PROJECTED COMPLETION DATE SCHEDULED FOR THE END OF NEXT YEAR

Officials Unveil $3,400,000 Financing For Building the Second Senior Complex

Town Planning Facilities for Its Elderly Residents Since 1960s; This One Mapped Since First One Was Filled; Tax Credits From Federal Government, Surplus Service Dollars From First Building Help to Fund New One

By ROBERT R. FASZCZEWSKI
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

The town's second senior citizen housing project, with 130 units of low-income housing, was officially launched on Thursday with the signing of agreements to finance and construct the new facility on Boynton Avenue.

Chemical Bank New Jersey is providing the $3,400,000 construction loan, and when the building is completed, with a projected date near the end of next year, the loan will be paid off and replaced with a permanent mortgage loan from Summit Bank.

Introducing the speakers at Thursday's ceremony, Mrs. Ruth B. Smith, the Executive Director of the Westfield Senior Citizens Housing Corporation, noted many of the senior citizens at the ceremony were residents of the first complex, which was opened in 1978, and the long waiting list for seniors seeking apartments in the original structure gave impetus to the construction of the second complex.

Preliminary site-clearing work on the new facility began in the middle of last month, and the foundation work currently is underway.

The construction work began after the project was granted federal low-income housing tax credits by the New Jersey Mortgage Finance Agency acting on behalf of the federal government.

Relating some of the history of the project, Matthew Sheehy, the President of the second Westfield Senior Citizens Housing Corporation, called the project a "miracle in the making."

Planning for the second facility started about five years ago thanks to the "driving force" behind the project, Albert Wiegman, a member of the board for the first facility, Mr. Sheehy said.

The town's consultant on the second project, the New York City Partnership, provided "a background in housing, competence in dealing with government and private industry and the brilliance to teach us how to deal with the project at all levels," he added.

The Housing Finance Agency was a great deal of help also, Mr. Sheehy said, often acting "as much as a private entity rather than a government agency."

He complimented Forest City Ratner, the developers of the project, for bringing in Swanke Hayden Connell, a world-renowned architectural firm, to design the second facility, and the participation of investors, such as Chemical and Summit and Midlantic Bank, with local branches, and the interests from as far away as Virginia and South Carolina in bringing the "miracle" to fruition by the end of 1994.

Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr. ran down an extensive history of both complexes, going back to the late 1960s and the early 1970s when a committee was created by then-Mayor Donn Snyder, on which Mr. Boothe was asked to serve.

That committee, according to the Mayor was well along on a first facility to be financed under a mortgage-subsidy program known as Section No. 236 when President Richard M. Nixon put the project on hold for two years while he struggled with a budget problem.

Congress then enacted the new Section No. 8 rent-subsidy program, the Mayor continued, and the first Westfield project was one of the first in New Jersey to take advantage of the new program because those in the town planning that project had continued working on planning it throughout the freeze.

The first building, the Mayor noted, has been in existence for 15 years and the average age of the tenants in that facility is 85 years old.

Efforts to build a second facility began, the town's chief executive added, as soon as the first facility was filled and the waiting list "went out of sight."

Mayor Richard H. Bagger appointed a committee to plan the second project in 1990, Mayor Boothe noted, and that group was composed of the board of the first project, Town Council members and other residents.

That committee investigated all the alternatives, he said, and chose the federal tax-credit program with the help of the New York City Partnership.

The problem, however, was the program had expired and Congress had not renewed it, and a renewal was included in a tax bill vetoed by President George Bush last year.

Representative Robert D. Franks and other representatives of the town in Congress assured Westfield officials the credits would come back and the committee continued to work on the project.

When tax credits were again made law on August 8, passing by a single vote in Congress, Mayor Boothe noted, the preliminary work had been done by the development team and the council.

Headed he would look forward to the opening of the project as part of the celebration of the Bicentennial of the Township of Westfield.

Firefighters, Policemen Object to Statements By Town Officials on Early-Retirement Plan

Unions Say Proposals Would Have Saved Westfield Money; Mayor: Issue Has Been Thoroughly Discussed

Editor's Note: The following is a copy of a press release submitted to The Westfield Leader by members of Westfield Local No. 30 of the Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association and Westfield Local No. 90 of the Policemen's Benevolent Association regarding discussions about the early-retirement plan. Because of the controversial statements made about comments of Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr. and Town Council Personnel Policy Committee Chairman James Hely The Leader contacted both gentlemen for responses to go with the story. Councilman Hely said he will respond in a letter to the editor in a future issue and the comments of Mayor Boothe follow the press release.

Concerning your front-page article from December 16 on Town Council business the firefighter and police officer unions in Westfield would like to present our responses to what we consider misleading statements by officials on the early-retirement incentive program.

We have shown, using salary figures now in place and with slight projected raises, the town actually would save money by allowing the three long-serving town employees to retire.

This savings is based on the difference between the rate of salary for a 25-year employee versus the salary for probationary firefighters or police officers.

It is our position that within a four-to-five-year period this program would pay for itself.

The town's obligation to pay the New Jersey State Division of Pensions for this benefit is not due until 1998. Therefore, the program could have saved all money needed without an out-of-pocket expenditure from the Westfield taxpayers. This same basic formula was used to fund the early retirement program for the administrative people.

We totally disagree with Mayor Boothe's assessment Westfield taxpayers "10 to 15 years from now" will be footing the bill. This just is not true.

Personnel Policy Committee Chairman James Hely claims, "The town would have to provide health benefits for the early retirees until they reach age 65."

With this statement Councilman Hely insinuates this would be an additional expense to the town. This also is untrue.

Under our contracts with the Town of Westfield, when a member reaches the retirement criteria of the State and the town, he is allowed to retire.

With this retirement, the member is eligible to receive health benefits until reaching age 65. This is not an additional benefit of this program.

It is our position with each retirement of a long-serving employee of the town, the savings to the Town of Westfield would increase.

Mayor Boothe was quoted in your article as saying, "The council was more willing to allow the participation of administrative personnel in the program because they had given up about $50,000 in salary increments in return for participation."

We would like to let all the citizens know the Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association and the Policemen's Benevolent Association also were willing to give up the exact same benefit the administrative people did for this program, and similar savings would have been realized.

The Town Council did infer they would be willing to pass the early retirement incentive program if both the police and firemen would give up one additional benefit they now enjoy. By wishing to open our contracts on just one issue, and yet not be willing to discuss any other issues in our contracts, the Town Council came dangerously close to an unfair labor practice.

It is our contention the council could have offered the early-retirement program to its police and fire personnel and saved the town money.

It would have allowed our more experienced personnel the same retirement benefit that was offered to the administrative people.

Although their action saddens the members of Local No. 90 and Local No. 30, we all will continue to work diligently to keep our town safe from the dangers of crime and fire.

Art Gallery Opening In Town

Funds Raised Will Help Workshop With Stipends

To celebrate the grand opening of The Westfield Art Gallery at the New Jersey Workshop for the Arts at 152 East Broad Street on December 19 Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr. designated December 19 through 25 as Holidays with the Arts Week.

"The grand-opening was a terrific success," Dr. Theodore K. Schlosberg, the Director, said. "More than 100 people came and five of the 18 paintings were sold."

The gallery's share of proceeds from sales will go toward scholarships for students who could not participate in the various non-profit arts-education programs offered by the workshop without financial aid.

Last year, the workshop was unable to raise enough funds to honor all requests for scholarships.

"The funds raised from the gallery will help us meet future demands for scholarship assistance, to expand our programming and to continue our growth," Dr. Schlosberg said.

The gallery is open every weekday from 3:30 to 6 p.m., 3:30 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays and on weekends from 1 to 4 p.m.

Works of a different local artist will be exhibited every month.

"The gallery not only will provide a place where people can linger for awhile and enjoy the works of local artists," Dr. Schlosberg said, "it also will help raise funds needed to give children the chance to experience the magic that comes alive when tapping into one's own sense of creativity."

The New Jersey Workshop for the Arts, a non-profit arts organization that provides children and adults with year-round instruction in acting, dance, music and painting, evolved from The Westfield Summer Workshop established in 1972.

The workshop oversees the Westfield Workshop for the Arts, Union County Music Theater, the Music Studio, The Art Studio, The Dance Studio, The Drama Studio, the Westfield Fencing Club and the Gallery.

For more information about the workshop, please telephone 789-9696.

Attorney in Town Maintains Civil War History Through Wall-to-Wall Art Collection in Home

Additions to His 'Exhibition' Have Been Commissioned by Him or Acquired Throughout the Years

The history of the era of the Civil War is being kept alive by Westfield resident Daniel Covine, who has a collection of about 225 paintings on topics surrounding the war in his home.

Approximately one fifth of Mr. Covine's collection, 40 paintings, recently was exhibited in the Tomasulo Gallery of Union County College in Cranford.

Mr. Covine is an amateur historian with a particular interest in the conflict between the states and, starting in 1971, he made an agreement with Sidney E. King of Central Point, Virginia to have Mr. King paint Civil War scenes for him.

The Westfield resident's wife, Mrs. Suzanne Covine, a retired junior and senior high school teacher in Edison, is active in the college alumni association and serves on the Board of Trustees of the Union County College Foundation.

In addition to the paintings, Mr. and Mrs. Covine have decorated their home with Victorian-style furniture from the Civil War era which they have acquired over years of attending antique shows and auctions.

One recent acquisition is a bed that once belonged to a Confederate officer, General Lafayette Rosser. It was obtained from an auction sponsored by General Rosser's granddaughter.

Also purchased at that auction was one of the General's swords.

A painting was commissioned by the Covines of the General taking the sword from a federal officer to be kept as a memento of the battles of the war in the Shenandoah Valley.

Also included in Mr. Covine's collection is a life-size portrait of General Robert E. Lee in which the General is pictured on a battlefield with a cannon and a flag.

It is similar to a portrait of the General done 10 days after the surrender of Confederate forces in 1865. That portrait shows the General on the back porch of his residence.

Still waiting to be added to the collection displayed in the Covine residence are life-size portraits of Abraham Lincoln and General Ulysses S. Grant, which the collector has not been able to hang due to lack of space.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Covine also have traveled up and down the Eastern seaboard in search of additions to their collection and Mr. Covine, an attorney, kept about 30 pieces at work

In 1984 the undergraduate engineering students raised $20,000 to endow a scholarship in his name. He received the university's student-nominated Sporn Award last year in recognition of outstanding teaching excellence in teaching engineering subjects.

SCOTLAND IN AMERICA...The Hamilton District Youth Theatre of Scotland, shown doing their award-winning production Numbers Up in London last year, will appear at Westfield High School on Friday, January 7.

Scottish Theater Group To Appear at High School

The Hamilton District Youth Theatre of Scotland will perform a double bill of musicals in the auditorium of Westfield High School on Friday, January 7.

The plays are the award-winning show, Numbers Up and Who Knows, a musical about Scottish school life. The group, which will be in Westfield from January 3 to 13, consists of 22 young people with four adult leaders.

Hamilton District Youth Theatre has a membership of just over 10 people between the ages of 8 and 18. The party which is visiting Westfield is made up of the older members of the group who are all between 14 and eighteen.

The theatre was started in 1989 by Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Annetts, who will be traveling with the group.

They recognized there was a big need in Hamilton for a high-quality theatrical experience for young people and, both having backgrounds in theater, with an emphasis in theater in Education, decided the best way to provide this experience was by the establishment of a youth theater for the district.

Hamilton District Council was approached, and with help from them in the form of lending of rehearsal and performance facilities and help with publicity the youth theater was formed.

From small beginnings and a small budget, the theater has grown greatly in a little over four years.

The need for the theater was quickly proven and the fate of the group sealed when, a little over a year after the group's setting up, the audiences so overflowed the group's 300-seat theater, it made the move into Hamilton Town Hall.

In 1991 the group was playing to audiences of nearly 6,000, and the figures still are rising, with the last production having a total attendance of over 7,000 people.

Last year, the Annetts decided to enter the group for the Barclays Awards for Youth Music Theatre, a national competition to find the best in British Musical Youth Theatre.

The group then was invited to take a trip to London to perform its show in the finals and walked off with the coveted award for the best original work.

Westfield was where Mr. Annetts had been an American Field Service student, graduating with the class of 1981.

The staff of the performing arts department of Westfield and James Beil helped plan the town appearance.

Donald E. Bleeke Gives Lecture on Violin Playing

At a recent "War Years Reunion" at the University of Miami, Donald E. Bleeke of Westfield was asked to lecture at a violin symposium in the University School of Music.

official publication of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, a national professional music fraternity.

Mr. Bleeke is one of the last surviving pupils of Dr. Joel Belov and Dr. Arnold Volpe, both of whom studied with Leopold Auer.

Dr. Belov played under Stowkowski in the Philadelphia and Dr. Volpe was the founder of the Lewisohn Stadium Concerts in New York City.

Mr. Bleeke taught violin at Wesley College in Dover, Delaware before coming to New Jersey in 1956 when he joined the Plainfield Symphony under the direction of Samuel Carmel, who played in the NBC orchestra under Toscanini.

Very few teachers of this era remain active in violin pedagogy.

Howard Beebe of Ohio Wesleyan and the Hungarian master teacher, Kato Havas, are, along with Mr. Bleeke, among the only teachers who understand how to teach violin and viola bowing techniques.

"All violinists should learn to play with the ease and passion of a true gypsy fiddler," Mr. Bleeke said.

'Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men' Should Be Observed Throughout Area

"And on earth peace, good will toward men" is the greeting both on the covers of The Westfield Leader and The Times and on the lips of many well-wishers this time of the year.

We are certain all our readers and officials in Westfield, Scotch Plains and Fanwood share these sentiments, but we are not so sure their actions of the past year totally reflect them.

All, we are sure, act in the best interests of their communities, but they are not always as understanding as they can be.

In Westfield, for example, several issues on which there have been several different points of view, have come before the Town Council.

Residents on both sides of these issues have often been impatient, impolite and sometimes narrow-minded, often failing to admit there might be another approach to a problem which differs from their own.

Some council members have looked upon every suggestion which differs from the accepted way of doing things in the town as irresponsible and even bizarre, while those presenting viewpoints which differ from those of the majority have not always been gracious in admitting their colleagues have listened to them but have decided to act otherwise.

In Scotch Plains, in both the Fire Department and trash-hauler controversies much of the same can be said.

Through memoranda and anonymous letters on one side and through what appears to be buck-passing on the other side problems which most likely could have been solved in short order with rational discussion seem to have taken on far too enormous proportions for far too long.

In Fanwood, although controversies have been few, a continuing feeling of animosity between some officials, especially between Mayor Stender and Councilman Andrew J. MacDonald, often have gone beyond polite partisan struggles.

This fall's Borough Council campaign was conducted at a very high level, and this spirit should infect all on the governing body for the New Year.

None of the above incidents are serious problems in our eyes, but we believe the pledge of a little less contentious attitude should be an easy resolution for all officials and residents to keep if they all remember we are working for the good of our communities.

County Alliance Seeks Rail Link To Airport Via Raritan Valley Line

At a meeting held in Westfield on December 16 to review proposed plans for the extension of a "people mover" and construction of a rail station opposite Newark International Airport, a Port Authority of New York and New Jersey consultant told Union County Alliance representatives, "Economic development was not our assignment."

The current proposal would extend the "automated people mover," now being constructed to connect Newark Airport terminals and parking facilities, to a rail station to be located on the Northeast Corridor railroad line.

However, by locating the rail station south of the point where it would meet the Raritan Valley Rail Line, Union County representatives claim the plan denies critically important access to residents and businesses in New Jersey's most promising economic development areas.

Failure to include the Raritan Valley Line also would cancel a vitally important opportunity to reduce traffic on the region's heavily-traveled highways — a challenge the state's western counties must find a way to meet by the end of 1994 if they are to comply with the recently-passed federal Clean Air Act.

Alternatives to the original plan were considered by officials and consultants of the Federal Aviation Administration, the Port Authority, New Jersey Transit and the New Jersey Department of Transportation following a November 23 meeting with the Union County Alliance and officials and legislators representing Union, Warren, Hunterdon and Somerset Counties.

In a presentation of their findings at the December 16 meeting, Port Authority consultant Richard Walsted of Stone and Webster explained the costs and technical difficulties of relocating the station and outlined plans that could be considered to transport people from Raritan Valley trains to the airport.

But, in response to questions about how much thought had been given to economic-development considerations in designing the original plans, Mr. Walsted said, "Economic development is not our job."

However, New Jersey's legislative leaders seem to view the matter in somewhat broader terms.

In a letter dated December 1 to Federal Aviation Administration Planning and Programming Branch Chairman Anthony Spera, State Senate President Donald T. DiFrancesco and Assemblymen Richard H. Bagger and Alan M. Augustine, who represent Westfield, Scotch Plains and Fanwood, endorsed a plan suggested by alliance members to move the proposed station about a half mile north of the site now in the plan.

They noted "development of the new station on the existing rail line would provide access to Newark Airport for those who live and work in Union, Somerset and Hunterdon Counties," and would, "greatly improve the convenience of mass-transit access to New Jersey's only international airport."

In his letter of December 1 to Port Authority Executive Director Stanley Brezenoff, New Jersey General Assembly Speaker Garabed "Chuck" Haytaian said a resolution by Hunterdon County Freeholders calling for the interfacing of the Raritan Valley line with the proposed Northeast Corridor station his "full support."

Speaker Haytaian went on to say, "New Jersey has a very real need to improve its railway system in order to relieve the heavily congested roadways in our state."

Alliance Chairman Kenneth L. Estabrook, whose firm Lindabury, McCormick & Estabrook of Westfield, hosted the December 16 meeting, said it is "high time government officials reject the temptation to operate within the closed walls of their own individual responsibilities and start dealing with the 'big picture.'"

It is clear to everyone involved, Mr. Estabrook said, "a workable, acceptable plan for the linkage of the Raritan Valley line is vital to the urgently-needed economic development of the region and to the long-term prosperity of Central New Jersey."

Mr. Estabrook noted the December 16 meeting is just one of what will be a series of conferences the Alliance will host with county, state and federal officials and they will continue until a workable settlement of the matter has been developed.

Resolutions That May Be Kept

By LOUIS H. CLARK
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader and The Times

There are going to be no impossible New Year's resolutions for me.

This year I'm not going to say I'll put on a roof all by myself or I'll stop drinking beer or learn how to control my face when I get a good hand at poker. These are not going to be resolutions anyway. They're going to be goals I can attain.

For instance, all the prophets of doom are saying by the time my youngest is ready for college the cost will run as high as $50,000 a year.

I plan to start a side business which won't take up any of my time at all. This is a clever one. I will put a hand-cream dispenser into every ladies' room in the county; then the state, then who knows how far this youth-dispensing idea can spread.

The money? Every time a woman finishes washing her hands she'll put a quarter into the dispenser in order to get a good supply of hand cream to keep her hands soft.

Of course, the whole business will have to be handled by my wife. First because she's a better administrator than I am. Secondly I can't be going in and out of ladies' rooms for obvious reasons. So we'll get the money. My wife will do the work and I'll claim credit for the idea itself. That's called organizing.

Sometime this year I am going to take a whole week's sick leave and really clean out the basement and the garage. Every time I look for an extra piece of wire or a certain tool I can never find them.

After the need is gone — because I borrowed the tool from a neighbor or bought the wire — there they are staring me in the face. I am going to put up a pegboard so I can hang up tools and things I bought 10 years ago and have never used. Just knowing they are at hand will make me feel I have done something worthwhile.

I am going to listen to my wife more often. Inadvertently she just gave me an idea which may mean promotion. When we sit down to dinner at night everyone tells everyone what's happened to them during the day starting with my youngest and progressing to my wife and/or me.

When my wife's turn came up the other night she said, "I got even with Helen Santos today. She was going to start another one of her long-winded proclamations with me about nutrition."

You know what I did? I smiled as widely as I could and said "Helen, you are really looking stunning today." For the first time since I've known her Helen actually blushed and said "Thank You" and I didn't hear a word about Beta Carotene or organic vegetables or the horrors of M.S.G.

That gave me an idea. That's what I'm going to do at the office. Of course, I'm not going to tell the big boss, or even any of the little bosses, how beautiful they are. Instead of bitching all the time I'll only do it once in a while. The astonishment will kill them.

Letters to the Editor

Colin Ferguson Alone Responsible For Carnage on the Railroad

I am responding to the racially-charged remarks expressed in Sam Freeman's letter to the Editor last week.

Mr. Freeman writes, "It seems to be true the person who caused the Long Island Railroad carnage was influenced by the lynch atmosphere generated by a member of the Jeffries-Sharpton axis."

Yet the writer cites no examples to buttress his accusation against Professor Leonard Jeffries and/or the Reverend Al Sharpton, because there are none to be found.

Then Mr. Freeman goes a step further by asking if perhaps "punishment" should be meted out once it is determined "which individual in the spectrum of the Axis" of "the 'right on, brother' fraternity" is "responsible for having generated this lynch spirit."

Here is a classic case of projection. Mr. Freeman falsely accuses legitimate leadership in the clergy and university for creating the very mentality he himself demonstrates toward them.

The Reverend Sharpton preaches a message of non-violence and is actively anti-drug and pro-family.

Professor Jeffries is the Chairman of African Studies at City College and an authority on African history and culture.

That these two also have dared to address the racism and injustice that exists in our society has resulted in a smear and distortion campaign against them, particularly on hate radio, where racism thrives on a daily basis. Notwithstanding, I have some profound disagreements with both of them.

Colin Ferguson alone is totally responsible for the carnage he perpetrated on the Long Island Railroad.

Firemen Thanked For Aiding Museum Staff

Several weeks ago vandals cut the rope on the flagpole at the Miller Cory House Museum in Westfield and left our flag in the driveway.

We are unable to take care of the flagpole because we did not have the necessary equipment.

We needed help and along came members of the Westfield Fire Department and their 100-foot ladder truck.

In what seemed only minutes the pole was taken care of and "Old Glory" was flying as it always should be.

The Board of Governors and the volunteers of The Miller Cory House Museum extend their hearty thanks to the members of the Westfield Fire Department for their assistance.

Mayor Papen Reviews Her Year in Office

By MAYOR, MRS. JOAN PAPEN

It has happened again, another year is gone.

Where does the time go?

I know I could certainly use an eight-day week. Municipal government is becoming busier every year.

No sooner is one thing resolved, then something else pops up; and this doesn't count the normal day-to-day business. One thing for sure, it's never dull.

We have taken a big step forward with our downtown business district. We have amended some of our ordinances which are now more business friendly and also will improve the facades.

The high school Distributive Education Clubs of America students, working with our Short-Range Downtown Committee, have updated our downtown survey in which a large percentage of our residents took the time to participate.

Next month, we will invite the business community to meet and review your comments.

Recipe for Life Comes From Jupiter

The Rx symbol for medical prescriptions, a capital R with a dark line through the right leg, is used by the pharmaceutical and medical professions.

Its history can be traced all the way back to ancient Rome.

According to The Dictionary of Phrase and Fable, the dash through the leg of the R is a shortened version of the symbol for Jupiter, the most highly regarded of the Roman gods.

Rx was simply an abbreviation for recipe, deo volente and translated as, "god (Jupiter) protects all medicine."

The Latin word recipe meaning "take (it back)," was originally a medical formula.

Receipt is akin to recipe and is nothing more than the past participle of the Latin verb recipere, which is defined as something taken back to prove delivery.

If this Rx does not help your intellectual malaise, we suggest you take two Word Sleuth essays and call your doctor in the morning.

Parents unable to assist, but who believe in the school's philosophy of "learning through play," may opt to have a paid aide assist in their place.

For more information, please telephone the school at 233-4501.

Volunteers Needed For Forestry Club

Throughout Union County, there are many youth who would like to learn about forestry. They'd like to learn how to identify trees, tell how high a tree is, about forestry as a career, how forests are managed for lumber and paper production.

Those interested in learning and teaching a group of six to ten 14-to-18-year-olds about this subject, please call James Nychadowicz, the Union County 4-H Agent, at 654-9854.

The 4-H could provide a room for meetings, reference books and, possibly, a Student Assistant from Rutgers University.

Risks of an Aspirin Per Day May Outweigh Any Benefits

As a nurse in New York City, I see many outpatients in the tri-state area, and I have become aware some adults who have no cardiovascular problems at present have taken it on themselves to take an aspirin a day to prevent future heart attacks.

I feel compelled to let the public know at present the benefit from taking an aspirin a day in a healthy adult is under investigation.

However, the risks are well known. Because aspirin prolongs the bleeding time, over a long period of time gastrointestinal bleeding may occur.

There also is evidence a stroke, caused by bleeding into the brain, may occur.

People who are advised to take an aspirin a day by their doctor also have their blood monitored to alert the doctor if the clotting of the blood is dangerously prolonged.

I would recommend those who are taking an aspirin a day and have not been advised to do so, wait until the benefit for the healthy population becomes clear and until the optimum dose for that population is determined.

And finally, do not take a daily aspirin without being supervised by a doctor.

At present, an aspirin a day is for people who already have a problem. For them, the risks and the benefits have been weighed.

Mayor Asks for Comments On Goethals Bridge Twinning

The Union County Chamber of Commerce has asked me for comments regarding the proposed twinning of the Goethals Bridge by the Port Authority. A task force has been formed under the auspices of the Union County Alliance and the Union County Chamber of Commerce.

The Alliance has spoken at the scoping meeting conducted by the New Jersey Coast Guard and is considering future steps.

I have been asked for any feedback, positive or negative, on this project and how it will interact with future plans of Westfield. The alliance wants to be sure all issues of concern are addressed.

A committee meeting was scheduled for December 27 and we have until Friday, January 7, to make any further comments.

Persons interested can write me at Town Hall or call 789-4046, or contact the Alliance, Charles F. Sales, Jr., President, at 352-0900, fax 352-0865, whose mailing address is Union County Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 300, Elizabeth, 07207.

POPCORN™
Beethoven 2nd Puts
Another Leash on Laughter
 By Michael Goldberger

While every dog has his day, Movieland especially ensures yet another go at it if said canine's first appearance spelled success at the box office.

And so it is with Beethoven, whose premiere performance rang many happy cash registers for the music lovers at Universal.

Unfortunately, Director Rod Daniel rests primarily on the laurels of the original film; fortunately, writer Len Blum is able to strike a chord that will spell a pleasing experience for the 11-and-under crowds; unfortunately, there's not much in the formulaic doggie doings that will please the pushing-30 and approaching-40 gang who, more likely than not, will accompany the clamoring chief beneficiaries of this unabashedly cloying confection. Fortunately, Producer Ivan Reitman doesn't allow the full effects of sequelitis to infect the scenario, forcing the filmmakers to gift the albeit second-class follow-up with at least some cinema soul of its own.

return for full custody of Missy, our roving, spring-smitten Beethoven has instituted proceedings of his own.

Fast-forward a respectable period of gestation and, viola! ... born is the sort of cute quotient that even threatened the comic certitude of W.C. Fields.

To his credit, Charles Grodin reprises with panache the very limited but not inconsequential character of George Newton, fragrance factory entrepreneur, loving dad, and too often put-upon, originally reluctant master of Beethoven.

Through a normal set of familiar contrivances, the Newton children abscond with the four cuddly cherubs before pedal-pusher-attired Regina even knows she's a grandmother.

Naturally, their first ploy is to hide the loveable furballs.

However, ultimately, there must come the inevitable scene when George has to be told what Beethoven hath wrought. After all, isn't this about how much we can test a parent's love by trying his or her limitations?

Practically snapping the needle on the precious meter is the introduction of Beethoven's four — count 'em, four — offspring. They are the products of the movie's primary thrust, a birds-and-the-bees dedication to the pairing off of each species on this Earth, and of course that includes slobbering St. Bernards like the title character and his newly found object de coeur, Missy.

Eventually, the three slot machine cherries click to position in ratty Regina's brain. Not only will she continue to hold Missy ransom in the hope of attracting big alimony bucks — a spin-off business figures on the sale of the puppies, if she can wrest them from the kids.

Regina and a flunkie boyfriend whose sheer idiocy matches her cartoon-like malevolence comprise the only real storyline impetus. George's now-perennial attempt to gain some capital for expansion of his sweet-smelling product line is tossed in haphazardly, and there's a perfunctory sub-plot concerning teen-aged daughter Ryce's romantic dilemma: The handsome rake versus an average-looking but likable, down-to-Earth sort. Basic moral maxims are dispensed wholesale.

But, recognizing the apparent cynicism of this sequel-beleaguered column, objectivity demands at least a fair shake of the paw for Beethoven's 2nd.

Truth be told, the high-mindedness of sincere artistic evaluation and its cultural ambitions must be placed in suspended animation when confronted with a good-natured mediocrity that so gladdens the hearts of our youngsters.

In that respect, Beethoven's 2nd scampers to a first place.

Threatening at the notion of a plot, screenwriter Blum introduces the viewer to a humorously despicable villain, Regina, played with dis and dem elocution by Debi Mazar.

She is patterned after the sub-culture princess of lower middle-class clout that Mia Farrow so ingeniously developed in Broadway Danny Rose; another version of the Brooklyn-Jersey-Long Island template was beautifully realized by Marisa Tomei in My Cousin Vinnie.

Here, Miss Mazar puts a very mean spin on the type. Mistress to Missy following a marriage breakup, Regina is merely keeping the lass hostage, hoping for a big divorce settlement from the dog lover who was fool enough to marry her in the first place.

While nasty Regina is waiting for the judge to award her all manner of wealth in

Word Sleuth to Speak
To Westfield Seniors

John D. Jacobson, also known as the Word Sleuth, will speak before residents of the Westfield Senior Housing at 1133 Boynton Avenue, Westfield, on Thursday, January 6, at 3 p.m.

John D. Jacobson

The Word Sleuth has developed his fascination with words into a second career as an etymologist, one who studies the origins of words and phrases.

In addition to a weekly newspaper column on word origins co-authored by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Jacobson, which appears in The Westfield Leader and The Times, Mr. Jacobson has written a book entitled Topostaurus: A Humorous Treasury of Toponyms. The book focuses on words that come from placenames the world over. There are two additional books in the publishing hopper, as well, according to The Word Sleuth.

His second book, Eatiums, traces the origins and meanings of such words and phrases as humble pie, baker's dozen, moxie, cold shoulder, and hundreds of other eatiums, a new word coined by The Word Sleuth, combining eat and idiom.

Eatiums, focuses on the origins of words.

His talks combine history, trivia and etymology interspersed with his special brand of humor. He will sign his books for those who want to buy them or who already have them.

Mr. Jacobson's talk, entitled

Plains-Fanwood UNICO
Hosts Christmas Party

The Scotch Plains-Fanwood Chapter of Unity, Neighborliness, Integrity, Charity and Opportunity (UNICO) hosted its 17th annual Christmas party for the students of McAuley School on December 19, at the Italian-American Club in Scotch Plains.

Over 250 people, including students, parents and staff from the school, as well as Unicos and guests, attended the four-hour affair.

The children were treated to a show by Barney the Purple Dinosaur. Music and entertainment was provided by disc jockey Angelo Pompeo.

One of the highlights of the afternoon was the singing of the song, We Are the World when everyone stood with the children in a huge circle, arm in arm, singing and swaying.

The grand finale was the arrival of Santa Claus to the theme from Rocky. Santa presented each child with a personalized shopping bag filled with toys.

Food for the day was home-made pasta and meatballs and salad prepared by a food committee headed by Mrs. Eileen DiNizo as well as hot dogs. Dessert was a decorated sheet cake.

Special guests included Scotch Plains Mayor, Mrs. Joan Papen, and Council members, William McClintock and Alan M. Augustine. Unico National President John Botti also was present and joined in the festivities.

The McAuley School is located on the grounds of Mount Saint Mary's Academy in Watchung. The Executive Director is Sister Nancy Herron. The school serves 48 children primarily affected with Down's Syndrome. The school trains, educates and serves the needs of mentally-handicapped children.

Robert Santo, the Past President of the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Chapter and Past District Governor for Unico District No. 10, has served as the Christmas Party Chairman since its inception in 1977.

Unico fulfills the annual "Wish List" provided by the students.

Most of the remainder of the gifts are donated by the President of a major international toy and novelty company.

The Unico toy drive has been headed by Mr. Santo and Anthony Rasera, the President of Roselle Park Unico, for the past nine years. Over that time, Unico District No. 10 has distributed over $1 million in retail value of new toys to several hundred schools, hospitals, institutions, churches, service and fraternal organizations in nine states.

The prerequisites for toy distribution are that the child be the child of a mentally and physically handicapped or underprivileged child.

Long-Term Care
Requires a Plan
For Financing

By Richard C. Briff, MBA, CFP, LUTCF
 Certified Financial Planner

Many of us have had the experience of putting a parent or grandparent into a nursing home or providing for home health care.

The area of financial planning for elder care has been growing due to the costs of the care involved. Not only is there the cost of the actual nursing home or home health care, which can range between $35,000 and $80,000 per year, depending on where you live, but there also is the cost of depleting the assets of the person who needs the care.

Jewish Center
Forms Men's Club

A Senior Men's Club is being formed at the Jewish Community Center of Central New Jersey at 1391 Martine Avenue, Scotch Plains.

This will be a chance to renew old friendships and develop new ones. Participants will be able to enjoy lunch and companionship at the same time. Ideas and input are welcome.

Please visit or telephone 889-8800 for more information.

Nutrition Label
To Be Discussed

The new nutrition label will be discussed at a class given by Dr. Karen M. Enslie, an Extension Home Economist of Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Union County, on Tuesday, January 11, from 1 to 3 p.m. and repeated from 7 to 9 p.m.

Registration is required. Please telephone 654-9854 to register.

According to statistics, one in four people over age 65 will require long-term care. For a married couple, the odds grow to about one in two that one spouse will require long-term care.

Contrary to what many people believe, Medicare and private medical insurance do not cover the type of care that is normally needed — custodial care.

Medicaid will cover these costs if you qualify by passing an income and asset test, which requires you to be "poor." Thus, if you have been saving your whole life for retirement, Medicaid will not pay until you have spent these savings first.

For the very wealthy or the very poor, long-term costs are not a problem. It is the middle-income person who has saved up a little nest egg that gets hurt the most when long-term care is needed.

The two most common ways you can plan for these costs is to:

- Plan in advance to qualify for Medicaid by transferring your wealth to other family members.
- Purchase a long-term care insurance plan that will pay a certain amount per day to cover those costs.

Long-term care insurance policies have become very popular in the last few years. As with most other types of insurance, once a need developed, the insurance industry responded by providing a product that would take care of it.

As some policies are better than others, make sure you talk to an expert before purchasing a plan.

If you have any questions regarding your financial planning, please give me a call at 322-2634.

THE PROFILE OF
 THE TYPICAL HEART DISEASE
 CANDIDATE MAY SURPRISE YOU.

Although you may tend to think of heart disease as a male problem, more than half the people in New Jersey who died from it last year were women. In fact, heart disease is the No. 1 killer of women in America. And if you're post-menopausal, chemistry changes in your body have significantly increased your risk of heart disease.

At the Summit Medical Group, P.A., we take that risk seriously. Our cardiologists will help you set personal health goals and lead you through a logical program of prevention and early detection.

Most importantly, you get more than the expertise of a single physician — you also benefit from the collective knowledge of our highly-qualified primary care physicians and other specialists.

If you have any questions or concerns, please don't hesitate to call our Department of Cardiology at (908) 277-8708.

DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

It's the End of the Road

No matter where you're headed, when you drink and drive any road could lead to a dead end. Statistics show that even one drink can impair judgement and reflexes, so all it takes is one driver who's had one drink to set the scene for tragedy. Make sure your holiday season has a happy ending. If you plan to drink, ask a friend to drive or travel by taxi.

We want you to have a safe and happy New Year.

CHRISTMAS COOKIES...Home-baked cookies were packed into 185 Christmas-decorated tins by members of the American Home Life and Social Services Department. This is a department of the Woman's Club of Westfield, who pack these cookies annually to be delivered to local nursing homes. For many years this has been a project of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs, of which the Woman's Club of Westfield is a member club.

Milton Faith to Speak At First Wednesday

"Post Holiday Blahs" will be the topic of Milton Faith's talk at the next First Wednesday luncheon to be held at noon on January 5 in Raymond's Restaurant in Westfield.

In addition to the well-recognized causes of holiday and post-holiday depression, Mr. Faith will delve into the more subtle, atypical causes not apparent to the average layman.

The speaker is the Executive Director of Youth and Family Counseling Service, a family counseling and mental health service supported in part by the United Fund, that serves Westfield, Scotch Plains and six other communities.

He is a licensed marriage counselor and holds a Master's Degree from New York University in New York City.

In addition to his administrative, supervisory and clinical responsibilities, Mr. Faith has authored, for more than 25 years, a newspaper column on mental health.

Now syndicated, his column, Hung Up appears locally in The Westfield Leader and The Times.

Mr. Faith has been the Director of the Westfield-based service for 29 years, prior to which he had been the Director of Adolescence at the Family Service and Child Guidance Clinic of the Oranges, Maplewood and Millburn from 1958 to 1964.

A long-time member of the Westfield-Mountainside Ministerium, Mr. Faith recently was appointed by Westfield Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Mark C. Smith, to a committee to review and re-evaluate the family-life curriculum currently used by the Westfield Public Schools.

Of the 13 people appointed to serve on that committee, Mr. Faith is the only one who served on the original committee of 18 that formulated the family-life curriculum nearly two decades ago.

Although sponsored by the Westfield Historical Society, the monthly Dutch-treat First Wednesday luncheons are open to the public. However, Toastmaster William B. Shafer requests reservations be made by telephoning 232-1776 prior to noon on Tuesday, January 4.

Those who have attended recent luncheons are on a calling list and will be telephoned two or three days in advance to confirm their intention of attending.

Exxon retailers from throughout northern New Jersey including Westfield resident Jeffrey O'Connor of Terrace Exxon in Summit and Dalbir Singh and Surinder Pall, both of Blue Star Exxon in Scotch Plains, during the Christmas season, collected thousands of toys for the Marine Corps Reserve's Toys for Tots Program.

The retailers got together to help sort and wrap the toys at a special Toys for Tots Collection Gala just before Santa took off to make his rounds.

The toys are destined for needy children in the area and will be given out throughout the 12 days of Christmas.

Business Women Seek Career Award Applicants

A spokesman for the New Jersey Federation of Business and Professional Women, announced career-development awards of up to $500 each are available for women over 25 years of age.

All completed applications must be returned by Monday, January 14. A state committee will evaluate all applications and select the candidates who are eligible to receive the scholarship awards.

The awards may be used for study, training or retraining which would qualify the applicant for career advancement or employment. The award also may be used for the purchase of equipment for starting and/or expanding an existing business.

The Westfield unit meets the third Tuesday of each month September through June at B.G. Fields Restaurant in Westfield.

Locally, applications may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Kathleen Klinowski of the Westfield unit of the federation at 233-0735. For more information on the Westfield group, please telephone Mrs. Klinowski at the number above. For more information on other local organizations in the state, please telephone the state office at 218-0994.

IN CONCERT...Members of the Westfield Community Chamber Orchestra are shown with Dr. Theodore K. Schlesberg, the Director, during a candlelight concert on December 16 at the New Jersey Workshop for the Arts at 152 East Broad Street, Westfield. The concert featured selections of holiday music from around the world, representing a variety of time periods. The players wore Victorian clothing. After the concert, a party was held in celebration of the successful close of another concert season. The orchestra's last performance for 1993 was on December 19 at the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Westfield. Musicians who play violin, viola, cello, or string bass interested in joining the Chamber Orchestra should telephone Dr. Schlesberg at 233-8466.

Cancer Society Hosts Party for Children

The Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society held a holiday party for their childhood cancer patients and their families on December 5.

The children also had lots of sweet treats thanks to a pinata which was donated by a volunteer of the Union County Unit.

The party was planned by the students of the Distributive Education Clubs of America at Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School.

The American Cancer Society is the nationwide, community-based voluntary health organization dedicated to eliminating cancer as a major health problem by preventing cancer, saving lives from cancer and diminishing suffering from cancer through research, education and service.

The students painted T-shirts, talked to Santa Claus and opened some of the gifts which were donated.

Also a clown whose services were donated brought along a cotpin.

Optimist Club Holds Holiday Food Drive

The Optimist Club of Westfield conducted its annual holiday food basket program, assisting 30 needy Westfield families, reports project Chairman William DiLouie.

Founded in 1989, the club conducts service projects to benefit youth and the community. Membership is open to men and women who live or work in the Westfield area.

The food baskets were delivered Saturday before Christmas and each provided a Christmas dinner for an entire family.

The club meets monthly for dinner meetings at Aliperi's Restaurant in Clark and those interested in learning more about Optimist activities should telephone Robert Shaffer, the President, at 233-8375.

Fanwood Seniors Wish All Well for Holidays

By MICHAEL CIURCZAK

The Fanwood Senior Citizens Club held its regular meetings at All Saints' Episcopal Church in Scotch Plains on November 22 and December 13.

As President, I opened the November 22 meeting at 11 a.m. with 63 members in attendance.

Vice President, Mrs. Elizabeth Lafayette, said the opening prayer and I led the members in The Lord's Prayer.

Leading the Pledge of Allegiance was Fred Tabock.

This year has been a bad year for the club. I reminded the members, because we have lost four members and three retired members, with Clifford Meyler dying last month.

I delivered a eulogy for Mr. Meyler followed by prayers by Mrs. Lafayette and Secretary Bud Colombo.

The minutes were read by Mr. Colombo and accepted without change.

Also reading her report was Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Nadoiny.

Tour Director, Mrs. Stella Ciurczak, and her Co-Director, Mrs. Evelyn Tamaro, noted the first trip of the new year will be on Monday, March 7, to see the comedy, Come Blow Your Horn at the Husterdon Hills Playhouse. Tickets will be $39.

Mrs. Lafayette brought the membership up-to-date on several items of interest including homeowners' insurance policies, the council on Affordable Housing, reverse mortgages, renting of rooms by senior citizens and assisted-living facilities in Cranford.

It also was reported a bill recently signed by Governor James J. Florio will allow the inclusion of podiatrist services on health insurance policies.

Also, tips were given on foods which should be avoided when taking certain medications.

I told the members affordable housing will not benefit seniors very much and we would prefer senior housing to be rebuilt on the Watson Road property in the rear — a three-story building.

It also could be built on the Dean Oil Company lot standing on steel pilings eight to 10 feet above street level for parking.

I have seen senior homes built that way, and I hope the Mayor and council will take up this subject again and carry it to a successful conclusion.

The entire membership wishes to express their gratitude to the Reverend J. R. Neilson, the Rector of All Saints, for the use of the hall for the club's meetings.

I also wish to express my gratitude to all members for bringing in food for Thanksgiving and Christmas so we can feed the hungry families.

Wishing all a happy Thanksgiving, I read articles describing how Thanksgiving day began and how Thanksgiving was celebrated in the past.

I then read a poem on the holiday and encouraged the members to enjoy life as much as they can since life is passing by very quickly.

The December 13 meeting was the final one for the year.

On behalf of all the officers and committee members we wish all the members and their families a very Merry Christmas, a Happy Chanukah and a healthy 1994.

After the meeting, the members sang Christmas carols led by the yearly Conductor, Mrs. Laura Swidersky and then enjoyed a hot luncheon followed by gift exchanges.

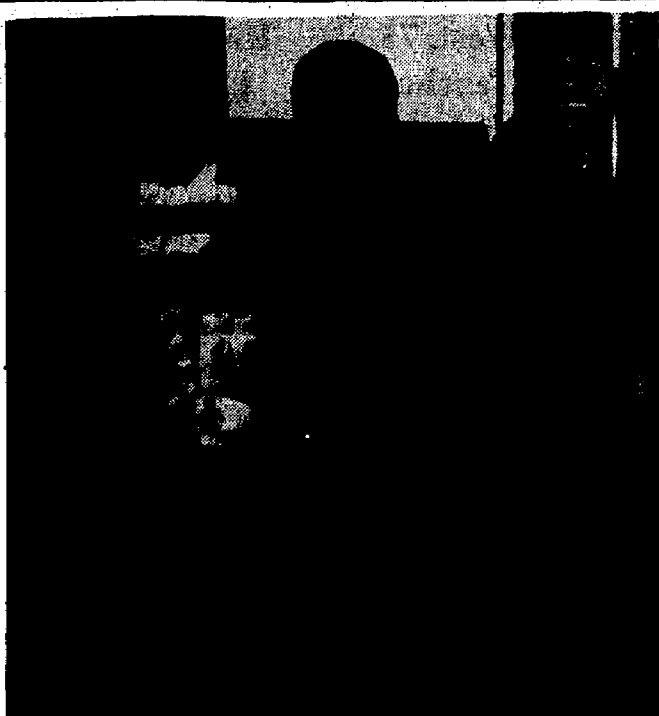

I and the members wish to thank the hostess, Mrs. Olga Rose; the Refreshment Chairwomen, Mrs. Jean Colombo and Mrs. Mary Papa, and everyone who helped prepare the luncheon along with the 10 ladies who baked cakes and cookies.

Mrs. Lafayette read a letter from Mrs. Louise Meyler thanking the members for their condolences on the death of her husband and for the money the members donated. She noted it will be turned over to the club to include in its donation to the Fanwood Rescue Squad in appreciation of the attention the squad gave to Mr. Meyler.

The Vice President also noted all senior citizens in New Jersey will have our work cut out for us next year since all entitlement programs, including Social Security and Medicare benefits, are in jeopardy of being reduced.

Automobile insurance rates apparently are going up again, she added, and there is a proposal to make vitamins and nutritional supplements prescription items, which undoubtedly will increase their cost.

Medicare premiums have been increased 12.3 per cent this year, and the hospital-bill deductibles also have been increased.

DOING THEIR PART... Thurston Hamblett, Joey Negron and Karina Harris of Evergreen School in Scotch Plains help deliver toiletries to the Food Pantry. The items were collected by all the School Age Child Care Program's sites of the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Young Men's Christian Association in Fanwood, Scotch Plains and Clark.

All of the seniors are encouraged to contact their political representatives to object to these massive increases in light of the token 2.4 per cent increase we will receive in our Social Security for 1994.

I also read a poem entitled Christmas Is Mom and told the story of Chanukah. I want to thank all members for their help this past year.

Next, I showed a picture of Mrs. Evelyn Frank and read and commented on the many accomplishments of the late Mrs. Frank regarding senior citizens in Union County.

The articles were in the Union County Senior News, which she organized, and 65 senior groups today belong to the organization called the Union County Senior Council.

The council was organized for one purpose only — to help the poor and disabled and the senior citizens of the county.

I had known this wonderful lady for 13 years. We worked together to try and make it better for the poor and needy. She will be missed.

Myself and my wife and family wish all our friends in Union County a very Merry Christmas and a healthy New Year and a happy Chanukah.

I selected a nominating committee for the 1994 election of officers. The members are James Denny and Mrs. Gloria Stankus, and the election will be held on Monday, January 10.

Don't talk unless you can improve the silence.

Blue Devil Grapplers Begin Season Strong

By ADAM WEINSTEIN
Specialty Writer for The Westfield Leader

The Westfield Wrestling Team will attempt to continue its traditional standard of excellence this season.

Under the direction of Coach Don MacDonald, and led by eight returning starters from a year ago, including three district champions, the grapplers figure to be a strong team.

Although they lost several prominent members from last year's 10-4-1 squad, the Blue Devils wrestled impressively in the early stages of the season.

The Devils rolled over out-matched opponents East Side and Summit this past week.

Against East Side, on December 17, Westfield cruised to a 72-12 victory.

Last Tuesday, the Devils knocked off the Summit Hilltoppers 54-12. The team finished a strong week with fourth-place on December 18 at the annual Walkkill Valley Tournament in Walkkill.

The 1993-1994 Devils will rely upon several young wrestlers.

Freshman Jarret Kamias will wrestle at 103 pounds followed by a sophomore, Kevin Sullivan, at 112. Sullivan was a district champion as a freshman at 103.

Paul Boudreau, also a sophomore, is the 119-pound grappler. Boudreau won both matches against Summit and East Side, and was a successful junior varsity wrestler as a freshman.

Junior Jeff Checchio will wrestle at either 125 or 130 pounds. Checchio, a three-year starter, is 4-1 thus far, including a second-place finish at Walkkill.

Paul Hayes, another junior, is slated at 135 pounds. Hayes wrestled at 130 last season and also is a returning starter on the varsity team.

Corey Posey, perhaps the team's nucleus, returns at 140 pounds. Although he is only a sophomore, Posey was a district and regional champion last season. He was a winner at Walkkill in the 140-pound class and so far is undefeated this season.

Coach MacDonald will look to the team's seniors, Jim Flood and Paul Baly, for veteran leadership.

Flood, a returning letter-winner, will wrestle at 145. Baly, the team's Captain, is the 171 pounder again this season. Last year he captured third place at the districts to cap an outstanding season.

Frank DiGiovanni wrestles at 189 pounds. DiGiovanni is an inexperienced yet strong wrestler who has shown a lot of promise. A starter in his first season last year, he is 3-2 this year.

Sean Sangwin rounds out the lineup. Sangwin is a first-year heavyweight who also has wrestled well. The sophomore has stacked two of his first three opponents.

MacDonald is optimistic about the team. He has been the Blue Devil coach for 13 years and has amassed over 100 wins. This season he hopes to add about 15 more.

Raiders Top Two Foes In Wrestling

The Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School Raiders Varsity Wrestling Team came away with an undefeated slate in this week's contests as it won over Irvington on Wednesday 64-9 and over Roselle Park this Tuesday 39-25.

Watching Reservation Will Be Closed For Deer Hunting

The public is advised that the Watching Reservation, located in northwest Union County, will be closed during the planned deer hunt on January 14, 15, 21 and 22.

Vehicular and pedestrian traffic will not be able to access any of the roads within the Reservation between 5 a.m. and 7 p.m. Alternate travel routes should be taken during these hours. The county's recreational facilities, Trailside Nature & Science Center, the Watching Stable and the historic village of Felville will also be closed on these days.

Roads to be closed include: Summit Lane and Glenside Avenue within the Reservation, the entire lengths of W.R. Tracy Drive and Sky Top Drive and Exit No. 44 from Route 78.

Only those persons who possess a Union County Access Permit and a hunting permit issued by the New Jersey Division of Fish, Game and Wildlife and have successfully completed the county's orientation course and firearms proficiency test will be allowed into the Reservation during the hunt.

Hunting is being conducted as a method to control the number of deer living in the Watching Reservation. An over-abundance of deer has resulted in extensive damage to the Reservation which serves as home to the deer, other wildlife species and native vegetation.

first victory of the season against Colonia on Tuesday in the first round of the Bill Buglovsky Christmas Tournament in Perth Amboy.

However, the cagers fell short and dropped to 0-3.

After a sloppy, and lethargic first quarter the Devils found themselves trailing 12-6.

Colonia increased its lead in the second quarter, but the Devils picked up the intensity on the defensive end of the floor and cut the lead to four points before going into the half trailing by six, 24-18.

The momentum of the game quickly shifted back to the Patriots in the start of the third quarter, as they jumped out to the 14-point advantage.

Once again, the Devils were able to put together a run and cut the lead to four and appeared to be in position to take the lead.

Unfortunately, the cagers' point guard, senior Tri-Captain Marc Koslowsky, went down with a sprained ankle with just two minutes left in the third quarter and would not return.

The two teams traded baskets at the start of the fourth quarter, before Colonia's trapping defense caused the Devils to turn the ball over many times in a row and take a commanding lead.

The Blue Devils ran off a few points in the closing minutes, but it was too little too late and they fell to the hands of Colonia 57-50.

Senior Mike Checkett led the Blue Devils with 27 points.

Koslowsky followed with five, and senior Tri-Captain Ryu Saito and sophomore Brian Cierniecki each had four. The Patriots were led by Gene Derkack, who scored 13 and Chris Chivera, with 18.

"Overall, we did not play up to our capabilities," commented Saito. "We were looking forward to getting our first win. However, lack of intensity and heads-up play resulted in a poorly-played loss."

The Blue Devils will take on Franklin in the consolation round today at 4 p.m. in Perth Amboy.

Immaculate Girls Win Two Games

The fifth-and-sixth-grade girls' basketball team at Immaculate Heart of Mary Roman Catholic School in Scotch Plains opened its season against St. Joseph's of Roselle.

Good ball handling and defense were shown by Katie Spreizer, Trish Hellstern, Mary Lygate, Sara Baer and Moira Daly. At the end, the Immaculate Heart girls prevailed by a score of 18 to 14.

The fifth-and-sixth-grade girls traveled to St. Mary's of Rahway. It was a seesaw game with the victory coming to Immaculate Heart at the buzzer when Garcia sank a layup.

The final score was Immaculate Heart, 21, St. Mary's, 20.

Mele led the scoring with six points, while Klock, Becky Garcia and Lygate each had four points.

Spreizer chipped in two points and Santo scored one point from the foul line.

Funding Plan Unveiled For New Senior Center

The new facility is being built on land owned by the Town of Westfield and leased for 35 years to the New York City Partnership.

For the first 15 years, the town will receive a service fee in lieu of taxes of 6 per cent of the rents paid by the tenants.

Westfield received an allocation of tax credits which are being sold to a Transamerica subsidiary for a consideration of approximately $4.5 million.

Another financing vehicle comes from approximately $5.2 million accumulated and not needed thus far in connection with the operation of the existing project, which is owned and operated by the Westfield Senior Citizens Housing Corporation.

These funds are being loaned to the partnership and will be repaid over time to reconstitute future reserves for the operation of the existing facility.

The construction of the new building is under the supervision of

Firefighters, Police Respond on Pensions

I appreciate The Leader extending me the opportunity to comment on the letter from the police and the firemen.

Preparing a full and accurate response to the complex and many issues therein simply is not practical on short notice over the Christmas weekend.

It should be noted, however, full discussion of the issues and cost implications involved in the early retirement incentive program occurred at meetings held by the Personnel Policy Committee of Town Council with both the Policemen's Benevolent Association and the Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association.

The committee then reviewed the matter in depth with the full Town Council, where the final decision was made.

As a practical matter, the council has concluded business for 1993 and the deadline for opting for this program is tomorrow.

Massachusetts enacted the first effective school attendance law in 1852. All children between ages eight and 14 had to attend school at least 12 weeks a year, six of them consecutive.

FULL SUPPORT...The Westfield team sponsored by the Westfield branch office of Burgdorf Realtors—the top producing office in the 34-office chain—captured its fourth straight Union County 50+ League Championship. The competition gets keener every year with more talented players signing up to compete. The team rose to the occasion numerous times with strong show of teamwork to finish with a record of 23 wins and four losses. Recently they achieved a fifth place finish in the state tournament of champions with over 24 teams entered. George Merlo, left, again assumed the player-manager role with assistance from Tom Dick, right. The group again received support from Burgdorf Realtors of Westfield and Burgdorf Manager, Mrs. Jean Massard, center.

Sixteen Seeking to Fill School Board Vacancies

Sixteen residents have volunteered to serve and have filed to become applicants for appointment to the Westfield Board of Education to replace Dr. Benjamin Rulf and Michael W. Fox, both of whom resigned earlier this month.

The applicants are: Paul A. Scallone, 1020 Boulevard P. Jeffrey Christian, 713 Marcellus Drive Robert H. Frost, 858 Fairmont Avenue Samuel D. Freeman, 260 Prospect Street Peter G. Gould, 341 Dudley Avenue Mrs. Amy B. Harber, 134 Harrow Road Robert Harber, 134 Harrow Road Thomas P. Maderna, 182 Surrey Lane Gerald J. McElhannon, 947 Boulevard Louis M. Miran, 81 Mitchell Drive Gregory Poppe, 821 Cleveland Avenue John L. Staal, 404 Saller Place Robert H. Tell, 608 Knollwood Terrace Lawrence Walsh, 788 North Avenue West A. Donald Whelan, 33 Marlow Circle Mrs. Alicia Ruddy Zurlo, 825 Standish Avenue

The applicants will be screened for eligibility and interviews will be scheduled with the seven remaining School Board members.

The interview sessions will begin at 7 p.m. on Monday and Wednesday and at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday. They will be held in the Board Meeting Room at 302 Elm Street.

School board appointments to replace members who resign before their terms expire are the responsibility of the Board of Education.

If the board does not make the appointments within 65 days, the County Superintendent of Schools is charged with naming replacements.

The two appointees will serve until the April School Election.

In the annual School Election this year, the town's voters will have the opportunity to elect three citizens to three full three-year terms of office—the seats of Dr. B. Carol Molnar, Mrs. Susan H. Pepper and Dr. Rulf expire—and one citizen to the one year remaining in Mr. Fox's term.

Neither Mrs. Pepper nor Dr. Molnar have announced whether or not they will seek re-election.

Town Southside Recycling Rescheduled for Today

A special makeup collection for Southside Westfield recyclables is scheduled for today.

The pickup scheduled for last Friday, Christmas Eve, was cancelled without notice to the town last week.

The cancellation was roundly criticized by Mayor Garland C. "Bud" Boothe, Jr., who insisted the makeup be undertaken.

The December 24 pickup, long scheduled and long appearing in recycling schedules, was not conducted on the holiday eve by Arts, the recycling contractor for the Union County Utilities Authority. The town contracts with the authority.

"Exactly why this happened, and more important why the town was not told of the cancellation still is under investigation," the Mayor stated. "Westfield has long had significant successful recycling and extensive community participation in the program."

"Meanwhile I regret the great inconvenience half our homes were put to," he added. "All Westfielders appreciate the efforts people made to get recyclables off the streets before the Christmas weekend, taking back in their own and even their neighbors' materials. This effort demonstrates once again the pride we have in the appearance of our town."

The next scheduled recycling date for the Southside is Friday, January 7. Residents have the alternative of taking recyclables to the Fanwood-Scotch Plains center on North Avenue, west of the Heffield Avenue bridge, on Wednesday, January 5, between 9 a.m. and noon.
