils finished with 248.5 points to St. Joseph's 213, with A. I.

duPont of Wilmington, Delaware, third at 158 and Pennsbury of Falls Township, Pennsylvania, fourth at 146.

In 1991 and 1992 the Mermen had won the Pirate by clinching the last relay.

Last year, the Blue Devils racked up 301 points to win by a record 112. This year the first-place margin was closer than the score would indicate. With just three events to swim, Westfield held a lead of just 10 points, 171-161.

Because Westfield, the defending state champions, came to Saturday's meet a little short handed, they knew they would need solid contributions from all swimmers entered.

Darren Hertell, the state 100-yard backstroke and 200-yard individual medley champ, pulled big points into Westfield's pot.

He joined Dan Zemsky, Ted Pollack and Tom Mann to win the 200-yard medley relay, then went on to place third in the 200-yard individual medley. Mann's second-place finish in the 100-yard butterfly held Westfield's slim lead over St. Joe's.

Then came the 100-yard backstroke and Hertell showed his skill with a first-place finish for his third Pirate backstroke title.

Teammates Brian Ramsthaler, in fifth, Rusty Schundler, in 10th, and Robbie Schundler, sixth, gave Westfield the breathing room it needed.

The icing on the cake came when Hertell, Pollack, Mann and Tim Smith won the 400-yard freestyle relay in three minutes and 18.91 seconds.

Solo Performances Highlight Track Event

By ADAM BARCAN
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

While stiff competition made scoring points a virtual impossibility for the majority of the teams participating, the Westfield Boys' Track and Field Squad received several fine performances in Saturday's Group No. 4 Relay Championships in Princeton University's Jadwyn Gymnasium.

Powerful Shawnee, Willingboro and Piscataway dualed amongst a field so tight Union County champions Elizabeth could manage but a single sixth-place finish.

The senior trio of Ken Silverman, Chris Blanding and Rishon Williams powered the half-mile and mile-relay teams to performances nearly strong enough to place.

In the half-mile event, each ran his leg in the 24.4 to 24.6-second range as the team was clocked in one minute and 39 seconds. However, the race turned ugly in the anchor leg, as star Jamal Hester pulled his hamstring to hobble to the finish.

Blanding's 54.4-second split paced the mile-relay team to a three minute and 39.7-second finish, as junior Jim Nicoll filled in admirably for the injured Hester with a 54.6-second leg.

Nicoll returned to open the two-mile relay in two minutes and eight seconds. Sophomores Ted Kilcommons and John O'Brien and senior Chris Demasi also helped the squad to a time of eight minutes and 50 seconds.

In a rather busy day, Nicoll returned yet again to lead off the distance-medley team with a two-minute-and-six-second half-mile, while sophomore Marcus Cognetti followed with a 56.6-second quarter-mile leg. Freshman Lawrence Ho and senior Chris Demasi brought the team home in 11 minutes and 19 seconds.

In the meet's shortest race, the senior shuttle hurdle crew of Blanding, Williams, Jeremy Romine and Tom Kenny crossed the line in 34.2 seconds. Romine and Blanding paced the team with respective legs of 7.9 seconds and 8.5 seconds.

Under Coach Jack Martin the team looks to rebound for a strong second half of the season.

Their first chance for victory was yesterday, as they competed in the Union County Individual Championships in Elizabeth's Thomas G. Dunn Athletic Center. The Devils then return to Princeton next Saturday for the university's invitational meet.

Girl Cagers Clawed By Linden Tiger Five

By TUCKER TRIMBLE
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

Occasionally in a conference there is a team so outstanding the other teams can only hope to emerge with their pride intact.

This was the situation on Saturday when the Westfield Blue Devils matched up against Linden and came away with a 73-24 loss.

Linden, ranked third in the state, led right from the start and left Westfield behind in the first quarter. Linden's top scorer hit for 33 points, 17 in the opening quarter, and the Blue Devils ended the half showing only 13 points to Linden's 51.

Second half was more of the same, with Linden posting 22 points and Westfield 11.

Tri-Captain Julia Cerifice, a point guard in her second year as a varsity player, spoke about the game.

"They really outmatched us," she said, pointing out many of Linden's players are continually voted All-State.

"We tried to shut down Tameka Dixon, their main scorer," Cerifice went on, "and she only scored 33 points. She has scored more in other games," the Blue Devil Tri-Captain remarked.

Speaking about the score, Cerifice said, "We tried. We knew they always had been very good. Coach Linda King thinks we played well considering. We weren't that upset because it was a blowout."

Cerifice wrapped up the interview by observing, "We're doing well and we can end up with a good record."

In the game Erin Allebaugh netted seven as Blue Devil high scorer, with Shi-Kia Carter and Anita Prunty each contributing four.

Brooke Wiley threw for three and Andrea Moore, Abby Bomba and Amy Gallagher each showed two points for their team.

After playing nine games out of the season's 20, the Blue Devils posted a record of 4-5 after Saturday's match.

Union Catholic stole the ball from Westfield as the Blue Devils were attempting to tie the game with 30 seconds left, and the Vikings squeaked out a win, 36-34.

In the first quarter, Erin Allebaugh poured in 10 of her 12 points to help her team to a 14-14 tie, but the Blue Devils trailed at the half 23-20.

Going into the fourth quarter Westfield was behind by 10 points, and they tied it late in the game and actually had possession of the ball when Union Catholic made its winning move.

Allebaugh and Amy Gallagher both fouled out in the fourth quarter, leaving Westfield without two of its Tri-Captains.

Allebaugh was high scorer with her 12, Taryn McKenna swished for six, and Andrea Moore and Abby Bomba each had four. Brooke Wiley and Shi-Kia Carter contributed three apiece and Amy Gallagher threw in two.

The Blue Devils' record stands at 4-6. Today they meet Cranford at home.

Girls' Harriers Face Tough Group Contest

By STEPHANIE SNITOW
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

Racing against tough competition, the Westfield Girls' Winter Track Team did not place in the state relay championship held at Princeton last Saturday.

"There were almost 50 schools competing so it is very difficult to place," Head Coach John Martin said.

In the distance medley, a relay consisting of four legs with respective distances of 800 meters, 400 meters, 1,200 meters, and 1,600 meters, the Blue Devils crossed the finish line in 14 minutes and 25 seconds.

Freshman Karen McGuire opened in two minutes and 49.5 seconds, followed by freshman Laura Faulkner, who turned in a 69.5-second time.

In the third leg position, freshman Sharon Gambino ran at four minutes and 21 seconds. Senior Katie Robinson anchored the race with a five-minute, 59-second mile.

The 4-by-200-meter team of sophomore Ahisha Winkler, freshman

Anissa Dujnic, senior Heather Pusich and sophomore Tiffany Hester ran a competitive one minute and 57.2-second relay.

Opening the race, Winkler led off the team with a 28.9-second leg. In the second and third legs, Dujnic and Pusich each turned in a time of 29.7 seconds. Hester sailed in to the finish line at 28.5 seconds.

In the 4-by-400-meter relay event, Winkler, Pusich, sophomore Erin Brown and Hester ran a combined four minutes and 27.9 seconds, less than five seconds behind fifth place.

Winkler came back to lead off the race with a 66.9-second first leg. Pusich and Brown followed with respective times of 66.7 seconds and 67.8 seconds. Hester returned to anchor the team at 65.2 seconds.

"The 4-by-200 and 4-by-400 teams ran their best races of the season. I'm very pleased with that," commented Martin.

The team looks to rebound for the Union County Interscholastic Athletic Association Championships today.

Ten Junior Matmen Earn Medals in Tourney

Ten Westfield junior wrestlers earned medals at the annual Roselle Park Tournament.

More than 500 wrestlers from the region competed in the tournament on January 16 and 17.

Pacing the squad was ace grappler Onur Tezucar, defending his crown with four wins including three first-period pins.

The fastest pin was registered by Chris Giacone, who flattened one opponent with a headlock in seven seconds.

Repeat medalists from last year's tourney were Kyle Sullivan, Joe Saunders, Tezucar, Nick Sullivan, Nolan Sullivan and Nick Constantino.

Town Night Planned At Meadowlands On March 21

The Westfield Recreation Commission and the New Jersey Nets have joined forces to offer the Second Annual Westfield Town Night at the Meadowlands Arena on Sunday, March 21 at 7 o'clock as the Nets with Derrick Coleman and Kenny Anderson battle the Dallas Mavericks. Tickets now are on sale at the Recreation Commission Office in the Municipal Building at a cost of $16 per person. With each ticket sold the Nets organization will donate $3 to the Recreation Commission's drug and alcohol-free teen programs.

Each ticket will include a coupon for a free Nets cap redeemable at the arena the night of the game. A Westfield welcome along with half-court presentation will take place at the arena on game night.

For information please telephone the Recreation Department at 789-4080.

Christopher Janson On Winning Team

In the junior varsity division of the School Consortium of New Jersey Spelling Bee on December 4, at the Morris Plains Borough School, the Delbarton junior varsity team of Morristown took first place.

On the team was Christopher Janson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Janson of Westfield.

Ten schools comprise the consortium, which sponsors a yearly schedule of nine events in academic, artistic and spring disciplines.

Devilfish Girls in Tie With Lakeland Hills Team

Hoping to avenge last year's meet with Lakeland Hills the Westfield "Y" Girls "A" Swim Team hosted a dual meet on January 9 which went to the very last relay, ending in a 104 to 104 tie.

Leading the 8-year-olds was Tara Christakos with a first in the 25-yard freestyle and a first in the 25-yard backstroke, aided by Lauren Ruter's first in the 25-yard breaststroke and second in the 25-yard butterfly.

Sarah Mattes contributed with a first in the 25-yard butterfly and second in the 25-yard freestyle. Libby Patberg and Courtney Hook along with Tara Christakos and Sara Mattes teamed up for a first place in the 100-yard freestyle relay. Jenna Santelli hit best times in the 25-meter freestyle and backstroke.

For the 9- and 10-year olds, Ann Espinoza had an outstanding finish in the 50-yard butterfly and scored some big points in the 100-yard individual medley. Jaron Santelli had an excellent 50-yard backstroke, finishing first.

Katie Feighner placed second in both the 100-yard individual medley and 50-yard breaststroke.

Dana Berkowitz, posting a personal best, placed second in the 50-yard freestyle, followed by teammate Julianna Muir's third place in the 50-yard freestyle.

Fine 50-yard breaststroke swims were exhibited by Mary Lechner, Tara Anderson and Libby Schundler. Julie Phelan, Chrissy Schewbel and Michele Flater had very strong 50-yard freestyle swims. Jackie Feinthal had an excellent 50-yard butterfly swim and just touched out to place. Katie Feder also was just touched out in the 50-yard backstroke. The 100-yard freestyle relay team of Berkowitz, Feighner, Muir and Santelli won.

One of the highlights of the meet was the record breaking swim in the 12-year-old-and-under 100-yard individual medley by Jessica Lichtenstein. She then swam the 50-yard breaststroke, placing second.

Anne Slobodien had two personal-best times, placing the first in the 50-yard freestyle and second in the 50-yard backstroke.

Teammate Dana Abrams had strong swims in both the 50-yard freestyle and the 50-yard butterfly placing third.

Casey Anthony placed second in the 50-yard butterfly.

Eleven year olds Brooke Smith, Jennifer Chiesa and Melissa Caniff turned in outstanding individual efforts to support the Devilfish. The 100-yard freestyle relay team of Abrams, Lichtenstein, Smith and Slobodien tied first to keep the meet neck and neck.

The 13- and 14-year-old girls faced strong Lakeland Hills swimmers. Cheryl O'Donnell led the girls with a second in the 100-yard butterfly and a third in the 200-yard individual medley. Kristen Zadourian placed third in the 100-yard breaststroke, supported by outstanding efforts by Trudy Schundler and Michelle Kashlak. Tara Twiste and Kelly Carter also posted personal-best time for the Devilfish.

The 15- and 17-year-old group brought in the highest point total. Donna Resivo placed first in the 200-yard individual medley and backstroke; Ann Teitbaum took first in the 100-yard butterfly and second in the 100-yard freestyle, and Caroline Feraldo echoed Ann, taking a first in the 100-yard freestyle and second in the 100-yard butterfly. Additional points were added with a second in the 100-yard breaststroke and a third in the 100-yard backstroke by Michelle Smith, as well as Lesley Hendricks' third in the 200-yard individual medley and 100-yard butterfly.

Sasa Riley placed second in the 100-yard backstroke, while Lisa Olden placed third in the 100-yard breaststroke.

It all came down to the final freestyle relay team of Feraldo, Resivo, Teitbaum and Riley to tie the meet.

Devilfish Boys Lose Close Match to Lakeland

The Devilfish Boys Westfield "Y" Swim Team was unable to defeat Lakeland Hills "Y" last Saturday.

The team lost 99 to 109.

The 8-year-old-and-under squad was led by Robert Larson, who finished first in the 25-yard breaststroke and second in both the 100-yard individual medley and 25-yard butterfly. John Chiesa added a second in the 25-yard backstroke.

Third-place winners were Mike Smith in the 25-yard breaststroke, Eric Schaffer in the 25-yard freestyle, and Ed Savage in the 25-yard backstroke. Both Chris MacDonald and Ryan Schaffer had impressive freestyle swims.

Mike Carter led the 10-year-old-and-under squad with first in the 50-yard freestyle and second in the 50-yard butterfly. Thomas Hanscom, in the 50-yard breaststroke, took first. Nine-year-old Ryan MacDonald took thirds in the 50-yard backstroke and butterfly. Cliff Haldeman and Jesse Savage both had strong breaststroke swims, while Kyle Vantosky was barely touched out in the 50-yard backstroke.

The 12-year-old-and-under group met with the toughest competition. Mark Slobodien, Chris Feinthal, and Steven Berkowitz all had personal best times, but were touched out to place. Jay Pollack led with a first in the 100-yard individual medley and a second in the 50-yard breaststroke; Philip Slobodien placed first in the 50-yard free-style and third in the 50-yard backstroke and Seth Burstein added points with a second in the 50-yard butterfly.

Matt Janson led the 14-year-old-and-under group with a second in the 100-yard freestyle and third in the 100-yard backstroke. Jonathan Jones took a third in the 200-yard individual medley as well as the 100-yard breaststroke, while Brendan Lechner took a third in the 100-yard butterfly followed by teammates Colin McGee and Kyle Anderson. Doug Finkin and Coley Lechner had strong breaststroke swims but were unable to score.

The 15 to 17-year-old boys poured on the steam with Todd Kendall placing first in the 200-yard individual medley and 100-yard backstroke. Tim Smith had strong swims, taking first in the 100-yard freestyle and second in the 200-yard breaststroke, with Dennis McKeever taking a second in the 100-yard butterfly and third in the 100-yard freestyle.

Second-place finishers were Chris Manos in the 200-yard individual medley, Paul Ulrich in the 100-yard backstroke and Brian Wisniewski in the 100-yard freestyle. Finishing in third place were Ed Friend in the 100-yard backstroke and Mark Kratson in the 100-yard butterfly.

Wrestlers Tie Raiders In Nip-and-Tuck Match

By ADAM WEINSTEIN
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Reader

The Westfield wrestling squad was badly in need of something to turn their season around. They found themselves searching for the match that would get their season going forward in a positive direction.

Friday night in Scotch Plains, the search came to an end as Westfield wrestled arch rival Scotch Plains to a tie.

"We got off to a slow start this season: We had not been wrestling with confidence. Tonight we returned it on and pulled together as a team," Tri-Captain Brian Buldo said.

Entering as heavy underdogs, it was a team effort that enabled the wrestlers to hang close and pull out a tie.

Two underclassmen, Kevin Sullivan at 103 pounds and Jeff Checchio at 112, gave Westfield an early lead and quieted a raucous crowd, each recording pins in the first period.

Sullivan, a freshman, ended his match with only three seconds remaining in the first period. The sophomore, Checchio, scored a fall even quicker at one minute and seven seconds.

The 119-pounder, Brian Buldo, wrestled a tough opponent in Pat Bartella, who won by one point when the two squared off last year. Buldo was clinging to a narrow lead when he was reversed and pinned at five minutes and 39 seconds.

Scotch Plains took the lead with pins at 125 and 130 pounds. Jason McLean decisioned Westfield's Jamie Hogaboom 13-2, while Marc Donnadio pinned Paul Hayes at 55 seconds, and suddenly Scotch Plains had reversed the match and was now up by four points.

Chris Posey ended the string of losses at three when he won an 8-0 decision at 135 pounds. He earned four points for his performance and knotted the overall score at 16.

In an incredibly exciting match, Cory Posey and his opponent fought on into double overtime. The freshman was unable to keep his man in the down position after a valiant effort and lost 10-9.

As the match intensified so did the reaction from the crowd.

"They inspired me, helped me to focus and concentrate," said 145-pound sophomore Mike Liggera of the audience. He seemed completely focused when he pulled through with an important 3-2 decision, which again tied the score.

Westfield nearly lost control of the match by dropping three close matches at 152, 160 and 171 pounds.

Lance Kovac held a one-point lead with little time remaining, but was reversed and lost 6-5. Tom Whelan also wrestled well despite losing 8-3.

In a maneuver to avoid forfeiting at 189 pounds, the coaches called upon junior varsity wrestler Frank DiGiorganni to compete at 171 pounds, and bumped Paul Baly up to 189. Although he wasn't victorious, DiGiorganni's 6-2 decision kept Westfield within striking distance: Down nine points with two matches to go.

Despite giving up 20 pounds, Baly was able to hang close through the first two periods. Trailing by a point late, he reversed his opponent and nearly pinned him, coming through with an 8-4 decision.

Finally, heavyweight Seth Coren was rewarded a season-long wish as Westfield needed a pin to pull even.

"Pressure does not bother me. I love having the outcome of the match riding on my shoulders," he revealed.

True to his team-given nickname, Coren came up huge as he pinned his man at four minutes and 30 seconds. His victory left Westfield with a 28-28 tie.

The feelings displayed in the Westfield locker room following the match indicated that the team felt the match was not a tie, but a win.

"Tonight you earned my respect. Everyone wrestled with dignity. It was a real strong performance," Coach Don MacDonald told his team.

Two days before the big clash Westfield had faced a mediocre Irvington squad. With coaches wishing to rest as many starters as possible, a lot of junior varsity members wrestled. As a result, the score was deceptively close, 42-30.

Buldo and Chris Posey scored technical falls and Mike Liggera and Ed Joffe each won by a pin to ensure the victory.

Schwartz Takes Record In Burgdorff Meet

Westfield High School senior swimmer Dave Schwartz swam the 200-meter breaststroke in two minutes and 24.49 seconds in Sunday's Burgdorff Winter Long Course Invitational at the Rutgers Sonny Werblin Recreation Center in Piscataway to clip better than five seconds off the record of two minutes and 29.81 seconds set by Subkin Song of the New Jersey Wave in Paramus last year.

Schwartz last year won the state Meet of Champions 100-yard breaststroke.

Westfield's fourth of the season. Yesterday, the Blue Devils travelled to Plainfield where they wrestled a team they expected to beat easily.

Following that match they entered a crucial stage in the season with consecutive matches against Cranford, Union and Rahway. They also will look to qualify for the state sectionals.

Bernstein Takes Second in Meet

Irwin Bernstein opened his 1993 Masters Track season with a second-place finish in the Metropolitan Athletics Congress meet at Manhattan College on January 15.

Representing the Garden State Athletic Club, Irwin registered a time of one minute and 47 seconds in the 600-meter run for those aged between 50 and 59 to place behind Cliff Pauling of the Central Park Track Club at one minute and 41.4 seconds. Third was John Orr, unattached, in two minutes and 24.2 seconds.

Bernstein has been named to the United States Team for the Fourteenth Maccabiah Games in Israel in July.

Trailside Will Sponsor School Break Programs

The Trailside Nature & Science Center in Mountainside will offer a wide range of programs for students in pre-school through fifth grade from February 12 to 19.

The center is offering these special "February Festivities" to accommodate school children on mid-winter break.

On Friday, February 12, and Monday, February 15, Super Science Make and Take Days, a drop-in program, will challenge students in the first through fifth grades as they experiment with pendulums, hot air, gravity, acids and bases and learn how to identify bird nests using a scientific "key".

Five experiment stations will provide students with a hands-on experience and a chance to make and take something home. Session times are from 10 a.m. to noon or 1 to 2 p.m. and all five stations should require a total of 30 to 45 minutes to complete.

The fee is $6 per student also includes a take-home follow-up book which will allow students and their families to further explore science and nature topics on their own.

Pre-school programs include:
February 16, from 6 to 7:15 p.m., Pre-School Owl Prowl for 4- to 6-year-olds with an adult.
Tuesday, February 16, a special planetarium show, The Sky Inside, for preschoolers 4 to 8 years with an adult. Show times are at 10 and 11:15 a.m., and the fee is $3 per person at the door. Also offered on Tuesday will be Maple Sugaring for families from 10 to 11:30 a.m. with a fee of $6 per family.
Wednesday, February 17, The Planet Earth, a planetarium show for first graders and up, accompanied by an adult, at 10 a.m., and a fee of $3 per person is payable at the door.
Scope It Out on Wednesday from 10 to 11:30 a.m., will have third through fifth graders exploring the hand-to-eye-with-the-naked-eye world and microscopic wonders with several kinds of microscopes. The fee is $6 per person.
An Owl Prowl for adults and children 12 years old and up on Thursday from 6 to 7:30 p.m. will include a slide show and then a search for owls in the Watchung Reservation.
Living on Mars on Thursday from 10 a.m. to noon will have third through fifth graders exploring life on the Red Planet. Students will learn about the Martian environment in Trailside's planetarium and design a plant that can adapt to the harsh living conditions. The fee is $6.
The Rare Score, also for third through fifth graders, will be offered on Friday from 10 to 11:45 a.m. and will focus on the problem of rare and endangered animals and provide students with ways they can help prevent extinction.

Registration is required for all programs except the Make and Take Days, Maple Sugaring and the planetarium shows.

For more information about these and other programs, please telephone Trailside at 789-3670.

Georgetown, Notre Dame Win Cage Games

In the first game of Westfield Basketball Association fifth- and sixth-grade Girls action, Georgetown defeated previously-unbeaten St. John's 23-15.

St. John's led most of the first half behind the playmaking and scoring of Katie Gildea. Georgetown stayed close due to the outstanding overall play of Kristen Salmond.

In the second half, Georgetown's Susan Phillips converted several offensive rebounds into baskets and was a force on the defensive boards, while Salmond continued her fine shooting and playmaking. The strong play of Gildea, Stephanie Flynn and Megan Shuts kept St. John's close to the end, but the defensive efforts, led by Georgetown's Diana Kressner and Aubrey McGovern, enabled Georgetown to hold onto the win.

In the second game, Connecticut held off a tough Notre Dame squad 34-28. UConn's Liz McKeon continued her outstanding play by scoring 24 points and grabbing numerous rebounds.

Courtney Stone added four points and also played another strong defensive game, while Laura Debrossy scored three points to keep UConn in front.

Each time Connecticut tried to pull away, Notre Dame kept clawing back, led by Liza Yanuzzi and Mary Ann Benner, who each scored 14 points and played very tough defensively.

Heading into the fourth week of Play, Seton Hall, 2-0, is the only unbeaten team in the league.

Digestion is the great secret of life.

Baseball League Signups Saturday

Final registration for the Westfield Spring Baseball League will be on Saturday, January 23, at Edison Intermediate School. This is the final registration for the 1993 season.

This year the 9- and 10-year-old leagues will be restructured and teams will be limited to 12 players per team.

Those who plan on having their child play baseball this spring should register on January 23. New registrants need to bring their birth certificate.

Children who will be 7 years old by Saturday, July 31, will be eligible to play.

William J. Kelly

William J. Kelly To Chair National Banking Meeting

William J. Kelly, Senior Vice President of J.P. Morgan and a resident of Westfield, is the Chairman of the American Bankers Association National Security and Risk Management Conference which is scheduled to take place in Orlando, Florida at the Peabody Hotel from February 7 through February 10.

This year's program features a keynote address by Maurice R. Greenberg, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the American International Group. Also planned is the First Senior Executive Forum at which the speakers will include Dean R. O'Hare, Chairman of the Chubb Corporation; John T. Sinoit, President and Co-Chief Executive Officer of Marsh & McLennan; and from Lloyd's, Stephen R. Merrett, the Chairman of the Merrett Syndicates.

The sessions at the conference are organized into three concurrent tracks addressing corporate insurance, physical security and the protection of information. The theme of this year's Conference "Unity Amid Diversity" emphasizes the interrelationship of these three areas.

Mr. Kelly is past Chairman of the Insurance Committee of the American Bankers Association and is presently a member of the Executive Committee. He is also currently the Vice Chairman of the International Committee of the Risk and Insurance Management Society, an Advisory Board Member of The Protection Mutual Insurance Company and a member of the Editorial Board of Risk Management Magazine.

Hudson City Offers State Calendars

In anticipation of its 12th anniversary on March 17, Hudson City Savings Bank, which has a branch in Westfield, has produced a calendar for 1993 based upon original water-colors of scenic and historic New Jersey locations.

Calendars are available upon request at all of the bank's 69 New Jersey offices.

PUBLIC NOTICE

INVITATION TO BID FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF SANITARY SEWER AT CARLETON ROAD AND ST. MARKS AVENUE WESTFIELD, NEW JERSEY. Sealed proposals will be received by the Town of Westfield in the Council Chambers at the Municipal Building, 425 East Broad Street, Westfield, New Jersey, at 10:00 AM prevailing time on Monday, February 8, 1993, for the "CONSTRUCTION OF SANITARY SEWER AT CARLETON ROAD AND ST. MARKS AVENUE, WESTFIELD, NEW JERSEY."

The work under this Proposal includes the furnishing of all labor, materials and equipment necessary to complete the work as shown on the Contract Drawings and described in the Contract Specifications. Proposals shall be in accordance with such Drawings and Specifications and the terms proposed in the Contract.

The work consists primarily of the removal and replacement of approximately 450 linear feet of 8 inch diameter sanitary sewer and 15 house connections, and other related items. The successful bidder shall start construction ten (10) days after notice of award of Contract is given, and shall complete all work within thirty (30) days after the start of work.

Proposals shall be in writing on the forms furnished and must be delivered at the place and before the hour above mentioned, and must be accompanied by a certified check or bid bond payable to the Town of Westfield in an amount equal to at least ten percent (10%) of the base amount of the bid, but not less than $500.00 nor more than $20,000.00. Each bid must also be accompanied by a Surety Company Certificate stating that said Surety Company will provide the bidder with the required Performance bond in the full amount of the Contract, by a Non-Collusion Affidavit and a Contractor's Qualification Statement, Statement of Ownership, on the forms included in and explained in the contract documents.

Bidders must be in compliance with all provisions of Chapter 127 P.L. 175 supplement to the law against discrimination (Affirmative Action) and must pay workmen the prevailing wage rates promulgated by the New Jersey State Department of Labor and Industry for this project, copies of which are on file in the Office of the Town Engineer. This Contract will include a fixed amount of $3,000.00 as a Contingency. All Bidders are required to add this fixed amount to their bid and to include this additional amount in their Bond, as provided in the instructions to Bidders. The contingency shall be included in the Contract, the Performance Bond and the Labor and Material Bond.

Plans and specifications may be seen or procured at the office of the Town Engineer, Public Works Center, 959 North Avenue West, Westfield, New Jersey. The Mayor and Council reserve the right to reject any bid, and to waive any informality in any bid, if in the interest of the Town, it is deemed advisable to do so.

Collecting Glass Survives Through Many Eras

COURTESY OF THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION
About once a month, 20 or so friends gather for a covered-dish buffet at a house in the Washington, D.C., area.

The conversation centers not

COURTESY OF THE NATIONAL MUSEUM OF AMERICAN HISTORY
FOR ALL...This compute, made in 1887, features a zippered block design. Because pressed glass was mass-produced during the last quarter of the 19th century, it's likely most United States households owned at least a few items.

around politics or current affairs, or even the casseroles or desserts they each bring. Instead, the lively discussions focus on the Opalescent Hobnail, Holly Amber or Carnival glass tableware used to serve the goodies.

"We'll use any excuse to get talking about glass," says Francis Allen, a collector and the President of the National Early American Glass Club. "We talk about the weight and texture of the tableware, along with the manufacturers, designs and rarity of the plates, bowls and other items."

There are some 1,300 club members in 23 chapters across the country, Mr. Allen added. They include collectors, dealers, museum people, researchers, students and retirees — just about anyone with an interest in glass.

They're in good company. Only coins and stamps are more popular collectibles, according to some experts. Glass collecting covers a wide range — from beer bottles to paperweights — but tableware seems to have captured the enthusiasm of many people.

"Most people drawn to this late 19th century pressed glass tableware are attracted by some element of its appearance," according to the Collections Manager in the Division of Ceramics and Glass in the Smithsonian's National Museum of American History and curator of the exhibit "American Pressed Glass Tablewares, 1875-1900: Varying Perspectives."

"They also may be attracted to it because it is in some way familiar or perhaps just because it is 'old,'" she said. The exhibit features 200 examples of pressed-pattern glass tableware that was mass produced in the United States during the late 19th century. Among the items are a variety of such commonly-used glass tableware as serving plates and platters, bowls and goblets, pitcher and tumbler sets and celery vases from the museum's collections.

"By the late 19th century, we suspect nearly every household in America possessed some pressed-glass tableware because it was inexpensive and plentiful," the Collections Manager added. "Whether the pressed-glass tableware was considered 'special' or 'everyday' depended on the household and on an item's purpose and appearance. Many examples have survived and are of great interest both as clues to the culture of late 19th-century America and as the product of an important United States industry."

Mass production of mechanically-pressed glass originated in the United States in the 1820s. The process involved pressing molten glass into metal molds by machine.

From the late 1820s through the 1860s the developing American pressed-glass industry made most of its tablewares from expensive lead glass. Most of the pressed-glass tablewares sold between 1875 and 1900 were made of an improved, non-lead glass, often known as soda-lime glass. Perfected in 1864 by William

John S. Rego In Miller Drama

John S. Rego of Westfield is starring in the production of Arthur Miller's drama, All My Sons, at the Circle Players at 416 Victoria Avenue, Piscataway. The production opened on Friday and will run on Friday and Saturday evenings through February 6, at 8:30 o'clock with a Sunday matinee on January 24, at 2 o'clock. For further information, please telephone 968-7555.

Leighton Sr. in Wheeling, West Virginia, this formula yielded relatively inexpensive non-lead glass that stood up well to the pressing process. It produced bright, thin, lightweight and serviceable items. The advent of the improved non-lead glass greatly reduced production costs and expanded manufacturing possibilities.

"During the last quarter of the 19th century," the Collections Manager said, "Customers could choose from naturalistic designs of fruits, flowers or animals, a large variety of abstract geometric patterns, realistic scenes and portraits. Many patterns endured for years, popular with consumers and profitable to produce."

Identifying patterns and their makers can be a confusing process.

"Companies sometimes issued similar patterns," she noted. "Sometimes a company reissued one of its existing patterns under a new name. And some patterns became known by popular names. Although more than 1,000 patterns have been identified, many remain whose original names or makers are unknown."

Various pressed-glass items often were used in combination with ceramic and metal tablewares. Elaborate Victorian dining customs encouraged the use of many dishes and containers.

"Affordable press-glass serving pieces were available in a board selection of patterns, sizes and quality," the Collections Manager noted. "A 'refined' table set with appropriate pieces was within the reach of many households."

Some items, such as spoon holders, are virtually unknown to most Americans today. So is the celery vase.

"Celery was expensive a century ago, since it was a seasonal vegetable, labor-intensive to grow and perishable," she added. "Presented at the table in a special vase, fresh, uncooked celery stalks became a high-status food among middle-class Americans."

Pressed-glass tableware, she added, can tell historians not only about popular taste and etiquette. It also can provide clues about people's circumstances and aspirations and can indicate which events and public figures were considered noteworthy a century ago.

"Commemorative patterns often appeared on cups and plates," the spokesman noted. "Especially bread platters."

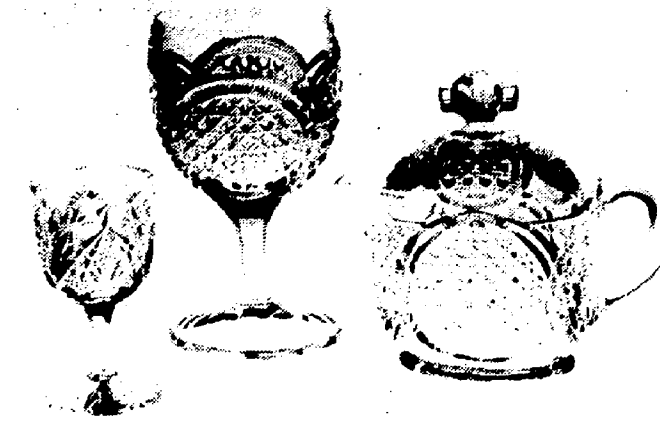

Subjects included Jenny Lind, the internationally beloved singer known as the "Swedish Nightingale," Nellie Bly, who challenged and beat the fictitious speed record set in the Jules Verne novel Around the World in 80 Days, and the deaths of United States Presidents Ulysses S. Grant, Abraham Lincoln and James Garfield.

Interest in ancient civilizations surged with the discovery in the 1800s of various ruins in Europe and the Middle East and with the development of classical archaeology as a field of study.

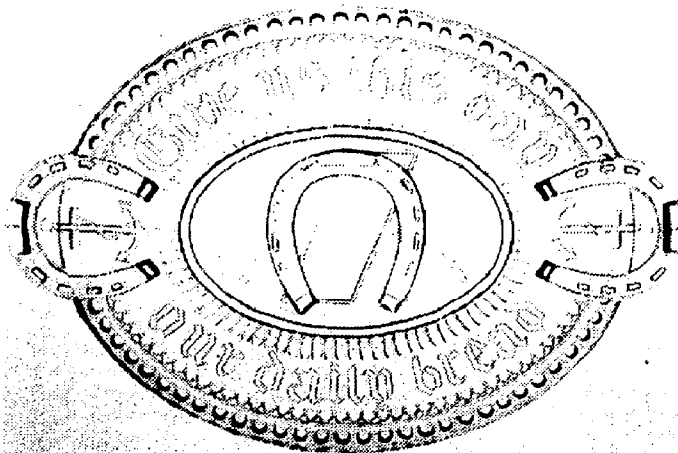

Consequently, Greek, Roman and Egyptian motifs were incorporated in the design of some pressed-glass patterns as well as in other 19th-century household goods. Japanese motifs were first popularized through various international expositions. All offered a hint of the exotic to Victorian America.

By the 1880s, the manufacture of pressed glass had become a big business.

"More than 200 factories produced tablewares for sale in the United States and abroad," the Collections Manager said. "Most were located in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia and Indiana — regions near sources of fuel and raw materials and close to rivers and railroad lines for transportation.

FOR DAILY BREAD... Saying grace before "breaking bread" was an important part of family life in many 19th-century households. Bread was an integral part of most meals, and special pressed glass platters for serving it became popular. This horseshoe-pattern bread platter was made in the early 1880s.

In their constant competition for consumers, the glass companies produced more matching sets and more patterns featuring a greater use of color. Surface treatments were added as well, such as frosting, staining, accenting with gilt and the application of etched decorative motifs.

By 1890, marketing strategies led to the introduction of at least one new pattern each spring and fall.

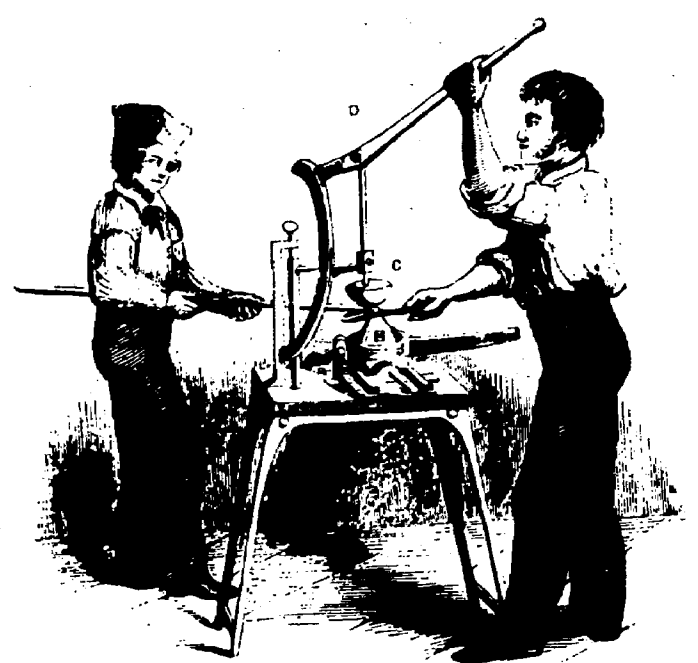

The 1890s was a period of great upheaval for the pressed-glass industry.

"Increasing automation, the depression of 1893, labor problems and dwindling supplies of natural gas forced many factories to close," the spokesman noted. "To survive, a number of companies entered into combines."

The United States Glass Company, the most successful of the glass-manufacturing combines, was established in 1891. In one year, 18 companies joined, with more to follow. While changing dramatically over the years, the combine survived until 1963.

"During the first half of the 20th century, the colorful Carnival glass and Depression glass comprised a sizeable portion of the tablewares pressed," she said. "Though overall production of pressed glass continued to decline in the United States, many new patterns and some late 19th-century reproductions were introduced."

Today, there are still a few United States factories making pressed glass. Collectors look for all kinds of pressed glass — in whatever area may strike their fancy.

"Some may collect all the pieces of a certain pattern, or the same piece, such as a toothpick holder, from a number of patterns," Francis Allen said. "Some collectors concentrate on just one color or one manufacturer."

Despite wars, natural calamities and breakage, he added, there is still plenty of pressed glass out there.

And Mr. Allen agrees with the Collection Manager's assessment glass has a nostalgic appeal. "An era may come and go, but the glass remains."

Robert John Buckley Pursues Acting Dream

Robert John Buckley of Westfield, is staking the biggest leap in his life...and it seems to be paying off.

Mr. Buckley, a Westfield resident, husband and father of three, is pursuing a dream, the professional theater.

"After a successful 15-year business career, I didn't have the sense of fulfillment I wanted. It just took awhile to figure out what it was I truly wanted to do."

Theater is not new to Mr. Buckley. A veteran of over 30 shows throughout his early years the transition back has been easier than expected.

To help, the town resident enrolled and studies method acting at The Lee Strasberg Theater Institute in New York City.

"I feel the greatest actor's of our time are method actors and I wanted to be part of that," he said.

Since Mr. Buckley's return, his credits have included Mr. Alfieri in A View From the Bridge, and Fat Funzy in Leonard Melfi's new play Bellevue of the Westside, in New York City.

His current project is the first regional production of A Few Good Men, Aaron Sorkin's drama on which the current movie is based.

Mr. Buckley plays the part of Lieutenant Colonel Nathan Jessop, coincidentally played in the movie by his favorite actor Jack Nicholson. A Few Good Men is at the Villager's Theater in Somerset until Sunday, February 7.

Ticket reservations may be made by telephoning 873-2710.

Pingry to Hold Open House On January 27

Prospective parents of boys and girls who will be entering kindergarten through sixth grade may attend an open house at The Pingry School's campus in the Short Hills section of Millburn, on Wednesday, January 27, at 8:30 a.m.

The morning will begin with registration in the library and a tour of the school given by sixth-grade tour guides.

Mrs. Joyce Hanrahan, the Principal of the Lower School, and the Assistant Director of Admissions will speak with prospective parents at 9:20 a.m. Parents will then have the opportunity to visit and observe a class of their choice. At 10:15 a.m. a group of sixth graders will take part in answering the questions asked by parents in the library. John Hanly, the Headmaster, will address the parents at the conclusion of the discussion.

Pingry's aim is to develop all aspects of the individual child, according to Mrs. Hanrahan.

This is achieved through a program which includes art, music, library training, physical education, typing and word processing, computers and foreign language.

The school teaches students from kindergarten through 12th grade on campuses at two locations. There are 316 students on the Short Hills Campus in kindergarten through sixth grade, and 692 students in the Middle and Upper Schools located in Martinsville.

Parents who would like to attend should telephone the Short Hills Campus at 379-4550.

St. Elizabeth to Open Emergency Department

St. Elizabeth Hospital in Elizabeth will open its new Emergency Department on Monday, January 25. The move into the new area will begin at 4 a.m. and will be completed by 7 a.m. The Patient Registration Department also will be included in this phase of relocation.

During this three-hour transition period, anyone requiring emergency treatment should go to the present emergency department. Beginning at 7 a.m., anyone requiring emergency treatment should go to the new emergency department.

The new department is located in the hospital's new nine-story patient Tower for Care. This new South Building of the hospital campus is the first phase of a $58 million construction and renovation project.

The ambulance entrance into the new emergency department is via a driveway now located on South Broad Street. Ambulance traffic enters this driveway, and proceeds to the ambulance patient drop-off point. Since this driveway entrance has been designed for one-way traffic flow, ambulances will exit the driveway onto Williamson Street to South Street.

Walk-in patients enter the emergency department via a doorway located on the east face of the new South Building, across from the parking lot. Patients arriving by car should be dropped off in the circular driveway at the hospital's main entrance. The drivers of these cars may then utilize the valet parking, also entered through the circular driveway.

Additional parking for patients and visitors utilizing the emergency department is available in a lot located on the corner of Williamson and South Streets. This lot is accessible through Williamson Street via South Street. All other patients and visitors should still use the valet parking service or the parking lot located across the street from the hospital's main entrance.

This state-of-the-art emergency department is three times the size of the present one. It features an ambulance-accessible trauma room equipped with the latest monitoring equipment and surgical-quality overhead lighting. The department also features modern examination rooms, an X-ray suite, and a triage area.

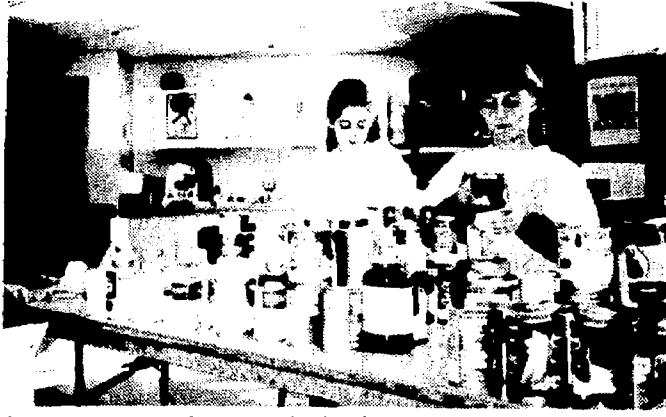

Additionally, the emergency department houses five specialized treatment rooms for specific purposes such as eye, ear, nose and throat emergencies, orthopedic injuries and obstetric and gynecological emergencies.

Also, beginning at 6 o'clock on the morning of January 25, entrance to the patient registration department will be via a doorway located at the west corner of the new South Building, just beyond the hospital's main entrance. All patients coming to the hospital for pre-admission testing, out-patient procedure testing, same-day admission and regular admissions should enter through this door.

The centralized patient registration and pre-admission testing area operates around-the-clock. This area will register over 12,000 inpatient admissions and over 25,000 emergency department patients each year. Additionally, short-stay and minor procedure admissions will total over 4,000 each year while registration for private outpatient testing will total over 26,000 patients each year.

The move into the new patient tower began in late December, with the relocation of the medical and surgical patient units. The relocation of the emergency department will be followed by the relocation of the surgical suite. Occupation of the tower will be complete by the end of the first quarter of this year when ancillary departments re-locate to the new South Building.

St. Elizabeth Hospital is a private, not-for-profit, acute-care Roman Catholic facility with 325 beds and 26 bassinets. Sponsored by the Sisters of Charity of Saint Elizabeth, it is eastern Union County's teaching hospital.

FOR THE NEEDY... Jefferson School students collect and distribute food and health items to share with families through the Westfield Food Pantry and Starfish of Plainfield. This community service project is designed to give children an opportunity to contribute as a school community to citizens in the broader community. Organizing contributions for delivery were Annabel Benito, left, and Daniel Sawicki, right, of class 5V.

Mrs. Griffin Promoted To Office Manager

Westfield resident, Mrs. Gail Griffin, has been promoted to Office Manager of the United States Trade-mark Association of New York City. The announcement was made by Douglas E. Barden, the association's Associate Executive Director, and went into effect January 1 of this year.

Founded in 1878, the association is a not-for-profit, international membership organization comprised of more than 2,500 members in over 100 countries. It is committed to promoting trademarks as essential to commerce throughout the world.

In this new position, Mrs. Griffin's responsibilities will include directing the finance department, administering all personnel and employee benefit plans and managing the association's office facilities, including overseeing day-to-day operations and maintenance of the association's office services and purchasing and leasing of furniture, equipment and supplies.

Prior to this appointment, Mrs. Griffin had been the Financial Services Administrator since she joined the association in 1991.

Mrs. Griffin is a graduate of Susquehanna University in Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, where she earned a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Psychology with a minor in Business. She also holds a Master of Arts Degree in Personnel Administration from Fairleigh Dickinson University.

Before joining the association, Mrs. Griffin spent seven years with The Price Company in various positions including Administrative Manager of The Price Company office in New Jersey.

The material known as gingham got its name from the town in Britanny where it was first produced, Guingamp.

Marionettes Give Show at Tamaques

Several marionettes from Bennington, Vermont, performed The Firebird at Tamaques School in Westfield. The story is a Russian folktale and the musical score was by Igor Stravinsky.

There was a question-and-answer period following this performance presented by Cedric Flower, the Director, and two puppeteers.

Among those attending the performance were Tiffany Johnson and Michael Sherry.

Augustus became the first Roman emperor in 27 B.C.
