FORTY CENTS

MORE THAN 300 STAFF MEMBERS, 28 OF THEM NEW, SLATED TO REPORT

Over 4,400 Students Return to Town Schools As 1993-1994 Year Commences Next Week

Educators to Learn Terms of Their Tentative Contract Day Before Opening From Association President; Many Have Taken Summer Courses to Improve Curriculum; New Approach to Mathematics in Second Year

The opening of school in Westfield will be on Wednesday, September 8. Over 300 returning staff members and more than 4,400 students expected for the 1993-1994 school year will find 28 new staff members and a number of facility improvements.

The 28 new staff members, most of whom replace retirees, will attend an orientation program this week. For the first time, new teachers will report to school four days before other staff members to participate in a new mentoring program.

Although students report to school on September 8, all staff members will report to school on Tuesday, September 7.

School Superintendent, Dr. Mark C. Smith, who traditionally addresses the faculty the day before school opens for students, has given this time over to the Westfield Education Association.

Since negotiating teams for the Board of Education and the education association reached a tentative agreement on August 19, Michael Seiler, association President, will hold a meeting to present terms of the contract to his members.

After the contract is ratified by the association membership, it will be placed for action on the Board of Education agenda at a public meeting. Recalling a button worn by teachers last year that declared, "Teachers Make the Difference," Dr. Smith said that he is pleased a tentative agreement has been reached before the start of the school year.

"Westfield is an outstanding school district because of the caliber of its teachers and students. The community supports the quest for educational excellence by the faculty and student body. I have every reason to believe our students will continue in the 1993-1994 academic year to achieve to the best of their abilities under the capable guidance of our teachers."

Teachers returning to classrooms have been busy over the summer months, many took advanced courses, 15 participated in the Westfield Writing Workshop course, 47 worked on refining and fine-tuning existing curriculum in the following areas: Special education, library and media skills, computers, nursing procedures, second-grade enrichment, business, English and social studies, library, mathematics, physical education, science and the Westfield High School Council.

A new approach to the teaching of mathematics, which began last September, will begin its second year when school opens next week.

Developed by an 18-member professional staff committee, it is based on the National Council of Teacher of Mathematics Standards, and focuses on helping students understand mathematics concepts, apply them to real-life problems and develop higher-level thinking skills. Over a period of time, the new program will introduce more complex mathematics at earlier grades.

Social studies and English are combined into two new elective courses at the high school, entitled Ancient Traditions and Medieval Traditions.

During the 1993-1994 school year, the high school will conduct a self-evaluation for the two-year evaluation process that will result in a three-day visit by an accreditation team from the Middle Atlantic States Association of Schools and Colleges next year.

Also, during the school year, the entire district will begin documenting evidence for a monitoring review by the state Department of Education in 1994.

A continuing project includes the Technology Committee, a staff and citizen advisory committee, appointed last year, to look into technology needs in the schools. The 19-member committee presented an interim report in May and is expected to submit a final report to the school board in October. Summer maintenance and capital-improvement projects have been undertaken at each of the school facilities.

The largest improvement project is taking place at Washington School where a four-classroom addition is being constructed. It is expected all outside work will be completed before students return to school next week and that the addition will be completed later in the fall.

During construction, two first-grade classes will meet in the newly-carpeted school library. Washington School's library has been temporarily re-located to the school gymnasium.

McKinley School's exterior received some major renovations this summer, including a new sidewalk, painting, brick repointing and gutter work.

The woman's field hockey, softball and physical education field, located next to the high school, is completed and ready for students. A second computer laboratory is being added to each of the town's two intermediate schools.

In addition to summer work projects undertaken by the school system's maintenance department, under the direction of Steven Zalko, parents have completed several beautification projects. Wilson School parents have stenciled the entrance hallway, refinished brass fixtures and painted a mural showing characters from children's stories over the entrance to the school library. At McKinley School, a parent "beautification committee" planted bushes along the fence and flowers along the school building.

The school district's four-year old Primary Enrichment Program helped 87 first-, second- and third-grade students get a running start for the new school year. The half-day program brings these students to school for three weeks in August for enrichment activities to strengthen language skills.

A REAL PANDA PARTNER...Mrs. Nancy Walbert, the Director of Chemical People/Preventing Alcohol, Narcotics and Drug Abuse, Westfield's municipal alliance, presents Wendy Jebbens with a special thank you plaque for her service to the community during Drug Awareness Week. Wendy, a Senior Scout and 1993 graduate of Westfield High School, coordinated the "Red Ribbon" project for the last three years. Perky the Panda, the mascot of the alliance, will accompany Miss Jebbens to Amherst College this fall.

Pooling Insurance by Area Communities Could Result In Substantial Savings — $210,356 for Westfield

Officials From Many Area Municipalities Hear Insurance Expert Explain Parameters for Reductions; Self-Insurance Seen as Coming of Age

By GLENN R. KAPLINSKY
Specially Written for The Leader

Officials from many area communities gathered August 24 at the Scotch Plains Municipal Building to discuss the possibility for pooling their insurance to reduce the cost of buying it. Generally, the larger the pool, the lower the cost.

Attending were representatives from Scotch Plains, Westfield, Fanwood, Mountainside and Summit. Eight communities in Union, Somerset, and Morris Counties have supplied data to study the feasibility of establishing a joint insurance fund to cover their property and casualty risks. The other communities, in addition to those listed above, are Watchung, Chatham and Bernardsville. The meeting was called to order by the Mayor of Scotch Plains, Mrs. Joan Papan.

Among those officials attending were Union County Assemblyman and Scotch Plains Councilman, Alan M. Augustine; Westfield's Mayor, Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr.; William McClintock, Deputy Mayor of Scotch Plains; Councilwoman, Mrs. Joan Schmidt of Scotch Plains; Mrs. Eleanor McGovern, Fanwood's Borough Clerk and Insurance Commissioner, and Councilman Kenneth L. MacRitchie of Westfield.

The proposal for the new insurance pool was put forth by Harry Grub, Senior Partner of the Public Risk Management Administration, Inc. of Hackensack. Mr. Grub is a former Deputy Insurance Commissioner of the State of New Jersey.

Currently the eight municipalities are spending $2,936,130 per year for property and casualty coverages. It is projected that a joint insurance fund will result in an annual savings of $672,078, or 22.9 per cent of the total amount spent by all the communities.

Specifically, Fanwood paid a property and casualty liability premium of $223,039 in 1993. Its joint insurance fund cost would be $143,124, a 35.8 per cent savings, or

Scotch Plains spends $409,139 a year and is estimated to be able to save $67,813, or 16.6 per cent of its total insurance bill.

For Westfield, the savings would be even more dramatic — $210,356 out of a total of $822,950, or a savings of 25.6 per cent.

To establish the fund, the communities must vote a $1.5 million fund budget. This could be as few as three towns, for example Westfield, Scotch Plains and Summit. Once that is accomplished, the charter towns would each appoint a commissioner to administer the plan along with certain other key personnel.

Communities across the state are seeking to regionalize in an effort to reduce costs. According to Mr. Grub, self-insurance is the most cost-effective way for towns to insure their risks. It is alleged that administrative costs are substantially lower and self-insurance avoids the taxes and other assessments that have driven up the cost of commercial insurance. These savings initially average 23.1 per cent, but often reach 40 per cent.

Until the creation of the concept of the joint fund most New Jersey towns were not large enough to self-insure and even those that were often experienced difficulties. To self-insure a community needs "excess" coverage to cover large claims. Unfortunately, excess insurance coverage is either unobtainable or prohibitively expensive on the open market. The proposed fund would furnish up to $5,000,000 in excess coverage.

The Suburban Municipal Fund would be a governmental entity regulated by the Department of In-$60,000 to $120,000 on a three-year contract.

On June 15, according to Mrs. Jacobson, the education association proposed a two-year agreement with salary increases at 7 per cent each year and a change in a managed dental-care program.

In a statement made at the June 15 Board of Education meeting, board President, Mrs. Susan H. Pepper, said the board had budgeted for a $975,000 or 22 per cent increase in the cost of health-insurance benefits during the 1993-1994 school year.

The cost of health-insurance benefits in next year's budget is $5,510,000, representing almost 13

School Board, Town Educators Reach Tentative Settlement on New Contract

Details Expected to Be Made Public After Both Sides Ratify the Agreement

By ROBERT R. FASZCZEWSKI
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The town's Board of Education and the Westfield Education Association reached a tentative settlement on August 19 on a new contract with the school system's teachers and nurses.

Details of the settlement were not announced because of an agreement between the board and the educators' group not to disclose the terms of the pact until it is ratified by both the school body and the educators.

The 391 teachers in the district are scheduled to have a membership meeting on Tuesday with a ratification date expected later next week, and the board is expected to vote on the pact at its public session after it is ratified.

Westfield schools will reopen for the 1993-1994 school year on Wednesday, September 8.

The two sides, after a meeting on June 28, had declared an impasse in talks and a state mediator was brought in to move them toward a settlement. The chief stumbling block in talks appeared to be health-benefit costs.

The board originally had offered to continue free health benefits to all teachers with those earning under $35,000 contributing $10 per month, or $120 per year, toward the cost of dependents' health insurance, and those earning more than $35,000 contributing $240 per year toward the cost of dependent coverage, according to Mrs. Susan Jacobson, Board Negotiations Chairman. She also said the board had offered a three-year agreement with average salary increases of 5.5 per cent in the first year and "appropriate increases in the second and third years, although not specifying what those "appropriate increases" were.

Mrs. Jacobson noted the education association had rejected this offer and a one-year contract proposal with no change in benefits and a 3.5 per cent salary increase.

According to education association President Michael Seiler, his group made three separate suggestions on health-care cost containment that could save the board from $20,000 to $40,000 per year, and

Advisory Committee Seeks New Tamaques Principal

Administrator to Replace New Human Resources Head

Westfield School Superintendent, Dr. Mark C. Smith, today announced the formation of an advisory committee comprised of parent and teacher representatives as well as administrative personnel to aid in the search for a new Principal for Tamaques School to replace David M. Fuller, who was promoted to Director of Human Resources this summer.

The Director of Human Resources is a redefinition of the existing position of Supervisor of Personnel and Affirmative Action Officer, held by Mrs. Marie Sean until her retirement this summer.

Mr. Fuller had been the Principal of Tamaques since 1984. Miss Kathleen Zepf, the former Principal of Tamaques School, has been appointed interim Principal during the search for a permanent Principal.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Nancy Biggio, the Tamaques School Parent Teacher Organization President; Mrs. Ronnie Caravello, the 1992-1993 organization President; Mrs. Patricia Hughes, a Tamaques School teacher; Mrs. Kelley Kissiah, the Jefferson School Principal and Coordinating Elementary principal; Mrs. Debbie McCullam, a Tamaques School teacher, and Mr. Fuller.

The purpose of the committee is to assist Dr. Smith in making his decision on a recommendation to the Board of Education. Committee members will provide input and an advisory role to the superintendent.

"This is the fifth time we are using a Selection Advisory Committee involving parents and teachers to aid in the selection of a school Principal," Dr. Smith said. "The process has been successful in finding outstanding candidates for the Principalships of Washington, Jefferson, Wilson and Roosevelt Schools."

The deadline for interested applicants to apply for the Principalship is Friday, September 24.

Dr. Smith said he expects the committee to complete its work by the end of next month, when he will make a recommendation to the board.

The new Principal is expected to take over the school on Friday, January 1 of next year.

Fanwood Republican Trio Announces For Council

The Fanwood Republican Campaign Committee and campaign chairman, Joel Whitaker, announced their three candidates for Borough Council. They are Council members Andrew J. MacDonald and Louis C. Jung who are running for three year seats and Donald Kolterjahn who is running for the remaining year of another seat.

Fanwood Republicans are thankful of the role played by former Councilmen Chet Lindsay and Francis C. Rossi, who managed very tight budgets over the last three years. "I am proud to have been on the Council and served with my colleagues in this exacting task," said Councilman MacDonald who is completing his third term. "The competing priorities make for very tough decisions but that is what is expected of us."

Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald who are both very active in the community have lived in Fanwood for 16 years and have four children.

Councilman Jung currently serves in the unexpired term of Mr. Rossi. With his wife and two daughters, he is a 19-year resident of Fanwood and has served the community in many ways including 12 years on the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Board of Education.

"I am looking forward to serving a full term and using my professional background and community experiences to help ensure that our budget is responsive, yet cost effective," Councilman Jung stated.

Mr. Kolterjahn, who is running for an unexpired one year seat, is a life-long resident. "My wife, Jean, and I have chosen Fanwood as the town where we wish to raise our family. I am looking forward to working with the mayor and council in order that we may all enjoy a continuation of the good quality of life that exists in Fanwood."

The candidates are looking forward to going door to door to meet borough residents during the fall campaign. "If experience, dedication and pride in community are keys to success, this team will provide those keys in November," said Mr. Whitaker.

READY TO CHIME...The bell of the clock in the tower of the First United Methodist Church of Westfield signals every hour on the hour. John R. Panosh, who helped restore the clock, spoke at the Westfield Historical Society's first Wednesday luncheon yesterday.

Audit Changes Approved For Utilities Authority

The results of an independent audit of the Union County Utilities Authority's operation for the year ending December 31 last year was presented to the full board of the authority during its August 11 monthly meeting.

The audit's recommendations were also discussed with the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders on August 12 during the authority's quarterly presentation to the Freeholder Board.

The audit, completed by the accounting firm of Suplee, Clooney and Co., recommended making four minor changes to the overall operation of the authority based on its review of activities during 1992. However, prior to receiving the audit, the authority, on its own accord, had already begun implementing those recommendations, noted Chairwoman, Mrs. Helen Miller.

The recommendations included creating a formal accounting system for the fines and settlements received from waste flow violations, creating a formal accounting system for the recycling tonnages and payments to affected municipalities and the full computerized operation of the bookkeeping department.

"I feel it is extremely important to point out that prior to receiving the study's recommendations this month, the authority had already hired a new comptroller whose main responsibility was to examine and improve the authority's bookkeeping procedures," Mrs. Miller said. "It is interesting to note the recommended changes were already being addressed by the authority's Comptroller Thomas Brennan prior to receiving the audit."

These refinements to the overall operation of the authority are just the latest in a progression of voluntary in-house improvements that has placed Union County in the forefront of managing solid waste in a cost effective and environmentally sound manner, Mrs. Miller said.

"Often, much of the attention that the authority receives has revolved around the resource recovery facility that is nearing completion in Rahway. Understandably, a great deal of the time and effort of the authority's commissioners, staff and consultants have been directed toward that project," Mrs. Miller said. "However, there is a great deal more being accomplished at the authority in the development of our solid waste management system." The chairwoman noted recycling, for instance, remains a top priority. One year ago only three recyclable materials were collected from a majority of Union County residents, that number has soared to nine materials, including newspaper, mixed paper, corrugated cardboard, aluminum, glass, steel, plastic, batteries and motor oil.

This year, the authority introduced a yard waste management program that encourages composting of leaves, brush and food waste in an effort to employ source reduction methods. The authority has also enlisted the support of the Board of Chosen Freeholders in advancing recycling efforts in schools and hospitals.

Increasing the number of household special waste collection days to six this year was another project the authority accomplished this year. The increase has provided residents with more opportunities to properly dispose of household hazardous materials, such as oil-based paints and pesticides.

"It is through the tremendous success of the residential collection of recyclables, the introduction of a comprehensive yard waste management program, the household special waste collection days and the expansion of recycling education programs that has helped move Union County among the leading counties in recycling percentages statewide," Mrs. Miller said.

Executive Director Jeffrey S. Callahan noted stricter enforcement of waste flow regulations, the county's anti-dumping programs and enforcement of recycling regulations helps ensure that all waste generators and haulers are complying with the county's Solid Waste Management Plan. During the past two years, more than $1 million in fines and penalties have been assessed on waste flow violators.

"With recycling percentages continuously on the rise and construction of the resource recovery facility nearing completion, residents will finally realize the benefits of an independent solid waste management plan that will stabilize tipping fees and drastically reduce our dependency on out-of-state landfill space," Mrs. Miller said. "It is the authority's goal to continue keeping an open dialogue with the residents and elected officials of Union County to ensure they are kept abreast of all of the authority's events and activities."

Overlook Offers Training For Hospice Volunteers

Overlook Hospital will offer an 11-week hospice volunteer training program beginning on Wednesday, September 15, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the hospice office at 47 River Road, Summit. If you are interested in the class, please call 522-8040 before the end of August to allow time for mailings before the class starts.

Hospice helps terminally ill patients and their families through the trying period of advanced illness and death, with emphasis on caring for the patient at home. The patient is cared for by the family with the 24-hour support of a team that includes a physician, nurses, a social worker, a member of the clergy and volunteers. A nurse is on call seven days a week.

Volunteers help the family to keep the home running smoothly. They may listen to patients and family members when they need to talk, perform errands, feed the patient and, perhaps most importantly, comfort the patient and family by being there for emotional support. After the death of the patient, the volunteer continues to be available for the family.

In the training program, the volunteer learns about the many aspects of hospice including the importance of having the family as the principal unit of care, dealing with dying, creative listening and the bereavement period.

Overlook Offers September 14 Talk Dealing With Stress

Overlook Hospital will host on Tuesday, September 14, a free lecture by Dr. Harish Malhotra, who will discuss "Coping With Stress: How Sharp Are Your Skills?"

Dr. Malhotra is a staff physician in the Department of Psychiatry at Overlook Hospital. His presentation at 7 p.m. will alert participants to everyday symptoms which may be signs of stress such as headaches, mood swings, poor family relations and breathing problems.

The lecture will include a four-step program for coping with stress, which includes: Recognizing symptoms which signal stress, compiling an inventory of stress related symptoms, understanding how stress is linked to physical and emotional symptoms and learning techniques and skills for coping with stress.

The presentation will take place in Wallace Auditorium. For more information, please call 522-2226.

Workshops on Asthma, Child Growth Scheduled

On Saturday, September 11 Overlook Hospital in Summit will sponsor free programs — a workshop for families of asthmatic children, aged 4 to 14, and a free growth screening for short-statured children.

The asthma workshop, which will be held from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. in Overlook's Wallace Auditorium, will include presentations on pediatric asthma, family issues, the newest types of respiratory aids and coping skills for parents and their children. The workshop also will feature a performance by the Jersey Kids On the Block Puppet Troupe, sponsored by the American Lung Association.

The children's growth screening, called "Measure Up Day," will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Overlook Center for Weight Management at 675 Morris Avenue, Springfield. Children 2 to 18 years of age are eligible for screening, sponsored by Overlook's Department of Pediatric Endocrinology.

A second "Measure Up Day" is scheduled for Saturday, September 18 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Center for Weight Management.

Registration for both the asthma workshop and "Measure Up Day" are required. Please telephone Health Connection at 522-5353 for more information.

Rahway Hospital Offers Course For Babysitters

During September, Rahway Hospital will offer S.M.A.R.T. Sitter, a comprehensive course which provides sitters with the knowledge and training to handle most situations that may occur when responsible for children. The acronym refers to those qualities that parents look for in a sitter: Sensible, mature, alert, responsible and trained.

During three 2 1/2 hours sessions, the course covers all aspects of child care, including infant and child safety, personal safety and security measures, basic first aid, physical care of children, including bathing, feeding and clothing techniques; identifying and responding to emergencies, and age-appropriate behavior and interaction. Those who complete the course will receive a certificate and a wallet card.

Participants will have the option to enroll in an American Heart Association adult and pediatric cardiopulmonary resuscitation basic life support course. There is an additional charge for this certification class. The course will be held Thursday, September 16; Tuesday, September 21, and Monday, September 27, between 3:30 and 6 p.m. in the hospital's Education Center.

Attendance at all three sessions is required to successfully complete the course. Because of the interactive nature of the course, enrollment is limited.

To obtain information regarding fees and registration for the course, please call 499-6193.

Third Suspect Arrested In Knollwood Car Jacking

A third suspect was arrested in conjunction with the August 24 car jacking on Knollwood Terrace, Westfield, town police told The Westfield Leader.

Being held on $150,000 bail in the Union County Jail in Elizabeth is an 18-year-old woman, Carmen Thompson of Cliffwood, being charged as an accomplice and principal in the crime. The original report of the incident, contained in last week's issue, follows.

A car jacking occurred on the 800 block of Knollwood Terrace in Westfield at about 10:30 p.m., Westfield Police Chief Anthony J. Scutti reported.

A 68-year-old male resident returning home from a business trip was about to turn into his driveway when a vehicle approached from the opposite direction, cutting him off and blocking the entrance to the driveway.

Two suspects jumped from their vehicle and ran toward the victim's vehicle. The victim, fearing for his safety, exited his vehicle and ran up the driveway into his residence, immediately calling the Westfield Police Department. The victim observed the suspects enter his vehicle, which was left running, and fled toward Lamberts Mill Road, along with suspect's vehicle which was driven by an unidentified third party. The suspects' vehicle has yet to be located.

A description of the vehicle was immediately broadcast over the air. Shortly thereafter suspect vehicle was observed by Clark Detective Al Scherb and Patrolman Walter Merfert in the parking lot of Mother Seton High School in Clark.

The two suspects were detained by Clark Police until the arrival of Westfield Police units and the County Sheriff's K-9 Unit. The suspects are identified as 22-year-old male Sean McCloud of 1517 Essex Street, Rahway, and a 15-year-old male juvenile from Perth Amboy.

Following preliminary investigation both suspects were arrested and transported to Westfield Police Department where they were charged with car jacking. The juvenile was sent to Union County Juvenile Detention facility and McCloud is being held pending the setting of bail by a Superior Court Judge.

Similar attempts at car jacking by the suspects' earlier in the evening are being investigated by Rahway, Clark and Cranford Police Departments.

Teddy Bears Bring Solace To Children With Problems

The Woman's Club of Fanwood will meet at the Presbyterian Church in Fanwood on Wednesday, September 8, at 12:30 p.m. The program is entitled "Bearing Gifts" to be given by Mrs. Lynn Kimmel.

Mrs. Kimmel is Director of Bearing Gifts, a non-profit organization based in Monmouth Beach, which collects and distributes teddy bears to orphaned, hospitalized and handicapped children—children who have a great need for the hugs and solace a teddy bear friend can provide. During the last 10 years, more than 6,000 have been distributed in the United States, Lebanon, Greece, Finland, Russia, South Korea and South Africa.

Department meetings for the month are: Music, at the Community House on September 13; Creative Needlework, at the Community House on September 15; Literature, at the home of the chairman on September 17; Conservation and Garden, at the home of their chairman on September 22, and Home Life-Social service, at the Community House on September 23.

All meetings will be held at 12:30 p.m.

A trip to Ellis Island, with luncheon at The Binghamton Ferry, is planned for September 29.

Scandinavian Ancestry Topic of Genealogists

The Genealogical Society of West Fields will resume monthly meetings on Thursday, September 9, from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Westfield Memorial Library, 550 East Broad Street.

Ray Eggers, Jr. will lead off with a double-barreled subject — Adapting Your Personal Computer to the Tasks of Genealogy and Scandinavian Ancestry: A Family Tribute to Ida Marie Rasmussen Eggers. Though the emphasis will be on Danish ancestry, his remarks will also apply to Swedish, Norwegian and Icelandic ancestries.

Mr. Eggers, a resident of Rahway, is noted for presenting his subjects with wit and wisdom. A 50-year veteran of the insurance business, he has designed a reporting form currently used by 90 per cent of the industry.

In addition to membership in the Genealogical Society, he is also a member of the Rhode Island, New England and New Jersey Genealogical Societies. His daughter, Mrs.

His presentation will be preceded by a short business meeting and followed by refreshments. The public is cordially invited.

Insurance Pool Promises Savings For All Three Area Municipalities

If figures presented at an August 2 session to discuss a proposed joint suburban insurance pool remain as estimated, the area's three municipalities could experience considerable savings through the pool arrangement combined with self-insurance.

The estimated savings for Westfield would be $210,356, for Scotch Plains $67,813 and for Fanwood $79,915.

With self-insurance, according to Harry Grub, a senior partner of the Public Risk Management Administration, Inc. and a former state Deputy Insurance Commissioner, self-insurance substantially lowers administrative costs and avoids the taxes and other assessments that have driven up the cost of commercial insurance.

In order for self-insurance to be effective, a community must be able to cover large claims for which it cannot budget or self-insure.

Because this excess coverage is either unobtainable or prohibitively expensive on the open market, it is much easier to obtain when several municipalities pool their risks and budget together for the excess coverage.

To establish the proposed pool, the member communities must contribute to the pool's $1.5 million budget. This would enable the pool to furnish up to $5,000,000 in excess coverage, according to Mr. Grub.

The proposed members of the pool all are in the same socio-economic ranking as the three area municipalities, and they share many other interests.

During a time when every governing body in the state is looking to save tax dollars and operate more efficiently, we feel cooperation among communities should be encouraged wherever possible.

Because of the commonality of interests involved, there probably is little risk to each of the members of the proposed insurance pool, and the expenditure for self-insurance probably is worthwhile, if considerable savings will result.

There are, of course, valid concerns about risk, and we urge officials in the three communities to proceed cautiously, but the end result appears to be in the best interests of all area taxpayers.

Labor Day Bodes Ill For Youth

By LOUIS H. CLARK
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

Labor Day brings out mixed emotions in me.

Vestiges of fear left over from my youth; sadness summer is ending; gladness summer is ending because I hate humid heat; business prospects who said "See me after Labor Day" who will now say "See me after Thanksgiving."

Now there will be no excuses to get out of doing chores about the house "You've used up all your complaints about the heat, so let's go!"

Of course, I'll have to take out some time to take my leaf blower apart. And I'll have to have learned discussions with my neighbor about pennant chances as we lean on our rakes. So all is not lost.

I remember one Labor Day very clearly. I was about 8 or 9 and belonged to a district which started school the day after Labor Day. We thought that was really mean.

As my best friend Tommy Regan pointed out, "Over in Minton they don't have to go until next Monday." When Erin, his big sister, said, "Over in Meredith school opened a week before Labor Day" we weren't comforted.

Usually we didn't believe anything she said because what would a girl know anyway? But this time we had to believe her because Erin was a girl and because all girls loved school and wanted to be teachers' pets.

So Tommy and I sat on the porch of my house and everything seemed to grow deep blue as the evening closed in. Even the street light down at the corner seemed to have blue smoke curling from it.

We sat there hoping some miracle would happen and we wouldn't have to go to school the next day when I heard my mother saying "Is Tommy Regan...?"

Then she came out on the porch, saw us and actually began to laugh!

In the uncanny way mothers have she knew exactly what we were so blue about.

"Tommy," she said, "You'll have to go home. Your mother says you have to get ready for..." and then she lowered her voice and said very gravely "school tomorrow." Of course, we couldn't expect her to know how we felt because she was not only a girl but the same mom who made me take all those baths and showers and wouldn't let me wear sneakers on Sundays or when we visited my grandparents. So how could she know our grief?

"Honestly boys," she said, "and you can check with your fathers but someday you're going to say 'This was the happiest time of my life.'"

Tommy and I looked at each other in amazement. How could anyone be so dumb? It struck us as so funny we began to laugh too.

Chansonettes Start New Season On September 21

The Chansonettes of Westfield will begin its 46th season of singing and entertaining local groups as part of the yearly program. A women's choral group, the Chansonettes invite area women to join their group. Rehearsals begin for the Christmas season on Wednesday, September 21, at 8 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church Music Hall in Westfield. Rehearsals will be held every Wednesday evening for 10 weeks.

The music, usually of four-part harmony, is piec club type, and all voices are needed, soprano, second soprano and alto. Mrs. Jean Schork, the Director said the Christmas theme, "Christmas 'Round the World," will feature music from other countries, some of it in native languages.

An accompanist is also needed for the group.

Reader Wants Council To Pass Law Barring Early Garbage Pickups

Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to First Ward Councilman Norman N. Greco.

During the August 10 Town Council Meeting, you made a motion to table the ordinance that would limit the times during which garbage could be collected, supposedly because the Council had received a pledge from the haulers voluntarily to comply with a 6 a.m. start-time. Shortly thereafter, the ordinance was tabled.

In the subsequent discussion, you promised, if there was even one instance of a garbage pick-up before 6 a.m., that you would vote in support of the ordinance at the September meeting.

On August 23, I was awakened from a sound sleep by the sound of my garbage being collected at 5:05 a.m. It is my understanding this has been happening all over town of late, just as it happened prior to the August Council meeting.

In any case, I have provided you with the one instance you said you needed.

It is said that actions speak louder than words. At the September 14 and 28 Council meetings, you will have an opportunity to demonstrate your actions.

I profoundly hope you will not disappoint me.

Mumbo Jumbo Can Be Used Against Women

Mumbo jumbo — meaningless superstition or fear; nonsense; bunk. Throughout history man has managed, by one means or another, to subjugate women.

This effort took many forms and was as prevalent in so-called civilized societies as it was among primitive peoples. Much of the justification for these efforts was based on pure mumbo jumbo.

This was particularly true among the Mandingo tribes of West Africa whose men invented the god, Mama Dyumbo, from which mumbo jumbo was derived. This god's purpose was to keep the women of the tribe in awe of men. The costume of this deity apparently included a pom-pom hat, because several highly respected sources say that Mama Dyumbo meant pom-pom wearer.

The women of the tribe were not fooled for long and eventually discovered that Mama Dyumbo was just a lot of mumbo jumbo, a rhyming alteration of this phony god's name.

As women continue their quest for parity with men, perhaps the next bastion of male supremacy to pursue should be the all-important domination of the television remote-control channel changer.

development will have on the habitat. I cannot justify the complete destruction of animal and plant life to satisfy Westfield's need for capital. As a resident of Westfield for the past 26 years and an adjacent property owner, I've seen increased numbers of mammals and reptiles that would indicate a flourishing ecosystem, in spite of being in a highly populated area.

Recently my neighbors and I have seen a herd of deer including four bucks, an albino stag and four new fawns as well as a snapping turtle with a shell length of over two feet. Pileated woodpeckers and fox are also among the living inhabitants.

Wildlife will be driven out of their existing homes, and will have no woodlands with similar natural habitat capable of sustaining their lives to which to go. Aside from animal life, plant life which includes lilies and "skunk cabbage" indigenous to wetlands, is throughout the forest.

The land is wet three full seasons of the year and dries up only during the summer months. There is also a significant stream that cuts through the thick of the woods diagonally. My questions are disturbingly simple knowing that the destruction of Indian Forest would be permanent. When are we going to stop destroying our natural resources and when is building in an affluent, highly populated town going to be enough?

I appears that the town of "Colonial Westfield" is trying to irreversibly sacrifice a natural asset strictly for monetary benefits. In the future, the benefits will never equal the elimination of this special place. It is of grave importance that the Department of Environmental Protection and Energy look in to this matter, with the aforementioned items in mind.

Thank you in advance for your time.

Letters to the Editor

The Last of Indian Forest Should Be Preserved for Future Generations

Editor's Note: This letter was originally sent to the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection and Energy.

I am writing in response to the notice sent to property owners from Concept Engineering Consultants regarding the Town of Westfield's request for definition of the wetlands of the Indian Forest — the Ewan Tract.

I am extremely skeptical the adverse impacts to the environment and Westfield's cultural legacy have been objectively assessed and considered. I am sure Westfield's proposed Lexington Heights sub-division project will not take into consideration of the full impact of development on the wetlands and drainage.

Although Westfield will take steps to mitigate the impact, I am convinced that the end result will have severe ramifications to the habitat and natural resources of the area. Recently I became aware the waterways and subsidiaries of much of this region are part of the Arthur Kill waterway network. I question if considerations have been taken regarding storm water management, increased runoff or increases of salt and sediment in the water system due to winter maintenance.

Indian Forest is one of the last remaining undeveloped rural areas in Westfield — a town that dates back to the 1700's. The forest has relinquished some incredible historical treasures such as countless antique bottles dating from early 1800's, old coins, specifically an 1898 Indian Head penny; old jewelry, and a Model-T Ford jack to name a few. I challenge that the cultural, historical and archaeological significance of these woods has not been investigated. The town of "Colonial Westfield" must satisfy that Indian Forest is not a sensitive area.

My main concern however, is the environment and the stress that this

Teachers Seek Solution to Contract, As New School Year Commences

To the Parents of Scotch Plains and Fanwood. As the summer rapidly draws to a close, your teachers, aides and secretaries are preparing to return to open the schools for another academic year. Unfortunately, these staff members are returning without a contract settlement. Although a meeting was held with the Board of Education on August 25, no significant progress was made.

A meeting is scheduled with a mediator on September 7. It is the hope of the membership of the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Education Association that progress can be made at that time. Past experience indicates that negotiations do not drag on for an extended period of time. Such a protracted situation does not promote a good learning environment.

The staff of the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Public Schools is dedicated to providing the best possible education for the young people of our communities. This can best be done when the staff is working under the provisions of a fair and equitable contract. We urge you, parents in the communities, to contact members of the Board of Education to encourage them to negotiate a fair and equitable settlement as quickly as possible.

Brevity Is Truly the Soul Of a Columnist's Wit

A 10-year reader writes

I have read your column since I moved to town in 1983 and was interested in your 26th anniversary column where you write: "In my December 14, 1979, column, a citizen wrote that sometimes, I become long-winded in my answers. She encouraged shorter answers. My response: Each answer in that particular column contained one or two words." So, Mr. Faith, I know that you have never repeated a column, but could you print that particular column. I can't believe you actually had such short answers which were meaningful. "Seeing is believing."

"Tis true, I never lie (well most of the time, anyway). Since several present-day readers referred to that particular column and wondered if it really happened, I re-print it with pleasure. Enjoy!

Mrs. S., one of my readers, enjoys reading my column, but feels some of the answers are too long and complicated. She encouraged shorter answers. So I reviewed several questions where the answers could be shorter and here goes:

Mrs. K. wants to know whether it is true that people who were abused when they were children abuse their own children later in life. Answer: Yes.

Mrs. M. writes: So many people I work with and know seem stressful because they are hurrying to do something or other. People are too busy to relax and enjoy what they have. Would you agree that rushing around is a basic contributing factor when it comes to tension and strain? Answer: Yes.

Mrs. F. writes: So many people knock religion and feel it no longer meets the basic needs of man. Do you feel that religion can be meaningful to people who have a deep belief in God and feel secure and comfortable in going to church or synagogue? Answer: Yes!

A mother writes:
My 18-year-old son does not want to go to college; he wants to work at a nearby gas station. He feels I am pressuring him to go to college, so he can get a good job and good pay. I feel this is my responsibility to have him get a decent education. Don't you agree I should urge him until he changes his mind? Answer: No!

A teenager writes:

My mother refuses to let me listen to the Donna Summer record and album "Bad Girl," which was the No. 1 song in America recently, because the music is about prostitutes. She's afraid I'll become "influenced." I'm a bright, responsible 15-year-old girl who just enjoys the music. Will you please tell her it's okay to listen to the music? Answer: It's okay.

A mother writes:

My little girl shows a preference for left-handedness. I was forced to become right-handed as a child. I remember my mother saying the world is made for right-handed people. Should I encourage my son to use his right hand? Would it help him in life? Answer: Absolutely not! I'm left-handed.

A father writes:

Setting limits regarding our 14-year-old son is difficult for us. John tells us about each friend and how they are all permitted to stay up each night until 11 p.m. My wife and I feel that John needs a good night's sleep, and we want him to be in bed by 10:15 p.m. Should we be swayed by what his friends do? Should we stick behind our guns even though it may lead to a confrontation? Answer: (1) No. (2) Yes.

An adult writes:

My friend tells me that allergies can be affected by emotional hang-ups. I always thought they were biologically determined. I've taken shots for them. Can emotions affect one's allergies? Answer: Yes.

The quality of a person's life is in direct proportion to their commitment to excellence, regardless of their chosen fields of endeavor.

Fabric of Life Being Torn Apart By Ceaseless Roar of Jet Planes

Editor's Note: This letter was sent to Representative Robert D. Franks with a copy to The Westfield Leader.

The ceaseless roar of jet planes from uninterrupted flights in and out of Newark Airport over the homes of the residents of Union County must be stopped. The fabric of life has deteriorated. Noise pollution has curtailed activities. One cannot use the backyard porch or pool to enjoy what otherwise would be a peaceful, quiet summer without distraction.

There are alternate air routes available such as routing down the Arthur Kill, over the upper and lower bays of New York, and dispersal routing throughout the entire state.

The issue has become an ever-increasingly troublesome to the taxpayers of Union County and will play a central role in the next gubernatorial and congressional elections.

Some Food and Drugs Just Don't Mix

By Herb Ross

You know booze and driving don't mix, but did you know that some foods and some drugs don't mix either!

Take the case of a patient on anti-depressant. He ate a cheddar cheese sandwich and the next thing you know he was in the emergency room with a pounding headache and a racing heartbeat.

Another patient was taking Tetracycline for a minor sore throat. Since there was difficulty in swallowing food, the patient opted to eat ice cream, three days later the infection got worst. Doctors were at a loss. Until the doctors found out about the ice cream. Dairy products reduce the effectiveness of Tetracycline.

Some foods can delay how fast a drug gets absorbed into your system, which may decrease the medicine's effectiveness. Other foods can drastically reduce absorption.

People who are on medication should avoid extreme changes in eating habits or in vitamins and health-food supplementations.

One doctor saw a patient who used an oral anti-coagulant. After much investigation, they finally found out that the patient was taking Vitamin K. This vitamin counters oral coagulants.

Generally speaking medicines should not be mixed into hot beverages of food, unless instructed to do so by a physician or pharmacist. Both practices can alter a drug's action.

Drinking alcohol while on certain medications can also be harmful.

But drugs should be taken with a full glass of water to wash them down and help them dissolve, especially before bedtime. "If a patient swallows a pill with only a gulp of water then immediately lies down, the pill can stick in the esophagus, resulting in pain that's often mistaken for angina.

Here is a list of drugs and foods you should avoid. Anti-coagulants such as Coumadin, Panarfin and Dicumerol. Avoid foods rich in Vitamin K. They are asparagus, broccoli, brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, egg yolk, kale, lettuce, liver and liver pate, potatoes, spinach, turnip greens, vegetable oil and water cress.

Antidepressants: Marplan, Nardil and Parnate. Blood Pressure Drugs: Eutonyl, Eutron. Antibiotics: Furaxone.

And avoid the following: Avocado and food made with it, like guacamole, bananas, beer, caffeine (coffee, tea, cocoa, chocolate and colas) caviar, aged cheese (cheddar, Camembert and Stilton), fava beans, figs (canned), herring (pickled), liver (especially chicken liver), cured meats (bologna, sausages and salamis) meat tenderizers or extracts, raisins, sour cream, soy sauce and wine (especially Chianti and Sherry), yeast extract (including brewer's yeast) and yogurt.

Finally blood pressure drugs such as: Aldomet, Aldoril, Digoxin, Diuril, Inderal, Ismelin and Lanoxin.

Avoid natural licorice. Licorice contains glycyrrhiza, which, when eaten in large amounts, may lead to water retention and drive up blood pressure. Artificially flavored licorice is a safer choice.

If you are taking asthma medication, such as Theophylline, avoid caffeinated beverages — cocoa, coffee, tea and chocolate.

POPCORN™
Manhattan Murder Mystery Is Woody Without a Clue

By Michael Goldberg

One Popcorn, Poor • Two Popcorns, Fair • Three Popcorns, Good • Four Popcorns, Excellent

2 & 3/4 popcorns
If Woody Allen were a ballplayer, we would boo him for not hustling. Such is the disappointing impression given by the lackluster Manhattan Murder Mystery, a near slipshod arrangement soft-pedaled by the film auteur as a break in the action, a mini reversion to his earlier, zanier exercises in screwball wit.

But alas, as Mr. Allen most painfully knows, you can never go home again, and most observers among the cinema cognoscenti see this latest work is an effort in appeasement. But whether or not his non-feather-ruffling farce is an attempt to appear the innocent laughmaker following the Mia And Kids debacle, or quite coincidentally Mr. Allen's least opinionated movie to date, it is destined to ultimately vanish into the sunset. Doubtless, the Fatty Arbuckle-like scandal Woody has found himself in won't disappear so quickly.

Neither a drop dead comedy nor a genuine gumshoe gambit, Manhattan Murder Mystery spreads its limited attributes too thinly. Pity is, even at half-effort, Woody Allen is quite the filmmaker, and at points the film isn't that far off; a freer, more acerbic treatment wouldn't be a very big challenge for this otherwise skilled and inventive artist.

A chief saving grace is the refreshing Diane Keaton as a bored Upper East Side housewife, Carol Lipton, the type of directionless, lonely, and under-stimulated member of the bourgeoisie who talks about opening a restaurant whenever she feels her existence needs explaining. A good name for said imaginary bistro would be raison d'être.

Less entertaining but nonetheless completely competent is Woody Allen as her spouse, Larry, a book editor for a prestigious publishing house who is increasingly wary of his wife's antisocial demeanor and her potentially upsetting lack of self esteem and focus.

But all bets are off and a new game inaugurated when the Liptons meet the Houses in the elevator; they socialize a bit with the older couple, and Larry groaned inwardly as he's forced to peruse Paul House's stamp collection, all in the name of that Big Apple oxymoron, New York neighborliness.

About a week later, Mrs. Lipton dies of a coronary, or so we are led to believe.

Yet, while all those concerned take the unfortunate passing of Lillian House in relative stride, Keaton's Carol Lipton smells foul play — and has never been more delighted with herself in the bargain. Suddenly, and to her Casper Milquetoast husband's profound dismay, she is a middle-aged Nancy Drew in Annie Hall clothing, and thus capable of all sorts of familial disruption and derring-do; Larry chases Carol down each alley, blind as well as sighted, as she begins the investigation, all the while urging her to cease and desist. It's no such luck for him. Dear wife has found her calling, and to deter is to pooh-poo her new-found passion.

Seeing this as a prime libidinal opportunity and seizing it is Alan Alda as Ted, playwright, family friend, and covetous, would-be suitor. While Larry wants no part of the "murder mystery" game, recently-divorced Ted is quite willing to play along. Among the several little bits of philosophy the picture proffers, in non-insistent tones, it is more than subliminally suggested that the family that sleuths together stays together; the metaphor, of course, is simply an advisement for spousal interest and mutual concern.

Can public service messages by Mr. Allen be far behind?

Woody's character quips a mile a minute, the perennial naysayer nervously twittering one-liners as the couple's lives become endangered, and it becomes clear that Carol was indeed right to suspect something.

Recreation Commission to Hold Theater Trip to Crazy for You

The Westfield Recreation Commission is offering Broadway theater tickets and bus transportation to Crazy for You, the Tony award winner for best musical, on Friday, October 15. The bus will leave from the Westfield Memorial Pool complex on Scotch Plains Avenue at 6 p.m. for the 8 p.m. performance and will return approximately 11:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale immediately on a first-come, first-served basis at the Westfield Recreation Department at $77 per person.

Please make checks payable to the Westfield Recreation Department, 425 East Broad Street, Westfield, 07090. For further information, please call 789-4080.

Albeit hit and miss of the mass assault variety, the continual stream of banter produced by Keaton and Allen's characters is the movie's strongest asset.

What some others have referred to as a homage to Hitchcock, etc. is a gross overstatement. Any suggestion of satire or picaresque as regards the great masters of mystery is mere wishful thinking and an insult to Mr. Allen's abilities. In another time and place, the references may have been more accurate. As it stands, Manhattan Murder Mystery will neither thrill you with curiosity nor kill you with comedy.

College Funding Plan Required To Meet Quickly-Rising Costs

By Richard C. Brief

Editor's Note: The following is the first in a series of columns by Richard C. Brief, a Certified Financial Planner with offices at 22 Tower Place, Fanwood, which will run from time to time in The Westfield Leader and The Times.

Most parents want to give their children the opportunity to go to college or some form of higher education, yet many fail to formulate and execute a proper game plan before it is too late. The two major obstacles that threaten a college funding plan are discipline and inflation.

Many parents lack the discipline to set aside a consistent amount of income each month to establish a college fund. Even a small amount put aside each month can help to provide some or all of the funds that are needed.

For example, $50 a month saved at 10 per cent rate of return, for 18 years, will result in a savings of $30,000. One hundred per month will result in a savings of $60,000. Thus, you can see even a small amount saved on a consistent basis can help to provide some of the funds that will be needed.

Inflation is the other major obstacle in planning for college costs. The average college tuition increases in the range of 4 to 9 per cent each year. Let's take an example of a school such as Rutgers College, my alma mater.

Tuition and fees cost about $3,900 per year and room and board cost about $4,000 per year, for a total of $4,900 per year for an in-state resident in 1993. If we assume a 7 per cent inflation rate, one year will cost $24,674 in 18 years. Thus, four years of college will cost in the vicinity of $100,000.

The major focus a parent of a young child should have is to start some type of consistent plan. Anything saved is better than nothing, which will help to make your child's life easier later on. A combined plan of growth mutual funds, cash-value life insurance and conservative bonds will do a nice job, and keep your plan well diversified.

Volunteers Sought To Help Students

Adult volunteers who would like to help students in grades one through six with homework may sign up at the Westfield Memorial Library. The tutors will be working with children enrolled in the Westfield Neighborhood Council's after-school program on alternate Mondays, beginning September 20, from 4 to 4:45 p.m. at the library.

Tutors should plan to attend a brief orientation on Monday, September 13, at 4 p.m.

Volunteers may contact Mrs. Carol Ann Wilson at the Westfield Memorial Library, at 789-4090, to register for this program.

Engulf the planets. I have seen the heat.

Two Town Veterans Return To Help United Fund

Continuing their years-long tradition of assisting with Westfield United Fund campaigns, two town residents again will head divisions for the 1993 drive.

Former Westfield Mayor H. Emerson Thomas will chair the Pillars Club, and Samuel A. McCaulley, a Past President of the United Fund Board of Trustees, will return as head of the Special Gifts Division.

"They have worked with me every year," says Mrs. Linda Maggio, Executive Director, now in her 19th year in the post. She termed the pair's work as "invaluable" to the Westfield United Fund, whose monies help to support 20 member agencies.

The Pillars Club, organized in 1988, includes donors who have pledged $500 or more. The donations represent more than 40 per cent of the overall support to the organization.

"Each year, the number of members in the Pillars Club continues to grow," said Mrs. Maggio. "This reflects the genuine interest of townspeople in the work of the various agencies we help."

Mr. Thomas, the President of Thomas Associates Inc. and Thomas Consulting Co., also is President of the Board of Trustees of the Westfield "Y" and a Past President of The Westfield Foundation and a member of the Westfield Rotary.

Mr. McCaulley, whose division solicits large donations, is a manufacturer's representative and a former Trustee of The Westfield Foundation. He served as Chairman of the United Fund drive in 1968. He is currently serving as the "Town Crier" for the Westfield Bicentennial celebration in 1994.

More than 300 Westfielders serve as volunteers for the United Fund. Information is available by contacting Mrs. Maggio at 233-2113.

NEW LEADERS...The 1993-1994 Co-Chairmen of the Westfield-Mountaintide Ministerium, elected at the June meeting of the group, are the Reverend Dr. John G. Wightman, Senior Minister of the First Congregational Church of Westfield, and Mrs. Norma M. Hockenjos, Diaconal Minister at the First United Methodist Church in Westfield.

School Administrators Meet With Superintendent

Looking forward to the new academic year, 23 school administrators attended meetings on Wednesday and Thursday of last week with Westfield School Superintendent, Dr. Mark C. Smith.

Six administrators who either are new to the district or are assuming new administrative roles are: Mrs. Connie Odell, the new Principal of Washington School; Mrs. Kelley Kissiah, the Principal of Jefferson School, who will assume Elementary School Principal Coordinating responsibilities; Miss Kathleen Zepf, the interim Principal of Tamaques School, who served as Lincoln and Tamaques School Principal until she took early retirement in 1984; Stewart Carey, the Administrative Intern at the high school, a former physical-education teacher; Charles Hansen, the new Supervisor of Fine Arts, and David M. Tuller, the Director of Human Resources, formerly Tamaques School Principal.

The new administrators and new administrator roles replace positions and/or responsibilities held by Mrs. Faith Divisek, Franklin School Principal; Mrs. Marie Scian, Coordinator of Elementary Education, Personnel and Affirmative Action Officer; Mrs. Jean McDermott, Supervisor of Fine Arts, and Thomas McHugh, Assistant Principal at Westfield High School, all of whom have retired.

Archbishop to Bless Work At St. Bartholomew's Church

The Very Reverend Peter J. Zaccardo, and Pastor, announces that Archbishop Theodore E. McCarrick, Archbishop of Newark, will bless the new Narthex, Elevator and Bell Tower of St. Bartholomew the Apostle Roman Catholic Church in Scotch Plains on Saturday, September 11, at the 5 p.m. Mass.

A total renovation of the church was begun in 1990 and was divided into two segments. On April 21, 1991, Archbishop McCarrick dedicated the newly renovated church and altar which comprised Phase No. 1.

For the first time in three years, the sound of bells will once again summon the people of St. Bartholomew's parish to prayer. With the installation of the new elevator, elderly or handicapped parishioners who could not attend St. Bartholomew's because of the stairs, will now be able to join with the rest of the parish as they enter the new Narthex and assemble in church.

The blessing of the Narthex, Elevator and Bell Tower which comprised Phase No. 2 marks the culmination of the Church Renovation Project and another milestone in the life of St. Bartholomew's parish.

Now it's easier to get over the surgery and get on with your life.

There's nothing easy about facing a hysterectomy. But now there's a gentler surgical technique that could make recovery from hysterectomy much easier. And, it's available at Overlook Hospital Laser Center.

The laparoscopic assisted vaginal hysterectomy procedure uses equipment and techniques that require much smaller incisions than traditional abdominal hysterectomies.

This can mean less blood loss, less pain, a reduced hospital stay and a much faster recovery.

If you're facing a hysterectomy, call the Laser Center for our free brochure about this gentler alternative to traditional surgery. This call may be the first step toward getting on with your life. 1-800-543-6633

School Board, Educators Reach Tentative Accord

per cent of the total operating budget, Mrs. Pepper added.

At the last bargaining session prior to the impasse, the education association presented another option based on a three-year contract, and the board rejected the association's offer and "shifted gears" to a one-year contract that would offer salary increases of about 2 per cent to those on the top step of the salary guide.

The changes in the board's position on health insurance and salaries were cited by Mr. Seiler as the reasons the talks resulted in an impasse.

The average teacher's salary during the 1992-1993 school year was $49,310, according to School Business Administrator, Dr. Robert C. Rader, and approximately 26 per cent of each teacher's salary goes for benefits. This amounts to around $7,000 per employee.

Social taxes of 7.65 per cent of each employee's salary are paid by the state, Dr. Rader said, and the costs of pensions, which range from 2 to 7 per cent of the salary of each employee in the bargaining unit, are paid for half by the state and half by the employee.

The top step on the current salary guide is reached after 17 increments and the acquisition of a doctor's degree, and the salary at that step is $64,348.

According to the New Jersey Education Association in Trenton, approximately 125 of the state's 592 school districts have unresolved teacher and support staff contracts for the 1993-1994 school year.

Across the state, contracts negotiated this year increased by an average of 5.9 per cent, according to the association. Among contracts already in place this year, there was a net increase of 6.5 per cent over the last school year.

It is against the law in new Jersey for teachers and other public employees, such as police officers, to stage a strike.

The average teacher salary last year was $41,588 in New Jersey, according to the association, and it takes an average of 16 years to make that amount of money.

Frank Belluscio, a spokesman for the New Jersey School Boards Association, was quoted as saying some 120 districts do not have contracts for the upcoming school year, an improvement over last year's total of 180 unsettled contracts.

Insurance Could Save Town Plenty

insurance and the Department of Community Affairs. Prior to its application being approved, a town must undergo a safety inspection. The program is flexible and provides a wide range of options and services to member towns.

Doubts were expressed by Peter Locasio, a Fanwood insurance agent, and Mayor Boothe that the figures used to compile the study were reliable and accurate. Mr. Grub assured them that they were.

Mr. Grub stated, "The final cost will be no more or no less than what the claims will be." Any surplus revenues will be returned to the towns in the form of cash payments or credits on a pro rata basis. Losses will be prorated as well. Additional towns may not join the proposed fund without a two-thirds approval of the charter members.

Flood insurance coverage is afforded the municipalities only as a supplement to the federal program. Mr. Grub indicated that the towns have until September 30 to sign on.

The world is a perpetual caricature of itself; at every moment it is the mockery and the contradiction of what it is pretending to be.

Helpful Hints to Prepare Press Releases for The Leader

A press release should contain the name, address and telephone number of the publicist, have the following essential facts and be typewritten and double-spaced on one side of an 8 1/2-inch by 11-inch sheet.

WHEN the event took place, an exact date;
WHAT it concerned and
WHY the event was held, if necessary.

The Who means names spelled correctly following this style:
 — James C. Scott, Jr., in other words, for a man's first name, middle initial, if he has one, and a last name.
 — For a woman, supply Mrs. or Miss and give a first name, middle initial, if she has one, and a last name.
 — Nicknames are used in sports copy only or appear when the full name is already given.

The WHAT means explaining the purpose of a meeting or reporting what went on. Saying a speech was great means nothing; explaining what a speaker said is newsworthy, if it is important.

Don't:
 — Type all in capital letters.
 — Expect that your release will appear just as you wrote it.
 — Have skimpy margins.
 — Write captions on a photograph; use a separate sheet. Don't staple pictures.
 — Use abbreviations or acronyms. Names of organizations, states and companies should be spelled out in full.

All copy should be in our office by Fridays at 4 p.m. For events that occur over the weekend, press releases should reach us by Mondays at 10 a.m. Obituaries will be taken to Tuesday at 5 p.m. All matter is used, of course, as we have time to prepare it properly for publications. No guarantees are made.

Every week it enables its subscribers to receive the most complete coverage of any area newspaper of every event in Westfield from town and Union County government and politics to high school sports to weddings, engagements, complete obituaries, other social news and the many events sponsored by our town's numerous civic organizations.

It also offers viewpoints on a variety of topics — current films, senior citizen issues, humor, psychology and current events by experts in each field who are your neighbors.

Many of our readers give gift subscriptions to those in and out of town and also send The Leader to those in college. Perhaps, this is the time you might consider some of these possibilities.

The Leader, your hometown newspaper since 1890, is the official newspaper for Westfield and also an official newspaper for Union County.

With all good regards,

Annual Fall Road Race To Be Held Labor Day

A five-mile run, a one-mile fun run and a children's 500-yard "kollipop run" are highlights of the 16th Annual Fall Classic Road Race to be held Labor Day, September 6, at Union County College.

Money raised will go toward the purchase of wheelchairs for Children's Specialized Hospital's Junior Wheelchair Team, known as the "Lightning Wheels." The team won a total of 78 medals and established 13 national records in track and field and swimming enroute to being named the outstanding team competing at the National Junior Wheelchair Championships in Columbus, Ohio.

The event will take place at the college's Cranford Campus and will mark the second consecutive year that the Fall Classic, hosted by the Central Jersey Road Runners Club, will be sanctioned as a New Jersey-United States Amateur Track and Field Grand Prix Event.

The day's festivities, which will begin at 8 a.m., offer something for the entire family, including face painting, a puppet show and helium balloons sponsored by Union County Family.

A sports massage team will provide free massages to all participants, while the New Jersey Chiropractic Society

Sports Council will provide pre-event evaluations, sports-specific stretching and injury prevention tips.

A variety of food items will also be distributed including fresh fruit, bagels and gift certificates for free pizza. Frozen yogurt will be provided to participants.

Split timekeepers stocked with spring water and a sports drink will be stationed at every mile.

A hotel will award gift certificates to the lead finishing male and female runners from Cranford and Kenilworth as well as to the lead male and female finishers.

Runners will compete in divisions of 14 and under, 15-19, 20-24, 25-29, 30-34, 35-39, 40-44, 45-49, 50-59, 60-69 and 70 and over. In addition, two division Clydesdale categories have been added for the five-mile run, including 200-219 and 220 and over for the men and 140-159 and 160 and over for the women.

Runners who sign up by August 28, will receive Fall Classic T-shirts.

Entrance fees are $10 for advance or $12 for walk-in registrations. Children 14 and under may register for $8.

Advance registrations or additional information may be obtained by contacting race director, Dr. Bill Bonsall, at 654-9228.

Fall Registration Slated For Recreation Programs

Ginger Rachko, a local instructor, will again conduct arts and crafts classes for boys and girls in grades 3 through 6 in the Brunner School's Art Room starting October 5. Classes will begin at 3:30 and end at 4:45 p.m. Registration at $5 each for residents starts September 13; non-residents can register at $10 each starting September 20. Class size is severely limited.

The fee is $20 for residents and $25 for non-residents, payable in Room No. 113 of the Municipal Building starting on September 13.

Town Chess Club Meets Every Sunday Night at 'Y'

Since Bobby Fischer beat Boris Spassky in Iceland in 1972, became World Chess Champion and then disappeared into oblivion, the chess world has been looking for its next young star. The search may go no further than the Westfield Chess Club.

Every Sunday night the Westfield "Y" hosts New Jersey's strongest chess club. It's not unusual to find International Grandmasters competing with the local players in action chess tournaments.

With such strong competition it is not surprising that Westfield has produced three nationally-ranked youngsters. Jason Cohen, 14, Yaakov Norowitz, 11, and Tom Bartell, 10, are all in the top 25 in their age categories and moving up fast. Recently Cohen scored six wins in the United States Open Chess Tournament and Norowitz scored six wins in the World Open Chess Tournament.

The three are expected to meet in the club's fall tournaments, and there is much anticipation to see who will become the club's Junior champion.

In addition to world class competition the club also provides chess lessons to beginner and intermediate players. Eugene Shapiro and Todd Lunna, the club's two strongest resident masters are always available to analyze a complicated position or game strategy.

Several time club champion Ernest Labate is always ready to meet the challenges of young players seeking to take his crown. Dr. Richard Lewis, who teaches and coaches at several local schools, has been tutoring Norowitz for the past year. International Grandmaster Michael Rohde has been lecturing on the World Championship matches, giving keen and subtle insight into the tactics of the positions.

New members are welcome to attend chess club events every Sunday at the Westfield "Y," Ferris Place, Westfield, at 6:30 p.m.

Muhlenberg Sets Walkathon, Kids Fun Run, Health Fair

Miles for Muhlenberg, a five-mile walkathon, children's fun run and free health fair sponsored by Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center, will be held Sunday, September 19, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., rain or shine.

Proceeds from the fund raising event will benefit Muhlenberg's Adult Medical Day Care program.

"The Adult Medical Day Care Center provides care, support, companionship and counseling for elderly and handicapped adults who require supervision during daytimes hours," said a spokesman for the hospital. "The walkathon will support us in providing this service."

Brochures with complete information and applications for the fund raising event are available by calling the Muhlenberg Foundation at 668-2025. T-shirts will be given to the first 250 pre-registrants.

The walkathon will begin and end at the Muhlenberg Employee Parking Lot at Randolph Road and Park Avenue. The fee is $5, if you register prior to the event, and $7 on the day of the walk.

The Children's Fun Run, consisting of 50-, 75- and 100-yard dashes for youngsters aged 4 to 10, will be held at the Plainfield High School Track on Randolph Road. There is a $3 registration fee for one child and $5 for two or more children.

The health fair, to be held in the employee parking lot adjacent to the walkathon start/finish line, features a blood pressure screening, nutritional information and more. Your Favorite Purple Dinosaur and Sparky the Fire Dog will be attendance.

The Union County Department of Public Safety — Comprehensive Safety Program will provide car seat and bike inspections as well as supply water bottles, sweatbands and school kits to the first 50 youngsters. The Plainfield Police will fingerprint children and hand out emergency identification cards. The Plainfield Fire Department will discuss fire safety and display a fire truck.

If you suddenly became financially independent via lottery or inheritance, what would you do regarding employment?

- Work part-time 22%
- Never work again 18%
- Work full-time at a different job 4%

If You Became Rich Overnight, Would You Work?

At one time or another, we've all dreamed of winning the lottery or inheriting millions from a long-lost relative. But if it really happened would we still show up at our same old jobs in the morning? Most of us would not.

According to an Accountants on Call national poll conducted by the Gallup Organization, Inc., most employees say they would continue to work, but just three in 10, or 27 per cent, say they would work full-time at the same job. A similar proportion, 28 per cent, say they would start their own business, and approximately one in five, 22 per cent, would opt for part-time work. A number of American workers would call it quits; 18 per cent report they would never work again. Just four per cent say they would work full-time at a different line of work. One per cent of respondents had no answer.

The new survey on Reaction to Financial Independence is part of Accountants on Call's ongoing "Profiles of the American Worker" series which summarizes the opinions, attitudes and behavior of employed Americans concerning workplace issues.

For the survey, full- and part-time workers were asked the following: "If you suddenly became financially independent by winning the lottery or receiving an inheritance, would you continue to work full-time at the same job, work full-time at a different line of work, work part time, start your own business, or never work again?"

Women and men would react differently if they suddenly became wealthy. Men are more likely than women to say they would start their own business, 34 per cent to 21 per cent, while women are more likely than men to state that they would work part time, 28 per cent to 17 per cent.

A life of leisure seems most appealing to the most experienced segment of the work force. Employees 50 and over are more likely than younger workers to report that they would never work again, 31 per cent

Union Greek Festival Set For September 10, 11 and 12

You don't have to be Greek to love dancing in the aisles. This is just one of the activities promised at the upcoming St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church Festival scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 10, 11 and 12. The church parishioners are inviting you to come and share a bit of Greek culture by experiencing the hospitality, traditions and mouth-watering foods of Greece. The three-day affair, which will offer guests the food, music, crafts and the spirit of Greece, will be held under huge tents on the church grounds at 721 Rahway Avenue, Union.

The basement kitchens at the St. Demetrios Church have been filled for months as parishioners pool their culinary talents to prepare the Greek food that will once again be the main focus of the festival. In fact, upon reading the festival menu, one can safely conclude that a gastronomic adventure awaits all those who will to 15 per cent. Workers under 50 years of age, especially those under 40, are more likely than older employees to say they would want to start their own business if they became financially independent.

By occupation, those in professional and business occupations are more likely than those in clerical and sales positions to say they would continue to work full-time at the same job, 33 per cent to 18 per cent.

Interestingly, there were no significant differences in responses by education or income, nor were there any variations by marital status.

This survey is based upon telephone interviews with a representative sample of 668 adults, 18 years of age and older, who are employed either full or part time. Interviews were conducted by Gallup between June 14 and 21. The margin of sampling error associated with this survey is plus or minus four percentage points.

With over 50 offices nationwide, Accountants on Call is currently the country's second largest specialist in the placement of temporary and permanent accounting and bookkeeping personnel.

Better than a house call, MedPlex Diagnostic Medical Centre will call on the whole town to be street-wise when visiting Westfield's FestiFall. A portion of their Early Detection Programs will be available free of charge to anyone stopping by their booth.

This "Silent Killers Program" will provide three critically important health screenings that could save your life. Visitors will have an opportunity to consult with MedPlex's Board Certified Physician and staff and receive a test for hypertension and a pulmonary function test, all in under five minutes.

In addition, a cholesterol screening may be had at their Westfield office, also free of charge. Be sure to take their "Death Denial Index," designed to drive home the importance of receiving regular physical examinations.

MedPlex is located at 523 Westfield Avenue in Westfield and their information line is 1-800-MED-CONSULT.

Safety Council Offers Warnings for School

This month is "Back to School" time and the New Jersey State Safety Council offers the following tips to parents of young children returning on foot, bicycle or bus to help ensure their safe arrival.

Walkers: Choose the safest route to school and walk it with your child prior to the first day until he is thoroughly familiar with it. Walk on the sidewalk. If none exists, keep to the left and walk facing approaching traffic. Cross at corners or crosswalks. Always stop first. Look left, right and left again for approaching traffic and keep on looking while crossing. Pedestrian accidents are the leading cause of death and serious injury to children aged 5 to 9.

Last year, 950 pedestrians from infants to 14 years old were killed and 26,800 seriously injured in traffic accidents nationwide. Twenty-two died in New Jersey.

Cyclists: Plan a safe route away from fast-moving traffic. Teach children to follow the rules of the road, riding to the right with traffic and heeding all traffic signs and signals. State law requires all cyclists under age 14 to wear approved bicycle helmets. Each year, 400 children are killed in bicycle accidents nationwide. Last year, four cyclists under age 14 died in New Jersey.

School Bus Passengers: Teach children to avoid horseplay and use caution when approaching or leaving bus-loading zones. Most school bus-related fatalities occur at these times. Instruct youngsters to cross at least 10 feet in front of the bus so the driver sees them, and only enter the road if the driver signals it is safe to cross. Teach children to stay seated on the bus, buckling up if safety seats exist. State law now requires the presence and use of seat belts on all new school buses. During the 1991-1992 school year, 35 students were killed and 8,300 injured in school-bus accidents nationwide. Two children were killed in New Jersey during the 1992-1993 school year.

For more information on back to school safety, please telephone the Council at 272-7712.

Town Methodists Renovate Homes of Poor in New York

Seven teenagers and three adults from the First United Methodist Church of Westfield traveled to Bath in Steuben County, New York during the week of July 11-17 to participate in the Risingville Intercommunity Service Effort. They were Lynnda Warwick, Virginia Sweet, Thomas Sweet, Sr. and Thomas Sweet, Jr. from North Plainfield, Christy Santo from Fanwood, Rebecca Stavenick, Kiri France, Mr. and Mrs. David Bercaw, and Robert Anderson, all from Westfield.

surrounding counties. This year the organization decided to do their repair work on homes in Steuben County.

Once in Bath, the Westfielders were split into two groups. One was assigned to build a ramp for a handicapped person. The other group tore down an addition to a home.

The Methodist Church began its preparation for this mission project last February. Team members were recruited and projects were planned to finance the venture. The principal fund raiser was the RISE-a-Thon held in Tamaques Park. After lining up sponsors, church members walked, roller bladed, bicycled or jogged around the park for three hours. Sufficient funds were raised to fully underwrite the cost of the trip.

Church member, Robert Moore, taught team members a number of building skills. These included how to use a hand saw, a hammer and a power saw. The volunteers also learned how to lift a bucket up to a roof and how to lower it back down as well as how to safely climb up and down a ladder.

The Risingville Effort works to ease the housing crisis by rehabilitating homes whose owners cannot afford to do it themselves. Whatever is necessary is done from tearing down to rebuilding. The group, which is staffed entirely by volunteers, is stationed in Risingville and serves the

Special Household Waste to Be Collected September 11

Residents will have a chance to help save the environment and get rid of unwanted household special waste by participating in the Union County Utilities Authority's household special waste disposal day.

The event will be held on Saturday, September 11, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the New Providence Department of Public Works, Park Place, New Providence.

There is no cost to participate in this program; however, pre-registration with the authority is required.

The event is open to Union County residents only, and proof of residency must be provided.

This is an opportunity for county residents to dispose of certain materials that they should not discard with other household waste, Chairwoman, Mrs. Helen Miller, said.

Only materials in their original containers will be accepted. Acceptable materials include oil based paints and varnishes, pool chemicals, corrosives and cleaners, pesticides and herbicides, caustics, solvents, thinners, aerosol cans, automotive products, batteries and propane tanks.

Unknown or unidentified materials, explosives, radioactive materials, gas cylinders and materials containing PCBs will not be accepted.

This event is the three of six household special waste disposal days that will be held throughout Union County this year.

For more information and to register, one call call the authority at 351-8770, Extension No. 29.

The population of the U.S. increased by an estimated 22,167,670 between 1980 and 1990.

At present, the average year, as reckoned by the Gregorian calendar used in almost all the world today, is about 26.3 seconds longer than the solar year. If not adjusted by the year 4136 it will have gained one year on the sun.
