Assemblyman's Bills Signed by the Governor

New Yorkers to Be Taxed for New Jersey Income; Regional School District Dissolution Made Easier

Three bills sponsored by Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger, who represents Westfield, Scotch Plains, Fanwood and other communities, were signed into law by Governor James J. Florio during recent weeks.

The new laws impose a retaliatory commuter tax on New York residents, provide a procedure for dissolution of school districts and phase in the pre-funding of certain pension obligations.

Assembly Bill No. 1071, which became law four years after first being proposed by former Assembly Speaker Charles L. Hardwick of Westfield, taxes New York residents working in New Jersey the same way New York taxes New Jersey residents working there.

Since 1988, New York has taxed New Jersey commuters at a tax rate based on the taxpayer's entire family income. The new law retaliates against New York by taxing its commuters the same way. "This measure doesn't make New York's commuter tax go away," Assemblyman Bagger explained. "But it restores evenhandedness to interstate taxation. In addition, it will generate $27 million in revenues which I propose using to provide an additional tax credit for New Jersey residents to offset New York's commuter tax."

Assembly Bill No. 2294, Assemblyman Bagger's second school-regionalization measure to become law this year, creates a procedure for the dissolution of regional school districts.

The new law sets forth a series of studies and approvals necessary to break up a regional district, culminating in a voter referendum.

"Voluntary school regionalization can help create educational excellence at an affordable cost. The ability to dissolve or reconfigure regional districts is an additional incentive for voluntary regionalization. If a community knows it is possible to leave a regional district, it will be more likely to join one," Assemblyman Bagger stated.

Assembly Bill No. 2175, also signed into law by the Governor, eases out and accelerates the actuarial pre-funding of certain post-retirement

Freeholders Introduce Increase in Salaries

Ordinance Adopted for Purchase of Bank Building To House Juvenile Detention Building, Court Units

By PAUL J. PEYTON
Specially Written for The Times

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders introduced an ordinance at last Thursday's meeting which authorizes merit increases ranging from 2 to 3 percent for county officials and department heads. The merit increases are for the period of April 1 through Monday, November 1, of this year.

The ordinance follows an earlier resolution passed this year on exclusionary raises and last year's adoption of the Employee Salary Administration Plan for non-union county employees. The plan established salary ranges for job groupings as well as a performance-based evaluation system.

According to the ordinance, the salary of County Manager, Mrs. Ann M. Baran, will rise from $108,872 to $111,049; County Counsel Jeremiah D. O'Dwyer's salary will rise from $101,991 to $104,031, and Clerk of the Freeholder Board Donald J. Ludwik will rise from $49,364 to $50,598.

The salaries of administration heads will be as follows: Director of Finance Lawrence M. Caroselli, $72,290 to $74,097; Director of Administrative Services Joseph L. Salemme of Westfield, $66,650 to $68,316; Director of Human Services Frank L. Guzzo, $65,690 to $67,661; Director of Operational Services Armand A. Fiorletti, $86,923 to $88,227 and the Administrator of Rumlens Specialized Hospital, Joseph W. Sharp, $77,859 to $79,419.

The actual wage increases were less than the merit-increase percentages by about a half a percentage point.

In a related salary matter, the board approved a resolution that authorizes raises for county constitutional officers County Clerk Walter G. Halpin, Sheriff Ralph G. Froehlich, Surrogate, Mrs. Ann P. Conti and Register, Miss Joanne Rajoppi. Each of their salaries will increase from $83,491 to $85,160.

All salaries included in both the ordinance and the resolution will be adjusted after November 1 to include the last two months of the calendar year.

Freeholder Chairman, Miss Linda-Lee Kelly, was the lone negative vote on the constitutional-officer salary increases.

All nine board members voted in favor of the first reading of the salary increases for the county officials and department heads. The ordinance is scheduled to be adopted next month by the board following a public hearing.

The board, on Thursday, also adopted an ordinance paving the way for the county to purchase the United Jersey Bank Building, located on Rahway Avenue, Elizabeth, across the street from the Administration Building and the old jail.

The ordinance appropriates $3.5 million for the purchase, which includes the authorization of bonds to finance the acquisition. The building would house the Juvenile Detention Bureau as well as other court-related business.

The board also approved a resolution urging hospitals in Union County to implement an recycling plan.

In reply to several county residents' statements concerning increased air-traffic noise from Newark Airport,

After these rows, the candidates for Register and Freeholder will be listed, with the Republicans first, then the Democrats followed on Row C by independent candidate Robert G. Carlson of Rahway.

The ballots then will list candidates in the local race.

Incumbent Union County Register, Miss Joanne Rajoppi, a Democrat, will face Republican, Mrs. Darlene Lesniak Leary of Elizabeth in the fall election.

Westfield 'Y' Receives $25,000 AT&T Grant

The Westfield "Y" has opened a new playground thanks to the donation from the AT&T Family Care Development Fund of a $25,000 grant.

The grant, jointly sponsored by AT&T, the Communications Workers of America and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, provides funds to increase the supply and to improve the quality of child-care services to AT&T employees and the local communities.

A major portion of the grant was designated for the development of a new playground recently installed at the Elm Street child-care facility.

The small playground area is now efficiently designed and age appropriate for use by 2 and a half to 6 year olds. The playground is already in use by the summer child care and camp programs at the Elm Street facility. Also funded by the grant are classroom furnishings and life-skills equipment for use by over 200 preschoolers utilizing the "Y" child care services.

The fund not only provides new services but also enhances the quality of present programs. The after-school care and day-camp programs operating at the main facility at 220 Clark Street will also benefit from the grant.

Cultural arts and life-skill equipment are being added to this facility to enhance the programs which will benefit many AT&T families and hundreds of local families.

The "Y" offers year-round child-care programs for children from 2 and a half to 13 years of age. For information on openings and program options, please telephone the "Y" at 233-2700.

Senior Housing Contractor Denies Anti-Union Bias

A spokesman for a contractor working on the Scotch Plains senior citizens housing project has denied Star Industries had "blacklisted" union employees from the project.

Members of Local No. 24 of the Plumbers Union a few weeks ago distributed flyers in the township's central business district protesting what they said was the use of non-union labor by subcontractors selected by Star to help in the construction of the project, which is being done on Martine Avenue.

The Star Industries spokesman, Anthony Danzi, was quoted as saying his firm has given out union contracts for both concrete planking and the elevator company.

Mr. Danzi noted, however, the firm accepts bids from any firm which pays the prevailing rate, and it does not ask whether bidding companies are union or non-union or if they are local. Contracts, he said, are awarded based on price.

The spokesman had reportedly been quoted in the May 26 edition of another local newspaper as saying the project was a "prevailing-rate job" and sub-contractors who are using non-union labor are not breaking any laws and the remainder of the workers on the job would be non-union.

Mr. Danzi was quoted last week as not remembering the remarks quoted in May 26 and denying all workers on the project would be non-union. He went on further to say Star Industries has given out $1 million in contracts to union shops on the $7.5 million project and another contract will be given out shortly with any union or local firm welcome to submit a bid.

The housing project is under the supervision of the Scotch Plains Senior Citizens Housing corporation, which chose Star to oversee the construction.

Star reportedly is not contractually obligated to use union labor but must award contracts to companies that pay "prevailing wages," according to industry standards.

Another claim by the union, that the contractor was hiring employees from outside of the area, was denied by Mr. Danzi.

He was quoted as saying his plumbing contractor, D&D Plumbing, is from Fanwood, and he didn't care where the contractors are from as long as they do the work at the right price.

Union supporters who have picketed the site recently had confrontations with concrete truck drivers attempting to make deliveries at the wrong entrance to the job site.

Informational picketing, directed at non-union contractors, began at the project site on May 19.

Neighbors in the area of Martine Extension-Lake Avenue have complained picketers often start making noise at the site at 7:30 a.m.

Newcomer's Club Plans Welcome Tea Next Month

The Scotch Plains-Fanwood Newcomer's Club will host a tea on Thursday, September 9, at 8 p.m. at the Fanwood Presbyterian Church, located on Martine Avenue.

Those who are interested in joining the club may attend the tea. New and current residents who have experienced a change in lifestyle also are invited.

The club is a non-profit organization that encourages it members to get together, have fun and meet people.

A variety of activities such as a couples' social, bowling, arts and crafts, playgroups and gourmet are designed for members to do something interesting and meet other people at the same time.

The annual fee is $20 and will be collected at the tea.

Attendees are requested to use the Martine Avenue entrance to the church.

Oak Knoll Campers Learn About Leadership

Oak Knoll School of the Holy Child of Summit recently participated in an event planned for them. The Leadership Fair was organized for the campers by Mrs. Jean Marie Lanctot, who taught the leadership course to students entering the sixth through ninth grades at Oak Knoll's Summer Program.

The students who graduated from this two-week course learned many skills including organization of time and materials, presentations to groups and working with their peers and younger children.

Mrs. Lanctot and her young "leaders" organized a fair which gave the campers a day of special activities and games while giving the new "leaders" the opportunity to manage an event with their newly-developed leadership techniques.

In addition to the "leadership" course, Oak Knoll's summer Program included a full-day camp from those aged 3 years to those in the fifth grade, academic enrichment, sports clinics and hiking and camping.

Oak Knoll Summer Program Director Judith MacLellan of Westfield is an experienced teacher and former Director of Camp Sinawik and the Hoover Family Camp Program.

Clark Seeks New Exit For Parkway in Middlesex

Clark officials, complaining the increase in the number of residents in Middlesex County is causing an undue strain on the Clark circle exit ramp of the Garden State Parkway near the Westfield border, are seeking the construction of another ramp, probably near Inman Avenue in the Colonia area of Woodbridge.

While Clark Mayor Robert Ellenport claims the current exit ramp causes an undue burden on that township's roads, police and emergency squad, Middlesex County Assemblyman Stephen A. Mikulak of Woodbridge says a new exit ramp would cause tremendous traffic problems through Colonia and Rahway. Mayor Ellenport, Clark Councilman James Skobo and Harry Applegate, the township's Engineer, are scheduled to voice their concerns to Parkway Senior Engineer James Schultz and other Parkway officials this morning at the Woodbridge headquarters of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway.

Assemblyman Mikulak, meanwhile, has introduced a bill which would require state authorities to appear before local planning and zoning boards before construction in any residential neighborhood occurs.

Classic Bike Tour Slated October 3 in Westfield

Three of Westfield's organizations, the Westfield Rescue Squad, the Westfield Police Athletic League and the Westfield Jaycees Foundation, are sponsoring the Westfield Classic Bike Tour on Sunday, October 3. The tour will begin and end in Westfield's Mindwaskin Park.

Legg Mason Plans Seminar Tomorrow

Over the past three years the interest from certificates of deposit has fallen over 50 per cent, reports a spokesman for Legg Mason Wood Walker, Incorporated of Westfield.

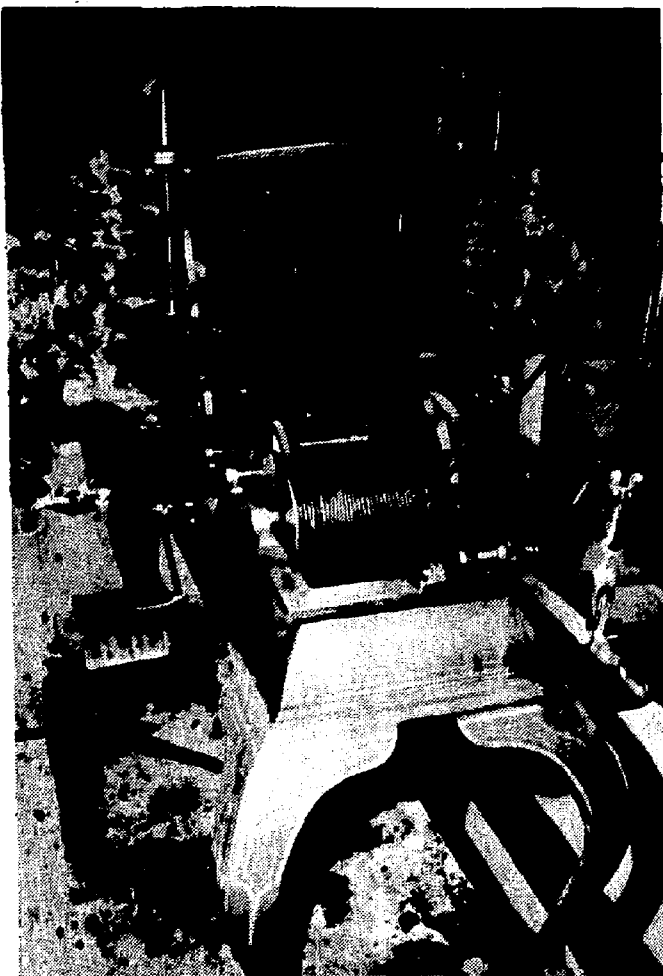

Now with low yields on certificates, come the prospects of higher taxes. Thus the combination of low yields, inflation and higher taxes all contribute in making certificates an extremely unattractive investment, the spokesman added.

Municipal bonds that provide income free of all taxes, yielding a taxable equivalent between 7 and 8 per cent are enticing. Not only does one obtain above-average returns, Municipal bonds can be bought with insurance, giving an added measure of safety and comfort. Municipal bonds are just one of the avenues to obtain higher rates of return conservatively, he said.

Tomorrow, Legg Mason will be holding a seminar on how to obtain higher rates of return. Topics will include tax-free investing, mutual funds and stocks. The seminar will start at 8 p.m. and will last no longer than one hour.

It will be held at the firm's office at 203 Elm Street, and it will be free and open to the public.

Seating will be limited. Please telephone Rene Dierkes to reserve a seat at 232-2686.

Board, Education Group Reach Tentative Accord

Westfield Board of Education President, Mrs. Susan H. Pepper, and Westfield Education Association President, Michael Seiler, announced the Board and Westfield Education Association negotiating teams have reached a tentative contract agreement for 1993-1994.

The agreement would replace the contract which expired on June 30 of this year.

The tentative agreement came after a lengthy meeting of the two negotiating teams with a state-appointed mediator on Wednesday night and Thursday morning, August 19 and 20. Negotiations began in February.

Mr. Seiler and Mrs. Pepper praised the work of their respective teams and expressed satisfaction with the agreement and with the fact a tentative settlement was reached before the start of the new school year. Terms of the agreement are being withheld pending ratification by the education association membership and the full Board of Education.

The education association will hold a membership meeting and ratification vote during the first week of school, and the Board of Education will vote on the tentative agreement after it has been ratified by the association.

First Wednesday Attendees To Learn About 'Town Clock'

"It's not just a church clock — it's a town clock," says John R. Panosh, the speaker at the next First Wednesday luncheon of the Westfield Historical Society on September 1 at Raymond's Restaurant in Westfield.

Mr. Panosh, a Westfield native currently residing in Scotch Plains, was referring to the town clock of Westfield's First United Methodist Church at the corner of East Broad Street and North Avenue.

Mr. Panosh's talk will describe the work, he and fellow church-member, Stephen Merrill of Stanton, have undertaken during the past nine months to reactivate the striking mechanism so the bell automatically strikes on the hour.

Donated in 1886 by Mrs. Mary Anne Burhans, the two-ton Meneely bell had not rung on the hour since its deactivation about 60 years ago.

However, it has been rung manually every Sunday. Mr. Panosh tells of his own experience as one of those who pulled the rope causing the four-foot-diameter bell to emit its F-sharp "prime tone" and its A-natural "hum tone" with each strike.

Although the striking mechanism has been activated and the bell has been ringing on the hour for the past six months, Mr. Panosh and Mr. Merrill still are trying to restore the two clock faces to their appearance in 1911 when the clocks and bell were installed in the present building.

According to Mr. Panosh, the restoration has been and will continue to be historically accurate.

Among the tasks still to be accomplished are the gliding of the wooden clock hands, repair and screening of the belfry louvers and refinishing of the copper dials and minute marks. To this end, a funding drive is underway as bids now are being received from steeple jacks for the outside work.

An Ithaca College graduate, Mr. Panosh has been an educator involved in radio and television audio-visual programs for the Paterson Board of Education and more recently as a media specialist for the Summit school system.

It is not necessary to be a member of the Westfield Historical Society in order to attend these noontime Dutch-treat luncheons, however, Toastmaster William B. Shafer requests reservations be made at least 24 hours in advance of the Wednesday luncheon by telephoning 232-1776.

Those who have attended recent luncheons are on a calling list and will be phoned regarding their attendance.

Choral Art Society Will Hold Rehearsals

The Choral Art Society of New Jersey, continuing its 30th-year celebration of performing masterworks, will commence rehearsals on Tuesday, September 14, from 8 to 10 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church at the corner of East Broad Street and Mountain Avenue, Westfield.

Among works being performed this year will be Brahms A German Requiem, Haydn's Te Deum, Schubert's Mass in G and a specially-commissioned work to be performed in May, 1994 to conclude the anniversary celebrations.

All new members may audition following the first rehearsal with the Director, Mrs. Evelyn Bleeke of Westfield.

Trailside Will Sponsor Colonial Harvest Feast

Trailside Nature and Science Center, at Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountainside, will offer a day of "living history" when it hosts its 12th annual Harvest Festival on Sunday, September 26, from 1 to 5 p.m.

Visitors will be transported back in time to Colonial days celebrating the harvest time as they watch Colonial crafts and work skills such as beekeeping, broommaking, tinsmithing and spinning.

The festival will also include the arts of bobbin lace making and dulcimer crafting.

Colonial foods such as muffins, pies, fresh-pressed apple cider and birch beer will be available for purchase.

Visitors also will be treated to a living-history encampment and display by Mott's Artillery, a parade by the Westfield Fife and Drum Corps and Indian American dancing performed by the Order of the Arrow Dance Team. Early-American tunes will be performed on an Irish harp and 12-string guitar.

Planetarium shows featuring American Indian tales surrounding the harvest and other moons will be presented throughout the day to coincide with the festival's theme.

Activities for children will include Colonial crafts, for a nominal fee, and a chance to play Colonial games such as Trundle the Hoop and Graces.

A sheep and chicken, commonly kept in the home during Colonial days, will be on hand for some petting.

The event will be held rain or shine and there is a suggested donation of $1.

So I Married an Axe Murderer Doesn't Quite Cut It

By Michael Goldberger

Mike Myers, a regular on television's Saturday Night Live, thus far has delivered only essence of comedy in his two feature film forays — Wayne's World, and now So I Married an Axe Murderer.

The gimmicky efforts like the perfume-sample inserts in magazines — mere ideas, lacking in full-bodied strength and intended effect. Not until the talented and very versatile funny man meets up with a legitimate motion picture script will we know if his comic abilities can go the full distance.

A mini-tradition is being continued here as yet another SNL er dips his toe in the major league waters of Hollywood, noticeably clinging to sketch/bit material as a security blanket. Witness John Belushi and Dan Ackroyd's elongated Blues Brothers stint among chief examples that cause critics to decay ad nauseam as regards the futile stretching of inherently limited skit stuff. The good news is that later, after they've sprouted their wings, many a Saturday Night Live grad has moved on to headier horizons.

Although So I Married an Axe Murderer doesn't have its roots in the television show, it purposely plays as a pastiche, with little concern for the careless transition interstices that cause its choppy nature. Those negative criticisms levied, it's only fair to note a definite originality buoying the movie above hopelessness.

First and foremost among positive attributes is Mr. Myers's capable command of two roles.

At the film's epicenter he is Charles MacKenzie, confirmed bachelor and popular San Francisco poet...curiously, with no other visible source of income mentioned. In an ancillary performance, he plays his dad, Stewart MacKenzie, proud patriarch of a Scottish clan that readily takes to kilts at the drop of a wedding invitation. From dialect through eccentric mannerisms, Myers is entirely competent.

Insofar as MacKenzie the younger is concerned, his love life is continually hampered by a rather odd slant of paranoia. Explaining his last unsuccessful go at romance, Charlie confides in his police-detective friend that Miss Right became Miss Wrong when he learned she was in the Mafia. His other attempts at l'amour sport equally improbable reasons for failure.

Thus, it only follows the neo-Beat poet's most recent love affair must become doomed. Stopping at Meats of the World to buy his Dad some haggis, he swaps flirtatious glances with a very pretty butcher played by Nancy Travis.

Soon they are an item, but is isn't before his mom shows him an article in a supermarket tabloid about an axe murderer who dispenses with her husbands whilst on honeymoon. Charlie starts reading crazy thoughts into seemingly matter-of-fact things.

Despite nagging misgivings about his butcher gal now that his anti-commitment defense has armed itself, Charlie is convinced she's the catch of a lifetime; the honeymoon sequences and the expected nip-and-tuck race to the finish follow, featuring a twist that lends credence to various lunatical theories.

The eventual resolution is rather traditional, but not without a minor amount of surprise value.

Unfortunately, once Director Thomas Schlamme outlines the scenario, the picture starts running out of steam; its main attractions reside within the ins and outs of the absurd premise.

Those notions noted, what's left is half farce, half mystery, rendering So I Married an Axe Murderer a far cry from the cutting edge of cinema comedy.

President's Budget Plan Faces Many Foes: Mr. Franks

A member of the House Budget Committee, Representative Franks was one of the few freshmen members of the House appointed to serve on the House and Senate Conference Committee.

None of the Republicans supported the conference report, which passed by a margin of 218-216 in the House and by the tie-breaking vote of Vice President Albert Gore, Jr. in the Senate.

The Representative and other Republicans are pressing for a special session of Congress before the end of the current recess devoted to cutting spending.

In a speech on the house floor during the budget debate, the legislator said even President Clinton acknowledged the new budget will actually increase federal spending by more than 20 per cent over the next five years.

"The national debt will actually grow by a billion dollars a day. More importantly, this budget is a job killer pure and simple. Those of us in New Jersey already have learned what an enormous tax hike can do to a fragile economy. Three years after the largest tax increase in our state's history, New Jersey has yet to regain its economic health. To paraphrase my state's tourism slogan, 'Clinton's taxes and Florio's taxes...devastating together.'"

According to Representative Franks' analysis of the budget adopted by the Democrats, the bill raises taxes by $245 billion and guarantees less than $100 billion in spending reductions. It relies on lower interest payments and unspecified program cuts over the next five years to produce the rest of the $496 billion savings. More than 80 per cent of the so-called spending cuts will not take place for four and five years, he said.

"There hasn't been a single budget projection in the last 20 years that has come close to predicting what actually will happen to interest rates three or four years down the road," the lawmaker pointed out. "It's a mirage. We have to cut spending instead of speculating about future interest rates."

Representative Franks said influential members of the House Democratic caucus already are threatening to purge 14 Democratic subcommittee Chairmen and 27 other House Democrats who had the courage to vote against the budget conference report.

Winding up a public listening tour at local diners, town hall meetings and press conferences, Representative Robert D. Franks, whose district includes Westfield, Scotch Plains and Fanwood, said today there is widespread grass-roots disappointment President Clinton's budget agreement has failed the crucial test of cutting spending.

Representative Franks said the budget, approved with solely Democratic support strikes most people in the Seventh Congressional district as "business as usual, the same tax-and-spend policies that have gotten the United States mired in debt that is choking the economy and causing increasing layoffs in New Jersey and other states."

"The message I heard over and over again from the hundreds of people I talked to both before and during the Congressional recess is the President has broken his promises to cut taxes and spending," the legislator said.

Over the past several weekends, the lawmaker has been engaged in a steady round of early-morning to late-evening Saturday-to-Monday meetings with people in diners, at town hall meetings, and with small business groups to learn their views on the Clinton budget and tax plan.

Representative Franks' itinerary has covered many communities in the district in Union, Somerset, Middlesex and Essex Counties, and has included live radio call-in shows, television appearances, visits to assembly lines and schools and neighborhood walking tours.

"These last few weeks, I've been in more diners than a truck driver, but it has given me a chance to meet with people causally and get their honest opinions face to face over a cup of coffee," the Representative said.

"Support for the President's plan grew weaker and weaker the more people learned what was in it and what had been left out. Instead of asking where's the beef, people wanted to know where were the promised cuts in spending," he noted.

Seminar Series Scheduled On Recognizing Child Abuse

The Union County Prosecutor's Office has scheduled a series of seminars to teach child-care providers how to more readily recognize and report incidents of suspected child abuse.

Prosecutor Andrew K. Ruotolo, Jr. of Westfield is hoping to provide training for approximately 400 people during the sessions to be provided free of charge on Wednesdays, September 1 and 22, and Tuesday, October 19, at the county's John H. Stamler Police Academy in Scotch Plains.

According to the Supervisor of the office's Child Abuse Unit, the unit opened over 200 investigations last year and 99 new cases so far this year.

"The majority of these victims are under 13 years old and have been sexually molested by someone they know, usually a family member," she noted.

She added an abused child usually discloses what has happened "accidentally" to a playmate, a teacher, a school nurse or to some other adult who cares for the youngster during the day.

"This is one of the reasons why we are conducting this seminar," she said. "We want day-care providers to be as educated as possible so they can more readily recognize an abused child and know what to do."

The seminars, to be conducted by Lieutenant Michael Bussiccolo of the Child Abuse Unit, will train day-care providers throughout the county on how to identify children who have been physically or emotionally abused. They also will be taught about laws governing the reporting of such incidents.

The Supervisor said she and her staff "try to lessen the child-abuse victim's trauma by keeping the number of interviews to which they are subjected to an absolute minimum."

She said gathering information from a victim "is critical to not only determine if something happened, but also if something did not happen."

The Child Abuse Unit has sponsored numerous training seminars in the past for law-enforcement personnel, educators and medical professionals. This is the first time a special training session has been geared to day-care providers.

In July, the Prosecutor's Office and the state Division of Youth and Family Services conducted a linguistics seminar for more than 100 police officers and social service providers to help them better understand the language children use in describing what has happened to them.

Anyone who wants to attend any of the three scheduled seminars can contact either the Prosecutor's Office in Elizabeth or the police academy in Scotch Plains.

Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center of Plainfield and the American Cancer Society will co-sponsor a seminar, "Orientation to Cancer Therapy," for adults who have been recently diagnosed with cancer on the second Tuesday of every month, beginning September 14.

Participants need only attend one session to get the information they will need to know before they begin treatment.

The free seminar is open to those with cancer, their families and their friends. Topics to be discussed include chemotherapy, adjuvant therapy, nutrition, radiation therapy, hormone therapy and available community resources.

The session is open to all patients regardless of where they will be treated.

Living in the past is a dull and lonely business; looking back strains the neck muscles and causes you to bump into people not going your way.

Ferber

Dramatic fluctuations in the state and national economy that occur without such regulatory protections, such as those which victimized many insurance-industry portfolio investments in the early 1990s, helps explain last year's near financial collapse of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, he noted.

The 22nd District Assemblyman added under the previous law, insurers writing property and casualty coverage only had to have $3 million in net assets, a standard established in the 1940s.

Under Bill No. 75, the minimum net-asset requirement is increased to $6.25 million.

He also said the adoption of regulatory safeguards for the reinsurance industry is "long overdue. It's incomprehensible to me New Jersey law previously allowed companies to conduct reinsurance business without being licensed or regulated. Obviously, this legislation, Bill No. 85, puts an end to that."

Assemblyman Praises Insurance Reform Bills

Assemblyman Alan M. Augustine, whose district includes Westfield, Scotch Plains and Fanwood, said today the enactment of a multi-bill package recently "puts New Jersey in the national mainstream in regard to providing the highest possible safeguards to protect the insurance industry and an investment-wary public."

Assemblyman Augustine was a prime or co-prime sponsor of three of the new laws, which would mandate the highest professional industry standards for companies that write insurance in the New Jersey marketplace.

The three new laws include two similar bills, Assembly Bill No. 75 and 76, which would respectively increase the capital and surplus requirements for companies writing property and casualty insurance and those that provide life-and-health insurance coverage. The bills effectively apply the regulatory standards set down by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

A third bill in the package, Assembly Bill No. 85, would provide for state regulation of reinsurance intermediaries in order to reduce the likelihood of insurance insolvencies.

Reinsurance represents the reselling of third- or fourth-generation reoffering of insurance coverage to other companies that assume the risk of the original policy.

After the August 9 bill signing in Newark, the legislator called the package of bills "an historic bulwark built to protect the stability of the stability of the insurance industry while providing a strong, dependable shield for the benefit of each and every consumer. The painstaking series of protections and regulatory safeguards in this package will protect insurers and insured alike from the vagaries of an often unpredictable economy."

The lawmaker noted one of the major intentions of the three new laws he sponsored is "to remove the historical anachronism that has existed in the state's insurance laws by putting in protections for both the industry and the consumer suited to the changing economy of the 1990s."

Alan Johnston Reports 15 Per Cent Rise in Transactions

The Prudential Real Estate Affiliates, Inc., the real estate franchise subsidiary of The Prudential, reported a transaction increase for its affiliate network of 30.3 per cent for May compared to May of last year.

This compares to an industry-wide increase of 2.5 per cent reported by the National Association of Realtors for the same period.

For the first five months of this year, The Prudential network had a 10.1 per cent transaction increase over the same period in 1992, while the national association reported a transaction increase of 1.1 per cent.

Reporting on the performance of The Prudential Alan Johnston, Inc. of Westfield through May, Henry L. Schwiering, the President, said his 65 year-old residential real estate firm had a 15 per cent jump in transactions over last year at this time.

Mr. Schwiering credited the increase "to all-time, low-interest rates and a slight upswing in consumer confidence."

He also cited a report released by Prudential Economics in which its 1993 inflation rate forecast continued to be less than 3 per cent.

"With inflation that low, consumers can look for low interest rates for the remainder of the year," Mr. Schwiering noted.

The Prudential real estate network was founded in May 1987 and has grown to more than 1,000 offices, with 30,000 sales associates in 1992 sales of $34.9 billion.

After a show highlighting the year's activities, children from each class placed 10 candles on the birthday banner. Then everyone walked to the South Side Field for picnic lunches highlighted by a cake decorated with the school logo and 10 candles and cookies the children had decorated with big "10's" in the school color. The children and their friends and families enjoyed games and bubble blowing.

Pollard Case to Be Topic At Temple September 12

"Does the Punishment Fit the Crime and the Pollard Case" is the title of a rally to be sponsored by the Northern New Jersey Council of B'nai B'rith and the Men's Club of Temple Emanu-El of Westfield.

The rally is scheduled for Sunday, September 12, at 8:30 p.m. at Temple Emanu-El, at 756 East Broad Street. The council meeting will start at 7 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Miss Carol Pollard, the sister of convicted spy Jonathan Pollard, who is pleading for commutation of the life sentence given to her brother.

Mr. Pollard, a Navy intelligence analyst, was charged with passing classified information to Israel. In 1987 he was sentenced to life imprisonment. The sentencing judge recommended Mr. Pollard be ineligible for parole. For the past five years, Mr. Pollard has been in solitary confinement at a maximum-security penitentiary in Marion, Illinois.

Miss Pollard, a hospital administrator who now devotes full time to her brother's cause, conceded "Jonathan broke the law."

But she argued he received an unfairly harsh and disproportionate sentence.

Moreover, she claimed, the government violated the plea bargain into which her brother entered after the prosecution agreed to cite his cooperation and recommend a light sentence.

Mr. Pollard pled guilty to passing classified documents to an allied nation, one of the lowest levels of the espionage statutes.

The data he gave the Israelis dealt wholly with United States assessments of the military capabilities of Iraq, Syria and Libya, nations that have been perpetually in a state of war with Israel. In defending his action, Mr. Pollard contended Israel was entitled under treaty arrangements to receive this data but his Defense Department superiors were deliberately withholding it, his sister said.

St. Luke's Choir Plans Chicken Dinner

Despite the fact Mr. Pollard was not indicted for treason, his sister pointed out, former Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger asked the sentencing judge to issue the stiffest possible sentence "commensurate with the enduring quality of treason."

In recent years, she noted, several Americans convicted of espionage for non-Communist countries and even for the Soviet Union, East Germany and Iraq have received considerably lighter sentences than her brother.

Unlike the efforts of those convicted of spying for enemy nations, she said, her brother's activities "did not harm United States national security interests. If he had caused damage to the United States, he would have been charged with treason," she said. "And he was not so charged."

COMMUNITY CENTER TO HOLD DISTRIBUTION

The Scotch Plains Community Service Center, located at St. John's Baptist Church at 2387 Morse Avenue, Scotch Plains, will distribute commodities on Tuesday August 31, and Wednesday, September 1, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Miss Pollard maintained her brother's case is "grounded in politics and not law and his sentence was an act of political vengeance" by Secretary Weinberger.

She called Secretary Weinberger who, ironically, was recently indicted on charges of perjury and obstruction of justice in the Iran-Contra affair, a pro-Arab hostile to Israeli interests.

Miss Pollard said Lawrence Korb, the Secretary of Defense under Secretary Weinberger, stated in a private letter to her father Secretary Weinberger has "a visceral dislike of Israel and that Jonathan's sentence was way out of proportion to his alleged offense."

Presents, I often say, endear absent.

It's your right

Under New Jersey's Open Public Records Act, you have a right to inspect most documents of local county, and state governments and their subdivisions.

The law says that except in certain circumstances any record that is required to be kept by government is a public record.

You have a right to copies of public records within a reasonable amount of time and for a reasonable fee. There are exceptions, of course; for example, to protect personal privacy and the integrity of a criminal investigation.

To illustrate, you have a right to see the resume of the superintendent of schools, but you do not have a right to the superintendent's medical records.

The purpose of the Open Public Records Act is to ensure that public business is conducted in public.

It's your right. Use it. Protect it.

Senior Housing Meeting Draws Large Audience

In the 1950s it was thought the land would be utilized as a site for a hospital. However, community objections were lodged and due to the evident need, the present senior citizens housing complex was built in 1978.

No sooner was the first complex built when it was apparent a second structure would be needed as a result of the town's aging population and the fact more elderly people remain in Westfield. These people would like to continue to lead independent lives, Mayor Boothe said.

Mr. Meinhardt noted the new structure would be three stories high — the same as the current building — and contain 130 units.

It was felt a high-rise structure would not be compatible with the character of the town he said, adding the project has been two years in the making.

The building would be in the shape of a bent L. The idea is to make it enhance and be compatible with the present building.

According to Mr. Meinhardt there would be no increase in traffic to the surrounding neighborhood although spaces in the site's existing parking lot would have to be relocated. A proposed fire lane would be built behind the new building to ensure safety. A fire engine would be able to drive around the entire building.

Another feature proposed by the architectural group is a park in front, which would contain a gazebo, benches and flowerbeds. It is hoped this park would become a meeting place for the residents of the two buildings. A paved outdoor terrace also is planned for the back of the structure, the architect noted.

It is the intent of the architects, Mayor Boothe said, to preserve as many trees as possible in the construction of the project.

Buffer zones of trees would be retained, though in some cases, lessened in attempt to minimize the impact on the surrounding community, he noted.

The new senior citizens housing complex would be built 200 feet at its closest point to the adjacent wetland area and 400 feet at its farthest point. By law the town is not allowed to build on areas designated as wetlands.

Mr. Meinhardt and the Mayor assured the public the wetlands would remain undeveloped.

The project would contain 130 one-bedroom units. The present complex contains 172. The Board of Directors of the housing complex desire the new building to be compatible with but not identical to the current complex, the architect noted.

There are, of necessity, tight budget restraints. It is estimated $10,000,000 would be required to build the building, he added.

A combination of federal, state and local tax credits would finance the construction.

"The need is there, the land is there. Let's get this resolved," Mayor Boothe said.

The mortgage would be paid off in 15 to 20 years from the rental proceeds of the units, he noted.

In response to a question from a Westfield resident, Mayor Boothe states taxes should not increase due to the building of this project.

He added it is not possible to build the project on the Northside of town since there is little or no vacant land. While not agreeing with the Mt. Laurel decision, Mayor Boothe indicated he is bound to enforce the law.

"Thirty units of the 130 proposed would be set aside to comply with the Mt. Laurel decision," he noted.

Residents of Azalia Trail, Grandview and Columbus Avenues voiced objections about utility hookups, drainage, lighting, destruction of trees and traffic problems.

It was alleged few, if any of the surrounding side streets have stop signs.

Mr. Meinhardt, Mayor Boothe and Councilman MacRitchie attempted to allay the concerns of the residents.

Another community meeting to discuss the project is scheduled for Thursday, September 2, at 7 p.m. in the Community Room of the current complex.

The purpose of the meetings are to give the public the opportunity to learn firsthand, about the new complex. Parking is available and the public may attend the September 2 session.

The Planning Board will take up the matter at its Monday, September 13, meeting. The meeting will commence at 8 p.m. If approved by the Planning Board the proposal will be voted on by the Town Council.

If the complex is constructed, priority in admission will be given to Westfield senior citizens.

Those wishing to be considered for admission are urged to contact: Mrs. Ruth Smith, Executive Director, Westfield Senior Citizen Housing, 1133 Boyton Avenue, Westfield, 07090, or telephone 233-5898.

New Mayor Of Jersey City At Breakfast was elected to a full term as Jersey City Mayor.

He was asked to speak at the upcoming breakfast due to his connections with Westfield and because Union County Republicans are eager to apply Mayor Schundler's message and his ideas for urban revitalization as they prepare for the fall campaign in areas within the county such as Elizabeth and Plainfield.

Westfield residents who wish to attend the breakfast should telephone Republican Headquarters at 789-0200, Freeholder DiGiovanni at 688-6747 or Jeffrey Kasko at 654-4788 for more information.

Christopher Hinman Earns Bachelor's

Christopher A. Hinman of Westfield was among 1,387 men and women who graduated from La Salle University at the university's 130th commencement on Sunday, May 16, at Philadelphia's Civic Center-Convention Hall.

Christopher, of Munsee Way, received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Business Administration with a major in finance.

Freeholder Casimir Kowalczyk asked residents to organize petition drives in their respective communities so their town along with the rest of the county have some concrete support to demand action from the Federal Aviation Administration. The aviation agency has scheduled a meeting on the topic for either September or October, Freeholder Kowalczyk said.

If the petitions are presented to governing bodies of towns negatively impacted by increased traffic noise, "they (the towns) will have something to back it up to go to the aviation agency with. They won't listen to us individually. Maybe they (the agency) will listen to 500,000 of us as county," Freeholder Kowalczyk said.

Freeholder, Mrs. Linda Di Giovanni, noted the Union County Air Noise Traffic Advisory Board has been organizing a petition and, also, is studying new traffic patterns implemented at Newark International Airport.

Linden resident, Mrs. Ann McSwiss, called the air-traffic noise "obnoxious." She said the ceiling in her home is cracked due to the continuous vibrations from aircraft from Newark Airport.

"For the past 20 years I've been fighting it and I get no respect from airport and Federal Aviation Administration officials," Mrs. McSwiss said.

Alan Sharp of Elizabeth said the air-traffic noise is worse in the First Ward of Elizabeth. He said the noise is up to 75 decibels.

"The people of Union County should start rallying around Elizabeth," Mr. Sharp noted.

Robert Carson, a member of the Railway-based anti-solid waste recovery plant group Concerned Citizens of Union County, addressed the board about recent articles appearing in The New York Times and The Wall Street Journal on incineration of trash.

He said The Times news story stated the current federal regulations concerning incineration are too lax. He said the story indicated particulate matter is accepted far too easily by officials.

"There is no reason to add any more particulate matter to the environment, which is what this incinerator is going to do," Mr. Carson said.

Mr. Carson is running for Freeholder in November as an independent candidate.

Miss Kerri Blanchard, a member of Concerned Citizens, said she was concerned lead levels at the facility would present a severe health risk to residents, especially children.

Rahway First Ward Councilman Jerry Coleman put much of the blame for the continuation of the construction of the incinerator, and the problems associated with it and solid waste in Union County itself, on the shoulders of the Union County Utilities Authority which is the controlling authority for the facility.

"I feel the authority is a runaway train. They don't have any control," he said, adding the Railway Council passed a resolution this year asking the county to abolish the authority altogether.

The next Freeholder meeting will be on Thursday, September 9, at 7 p.m. in the Freeholder Conference Room on the sixth floor of the Union County Administration Building, located behind the county Courthouse.

benefits under the New Jersey Public Employees Retirement System.

"This bill continues New Jersey's very conservative approach to its pension system, prudently pre-funding benefits that most other states pay on a current basis," Assemblyman Bagger declared.

Including these three new enactments, a total of 10 bills sponsored by Assemblyman Bagger have become law during his first legislative term.

Republicans Draw Top Ballot Line

The Republican Freeholder candidates, in the order they will appear on the ballot, are: Incumbents, Mrs. Linda DiGiovanni if Union and Mrs. Linda Lee Kelly of Elizabeth, and newcomer, Springfield Committee-man Harry P. Pappas.

The Democratic hopefuls, in ballot order, are: Miss Annette Quijano of Elizabeth, Fanwood Mayor, Mrs. Linda D. Stender, and Hillside Mayor Peter Corvelli.

— Serving the Town Since 1890 —

P.O. Box 250, 50 Elm Street • Westfield, N.J. 07091

Dear Westfielder:

The Westfield Leader has the highest readership of any paid weekly newspaper in Union County — with nearly two-thirds of our town's households numbered as paid subscribers.

Every week it enables its subscribers to receive the most complete coverage of any area newspaper of every event in Westfield from town and Union County government and politics to high school sports to weddings, engagements, complete obituaries, other social news and the many events sponsored by our town's numerous civic organizations.

It also offers viewpoints on a variety of topics — current films, senior citizen issues, humor, psychology and current events by experts in each field who are your neighbors.

Many of our readers give gift subscriptions to those in and out of town and also send The Leader to those in colleges. Perhaps, this is the time you might consider some of these possibilities.

The Leader, your hometown newspaper since 1890, is the official newspaper for Westfield and also an official newspaper for Union County.

Helpful Hints to Prepare Press Releases for The Leader

A press release should contain the name, address and telephone number of the publicist, have the following essential facts and be typewritten and double-spaced on one side of an 8 1/2-inch by 11-inch sheet.

WHEN the event took place, an exact date;
WHAT it concerned and
WHY the event was held, if necessary.
The Who means names spelled correctly following this style:
— James C. Scott, Jr., in other words, for a man's first name, middle initial, if he has one, and a last name.
— For a woman, supply Mrs. or Miss and give a first name, middle initial, if she has one, and a last name.
— Nicknames are used in sports copy only or appear when the full name is already given.

The WHAT means explaining the purpose of a meeting or reporting what went on. Saying a speech was great means nothing; explaining what a speaker said is newsworthy, if it is important.

Don't:
Type all in capital letters.
Expect that your release will appear just as you wrote it.
Have skinny margins.
Write captions on a photograph; use a separate sheet. Don't staple pictures.
Use abbreviations or acronyms. Names of organizations, states and companies should be spelled out in full.

All copy should be in our office by Fridays at 4 p.m. For events that occur over the weekend, press releases should reach us by Mondays at 10 a.m. Obituaries will be taken to Tuesday at 5 p.m. All matter is used, of course, as we have time to prepare it properly for publications. No guarantees are made.

Nicole's Yoga Center Announces Fall Schedule

Nicole's Yoga Center, Inc., located at 94 North Avenue, Garwood, will begin a new session on Monday, September 13.

Nicole's method of yoga is a scientific system of exercise which teaches how to care of oneself mentally, physically and emotionally. Yoga teaches how to connect mind and body in order to self-improve the body's functioning.

Nicole's teaching is a progressive system of yoga exercise that combines all aspects of yoga — breathing, elongation, physical exercise, energy balancing, relaxation and meditation, all in accordance with Western language and present-day lifestyle.

This session's schedule includes 20 yoga classes weekly, with new classes at 10:40 a.m. on Tuesdays and 4:30 p.m. on Thursdays for beginners through advanced students of all ages.

Of these twenty classes, there is one especially for senior citizens, one for those with back problems, and one class of "Yoga in Motion" for intermediate to advanced yoga students who wish to experience a choreographed flow of yoga movements.

In addition, there are two meditation classes to help strengthen the immune system and deepen relaxation.

Students of the center also have the opportunity to purchase a customized audiotape made especially for problem areas such as the lower back.

hamstring and shoulder and neck region and a meditation audiotape.

The center also is offering private therapeutic yoga sessions for people with weight disorders, bad smoking habits or other personal problems.

Nicole's also will hold several semi-private classes on the new Yoga Props, yoga equipment professionally designed to add another dimension to one's workout. Due to the popular demand for the center's first teachers training certification program, a second session will be held in September and October. Since classes are limited, early registration is recommended.

The center will be open for general registration — free personal evaluation by appointment only — on the following days: Tuesday, September 7, from 4 to 7 p.m., and Thursday, September 9, from 2 to 4:30 p.m.; Saturday, September 11 from 1 to 4 p.m. For a brochure, further information or to set up an appointment, please telephone 789-6426.

Due to the precise progression of the yoga classes, all participants must enroll for the full program. Early registration is strongly suggested. Please inquire with Nicole about a free trial class offer.

The center also will sponsor a fundraising show on Saturday, November 6, at the Westwood in Garwood entitled "Alive Painting, Creating your Movement of Life Through the Art of Yoga."

Eric J. Connolly

Eric Connolly Captures Silver Medal in Judo

Eric J. Connolly, a 7-year-old resident of Fanwood, competed in a national Junior Olympics Judo Tournament which was held at the Thomas G. Dunn Sports Center in Elizabeth on July 17.

Hundreds of youth from nearly all 50 states came to compete in this tournament, which was sanctioned by United States Judo.

Eric, who has been a judo student for approximately two years at the Cranford Judo Center, competed in the Bantam weight class.

His interest in judo began several years ago and was fostered by Yoshisada Yonezuka, the owner of the Cranford Judo Center, the President of the Hudson Judo Association of New Jersey and also Olympic Coach for the United States Judo Team in Barcelona, Spain in the summer of 1992.

This was Eric's first attempt at the Junior Olympics and he was able to capture the Junior Olympics silver medal on the national level.

Eric is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Connolly, who reside on LaGrande Avenue.

Town Recreation Field May Be Named for Kehler

At its public meeting on Tuesday, September 7, the Westfield Board of Education will consider a recommendation from Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Mark C. Smith, to rename Recreation Field after former Football Coach and Athletic Director Gary Kehler.

Mr. Kehler will retire on Wednesday, September 1, after 36 years in the district.

If approved, the field will be named Gary Kehler Stadium. This action has been urged by a number of past and present Westfield residents including Lee Hale, former Mayor H. Emerson Thomas, Jeff Torborg and Olympic Bronze Medalist Chris Campbell.

One of New Jersey's and America's greatest high school coaches, Kehler is a charter member of the New Jersey Coaches Hall of Fame and National Football Foundation Hall of Fame.

Between 1961 and 1982, Kehler coached football, wrestling and golf at Westfield High School. His combined record in all three sports was 719 wins, 110 losses and 23 ties.

Kehler was best known for his football teams. His 22 years as Head Football Coach resulted in nine undefeated seasons, 17 Watchung Conference championships and a state record of 48 consecutive games without a defeat from 1967 to 1973. That record was broken by Randolph High School in 1990.

Former athletes who played for Coach Kehler have cited the life lessons they learned under his tutelage and the pride he instilled in his teams.

Kehler's genius as a coach brought considerable attention to Westfield throughout the 1960s and 1970s. In a letter from Jeff Torborg to Board President Susan H. Pepper, the former Major League baseball player, Yankee Coach and Manager of the Chicago White Sox and New York Mets commented on the degree to which sports people around the country recognized Westfield as the "town where Gary Kehler coached."

Torborg wrote throughout his travels as a professional athlete, when he said he was from Westfield, the response would often be, "That's where the great football Coach Kehler is from, isn't it?"

Torborg credits Kehler's skills as a teacher and Coach as one of the examples that influenced his own career.

In announcing his intention to recommend the Board take this step, Dr. Smith took note of the uniqueness of Gary Kehler's contribution to the school district and community. "Few communities have had the benefit of an individual as talented as Coach Kehler," said the Superintendent. "We are talking about an individual whose record of achievement in his chosen field is unparalleled in the history of New Jersey and perhaps in the country. Gary Kehler helped countless high school students discover what they were capable of and to believe in themselves in sports and in life. It is appropriate the site of many of his accomplishments be named in Gary's honor."

Interested citizens may contact board members and attend the September 7 public meeting of the Board of Education at 302 Elm Street at 8 p.m.

Time for public comment will be provided before the board acts on the Superintendent's recommendation.

Rich Jeremiah Competes In Golf Tournament

Rich Jeremiah of Westfield, a junior golfer, is competing in the fourth annual Smith Corona Woodway Tournament, which is scheduled to end today at the Woodway Country Club in Darien, Connecticut.

The infinity which moves us is the sense of multiplicity in uniformity. Accordingly, things which have enough multiplicity, as the lights of a city seen across water, have an effect similar to that of the stars, if less intense; whereas a star, if alone, because the multiplicity is lacking, makes a wholly different impression.

Voters Want State Budget To Be Cut: Assemblyman Bagger

Assemblyman Richard H. Bagger, a Republican who represents Westfield, Scotch Plains and Fanwood among other communities in the State Legislature, who is also a member of the Assembly Appropriations Committee, announced this week the results of his survey of area residents concerning the state budget and taxes.

When asked about the Governor James J. Florio's anticipated 8.5 per cent revenue increases for the income tax and sales tax, 86 per cent responded that the Governor's estimates were overstated, while only 8 per cent thought they were on target, the Assemblyman said.

An overwhelming majority disagreed with the Florio Administration's proposed additional spending, ninety-one per cent said that the budget should be cut to create an adequate surplus. Only 6 per cent agreed with the Governor's position, Assemblyman Bagger noted.

When asked if the State Constitution should be amended to require that recurring spending be balanced with recurring revenue, to eliminate budget dependency on one-shot revenues, 84 per cent answered yes, while 11 per cent answered no.

Seventy-one per cent responded they favored a tax cut in this year's state budget, while 26 per cent didn't feel it was appropriate.

When asked to prioritize tax cut proposals pending in the Legislature, ranking first was restoring the deductibility of property taxes from the state income tax. Next on the list of priorities was a corporate investment tax credit for creation of new jobs. A corporate tax credit for research and development investments was third on the list of priorities and fourth was a state income tax credit for higher commuter taxes paid to New York by New Jersey commuters.

Referring to the $1.1 billion in budget cuts made by the Legislature last year, respondents were asked if state government services were substantially affected by the cuts. A resounding 85 per cent answered no, while 8 per cent believed that services were lacking.

When asked about this year's budget and the Governor's proposed spending increase of $900 million, or 6.1 per cent, 90 per cent answered that they would support cutting $500 million or 3.2 per cent of the governor's budget proposal.

When asked to rank 10 areas of proposed state government spending cuts, those polled made reducing the number of state employees top priority, followed by cuts in state employee benefits and homestead rebates. Those ranking fourth, fifth and six respectively were human services, higher education and municipal aid. Transportation ranked seventh and prisons eight, followed by Medicaid. Respondents felt that local school aid should be the least reduced aspect of the State's Budget.

Assemblyman Bagger used the results of this survey to aid him when the Legislature formulated the state budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1st. Those polled were 400 residents of the 22nd Legislative District which includes parts of Middlesex, Morris, Somerset and Union Counties.

Knollwood Terrace Carjacking

Results in Two Arrests

A car jacking occurred on the 800 block of Knollwood Terrace in Westfield on Tuesday at about 10:30 p.m., Westfield Police Chief Anthony J. Scutti reported.

A 68-year-old male resident returning home from a business trip was about to turn into his driveway when a vehicle approached from the opposite direction, cutting him off and blocking the entrance to the driveway.

Two suspects jumped from their vehicle and ran toward the victim's vehicle. The victim, fearing for his safety, exited his vehicle and ran up the driveway into his residence, immediately calling the Westfield Police Department. The victim observed the suspects enter his vehicle, which was left running, and flee toward Lamberts Mill Road, along with suspect's vehicle which was driven by an unidentified third party. The suspects' vehicle has yet to be located.

A description of the vehicle was immediately broadcast over the air. Shortly thereafter suspect vehicle was observed by Clark Detective Al Scherb and Patrolman Walter Mertert in the parking lot of Mother Seton High School in Clark.

The two suspects were detained by Clark Police until the arrival of Westfield Police units and the County Sheriff's K-9 Unit. The suspects are identified as 22-year-old male Sean McCloud of 1517 Essex Street, Rahway, and a 15-year-old male juvenile from Perth Amboy.

Following preliminary investigation both suspects were arrested and transported to Westfield Police Department where they were charged with carjacking. The juvenile was sent to Union County Juvenile Detention facility and McCloud is being held pending the setting of bail by a Superior Court Judge.

Similar attempts at carjacking by the suspects' earlier in the evening are being investigated by Rahway, Clark and Cranford Police Departments.

The first planning meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 14, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The group is in need of volunteers to help with various aspects of the program such as serving as leaders, assisting in selecting speakers and being refreshment-committee members.

Extensive knowledge of personal finance is not required. Leaders will be asked to attend one two-hour training session on September 14, from 7 to 9 p.m. and to attend all seven class sessions, which will be held on Tuesdays, October 12, 19, 26 and November 9, 16, 23 and 30 at the Cooperative Extension auditorium at 300 North Avenue East, Westfield.

Robert Mulreany Named Hospital Unit Trustee

Former Westfield Mayor Robert H. Mulreany, until recently a resident of the town but now a Summit resident, has been reappointed as a member of the Overlook Hospital Foundation Board of Trustees of Summit.

Mr. Mulreany, also a former member and President of the Westfield Board of Education, already has given 25 years of service to Overlook as a Trustee and Chairman of both the Overlook Hospital and Overlook Hospital Foundation Boards of Trustees.

In June, Overlook renamed its campus library the Robert H. Mulreany Health Sciences Library in honor of his years of leadership and service to the hospital community.

Overlook's current status as a major teaching hospital in the United States is due largely to the affiliation Mr. Mulreany established between Overlook and Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York City.

Mr. Mulreany also is credited as the force behind the creation of the foundation, which, independently incorporated, raises funds for the benefit of the hospital.

In addition to his service to Overlook, he is a retired senior partner in the law firm of DeForest and Duer of New York City.

He is the former President of Provident Loan Society of New York, and now serves as a Trustee.

Mr. Mulreany also is the Chairman Emeritus of United Water Resources,

Robert H. Mulreany

Hackensack Water Company and Spring Valley Water Company, as well as Director Emeritus of The National State Bank and Constellation Bankcorp.

He also has served as a Trustee and Secretary of the John A. Hartford Foundation, a Trustee of the H. Smith Richardson Foundation and a Trustee of The Foundation Center, all in New York City.

Recently, Mr. Mulreany was selected as the recipient of the Westfield Rotary Club's Charles F. Bailey Humanitarian Award for his public and private support of numerous community organizations and projects.

County Sets New Deadline For Sale of Runnells Site

After three years of delay, Union County has set a third closing date on the sale of the old John E. Runnells Hospital in Berkeley Heights, but the buyer isn't too optimistic the county will meet the Tuesday, September 21, deadline.

Additionally, the Berkeley Heights Environmental Commission has requested the county to detail plans to close the landfill on the property.

The Board of Chosen Freeholders last week approved a contract to James C. Anderson Associates Inc. for the closure of the landfill, for an amount not to exceed $6,622.

Armand A. Fiorletti, Director of Operational Services for the county, was quoted as saying the resolution is for additional work in response to some concerns of the Environmental Commission.

The project includes reviewing the data from the monitoring wells to see whether some of the wells can be eliminated.

The Freeholders also approved a contract to Canger & Cassera Inc. for pond excavation at the old hospital site, for a maximum of $6,900.

The county is responsible for re-creating the basin of a pond that was filled in.

Robert Spalteholz, a Vice President of Connell Realty & Development Co. in Westfield, which purchased the Runnells property in 1985, was quoted as saying the problem came to light when Connell went to the state Department of Environmental Protection and Energy for permission to install a retention pond and Connell knew nothing about the original pond.

The old pond served as an overflow for the Green Brook, which runs through the property. When a dam for that stream was damaged by a flood, "the decision was made to fill in the pond," Mr. Fiorletti was quoted as saying.

Mr. Spalteholz was quoted as saying the state has directed the county to restore the pond as a storage area for overflow of the stream and the state agency does not intend to fine the county for disturbing wetlands.

After the county sold the 65 acres to Connell, it received $12 million from the development company in 1985. The $1 million balance is to be paid at the closing, which originally was scheduled for December 1990, a month after the hospital moved to its new site, an adjoining 35 acres in Berkeley Heights.

Before the closing was to be completed, Connell was responsible for the removal of underground storage tanks and the county was responsible for the disposal of any contaminated soil around those tanks and for the closure of the landfill.

Mr. Fiorletti was quoted as saying the landfill is closed and covered with grass and the six underground storage tanks have been removed and the areas backfilled with clean dirt. The material contaminated from the tanks is on top of the ground and is being tested to determine how to dispose of it, he was quoted as saying.

Mr. Spalteholz was quoted as saying there was no reason the cleanup should have taken this long and the land transfer held up for almost three years.

The purchase agreement includes a rent clause effective January 1991, and Mr. Spalteholz reportedly believes the development company is entitled to reimbursement under that provision, "considering I wasn't able to use the property and they have my money."

He also was quoted as saying he suspects the transaction is being delayed while the county tries to find a way to avoid establishing a closure bond, which requires the county to monitor the landfill site for 20 years.

County Counsel Jeremiah D. O'Dwyer reported the county is trying to find an alternate means of financing the closure and post-closure monitoring instead of putting forth one lump sum to pay the costs.

He noted the county is not trying to avoid its responsibility of monitoring the landfill and this situation is not

Westbrook Road Residents Mark National Night Out

Westbrook Road residents give "Crime a Going-Away Party" by celebrating the 10th Annual National Night Out with a block party.

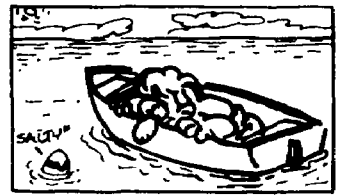

The event, held on August 3, was sponsored by the Westfield Police Department and the National Association of Town Watch.

Westfield residents were urged to join over 25 million people across the nation to turn their outside lights on and join with neighbors in a positive atmosphere to promote crime and drug-prevention awareness and to give criminals the message there are "more of us than them."

National Night Out was designed to: Heighten crime and drug-prevention awareness; generate support and participation in local anti-crime efforts; strengthen neighborhood spirit and police-community relations, and send a message to criminals letting them know neighborhoods are organized and fighting back.

In addition to a potluck barbecue, the Westbrook Road families joined in games and wished a farewell to the Tozzo family who will be moving to Florida soon.

John Ryan presented Mrs. Christine Tozzo and her children with framed prints of Westfield and hats and shirts signed by the neighborhood children.

Most lakes are freshwater bodies; however, a few, such as the Great Salt Lake and the Dead Sea, are more salty than the oceans.

The human race, in its intellectual life, is organized like the bees: The masculine soul is a worker, sexually atrophied, and essentially dedicated to impersonal and universal arts; the feminine is a queen, infinitely fertile, omnipresent in its brooding industry, but passive and abounding in intuitions without method and passions without justice.

The county declared September 21 as the next closing date, but Mr. Spalteholz said he is skeptical because the county failed to meet another closing date in 1991, he said.

Reports from test borings indicated no hazardous materials were found in the landfill.

However, some people have testified things such as medical waste, sewage and mattresses from the former tuberculosis hospital were dumped in the landfill.

The landfill runs down hill to the Blue Brook near Watchung, causing Commissioners to wonder whether anything in the landfill can leak out and contaminate that water, it was reported.

Representatives Support More Television News

United States Representatives Robert E. Andrews and Robert D. Franks, whose district includes Westfield, Fanwood and Scotch Plains, the Co-Chairmen of the Coalition for New Jersey News, today announced a major advancement in the coalition's campaign for greater television coverage of New Jersey news — a new public-affairs program devoted to New Jersey issues on WABC-TV in New York City.

The Representatives also released details on a proposed study to monitor New Jersey news coverage on 10 commercial television stations in the New York City and Philadelphia media markets. The proposal calls for taping and analyzing more than 200 news broadcasts over a four-month period starting this fall.

The two Representatives said WABC's decision to launch a public-affairs program devoted exclusively to New Jersey issues demonstrates the Coalition for New Jersey News is having an impact on New York City- and Philadelphia based television stations, which all face license renewal by the Federal Communications Commission next summer.

The Representatives had met with the station management at WABC in June to discuss the station's commitment to New Jersey news and public-affairs programming.

The new program, New Jersey Views, began airing last Sunday morning. It will be broadcast twice a month on Sundays at 8:30 a.m.

The legislators said over the past two months they have had preliminary meetings with the management of a number of television stations — including WABC, WPVI, WPIX and WNET — to discuss the coalition's concerns New Jersey viewers, who represent 30 per cent of the viewing audience, are being shortchanged by television stations.

The coalition includes some of New Jersey's leading businesses and civic and community organizations, they noted.

The lawmakers also announced the coalition will meet on Thursday, September 2, to finalize a proposal for monitoring television coverage of New Jersey news in the New York City and Philadelphia markets.

Rutgers University and Rowan College in Glassboro will be conducting the study for the coalition this fall.

The draft proposal calls for monitoring the following television stations: WCBS, WNBC, WNYW, WABC, WPIX, KYW, WPVI, WCAU, WTXF and WWOR. The proposal also calls for recording and analyzing New Jersey Network's news broadcast as a reference for comparison.
