SPENDING PLAN INCREASES BY 3.7 PER CENT OVER LAST YEAR

School Board Adopts Tentative Budget Totaling $44,856,488 for Next Year; Tax Increase of $208.56 Projected

Figures Come in $14,620 Below Cap Limit; Public Hearing to Be March 23, Not March 16;
Superintendent for Business Disputes Reported Figures on Light-Bulb Purchases — Money Was Made

The Westfield Board of Education voted 6-0 to adopt the $44,856,488 tentative budget for 1993-1994 at the special board meeting on Tuesday. Board member G. Bruce McFadden was absent for the vote.

The budget presented was unchanged from that offered on February 23.

The budget comes in at $14,620 below cap and represents a 12-cent increase per $100 of assessed home values.

For the median house, valued in Westfield at $173,800, this translates into a tax increase of $208.56, according to the board.

"This budget represents the most modest increase the board has presented since the early 1980's," Westfield Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Mark C. Smith, told the board, referring to the budget's 3.7 per cent increase.

"The budget supports the programs by which our students learn and learn well," Dr. Smith noted, citing the fact 85 per cent of the high school seniors who took Advanced Placement Tests qualified, and it also "supports the curriculum of all our students."

A formal public hearing on the tentative school budget will be held on Tuesday, March 23, not Tuesday, March 16, as noted in the school calendar, Dr. Smith said, and the regular board meeting also will be held on that date.

Enrollment Figures Cause Concern

Assistant Superintendent of Business, Dr. Robert C. Rader, spoke about the projected increase in enrollment for next year.

This figure of 4,417 students is almost a 1 per cent increase, and assessed property home values have remained almost flat, although Dr. Rader sees some change in that area.

This could present problems for future budgets, because, as Dr. Smith explained, "everything goes up," and enrollment increases are expected to continue into the year 2,000.

Responding to public concern, Dr. Rader also commented on an article in another local publication showing the Westfield Schools purchased fluorescent light bulbs for 22 cents more than those purchased by Cranford.

In fact, Westfield buys energy-saving light bulbs and receives a rebate of $1.25 for each bulb, thereby actually showing a profit over the purchase price of 22 cents, Dr. Rader

"We pride ourselves on purchasing effectively," he added.

In other news, Dr. Smith reported on the activities of the Garden State Coalition of Schools, formed a year ago, which is comprised of 83 school districts who came together for mutual concerns about state funding.

Dr. Smith, the President of the coalition, will attend a school funding retreat and will report back to the board at its next meeting.

"These 83 districts are all high-achieving and high-spending districts who expect high quality, and they are at a high risk of the loss of state funding," the Superintendent noted.

A Substance Awareness Coordinator Grant Program in the amount of $25,000 was unanimously approved by the board.

Dr. Carol Gerson, the Coordinator, has been "enormously successful" in the intermediate schools, Dr. Smith reported, in this last year of a three-year project.

He hopes to see the project fully funded by local funds in the future.

Responding to the news Assemblymen Richard H. Bagger and Alan M. Augustine voted to override the Governor's veto to stop the sale of assault weapons, the board voted unanimously to send letters protesting these votes to proper authorities.

Mr. McFadden told the board, "We've allowed gun control to be politicized," and he said the school board should take a stand on gun control.

Town Will Sell Lots Ready for Building Homes First on Bailey Court Within the Ewan Tract

Expenditure of Funds for Streets and Curbing Seen Yielding Major Return on Municipality's Investment

By ROBERT R. FASZCZEWSKI
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Lots in the Bailey Court area of the Ewan Tract will be the first to be sold by the town, lots will be prepared so construction can begin immediately on homes there, and the streets and curbing will be finished to the point where homeowners will just about be ready to move in when their homes are completed.

This was the assessment given by Town Council Building and Town Property Committee Chairman Norman N. Greco at Tuesday's council conference session.

Councilman Greco later estimated the cost of the town "going into the contracting business" for the first time to develop streets, curbing and other amenities in the Ewan Tract at $150,000.

Peddler's License Raises Objection From Some About Rules For Selling

"It will be worth it," he added, "because we will get a return from the sale of the lots of more than $1 million."

A suggestion by Fourth Ward Councilman James Hely for cluster housing on the tract was rejected by his fellow councilmen.

The go-ahead for the sale of the Ewan Tract is awaiting a state ruling on the town's delineation of wetlands on the site.

On another matter, the council gave its informal approval to a peddler's license request by Yelmez Acar, who wants to sell pottery door-to-door in the town from a truck.

Councilman Greco and his fellow First Ward Councilman Anthony M. LaPorta opposed the approval because they said, they wanted to see the town's peddler-license requirements strengthened in the light of resident concerns about strangers soliciting for business in their neighborhoods.

Although admitting much can be done to improve the current regulations, Town Attorney Charles H. Brandt said there was nothing the council could do to stop Mr. Acar, who is meeting all rules currently on the books, from being issued a license.

Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr. asked the Laws and Rules Committee to study the strengthening of the current regulations.

The Mayor also asked the Public Safety to look into the possible elimination of the $1 fee charged by the town for the maintenance of records on homes with emergency alarms after Councilman LaPorta said he had received several calls from residents objecting to payment of the fee.

Due to concerns that more controversial groups might request their flags be flown underneath the American flag outside the Municipal Building, the council voted to turn down such a request from the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross flag may be displayed inside the building, however. In other actions, the council:

- Noted the receipt of a $6,000 offer for the purchase of the fire department snorkel which no longer is in use and for which there have been no bids.

- Tentatively approved the award of a contract for a disposal site for brush to Fevco of Parlin for $3.50 per cubic yard.

- Agreed informally to a $11,660 contract for the installation of curbing at McKinley School.

- Was informed bidding on a disposal site for grass would be held off until the county decides whether it will offer the former Houdaille Quarry site in Springfield as a disposal area.

- Agreed to accept a sewer easement on Gallows Hill Road and East Broad Street so repairs can be made to a line which runs underneath Fairview Cemetery.

- Gave informal approval to the reissuance of $369,000 in municipal pool bonds.

- Informally authorized the release of $29,042 in partial escrow funds of PSF Associates for a major subdivision it is constructing off Prospect Street.

Trade Center Explosion Hits Home for Many From Town Who Work in New York City

Resident Left Parking Garage Half Hour Before Blast; Security Expert: Americans Should Be More Aware

By ROBERT R. FASZCZEWSKI
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The force of the massive explosion which ripped a 180-foot hole in the wall of a parking garage of New York City's World Trade Center on Friday afternoon, killing at least five people and injuring about 1,000, was felt, in one sense, as far as Westfield because of its impact on the lives of town residents who work in or near the 110-story twin towers or had business in lower Manhattan at the time of the blast.

One of the more lucky Westfielders was Herbert Wright of Birch Place, who left the building a half hour before the lunchtime explosion and had parked his car in a space in the garage above the one where the blast occurred.

Mr. Wright told The Westfield Leader there were several vacant spaces in the garage level in which he parked, and had a car loaded with explosives been parked at that level and exploded the damage would have extended up several more stories beyond those affected by Friday's blast.

Two residents who work for the same firm — Dean Witter — on two different floors of the trade center had two slightly different views of the disaster.

Robert Austin of Manitou Court, whose office is on the 64th floor, thought most people were very orderly in leaving the building. He noted after hearing the explosion he and some co-workers walked to the west side of the building where they could see the smoke and, within about two minutes, police and fire personnel responded.

This may partially have been due to the fact a firehouse is located across the street from the center, Mr. Austin added.

"A Consolidated Edison transformer blew up in the area about a year and a half ago," he said, "and we thought this was the same type of emergency and followed the procedures we were told to follow at that time. It wasn't until 15 or 20 minutes after the explosion that our power went out. We then took about an hour to walk down to the ground floor."

Although Mr. Austin did not have to return to work this week because he was on jury duty, he said he will have no problem going back to the trade center, and he has spoken to many colleagues who feel the same way.

The Manitou Court resident would not speculate about whether New York City has become a "target" for terrorists, but said it is unlikely a similar incident would follow because of the difficulty of executing something like the World Trade Center explosion.

Another Dean Witter employee, Edward Kassakian of West Dudley Avenue, agreed with Mr. Austin that people left the building in an orderly fashion, but he said the stairwells were packed, and it was "like trying to get everyone onto one escalator during rush hour."

He was impressed, however, by the way those being evacuated assisted the elderly and the handicapped.

As for the incident itself, Mr. Kassakian, who works on the 62nd floor, said, "The building shook and the explosion followed. We did not know what was happening. We waited for about 15 minutes for a public address system announcement, and then, when the hall ways became filled with smoke, I made the decision to evacuate those on my staff."

Mr. Kassakian returned to the building on Sunday afternoon to re-coup the records and office equipment needed to move his operations to a nearby Dean Witter facility.

Upon going back to work on Monday, he said, he heard no talk about people leaving their jobs in the trade center.

Employees were concerned, however, about the adequacy of the fire-

Five Candidates Decide To Run for School Board

William G. Reinhardt Joins Those Already Declared

A total of five candidates have decided to run for the three Board of Education seats open in the Tuesday, April 20, school board election.

Joining incumbents, Mrs. Melba S. Nixon and Mrs. Susan Jacobson, and newcomers, Mrs. Jean Benisch and William J. Sweeney, who previously had declared their candidacies, is William G. Reinhardt of 154 Harrison Avenue.

Incumbent G. Bruce McFadden is not seeking a third term on the school body.

Mr. Sweeney, who ran unsuccessfully for the board last year, practices law with the firm of Giblin & Combs in Morristown.

He is a 1969 graduate of the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Indiana and a 1972 graduate of Columbia Law School in New York City.

The candidate began his career as an associate attorney at the law firm of Haight, Gardner, Poor & Havens in New York and Washington, D.C., and he later served as an enforcement attorney in the United States Department of Energy and as a presiding officer, conducting hearings at the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission in Washington.

Mr. Sweeney was an attorney and Assistant General Counsel at Engelhard Corporation from 1981 to 1988 and returned to the private practice of law with Giblin & Combs in 1989.

He presently practices in business, banking, real estate and health care law.

Assemblyman Bagger On Insurance Panel

Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger, who represents Westfield, was appointed last week by Assembly Speaker Garabed "Chuck" Haytaian to serve as a member of the recently-created Joint Legislative Commission on Automobile Insurance Risk Classifications.

Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger

This commission, which will consist of four legislators, four automobile insurance experts and three public representatives, was formed to review and update the traditional territorial rating system used for determining automobile insurance premiums in New Jersey.

The legislature recently overrode Governor James J. Florio's veto of legislation co-sponsored by Assemblyman Bagger which repealed Section No. 40 of the Fair Automobile Insurance Reform Act of 1990.

Section No. 40 would have prohibited the use of traditional risk factors in setting premiums, thereby resulting in higher premiums for older drivers and suburban residents, according to the Assemblyman.

"By repealing Section No. 40 of the so called 'Fair Act,' the Legislature prevented rate hikes for low-risk drivers," Assemblyman Bagger declared. "This special legislative commission will examine New Jersey's automobile insurance laws and rating factors to make sure premiums are based on risk, so low-risk drivers have lower premiums."

The commission is the third special legislative committee on which Assemblyman Bagger has been appointed to serve during the current Assembly terms.

He was the Vice Chairman of the Assembly Select Committee on Civil Service and Employee Benefits and also was the Vice Chairman of the Joint Select Committee on Medicaid Reimbursement.

Night Place To Be Held On March 12

The Night Place program next will be held on Friday, March 12.

The program, sponsored by the Westfield Recreation Commission and the Parent-Teacher Council will be held at Edison Intermediate School from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock for all sixth-through eighth-grade students.

The Night Place features a variety of activities including a disc jockey with dancing, food, ping-pong, basketball, movies, volleyball and the new indoor miniature golf.

Tickets are $2 in advance and $3 at the door and will be on sale at the intermediate schools the week of the event.

Advance ticket purchase is encouraged.

For more information, please telephone the Recreation Department at 789-4080.

Bicentennial Commission Chooses 'Best in Show'

Warren Himmelstoss's entry in the Westfield Bicentennial Commission's logo competition was declared "best" among 29 entries, Mrs. Linda Maggio, the Chairman of the commission, announced today.

"We are pleased with the 29 entries received," Mrs. Maggio said, "and I applaud these citizens for their interest in the bicentennial and Westfield's history for their artistic abilities."

"Mr. Himmelstoss's entry is creative, has historical significance and artistic characteristics that made it the 'best in show,'" she continued. "However, none of the entries lend themselves to reproduction as a logo design which must be simple for reproduction purposes and clear when photographed or faxed."

Judges in the contest selected Mr. Himmelstoss's entry.

The judges, all Westfield artists, worked under the direction of Mrs. Jean McDermott and included: George MacFail, Miss Pamela S. McClure, Arthur Silveira and Mrs. Maggie Taylor.

"Although the commission found Mr. Himmelstoss's design inspirational, it cannot be used for the logo," Mrs. Maggio stated. "We hope to develop a simple logo that will be easy and much less expensive to reproduce."

Mr. Himmelstoss, of 415 Birch Place, submitted three versions of his design, all in three colors.

His description of five design elements follows:

1. A silhouetted "Jersey Blue" militiaman, representing our early colonial beginnings

2. The Presbyterian Church, the oldest church in Westfield, representing family and community

3. The town municipal building, representing government and reflecting our colonial heritage in its architectural style

4. The World War I memorial, a town landmark that speaks of citizenship and supreme sacrifice to maintain that citizenship in a free democracy

5. The stars and stripes of the United States of America, with six stars and two stripes representing the elements of the Township of Westfield, six stars representing Scotch Plains, Plainfield, Fanwood, Clark, Garwood and Mountainside, and two stripes representing the portions of Cranford and Rahway that were part of the make-up of the Township of Westfield in January of 1794.

For submitting the best entry in the competition, Mr. Himmelstoss will be given a free courtesy pass to each bicentennial event in 1994.

WINNER ANNOUNCED... Sarah Hoban is the winner of the "Name that Book" contest held by the Children's Department of the Westfield Memorial Library. With the help of her family she correctly identified the highest number of book titles and was presented a library T-shirt by Miss Barbara Thiele, the Library Director.

Activities Announced For Drug Awareness Week

Town and school activities will highlight a Drug Awareness Week sponsored by Chemical People and Preventing Alcohol, Narcotic and Drug Abuse (PANDA), the town of Westfield's drug and alcohol prevention alliance.

This week's activities will begin on Sunday with special activities in churches and synagogues.

On Monday, March 8, which is "Red Ribbon Day," all town personnel, including police, fire and crossing guards, store and business owners and school children will be wearing red ribbons with the logo, "The Choice for Me — Drug Free."

The residents also may wear red ribbons and tie red ribbons to their porches and cars.

Both the Boy and Girl Scout organizations, as members of the alliance, are helping the drug-abuse prevention group with this project.

Wendy Jibbens, a senior scout, is coordinating the troops, who will tie red ribbons around town and then remove them after the event.

The Boy Scouts under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Petrosoric have distributed posters in town encouraging the participation of businesses in this awareness week.

On Wednesday, March 10, everyone will be urged to wear red, "As again as a symbol Westfield cares about substance abuse and its prevention," the group's Director, Mrs. Nancy Walbert said. "Since 1983, we have made great strides through education and town recreational programs to help our youth and their families have brighter futures, but this week serves as a reminder that, unfortunately, our work is not yet complete."

In addition to the many activities being planned in the elementary schools, which include poster contests, essays, songs, skits, "comfort quilts" and assembly programs, students in the secondary schools will be participating in a puppetry program designed to help students deal with their daily-life problems and find appropriate solutions.

Mrs. Mary Beth Mansfield, the Nurse and Health Educator, will lead the series at Edison Intermediate School, and Mrs. Carol Gerson, the Westfield Schools' Substance Abuse Coordinator, will lead the series at Roosevelt Intermediate School.

A number of high school students in the ninth through 11th grade will be attending a Reach seminar, on Sunday and Monday, March 7 and 8, which will help them develop interpersonal skills and self esteem, inform them about the latest drug and alcohol information and encourage them to develop projects and activities in their schools that help their peers to cope with problems and encourage younger students to "say no to drug abuse."

A number of students in the Lifes' program from both Edison and Roosevelt Schools will present programs on Monday, March 15, at the Westfield Community Center and on Wednesday, March 17, at Meridian Nursing Center, Westfield.

These students, under the direction of the school health educators and Mrs. Gerson, have undergone special peer education which enables them to use their skills in the school and community.

Culminating the activities of this week and month will be a musical comedy titled, Wee Pals, which will be performed by about 50 Reflecting on our Times students from Edison and Roosevelt Schools.

The production depicts the problems adolescents face in today's world and how they have learned to cope.

The program will be held on Tuesday, March 30, at 7:30 p.m. at Roosevelt School.

In addition, town businesses are being asked to do the following to highlight this week:

- Display red ribbons, banners and posters on the interior and exterior of building. PANDA will be distributing posters via Girl and Boy Scouts.

- Place a red ribbon message in their advertisements and monthly statements.

- Promote Red Ribbon Week in newsletters and on marquees and "for sale" signs.

- Advertise Red Ribbon special discounts or sales for customers wearing a red ribbon or red on Wear Red Day.

- Florists are asked to display red flower arrangements, maybe with a PANDA in windows and to offer red-rose or red-carnation specials.

- Clothing retailers are asked to feature red clothing or cloths with a red ribbon placed on it.

- Bookstores are asked to feature books that deal with alcohol and drugs and self-help for families.

- Drug stores are asked to hand out flyers about interaction of drugs and misuse especially by senior citizens.

- Food and liquor stores are asked to provide flyers that give recipes for non-alcoholic drinks and punches for teen parties.

The community may participate in all these activities, most of which have been funded partially by a grant from the state's Governor's Council on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse to PANDA for 1993.

Where Are the Spending Cuts? Representative Franks Asks

Representative Robert D. Franks, a Republican elected from the Seventh Congressional District which includes Westfield, said President Clinton's call for higher taxes as part of his economic stimulus and deficit reduction program is "a prescription for failure."

Speaking on the floor of the House of Representatives on February 18, Representative Franks said, "Feeding the government's addiction to spending with higher taxes will never lead to economic prosperity and new jobs for American Workers."

"The American people are prepared to make sacrifices and shoulder the burden of higher taxes — but only if all opportunities to reduce wasteful government spending have been exhausted. After serving only 28 days in office, there is no way that President Clinton has had time to wring the waste and inefficiency out of the federal bureaucracy. Until he does, he shouldn't ask the hard working people to turn over more of their hard-earned money to continue subsidizing a wasteful, bloated bureaucracy."

Representative Franks said it is up to the federal government to bring spending in line. "Until the federal government brings spending in line with revenue by exhibiting the political will to make the tough decisions to reduce government spending, we will not restore the trust and confidence of the American people in their own government. Moreover, with several structural changes in the way we approach the federal budget, any temporary progress we make will likely be short-lived.

"Those changes include a balanced budget amendment to the federal constitution and line-item veto power for the President. These are common sense, long over-due reforms. Without them, we will never get America's fiscal house in order," he said.

The Congressman said that President Clinton took a page of Governor James J. Florio's fiscal blueprint by proposing record tax increases as a way of addressing the budget deficit.

Representative Franks said, "There are a number of very disturbing parallels between what the 7.5 million people in New Jersey have experienced over the past three years and what now faces the American people. The most troubling feature is the President falling into the 'business as usual' trap of taxing first and talking about cutting back on spending later. That point was underscored when it was disclosed before the Budget Committee that in the first full year of the Clinton program, there will be $36 billion in higher taxes and a net spending reduction of only $2 billion. That's not fair — it's not balanced, and it simply won't work."

"Before the Democrats in Congress agree to follow this perilous course, they should know that New Jersey has never recovered from James Florio's rush to raise taxes. Our economy only became weaker. The new taxes simply led to more runaway spending and even bigger deficits. At the same time, New Jersey's unemployment rate soared way above the national average. The investment Governor Florio called for never paid off. The promised dividends have never been realized," he said.

Lisa Clevenger

On President's List

Lisa Clevenger of Westfield has been named to Plymouth, New Hampshire's Plymouth State College President's List for achieving a grade point average of 3.7 or better during the fall semester of the 1992-1993 academic year.

Board of Chosen Freeholders Adds Six Firms to Union County Waste Plan

By PAUL J. PEYTON
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders on Thursday approved applications from six private companies for inclusion in the county's Solid Waste Management Plan.

The resolution for a seventh company's inclusion in the plan was put on hold 30 days ending a recommendation from Plainfield officials.

According to Jonathan Williams, the General Counsel for the Union County Utilities Authority, all companies which are involved in solid-waste management must be included in the county plan.

He said by doing so the utilities authority can be assured each facility is following proper guidelines in dealing with solid waste.

Added to the program were: Schering-Plough Institute of Kenilworth and Union, both as approved medical-waste grinder facilities; Rockrete Recycling Corporation, Automated Modular Systems, Inc. of Linden, Automated Recycling Technologies, Inc. and Safety Recycling Company, Inc.

"Each of them is a facility which the utilities authority believes will become an integral part of the solid-waste management plan and will provide such things as enhanced recycling capabilities," Mr. Williams said.

"Schering-Plough Research Institute intends to install regulated medical grinders for grinding only its medical waste in both its Union and Kenilworth facilities," Larry Adrian, the General Counsel for Schering-Plough said.

The majority of the material to be ground is classified as "overclassified" and is not regulated medical waste.

He said material is ground to an "unrecognizable state," placed in a closed trash container and transported to a transfer station.

Mr. Adrian said prior to approval for permits with the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and Energy, Schering-Plough must first be included in the county's solid-waste plan.

In answering a question from Freeholder Chairman, Miss Linda-Lee Kelly, Mr. Adrian assured the Freeholders all material classified as regulated medical waste first will be disinfected through sterilization before being ground.

The facilities would be in operation a maximum of eight hours daily and five days a week, he said. He noted the Union facility is larger and also grinds pharmaceutical returned goods.

As a Class B recycling center, Elizabeth-based Rockrete Recycling Corporation expects to recycle up to 100 tons of concrete per hour and 800 tons daily to be used in road construction, according to Gabriel Tomae, a company representative.

He said the facility would be open eight hours daily and five days a week. He said the material would mostly come from Union County.

The material to be recycled at the facility would come from concrete road decks, bridges, curbing and sidewalks.

Mr. Tomae said the material is placed on a conveyor, crushed and put in containers. Both reinforced and non-reinforced concrete would be recycled.

One sticking point that was resolved through further explanation by Mr. Tomae was since 1981, when the company was started, Rockrete has operated as a state-approved mobile facility and is called to certain sites.

Mr. Tomae explained his company has done a number of mobile jobs including work at the Campbell Soup facility in Camden in New Port City and on Route No. 78.

"We want to stay in one place. We want to be permanent," said Mr. Tomae in explaining he was applying for the inclusion in the Union County solid waste plan.

Safety Recycling Company, Inc. of Elizabeth, in applying to be a Class A facility, expects to recycle 290 tons of paper products including glass, plastic, newspapers and mixed paper, mostly from Union County, noted Christopher Daul from Alban Management Company representing Safety Recycling.

The facility will be open six days a week from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays and 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays. The facility is located at the Ellesor transfer station in Elizabeth, said Mr. Daul.

"The Ellesor transfer station is in the process of being converted from a transfer station to a materials recovery facility, a Class A facility and a Class B facility," he said.

The 63,000-square-foot facility is permitted to take up to 800 tons of waste per day.

Peter Roselli, a company representative, said the site currently takes in 500 tons daily.

"All our tonnage is pretty much directed to us and Automated Modular Systems. We will not be getting in much more tonnage," Mr. Roselli noted.

Automated Modular Systems was seeking approval to change from a transfer station to a Class A and Class B recycling facility and a material-recovery facility.

Michael Riccardelli, the attorney for the Linden firm, said it would have the capacity to receive 1,200 tons daily of paper, wood, metal and glass. The facility currently receives 800 to 900 tons daily. The facility's hours of operation will be 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays.

"The firm would like to be in a situation to receive material which is pre-segregated from the waste stream like pallets of wood and metal," Mr. Riccardelli noted.

The 20,000-square-foot unit would have two conveyor belts. Currently, he said, the plant has one conveyor. A second one would enhance the plant's ability to recycle materials and market them, he noted.

Automated Modular System operates on seven acres and is adjacent to the Class A, 10-acre facility operated by Automated Recycling Technologies Mr. Riccardelli said, noting both facilities on Lower Road fall within traffic patterns previously approved by the state Department of Environmental Protection and Energy. All glass is sent to the recycling technologies firm for recycling.

He said the recycled tonnage for Automated Modular Systems would be, on average, 100 tons per week taken out of the waste stream. Automated Recycling Technologies would handle 15,000 to 20,000 tons annually.

George Albanese, of Alban Management Group, who spoke for Plainfield-based Queen City Recycling, Inc., said Queen City would recycle 30 tons of mostly cardboard with some aluminum, glass and plastic. The facility would be open five days a week.

The facility was put on hold by the Freeholders for 30 days until the Plainfield governing body sends a letter to the utilities authority with its opinion on the application.

Mr. Albanese explained the Plainfield Planning Board previously rejected Queen City's application for a new facility in the city.

The application before the Freeholders, he explained, was for the existing facility.

With the exception of Queen City, the board approved the applications into the county's solid waste plan.

In other business, several county residents approached the board to state their objections to the closing of the county's Addiction Recovery Unit located at Runnells Hospital in Berkeley Heights.

County Manager, Mrs. Ann Baran, has recommended closing the facility, which would save the county an estimated $470,000, because it is operating under an annual deficit of $1.4 million.

Robert Nelson explained the 28-bed facility is only one in the county for indigents.

"A year ago we were told it was safe. Now we are being told it is being taken away," Mr. Nelson noted.

Mrs. Baran explained to Mr. Nelson and to two other county residents, who addressed the board, the target date for closing the unit is Thursday, April 1, but the date is not firm. She said savings to the county, by closing the facility, will be used to place those who need such care in some sort of residential treatment program.

She indicated the program might be outside of Union County. However, it would not be under the operation of the county as was the Runnells unit, the County Manager said.

"We will have a plan to take care of the problem. That's a given fact," Freeholder Frank H. Lehr said.

Members of Concerned Citizens of Union County asked the Freeholders to put a stop to the utilities authority's attempt to block a non-binding referendum in Rahway on the county's solid-waste recovery plant. The incinerator is now slated to have its first test burn in November with full operation by next summer.

Robert Carson of Rahway stated he was told the utilities authority has contracted the office of State Attorney General Robert Del Tufo to intercede in the matter and stop the referendum.

Freeholders Lehr and Mario A. Pappozzi stated their support for the non-binding referendum. Freeholder Lehr, however, said such an action "will have no effect at all."

Mrs. Keri Blanchard of Rahway spoke against the incinerator's continued construction.

She brought a bag of garbage filled

Municipal Court Collected $161,557 More Last Year

Editor's Note: The following is a copy of the 1992 annual report of the Westfield Municipal Court which was submitted recently to the Mayor and Town Council.

During the last year the Westfield Municipal Court collected a gross amount of $526,442.

This sum represented fines, costs, contempt charges and various state and county assessments and surcharges associated with certain violations. The 1992 total receipts were larger than the 1991 total of $364,885.

The court processed 14,471 traffic matters last year. Among the moving traffic violations, the most serious charges involved driving while under the influence of alcohol.

In 1992, there were 52 cases processed as compared to a 1991 total of 61, while the court processed 1,028 criminal complaints. Fifty of the complaints related to controlled, dangerous substances.

Also processed were 86 assault complaints, 69 complaints for harassment, 57 for bad checks, 47 for shoplifting, 12 for disorderly conduct and 17 complaints for violation of restraining orders. There were 466 town code and zoning violations issued last year.

Of the $526,442 collected, $408,733 was turned over to the Town of Westfield, an increase of $43,848. The remainder of the money was collected and forwarded to other agencies pursuant to law.

Funds collected and forwarded were as follows:

	1991	1992
To County	$88,160	$67,064
To Motor Vehicle Services	$12,038	$14,669
Automated Traffic Systems	$6	$14,768

The remainder of the money was collected and forwarded to various agencies.

Examples of allocations:

1. An assessment paid to the Violent Crimes Compensation Board in the amount of $50 on each disorderly persons charge and driving while intoxicated where the finding is guilty. Receipts in the amount of $6,694 were forwarded in 1992.

2. A laboratory fee of $50 paid to Union County for each disposition of a controlled, dangerous substance case.

3. A payment to Drug Enforcement Demand Reduction of $500 for each drug-related charge.

4. A payment of $45 to Union County representing a jury-fee assessment in connection with each controlled, dangerous substance case.

5. Payment of fines to various outside agencies, such as the Fish and Game Commission and the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals when complaints are signed in Westfield.

The court staff consists of the Judge, Court Administrator, Deputy Court Administrator, and two full-time employees.

In addition, part-time employees assist from time to time in dealing with special reports and other municipal court projects.

World Trade Center Explosion Cost Westfielders Only a Sense of Security

Those Westfielders who work in the town or in other areas close to home probably breathed a sigh of relief on Friday that we were not near the site of the horrendous explosion in New York City's World Trade Center.

Countless other residents who commute to the city and work in the vicinity of the trade center also should be grateful they were spared from everything except a major inconvenience in their journey to work on Monday morning.

Still others are among the most grateful — those who actually do work in the mammoth structure.

They were fortunate the blast, which now is believed to have come from a terrorist bomb, left in its wake only five victims, none of whom calls Westfield home.

Town residents who work in the towers may have been subjected to an undue amount of smoke and the unpleasant experience of walking down countless flights of stairs in darkened hallways, but at least the only inconvenience they suffered possibly was a short stay in a hospital, an extended weekend caused by the temporary closing of the towers or the temporary or permanent relocation of their offices.

What we all have lost, however, is some of our sense of security as citizens of the world's greatest democracy — a sense of security not enjoyed in many nations of the world, where terrorist activities have become a common occurrence.

Our nation will continue to function and our sense of security will be restored, tempered perhaps by more awareness of those around us in the world community.

We are fortunate that, for the most part, rational discourse and honest disagreement are the forces which drive our citizens rather than the settlement of every argument by the lighting of a fuse.

We only hope the rest of the world will take a cue from this example rather than making us an even greater medium for the publicizing of irrational disputes.

Assemblyman Bagger Explains Vote on Gun-Ban Override

Editor's Note: The following is a copy of a response by Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger of Westfield to a letter he recently received from Stanley G. Feinsod of Westfield, a copy of which is published elsewhere on this page.

Thank you for contacting me to express your dismay with my vote to override Governor James J. Florio's veto of Assembly Bill No. 7, which would amend and repeal parts of New Jersey's ban on semi-automatic firearms. While I know you disagree with my vote, I would like to share the reasoning which led to my decision.

But first, I must clarify a statement in your letter. You quote my prior correspondence to you in which I stated automatic weapons should be — and are in fact — banned. That statement is true, and will remain so, regardless of the final outcome of Assembly Bill No. 7.

Automatic firearms, which fire more than one bullet with a single trigger pull, are banned by both New Jersey and federal law. Assembly Bill No. 7 addresses certain semi-automatic firearms, those which fire only a single bullet with a single trigger pull.

Many people's first impression is only a legislator who is controlled by the National Rifle Association or who has taken leave of his senses would support Assembly Bill No. 7. I can dispel the former concern easily: I have never accepted financial contributions from the association or the gun lobby.

The merits of this issue are more complex. During the year I have served in the Assembly, I have had a single, but important concern with the semi-automatic firearms ban. That concern does not relate to my views on gun control, but rather to the confiscation without compensation of legally-acquired property.

Prior to the 1991 effective date of the ban, thousands of New Jersey residents obtained state licenses to possess rifles which are now banned.

To be issued such a license, each of those persons was, every appropriately, required to pass the strictest gun-licensing standards in the country, including:

- Completion in its entirety of a very detailed application.
- Approval of a background check by the local chief of police.
- Fingerprinting and a crime records check by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the State Police.
- A mental-health background check, including access to all the applicant's medical records.
- A four-to-six-month waiting period.

After the ban took effect, the thousands of New Jersey citizens who had previously complied with New Jersey's strict gun control laws and had bought a firearm perfectly legally, were required to turn them in, without any compensation.

The original semi-automatic firearms ban should have been prospective only, so as to "grandfather" previously-owned firearms. Indeed, after passing the initial ban, the prior legislature passed such a "grandfather" provision, which Governor Florio vetoed in 1991.

My position on this issue has been the same for the past year: I would have supported keeping the semi-automatic firearms ban in place if it was amended to exempt those firearms that were legally acquired prior to the ban.

To me, that is an important value: The government should not require the confiscation of legally-obtained private property without compensation.

If the Assembly had been given the opportunity to vote on a "grandfather" bill, I would have voted against Assembly Bill No. 7.

I don't expect to change your mind with this letter. Instead, I hope only to have explained my thinking on this very difficult topic, where compromise and legislative fine tuning unfortunately have not occurred.

Mandated Twice-a-Week Trash Pickups Are Both Unfair and Counterproductive

This letter is to call attention to a matter that I believe to be both unfair and counterproductive.

It concerns the mandated twice-a-week garbage pickup. Many households with only one or two people don't need that frequent service. It seems ludicrous to have a pickup with a garbage can only a quarter full.

The senior citizens and others who used to "double-up" are a perfect example of sensible citizens being a step ahead of their government. A less-frequent pickup, with a lower fee, would encourage recycling and more careful shopping to eliminate excessive packaging. At present, there is no incentive. It also would benefit the environment and save fuel.

We are being forced to pay for more service than we require.

Property taxes are high enough in Westfield, without this unnecessary expense.

Choral Society Thanks Leader For Coverage

I am writing on behalf of the Choral Art Society of New Jersey to thank you most sincerely for your feature of the choir prior to our recent concert.

We have been singing in Westfield for the last 30 years and our membership is drawn from many towns in the surrounding area, so it is of great importance to us that local papers feature us in this way.

Unfortunately, with the current financial environment, coverage of the arts has often been cut, and it has not always been easy for us to persuade editors to include features of the choir.

We were, therefore, overjoyed to see your article and photographs appear in our hometown newspaper in this our 30th anniversary season. Thank you very much.

Assemblyman's Weapon Vote Disqualifies Him for Reelection

On Thursday, Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger voted to permit assault weapons on the streets of Westfield!

Everyone in Westfield should react with shame and anger at this outrageous vote by Assemblyman Bagger to reinstate the legality of assault weapons in our community.

It is inconceivable Assemblyman Bagger represented the wishes of his constituents in voting to remove a constraint on these weapons of mass destruction in our too-violent society.

Unfortunately, Assemblyman Bagger followed his party on this issue without thought and without conscience.

Councilman LaPorta Assails Assembly Assault-Weapon Vote

Once again a special interest has won out over the public interest.

Last week, the State Assembly voted to override Governor James J. Florio's veto of a bill which allows the sale of semi-automatic assault weapons. Certainly this was the fulfillment of a campaign promise made by the Assembly Republicans to the gun lobby.

Every public poll that has been taken has shown the citizens of New Jersey are overwhelmingly against allowing these weapons of war on our streets.

Law-enforcement organizations throughout the state have voiced their opposition to lifting the existing ban on these weapons.

Unfortunately, 55 Republican Assemblymen felt a greater obligation to the gun lobby that contributed more than $250,000 to their political cause over the past two years than to the safety of our citizens and the police, who must face these assault weapons every day.

I am very disappointed that Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger, a former Mayor and Councilman of Westfield, felt compelled to support a minority gun lobby and, at least

Twenty-Five Ways to Make Life More Enjoyable

I want to thank so many of you who responded to my 25th year of writing Hung Up. I had promised to focus this column on "What to do to make each day a happy, more satisfying one."

I am sure that each person would have his or her list if asked this question. Here are the 25 which work for me, and, I hope, will work for you. I hope you can find at least one which has special meaning to you and you can use in your life. They are not listed in any particular order.

1. Too often we don't count our blessings; we don't realize our assets, those things we have which are special such as our friends, health, family and job.

2. Recognize each day is only 24 hours long and we only can do so much. Re-assess your expectations and try to do what is possible for that day without obsessing you could have or should have done more.

3. Have a special drawer or box at home which I call the "unfinished business box." In relation to No. 2, put uncompleted correspondence, bills, lists and other items into the drawer to be worked on the following day.

4. Exercise each day, whether it's a more active exercise like Jane Fonda's tapes, or a more passive one like Dixie Carter's videotape.

5. Engage in some spiritual meditation or prayer; this can go a long way.

6. Use humor in your daily life. Smile, laugh; try to see the "up" side of life's strange events.

7. If you are part of a busy family, and who isn't, try to have one meaningful get-together with other family members such as at dinner time, talking after dinner or before going to bed. Communication among loved ones should be a priority.

8. Do not go to bed angry. Talk out any difficult feelings so no anger rages within, and builds, and a good night's sleep is possible.

9. It is important to feel good about the way you look. Try to wear clothing you enjoy and hairstyles you feel comfortable wearing.

10. Be involved with people who like you and whom you like. Don't be involved with people who criticize you and want to control and re-do you.

11. Remember Rick Nelson's song Garden Party wherein he says, "You can't please everybody, so try to please yourself."

12. Remember Frank Sinatra's song That's Life wherein he talks about being down and out. He states the best way to deal with feelings of sadness and despair is to get up and go on with your life. Remember, "God helps those who help themselves."

13. Reward yourself with a gift once a week — for $1 to $5. I could be a matinee movie, a special small, appetizing food item, a magazine, an inexpensive, very inexpensive, piece of jewelry.

14. Attempt to do something for a half hour a day which provides enjoyment and relaxation: Watch a favorite television show, read or listen to music.

15. Food is one of the basic ingredients of our lives. Even if you are counting calories, and we all should, indulge in one "small" food item that you truly enjoy. (I said one small food item!)

16. Fantasize. It is a wonderful thing to be able to daydream or fantasize. It is personal and private and we can indulge in fantasizing about anything which gives us pleasure. It is a gratifying outlet.

17. We can never repeat today. Don't waste it or regret having let it slip by.

18. Each of us is replaceable. Don't be a martyr and do things you may not want to do. Don't let others use you. Know your limitations and don't overkill.

19. Show your teeth! Smile, be animated, be involved. Don't walk around being immobile.

20. Try to pursue a hobby which you enjoy and which can go on indefinitely.

21. Learn to deal with authority. Most of us have trouble with authority. If we cannot deal with it, we remain agitated and anxious. If you can resolve this, you will feel more comfortable, freer.

22. Do not keep feelings in. Learn to understand your emotions and try to externalize and communicate. It minimizes the potential for depression.

23. In a society where friends and family are uprooted, try to write or telephone. Send local articles to loved ones. Send an audio tape or a videotape of loved ones.

24. Clarify that you have a positive self image. The way we feel about ourselves is crucial to the way we deal with life.

25. And after all is said and one, if some stresses seem ongoing and never-ending, see a professional therapist who, hopefully, will be able to resolve the conflicts. I particularly recommend this to anyone who feels burdened with inappropriate guilt feelings.

I hope this is helpful, and you can apply some of these recommendations to yourself. Good luck.

Poster Contest For Cleanup Day Set for April 24

The Beautification Committee of the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce will conduct a Poster Contest in conjunction with plans for their annual Spring Cleanup Day on Saturday, April 24. All Westfield students are invited to submit a poster with art work and slogan on the theme of a clean and litter-free community.

Prizes will be awarded for the most creative posters in the following grade categories: Kindergarten and first, second and third, fourth and fifth, sixth through eighth, and ninth through 12th.

Winners will be notified by telephone and announced in The Westfield Leader. Many posters will be displayed in local storefronts to publicize Cleanup Day.

Posters can be delivered to the Westfield Area Chamber of Commerce office, 111 Quimby Street, Suite No. 3, on second floor above Robert Treat Delicateless. The office is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays. Each poster must include the name, telephone number, school and grade of the contest entrant.

Deadline for judging is Wednesday, March 31, at 1 p.m. For information, please call 233-3021.

Jerkwater Steamed Way Into Lexicon

Jerkwater — anything that is insignificant or out-of-the-way.

Small United States towns have engendered a variety of clever, albeit tongue-in-cheek synonyms. For example, podunk, boondocks, hicktown and sticks.

Most of these derogatory names were coined by big-city folks who apparently did not appreciate the advantages and charms of rural life.

All aboard the Word Sleuth Express as we travel its branch lines on a journey to discover the origin of the jerkwater idiom.

First appearing in print in 1878, jerkwater described early steam locomotives with small-capacity boilers. The word for such engines was derived from the fact crews on these first diminutive trains often had to "stop in their tracks" to fill their small tanks by "jerkwater" in leather buckets from nearby streams.

When larger engines were developed, the small jerkwater engines were relegated to use on the branch lines that served the small rural towns.

In time, the term jerkwater was used to describe the small towns that were served by jerkwater trains.

Later, jerkwater developed the broader sense defined at the beginning of this column.

Italian Group Offers Scholarships To Westfielders

A spokesman for the Westfield Chapter of Unity, Neighborliness, Integrity, Charity, Opportunity (UNICO) National announced scholarship applications are now available.

The scholarships are offered to members of the graduating class of Westfield High School and students residing in Westfield attending private or parochial schools in Union County.

Scholarships are based on financial need, academic achievement, leadership and character. The awards range from $500 to $1,000 and are not renewable.

Application forms are available from the Guidance Office at Westfield High School, 550 Dorian Road, Westfield and must be returned to the student's high school guidance office by Monday, March 15.

Dartmouth Cites Leigh Elmore

Leigh Elmore, a freshman from Westfield at Dartmouth College in Hanover, New Hampshire, has been cited for outstanding academic achievement during the fall 1992 term.

Leigh, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Elmore of Westfield, was cited for outstanding work in a course in comparative literature.

Members of the Dartmouth faculty are invited to submit citation reports only when a student's work is sufficiently distinguished to merit special recognition. Such citations are rare; typically, only a few undergraduates receive citations each term.

THE 6TH DECADE

The Last Becomes First
And the First Is Last

By Herb Ross

In a recent magazine article, my friend Morris Applebaum wrote the following piece, The Treasured Firsts. Our lives are made up of tiny particles of experience which never happen again... They are the "last memories" in our lives. Our last memories take a wide variety of forms... the last time you ever to see a very dear friend... your dog expired and had to be put away... the almost unbearable beauty of a sunset as you lay watching with your lover on a hilltop... the last (and only time) you ever tasted escargots... the pasty-faced gent who overflowed the seat next to you on the plane and blew smoke in your face... And so it goes, for as long as we live... things, people, events we shall never see, do or feel again. And having happened to us, as though impelled by an invisible force, they all take their appropriate places in the substance of our lives. Some we shall never miss... some shall leave behind them a lingering sadness. It begins early, this phenomenon... in our mother's womb. In fact, the last time we felt its enveloping warmth before beginning our journey into this "best of all possible worlds"... and there to be greeted with the first of a rushing avalanche of firsts... our very first breath of air... our first angry cry of protest against the discomforts of survival. For a long time, the number of firsts far outnumber the number of lasts. A probable midpoint, where the firsts and lasts appear to be in perfect balance, would be the magic age of 30. The passing of this milestone heralds the first time when the number of lasts imperceptibly begins to exceed the number of firsts, though the change is so subtle few will note that it has taken place. But with each succeeding year the pace quickens. Eventually, there comes the disturbing realization there appear to be many more things one can look back upon than there are to look forward to. To the faint-of-heart this will appear to be a cruel and depressing joke played upon them by time. The stout-of-heart, on the other hand, will solemnly review the past and select from it the delightful people, places and events worth remembering and fondly file them away for ready reference. Then, awakened to the need to conserve what is left, savor each event of each fleeting day with grateful appreciation. It is this new-found awareness of how precious is each moment we live, that transforms each new "last" into a treasured "first."

Gilligan's Island Strands
You in Never, Never Land

By LOUIS H. CLARK
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

What is the television program which, over the years, has garnered more accolades, more devotion, more sniffling disdain than any other in history? Right, Gilligan's Island. And what program still is seen today, 25 or 30 years later at least once a week in almost every viewing area in the United States? Gilligan's Island. I say almost because I haven't been to every viewing area. Even in New York — "the center of culture" — it is run on a double dose — or two half hours back-to-back — every Saturday. I wouldn't be surprised if it's exported in foreign languages too. So why is this lowest of low-esteemed programs still on the air and most likely making a fortune for whoever owns it? — Though now I see it's run through Turner Broadcasting so maybe Ted Turner bought it before he bought the Atlanta Braves and that's where he got the money

POPCORN™

The Crying Game
Has Its Winning Ways

By Michael Goldberg

One Popcorn, Poor • Two Popcorns, Fair • Three Popcorns, Good • Four Popcorns, Excellent

By now you've probably heard about the "trick" in The Crying Game — the "surprise" that only those in the know really know about. You have to take a chance on this low-budget sleeper that suddenly garnered six Academy Award nominations if you want to join ranks with the growing cult of moviegoers who have made The Crying Game the coffee table film of the year. Truth be told, it is a very fine motion picture. Problem is, I get a bit cynical when the vox populi suddenly expresses an interest in speaking the King's English — and equally sardonic in judgment when folks rave simply because a flick is endowed with an interesting story, good direction and fine acting. Once upon a time, those attributes were prerequisites for any decent film.

And then there's merely an ethnocentric funk that engulfs you truly when the impossible task of separating a film from its European, je ne sais quoi quotient seems required. That mumbo jumbo critic's jargon aside, be it known that discussing this film without "giving it away" is a challenge — a testament to the novelty factor The Crying Game provides. But here it goes just the same.

Jody, a black British soldier on duty in Belfast, is kidnapped by members of the Irish Republican Army for hostage exchange purposes. If the terrorist group doesn't get what it wants, it's curtains for Jody, played with superb accent and winning empathy by the American, Forest Whitaker. Guarding the unlucky soldier is Fergus, a warm and caring sort who should have found another way to love his country; he's not cut out for this sort of end-justifying-means work.

Ultimately, things go awry and, when the smoke clears, Fergus has made himself scarce and anonymous in London, where he becomes a laborer.

Previously, perhaps the dynamics of the Stockholm Syndrome, Fergus and Jody developed a mutual admiration, and Jody beseeched his captor to look up an old flame should the latter later visit London.

Fergus, played with a wide range of perfectly executed facial expressions by Irish theater actor Stephen Rea, eventually makes it to the Metro, a well-populated watering hole where Jody's object d'oeur, Dil, imbibes in spirits, atmosphere and any attentions the night brings.

For psychological and romantic reasons that, doubtless, are meant to be re-iterated by filmgoers, our reluctant renegade takes a very strong interest in Dil and vice versa. To further disguise his Irish Republican Army roots, Fergus adopts the moniker Jimmy.

Dil, portrayed with three-dimensional depth by Jaye Davidson, does everything but perform self-exploratory surgery — a piece of work to be sure.

Here, the film explores a world usually not effectively dealt with in mainstream cinema. And while Fergus is no stranger to uncommon circumstances, the sexual and sociological Jack-in-the-Box that suddenly jumps out at him, in a manner of speaking, poses challenges of conscience, duty, morality and passion. To boot, Fergus's old terrorist pals have by this time hunted him down and demand his renewed loyalty via a dangerous assignment. He wants no part of a hit he's to perform; yet, he's reminded that the Irish Republican Army has no voluntary early retirement plan. The Madame La Farge of his old gang, a steaming sexpot played by Miranda Richardson, assures Fergus that his non-cooperation will spell Dil's demise.

It's intricate, but not complicated; woven tightly, but not obscure. Director

Neil Jordan unleashes no emotions, attitudes or conventions foreign to most sophisticated tastes — but rather, he does concoct a specific formula of these elements that is at once hideous, alluring, comical, curious and demanding of our emotion and opinion.

Still, the question remains: If you were to pluck out the "surprise," would there be anything left upon which to lavish six Academy Award nominations?

Nonetheless, as it stands, the motion picture is candid, often haunting and unashamed in its exploration — in its naughty little secret about fringe sexual identities.

But there's a strange sense of humor at work here, because among its chief attributes, The Crying Game certainly knows how to play out challenged sensibilities.

Planning Board Denies Subdivision Application

By PAUL J. PEYTON
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield Planning Board on Monday denied by a 4-3 vote an application to subdivide the estate of Rose C. Young at 517 Wychwood Road into a second lot to be located on Topping Hill Road.

Prior to hearing the case, which was carried over from the February 1 meeting, George Canellis of Westfield, an attorney representing the applicant, dropped his earlier request that the Planning Board interpret its ordinance and decide whether a lot-depth variance was required for the new lot.

During his testimony, Robert Berse, a Vice President and Trust Officer with the Princeton Bank, the co-executor of the estate, said the bank's purpose for the subdivision was financial. He said the bank would sell both lots.

"It is our feeling we can get $150,000 to $200,000 more by dividing the lot as opposed to selling as one lot," Mr. Berse said.

He noted the funds would go to a hospital children's charity foundation in Plainfield.

John Madden, a planning expert for the applicant, testified the lot in question would be subdivided into two lots.

The current home on Wychwood Road has a lot of approximately 9,500 square feet. The new lot on Topping Hill Road would be over 10,500 square feet.

He said the new lot that would be created on Topping Hill Road is bigger than 60 per cent of the lots on the street.

In addressing the board about Mr. Madden's comments, James Brady of Garfield Avenue said he lives directly across from the Topping Hill Road lot in question.

He told the board that, in his opinion, the lot was too small to construct a house on.

Joseph Rock, a Topping Hill Road resident, said any new house on the property "would have to be rather large to support the lot and to sell it for $150,000."

Mrs. Carol Wood, a real estate agent testifying for the defendant, said she felt the new lot would "enhance nearby property values."

One Topping Hill resident asked the board to consider safety an issue. She said the lot in question is on a curve where a number of serious traffic accidents have occurred. She said an extra driveway would just make the corner that much more dangerous. Prior to denying the application, the board commented on the subdivision. Dr. B. Carol Molnar said she feared an oversized home could be constructed on the Topping Hill Road lot.

Board member Robert L. Newell said he was against granting the subdivision because the applicant did not provide "substantive evidence that provides relief to the community."

In other business the board approved the application of Mrs. Katrine T. Savage to divide a lot located at 305 North Scotch Plains Avenue into two lots. The new lot would be used to construct a small ranch house.

Mrs. Savage, who recently purchased the home, said she currently lives in another section of town with her daughter and four grandchildren. She said the home at 305 North Scotch Plains Avenue is undergoing extensive renovations.

Mrs. Savage added the existing house would be used as the residence for her daughter and grandchildren and the new house would be her new home. It would include a two-car garage.

The existing home has four and a half bedrooms. The proposed home would feature two bedrooms.

Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr. asked Mrs. Savage if she would consider reducing the width of the proposed home in order to adhere to Westfield's side-yard setback requirements.

Mrs. Savage replied she had looked at it, but was told by her architect it would be too narrow for a home.

Mrs. Savage also stated she had discussed moving the subdivision line to adhere to zoning requirements. By doing this she said the existing house would be in violation of the side setback requirements.

The board granted permission to Lucca's Inc. to establish a coffee-caffe shop at 70 Elm Street, the former location of Castle Bortery.

Barry Towbin, the co-owner of the cafe, told the board the new coffee shop would be similar to one he and his partner Michael Frina operate in Metuchen.

He said the shop would serve Capuccino, espresso, pastries and foods and it also would serve breakfasts.

The establishment would operate as both a take-out and sit-down restaurant, Mr. Towbin said.

He agreed to take out a parking lot permit.

The Westfield Leader

— Serving the Town Since 1890 —

P.O. Box 250, 50 Elm Street • Westfield, N. J. 07091

Dear Westfielder:

The Westfield Leader has the highest readership of any paid weekly newspaper in Union County — with nearly two-thirds of our town's households numbered as paid subscribers.

Every week it enables its subscribers to receive the most complete coverage of any area newspaper of every event in Westfield from town government and politics to high school sports to weddings, engagements, complete obituaries, other social news and the many events sponsored by our town's numerous civic organizations.

It also offers viewpoints on a variety of topics — current films, senior citizen issues, humor, psychology and current events by experts in each field who are your neighbors.

Many of our readers give gift subscriptions to those in and out of town and also send The Leader to those in college. Perhaps, this is the time you might consider some of these possibilities.

The Leader, your hometown newspaper since 1890, is the official newspaper for Westfield and also an official newspaper for Union County.

With all good regards,

The Explorer's Group of the Welcome Wagon Club of Westfield recently held a trip to the New Jersey Children's Museum in Paramus.

The museum is designed for children, and touching everything is encouraged.

Those interested in the club and its activities may attend a new-member coffee on Tuesday, March 9, at 8 p.m. Those attending are under no obligation to join the club at that time.

Please telephone the Membership Chairmen at 654-3872 or 654-4863 if you would like to attend this meeting, or if you would like additional information by mail.

Businesswomen Offer Pair of Scholarships

Applications are available for two scholarships offered by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Westfield.

Young women graduating from Westfield High School in June who plan to attend an accredited business or professional school may apply for one of the scholarships.

The recipient of this award will be selected on the basis of academic record, excellence of character and financial need.

Applications can be obtained from the Guidance Department of the high school.

A Secondary Career Scholarship also is awarded annually by the club. Women currently attending school or planning to return for further training with the intention of re-entering the job market may apply. The criteria for awarding this scholarship is sincerity of purpose and financial need.

The amount of all scholarships will be determined by the club.

The deadline for submission of applications is Friday, April 9.

This is the final test of a gentleman; his respect for those who can be of no possible service to him.

Rake and Hoe Juniors In Wednesday Show

"This Is Rake and Hoe," a minimum standard flower show, will be held at the Westfield "Y" on Wednesday, March 10, from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. and is open to the public.

Members of the Rake and Hoe Garden Club of Westfield have been preparing for this show.

The town club sponsors a group of 12 children aged 6 to 12 called the Rake and Hoe Juniors. This group meets once a month to learn about the same topics as the senior club such as birds, conservation, community garden involvement, flower arranging, growing plants and insects.

This group and past groups have participated in every flower show Rake and Hoe has staged plus the District No. 4 flower show, several Garden Club of New Jersey flower shows and their own shows.

In addition, they have won several state awards.

The juniors will enter designs, horticulture specimens and some special exhibits in the March 10 show.

In addition to the designs and horticulture of the senior club, Wednesday's show will feature a special-exhibits division in which the members will try to share with the public some of their projects.

One exhibit will show their efforts at helping those in need in such areas as Lyons Veterans Hospital, John E. Runnels Hospital in Berkeley Heights and the Cerebral Palsy Center of Union County in Union. Another exhibit will show Rake and Hoe's involvement with the Miller Cory House Museum, with the Claire Brownell Memorial Garden at the Reeve Arboretum, with the Trailside Nature and Science Center and with the Westfield Public Library.

Mrs. Anna Lanam and Mrs. Mary McClellan, the Co-Chairmen of this flower show, are working with the following committee heads:

Day Care Center Gala To Honor Stephen Perrys

The Westfield Day Care Center is celebrating its 25th year of operation in Westfield and to mark this occasion the Board of Trustees will host a celebration on Sunday, March 21, at 2 p.m. at the Echo Lake Country Club in Westfield.

As part of the gala, the center will honor Mr. and Mrs. Stephen F. Perry of Westfield for their volunteer efforts on behalf of the center during its 25 years.

Mrs. Perry was a member of the original steering committee that explored the need for and feasibility of opening a day care center in Westfield in 1965.

The committee began to organize fund-raising events, the first of which was a garage sale at the Perry home. This sale generated the first $200 of income for the center.

The center's present "Gigantic Garage Sale" is held in the Westfield Armory and generates over $10,000 for the Center. The Perrys still are involved in organizing and running this event.

Mr. Perry has been the Chairman of the House and Grounds Committee of the Board of Trustees since 1976. He donates over 500 hours each year painting, building and maintaining the center's buildings and playgrounds.

Mr. Perry has secured several Exxon Volunteer Fund Grants for the center over the years as a result of his service to the program. These funds have been used to purchase new playground equipment and indoor gymnastics equipment for the center.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry currently serve on the Board of Trustees and Mrs. Perry is a member of the auxiliary and a volunteer at the Little Shop, the handicrafts shop at 116 Elm Street whose proceeds are donated to the operating budget of the center.

Those interested in attending the gala on March 21, should telephone the center office at 232-6717.

Peter Winograd

Autumn from Vivaldi's The Four Seasons and Bach's Concerto in A Minor. Few works of the Baroque Era are as familiar to modern audiences as Antonio Vivaldi's The Four Seasons.

As the music for a popular movie of the same name some years ago, at least a few of the musical themes made their way into the public consciousness.

In actuality, The Four Seasons are four concertos for violin and orchestra.

Vivaldi (1678-1741) is known today principally through hundreds of concertos and sonatas. The violin was the principal beneficiary of his creative talents, but he composed for cello, bassoon, oboe, flute, recorder, mandolin, trumpet and French horn as well. What is less well known is he also composed 95 operas and numerous church works.

Vivaldi was born in Venice. His father was a violinist at St. Mark's, where Vivaldi received his early training and entered the priesthood in 1703, a desirable vocation for the oldest son of humble parents. After two years, he never again said Mass, ostensibly because of a chest condition, perhaps asthma.

Known as "The Red-Haired Priest" Vivaldi intermittently taught at the Pieta, one of four publicly-supported institutions for orphaned, abandoned, illegitimate or indigent girls. Due to his demand as a composer he resided in numerous Italian cities, and because of his music was so well known in all of Europe, he travelled throughout the continent.

The concert will open with Dvorak's Serenade for Strings and conclude with Copland's jazzy Music for the Theater.

Tickets for the concert are $19, $16 for seniors and $10 for students and may be purchased at the following outlets in Westfield, Lancasters, Ltd., Rorden Realty, Town Bookstore, Weichert Realtors and Turner World Travel.

For further information, please telephone the symphony office at 232-9400.

The concert also is made possible through a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts of the Department of State.

He continued in this position through the 1990-1991 season, at which time he became the first violinist of the American String Quartet, in residence at the Manhattan School of Music in New York City.

Despite a very heavy concert schedule, Mr. Winograd still manages to occasionally solo with the orchestra or serve as concert master. At the orchestra's next concert Mr. Winograd will combine the two roles.

The concert will be on Saturday, March 6, at 8 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church in Westfield at 140 Mountain Avenue. There will be a pre-concert discussion by Music Director Brad Keimach at 7 o'clock in Westminster Hall. Mr. Winograd's appearance is being made possible in part through the generosity of Schering-Plough Corporation.

With the symphony Mr. Winograd has performed concertos by Beethoven, Brahms, Sibelius and Tchaikovsky, with which he made his Carnegie Hall debut. A graduate of the Juilliard School in New York City, Mr. Winograd won the top prize in the 1988 Naumberg International Violin Competition and in the Paganini Competition at the Aspen Music Festival. He has performed throughout the United States, in the Far East and in Europe.

Mr. Winograd will be performing two concertos with the orchestra:

Hand-writing Analyst To Address Woman's Club

Miss Ann Doherty Olson, a hand-writing analyst certified by two national hand-writing analysis associations, the American Association of Handwriting Analysts and the International Graphoanalysis Association, will address the members of the Woman's Club of Westfield at the monthly meeting on Monday, March 8, at 1:15 p.m. in the Clubhouse at 318 South Euclid Avenue, Westfield.

Miss Olson teaches, writes and lectures and has co-authored the book Who Do I Write? She also has made presentations throughout New Jersey to women's clubs, community groups and the New Jersey Education Association and has testified in New Jersey criminal and civil courts. As a part of her program, Miss Olson distributes paper for her audience to produce samples of hand-writing and later analyzes each sample as to the personality of the writer.

Members and guests of members may challenge her analyses on March 8.

Jennifer Stephens On Dean's List

Jennifer A. Stephens of 763 Fairacres Avenue, Westfield has been named to the President's List at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

To attain the honor she had to achieve a perfect 4.0 grade point average for the first semester of the 1992-1993 academic year.

JOHN WEISS CONVEYS

A FEELING OF WARMTH

From his first Greenwich Workshop print to his most recent, John Weiss has created a feeling of warmth in all his portraits of man's best friend. "The feeling I tried to get here is warmth - for the spirit and the flesh," Weiss says of this portrait of a golden retriever - one of America's most popular breeds. You don't need this Ben Franklin stove to feel the warmth of kindness, companionship, and loyalty of man's best friend. You can feel it each time you look at A Feeling of Warmth.

A Goal: Wanting to Live On His Own, Someday

Here's who your money helps when you give to the United Fund of Westfield.

"You help homeless families find shelter. You provide a safe haven to victims of family violence and needed services for the unemployed. And you provide care to the very young and the very old who can't take care of themselves," states Dr. James Nixon, President of the United Fund Board of Trustees.

"In this week's Westfield Leader, we are featuring Westfield Vernard Porcher and how the programs and services of Community Access Unlimited, formerly Association for Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped, helped him. We hope Westfield residents will better understand the use of their contributions."

Vernard Porcher, 31, is quiet, low key and knows what he wants. It's not obvious but Vernard is developmentally disabled. There was a time he doubted he'd ever leave the comfort of his foster parent's home in Westfield.

Sitting at his kitchen table, eating lasagna that he cooked for himself, he speaks quietly yet without hesitation about how he went from being totally dependent on his foster parents to his present lifestyle.

"When I was 19, I was still going to high school and living with my foster parents. They would talk to me about living on my own someday. At first my foster mother would make it sound scary and say things like once you leave you can't come back. I finally said to myself — what the heck I want to try."

He graduated from Westfield High School in 1980 and was working in a warehouse in Roselle when his mother heard about a program in Elizabeth that taught people with disabilities how to live on their own. She made some calls.

"I can remember talking to my mom about Community Access. She said she had made the arrangements for me to move into a supervised apartment. At the time I couldn't believe I was really moving away from my parents. I moved into an apartment in Linden that was part of Community Access' Supervised Apartment Program.

Vernard said his roommate was very funny and reminded him of Steve Martin. He got to really like it. He worked very hard but was still surprised when Community Access gave him an award and he was moved up to the Supportive Living Apartment Program. Vernard's new apartment was on Canton Street, still supervised, but there was a park in the back yard. He said that learning new skills like shopping, menu planning and budgeting made him feel good about himself.

After seven months he was moved to a higher level, and soon after that Vernard graduated up to the highest level, the Community Independent Living Program. "I only see a counselor two hours a week," he said.

Vernard has lived in a Community Access apartment in Elizabeth since June 1990. He does his own shopping, cooking and cleaning. He goes to work and in his spare time builds model cars and goes to New York City to visit. This fall he will probably begin taking computer courses at Union County Community College. He wants to learn how to program computers and get a job as a programmer. A $100 donation from the United Fund of Westfield supplements Vernard's counseling for two weeks and travel expenses to and from his job at Standard Nipple Company in Garwood.

"For now I'm happy here, but I do think about moving on. It's a little scary because I know I can handle this, and I don't know what's out there, but who knows what I'm capable of handling in the future," he says with a slight smile.

"The United Fund of Westfield is the best way to help the most people."

BENEFIT EXHIBITION PREPARATION... Westfield Art Association exhibition committee members, left to right, Mrs. Leta Dority, Sydney Spence and Mrs. Alma Loosenbach, are shown with preparations for the association's Pancake Day Exhibition and Sale to be held in conjunction with the Westfield Rotary Club Pancake Breakfast on Saturday, March 6, in the Westfield High School cafeteria. A commission on all sales of the framed paintings, prints and portfolio pieces by the local artists will be donated to the Scholarship Fund of the Westfield Rotary Club Foundation.

Hospital Will Offer Course in Babysitting

Later this month the Community Health Educator at Rahway Hospital will lead a new session on a comprehensive course which provides babysitters with the knowledge and training to handle most situations that may occur when responsible for children.

Assisting her will be a registered nurse from the hospital's pediatric unit.

During three two-and-a-half-hour sessions, the course will cover all aspects of child care, including infant and child safety, personal safety and security measures, basic first aid, physical care of children, including bathing, feeding and clothing techniques, identifying and responding to emergencies and age-appropriate behavior and interaction.

Those who complete the course will receive a certificate and a wallet card which identifies the holder as a S.M.A.R.T. Sitter.

S.M.A.R.T. stands for sensible, mature, alert, responsible and trained.

Participants will have the option to attend a fourth class in which they can earn certification for Level D infant and child cardiopulmonary resuscitation. There is an additional charge for this certification class.

The babysitter course will be held Thursdays, March 18 and 25, and April 1, between 3:30 and 6 p.m. in the hospital's Education Center.

Attendance at all three sessions is required to successfully complete the course. Because of the interactive nature of the course, enrollment is limited.

To obtain information regarding fees and registration for the courses, please telephone the Education Department at 499-6193.

Big Band Concert Set To Benefit Spaulding

The Thank God It's Friday Big Band Gala will be held on Friday, April 2, at 8 p.m. in the Cranford High School gymnasium to benefit Spaulding for Children, the free adoption agency for older and disabled youngsters, which is headquartered in Westfield.

Health Day Scheduled In Garwood

The Garwood Board of Health has announced it will conduct a Health Day on Saturday, March 20, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Garwood Municipal Building at 403 South Avenue, Garwood.

The program will offer an extensive blood screening, consisting of a SMAC 26, blood analysis monitoring, a complete blood count and a high density lipoprotein. The blood tests will be performed by National Health Laboratories.

The SMAC 26 monitors several bodily functions.

The blood-count test includes a red-blood cell count, a white-blood cell count and differential count.

The test may indicate the presence of infection, anemia, allergies, lung disease and other test indications.

The lipoprotein test measures factors protective against coronary heart disease.

The SMAC 26 is used in assessing total cholesterol results, to determine possible coronary risk factors.

Robert M. Sherr, the Director of Health, noted anyone taking the blood test must fast for eight to 12 hours before taking the test, with the exception of water.

Registration for the blood test is mandatory and will be conducted by the Westfield Health Department at 425 East Broad Street, Westfield, Monday to Friday between 9 and 4 beginning on Monday, March 8.

The registration deadline is 4 p.m. on Thursday, March 18. However, registration is limited and may be discontinued if program capacity is reached prior to the scheduled deadline.

The cost associated with the blood test is $17, which may be paid by cash or check at the time of registration.

The Health Day will offer blood pressure, nutrition and breast self-examination programs.

Also, test kits will be available to test for occult blood in the gastrointestinal tract. Test packets and dietary restrictions will be distributed at the program.

The Health Day is open to residents of Garwood, Fanwood, Westfield and Mountainside.

We are inclined to believe those whom we do not know because they have never deceived us.
Samuel Johnson

musicians will present original arrangements of the bands of the 1930's and 1940's, with a mix of the swing and romantic sounds of Basic, Goodman, Ellington and Miller.

Spaulding has found families for more than 910 homeless children with special needs.

Donations for adults are $12 and those for senior citizens and students are $10.

Advance tickets are available at The Music Staff and Spaulding's office at 36 Prospect Street, both in Westfield.

Please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and a check for tickets.

Tickets will be available at the door on April 2 at 7:30 p.m.

Art Show and Sale Set By Westfield Hadassah

The 35th Annual Art Show and Sale organized by the Westfield Chapter of Hadassah will open Saturday evening, March 20, at Temple Emanu-El, 756 East Broad Street, Westfield, with a Champagne Reception and Preview for the show's patrons.

Over 1,000 works of art in oils, watercolors, graphics, charcoals and sculpture by prominent artists will be in the five-day show. Included in the collection will be framed works, unframed portfolio pieces and sculptures from approximately 75 individual artists and 20 New York and New Jersey galleries.

Each year, the show commissions an artist to create a limited edition graphic which is presented to sponsors at the opening gala. This year, Michael Insetta of Mt. Tabor will create the limited edition graphic. He is known for his imaginative and complex abstractions of architectural forms. His honors included the Noyes Museum Purchase Prize, the Visual Arts Fellowship of the New Jersey Council on the Arts, the Johnson Graphics Award of the Summit Art Center and the Hudson River Museum Award.

The show and sale serves as the primary means of fulfilling Westfield Chapter's commitment to Hadassah's programs. Funds raised have enabled medical researchers and physicians to achieve many breakthroughs in all areas of health care. Hadassah is today, as it has been since its founding in 1912, Israel's medical pacesetter in healing, teaching and research.

"Le Petit Cafe" will be open weekdays for lunch between the hours of noon and 2 p.m. and for home-baked cake and coffee every day. For additional information, please 233-6531.

Westfield Chorale Gives $1,800 to Charity

William R. Mathews, the Director of the Westfield Chorale; Peter Bridges, the Associate Director, and the President of the Fanwood/Scotch Plains Tiny Tim Fund, have announced a donation has been made to the fund in the amount of $1,800 from the Chorale's annual Carols in the Round program held each December at the First Baptist Church of Westfield.

Mr. Mathews, who is the Minister of Music at the church, said, "Each year, the net donations from this concert are given to charity. It is a wonderful form of outreach to the communities around Westfield, and many of the members of the chorale feel that it's a great way to give to others through their musical talents. We are particularly pleased with a gift of this amount to the Tiny Tim Fund."

The chorale is composed of young people of high school and college age, many of whom have been members of the All-State Chorus. They come from varied religious backgrounds, this year representing 13 different churches and synagogues.

The Tiny Tim Fund is a non-profit organization, incorporated in 1983, which operates exclusively to provide financial assistance for medically-needy children in both towns. It gives, through strict confidence to the family's identity, financial assistance for necessary medical and dental care when this care cannot be provided due to temporary or long-term financial difficulties.

For information on the fund, please contact the group at P. O. Box 181, Fanwood.

For information regarding the 11th annual candlelight performance of Carols in the Round this December, please telephone the First Baptist Church of Westfield at 233-2278.

Mrs. Rose to Be Honored At B'nai B'rith Brunch

The Westfield-Mountainside Lodge of B'nai B'rith will be honoring Mrs. Jacqueline Rose at a Testimonial Brunch on Sunday, March 21, at the Clinton Manor in Union at 10:30 a.m.

The award is in recognition of Mrs. Rose's many achievements and outstanding services to the community and her dedication as a teacher for over 20 years who inspires and educates youth.

Guest speaker for the morning's tribute will be Abraham H. Foxman, National Director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. Mr. Foxman, a veteran of the organization since 1965, was named to his present post in 1987. Prior to that, he served as the group's Associate National Director for 10 years, among other directorship positions.

As National Director, he enjoys an international reputation as a spokesman for the safety and security of the Jewish people, for Israel and for human rights around the globe.

Mr. Foxman's views on domestic and international issues are sought by national and world leaders as well as by scholars, writers and the media. A survivor of the Holocaust, he is a recognized leader and authority on Jewish resistance to the Nazis and has written extensively and authored chapters in four books about the Holocaust.

Serving as Keynote Speaker will be Dr. Warren Gray, Chairman of the B'nai B'rith International Community Volunteer Services Commission.

A former President of District Three of B'nai B'rith, Mr. Gray often speaks to groups about B'nai B'rith's international, the importance of service to the community and the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization and Hillel Houses on college campuses.

Co-Chairmen for the Tribute Brunch are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Geiser, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rosner and Rabbi and Mrs. Charles Kroloff.

Serving as Honorary Co-Chairmen are Governor James J. Florio and the Honorable Harold W. Mitchell. Serving on the Tribute Committee are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Danner, Mr. and Mrs. Zadok Ruben, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Shulman.

Mrs. Rose was recently honored with the "Woman of the Year" Award. A participant in the first Young Leadership Training program of the Central New Jersey Jewish Federation, she later co-chaired the first Super Sunday campaign in 1981 with her husband, Steven. She is also a life member of Hadassah.

Mrs. Rose has a strong affiliation with Temple Emanu-El, having served on the temple's board for 12 years including eight as Social Action Chairman. She also served as a Financial Officer.

As the first coordinator of the Temple's shelter program for the homeless, she helped establish the Interfaith Council for the Homeless in Union County.

In 1984, she initiated an ongoing program of dialogue and community service between Temple Emanu-El and St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Plainfield, a primarily black congregation. Together with members of St. Mark's, she produced The Pajama Game, a musical comedy involving members of both congregations. The production raised more than $7,000 for the Interfaith Council. She currently serves as President of ARK, the Association of Rehabilitation with Kindness. A joint project with St. Mark's, the group rehabilitates homes for those who cannot manage their own repairs.

In 1989, the two congregations won the Kovler Award of Black-Jewish Relations, presented by the Religious Action Center of the Reform Jewish movement. The citation commends the members of the two congregations for their "contributions to social justice" and "exemplary model of co-operation." Mrs. Rose is a frequent speaker and workshop leader on black-Jewish relations.

Mrs. Jacqueline Rose

Abraham H. Foxman

A teacher of history and English to students with emotional, hearing or perceptual impairments at Bloomfield High School in Bloomfield, Mrs. Rose is a past Chairman of the New Jersey Educators of the Hearing Impaired and a former member of the State Advisory Board Concerning Education of the Handicapped. She is also a member of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations' National Task Force for the Disabled and the Lehiyot Advisory Commission.

At Temple Emanu-El, she initiated programming for the deaf involving education, holiday observance and sign language interpretation for High Holiday observances. She is also a board member of Visiting Home Care.

A graduate of Syracuse University, she earned a Master of Arts Degree from Columbia University.

PAINFUL NECKTIE...Magician Joe Fischer puts a sword through the neck of David Connor. The illusion was performed at the Blue and Gold Dinner of Pack No. 270 of the Cub Scouts of Westfield at the Westfield in Garwood.

GIVING THANKS...Praying on a hill in Cerro Azul after completion of the home they built in Mexico are members of the youth group of The Presbyterian Church in Westfield.

Presbyterian Youth Build Home in Mexico

What do most teenagers do during their mid-winter vacation from school? Visit grandparents in the South, go skiing, sleep late, play basketball or hockey?

Not so for 17 teenagers from the Presbyterian Church in Westfield who went to Cerro Azul, Mexico, during their February vacation and built a house for a local minister and his family.

The Mission program, begun five years ago by the Reverend James Szezyler, the Youth Minister at the church, was organized and every detail planned by the Reverend Szezyler with five other adult advisors, Miss Carrie Buckner, Mrs. Sara Burke, James Simms, Mark Fleder and Richard Ahlfeld.

The group of 23 flew to Dan Diego and drove to Cerro Azul on Sunday, February 14.

In other years, the group had the whole week to build, but this year was different. A heavy rainstorm was headed their way from Hawaii and it was important to get the house built before the rains came.

They measured, sawed and put the house framework up the first day. The cement floor had been poured beforehand. All the while black clouds were forming overhead.

The inside was finished with plasterboard, while another crew caulked on the outside and started painting the first of two coats of Williamsburg Blue. A third work crew painted the window frames and door white.

The house was finished late Wednesday, and Thursday the rains came.

The Westfield group invited the new owners, a young Mexican minister and his wife and child, to view their new home.

Thursday was the "Barbecue Fiesta" given by the Westfield group for the entire town. The Westfield hosts brought with them 450 hamburgers and buns, bags of potato chips and fruit juice drinks for all.

The party, held on a large porch of a church, was successful despite the heavy rains outside. Several hundred Mexican children and adults were very thankful.

On the last day in Mexico, the group climbed a high hill with a cross at the top and held a morning prayer service there in the light rain. The hilltop gave them a beautiful view of the valley of Cerro Azul, and their handiwork was clearly visible on the horizon.

These Westfield high school students are not only good carpenters, they are good financiers. They sold stock for $10 a share to church members and friends. The stock sale was over-subscribed.

On Wednesday evening, February 24, the stockholders and the mission group filled the church's Assembly Hall. They saw a slide show of the trip and heard comments from one of the high school students, Matthew Roldan, representing the group of 17. The evening was a thank you from the teenagers to all who had bought stock.

Robert Miner, one of the church's stockholders, told the teenagers, "I know I speak for all of the stockholders when I say the dividends and capital gains you have given us have rewarded us all."

Five Candidates Decide To Run for School Board

William G. Reinhardt Joins Those Already Declared

Mr. Sweeney has lived in Westfield with his wife and three children since 1981, and he serves as the Chairman of Westfield's Board of Architectural Review.

He recently was elected a Trustee of Visiting Nurse and Health Services, Inc., the parent corporation of Visiting Nurse and Health Services and Visiting Home Care, Inc.

The candidate has been active as a Westfield Soccer Association Coach, United Fund Major Gifts fund-raiser and sponsor of the Westfield Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Sweeney serves on the Parent-Teacher Council's Legislation Committee.

In launching his campaign, he said, "Service on the Board of Education is one of the most important roles any citizen of Westfield can aspire to perform. We entrust to our board the future of our town's children and the majority of our tax dollars. I look forward to presenting my views on the future direction of Westfield education in the coming weeks."

Having lived in the town for 24 years and having children who have gone through the Westfield School System, completed their educations and joined the work force, Mrs. Jacobson has served on the school board for six years.

She has been a member of the Finance and Board-Staff Committees and has chaired the Board-Student Council and Operations-Facilities Committees and is the Chairman of Negotiations.

Currently the Vice President of the board, Mrs. Jacobson also has served as board liaison to the Jefferson and Westfield High School Parent-Teacher Organizations, the Edison Intermediate School Parent-Teacher Organization and the Westfield recreation Commission.

The candidate also is the board representative to the Union County School Board Association, where she is the First Vice President for Legislation.

Mrs. Jacobson also is the representative to the New Jersey School Boards Association and serves on their legislative committee as the delegate for the 22nd Legislative District.

The board member works for the New Jersey Department of Education's Division of Adult and Occupational Education as a Consultant for the Vocational Student Organizations Bureau.

She also is the Legislative Advocate for the Educational Media Association of New Jersey, an association of school librarians, and in 1991 she served as a New Jersey delegate to the White House Conference on Library and Information Services.

Mr. Reinhardt, of 154 Harrison Avenue, is married to Mrs. Libby Reinhardt, a Yale graduate and an officer of Bankers Trust Co. of New York.

He is the father of three children, and a member of the Westfield High School parents' group, the Westfield Historical Society, the Friends of the Library, the Boy Scouts, youth sports groups and a local church.

He also is a small business owner and operator in Westfield.

accomplish that during the next three years. For no other reason than the well-being of my children and our community, I'd like you to give me the chance to try," Mr. Reinhardt said.

Mrs. Benisch earned a Bachelor's Degree in Experimental Psychology, cum laude from Northeastern University in Boston and a Master's Degree in Experimental Psychology from New York University.

She currently is the owner of a communications and marketing firm, Disk Print. Previously, Mrs. Benisch worked as a member of the Technical Staff at Bell Laboratories. Her trade memberships include the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce, the New Jersey Business and Industry Association, the National Alliance for Business, Women in Production, and the Business/Professional Advertising Association.

In addition to her business activities, Mrs. Benisch has participated in a wide spectrum of Parent-Teacher Organization and Parent-Teacher Council committees over several years.

The candidate is interested in encouraging feedback on academic and budgetary issues. Using tools which provide a system of quantifying feedback can create improvements and savings.

"A performance-measuring technique used in business, called Total Quality Management, has made significant improvements in our largest industries. A national effort to bring the benefits of this technique to education is being led by Mrs. Ann Richards, the governor of Texas," Mrs. Benisch said.

Mrs. Benisch, and her husband Steven Benisch, have been residents of Westfield for 14 years.

They have a daughter, Bridget Benisch, a seventh-grader at Edison Intermediate School, and a son Charles "Chip" Benisch, a third-grader at Tamaques School.

Mrs. Nixon, who was appointed to a one-year term on the board in 1989 to replace Mrs. Susan Mullen, who resigned to serve as the Fanwood Municipal Judge, was elected to a full term in 1990.

Employed by the Town Book Store in Westfield for several years, she serves as a member of the Westfield Recreation Commission, the Westfield "Y" Board of Directors and the Friends of the Westfield Memorial Library.

Mrs. Nixon also has been on the Board of Directors of the Westfield Adult School, the Westfield Community Center and the Westfield Neighborhood Council and has been a volunteer for the Westfield United Fund in addition to serving as the President of the Westfield High School Parent-Teacher Association.

The candidate attended Virginia State College where she majored in chemistry and was a member of Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

A resident of the town for 25 years with her husband, Dr. James Nixon, she has three children, Michael, Carol and David Nixon.

Currently the Chairman of the board's Programs and Policies Committee, Mrs. Nixon also is a member of the Negotiations Committee and the Town Relations Committee and the Liaison to the Westfield High School Student Committee and the Tamaques School Parent-Teacher Organization.

Boy Swimmers Beat Union, Lose in Final

By PETER CATANZARO
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

The Blue Devils Boys' Swim Team came one meet closer to repeating as state champions last Friday when they beat the Union Farmers 119-31.

Senior Darren Hertell won two events, helping unbeaten Westfield to a victory in the North Jersey Section 1 and 2 A Division semifinal.

Last Friday's victory sent the Blue Devils against Bergen Catholic in the North Jersey Section 1 and 2 final at North Brunswick. This was the seventh year in row Westfield has met the Bergen Catholic Crusaders in the state sectional semifinal. The Crusaders have won four of the six previous meetings.

Hertell, a double winner, captured the 200-yard intermediate medley in two minutes and 6.27 seconds and the 100-yard backstroke.

Sophomore Walt Kapuscinski swam to a best time and first-place finish in the 50-yard freestyle in 23.87 seconds.

Up and coming butterfly Brendan Lechner, who will be an obvious threat in coming seasons, won the 100-yard butterfly in a personal best time of 59.19 seconds, while teammate Jon Jones, another force to be reckoned with in the future, had seconds in the 100-yard freestyle in 52.49 seconds, and 100-yard breaststroke in one minute and 5.91 seconds.

Unfortunately, the Blue Devils' season ended on Tuesday night when they lost to the Bergen Catholic Crusaders 87 to 83.

The two teams were never more than six points away from each other in the score.

The last relay was essential to the Blue Devils, but Bergen proved to be too powerful by taking first and third place.

The team now will focus on next year's season of rebuilding and Sunday's Meet of Champions at Trenton State College in Ewing Township.

ON A SLIDE...Completing several requirements dealing with weather that are necessary for the Skiing and Snowshoeing Interest Project Patch, Cadette Girl Scouts from Troop No. 502, based at Edison Intermediate School, traveled to the Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountaintide. The scouts participated in a workshop conducted by a Trailside employee who explained about the various types of clouds, what fronts and barometers do and when these indicate changing weather conditions. They learned about the many types of snowflakes and the effect of cold, snowy weather on plants and animals. The workshop ended with a walk around the Science Center looking for animal tracks and identifying them. The Cadettes participating, left to right, are: Front row, Megan Pollock; second row, Nicole Tyminski, Chloe Mako, Sara Burnette, Amanda Pirozland Corinne Liebrich; back row, Nina Castells, Sarah Jankowitz and Deirdre Lynn. Leaders accompanying the scouts were Mrs. Bernadine Liebrich and Mrs. Rosa Burnette.

Coaches Clinic To Be March 25

The Westfield Recreation Commission will host a Coaches Safety Clinic to be presented by the Rutgers Youth Sports Research Council on Thursday, March 25, in the Westfield High School cafeteria.

This three-hour clinic will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. with registration beginning at 6:45 p.m. The cost is $15 per coach.

Under the law, in order to be provided with partial civil immunity from lawsuits, each volunteer coach must attend a recognized three-hour clinic.

This clinic meets all the state requirements as well as providing each coach with a handbook and reference manual. Major topics to be covered include: General coaching concepts, fundamentals of sport and first aid procedures.

Please telephone the Recreation Department at 789-4080 for more information.

Bernstein Maintains 800-Meter Title

Irwin Bernstein of Westfield successfully defended his New Jersey Masters Track 800-meter title at Fairleigh Dickinson University on February 28.

Representing the Garden State Athletic Club in the 55-59 age group, Irwin was the first New Jersey finisher in two minutes and 31.6 seconds behind Cliff Pauling of New York in two minutes and 27.7 seconds.

Bernstein swept both indoor and outdoor New Jersey 800-meter championships in this age group for the past five years.

Anzelone Finishes Third in Track Event

Jence Anzelone of Westfield, a sophomore at the University of Pennsylvania, finished third in the 800-meter run at the Heptagonal Championships held last weekend at the Naval Academy in Annapolis.

Her time of two minutes and 13 seconds is a personal best and qualifies her for the Eastern Conference Championships to be held this week at Boston University.

Five Town Grapplers Victors in Districts

By ADAM WEINSTEIN
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

Struggling through what has been a disappointing season, the Westfield Wrestling Team saved its best for last and produced five champions in the State District No. 11 Tournament on Saturday. Despite putting forth their best effort of the season, the Blue Devils fell just short of winning their fifth consecutive district championship.

Rahway paced the nine-team field with 184 points, seven and a half more than second-place Westfield, and 57 more than third-place Cranford.

The Blue Devils ignited by an exuberant home crowd, was led by senior standout, Seth Coren, the tournament's outstanding wrestler.

The top-seeded heavyweight entered the tournament with 19 consecutive victories, and was granted a bye in the first round. Coren recorded a fall at three minutes and 25 seconds in the semifinals which put him into the finals with Rahway's Tom Keat.

When the two wrestled early in the year in a dual match, Keat used his weight advantage to avoid being pinned. On Saturday, however, Coren needed just 55 seconds to pin his opponent, using a headlock for the win.

Brian Buldo also avenged an earlier-season setback with a 6-3 decision over Rahway's Scott Rayack. Buldo's victory enabled the third seed to repeat as district champion; he was the 112-pound winner last season.

Undoubtedly wrestling at a season best, Buldo used a 17-6 decision and a pin at three minutes and 38 seconds to reach the finals.

Also repeating as district champion was 135-pound Chris Posey, the 1992 125-pound victor. Senior Tri-Captain Posey skillfully maneuvered through his weight class with little resistance. Two pins put him into the finals where he scored a technical fall, 23-6, at six minutes.

Freshman 140-pounder Cory Posey won his first in what should be a long line of district championships. Posey's first match ended with a fall in just 41 seconds, but his next two proved difficult; a four-point decision followed by a three-point decision in the final.

Another freshman, 103-pound Kevin Sullivan, added to what has been a surprisingly successful season with a district championship. After pinning his way to the finals, Sullivan won a 9-2 decision to claim the top spot.

Three other Blue Devil wrestlers reached the finals, Jeff Checchio, Lance Kovac and Tom Whelan, all three finishing second behind the top seed. At 112 pounds, Checchio won twice, a pin and a 10-3 decision, before bowing to Cranford's John Cuccolo.

Kovac advanced to the finals with a pin and an 11-2 decision against Rahway's Dave Komoroski. Komoroski had beaten Lance twice earlier in the season when the two 152-pounders met in a dual match and at the county tournament.

In the district final Kovac met up with three-time champion Andy Troczynski, who decided him at 15-6.

At 160 pounds dark horse Tom Whelan wrestled far better than his 6-14 record, pinning his first opponent in just 32 seconds followed by a 10-3 decision. In the final, Whelan was stopped by Cranford's Nick Lettieri.

Junior Paul Baly was the ninth Westfield wrestler to place; the 171-pounder finished third. Baly won by a fall in his first match, then lost to the winner, before rebounding with a pin in the third-place wrestleback.

The nine place finishers qualified for next week's regional tournament, beginning yesterday with pre-quarterfinal action.

Tomorrow night and Saturday the pre-quarterfinal survivors will clash with district champions, the winners of which travel to the state tournament to be held Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, March 10, 12 and 13.

For the four Blue Devils who did not place, James Hogaboom, Paul Hayes, Mike Liggera and Frank DiGiovanni, the season is over.

The 10-4-1 team, despite taking a step down from 1992's 12-1 record, had a successful season with four second-place finishes, at Walkill Valley, the Westfield Invitational, in Union County Tournament and most recently in the districts.

Although they will lose six seniors to graduation, there is plenty to look forward to next season, with eight letter winners returning, including district champions Cory Posey and Sullivan.

The strength of the team will be found in next year's juniors: Checchio, Hayes, Liggera and DiGiovanni, while Baly and Jim Flood will be looked on for veteran support.

Ted Hobbie Wins Award at Lafayette

The Lafayette College Department of Athletics and Physical Education in Easton, Pennsylvania, has awarded senior Ted Hobbie the Bronze Award for the Student-Athlete Academic Honor Roll.

The award is given to student athletes who achieve a grade-point average of 3.0 to 3.499. The award recognizes academic performance coupled with athletic participation.

Ted has been a member of the Lafayette Varsity Baseball Team since his freshman year.

Ted graduated from Westfield High School with the Class of 1989.

ON THE SPOOKS...Westfield Rotary Club President, Mrs. Linda B. Maggio, posed with "The Addams Family" and Ronald C. MacCloskey when he spoke to club members on the Charles Addams Art Scholarship which he founded in the famous Westfield cartoonist's name to assist aspiring artists.

Addams Art Scholarship Explained to Rotarians

At last week's meeting of the Rotary Club of Westfield members heard from Ronald C. MacCloskey on Westfield's most famous cartoonist, Charles Addams, on whose work the Addams Family shows are based.

Mr. MacCloskey portrayed Addams as a great humorist having produced more than 1,300 cartoons and publishing them in 13 books. Mr. Addams lived firstly on Summit Avenue then at 411 Elm Street. The Addams Family II is scheduled to be filmed later this year and will be shown in 1994, Mr. MacCloskey said.

Addams joined the staff of The New Yorker in 1933 and lived in Manhattan for some time before moving to Long Island. He returned to visit old neighbors and keep in touch with high school friends. He often paid tribute to Westfield in his drawings.

Mr. MacCloskey has founded the Charles Addams Art Scholarship in the cartoonist's name which aims to assist aspiring artists to pursue their education and perhaps to follow in the footsteps of Addams. During the program Rotarians joined in singing the Addams Family song which was played on tape.

Miss Louise Jewett, 89, Speech Department Head

Taught at Town High School, Was Assistant Director Of Dramatics Department at Brown University

Miss Louise Jewett, 89, a retired teacher and librarian from Westfield, died on Saturday, February 27, at Overlook Hospital in Summit.

Miss Jewett had taught speech at Vassar College in Poughkeepsie, New York at Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Massachusetts, and at Pembroke College of Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island, where she served as head of the speech department.

After two years at Brown, she had been appointed Assistant Director of Dramatics in the University.

Miss Jewett had taught briefly at Westfield High School but soon resumed teaching on the college level.

From 1953 until 1961 she had taught English and comparative literature at Centenary College in Hackettstown. For the next seven years, she had served as the Reference Librarian at the Morris County Free Library, where at the time of her retirement in October 1968, she was the head of Adult Services.

Born in Newark in 1903 to the late Charles H. Jewett, the Chief Engineer of the New York Railways and the late Mrs. Jewett, Miss Jewett had resided in the Westfield-Mountainside area since 1923 making her home with her parents and later with her sister, the late Mrs. A. K. Boteler.

Miss Jewett attended Barnard College in New York City and obtained a Bachelor's and a Master's Degree at Columbia University in New York City.

She also had been a member of The Presbyterian Church, The Woman's Club and the College Woman's Club, all of Westfield.

Miss Jewett is survived by a nephew, Andrew K. Boteler with whom she made her home; a niece, Mrs. Harry D. Tonks of Sebastian, Florida; another nephew, the Reverend Gordon Jewett of Cincinnati, Ohio; seven great nieces and nephews and four great-grand nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at the Gray Funeral Home at 318 East Broad Street, Westfield, tomorrow, Friday, March 5.

Interment will be at the convenience of the family in Keyport. March 4, 1993

CONSTANT SELLER...Mrs. Karen Horwitz of Plainfield, a Broker Associate with Burgdorf Realtors' Westfield office, is a member of the 1992 New Jersey Association of Realtors' Million Dollar Club, an award she has earned every year since 1988. Mrs. Horwitz, who has seven years' real estate experience, holds both the Graduate, Realtors Institute professional designation, which requires a 90-hour program outlined by the National Association of Realtors, and the Certified Residential Specialist designation. She serves the Westfield Area Board of Realtors on the Million Dollar Review Committee and is a member of the Westfield Chapter of Hadassah.

TOPSELLER...Greg Young, a Broker Associate with the Burgdorf Realtors' Westfield office, earned a place in the company's 1992 President's Club, requiring at least $3 million of business, as well as membership in the New Jersey Association of Realtors' Million Dollar Club for the seventh straight year. With nine years' experience as a real estate professional, Mr. Young holds the Graduate, Realtors Institute and Certified Residential Specialist designations. He has been a Director of the New Jersey Association of Realtors, a member of the group's Convention Committee and a member of the Membership Committee of the National Association of Realtors' Residential Sales Council. He is presently Education Trainer and 1993 Chairman of the Education Committee for the Westfield Board of Realtors. Mr. Young holds both bachelor's and master's degrees from Kean College. Active in community sports, he is the founder of the Clark Soccer Club and a former trustee of the Mid-New Jersey Soccer League. He and his wife, Michele, live in Cranford.

HOME COOKING...Visitors can see foods being prepared over the open hearth on Sunday at the Miller-Cory House Museum.

Maple Sugaring on Tap At Miller-Cory Museum

Maple sap will be collected from the old sugar maple tree at the Miller-Cory House Museum, 614 Mountain Avenue, Westfield, on Sunday, March 7, from 2 to 5 p.m. The last tour will begin at 4:30 p.m. Volunteer Jack Petersen of Westfield will demonstrate how handmade spiles allowed the sap to run into wooden buckets.

The combination of warm days and cold nights in early spring causes the sap to rise and flow out the tap holes. Both sugar and syrup were made from the sap by boiling. Approximately 40 gallons of sap is needed to make one gallon of syrup. New Jersey's early settlers learned this technique, which became known as "sugaring off," from the Indians.

"Sugaring off" time can begin as early as February and may last until April. It was often a community undertaking and required long hours to get the full benefit of the sap.

Open-hearth cooking demonstrations resume this Sunday in the Frazee building where members of the cooking committee use cooking methods and fireside tasks practiced in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Costumed docents will guide visitors through the restored farmhouse with furnishings based on the 1802 inventory of Joseph Cory's possessions. The Gift Shop is supplied with educational materials and craft items.

Since the museum opened in 1972, volunteers have offered a wide range of educational programs to the public and in schools. Training sessions for those interested in becoming volunteers will be held at the museum on March 9, 16 and 23, all Tuesdays, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Volunteers have the opportunity to learn a variety of new skills and no experience is necessary.

For additional information about the museum or to learn more about the upcoming volunteer training, please telephone the office at 232-1776.

CITED FOR SALES...Mrs. Vivien Cook of Westfield, a Broker Associate in Burgdorf Realtors' Westfield office, has qualified for the New Jersey Association of Realtors' 1992 Million Dollar Sales Club. This is the eighth time she has earned this distinction, having also been a Million Dollar Club member from 1983 to 1987 and in 1990 and 1991. Because she transacted over $3 million of business in 1992, she also qualified for Burgdorf's President's Club. A real estate professional for 15 years and Assistant Manager of the Westfield office, Mrs. Cook has served the Westfield Board of Realtors as Chairman of the Picture Book Committee and as a member of the Associates Committee. She is an associate representative on the Westfield Board of Directors for the second year. She is conductor of The Madrigal Singers which gives concerts throughout Union, Essex, Morris and Monmouth Counties.

Dieting Program To Begin March 19 At Diabetic Center

A six-session weight-loss program, sponsored by the Diabetes Center of New Jersey, an affiliate of Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center, will be offered on Fridays beginning March 19 at 7 p.m.

The sessions are being offered for people with diabetes or who have a history of diabetes in their family and want to reduce their weight safely and keep it off permanently. Nutrition and meal planning, behavior modification techniques, exercise, diabetes management, workbooks and numerous handouts are included.

I don't know if I am talking to a girl or a woman.

The transition from childhood to adolescence is never easy. The middle school years are critical for maintaining and enhancing a girl's self-esteem. At Kent Place, small classes, teachers who care, and an all-girls environment that replaces peer pressure with peer support help both parents and their daughters navigate the passage to adolescence.

Twin Towers Explosion Touches Some Westfielders

alarm and public-address systems and the narrowness of the stairways.

There was more fear of crank calls than of actual future incidents, Mr. Kassakian said, noting 5 World Trade Center had to be evacuated Tuesday because of one such call.

"We have no real control over whether there will be another bomb," he added. "We are just concerned about getting our business back to normal."

Dean Witter already has heavy security in its other World Trade Center facilities, Mr. Kassakian noted, and he did not see any extraordinary efforts being made by his firm to increase security in the aftermath of Friday's blast.

Another town resident, Jeffrey Worley, who works for Lehman Brothers on the ninth floor of the World Financial Center, across the street from the trade center, said around 12:15 p.m. there was a sudden flash, a loud boom and "The floor shook. We thought an airplane had crashed nearby. Many people looked out our windows. Almost immediately we saw dark smoke coming from the trade center's parking garage."

Mr. Worley said throughout the day bits and pieces of information about what had happened filtered through his building and he and his co-workers assumed the blast had been caused by a gas leak or some other utility mishap.

They watched helicopters taking away the injured and lifting firemen to the trade center roof, Mr. Worley noted, but it was not until 4:30 or 5 p.m. that those who worked in his office, like the rest of the world, knew a bomb was suspected of causing the explosion.

"The public must come to realize, however," he added, "security and convenience cannot go hand-in-hand." Twenty years ago, the expert pointed out, metal detectors and other security measures were installed at American airports.

Although many airline customers complained they no longer could go right from the curb to their plane, he added, the measures have made skyjackings from American airports almost non-existent.

In terms of terroristic "perfect hits," Mr. Cole said, Friday's blast had to rank near the top because it had three essential ingredients: It instilled fear, it generated a great deal of publicity and it not only disrupted business but also knocked several television stations off the air.

He noted up to 20 organizations reportedly have tried to claim credit for the explosion and they wear the accusation of responsibility for an incident such as this one "like a badge of honor."

Security should be increased at the most highly-visible of the metropolitan area's buildings and other sites such as the Empire State Building, the Statue of Liberty and the airports, Mr. Cole said.

Although there is not yet enough information available to point to those who committed the act of terror, he added, the date of the explosion — two years after Operation Desert Storm — is significant.

The selection of this date, Mr. Cole said, could mean one of three things:

- 1. Iraqi groups set off the blast to avenge the bombing of their country by the United States.
- 2. Enemies of the Iraqis set off the blast to focus the blame on Iraq.
- 3. Other terrorist groups unrelated to Iraq wanted to create an incident but have the world think the Iraqis were to blame.

The securities expert, while advocating greater awareness and increased surveillance, said extra caution should not lead to paranoia on the part of people in the United States.

On Monday morning, Mr. Worley said, he was amazed he was able to take the PATH train all the way into the trade center.

He added, however, he and his co-workers felt more vulnerable and some co-workers were hesitant to commute to the center, although there was more anger and outrage that such an incident could happen in such a public place.

There was no feeling among his fellow employees, Mr. Worley noted, that they would find positions elsewhere because of the threat of terrorism spreading in the downtown area.

A much greater awareness by people in the United States about people around them and their surroundings is one of the keys to preventing a recurrence of incidents such as that which happened Friday.

This is the opinion of Leslie N. A. Cole, Sr., a professional security consultant with 24 years' experience whose training was administered by the government of Israel and who has had his own security consulting firm in Union since 1983.

"For too long," Mr. Cole said, "Americans have believed terrorism was something which only appeared on their television tubes and could not come to their shores."

He said the entire nation has to be conditioned to report packages, vehicles and people they see acting suspiciously to the nearest person in authority.

Ninety-nine times out of 100, he added, their fears will be unfounded but the 100th time could result in a disaster unless it is reported.

This awareness is common in Israel, Mr. Cole noted, because the tensions of everyday life there make the population think about everything they see.

In addition to a heightened awareness among people, the security expert said, better intelligence information is needed among government agencies, although no security system is foolproof.

The most secure facilities in this country, he noted, are the Central Intelligence Agency headquarters, the Pentagon and the White House, all in Washington, D.C.

These facilities are not as public and do not have the mixed uses of a building such as the trade center, Mr. Cole said, and, therefore, require a different type of security program.

Program Deals With Caring For Aging

A six-part program that addresses problems of adults who care for aging relatives will be held at the Adult Medical Day Care Center of Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center in Plainfield beginning on Wednesday, March 17.

The sessions will be held on Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock through April 2. There will be a fee for the sessions and registration is recommended.

For additional information, please telephone 668-2328 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Topics will include: Caregiver stress, chronic illness and behavioral change, lifeline emergency response system, the Funeral Trust Fund and dealing with feelings.

Downtown Committee Surpasses First-Year Funding Target

More than 125 Westfield retailers and professional service businesses have joined residents, commercial property owners, civic groups and members of the Town Council to push plugging for the three-year Main Street program to more than 95 per cent of the $100,000 first year funding goal, as of Monday, March 1.

An additional $16,000 in direct contributions — not three-year pledges — has also been received by the Westfield Downtown Committee, which is spearheading the effort to obtain Main Street for Westfield. The largest single one-year contribution is a $6,000 grant given by the Westfield Foundation, which give the committee $4,000 in seed money last year to study various downtown revitalization programs.

Among the most generous pledges received this week is that of Statistical Research, Inc. of Westfield, which has made a three-year in-kind pledge of $10,000 for professional services. Elizabethtown Gas Company, National Westminster Bank and PSE & G have each pledged $3,000 for the three-year program, Summit Trust Company $3,600, and united Jersey Bank $4,000.

"The Westfield Downtown Committee is immensely pleased and gratified by the whole-hearted enthusiasm and eagerness shown by all Westfielders toward Main Street. They managed to raise $100,000 in only three weeks," said Robert L. Newell, Westfield Downtown Committee Chairman.

"We have reached our minimum goal, and we have the money to operate our first year of Main Street," said Frank MacPherson, Chairman of the Pledge Campaign, "but we would like to raise the additional $5,000 in pledges, not one-time contributions, to conform to the letter of the Main Street application guidelines."

Yesterday the committee submitted Westfield's application to the Main Street New Jersey office in Trenton. Pledges will continue to be sought and received throughout March while the application is under consideration, and the committee will send the Trenton office pledging updates, Mr. MacPherson explained.

"While one-time contributions are certainly appreciated, and will be used for projects in the first Main Street year, the program's guidelines stipulate that pledges covering a minimum of three years are required as an indication of full community support for the project," he said. "We will round out the last of pledges during March, and build further community support by allowing time for those Westfielders who haven't yet had a chance to pledge, to do so. We expect a number vacationing Westfield snowbirds back, and hope to hear from them."

Additional endorsements of the Main Street initiative have been received from the United Fund of Westfield, the Westfield Bicentennial Commission, the Westfield Board of Realtors and the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross.

All pledges will be acknowledged in the local newspapers in April, unless the contributor requests no publicity.

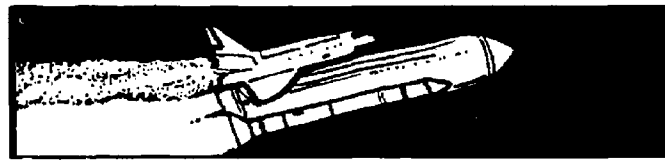

To pledge or obtain more information about Main Street, please contact the Project Manager, Mrs. Michele Picou, at 654-6016, or write the Westfield Downtown Committee, P. O. Box 426, Westfield 07901.

Members of Cherish the Ladies in performance

Quarrel not at all. No man resolved to make the most of himself can spare the time for personal contentions. Better give your pants to a dog than be bitten by him.

—Abraham Lincoln

The first space shuttle launch took place on April 12, 1981, with U.S. astronauts John W. Young and Robert L. Crippen on board.

Irish Folk Music Group To Appear in Concert

Cherish the Ladies is the name of a group of women who say they have broken the sex barrier in Irish traditional music.

Named after a well-known old Irish jig, the group features some of the finest Irish women musicians, vocalists and dancers in America. The ensemble convened in 1986 to celebrate the flourishing of Irish traditional culture in Irish-American communities.

Cherish the Ladies is billed as the first female ensemble in America's Irish traditional music scene and has become one of the most popular and powerful Irish groups from either side of the Atlantic. Albums have been cited by the Library of Congress as outstanding recordings and Jon Pareles of The New York Times remarked that Cherish the Ladies expands the annals of Irish music in America.

The group is comprised of All-Ireland Champions, including a sean nos (old-style Gaelic) singer, step dancers, guitar and flute and button accordion players. Cherish the Ladies will be appearing in concert at Madison High School, Ridgedale

Carol L. Tobelmann On Dean's List

Westfield resident Carol L. Tobelmann has been named to the Dean's List for the fall semester at Messiah College in Grantham, Pennsylvania.

Carol, a sophomore art major, is the daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. Charles Tobelmann.

Dean's List designation is earned by receiving a 3.6 grade point average or higher on a 4.0 scale.

Carol graduated from Westfield High School last year.

Avenue, Madison, on Friday, March 12, at 8 p.m. General Admission costs $15 and for members, $13.

For further information, please contact the Irish American Cultural Institute, International Chairman, John P. Walsh, at 1-201-465-1513 or the North Jersey Chairman, Edward F. Ginty, at 953-8473 or 1-201-822-2500. Checks can be mailed to the Irish-American Cultural Institute, P. O. Box 22, Florham Park, 07932.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Duggan of Westfield will co-chair this event with Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh of New Vernon and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ginty of Basking Ridge.

Town Night At Meadowlands On March 21

The Westfield Recreation Commission and the New Jersey Nets have joined forces once again to offer the second annual Westfield Town Night at the Meadowlands Arena on Sunday, March 21, at 7 o'clock with Derrick Coleman and Kenny Anderson battling the Dallas Mavericks.

Tickets now are on sale at the Recreation Office in the Municipal Building at the cost of $16 per person. With each ticket sold the Nets organization will donate $3 to the commission's drug and alcohol-free teen programs.

Each ticket will include a coupon for a free Nets cap redeemable at the arena the night of the game. A Westfield welcome along with a half-court presentation will take place at the arena on game night.

For information, please telephone the Recreation Department at 789-4080.

RockBank Names Mr. Kelly To Its Board of Directors

James J. Kelly of Westfield has been named to the RockBank Board of Directors, announced Arthur Zemel, RockBank Chairman.

Mr. Kelly is a Senior Vice President with Wheat, First Securities, Inc., a member of the New York Stock Exchange and is Branch Manager for the firm's Central Avenue office in Westfield. He has been involved in the securities industry and banking in Westfield since 1965.

Mr. Kelly is a member of the Westfield Rotary Club and is active in Chamber of Commerce activities and various civic groups in the area. RockBank is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Rock Financial Corporation, with five branch offices in North Plainfield, Watchung, Green Brook, South Plainfield and Westfield. Last year, RockBank received the United States Small Business Administration's Award for Excellence for making more Small Business loans than any other bank in the state. RockBank also recently received a four-star rating from Bauer Financial Reports of Coral Gables, Florida, a highly-regarded financial analysis firm.

RockBank is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and is an Equal Opportunity, Equal Housing Leader.

Cardiology Group Opens New Office in Westfield

Central New Jersey Cardiology, serving the community for over 30 years with offices at 1511 Park Avenue in South Plainfield, will expand its services to the Westfield area. The six-member association of board-certified cardiologists is opening a new office at 143 Elmer Street in Westfield.

Drs. Harrison Fertig, Esteban Lomnitz, Edwin Blumberg, Robert Lauer, Thomas Leopold and Henry Altszuler are diplomates of the American Board of Internal Medicine and Cardiovascular Diseases. The single-specialty group offers both office and hospital consultations with an emphasis on preventive cardiology, cardiac risk factor reduction and patient education.

"We are pleased to offer more convenient service to our Westfield patients and to bring our preventive cardiac health program to the community where most of our group lives," explains Dr. Lomnitz, who along with Drs. Leopold and Altszuler, resides in Westfield. Evening office hours will be available in the Westfield office for working patients.

Access to a fully-equipped, modern Cardiac Laboratory will be available to all patients. Cardiac testing includes nuclear imaging, stress tests, echocardiography (ultrasound), cardiac monitoring and pacemaker services.

According to Dr. Lomnitz, the group's ability to provide cardiac nuclear studies allows them to assess the condition of a patient's coronary arteries without the need for more aggressive tests. In addition, "Cardiac ultrasound is a painless technique by which we see the heart muscle and valves in action. Having these state-of-the-art facilities allows for immediate, in-office testing and patients can avoid delays and long waits in the hospital," notes Dr. Lomnitz.

The group also offers a full range of invasive and interventional services, including cardiac catheterization and coronary balloon angioplasty, at Overlook Hospital, Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center, Morristown Memorial Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital in Paterson.

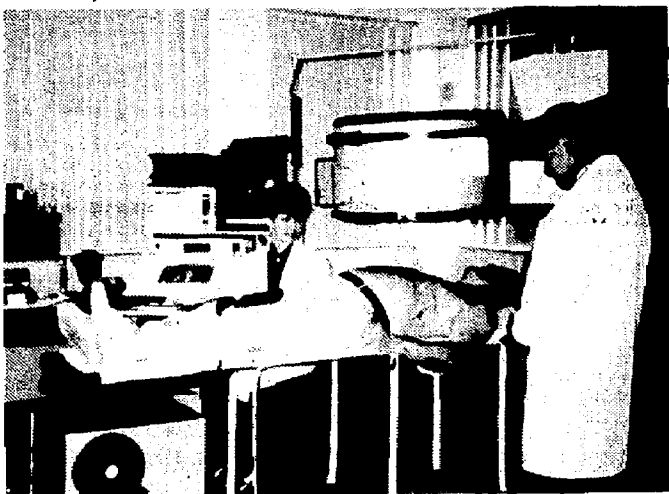

To celebrate the opening of its new Westfield office, Central New Jersey Cardiology is offering a complimentary Cardiac Risk Factor Analysis. The screening will include a cardiac history, blood pressure and blood tests for cholesterol and sugar, and will be offered Wednesdays, March 17, 24 and 31. For more information, or to schedule an appointment for the cardiac risk screening, please call 756-4438.

TWO AWARDS... Mrs. Lynn MacDonald of Edison, a Sales Associate in Burgdorff Realtors' Westfield office, has qualified for the New Jersey Association of Realtors' 1992 Million Dollar Sales Club Bronze Achievement Award. With over $4 million in closed transactions, she also qualified for Burgdorff's President's Club. A real estate professional for six years, Mrs. MacDonald previously achieved membership in the Million Dollar Sales Club in 1989. She was a member of Burgdorff's 1990 Producer's Club. Mrs. MacDonald serves on the Board of Trustees of the New Jersey Huntington's Disease Society. A member of the Westfield Board of Realtors, she serves as Chairman of its Community Service Committee.

Citrus fruit was first cultivated in China more than 4,000 years ago.

FULL SERVICE... Central New Jersey Cardiology offers access to this fully-equipped Cardiac Nuclear Laboratory to all patients.

BEST EMPLOYEE... Mrs. Lori All was recently presented with the Employee of the Quarter Award. She has been employed at the Westfield Inn since December of 1990 and is responsible for front desk operations and guest services. Mrs. All resides in Parkertown. Shown giving the award to her is Mrs. Gina Ciccoelli, General Manager of the Westfield Inn. The Westfield Inn is located at 435 North Avenue West, Westfield, and is managed by Boyle Hotels Management Group of Union. Other Boyle Hotels are the Morristown Inn, The Mansion Hotel in Fanwood, the Murray Hill Inn in New Providence and The Palmer Inn in Princeton. All have Best Western affiliations.

Home Show and Sale Set For Three-Day Armory Run

Union County's most comprehensive pre-spring home show and sale is returning to Westfield. The Union County Home and Remodeling Show opens at the National Guard Armory on Rahway Avenue, Friday, March 12.

This year's expo, which is scheduled to run through Sunday, March 14, will feature the very latest in home products and services from more than 100 exhibitors, representing both area businesses and national manufacturers.

"The Union County Home and Remodeling Show was designed to give area homeowners the opportunity to see and purchase everything they need for the home from well-established area professionals — whether it be products, supplies, furnishings or services — all under one convenient roof," says Michael Lewis, President of Exposition East, the show's promoter. "As such, some of the most respected area businesses, as well as some of the nation's largest manufacturers, will be exhibiting at the show."

The show will feature a host of supplies and products including greenhouses, spas, swimming pools, kitchen cabinets, bathroom fixtures, home security systems, building products, heating and air conditioning products, art, custom closets, decks, doors and windows, home furnishing and more. Services from the area's business community will also be available including contracting and remodeling services and interior decorating services.

The Health Craft Cooking Show, hosted by Roger Nadalin, will be one of the highlights of the show. Hailed as one of the "superstars of cooking demonstrations," Mr. Nadalin will be making 14 appearances during the run of the three-day show.

The show will open on Friday, March 12, at noon and run to 10 p.m., continuing on Saturday, March 13, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and on Sunday, March 14, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is $6 for adults, and children under 12 are admitted free. Discount coupons will be available in local newspapers.

For directions to the National Guard Armory or for more information, please call 1-201-927-5468. For exhibitor information, on The Union County Home and Remodeling Show, The Jersey Shore Home Show or The Eastern Region Kitchen and Bath Show, please call Expositions East at 1-201-770-2769.

ON BOARD... Mrs. Michele Elliott of Westfield, a Broker Associate with Burgdorff Realtors' Westfield office, is a member of the 1992 New Jersey Association of Realtors' Million Dollar Club, an honor she earned last year as well. Mrs. Elliott holds the Graduate, Realtors Institute professional designation, which requires a 90-hour program outlined by the National Association of Realtors. She serves on the Community Service Committee of the Westfield Area Board of Realtors.

Echo Lake Naturalists To Talk of Birds In Venezuela Park

"Birds of Venezuela" will be the featured presentation for the Tuesday, March 9, meeting of the Echo Lake Naturalists Club. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church which is located on Mountain Avenue in Westfield.

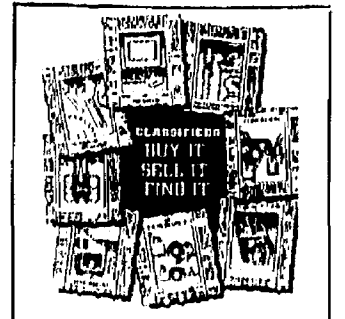

Mrs. Patricia Sutton, a staff teacher and naturalist with the Cape May Bird Observatory, will use her slides to illustrate the diverse habitats, bird life and natural history of Venezuela. Of particular interest are featured sites such as Hato Pinero and Rancho Grande in the Henri Pittier National park. This meeting will be one of two joint meetings held with the Watchung Nature Club.

A birding trip to Conasconk Point and Sandy Hook is planned for Saturday, March 13. The trip will be led by a well-known birding enthusiast who will lead the group to a new spot on Raritan Bay in Union Beach. Conasconk Point is well known for its late winter variety of bay, beach and marsh birds.

The group will then journey on to Sandy Hook. Those interested in joining this trip are encouraged to contact Trip Leader, Peter Axelrod, at 464-3933 for further information.

TOP IN SALES... Mrs. Lois E. Berger of Westfield, a Broker Associate with Burgdorff Realtors' Westfield office, is a member of the 1992 New Jersey Association of Realtors' Silver Million Dollar Club, which requires at least $5 million of production. She has been a member of the Million Dollar Club every year since 1981, achieving the Silver Level in 1987. She is a member of the company's 1992 President's Club as well and has earned numerous monthly production awards as well as top sales associate for her office in the four years she has been with the firm. A 19-year resident of Westfield with 18 years' real estate experience, Mrs. Berger holds the Certified Real Estate Salesman designation. She is the co-director of sales training for Burgdorff Realtors. Serving the Westfield Area Board of Realtors as Chairman of the Million Dollar Review Committee and a member of the Grievance Committee, Mrs. Berger has been active in the National Council of Jewish Women.

Holiday of Hearts Lets Burgdorff Say Thank You

How does a business express a heartfelt thank you? If you're Burgdorff Realtors' Westfield office, which has had tremendous success since opening at 600 North Avenue in 1987, you say it with a Valentine's party.

For three years, the Westfield office has been the No. 1 performer from among Burgdorff Realtors' 30 branches. Average per capita income last year for the office's sales associates was up 75 per cent over the previous year.

"We love serving this area," Manager, Mrs. Joan Massard, said, conveying the sentiments of her sales staff. "People have been wonderfully supportive. We wanted them to know how much we appreciate their contribution to our growth and success."

The guest list for the celebration, held February 12, included the members from Westfield Board of Realtors, the Chamber of Commerce, the management of Lord & Taylor, which is directly across from Burgdorff, local real estate attorneys and Burgdorff's senior management.

The occasion gave Burgdorff the chance to show its expanded quarters, done up in hearts and flowers for the day. Burgdorff now occupies all 5,100 square feet of interior space of the building.

It includes five conference rooms, a special area for computers and copy machines, and separate space for loan counseling with a full-time mortgage representative of Mortgage Corner, Burgdorff's mortgage affiliate.

Mademoiselle Shop Re-Opens After Two-Week Renovation

The Mademoiselle Shop of Westfield re-opened Saturday, February 27. The Westfield Leader spoke to Norman Saunders, the owner, and asked, "Hey, what's going on?"

"It's time for a change," he said. "The world is in change, Westfield is different, our customers and their needs are more varied. The economic times demand adjustments and things are changing, and we want to be part of that change," he added.

The store has been in town for 45 years, and Mr. Saunders has owned it for 20 years, "making it a landmark," he observed.

The shop is located on Quimby Street.

Ideals are like stars; you will not succeed in touching them with your hands. But like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, you choose them as your guides, and following them you will reach your destiny.

—Carl Schurz

The word stadium comes from the Greek word stadion, which meant the distance between the end pillars of the stadium located at Olympia—about 630 feet.

Oratorio Singers to Perform Elijah on Sunday, March 28

The performance of Mendelssohn's Elijah that Philip R. Dietterich will conduct Sunday, March 28, at 3 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Westfield will be a truly multicultural, ecumenical event. The Reverend Dietterich is Minister for Music at the Methodist church, and the Oratorio Singers are the regular church choir expanded to about four times its normal size by Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish volunteers from Westfield and many other towns.

Felix Mendelssohn was born in 1809, same year as Abraham Lincoln, in Hamburg, Germany, the birthplace of Brahms, and was brought up as a Lutheran, but his grandfather, Moses Mendelssohn, was one of the greatest scholars and philosophers in the history of Judaism, renowned during his lifetime as the German Socrates. His father, Abraham Mendelssohn, a brilliant and very successful banker, after years of relentless urging by his brother-in-law Bartholdy, in 1816 had his children, Fanny, Felix, Rebecca and Paul, baptized, and six years later underwent baptism himself with his wife Leah. But even Moses Mendelssohn, as learned in the Talmud as he was, read widely beyond the texts of his religion, especially in English literature, above all Shakespeare and Pope.

Abraham Mendelssohn imposed an extremely rigorous, multicultural education on Felix and Fanny. He could afford the very best tutors in every subject, and the children's lessons in languages, sciences, drawing and painting began at 5 a.m. every day but Sunday. Many surviving sketches and paintings prove Felix's skill in drawing, and he was said to speak English almost without accent, as well as to be fluent in French and Italian. Of course he read Greek, and his Latin was good enough that he submitted a translation of Terence as part of his application to the University of Berlin, where he was admitted at 16.

It is customary for the Oratorio Singers to perform works in the original language, and the original language of Elijah, although it is about an Old Testament prophet by a German composer, is English. In fact it was written for, and first performed at the Birmingham Music Festival in England, under Mendelssohn's direction. Because of his fluency in English, the rhythms of the music fit the rhythms of the language perfectly, without any of the awkward stresses or wording that plague any translation, and even the somewhat Germanic English of Handel's Messiah.

Like his grandfather Moses, Felix immersed himself in the plays of Shakespeare, not only reading and translating them, but acting them with his sister Fanny and the other children outdoors in the ten acres of woods, parks and gardens on which Abraham Mendelssohn's enormous house in Berlin stood. Perhaps his best-known and best-loved piece, and probably the most perfect translation of the spirit of a play into music, is his Overture to a Midsummer Night's Dream, composed at the age of 17.

Like his predecessors Handel and Haydn, Mendelssohn was the most adored composer of his time in England. In his brief 38 years of life he made ten major tours of England as a pianist and conductor, and for several years he was director of the Birmingham Music Festival where Elijah was first performed in 1846, the year before he died.

The premiere performance was as triumphant as that of Verdi's Requiem, with the audience insisting on immediate encores of many of the choruses before the singers could continue. Queen Victoria and Prince Albert, both great music-lovers, twice invited Mendelssohn to play piano and organ for them privately, and on one of these occasions the Queen sang some of his songs to the composer's accompaniment. The grief at his death in 1847 was like that at the death of a beloved monarch, and the British immediately established a Mendelssohn scholarship for composers, whose first winner was, appropriately, Arthur Sullivan.

Mendelssohn, whose tragically short life was only three years longer than Mozart's, was at least his equal as a child prodigy, composing from infancy, and a virtuoso on piano, organ and violin before adolescence. In fact, he reached his fully mature style at 16 with the Octet for Strings, but Mozart, whose compositions at that age were more youthful, continued to develop and advance with every piece throughout the remaining 19 year of his life.

Mendelssohn also had in common with Mozart a prodigious memory, demonstrated by his ability to play all the Beethoven symphonies on the piano without a score. He conducted from memory until he noticed that it worried the audience, so he placed a score on the podium and turned the pages regularly without looking at them.

At the age of 20, 100 years after Bach composed his St. Matthew Passion, and, coincidentally, 100 years after the birth of Moses Mendelssohn, Felix performed the long-neglected masterpiece at the Berlin Singakademie, restoring Bach to the exalted position he still occupies today. The performance was a sell-out, and Mendelssohn was quoted as saying, "To think that... a Jew should give back to the people the greatest Christian music in the world." Mendelssohn's own great oratorio, Elijah, enjoyed unbounded popularity from its premiere until Wagner became popular.

His supporters, especially George Bernard Shaw, found it necessary to condemn Mendelssohn as a wealthy, over-privileged composer of shallow, lightweight trifles compared to the avant garde, Olympian profundities of Wagner. Wagner himself, openly anti-Semitic, denounced Mendelssohn's music for being Jewish, and therefore un-German. This attitude reached its culmination under Hitler, who totally banned all the works of Mendelssohn, and had his statue in front of the Gewandhaus in Leipzig melted down to make bullets.

Elijah was also the victim of a heavy, mushy performance style that became popular with the sentimentality of late 19th-century Romantic music, whereas Mendelssohn consciously developed the classical style of Bach and Handel in his oratorio. Herbert Kupferberg, in a 1972 book The Mendelssohns: Three Generations of Genius, writes: Elijah... is another work that shows signs of responding to modern performance techniques... it has many passages of grandeur and dramatic power that are often smothered by the traditional 'oratorio style' of most performances... In October, 1970... Lukas Foss gave it a forceful and invigorating presentation... raising the possibility that Elijah has been suffering all these years from the anemia of its conductors rather than its composer."

Anybody who has been working out this season with the Oratorio Singers can tell you there is nothing "anemic" about the Reverend Dietterich's conducting or Elijah's words, harmonies or tempos. And that goes for soloists Mrs. Jeannette Delaware was the first state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

Legislators, Businessmen Hold First Economic Summit

Senate President Donald T. DiFrancesco, Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger and Assemblyman Alan M. Augustine, all of whom represent Westfield, reported New Jersey is on the economic upswing during the first 22nd District summit meeting with business leaders held at the offices of AT & T in Murray Hill.

"Legislatively, what we've done since January 14 of last year has been nothing but positive," Senator DiFrancesco said in his comments to some 40 business leaders, corporate executives, entrepreneurs and economic coalition representatives.

One of the most positive changes that has occurred, according to Senator DiFrancesco, is the enactment of a legislative veto of state rules and regulations that has eliminated the longstanding problem of state departments and agencies promulgating regulator mandates without the chance for input by the Legislature.

"We are working to streamline government, reduce taxes and state spending and not to create unnecessary burdens on business and industry," Senator DiFrancesco said. "We're trying to make it easier for businesses to operate profitably in New Jersey."

Senator DiFrancesco pointed to the decline in unemployment, the increase in private sector jobs and the 15 per cent climb in overall new business incorporations. Business failures are also down 10 per cent compared to a year ago.

In addition, Senator DiFrancesco pointed to the Legislature's enactment of the Economy Recovery Fund Act, which will help create tens of thousands of temporary construction jobs and permanent jobs by providing $200 million to finance a variety of statewide projects. The Recovery Act fund is also expected to trigger $600 million in investment, making it the largest public-private sector partnership in state history.

Assemblyman Bagger, who serves on the Assembly Appropriations Committee and is Vice Chairman of the Assembly Subcommittee on the Economy, offered a number of insights on the budget process.

"New Jersey has gotten hooked on one-shot revenues," Assemblyman Bagger said, explaining the state must end the practice of using non-recurring revenue sources to help make up budgetary shortfalls.

Assemblyman Bagger said he fully expects that the Legislature's fiscal year 1994 budget will vary considerably from that offered by the Administration and noted, "It looks like it may be possible to cut $200 million to $300 million in additional state taxes."

Some of the strategies now being examined by Republicans on the Appropriations Committee, according to Assemblyman Bagger, include elimination of the state tax on Subchapter S corporations, a tax credit for research and development, enactment of an investment tax for manufacturing export and a potential restoring of deductibility of property taxes from the state income tax.

Assemblyman Augustine spoke mainly of the agenda facing the Assembly Energy and Hazardous Waste Committee, pledging that "the state must change its focus from the pipeline to the production line to encourage industrial efficiency and reduce the production of pollution and hazardous waste."

As a member of the Assembly Labor and Insurance Committees, Assemblyman Augustine noted some of his other primary objectives include reform of the state's auto and health insurance systems.

"I am extremely concerned about the impact President Clinton's proposed energy tax will have on the ability of consumers and businesses to make ends meet in New Jersey," Assemblyman Augustine said, vowing to consider legislative remedies to assist companies and individuals that encounter cash flow problems attributable to the hike in energy taxes.

Franklin to Hold Flower Sale

Franklin Elementary School's annual Parent-Teacher Association-sponsored flower sale will once again have spring and summer plants and flowering hanging baskets in time for Mother's Day, gift-giving and spring-fer gardening.

Those attending will have the opportunity to purchase plants at prices below retail and children will benefit from tax-deductible association gifts to the school.

Orders will be taken from Thursday, March 18, through Friday, April 2.

Plant pickup at the school will be on Friday, May 7.

Please telephone Mrs. Susan Devaney at 654-5725 or Mrs. Betsy Hogarth at 232-1982 for further information.

SIGNS UP AGAIN... Mrs. Eileen Gormley, a real estate professional with four years of previous experience at Coldwell Banker Schlott, has recently joined the Westfield Office as a full-time sales associate. Prior to joining the firm, Mrs. Gormley met the New Jersey real estate licensing requirements and completed "Fast Start," the Coldwell Banker training program. Mrs. Gormley has lived in Scotch Plains for the past 21 years with her husband, Dennis, and their four children. Over the years she has been actively involved in College Club as Treasurer, as College Night Chairman and as Fundraising Chairman. She has also served as a leader and consultant for the Girl Scouts, as a teacher and editor of a monthly newsletter for her church and as President, Secretary, Scholarship Chairman and Room Mother in her local Parent-Teacher Association. In her spare time she enjoys tennis, golf and travel.

Two Town Students On Dean's List

Jeremy Barbin and Dana M. Mann, both of Westfield, have been named to the Dean's List for the 1992-1993 fall semester at Connecticut College in New London, Connecticut.

The Dean's List recognizes students who have a grade point average of 3.00 to 3.29.

Humans have 20 deciduous, or primary, teeth and 32 permanent teeth.

Symphony to Present Autumn by Vivaldi

Few works of the Baroque Era are as familiar to modern audiences as Antonio Vivaldi's The Four Seasons. As the music for a popular movie of the same name some years ago, at least a few of the musical themes made their way into the public's consciousness.

In actuality, The Four Seasons are four concertos for violin and orchestra.

One of these, Autumn, will be performed by the Westfield Symphony Orchestra on Saturday, March 6, at 8 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church in Westfield at 140 Mountain Avenue.

There will be a pre-concert discussion by Music Director Brad Keimach at 7 o'clock in Westminster Hall.

The guest soloist will be violinist Peter Winograd. Mr. Winograd's appearance is made possible through support from Schering-Plough, Inc.

Vivaldi (1678-1741) was a prolific composer, known today principally through hundreds of concertos and sonatas. The violin was the principal beneficiary of his creative talents, but he composed for cello, bassoon, oboe, flute, recorder, mandolin, trumpet and French horn as well. What is less well known is he also composed 95 operas and numerous church works.

Vivaldi was born in Venice. His father was a violinist at St. Mark's, where Vivaldi received his early training and entered the priesthood in 1703, a desirable vocation for the oldest son of humble parents. After two years, he never again said Mass, ostensibly because of a chest condition, perhaps asthma.

Known as "The Red-Haired Priest," Vivaldi intermittently taught at the Pieta, one of four publicly-supported institutions for orphaned, abandoned, illegitimate or indigent girls.

Due to his demand as a composer he resided in numerous Italian cities, and because his music was so well known in all of Europe, he traveled throughout the continent.

Autumn is one of two Baroque violin concertos Mr. Winograd and the orchestra will present, the other being Johann Sebastian Bach's Concerto in A Minor. Both are in the usual three-movement, fast-slow-fast, concerto form. Dvorak's Serenade for Strings will open the program, which will close with Copland's jazzy Music for the Theatre.

Tickets for the concert are $19, $16 for seniors and $10 for students and may be purchased at the following outlets in Westfield: Lancaster, Ltd., Rorden Realty, Town Bookstore, Weichert Realtors and Turner World Travel.

For further information, please telephone the symphony office at 232-9400.

The concert also is made possible through a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts of the Department of State.

We must reserve a back shop all our own, entirely free, in which to establish our real liberty and our principal retreat and solitude.

Adult School Classes To Begin on March 8

Classes of the Westfield Adult School spring semester will begin on Monday evening, March 8, at Westfield High School, 550 Dorian Road. Late registration is possible opening night. The adult school office will open at 6:15 p.m. for this purpose. For classes which are not already filled, people may register and attend the first class on the same evening. Beginning this Monday are all semester-length courses and 14 shorter courses complete in four to eight sessions. Seven courses beginning March 8 and several others beginning throughout the semester, started in the catalogue, are offered to seniors at reduced tuition rates. Seniors and others who want to attend Westfield Adult School but have problems with transportation are invited to call the Union County Paratransit Unit at 527-4340 to arrange transport to and from Westfield High School Monday evenings. Prospective students who have not registered may call 1232-4050 to make sure they can be accommodated. If so, they may register and begin the spring semester this Monday.

Charles Munch Forms Public Relations Firm

Twenty-year town resident Charles Munch has announced his partnership in Kinsale Communications, a public relations company in New York City. Mr. Munch began his career at the National Broadcasting Company as a page on the guest relations staff, rising to Manager of Promotion Operations.

He subsequently used his television experience to develop strategies and publicity campaigns for major television series, specials and miniseries working with such clients as Hallmark, International Business Machines, American Telephone and Telegraph and Texaco.

Although television program publicity is his specialty, Mr. Munch also devised and/or implemented public relations campaigns for Universal Studios Tours, the New York Friars Club, Harvey Comics and Hal Roach Studios.

Most recently Mr. Munch was the head of television program publicity at Roskin Friedman Associates in New York.

His activities in Westfield include being a communicant of Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church and a member of Holy Trinity School Home and School Association as well as being a Scoutmaster and holding many other positions in Boy Scout Troop, No. 72 for almost 10 years.

Mr. Munch has been married to Mrs. Marie Munch for 31 years.

Mrs. Munch is employed by ARA Services, a food service company maintaining school cafeterias throughout the country.

She is based in Union High School. The couple have three children, David Munch how is married, 27 years old and living in Byram Township; Miss Christa Munch, who is 25, living at home and is employed by Montclair Community Hospital in the billing department and Craig Munch who is 21 and a senior at Fairfield University where he is a history major, going on to law school, and a relief pitcher on the baseball team.

Town Girl Scouts Collect Food for County Needy

The Westfield Girl Scout Community has initiated a service project to collect food for the Union County Food Pantry located at the Holy Trinity Interparochial School in Westfield.

Under the direction and coordination of Mrs. Patricia Rodihan, Mrs. Meredith Humphreys and Cadette Girl Scout Troop No. 861 from Roosevelt Intermediate School, the troops in all the town's schools will participate in this food collection on a rotating basis.

Schools have been assigned a month for their food collection. Each scout will bring a non-perishable food item to each meeting the troop has during their designated month.

At the end of their assigned month, the leaders will bring the food items to a location where the Cadettes from Troop No. 861 will then pick up the food and bring it to the food pantry. Some of the suggested food items are: Tuna fish, beef stew, soups, cereals, drinks, pancake mixes, vegetables and any non-perishable food items.

The assignments for the rest of the year are as follows: March, Tamaques and Jefferson Schools; April, McKinley and Holy Trinity Schools and the Senior Girl Scouts at Westfield High School, and May, Franklin School.

In June, the Westfield Girl Scout Service Team will evaluate this project and make any necessary additions or corrections. The project will resume in the fall beginning with October.

It is hoped this project will become a permanent part of the many types of service the Girl Scouts do for the town.

Junior Musical Club Ensemble Concert Sunday

The Junior Musical Club of Westfield will be holding its annual Ensemble Concert at the First Baptist Church, 170 Elm Street, Westfield, on Sunday, March 7, at 8 p.m.

The program includes a piano duet, a woodwind trio of a clarinet and two flutes entitled Tambourin and a six-member mixed vocal ensemble which will be singing The Water Is Wide. The concert is open to the public.

CRAFTY BUSINESS...Students at Jefferson School prepare posters for the Parent-Teacher Organization Annual Craft Show to be held at the school, located at 1200 Boulevard, from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Saturday, March 20. A variety of crafters will present personally hand-made items for sale. A bake sale will also be conducted. All proceeds from the day's activities will benefit the school's Parent-Teacher Organization. Shown preparing are Joshua, Matthew and Michael Schoenfeld.

Education Fund Dinner Will Be Held March 13

Plans are under way for the second annual "A Taste of Westfield" dinner parties, the primary fund-raiser for the Education Fund of Westfield, which will take place on Saturday, March 13.

The fund has chosen as its long-range project an interactive television learning system for the Westfield Public Schools, and plans to spend this year seeking resources for this system to link Westfield's schools with a network planned for Union County. Proceeds from "A Taste of Westfield" will go toward that goal.

Last year, the first "A Taste of Westfield" was attended by nearly 600 people who donated $15 each to have dinner at 55 host homes around the town.

After dinner, all 600 assembled in the Westfield High School cafeteria to listen to music, vie for door prizes and enjoy a Viennese dessert table donated by 11 of Westfield's leading restaurants and food businesses.

This year's effort is being co-chaired by Mrs. Ellen Albertson and Mrs. Darielle Walsh.

"We are counting again on the strong support of our wonderful local restaurants and food suppliers to make 'A Taste of Westfield' a big hit," Mrs. Walsh said. "The desserts last year were very special, and the highlight of the evening."

Mrs. Albertson and Mrs. Walsh are busy lining up dessert participants and recruiting host homes. Hosts and hostesses who volunteer their homes will provide the dinner as their donation. Each dinner guest will purchase a ticket for the entertainment and desserts at the high school from the host at the dinner house for a minimum donation of $15.

The host or hostess decides the menu, which can be anything from Chinese takeout to pheasant under glass and the names and number of guests to be included. Please telephone Mrs. Albertson or Mrs. Walsh for further information.

The fund, a non-profit, philanthropic, community-based organization founded in 1991, serves as a catalyst for the generation and allocation of funds and resources to enhance the programs of the Westfield Public Schools.

Anyone who cannot attend the March 13 event, but who would like to contribute to the Education Fund, can do so by sending a check to The Education Fund of Westfield, P. O. Box 2221, Westfield 07091. William S. Jeremiah, 2nd is the President of the fund.

FIRST TO DONATE...Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Marcotte, shown in one of the dining rooms in their Ken Marcotte Restaurant on Elm Street, Westfield are the first restaurateurs to agree to donate desserts for the Education Fund's 1993 "A Taste of Westfield."

Library Will Sponsor Book Sale This Month

The Friends of the Westfield Memorial Library are planning their annual book sale, scheduled to run for Wednesday, March 31, through Sunday, April 4, at the Westfield Memorial Library at 550 East Broad Street.

Mrs. Jane Curtis and David Kirkwood, the Co-Chairmen, reported the event has become the largest and most important annual book sale in the area. Proceeds benefit the library and its special programs.

The Friends is an organization formed in 1972 to broaden the range of library services and to provide opportunities for volunteer participation. The group's activities benefit the library and its patrons.

Other book sale committee members include Mrs. Carol Dreizler, Mrs. Marsha Broadwell, Mrs. Anne Arkel, Mrs. Patricia DiCarlo, Mrs. Lois Wight, Miss Nancy Yoder, Mrs. Jane Bischoff and Mrs. Barbara McIntyre.

Mrs. Eleanor Senus is the President of the Friends of the Library.

The sale's success depends on used books donated by area residents.

In the past, fiction, non-fiction, classics, dictionaries, paperbacks, art, travel and sport books have been donated. Cookbooks and children's books also are welcome. Instrumental and sheet music as well as prints may be donated. Magazines, old encyclopedias, condensed books and textbooks are not accepted.

Donated books may be brought to the library on Tuesday, March 27, and Thursday, March 29, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Friday, March 30, from 9 a.m. until noon.

Those unable to deliver books on those days may telephone Mr. Kirkwood at 233-1583.

Councilman MacRitchie Starts Third Ward Re-election Bid

Third Ward Councilman Kenneth L. MacRitchie of 515 Trinity Place has announced his candidacy for re-election.

Councilman MacRitchie serves as Chairman of the Transportation, Parking and Traffic Committee of the Town Council, and also serves on the Laws and Rules and Solid Waste Committees. He is the local delegate to the Union County League of Municipalities. Previously he served as Chairman of the Union County Utilities Authority, Treasurer of the Union County Pollution Control Financing Authority and Secretary of the Union County Transportation Advisory Board.

Councilman MacRitchie is an attorney and an accountant. He received his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Susquehanna University in Selinsgrove, Pennsylvania, his Juris Doctor Degree from Dickinson School of Law in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, and his Master of Business Administration Degree from New York University in New York City. He is presently employed as Assistant Secretary of the Aquila Group of mutual funds.

During the Kean Administration, Councilman MacRitchie was a member of the Governor's Club. Currently, he is a member of the Republican State Finance committee and is Republican Committeeman for Westfield Ward 3, District 1.

"I look forward to continuing my representation and constituent service to the citizens of Westfield," Councilman MacRitchie commented.

Lieutenant Abitante In Mediterranean

Navy Lieutenant George P. Abitante, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Abitante of 1425 Grandview Avenue, Westfield, is deployed aboard the dock-landing ship U.S.S. Gunston Hall, homeported in Little Creek, Virginia and midway through a six-month deployment to the Mediterranean Sea as part of the U.S. S. Guam Amphibious Ready Group.

Elements of the five-ship ready group participated in joint and combined training exercises, including African Eagle-902 in which 101 embarked Royal Moroccan naval infantrymen "stormed the beach" aboard United States Marine Corps amphibious assault vehicles. The ready group also was deployed to the Adriatic Sea in support of the international humanitarian relief effort, Operation Provide Promise.

During this deployment, Lieutenant Abitante visited Valencia, Spain.

The 1979 graduate of Westfield High School and a 1983 graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, with a Bachelor of Science Degree, joined the Navy in July 1979.

Workshop to Explore Incest With and Abuse of Children

The Cranford Center for Human Development in cooperation with Holy Trinity Roman Catholic Church of Westfield will sponsor a workshop on Saturday, March 20, entitled "Masks and Mirrors." This workshop will explore the issues of childhood abuse and incest. Clergy, educators, therapists, guidance counselors and medical personnel who seek a better understanding for their work or possible work with victims of abuse, will find the day very informative. The day will conclude with a dramatic presentation by the actress, Roberta Nobleman, herself a victim who has journeyed to "survivor-celebrant."

A morning session intended for professionals will consist of a panel presentation by staff therapists of the center, including case studies, warning signs, roadblocks to recovery and methods of approach. Small group discussion and opportunity for questions will follow. Resources and materials will be available. An afternoon session is open to all, but particularly family and friends of abuse survivors who are seeking a better understanding of this problem. The workshop will be held in the Parish Hall of the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, 140 Mountain Avenue, at the corner of Mountain Avenue and East Broad Street.

Rotarians' Pancake Day At High School Saturday

Preparations are underway by members of the Rotary Club of Westfield for the 27th annual Rotary Pancake Day which will be held in the Westfield High School cafeteria on Saturday, March 6, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. For a nominal contribution to the Rotary Club Scholarship Fund, guests will be able to enjoy a pancake breakfast and brunch and purchase items from a bake sale. Live entertainment will be provided all through the event, plus, this year, a demonstration of rope jumping will be given by Westfield Police Athletic League Double Dutch Jumpers. Works of art in various media will also be offered for sale by members of the Westfield Art Association.

Jennifer Mann In Honor Society

Jennifer Mann, a senior at Connecticut College in New London, was inducted into Connecticut College's chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha, the national political science honor society. She is a 1989 graduate of Westtown School in Westtown, Pennsylvania and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Mann of Westfield. Pi Sigma Alpha is the first academic honor society established at Connecticut College since Phi Beta Kappa was chartered here in 1933. Membership in Pi Sigma Alpha is based on a 3.5 or better grade point average in a minimum of five government courses taken from the freshman year through the first term of the senior year.

Keith Petersen Reports On New Central Vacuums

Central Vacuum Systems have come a long way in the last 30 years, reports Keith Petersen of The Eardly T. Petersen Company in Westfield.

Originally, such systems were installed using metal tubing and the vacuum unit itself was relatively inefficient.

Today, powerful units, frequently with two motors, are used.

These vacuum units remove dirt and dust, dust mites, pollen and spores and bacteria to an out-of-the-way location, generally needing to be emptied only two to three times a year.

An additional important benefit is the recirculation of pollutants into the living area — as is normal with a regular pull-around vacuum — is eliminated, Mr. Petersen said.

As well, the old-fashioned metal tubing has been replaced by easy-to-install polyvinylchloride tubing and fittings. These systems now can be readily installed in one day in either new or existing homes.

A vacuum center that offers central vacuum systems for sale and service either will provide installation or should give the do-it-yourselfer the necessary knowledge, including a how-to videotape, and supplies to allow for a Saturday installation, he added.

The third element of a system — the cleaning accessories — vary considerably. Years ago all that was available were "regular" hoses for necessary lengths and standard accessory kits including the traditional rug nozzle.

Gradually, the industry updated these accessories to include air-driven and electric power nozzles for carpet use.

Unfortunately, the use of electric nozzles, more efficient than the air, or turbo, nozzles, required additional extension cords of 30 feet or more in length, Mr. Petersen said.

This brought the innovation of 30-foot-long central vacuum system hoses with the electric wire buried in the body of the hose, conveniently out of the way.

However, each time the system was to be used, there still was the awkward need to make separate electrical connections both into the power nozzle and also into a standard 110-volt electrical outlet.

Today, the best central systems use large, powerful vacuums, outlets, or valves as they are called, with all the necessary 110-volt wiring built right in, placed strategically throughout the house or commercial building, and effective, convenient electric power nozzles, according to Mr. Petersen.

While considerably more efficient and more easier to use than a traditional, pull-around vacuum, possibly the biggest benefit from the installation of a central system is the increase in the value of the home, Mr. Petersen reports.

Mr. Petersen noted many homeowners do not realize a central vacuum system can be installed in their existing homes without opening walls.

To see or inquire as to a central vacuum system, please contact any qualified center, or telephone Mr. Petersen at 232-5723.

More Creative Workshops Set

Due to continued interest within the community, author David Shaw will conduct a third creative writing workshop. He initially offered only one class, but added a second and a third session because more than a dozen people wanted to participate in the workshop.

The workshop will run five sessions from the week of March 15 through April 12 and will be held between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. The exact day of the week has not yet been determined.

"There must be a lot of creative writers in the Westfield area," Mr. Shaw said. "That's encouraging to see, a community where the arts are alive and well."

Students read their short stories, novel excerpts or poetry before the group. Mr. Shaw, and the other members of the group, critique the work. "It's a relaxed, informal way to learn," he said.

A full-time freelance writer since 1987, Mr. Shaw is the author of a business book, Telemarketing for Profit. His short stories and poetry have won national literary awards.

For more information, please telephone 654-5253.

Arts Specialist to Speak On New State Standards

"The arts are the essence of a basic education." So opens the overview in the new Core Course Proficiencies for Fine and Performing Arts from the New Jersey State Department of Education, which outlines statewide requirements for high school arts literacy in music, dance, theater and visual arts. The Department of Education is also now working on new kindergarten through 12th-grade curriculum requirements for arts education as well.

The Fine Arts Committee of the Westfield Parent-Teacher Council has arranged to have an expert on state and national trends in arts education, Mrs. Miretta Wester, the Executive Director of the Alliance for Arts Education, speak to all interested members of the community on the new New Jersey Department of Education proposals as well as requirements for arts education at the national level.

Mrs. Wester will speak on Tuesday, March 9, in the Board Room at the Westfield Board of Education building on Elm Street at 7:30 p.m. After providing an overview, Mrs. Wester will answer questions.

The Alliance for Arts Education is an affiliate of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C., which, along with the National Endowment for the Arts and the Getty Center for Education in the Arts, is in the forefront in promoting arts education and cultural literacy on a nationwide level. Mrs. Wester will also have information to share regarding the Getty Center's discipline-based art education method, a new approach integrating art production, art history, aesthetics and criticism in grade-school art programs.

This approach, and other trends, were recently reviewed in a two-part exposé on arts in the schools published by The New York Times on February 3 and 4 of this year.

For further information, please call Mrs. Pamela Orbach at 233-2878, or Mrs. Susan Tanner at 654-8714.

Early Intervention Can Decrease Risk of Stroke

Early intervention can minimize damage and preventive care may reduce the risk of strokes, the No. 3 killer in the United States, according to a spokesman for the American Heart Association.

February was American Heart Month. To encourage awareness of the risk factors and prevention of stroke, the association's theme for American Heart Month was "We offer a special incentive for learning stroke's warning signs. It's called life."

"Many people consider a stroke a sudden and devastating occurrence," noted Dr. Joseph Faraldo of the Westfield Medical Group. "Stroke is a blood-vessel rupture or blockage that prevents blood from flowing to the brain, killing brain cells, causing disability or death."

There are several major types of strokes. The two most common are caused by clots or other materials that plug an artery that supplies blood to a part of the brain. Ruptured blood vessels cause the other two. Much progress has been made in treating and preventing conditions that can lead to a stroke, Dr. Faraldo said.

"Stroke needs to be tested with the same sense of urgency as a heart attack," he said. "And in order to get immediate treatment, people must be able to recognize the warning signs of stroke."

The warning signs of stroke are:

- Sudden weakness or numbness of the face, arm or leg on one side of the body.
- Sudden dimness or loss of vision, particularly in one eye.
- Loss of speech or trouble talking or understanding speech.
- Sudden, severe headaches with no apparent cause.
- Unexplained dizziness, unsteadiness or sudden falls, especially along with any of the previous symptoms.

Major progress has been made in both prevention and treatment of stroke — and the age-adjusted death rate due to stroke has declined because of these breakthroughs.

But because people are now living longer, the total number of strokes in America is increasing. That's why the association advocates people take action to reduce their risks of stroke.

The estimated 500,000 people who suffer from a stroke each year in the United States usually have one or more of the following risk factors that can be changed or treated:

- High blood pressure.
- Heart disease.
- Transient ischemic attacks, (TIAs) — temporary stroke-like symptoms which are strong predictors of stroke.

For more information on stroke or heart attack, please telephone the American Heart Association at 1-800-634-1242 or your physician.

Republican Women To Discuss Estates

Estate and trust planning will be the topic of Robert Cockeran on Wednesday, March 10, at 8 p.m. at the meeting of the Republican Women of Union County at 511 North Avenue, Garwood.

Mr. Cockeran, a Westfield resident, is the President of the Westfield Republican Club. His expertise is in estate and trust planning and his office is in Summit.

Questions will be entertained by the speaker.

The public may attend.

Tooth decay is the most common human disease.

A CREATIVE HAND... Franklin School Art Teacher, Mrs. Kathy Kelly, advises first grader, Emily Rossell, during a lesson on monoprinting. The visual arts encourage development of "creative and critical thinking and production skills," according to the New Jersey Department of Education.

Mrs. Walsh Promoted By JBS Associates

JBS Associates has promoted Mrs. Genevieve Walsh to Assistant Vice President of Collections.

Mrs. Walsh, who reports to Senior Vice President of Operations, Joseph Cabrelli, was previously Loss Recovery Manager for the Riverdale-based JBS, one of North America's largest check authorization companies. Her responsibilities include overseeing the company's loss recovery and loss prevention departments as well as the Executive Collection Bureau Division.

The Westfield resident began her career with JBS in 1981 as a fraud investigator and was promoted to Loss Prevention Manager in 1987. In 1988, she was elevated again to Authorization Manager, a position she held until 1991, when she was selected to manage the Loss Recovery Department.

Mrs. Walsh holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from Kean College of Union.

Book Explores Irresistible Word Food for Thought

Eatioms, Westfielder John D. Jacobson's second book, has just reached town book stores. Mr. Jacobson, who with his wife, Josephine, has co-authored The that etymologists have not previously established a special category for idioms related to eating. He has corrected this omission with Eatioms.

Eatioms, according to Mr. Jacobson, is a book that offers a delicious buffet of words and phrases dear to the hearts and minds as well as the stomachs of the world's eaters.

The local etymologist also finds that etioms are frequently humorous and always fascinating, not only to serious idiom lovers but also to all speakers who share the English language, its colorful expressions and a love of food.

How did a mixed drink become known as a cocktail? What is the derivation of a cold shoulder? What is the origin of to eat humble pie? Why is an argument referred to as a rhubarb? And why is a poorly functioning car called a lemon? Jacobson has provided answers to the meanings and origins of these and over eight hundred other etioms in his new book.

Many New Jersey members of clubs and organizations have been entertained by Mr. Jacobson's humorous lectures on word origins.

Eatioms was published by Bantam Doubleday Dell Publishing Group, Inc. Jacobson's first book, Toposaurus, about words derived from place names, was published by John W. Wiley & Sons, Inc.

Tender Loving Care Is What Your Knees Need

Editor's Note: The following information was supplied by Dr. William Bonsall of Bonsall Chiropractic and Sports Center, 315 Lenox Avenue, Westfield.

When you read about sports injuries, knee problems are always near the top of the list. Your knee joint is somewhat like a hinge and works nicely in a vertical plane. Unfortunately, it is very unforgiving if it's forced to move sideways or is twisted.

There are several causes of knee problems. Impact injuries are often due to direct blows in contact sports like basketball. They can also be caused by falls and jumps, sudden twisting, and explosive movements such as a power lift. Overuse injuries happen if you overtrain and can be associated with anatomical variation — something that doesn't quite match the textbook pictures — either in your knee itself, or transmitted up your leg from your foot or down from your hip.

BASIC STRUCTURE

Ligaments join your thigh bone (femur) to the leg bones (tibia and fibula). Cruciate ligaments cross each other on the inside. On the outside of the joint you'll find collateral ligaments. Ligaments are tough, fibrous bundles which are strong but only slightly elastic. Two C-shaped disks of cartilage (menisci) sit on top of the tibia, the large leg bone, and act as shock absorbers. There's a thin coating called articular cartilage on the end of the femur and tibia that's in contact with the menisci. As well as absorbing shock, cartilage prevents wear because it reduces friction. Your kneecap protects the front of the joint. When your knee flexes the kneecap glides in a groove in the femur.

Tendons join muscles to bones, and also help to hold your kneecap in position. The muscle group of your front thigh is the quadriceps group, and its tendons attach to your kneecap and tibia. Hamstring tendons attach the back thigh muscles to your tibia. Calf muscles' tendons connect to the tibia, and femur. There is also a band at the outside of your knee. This is a narrow stabilizing (rather than load bearing) muscle-tendon structure which runs from your tibia to your hip.

TENDON INJURIES

Tendinitis is a common overuse injury. Overwork causes inflammation. Runners may develop pain at the back of their knees (usually hamstring tendons), and at the outside of their knees (Iliotibial band syndrome). A lot of jumping can cause pain below the kneecap (jumper's knee). Tendons are usually worse when you get out of bed, and slowly ease off with use. Resist using this to persuade yourself you can exercise as usual.

Tendinitis can be persistent because tendons don't have such a good blood supply as muscles. Since it's usually caused by overuse, the most important part of the treatment is rest. This may not mean inactivity, but it certainly means a reduced work load. The best approach is to alter your workout to rest the tendon but retain fitness. In addition, heat the area before exercise to help the blood flow, and ice it after exercise to reduce inflammation. Aspirin and ibuprofen can be useful anti-inflammatory drugs, but only if you rest. Never use medication to mask pain so you can continue to work out. This will make the problem worse. Then it may become chronic, and can have serious consequences. Tendinitis is more likely if you have tight muscles, so stretching usually helps to keep you out of trouble.

CARTILAGE INJURIES

Most cartilage injuries are due to impact or twisting movements, and are more common in contact sports. Anyone can fall, though, including runners and cyclists. Blows and falls can cause cartilage tears. These can hurt, cause clicking noises, and may make your knee lock on occasions. "Cartilage can also become damaged by accumulated repeated wear and tear," says Dr. Marvin Bloom, an orthopedist and Editorial Board Member of the American Running and Fitness Association, a non-profit, educational association of athletes and sports medicine professionals dedicated to educating Americans about the benefits of exercise and helping athletes improve their training. Small tears in a meniscus may heal with rest. Menisci have a variable blood supply, and in some cases healing can take months. Larger tears and complete tears are more difficult.

Cartilage injuries need expert care. In many cases, a conservative approach with rest and a change of activity works well. The change may have to be permanent, though. Putting stress on a damaged cartilage can only lead to more problems. If surgery is needed, procedures vary. Some tears can be stitched together and will then heal. Others may need fragments removed. A very badly damaged cartilage may have to be removed completely. Arthroscopic surgery involves small instruments and an optical system inserted in your knee. You'll usually recover relatively quickly, and begin rehabilitation. The worst part of cartilage injuries is the cure of arthritis. A damaged meniscus can grind on articular cartilage, and damage it. The surfaces roughen, pieces may break off, and wear and tear accelerates. The whole area becomes inflamed and swollen, and the problem grows. The risk of arthritis seems to be higher after surgery, but perhaps that really reflects the severity of the damage in the first place.

FOR THE THIRD TIME... Mrs. Rosemary Dunlap of Westfield has qualified for the New Jersey Association of Realtors' Million Dollar Sales Club and Burgdorf's President's Club with over $3 million of business in 1992. A sales associate in Burgdorf Realtors' Westfield office, she was a Million Dollar Club member in 1990 and 1991 as well. Mrs. Dunlap earned the 1991 Sales Awards, for both dollar volume and units, for her office.
